Disengagement at Pangong begins

KRISHN KAUSHIK
New Delhi, February 11

CHINESE AND INDIAN armoured units have started disengaging south of Pangong Tso as a first step towards resolving the nine-month military standoff along the Line of Actual Control in eastern Ladakh.

As part of the process, Chinese troops will pull back from Finger 4 to east of Finger 8 on the Pangong north bank — they had come in 8 km west of Finger 8 which India says marks the LAC. Indian troops will be stationed at Dhan Singh Thapa Post near Finger 3. For the time being, the stretch separating them will be a no-patrolling zone.

Confirming the start of the process on the north and south banks of Pangong Tso, defence minister Rajnath Singh told both Houses of Parliament on Thursday that China and India have reached an agreement under which "both sides will cease their forward deployments in a phased, coordinated and verified manner".

Follow law of the land or face action: Prasad

Warns Twitter of strict action if govt directives not complied with

FE BUREAU
New Delhi, February 11

COMMUNICATIONS AND IT minister Ravi Shankar Prasad on Thursday warned microblogging platform Twitter of strict action if it failed to comply with the government's directives on blocking certain accounts with inflammatory content.

Speaking in the Rajya Sabha, Prasad said social media platforms cannot indulge in differential treatment while addressing problems on Capitol Hill and the Red Fort. The government, he said, was committed to freedom of media and rights of individuals but was equally concerned about safety, security, and law and order in the country. "Please don't spread enmity, violence and misinformation. Please follow the Constitution of India and the law of the land, otherwise we will be very strict," Prasad said, replying to a question in the Upper House.

On Wednesday, the ministry of electronics and information technology (MeitY) told the senior management of Twitter that while India values and welcomes freedom of speech and expression that are enunciated in its Constitution, the restrictions on it were reasonable.

The microblogging site is free to have its own policy on content regulation but it has to follow the laws of the land duly passed by Parliament.

Ensured states get a good deal: Singh

PRASANTA SAHU & KG NARENDRANATH
New Delhi, February 11

THE 15TH FINANCE Commission (FC) has endeavoured to arrest a trend of concentration of fiscal powers with the Centre, its chairman NK Singh told FE.

The commission also sought to mitigate an inevitable fall in the shares of some states in the divisible tax pool resulting from its terms of reference (ToR), by rewarding their creditable demographic performance and earmarking adequate revenue deficit grants, he added.

Recent years have seen a shift towards more fiscal resources being at the disposal of the Centre.

Even a liberal tax-devolution award for states by the 14th Finance Commission or guaranteed GST revenue growth for states could not completely hold it back. Increased resort to cesses and surcharges by the Centre to bolster its non-shareable tax receipts and a redesigning of the centrally sponsored schemes fuelled the trend.

While the terms of reference given to the 15th Finance Commission by the President raised the fears of further concentration of fiscal powers at the Centre, the commission seems to have sought a slowing of the pace of erosion of the relative fiscal space with the state governments.

> "We have sought to compensate the rising incidence of cesses and surcharges by recommending deeper consolidation of the centrally sponsored schemes and calibrating the grants component of the transfers...Even though the trend (of Centre laying its hands on a higher share of fiscal resources) may not be fully neutralised, we are not looking at greater centralisation (of fiscal powers)."

SEBI ON Thursday allowed Thomas Cook (India) to withdraw its buyback offer because of substantial deterioration in the company's financial position due to the Covid-19 pandemic, reports PTI. Explain Fortis share sale: SC to lenders

New Delhi, February 11

THE SUPREME COURT on Thursday asked 17 lenders to Malvinder Singh and Shivinder Singh, former promoters of Fortis Healthcare, to explain their role in the transfer of the company's shares to Malaysian healthcare major IHH Healthcare Berhad despite directions from it and the Delhi High Court barring any such transfer.

IHH had in July 2018 bought a 31% controlling stake in Fortis Healthcare for ₹4,000 crore through the bidding route.

A bench led by Justice UU Lalit said it was deemed necessary, in the interest of clarity, to give lenders an opportunity to present their position. This would also help decide the nature of the sentence to be imposed on the Singh brothers for contempt of court. Around 17 banks and financial institutions, including Yes Bank, ICICI Bank, Axis Bank, Kotak Mahindra Investment and Indiabulls, need to explain why they sold the shares pledged with them despite the SC and HC orders restraining the brothers from alienating or creating third-party interests in their assets.

FM seeks House nod for extra spending of ₹6.3 lakh cr

FE BUREAU
New Delhi, February 11

FINANCE MINISTER Nirmala Sitharaman on Thursday sought Parliamentary approval for an additional spending of ₹6,28,380 crore in FY21, thanks to the government's roll-out of various stimulus measures to soften the Covid-19 blow despite a plunge in its revenue mop-up. This is the second batch of supplementary demands for the current fiscal, involving a net cash outgo of ₹4,12,653 crore; the rest will be met through savings or enhanced receipts of various ministries and departments. The demands include a total of 79 grants and two appropriations.

The biggest chunk of the additional expenditure — ₹3,04,558 crore — is meant for the ministry of food and consumer affairs. Of this, as much as ₹2,50,209 crore is on account of extra food subsidy to be paid to Food Corporation of India (FCI) under the National Food Security Act and for free grain allocation in the aftermath of the pandemic, and the repayment of NSSF loans to FCI.

Targeting to conclude BPCL sale by June: DIPAM secy

PRESS TRUST OF INDIA
New Delhi, February 11

THE GOVERNMENT IS targeting to conclude the strategic sale of BPCL in the June quarter, Department of Investment and Public Asset Management (Dipam) secretary Tuhin Kanta Pandey said on Thursday.

"I think we are targeting the first quarter (of 2021-22 fiscal). The engagement is intense now, it is at the due diligence stage.

"Our process is of value maximisation, and we have to take all precautions to see the value is maximised," Pandey said at an event organised by Aditya Birla Sun Life Mutual Fund.

The government has received three preliminary bids for buying of controlling stake in India's second-largest fuel retailer Bharat Petroleum (BPCL).

Mining-to-oil conglomerate Vedanta had in November confirmed putting in an expression of interest (EoI) for buying the government's 52.98% stake in BPCL.

The other two bidders are said to be global funds, one of them being Apollo Global Management.

Pandey said privatisation of public sector units is a difficult task. However, it will be achieved when private sector shows interest in brownfield acquisitions.

"As private sector interest revives through the slew of measures that the government has taken in terms of economy, the stimulus, the capex, we expect them to come and make disinvestment offerings one of the important aspects of their capital formation strategy which includes the brownfield assets which could be taken to new heights," he said.

Pandey said when the government invites EoIs for selling CPSEs, private sector too should show interest by placing bids.

"You need two hands to clap and if we have an offering, we also expect that the private sector interest is also coming forward to pick up those offerings," he said.

The government has already invited bids for strategic sale of BPCL, Air India, Pawan Hans, BEML, Shipping Corp and Neelachal Ispat Nigam. Also, the process of sale of Vizag Steel or RINL has received Cabinet nod.

On the proposed initial public offering of Life Insurance Corp of India (LIC), Pandey said the government is yet to decide on the size of the stake to be sold.

Govt to come out with policy on advanced battery tech to power EVs, India eyes No 1 slot: Gadkari

PRESS TRUST OF INDIA
New Delhi, February 11

THE GOVERNMENT WILL adopt an integrated approach and come out with a policy to make India self-reliant in the area of advanced battery technologies to power electric vehicles and other applications, Union minister Nitin Gadkari said on Thursday.

Pitching for an integrated approach for developing indigenous fuel cells in the field of electric vehicles, he said India today stands at the cusp of becoming the world leader in this field as well as automobile manufacturing.

He made the remarks after chairing a high-powered meeting focussed on research and development in the area of alternative fuel. The meeting was held last night.

Central government's Principal Scientific Advisor K Vijay Raghavan, NITI Aayog CEO Amitabh Kant, Highways Secretary Giridhar Aramane and senior representatives from DRDO, ISRO, CSIR and IITs besides minister of state for road transport and highways VK Singh participated in the meeting.

"So far work is happening in silos in the area of alternative fuel. We will now work in an integrated and concerted manner bringing together the best technologies. We will also focus on economic viability...We need a policy in this regard and for it we have decided to take an integrated approach," Gadkari told PTI.

He said scientists, academia and industry can together harness green hydrogen-based energy through water, for it being a cost effective and easily available mode in the country. He indicated towards the lowering costs of solar power in India, which can help energise other modes of fuels.

Industry must live up to expectations: India Inc after PM's remarks on private sector

INDIA INC ON Thursday said Prime Minister Narendra Modi's acknowledgement of the private sector's role in India's growth, national progress and enhancing the country's prestige globally is a much-needed shot in the arm for entrepreneurs, and the industry must live up to the expectations.

Industry chamber Ficci hoped that the statement by Modi will lead to a fresh new discourse towards the national consensus on the role industry and enterprise play in this country. Industry leaders Anand Mahindra and Sajjan Jindal also took the PM's words as a great encouragement for the "community that has been creating wealth and jobs in the country".

Ficci President Uday Shankar, in a statement, said, "At a time when the Covid-19-hit Indian industry is trying to pick up its rhythm of high growth, the prime minister's acknowledgement would be a much-needed shot in the arm for entrepreneurs and the business community." They were referring to Modi's remarks praising the private sector on Wednesday during his reply in the Lok Sabha to the discussion on the Motion of Thanks to the President's address. Modi had stated that the public sector is essential but at the same time, the role of the private sector is also vital.

Border standoff: Disengagement at Pangong begins

REFERRING TO THE other friction points in Galwan Valley, Hot Springs, Gogra Post and Depsang Plains, where troops of the two countries are still in a face-off, Singh said: "I want to assure this House that in these talks we have not conceded anything. The House should also know that there are still some outstanding issues with regard to deployment and patrolling at some other points along the LAC in Eastern Ladakh. These will be the focus of further discussions with the Chinese side."

"We have agreed that both sides should achieve complete disengagement at the earliest and abide fully by the bilateral agreements and protocols. By now, the Chinese side is also fully aware of our resolve. It is therefore our expectation that the Chinese side will work with us in full sincerity to resolve these remaining issues."

His statement in Parliament came a day after the Chinese defence ministry announced the start of the Pangong disengagement process.

Singh told Parliament that implementation of the agreement began Wednesday. "It has also been agreed to convene the next meeting of the Senior Commanders within 48 hours after the complete disengagement in the Pangong Lake area so as to address and resolve all other remaining issues."

"The Chinese side will keep its troop presence in the North Bank area to east of Finger 8. Reciprocally, the Indian troops will be based at their permanent base at Dhan Singh Thapa Post near Finger 3. A similar action would be taken in the South Bank area by both sides. These are mutual and reciprocal steps and any structures that had been built by both sides since April 2020 in both North and South Bank area will be removed and the landforms will be restored."

"It has also been agreed to have a temporary moratorium on military activities by both sides in the North Bank, including patrolling to the traditional areas. Patrolling will be resumed only when both sides reach an agreement in diplomatic and military talks that would be held subsequently. The implementation of this agreement has started yesterday in the North and South Bank of the Pangong Lake. It will substantially restore the situation to that existing prior to commencement of the standoff last year," he said.

Tweetstorm: Follow law of the land or face action, says Prasad

"MICROBLOGGING COMPANIES STAND by police when they take action after Capitol Hill of Washington is ransacked. But when there is an attack on Red Fort, which is a sign of our dignity, they oppose action," Prasad said. "This double standard would not work here." He qualified his statement by saying the government respects their good work and the foreign investment they bring into the country.

"We have immense respect for social media as it has empowered the citizens but today I want to clearly state that be it Twitter, Facebook, LinkedIn or WhatsApp, they are free to work in India but they need to abide by the Constitution of India and laws of India," Prasad said.

"We also respect the right to criticise...Prime Minister to government can be criticised, because it is part of the Constitution, but misuse of social media for violence and fake news will call for action," the minister added. So far Twitter has refused to fully follow the government's directions. In a blog post on Wednesday, it said it has partly acted on the directive by suspending 500 accounts flagged by MeitY and blocked access to several others within India. However, it declined to block handles of civil society activists, politicians and media, saying "it would violate their fundamental right to free expression" guaranteed under the country's law.

Twitter also said it will continue to support the right of free expression of its users and that it is actively exploring options under Indian law both for Twitter and the accounts that have been impacted.

The government has directed Twitter to block over 1,100 accounts under the provisions of Section 69A of the Information Technology Act. If it fails to do so, Twitter stands to lose the immunity which intermediaries enjoy and faces penal action for non-compliance. Punishment for non-compliance in such cases is imprisonment for a term which may extend to seven years and a possible fine. The government has also made it clear that Twitter is an intermediary and so, bound by the laws which govern such platforms and therefore cannot adjudicate on its own.

Koo: Indian firms to take over Chinese investments

"SHUNWEI HAD NOT participated in the latest round of funding. It had invested in the company for the earlier product, Vokal, which answers user questions in Indian languages and will be exiting fully with the new investors buying their stake," Koo said.

Existing investors, including 3one4 Capital, Kalaari and others, will also be buying out some of the stake.

Koo reiterated it is a fully Atmanirbhar app with Indian founders and India registration.

Meanwhile, there were allegations of personal data of users being leaked. A French hacker who goes by the name of Elliot Alderson on Twitter said the app is leaking personal data of its users like email, date of birth, name, marital status and gender. Koo could not be contacted till the time of going to the press.

Finance panel: Ensured states get a good deal: Singh

THE 15TH FC assessed that aggregate transfers to states — untied tax transfers and assorted grants, including those to local governments — would be ₹52.5 lakh crore or 34% of the Centre's gross revenue receipts (GRR) during its award period, FY22-26. The divisible tax pool is envisaged to be 76% of the Centre's gross tax receipts.

On these estimates barely signifying an improvement in states' share of fiscal resources — total transfers turned out to be 35% of the GRR in 14th Commission's award period and 33.2% in the terminal year of FY20 — Singh said: "We were quite cognizant of the fact that between 14th and 15th FCs, the incidence of cesses and surcharges has gone up. Though these imposts clearly defeat the intention of (fiscal) transfers, absent a Constitutional amendment, they do remain outside the divisible pool. We have, therefore, sought to compensate rising incidence of cesses and surcharge by seeking a much deeper consolidation of the centrally sponsored schemes and central outlays and calibrating the grants component of the transfers, seen at a little over ₹10 lakh crore in the commission's five-year award period (FY22-FY26) against tax transfers of ₹42.2 lakh crore".

The commission says in its report: "The CSSs co-financed by the government of India should be flexible enough to allow states to adapt and innovate. Top-down mandates and strictures on programme implementation are the antithesis of an open-source model. CSS should grant states significant latitude to tailor implementation modalities to local realities...the Union Government can shift the focus of CSS and transfers away from line-items and activities and towards outputs and outcomes, with States being empowered to choose their own pathways to achieve results."

Essentially, the eligibility for states to access the CSS funds is being sought to be relaxed and they will also get greater discretion on how to use the grants. Of course, the steps might not suffice to fully neutralise the trend (of Centre laying its hands on a higher share of fiscal resources), Singh admitted. He, however added that, "we are not looking at greater centralisation".

The 15th FC has kept tax devolution rate at roughly the same level at 41% (+ ~1% for the UTs of Jammu & Kashmir and Ladakh) of the divisible pool. However, it seeks the grants component of the transfers to jump 92% from the previous commission's period, to ₹10.3 lakh crore, in proof that an effort has been made to buttress the states' fiscal capacity.

Even as the commission, in keeping with its ToR, proposed a non-lapsable Modernisation Fund for Defence and Internal Security with an indicative size of ₹2.38 lakh crore for the award period, it again sought to mitigate any adverse impact of the move on resources to be available for states by calibrating the charge on the Consolidated Fund of India.

"We have obtained a legal opinion that funding of defence obligations is the responsibility of every Indian stakeholder and it transcends classifications in the Seventh Schedule (of Constitution). Though a special financing mechanism via a defence cess or surcharge was suggested, we decided against it. Monetization of defence lands and disinvestment of defence PSUs are ways to generate resources internally by the defence ministry," Singh said. Also, the GRR has been adjusted in a manner allowing fiscal space for the Union government to generate funds for defence capex to the tune of ₹50,000 crore a year.

Singh said the the adverse impact on some states due to the adoption of 2011 population census for horizontal devolution was being sought to be mitigated by creating a new criterion of demographic performance and assigning a weight of 12.5% to it. Also, revenue deficit grants (RDG), seen to be ₹2.94 lakh crore during the award period, would greatly benefit states like Andhra Pradesh and Kerala, which would have otherwise seen an even bigger decline in their tax pool share. "If you look at the nature and distribution of RDG, it is also to compensate those states where based on a normative assessment, we estimated a gap in revenue and sought to address it," Singh said. He also pointed out that the 15th FC assigned a lower weight of 45% to the crucial need-criterion for horizontal transfers, namely 'income distance," compared with 50% weight given by the 14th FC.

Still, the share in divisible tax pool of states such as Bihar (10.05 versus 9.66), Gujarat (3.47/3.08, Madhya Pradesh (7.85/7.54) and Maharashtra (6.31/5.52) are seen to rise substantially in the 15th FC award period, while Karnataka (3.64/4.71) and Kerala (1.92/2.5) are losing out.

APPEAL TO PRIME MINISTER

Ref : WC/DO/01/2021

Dated : 12 February 2021

To,
Shri Narendra Modi
Prime Minister of India, 7, Lok Kalyan Marg, New Delhi – 110011

Subject: Requesting Prime Ministerial Intervention in the crusade against impugned Sebi Circular on Peak Margin (NO. SEBI/HO/MRD2/DCAP/CIR/P/2020/127), Dated 20th July 2020.

Honourable Prime Minister Sir,

1. With due respect, I am writing to request Prime Ministerial intervention in the matter related to the impugned Securities and Exchange Board of India (SEBI) circular on Peak Margin, dated 20/07/2020, which came into effect on December 01, 2020.

INTRODUCTION

"SEBI's intention to ply out small participants from the financial market: a commonly held view in the financial corridors" – Professional Auditor

2. For the last few years, there has been a talk about punitive guidelines which SEBI could propose but I chose to ignore the rumours believing that the market regulator's main objective is to create a level playing field for the stakeholders. However, with the implementation of the impugned Peak Margin circular which debars stockbrokers to offer interest free funds from their own kitty to the clients, our fears have come true and we have been forced to think otherwise. SEBI's intention seems evident: To overlook small retail investors and broking houses and allow a handful of wealthy market participants to dominate the market. Please allow me to explain the matter with the help of specific examples.

THE CASE

"A knee jerk reaction to [solve] the problems of the market" – ANMI Statement

3. For the last two decades, on the recommendation of Prof. J.R. Varma Committee in 1999, the process of reporting in connection with the collection of the margins from the investors at the end of each trading day (EOD) was an established practise. These margins in the derivatives segment were being collected upfront as prescribed by NSCCL: circular dated 14th October, 2011. The same practise was also implemented by the Indian Clearing Corporation Limited (ICCL) in the Derivatives Segment. These two concepts of EOD settlement and upfront collection were accepted by the trading community warmly and have become well established. To ignore established practises and implement guidelines without rigorous analysis is against stakeholder's interest and jurisprudence and against the very philosophy of Section 11 of SEBI Act.

4. That is the recourse taken by SEBI. SEBI has put in place a framework which makes it mandatory for stockbrokers to collect peak margin from the clients in a phased manner, effective from 1st December, 2020. SEBI has directed the stockbrokers to collect upfront margins from clients in the cash market and levy a penalty in case of short collection of margins vis-a-vis peak margin requirements during the day. There has been no benchmark in the world that prompts such an action from SEBI. Without consulting the broking industry stakeholders, SEBI has come up with these guidelines. As many authorities believe and also recommended by Prof. J. R. Varma Committee report, a proper research, analysis and synthesis of the argument in consultation with industry bodies should have been done before the random issuance of the framework. Given that India was going through a complete lockdown, even the timing of the circular is questionable. Unfortunately, these steps have deformed the basic fabric of the markets; these are not only unconstitutional but also against the interests of the retail investors and are more inclined to help the cause of wealthy business participants. I firmly believe that the circular infringes on the constitutional rights of the investors, brokers, and companies directly involved in the financial markets under Article 14 and Article 19(1) (g) of the Constitution of India and that the circular is against the will and provision of Section 11 of the SEBI Act.

ACTION TAKEN BY THE INVESTOR COMMUNITY, NETIZENS, AND WISDOM CAPITAL

5. On many occasions, I have raised my voice against such steps at various forums such as ANMI, blogs, and broking community platforms. But my voice has fallen on deaf ears. A few Members of Parliament (MP) have also written to the Ministry of Finance (Letter titled: 'Introduction of Peak Margins in Cash and F&O from 1st December 2020- Need to Defer- SEBI "Fixing" what is not broken', Reference No. AS/ MP/ 05/ CMIN/ 2020/575, 23/11/2020) in this connection but all those efforts have also not borne any fruits. Reply from the Ministry of Finance (D.O No. 4/3/2020-IG, dated 15/01/2021) seem to be prejudiced in the favor of the big fish in the market and hardly address the real issue. The reply from M.O.F. refers to the recommendations of L. C. Gupta Committee (set up 1996). However, Prof. J. R. Varma Committee (set up 1999) supersedes the L.C Gupta Committee and its recommendations have been prevalent for over 20 years. It is evident that the recommendations of Prof. J.R. Varma Committee were not taken into consideration before issuing the impugned circular. In addition, in protest against the impugned SEBI circular, an online petition has been signed by over fourteen thousand investors; an even greater number of emails have been written to SEBI in this connection asking for the roll back of the circular. ANMI (Reference No. ANMI SUB#67/2020-21, dated 07/11/2020 and BSE broker's forum have, at length, voiced their concerns in this connection.

LEGAL RECOURSE

"Loss of opportunity for retail investors by favouring a few wealthy participants" – Industry Analyst

6. Finally, with a heavy heart, I filed a writ petition at Delhi High Court {see writ petition civil no. 9698 of 2020 against the impugned circular, dated 02/12/2020, with an intention to make my voice heard and have the circular revoked. I would like to bring to your notice that I have been an ex Air Warrior of Indian Air Force. Fighting against injustice has been the motto of my life and that is one reason why I have raised my voice against the SEBI's circular. As a soldier, it is my duty to bring to your notice that an unjust act against a set of market participants has been affected by the market regulator. Amidst these trying pandemic times, I am fighting a legal battle against this injustice. Nonetheless, fighting legal battles is not my forte. Perhaps, this will be my first and, hopefully, last legal battle. Given the uncertain nature of legal battles, my opportunity cost and business milestones would certainly take a hit. But I am very confident that we, Wisdom Capital, will win the case in the long run.

REAL ISSUE

"Option sellers are at a fundamental advantage as compared to Option buyers as there is an inherent tendency in price to go down"
– NISM Workbook, Published by SEBI

7. Ninety percent of stock market volumes are contributed by Option trading. A little over 90% of those volumes are contributed by intraday traders. Most of the educated and elite intraday traders opt for Option selling/writing strategies, whereas novice traders use Option buying strategies. Why? A simple reason is that Option selling is more profitable than Option buying. On more than 80% of occasions, the Option seller wins and makes money. This is a universal truth and SEBI is very well aware of it.

8. In the intraday Equity and Futures trading segment, the transaction charges are so high that there is hardly any room left for earning profits. Hence, there is no requirement of margins in this segment. Also, in Option buying, the probability of making profits is very low. Please note that there are no margin facilities available for Option buying as the industry fully understands the associated risks in this segment. So, where can retail participants look for making reasonable profits?

9. Retail investors looking for long term investment avenues are not in a position to invest more than Rs. 2,000 per month. With this ticket size, returns are almost negligible for investors who wish to trade for a living. And aspiring for high returns, these investors opt for short-term investment strategies which are offered by intraday trading. However, in this category, most retail traders have an average corpus of no more than Rs. 1,00,000 which is insufficient to sell even a single lot of Options because the minimum margin required to write an Option is Rs. 1,75,000. On the other hand, minimum margin required for Option buying is Rs. 3.75 (a miniscule requirement). As a result, most of the retail traders will be encouraged to switch to Option buying. This represents a loss of opportunity for those traders and is a direct implication of the SEBI circular. For the educated, highly skilled, and jobless participants who intend to earn reasonable profits by opting for Option writing strategy in the markets, this opportunity is absolutely lost as a result of the circular.

10. In the past, Option selling has always been the forte of big business houses and institutional investors. Over the last decade, on account of my personal experience in the markets as an active trader, I saw an opportunity for retail investors and made efforts so that they may also have a share of pie in the Option writing space. With the help of intraday margin funding offered by Wisdom Capital and few other brokers, small retail traders actively started employing Option selling strategies and, as a result, have started making money for their livelihood.

OPTION TRADING BOTTLENECKS

11. I, at Wisdom Capital, thought of removing the bottlenecks in the path of these retail traders and worked for years in this area. I created a unique business idea, 'Free Trade and Investment Zone', for all kinds of trading activity including advanced trading terminals, tools, and charts. I have been providing financial education, particularly in Option writing, and interest free margin facility so that the retail traders can work their way and create a niche in the Option writing field. Our efforts have been acknowledged by not only domestic but also international agencies such as White Page International. Even Amity University acknowledged our efforts and, in appreciation of our efforts, awarded us with 'Corporate Excellence Award for Promoting Financial Literacy' award.

12. We did not use any client funds, instead provided funds from our own pockets so that the retail Option writing is encouraged. Providing funds from one's own kitty to the clients is not illegal and is a business call for the stockbroker. It has been a worldwide practice from time immemorial. If it were illegal, why would SEBI still allow 4 times margin facility? This arrangement benefits all the stakeholders in the market and maintains a balance in the market. At the same time, it helps in creating abundant volumes and liquidity in the markets and provides the government with a sizable revenue. Many authorities argue that stockbrokers misuse client funds. If that were the case at large, why would this arrangement be an integral part of best practices globally?

13. SEBI argues that the circular has been implemented for investor protection purposes and that the current state of affairs promotes over speculation. The over speculation argument does not hold water if we analyse at the following table. (See below)

14. As can be seen in the Table, an investor who has Rs. 1,00,000 corpus to invest can write only 12 Lots with 20 times leverage. On the contrary, an investor can buy 26,600 Lots (approximately) of Options without any leverage. So, it appears that, in the current scenario, SEBI is encouraging speculation.

As mentioned earlier, leverage is the key for option writers. An option seller uses leverage to maximize profits. By taking leverage out of the equation, the impugned circular aims to take away opportunities from the hands of retail option sellers. As a result, big business houses and stockbrokers are to gain enormously. Few business houses support SEBI unequivocally claiming that this regulatory framework is an even better American framework.

15. More interestingly, SEBI claims that the framework of verification of peak margin has been put in place to curb the risks associated in the financial markets, particularly to curb the undesirable over leverage and speculation in the market. But the said framework is applicable on the trading positions till 5 pm only. Commodity markets, particularly non-agro commodities, are open till midnight; these markets fluctuate heavily after 7pm on account of coinciding with the opening of world markets. Is it too difficult to gauge that a specific set of investors fall outside the purview of the impugned circular and are free to speculate?

16. Chinese whispers in the financial world have often hinted of collusion. Collusion or not, retail investors are at a loss. Interest free funds that were available to investors from the stockbrokers will no longer be available as a result of the circular. Instead, in order to trade, investors and traders will be forced to borrow funds from banks, newly established payment banks, and NBFCs at considerably high interest rates apart from paying substantial brokerages charges. What was freely available to investors will now be available at a cost.

SOLUTION

17. As per the act, SEBI was set up to create policies for the development of the financial markets and to regulate the markets. Creating financial literacy, keeping a check on fake advisory, checking into reasons of surrendered memberships (of over 170 brokers in the last 5 years), looking into matters such as foreclosure of NSE NOW trading platform, and encouraging businessmen to enroll as members are few of the tasks which have been completely neglected. SEBI appears to have taken a dictatorial role and has nearly overlooked the developmental aspect associated with it. More recently, the Board seems to be focused on regulation than development. Continued unbalanced approach may lead to the obliteration of established markets.

18. The board certainly is in no mood to listen to the investor community. For the sake of the investor and trader community, the matter needs your immediate attention. I want to bring to your notice that a little over 5000 brokers with an average employee strength of 50 (totalling 2.5 Lac) not to mention their dependent family members, will be negatively impacted by the end of August 2021 as a direct result of the impugned circular. People who are in their 40s and do not have other skills to support their families and are dependent on financial markets for a living will take a massive financial hit.

"I would urge you to intervene, have the SEBI circular discussed and reviewed in the parliament, and, if found not in the best interest of the retail investors, have it revoked"
–CEO, Wisdom Capital

CONCLUSION

19. Being a soldier, I have an unrelenting spirit to fight for my cause and, being an entrepreneur, I have an incorrigible attitude to set up business ventures in order to create employment. As an entrepreneur, I founded Wisdom Capital and worked tirelessly to revolutionize the Indian stock markets by introducing discount broking and minimal brokerage plans, promoted financial literacy through various programs over the last few years, and created employment in this field. Even during the lockdown period, I made my best efforts to establish a couple of business ventures and, as a result, ended up creating jobs for quite a number of people. In this respect, I find myself strictly aligned with your efforts about creating employment in this country. Please allow me to state that I hold you as one of my role models (others being Netaji Subhash Chandra Bose, Atal Bihari Vajpayee, and Yogi Adityanath) and have been inspired by you on many occasions, particularly on the matter of job creation in India.

20. Personally, I am least affected by the implications of the circular as I am trained to walk and reach my destination on account of my own set of skills. However, for all those people who worked with me, helped me in my decade old journey in the financial markets, call me on a regular basis to complain about the negative implications of the circular, and express their discomfiture in connection with the circular, I believe I have an obligation to fulfill. That is the sole reason I am writing to you. In the past, you have made tremendous efforts for the cause of all the sections of society including shopkeepers, annadata (farmers), laborers, doctors, and soldiers. Do we as a community not deserve the same support from our Prime Minister? Does our contribution in the economy not mean anything? If it does, then why are we being treated as foster children? Should the people (particularly those who will lose their livelihood as a result of the circular) who work in the financial services industry not to be cared for and provided with a secure arrangement which resembles a pension plan? The legal route will take a lot of time and by the time we have judgment on this matter a number of retail investors would have already lost their livelihoods and brokers their capacity to service those clients. There would be irreparable losses for the investors that cannot be quantified in monetary terms.

21. Also, whether you will be able to read this letter or not is subject to your priorities. In case you miss it, I can tell you with good authority that the long effects of this circular will be very painful for the retail investors of India. I believe that we are all one big family in India with you as the head of the household. When there have been outcries you have always come to the rescue of the people. My hope is that the head of the family will come to help the investor and trading community as well. I would not want my Prime Minister to live with the hues and cries of the distressed investors. I must reiterate that the well-being of these retail investors is of utmost importance and their concerns need to be heard. If not, their outcries will resonate in the ears of the current establishment for years to come and the Prime Minister may have to live with a stained image in the pages of history.

Thanking you in anticipation,
Warm Regards

Debu Prasad Mukherjee

India has about 2 million active 5G devices in use, says Nokia

KIRAN RATHEE
New Delhi, February 11

EVEN THOUGH 5G is yet to be launched in India, the device ecosystem has already started to build up. As per Finnish telecom gear maker Nokia, India has 2 million active 5G devices in use across the country. What it means is that the devices are 5G enabled and can access services if offered by the telecom operators.

Although 2 million looks miniscule when compared to 700 million 4G subscribers in the country but given the fact that more and more smartphone shipments coming into the country are now 5G enabled, the device ecosystem will soon be in place for a full-fledged rollout.

As per Bharti Airtel CEO Gopal Vittal, though the 5G ecosystem is still nascent in the country, the devices coming into India now (as on December), about 4% to 5% of device shipments are already 5G compatible. The 5G enabled device shipments stood at 2% in October and if compared with September, it was almost nothing.

"So there has been a change in some of the shipments coming in. Having said that, the use cases are still nascent, but the fact is that some of these handsets are now beginning to show up. And I would say, in the next 12 months, you should start seeing more and more shipments potentially coming in the 5G," Vittal said during a recent call with analysts.

Nokia said that the 2 million active 5G devices are more or less equally spread out among the three operators — Bharti Airtel, Reliance Jio and Vodafone Idea. Airtel has already demonstrated its live 5G commercial network in Hyderabad. "So, whether it's our radio network, our radios are on the mid-band are all ready for 5G," Vittal said.

Jio is also working on a home-made 5G solution and plans to rollout its network in the second half of this year. The only stumbling block in rolling out 5G in India could be the lack of spectrum, particularly in 3.5 GHz band. The government is not auctioning the 3.5 Ghz band in the upcoming auction, scheduled to start from March 1.

WORTH OF 5G NETWORK IN INDIA

- As on December, about 4% to 5% of device shipments coming into India are 5G compatible
- The 5G enabled device shipments stood at 2% in October
- The 2 million active 5G devices are more or less equally spread out among the three operators — Bharti Airtel, Reliance Jio and Vodafone Idea

- Lack of spectrum could be the only stumbling block in rolling out 5G in India as the govt is not auctioning the 3.5 Ghz band in the upcoming auction

Apart from 5G, Nokia also shared insights about 4G and data usage by users in the country through its Mobile Broadband India Traffic Index (MBiT) 2021 report. The report said data traffic in India grew approximately 60 times over the last five years which is amongst the highest globally.

In 2020, the data traffic grew by 36% year-on-year, primarily due to rise in 4G data consumption as 4G subscribers surpassed 700 million with 100 million new additions during the year. "4G alone constituted nearly 99% of the total data traffic consumed across the country," the report said.

According to the study, the average monthly data usage per user reached 13.5 GB in December 2020, growing over 20% annually owing to an increase in data subscribers and mobile video consumption.

Regarding smartphones, Nokia said a double-digit growth is expected in 2021 for the industry as people embrace hybrid work models, e-learning, and consume content over OTT platforms. The launch of low-cost 4G smartphones will provide the necessary headroom for data growth with a significant number of 2G/3G subscribers potentially upgrading to a 4G smartphone.

SIAM DATA FOR JANUARY

Passenger vehicle sales up 11%

FE BUREAU
Chennai, February 11

AUTOMOBILE WHOLESALES CLOCKED 4.97% growth y-o-y, in January, with passenger vehicles (PVs) contributing the most with 11.14% growth and two-wheelers registering an increase of 6.63% when the data on wholesale automobile despatches from the factory gate to the dealers was released on Thursday by Society of Indian Automobile Manufacturers (Siam).

Industry experts say that the wholesale volume numbers for January were mixed amid supply-chain constraints and price hikes taken during the month.

The retail sales of automobile slipped into negative territory in January, falling nearly 10% year-on-year after registering an increase in December. Sales of passenger vehicles (PVs), which have shown growth in some months during the fiscal, declined by 4.46% y-o-y. The fall has been attributed to a shortage of vehicles with manufacturers running out of semiconductors and other components, fading pent-up demand and recent price hikes.

In the wholesales, three-wheeler sales continue to remain in the negative territory, clocking a de-growth of 56.76%. The total production of passenger vehicles, three wheelers and two wheelers, however, marked a growth of 7.67%.

The automakers' body said supply chain challenges, including rising price of steel, unavailability of semi-conductors and higher container charges, continue to hinder smooth functioning of the industry.

Rajesh Menon, director general of Siam, said : "In January 2021, 2.77 lakh passenger vehicles were sold, clocking a CAGR growth of 1.61% over the previous highest sales in January 2018 of 2.64 lakh, while in January 2020 the total sales were 2.49 lakh. As far as two-wheelers are concerned 14.30 lakh units were sold in January 2021, which results in a de-growth of 5.32% CAGR from the highest sales in January 2018 of 16.85 lakh, while in January 2020, the sales of two-wheelers were 13.41 lakh units."

While among the car makers, the largest player Maruti Suzuki posted 2.6% growth in domestic sales, its nearest rival Hyundai India recorded a remarkable 23.8% increase in wholesale despatches.

In the case of two-wheeler makers, the largest player Hero MotoCorp reported a de-growth of 4.15% in January Y-o-Y, while Bajaj Auto registering a flat growth.

Prices, supply disruption may pull quarterly sales volume down: Fitch

HIGHER VEHICLE PRICES and a modest supply disruption due to the shortage of semiconductors are expected to pull auto sales volume down on a sequential basis, after improvement in the December 2020 quarter, according to a report.

This is notwithstanding the expectation that resilient demand after the November festive season last year will support higher volume in the March 2021 quarter from a low base last year and result in a stronger operating performance than expectations, Fitch Ratings said in its report said on Thursday.

It said the overall sales volume in the March 2021 is likely to be somewhat lower than that in the October-December period. This will negatively affect fixed cost absorption despite automakers' cost-saving initiatives, and result in lower operating margins, the agency added. — PTI

Grofers weighing US listing via SPAC deal

BAIJU KALESH & ANTO ANTONY
Mumbai, February 11

GROFERS, AN INDIAN online grocer, is weighing a plan to go public in the US through a merger with a special purpose acquisition company, people familiar with the matter said.

The SoftBank Vision Fund-backed company is working with an adviser, one of the people said, asking not to be named as the information is not public. The grocer is seeking a deal that would value the firm at about $1 billion, another person said.

Deliberations are at an early stage and the company could decide not to proceed with the plan, the people said. A representative for Grofers declined to comment.

The SPACs trend is rapidly spreading beyond the US, with blank-check companies springing up in recent months to focus on targets in Asia, or with ties to the region. James Murdoch and former president of Walt Disney Asia Pacific Uday Shankar are seeking a blank-check vehicle to acquire Asian companies, Bloomberg News reported this week.

Grofers sells grocery and daily household products from cooking oil to Indian spices to shoppers in more than 27 Indian cities, according to its website. Its eight in-house brands make up the majority of the products it sells to the roughly three million people who have downloaded its app.

SoftBank's Vision Fund led an investment round of more than $200 million into the company in 2019, along with Tiger Global, Sequoia Capital and KTB.

In a post-earnings presentation to investors on Tuesday, SoftBank Group founder Masayoshi Son said the company may see between 10 to 20 public listings a year from its portfolio of 164 startups across three different funds. —BLOOMBERG

Amazon moves SC to block Future-Reliance deal

FE BUREAU
New Delhi, February 11

AMAZON ON THURSDAY moved the Supreme Court in its bids to block the Delhi High Court's division bench's order which said that regulatory agencies can give their nod to the Future Group-Reliance Retail deal based on merits.

In doing so the division bench had lifted the stay ordered by its single judge that status quo be be maintained with regards the to deal till it pronounced its final order in the matter.

Terming as "illegal" and "arbitrary" the division bench's order delivered earlier during the week, Amazon said that it will face "irreparable harm" if the SC did not intervene as "the more progress made to complete the Future-Reliance deal, the harder it will be to unravel it. Over time, the interests of additional third parties may also become entwined with the impugned transaction and be subsequently compromised".

It is said that the division bench had hastily passed the impugned order without waiting for the detailed order of the single judge and without appreciating the "Group of Companies" doctrine.

Covid forces office space providers to ramp up quality

RISHI RANJAN KALA
New Delhi, February 11

PRESTIGE ON THURSDAY said it will partner with workspace solutions platform, Awfis to provide flexible office spaces across six of its properties in Bangalore, Chennai and Hyderabad.

The development comes at a time when real estate developers are experimenting with new business models, as Covid compelled companies to opt for smaller offices and work from home (WFH). This also highlights the move by large players to explore giving offices on lease to SMEs and mid-sized corporates.

Awfis will offer over 2 lakh sq ft of Grade-A flex office spaces within Prestige Group's premium commercial properties in Bangalore, Chennai, and Hyderabad covering a total capacity of more than 4,000 seats. Of the six centres, four are in Bangalore and one each in Chennai and Hyderabad. Both the companies also have plans to expand the service in west and north India, where Prestige has expansion plans.

"This perfectly combines both the company's efforts to cater to the growing demand for co-working spaces amongst not just startups and SMEs but, also mid and large-sized corporations, looking to decentralise their workplaces, amidst the new normal," Prestige Group said.

On rationale behind the partnership, Prestige Office Ventures CEO Juggy Marwaha told FE that it is an evolution of the way world has changed.

"We are seeing vacancy levels go up, and we are also seeing demand that is there but is potentially subdued as people cannot travel and clients are not coming into offices. There is status quo. We being a progressive developer have understood needs of the client and that going forward capex would not be so easy for clients to spend. This is perfect where developer puts in money, the operator puts in money. It's problem solving," he added.

The partnership allows Prestige to expand its client base by tapping SMEs and mid-sized companies and enhancing service offerings to clients, while allowing Awfis access to premium properties.

At present, the flex space solutions provider has 75 centres and 40,000 seats across 11 cities.

"It allows us to operate in Grade-A properties and have the ability to offer options for even smaller sizes as well because Prestige typically looks at 25,000

Coal India profit drops 21% to ₹3,085 crore

PRESS TRUST OF INDIA

STATE-OWNED CIL on Thursday reported 21.3% fall in consolidated net profit at ₹3,085.39 crore for the quarter ended December 31, 2020.

The company had posted a net profit of ₹3,923.87 crore in the year-ago period, Coal India Ltd (CIL) said in a filing to BSE.

Income during October-December 2020-21 slipped marginally to ₹24,334.62 crore from ₹24,602.19 crore in the year-ago period, the filing said.

CIL's production during the quarter under review increased to 156.78 million tonne (MT) from 147.50 MT in the corresponding quarter of the previous fiscal year. Coal India accounts for over 80% of the domestic coal output.

In a separate filing the company said its board has accorded approval for incorporation of two wholly-owned subsidiaries, one for solar value chain (Ingot-wafercell-module) business vertical and another for new and renewable energy.

However, the nod is subject to approval of the government, the filing said.

CIL will pump over ₹1.22 lakh crore in projects related to coal evacuation, exploration and clean coal technologies by 2023-24, to achieve 1 billion tonne of fuel output target, the government had said earlier.

Out of this proposed spend, CIL has planned to invest ₹32,696 crore on coal evacuation, ₹25,117 crore on mine infrastructure and ₹29,461 crore on project development by 2023-24.

OIL net doubles on tax gains

STATE-OWNED OIL India on Thursday reported more than doubling of its December quarter net profit on the back of one-time gains from settling tax matters.

Net profit in October-December at ₹903.69 crore was 122 per cent higher than ₹406.39 crore in the same period a year back, the company said in a statement.

AERO INDIA 2021

Showcasing the Military Might of India

Organised in a hybrid format, the recently concluded Aero India 2021 featured a good mix of domestic and foreign exhibitors

SARANG Aerobatic Team – A true icon of MAKE IN INDIA

INAUGURATING THE biennial Aero India 2021 at the Yelahanka air base last week, Rajnath Singh, in the presence of the top leadership of the industry from India and abroad, said India has set a target of achieving a $25-billion defence market and $5 billion worth of aerospace and defence exports by 2024, as part of its twin goals of self-reliance and export promotion.

The 13th edition of Aero India, Asia's largest Aerospace and Defence Exhibition, was held at the Air Force Station, Yelahanka, Bengaluru from February 3 to 5, 2021. Though the event was curtailed to just 3 business days, it registered many firsts, against the backdrop of some historical developments, policy changes, and the Atmanirbhar Bharat Abhiyaan, which have given impetus to the Industry. The show also hosted the Chiefs of Air Staff Conclave, the Bandhan ceremony and the India Pavilion. The first Indian Ocean Region's Defence Ministers' Conclave was also held at this edition of Aero India.

Organised in a hybrid format (of physical and virtual exhibition) for the very first time, Aero India 2021 featured a good mix of domestic and foreign exhibitors, with many participating virtually, making it a truly digital and global event on the world stage. Addressing the gathering, Defence Minister Rajnath Singh expressed his gratitude at the attendance of delegates from around the world at the event. Singh also announced that the government plans to spend $130 billion on military modernisation over the next seven years.

Though event was curtailed to 3 business days, it registered many firsts, against the backdrop of developments that have provided further impetus to the industry

With an eye on making India a hub of world-class defence equipment/goods, from design to production, Singh said that the government has set a target of achieving a turnover of Rs 1,75,000 crore, including export of Rs 35,000 crore in aerospace and defence goods and services by 2024. He expressed great happiness that the Hindustan Aeronautics Limited had bagged the order for 83 new indigenous LCA-Tejas MK1A for the Indian Air Force, valued at more than Rs 48,000 crore – the biggest "Make in India" defence contract to date. The order for 83 LCAs will be completed in 8 years from now. This year's event primarily focussed on India's defence research and technology capabilities with public sector undertakings participating in full strength.

Aero India provides India's Growing Defence Sector a Boost

At the valedictory function of Aero India 2021, President Ram Nath Kovind hailed the government's efforts to push the growth of the Defence and Aerospace sector and attract global investors

ON FEBRUARY 5, 2021, curtains came down on the mega, three-day international Aero India 2021 in Bengaluru, which saw 201 MoUs, product launches and technology transfers being concluded, providing further impetus to the Aerospace and Defence industry in the country. The valedictory function was graced by President of India Ram Nath Kovind and First Lady Savita Kovind.

In his address, President Ram Nath Kovind said India is not just a market, but a land of immense opportunities for the whole world, including in the Defence sector. He added that the government has taken a number of policy initiatives aimed at placing India among the top nations in the Defence sector with the twin objectives of self-reliance and export promotion. The President said that the government is focused on promoting 'Ease of Doing Business' to encourage manufacturers to set up units in India. The reforms initiated in India in the last six years offer unprecedented opportunities to investors and private companies in the Defence and Aerospace sectors, he highlighted.

Aero India 2021 was successful in attracting 16,000 visitors physically and close to 5 lakh people virtually. Moreover, the first-ever IOR Defence Ministers' Conclave was attended by ministers and delegates from 26 countries. A large number of MoUs were concluded during the event, and orders worth over Rs 203 crore bagged by MSMEs were an indication of the exhibition's success.

Empowering India's Start-ups for Defence Excellence

With a focus on innovation, research and development, programmes such as iDEX and DISC have been launched to give a push to start-ups in the defence manufacturing ecosystem

WITH A focus on innovation, research and development, many programmes such as iDEX and DISC have been started to give a push to start-ups in the defence manufacturing system.

Addressing the annual flagship event "Start Up Manthan" held on the final day of Aero India 2021, Defence Minister Rajnath Singh said 128 MoUs, 19 ToTs, 4 Handing Overs, 18 Product Launches and 32 major Announcements were concluded during the Bandhan ceremony at Aero India 2021, adding up to a grand figure of 201.

These included the formal handing over of the Advanced Light Helicopters MK-III to the Indian Navy and Coast Guard (CG), commencement of Performance based logistics of CG fleet, and initial operational clearance for the Army version of the Light Utility Helicopter. In his address, Singh said that Bandhan exemplified the spirit of public-private partnership in Defence and Aerospace sectors which has led to strategic ties that will transform defence and aerospace manufacturing. Singh pointed out that 45 MSMEs that participated in Aero India 2021 have already got orders worth Rs 203 crore. To encourage defence-related manufacturing in the country, Singh reiterated India's intention to bring down defence imports by at least $2 billion by 2022.

Admiral Karambir Singh, Chief of Naval Staff, visited the Sagar Defence Engineering (SDE) Stand at the DRDO Pavilion during the Aero India airshow in Bengaluru. SDE showcased its newly launched SkyDock Platform to the Chief of Naval Staff

Attaining self-reliance in manufacture of defence equipment is a crucial factor for maintaining India's strategic autonomy. Singh mentioned initiatives to encourage and facilitate private sector R&D, such as Innovation for Defence Excellence (iDEX) and Defence India Start-up Challenge (DISC). The iDEX initiative stands out as one of the most effective and well-executed defence Start-up programmes in our country, aimed at infusing the latest technology into military solutions which will help meet the needs of the armed services and reduce dependence on imports.

The Defence Minister also said that Start-up Manthan is going to provide a unique opportunity for start-ups to showcase their capabilities, products and services to the "targeted audience of industry leaders and business decision-makers," adding that "iDEX Open Challenge initiative creates opportunities for innovators to propose ways for harnessing their technological capabilities to strengthen our nation's military capability. Anyone with an idea that can be used in defence and aerospace can apply under this initiative."

Collaborations on Defence Front will Make India Strong!

Aero India 2021 saw an enthusiastic participation from many countries and the signing of many MoUs to enhance cooperation in the defence sector and address emerging security challenges

THE RECENTLY concluded Aero India 2021 highlighted not only the military prowess of India, but also helped highlight many defence collaboration opportunities. The event saw over 600 exhibitors attending physically and another 108 in the virtual mode. Around 3,000 B2B meetings were conducted during the event and representatives from 63 foreign countries were in attendance. The India-Russia Military Industrial Conference (MIC) was organised to provide a platform to Russian Origin Equipment Manufacturers (OEMs) and Indian defence private and public sector companies to interact and identify possible areas of co-operation. This is the first time that the Russian Government has allowed manufacture of their OEMs' spare parts in a foreign country, indicating the growing strength of Indo-Russia cooperation. Thirty MoUs have already been signed between Indian companies and Russian OEMs for manufacture of these spare parts in India.

The Conclave of Defence Ministers of Indian Ocean Region (IOR) saw participation from 26 countries, with discussions focused on synergising efforts of IOR countries in the Indian Ocean

Further, the Conclave of Defence Ministers of Indian Ocean Region (IOR) saw participation from 26 countries, with discussions focused on synergising efforts of IOR countries in the Indian Ocean. Several Defence Ministers, Ambassadors, High Commissioners and senior officials from IOR countries attended the event physically or virtually. Defence Minister Rajnath Singh said SAGAR (Security and Growth for All in the Region) is the theme of the Indian Ocean Policy as outlined by Prime Minister Narendra Modi in 2015. The conclave was an initiative to promote dialogue in an institutional, economic and cooperative environment, fostering the development of peace, stability and prosperity in the IOR.

The conclave is a platform to address aspects related to Defence Industry co-operation amongst participating countries, and promote Information-sharing towards increased maritime domain awareness, maritime surveillance and co-operation, and development of technologies and capabilities for harnessing marine resources, etc. A conclave of Chiefs of Air Staff was also organised to discuss current and emerging security challenges and enhance cooperation among the air forces.

Sagar Defence Engineering launches SkyDock Platform for Autonomous Launch and Charging of UAVs

SAGAR DEFENCE Engineering, an unmanned system startup based in Mumbai, launched the SkyDock platform at the recently held Aero India 2021 show in Bengaluru. SkyDock is India's first "Drone in a Box" Solution aimed at minimising the response time for multiple drone operations. The launch of SkyDock is going to open the door for autonomous solutions that include rapid UAV deployment, and collaborative UAV management from a single platform. The enterprise solution of SkyDock will provide visual data management and analysis to report the trends and alert risk levels according to UAV's operation.

"Our customers, which includes the Indian Armed Forces and Governing bodies are eager to fully embrace automation across their operation by increasing efficiency and reducing the safeguard costing," it said. SkyDock comes with a revolutionary technology that is used for rapid UAV deployment, autonomous operations, and remote location monitoring. From drone storage to deployment, SkyDock manages the work autonomously.

Captain Nikunj Parashar, SDE

SkyDock is a 24X7 ready solution for periodic operations embedded with autonomous charging and docking for a family of Drones

It comes up with a homegrown solution for rapid wireless charging which can charge the drone in less than an hour. At the push of a button, SkyDock opens and the UAV is ready to take-off and execute its mission. After completing its mission, the UAV autonomously makes a precision landing on SkyDock's wireless charging pad. It is designed to reduce the need for manpower for conducting ISR operations.

The 4th edition of iDEX Defence India startup award was given by the Defence Minister of India Rajnath Singh during the iDEX Start Up Manthan 2021, under which Sagar Defence Engineering is going to be the first to develop an autonomous and intelligent underwater swarm of drones indigenously.

ON BUDGET FY22

Congress leader P Chidambaram

This is a budget for the rich, of the rich and by the rich ... There is nothing for the poor people of India, who continue to suffer ... This is a budget for those one per cent who control 73 per cent of India's wealth

PM signals big change in policy, now to deliver on it

Rare to see a PM praising private sector in the way Modi did; vital to ensure this is translated into policy change

EVEN DECADES AFTER the 1991 reforms, the business class has mostly been viewed with suspicion, perhaps why Congress MP Rahul Gandhi's famous suit-boot-ki-sarkaar jibe managed to tie up the government in knots for so many years. Indeed, even today, those whipping up emotions against the three farm laws are talking of how all the changes are driven by prime minister Narendra Modi's desire to enrich Ambani and Adani; in the case of Reliance Industries' Ambani, RJio's telecom towers were vandalised in Punjab, and its Market/Digital/Jewels/Fresh stores were shuttered after protesters threatened to damage them. In the case of the Adani Group, the fact that it owned silos that were hired by FCI was cited as 'proof' of its interest in the farm laws; but surely Adani's business with FCI would put the group in the camp of those in favour of the MSP-based procurement as continuing this would increase the amount of grain/rice that FCI needed to stock!

In this context, Modi's full-throated defence of the private sector and its role in taking India to where it is today was especially welcome. Just because an individual has become an IAS officer, he said, doesn't mean he can fly planes or run fertiliser factories...why do you want to give the country to babus, he said, using the derogatory term for bureaucrats. Whether it is the mobile phone revolution or the current need for vaccines, he asked, was it the public sector and the babus that fulfilled the public need or was it the private sector? Indeed, the few obvious examples apart, far from running the country, the babu has mostly brought the country to ruin by coming up with complex red tape that has crippled most enterprise. And, in most cases, when the political class has tried to free the private sector, bureaucrats have ensured there are enough caveats in place to thwart the move. By way of example, while the political class has tried to free the price of both crude oil and natural gas on various occasions in order to incentivise production, the rules that were put in place allow this only for new discoveries—if a firm doesn't make money in existing fields, how will it fund new investments?—or for discoveries which are at certain depths in the sea or where the water has a certain temperature! More recently, while the government wanted to free up educational institutions like the IIMs, the education bureaucracy came up with rules that would allow them to dismiss the board of the IIMs; the plan has just been nixed by the law ministry. High-pitched tax demands have persisted despite, over the years, the government promising to rein in tax terror...the list goes on.

So, there is an obvious case for reining in the bureaucracy. But there is a flip side that can't be ignored either, and that is the role of the political class. Surely the hounding of Monsanto, including the then additional solicitor general telling the court that the patent granted by India's Patent Office was illegal, was not something that babus did without the political class's direction? And the decision to appeal almost all global arbitration awards, not just Vodafone and Cairn, cannot be something the babus came up with on their own against the wishes of the political class. And, with no workable solution found to the issue of the 3Cs knocking on their door post-retirement—ex-coal secretary HC Gupta was sentenced to a 3-year prison sentence for taking what seemed a sensible decision—even proactive bureaucrats find salvation in kicking decision-making to the political class and in putting in more caveats to protect themselves. Even as it celebrates its private sector, India needs to completely rethink its governance model/priorities since the babus aren't the sole culprits either.

A knotty problem

Child/adolescent marriages still pose a problem for India

THE PUNJAB & Haryana High Court recognising a 'marriage' between a 17-year-old girl and 36-year-old man—the court held that the girl was of marriageable age under Muslim personal law—has sparked a debate on child/adolescent (10-19 years of age) marriage in the country. While the high court recognised that the Muslim personal law holds attainment of puberty (held to be at 15 years, in the absence of evidence of puberty) as the age when a Muslim individual can choose to marry, the fact is that marriage at such an early stage in life has a strong positive correlation with poor health outcomes for women in their later years, especially if maternity has followed soon after. The World Health Organization lists complications during pregnancy and delivery as the leading cause of death among girls aged 15-19 years around the globe. The bulk of the abortions that girls in this age cohort undergo is unsafe, contributing to elevated mortality and morbidity levels. Adolescent mothers face higher risks of eclampsia, puerperal endometritis, and systemic infections, including chronic conditions like anaemia, than mothers in the 20-24 years, and their babies are at a higher risk of low birth-weight, preterm delivery and severe neonatal conditions. And, research by the International Food Policy Research Institute (IFPRI), shows that there is a link between child stunting in India—which accounts for 11% of the world's teenage pregnancy, as per an expert writing in The Quint—teenage pregnancy.

Against the backdrop of the risks associated with early pregnancy—90% of the adolescent mothers in developing countries like India are girls who are already in a marriage—the National Family Health Survey 4 (2014-15) (NFHS-4) reporting that 27% of girls under the age of 18 are married is rather shocking, even though there has been a sharp fall since the turn of the millennium. The Unicef pegs the number of under-18 girls in India getting married every year at 1.5 million. Given pushing up the age at marriage—and thereby, maternity and overall fertility rates—are tied to improving education, the momentum reported by the NFHS-4 needs to be sustained and built upon; NFHS-4 data showed that with a sharp increase in education levels among women and even men, total fertility rates declined for communities that record some of the highest fertility rates in the country.

Even when such a marriage is 'consensual'—as the court has deemed it in the present instance—there is a need for the government to push greater awareness on delaying marriage and pregnancy. Where this a more particular problem, leaders of communities will need to drive social reform discouraging child marriage. The problem is of greater concern now, since the pandemic and related unemployment and rise in poverty seem to be eroding the gains made over the years; data from Maharashtra, reported by NPR, shows that officials stopped 208 child wedding between April and August 2020, while they had stopped 116 over April 2019-March 2020.

PowerLOSS

Not clear what the Centre hopes to achieve with yet another 'reform-linked' package for state electricity boards

THE FIRST BAILOUT package for state electricity boards tied to reforms—the Accelerated Power Development Programme—was launched in 2000, but little discom reform materialised. A series of such 'reform-linked' packages have been announced since, including 2015's UDAY, but there is little change in the state of the discoms. AT&C losses, which were to be cut down to 15% under UDAY, have reduced only marginally from 23.9% in 2015-16 to 22% in 2018-19. Moreover, while the ACS-ARR gap was to be completely eliminated, it remained at ₹0.52/unit and in some states even touched ₹2.67. So, it is surprising that the Centre should have announced yet another reform-linked funding package for the discoms. Sans evidence that discoms are willing to undertake serious reform measures, through tariff revision, etc, this is akin to throwing good money after the bad.

There is little hope that discoms can be salvaged with new money. While the government has said that smart metering and open choice will transform the sector, states have been reluctant to set tariffs that are economically viable; so, not much would change on the ground. A classic example of this is Uttar Pradesh. Even though its share in the total SEB losses has gone up from 7.4% in FY17 to 10.4% in FY19, the state, last year, delayed the plan of privatising the Varanasi discom, which had ATC losses of 38%, after protests from employees. Unless liability is fixed for errant states, they will keep succumbing to political pressures. If the Centre genuinely wants reforms, instead of spending more, it has to ensure a meaningful penalty. As this paper has argued before, the only way to do this is to enter into a tripartite agreement with the states and SEBs that allow RBI to deduct from the states' balances with it whenever discoms fail to make a payment to lenders.

THROUGH THE LOOKING GLASS

EMPOWER URBAN LOCAL BODIES TO LEVERAGE THE MARKETS. UNLOCKING URBAN FINANCING IS KEY TO KICK-STARTING URBAN INVESTMENT

Financing urban infrastructure

AKHILESH TILOTIA

Author is with National Investment and Infrastructure Fund (NIIF). Views are personal

INDIA'S RAPID URBANISATION is a well-documented story. Depending on how one counts urbanisation, Indian has between a-third and-a-half of its population already living in high-density areas. The trend towards urbanisation will continue as the economy moves towards becoming more connected with global ecosystems in manufacturing and services. According to various estimates, urban India contributes to ~70% of India's GDP. The poor quality of India's urban infrastructure means that the need to invest in it is well recognised.

Indian cities will have to improve their rankings in the surveys of the best cities in the world. Current rankings are largely driven by poor infrastructure of travel, water and sanitation, and air quality. The High-Powered Expert Committee for Estimating the Investment Requirements for Urban Infrastructure Services estimated the investment required to finance urban infrastructure and services at ₹39.2 trillion during 2011-2031. Private experts have also estimated these numbers: McKinsey (2018) noted that India's cities would require $1.2 trillion (~₹85 trillion) in capital funding over the next 20 years to keep up with the demands of their growing populations. The National Infrastructure Pipeline (NIP) envisages ₹19 trillion of investments in urban India over a five-year period till FY25.

In China, urban local bodies (ULBs) have relied on land sales to generate 'incomes' which have been reinvested in other projects. While Indian ULBs have some land and buildings of their own, a large part of the land in the cities and towns is either private or owned by agencies of the central government (Railways, Defence, etc) or the state government. Investments by ULBs will require large upfront capex, for which, the ULBs in India do not have the assets to sell and recycle. Such capex can be financed by taking on debt, i.e., by leveraging cash-flows of the ULB. Capital investment financed out of such debt is expected to lead to higher and more-evenly distributed growth: the increased economic pie can eventually be used to repay the debt.

Many municipalities in the recent years have raised funds from the market—however, the overall fund-raise has been only ~₹40 billion, a small fraction of what is required and can be enabled by the market. Accessing the market for urban financing will require: (a) ULBs to have predictable revenue streams, (b) capacity building, and (c) innovation in financial products to attract investors.

> ULBs need to get their accounting and financial reporting in order so that external investors have higher confidence in their numbers and prospects

Predictable ULB revenues

Revenues or inflows for the ULBs comprise tax and non-tax sources. Taxes include those on property and vehicles or levied by the local body on goods. User charges for services like water, fire, permissions, etc, account for the non-tax sources. ULBs also get some income from rentals of its properties.

For the top-35 municipalities in FY19, the primary revenue balance (the difference between revenue receipts and revenue expenditure) was negative ₹487 billion. ULBs received revenue share and grants of ₹656 billion and capex grants amounted to ₹577 billion, totalling to ₹1.2 trillion. These 35 municipalities spent ₹836 billion on capex, or less than half-a-percent of India's ₹200 trillion GDP.

UBLs are, hence, dependent on devolution and grants from the Centre and respective states. These grants and devolutions are sometimes committed, but in most cases, are discretionary or tied to specific projects. Converting grants that Centre and the states give to ULBs to committed devolutions will allow for better leveraging.

If, for example, the above annual ₹1.2 trillion is committed as a predictable and committed devolution, this amount can then be leveraged 7-10X to allow for a capex of ₹8-12 trillion in the cities over the next few years. These numbers are illustrative, but tie-in well with the requirements under the NIP.

Capacity building

ULBs need to get their accounting and financial reporting in order so that external investors have higher confidence in their numbers and prospects. A rigorous and timely system of accounting will also lead to the identification of new revenue sources, plugging of leakages in current sources, improvement of collections, optimisation of their assets, etc.

There are concerns on the political stability of the ULBs and their dependencies on two other tiers of the government, which may have different political dispensations: creating cash flow streams that are not impacted by significant political changes will generate confidence on the ability to service debt.

Currently, the market is shallow with few investors participating, and those who come in, tend to hold the bonds issued by ULBs to maturity. Creating a wider pool of investors will require having a predictable and large pool of supply of bonds and an active secondary market. This will generate interest amongst various long-term fund managers in insurance, pension funds, mutual funds, and others. One way in which the municipal debt can be analysed and tracked is if such issuances become part of an ETF like 'Bharat Bond' ETF that currently is only for central government and PSU debt.

Creating innovative products

Structuring debt issued by ULBs requires considerable skill. While 35 ULBs have been rated AA and above, only a few have been able to access the market due to the challenges outlined above. Structuring debt will require addressing concerns on availability, predictability, and fulsomeness of the cashflows to meet debt obligations. Many ULBs have escrowed their expected collection of property taxes to give comfort to the investors. Multiple ULBs can come together to pool their resources to reach out to the market—this will create a larger issuance and give investors comfort over the combined credit risk. Having a credit guarantee fund could allay some of the concerns. Innovation is also required in pooling together a wider variety of state and municipal bond issues and creating appropriate tranches with suitable risk-return trade-offs.

Unlocking urban financing is the key to getting the urban investment story kick-started: it will significantly improve the 'ease of living'.

Move from bare to basic

The adoption of the bare necessities index signals making policy more evidence-based; however, there is scope to make the approach more forward-looking

AMARENDU NANDY & ABHISHEK TRIPATHY

Nandy is assistant professor at IIM, Ranchi and Tripathy is a PhD candidate at IIM, Ahmedabad. Views are personal

THE ECONOMIC SURVEY 2020-21 has constructed a composite index called the Bare Necessities Index (BNI) to examine the progress made in providing access to bare necessities that are sine qua non for a decent living (Chapter 10, Volume 1). Using state-level data from two NSO rounds, the 69th (2012) and the 76th (2018), the BNI integrates 26 indicators across five dimensions—water, sanitation, housing, micro-environment, and other facilities to assess the inter-state disparity in the access of bare necessities. The consolidated and dimension-wise index values are constructed and compared for rural, urban, and combined (rural plus urban) for all states across India.

The BNI appears to have taken inspiration from the design of the Multidimensional Poverty Index (MPI), developed by researchers at the Oxford Poverty and Human Development Initiative (OPHI). The MPI is a global measure of multi-dimensional poverty that complements traditional monetary poverty measures by capturing the intensity of acute deprivations across dimensions like health, education, and living standards. In September 2020, NITI Aayog was entrusted with the responsibility to measure and monitor the state-wise performance of the Global MPI as part of GoI's Global Indices to Drive Reforms and Growth (GIRG) exercise. The development of the BNI appears to be a step towards aligning monitoring mechanisms at the domestic level with widely-adopted global benchmarks like the Sustainable Development Goals (SDGs) and the Human Development Index (HDI).

The development of BNI signals the government's willingness to adopt a new and more relevant multi-dimensional lens, to objectively monitor policy implementation of central schemes. Over the years, the government has launched a slew of schemes like Swacch Bharat Mission, PMAY, JJM, PMUY, Saubhagya, etc, which address various dimensions of well-being. It enables the government to take a systemic view of the progress made in the implementation of these programmes, and how they can serve the common goal of improving the living standards of the society as a whole. The BNI, thus, conflates economic development with human development by adopting an objective measure across multiple (otherwise) subjective dimensions.

The BNI also presents an opportunity to explore inter-departmental synergies, which could reflect a corporate-style problem-solving approach. Coordination among various departments responsible for implementing the different flagship schemes can lead to better allocation and utilisation of public funds by curbing redundancies. Further, as BNI compares inter-state progress, its adoption could potentially unlock a competitive spirit amongst states, thereby, enabling better accountability and resource utilisation.

One major point of departure with the MPI is related to the issue of directionality. While MPI measures deprivations, BNI endeavours to measure access to bare necessities and services. Deprivation indices may be more useful in identifying inequalities compared to access-based measures as the latter may suffer from issues of misestimation, particularly when the unit of analysis is less disaggregated. Access to necessities may not necessarily mean realised access at the household or individual level as various social, political, and spatial factors may influence this.

Inter-state comparisons of BNI implicitly assume that every scheme (that captures the different dimensions) has been uniformly provisioned across states in the first place. This may not be necessarily true as Centre-state relations, and other political-economy factors can significantly influence the adoption and implementation of the central flagship schemes (including the ones taken in BNI), as evidenced by instances in states like West Bengal, Delhi, Telangana and others.

While it is tempting to explore the inter-state disparities with the BNI, geographic, socioeconomic and demographic heterogeneity makes salient the need for disaggregating data down to a district or block level. This can help policymakers fine-tune the intra-state implementation of flagship schemes and direct public resources to where it matters, thereby, also improving the dynamics of Centre-state coordination. This can be complemented by periodic surveys to paint a continuous picture of progress.

The BNI appears to make an assumption about a uniform set of bare necessities for all citizens. For example, the sub-indices related to micro-environment and sanitation have more relevance for rural households than urban, as the latter arguably experience better waste management and hygiene practices. Therefore, BNI can be better understood if a bottom-up approach could be adopted, so that bare necessities reflect some of this diversity. Customisation of the BNI may be required to reflect progress across varied income, occupational, gender, and other demographic categories.

Lastly, keeping in mind the current and future orientation of government initiatives (particularly relating to aspects of 'Digital India' and 'Ease of Living'), it would help to explore ways in which the current BNI can be extended to keep pace with the fluid definition of 'bare' necessities in a fast-changing economy. Indicators related to primary education, healthcare, access to information and communication technologies, and access to basic financial services, warrant integration with the existing definition in order to paint a more holistic picture of human welfare.

The adoption of BNI does represent a mindset change to make public policy formulation, implementation and evaluation more evidence-based—as in vogue across the globe. Though the BNI goes one step beyond the philosophy that underpinned our approach to development in the post-independence era (roti, kapda, makaan), there exists further scope of redefining the 'B' as 'basic' rather than 'bare', making the approach more forward-looking.

China needs to be transparent

The 17-member WHO team and its Chinese counterparts have put to rest conspiracy theories that emerged early during the pandemic with the conclusion that a virus leak from a laboratory in China's Wuhan is "extremely unlikely" and did not require further study. The WHO team's investigation now strongly suggests virus origin to a natural reservoir in bats, but unlikely to have been in Wuhan. While early data suggest that the virus could have been circulating in Wuhan for weeks before it was identified in the Chinese city, it asserts that there is no evidence of large outbreaks in Wuhan prior to December 2019. The WHO visit is just the beginning of a long endeavour to uncover the origin of the virus. It will succeed only when scientific investigation is allowed to follow its course without being politicised. As in the case of the SARS outbreak in the 2000s, China again failed to be truly transparent during the SARS-CoV-2 outbreak. It can partially undo the damage done by now being more open and cooperative so that future outbreaks of related coronaviruses can be identified and contained early, if not prevented.

The border standoff

The beginning of the phased disengagement at Pangong Tso Area by India and China could bring the curtains down on a nine-month-long standoff along the Line of Actual Control in Eastern Ladakh. The three-step process began with the moving of frontline tanks and armoured units. China claimed that the frontline troops from both sides along the Pangong Tso had disengaged, and we expect official word from the Indian side soon. Pulling back of armoured units from the frontline augurs well and could considerably ease tensions.

The shadow of England in India's farm protests

If Modi can manage the crisis honestly, modern India may finally grasp the industrialising vision of Nehru

WHERE IS IT cheaper to buy rice? At a village market in India, a country where 377 million people live below the poverty line? Or on the trading screens of the Chicago Mercantile Exchange?

Shockingly, it's often the latter. Rough rice futures on the CME averaged $12.63 per hundredweight since the start of September and traded as low as $11.85, equivalent to about $233 a metric tonne. Meanwhile, the minimum support price at which India's government buys unmilled rice from farmers has been fixed at ₹1,868 per quintal in the same marketing year, or $254 a tonne at average exchange rates.

The gap is even wider for wheat, whose minimum support price has averaged a 25% premium to soft winter wheat futures in Chicago in the current marketing year.

That disparity stems from distortions. Jawaharlal Nehru, the first prime minister of post-colonial India, repurposed Soviet state planning for a democratic setup, and from 1956 invested heavily in sectors that made machines to produce industrial goods. By the mid-1960s, though, it became apparent to Nehru's successors that a shortage of basic consumption items—mostly farm output—was getting in the way of hiring and paying India's abundant labour. That's when minimum support prices came into being, as a way to coax farmers to feed a rapidly growing population.

But in a poor country, high prices assured to growers can't be passed on to consumers. When both are subsidised, the cost can be as high as ₹4.2 trillion ($58 billion) in a pandemic year—and even half of that otherwise. Also, nine out of 10 farmers who own less than five acres have been largely left behind by post-1990s reforms that have widened the productivity gap of non-farm labour over agricultural workers to 5.5 times, among the highest in the world.

More than three-fifths of the 1.3 billion population is stuck on the farm, and kept there with a $11 billion fertiliser subsidy; $9.5 billion in unmetered electric power; about $4 billion annual expenditure on periodic loan waivers; and of late an $80-a-year income supplement, which adds up to $9 billion. For the landless, there's a rural job guarantee, which cost $15 billion after migrant workers lost their urban jobs to the Covid-19 lockdown and returned to their village homes.

Viewed in this context, protests against new agricultural laws by farmers amassed at New Delhi's borders are the long-overdue birth pangs of a more urbanised nation. The reforms that are making farmers anxious have been deliberated since the early 1990s. When it comes to making them palatable, the missing ingredient even now is skilled midwifery: Farmers need to be able to trust both the intent and execution capacity of political leaders to fashion a new deal with taxpayers and consumers. It's not enough to say that giving a free rein to markets will automatically make India's farmers productive and prosperous. Someone has to explain what new organisational arrangements will replace the extensive state support that exists today.

A new bargain with farmers is needed for India to have a shot at reclaiming past glory. In 1750, the Mughal Empire accounted for about a quarter of the world's industrial output, and cotton textiles from Bengal and Kerala were traded worldwide.

Imperialism and the British industrial revolution devastated that trade. Britain's higher wages for textile workers forced its mills to adopt inventions such as the spinning jenny and flying shuttle to compete with Indian cloth. Protected by tariffs on Indian imports, the productivity of these technologies quickly became so great that the Lancashire textile industry was able to reverse the inherent disadvantages of more expensive labour and raw materials. Labour costs per unit went from more than double those in India in 1770 to less than a third in 1820, impoverishing India, which was reduced to being a supplier of commodity cotton to its colonial overlords.

It's unlikely any of this would have happened had it not been for the rapid and early decline of England's rural workforce. By the mid-18th century, agricultural employment already accounted for not much more than a third of the total. As a result, the country hit its Lewis turning point—the moment when excess rural labour supply is soaked up, resulting in wage rises that eventually improve the productivity of both urban and rural businesses—earlier than anywhere else on the planet.

That moment is finally coming near in India, too. As a share of total jobs, farming is about to drop below the 40% levels at which so many other countries saw growth take off. That feeds into the food price debate. A decade ago, when most Indians worked in agriculture and were more likely to be sellers than buyers of food products, it made sense for the government to prop up prices in what's known as mandi markets, and seek to manage the cost of urban living with consumer subsidies. A kilo of rice, which has an economic cost of ₹37 to the taxpayer, is sold to two-thirds of the population for ₹3.

It's an unsustainable equilibrium. Instead of overemphasising heavy industries like steel-making in the 1950s, if India had adopted an indigenous model that had advocated creating surpluses in so-called wage goods—rice, tea, everyday cotton clothing, matchsticks and so on—those extra earnings of rural and semi-rural households could have spread incomes more widely and laid a more solid basis for industrialisation and urbanisation. The $100 billion-plus being spent annually on subsidies and income support could have been redirected to infrastructure, services like healthcare and education, and perhaps a basic minimum income for all.

The mandi system has certainly benefited a class of farmworkers, especially in the northern grain basket states of Punjab and Haryana. In many ways, those states have the most sophisticated farming industries in all of India, with the highest share of land under irrigation, the highest incomes from crops, and some of the lowest levels of rural poverty.

But paying each of Punjab's 1 million farmers $1,600 a year in subsidised fertiliser and free power to pump groundwater is a drag on the economy and the ecology. In farm productivity, the states that have diversified beyond rice and wheat—the only two commodities for which minimum support prices really matter—are far ahead. Punjab, meanwhile, is sitting on depleted aquifers and environmentally unsustainable cropping patterns. Hazardous pollution in northern India is hurting the urban poor.

Prime minister Narendra Modi's government has tried to introduce reforms by stealth, saying that the mandi or the minimum support prices aren't going anywhere. Farmers, he says, will have more choices of private buyers; they will earn better prices. However, Punjab's cultivators can intuitively guess that their 1960s bargain with the state is ending. The powerful arhtiyas, or aggregators who bring crops to the mandi, know that their commissions would wither away.

That, too, has its parallel in the history of the industrial revolution. Britain's landed gentry sought to protect its wealth and prerogatives by demanding high tariffs and bans on grain imports, resulting in the Corn Laws imposed from 1815 to 1846. Those laws got repealed only after manufacturing-led urban interest groups became powerful in their own right, helping tilt the balance.

In India, a pushback to farm reforms was expected because of the manner in which the laws were rushed through parliament. Modi supporters are making the unrest worse by branding Punjab farmers as Sikh secessionists. The West, which has always complained about Indian farm subsidies at the World Trade Organization, can't but be supportive of pro-market reforms. But cutting off internet access at protest sites has ignited a rebuke from the US state department. Popstar Rihanna and climate activist Greta Thunberg have internationalised the agitation. Delhi has been barricaded with barbed wires. The space for a compromise is shrinking, and that's a shame.

A year before his death in 1964, Nehru was getting tired of relying on food aid from America that was given without much grace, and received without much gratitude. "If we fail in agriculture," he said, "it does not matter what else we achieve—how many plants we put up—our economic development will not be complete." That's true even today. Although the two leaders couldn't be more dissimilar, if Modi can manage the crisis honestly, modern India may finally grasp the industrialising vision of Nehru.

Reducing allocation by ₹6,000 crore over last year dampened the spirits NEP had lifted

FM NIRMALA SITHARAMAN did not disappoint the nation while presenting the Budget. She took advantage of palpable sentiments, applied precision and prudence to create her Budget. Under these challenging circumstances, the people wished the government would exhibit grit and build hope. Taking the infrastructure route, FM signalled growth, employment and economic reconstruction.

PM Atmanirbhar Swasth Bharat Yojana is expected to strengthen the health infrastructure with an outlay of ₹64,180 crore over six years. A provision for ₹35,000 crore and more if needed, for Covid-19 vaccine is a reinvigorating commitment.

The aspirational youth, constitute a large population, needed special attention. Restructuring the start-up story is the right step. Though experts are terming the Budget as India's second 1991-moment, there is widespread criticism that the FM did not deliver the education sector's expectations. Reducing the allocation by a substantial margin of over ₹6,000 crore over the last year dampened the spirits NEP had lifted. However, the argument that the education expenditure has gone up marginally as a percentage of GDP offers no solace. The bold promises made in NEP needed unlocking of resources. School preparedness as a precursor to NEP's much exciting early childhood care and education cannot fructify in the absence of capitalisation. However, increased allocation for centrally managed Kendriya Vidyalayas and Navodaya Vidyalayas are welcome.

Another glaring miss in the Budget is complete silence on the role of non-state-actors in providing education to 50% of the school-going children. The government cannot ignore the topic howsoever politically sensitive it might be. Policy support for educational autonomy and accountability, diversity of schools and colleges, and giving school choices are incomplete without the private sector's wholehearted participation. They too deserve ease of functioning and recognition as an essential ally in building human capital. Furthermore, that begs for governmental support to realise the equity in education fully.

> Another glaring miss in the Budget is complete silence on the role of non-state-actors in providing education to 50% of the school-going children

Opening hundred Sainik schools with the help of philanthropy, NGOs and private players aim to revive the Sainik School movement in the country that has remained stagnant over the years. Announcement of 750 low budget Eklavya residential schools, with a substantial rise in unit cost, in the tribal areas will enhance both accessibility and opportunities to learners. India needs to allocate public resources to disadvantaged groups and increase its score on indicator 4.5.3, of the overall UN SDG target 4.

Health and well-being, including emotional and mental health, is a strong indicator of cognitive development. Revitalising nutrition efficiency through mid-day meals and launching Mission Poshan 2.0 with resource commitment will enable equity, particularly for the 112 aspirational districts. Similarly, Jal Jeevan Mission aimed at a universal water supply in all the urban bodies by providing household tap connections will also ensure better health and sanitation. A push for research and innovation, encouraging centres of excellence at the school and higher education levels aligns with the NEP.

A policy paper by the Global Education Monitoring Report Team, says, "It is difficult to agree how much countries should spend on education. The Education 2030 Framework for Action appealed to countries to spend at least 4% of their GDP on education." The NEP promised 6%, and that is a modest target, considering the economy's size. It must honour that despite the unforeseen challenge arising from the pandemic.

FM has done away with archaic "bahi khata" to present a digital budget signifying the new and bidding adieu to the old. Her next Budget must include education as the central pillar of sustainability and atmanirbharta. The world community judges governments by policies, funding and intent to affect equity in education.

BUDGET FY22

A booster dose for the economy

Counter-cyclical fiscal policy will spur economic growth, and pave the path for a self-financing fiscal policy and sustainable debt levels

SURBHI JAIN & GURVINDER KAUR

FY22 BUDGET HAS endeavoured to lay the foundations of India's mid-term growth trajectory. The economy is currently at an inflection point—witnessing a fledgeling recovery from the twin shocks of the pandemic and associated health measures. The fiscal expansion illustrated in the Budget was, therefore, imperative to give the necessary 'escape velocity' to the Indian economy to overcome the 'influence-sphere' of this once-in-a-century shock.

The fiscal deficit target, which indicates the government's borrowing requirements, has been revised sharply upward to 9.5% of GDP in FY21 RE, from 3.5% in FY21 BE. While 30% of this increase was attributed to shortfalls in revenue collection, the remaining was due to higher public expenditure. On similar lines, a higher fiscal deficit target of 6.8% has been set for FY22 BE. Therefore, it is evident that India has consciously adopted a counter-cyclical fiscal policy—expansionary during economic downturns (and contractionary in good times).

Economic Survey FY21 had lucidly provided the intellectual anchor for adopting an active counter-cyclical fiscal policy, during an economic crisis such as the one we are witnessing. The various channels through which fiscal expansion cushions output contraction during economic downturns are: boosting private investment and consumption through higher fiscal multipliers in recession; compensating for greater risk-aversion of private sector and bringing back animal spirits through risk multiplier; and instilling confidence through expectation multiplier (as reflected in the surge in equity indices after Budget announcement). An RBI study corroborates this stance by estimating the fiscal multipliers in India—a one-rupee increase in capex crowds-in private investment, and increases output by ₹3.25 (RBI Bulletin, April 2019). Economic Survey 2020-21, therefore, advocated such an expansionary fiscal policy stance with an emphasis on stimulating public investment, to credibly raise growth expectations, crowd-in private investment and thereby, unleash a virtuous circle.

This growth-centric Budget for FY22 recognises this expansionary impact of capex and has emphasised the quality of increased spending through a big push to public investments. Capex for FY21 has been revised to ₹4.39 lakh crore in RE, and budgeted at ₹5.54 lakh crore for FY22. This encompasses a year-on-year growth of 30.8% in FY21 (FY21 RE over FY20 Actuals), and 34.5% in FY22 (FY22 BE over FY21 BE). Capex budgeted outlay for FY22 for major Infrastructure sector ministries saw considerable growth over BE for FY21, ie, 53% for railways, 32% for road transport and highways, 21.8% for housing and urban affairs.

Expansion in public expenditure amidst an economic crisis is, however, often accompanied by concerns regarding the sustainability of rising debt. Owing to the expected sharp increase in the borrowings (fiscal deficit) during FY21, as reflected in the Budget FY22, the central government debt-to-GDP ratio is expected to shore up in FY21. Economic Survey 2020-21 addresses these concerns in the present scenario.

The accumulation of government's debt can be simply understood through an identity of debt dynamics, whereby the change in debt-to-GDP ratio is directly proportional to the difference between interest rate and growth rate of the economy. A negative interest rate-growth differential implies that output is growing at a rate higher than the rate of interest to be paid on debt. The higher this negative differential, the lower are the debt-to-GDP ratios, thus making it easier (and quicker) for the government to ensure debt sustainability. This is akin to a simple investment made from borrowed funds—it is sustainable if it yields more return than the interest repaid on the principal amount.

The Survey, through extensive analysis, elucidates that for most of the years during the last two and a half decades, GDP growth rates have been greater than the interest rates, resulting in a negative interest rate-growth differential, and thus causing the debt levels to decline. It shows that with the interest rate-growth differential expected to be significantly negative in the foreseeable future, counter-cyclical fiscal policies may lead to lower, not higher, debt-to-GDP ratios. Even with the higher expected debt-to-GDP ratio this year, the simulations in the Survey show that debt sustainability may not be a concern for India—even in the worst-case scenario where India's real growth rate is 3.8% from FY23 onwards.

A counter-cyclical fiscal policy during the crisis, as designed in the Union Budget FY22, will, therefore, emerge as a booster dose for the economy at this juncture. It will spur economic growth, and pave the path for a self-financing fiscal policy and sustainable debt levels.

In call with Xi, Biden talks of 'unfair economic practices'

JOE BIDEN, IN his first conversation as president with the Chinese leader Xi Jinping, spoke of his concern about China's "coercive and unfair economic practices" as well as human rights abuses in the Xinjiang region, according to a White House account of their telephone call.

Biden also expressed misgivings about the country's growing restrictions on political freedoms in Hong Kong and "increasingly assertive actions in the region, including toward Taiwan," in the call, which took place Thursday morning Beijing time.

Biden, who wished Xi a happy Lunar New Year, was "committed to pursuing practical, results-oriented engagements when it advances the interests of the American people and those of our allies," the White House said.

The two presidents, according to the readout of the call, "exchanged views on countering the Covid-19 pandemic, and the shared challenges of global health security, climate change, and preventing weapons proliferation."

"It is notable that Taiwan was specifically mentioned as one of President Biden's top three concerns in the phone call," said Natasha Kassam, a former Australian diplomat who is now a research fellow at Australia's Lowy Institute research group. "It signals more continuity than divergence from the approach that was taken under the Trump administration, where high level visits to Taiwan were normalised. It also suggests that Beijing's recent uptick in aggression in the Taiwan Strait has not gone unnoticed by the new US administration."

China's official state news agency Xinhua, meanwhile, cited Xi as saying China and the US should re-establish mechanisms for dialogue so that there would be an accurate understanding of each other's policy intentions and to avoid misunderstanding and miscalculation.

The Xinhua report said foreign affairs officials from both sides may deepen communication on bilateral relations and major international and regional matters. More contact may be carried out among economic, financial, law enforcement and military bodies, Xinhua said. But it also repeated that Taiwan, Hong Kong and Xinjiang issues were China's domestic affairs, and said the US should respect China's core interests and act with caution.

Tencent says executive held over 'personal' graft allegation

PEI LI AND SCOTT MURDOCH
February 11

CHINESE TECH GIANT Tencent Holdings said a company executive is being investigated by authorities over allegations of "personal corruption", after a media report said the move was linked to sharing of personal data from its popular WeChat app.

The move comes amid Beijing's unprecedented crackdown on its homegrown internet platforms over violations of anti-trust and data privacy rules.

The Wall Street Journal reported earlier that a Tencent executive has been held by Chinese authorities as part of an inquiry into a high-profile corruption case involving one of the country's former top law-enforcement officials.

"We can confirm that case relates to allegations of personal corruption and has no relation to Weixin or WeChat," Tencent said in a statement to Reuters.

Citing people familiar with the matter, the Journal reported that the executive, Zhang Feng, has been under investigation by China's anti-graft inspector since last year over alleged unauthorised sharing of personal data collected by Tencent's social-media app WeChat.

Tencent said in statement to Reuters that Zhang's case was not related to its international WeChat app or domestic Weixin platform. It declined to elaborate further. — REUTERS

Myanmar: Suu Kyi aide, poll officials arrested; Biden nod for sanctions

REUTERS
February 11

A CLOSE AIDE to ousted Myanmar leader Aung San Suu Kyi was detained in a new wave of arrests following last week's military coup, a party official said on Thursday, as Washington moved a step closer to imposing sanctions on the junta.

The aide, Kyaw Tint Swe, had served as minister for the office of the state counsellor under Suu Kyi, who has been detained since the February 1 coup.

Regarded as Suu Kyi's right-hand man, Kyaw Tint Swe had been one of her representatives in crunch talks with the military days before the civilian government was overthrown.

Kyi Toe, an information committee member of Suu Kyi's National League for Democracy (NLD), said Kyaw Tint Swe and four other people linked to the previous government had been taken from their homes overnight, and the top leadership of the former electoral commission had all been arrested.

The military launched the coup after what it said was widespread fraud in November elections, won by the NLD in a landslide. The electoral commission had rejected those claims.

Myanmar authorities did not immediately respond to a request for comment, and Reuters was unable to confirm the arrests independently.

Protesters gathered across the country for a sixth straight day on Thursday. Hundreds of workers lined a road in the capital Naypyitaw, chanting anti-junta slogans and carrying placards supporting Suu Kyi.

Meanwhile, US President Joe Biden on Wednesday approved an executive order for new sanctions on those responsible for the coup, and repeated demands for the generals to give up power and free civilian leaders. Washington would identify the first round of targets this week and was taking steps to prevent the generals having access to $1 billion in Myanmar government funds held in the United States.

"We're also going to impose strong exports controls. We're freezing US assets that benefit the Burmese government, while maintaining our support for health care, civil society groups, and other areas that benefit the people of Burma directly," Biden said at the White House.

Bitcoin surges with BNY Mellon embrace of cryptocurrencies

BITCOIN ON THURSDAY jumped over 8% to an all-time high of $48,481 after Bank of NY Mellon said it had formed a new unit to help clients hold, transfer and issue digital assets. The new unit at BNY Mellon, called the Digital Assets unit, is expected to roll out the offerings later this year, the bank said. Bitcoin was last up 5.7% at $47,387.

US jobless claims down as labour mkt recovery stalls

THE NUMBER OF Americans filing new applications for unemployment benefits inched down last week, consistent with a recent stalling in the labour market recovery. Initial claims for state unemployment benefits totaled a seasonally adjusted 793,000 for the week ended February 6, compared to 812,000 in the prior week, the Labor Department said.

EU hopes for firm growth despite virus challenges

DESPITE DEEP UNCERTAINTY over a surge in Covid-19 cases, European Commission officials on Thursday expressed cautious optimism that European economies will rebound later this year and in 2022. In its winter interim economic forecasts, the EU's executive body predicts that growth in the 19 nations using the euro will reach 3.8% this year and next after a 6.8% drop in 2020.

UK variant likely to sweep the world, says scientist

GUY FAULCONBRIDGE
London, February 11

THE CORONAVIRUS VARIANT first found in the British region of Kent is a concern because it could undermine the protection given by vaccines against developing Covid-19, the head of the UK's genetic surveillance programme said.

She also said the variant was dominant in the country and was likely "to sweep the world, in all probability".

Sharon Peacock, director of the Covid-19 Genomics UK consortium, said vaccines were so far effective against the variants in the United Kingdom, but that mutations could potentially undermine the shots.

"What's concerning about this is that the 1.1.7. variant that we have had circulating for some weeks and months is beginning to mutate again and get new mutations which could affect the way that we handle the virus in terms of immunity and effectiveness of vaccines," Peacock told the BBC.

> "What's concerning about this is that the 1.1.7. variant ... is beginning to mutate again," scientist Sharon Peacock said.

"It's concerning that the 1.1.7., which is more transmissible, which has swept the country, is now mutating to have this new mutation that could threaten vaccination," she said.

That new mutation, first identified in Bristol in southwest England, has been designated a "Variant of Concern", by the New and Emerging Respiratory Virus Threats Advisory Group. — REUTERS

A report in the British medical journal The Lancet said former President Donald Trump's disdain for science, coupled with cuts to health programs and agencies, impeded the response to the pandemic, causing tens of thousands of unnecessary deaths.

The World Health Organization warned that a decline in overall virus cases conceals increasing numbers of outbreaks and community spread involving variants, with the strain first identified in South Africa late last year now identified in 19 countries.

Kraft Heinz to sell Planters, Corn Nuts brands to Hormel

REUTERS
New York , February 11

KRAFT HEINZ SAID on Thursday that it plans to sell its nuts business — including most Planters and Corn Nuts products — to Hormel Foods for $3.35 billion.

The Chicago-based company has been trying to streamline its portfolio. In September, it said it would sell its natural cheese business to Groupe Lactalis. "It will enable us to sharpen our focus on areas with greater growth prospects and competitive advantage for our powerhouse brands," chief executive Miguel Patricio said.

Kraft Heinz also beat analysts' estimates on Thursday for fourth-quarter revenue as people in lockdown bought more packaged food products. Sales grew 6.2% to $6.94 billion in the three months ended December 26, beating the average estimate of $6.82 billion, according to Refinitiv data.

Biden eyes more foreign workers while skirting row over H-1B visa

BLOOMBERG
February 11

JOE BIDEN'S IMMIGRATION overhaul seeks to allow more skilled foreign workers into the US without stirring widespread protest from labour groups, whose opposition would all but ruin prospects for what is already one of the president's most precarious priorities.

The sweeping proposal Biden sent to Congress on his first day in office drew quick Republican opposition over its centerpiece: a faster path to citizenship for 11 million undocumented immigrants in the US. Another provision would allow more foreign students and workers to enter the US by increasing the number of employment-based green cards.

Business groups view the proposal as a way to increase the supply of coders and other skilled tech workers for US companies without raising caps on programmes such as the H-1B visa for high-skilled workers.

> Business groups view the proposal as a way to increase the supply of coders and other skilled tech workers for US companies without raising caps on programmes such as the H-1B visa for high-skilled workers

Companies like Alphabet's Google, Apple and Facebook have for years pressed to increase the number of tech workers allowed into the US, saying they need engineers from countries like India because there aren't enough skilled Americans. But efforts to expand the workforce through H-1B visas have drawn a backlash from unions and immigration opponents, who argue that the companies overlook US talent to hire foreigners at lower salaries.

The Biden proposal seeks to sidestep a conflict with organised labour by leaving the annual H-1B quota untouched. The measure instead clears a path for more foreign workers to eventually enter the country by eliminating a decades-long backlog of people waiting for employment-based green cards, which grant permanent legal residence and are capped at 140,000 per year under current law.

"This bill, signed into law, would be a tremendous improvement for legal immigration in this country," said Todd Schulte, president of FWD.us, an immigration advocacy group founded by tech industry leaders.

Business group leaders have discussed an immigration overhaul with Democratic and Republican staff in the House and Senate, according to industry officials working on the issue. The talks have focused on finding areas of bipartisan consensus that can help advance an overall package.

Uber's 4Q loss narrows, raising hopes for recovery

ASSOCIATED PRESS
SAN RAMON, Calif., February 11

UBER WHITTLED ITS losses at the end of a topsy-turvy year that forced the ride-hailing service to rely more heavily on its food-delivery business.

The fourth-quarter results announced on Wednesday drew a picture of a company making strides in its attempt to recover from a staggering blow delivered last March, after the coronavirus outbreak.

The upheaval accelerated Uber CEO Dara Khosrowshahi's plans to expand the company's food-delivery operation as part of an effort to build a more versatile transportation service. Those efforts, which included a $2.65 billion acquisition of Postmates last year, have enabled the food-delivery service to bring in nearly as much revenue Uber's ride-hailing business.

For now, Uber still remains a long way from turning a profit. It lost $968 million, or 54 cents per share, in the October-December period, narrowing from a loss of nearly $1.1 billion, or 64 cents per share, at the same time in the prior year. The latest loss also marked an improvement from the quarters earlier in the pandemic. Revenue for the past quarter decreased 16% from the previous year to $3.17 billion.

The company's ride-hailing service brought in revenue of $1.48 billion in the quarter, a 52% drop from the prior year.

PepsiCo sales beat estimates

PepsiCo reported stronger-than-expected fourth-quarter revenue as consumers kept their pantries full with its snack and cereal offerings through the global lockdown. Sales rose 8.8% to $22.46 billion, PepsiCo said, topping the $21.81 billion average estimate from analysts. The Lay's chips and Tropicana juice maker announced a 5% increase in its annualized dividend.

Tokyo Olympics chief Mori to step down over sexism row

YOSHIFUMI TAKEMOTO
Tokyo, February 11

THE PRESIDENT OF the Tokyo 2020 Olympics organising committee, Yoshiro Mori, will resign over a sexist remark that sparked an outcry, two sources said on Thursday, while the former prime minister said he could not let the controversy drag on.

Mori's resignation would be bound to raise new doubts over the viability of holding the postponed Games this year.

The sources, who have knowledge of the matter, said Mori would be replaced by former Japan Football Association president and mayor of the Olympic village, Saburo Kawabuchi.

Mori made the sexist remark — that women talk too much — at a Japanese Olympic Committee board meeting early this month, setting off a storm of criticism at home and abroad.

Yoshiro Mori

Mori, 83, told Nippon TV he would "explain his thoughts" at a meeting on Friday but he had to deal with the issue. He did not confirm the reports that he would step down. "I cannot let this problem prolong any longer," Mori said, and he again apologised for the remark. — REUTERS

Mastercard to allow crypto transactions

FEBRUARY 11
Bloomberg

MASTERCARD WILL BEGIN allowing cardholders to transact in certain cryptocurrencies on its network, becoming the latest company to embrace digital assets.

The firm is also "actively engaging" with central banks around the world on their plans to launch new digital currencies, according to a Mastercard blog post on Wednesday. The company will prioritize consumer protections and compliance in its own plans, Raj Dhamodharan, executive vice president of digital asset and blockchain products and partnerships, said in the post.

Mastercard has already partnered with some of the biggest cryptocurrency firms, including Wirex and BitPay, but has required digital currencies to be converted into fiat currencies before processing payments for transactions on its network.

Not all cryptocurrencies will be included in the new policy. Mastercard singled out so-called "stablecoins," which often peg their value to that of another asset, such as the US dollar. "Many of the hundreds of digital assets in circulation still need to tighten their compliance measures, so they won't meet our requirements," Dhamodharan said. "We expect consumers and the ecosystem as a whole will start to rally around the crypto assets that offer reliability and security."

Yellen eyes innovation to battle misuse

US TREASURY SECRETARY Janet Yellen on Wednesday warned about an "explosion of risk" from digital markets, including the misuse of cryptocurrencies, but said new financial technologies could also help fight crime and reduce inequality. In remarks to a financial sector innovation roundtable, Yellen said such technologies could be used to stem the flow of dark money from organised crime and fight back against hackers, but also to reduce digital gaps in the US. She said passage of the Anti-Money Laundering Act in December would allow the Treasury Department to rework a framework to combat illicit finance that has been largely unchanged since the 1970s. "The update couldn't have come at a better time ... We're living amidst an explosion of risk related to fraud, money laundering, terrorist financing, and data privacy." —REUTERS

Twitter to explore letting users get paid by followers

REUTERS
February 11

TWITTER CHIEF EXECUTIVE Jack Dorsey said on Wednesday that the company is exploring allowing its users to receive tips, or digital payments, from their followers. Dorsey said the feature would help the platform earn more money and engagement from its 192 million daily users. "I think the first thing we want to focus on is that economic incentive to people who are contributing to Twitter," he said at the virtual Goldman Sachs Technology and Internet Conference.

Introducing user tipping and new features like content subscriptions would help the company diversify its revenue, which it currently earns mainly from selling advertising on Twitter.

INTERVIEW: ROHAN MIRCHANDANI

Co-founder and CEO, Drums Food International

'E-commerce has replaced modern trade in our retail strategy'

As it diversifies Epigamia's product portfolio beyond yoghurt, Drums Food International has set an ambitious target of expanding to 70 more cities by March 2022. Rohan Mirchandani talks to Devika Singh, about creating a market for niche products like almond milk in the small towns, using the digital channel as a testing platform, and more.

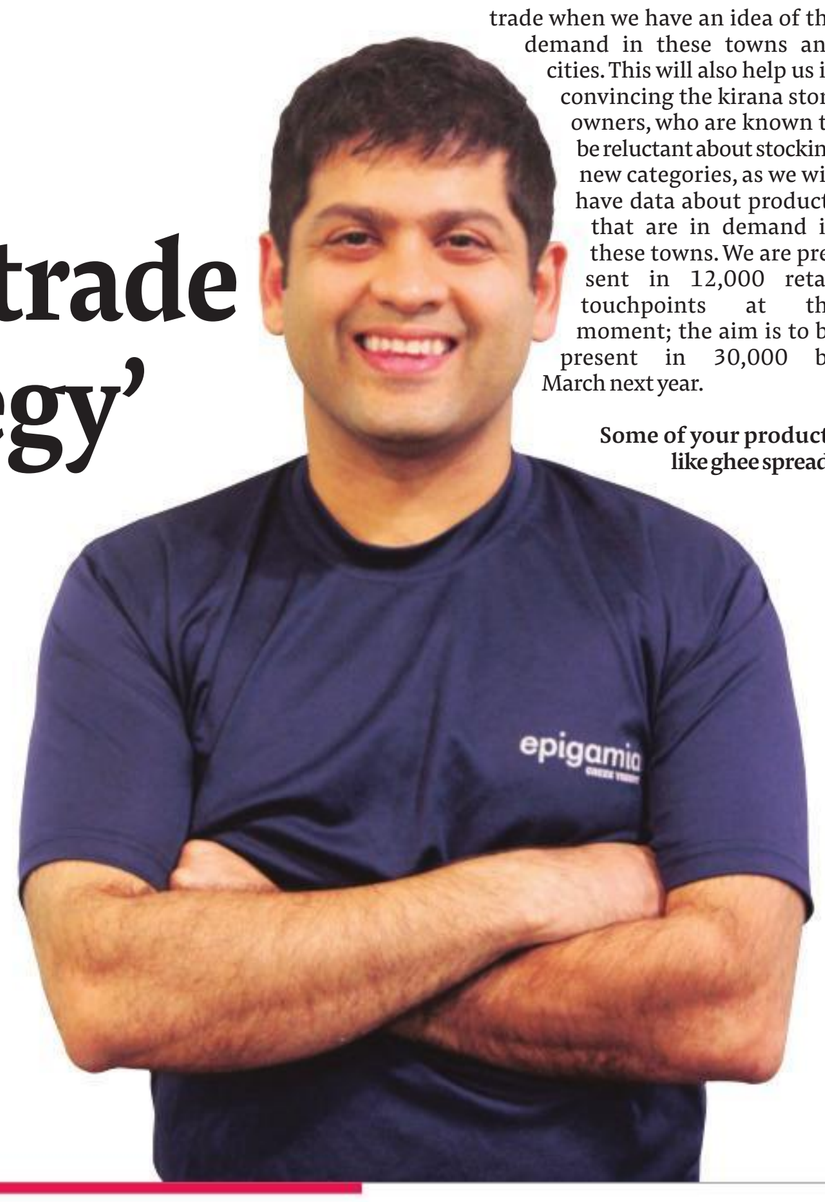
The top five metros bring in the bulk of your business. What are the challenges as you expand your presence in order to scale up?

We have expanded to 12 other tier I and II cities in the past year; but this reach is minuscule for an FMCG business. Being a start-up, we do not bring years of experience in the industry. Although that is why we have been able to bring disruption to the market, we now need the expertise to scale up. Hence, we hired a sales head recently who comes with several years of experience in the segment. It is difficult to predict demand in these towns; besides, there could be a skew towards certain products. Therefore, we are going to test these markets and then gradually scale up.

Will you be doing things differently in the newer markets, in terms of your retailing strategy?

In the pre-Covid times, we would use the modern trade channel for brand building through trials, and then scale up through general trade. However, we now plan to tap the e-commerce channel first. While we are not a digital-first company, we have seen sales from the direct-to-consumer channel and other e-commerce marketplaces take off last year. In January 2020, digital channels accounted for only 4-5% of our sales; today, their share is above 30%. So, e-commerce has replaced modern trade in our strategy now.

We plan to use the digital channel as a testing platform for our products in the new cities, and then push through general trade when we have an idea of the demand in these towns and cities. This will also help us in convincing the kirana store owners, who are known to be reluctant about stocking new categories, as we will have data about products that are in demand in these towns. We are present in 12,000 retail touchpoints at the moment; the aim is to be present in 30,000 by March next year.



Some of your products like ghee spreads

Some of your products like ghee spreads and almond milk cater to a niche audience. Will you be altering your product mix to make it more accessible to the masses?

We are testing our product range in these towns, and it would be unfair to conclude that our products will not find takers there. That said, the idea is to make these consumers try our products in the lower price range, and then move them gradually towards those in the higher price points, such as almond milk. We recently launched Probiotic Yogurt (₹25) and Mishti Doi (₹30), and these products have seen good traction in the small towns. We have 34 SKUs in the market across price points, and are also giving an aspirational positioning to these products. Consumers in the small towns want to try out these products given their exposure to social media. Going ahead, we might introduce a few more accessible curd and yoghurt products, keeping these markets in mind.

You were selling as many as three million units of Greek Yogurt per month earlier. Have you been able to sustain this post pandemic?

Due to the impact of the lockdown, our sales obviously slowed during April-June, 2020; but we were back on track in the later quarters. According to our projections, we will grow 40% in the last quarter (Q4) of FY21, as compared to the same period last year. At the moment, we are selling 4.5 million units of our Greek Yogurt every month. Overall, we expect to end the fiscal with a 10% growth. This is a feat for us, considering that about 25% of our business comes from alternate channels such as hotels, office complexes and schools, which have been severely hit.

Breaking through consumer inertia

In light of the Sebamed campaign controversy, some lessons for marketers

Ambi Parameswaran

ESCAPE VELOCITY IS the minimum speed needed for a free, non-propelled object to escape from the gravitational influence of a massive body (Earth), that is, to eventually reach an infinite distance from it [wiki]. In order to escape from Earth's gravitational pull, a body has to achieve a speed of 40,000 kmph; this calls for special design, rocket fuel and multi-stage propulsion.

Earth's gravitational pull is very much like the pull of inertia that keeps consumers stuck in their routine: they use the same brands for the same purposes. How can marketers get them to change their routine and, in a sense, escape from the gravitational inertia? There are two approaches. One is to gently nudge them to try new things — through free sampling or promotional offers. The other approach is to give your brand a huge thrust so that it breaks through consumer inertia. One way to do this is by naming a brand that the consumer is attached to.

Name calling

Sebamed is a German skincare soap licensed to the Indian pharmaceutical major USV. Sebamed created a flurry in the soap market with its pH-focussed ad comparing itself with popular brands like Lux, Dove, Pears, Santoor, and even Rin. The ad went on to explain that sensitive skin needs a soap that has a neutral pH, and Sebamed, with a pH of 5.5, is ideal.

What was also interesting was that the ad broke on a Friday morning, armed with three days of advertising to do before courts interceded. HUL got a stay order on the basis of 'unfair comparison' (talking about pH is fair, but bringing in Rin did not wash with the court).

HUL should not be surprised with the pH war. It, too, had run a similar pH-focussed ad for Dove in the UK, naming brands like Ivory, Palmolive and Neutrogena. But naming Rin was a very different new move by Sebamed. A few years ago, Tide from P&G and Rin from HUL fought a similar battle, naming names.

TGIF

Unlike in the US or UK, Indian brands usually refrain from naming the competition, given the legal quagmire you can get dragged into. Breaking advertising on a Friday is another tried-and-tested technique used by brands that are sure they may be dragged to court, even if they were not mentioning anyone by name. For example, Moov broke its campaign on TV on a Friday, and the claim was that unlike your favourite brand (Iodex was not mentioned, but its distinctive pack was visible), Moov did not stain your clothes. The blitz went on through Friday, Saturday and Sunday; on Monday, the court issued a stay order. But Moov had achieved escape velocity.

There have been numerous cases where a competitor is not mentioned explicitly: Captain Cook called it your "favourite salt" (without mentioning Tata Salt), but there was no legal issue; Tata Indica mentioned "50cc moped, 100cc mobike, 800cc car – now you can ask for more" — it was clear they were calling out Maruti 800, but no legal action followed (in fact, Maruti 800 cut its price by ₹25,000 on the day of Tata Indica's launch).

Naming competition or highlighting a competitor without the name are strategies that can be used by a newcomer or a sub-salient brand. This alone is not enough. You need to follow through with a brand campaign that will capture the benefits of the momentum.

Just as a rocket escaping from Earth's gravitational pull, a brand, too, can break consumer inertia with an aggressive competitive stance. But if you switch off your engine, you will come crashing down to Earth, and consumers will go back to their 'favourite brand'.

MONEY MATTERS

Seven money lessons to teach your kids

Management of money is a science as well as an art and the earlier we start learning about it, the better we master it

SANJEEV BANSAL & URVASHI VARMA

MONEY MANAGEMENT IS a skill that parents need to pass on to their young children. It must be treated as any other basic life skill since it will make them future-ready. Financial literacy begins at home. Management of money is a science as well as an art and the younger we start the better we master it.

Concept of money

To begin with, it is important to discuss with children the significance of money and how people generate income from careers and professions. At this stage, it is also important to differentiate between needs or necessities and wants or desires and how money can fulfil both.

Savings

The next skill-set is the importance of savings. Savings is excess of income over consumption. Tell them that a penny saved is a penny earned. Savings habits can be inculcated by providing them a piggy bank from an early age and as they grow old taking them to banks for their bank accounts. Introducing them to banking services like ATMs and mobile or online banking will prepare them well for their future.

ILLUSTRATION: SHYAM KUMAR PRASAD

Investments

Savings provide scope for investments. Money is a preserver of value, but it can grow only if it is invested well. Children must be introduced to the benefit of investments and different classes of investments like fixed deposits, post office schemes, mutual funds, gold, art, real estate shares, and bonds. At this stage, we can also talk about the benefit of investing in varied assets rather than a single asset class. Tell them not to put all eggs in one basket. Leading investors across the globe recommend that investments must start early to accumulate wealth in later stages.

Budgeting

Budgeting allows one to take control of one's money. The first principle of budgeting is spending less than one earns. Teaching children how to create a plan for their money and the expenses they incur will help them learn about the deficit and surplus of money. This will help them decide how they wish to spend their money.

Credit for life goals

Credit or borrowings is something that most of us use for meeting our financial goals. Children must be introduced to the concept of borrowings and interest which is the charge on the borrowing. Let them know different types of loans available for personal finance like home loans, auto loans, or educational loans. It is equally important to sensitise the drawback of taking a loan that is beyond the credit capacity of an individual.

Looking into risk

Risk management is another skill-set that children must attain. To start with, they must be introduced to insurance and how procuring insurance can lead to minimising probable monetary losses that can arise due to any unforeseen adversity. Discuss with them the benefit of motor insurance or health insurance. While travelling, discuss the benefits of travel insurance and as they understand these, subtly introduce them to the benefits of life insurance.

Taxation

As responsible citizens, children should understand that tax is a charge to be paid for the amenities we get as citizens and hence we need to abide by the law of land. Teaching them ethical practices from the beginning will help the government do better for the country.

Six key steps to follow when selecting stocks

Select stocks based on fundamentals. Check their M Score and Piotroski's Score and don't go just by their price movement

YOUR MONEY

N SIVASANKARAN

MARKET CRASHES offer several valuable investment lessons for all investors. Young investors in their thirties need to learn the following lessons.

The market is inefficient

Market crashes provide a lot of strength to the belief that the market is inefficient, i.e, market rises and falls on irrational hopes, emotions and sentiments and the indices and individual share prices do not reflect information efficiency. Information traders and speculators could drive the indices either upwards or downwards on their beliefs and desires. Hence the market does not price the securities fairly.

What goes up will fall and vice versa

The price of the share is not constant. It shall take an up-down or a down-up journey. One should not take a bullish or bearish view because the price showed an increasing/decreasing trend in the near past. Most of the time, share prices move on collective beliefs and sentiments of the market participants. Therefore, movement of prices does not tell us anything about the intrinsic value of stocks.

Fundamentals are to be believed

We should select a stock based on its fundamentals such as dividend payout ratio, return on equity, net profit margin, competitive advantages, nature of business, operating leverage, and financial leverage. One should not decide on the basis of one quarterly or annual report as it is possible for a firm to perform extremely well or poorly on an extraordinary period and hence, going by the five-year (or a reasonable period) average figures may be prudent.

ILLUSTRATION: SHYAM KUMAR PRASAD

Get support from Piotroski's Score

Having decided to follow fundamental analysis in investments, it is wiser to get the support for your valuation figures by computing Piotroski score. It is computed for a stock based on 9 sub-parameters such that a stock gets a score on a scale of 0 to 9. If a stock gets a score of 8 or 9, then it is strongly recommended to invest in it and if its score is less than 2, it is a definite reject and if the score is between 3-7, it is a doubtful case.

Pass the M score

Firms follow earnings management practices. Therefore, it is better to approach the valuation of a stock with skepticism and remove the fear of losing money by running the Beneish M Score or any other manipulation detective exercise. One should not pick up a stock which fails in the manipulation test.

Value is in the range

Valuation is never a precise single figure. We cannot state that the share price of a firm is worth ₹500. This is because valuation output is the outcome of several assumptions considered by the valuer. Therefore, it is a good practice to perform a sensitivity analysis and conclude stating that the value of this stock is in the range of ₹350 to ₹600 with a median value of ₹400.

We may go wrong in our assessment even after following the above stated precautions. Therefore, it is pragmatic to construct a portfolio of stocks with promising fundamentals rather than investing the entire corpus in a single stock.

Banks' provisioning in Q3 rises 10% sequentially

FE BUREAU
Mumbai, February 11

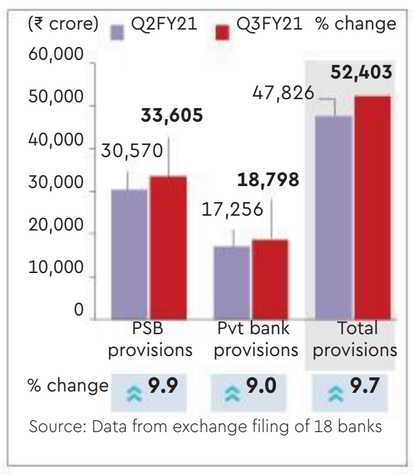
PROVISIONING FOR BANKS during the December quarter (Q3FY21) is up nearly 10% sequentially, shows data from 18 banks. Eighteen banks have provided ₹52,403 crore against loans during the December quarter, compared to ₹47,827 in September 2020. While 11 private sector lenders made provisions of ₹18,798 crore during the quarter, seven public sector lenders provided almost double of that at ₹33,605 crore. Despite rise in provisions, the aggregate net profit of 18 lenders stood at ₹28,604 crore, up 6% sequentially.

The lenders had made extra provisions during the quarter on account of loans that were not classified as non-performing assets (NPAs) due to Supreme Court's direction. The apex court had earlier directed lenders not to declare any fresh NPAs from August 31, 2020. The lenders, therefore, declared bad loans on a proforma basis by making adequate provisions for the same. Proforma NPAs of 18 lenders has crossed ₹7 lakh crore during the December quarter.

In a report on asset quality of lenders, Moody's said that while gross non-performing loan (NPL) ratios remained high at most banks, net NPL ratios were much lower because of the buildup of significant provisions against legacy bad loans. Moody's said, "The gross NPL ratios of 5 banks declined by an average of about 100 basis point (bps) as of the end of 2020 from a year earlier, even including loans that have become delinquent since the end of August 2020 but are not formally classified as NPLs because of a pending case in the Supreme Court."

The rating agency has predicted less likelihood of a sharp deterioration of asset quality at banks. "We expect the Indian economy to recover in 2021, and this reduces the likelihood of a sharp deterioration of asset quality at the banks," Moody's said. However, they will continue to face capital shortages as their profitability remains weak, it further added.

The financial stability report of Reserve Bank of India (RBI) had earlier stated that banks' GNPAs may rise sharply to 13.5% by September 2021, and escalate to 14.8% under the severe stress scenario.



RIL drives markets to fresh closing highs

FE BUREAU
Mumbai, February 11

STOCKS GAINED ON Thursday, after consolidating for the last two sessions, driven by robust gains in Reliance Industries. The Sensex jumped 222.13 points (0.43%) to close at a fresh record high of 51,531.52 and the Nifty rose 66.80 points (0.44%) to its all-time high of 15,173.30. Dovish comments from US Federal Reserve Chair Jerome Powell bolstered the global investor sentiment.

Strong buying was witnessed in RIL, which rose by 4.43% to close at ₹2,061.8 a piece.

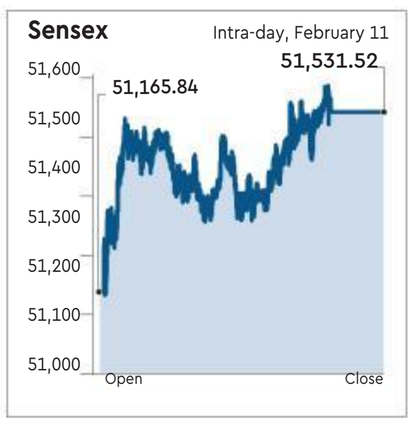
Shrikant Chouhan, executive vice-president, equity technical research, Kotak Securities, said: "The Nifty closed at the highest point of the day on the weekly closing of the index options. Index giant Reliance Industries pulled the market sentiment."

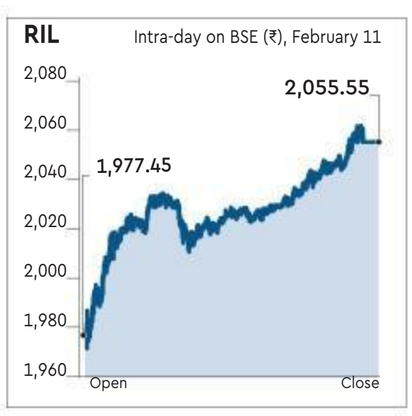
However, the smallcap stocks outperformed the gains made by the benchmarks for the second straight session as the Nifty Smallcap 100 rose by 1.81%.

On the other hand, midcap stocks underperformed both the benchmark and the small cap index, with the Nifty Midcap 100 gaining merely 0.18% during the day's trade.

Foreign portfolio investors have remained strong buyers in the Indian equities for the fifth straight month. So far, they have pumped in capital worth $3.27 billion into the markets. On Thursday, they bought stocks worth $125.9 million, provisional data on the exchanges showed. Volumes during the day remained strong, with the futures and options segment seeing volumes worth ₹68.81 lakh crore. The cash market witnessed a turnover of ₹66,920.64 crore.

Banking stocks consolidated for the second straight session on account of volatility caused by the weekly options expiry. The biggest losers on the Nifty Bank were Bank of Baroda, Punjab National Bank, HDFC Bank, State Bank of India and ICICI Bank with losses of 3%, 1.9%, 0.36%, 0.34%, 0.14%, and 0.05%, respectively.





However, according to market experts, the biggest swing in profits over the next two financial years is expected to be delivered by banks, energy, auto and telecom companies due to normalisation of depressed earnings.

ICICI Securities in its report said, "Equity valuations are stretched at close to 22 times one-year rolled forward basis, but earnings upgrade cycle and low discount rate will remain supportive of thigh valuations."

Major gainers on the Nifty were Hindalco, RIL, Sun Pharmaceuticals, Adani Ports and SEZ, as well as GAIL, which were up by 5.51%, 4.43%, 2.63%, 2.32%, and 2.1%. Significant losers on the Nifty were Eicher Motors, Titan Company, Larsen and Toubro, Tata Motors and Coal India, down by 2.56%, 2.45%, 1.28%, 1.2%, and 1%.

Total consideration for DHFL at ₹34,250 cr: Piramal

Company aims at changing financial services biz model

FE BUREAU
Mumbai, February 11

PIRAMAL ENTERPRISES (PEL) on Thursday said the total consideration for acquiring Dewan Housing Finance Corporation (DHFL) stands at ₹34,250 crore. The company, while disclosing its December quarter earnings (Q3FY21), said the total consideration of ₹34,250 crore included ₹14,700-crore upfront cash and non-convertible debentures (NCDs) of ₹19,550 crore.

DHFL's committee of creditors had earlier approved a resolution plan by PEL's subsidiary Piramal Capital and Housing Finance (PCHFL) by 94% votes. The National Company Law Tribunal is yet to approve PCHFL's resolution plan for DHFL.

The company highlighted that the proposed acquisition of DHFL was in line with PEL's strategy to diversify its loan book and increase granularity. Ajay Piramal, chairman, Piramal Enterprises said, "Firstly, we are changing our financial services business model from one that is wholesale-led to a well-diversified one, this also being one of the key objectives behind our bidding for DHFL." We are in parallel, making strides towards creating a large differentiated listed pharma company, post the growth capital raise from the Carlyle Group, through both organic as well as inorganic investments, he added.

PEL's consolidated net profit during the December quarter jumped 10% year-on-year (y-o-y) and 27% sequentially to ₹799 crore. The total revenue from operations, however, declined 3% year-on-year and 4% quarter-on-quarter (q-o-q) to ₹3,169 crore.

Talking about its financial services business, the company said it had undertaken a conservative provisioning of ₹2,935 crore, up three times compared with ₹947 crore in Q3FY20. This included provisions of ₹2,027 crore against standard assets of stage 1 and stage 2.

The capital adequacy ratio improved 300 bps at 37%, compared with 34% during the September quarter. PEL mentioned that financial services has sufficient capital for growth for the next three-five years.

Magma Fincorp surges to 19-mth high as Poonawalla set to acquire 60% in NBFC

NUPUR ACHARYA
February 11

MAGMA FINCORP, A financier for vehicles and homes, surged to the highest in 19 months after the chief executive officer of the world's biggest maker of vaccines said he's buying control of the shadow lender.

The company's shares hit the bourse's daily upper circuit with a 10% gain to ₹93.55 on Thursday, set for the highest since July 2019. Adar Poonawalla, CEO of Serum Institute, which is manufacturing the coronavirus vaccine developed by AstraZeneca and the University of Oxford, will spend ₹3,210 crore ($441 million) to acquire a 60% stake in the Kolkata-based financier.

Poonawalla is expanding his shadow banking business just as the industry is showing signs of recovery following a crisis that started with the collapse of a non-bank financier in 2018. The pandemic had made it harder for small shadow lenders such as Magma Fincorp to raise money, said Jyoti Roy, deputy vice-president at Angel Broking.

"The presence of a deep-pocketed investor will help Magma Fincorp to step up its business," Roy said. "Valuations in the Indian shadow banking space have come off significantly in the last two years and there are quite a few such small shadow lenders who are up for sale at attractive prices."

Magma Fincorp and its subsidiaries will be renamed and branded as Poonawalla Finance, Magma said in a filing late Wednesday. The deal raises Magma Fincorp's capital adequacy to 68% from 28% end-December, subject to regulatory clearance. Poonawalla's acquisition vehicle – Rising Sun Holdings – will also make an open offer for the rest of Magma's shares at ₹70 each, some 25% discount to the current price.

Serum Institute CEO Adar Poonawalla

The stock rose on Thursday for a ninth consecutive session, putting it on course for its longest run of gains since June. It has surged 107% so far this month, after a nearly 13% jump in January.

"There's a huge void we saw with certain other non-bank finance companies going belly up and that has given space for new entrants to come in," Adar Poonawalla said in an interview with ET Now television. "I don't want to get into large-ticket loans, real estate sector, corporates and all that," he said, adding that he's comfortable with Magma's typical loan size of as much as ₹50 lakh.

He will be chairman of the company and Sanjay Chamria will be executive vice chairman. —BLOOMBERG

PRESS TRUST OF INDIA
New Delhi, February 11

STATE-OWNED RAILTEL CORPORATION of India on Thursday fixed a price band of ₹93-94 a share for its initial share-sale, which will open for public subscription on February 16.

The initial public offer (IPO) is entirely an offer-for-sale through which government will offload 87,153,369 equity shares, amounting to 27.16% stake, the company said in a statement.

At the upper end of the price band, the government would raise a little over ₹819 crore. The three-day issue would close on February 18 and the anchor investors portion would be open for subscription on February 15.

The mini-ratna PSU is one of the largest neutral telecom infrastructure providers in the country owning an optic fiber network on exclusive Right of Way (RoW) along railway track. The firm provides broadband telecom and multimedia network across the country. Half of the issue is reserved for qualified institutional buyers, 35% for retail investors, 15% for non-institutional bidders.

As on June 30, 2020, its optic fiber network covers over 55,000 km and 5,677 railway stations across towns and cities in the country. ICICI Securities, IDBI Capital, SBI Capital Markets are merchant bankers to the issue.

In December 2018, the cabinet had approved IPO of RailTel Corporation by diluting up to 25%t government stake.

ANALYST CORNER

Adani Ports: Downgrade to 'neutral'; TP higher at ₹630

NOMURA

VOLUME OUTLOOK ROBUST into FY22F and the COVID-19 linked impact now behind us; stock fairly valued Raise our EBITDA forecasts by 8%/9% for FY22/-23F factoring in higher volume estimates; however, we downgrade the stock to Neutral with a higher TP of ₹630 on a strong earnings outlook likely factored in ADSEZ has delivered strong underlying volume growth of 20% (ex Krishnapatnam) in 3QFY21, highlighting a strong recovery post the lockdown. While revenue at ₹37.47bn (+12% y-y), in line with our forecast, the core EBITDA margin (ex forex) at 66.4% (down 215bp y-y) was ~200bp ahead of our forecast despite the USD3mn one off acquisition-related cost in other expenses. However. we downgrade the stock to Neutral, given.

Strong volume outlook into FY22F+; WDFC (Western Dedicated Freight Corridor) linkage can lead to further market share gains: Based on our recent expert session on global container outlook (link), we estimate global container traffic should rebound to 9% in CY21 despite some near-term headwinds like container shortages. Further, we believe efficient ports like ADSEZ may be able to take price hikes as well due to the better handling of congestion vs ports in neighboring countries. Moreover, we expect market share gains from JNPT (unlisted) as rail bound port cargoes shift to Mundra, as it connects to WDFC in 1QFY22. Thus, overall volume and pricing outlook appears favorable for ADSEZ.

The sharp spike in share price relative to the NIFTY valuation multiples (Fig. 2 and Fig. 3) suggests the positives are largely factored in: ADSEZ shares have outperformed NIFTY by 25% in the past 12 months with almost entire outperformance in past three months as ADSEZ demonstrated strong volume growth and market share gains. Furthermore, EV/EBITDA consensus multiples appear elevated.

Trading at 12x FY22F EV/EBITDA; raise TP to ₹630; downgrade to Neutral We increase our FY22F 23F EPS by 12%/13% to factor in volume growth higher than we had previously estimated. We continue to value the port assets on a sum-of parts basis applying DCF metrics, with cost of equity unchanged at ~11%, to arrive at our TP of INR-630, implying ~9% upside and hence downgrade to Neutral.

Muthoot Finance: Retain 'reduce' with FV of ₹1,250

KOTAK INSTITUTIONAL EQUITIES

HIGH GROWTH PHASE behind us. Muthoot Finance's 3QFY21 performance was supported by strong gold price rally during 9MCY20, improving funding environment and efficient cost controls at the company. With stable gold prices and favorable base waning, we expect growth to revert to mid-teen levels from FY-2022E. Limited scope for NIM expansion and credit cost reversals makes Muthoot less preferred at the current juncture over pro-cyclical diversified financials. Retain REDUCE; Fair Value ₹1,250

We believe the recent rally in gold and improving liquidity will drive about 26% loan growth in FY2021E; however, with stable gold prices, we expect growth to normalise to about 14-15% over the medium term, supported by gradual organic expansion. We expect the liquidity environment to remain favorable as well.

Muthoot's business is linked to gold. Muthoot's business tends to have high linkages to the gold cycle. Notably, Muthoot reported average RoA of 2.6-6.8% during the recent cycle, i.e. 2014-20 (peak of 6.5-6.8% in FY2020-21) and RoE of 14-28% (peak of 28% in FY2020-21). With stable gold prices, we expect RoE to revert to about 22% by FY2024E; any sharp correction in gold prices can provide downside to our estimates, even as we have built some buffers on NIM compression and marginally higher credit costs from current negligible levels.

Prefer NBFCs that play on recovery. In the current environment we prefer vehicle finance/SME NBFCs (Cholamandalam, Mahindra Finance, Shriram Transport Finance and SCUF) that benefit from a combination of improving demand recovery and reducing credit costs, driving high earnings growth in the near term. Muthoot, on a high base of FY2021E, will moderate in the near term.

Shanghai bank commits $100 m to NIIF FoF

PRESS TRUST OF INDIA
New Delhi, February 11

NATIONAL INVESTMENT AND Infrastructure Fund (NIIF) on Thursday said that Shanghai-based New Development Bank has committed to invest $100 million (around ₹728 crore) in NIIF Fund of Funds (FoF).

With NDB's investment, the FoF has secured $800 million in commitments, according to a statement.

NDB joins the Government of India (GoI), Asian Infrastructure Investment Bank (AIIB) and Asian Development Bank (ADB) as an investor in the FoF, it added.

Set up as a Category II Alternative Investment Fund (AIF) in 2015, the NIIF currently manages three funds with distinct strategies — Master Fund, Fund of Funds and Strategic Opportunities Fund.

"This investment marks NDB's first equity investment into India and its first ever investment into a Fund of Funds. Through this investment in the FoF, NDB aims to support private capital investments in India when Indian companies are seeking much-needed equity to achieve their long-term growth," the statement said.

Further, the investment supports NDB's and NIIF's common goal of investing responsibly in a number of sectors that support India's growth and economy, it added.

The FoF was established in 2018 with the objective of providing homegrown Indian private equity fund managers access to an India-focused institutional investor that operates at scale.

Through the FoF, NIIF aims to support private equity fund managers that have demonstrated a strong track record of delivering returns to investors.

The FoF also provides an opportunity for global institutional investors to build a portfolio of growth-focused funds in India and selectively co-invest into a wide range of investment opportunities.

The FoF invests in a variety of sectors, including green energy, social infrastructure, mid-income and affordable housing, consumer services, financial services, technology and others.

1. The above results have been reviewed by the Audit Committee and approved by the Board of Directors at their respective meetings held on February 11, 2021 and have been subjected to Limited Review by the statutory Auditor.
2. Due to the impact of Covid-19 across the globe, the company was not able to operate at its full extent to meet its minimum operating cost, leading to loss of Income/sale and negative cash flows in the first two quarters of FY 2020-21. It had become very difficult for the company to operate and to manage even the minimum operational cost. However, Company expects to receive carrying amount of all its assets including trade receivables, inventory and advances in ordinary course of business.
   However, Considering the fact that the situation is exceptional and is changing dynamically, the company is not in a position to gauge with certainty, the future impact on its operations. Company is sure that the demand in garments will take some time certainly for pick up. In spite of many challenges of Covid-19 situation, we are expecting new opportunity in protective apparel and textile industry to overcome the situation.
3. The Company has incurred losses of Rs. 1,267.71 Lakhs (before other comprehensive income) for the quarter ended 31st December, 2020 (quarter ended September 30, 2020 – Rs. 1,403.69 Lakhs) The accumulated losses exceed its paid up capital and other equity as on December 31, 2020. These conditions indicate the existence of a material uncertainty that may cast significant doubt about the Company's ability to continue as a going concern and, therefore it may be unable to realise its assets and discharge its liabilities in the normal course of business. The Management is currently implementing a plan to increase turnover, improve profitability and financial position and has assessed that it will be able to meet the working capital requirements for the next 12 months. The Holding company has confirmed financial support to the Company to continue as a going concern. The Company is therefore being viewed as a going concern and the financial results have been prepared under the going concern assumption.
4. The Company has only one reportable segment i.e. Garments.
5. For the quarter ended December 31, 2020, the application of Ind AS 115 has resulted in the the Finance costs being higher by Rs. 1,074.53 lakhs (Quarter ending September 20 -1,085.47 lakhs) and loss after tax being higher by a similar amount vis-à-vis the amounts if the replaced standard was applicable. The basic and diluted EPS would be Rs. (0.40) as against Rs. (2.64).

Daiichi: Explain Fortis share sale: SC to lenders

JUSTICE LALIT CAME down heavily on Malvinder. "Around 3 crore shares have gone away from the kitty after various assurances were given to the HC in June 2017. Around 30.65 crore encumbered and unencumbered shares were intact before assurances were given in June 2017. You never told the HC to take control of the situation if banks were selling securities. You should have informed the court about this while giving assurances. This means shares were in your control only. There is also a finding of guilt in your favour," the bench told Malvinder.

The judges also told Malvinder it would give him 10 days to either deposit the entire money in court or bring back the shares. "Resultant transaction must be annulled and original situation should be restored. Either shares have to be given back or you put in the money equivalent to this amount in the court," Justice Lalit told Malvinder while asking him to furnish the documents showing he had informed the lending banks and financial institutions from time to time about various directions issued by the courts with regards to assets/shares of the promoters.

The directions were issued after Malvinder's senior counsel Kailash Vasudev alleged that Fortis Healthcare shares owned by him and his brother Shivinder were not transferred by the brothers to IHH Berhad but was by the banks.

Japanese drugmaker Daiichi Sankyo, which is seeking enforcement of the ₹3,500-crore Singapore arbitration award against the Singh brothers, had alleged the duo had disposed of their controlling stakes secretly in Fortis Group to IHH Healthcare despite giving several written assurances to the HC that they would not alienate their unencumbered shares.

The brothers had given five written assurances before the Delhi HC they would not dilute their shareholdings in the hospital chain. However, their shareholding in the company declined from above 70% to below 1% after Daiichi Sankyo took them to court for enforcement of the award.

New CEO: ArcelorMittal plans $1-bn cost cuts

FOR THE YEAR ahead, new CEO Aditya Mittal told a conference call that customers were rebuilding steel inventories and end-user demand was recovering following summer lockdowns.

Germany's Thyssenkrupp on Wednesday raised its full-year outlook for the first time in nearly four years, boosted by a recovery at its steel unit.

ArcelorMittal said it would resume dividend payments, of $0.30 per share, and would return a further $570 million to shareholders through a new share buyback programme in addition to a $650 million buyback announced on Tuesday.

The Luxembourg-based group's shares were down 0.5% at €19.12 by 0855 GMT, but have recovered strongly from mid-2020 when they were below €10.

ArcelorMittal also said the impact of the second wave of Covid-19 had so far been limited on its customers in the manufacturing, construction and automotive industries.

Analysts at Jefferies said solid earnings and the new shareholder returns policy should be welcomed by the market.

Fourth-quarter core profit almost doubled to $1.73 billion, beating an average forecast of $1.47 billion in a company poll of analysts.

Fresh demand: FM seeks House nod for extra spending of ₹6.3 lakh cr

THE SUPPLEMENTARY DEMANDS also include ₹65,412 crore for the department of fertilisers, primarily to clear fertiliser subsidies, and ₹20,467 crore for the capital expenditure of the ministry of defence. Similarly, extra spending of ₹1,22,208 crore is for providing loans to state governments via a special window under back-to-back loans to them in lieu of the GST compensation shortfall and under special assistance (as loan) to them for capital expenditure.

The first batch of such demands (with gross expenditure of ₹2,35,853 crore) was placed before Parliament in September 2020 before the government rolled out mainly demand-side stimulus measures.

The government is seeking approval for additional spending, as it was forced to offer relief packages in the wake of the pandemic despite a plunge in revenue collections. Consequently, its fiscal deficit is expected to shoot up to as high as 9.5% of GDP, according to the revised estimate for FY21. To fund the deficit, the Centre was also forced to raise twice its gross market borrowing to a total of ₹12.8 lakh crore in FY21, up sharply from the budgeted ₹7.8 lakh crore.

According to the revised estimate of FY21, total expenditure will rise to ₹34.5 lakh crore, against the budgeted ₹30.4 lakh crore. Revenue receipts, meanwhile, is estimated to slip to just ₹15.6 lakh crore in FY21 from the budgeted ₹20.2 lakh crore.

Even though the nominal GDP is expected to reverse a contraction and expand at 14.4% in FY22, the indispensability of continued spending to spur growth has forced the Centre to keep the deficit target elevated at 6.8% for the next fiscal as well.

Kamdhenu looks to divest 20% stake in paint business

SURYA SARATHI RAY
New Delhi, February 11

KAMDHENU IS LOOKING at divesting around 20% of its stake in the paint business that it plans to demerge from the company in the next six months. Growing at a rate higher than the industry average, the paints division of the country's largest manufacturer and seller of TMT bars is expected to clock around ₹1,000 crore revenue in the next 4-5 years, said company's chairman and managing director Satish Agarwal.

"Paint, as a business, is growing like FMCG products now. While the industry is witnessing around 18-20% annual growth, our paint division is expected to grow at a much faster rate at 40-45% in the coming years. The proceeds from the divestment will be used for capacity expansion," Agarwal said.

PRESS TRUST OF INDIA
New Delhi, February 11

FINTECH MAJOR BHARATPE on Thursday said it has raised $108 million (over ₹786 crore) in funding, led by existing investor Coatue Management, at a valuation of $900 million (over ₹6,551 crore).

The company has raised $90 million in primary fund raise and also ensured secondary exit for its angel investors and employees for a total amount of $18 million, a statement said.

The series D round also saw participation from all seven existing institutional investors ? Coatue Management, Ribbit Capital, Insight Partners, Steadview Capital, Beenext, Amplo and Sequoia Capital, it added.

With this round, the company has raised a total of $268 million in equity and debt till date, the statement.

"We, at BharatPe, do not celebrate fund raises. It is akin to procuring raw material. We are super excited though to have returned ₹125 crore of capital to angels and all ESOP holders, earning them one of the highest returns on investment. The team is committed to make money for all stakeholders, investors, lenders, borrowers, employees and banks," BharatPe co-founder and chief executive officer Ashneer Grover said.

Online content providers adopt IAMAI's tool kit for self regulation

FE BUREAU
New Delhi, February 11

THE INTERNET AND Mobile Association of India (IAMAI) on Thursday announced the adoption of an implementation tool kit by 17 online curated content providers (OCCP) including Netflix, Amazon Prime Video, and Disney+Hotstar. The tool kit aims to equip the OCCPs to adhere to the self-regulation code firmed up by the body. Amit Goenka, chair, digital entertainment committee at IAMAI, said that the tool kit seeks to "address feedback received from the ministry of information & broadcasting, particularly on strengthening the grievance redressal mechanism".

The I&B ministry had last year rejected the self regulation code and had directed IAMAI to look at other regulatory models. The government was of the view that the code lacked independent third party monitoring. Besides, it did not have a well-defined code of ethics and failed to enunciate prohibited content adequately. The IAMAI was advised to look at the structures of the Broadcasting Content Complaints Council (BCCC) and NBSA.

UP targets 250% increase in exports in four years: Siddharth Nath Singh

DEEPA JAINANI
Lucknow, February 11

ALIGNING ITSELF TO the central government's aim of increasing exports, the Uttar Pradesh government has set itself a highly ambitious target of exporting goods worth ₹3 lakh crore in the next four years from the present ₹1.2 lakh crore, which is an increase of nearly 250%.

Speaking to FE, Uttar Pradesh's minister for MSME, Investment and Export Promotion Siddharth Nath Singh said to cash in the space that China has been forced to vacate due to geopolitical disturbances, the Uttar Pradesh government had roped in international consultancy firm PriceWaterhouseCoopers (PwC) and has prepared an export strategy for the state. While 17 key sectors have been primarily identified, in the first phase, the focus would be on the top five priority products that have export potential and good demand in the global markets.

The identified sectors are electronics and electrical equipment, apparel, machine and equipment, processed food items and organic chemicals. The shortlisted priority products currently contribute to around 63% of the exports from UP and account for around 5% of India's exports.

"We decided to take the professional help of PwC to carve out a comprehensive export strategy for integrating UP with the global supply chain network, keeping in mind the current challenges and global opportunities. We have also tried to find product opportunities where China previously had a major global export share, the chain of which has now been disrupted owing to Covid," he said adding that UP has a market presence in many sectors.

"We need to work on our areas of expertise. In 2020-21, our exports were to the tune of ₹1.20 lakh crore, which was a jump of over 28% over the previous year. We wish to take this up further to Rs 3 lakh crores in the next four years," the minister said, adding that the state government is working on linking various initiatives including the state's flagship one district one product (ODOP) scheme, which has not only rejuvenated endangered local arts and crafts but has also helped in securing the livelihood of millions of rural people engaged in these activities.

Gas output rises above pre-Covid level: DGH

INDIA'S NATURAL GAS production has risen above the pre-Covid level following the start of output from a KG-D6 field operated by Reliance Industries (RIL) and its partner BP, upstream regulator DGH said on Thursday.

Natural gas production in the country in February 2020 was 80 million standard cubic meters per day and in January this year it reached 82 mmscmd, said Anand Gupta, Additional Director General (Development), Directorate General of Hydrocarbons (DGH).

"Yesterday the production was 84 mmscmd," he said at the 'Upstream Ahead' conference. "By end of the month, production is expected to reach 85 mmscmd," he said.

The rise in output, he said, was a result of RIL and BP starting production from a field in their KG-D6 block. —PTI

Govt to spin off NDR into separate co: The government will create a company to own and operate India's maiden National Data Repository (NDR) that stores information on the vast sedimentary basins in a bid to boost oil and gas exploration and production. "The government has decided that NDR will be transferred into a separate company," said Amar Nath, joint secretary in the Petroleum ministry. —PTI

CHILLING SECURITY VIDEO

Dems focus Trump trial on mob's threat to his fellow Republicans

The House of Representatives has charged Trump with inciting insurrection

REUTERS
Washington

HOUSE DEMOCRATS PROSECUTING Donald Trump's impeachment trial for inciting the deadly siege of the Capitol played chilling security video on Wednesday showing members of the pro-Trump mob searching the building for his vice president, chanting: "Hang Mike Pence!"

Previously unseen videos showed the view from inside the Capitol as rioters smashed windows and fought with police on Januay 6, coming within 100 feet (30 m) of the room where Pence was sheltering with his family. The mob had set up a gallows outside.

The footage, which also included body-camera views of brutal attacks on Capitol police, showed Pence and lawmakers being hustled to safety steps ahead of an advancing mob that stormed the building, resulting in the death of five people, including a police officer.

The House of Representatives has charged Trump, a Republican, with inciting an insurrection by exhorting thousands of supporters to march on the Capitol on the day Congress was gathered to certify Democrat Joe Biden's electoral victory.

Trump's lawyers argue his rhetoric is protected by the First Amendment's guarantee of free speech and that the trial is politically motivated.

Conviction, while unlikely in the closely divided Senate, could lead to a vote to bar Trump from running for office again

The video footage highlighted the fact that hundreds of Trump supporters who attacked the building in an attempt to stop the peaceful transfer of power targeted Republicans - whose votes would be needed to convict Trump.

House managers prosecuting the case frequently highlighted the threat to Pence. Trump had repeatedly said Pence had the power to stop the certification of the election results, even though he did not.

"The mob was looking for Vice President Pence," Representative Stacey Plaskett said, narrating footage that showed the crowd chanting: "Hang Mike Pence!" and searching for Democratic House Speaker Nancy Pelosi.

"President Trump put a target on their backs and then his mob broke into the Capitol to hunt them down," she said.

Democratic Representative Joaquin Castro said that during the rampage, Trump tweeted that Pence "didn't have the courage to do what should have been done." A video showed rioters spreading word of Trump's tweet to one another on bullhorns. "He further incites the mob against his own vice president, whose life was being threatened," Castro said.

House managers prosecuting the case also said Trump did little to stop the violence as it spiralled out of control, despite pleas from many Republicans to ask his supporters to stop.

They said he had planted the seeds for the riot by encouraging violence and making false claims the election was stolen long before Jan. 6. "Trump realised last spring that he could lose the November election and began planting seeds of anger among his supporters by saying he could lose only if it was stolen," said Representative Joseph Neguse.

Notes to Financial Results

1 The above results have been reviewed and recommended by the Audit Committee and approved by the Board of Directors at a meeting held on February 11, 2021.

2 The Company has adopted IND AS 116 "Leases" effective April 1,2019, as notified by the Ministry of Corporate Affairs (MCA) vide Companies (Indian Accounting Standard), Amendment Rules,2019, using the modified retrospective method. Accordingly, comparatives for the year ended March 31, 2019 have not been retrospectively adjusted. The effect of this adoption is not material on the profit for the year and earning per share.

3 The Hon'ble High Court of Allahabad had, vide its Judgement dated October 26, 2016, on a Public Interest Litigation (challenging the validity of the Concession Agreement and seeking the Concession Agreement to be quashed) has directed the Company to stop collecting the user fee holding the two specific provisions relating to levy and collection of fee to be inoperative but refused to quash the Concession Agreement. Consequently, collection of user fee from the users of the Noida-Delhi Toll Road has been suspended from October 26, 2016, pursuant to which an appeal has been filed before the Hon'ble Supreme Court of India, seeking an interim stay on the said Judgement.

On November 11, 2016, the Hon'ble Supreme Court issued an interim order and, though denying the interim stay, sought assistance of CAG to verify whether the Total Cost of the Project in terms of the Concession Agreement had been recovered or not by the Company. The CAG has submitted its report to the Hon'ble Supreme Court, which at a hearing held on September 14, 2018 directed that the Report submitted by CAG be kept in a sealed cover.

The SLP is still pending for final adjudication in the Hon'ble Supreme Court. The Company has also notified NOIDA that the Judgement of the Hon'ble Allahabad High Court, read with the interim order of the Hon'ble Supreme Court of India, constitute, a 'change in law' under the Concession Agreement and submitted a detailed proposal for modification of the Concession Agreement, so as to place the Company in substantially the same legal, commercial and economic position as it was prior to the said change in law. Since NOIDA did not act on the proposal, the Company had sent a notice of arbitration to NOIDA.

The Arbitral Tribunal has been constituted and both the Company and NOIDA have submitted their claims and counter claims. Further, NOIDA had filed an application under Section 16 on the maintainability of the arbitration proceedings which was rejected by the Arbitral Tribunal vide order dated August 10, 2018.

NOIDA had filed an application in the Delhi High Court, under Section 34 of the Arbitration and Conciliation Act,1961, challenging the Arbitral Tribunal order dated August 10, 2018, which has been disposed off by the Delhi High Court on January 31, 2019, without any relief to NOIDA.

Noida has also filed an application for directions before Hon'ble Supreme Court seeking stay on the arbitral proceedings.On April 12,2019, the Hon'ble Supreme Court directed a stay on arbitral proceedings.The Company has filed an application before the Hon'ble Supreme Court of India on Janauary 31,2020,seeking the vacation of Stay on arbitral proceeding directed by the Hon'ble Supreme Court.The matter was taken up for hearing on September 21, 2020,October 05,2020 and November 18,2020 on which date it was posted for January 20,2021, on that day Court directed that it be lisited for hearing on March 16.2021.

Based on a legal opinion and the Board of Directors' reliance on the provisions of the Concession Agreement (relating to compensation and other recourses), the Company is confident that the underlying value of the intangible and other assets are not impaired.

The Company continues to fulfil its obligations as per the Concession Agreement including maintenance of Project Assets.

4 The Company has received the assessment order from Income Tax Department on December 27,2019 u/s 143(3) of the Income Tax Act, 1961 for the Assessment Year 2016-17 and 2017-18 wherein a demand amounting Rs.357 crores and Rs 383.48 crores has been raised based on the historical dispute with the Tax Department which is primarily on account of addition of arrears of designated returns to be recovered in future, valuation of land and other recoveries. The Company has filed an appeal with the first level Appellate Authority.

During previous year,the Company has received an order from CIT(A) on April 25, 2018 and pursuant to the CIT (A) order, the AO has also passed consequential orders in respect of AYs 2006-07 to 2014-15, giving effect to the CIT (A)'s appellate orders and has enhanced the tax demand by Rs.10,893.30 crores. The enhancement of the demand was primarily on account of valuation of land. The Company has filed an appeal along with the stay application with Income Tax Appellate Tribunal (ITAT). The matter was heard by ITAT on December 19, 2018, January 2, 2019 and at the last hearing on February 6, 2019, the ITAT, based on the NCLAT order dated October 15, 2018, granting a moratorium on all creditors actions against IL&FS as well as of its group companies including NTBCL, adjourned the matter sine die, with directions to maintain status quo.

During November 2018 the CIT(A), NOIDA, passed a penalty order for A.Y. 2006-07 to 2014-15, based on which the Assessing Officer Delhi imposed a penalty amounting to Rs. 10,893.30 crores during December 2018. The Company has filed an appeal, along with a stay application with ITAT on January 11, 2019. The matter was heard by the ITAT on March 29, 2019 and May 3, 2019, which adjourned the matter sine die, with directions to maintain status quo.

5 In terms of the affidavit filed by the Ministry of Corporate Affairs with the Hob'ble National Company Law Appellate Tribunal (NCLAT) on May 21,2019, the cut-off date of October 15,2018 ("Cut-off date") was proposed. The Hon'ble NCLAT vide its Order dated March 12, 2020, has approved the revised Resolution Framework submitted by New Board along with its amendments. In the said order, Hon'ble NCLAT has also approved October 15, 2018 as the Cut Off date for initiation of resolution process of the Company. Accordingly, the Company has not accured any interest on all its loans and borrowings with effect from October 15,2018 ("Cut-off date").

6 On September 28, 2018, a writ of demand was served by NOIDA on the Company for an amount of Rs 3.69 crores in relation to revenue from advertising on the NOIDA side of DND Flyway. The Company has requested NOIDA to keep the writ of demand in abeyance since the matter has been referred to Arbitration by NOIDA and further no action can be taken against the Company due to the moratorium granted in view of NCLAT order dated October 15, 2018.

During December 2018 and April 2019, the Company has received an additional demand of Rs.2.34 crores and Rs 2.42 crores towards arrears of license fee. The Company has requested NOIDA to keep demand in abeyance since the matter has been referred to Arbitration by NOIDA.

7 The novel coronavirus (COVID-19) outbreak which was declared as a global pandemic by World Health Organization on March 11, 2020, the Government of India, followed by Government of NCT Delhi and Government of Uttar Pradesh, have, since March 16, 2020, been issuing various measures/directions/guidelines/orders to all commercial and industrial establishments and to impose "lock-down" and curfews and preventing inter-state and intra-state travel and requiring offices to be closed.

As a result of the complete nationwide lockdown initially imposed from March 25, 2021 for 21 days and extended twice till 31st May 2020 and the gradual re-opening of limited activities in a calibrated manner in areas outside containment zones, there is a impact on the Revenue from operations during the Nine months ended December 31, 2020 (Space for Advertisement and the Rental Income from Office Space) owing to the restrictions and consequential waivers. Although the Company continues to exhibit reslience amind these uncertain times, the management believes that considering the Company's historical performance and liquidity, the Company will be able to mitigate the risks associated with COVID-19. The Company will however continue to closely monitor any changes to the future economic conditions that may have impact on its business and financial position.

8 The Company had only one business segment and therefore reporting of segment wise information is not applicable.

9 Previous period figures have been regrouped / reclassified wherever necessary.

Notes :

1 The above is an extract of the detailed format of the Unaudited Standalone and Consolidated Financial Results for the quarter/nine months ended 31st December, 2020 filed with the Stock Exchanges under Regulation 33 of the SEBI (Listing Obligations and Disclosure Requirements) Regulations, 2015. The full format of the aforesaid Results for the quarter /nine months ended on 31st December, 2020 are available on the websites of the National Stock Exchange of India Limited (www.nseindia.com), BSE Limited (www.bseindia.com) and also on the Company's website (www.jaypeeinfratech.com).

2 The Standalone Results of the Company comprise of only one segment i.e. Yamuna Expressway Project, an integrated and indivisible project which inter-alia includes construction, operation and maintenance of Yamuna Expressway and rights for land development of 25 million sq. mtrs. along the expressway.

3 The Corporate Insolvency Resolution Process (CIRP) that was initiated against the Company on 09.08.2017 has since been concluded with approval of Resolution plan of NBCC (India) Limited (NBCC) (with certain modifications) by NCLT, Principal Bench, New Delhi vide its order dated 03.03.2020. The Successful Resolution Applicant (NBCC) preferred to file an appeal before the Hon'ble National Company Law Appellate Tribunal ("NCLAT") against the Hon'ble NCLT order dated 03.03.2020 against certain modifications made to its Resolution Plan. Hon'ble NCLAT in its order dated 22.04.2020 has inter alia stated that the approved Resolution Plan may be implemented with constituting an Interim Monitoring Committee (IMC). As per directions of Hon'ble NCLAT, the Interim Resolution Professional (IRP) constituted an 'Interim Monitoring Committee (IMC)' "comprising of the 'Successful Resolution Applicant', i.e the Appellant and the three major Institutional Financial Creditors i.e IDBI bank Ltd., IIFCL and LIC" till the disposal of above appeal to manage the affairs of the company.

However, the Resolution Plan of Successful Resolution Applicant (RA) though approved is not being implemented since the RA is of the view that Hon'ble NCLAT order dated 22.04.2020 is not a direction to implement the Resolution Plan & the implementation shall take place post finalization of the appeals before Hon'ble Appellate Tribunal and / or Hon'ble Supreme Court of India. Hon'ble Supreme Court in the Civil Appeal Diary No 14741/2020 between Jaypee Kensington Boulevard Apartments Welfare Association & Ors Vs NBCC (India) Ltd & Ors vide its order dated 06.08.2020 has transferred all the pending appeals/cases bearing Nos. 486, 488, 475, 478, 480, 489, 506, 547, 544 and 630 of 2020 with NCLAT to itself i.e. to Supreme Court to avoid further delay in execution of scheme. Further, it has stayed the order of Hon'ble NCLAT dated 22.04.2020 till further order and in the meanwhile Hon'ble Supreme Court of India has ordered the IRP to manage the affairs of the company. Directions were again passed by the Hon'ble Supreme Court of India vide its order dated 10.09.2020 that since the entire resolution plan is pending consideration in these proceedings before this Court, it is appropriate that no coercive action be taken by any person/authority against the Company until further orders on the principle underlying Section 14 of the Insolvency and Bankruptcy Code, 2016. Further, the arguments in aforementioned matter before Hon'ble Supreme Court have concluded on 08 October 2020 and judgement on same is reserved. Accordingly, the operations of the company are managed on going concern basis.

4 The total income from operations is inclusive of revenue from real estate (netted off delay rebate). During the quarter ended on December 31, 2020, revenue from real estate is ₹ 438.90 lakh. Consequent upon approval of Resolution plan of NBCC by committee of creditors (COC) on 17.12.2019, the delay rebate is not being appropriated /adjusted while raising demand to customers from January 2020 onwards. However, provision for delay rebate was made in books of accounts on prudent basis which shall be dealt with as per the resolution plan pending before Hon'ble Supreme Court of India for adjudication.

5 CBRE South Asia Private Limited has carried out an assessment for cost to complete (comprising of civil cost, consent and approval cost, Internal Infrastructure Development Cost, Architect Fee and contingencies) as on 31.03.2019 for the real estate projects being developed by the Company at its land parcel 1 i.e. Noida and Land parcel 3 i.e. Mirzapur. The balance cost to complete as on 31.12.2020 is based upon the said assessment as reduced by the actual work done upto 31.12.2020.

6 As the power of Board of Directors have been suspended, the above result have not been adopted by the Board of Directors. However, the same have been reviewed and signed by IRP of the Company Shri Anuj Jain on February 11, 2021 for filing with the stock exchange. The position of CFO had become vacant pursuant to resignation of former CFO on July 31, 2020.

7 The Company has disclosed outstanding loans and interest in financial statements as per balances appearing in its Books of Accounts as per agreements with respective banks/financial institutions. Finance Cost is inclusive of Interest on debt for the quarter ending December 31, 2020 aggregating to ₹ 52230.91 Lakh (Cumulative ₹ 707340.72 Lakh as at December 31, 2020). However, this liability shall be restated in the books of accounts as per the resolution plan pending before Hon'ble Supreme Court of India for adjudication.

8 The Company reviewed the deferred tax assets/ liabilities on temporary differences between the tax base of assets and liabilities and their carrying amounts for financial reporting purpose at reporting date. However, since the Company was under CIRP, there is virtual uncertainty of taxable profits in near future and availability of deferred tax assets to be set off. Accordingly, the deferred tax (net assets) for the reporting period i.e. April 1, 2020 to December 31, 2020 have not been considered.

9 The privately placed listed Non Convertible Debentures aggregating to ₹ 21195 Lakh as on 31st December 2020 are secured by way of exclusive charge/mortgage on 124.73 acres of land situated at Land parcel 4 i.e. Tappal, Distt. Aligarh, Uttar Pradesh.

10 The outbreak of corona virus (COVID-19) pandemic globally and in India is causing significant disturbance and slowdown of economic activity. Due to the lockdown announced by the Government, the Company's operations were suspended/ slowed down for most part of the nine months ended December 31, 2020 and accordingly financial results for the quarter/ nine months ended December 31, 2020 have been adversely impacted and are therefore not comparable with those for the previous periods. The operations and economic activities have gradually resumed with requisite precautions.

11 The figures for the quarter ended 31st December, 2020 represents the balancing figures between the reviewed figures of the nine months ended 31 December, 2020 and the published year to date figures up to September 30, 2020.

12 The previous quarters/nine months/year figures have been reworked/regrouped/rearranged wherever necessary to conform with those of current quarter/nine months /year.
