IIT-Madras faculty resigns alleging caste discrimination

OP ARULN | DC
CHENNAI, JULY 1

An accomplished faculty member in the country's premier institution of higher learning Indian Institute of Technology- Madras (IIT-M) has quit citing caste discrimination in the department of humanities and social science. A letter he sent to his faculty members went viral in the social media and kicked up a storm. In the letter, assistant professor Vipin P. Veetil stated one of the primary reasons for his leaving the IIT-M is the caste discrimination he has faced at department since joining in March 2019. Individuals in position of power irrespective of their claimed political affiliations and gender were instrumental in meting out injustice to him, he said. "There were multiple specific instances of discrimination and I shall be pursuing appropriate actions to address the matter," he said. "One of the curious phenomena I have observed at the Institute is that the Bayesian prior among many is that caste-discrimination is rare occurrence," the letter said. "However, my own experience, and conversations with members of SC and OBC communities, suggests that the Bayesian prior is far from true".

Suggesting to set up a committee to study the experiences of the SC and OBC faculty members, he said that such a committee shall have members of the SC/ ST Commission, OBC Commission, and psychologists. "I do believe people who face the discrimination may benefit by filing complaints with the grievance committee at the Institute and with courts. Societies progress one small step at a time, or do they?" he said he is leaving for another institution. Dr Veetil completed post-doctoral studies at University of Paris in 2018, Ph.D in economics at George Mason University in the United States in 2016, masters in finance in Collegio Carlo Alberto, Italy in 2010, masters in law and economics, Erasmus Mundus programme, Erasmus University, Rotterdam (The Netherlands), University of Bologna (Italy), and University of Aix-Marseille, (France) in 2008. He holds a bachelor of arts (honors) in economics from Hindu College, University of Delhi and International Baccalaureate Diploma, Shanghai American School in China in 2003. He has published several articles in several international journals.

9 EU nations clear Covishield

■ Travel clearance for those who have taken jab comes after India's warning

DC CORRESPONDENT
WITH AGENCY INPUTS
NEW DELHI, JUNE 1

A day after India flexed its muscle over discriminatory practice by the European Union with regard to Indian vaccines Covishield and Covaxin, nine EU countries gave their approval to the AstraZeneca vaccine for a "green pass", allowing free travel in the region of those vaccinated with Covishield. These nine countries are Austria, Germany, Slovenia, Greece, Iceland, Ireland, Spain, Estonia and Switzerland while more EU countries are expected to join in.

The European Union Digital Covid Certificate framework, or the Green Pass, to facilitate free movement during the Covid pandemic, came into effect on July 1 under which persons vaccinated with vaccines authorised by the European Medicines Agency (EMA) will be exempt from travel restrictions within the EU.

Individual member-states have the flexibility to accept vaccines that have been authorised at the national level or by the World Health Organisation. However, while AstraZeneca's Vaxzevria is approved by EU, the fate of its Indian version Covishield remains under suspense as the EMA has approved only four vaccines so far. ■ P4

Army chief warns against easy availability of drones to all

PAWAN BALI | DC
NEW DELHI, JULY 1

Army Chief General M.M. Naravane said Thursday that the easy availability of drones to state and non-state actors has increased "the complexity and the challenges that we have to deal with".

"Well, the easy availability of drones – and in fact you can even make it at home, as a do-it-yourself (DIY) project – definitely increases the complexity and challenges we have to deal with," said Gen. Naravane.

"We are seized of this problem and have put in place certain measures ... all our troops on the ground have been sensitised to this evolving threat. We are developing capabilities to deal with that, whether by state-sponsored (elements) or by states themselves," he said.

The Army Chief said capabilities are being developed to deal with the drone threat, both in the kinetic and in non-kinetic realms.

"We are catering for both the offensive use of drones, (and) also focusing on defensive measures or the counter-drone systems or measures that we need to adopt to prevent any attacks on critical facilities by drones and their use, whether by state or non-state actors," he said.

The Army Chief's remarks come in the backdrop of the first-ever drone attack on a military base on Indian soil, when two drones were used to drop low-intensity improvised explosive devices (IEDs) on the Jammu Air Force Station on the night of June 26-27.

WB POST-POLL VIOLENCE

SC notice to govt, EC on SIT probe

PARMOD KUMAR | DC
NEW DELHI, JULY 1

The Supreme Court on Thursday sought response from the Union government, West Bengal government and Election Commission on a plea seeking an investigation by a special investigation team into the causes and reasons of post-poll violence in West Bengal.

A bench comprising Justice Vineet Saran and Justice and Dinesh Maheshwari sought responses from the Centre, West Bengal government and the poll panel on the plea which also sought compensation for the victims of post-poll violence and their families.

The plea, which also sought an SIT probe under the supervision of the top court, has also asked that the people responsible for the violence be identified and action be taken against them.

The plea filed by Hindu Front for Justice, advocate Ranjana Agnihotri and one Jitendra Singh has alleged that thousands of residents of West Bengal are being terrorised, penalised and tortured by workers of the Trinamul Congress (TMC) for supporting the Bharatiya Janata Party (BJP) during Assembly elections.

► The plea sought an SIT probe under the supervision of the top court and action against people responsible for the violence.

It further sought direction that the Central government and state government take steps for rehabilitation of the people who have been forced to migrate to Assam or any other place in India due to violence that erupted after May 2, when election results were announced.

It sought direction to the Central government and the State government to "take appropriate steps to protect the life, liberty, dignity and safety of religious places of Hindus as guaranteed under Article 14, 21 and 25 of the Constitution and reflected in the solemn declaration made in the Preamble of the Constitution."

Vector-borne epidemics to be thwarted with help of drones

DC CORRESPONDENT
CHENNAI, JULY 1

The Greater Chennai Corporation (GCC) on Thursday launched drone-enabled vector control measures to avert the spread of vector-borne epidemics amid the Covid-19 pandemic.

The GCC conducted a survey to study the malaria problem and larvae density across various zones in Chennai, covering about 140 km. The survey revealed that the corporation has to implement effective vector-control measures to prevent vector-borne epidemics.

The survey was conducted in the water sources in the city including Buckingham Canal, Virugambakkam, Otteri Nalla and Cooum and will continue till July 15. Three zones will be covered each day. After identifying the hotspots, the drones will spray anti-larval chemicals in the water bodies.

A day after spraying chemicals, a resurvey will be carried out to study the density. Following the assessment, the chemicals will be sprayed again in the same area to make sure larvae do not resurface in the area, said officials.

Centre mum on CM's IVC revival proposal

T. SUDHEESH | DC
CHENNAI, JULY 1

There is no response from the Union government even after a month since Chief Minister M.K. Stalin wrote a letter to Prime Minister Narendra Modi offering to revive the defunct Integrated Vaccine Complex at Thirukazhukundram in Chengalpattu district for addressing the Covid-19 vaccine shortage.

Mr Stalin shot off a letter to the prime minister on May 27 requesting to hand over the complex on lease to the state government to produce Covid-19 vaccines. The Union ministry of health then sought a week's time to respond to the demand.

Stalin shot off a letter to the prime minister on May 27 requesting to hand over the complex on lease to the state government to produce Covid-19 vaccines. The Union ministry of health then sought a week's time to respond to the demand.

Health minister Ma. Subrahmanian has confirmed there was no response from the Centre as yet. "It's important to revive the unit which has been defunct for over a decade as it will help not only address the shortage of state but also the demands of the entire country. We had sent the labour minister and members of parliament from the state to Delhi to meet the concerned officials. Though they sought a week's time, the state has received no response from the Centre," said the minister.

In his letter, Stalin had made it clear that the state was ready to take over the facilities on lease without bearing any past liabilities. The letter also said the state could identify a suitable private partner to start vaccine production at the earliest and other issues including profit sharing and the current financial liabilities can be sorted out later.

The Union government's indifference on IVC comes at a time when the state is undergoing a shortage of vaccines despite the Centre announcing it would procure vaccines for the state free of cost.

"The health minister on Wednesday said the state was expecting 71 lakh doses of Covid-19 vaccines from the Centre in July and preparations were made across the state to vaccinate at least 8 lakh people a day. The vaccination can be run without disruption if the Centre ensures uninterrupted supply," he said.

Meanwhile, the health department said they had received 36,610 doses of Covaxin from Bharat Biotech on Thursday. So far the state has inoculated 1.45 crore people while it received 1.46 crore doses since January.

More Sasi tapes, more defections from AMMK

G. BABU JAYAKUMAR & D. SEKAR I DC
CHENNAI, JULY 1

Effusing hopes of a change in the present situation, AIADMK's expelled general secretary V. K. Sasikala went on leaking more tapes of her conversations with party functionaries even as the Leader of the Opposition Edappadi K Palaniswami took stock of the situation with some prominent loyalists.

Palaniswami held a meeting at the party headquarters on Lloyds Road with some leaders from Chennai and its surroundings on Thursday, with party coordinator O. Panneerselvam conspicuous by his absence.

Three functionaries of AMMK, the breakaway faction led by Sasikala's nephew T T V Dhinakaran, joined the parent party when leaders like D Jayakumar, Valarmathi, Gokula Indira and Chinniah, besides some district secretaries devised their strategies for the upcoming local body elections.

They also deliberated on Sasikala's tapes that have become a daily feature with the tone and tenor of the conversations taking a new turn with serious political overtures of late.

Sasikala, in one of the latest conversations – she releases at least two or three audio recordings a day though she is said to be talking to about 20 to 30 persons – is saying that she took a break from politics in the thick of the Assembly elections only because she trusted the AIADMK leaders' averments.

The AIADMK leaders had stated that they would win at least 150 seats in the 234 Assembly and she believed them, she says in a leaked audio. Now that the leaders had failed to accomplish what they promised to deliver, she would step in and rescue the party.

Sasikala, who reportedly spoke to eight former AIADMK MLAs on Wednesday, postures herself as a key political advisor to the late J Jayalalithaa since the beginning.

In a conversation she says that in 1988 when the V. N. Janaki faction merged with the Jayalalithaa faction after the split in the party in 1987, it was she (Sasikala) who advised Jayalalithaa to take in those considered as 'betrayers.'

Her present aspiration was not to capture the AIADMK but to rehabilitate it. She claimed that in 2017 when there was a move to disqualify 18 MLAs of the AIADMK from the Assembly, she had spoken to the then Speaker Dhanapal and advised him not to disqualify them.

Since Dhanapal did not heed to her advice, the party now stood divided and lost the elections, she tells one of the 'cadre' over the phone, adding that it was her duty to save the party, nurtured by Jayalalithaa.

Speaking with a woman cadre from Tiruppur, Sasikala says the cadre should elect the leader as it happened during the times of MGR and Jayalalithaa and promises to meet them all (the cadre who are behind her) once the Coronavirus crisis blows over.

Apart from broadcasting the audio clips on Jaya TV, the conversations are also posted on WhatsApp groups of media persons to keep the tempo of her desperate bid to storm the AIADMK alive in the media narrative, thus confusing the average

AIADMK cadre.

At the ground level, posters continue to pop up at various places, welcoming her to the AIADMK. One poster, ostensibly printed by one Erode Balakrishnan and put up at Madurai and Chennai, has a photograph of Sasikala presenting a bouquet to Jayalalithaa and a legend that reads: 'Chinnama come to lead.'

The poster also describes Sasikala as a reincarnation of Jayalalithaa. Another poster printed by the Madurai East suburban district women's wing describes her as an embodiment of sacrifice and calls her to defeat the betrayers with a photograph of the AIADMK headquarters in the backdrop.

However, the meeting at the party headquarters on Thursday cautioned party leaders against letting any cadre switch over to Sasikala's side.

Though the leaders are in no way inclined to let Sasikala into the party again, they now seem to be a bit rattled by the conversations some cadre are having with her one after the other and want to keep their rank and file intact.

M.Phil courses to continue

G. BABU JAYAKUMAR & D. SEKAR I DC
CHENNAI, JULY 1

State Minister for Higher Education K Ponnudiy announced that M. Phil (Master of Philosophy) courses would be offered by all State Universities this year, dispelling the rumours that the Government was slowly moving towards implementing the contentious New Educational Policy (NEP) proposed by the Union Government.

A recent circular from the Madras University to its constituent colleges to stop calling for applications for the M Phil courses in various subjects had raised a storm in some academic circles with people pointing out that one of the suggestions in the NEP was to do away with the course.

Ponnudiy, who held a meeting with 13 vice chancellors of State Universities in the Secretariat on Thursday, told the media that the government would continue offering the M Phil courses in all the universities.

Though it was said that there were no takers for the course, which only prompted the Madras University to decide on doing away with it from this academic year, the Minister had told the vice chancellors to offer the course whether anyone wanted to join or not.

Sources in the education circles pointed out that the demand for M Phil was lost after the UGC took away the recognition offered to the degree, which is one lesser than a PhD and above a post-graduation, as a qualification to join as a faculty member of a college or university and also for getting promotions.

With the UGC stipulating the UGC NET (national eligibility test) or SLET (state level eligibility test) or a PhD degree as a basic qualification for recruitment as faculty member some time back, M Phil degree lost its relevance in the academic circles with students not opting for it.

After it was announced that M Phil would not be a criteria for promotions in the department, even serving faculty members stopped enrolling for the course.

However, now the State-run Universities would continue to offer the course irrespective of the response from the student community.

During the media interaction, Ponnudiy also said that admission for degree courses in colleges would begin in August as the results of 12th classes would be announced by July 31.

The admissions would be done on the basis of the marks awarded to the students by following the recently finalised formula and it would be through a single window system, he said.

Both admissions and also recruitment of faculty in all universities of the state would be a transparent process hereafter, the Minister said.

Chennai, July 1: The Madras high court has imposed a fine of ₹1 lakh on the officials of the school education department for not providing a job to a legal heir on compassionate grounds, even after 22 years.

Justice R Mahadevan imposed the cost recently, while passing orders on a writ petition from T Aruljothi of Tiruppur district seeking to quash a rejection order passed in 2016 and to provide a job to her. After quashing the rejection order dated July 27, 2016, the judge reverted the matter to the authorities concerned for fresh consideration on merits and in accordance with law and also in the light of a recent GO which supersedes all the earlier orders issued from 1972. The exercise should be completed within two months. The cost of Rs 1 lakh imposed on the authorities, who were instrumental in passing the rejection order, should be recovered from their salaries and paid to the petitioner within six months, the judge added. The petitioner's father died in February 1998, while working as a PG Assistant in the Government Higher Secondary School, leaving behind his wife, two daughters and a son. The petitioner's mother made an application seeking compassionate ground appointment to her son, the same month. But it was rejected on the ground that only the first legal heir could make the claim. She sent another application seeking the appointment to her second daughter Arul Jothi. She stated that her first daughter was already married. But the plea was rejected on wrong premises in July, 2016. Hence, the present petition. Though the petitioner's mother made the second application seeking compassionate appointment to the petitioner, even after the rejection of the first representation within the limitation period of three years, the authorities have acted in a clandestine manner and rejected the same after a long period of 15 years. This Court is of the view that such a cavalier approach of the officials concerned in discharging their statutory duties would dent the societal interest and the same has to be seriously viewed, the judge said.

"Judiciary has a special and additional duty to perform, viz., to oversee that all individuals and institutions including the executive and the legislature act within the framework of not only the law but also the fundamental law of the land." "This duty is apart from the function of adjudicating the disputes between the parties which is essential to peaceful and orderly development of the society", the judge observed. Taking note of the factual matrix, wherein the respondent authorities failed to discharge their duties within a reasonable time, thereby causing undue mental agony to the petitioner, the judge said he is inclined to impose the cost on the officials, who were responsible for such lapses. —PTI

World's biggest two-wheeler factory in TN

DC CORRESPONDENT
CHENNAI, JULY 1

The world's largest two-wheeler manufacturing facility would come up by the end of the year at a 500 acre premises in Krishnagiri, State Industries Minister Thangam Thennarasu said on Thursday.

The factory, to be set up by Ola, would have state-of-art equipment and make two motorcycles every minute with 300 robots working on the assembly line. The company would also provide employment for 10,000 persons.

Thennarasu said that the State was making efforts to increase the usage of electric vehicles with a view to reducing air pollution and to safeguard the environment.

Under the Tamil Nadu Electric Vehicles policy 2019, electric vehicles made and sold in the state would get a slew of concessions, the Minister said.

Among them were reimbursement of GST fill 2030, exemption from stamp paper duty during land registration for an e-vehicle factory and 100 per cent electricity tax relief for the factory.

21,115 tribespeople in Nilgiris vaccinated

OOTY, JULY 1

Nilgiris Collector Innocent Divya has said so far 21,115 tribal residents, aged above 18, spread over 427 tribal hamlets in Nilgiris have been vaccinated against Covid-19.

She told Deccan Chronicle that the tribal leaders in different hamlets took the job first to instil confidence among their folks. "We created songs and memes in local tribal languages to create awareness," she said.

Divya congratulated the health department staff, especially those working in primary health centres, who defied the challenges and tough terrains to reach the remote hamlets to vaccinate the tribals.

Meanwhile, Chief Minister M.K. Stalin on Thursday presented an award to Innocent Divya in Chennai for taking efforts to administer Covid-19 vaccine to all eligible tribespeople as well as the plantation labourers in Nilgiris.

Divya said health minister Ma. Subramanian, during his visit to Nilgiris in early June, had asked the district administration to look into the possibility of vaccinating all tribespeople above 18 years of age. The district administration along with the health and other related departments and NGOs reached out to the tribes and identified the people to be inoculated. Supriya Sahu, the forest secretary who is also the monitoring officer for Nilgiris, took special efforts for the team work and plan of action to approach the tribes, Divya noted.

"The tribal population in Nilgiris is 27,300. Out of the eligible 21,435 tribes eligible for vaccination, 45 residents refused to take the vaccine. A few pregnant women and some others with health issues also could not be vaccinated."

In the plantation sector, 38,357 labourers across the Nilgiris were vaccinated. The concerned plantation estates co-ordinated with the district administration to achieve this mission, the collector said.

Madhya Pradesh energy minister Pradyumna Singh Tomar on Thursday fell from the dais during a programme in Gwalior in MP and twisted his ankle.

The incident happened when the minister was going to address the function organised on the occasion of inauguration of National Horticulture Board's office in Gwalior.

He accidentally hit a flower base kept on the dais and fell down, police said.

He was in a state of shock for some time following the incident. He, however, recovered and was rushed to the local government hospital.

He twisted his ankle, but his condition was normal, doctors said.

Gwalior district superintendent of police Amit Sanghi said the minister underwent a check-up in the hospital and he was normal now.

The minister left for Bhopal to attend an important meeting after he was discharged from the hospital, police said.

HC: JOURNALISTS NOT EXPECTED TO DRAMATISE NEWS

Lucknow, July 1: The Allahabad High Court has rejected the bail plea of a reporter accused of abetting a suicide, saying a journalist is not expected to dramatise sensational incidents and create news by putting a person's life in danger.

A Lucknow bench of Justice Vikas Kunwar Srivastav made the observation while rejecting the plea of city journalist Shamim Ahmad, co-accused of abetting a man's suicide and filming it outside the Uttar Pradesh assembly complex last year.

In an order, the judge said, "A journalist is not expected to dramatise a sensational and horrifying incident and make news by putting his actor in pitiable condition and in danger of death."

The journalist keeps an eye on anticipated or sudden events happening in society and brings them to the information of all people through various news media without any tampering. This is his business, the judge observed on June 21. The order in the case was uploaded on the court's website on Thursday.

Journalists Shamim and co-accused Naushad Ahmad had allegedly contacted a man who was facing eviction from his house and induced him to set himself ablaze in front of the state assembly so that they could film the incident and telecast it on television as it could save him from being thrown out of the premises where he was staying.

ACB RAIDS SR. IPS OFFICER'S PROPERTIES

RAIPUR, JULY 1

The Anti Corruption Bureau (ACB) of Chhattisgarh police on Thursday conducted raids on at least ten premises linked to ADG-rank IPS officer G.P. Singh in the state.

This was the first time an IPS officer was raided by the anti-graft wing of Chhattisgarh police for allegedly amassing assets disproportionate to his known sources of income.

Incidentally, the 1994 batch IPS officer headed the ACB and the Economic Offences Wing of Chhattisgarh police a year ago before being shifted as director of state police academy in June last year.

Sources in the ACB said the raids were conducted following complaints that the police officer had amassed disproportionate assets at several places and also unaccounted money.

"The raids started simultaneously at ten places at around six in the morning. The raids are still continuing", sources said. The IPS officer had served as inspector general of police in Raipur, Bilaspur and Durg, considered coveted postings for an IPS officer in Chhattisgarh.

Ten teams of ACB conducted raids in different premises linked to the cop.

Sources said his computer system was seized on suspicion of his alleged involvement in recording the phones of some influential people.

Sources said the ACB sleuths were looking into complaints that the IPS officer has made investments in the mining sector.

DELHI HC SAYS STRAY DOGS HAVE A RIGHT TO FOOD

New Delhi, July 1: Stray dogs have the right to food and citizens have the right to feed community canines, the Delhi High Court has said while observing that in exercising this right care and caution should be taken to ensure that it does not impinge upon others and causes no harassment or nuisance.

The high court, while laying down guidelines regarding feeding of stray dogs, said every dog is a territorial being and it has to be fed and tended to at places within their territory which is not frequented by the general public.

Any person having compassion for stray dogs can feed them at their private entrance or driveway of their house or any other place not shared with other residents but no one can restrict the other from feeding of dogs, until and unless it is causing harm or harassment to them, it said.

Community dogs (stray/street dogs) have the right to food and citizens have the right to feed community dogs but in exercising this right, care and caution should be taken to ensure that it does not impinge upon the rights of others or cause any harm, hindrance, harassment and nuisance to other individuals or members of the society, Justice J.R. Midha said in a recent 86-page verdict.

The court's order came in a case of dispute between two residents of a locality on the issue of feeding stray dogs. One of them sought direction to restrain the other from feeding street dogs near the entrance of a property. Later, a settlement took place between the two and a designated place was fixed for feeding the canines.

The verdict also discussed dog categories based on the roles they play service, therapy, rescue, hunting, tracking, cadaver, detection, police, and cancer detection dogs.

The court formed a committee, comprising the Director of Animal Husbandry Department or his nominee, senior officers of all municipal corporations, Delhi Cantonment Board and certain advocates, to implement the guidelines and asked it to hold its first meeting within four weeks.

The court said there is a need to spread awareness that animals have a right to live with respect and dignity and asked the AWBI to carry out an awareness campaign in association with media.

Animals have a right under law to be treated with compassion, respect and dignity. Animals are sentient creatures with an intrinsic value. Therefore, protection of such beings is the moral responsibility of each and every citizen including the governmental and non-governmental organisations.

We have to show compassion towards all living creatures. Animals may be mute but we as a society have to speak on their behalf. No pain or agony should be caused to the animals. Cruelty to animals causes psychological pain to them. Animals breathe like us and have emotions.

Modi urges IMA to undertake studies on benefits of Yoga

Prime Minister hails contribution of doctors in saving lives from Corona

New Delhi, July 1: Prime Minister Narendra Modi on Thursday hailed the contribution of doctors in saving lives from Coronavirus and said his government has given maximum thrust on augmenting the healthcare infrastructure in the country.

Losing even one life is saddening, Modi said in his address at an Indian Medical Association event on National Doctors' Day and then emphasised that India saved lives of lakhs of its people and has fared better than more developed and prosperous countries in terms of the Covid infection and mortality per lakh population.

A big credit for that goes to doctors, healthcare and frontline workers, he said.

On the occasion, he also urged the IMA to undertake evidence-based studies on the benefits of yoga in "mission-mode" and commended the medical fraternity for spreading awareness about its helpful role in dealing with post-Covid complications.

The Prime Minister said work for its propagation that should have been done in the last century is being done now.

He also suggested that studies on yoga could be published in international journals.

Noting that there is not much documentation available about the last century's pandemic, he urged doctors to undertake research and studies in their dealing with Covid and its various aspects, including benefits of vaccines, early diagnosis and various treatments.

Highlighting "limitations" of the medical infrastructure that was created in the country over several decades and how it was neglected in earlier times, he added, "In our country, population pressure makes this challenge even more difficult. But despite this, India's per lakh population rate of infection and death rate has still been manageable compared with more developed countries."

"Losing the life of even one person is very saddening but India has also saved the lives of lakhs of its people from coronavirus. A big credit for it goes to our hard working doctors, healthcare workers and front line workers," he said.

Noting that the virus is new and is mutating, the prime minister said India's doctors, with their knowledge and experience, are fighting the challenges posed by the virus.

"Our government has given maximum priority to healthcare. Last year, during the 1st wave, we had allotted ₹15,000 crore to improve our health infrastructure. This year, allocation of budget for healthcare is over ₹2 lakh crore," he said.

Till 2014, where there were only six AIIMS in the country, work on 15 new AIIMS has already started in the last seven years, he pointed out.

The number of medical colleges has also increased by about one and a half times, he said.

Now, the government has come up with a Credit Guarantee Scheme of ₹50,000 crore to strengthen the health infrastructure in such areas where there is a lack of health facilities, Modi said.

"Our government is committed to safeguarding our doctors. Last year, we brought in several provisions against crimes against doctors," he said.

We are also providing free insurance cover to our Covid warriors, Modi added.

The way our doctors have served the country is an inspiration in itself, he said and expressed gratitude to all doctors on behalf of 130 crore Indians.

Today, when the country is fighting such a big war against Coronavirus, doctors have saved millions of lives by working hard day and night, he said.

Modi also paid tributes to doctors who lost their lives while combating the Covid pandemic and expressed condolences to their families.

Doctors' Day is observed in the honour of noted doctor and former West Bengal chief minister Bidhan Chandra Roy, whose birth and death anniversaries fall on July 1.

North India has to wait longer for rains

New Delhi, July 1: The unending wait for rains and respite from searing heat in north India, including Delhi, is likely to stretch a bit longer as there are no favourable conditions for advancement of the Southwest Monsoon till July 7, the IMD said on Thursday, forecasting an overall normal precipitation in the country for July.

The IMD has also cautioned that the break in the monsoon could impact agricultural operations like sowing and transplantation of crops, irrigation scheduling, power requirement.

Although the India Meteorological Department (IMD) said the country as a whole will receive normal rainfall in July, it has a forecast of below normal to normal rainfall probability over many areas of northwest India and some parts of south peninsula, central, east and northeast India.

Normal to above normal rainfall is most likely to be experienced over parts of central India and adjacent areas of peninsular India and Gangetic plains, it said.

IMD Director General Mrutunjay Mohapatra said rainfall is not expected to be good in the first week of July and the precipitation activity is likely to pick up in the second half of the second week of the month.

K'TAKA TO BUILD MEMORIAL FOR COVID WARRIORS

Bengaluru, July 1: A first-of-its-kind grand Covid Warrior Memorial in honour of doctors and paramedical staff who 'martyred' themselves in the fight against Coronavirus would be built in Bengaluru, Karnataka health minister Dr. K. Sudhakar said on Thursday.

"We will build a memorial to pay homage to those doctors who laid down their lives due to Covid while rendering their services on our Arogya Soudha premises. I believe this is the first memorial in the country," Sudhakar said during a function to celebrate National Doctors' Day.

The minister said his department has decided to build it in a unique way in memory of doctors and paramedics, which will be on par with the War Memorial in New Delhi where anyone can go and pay their respects.

The memorial will be a place where everyone can come and pay tribute, he added.

Minister says govt's top priority is to ensure that kin of Covid victims get compensation

Covid toll underreported, says Kerala Opposition

GILVESTER ASSARY | DC
THIRUVANANTHAPURAM,
JULY 1

Faced with criticism over alleged underreporting of Covid-19 deaths, Kerala health minister Veena George on Thursday said the government was willing to review Covid death toll in the state.

The health minister said her government's top priority was to ensure that families of Covid victims get the compensation announced by the SC. "We will take a stand that helps people to get any compensation that the government decides," she said.

George maintained that the government was following the protocol laid down by WHO and ICMR for determining and declaring Covid deaths. As of now the hospital confirms the death first through the duty doctor or medical superintendent. The data is provided online to the district authorities who consolidate the figures. "We are having a highly transparent mechanism. A software was developed for this purpose and staff was also trained," she said.

The minister said the government was willing to follow fresh guidelines, if any, issued by the ICMR or

WHO.

However, the Opposition challenged the government claim of complying with WHO and ICMR guidelines. It pointed out that many people with comorbidity who died of Covid were not reported as Covid related deaths. The actual death toll was much higher than what has been shown by the government.

Opposition leader V.D. Satheeshan asked the government to shed its false prestige. "The government is not responsible for the spread of Covid. Therefore they should not make it a prestige issue. The government should come out with the exact number of Covid deaths. It should stop the practice of underreporting deaths to gain credit for infection containment," he said.

There are major discrepancies in Covid data compilation, he added.

Meanwhile, Kerala reported 12,868 new cases. The state continues to report the highest number of cases in the country. The state reported 124 Covid deaths on Thursday taking the death toll to 13,359.

The Centre has directed the chief secretary to scale up disease containment activities in at least five districts.

BJD vice-president Soumya Ranjan Patnaik on Thursday kicked off a storm in Odisha politics after he raised some serious questions over the number of Covid-19 related deaths in the state.

Patnaik, son-in-law of former chief minister

Janaki Ballav Patnaik, said that the data regarding the Covid mortality in the state has been fudged and concealed.

The senior BJD leader said that desperate race to be on the top and the attempt to cling onto past glory seem to have resulted in such factual death data manipulation.

Patnaik said that due to administrative failure and negligence, a controversy has erupted over the Covid-19 toll in the state which is further affecting the image of the Odisha government.

Had the actual number of deaths been revealed, there would not have been much loss of face. The ill-attempt of hiding the data is ruining the sanctity of the administrative machinery, he said.

BILL COSBY
RELEASED FROM PRISON

New York, June 30: US comedian Bill Cosby was freed from prison Wednesday, in a blow to the #MeToo movement after a US court overturned his conviction for drugging and sexually assaulting a woman 17 years ago. The 83-year-old flashed the V sign outside his home near Philadelphia after leaving jail following a Pennsylvania Supreme Court ruling that he had been denied a fair trial. He did not answer reporters' questions. Cosby, who shattered racial barriers with his Emmy-winning role on "I Spy" in the 1960s, was convicted in 2018 of assaulting Andrea Constand at his Philadelphia mansion in 2004.

But the judges wrote in a 79-page decision that a non-prosecution agreement between a former district attorney and Cosby over evidence he gave in a civil case meant the actor should not have been charged.

"Cosby's convictions and judgment of sentence are vacated, and he is discharged," they wrote. Cosby left SCI Phoenix, a state jail 35 miles northwest of Philadelphia, just before 2:30 pm (1830 GMT).

"The temperatures recorded this week are unprecedented — lives have been lost and the risk of wildfires is at a dangerously high level," said Canadian PM Justin Trudeau.

The northwestern US state of Washington recorded at least 16 deaths related to the heat wave.

Ruling Communist Party celebrates centenary with show of strength at Tiananmen Square

Beijing, July 1: Any "foreign force" trying to "bully" China will encounter a "great wall of steel" erected by over 1.4 billion Chinese people and its powerful military, President Xi Jinping warned on Thursday, as the ruling Communist Party celebrated its centenary with a massive show of strength at the historic Tiananmen Square here.

In his keynote address at a highly-choreographed ceremony from the balcony of Tiananmen Gate, which also adorns a giant size photo of 'Chairman' Mao Zedong, the founding father of the People's Republic of China, Xi also underlined that the "reunification" of Taiwan with the Chinese mainland is a "historic mission" and an "unshakable commitment" of the Communist Party of China (CPC).

China has repeatedly accused the US of trying to curb its "peaceful rise", amidst concern in the neighbourhood about the growing assertiveness of the Chinese military in the strategic Indo-Pacific region and elsewhere.

Both former US president Donald Trump and his successor Joe Biden have pursued a hardline policy towards China, targeting it on several fronts including trade, human rights and the origins of the Covid-19, which first emerged in the central Chinese city of Wuhan before becoming a pandemic. "We Chinese are a people who uphold justice and are not intimidated by threats of force. We have never bullied, oppressed, or subjugated the people of any other country, and we never will," Xi said.

"By the same token, we will never allow any foreign force to bully, oppress, or subjugate us," the 68-year old leader said. "Anyone who would attempt to do so will find themselves on a collision course with a great wall of steel forged by over 1.4 billion Chinese people," he said.

Over 70,000 carefully vetted party workers and schoolchildren who took part in the event cheered Xi's over an hour-long speech which was telecast live. About 71 aircraft participated in the flypast.

Study: Viral load
less in re-infected

Washington, July 1: People who contract Covid-19 even after vaccination are likely to have a lower viral load or quantity, experience a shorter infection time and have milder symptoms than unvaccinated individuals, according to a study of mRNA preventives in the US.

Researchers noted that while Covid-19 vaccines are proving to be highly effective in preventing infection, no vaccine is 100 per cent effective, and breakthrough infections — infections after immunisation — do occur.

"If you get vaccinated, about 90 per cent of the time you're not going to get Covid-19," said Jeff Burgess, a professor at the University of Arizona Health Sciences in the US.

"Even if you do get it, there will be less of the virus in you and your illness is likely to be much milder," Burgess said. The study, published in the New England Journal of Medicine on June 30, involved 3,975 health care personnel, first responders, and other essential and frontline workers in the US. From December 14, 2020, to April 10, 2021, the participants completed weekly SARS-CoV-2 testing by providing nasal swabs for qualitative and quantitative RT-PCR analysis, the gold standard for testing for Covid-19.

Among the participants, SARS-CoV-2 infections were identified in five participants who were fully vaccinated and 11 who were partially vaccinated, as well as in 156 unvaccinated participants. The research found that participants who were partially or fully vaccinated with the Pfizer and Moderna messenger RNA vaccines at the time of infection had a viral load that was 40 per cent less than that of unvaccinated participants.

TREATMENT FOR BLOOD CLOTS DUE TO VAX FOUND

Toronto, July 1: Scientists in Canada have found a new lifesaving treatment for people suffering from rare blood clots associated with Covid-19 vaccination.

The researchers at the McMaster University recommended a combination of anti-clotting drugs and high doses of intravenous immunoglobulin to combat vaccine-induced immune thrombotic thrombocytopenia (VITT).

VITT is a rare side effect of adenoviral vector vaccines against Covid-19. It occurs when antibodies attack a blood protein, which results in activation of platelets in the blood, causing them to clump together and form clots.

The treatment, described in The New England Journal of Medicine, has proven effective in three Canadian patients.

W.H.O.: VACCINATE AT LEAST 10%
OF POPULATION IN EACH COUNTRY

London, July 1: Voicing concern over many countries failing to vaccinate their people, WHO chief Dr Tedros Adhanom Ghebreyesus on Thursday called for vaccinating at least 10 per cent of the population of every country by September, at least 40 per cent by the end of the year, and at least 70 per cent by the middle of next year.

"Vaccine equity is not just the right thing to do. It's the best way to control the pandemic and reboot the global economy," the WHO chief said as he warned that "until we end the pandemic everywhere, we will not end it anywhere".

"Vast inequities in the access to vaccines are fuelling a two-track pandemic. While some countries have reached a high level of coverage, many others don't have enough to vaccinate health workers, older people & other at-risk groups," the World Health Organisation Director General said at the virtual India Global Forum.

Asserting that when some countries cannot vaccinate, it's a threat to all countries, Ghebreyesus called for a global effort to vaccinate at least 10 per cent of the population of every country by September, at least 40 per cent by the end of the year, and at least 70 per cent by the middle of next year.

"Vaccine equity is not just the right thing to do. It's the best way to control the pandemic and reboot the global economy," the WHO chief said as he warned that "until we end the pandemic everywhere, we will not end it anywhere".

Globally, the coronavirus has infected over 18.2 crore people and killed nearly 40 lakh, according to Johns Hopkins University. India has recorded more than 3 crore cases and registered 400,000 deaths.

Russia booster shots amid spike

Moscow, July 1: Russian health authorities on Thursday launched booster vaccination for those who had been sick with Covid-19 or immunised more than six months ago, an effort that comes amid a surge in new infections and deaths.

Moscow Mayor Sergei Sobyanin said he had received a booster shot and urged city residents to follow suit. "In view of the difficult epidemiological situation today, doctors recommend having booster shots six months after vaccination," Sobyanin said on his blog. "I'm pleading with you not to miss a chance to get additional protection from the virus, which is particularly important amid the spread of a more aggressive delta variant."

Moscow health authorities on Thursday started offering booster shots with the domestically produced, two-shot Sputnik V vaccine and its one-shot Sputnik Light version. Other Russian regions are also starting to offer booster shots. Health Minister Mikhail Murashko told a government meeting Tuesday that the ministry has issued guidelines allowing those who contracted Covid-19 to get vaccinated six months after they recovered, and those who have been immunised to get booster shots six months after their first vaccination. Health authorities said that the more contagious Delta variant of the virus has accounted for the bulk of recent new infections in Moscow and some other regions. The nation's chief sanitary doctor, Anna Popova, confirmed Tuesday that the authorities also registered the first contagion with the Delta Plus variant. The new guidelines come as infections in Russia soar and vaccination rates lag behind many other nations.

Thursday's announcement was widely expected as Ejei, considered close to Khamenei, had served as deputy judiciary chief after a long history in the branch, including as prosecutor general. In that post, from 2009-2014, he pushed to further limit access to the internet and popular social media apps, sparking worries among his opponents over the rise of social oppression.

Court had ruled government policy to freeze rents for five years as illegal

Berlin to vote on bid to combat housing crisis

Berlin, July 1: Berliners are to vote on a referendum to force major property companies to sell thousands of their flats to the city, officials said Thursday as the election-year issue of high rents grows more charged.

A grassroots petition campaign fuelled by anger over surging housing costs submitted 183,711 valid signatures, "more than the total required" of around 172,000 to put the question to a general ballot, the Berlin election supervisor said. Local officials must now set a date for the vote, which is widely expected to be held on September 26, the same day as elections for a new federal parliament and Berlin government. The "Expropriate Deutsche Wohnen & Co." initiative, named after Berlin's biggest property group, targets companies with more than 3,000 apartments in their portfolios. The movement would like to see more than 240,000 homes placed under a public agency to be administered "democratically, transparently and in the public interest". In a city of 3.7 million residents where more than 80 per cent rent their homes, the capital's attractiveness to investors and structural lack of housing sent prices soaring by nearly 85 per cent between 2007 and 2019.

Berlin's city-state government already moved to freeze rents for five years from 2020 in a bid to halt runaway gentrification, but the federal constitutional court ruled that policy to be illegal in April.

"Expropriate Deutsche Wohnen & Co." bases its claims on Article 15 of the German constitution, which stipulates that "land, natural resources and means of production may be transferred to public ownership" in the public interest in return for compensation. Adopted in 1949 with the founding of the West German state, the article was long forgotten during the Cold War with its tensions between capitalist West and communist East.

Deutsche Wohnen owns around 111,000 of an estimated two million rental apartments in Berlin and in May announced plans to merge with fellow real estate giant Vonovia.

It sharply criticised the initiative's aims as counterproductive "because it doesn't create a single square metre of additional living space".

"We need more housing built to ease the market pressure, that is why we will be stepping up building in the coming years in Berlin," a company spokesman said.

The city's Social Democratic mayor Michael Mueller has also rejected the referendum, arguing that he would prefer "partnerships with the private sector" to develop more housing.

SC nudge on Covid ex-gratia exposes govt sloth, red tape

The Supreme Court's directives to the National Disaster Management Authority (NDMA) to frame guidelines for paying ex gratia compensation to victims of Covid-19 and to the governments to simplify the process of certification of deaths due to the pandemic have come as a big relief for a large number of people. The directives also expose the sloth that has become part of the character of the government even in the face of a national crisis and the love for red tape while dealing with the lives of worst-affected people in a given point of time.

The court's decision has come against the government's position that it did have the money but its focus is on providing food, medical care, oxygen, vaccination and on supporting the economy and not to pay compensation to the kin of four lakh odd people who have lost their lives due to the pandemic. The court, however, did not buy the argument and told the government that the relevant section of the National Disaster Management Act, 2005, says that the NDMA shall recommend guidelines for the minimum standards of relief to be provided to persons affected by disaster, which shall include ex gratia assistance on account of loss of life. The government cannot run away from its responsibility, the court reminded it.

The court's decision has come against the government's position that it did have the money but its focus is not on helping the kin of the four lakh people who have lost their lives

The government's argument not only sounded specious but also revealed its disdain for the legal responsibilities when it comes to bringing succour to the most vulnerable sections of people during a national disaster. The government conveniently forgot the fact that it had invoked the appropriate sections of the Act while dealing with the pandemic but chose to ignore those that talked of compensation. The court refused to accept the government interpretation of the law dealing with compensation as "recommendatory"; it is instead mandatory and statutory, the court said.

The judges who chastised the NDMA, the statutory body headed by the Prime Minister and vested with the power and responsibility to form a national strategy to face disasters, saying it failed to perform its duty but refrained from fixing the quantum of the compensation and instead left it to the wisdom of the executive. The court, in fact, limited itself to interpreting the law and reminding the government of its duty; it did not transgress the boundaries that separate the two branches of government.

The court's direction to streamline the process of certifying Covid deaths has not come a day earlier. Several state governments have been following a pattern that did not count a death as a Covid death if it comes after the victim tested negative for the virus. This is in fact not in conformity with the international practice and has two inimical impacts. One is that several deaths, which had indeed been caused by the virus, would not be counted, resulting in the denial of compensation to the relatives. The second is that it would deny the decision-makers the advantage of reliable and accurate data to analyse and take decisions on the ways to resist the pandemic. A simplified and transparent death certification process would hopefully reverse the practice.

Fuel price paradox

A minister remarked facetiously in relation to rising fuel prices that cycling is good for health. The middle and lower classes may wish to send him by bullock cart to a school of economics so that he may understand what damage high fuel taxes can inflict on the economy that is just about to emerge from the depths of a Covid-hit slump. While petrol is selling at above ₹100 a litre and diesel is inching to those heights in multiple regions, the price of cooking gas is hitting the roof too, raised as it was by ₹25 per cylinder on Thursday.

The cascading effect of the fuel price rise is reflected in price escalation in goods as milk to cement prices spiral and services. The effect was visible in retail inflation ruling at six per cent, which helps explain somewhat the sharp rise in cost of living. For governments, at the Centre and in the states, fuel is a weapon to raise revenues at a time of a sluggish economy as lockdowns are technically still in force in many parts of India. In the last 12 months, the government's take from fuel tax was a phenomenal ₹5.6 lakh crores, with the Centre taking a lion's share as most recent increases were in the form of cess and surcharge among many other levies.

A study showed how the Centre could easily cut fuel price by ₹4 to ₹5 per litre and not suffer a dip in revenues as demand would climb when the economy takes off again with post-Covid consumption. However, low hanging fruits like liquor and fuel sales, with very few hazards for the treasury to mop up the money, are too tempting. Paradoxically, India raised taxes on fuel, of which it imports about ₹8 lakh crore worth annually, when international prices were hitting the bottom at $30 per barrel last year but are now ruling at $70. Consumption is being taxed whereas corporate taxes have been reduced. This is not an economic riddle so much as a disaster in waiting that will put our economic recovery in jeopardy.

Covid's impact, WFH has hit India's women harder

Patralekha Chatterjee

Dev 360

What does being a homemaker and a mother really mean for the vast majority of Indian women? In an essay in The Atlantic last year, Helen Lewis, journalist and author of Difficult Women: A History of Feminism in 11 Fights, pointed out some home truths which resonate with millions of women across the world. "When people try to be cheerful about social distancing and working from home, noting that William Shakespeare and Isaac Newton did some of their best work while England was ravaged by the plague, there is an obvious response: Neither of them had child-care responsibilities."

For millions of people in many parts of the world, things have not changed that much.

In India, the situation is particularly stark as a new analysis from the Centre for Global Development reconfirms. The Global Childcare Workload from School and Preschool Closures During the Covid-19 Pandemic, by Charles Kenny and George Yang of the US-based think tank, estimates that women around the world each provided as much as an additional 173 hours in childcare for free during the pandemic. This is about three times more than men (59 hours). The figures from India are even more extreme.

According to the study, which draws on published data from multiple sources including Unesco and OECD, the estimated additional unpaid childcare burden per woman because of pandemic-related care burdens between January and October 2020 in India was 360 hours. The corresponding figure for men was 33 hours. The unpaid childcare burden per woman in India in a "normal" year is estimated to be 2,380 hours. None of this should come as a huge surprise to anyone in India not totally removed from ground realities.

Everyone, including Bollywood, pays tribute to motherhood. Think of Shashi Kapoor's iconic line from that 1975 blockbuster Deedar — "Mere paas Ma Hain". A noble sentiment. But pedestalising mothers can lead to motherhood being rarely unpacked in terms of the extra hours of unpaid work in the popular discourse.

Women's unpaid care work has emerged as a big issue among progressive economists in recent years. But millions of women in India, as in many other countries, are still socialised into accepting the notion that it is "natural" for women to be tasked with unpaid domestic work. And they should not complain.

But when we talk about women's "natural" role in the context of unpaid work, what is traded off, and at what cost?

The first-of-its-kind pan-India time use survey (TUS), released by the ministry of statistics and programme implementation last year, tossed up some telling data. The survey, that covered 4.5 lakh persons aged six years and above, across 1.4 lakh households in India, offers valuable information about the activities performed by every individual and the time spent in each of these activities during January-December 2019. The respondents were asked to recall what they did during the last 24 hours of the day of the survey.

Unsurprisingly, Indian men were found to have spent a lot more time in remunerated work. Their participation in paid employment was found to be around 57.3 per cent, compared to women, whose participation rate was only 18.4 per cent.

However, when it came to unpaid work such as cooking, cleaning or unpaid caregiving, looking after children or adults, women were way ahead. Every day, women spent nearly five hours in unpaid domestic work; for men, the corresponding figure was one hour and 37 minutes.

Sona Mitra, a feminist economist, associated with the Initiative for What Works to Advance Women and Girls in the Economy (IIWAGE), has drawn attention to related troubling issues in her public presentations; according to OECD (2014) data, women in India spent an average of 5.6 hours a day in unpaid work, compared to 52 minutes a day for men (same source); ILO 2018 shows on an average women in India spent 297 minutes per day on unpaid care work, as against 31 minutes by men (in paid work, women spend only 160 minutes, compared to 360 minutes by men).

Ms Mitra points out the multiple implications of unpaid care work for women — it means increased stress and less time for many other things which women may want to do; it means reduced income earning potential, missed opportunities for upgrading skills, education, socialisation, and also leisure and entertainment.

Most important, it means entrenching the sexual division of labour, furthering gender inequalities and creating an intergenerational cycle of "unpaid work" for girls and women. The bottomline — it leaves women with fewer options and choices in life, with all attendant consequences.

While working from home may open up more opportunities for a small section of middle class and upper middle class women, for millions of others, including large numbers of not-so-poor women, the closure of schools and childcare centres, etc., during the pandemic has made things much tougher.

Unpaid care work means entrenching the sexual division of labour, furthering gender inequalities and creating an intergenerational cycle, with all attendant consequences

In an article in the Economic and Political Weekly in May 2020, Ashwini Deshpande, professor of economics at Ashoka University, presciently flagged these issues. "South Asia, India and Pakistan in particular, have among the most unequal norms of sharing domestic chores and housework. Will the WFH (work from home) regime, where middle class families have to manage without helpers, propel men to share the domestic work burden more equitably than they have done in the past? Will the pandemic shift the social norms of sharing of domestic work? Only time will tell."

"Going forward", wrote Prof. Deshpande, "we should use this crisis to overhaul the current system that prevents women from entering the workforce and when they do, by not rewarding them enough".

We can do this, she added, "by recognising the myriad facets of women's work, the need for adequate compensation, putting support structures in place that allow for an equitable sharing of domestic chores and care work, and most important, creating favourable opportunities for work and livelihoods within a conscious anti-discriminatory policy framework".

In India, less than a quarter of women are a part of the labour force. Globally, India has amongst the lowest rates of female labour force participation, with only parts of the Arab world lagging behind us. Worryingly, this trend shows scant signs of reversal. India's workforce continues to rapidly masculinise.

This must change, so that not only Indian women, but India realises its true potential. We must have an honest discussion about what being a mother and homemaker really mean in the India of 2021.

END THE MENACE

During chief minister M.K. Stalin's visit to north Chennai recently, some cattle came in the path of the convoy, causing anxious moments for a while. Since then, the traffic enforcement officers have been instructed to carry a five-meter-long rope in their vehicles to snare errant bovines for the purpose of CM's safety. Cattle straying onto roads have been responsible for many accidents, including fatal ones at times. For the free-ranging animals, the chief minister and the common man are one and the same. Let's hope that the new CM, who seems to believe in result-oriented measures, takes the stray cattle by the horns.

NEET ISSUE

When the Supreme Court has already given a nod for the National-Eligibility-cum-Entrance-Test (Neet) for medical admissions in Tamil Nadu and the test is also being administered for quite some time now, the new government should not have appointed a committee to look into the impact of it in the state. This sends confusing signals to the students who are worried over their Class 12 marks and also about their future. Gullible children cannot be made victims of political gimmicks. Needless to say, litigations for and against the Neet now will consume a lot of time and energy which is absolutely avoidable.

SAD DEMISE

It is sad to note that K.V. Sampath Kumar, editor of Sudharma, the world's only Sanskrit daily, passed away a couple of days ago. Mr Sampath Kumar carried forward his father's legacy in running the daily with unflinching determination and grit in spite of lack of patronage from the newspaper and for the Sanskrit media as a whole. In fact, last year Sudharma celebrated its golden jubilee, and to mark the occasion, the daily held a series of cultural activities despite all the struggles it faced to stay afloat. It is a great honour that Mr Sampath Kumar and his wife Ms Jayalakshmi were selected for the Padma Shri award for their untiring efforts to keep the publication going for five decades against all odds. But, sadly Mr Sampath Kumar passed away before he could actually receive the award.

Civil war looms: Taliban to take Afghans back to mess of 1990s

With the revival of armed regional militias to stop the Afghan Taliban offensive, Afghanistan is edging towards a new civil war. Headed by old mujahideen warlords, these armed bands are fighting along the Afghan government forces in some areas, but in many cases they are defending their own regional fiefdoms.

It appears that we are returning to the 1990s following the downfall of the Najibullah government when several mujahideen groups fought each other, plunging Afghanistan into a devastating civil war and killing thousands of Afghans. Those events saw the rise of the Taliban movement, which swept away warlord rule and established the so-called Islamic Emirate of Afghanistan. But the warlords returned to power after the American invasion. The withdrawal of the foreign forces and the looming threat of a Taliban takeover compelled them to raise their own forces. They don't seem to have much faith in government security forces to protect them. Some three decades later, the same former mujahideen commanders are again arrayed against their old nemesis.

Most prominent among them are Abdul Rashid Dostum, Ismail Khan and Ata Muhammad — the same old faces that symbolise four decades of conflict in Afghanistan. The Taliban offensive in northern Afghanistan in recent weeks has been a major reason behind the revival of the militias representing different ethnic groups, particularly the Tajik and Uzbeks.

Over the past weeks, the insurgents have achieved some spectacular successes in the region that has never been considered their stronghold. The Taliban are generally seen as a Pakhtun-dominated movement, with eastern and southern Afghanistan as their main support base.

The Taliban have overrun many northern districts and have besieged some major towns. They now control major roads leading to Mazar-i-Sharif. In many areas, Afghan government soldiers have abandoned their posts without any fight. In some cases, the soldiers have joined the insurgents. The Taliban now control the main border crossing with Tajikistan, a main trade route. While these militia movements have helped reinforce the government forces fighting the Taliban in many northern districts, they have also strengthened the warlord fiefdoms, thus weakening the authority of the government in Kabul.

Some analysts, however, contend that these militias may eventually serve as the last line of defence, with the security forces unable to counter the Taliban onslaught. But there is also the question of whether these ragtag armed groups can stand their ground against a more committed enemy.

The Taliban's success in the north has not come as a surprise. While consolidating their military and diplomatic gains, the Taliban have also sought to secure the support of communities it had fought in the past in order to present themselves as a national movement. The Taliban had traditionally relied on ethnic Pakhtuns, but made a clear shift to recruit members of other ethnic groups with a view to expanding their area of influence.

Over the years, the insurgent group made significant inroads into the non-Pakhtun belt in northern Afghanistan and inducted several Tajik and Uzbek commanders in its ranks, giving them more operational autonomy. The non-Pakhtuns assumed important positions in the Taliban leadership and held key posts in the provinces.

The changing ethnic profile of the group was evident in the fact that non-Pakhtuns now constituted a quarter of the Taliban leadership council and its various commissions. Members of ethnic minorities were also handed out senior positions as provincial and district shadow governors and zonal commanders. By inducting Shia Hazaras, the Taliban wanted to make themselves more acceptable by presenting themselves as a multiethnic, multi-sect force. As an example, the Taliban appointed a Shia ethnic Hazara as its shadow district chief before the intra-Afghan peace talks. The hard-line Sunni Taliban had been previously blamed for persecuting the minority group during its stint in power. The Hazaras largely inhabit the central Afghan provinces.

The Taliban also leveraged the peace deal with the US to their advantage in order to woo regional ethnic groups. With the withdrawal of US forces, joining the Taliban had once again become a serious option for many people and groups in Afghanistan.

Special drive on to promote govt crop insurance

In a major outreach, the Centre has launched a special drive to enrol more farmers under the Pradhan Mantri Fasal Bima Yojana (PMFBY). A week-long drive, starting July 1, will cover all notified areas under the kharif 2021 season with a special focus on 75 aspirational districts where crop insurance penetration is low. PMFBY, launched on Jan. 13, 2016, aims to give a comprehensive risk cover to farmers at low premium.

■ All sellers in the network have to register with DPIIT Registration must for direct selling players

SANGEETHA G
CHENNAI, JULY 1

Direct selling entities like Amway, Avon, Herbalife and Modicare as well as millions of sellers operating in their networks will now have to register with the Department for Promotion of Industry and Internal Trade (DPIIT), as per the new rules proposed by the government. The entity should also have one physical location as a registered office in India.

The draft rules also says direct selling entities cannot charge entry or registration fee or the cost of equipment/ materials for sales demonstration from their agents.

As per the proposed Consumer Protection (Direct Selling) Rules, 2021, notified by the Ministry of Consumer Affairs late Wednesday, every direct selling entity which intends to operate in India and every direct seller operating in the network will need a registration number from the DPIIT.

The rules define direct selling entity as an entity which sells or offers to sell goods or services through direct sellers but does not engages in a pyramid scheme or money circulation scheme. A direct seller is a person appointed or authorised by a direct selling entity.

In India there are more than 450 registered direct selling companies and several others which are not registered. As per the new rules, not just the entity, but the individual sellers who are part of the network also will have to register with the DPIIT. According to the World Federation of Direct Selling Associations, India had 5.7 million direct sellers in 2018-19.

Rajat Banerjee, vice chairman, Indian Direct Selling Association (Idsa), welcomed the government's move. "However, there are a few areas, Idsa needs to engage in discussion with the government," he said.

Aseem Sood, MD, Proveda Marketing India, said, "Registering with the DPIIT will increase the trust customers have with the company and individual participants."

No direct selling entity or direct seller should promote a Pyramid Scheme or Money Circulation Scheme in the garb of doing direct selling business. In such schemes there is transaction of money without sales of goods and services.

The entity shall appoint a grievance officer as well as a chief compliance officer as a nodal contact person.

Also, anyone offers to sell any product of a direct selling entity on an e-commerce platform must have prior consent of the entity.

VODA IDEA SEEKS MORATORIUM ON ₹8,200 CRORE SPECTRUM FEE

MOUMITA BAKSHI
CHATTERJEE
NEW DELHI, JULY 1

Cash-strapped Vodafone Idea Ltd (VIL) has approached the government to seek a one-year moratorium on payment of spectrum instalment of over Rs 8,200 crore, due in April 2022.

VIL, in a letter to the telecom secretary on June 25, has said it will be "unable to pay the instalment of Rs 8,292 crore due on April 9, 2022" due to "cash being used for payment of AGR (adjusted gross revenue) dues and the inability of the operations to generate the required cash in a predatory pricing situation".

As per the letter, seen by PTI, the company has requested the Department of Telecom to grant it another year of the moratorium to pay this instalment in April 2023 and has made it clear that "it is almost inevitable" that the firm will not be able to pay the amount in April 2022.

VIL has also said that while it is working on raising new funding for the last six months, "investors are not willing to invest in the company because they believe that unless there is a significant improvement in consumer tariffs, the health of the industry will not recover and they will incur a loss on their investment".

RBI Guv flags rising cyber-attacks as risk

BANKS TOLD TO TRACK RETAIL, MSME LOANS

Mumbai, July 1: The second wave of the pandemic took a "grievous toll" on India, but the dented economic activity has started recovering from late-May, Reserve Bank Governor Shaktikanta Das said on Thursday.

In a first, Das flagged the rising data breaches and cyber attacks as a risk facing the economy, along with other risks like firming global commodity prices.

"The recovery that had commenced in the second half of 2020-21 was dented in April-May 2021, but with the wave of infections abating as rapidly as it had set in, economic activity has started to look up in late May and early June," Das wrote in his foreword to the bi-annual Financial Stability Report prepared by the RBI.

The report said the gross non-performing assets of banks have been stable at 7.5 per cent in March 2021—the same level as six months ago—but are expected to go up to 9.8 per cent in March 2022, as per its baseline scenario.

Das said the dent on balance sheets and performance of financial institutions in India have been much less than what was projected earlier, but was quick to add that a clearer picture will emerge as the effects of regulatory reforms fully work their way through.

He said capital and liquidity buffers at financial institutions are "reasonably resilient" to Mumbai, July 1: The RBI on Thursday asked banks to monitor their exposures to the retail and small businesses, saying both the segments are witnessing high stress.

In its bi-annual financial stability report (FSR), the RBI also asked banks to shore up capital positions while favourable market conditions prevail, improve governance and remain vigilant in the context of global spillovers.

"The banking sector will be required to specifically guard against adverse selection bias while being alive to the credit demand from productive and viable sectors," the FSR said. —PTI withstand future shocks.

The financial system is on the front foot to aid recovery, but the priority is to maintain and preserve financial stability, he said.

Domestic financial markets are also boosted by the strengthening signs of the pandemic's abatement, the growing pace and breadth of the vaccination drive and renewed hopes of the economy clawing back lost ground as it unlocks, he said.

Entries are one aspect of declarer-play and defense that club players often overlook. To take a simple example, suppose you have a trump suit of A-K-Q-5 in the dummy opposite J-9-8-7-3. You have to draw three rounds; which cards do you have left in each hand?

It might seem like a silly question, but a good player will leave the five in the dummy opposite the jack-three (or the equivalent). By keeping the three in hand, he has an entry to either hand if he needs it.

Similarly, when on defense, if your partner has an established suit, remember that he will need an entry to be able to cash his winners.

On today's deal, cover the South and West hands. After the simple auction, West leads the heart four: two, king, nine. East returns the heart five: queen, ace, six. Now West leads the heart three. Do you see any chance for the defenders to defeat the contract?

Judging from the point-count, West will have about a queen outside hearts. It doesn't look promising. But there is a chance if he has the club queen. Then, as long as declarer cannot win seven tricks in spades and diamonds, East can defeat the contract by discarding the club ace at trick three.

Here, declarer must play on clubs for nine tricks. If East retains the club ace, South will lead a low club from dummy and put up his king in a successful effort to keep West off lead. But if East jettisons the ace, West will gain the lead with the club queen and cash his heart tricks to defeat the contract.

Dunkley dazzles in England's win

Taunton: Skipper Mithali Raj's second successive fifty went in vain as Sophie Dunkley produced a fighting half-century after Kate Cross' five-wicket haul to help England Women register a five-wicket win over India Women and grab an unsailable 2-0 lead in the three-match series here on Wednesday. Chasing 222 for a win, England batswomen couldn't capitalise on their starts to lose five wickets for 133 in 28.5 overs but Dunkley and Katherine Brunt produced a 92-run partnership for the unconquered sixth wicket to take the team home with 15 balls to spare. — PTI

New Delhi: Indian-American prodigy Abhimanyu Mishra on Wednesday became the youngest ever chess Grandmaster after he scored his third GM norm in Budapest, Hungary, according to a report. The 12-year-old from New Jersey in United States became a GM from International Master, having crossed the required 2500 Elo rating barrier, chess.com website said. On August 12, 2002, Karjakin, a world championship challenger in 2016, secured the Grandmaster title at the age of 12 years and seven months. Mishra, born on February 5, 2009, took 12 years, four months, and 25 days to obtain the highest title in chess, the website said. — PTI

BELGIAN BAFFLE

Mystery remains over Belgian duo's fitness as Italy tie looms

Munich, July 1: Belgium are anxiously waiting on the fitness of stars Kevin De Bruyne and Eden Hazard for their Euro 2020 quarter-final showdown against Italy on Friday. Thorgan Hazard fired Belgium into the last eight with the goal that knocked out holders Portugal, but the fitness of his brother Eden and De Bruyne is Belgium's main concern before facing the Azzurri in Munich.

De Bruyne came off early in the second half against Portugal with an ankle knock, while Belgian captain Hazard injured a hamstring late in the game.

Neither trained on Wednesday with the Belgium's medical staff working around the clock to get them fit to face Italy.

Coach Roberto Martinez admits neither player will probably be 100 per cent in Munich, "but we will use every day to get them as fit as possible".

Manchester City midfielder De Bruyne is central to Belgium's hopes of reaching the semi-finals, where Spain or Switzerland would await next Tuesday.

Martinez is assessing his alternative options in attacking midfield. Atletico Madrid's Yannick Carrasco could replace Hazard, while Napoli forward Dries Mertens may step in for De Bruyne.

Martinez expects Italy to "attack from the very first second, they will be very structured", underlining the need for De Bruyne's presence to guide Belgium's counter-attacks.

Chelsea midfielder Jorginho, who faced De Bruyne's City in last month's Champions League final, has warned his Italy team-mates.

"De Bruyne is a player who makes the difference. We have to stop him because he always finds space. He can be really dangerous," said Jorginho.

With four dominant victories and three clean sheets so far at the Euro, the Belgians are living up to their billing as the world's top-ranked team.

Swiss eye another big scalp

St. Petersburg, July 1: Switzerland will try to follow up their shock elimination of world champions France at Euro 2020 against Spain on Friday after reaching the quarter-finals of a major tournament for the first time in 67 years.

Vladimir Petkovic's side recovered from two goals down to force extra time against much-fancied France and prevailed on penalties as 2018 World Cup hero Kylian Mbappe missed the decisive spot-kick.

Now the Swiss hope to spring another surprise against a Spain team that has scored 10 times in two games after a slow start to the group stage.

Alvaro Morata's redemptive strike helped secure a 5-3 extra-time win over Croatia, but Spain will need to cut out the errors if they are to contend for a record fourth European Championship.

The Juventus forward and his family had been subjected to abuse by fans in Seville after he missed a series of chances in the group stage.

History is on Spain's side against Switzerland, having lost just once in 22 meetings, a 1-0 defeat in South Africa that sparked their run to the 2010 World Cup title.

Sergio Busquets, the Spain captain, is the lone survivor from that team, while the Barcelona midfielder and Jordi Alba are the only two players in the squad left from their Euro 2012 triumph.

The win over Croatia was Spain's first in a knockout fixture since they beat Italy 4-0 to claim the second of back-to-back European crowns.

"The quarter-final depends on us not our rival. It wouldn't matter if it were France, the Swiss, Ukraine — we are here to win so we have to face and beat the best," said goal-keeper Unai Simon. The Athletic Bilbao

50-50 CHANCE FOR KDB AND EDEN: COACH

Brussels, July 1: Kevin De Bruyne and Eden Hazard on Thursday were both absent from Belgium's final training session before their Euro 2020 quarter-final against Italy.

Coach Roberto Martinez said both players were "50/50" to feature against Italy in Munich on Friday. "Italy will attack from the very first second; they will be very structured and dynamic. Every player knows his role. The game against Portugal was a game that could have been played a lot further down the line; usually players don't play these physical and intense games at this stage of the tournament," added Martinez.

Midfielder Thorgan Hazard said: "Italy will be the toughest opponent. They've had a good run of wins and it will be a nice challenge for us to end that sequence. Their style may suit us more than Portugal. They are enterprising so we may be able to profit from the open spaces." — Agencies

Neymar back for Chile clash

Rio de Janeiro, July 1: Defending champion Brazil and Chile will have their star players back in action when they meet in the Copa America quarter-finals on Friday.

Neymar will return for Brazil and Alexis Sanchez has recovered from a calf muscle injury ahead of the encounter at the Nilton Santos Stadium in Rio de Janeiro.

The Selecao spared a group of regular starters in the 1-1 draw with Ecuador on Sunday, resting Neymar, defender Thiago Silva and striker Gabriel Jesus. Others, including Casemiro, entered as substitutes in that game.

Brazil, with three wins in four Copa America matches, are the clear favourites to win. Chile's only win in the group stage was against Bolivia and they are lacking the kind of form that inspired their back-to-back championship wins in 2015 and 2016.

The last memorable match between Brazil and Chile was in the Round of 16 at the 2014 World Cup. Regular time ended 1-1, with goals by David Luiz and Sanchez. The Chileans almost beat the hosts in extra time, with a strike by Mauricio Pinilla hitting the bar in the last minute. But Brazil won on penalties, 3-2 — Pinilla also missed his from the spot. Thiago Silva, who could start on Friday, was marked by that match for his tears of tension during the shootout.

"I didn't programme myself to get emotional. It just happened," Silva told a news conference on Wednesday. "I was labelled negatively for that moment against Chile. It was very sad for me for a long time, but it was also a learning experience so I could prepare myself for other objectives, decisive matches."

Sanchez missed Chile's group-stage matches and his absence affected the team's production; La Roja only tallied three goals, with Eduardo Vargas scoring twice and Ben Brereton once.

Coach Martin Lasarte is yet to decide whether 32-year-old Sanchez will start against Brazil or come off the bench. — AP

HUMPY, PRANEETH JOIN RATNA NOMINEES LIST

New Delhi, July 1: Olympic-bound shuttler B. Sai Praneeth and Kidambi Srikanth have been nominated for the Rajiv Gandhi Khel Ratna award by the Badminton Association of India, which has also recommended three players for the Arjuna award.

Praneeth, who won a bronze medal at the 2019 World Championship, is the only men's singles shuttler to have qualified for the Tokyo Games. Srikanth has been struggling of late but won four titles in 2017.

The Badminton Association of India (BAI) nominated HS Prannoy, Pranav Jerry Chopra and Sameer Verma for the Arjuna honour. The federation also sent applications of S Muralidharan and PU Bhaskar Babu for the Dronacharya award. Leroy D'sa and PVV Lakshmi have been nominated for the Dhyan Chand award.

Reigning women's world rapid chess champion Koneru Humpy has been nominated for the prestigious Khel Ratna award by the All India Chess Federation (AICF). Humpy is already a recipient of the Arjuna award and Padma Shri.

Also, seven other players — Vidit S Gujrathi, B Adhiban, S.P. Sethuraman, M R Lalith Babu, Bhakti Kulkarni and Padmini Rout have been nominated for the Arjuna award, AICF secretary Bharat Singh Chauhan said. — PTI

SANIA-BETHANIE UPSET 6TH SEEDS IN FIRST ROUND

London, July 1: Sania Mirza and her American partner Bethanie Mattek-Sands knocked out sixth seeds Desirae Krawczyk and Alexa Guarachi to move to the second round of the women's doubles event at the Wimbledon Championships, here on Thursday.

Sania and Mattek-Sands were a bit rusty at the start but once they got their rhythm they dominated the match and won 7-5 6-3 against the American-Chilean combination in one hour and 27 minutes. Pressure was put on the pair early in the match when Mattek-Sands served the third game that featured seven deuce points. — PTI

NOVAK, ROGER, NAOMI ON ENTRY LISTS FOR TOKYO

Wimbledon, July 1: Serbia's Novak Djokovic, Switzerland's Roger Federer, Japan's Naomi Osaka and Australia's Ash Barty are on the entry lists for the Tokyo Olympics that were announced on Thursday by the International Tennis Federation.

As the ITF noted, though: "The entry lists are still subject to change." Federer, for one, said last weekend he would wait until after Wimbledon ends on July 11 to decide whether he will head to Japan.

Djokovic would like to pursue a Golden Slam, something only Steffi Graf has done: winning all major tennis tournaments and an Olympic singles gold medal in the same year. — AP

Svitolina Polished off

London, July 1: No. 3-seeded Elina Svitolina became the latest upset victim in the Wimbledon women's draw when she lost in the second round on Thursday to Magda Linette of Poland, who earned the biggest victory of her career, 6-3, 6-4.

Eight of the top 11 players in the WTA rankings are out of the tournament due to defeat, withdrawal or injury.

Linette had 28 winners to just eight for Svitolina, a semifinalist at Wimbledon two years ago. Linette, ranked 44th, had never before beaten a top-15 player in a completed match.

French Open champion Barbora Krejickova extended her winning streak to 14 matches by beating Andrea Petkovic 7-5, 6-4. Krejickova seeks to become the first woman since Serena Williams in 2015 to win Roland Garros and Wimbledon back to back.

A former Wimbledon doubles champion, Krejickova is making her tournament debut in the singles draw.

In men's play, fourth-seeded Alexander Zverev hit 13 aces, lost only 12 points on his serve and advanced to the third round by beating Tenny Sandgren 7-5, 6-2, 6-3. Zverev was the U.S. Open runner-up in 2020 and a semifinalist at last month's French Open, but he has never been past the round of 16 at Wimbledon.

2 UAE cricketers banned for fixing

Dubai, July 1: The ICC on Thursday banned two UAE players Amir Hayat and Ashfaq Ahmed for eight years after they were found guilty of trying to fix T20 World Cup qualifying round matches in their country, colluding with an Indian bookie.

While the ICC's Anti-Corruption Tribunal had charged both the Pakistan-born cricketers back on September 13, 2020, the backdated quantum of sentence was passed on the day.

"The bans are backdated to 13 September 2020, when they were provisionally suspended for corrupt conduct in relation to the ICC Men's T20 World Cup Qualifier 2019 in the UAE," the ICC release stated.

Both cricketers had taken 15,000 AED (United Arab Emirates Dirham totalling USD 4083 approx) from an Indian bookie, identified as Mr 'Y' in the ICC charge-

As per ICC's anti-corruption code, the duo has been charged on five counts which includes failure to disclose a corrupt approach, trying to improperly influence the outcome of a match, and accepting gifts worth more than $750.

"In October 2019, the ICC ACU commenced an investigation into allegations that members of the UAE senior international team may have had dealings with a known corruption network controlled by an Indian man named," the release said. — PTI
