Modi says farm laws to spur investments in agri value chain, boost employment

FE BUREAU
New Delhi, February 10

ASSERTING THAT INDIA could no longer be content with status-quoist policies in agriculture and other sectors that are in desperate need of reforms, Prime Minister Narendra Modi on Wednesday said the small farmers in the country would get access to the 'big markets' of agriculture produce, thanks to the new laws. Even as he repeated the offer for dialogue on any specific concerns the agitating farmers may have with regard to the laws, Modi hit out at the Opposition for seeking to make political capital out of the situation.

After the farm Bills were passed by Parliament, no mandi has closed, procurement at MSP has only risen; the laws would enable small farmers to access big markets

The microblogging platform refuses to block handles of activists, journalists

New Delhi, February 10

THE STAND-OFF BETWEEN Twitter and the government continues with the microblogging platform saying on Wednesday it had complied in part with the government's directive by suspending 500 accounts flagged by MeitY and blocking access to several others within India.

Twitter, however, said it has not blocked handles of civil society activists, politicians and media as "it would violate their fundamental right to free expression" guaranteed by the country's law. In a blog post, Twitter said it will continue to support the right to free expression of its users; it added it is actively exploring options under Indian law both for Twitter and the accounts that have been impacted.

Legal experts believe the matter is headed to courts as Twitter being an intermediary is bound by the law of the land and cannot interpret freedom of speech and expression on its own. "If every intermediary starts interpreting the law on its own, then there would be chaos," cyberlaw expert, Pawan Duggal told FE.

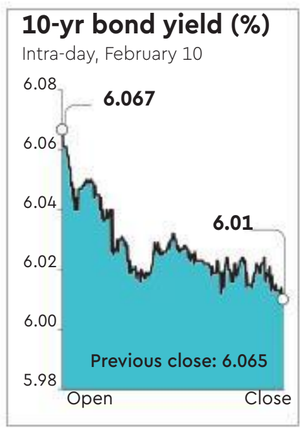
RBI signals lower yields in OMO

SUBHADIP SIRCAR
February 10

THE RESERVE BANK of India (RBI) picked up the bulk of the bonds in the 10-year segment at a higher than expected price in an open market purchase auction on Wednesday, highlighting its focus on keeping the benchmark yields anchored.

RBI bought ₹14,650 crore of the most traded 5.77% 2030 bond at 6.0034% yield, way below the 6.06% estimated by traders in a Bloomberg poll. It also bought the 6.18% 2024 bond and 6.19% 2034 bond, at yields in line with estimates.

The central bank's purchase at the higher than expected prices highlights its focus on keeping the benchmark yield anchored below 6%. The yield on the most traded 5.77% bond fell six basis points to 6.06% during the day.



"The RBI is using 10-year point on the yield curve as an anchor and is trying to influence market expectation through disproportionate buying" at that point, according to Pankaj Pathak, fixed income fund manager at Quantum Asset Management.

RoDTEP SCHEME

Low outlay to hurt revival of exports

FE BUREAU
New Delhi, February 10

THE GOVERNMENT HAS budgeted only ₹13,000 crore for a scheme that is supposed to reimburse embedded levies paid on inputs consumed in exports in FY22, drawing a sharp reaction from exporters who warn of a delay in recovery in outbound shipments in the wake of the Covid-19 outbreak.

The outlay for the Remission of Duties and Taxes on Exported Products (RoDTEP) scheme is way below the annual allocation of ₹50,000 crore that the government had initially envisaged. Also, it's only a third of the ₹39,097 crore the government approved for exporters in FY20 under the Merchandise Exports from India Scheme (MEIS) that the RoDTEP has replaced.

Following a Covid-induced plunge in revenue mop-up, the government had drastically cut MEIS allocation to ₹15,555 crore in the first three quarters of the current fiscal, much to the consternation of exporters.

Similarly, exporters said the latest finance Bill has proposed to amend the IGST Act, which would scrap an existing "seamless" refund facility for exporters (other than the designated ones) against their IGST payment on shipments. Any such change will force them to claim the IGST refund through the more time-consuming ITC (input tax credit) route. Exporters say while they currently get the refund as quickly as in 15 days, under the ITC route, it would take well beyond six months, in addition to a surge in paperwork for them. Moreover, their working capital, to that extent, will remain blocked for a longer period.

NITI asks for study on 'economic impact' of SC, NGT decisions

PRESS TRUST OF INDIA

WHEN JUDGE ROY FERGUSON opened up virtual proceedings of the 394th Judicial District Court in Texas on Zoom on Tuesday, he was not expecting to see two lawyers and a kitten.

The cute blue-eyed "cat" in the bottom right corner was actually county attorney Rod Ponton, covered by a filter.

"Mr Ponton, I believe you have filter turned on in the video settings," said the judge.

Ponton said his assistant was trying to fix the settings.

"I'm here live, I'm not a cat," he said. "I can see that," said the judge.

As the video went viral on social media, Ferguson wrote in a tweet: "IMPORTANT ZOOM TIP: If a child used your computer, before you join a virtual hearing check the Zoom Video Options to be sure filters are off."

BRIGHT FUTURE

Growth prospects to drive India's credit rating: Fitch

FE BUREAU
New Delhi, February 10

INDIA'S ELEVATED DEFICIT projections up to FY26 announced in the Budget will make it more challenging to reduce its debt-to-GDP ratio, which could rise above 90% over the next five years, global rating agency Fitch said on Wednesday.

Given the spike in both fiscal deficit and debt levels in the wake of the Covid-19 pandemic, India's medium-term growth outlook will play a more critical role in the assessment of its sovereign rating, Fitch added.

Before the pandemic, the agency said, India's debt was 72% of GDP (in 2019). The government now targets to lower fiscal deficit to 4.5% of GDP by FY26 from as high as 9.5% in FY21.

Fitch has projected India's real growth at 11% in FY22 then at around 6.5% a year through to FY26. "This pace of expansion reflects base effects and the closing of output gaps after the pandemic shock," it said.

There is a risk that fiscal spending could also fall short of planned levels and the Budget's proposed increase in import tariffs could dampen trade and economic growth, it said. Even proposed reforms face implementation challenges.

It said the budgeted capital infusion of ₹20,000 crore into state-run banks will be "insufficient to alleviate the anticipated incremental stress" this year and the next. Plans to privatise two state banks could also be significant, but it could face implementation challenges, according to Fitch.

Nevertheless, the Budget for FY22, in aggregate, has the potential to lift growth prospects. "Higher expenditure will support the near-term recovery and increased infrastructure spending could boost sustainable medium-term growth rates. Labour market and agricultural reforms that were legislated in September 2020 could also lift medium-term growth," it said.

The proposed establishment of the so-called bad bank to deal with bad banking sector assets should be credit positive, subject to details of its structure and implementation.

Fitch also maintained that recent reforms and policy measures, including those announced in the Budget, could also "influence our growth expectations and, thus, our debt trajectory forecasts".

State banks are likely to continue to experience asset-quality problems, weak profitability and small capital buffers and, as a result, we project credit growth to remain soft in the absence of further government action, Fitch said.

FY22 real GDP growth to come in at 10.4%: Ind-Ra

INDIA'S REAL GDP will grow at 10.4% in FY22, after a 7.8% contraction in the pandemic-impacted FY21, India Ratings and Research said on Wednesday. The domestic ratings agency, however, made it clear that the higher growth in FY22 will be due to the low base and from a trend growth perspective, India will still be at a lower level at the end of the next fiscal. "This fiscal year (FY21) is giving us the worst growth in independent India, next fiscal will be the best because of the base effect because we have slowed down so much this year," its chief economist Devendra Pant told reporters on a call. The agency has a "cautiously optimistic" view on the Indian economy at present, he said, welcoming a slew of Budget measures including the transparency and credible assumptions it makes. However, consumption, which has been the mainstay of growth for many years, has been lagging. After consecutive years of slowing growth and now a contraction, the rational consumer has decided to cut down on expenses, he said. — PTI

SC gives HC three months to decide on Chandigarh discom privatisation

FE BUREAU
New Delhi, February 10

THE SUPREME COURT has asked the High Court of Punjab and Haryana to expeditiously come to a final decision regarding the privatisation of the Chandigarh electricity distribution company (discom). The HC has been requested to issue an order "preferably within three months."

Following protests from its engineers and other workers, the High Court in December had put in abeyance the privatisation of the discom. However, the apex court in January had stayed the High Court's order.

The Supreme Court, in its latest ruling on Tuesday, said that the "interim order (staying the HC order) granted by this Court on 12th January 2021 to continue till the disposal of the pending Writ Petition (against privatisation) before the High Court".

To usher inefficiency, the Union government had in May 2020 announced its plan to privatise the discoms in Union Territories (UTs), and Chandigarh was first UT to issue notice inviting bids for the same.

Subsidiaries of Sterlite Power, ReNew Power, NTPC, Adani Transmission, Tata Power and Torrent Power have reportedly submitted their bids for the Chandigarh discom.

"We, however, make it clear that we have not expressed any opinion on the merits of the case and all contentions are left open," the Supreme Court remarked.

In its initial petition against privatisation, the UT Powermen Union had said that "no provision has been framed for reservation policy for the OBC, BC, sports personnel, ex-army personnel and various deprived sections of the society".

The petitioners also pointed out that the Chandigarh discom is running in profits and its transmission and distribution losses are less than the 15% threshold fixed by the Union power ministry.

After the recent acquisition of the Odisha discoms, Tata Power currently has the largest consumer base among private discoms.

The company expects major discoms in Uttar Pradesh, Odisha, Rajasthan, Madhya Pradesh, Jharkhand and eight Union Territories to be offered for private takeovers as well.

'Govt committed to implementing new farm laws'

THE GOVERNMENT REMAINS committed to implementing new farm laws in spirit because they are good particularly for small farmers, Principal Economic Adviser Sanjeev Sanyal said on Wednesday amid the ongoing protest against these laws.

As part of factor market reforms, he said, the government has also brought in changes in labour laws.

Dozens of central government labour laws are now being replaced with four labour codes, which are modern labour codes, he said addressing a virtual conference organised by Public Affairs Forum of India.

"We removed a lot of unnecessary regulations, same thing we did with farm laws. These laws have been debated for 20-30 years, there may be some adjustment needed to make it more smooth for certain segments of the farmers but overall we remain committed to implementing these farm laws in spirit because they are good particularly for small farmers," he said. —PTI

Call for reform: Cannot stick to status quo: PM

HE ALSO DREW a distinction between the farmers' "pavitra andolan" (pure protest) and the 'andolan jeevis', who he believes, were misleading and exploiting them.

He said the positive outcomes of the farm laws have already become visible, adding that the laws merely multiplied the market options for farmers, without endangering the existing mandi set-up in any manner. "After the laws came into effect, no mandi has shut. Procurement at MSP has not only remained, but has been stepped up," Modi said in the Lok Sabha.

"The government and Parliament have great respect for farmers," Modi said and made it clear that those who want to continue with the old agriculture marketing system can continue doing so.

Dwelling upon the reasons for the low income levels in the agriculture sector and the travails of the small farmers which led to a shift away from agriculture as a livelihood option over decades, the prime minister said, "we have to prepare our farmers for the long haul." He stressed that the new laws would encourage development of agri-based industries and greater investments in the agriculture value chain, boosting employment.

Modi's remarks came amid repeated interruptions of his speech by the Opposition and a subsequent walkout by members of the Congress in the Lower House, including former party chief Rahul Gandhi. Modi was speaking on the three farm laws during his reply to the debate on the motion of thanks to the President for his address to both houses of Parliament.

During his over 90-minute address, the Prime Minister slammed the Congress as "divided and confused party" for its allegedly different stands in the Lok Sabha and the Rajya Sabha on the debate.

According to the PM, the post-Covid world was turning out to be very different and a new world order was emerging, as happened after the Second World War. "In such times, remaining isolated from the global trends will be counter-productive." He said the JAM (Jan Dhan-Aadhaar-Mobile) trinity made a positive difference in people's lives, helped the poorest of the poor, the marginalised and the downtrodden with the transfer of over ₹2 lakh crore to the bank accounts of the beneficiaries.

On Monday, while speaking in the Upper House, Modi had slammed the Opposition for its 'sudden U-turn' on agriculture-sector reforms they had once advocated. He made an impassioned plea to the agitating farmers to give the new laws 'a chance' and urged them to end their two-and-a-half-month-long agitation. "We will find a solution together...all the doors are open for dialogue."

RoDTEP scheme: Low outlay to hurt revival of exports

COMMENTING ON THE sharp cut in the RoDTEP outlay for FY22, Federation of India Export Organisations (FIEO) president Sharad Kumar Saraf said it is impossible to offset the blow of all the embedded levies within an annual outlay of just ₹13,000 crore (about $1.8 billion) when exports are typically above $300 billion a year. Also, since these are mere reimbursements of various taxes that exporters are not supposed to pay in the first place, these are not "benefits" or "incentives" as touted to be. Some exporters said they fear the government would effect a steep cut in the RoDTEP rates to rein in the outgo within the stipulated amount.

Also, they asked the government to firm up the RoDTEP rates for the export of different products at the earliest. Since exporters typically factor in the "incentives" they get under key schemes while firming up deals, the absence of clarity on RoDTEP rates is hurting their prospects, they said. While the government has rolled out the scheme from January 1, it is yet to announce the rates.

A committee set up under former commerce secretary GK Pillai in late July last year is yet to finalise the RoDTEP rates for all products, as it's a humongous exercise.

The RoDTEP scheme is proposed to cover levies that are not subsumed by the GST (petroleum and electricity are still outside the GST ambit, while other imposts like mandi tax, stamp duty, embedded central GST and compensation cess, etc, remain unrebated).

In a media interaction, FIEO director general Ajay Sahai said the Budget has also announced a confiscation of goods under wrongful claim of refund/remission. This is particularly "harsh, as confiscation of goods will not only hurt the exporters but will also affect the country's exports as well as its image". Moreover, the word "wrongful claim" is subject to various interpretations and will put exporters at the mercy of field formations, bringing back the fear of 'inspector raj'.

According to a FIEO estimate, after a Covid-induced contraction this fiscal, India's exports could rise to $340-350 billion in FY22 as the advanced economies are expected to recover from the shock of the pandemic. However, much depends on how the government implements the RoDTEP and remove other irritants, they say. Exports are expected to drop by about 8%, year on year, to $290 billion in FY21.

Twitter blocks some a/cs, govt unhappy

ACCORDING TO DUGGAL, Section 69A of the IT Act gives government supreme powers to interpret law and order, security, sovereignty, etc of the nation and, based on its views, it can issue directions to intermediaries, who are bound to follow them. "If any intermediary has a problem, it can approach the court, that's the only way out. Let the court decide whether the law is right or not," Duggal said.

MeitY (ministry of electronics and information technology) tweeted a cold and surprised response to the Twitter's post. "Upon the request of Twitter seeking a meeting with the government, the secretary IT was to engage with senior management of Twitter. In this light a blog post published prior to this engagement is unusual. Government will share its response soon," it tweeted.

While Twitter executives had sought a meeting with communications and IT minister Ravi Shankar Prasad, the minister is understood to have asked them to meet the IT secretary.

Clarifying its stance on Wednesday, Twitter in a blog post said it had taken steps to reduce visibility of the hashtags containing harmful content that included prohibiting them from trending on Twitter and appearing as recommended Search terms. It said it has informed MeitY of its enforcement action. "We have withheld a portion of the accounts identified in the blocking orders under our Country Withheld Content policy within India only. These accounts continue to be available outside of India," Twitter said. It, however, did not provide details of the handles against whom action had been taken.

The government had on January 31 asked Twitter to suspend hashtags/accounts/tweets that were sharing misinformation and provocative content related to the ongoing farmers' agitation. Twitter had on February 1, blocked around 257 URLs/accounts/tweets which were using hashtag "ModiPlanningFarmerGenocide. However, it blocked the handles only for a few minutes, restoring them on the grounds that under its content policy the accounts and contents constituted free speech.

Taking strong exception, the government on February 3, issued a strongly-worded notice. It asserted that if Twitter failed to suspend hashtags/accounts/tweets, as directed under the provisions of Section 69A of the IT Act, it stood to lose the immunity that intermediaries enjoyed and would face penal action. Punishment for non-compliance in such cases is imprisonment for a term which may extend to seven years and a possible fine.

The notice also made it clear that Twitter is an intermediary and so bound by the laws which govern such platforms and therefore cannot adjudicate on its own.

On February 4, the government directed Twitter to take down 1,178 accounts with links to Pakistan and Khalistan supporters that were spreading misinformation and provocative content related to farmers' protest. In all, Twitter has taken action against over 1,000 accounts -- 500 as sought by the government and an equal number that were found by the company to be engaging in platform manipulation and spam.

No minimum amount required in FASTag wallet: NHAI

PRESS TRUST OF INDIA
New Delhi, February 10

THE NATIONAL HIGHWAYS Authority of India on Wednesday said it has decided to do away with the requirement of maintaining a minimum amount in FASTag wallet.

The move aims at ensuring seamless movement at electronic toll plazas.

"In order to increase the FASTag penetration to ensure seamless movement of traffic and to reduce avoidable delays at the toll plazas, NHAI has decided to remove the mandatory threshold amount for the FASTag account / wallet, which was paid by the user in addition to the security deposit for the passenger segment (Car/Jeep/Van)," NHAI said in a statement.

It said issuer banks were unilaterally mandating some threshold amount value for the FASTag account/wallet, in addition to the security deposit amount.

As a result, many FASTag users were not allowed to pass through a toll plaza, in spite of having sufficient balance in their FASTag account/wallet, the statement said adding this was resulting into unwanted hassles and avoidable delay at toll plazas.

It has been decided that the users will now be allowed to pass through the toll plaza, if the FASTag account/ wallet balance is non-negative, the statement said.

After crossing the toll plaza, if the account balance becomes negative, the bank can recover the amount from the security deposit, which should be replenished at the time of the next recharge by the user, it added.

With more than 2.54 crore users, FASTag contributes 80% of the total toll collection. Daily toll collection through FASTag has crossed ₹89 crore mark.

As payment on toll plazas through FASTag will become mandatory from February 15, 2021, National Highways Authority of India is targeting to achieve 100% cashless tolling at the toll plazas across the country.

THE CABINET COMMITTEE on Economic Affairs (CCEA) on Wednesday approved a proposal to give ₹100 crore grant-in-aid to Assam-based state-run Brahmaputra Valley Fertilizer Corporation (BVFCL) for sustaining operation of its urea manufacturing units.

Reduction in pulses imports resulting in saving of ₹15,000 cr annually: Govt

PRESS TRUST OF INDIA
New Delhi, February 10

INDIA'S PULSES PRODUCTION has increased significantly in the last few years, leading to a reduction in imports and an annual saving of ₹15,000 crore in foreign exchange to the country, Agriculture Minister Narendra Singh Tomar said.

Addressing a conference organised by Indian Institute of Pulses Research (IPPR) on World Pulses Day, the minister said the country is moving towards becoming self-sufficient in pulses production.

The output has increased to 240 lakh tonnes from 140 lakh tonnes in the last six years because of efforts made by farmers and scientists as well as the government's initiative, he said. Stating that pulses demand is estimated to reach 320 lakh tonnes by 2050, Tomar said there is a need to shift focus on increasing the production to meet rising demand.

"The dependence on pulses imports has come down and the country is saving ₹15,000 crore annually," he said.

Tomar also highlighted that the government has increased the minimum support price (MSP) of pulses significantly and is also procuring the foodgrain.

He said the government has taken various steps to double farmers' income, including crop insurance scheme, ₹1 lakh crore agri-infrastructure fund and PM-Kisan.

Petrol, diesel prices touch fresh highs as rates go up for second straight day

PRESS TRUST OF INDIA
New Delhi, February 10

PETROL AND DIESEL prices on Wednesday scaled new highs in the country as rates were hiked for the second day in a row.

Petrol price was hiked by 30 paise per litre and diesel by 25 paise a litre, according to a price notification of state-owned fuel retailers.

The increase took petrol price to an all-time high of ₹87.60 a litre in Delhi and to ₹94.12 in Mumbai. Diesel rates rose to ₹77.73 per litre in the national capital and to an all-time high of ₹84.63 in Mumbai.

Rates vary from state to state depending on the local incidence of taxation (VAT) and freight.

Oil Minister Dharmendra Pradhan in Rajya Sabha said the government is not considering a reduction in excise duty to cool rates from their record highs.

Rates have risen as international oil prices crossed $61 per barrel for the first time in more than a year on improving demand outlook amid the global rollout of Covid-19 vaccines, he said on Wednesday.

Central and state taxes make up for over 61% of the retail selling price of petrol and about 56% of diesel.

Fuel rates had gone up by 30 paise per litre each on Tuesday. So far this year, prices have risen by ₹3.89 per litre in case of petrol and by ₹3.86 on diesel.

Q3 PERFORMANCE

Hindalco consolidated profit soars 77% to ₹1,877 crore

Strong Q3 is attributed to robust performance by Novelis and domestic aluminium biz, supported by higher volumes and better product mix, lower input costs, stability in operations and cost saving

"We believe that cash flow generation is going to be good. So we are going to sort of describe how we will invest that money into a growth capex to reduce our net debt, as well as distribution to shareholders."
— SATISH PAI, MANAGING DIRECTOR, HINDALCO INDUSTRIES

PRESS TRUST OF INDIA
Mumbai, February 10

HINDALCO INDUSTRIES ON Wednesday reported 76.74% growth in consolidated profit after tax (PAT) at ₹1,877 crore during the quarter ending December 31, 2020, compared to the same quarter of the previous financial year mainly driven by strong performance by Novelis and India aluminium business.

The company's PAT during the third quarter of 2019-20 stood at ₹1,062 crore, Hindalco said in a BSE filing.

The consolidated revenue from operations of Hindalco for the quarter under review went up by 19.73% to ₹34,958 crore compared to ₹29,197 crore in the corresponding quarter of FY20.

The strong third quarter is due to robust performance by Novelis and domestic aluminium business, which was supported by higher volumes and better product mix, lower input costs, stability in operations and cost saving actions, Hindalco Industries managing director Satish Pai told reporters in a virtual press conference.

"The demand has been back globally during the third quarter to the pre-Covid levels in every sector. Novelis achieved record shipments, driven by strong demand across product end markets. The India business delivered an excellent performance with aluminium value-added products continuing to record higher volumes," Pai added.

Going forward, he stated that the vaccination is being rolled out, which will give further confidence so the company is quite bullish on the demand for the next financial year.

In the last quarter of FY21, Pai said "Q4 "from a commercial point of view, we are evaluating what could be the best way of doing the InvIT transaction".

GAIL profit declines 7% to ₹1,897 crore

FE BUREAU
New Delhi, February 10

STATE-RUN GAS transporter GAIL's net profit fell 6.5% year-on-year (y-o-y) to ₹1,897 crore on a consolidated basis in the quarter ended December, as the natural gas marketing business — GAIL's largest revenue earner — reported a loss of ₹157.9 crore against a profit of ₹452.6 crore in the corresponding period a year ago. GAIL revenue fell 12% y-o-y to ₹15,899.9 crore in Q3, while expenses dropped 14% to ₹14,034.4 crore.

Losses would have been higher if the company's tax expenses had not dropped 43% y-o-y to ₹448.8 crore in the quarter. Profit before tax for the gas transmission segment remained flat at ₹990.7 crore. The petrochemical segment, owing to higher margins and volumes, swung to a ₹434 crore profit in the quarter from a ₹8.5 crore loss a year ago.

GAIL operates 11,774 km of natural gas pipelines, and another 6,352 km are currently under construction. The oil and gas pipelines of GAIL will be part of the core infrastructure assets that will be rolled out under the asset monetisation programme announced recently in the Union budget. Remarking that the announcement was very recent, AK Tiwari, GAIL's director finance told analysts that

IHH Healthcare Berhad colluded with former Fortis promoters to buy controlling stake : Daiichi tells SC

FE BUREAU
New Delhi, February 10

JAPANESE DRUGMAKER Daiichi Sankyo on Wednesday told the Supreme Court that Malaysian healthcare giant IHH Healthcare Berhad had colluded with former Fortis Healthcare promoters Malvinder Singh and Shivinder Singh to purchase 31% controlling stake in the hospital chain by "flouting" its and the Delhi High Court's directions.

It also said that the arbitral award of ₹3,500 crore, which with interest now stands at ₹4,200 crore, can be recovered either by selling physical assets of the Malaysian company or its 31% stake in FHL. IHH had in July 2018 bought the hospital chain for ₹4,000 crore by bidding for it.

Senior counsel Mukul Rohatgi, appearing for Daiichi, told the bench led by Justice UU Lalit that the award, granted by the Singapore Tribunal against Singh brothers, has been in jeopardy as they had disposed of their controlling stakes in Fortis Group to IHH Healthcare.

Despite giving several written assurances to the HC, they alienated their unencumbered shares while secretly finalising the deal with IHH, he added.

Daiichi had alleged that the brothers reduced stake of FHL from more than 40% in August 11, 2017 to less than 1% now and FHL has diverted the sale proceeds it received from IHH to re-purchase the assets of RHT Health Trust, Singapore, in which the Singh brothers allegedly had substantial interest till 2017. It further said that the share holding of FHHL, which is owned by the brothers, in FHL has been reduced from more than 40% before August 11, 2017 to around 0.2% now.

However, senior lawyer Harish Salve, appearing for Fortis, said that Daiichi had no claim over any assets of IHH Healthcare or Fortis Healthcare, as the arbitration award was passed against the Singh brothers, who no longer had any stake in either of the companies. Daiichi is just trying to obstruct the deal and trying to take out money, he alleged.

When the judges asked Singh brothers how did they alienate their stake in the healthcare chain despite status quo order from the SC and a total of five assurances given to the high court, senior counsel Kailash Vasudev, appearing for Malvinder, said that it was the banks and other financial institutions with which the shares were pledged, including the ones that were lying in depository accounts, that made the transfer.

The Supreme Court had in 2019 held Singh brothers guilty of contempt for violating its earlier orders that had restrained them from divesting their shares in FHL. However, it gave them one more chance to purge themselves of the contempt if each of them deposited ₹1,170.95 crore. Both the brothers are in Tihar jail in the case filed by Religare FinVest — an arm of Religare Enterprises — for allegedly causing loss worth ₹2,397 crore.

FE BUREAU
Pune, February 10

ADAR POONAWALLA-CONTROLLED Rising Sun Holdings is acquiring a majority stake in non-banking financial company Magma Fincorp and will be infusing fresh capital into the company. This will be followed by an open offer.

Rising Sun Holdings and Magma Fincorp on Wednesday announced a transaction for preferential issue of equity shares of Magma Fincorp for ₹3,456 crore. The preferential allotment represents 64.68% of Magma's enhanced equity share capital post the issue. 'Payments space led fintech funding in Jan'

FE BUREAU
New Delhi, February 10

FUNDING IN THE fintech space in January was led by the payments segment that garnered close to 70% of the sectoral investments. Indian fintech companies have collectively raised more than $130 million from investors last month, according to a report published by consulting firm The Digital Fifth.

The wealth tech, insurance tech and lending categories also found backers. However, funding for the lending segment declined compared to previous months. "This could be due to the tightening of norms surrounding lending by the RBI," analysts at the firm said.

A total of 16 start-ups in the fintech space raised funds in January. Kunal Shah-led credit card payment and management platform Cred raised $81 million at a post-money valuation of $806 million from a clutch of investors including DST Global and Sequoia Capital. Digit Insurance became the country's first unicorn in 2021 after existing investors infused ₹135 crore in the company at a valuation of $1.9 billion.

As more users shift to digital payments, the space is expected to attract sizeable funding in the coming years. The government' proposal to allocate ₹1,500 crore to a scheme that seeks to promote digital transactions should further bode well for the payments and the embedded finance space. More than 200 fintech startups are projected to get funded with an expected amount ranging between $3-$4 billion. "This investments will be focused on SME Neobanks, fintech enablers, lending fintech, insurtechs and embedded finance," the analysts said.

AVIATION SECTOR

Puri: Price bands in airfares to be discontinued with flight services reaching pre-Covid level

PRESS TRUST OF INDIA
New Delhi, February 10

EMPHASISING THAT capping of airfares was an "extraordinary measure", Union Minister Hardeep Singh Puri on Wednesday said the price bands are expected to be done away with once flight services reach pre-Covid-19 levels.

Replying to questions in the Rajya Sabha, the minister said the civil aviation sector was completely closed down on March 23, 2020, and was reopened on May 25 in a slow and calibrated manner by putting in place SOPs, provisions for seamless contactless travel and a large number of other measures.

"Our effort...is always to open up a little ahead of the actual and potential traffic," the civil aviation minister said.

On why are flights not operating up to 80% capacity, the civil aviation minister said that is a decision taken on commercial basis by air carriers.

"We are now confronted with an interesting situation. On the one hand, some of the carriers want us to open full capacity, 100 per cent, whereas others would like to go slow," he said, and added the decision to raise beyond 80 per cent capacity will depend on the behaviour of the virus and "our sense" of comfort that air travel has all the SOPs.

Puri further said the floor and the ceiling price on airfares was an extraordinary measure which was necessitated by an extraordinary situation.

It was designed to ensure that airlines, in a situation of limited availability, did not charge exorbitant price, he said.

"It is not our intention--it also cannot be in an open, deregulated market situation--to have the fare bands made a permanent feature. So, it is our expectation that when flights open up to pre-Covid levels in this summer schedule, we would not have the need for a price band," the minister said.

He also informed the House that when the flights were opened up in May, there were only 30,000 passengers. However, the figures for Monday are about 2,87,000 passengers. "So, the demand is rising and once there is economic and commercial viability, the airlines will not need any encouragement from us to restart the flights," he added.

International passenger traffic fell by 90.56% in March-Dec 2020

INTERNATIONAL PASSENGER traffic fell by 90.56% to 18.55 lakh in March-December period of 2020 due to the COVID-19 pandemic as compared to the corresponding period of 2019, civil aviation minister Hardeep Singh Puri said on Wednesday.

Moreover, domestic passenger traffic fell to 3.77 crore in March-December period of 2020 from 11.99 crore in the corresponding period of 2019, the minister said.

Scheduled international passenger traffic continues to remain suspended in India since March 23, 2020, due to the coronavirus pandemic. However, special international flights have been operating since July 2020 under air bubble arrangements formed with various countries.

"Revenues of major Indian scheduled carriers fell from ₹46,711 crore during April-September 2019 to about ₹11,810 crore during April-September 2020. Their full time and contractual employment which was 74,887 as on 31 March 2020 fell to 67,906 as on 30 September 2020," Puri told Rajya Sabha in a written reply to a question.

"Domestic passenger traffic fell from 11,99,45,632 during March-December 2019 to 3,77,79,592 during March-December 2020, while international passenger traffic fell from 1,96,64,179 to 18,55,033," he added.

Domestic passenger traffic was suspended in India from March 25, 2020 to May 24, 2020, due to the coronavirus-triggered lockdown. Currently, the Indian carriers are permitted to operate not more than 80% of their pre-Covid domestic flights. — PTI

The governments in states and at the Centre owe the airline ₹84.57 crore for VVIP travel, ₹12.61 crore for foreign dignitaries' travel, ₹ 9.67 crore for evacuation operations and ₹391.32 crore as other outstanding dues, the minister told Rajya Sabha in a written reply to a question.

The national carrier incurred a provisional loss of ₹7,982 crore in 2019-20 as compared to the net loss of ₹8,556 crore in 2018-19, Puri said.

The government is currently in the process to sell its entire stake in debt-ridden airline.

ON FARM LAWS

Prime minister of India Narendra Modi

After the Laws relating to agriculture were passed by Parliament—no mandi has shut. Likewise, MSP has remained. Procurement on MSP has remained. These facts can't be ignored

Rejecting Montek report exposes political nature of stir

Even Punjab CM knows reforms needed to get the state back in shape, but he seems unable to even try to push them

BY REJECTING THE medium- and long-term economic strategy recommendations of the Group of Experts headed by the former finance secretary and Planning Commission deputy chairman Montek Singh Ahluwalia on grounds that it was anti-farmer, Punjab chief minister Amarinder Singh has made it clear he is going to be guided by political considerations alone, and not any desire to get the state out of the economic rut it is in. Never mind that it was because the state was slipping so badly—from the highest per capita income among the major states in 1999, it slipped to 10th position in 2019-20—that Singh asked Ahluwalia to suggest a way forward for the state. While the report is not just about the state's agriculture, including Punjab's rapid desertification due to massive overuse of water, fixing the sector is critical if the rest of the economy is to prosper. The report has important suggestions on how to revive manufacturing, including the promotion of start-ups and greater use of digital technology, but fixing agriculture is central to everything for a variety of reasons.

For one, with the state spending as much as 1.9% of its GDP on power subsidies for agriculture—these grew, this newspaper reported, from ₹5,670 crore in FY19 to a likely ₹7,180 in FY21—it has little left to spend on creating better facilities for either manufacturing or services. Indeed, as the first report of the Group of Experts points out, the high electricity subsidy has resulted in a situation where the total capital expenditure in the budget is only about 1.6% of the state's GDP; the electricity subsidy, in turn, is what makes it possible for farmers to pump up water, so Punjab's desertification cannot be slowed till this is fixed. If electricity subsidies for agriculture are rationalised, this will also help reduce power costs for manufacturing; and should Punjab develop a food processing industry, as the report recommends, that will also boost the MSME sector and create a lot of jobs in the state.

It is understandable that, in the face of a massive farmer protest, the state's chief minister is reluctant to accept a report whose main recommendations on agriculture mirror the central farm laws the unions are protesting against, but it is not clear what other options the CM has. Even with the Centre bearing the cost of the MSP, the state's finances are coming apart, so much so that it cannot even spend enough in critical areas like health. Ironically, with its farmers continuing to grow cereals which the Centre buys at MSP, the state's agriculture is also suffering. Agriculture GDP in Punjab grew at 5.7% per annum in 1971-72 to 1985-86 versus India's 2.3% but, since 2005-06, agricultural growth in Punjab was only 1.9% per year versus 3.7% for the country.

This is because, while the value of cereals output grew by just 1.6% per year between 2000-01 and 2018-19, horticulture grew 4.4% and dairy by 4.5%; the Punjab farmer likes the certainty of his crop being bought by the Centre, but the prices of other crops—including milk—are growing much faster. Ideally, as the report recommends, the CM should have tried to move around a third of the area under paddy to other crops—he could have negotiated a support package for this with the Centre—and, by encouraging cooperatives like Amul to the state, developed the dairy industry and tried to double the area under plums, peaches, litchi, guava, etc and vegetables—potatoes, peas, chilli, etc—that are suitable to Punjab; linking them to processors, organised retailers and exporters—including air freight subsidy for exports to the Gulf—would both reduce price volatility and also boost both industry and jobs. When politics is centre stage, the economy always suffers.

Punishing bad advice

McKinsey's opioid-deal a vote for consultancies' accountability

MCKINSEY HAVING TO pay $600 million to settle investigations/claims it faces in 49 states in the US, five territories and the district of Columbia over the US's opioid crisis shows the way for apportioning responsibility to consulting companies, auditors, etc, for violations of the law by their corporate clients, where their advice/neglect of due scrutiny plays a role. In 2017, close to 2 million in the US were suffering substance use disorders linked to prescription pain-relief opioids, and since 2000, prescription opioids have contributed to the death of 450,000 Americans—thanks, in no small part, to aggressive marketing of prescription opioids (for pain relief, anaesthetic use, etc) by pharma companies in the late 1990s. With companies underplaying/denying the addictive potential of such drugs in their messaging to doctors and regulators, prescription rates saw quantum jumps and a concurrent jump in opioid abuse. The Centers for Disease Control estimates that the US loses $78.5 billion each year from prescription-opioid-abuse related costs on the healthcare, industry, law&order/justice fronts.

In the present instance, documents unearthed in the context of lawsuits over Purdue Pharma's OxyContin painkiller, The New York Times (NYT) reports, show how McKinsey offered consultancy services to drive up the drug's sales over 2004-2019. This was even after the drugmaker pleaded guilty in 2007 to federal criminal charges that it had misled doctors and regulators about the drug's risks. McKinsey's consultancy included "sales 'drivers'" based on the pitch that opioids make patients "more optimistic and less isolated", lobbying pharmacy chain Walgreens in the face of an agreement it made with the government to crack down on illegal opioid prescriptions and rebates to distributors based on every OxyContin overdose that could be attributed to the pills they sold—probe documents show that it even estimated potential overdose/development of opioid use disorder in 2019 for at least one retail pharmacy chain. And, when the heat began rising, it recommended to Purdue to "band together" with other opioid makers in the face of regulatory action; it even talked of strategies to negate "emotional messaging" by mothers who had lost teenagers to overdose. Beyond all this, NYT reports citing a Colorado justice department official, two McKinsey senior partners worked with Purdue's promoters—over-ruling the drugmaker's executives—to implement plans to drive sales.

As per the settlement, McKinsey won't admit wrongdoing—indeed, it has maintained that its past work was "lawful"—but must agree to court-determined restrictions on work involving certain types of addictive narcotics. More importantly, it will have to put volumes of its opioid-work documents in the public domain. The consultancy may still not be able to fully avoid legal liability—while the state of Nevada will continue to pursue its investigation, the agreement doesn't preclude lawsuits from local governments. The settlement, though, shatters the shield that consultancies use—that they only make recommendations—to distance themselves from the consequences of their advice and related actions by clients; think McKinsey and Enron, for instance. Governments, and businesses, including advisory concerns, must draw the right lessons from the McKinsey settlement on corporate and consultant accountability.

PollutionMEASURE

Efforts on real-time monitoring of pollution are welcome, but the government of the national capital needs to do much more

POLLUTION BEING THE national capital's great ailment, the need for dynamism in treating it has always been sizeable. The Delhi government's step to engage IIT-Delhi, IIT-Kanpur and TERI for real-time tracking of pollution, thus, is a welcome measure. While the national capital has already installed air quality monitoring devices at different places across the city, under the new tracking, the government would set up a super site and a mobile site to find out sources of pollution in real-time. The sites would try to determine the chemical composition of particulate matter and determine what steps are needed to bring down their concentration.

While the government had awarded a similar project, for ₹1.2 crore, in 2018 to the University of Washington, it has now cancelled that project as a government-appointed panel had found shortcomings. The new project has come at a 10X cost escalation, at ₹11 crore. But, good intentions on monitoring notwithstanding, the government has to incentivise the use of greener alternatives and fix pinching penalties for polluters; else, all these efforts would mean little. There is a need to steer vehicle-buyers towards electric vehicles and move more households towards sustainable power/fuel consumption. Given 80% of Delhi's energy mix is accounted for by coal, the national capital also needs to focus on renewable generation.

RIGHT TRACK

OTHER THAN REITERATING POLICY ISSUES AND LISTING OPERATIONAL CONSTRAINTS WITHIN THE RAILWAYS, THE PRIMARY VALUE ADDITION OF THE NRP IS ANALYSIS OF THE EXISTING NETWORK

National Rail Plan: Railways' route to growth

BIBEK DEBROY

Chairman, Economic Advisory Council to the PM
Views are personal

OFTEN, PEOPLE DO not notice what the Union Budget says about Indian railways (IR). Points that may register are the following. (a) There is a National Rail Plan (NRP) for 2030. (2) Western dedicated freight corridor (DFC) and Eastern DFC will be commissioned by June 2022. Parts of DFC will be in PPP mode. (3) There will be an East Coast corridor (Kharagpur to Vijaywada), East-West corridor (Bhusaval to Kharagpur/Dankuni) and North-South corridor (Itarsi to Vijayawada). (4) All broad-gauge routes will be electrified by December 2023. (5) There will be safety and passenger amenity measures. One hundred years before 2030, in 1930, Mumbai-Pune Deccan Queen was started. This is the only train with an official birthday, on June 1, 1930. IR has come a long way since 1930, and down the years, several committees have probed IR's erosion in competitiveness and suggested solutions. However, in the historical evolution of railways in India, the emphasis was on passengers, not freight. Geographical parts of the country, important from a freight perspective, were bypassed. Therefore, even towards the end of the 19th century and the first decade of the 20th, railways didn't contribute as much to growth as it did in other countries.

"When the idea of constructing railways in India was first started, it was considered that there would be little passenger traffic on account of the poverty of the people and that the chief business would be derived from goods". That is not what happened. This quote isn't from NRP. It is from an essay written in 1905 by NG Priestley, the first secretary of Railway Board, counterpart of today's CRB. NRP was finalised in December 2020 and was sporadically reported in newspapers, in draft and final form. After the Union Budget, some may have downloaded and read it, in the 49-page PPT style version. The more intrepid will read the 124-page executive summary. Only the most courageous will read the complete 1178-page document. Among other things, NRP is meant to increase the share of railways in freight, rectifying pre-Independence and post-Independence bias, and develop a capacity that will cater to demand in 2050. Most earlier committee reports concentrated on policies—financials, human resources, fares and cross-subsidies, competition, regulator, investments. I am not aware of one that has mapped the existing IR network on a GIS platform and identified gaps. Perhaps, technology has made it easier. In any event, that, and not mere length, is NRP's defining characteristic, making it a worthwhile exercise.

> Many decisions pertaining to the Railways were often driven by political considerations and were ad hoc. NRP bases those decisions on objective criteria Change is not independent of those other policies, such as pricing and cross-subsidies. For instance, we talk of IR's operating ratio (OR). In 2018-19, as per NRP, India's OR was 0.59 for freight and 1.92 for passenger traffic. The problem is low passenger fares and artificially high freight rates required to cross-subsidise those. Actually, it is worse, since normally, freight and passenger trains share common sections of track and passenger trains are given preference over goods trains in getting a path (route from point A to point B). Therefore, the average speed of a freight train is 24 km/hour. Average speed is a surrogate indicator. A superior indicator is transit time, time taken for a consignment to reach from one point to another. That also raises multi-modal issues. During the lockdown, there were fewer passenger trains (or none), and average speed of goods trains increased to 40 km/hour. But DFCs are meant to do that, aren't they, be dedicated? In the process, they free up capacity elsewhere.

Most people know IR has a system of HDN and HUN identification for the present network. HDNs are high-density routes. There are 11 HDN routes that connect metros, with a single haul corridor. HUNs are highly-used networks, with multiple origins and destinations and no clear single haul corridor. HDNs and HUNs carry 80% of IR's traffic, and there are sections where capacity utilisation is more than 100%. With traffic increasing, capacity utilisation will worsen. HUNs are primarily for passengers. Hence, gauge conversion and electrification. For freight, HDNs are important, if the intention is to increase rail share in total freight carried to 44%, average speed must increase (to say 50 km/hour), and costs must decline (say by 30%). With Western and Eastern DFCs, both should happen. However, the comparison is relative, since roads will also improve, courtesy technology and Bharatmala. There is nothing automatic about IR gaining a competitive edge. Other than reiterating policy issues and listing operational procedures and constraints (wagon policy, haulage charges, terminal charges) within IR (which can be improved by breaking down silos), the primary value addition of NRP is an analysis of the existing network, with expected additions (such as National Infrastructure Pipeline) also built-in. Even after doing this, gaps remain, as supplements to DFCs, HDNs and HUNs, not to forget terminals and sidings. These are places where one needs new tracks and investments. Historically, such decisions were often driven by political considerations and were ad hoc. NRP bases those decisions on objective criteria.

I should have mentioned analysis of the existing network is disaggregated, commodity-wise. "Further to the adoption of above-mentioned speed differential, reduction of 30% in tariff has not been applied to commodities like Coal. Iron Ore, Raw material for Steel and Fertilisers. These commodities are traditional bulk commodities for railways and reduction in cost will not have much impact in increasing the share on railways. But for other commodities, reduction in cost will attract the commodities to use railways as preferred mode". Not quite an a priori expectation.

Flip-flop in the power sector

Resolving to give financial assistance to states by linking it to reforms once again, the Centre is doing a flip-flop—it knows fully well that this approach has not worked in the past

SOMIT DASGUPTA

Former member, CEA and currently senior visiting fellow, ICRIER. Views are personal

IN HER FY22 Budget speech, the finance minister made three major announcements as far as the power sector is concerned. First is the announcement of a Hydrogen Mission; second is related to a reforms package that would cost the government ₹3.05 trillion over five years; and the third is about giving a choice to the consumer for choosing her distribution company.

The announcement of the Hydrogen Mission, no doubt, is a step in the right direction. In fact, this should have been done several years ago. If India wants to get to net-zero or near net-zero emissions in the foreseeable future, it has no alternative but to reduce the cost of making green hydrogen, which costs about ₹400 per kg today. It is felt that it could be reduced to about ₹150 per kg by 2030, and there are studies which indicate that hydrogen demand could increase five-fold by 2050 and the major consumer would be the industrial sector.

As far as the reforms package is concerned, one has seen just too many such schemes funded by the central government whereby grants/soft loans are given to the states on the basis of reduction in their commercial losses, also known as aggregate technical and commercial (AT&C) losses. It all started with the APDP scheme of 2000, which was followed by several similar schemes, all of which entailed giving money to the states. The money was to be used for strengthening the distribution infrastructure, including metering. While thousands of crores of rupees have been spent on these schemes, the fact is that reduction in AT&C losses has been minuscule. Even today, the AT&C losses, pan India, are estimated at about 22% (2018-19), and there are discoms whose losses are in excess of 40%. Today, one should really question if disbursing money to the states is the correct thing to do because the financial health of the discoms is going from bad to worse despite all the incentives being given linked to reforms. When the central government formulated UDAY in 2015, it consciously moved away from giving any monetary assistance to the states and left it to them and their discoms to reduce commercial losses through the issue of bonds. The role of the central government was limited to being a facilitator. This was the right approach since it held the states responsible for undoing the mess they had created in the distribution space. The fact that UDAY too has failed is another matter, though things got exacerbated after the pandemic. By resolving to give financial assistance to states by linking it to reforms once again, the government is doing a flip-flop, knowing fully well that this approach has not worked in the past. The tariffs determined by the various state electricity commissions should ensure the viability of the discoms and even their capex should be funded from the tariffs.

On the final issue of the consumer choosing her distribution company, it is rather surprising that the finance minister made such an announcement since this issue was laid to rest when it was omitted in the Electricity (Amendment) Bill 2020. Choosing one's own distribution company was part of the Electricity (Amendment) Bill 2014, and it is understood that it was opposed by the states tooth and nail, and therefore, dropped in the Bill of 2020. This concept is generally known as separation of carriage and content where there are several retailers (as against one distribution company) and only one owner of the distribution wires. All the retailers use the same set of wires to reach their respective consumers. One can clearly see from the statement of the finance minister that an attempt has been made to word it very carefully. The truth is that going by the existing provisions of the Electricity Act 2003, having more than one discom in an area is possible, but each will have its own set of distribution wires. This, of course, is neither practical nor economically viable since the wires business is a natural monopoly. Exactly what the government proposes to do will be known when the details are released. However, it is abundantly clear that the Electricity Act 2003 will have to be amended to accommodate the provision of giving a choice to consumers. This is yet another flip-flop and does not augur well for the sector and reveals a lack of clarity on policy matters.

> It is rather surprising that the finance minister made an announcement on the consumer choosing her discom, since this issue was laid to rest when it was omitted in the Electricity (Amendment) Bill 2020

One cannot miss the euphoria expressed by some of the well-known consultancy organisations on the issue of giving consumers the choice of their distribution company. This move means more business and more revenue for the consultancy organisations since the government/regulators will depend on them to take it forward. No one in the bureaucracy or regulatory commissions has the time (and perhaps the competence also) to draw up the road map, charting out what needs to be done to make this idea functional. One can't really blame the consultancy organisations for egging on the government on such ideas because it is their job to earn revenue for their firms. It is for the bureaucrats and regulators to apply their minds and decide what is feasible, practical and cost-effective.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Covid-19's origins

The WHO-led team of scientists has concluded from its on-the-spot investigations that it was "extremely unlikely" that the SARS-CoV-2 was leaked from a laboratory in China's Wuhan city. As part of its assignment to investigate the origins of the coronavirus, the team of experts visited laboratories, markets and hospitals in Wuhan. The international investigators found no evidence to establish that the virus originated in Wuhan and their findings ruled out the lab leak hypothesis and further investigations in this regard. By their own admission, they could make little headway with their quest to find out where exactly the virus came from. Nevertheless, the conclusions reached by the WHO team did not refute China's stated position that the coronavirus could have been circulating elsewhere before it was detected in Wuhan. Its inference was that the virus may have followed a 'convoluted path'; it was more likely to have originated in bats and found its way to humans via pangolin or bamboo rat. Another possibility that the team put forward was that the virus could have been transmitted through 'imported' frozen food products. The first human infected with Covid-19 or "patient zero" is still elusive to gain greater understanding of the origin of the virus. The team revealed that it received 'incredible cooperation' from China and it analysed the data provided to them. China faced criticism for playing down the outbreak of Covid-19 in the initial stage. The doubts cast on the transparency of the WHO's fact-finding mission could keep conspiracy theories – 'lab leak theory' in particular - alive. Meanwhile, in a tit for tat, China has dared the US to throw the doors of its bio-lab at Fort Detrick open to international inspectors.

G-SECs

Retail investors may not prefer govt bonds

The government can consider issuing bonds for roads or railways as part of the ₹12 lakh crore programme to retail investors with a simple payoff matrix. Tax-free bonds have resonated well with investors, so too would these issuances. There is scope to think differently when planning convergence between retail investors and government borrowing through these special bonds

BONDS FOR THE common man' is the new message from the Reserve Bank of India (RBI) in its latest credit policy. This step by the central bank, it is believed, will help bring household savings into the Government Security (G-Sec) market and, hence, contribute to the supply of funds required for the government borrowing programme. Also, it gives more G-Sec market exposure to the retail segment. Will this work?

The success of any debt instrument, in the real world, rests on simplicity. When a deposit is made, it is known that it is for a period of three years with a return of 5.5%. If the holder wants to redeem before the maturity date, there is a penalty that can be paid, but the bank will repay the principal. The matrix is well known. The product is simple and hence straightforward.

Let us look at a corporate bond which is bought in the market. The individual sees the return which can be, say, 8% for an 'AA' rated bond. There is some doubt on whether the safety is assured, but if the rating is understood, one can go ahead with the purchase. If the person wants to sell the same, it can be tough as it may not be listed, and even if it is, there will be a price that may not be the same as the face value. The price varies depending on the environment and hence is inferior to a bank deposit in terms of certainty. Therefore, if not held to maturity, there is a risk of exit.

Now, the G-Sec market is slightly different. There are securities issued with nomenclature like the 5.77% 2030 bond which talks of the interest paid on face value of ₹100. There is also the 5.85% 2030 bond. The yields on both of these are different, even though tenures are the same, i.e. 10-year bonds. For the 5.77% bond, the price is ₹97.76 with an implicit yield of 6.08%. For the 5.85% bond, the price is ₹98.60 with an implicit yield of 6.04%. What is the investor to make of it when entering the market?

If it is held till 2030, the investor will get the coupon rate on the investment every year. However, there would be several other similar sounding names with different yields. The problem is compounded when it has to be sold in the market. It can be done, provided there is trading taking place. Typically, in the secondary market, there are around 90 government securities that are listed. There are few that are traded in a vibrant manner. And these would be the benchmark securities for 5, 10, 15 years generally. Typically, two-thirds of the trades are in the 10-year G-Secs, which are the current benchmark. Another 20% is in the benchmarks for five years and 15 years. The rest really don't matter. The problem comes to the fore even for these benchmarks in the t+1 year when the security becomes illiquid completely, as it now has with tenure of one less year. Hence, the 5.77% benchmark for 10 years loses its importance once a new benchmark is announced and trading gets diluted and disappears after a full year passes. Therefore, exiting from this market is a big problem. The mindset, hence, must be that the retail holder will keep the security till maturity.

Now, look at the returns. The government offers the RBI bond for seven years with variable returns, which give a return of, say, 7.15% today, as it is 35 bps above the National Savings Certificate (NSC) rate. There are NSCs that give 6.8% for five years, and the senior citizen schemes that yield 7.4% for five years. The 6.05% yield on 10-year paper or 5.8% for five years is not even attractive compared to other government offerings, though they score over Fixed Deposits (FDs). But FD rates can increase over the next 5-10 years, while the G-Sec bond would be fixed at the yield of, say, 6.05%.

The curious part of these yields is that they are driven mainly by the monetary policy action that goes beyond the repo rate. Changes in the repo rate can drive deposit rates down as well as other savings instruments. But RBI being assigned the role of banker to the government has also led to the central bank continuously monitoring the liquidity situation to ensure that the government borrows at low rates. This will always keep yields down. Now, the small savings returns are linked to these yields and are kept slightly higher. The government bond scheme goes 35 bps above the small savings rates. Hence, unless one is out to trade in G-Secs, the nominal returns are not attractive. And retailers cannot trade as most of the securities are illiquid.

This is one reason why retail investors prefer to use the mutual funds route to get into the debt market. The gilt funds of different durations are ideal for retail investors as they have the fund manager taking decisions of handling the portfolio of the fund by changing the composition periodically depending on the objective of the fund. The same holds for corporate bonds where the mutual funds route is appropriate.

Therefore, while RBI's decision to open up the market to retail investors is in the right spirit, the response will be indifference for these reasons. Issuance of special bonds for specific purposes with face value of ₹100 and an interest rate of, say, 7% for five years will be easy to sell with the investor knowing that these are government commitments. Further, there has to be an exit option if there are no tax benefits for making them attractive. But the regular debt programme of the government may not find market-savvy investors that are in a position to discern the subtle nuances of the pricing of such paper and the exit options.

There will definitely be a good appetite for such simple products as households are wary of the very low interest rates offered by banks on deposits. The government can consider issuing bonds for roads or railways as part of the ₹12 lakh crore programme to retail investors with a simple payoff matrix. Tax-free bonds have resonated very well with the investors, so too would these issuances. There is scope to think differently when planning to get convergence between retail investors and the government borrowing through these special bonds. The conventional G-Sec platform will not work.

UNION BUDGET

Time to swing into action

The govt has to keep in mind the gap between intentions and implementation

RECENTLY, A VIDEO had gone viral on the social media where a man collapsed at an international airport, and a medical student performed cardiopulmonary resuscitation (CPR) for 10 minutes to revive him. It has been 10 months since the nationwide lockdown and the government, too, has been performing CPR to revive the economy that collapsed by an unprecedented magnitude.

Policymakers ushered in a mix of Keynesian and Friedman policies in a series of several mini budgets through 2020. The Union Budget FY22 announced on February 1 was one more in this series with an equal emphasis on growth and social objectives. It is heartening to see the emphasis of budgetary allocation was on areas that have a higher multiplier effect and can help in generating employment and income among low-and-medium skilled workers.

With expenses budgeted to be high in the coming years, there is an ongoing debate about how the government will fund its expenses and mobilise resources for infrastructure; bank recapitalisation; and capital expenditure, which is expected to rise by 34.5% from last year's budget estimates. At the same time, it has not raised taxes, and revenues are likely to be low because of subdued economic activity. For the government, bridging the gap between intention and implementation for many of these projects could be a challenge.

The government recognises the widening gap between expenses and revenue that may arise in the coming years. It also understands that the alternate option of higher borrowings, other than what it has already announced, will have implications on the country's deficit, debt and yields. This will not only limit its ability to borrow and raise borrowing costs, but will also undermine the efficacy of the accommodative monetary policy impact.

To raise funds, the government is, therefore, relying on sources such as privatisation and monetisation of land assets, which have long gestation periods. The inflow of funds after the completion of the deal may stretch over a period of time. Besides, the government has had limited success in realising the scale of disinvestments announced over the past few years. Therefore, raising the targeted funds for such projects from private and foreign sources within the desired time is likely to be difficult than usual.

To the government's credit, the disinvestment and privatisation plan is much more granular and has specific timelines for completion in this Budget. Given that the stock market is at an all-time high, a timely execution could help the government realise the full potential of its assets.

The second challenge will be how the government distributes its planned allocation of the budgeted amount for multi-year projects. Several of these projects with high multipliers are spread over a horizon of more than one year. India needs to spend and create jobs now to support the economic recovery that has just taken off. Therefore, the window for the government to spend and support the nascent recovery is short. If the share of total spending is more skewed in the later years of the timelines specified, then the economy may not get the desired spending boost it needs over the next year.

In other words, the government has to realise the sources of funds immediately and front-end its spending. For that, it has to ensure stability in policies and get the projects off the ground without these getting mired in regulatory and structural bottlenecks. Certainties associated with the completion of the projects will be key.

The government must also work towards exploring alternate immediate sources. It must tap into the rising household savings and broaden its tax base in the coming months. Improving compliance and plugging loopholes that encourage tax evasion could be a few smarter ways.

This Budget announcement is an indication that the government is determined to do all it takes to revive the economy and has ticked all the right boxes. It is also unlikely that this Budget will be the last one in the series. Therefore, it will be important to understand more specific details and clarity on spending, which, in turn, will determine the strength and pace of sustainable economic recovery.

India's turnaround Budget, finally

This Budget has the potential to mark a turning point for Indian economic policymaking, as well as for the economy

NIRVIKAR SINGH

The author is professor of Economics, University of California, Santa Cruz

AFTER A DISMAL run for India's economy, including policy missteps and the enormous shock of the pandemic, the new Union Budget has the potential to mark a turning point for Indian economic policymaking, as well as for the economy. In some ways, the specific plans in this Budget represent the next step in the process of redrawing the boundaries between government and market, which began three decades ago. Let us note the positives of the Budget, and why it is so promising, before registering some cautions.

The consensus is that the Budget represents an improvement in fiscal accounting, as well as greater realism in projections. Food subsidies are being brought on to the Budget, revenue projections are conservative, and the government is ready to acknowledge a higher fiscal deficit for the next year. The GST structure has removed earlier tendencies to fiddle with various indirect tax rates—stability, simplicity and predictability in taxation are valuable characteristics. In direct taxation as well, the Budget does not engage in tweaking of rates, though there are some changes in exemptions, and there do seem to be steps taken to make corporate taxes less subject to discretion and negotiation.

The Budget also focuses expenditure on two very obvious areas, rather than announcing a heterogeneous collection of welfare schemes, or grand new missions. There are plans for increased spending on public health—absolutely necessary for keeping the pandemic more securely in check, beyond the current lull—and on public infrastructure. The latter is to be accompanied by reforming the way in which infrastructure is financed and managed, so that risks are allocated in a more efficient way between the public and the private sector. This reform will benefit existing infrastructure, as well as new projects.

Another positive development is the plan to expand the scope of privatisation and disinvestment, including a couple of smaller public sector banks, and the giant Life Insurance Corporation of India. Already, the ongoing plan to privatise Air India seems to be progressing much further than the previous failed attempt. So there appears to be some real learning-by-doing, and an indication that privatisation plans are now meant to go beyond good intentions alone. As recent events in other arenas show, this government is willing to undertake unpopular reforms.

Other positive developments signalled in the Budget include liberalisation of FDI in insurance, policy changes to make aircraft leasing easier, streamlining of some aspects of financial sector regulation, and a renewed focus (after the pandemic-induced pause) of trying to clean up the balance sheets of banks. This last issue is by far the most urgent task that the government faces, if the economy is to return to robust growth.

All of the above represent prospects for positive impacts on the economy. In some cases, their promise or potential will require rigorous implementation, and that is not yet a skill that the government seems to have mastered. But it has considerable domestic expertise to rely on now, especially in the financial sector, if it chooses to draw on those sources.

There are also some areas where the Budget's policy signals are less positive. Continued tinkering with, and raising of, import duties is not conducive to industrial growth, despite the objective of giving more protection to Indian industry in certain sectors. The government would be better off looking for other ways to support industrial growth, including making sure that the needed public infrastructure is built quickly. Even reliable, low-cost electric power is still a problem for many Indian firms. There are plans to address the deficiencies of power distribution in India, but they may not be adequate, given the deep problems in this area.

The Budget proposal for a cess that is earmarked for agricultural infrastructure development also seems somewhat retrograde. Cesses in general have the property of eroding fiscal federal arrangements, since they are not shared with the states. And it is not entirely clear that the central government is in the best position to make decisions on rural investment, rather than the states. It is unfortunate that the agricultural marketing reforms were so poorly handled, because there could have been an opportunity for the Union government to reform food procurement, build out alternative infrastructure, and incentivise diversification before tackling agricultural marketing.

It may also be that the Budget does not do enough for those who have been most severely affected by the pandemic, losing livelihoods and savings. A trickle-down approach may not be enough to help those at the bottom of the pyramid who are in immediate distress, although the Budget does include plans for creating institutions to support migrant and unorganised workers in the future. The plan to use digital information portals in this context is also a reminder that the government's ambitions for digital technology to improve its reach and the quality of the services it provides citizens may be running ahead of its plans for building the requisite digital infrastructure. In every sector, it is likely that the current digital infrastructure, both hardware and software, will not be adequate for the economy's growth. Relying on one or two large private players, and on the government's own capabilities, may not be adequate for what India will need over the next few years.

FRAMEWORK OF LAWS

EU agency urges more safeguards to curb US tech giants

EU PRIVACY WATCHDOG EDPS on Wednesday backed the bloc's push to curb the power of Apple, Amazon, Alphabet unit Google and Facebook via new tough rules and suggested more safeguards to boost users' privacy rights. Unveiled by EU Competition Commissioner Margrethe Vestager and EU industry chief Thierry Breton in December last year, the two sets of rules are known as the Digital Markets Act (DMA) and the Digital Services Act (DSA).

US consumer prices increase steadily in Jan

US CONSUMER PRICES rose moderately in January and underlying inflation remained benign as the pandemic continues to be a drag on the labour market and services industry. The Labour Department said on Wednesday its consumer price index increased 0.3% last month after climbing 0.4% in December. In the 12 months through January the CPI rose 1.4% after a similar gain in December. Economists polled by Reuters had forecast the CPI rising 0.3% and increasing 1.5% year-on-year.

Thai protesters demand release of four activists

HUNDREDS OF THAI protesters gathered in Bangkok on Wednesday to demand the release of four activists remanded in custody pending trial on charges of insulting Thailand's king, a crime punishable by 15 years in prison. Many protesters banged pots and pans, borrowing from nightly displays of discontent in neighbouring Myanmar at last week's coup, while some held Myanmar flags to show support for the country's pro-democracy movement. The Bangkok demonstration had originally been organised to show solidarity with protesters in Myanmar, but it morphed into calls to change or end the strict "lese majeste" law after the four activists were detained on Tuesday.

Coca-Cola expects sales growth to return in 2021

COCA-COLA ON Wednesday forecast a return to organic revenue growth this year after a pandemic-hammered 2020 and beat Wall Street estimates for quarterly profit on aggressive cost cutting, sending its shares up 2% in early trading. The health crisis has accelerated the soda maker's efforts to trim hundreds of its underperforming brands and shift toward popular products such as sparkling waters and zero-sugar sodas, while also influencing a major restructuring that included thousands of job cuts.

Jack Ma spotted playing golf after weeks out of public view

BLOOMBERG
February 10

FOR MONTHS, SPECULATION over Jack Ma's whereabouts has run rampant. Maybe the embattled billionaire had fled to Singapore, some posited. Or he had been placed under house arrest. Or worse yet, he was locked up in a high-security jail.

As it turns out, China's most talked-about tycoon has been working on his golf game.

The co-founder of Ant Group and Alibaba Group Holding teed off in recent weeks at the Sun Valley Golf Resort, a secluded 27-hole course on the Chinese island of Hainan, people familiar with the matter said, asking not to be identified discussing private information. Located near the island's southern tip, the course offers expansive greens and stunning views.

It's the first known Ma sighting since the former English teacher joined a live-streamed video chat with rural educators on January 20. While that appearance helped quiet talk of Ma's detention, speculation about his standing with China's Communist Party has continued to swirl as authorities clamp down on his sprawling business empire.

Ma's golf outing adds to recent evidence that the outspoken entrepreneur has -- for now at least -- avoided nightmare scenarios like jail time or a government seizure of his assets.

Ant, for instance, has reached an agreement with Chinese authorities on a restructuring plan that could be officially announced as soon as this week, Bloomberg reported on February 3, citing people familiar with the matter. The deal is a first step on what could be a long path back to a revival of the fintech behemoth's initial public offering, which was halted by regulators in November just days before Ant was due to start trading in Shanghai and Hong Kong.

Another positive clue emerged this week from SoftBank Group founder Masayoshi Son, a longtime friend of Ma's who was among the earliest investors in Alibaba. Son said during SoftBank's quarterly earnings presentation on Monday that he has remained in touch with Ma. While he didn't talk about the Chinese billionaire's whereabouts, Son said Ma likes to draw and has been sharing his sketches via chat.

Representatives for Ant, Alibaba and the Sun Valley Golf Resort declined to comment.

Before the implosion of Ant's IPO, Ma's appearance on a golf course would have attracted little if any attention. The 56-year-old has been steadily relinquishing day-to-day oversight of his businesses in recent years, stepping down as executive chairman of Alibaba in September 2019.

But even in semi-retirement, Ma has rarely stayed out of public view for as long as he did after his now-infamous critique of Chinese financial regulators in October. Within weeks of his speech at the Bund Summit in Shanghai, authorities scuttled Ant's listing, called for an overhaul of the company and started an antitrust probe of Alibaba.

Ma's extended absence during the crackdown sent China's rumour mill into overdrive, with some observers drawing parallels to Mikhail Khodorkovsky. Once Russia's richest man, the Yukos Oil boss spent about a decade in prison on fraud and tax-evasion charges that he said were retribution for challenging the authority of Vladimir Putin.

Given the opacity of Xi Jinping's Communist Party, it's difficult to assess the endgame for Ma with any certainty. He was conspicuously absent from a list of Chinese tech luminaries published by state media last week, a sign his standing with the party remains diminished.

For Hao Hong, chief strategist at Bocom International in Hong Kong, the most likely explanation is that Ma is simply laying low as his companies sort through their issues with regulators. Both Alibaba and Ant have formed special teams to work with the Chinese government, which is still fine-tuning new rules for the country's fintech and internet industries.

Ma, described as a golfing novice by one observer at the Sun Valley resort, may have ample time to work on his swing.

CAPITOL RIOTS

Trump to face 'incitement of insurrection' charge

THE NEW YORK TIMES
February 10

THE HOUSE IMPEACHMENT managers will begin their oral arguments in the second Senate trial in a year of former President Donald J Trump, an opportunity to present a direct link between Trump's behaviour and the deadly riot that unfolded at the Capitol on January 6.

The managers face a steep challenge as they seek to persuade Republicans senators to vote for conviction. The proceedings on Tuesday offered new evidence of the Republican Party's loyalty to Trump and the high probability that he will be acquitted.

Only six Republican senators sided with Democrats in voting on Tuesday that the Senate has the power to try Trump even though he is no longer in office. To convict him, 17 Republicans would need to join the Senate's 50 Democrats.

After the Senate decided that the proceedings were constitutional, the trial now moves to oral arguments starting at noon. Each side has up to 16 hours over two days to make its case. The House impeachment managers, who are acting as prosecutors, will go first, followed by Trump's legal team.

The proceedings on Tuesday offered a preview of how the House managers are expected to lay out their case against

Trump, who faces a charge of "incitement of insurrection" for his role in stirring up the mob that attacked the Capitol.

As part of his presentation, Representative Jamie Raskin, Democrat of Maryland and the lead impeachment manager, showed a 13-minute video that was intended to force Republican senators to reckon with the violence that took place at the Capitol that day.

The video showed clips of Trump's speech on January 6, followed by scenes of his supporters storming the Capitol, wreaking havoc and even reaching the Senate floor, where the impeachment trial is now being conducted.

"This cannot be the future of America," Raskin said. "We cannot have presidents inciting and mobilizing mob violence against our government and our institutions because they refuse to accept the will of the people under the Constitution of the United States."

The trial is expected to move quickly, with a vote on whether to convict or acquit Trump expected as soon as this weekend.

Twitter posts strong Q4 results as user base, revenue jumps

TWITTER POSTED SOLID results for the last three months of 2020, capping what CEO Jack Dorsey called 'an extraordinary year' for the platform. New users signed on in large numbers to follow the world's events in real time despite the challenges of election misinformation and intensifying calls to ban now former President Donald Trump.

The San Francisco-based company earned $222.1 million, or 27 cents per share, in the October-December period. That's up 87% from $118.8 million, or 15 cents per share, a year earlier.

Revenue grew 28% to $1.29 billion from $1 billion. Analysts, on average, were expecting earnings of 29 cents per share and revenue of $1.18 billion, according to a poll by FactSet.

Twitter had 192 million daily users, on average, in the third quarter, up 27% year-over-year. By comparison, Facebook had 1.84 billion daily users on average in December 2020, an increase of 11% year-over-year. Twitter does not disclose monthly user figures.

EMarketer analyst Nazmul Islam said Twitter might see some of user growth fall off in the current quarter due to its removal of accounts and defections from people who oppose the account bans. But he added that advertising revenue should remain strong as the company continues to invest in ad infrastructure.

specific guidance. And that's assuming the coronavirus pandemic continues to improve and the company sees a 'modest' effect from new privacy changes associated with Apple's iOS 14.

Apple is preparing to roll out a new privacy control in the early spring to prevent iPhone apps from secretly shadowing people, which could hurt companies that rely on tracking people to show personalized advertisements - like Facebook and Twitter.

Musk's bitcoin bet fuels gains in companies already invested

NOEL RANDEWICH
February 10

SHARES OF COMPANIES that have invested in bitcoin have vastly outperformed on Wall Street in 2021 and are extending their gains thanks to Tesla's $1.5-billion bet on the soaring digital currency.

The price of bitcoin hit a record high over $48,000 on Tuesday in a two-day surge after Tesla said on Monday that it had bought the digital currency and would soon accept it as a form of payment for cars.

A handful of bitcoin-related companies listed on US stock exchanges were also buoyed by the disclosure that Tesla CEO Elon Musk, a fan of cryptocurrencies, added bitcoin to the electric carmaker's balance sheet. Tesla's bitcoin purchase amounts to a minor bet for the fast-growing electric car company with an $800 billion stock market value. However, it bolstered the digital currency's emerging credentials as a mainstream financial asset.

Driven in part by interest from institutional investors, the price of bitcoin has quadrupled in the past four months, surging far beyond record highs set in 2017. Some investors view it a hedge against inflation.

Tesla gained after disclosing the investment on Monday, but dipped 1.6% on Tuesday, leaving its gain in 2021 at 20%, compared to the S&P 500's 4% rise.

Companies with much more significant exposures to bitcoin in proportion to their overall stock market value than Tesla have also rallied following Tesla's disclosure, increasing already strong stock gains driven by the cryptocurrency's recent rally.

MicroStrategy, whose CEO Michael Saylor is an avid bitcoin bull, surged 22% on Tuesday, bringing its gain this week to over 50%, and it has surged over 200% so far in 2021. The business intelligence software company has bought about 71,079 bitcoins, now worth over $3 billion and equivalent to over a quarter of its $11.8 billion stock market value.

Canadian financial technology firm Mogo, which in December said it would invest up to 1.5 million Canadian dollars in bitcoin, jumped 45% on Tuesday, bringing its gain since Tesla's announcement to 85% and giving it a stock market value of $318 million. Payments company Square dipped almost 1%, leaving its 2021 gain at 19%. In October, Square said it bought 4,709 bitcoins for about $50 million, amounting to about 1% of its total assets at the end of the second quarter of 2020. Those bitcoins are now worth over $200 million.

Marathon Patent Group, a bitcoin mining company that in January announced it bought nearly 4,900 bitcoins for $150 million, has jumped over 60% this week and is up 260% year to date. — REUTERS

GM posts strong beat, sees 2021 profit dinged by chip dearth

DAVID WELCH
February 10

GENERAL MOTORS BEAT analysts' estimates for fourth-quarter profit and signalled continued earnings strength this year despite short-term damage from a semiconductor shortage that is cascading through the auto industry.

GM reported an adjusted profit of $1.93 per share for the fourth quarter Wednesday compared with analysts' consensus estimate of $1.56, thanks to strong demand for its pickup trucks and large sport-utility vehicles.

The robust results cap off a tumultuous year for GM, which weathered shutdowns from the Covid-19 pandemic and outlined a bold move to exit gasoline-powered cars. But the guidance for 2021 shows that GM expects to grow profit despite hurdles such as the semiconductor shortfall remaining this year.

Mary Barra, GM's chief executive officer, addressed the chip issues in a call with reporters, vowing the company will shield its highest profit margin vehicles.

"We're doing everything possible right now so we won't lose any production throughout the year for full-size trucks and SUVs," she said.

Shares of the carmaker dropped in premarket trading, falling 1.4% to $56.09 as of 8:52 a.m.

The semiconductor shortage will shave $1.5 billion to $2 billion off adjusted earnings this year, the company estimated. It already has idled three plants until mid-March and been forced to build vehicles without certain modules at other factories, holding them until more chips come in. But it said that would be a temporary setback.

For 2021, GM forecast adjusted earnings before interest and taxes of $10 billion to $11 billion, which translates to adjusted earnings per share of $4.50 to $5.25. That compares with $4.90 a share in 2020 and $8.4 billion in adjusted earnings before interest and taxes. GM saw market share growth in the fourth quarter both at home and in China, the world's largest car market. — BLOOMBERG

WHO's Wuhan probe ends, US-China bickering over Covid continues

GABRIEL CROSSLEY
Beijing, February 10

CHINA CALLED ON the United States on Wednesday to invite the World Health Organisation to investigate origins of the Covid-19 outbreak there, as sparring over the pandemic continued after the WHO wrapped up its field work in the Chinese city of Wuhan.

Hours after the WHO team revealed preliminary findings at a Wuhan news conference on Tuesday, Washington said it wants to scrutinize data used by the team, which concluded that the virus causing Covid-19 did not originate in a laboratory in Wuhan, and that bats remain a likely source.

"We wish that the US side can, like China, uphold an open and transparent attitude, and be able to invite WHO experts to the US to conduct origin tracing research and inspection," Chinese foreign ministry spokesman Wang Wenbin told a regular daily briefing, repeating a call it has been making recently.

The origins of the coronavirus pandemic, which first emerged in Wuhan in late 2019, are highly politicised, with China pushing the idea that the virus has roots outside its borders.

White House press secretary Jen Psaki said on Tuesday that the Biden administration had not been involved in the "planning and implementation" of the WHO investigation and wants to take an independent review of its findings and underlying data.

"The US independently examining the WHO's data? It's the WHO who should examine the US data," said Hu Xijin, editor-in-chief of the Global Times, a tabloid run by the ruling Communist Party's official People's Daily, on social media platform Weibo.

"Did we all mishear, or is this spokesperson really so shameless?"

Peter Ben Embarek, who heads the WHO-led team that spent four weeks in China - two of them in quarantine - said that the investigation had not dramatically changed its picture of the outbreak, although the virus could have crossed borders before arriving in Wuhan.

In addition to ruling out a lab leak, he said that frozen food could possibly be a means of transmitting the virus, which would support a thesis backed by Beijing, which has blamed some case clusters on imported food packaging.

The WHO's conclusion "completely refutes the conspiracy theory raised by some anti-China hawks, like former US secretary of state Mike Pompeo, who has been accusing the Wuhan Institute of Virology of leaking the virus," the Global Times wrote. — REUTERS

SAMSUNG GALAXY S21 ULTRA 5G

The new superstar in town

Samsung Galaxy S21 Ultra is a design masterpiece with remarkable performance. It has a top-notch camera system and there's support for S-Pen too

SUDHIR CHOWDHARY

INNOVATIONS FROM SAMSUNG may be increasingly coming in the mid-segment phones; however, it is the high-end smartphone segment where the R&D prowess of the South Korean consumer electronics giant comes to the forefront. It has now come out with its latest flagship device—Galaxy S21 Ultra —which offers the brand's best-of-the-best hardware and software mix, including its most advanced pro-grade camera system, its brightest, most intelligent display and more. It has also brought the popular S Pen (sold separately) experience to the Galaxy S series for the first time.

The Galaxy S21 series comprises three devices—S21, S21+ and S21 Ultra. Our trial unit was the top-end Galaxy S21 Ultra that is available in two variants—₹1,05,999 for Phantom Black and Silver (12+256GB) and ₹1,16,999 for Phantom Black (16+512GB). This reviewer has been using the device for the past fortnight; it is a blazingly fast phone that takes productivity and creativity to a higher level, the device has a very nice grip to it, it looks and feels premium, and thanks to its pro-grade camera system there are several new video-recording and better photo-taking features. Let us take a deep-dive to discover the finer details.

The Galaxy S21 Ultra device is coated in a luxurious haze finish giving it a sophisticated look. For accidental falls, there is improved durability with Corning Gorilla Glass Victus. The phone has an all-new, iconic Contour Cut Camera housing that seamlessly blends into the device's metal frame for a sleek yet striking look.

Galaxy S21 Ultra comes with a 6.8-inch Dynamic AMOLED 2X display, Samsung's most intelligent screen yet. The screen's refresh rate adjusts to the content you're viewing from 10Hz to 120Hz to ensure you enjoy the best image while staying power efficient to stretch your battery life even further. It offers 25% brighter picture at 1,500 nits of peak brightness. It delivers crystal-clear, immersive images, even when outside. The phone has Eye Comfort Shield to help reduce eye fatigue. This feature is 'off' by default, and must be turned on in Settings.

Galaxy S21 Ultra has a quad rear camera (ultra-wide, wide and dual tele-lenses) that features a upgraded 108MP pro sensor, from which you can capture 12 bit HDR photos with 64 times richer colour data and more than three times wider dynamic range. You can shoot in 4K at 60fps across all lenses including front and rear four lenses, so you can shift to a different perspective with the same quality. Plus, with a 12-bit RAW file option, you won't miss a single detail when editing photos.

The phone features 100x Space Zoom which is powered by Samsung's first-ever Dual-tele lens system—one optical 3x and one optical 10x, both equipped with Dual Pixel (2PD) AF – so you can capture clear shots even when you are from the action. The device's improved Bright Night sensor is Samsung's biggest leap yet in low-light photography. With improved Night Mode, noise reduction and 12MP Nona-binning technology, you can capture challenging shots – like a dimly-lit room, or a landscape at night – quickly and with excellent quality.

Samsung has also brought its popular S Pen experience to the S21 Ultra. You can use an existing S Pen from a Galaxy Note or Galaxy Tab or purchase an S Pen separately to give wings to your creativity and productivity. Thanks to the Ultra-wideband capabilities (UWB) embedded in S21 Ultra, you can use the device to automatically unlock compatible car doors. This feature is compatible with select future 2022 car models. And with SmartThings feature on Android Auto, you can use your S21 Ultra to control smart devices in your home, from your car.

The device is powered with Samsung's Exynos 2100 chipset, the most advanced chipset in a Galaxy device. It offers faster speed, advanced computing and higher energy efficiency. The S21 Ultra employs Dual Bluetooth technology that helps connected devices like Galaxy Buds Pro consume less juice with a stable connection.

Getting ready for flexible office spaces

Technology will become central to the functioning of the future workspace

Neetish Sarda

AS ECONOMIES ACROSS the world contemplate on the next best move to find their way out of Covid-19, office space providers are grappling with troubles of their own. The pandemic disrupted some of the best-laid plans of almost every industry vertical and one of the most severely affected was the commercial real estate sector. As per a study by Deloitte, 50% of CXOs reported a 25% disruption in both business and work during the peak of Covid-19 last year. Manufacturing and retail operations saw the biggest of disruptions as 85% of these were impacted due to their heavy dependency on factories and unmovable machinery.

The hybrid model finds greater acceptance. March to September of 2020 was evidence enough for companies, especially large enterprises, to resort to various workspace models that ranged from work-from-home (WFH) to work-near-home. Now, many are turning their attention towards the flexible workspace model. This has resulted in a 'Hybrid Model' where a company opts for a balance between working from office and working from home.

A new trend has emerged here, the 'Hub and Spoke' model—where the hub or the main office will continue to function as the 'face' or 'brand' and will be supported by the spokes— smaller office spaces spread across the cities, and located closer to employees.

Enterprises in the driver seat

Enterprises, in the current scenario, have a big say in workspace matters as we speak. One primary reason why corporates are focusing on the 'hub and spoke' and the flex space models is that they can avoid long-term contracts and fixed payments in terms of rentals. Enterprises are gradually realising the value of a flexible workspace model that can be customised, bespoke, and will save them huge costs.

Consumer-led workspace

If one entity an enterprise would listen to and comply with, it is the company's united employee workforce. The future workspace will be led by the employee and neither by the realtor nor by the corporate. It will be a consumer-led workspace with flexible work and time at the core and other employee perks. Flexible office spaces fit the bill here, almost entirely.

Driving down the costs

A big concern that enterprises had was the high advances, fixed recurring payments, and long-term lease agreements that invariably bound them to the building owners and their rules. The pandemic has turned the tables, and corporates are eying managed office spaces in a big way!

Technology-enabled and supported

While we speak a lot about flexibility and consumer-led workspace, what makes this possible is technology. If the workspace model has to stay flexible, it has to have the support of technology in the form of high-speed and uninterrupted internet connectivity, interoperable and quality software that allows for remote collaboration, reliable virtual communication tools, and data monitoring and safety devices to name just a few.

End-to-end management

Enterprises are looking at different ways to utilise time and resources more productively. It is here that managed office space providers fit the bill and can add to the productivity of these enterprises. Flexible managed office spaces will see continued growth for the foreseeable future given the advantages gained on costs and flexibility.

INTERVIEW: DEREK MANKY, Chief, Security Insights & Global Threat Alliances, Fortiguard Labs

Security is everyone's job, not just that of the CISO and the security team

Cybersecurity defences are only as good as the threat intelligence which feeds them, making threat information a critical element for protecting against cyber threats, says Derek Manky, chief, Security Insights & Global Threat Alliances, FortiGuard Labs, the threat intelligence and research organisation at Fortinet. "Effectively defending against cyberattacks today requires security teams to work smarter rather than harder," says in an interaction with Sudhir Chowdhary. Excerpts:

Give us an overview about the threat intelligence team at FortiGuard Labs?

When asked by partners or CISOs I meet, I often talk about how FortiGuard Labs has brought together some of the brightest and most knowledgeable threat hunters, researchers, analysts, tool developers, and data scientists in the industry, located in research labs around the world. But that's just the start. FortiGuard Labs has also designed, trained, and delivered one of the most advanced AI and ML platforms to augment the efforts of the FortiGuard Labs team. Our primary mission is to provide Fortinet customers with the best threat intelligence designed to protect them from malicious cyberattacks.

From a threat landscape and research point of view, what should be known about FortiGuard Labs?

One of the most important aspect of our research is that our telemetry is gathered from Fortinet's millions of sensors which helps the FortiGuard Labs team identify the real-world threats our customers face. These include threats discovered on network, endpoint, and IoT devices, as well as those embedded in emails, applications, and on the web. But there is more. FortiGuard Labs also has a successful zero-day detection and research operation. Our researchers study threat actors and cybercriminals in order to understand their motives, techniques, and patterns and use that knowledge to help protect our customers.

Partnerships seem to be a big part of threat intelligence today, how is FortiGuard Labs leading in this area?

This is a huge focus for us, to go beyond our own research to lead, interact, share, and foster the sharing of actionable threat intelligence. For example, Fortinet co-founded the Cyber Threat Alliance (CTA). Fortinet is also a founding member of and is supporting multiple initiatives for the WEF Centre for Cybersecurity holding one of only two permanent seats on this international council. Fortinet is actively engaged with and has bi-directional threat intelligence feed relationships with more than 200 partners.

What impact do these relationships and this information sharing have on threat intelligence?

Today there are a massive amount of security challenges researchers need to be aware of and proficient in to protect against attacks. Different threat actors specialise in network attacks, software attacks, cloud-based attacks, container-based attacks, attacks against critical infrastructure, IoT devices, and many other types of threats. Attackers need to only be proficient in one type of threat, while defenders need to understand a large variety of attack surfaces. Effectively defending against cyberattacks today requires security teams to work smarter rather than harder.

Security teams need a combination of knowledge, experience, tools, strategy, automation, and skilled professionals to monitor the entire attack chain and automate as much of the process as possible so that human resources can be focused on higher order analysis and response. Threat Intelligence sharing gives researchers and defenders an opportunity to better understand the entire length of the attack chain and how vulnerabilities in each of its links can compromise the security of your network.

Security is everyone's job, not just the CISO and the security team. All employees inside a company need to be aware of ongoing threats and why everyone needs to be cautious.

Managing vaccine delivery with cloud tech

Salesforce's Vaccine Cloud helps health authorities quickly scale vaccine operations, from recipient registration and scheduling to inventory management and public health outreach

SUDHIR CHOWDHARY

NOW THAT SAFE and effective Covid-19 vaccines are available, every country, state and city is rapidly establishing vaccination programmes to get shots in the arms of billions of people. However, many government agencies and healthcare organisations do not have the technology infrastructure in place to handle the complexity, speed and scale necessary for vaccine administration, such as inventory and logistics management, getting people registered and scheduled for their vaccines, and recipient outreach and vaccine outcome monitoring. Governments are also partnering with private sector companies to help manage this mass vaccination effort, and these businesses need the same technology infrastructure to help deliver safe, efficient and effective vaccine administrations and programmes.

Towards this, the San Francisco headquartered cloud-based software firm Salesforce has come up with its Vaccine Cloud technology to help government agencies, healthcare organisations, businesses, nonprofits and educational institutions more rapidly, safely and efficiently deploy and manage their vaccine programmes. Basically, Vaccine Cloud is part of Salesforce's Covid-19 response technology solutions, which include vaccine inventory management, appointment scheduling, outcome monitoring, public health outreach and more.

"The biggest challenge the world faces right now is orchestrating the distribution of billions of vaccine doses. Technology can play a critical role in ensuring it's done efficiently, effectively, and equitably," said Bret Taylor, president and COO of Salesforce.

KEY BENEFITS OF VACCINE CLOUD

- Government agencies, public health agencies can use Vaccine Cloud to monitor vaccination progress with data and insights.
- Healthcare providers can use Vaccine Cloud to streamline vaccination processes, such as inventory management, staff training and education, and payment and reimbursement.
- Businesses, personnel, retailers, customers can benefit with a simplified registration and appointment scheduling process, personalised communications for follow up outcome monitoring and a reminder to come in for their second shot if needed.

ASSET QUALITY IMPROVES

BoI Q3 net grows five fold to ₹541 cr, provision halves

Provisioning was high during Q3FY20 as the lender had provided for Dewan Housing Fin Corp

FE BUREAU
Mumbai, February 10

BANK OF INDIA on Wednesday reported a five-fold increase in its net profit to ₹541 crore during the December quarter (Q3FY21) compared to the corresponding quarter last year. Provisions declined 51% year on year (YoY) and 14% quarter on quarter (QoQ) to ₹1,980 crore. Its operating profit declined 31% YoY and 8% QoQ to ₹2,836 crore. The interest income (NII) fell 9% on a y-o-y as well as sequential basis to ₹3,739 crore.

Explaining the reason behind lower provisions, BoI MD and CEO Atanu Kumar Das said provisioning was high during the December quarter last year (Q3FY20) as the lender had provided for Dewan Housing Finance Corporation (DHFL) during that period. "This year, too, we have made a lot of proactive and pre-emptive provisions from Q1FY21 itself," he added. The provision coverage ratio (PCR), which was 77.15% in Q3FY20 and touched 87.91% in Q2FY21, has moved up further to 89.32% in Q3FY21.

"We feel as the economy revives post March in a much significant manner, we will be able to see our credit growth at faster pace around 10-12%," he added. The lender has been able to register impressive credit growth during the quarter under review. Advances grew 9.6% YoY and 1.8% QoQ to ₹4.14 lakh crore. Deposits grew 17% YoY to ₹6.1 lakh crore, but remained flat sequentially. Current account savings account (CASA) ratio remained at 40.61%, compared to 39.49% in the September quarter. Credit cost remained at 0.68%, compared to 2.33% in Q2FY21.

The lender's net interest margins (NIMs) contracted by 8 basis points (bps) sequentially and 49 bps YoY to 2.58%. "By March end this year, we aim at NIM of 2.75% on the back of volume- led growth," Das said.

The lender's asset quality showed an improvement during the December quarter. Gross non-performing assets (NPAs) ratio improved 54 bps to 13.25%, compared to 13.79% in the previous quarter. Similarly, net NPAs ratio came down 86 bps to 3.27% from 4.13% in the September quarter. The lender has not classified any NPAs since August 31, 2020, due to the interim order of the Supreme Court. "On a pro forma basis, gross NPAs stood at 14.59% and net NPAs at 3.73%," Das said. About the asset quality in the coming quarters, he said gross NPAs can maximum go up to 14.25%. The capital adequacy ratio stood at 12.51% at the end of the December quarter, compared to 12.8% in the previous quarter.

CY2021: Bank Nifty could outperform mkts as earnings set to swell

URVASHI VALECHA
Mumbai, February 10

BANKING AND FINANCIAL services stocks underperformed the benchmarks in calendar year 2020, with Bank Nifty delivering a negative return of 2.8%, against Nifty's 14.9%. This could change this year as the banking sector is set to witness a re-rating on account of improving economic outlook and the focus on growth and profitability. Market experts believe that the Nifty Bank could outperform the markets in 2021.

After the Budget, the Nifty Bank has rallied by 17.96%, which is ahead of the Nifty's rise of 10.8%. So far in 2021, the Nifty Bank has risen 15.3%, whereas the Nifty has grown by 8.1%. On the other hand, the Nifty has risen 22.3% from its last high in January, but the Nifty Bank is up by only 12.2% during the same period.

Experts believe that the banking stocks will continue to outperform as the banking sector is at the beginning of an earnings upgrade cycle. Banking sector's earnings are expected to swell in CY2021 on the back of higher growth in credit, which is slated to improve as the GDP would grow at 14.4% in FY22, according to Budget estimates.

Moreover, the government's increasing allocation towards capital expenditure and the proposal to create a 'bad bank', along with an anticipated surge in corporate capex, have helped improve the outlook for banks.

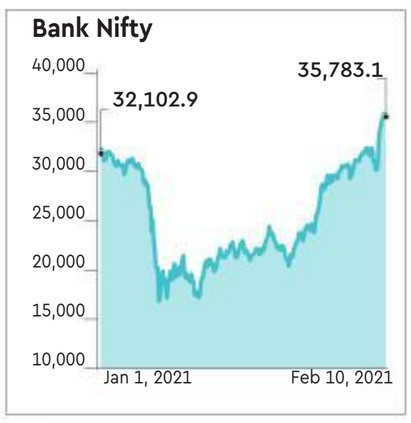
Lalitabh Shrivastawa, AVP- research, Sharekhan by BNP Paribas, said, "Primarily, the Q3 performance and management commentary indicate an improved visibility on the asset quality outlook for most private banks. The upfronting of provisions and limited restructuring pipeline is reassuring, and going forward we expect the focus of banks to revert to growth and profitability." Furthermore, most large private banks are already sitting on good capital adequacy which will incentivise them to lend.

According to experts, improved demand in corporate lending, aided by improvement in the economy, will aid growth, and will be looked at as positive triggers for banking stocks.

Rusmik Oza, executive vice president, head of fundamental research, Kotak Securities, believes that banking stocks could see a massive outperformance in 2021. He said, "If the Nifty Bank index has to touch its previous peak forward price to book value, there is another 22% upside left in it at a time when Nifty-50 price to book value is already 11% above its previous peak."

According to Kotak Securities, one should have higher allocation towards the sector since the weight of banks in Nifty-50 is 28% and BFSI's is 40%.

This means one needs to have more than 30% weight in the banking sector in one's portfolio to have meaningful outperformance over Nifty-50.



RALLYING POINT

- After the Budget, the Nifty Bank has rallied by 17.96%, which is ahead of the Nifty's rise of 10.8%
- So far in 2021, the Nifty Bank has risen 15.3%, whereas the Nifty has grown by 8.1%

SBI eyes ₹10L-cr home loan book over five years

FE BUREAU
Mumbai, February 10

THE STATE BANK of India (SBI) has crossed the ₹5-lakh crore mark in the home loan business and expects to double the size of its portfolio over the next five years, chairman Dinesh Khara said on Wednesday. The bank is gearing up to adopt the co-lending model for home loans, which will help boost its footprint in the unorganised sector.

Khara said while the book had grown to the current level from less than ₹1 lakh crore in 2011, the pace of growth from here on would be much faster. One of the reasons being the definite change in the country's demographic, with the younger generation looking to acquire homes at a much younger age, as compared to what it was 10 years ago.

"We have observed that 42% of our home loan customers are from the age bracket of below 40 years. I feel that going forward, we will see a much greater shift in this direction and the increase in earnings of the younger generation, their aspirations and the concept of nuclear family are going to be the contributing reasons for people to apply for homes at an early age," Khara said, adding, "If I may hazard a guess, I would say that maybe in five years (the portfolio will double), not 10 years."

SBI is extending builder loans and also approving their projects in anticipation that offtake will improve. When it comes to builder-approved loans, its turnaround time is about five days. Khara said the bank has a market share of about 35% among all scheduled commercial banks and going forward, home loans will be a major focus area for the lender within the retail segment. SBI is also looking to implement artificial intelligence (AI), cloud, blockchain and machine learning, which can play a pivotal role in propelling not only the home loan business, but also other businesses.

He sought to allay concerns about the quality of retail loans at a time when job and income losses have plagued a fairly large segment of the population. The home loan portfolio's gross non-performing asset (NPA) ratio is at 0.67-0.68%. Of 39 lakh-odd borrowers who were eligible to be considered under the Reserve Bank of India's (RBI's) restructuring plan, only about 10,000 customers have actually availed the restructuring option, which aggregates to about ₹2,500 crore. "So if we look at a book size of ₹5 lakh crore, out of that only ₹2,500 crore has been put through restructuring. These two parameters give a very clear reflection about the quality of the book which we have," Khara said. He pointed out that 72% of SBI's customers are in the salaried bracket and are in a position to honour their commitments pretty well.

Of the ₹5-lakh crore portfolio, home loans account for ₹4.86 lakh crore and builder finance is about ₹11,000 crore. About 2 lakh customers have been extended loan facilities in the affordable segment.

The bank has been seeing a trend of balance transfers of home loans, even as pool purchases have nearly halted. "Metro locations are normally very sensitive to interest rates and we have been successful in having about 23% of ₹5 lakh crore on account of takeover. For more than a year now, we have not been making pool purchases. Whatever pools we had purchased, that is also coming down. So it's about ₹4,000 crore," Khara said.

Chairman Dinesh Khara said while the book had grown to the current level from less than ₹1 lakh crore in 2011, the pace of growth from here on would be much faster

Markets end flat, HDFC Bank top drag

FE BUREAU
Mumbai, February 10

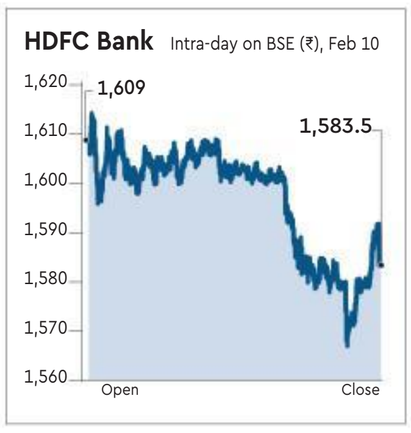
STOCKS ENDED FLAT for the second straight session on Wednesday bucking the global trend which was largely positive, as investors continued to book profits after the strong post-Budget rally. The Nifty declined by 2.8 points (0.02%) to close at 15,106.5 while the Sensex fell 19.69 points (0.04%) to 51,309.39. The broader market, however, ended in the green, with the Nifty Midcap 100 and Nifty Smallcap 100 gaining 0.79% and 0.74%, respectively.

Index heavyweight HDFC Bank was the biggest laggard in the Sensex pack, shedding 1.77%, followed by Bharti Airtel, Axis Bank, ONGC, Nestle India, L&T, Infosys and SBI.

Globally, markets were upbeat and were rallying at the prospect of a swift fiscal stimulus from the US, declining Covid-19 cases and vaccine rollouts. The European markets were marginally up in early trade. The Asian markets, however, witnessed a strong session with the bourses in South Korea, China and Hong Kong rallying between 0.5% and 1.91%.

Foreign portfolio investors have poured in $3 billion into the Indian equity market so far in February. They purchased stocks worth $238.2 million, according to provisional data on the exchanges. Domestic institutional investors sold stocks worth $276 million on Wednesday.

Siddhartha Khemka, head – retail research, Motilal Oswal Financial Services, said: "With markets hitting multiple new highs and valuations largely factoring in an earnings recovery, one should trade cautiously with stock-specific actions and book profit intermittently."



ANALYST CORNER

Phoenix Mills: Start coverage with 'buy', FV of ₹960/share

KOTAK INSTITUTIONAL EQUITIES

RETAIL REBOOT. WE initiate coverage on Phoenix Mills with a 'buy' rating and fair value estimate of ₹960/share, offering 20% upside to CMP of ₹801/share. PHNX offers investors the opportunity to align with long-term growth in organised retail that will likely benefit from continued urbanisation and rising income levels. In our view, the near-term impact due to Covid-19 is likely transient and will not substantially alter the purchasing habits of the retail consumer in India.

We initiate coverage on Phoenix Mills with a 'buy' rating and fair value estimate of Rs960/share. PHNX currently trades at 14X adjusted EV/ebitda and 30X P/E on FY2023E, even as the company will likely grow earnings at 16% CAGR between FY2020 and FY2025E on the back of expansion of retail portfolio to 11 million sq.ft (from 7 million sq. ft currently) and office portfolio to 2.4 million sq. ft (from 1.3 million sq. ft). Our fair value estimate comprises 79% of the value being ascribed to operational projects, 7% value to the under-construction portfolio, while under-development projects comprise the balance 14%.

On an asset basis, retail malls account for a bulk of the value (75%) followed by commercial offices (20%), hotels (3%) and residential developments (3%).

In our view, the current lockdown impact on revenues of retail malls is likely transient, and will not have much impact on the longer-term structural growth story for retailing in India, which we expect will grow to $523 billion by FY2030E from $119 billion currently. In our view, retail malls cater to the rising aspirations of an increasingly urbanised India.

We expect a few sizeable players to continue to garner a disproportionate share of the increased mall space.

PHNX will likely double its portfolio of operational assets to 13.3 million sq. ft by FY2025E (from 7.2 million sq.ft in FY2020), yielding a 16% CAGR in PAT between FY2020 and FY2025E. PHNX has an outstanding capex plan of ₹19 billion for the increased asset portfolio comprising ₹17 billion towards completion of retail malls and another ₹2 billion for completion of its office portfolio.

'Buy' on Cadila Healthcare with target price of ₹481

NOMURA

CADILA HEALTHCARE REPORTED 3QFY21 results on February, 5 2021. For third quarter, revenue came in at ₹38.0 billion, up 5% y-y, and in line with our estimate. The domestic formulation and consumer businesses recorded growth ahead of our estimates, and were negated by weaker-than-estimated sales in the US and API. Domestic formulations sales grew 21% y-y and was 10% ahead of our estimate. Growth is driven by increased Remdesivir sales, in our view. US recorded revenues at $217million, a decline of $13 million q-q and $16million below our estimate. The q-q decline was owing to inventory correction for some of the products, according to the management

Ebitda came in at ₹8.1billion, up 21% y-y, and was 8% ahead of our estimate. Ebitda margin came in at 21.4%, up 286bp y-y and 164bp ahead of our estimate of 19.8%. The beat in ebitda was due to better-than-expected gross margins (better product mix) and lower-than-expected cost overhead. PAT came in at ₹5.3billion, up 41% y-y and 16% ahead of our estimate, driven by higher ebitda, higher other income and lower-than- estimated tax rate.

Outlook. The domestic business 4QFY21 is likely to be adversely impacted by q-q decline in Remdesivir sales. In the US, sales are likely to largely remain flat q-q in 4QFY21F with potential single-digit growth in FY22F on back of 40+ product launches. The management expects eight-10 high-value launches in FY22. Our interaction with the company suggests potential increase in US growth rate in FY23F driven by product specific opportunities. In the near to medium-term Covid-19 vaccines and Saroglitazar are potential opportunities that are not factored into our estimates currently.

We have a 'buy' rating on CDH with FY22F target price of ₹481.

Sebi looks to implement project on automation of MFs' surveillance

PRESS TRUST OF INDIA
New Delhi, February 10

MARKETS REGULATOR SEBI is in the process of implementing a project on automation of inspections and surveillance of mutual funds (MFs), a move that will help in reducing the lag in recognition of violations, its chief Ajay Tyagi said.

The Securities and Exchange Board of India is eyeing a major technological leap in its surveillance and investigation functions.

"Sebi is also in the process of implementing a project on automation of inspections and surveillance of mutual fund," Tyagi said in the regulator's annual report for 2019-20. Under the project, MF related data would be ingested in Sebi database and use of algorithms in order to generate instances of breaches of regulatory guidelines by MFs in respect of several important guidelines where quantitative analysis is possible.

Successful implementation of the project will enable Sebi to leverage technology to move towards automation of inspections of MFs, 100% inspection of data in place of samples and to reduce the lag in recognition of violation, according to the annual report.

In addition, Sebi has taken several steps to strengthen the regulatory framework for debt oriented schemes of MF and is ready to initiate more reforms if required, Tyagi said. The steps taken for debt MFs include mandating minimum investments in liquid assets and introduction of exit load for liquid schemes, placing curbs on investment in unlisted and unrated debt securities and review of the sectoral limits on investments.

Investors may be repaid for tech glitches

SEBI IS CONSIDERING a proposal to introduce a framework to ascertain the incidents of technical glitches whereby compensation would be given to investors. Besides, it is also looking to devise a methodology and calculation of compensation. Further, to improve the efficacy of liquidity enhancement measures such as market making, Liquidity Enhancement Scheme and call auction mechanism for illiquid securities, Sebi would review the existing framework. —PTI

- NPCI has admitted to "teething issues" with a newly implemented system
- Investors could not get the mutual fund units they purchased in time because of the troubles with the settlement system operated by the NPCI
- Most of the early issues have been addressed and efforts are on to sort unresolved pendency, NPCI said

AFTER REPORTS OF investors missing out on the market rally due to technical glitches, the National Payments Corporation of India on Wednesday admitted to "teething issues" with a newly implemented system. The NPCI said it has recently migrated systems with an objective to scale National Automated Clearing House (NACH) infrastructure to meet the increasing volume requirements and industry demands.

"This was a planned migration activity and during which we faced some initial teething issues such as delay in settlement. Unfortunately, our migration coincided with the regulatory rule effected from February 1, 2021, that NAV (net asset value) should be realised only after the funds received by the mutual funds," the NPCI said in a statement.

Most of the early issues have been addressed and efforts are on to sort unresolved pendency, it said.

According to reports, investors could not get the mutual fund units they purchased in time because of the troubles with the settlement system operated by the NPCI.

It can be noted that the Budget announcement on February 1 and the following trading sessions witnessed a nearly 10% rally in the benchmark, and a delay in crediting the units purchased meant investors who bought the units online missed out on the gains.

A recently announced regulatory change on NAV implemented by markets regulator Sebi only aggravated the troubles, the reports said.

The NPCI statement on Tuesday said most of the early issues observed in this regard are already solved and it is working with bank and fintech partners to "sort out any unresolved pendency".

NACH has started an exclusive clearing session for mutual funds since February 1, which will support the regulatory objective to pass on funds on the same day and help banks and the ecosystem for better compliance, the NPCI said.

Sebi slaps fines on NSE, Ramkrishna, Narain in co-location case

PRESS TRUST OF INDIA
New Delhi, February 10

Chitra Ramkrishna

IN THE HIGH-PROFILE co-location case, Sebi on Wednesday imposed a penalty of ₹1 crore on the NSE for failing to provide a level playing field for trading members subscribing to its tick-by-tick (TBT) data feed system. In addition, the regulator levied a fine of ₹25 lakh each on NSE's former managing directors and chief executive officers Chitra Ramkrishna and Ravi Narain.

Alleged lapses in high-frequency trading offered through NSE's co-location facility came under the scanner of the watchdog after a complaint was filed in 2015.

The National Stock Exchange of India (NSE) co-location facility allows stock brokers to take on rent specific racks and co-locate their servers and systems within the exchange premises.

In its 96-page order, Sebi said unequal access was apparent at different stages of the technology process and NSE as a stock exchange failed to ensure a level playing field for trading members subscribing to its TBT data feed system.

Tick-by-Tick (TBT) data feed provides information regarding every change in the order book.

According to the regulator, many trading members had repeatedly resorted to accessing the secondary server without any checks and balances and actions on the part of the first-level regulator except for certain emails or advisories.

"While implementing TBT dissemination architecture at NSE, the essence of 'fair and equitable access' was not attempted to be imbibed into the various stages of implementation of the technology and only 'safety and reliability' was taken into account," Sebi said. By doing so, the exchange violated the provisions of the SECC norms. The NSE has failed to comply with the provisions of SECC regulations in letter and spirit and Ramkrishna and Narain are vicariously liable for the acts of omissions/commissions committed by the exchange during the investigation period, Sebi said.

Wholesale prices of onion increase on lower arrivals

FE BUREAU
Pune, February 10

WHOLESALE PRICES OF onion at the Lasalgaon Agriculture Produce Market Committee (APMC) — the country's largest wholesale market — have gone up between 15% and 20% in the last 10 days on account of lower market arrivals.

On Wednesday, modal prices of onions at Lasalgaon touched ₹3,600 per quintal with minimum prices at ₹1,400 per quintal and maximum prices at ₹3,871 per quintal – the highest maximum price so far this season.

Market arrivals were to the tune of 6,750 quintal. Prices were similar on Tuesday with similar arrivals at around 6,750 quintal. On Monday, market arrivals were almost double at 11,968 quintal because of the opening of the market after the weekend.

The situation is similar at the neighbouring Pimpalgaon Baswant APMC with average prices at ₹3,200 per quintal and arrivals at 6,723 quintal on Wednesday.

At the end of January, wholesale prices were in the range of ₹2,800 per quintal. Retail prices have gone up from ₹30-40 per kg to ₹50-60 in some cities in the last 10 days. Traders attribute the price rise to fall in supplies. "Arrivals of late kharif crop is almost exhausted. The unseasonal rains in January also damaged part of the crop and as a result, farmers ended up bringing all their onions at once, instead of bringing in staggered supplies," Manoj Jain, an onion trader, said. Between January 15 and 30, market arrivals were in the range of 19,000-24,000 quintal on a daily basis, he said.

Notes :

1. The above Financial Results were reviewed by the Audit Committee and approved by the Board of Directors at their meeting held on February 10, 2021.
2. These financial results have been prepared in accordance with Indian Accounting Standards (Ind AS) as prescribed under section 133 of Companies Act 2013 read with Rule 3 of the Companies (Indian Accounting Standards) Rules 2015 (as amended).
3. As the Company's business operations fall within a single primary business segment viz. product and systems for electricity distribution, the disclosure requirements of Ind AS 108 Operating Segments prescribed under section 133 of the Companies Act 2013 read with relevant rules issued thereunder, are not applicable.
4. Exceptional items represent expenses incurred towards organizational restructuring for improving efficiency in line with change in product lines and related employees settlement cost.
5. The global pandemic outbreak of Covid-19 has substantially disrupted the economic activities during past nine months, affected by the lockdown until May 2020, impacting revenue and profitability of the Company. While there have been series of measures taken by Government of India, for unlocking the economy since June 2020, the industry is gradually coming back on track followed by the vaccination drive which was initiated by Government of India in month of January 2021. Hence, the restoration of normal business conditions is dependent on the future state of the pandemic and positive outcome of vaccine on the masses. Basis the best estimates as on the date of reporting, the Company does not anticipate any material impact on the recoverability of the carrying value of its assets including trade and other receivables, contract assets, unbilled revenue, inventories, property, plant and equipment and right to use assets. However, considering the unpredictable situation giving rise to inherent uncertainty around the extent and timing of the potential future impact of the Covid-19 pandemic, the impact of Covid-19 on the Company's financial results may differ from that estimated as on the date of approval of these financial results.
6. As at the end of quarter, the Company has total accumulated losses aggregating to MINR 3,493.07. The management has evaluated availability of sufficient funding to meet Company's obligations. For such evaluation, the management has considered various factors which includes estimated future cash flows, availability of credit facilities sanctioned by the banks and borrowings sourced from other Schneider group companies. Basis such evaluation, the management is confident that the Company will be able to realise its assets and discharge its liabilities in the normal course of business. Therefore, these financial results have been prepared based on going concern assumption.
7. Prior period figures have been reclassified/regrouped wherever necessary, to correspond with those of the current period classification.
8. The full format of the Unaudited Financial Results are available on the websites of Stock Exchanges at www.bseindia.com and www.nseindia.com and can be accessed on Company's website at www.schneider-infra.in.

'I'm not a cat,' says lawyer after Zoom filter gaffe

THE 69-YEAR-OLD Ponton told Reuters that he was not sure how the filter had appeared.

"I logged into my secretary's computer to appear at this hearing via Zoom, and when everybody's ready the judge calls the case and everybody's face is supposed to pop up on Zoom.

"And everybody's face popped up except mine. Mine was a cat," he said. The judge helped remove the filter and the hearing proceeded, he explained.

Judge Ferguson called it a "fun moment". "Everyone involved handled it with dignity, and the filtered lawyer showed incredible grace," he said.

NITI asks for study on 'economic impact' of SC, NGT decisions

AS PER THE document, to highlight the economic impact, five cases have been selected of which three were decided by the Supreme Court and the other two by the National Green Tribunal. "Judicial decisions have far-reaching economic impacts which are often not taken into account at the time of decision making. Some of the recent judgments/orders of the SC and the NGT indicate that the economic impact analysis of judicial decisions is yet to gain broader acceptance.

Bill passed: Major ports get more powers; pvt investors to get a leg-up

SHIPPING AND WATERWAYS minister Mansukh Mandaviya said the new Act was not intended to privatise major ports but aimed at boosting their decision-making powers in order to compete with private ports.

The major-port sector hasn't seen the required level of fixed assets creation to pare the country's high logistic costs owing to legacy issues, including the TAMP's archaic regulatory grip.

In January 2018, the Cabinet took a slew of steps to spur private investments via the PPP route in state-run ports. It allowed investors to share royalty with the port authorities on discounted tariffs, rather than as a percentage of gross revenue based on tariff ceiling fixed by the regulator at the time of bidding. Other steps announced then included easier exit akin to what investors in highway projects enjoy, immunity from post-model concession agreement threat to project viability from regulatory orders and changes in environmental and labour laws and imposition of or hikes in indirect taxes.

India has 12 major ports -- Deendayal (erstwhile Kandla), Mumbai, JNPT, Marmugao, New Mangalore, Cochin, Chennai, Kamarajar (earlier Ennore), VO Chidambarnar, Visakhapatnam, Paradip and Kolkata (including Haldia). These together had handled 705 million tonnes (MT) of cargo in 2019-20.

The Major Ports Authority Bill, 2020, was passed through ballot votes with 84 in favour and 44 against it in the Rajya Sabha on Wednesday. The Lok Sabha had on September 23, 2020, passed the Bill.

Consequent on the high level meeting dated 29.08.2019, the OTS with banks shall be completed upon transfer of immovable properties worth Rs. 300 Crore on "As is where is basis to the lender banks. Meeting have been held for the One Time Settlement (OTS) and approved Memorandum of One Time Settlement (MOTS) has been shared with the banks. Upon signing of the MOTS, the DRT will be withdrawn.
4) Out of the total trade receivable of Rs. 1,072.03 Crore includes Rs. 962.19 Crore being under dispute/litigation. The company feels that even if no amount would eventually be recovered, no credit impairment is required for the credit risk since the creditor will be paid by the company only to the extent the amount is realized from the debtors. Further, for remaining balance of Rs.109.84 Crore approx. is recoverable hence no provision is considered necessary.
5) Contingent Liability includes a demand of Rs. 132.32 Crore raised by L&DO vide its letter no. L&DDO/LS2A/9225/133 dated 26th March 2018 from 2004-05 onwards for non-compliance of various conditions of the Lease Deed (including non-deposits of 25% of the gross rent received by STC from its tenants). However, the company has taken up for waiver of liability with L&DO.
6) The Company is a CPSE under administrative control of the Ministry of Commerce & Industry. The Company is a trading organization to undertake promotion of export and market intervention operations in commodities specified by Government of India from time to time. For last few years the company is facing mismatch in inflows and outflows of funds due to huge recoverable from associates with whom the company had undertaken trade transactions in the past and who had defaulted in making timely payment to STC. Due to this the Company has led to temporary financial crunch, operating losses, reduction of net worth. Simultaneously the company initiated legal action against the defaulting associates. One of the major associates has made sufficient payment to STC on direction of Hon'ble Supreme Court. This has eased out the financial crisis of the Company to some extent. The Company is in process of One Time Settlement (OTS) with the lender banks and an amount of Rs.1100 Crore was paid towards OTS. The lender banks had proceeded in NCLT/DRT against the Company. The proceeding in NCLT Court has since been withdrawn. Simultaneously, the company has undertaken various cost reduction measures to improve the liquidity/ profitability such as closure of unviable branches, and reduction in overhead expenses etc. Consequent upon the high level meeting dated 29.08.2019, 11.06.2020, 20.10.2020 and the resolution of Board of Directors dated 10.11.2020, presently, the Company has been completing/ concluding only the ongoing contracts in hand.
Considering the facts given above,
a. Accounts for the nine months ended Dec 31, 2020 have been prepared on going concern basis.
b. The company is continuing to carry forward deferred tax assets, which will be available for set of against future profits."
c. No provision for impairment of non-current assets has been considered necessary.
d. Depreciation is being computed on the basis of expected economic life of fixed assets rather than their current market value.
e. As a cost reduction measure, VRS has been introduced in STC on 19.11.2020 to 18.01.2021, which was further extended to 29.01.2021 with the eligibility criteria covering all employees in Staff cadre irrespective of length of service and Managers from Assistant Manager (E1) to Chief General Manager (E8) level, irrespective of length of service in the Corporation (including professionals). 100 employees opted for VRS, out of which 54 employees were relieved for which STC's own funds will be utilized. Out of the remaining, 31 applications have been accepted yet to be relieved and 15 applications are under process. The company is in the process of firming up of amount payable under VRS claims and upon final checking, the liability would be provided in the books of accounts"
7) As a matter of accounting prudence, Deferred Tax Assets for the nine months ended 31.12.2020 have not been recognized.
8) Impact of COVID-19:-There was a nation-wide lockdown imposed during the end of March, 2020 due to COVID-19. There was partial lifting of the lockdown since 03.05.2020. The Company has resumed operations at corporate office and branch offices with minimal staff after adopting safety measures and following standard operating procedures mandated by Govt. of India like disinfection of office premises, keeping social distancing, work-from-home with minimal attendance. Despite the constraints of lockdown, the Company ensured timely deliveries of essential items viz. edible oil, pulses and sugar for on-going contracts for supply to the Tamil Nadu Civil Supplies Corporation through e-processing procedure during lockdown. However, due to the unpredictable and continuing impact of Covid-19 situation, it is very difficult to assess the future impact of Covid-19 on the financial performance and business operations at this juncture. Further, the company does not foresee any significant impairment to the carrying value of its assets, which is dependent on market conditions."
9) Figures of the previous period have been recasted / reclassified to make them comparable with those of the current period wherever necessary.
10) Figures for the quarter ended 31st Dec 2020 are the balancing figures between the figures in respect of nine months ended Dec 20 and the published figures of half year ended Sept 20.

TikTok sale to Walmart, Oracle stalls as Biden reviews security

REUTERS
February10

ORACLE AND WALMART's plan to buy TikTok's US operations has been pushed back indefinitely, as President Joe Biden reviews the previous administration's efforts to address potential security risks posed by Chinese tech companies, the Wall Street Journal reported on Wednesday.

The administration of former President Donald Trump had cited national security concerns in its targeting of TikTok, arguing that the personal data of U.S. users could be obtained by China's government, while TikTok denies the allegation.

This comes as TikTok's parent, ByteDance, finds itself in a legal tussle with the US government, with many federal courts barring the Commerce Department's attempt to shut down TikTok's operations in the United States.

Discussions have continued between representatives of ByteDance and US national security officials, the WSJ report said, citing people familiar with the matter. TikTok has been in talks with Walmart and Oracle since September to finalize a deal that would shift TikTok's US assets into a new entity to prevent its total ban on use in the country.

Quad key example of US, partners pulling together for free and open Indo-Pacific: US

PRESS TRUST OF INDIA
Washington, February 10

THE QUAD IS a key example of the US and its closest partners, including India, pulling together for the good of a free and open Indo-Pacific region, the Biden administration has said.

The Quad, or the Quadrilateral Security Dialogue, is an informal grouping of four countries -- Australia, India, Japan and the United States. It is aimed at ensuring a free and open Indo-Pacific, a strategically vital region that witnessed increasing Chinese military assertiveness in recent years.

"What I would say generally is that the Quad is a key example of the United States and our closest partners, including, in this case, India, pulling together for the good of a free and open Indo-Pacific region," State Department Spokesperson Ned Price told reporters at his daily news conference on Tuesday.

The evolving situation in the Indo-Pacific region in the wake of China's increasing military muscle flexing has become a major talking point among leading global powers. The US has been favouring making Quad, comprising a security architecture to check China's growing assertiveness.

China is engaged in hotly contested territorial disputes in the South and East China Seas. Beijing has also made substantial progress in militarising its man-made islands in the past few years.

GROUND COMMANDERS MEET TO TAKE FIRST STEPS

China announces 'synchronised' pullback from north, south banks of Pangong lake

India statement awaited; armour rollback on either side likely first move, frontline troops in phased manner

KRISHN KAUSHIK, DEEPTIMAN TIWARY & NIRUPAMA SUBRAMANIAN
New Delhi, Mumbai, Feb 10

SIGNALLING THE FIRST major breakthrough in talks to resolve the nine-month military standoff along the Line of Actual Control in Ladakh, China's defence ministry announced Wednesday that Chinese and Indian troops on the southern and northern shores of Pangong Tso began "synchronised and organised disengagement" in line with the consensus reached between Corps Commanders when they last met on January 24.

There was no immediate statement from the Indian Army or Ministry of Defence on the Chinese announcement.

The Indian Express has learned that ground commanders on the north and south banks of Pangong Tso met Tuesday to prepare for the first step at disengagement.

Sources in the security establishment said "there will be a phased withdrawal" because that "has been decided" mutually. To start with, some armoured columns will be pulled back while frontline troops will continue to remain where they are.

Under the plan, the sources said, troops occupying heights will descend at a later stage. The disengagement, sources underlined, will happen "simultaneously" on the north and south banks of Pangong Tso.

Referring to the PLA troops, sources said: "Some movements are already taking place on their side, of heavy equipment and troops. All that will be monitored and verified. We also have to do the same."

Sources said a go-ahead for the "preparatory phase" of on-ground disengagement was given to the respective forces from Delhi and Beijing on Tuesday.

"Ground-level commanders from both sides held a meeting over the nitty-gritty of the pullback on the Pangong lake on Tuesday as per agreed terms between the two governments. A meeting was held on Wednesday as well. Things have been put in motion, but as of now no pullback of troops has started," a government official said.

Sources said as of now, ground commanders have been asked to first make arrangements at the new stations where artillery and troops will head back. "Any movement of artillery will take another two-three days. Troop pullback may happen only after three or four days. A timeline of about a week to 10 days has been set for the process," another official said.

Senior Colonel Wu Qian, spokesperson for the Chinese Ministry of National Defense, in a written statement, said: "The Chinese and Indian frontline troops at the southern and northern bank of the Pangong Tso Lake start synchronised and organised disengagement from February 10."

"This move is in accordance with the consensus reached by both sides at the 9th round of China-India Corps Commander Level Meeting," the Chinese statement said. Any disengagement will mark a significant breakthrough to end the military standoff that began in May 2020. There was some disengagement in July last year but the Chinese refused to complete the disengagement process and both nations brought in additional forces in the depth areas, deploying tanks, artillery and air power.

Only after the disengagement process is completed will the two sides de-escalate and take troops back from the depth areas as well to their original positions. On June 15 last year, Indian and Chinese troops clashed in Galwan Valley, leading to the death of 20 Indian troops, and an undeclared number of Chinese soldiers. The north and south banks of Pangong Tso are key to any disengagement because the standoff began after the Chinese came in 8 km west of Finger 8 on the north bank – the point that India says marks the LAC. Chinese troops have positioned themselves at Finger 4. Last August, Indian troops surprised the Chinese by occupying dominating heights on the south bank of Pangong Tso, and in the larger Chushul sub-sector. Indian troops positioned themselves on Gurung Hill, Magar Hill, Mukhpari, Rechin La and Rezang La.

They also have direct view of China's Moldo Garrison, and the strategic Spanggur Gap which can be used to launch offensives — as the Chinese did in 1962.

NEW BEGINNING

Biden to visit a Pentagon hoping to shift from Donald Trump turmoil

President making his first visit to the Pentagon as commander in chief

ASSOCIATED PRESS
Washington, February 10

PRESIDENT JOE BIDEN is making his first visit to the Pentagon as commander in chief, taking stock of a military as it pivots from the turmoil of the Trump years and focuses to an unusual degree on domestic and internal issues.

Biden planned to meet Wednesday afternoon with senior civilian and military leaders and address the Pentagon workforce.

As defence leaders await direction from Biden on possible new approaches to overseas security threats, Defence Secretary Lloyd Austin is treating the coronavirus pandemic as a top priority and ordering fresh assessments of how to root out sexual assault and extremism in the military's ranks.

Austin himself is in the spotlight after winning Senate confirmation as only the third recently retired military officer to lead the Pentagon. Critics have questioned whether his appointment, which required a congressional waiver, weakens the principle of civilian control of the military.

Austin moved quickly to surround himself with a core of civilian assistants, including Kelly Magsamen, a defence policy expert and former Pentagon official who is now his chief of staff. The deputy defense secretary is Kathleen Hicks, a policy expert and the first woman to win Senate confirmation for that position.

Austin spent 41 years in the Army, retiring in 2016 as a four-star general after heading US Central Command. During Biden's years as vice president in the Obama administration, he worked with Austin on winding down US involvement in Iraq, where Austin was the top commander in 2010-11.

During the Trump administration, the Pentagon endured a loss of top-flight civilian talent, in part because of instability at the top. Trump had two Senate-confirmed defence secretaries, as well as three secretaries who held the role in an acting capacity. Morale suffered and some senior positions went unfilled.

Biden had considered choosing Michele Flournoy to lead the Pentagon; she would have been the first woman in that job. Instead he picked Austin, who is the first Black defence secretary and in Biden's view is the right person at a time of evolving security threats and continuing risk from the coronavirus.

On his first day in office, Austin issued a message to the force that emphasised his commitment to finding ways the military can help the government move "further and faster" to fight the pandemic. Already there are more than 24,000 National Guard members providing logistical support for the vaccine program and giving as many as 50,000 shots per day.

Last week, the Pentagon announced it will deploy more than 1,100 troops to five vaccination centers at the request of the Federal Emergency Management Agency. This marks the first wave of increased military support for the national vaccination campaign.

The military is preparing to deploy the first team of about 222 service members to a vaccination centre in California, and it says it is ready to deploy four similar teams to other centres when FEMA is ready. FEMA has asked the Pentagon to supply as many as 10,000 troops to staff 100 centres, but Austin is approving the teams incrementally as the locations are identified.

Austin also is pushing for policy adjustments to account for the effects of climate change on military missions, as well as the consequences of extreme weather events on domestic military bases.

Quad key example of efforts for free, open Indo-Pacific: US

PRESS TRUST OF INDIA
Washington, February 10

THE QUAD IS a key example of the US and its closest partners, including India, pulling together for the good of a free and open Indo-Pacific region, the Biden administration has said.

The Quad, or the Quadrilateral Security Dialogue, is an informal grouping of four countries: Australia, India, Japan and the United States. It is aimed at ensuring a free and open Indo-Pacific, a strategically vital region that witnessed increasing Chinese military assertiveness in recent years.

"What I would say generally is that the Quad is a key example of the United States and our closest partners, including, in this case, India, pulling together for the good of a free and open Indo-Pacific region," State Department Spokesperson Ned Price told reporters at his daily news conference on Tuesday.

The evolving situation in the Indo-Pacific region in the wake of China's increasing military muscle flexing has become a major talking point among leading global powers. The US has been favouring making Quad, comprising a security architecture to check China's growing assertiveness.

China is engaged in hotly contested territorial disputes in the South and East China Seas. Beijing has also made substantial progress in militarising its man-made islands in the past few years.

Beijing claims sovereignty over all of the South China Sea. But Vietnam, Malaysia, the Philippines, Brunei and Taiwan have counterclaims. In the East China Sea, China has territorial disputes with Japan.

The South China Sea and the East China Sea are stated to be rich in minerals, oil and other natural resources.

They are also vital to global trade. Although the US lays no claims to the disputed waters, it has challenged China's growing territorial claims in the South China Sea by deploying warships and fighter jets to assert freedom of navigation and overflight patrols in the strategically important region.

"We view the Quad as having essential momentum and important potential, and that's why we're going to build on it by deepening cooperation on areas of traditional focus, that includes maritime security, while also working closely with Quad partners to confront some of the defining issues of our time," Price said.

It includes the Covid-19 pandemic, climate and "democratic resilience as well," he said.

'Indian-Americans are liberal on issues in US, conservative in India'

Indian Americans believe that white supremacy is a greater threat to minorities in the US, a country where they are a minority, than Hindu majoritarianism is to minorities in India FILE PHOTO

PRESS TRUST OF INDIA
Washington, February 10

INDIAN-AMERICANS HAVE relatively more conservative views of policies in India while on issues affecting the US, the diaspora has a more liberal take, according to a survey of the political attitudes of the influential community in this country.

Indian-Americans comprise slightly more than 1 per cent of the total US population-and less than 1 per cent of all registered voters.

The survey, a collaboration between the Carnegie Endowment for International Peace, Johns Hopkins-SAIS, and the University of Pennsylvania, "How Do Indian Americans View India? Results from the 2020 Indian American Attitudes Survey," draws on the Indian American Attitudes Survey (IAAS).

The IAAS is a nationally representative online survey of 1,200 Indian American adults conducted between September 1 and September 20, 2020, in partnership with YouGov. The survey has an overall margin of error of +/- 2.8 per cent, a media release said on Tuesday. Indian-Americans' policy views are more liberal on issues affecting the United States and more conservative on issues affecting India, it said.

Regarding contentious issues such as the equal protection of religious minorities, immigration, and affirmative action, Indian-Americans hold relatively more conservative views of Indian policies than of US policies, according to the survey results.

Indian Americans, in other words, believe that white supremacy is a greater threat to minorities in the United States, a country where they are a minority, than Hindu majoritarianism is to minorities in India, a country where Hindus are in the majority, the report said.

Seventy per cent of Hindus agree or strongly agree that white supremacy is a threat to minorities in the United States, compared to 79 per cent of non-Hindus.

Regarding Hindu majoritarianism in India, however, the data point to a much sharper divide: only 40 per cent of Hindus agree that Hindu majoritarianism is a threat to minorities, compared to 67 per cent of non-Hindus, it said.

Noting that Indian-Americans are divided about India's current trajectory, the survey said that respondents are nearly evenly split as to whether India is currently on the right track or headed down the wrong track.

Myanmar faces wider business fallout after Kirin retreat

BLOOMBERG
February 10

MYANMAR'S POLITICAL UPHEAVAL is prompting global companies from Japan to Thailand to dial back operations in the country, spurring concern about a widening business fallout.

From beer maker Kirin Holdings to an early backer of gaming firm Razer, companies and investors are weighing the impact of a military coup that's thrust the once- thriving nation into a state of emergency. The turmoil is prompting multinationals like Thailand's biggest industrial developer to delay investment plans, a harbinger of things to come should the chaos deepen.

Western nations are applying pressure on the newly installed military government of the Southeast Asian country, once regarded as greenfield territory for everything from oil and gas to leisure resorts. With the US reiterating plans to renew sanctions, it could cause a rippling effect among businesses, threatening $5.5 billion in foreign investment in a country that just a few years ago was on the path to democracy.

"It will definitely get bigger as these corporations get on board the leave-first-and-ask-questions-later bandwagon," Justin Tang, head of Asian research at United First Partners in Singapore.

Myanmar has been attracting more outside investment in recent years after posting double-digit economic growth in the early part of the last decade. Bordering the massive markets of India and China, Myanmar has abundant natural resources, including oil and gas, gold, silver and precious stones. The population of about 57 million people is greater than South Korea's, and not far off Italy's.

Among recent foreign deals, CVC Capital Partners reached an agreement in December to buy Myanmar's biggest telecommunications tower company for close to $700 million. The deal for Irrawaddy Green Towers was the second-biggest in the country, trailing only the acquisition of Myanmar Distillery group by a unit of Thai Beverage. Singapore's sovereign wealth firm GIC Pte and Norway's Norfund AS bought a 30% stake in Yoma Bank for 131 billion kyat ($92.1 million) last April.

Nations with the most at stake from the instability include Singapore, Myanmar's largest foreign investor, accounting for almost 34% of approved investment by dollar value, according to a World Bank report in December. Yoma Strategic Holdings, a Singapore-listed conglomerate that gets almost all its revenue from Myanmar, has plunged by a third this year.

Singapore is monitoring the situation closely, said a spokesperson for Enterprise Singapore, a government agency that helps companies grow overseas. The turmoil is creating a rippling effect across industries. Kirin ended its joint-venture partnership with the nation's largest brewer Myanma Economic Holdings Public, which has ties to the military. The company isn't planning to entirely exit the country, where its operations accounted for just 1.7% of revenue in 2019.

Lim Kaling, the founding investor of Singapore-based gaming firm Razer, is disposing of his one-third stake in a joint venture that owns RMH Singapore Pte RMH owns 49% of Virginia Tobacco in Myanmar, while Myanma Economic Holdings, owned by the military, holds the balance. "I hope for a time when I can be an investor in the country and its people once more," Kaling said in a statement on Monday.

Amata, one of Thailand's biggest industrial land developers, delayed some investment plans.

'It was her spirit': Myanmar teen shot by police was determined to protest coup

Teenager Mya Thwate Thwate Khaing was supposed to be celebrating her 20th birthday on Thursday, instead, she is fighting for her life in a hospital

MYANMAR TEENAGER MYA Thwate Thwate Khaing was supposed to be celebrating her 20th birthday on Thursday.

Instead, she is fighting for her life in a hospital in the capital Naypyitaw after she was shot in the head when police cracked down on a protest against the military coup.

Myanmar's army seized power on February 1 and detained elected leader Aung San Suu Kyi, ending a long transition towards democracy and bringing tens of thousands of demonstrators onto the streets.

The shooting of the teenager, the first known serious casualty of the protests, has roused anger across the nation and rallied support for the anti-coup movement, many of whose members are part of a Generation Z who say they refuse to allow another generation to experience military rule.

Mya Thwate Thwate Khaing, a 19-year-old grocery store worker, had traveled with her sisters from a nearby village to Naypyitaw, the army-built capital in the centre of the country, for a protest on Tuesday. It was one of dozens in towns and cities across the country.

Police quashed the peaceful protest with water cannon and gunfire. The teenager was struck in the back of the head with a live round as she was fleeing. Doctors do not expect her to survive.

Her brother Ye Htut Aung told Reuters the family, though supportive of the protests, had urged her against going to the demonstration for fear of violence. She insisted.

"It was her spirit," he said by phone. "She wanted to and I couldn't stop her."

The last time he spoke to her, he said, was on a voice call over a poor connection. Neither could get the video to work, the new ruling junta has been stifling internet access.

Ye Htut Aung warned her to stay at the back of the protest and that the police were not to be trusted.

"What are you going to do if they shoot?" he asked.

"No, they wouldn't," she replied. "It's OK. Even if they fire, it should be fine."

The army's True News Information Unit said in a statement the security forces only used non-lethal weapons and the police were investigating. It said two police had been injured by the "rioters" and were in hospital.

The shooting has caused outrage across the country and recalled the long history of bloody crackdowns on protest by the security forces in Myanmar. During uprisings against the former ruling military junta in the late 1980s, thousands were killed.

Protesters draped a massive a portrait of her from a bridge in downtown Yangon, the commercial capital, on Wednesday.

"Lets together oppose the dictator who kills the people" the banner read.

Video footage posted to Facebook and verified by Reuters shows the moment she was shot.

Mystery metal monolith turns out to be Turkish government's gimmick

ASSOCIATED PRESS
Ankara

The three-meter-high (about 10-foot-high) metal slab bearing an ancient Turkic script, was found Friday by a farmer in Sanliurfa province

A METAL MONOLITH that mysteriously appeared and disappeared on a field in southeast Turkey turned out to be a publicity gimmick before a government event Tuesday during which Turkish President Recep Tayyip Erdogan announced a space programme for the country.

The three-meter-high (about 10-foot-high) metal slab bearing an ancient Turkic script, was found Friday by a farmer in Sanliurfa province.

It was discovered near the UNESCO World Heritage site of Gobekli Tepe, which is home to megalithic structures dating to the 10th millennium B.C.

However, the shiny structure that bore the inscription "Look at the sky, you will see the moon" in the ancient Turkic Gokturk alphabet, was reported gone Tuesday morning, adding to the mystery.

An image of the monolith was later projected on a screen as Erdogan presented Turkey's space programme during a televised event.

"I now present to you Turkey's 10-year vision, strategy and aims and I say: 'look at the sky, you will see the moon'," Erdogan said.

Earlier, the state-run Anadolu Agency quoted the field's owner as saying he was baffled by both its appearance and disappearance.

RECRUITMENT RUSH

With vaccines in more American drugstores, pharmacies go on hiring sprees

NEW YORK TIMES
February 10

PHONES ARE RINGING with plentiful job opportunities. Prospective employers are dangling five-figure signing bonuses. Businesses are hounding universities for potential recruits.

The job market is booming - at least if you're a pharmacist.

The vaccination drive in the United States is entering a new phase this week, with the start of a federal programme that will send more doses of Covid-19 vaccines into drugstores and grocery store pharmacies.

In preparation, pharmacy chains are in the middle of a hiring spree, competing to quickly recruit pharmacists and support staff to inoculate customers.

Pharmacies are turning to universities for help finding vaccinators. Training programmes are enrolling record numbers of students and workers looking to learn how to give vaccines. And pharmacists like Maurice Shaw have been inundated with job opportunities.

"For a two-week period, the same numbers kept calling and calling and calling," said Dr. Shaw, who lives near Springfield, Ill. "It's like the job market flipped overnight."

Starting on Thursday, the federal government will send vaccine doses directly to dozens of chains that operate drugstores and grocery store pharmacies. The chains will play a key role as the vaccination campaign, which so far has been concentrated in hospitals and mass-vaccination sites like stadiums, expands into places where many Americans are accustomed to getting shots.

Pharmacies are dangling five-figure signing bonuses and competing against one another to quickly recruit pharmacists and support staff FILE PHOTO

The big chains need trained professionals not only to administer shots but also to perform other tasks like filling syringes, signing people in, answering questions, documenting the doses given and monitoring people for side effects. Rite Aid is trying to fill more than 2,000 pharmacy jobs. Kroger said in December that it planned to hire nearly 1,000 health care workers; it has already hired hundreds this year. Hy-Vee said in December that it was recruiting 1,000 pharmacy technicians who traditionally have served as support staff but, thanks to a recent regulatory change, are now able to administer vaccines in many states.

CVS and Walgreens which already have been giving shots in nursing homes and have recently begun to offer vaccines in stores in some states have announced the most ambitious hiring targets.

CVS late last year met a hiring target it announced in October of 15,000 such employees and has since hired thousands of additional pharmacists, said T.J. Crawford, a spokesman.

He said CVS would keep hiring as the vaccine supply rose and more stores offered shots.

Walgreens aimed for 9,000 pharmacists, pharmacy technicians and nurses. It has filled 7,500 slots.

"We are getting so many individuals to come and raise their hand," said Rina Shah, a Walgreens executive who oversees pharmacy operations and services.

At Washington State University's College of Pharmacy and Pharmaceutical Sciences, officials have been hearing from pharmacies asking for help publicising job openings. The pharmacies also want the names of students, recent graduates and pharmacists looking to return to the work force after time away.

"It's all over the board," said Linda Garrelts MacLean, a vice dean at the pharmacy college. "We have seen large chains, small local chains, independent pharmacies reaching out to us."

In France, Covid cases plateau, vaccinations still lag and weariness sets in. Childhood colds don't prevent coronavirus infection, a study finds.

UK residents may not be allowed to travel abroad until all adults are vaccinated.

One of the fliers that the college agreed to distribute was from Walgreens. It advertises signing bonuses of $500 for pharmacy technicians and up to $10,000 for pharmacists.

Dr. Shaw already had a full-time job as a pharmacist for the University of Illinois at Chicago College of Pharmacy.

'I'm not a cat,' says lawyer after Zoom filter mishap

WHEN JUDGE ROY Ferguson opened up virtual proceedings of the 394th Judicial District Court in Texas on Zoom on Tuesday, he was not expecting to see two lawyers and a kitten.

The cute blue-eyed "cat" in the bottom right corner was actually county attorney Rod Ponton, covered by a filter.

"Mr Ponton, I believe you have filter turned on in the video settings," said the judge.

Ponton said his assistant was trying to fix the settings.

"I'm here live, I'm not a cat," he said.

"I can see that," said the judge. As the video went viral on social media, Ferguson wrote in a tweet: "IMPORTANT ZOOM TIP: If a child used your computer, before you join a virtual hearing check the Zoom Video Options to be sure filters are off." –REUTERS
