Delhi air quality

continues to be 'severe'

New Delhi: Air quality in Delhi continued to be severely polluted with parts of the city recording Air Quality Index (AQI) in the 'severe' category on Friday.

As per the Central Pollution Control Board (CPCB), Anand Vihar recorded an AQI of 408, while Bawana, Patparganj and Wazirpur recorded AQIs of 447, 404 and 411 respectively, all four in the 'severe' category. An AQI between 0-50 is marked good, 51-100 is satisfactory, 101-200 is moderate, 201-300 is poor, 301-400 is very poor and 401-500 is considered severe.

To tackle the rising air pollution, Chief Minister Arvind Kejriwal on Thursday launched the 'Green Delhi' app, which would enable people to register complaints about violation of anti-pollution norms. "Today we are launching the Green Delhi app to involve every citizen. You can file any kind of complaint regarding pollution via this app, which is available on the Play Store," said Kejriwal.

COUNTER POINT

Instead, we are selling our gold for some money... I have lost my job!

KANIZA GARARI | DC
HYDERABAD, OCT. 30

The burden of lifestyle diseases in India is 61.3 per cent, and it is feared that the new Indian Council of Medical Research guidelines that have increased the average weight of adults by five kgs could add to it.

The ideal body weight is revised and increased by National Institute of Nutrition from 60 to 65 kg for men and from 50 to 55 kg for women earlier this month. It is an acceptable reference body weight through a lifespan. It was changed after a decade as it was found that body frames and compositions have undergone a change and the ideal weight of 50 kg in women, for example, was not applicable to many.

However, food specialists and nutritionists say that this upward revision in ideal body weight is being taken otherwise by people who have failed to understand the 'reference values of weight'. This section thinks that it is okay to gain weight, given the upward revision.

Nutritionists clarify that people must consume more of energy-giving foods, proteins and micro-nutrients and not carbohydrates.

Sujatha Stephen, nutritionist at Yashoda Hospitals, said that the estimate average requirement for those in the age-group of 19 to 39 years was revised as there has been a major change in the diet.

"Because of this, we are finding younger women who weigh more than 50 kgs. The earlier bar made many of them starve to stay within the ideal weight and this led to nutritional deficiencies, apart from other problems. The revision is based on assessments of the present population," she said.

But, in weight loss programmes, nutritionists say that they still rely on the body mass index formula. Nutritionist Sunitha Premalatha, said, "It is the height and the BMI index which is the bar. The waist circumference is also an indication which helps to scientifically take up the weight loss programme."

With additional five kgs, many now fall in the bracket of 'healthy' as defined by the government. Experts say it is only an ideal recommended weight and must not be misconstrued. With the increasing and early onset of lifestyle diseases, experts say that it is important to control weight as early as possible. There is also a lot of need to have proper physical activity as the time spent in front of screens has increased.

With movement being restricted during Covid-19. Even walking in the neighbourhood has been affected. For this reason, there is bound to be more weight gain in the younger age groups which will lead to the early onset of non-communicable diseases.

The ICMR has received feedback on the revised guidelines from food companies who say that the extra food requirements will lead to a burden on agriculture.

Food companies have asked the government to reconsider and revise the weight norms.

Governor gets S-G nod, signs 7.5 p.c. quota Bill

■ Bill effective this year, says CM ■ Protests worked: Stalin

DC CORRESPONDENT
CHENNAI, OCT 30

Governor Banwarilal Purohit gave his accent to the Bill providing 7.5 per cent reservation for students from government schools in all medical and dental college admissions on Friday, a day after the State government went ahead and issued a government order, thus putting at rest a major controversy that was sought to be used for political gain.

The 'Tamil Nadu Admissions to Undergraduate Courses in Medicine, Dentistry, Indian Medicine and Homeopathy on preferential basis to the Students of Government Schools 2020' was approved by the Governor after the Solicitor General of India, Tushar Mehta gave his opinion, saying 'the bill is in consonance with the Constitution of India' on Thursday.

A communique from Raj Bhavan, which informed the people of Tamil Nadu of the Governor's decision, also attached the letter from Tushar Mehta and the letter written by the Governor's secretary Anandrao V Patil seeking the legal opinion on September 26.

Governor signed the bill after solicitor-general Tushar Mehta opined that it is "in consonance with the Constitution of India".

Speaking about the 7.5 per cent reservation for government school students, Chief Minister Edappadi K Palaniswami said it would be implemented from this academic year itself and the Bill was brought in to ensure social justice and equality in medical education.

Answering questions from the media after paying floral tributes to Pasumpon Muthuramalinga Thevar at his memorial in Pasumpon village in Ramanathapuram district on Friday on the occasion of Guru Pooja, marking the birth and death anniversaries of the Muthuramalinga Thevar, Palaniswami said that no demand was made by anybody for the Bill.

DMK President M K Stalin said that the governor gave his nod after 45 days since he had no other alternative. He was also speaking to the media after paying floral tributes at Pasumpon when he said the DMK's protest and the remarks of Madras High Court judges brought about a change in the Governor's heart.

Calling it a people's victor, PMK founder S Ramadoss, in a statement, said the government should start the admission process immediately. The Governor's announcement had brought down the tension among students, Ramadoss said.

CPM State secretary K Balakrishnan said the united protest of the people of the State led to the Governor giving his accent to the Bill but stressed on the need to seek exemption from NEET for Tamil Nadu, while CPI State secretary Mutharasan said the delay by the Governor was uncalled for. It was meaningless to withhold a Bill passed by the Assembly, Mutharasan said in a statement.

Among the others who welcomed the Governor approving the Bill were DMDK founder Vijayakanth, who was happy that over 300 students would benefit out of the 7.5 per cent reservation, and State BJP president L Murugan.

States told to be ready for Covid vaccine distribution

Kerala, Delhi report high Covid numbers

DC CORRESPONDENT
NEW DELHI, OCT. 30

The rising daily cases in Kerala and Delhi (6,638 and 5,891, respectively on Friday) remain a major concern while overall fresh coronavirus cases continue to decline in India.

On Friday, 48,648 new cases were detected nationwide as the total number of Covid-19 cases in the country moved closer to 90 lakhs. Out of this, 73.73 lakh persons have already recovered while 5.94 lakh remain infected and under treatment. The total number of deaths so far has been 1.21 lakh, with 563 fatalities reported (health), and a district task force (DTF) to be headed by the district magistrate.

An annexure attached with the letter outlines the terms of references for the committees according to which the SSC will ensure in the last 24 hours. The Centre is now gearing up for a nationwide vaccine drive, once the vaccine candidates gets approval from the Drug Controller General of India after successful trial results.

As per government data, 57,386 patients have recovered in the last 24 hours, compared to 48,648 new cases. The national recovery rate has now risen to 91.15 per cent, with 80 per cent of newly recovered cases concentrated in 10 states/UTs. Kerala has contributed the maximum, with over 8,000 single-day recoveries, followed by Maharashtra and Karnataka, with more than 7,000 recoveries each.

US court orders ISRO arm to pay Bengaluru startup $1.2 b

Washington, Oct. 30: A US court has asked Antrix Corporation, the commercial arm of Indian Space Research Organisation (ISRO), to pay compensation of $1.2 billion to a Bengaluru-based startup, Devas Multimedia, for cancelling a satellite deal in 2005.

As per the agreement in January 2005, Antrix agreed to build, launch and operate two satellites and to make available 70 MHz of S-band spectrum to Devas, which the latter planned to use to offer hybrid satellite and terrestrial communication services throughout India.

The agreement was terminated by Antrix in February 2011. Over the next several years, Devas approached various legal avenues in India. This included the Supreme Court, which directed for a tribunal.

In his order dated October 27, Judge Thomas S. Zilly, US District Judge, Western District of Washington, Seattle, ruled that Antrix Corporation pay a compensation of $562.5 million to Devas Multimedia Corporation and the related interest rate amounting to a total of $1.2 billion.

In its lawsuit filed in the court, in September 2018, Devas Multimedia said three separate interna-different arbitrators have found the termination of the Devas-Antrix agreement to have been wrongful, with one of the tribunals describing it as "conduct 'which shocks, or at least surprises, a sense of juridical propriety,'" and another finding it to be "a clear breach of simple good faith" by India.

Antrix, in November 2018, had sought the dismissal of the lawsuit citing jurisdictional issues.

The court, however, asserted that it had jurisdiction over the issue, but stayed the matter for one year and asked the two to file a joint status report by April 15, 2020. ■ P4

IGCAR TO SIGN MoU, TRANSFER TECH TO 25 STARTUPS A YEAR

Chennai, Oct. 30: The Indira Gandhi Centre for Atomic Research (IGCAR) at Kalpakkam near here is aiming to sign memoranda of understanding (MOUs) with 25 startups for exchange of technologies, a top official said on Friday.

The tie-ups would be on healthcare, environment-monitoring and chemicals, among others, IGCAR director A.K. Bhaduri said.

"In principle, we are looking for entering into pacts with at least 25 startups per annum. That is the target given to us by NITI Aayog," he told reporters.

An incubation centre of the department of atomic energy was inaugurated on Friday by secretary and Atomic Energy Commission chairman K.N. Vyas through video-conference.

Dr Bhaduri said IGCAR signed memoranda of understanding with various companies in exchange of technologies or products developed at IGCAR through the incubation centre.

An MoU with Sri Ramachandra Institute of Higher Education and Research, Chennai, was signed for early detection of breast cancer among women using thermal imaging technology. IGCAR has developed the breast thermography technique which is a low cost-non invasive method and the image is interpreted using artificial intelligence and deep learning software for diagnosis.

Another MoU with city-based Ideal Sensors was inked for a 'Gamma Dose Logger' which is a radiation monitor to measure environmental radiation.

An MoU was entered into with Bengaluru-based First Source Impex on use of portable air volume samplers. A pact was signed with Krishi Vigyan Kendra, Perambalur, for joint research and development in irradiation-related studies in respect of seeds, crops and other allied and related areas.

No fresh Covid-19 death in Pondy; 149 fresh cases take tally to 34,908

Puducherry, Oct. 30: The union territory of Puducherry recorded no fresh Covid-19 death for a third time this week while 149 new cases were reported, a top Health department official said on Friday.

Puducherry had on October 26 and 27 reported no coronavirus related fatalities after having done so on October 18 for the first time this month.

The 149 fresh infections in the last 24 hours ending 10 AM today took the overall tally to 34,908 after the transfer of two cases to Tamil Nadu, Director of Health and Family Welfare S Mohan Kumar said in a release. As many as 128 patients were discharged from hospitals during the last 24 hours, he added.

The total number of active cases stood at 3,739 while 30,577 patients had recovered and were discharged so far, Mohan Kumar said. He said the fatalities remained at 592 as no fresh death was reported. The Health department Director said that the fatality and recovery rates were 1.70 per cent and 87.59 per cent respectively.

He said that of the 3.05 lakh samples tested so far 2.66 lakh samples were found to be negative and the result of the examination of the remaining samples was awaited. The Puducherry region accounted for 97 of the 149 fresh cases followed by Karaikal (27), Mahe (12) and Yanam (13), Mohan Kumar said. — PTI

HC grants 4 weeks to Centre, state on Mahabs facelift

J. STALIN | DC
CHENNAI, OCT. 30

The Madras high court has granted four weeks to the state government and the Central government to place on record their commitment about using funds for the development and beautification of Mahabalipuram by the next date of hearing. The court said if the governments fail, their secretaries will be summoned to the court.

A division bench comprising Justices Vineet Kothari and M.S. Ramesh passed the interim order on a suo motu proceeding initiated by it on the basis of a note prepared by Justice N.Kirubakaran to preserve the beauty and safeguard the monuments and to protect the tourists visiting the town.

The bench said Sunita Kumari, counsel for Union of India, submitted that she had prepared a status report of about 400 pages which she may be permitted to file for the development of Mahabalipuram. Assistant solicitor general G. Karthikeyan, appearing for the Archaeological Survey of India, also prayed for some more time to make his submissions in this regard, the bench added.

The bench said special government pleader J. Pothiraj, appearing for the State, also submitted that the status report about the funding and upkeep of Mahabalipuram will be furnished in the present PIL of which suo motu cognizance was taken on the letter of a sitting judge of this court and various orders have already been passed and in the earlier orders, both central government and state government were directed to give the commitment of funding for the upkeep of Mahabalipuram. However, no specific commitment of funding was forthcoming from both governments. "We now feel that the Covid pandemic period has somewhat relaxed and it can no longer be a reason for not taking a suitable decision. Therefore, we grant four weeks to both governments to place on record their firm commitment on funds with regard to further development and beautification of Mahabalipuram by the next date of hearing, failing which the secretaries concerned in the Central government as well as the State government will have to be summoned in the court for bringing such commitment on record of the court", the bench added and posted the case to November 25, 2020, for further hearing.

Put on hold recruitment of constables, LG tells CS

Puducherry, Oct. 30: Lieutenant Governor of Puducherry Kiran Bedi has asked the territorial chief secretary Ashwani Kumar to keep in abeyance the process of recruitment of constables as there were complaints against it. The Lieutenant Governor, in a whatsapp message, said she had received the complaints from the public on the proposed change from the existing practice of digital or biometric process of conduct of ground test to manual mode. The selection to the 390 posts of constables was to begin during the first week of November.

She further said the complaints were also made on physical standards and physical endurance tests in the outlying regions where swimming pools and 400-metre-track were not available.

Kiran Bedi said the recruitment process should be fair, transparent and strictly as per the approved and notified rules and approved standing orders issued by the government. She said any changes would have serious repercussions leading to litigation in court. Therefore, she has asked the chief secretary, also in-charge of the home department, to keep in abeyance the process of recruitment till decisions were taken by a competent authority on the complaints received. Besides, she asked Kumar to submit the files concerned to her immediately. — PTI

Gold worth ₹20L seized from two women air passengers

Southern part of TN to get heavy rains

DC CORRESPONDENT
CHENNAI, OCT. 30

Heavy rains are predicted in southern parts of Tamil Nadu, while the rest of the state will be receiving light to moderate rain, says IMD. Weather experts also said heavy rain is likely to occur in Southern Tamil Nadu.

The IMD has predicted light to moderate rain or thunderstorms at a few places over south Tamil Nadu, and at isolated places over north coastal Tamil Nadu, Puducherry and Karaikal areas.

Light to moderate rain or thunder is likely to occur at isolated places over Tamil Nadu till November 3. Meanwhile, heavy rain is expected at isolated places over Thanjavur, Tiruvarur, Nagapattinam, Pudukottai, Sivagangai and Ramanathapuram districts. The sky condition is likely to be partly cloudy. Light rain is expected to occur in some areas. Maximum and minimum temperatures are likely to be around 32 degree celsius and 26 degree celsius.

Meanwhile, Pradeep John, a weather blogger, says that the active part of the monsoon is yet to begin and consistent rains can be expected in November and December. "Very active phase of monsoon, yet to begin, and when MJO (Madden-Julian oscillation) comes in, we are in for a treat. Yesterday massive rains were just a bonus. Models continue to be very consistent on very good days in November and December," he wrote on his Facebook page.

Another popular weather blogging site, Chennai Rains, further added that the city will see dry weather over the next few days and South Tamil Nadu will continue to see action with isolated heavy rains, they tweeted.

A public interest litigation has been filed in the Madras high court alleging gross mismanagement and financial irregularities in the running of the Indian Red Cross Society (IRCS)-Tamil Nadu branch.

The PIL seeks to direct the chairman and secretary general of IRCS in consultation with the president of IRCS-TN branch (Governor of the state) to regulate the affairs of the branch by appointing an administrator.

A division bench comprising Justices M. Sathyanarayanan and R. Hemalatha, before whom the PIL filed by Shankar Naganathan, vice-president of IRCS-TN branch, came up for hearing ordered a notice to IRCS, deputy secretary to Governor and CBI.

#GoBack Stalin trends on Twitter, Raja says it is 'karma'

Chennai, Oct 30: DMK president M. K. Stalin on Friday visited Ramanathapuram district to pay homage to Muthuramalinga Thevar on the occasion of the freedom fighter's guru puja while #GoBackStalin trended on Twitter.

As the hashtag trended for more than nine hours, BJP latched on to the development to mock at the DMK which it had earlier accused of being behind a similar social media trend against prime minister Narendra Modi in the past.

Senior BJP leader H. Raja said Stalin had to face it even while he was in his home state Tamil Nadu.

"This is karma," Raja said and quoted a couplet from Tirukkural which meant that what was done to others would revisit them.

BJP spokesperson S. G. Suryah said, "DMK gets a taste of its own medicine, #GoBackStalin."

Using the hashtag, several users hit out at Stalin and some recalled accusations against the DMK regime (2006-11) like "permanent power cuts."

It was also discussed on other social media platforms.

Later, #TNwithMKStalin also started trending with many hailing the DMK chief as the "hope" for Tamil Nadu people.

In the past, during the visits of Modi and home minister Amit Shah they had faced such trends on Twitter and balloons embossed with words 'Goback' were also released in several places.

Stalin visited Pasumpon village in Ramanathapuram and paid floral tributes on the occasion of the leader's 113th birth anniversary and Guru Puja observance.

The DMK chief said he was happy for having visited Pasumpon and paid respects to the freedom fighter.

Govt GO on 7.5% quota welcome, says Alagiri

R. VALAYAPATHY | DC
TIRUCHY, OCT. 30

Though the state government was inactive in getting the governor's assent for the bill to provide 7.5 percent quota for government school students in medical college admissions, it's move to issue a GO to reserve seats from the current academic year for such students, is welcome, said TN Congress president K S Alagiri.

Speaking to DC here on Friday, Alagiri accused the state government for its submissiveness to the BJP government at the Centre, due to which the state had lost several of its rights. He said though agriculture comes under the state subject, the Centre's high-handedness has formulated the anti-farmers bill, which is supported by the AIADMK government and the Chief Minister. Similarly, the state government could not get its share on GST tax collection, and the same fate has been repeated in NEET examination issue also, he added.

Alagiri said the state government is unable to pressurise the governor for his nod on the 7.5 percent reservation bill, but it can at least ask the governor to return the bill and the same may be placed before the state Assembly, and the bill can be passed for the second time and sent to the governor for assent. If the government did this, as per the existing rules and norms, the governor has no other way except to give his assent to the bill.

To a question, Alagiri said, due to this fresh move of the state government on the 7.5 percent reservation bill, students are now in 'Thrisangu' status. All the failures of the AIADMK government will reflect in next year's assembly elections.

Referring to the Centre's notification appointing Dr Shanmugam Subbaiah, president of the Akhil Bharatiya Vidyarthi Parishad and head of surgical oncology, as one of the board members of the All India Institute of Medical Sciences, Madurai, Alagiri expressed concern over this saying, Dr Subbaiah was allegedly harassing a woman neighbour in Chennai recently in which the Adampakkam police registered a case against him.

The Union government has neglected all MPs from Tamil Nadu for the post, which is yet another example of the Centre's 'single rule status', damaging the democratic fabric of the system, he added.

Smuggling of 1.25 tonne turmeric to SL foiled

ARULOLI M | DC
THOOTHUKUDI, OCT. 30

The district police here on Friday seized 1.25 metric tonnes of finger turmeric, suspected to have been stocked at a lorry booking office for smuggling.

Due to the import ban on turmeric in Sri Lanka since December 2019, coupled with the high demand for the product which is used for medicinal purpose after the Covid-19 outbreak, turmeric price in Sri Lankan domestic market shot up three folds, said a turmeric agent here, who earlier used to export spices including turmeric and pepper to Maldives and Sri Lanka.

Finger turmeric costing around Rs 600 to 800 in Indian money in Sri Lanka before the imposition of import ban, now is said to cost up to ₹3,000 in Sri Lankan black market, triggering turmeric smuggling activities from Thoothukudi and Ramanathapuram districts, said a police officer, who on a tip-off, led his team to raid a lorry booking office where around 1.25 tons of finger turmeric were found stocked without obtaining permission.

The commission further said Mr Nath also used the words "mafia" and "milawat khori" for Mr Chouhan.

The commission has confirmed all the charges levelled in the complaints against him, the order said.

The order dealt a jolt to the Congress ahead of crucial by-elections to 28 Assembly constituencies in the state.

"It is a conspiracy against Mr Nath. The election meetings of Mr Nath were drawing huge crowds which scared BJP to lodge series of complaints with the election commission against him," Congress spokesman here Narendra Saluja said.

Devas said that after the initial signing of the agreement, the two companies performed in good faith for five years. Among other things, in May 2009, Dr Appanna Bhaskarnaryana, the director of the Satellite Communications Programme Office of ISRO, spent four to five weeks in the US with Devas personnel meeting with Hughes Networks, Sirius XM SkyTerra, Qualcomm and ICO North America to understand the technologies used by, and operation of, hybrid satellite-terrestrial operators providing telecommunications services.

Devas subsequently conducted experimental trials in India (attended by Antrix officials, including the company's then chairman), Chengdu and Beijing in China, and Stuttgart in Germany, which successfully demonstrated the hybrid satellite-terrestrial systems and end-user terminals that Devas had developed in conjunction with a global network of leading technology players such as Alcatel Lucent, it said.

On February 25, 2011, Antrix issued a termination notice to Devas, which among other things stated that the policy decision was of the central government, acting in its sovereign capacity is the event of force majeure, which was an occurrence on February 23, 2011.

The SSC will also have to institute a reward/recognition mechanism for achievement of best performing district/block/urban ward, etc.

"The Covid-19 vaccine introduction will span over a year with multiple groups being included sequentially starting from HCWs. Therefore, it is important to create strong advisory and coordination mechanism at state and district level to guide the process of Covid-19 vaccine introduction while ensuring minimal disruption of other routine health care services including immunisation," the letter issued on October 26 stated.

The activities to be conducted by the STF includes providing guidance, including funding and operational guidelines, fixing timelines for districts to plan and implement Covid-19 vaccine introduction whenever a vaccine is made available and identifying vaccinators across government and private sectors so as to minimise disruption of routine immunisation services.

Activities also include planning and mapping of vaccination sessions where HCWs will be vaccinated during the 1st phase and mapping human resources across departments that could be deployed for vaccination sessions for verification of beneficiaries, crowd management and overall coordination at the session site and The STF will also track districts for adherence to timelines for implementation of vaccine introduction.

Munger violence: Report by CISF says police fired first

Report may create trouble for Munger SP Lipi who was removed by EC

NAYEAR AZAD | DC PATNA, OCT. 30

The Munger incident got politically heated up on Friday after a report claimed that the state police fired in the air which instigated the crowd during the Durga idol immersion procession on October 26.

The internal report filed by the Central Industrial Security Force (CISF), a copy of which is also available with this newspaper, clearly states that the local police fired in the air to control the crowd.

The report says that "on the request of Bihar police at 11.20 PM on October 26, a group of 20 CISF personnel of Election coy departed from their camp for procession control duty. Further state police divided 20 personnel into two groups of 10 each. Out of this one group was deployed at Deen Dayal Upadhyay chowk along with SSB and state police personnel at 11.45 pm".

The report further adds that "due to dispute between the local police and devotees present in the procession, the crowd started pelting stones at the state police and other CAPF personnel. To control the situation the local police first fired in the air which led to heavy stone pelting from the crowd. As the situation was getting out of hand the CISF personnel fired in the air, as a result, the violent procession got dispersed".

The report is likely to create trouble for the Munger SP Lipi Singh as well as the district administration which had earlier blamed anti-social elements for the incident in which a person was killed and many others injured.

Both Munger SP Lipi Singh and the DM were removed by the Election Commission on Thursday after a group of protesters went on a rampage in the town, setting police stations and outposts on fire and ransacked the SP and SDO offices.

The poll panel has also ordered an inquiry into the firing and stone-pelting during the immersion procession late Monday night in which a 20-year-old youth was killed and several others injured.

● The poll panel has ordered an inquiry into the firing and stone-pelting during the immersion procession late Monday night in which a 20-year-old youth was killed. Magadh divisional Commissioner has been asked to carry out a probe.

Chuba Ao has been asked to carry out a probe and submit a report within a week.

On Friday, a Congress delegation led by senior party leader Randeep Singh Surjewala met Bihar governor Phagu Chauhan over the incident and demanded immediate action against Chief Minister Nitish Kumar and his deputy Sushil Kumar Modi.

"We have demanded immediate suspension of Bihar CM Nitish Kumar and Deputy CM Sushil Kumar Modi. A compensation of ₹50 lakh must also be given to the family member of the person who was killed in the incident," Congress leader Randeep Singh Surjewala said.

The grand alliance has also criticized the incident, likening the district police and the SP with General Dyer of infamous Jallianwala Bagh incident in Punjab during the British rule.

Munger SP Lipi Singh is the daughter of senior JD(U) leader and Rajya Sabha MP RCP Singh.

Political analysts believe that the incident which occurred on the eve of the first phase of voting may have impacted the polling in the area as it witnessed lower voter turnout as compared to 2015 Assembly elections.

Meanwhile, the state administration on Friday deployed additional forces in Munger to control the situation. Speaking to reporters, DIG Munger Manu Maharaj said, "Situation has been brought under control and forces have been deployed in the area to monitor the law and order in the area".

Sena, Cong attack BJP for its 'silence'

Mumbai, Oct. 30: The Shiv Sena on Friday hit out at the BJP for its "silence" on the firing on people during Durga idol immersion in Munger in Bihar, where the latter is in power along with the Nitish Kumar-led JD(U).

The Sena, in an editorial in its mouthpiece Saamana, said the BJP was, however, quick to pounce on and "communalise" the killing of two sadhus by a mob in Palghar district of Maharashtra in April.

One person was killed and over two dozen people, including security personnel, injured in firing and stone-pelting during goddess Durga idol immersion in Munger.

"If this incident had happened in Maharashtra or West Bengal (opposition ruled states), the BJP would have raised a hue and cry. Why are those who tried to communalise the Palghar lynching quiet over Munger?" the editorial asked.

"Didn't the fake Hindutvawadis feel the insult of Goddess Durga and wasn't the subsequent firing symbol of jungle raj?" "Has the BJP put on the glasses of secularism?" the daily asked.

The BJP also came under fire from the state Congress with its spokesperson Sachin Sawant claiming the NDA lead constituent indulged in opportunistic Hindutva politics. "When the Palghar incident took place, the BJP demanded the resignation of the Maharashtra home minister. However, the party has not uttered a word on Munger," Sawant said.

Kerala recoveries overshoot new cases; Telangana cases too rise

DC CORRESPONDENT THIRUVANANTHAPURAM, OCT. 30

Kerala continued to report a surge in the number of new coronavirus cases but the state is leading others in recoveries, too.

The state reported 6,638 new cases, taking the tally to 4,12,183 and for the second straight day, recoveries outnumbered fresh cases, with the figure at 7,828. The fatality count rose to 1,457 on Friday as 28 more persons succumbed to the virus. Currently, 90,565 patients are undergoing treatment.

TS numbers too rise: Telangana has been witnessing a slight rise in number of Covid-19 cases over the past four days. On Thursday, the state recorded 1,531 new cases, up from 1,504 on Wednesday, the state health department said in its daily Covid-19 bulletin.

On Tuesday, the number of fresh cases was 1,481 and on Monday 837.

Thursday's 1,531 cases have taken the total Covid-19 infections to 2,37,187 while the deaths from the disease increased to 1,330 with six more fatalities. However, the overall recovery rate from the disease stands at 91.5 per cent, the department said, adding that so far 2,17,401 persons who contract Covid-19, have recovered.

Farooq stopped from leaving for Friday prayers

DC CORRESPONDENT SRINAGAR, OCT. 30

The J&K authorities placed former chief minister and opposition National Conference president under house arrest for the day on Friday to prevent him from relocating to famed shrine of Hazratbal here to offer prayers on the day of Milad or the birth anniversary of Islam's Prophet Muhammad.

A police 'bunker vehicle' stayed parked at the main entrance to Mr. Abdullah's residence along Srinagar's Gupkar Road, blocking the access to the premises.

Earlier 83-year-leader and sitting Lok Sabha MP was reportedly informed by the authorities that he cannot move out.

The NC condemned the authorities barring it's leader from joining the congregational Friday prayers at Hazratbal.

A party spokesman said on the official Twitter handle, "J&K administration has blocked the residence of party president Dr. Farooq Abdullah and stopped him from offering prayers at Dargah Hazratbal. JKNC condemns this infringement of fundamental right to pray, especially on the auspicious occasion of Milad Un Nabi (SAW)."

The recently formed 'People's Alliance for Gupkar Declaration' of which Mr. Abdullah is the president also condemned the move. Its spokesperson Sajad Gani Lone, said it "tantamount to interference in the religious rights of Dr. Farooq Abdullah." He added, "This marks a new low in the curtailment of fundamental rights of the people of J&K."

LeT involved in killing of BJP workers: Police

YUSUF JAMEEL | DC SRINAGAR, OCT. 30

Jammu and Kashmir police on Friday claimed that the militants involved in the murder of a local BJP youth leader and his two associates in southern Kulgam district have been identified and that Lashkar-e-Tayyaba (LeT) and The Resistance Front (TRF) resisted the attack on Thursday.

A group of gunmen had at around 8 pm on Thursday shot and critically wounded Fida Hussain Itoo, general secretary of the J&K unit of BJP Yuva Morcha, and two other party workers Umar Ramzan Hajam and Umar Rashid Beigh in Kulgam's Yaripora village. They were evacuated to an emergency trauma hospital along the Srinagar-Jammu highway in Qazigund area but doctors at the hospital pronounced them dead on arrival.

Inspector General of Police (Kashmir range),

Vijay Kumar, during a visit of the area told reporters that the assailants came in a car and opened fire at the trio. "Then the militants fled in the same vehicle. We seized the vehicle near Achabal area of Anantnag," he said adding "With the help of our technical and human intelligence, three militants who carried out the act include a local Nisar Ahmed Khanday, another one namely Abbas Sheikh who was earlier with the Hizb-ul-Mujahideen and later joined LeT, and the third one may be a foreigner".

The IGP said that the police had provided 'protection' to Mr. Hussain and that he was lodged at Hotel Dolphin at the Valley's premier resort of Pahalgam. "But he recently gave undertaking that he can move around without security. Now we are investigating what the trio was doing in the Kulgam area," he said.

Urmila Matondkar likely to join Shiv Sena, become MLC

SONU SHRIVASTAVA | DC MUMBAI, OCT. 30

Urmila Matondkar, who contested Lok Sabha election as Congress candidate, is all set to become the member of the legislative council on Shiv Sena ticket. According to reports, chief minister Uddhav Thackeray has personally spoken to the actress, who has agreed to be nominated by the Sena.

Since June 2020, the 12 council seats, which are appointed by the governor from his quota, have fallen vacant in the legislative council of Maharashtra. The Maha Vikas Aghadi government, which is an alliance of Shiv Sena, NCP and Congress, on Thursday decided to recommend 12 names to governor Bhagat Singh Koshiyari for their nomination to the Upper House. All three parties will get four members each.

Under Article 171, the governor can nominate 12 members with special knowledge or practical experience in the field of literature, art, science, cooperative movement and social service to the state Legislative Council.

Matondkar had joined the Congress in the presence of Rahul Gandhi in New Delhi just ahead of general election in 2019 and subsequently she had been given a ticket from North Mumbai seat, but she had lost to BJP's Gopal Shetty by huge margin.

Around five months after she joined the Congress, Matondkar resigned from the party citing "petty in-house politics" in Congress as a reason for quitting the party.

When asked about Matondkar joining the Shiv Sena, its leader Sanjay Raut said, "I have also heard about the speculation that Matondkar will be nominated by the government to the Council. It is the prerogative of the state cabinet, which has authorised CM to take a decision."

Recently, Matondkar was in news for taking on actress Kangana Ranaut over her remarks in which she had likened the law and order situation in Mumbai to PoK.

Locals on Assam side stop the movement of vehicles to Mizoram

Assam-Mizoram highway blockaded again

MANOJ ANAND | DC GUWAHATI, OCT. 30

In what is the fallout of long negligence in resolving the inter-state border dispute, the blockade on Assam-Mizoram border has re-surfaced with local residents on Assam side stopping the movement of vehicles to Mizoram demanding withdrawal of forces allegedly four kilometre inside Assam territory.

Hundreds of trucks carrying essential supplies to Mizoram were once again stranded on National Highway 306, the lifeline of the state. Pointing out that the problem re-started as Mizoram failed to honour its commitment, sources said that Mizoram had promised that it would pull back its armed police from the border area at Lailapur in Assam.

The border tension between the two states was resolved on Thursday last after Union Home Secretary held a video conference with the chief secretaries of both Assam and Mizoram to defuse the situation.

Asserting that tension was prevailing between the two neighbouring states following a bomb blast in a school and video clips flashed on local news channel claiming that non-Mizo residents are being harassed in Mizoram, security sources said that it has created anger among the people living in bordering areas.

Meanwhile, additional director general of police (law and order) Assam Mr G.P. Singh told reporters that a recent bomb blast in a school in Lailapur along the Assam-Mizoram border may have been an attempt to terrorise the locals. Assam Police will request its counterpart to hand over the probe of the incident to a central agency.

"An explosion had taken place in a school. I discussed with the Superintendent of Police of Kolashib districts. We have seen the additional police post set up by Mizoram. There is a feeling that a bomb explosion might be an attempt to terrorise the locals. I have asked the Superintendent of Police of Cachar to file a case under section of Unlawful Activities (Prevention) Act in the court," he said.

"In the investigation, it has emerged that those triggering the explosion might be from Mizoram. We have discussed with police headquarters as it involves a case under unlawful activities, we will request to transfer the case to a central agency," Mr Singh told reporters.

The deadlock at the Assam-Mizoram border has been on since October 9 and took an ugly turn with around 20 shops and houses burnt and several people injured in attacks and counter-attacks by the people living along the border on October 17.

FIRST PHASE OF NAVAL EXERCISE MALABAR TO BEGIN FROM NOV. 3

PAWAN BALI | DC NEW DELHI, OCT. 30

The first phase of Naval exercise Malabar involving 'Quad' countries — India, US, Japan and Australia — is set to commence off Visakhapatnam in Bay of Bengal from November 3 to 6.

India has invited Royal Australian Navy this year to participate in the Malabar exercise in a message to China.

India, US, Japan and Australia are part of the 'Quad' alliance, which Beijing considers as an anti-China grouping.

The phase 2 of the exercise is scheduled to be conducted in the Arabian Sea in mid-November.

The phase-1 of Malabar will witness participation of Indian Navy units with US Navy Ship USS John S McCain (guided-missile destroyer), Royal Australian Navy ship HMAS Ballarat (long range frigate) with integral MH-60 helicopter, and Japan Maritime Self Defence Force ship JS Onami (destroyer) with integral SH-60 helicopter.

The Indian Navy participation in Phase 1 will be led by Rear Admiral Sanjay Vatsayan, Flag Officer Commanding Eastern Fleet.

3,589 new cases in Karnataka: Karnataka on Friday reported 3,589 fresh infections and 49 deaths, taking the Covid-19 tally to 8,20,398 and fatality to 11,140 respectively. A total of 8,521 people were discharged, taking the aggregate recoveries to 7,49,740. Active cases stood at 59,499, including 935 in the ICUs. Bengaluru Urban district contributed almost 50 per cent of the fresh infections and mortalities with 1,811 cases and 27 deaths. Chikkaballapura topped the list of districts where fresh cases were reported with 143 cases.

Man pays to see leopard close, hurt

Davie: A man was mauled by a captive black leopard in a backyard zoo in South Florida, wildlife officials said. The man paid $150 for a “full contact experience” with the black leopard, which allowed him to play with it and take pictures, WPLG reported. A report by the Florida Fish and Wildlife Conservation Commission says the incident happened Aug. 31 in Davie, which is near Fort Lauderdale. The agency charged the owner with allowing full contact with an extremely dangerous animal and was cited for maintaining captive wildlife in an unsafe condition. The owner runs a licensed animal sanctuary for rare and endangered animals at the home, WPLG reported.

Oz wildfires adds to climate risk

Canberra: An investigation into Australia's catastrophic wildfire season on Friday recommended greater efforts to forecast the impacts of climate change on specific parts of the country, warning fire behaviour was becoming more extreme. The Royal Commission into National Natural Disaster Arrangements began in February while wildfires were ravaging vast swathes of the nation's southeast in a fire season that is now known as Black Summer. The fires killed at least 33 people including 10 firefighters, destroyed more than 3,000 homes, razed 19 million hectares (47 million acres) and displaced thousands of residents. One firefighter was killed when an extraordinary weather event described by authorities as a “fire tornado” flipped a 10-ton fire truck upside down.

Warsaw braces for mass protest

Warsaw: The Polish capital prepared for a mass demonstration on Friday against a court ruling that would ban almost all abortions. Crowds of protesters are expected to defy coronavirus restrictions and risk contagion to join the demonstration in Warsaw. “We’re prepared to fight till the end,” Marta Lempart, co-founder of the Women's Strike movement, told reporters on Friday. Security is expected to be tight following some clashes between protesters and far-right activists in nine consecutive days of protests. The protest is set to start at 1600 GMT. More than 4,00,000 people took part in mostly peaceful nationwide demonstrations on Wednesday and organisers are hoping many people will travel to Warsaw for Friday's protest. Women's rights groups organising the protest face possible prosecution since any gatherings of more than five people are currently banned. Smaller rallies are also planned in dozens of other Polish cities including Krakow and Wroclaw, as well as abroad in Barcelona, Vienna and elsewhere.

QUAKE IN TURKEY SEA TOPPLES BUILDINGS IN IZMIR

Istanbul, Oct. 30: A strong earthquake in the Aegean Sea has shaken Turkey and Greece. Turkey's interior minister reports that six buildings in western Izmir province were destroyed.

Turkey's Disaster and Emergency Management Presidency said on Friday's earthquake was centered in the Aegean at a depth of 16.5 kilometres and registered at a 6.6 magnitude. The European-Mediterranean Seismological Centre said the quake had a preliminary magnitude of 6.9, with an epicenter 13 kilometers north northeast of the Greek island of Samos. The United States Geological Survey put the magnitude at 7.0. Turkish media showed wreckage of a multiple-story building in central Izmir, with people climbing it to reach rescuers.

Smoke was filmed in several spots in central Izmir. The governor said there was no immediate information on casualties. Turkish media said the earthquake was felt across the regions of Aegean and Marmara, where Istanbul is located. Istanbul's governor said there were no reports of damage. The quake was felt across the eastern Greek islands and even in the Greek capital Athens. Greek media said the residents of Samos and other islands fled their homes, while some rockfalls were reported. There were no immediate reports of injuries. Both countries reported aftershocks

France on high alert as fears of more attacks anticipated

Soldiers at key sites, places of worship; 47-yr-old in touch with attacker held

Paris/Nice, Oct. 30: France's interior minister said on Friday more militant attacks on its soil were likely and the country was engaged in a war against Islamist ideology following the second deadly knife attack in its cities in two weeks.

Minister Gerald Damarnin was speaking a day after an assailant shouting “Allahu Akbar” (God is Greatest) beheaded a woman and killed two other people in a church in Nice.

The man was shot by police and is now in critical condition in a hospital.

“We are in a war against an enemy that is both inside and outside,” Damarnin told RTL radio. “We need to understand that there have been and there will be other events such as these terrible attacks.”

President Emmanuel Macron has deployed thousands of soldiers to protect important sites such as places of worship and schools, and France's security alert is at its highest level.

Thursday's attack, on the birthday of the Prophet Mohammad, took place at a time of swelling Muslim anger across the globe at France's defence of the right to publish cartoons depicting the prophet. Protesters who deem the cartoons an insult to the Prophet Mohammad have denounced France in street rallies in several Muslim-majority countries.

Tens of thousands of Muslims protested in Bangladesh on Friday, chanting slogans such as “Boycott French products” and carrying banners calling Macron “the world's biggest terrorist” as they marched in the streets of the capital Dhaka.

France's chief anti-terrorism prosecutor said the man suspected of carrying out the Nice attack was a Tunisian born in 1999 who had arrived in Europe on Sept. 20 in Lampedusa, the Italian island off Tunisia that is a main landing point for migrants from Africa.

A Tunisian security source and a French police source named the suspect as Brahim Aouissauoui.

A judicial source said on Friday that a 47-year-old man had been taken into custody on Thursday evening on suspicion of having been

Macron remains defiant after Islamist knife attack

Nice, France, Oct. 30: French president Emmanuel Macron vowed his country would stand firm against religious extremists after a knife-wielding man killed three people at a church, in the country's second attack blamed on Islamist terrorism this month.

France will not “give up on our values,” Macron said in Nice, after a Tunisian migrant went on a near half-hour rampage with a 30-centimetre (12-inch) knife, targeting people praying in the southern city's Notre-Dame basilica.

A 60-year-old woman died inside the church and the body of a man, a 55-year-old church employee, was found nearby, his throat also slit.

in contact with the perpetrator of the attack.

The Nice attack occurred just under two weeks after Samuel Paty, a school teacher in a Paris suburb, was beheaded by an 18-year-old Chechen who was apparently incensed by the teacher showing a cartoon of the Prophet Mohammad in class.

It was also the second militant attack in Nice in Another woman, a 44-year-old Brazilian who had fled the church to a nearby restaurant, died shortly afterwards from multiple knife wounds. “Tell my children I love them,” she managed to say before her death, according to French cable channel BFM TV.

The assailant, who was shot and wounded by police, was identified as 21-year-old Brahim Aouissauoui, who arrived in Italy last month, then travelled to France, judicial sources said.

recent years. In July 2016, a militant drove a truck through a seafront crowd celebrating Bastille Day, killing 86 people.

People gathered in front of the Notre-Dame church on Friday morning to lay flowers and light candles.

Frederic Lefevre attached heart-shaped balloons to the church gate.

Jean-Francois Ricard told a press conference. Nice Mayor Christian Estrosi told journalists at the scene the attacker “kept repeating ‘Allahu Akbar’ even while under medication” as he was taken to hospital.

The church killings come after the October 16 beheading in a Paris suburb of history teacher Samuel Paty by an extremist after Paty showed pupils cartoons of the Prophet Mohammed in a free speech lesson.

Macron defended the cartoons and the right to mock religion, sparking widespread anger against France in the Islamic world and several campaigns in Muslim-majority countries to boycott French products.

WORLD LEADERS CONDEMN FRANCE STABBINGS

Paris, Oct. 30: World leaders condemned fatal stabbings in the French city of Nice on Thursday that France called an Islamist terrorist attack.

Condemnation came from US President Donald Trump, UN chief Antonio Guterres, as well as European, Arab and Israeli leaders.

“Our hearts are with the people of France. America stands with our oldest Ally in this fight,” Trump tweeted. “These Radical Islamic terrorist attacks must stop immediately. No country, France or otherwise can long put up with it!” One of the first to condemn was Turkey, embroiled in a row with France over the publication of cartoons of the Prophet Mohammed that have triggered a wave of attacks against French people.

“We strongly condemn the attack committed today inside the Notre-Dame church in Nice,” a Turkish foreign ministry statement said.

Trump, Biden head to face-off in midwest US

Tampa, Oct. 30: Donald Trump and Joe Biden square off with rallies in key Midwestern states on Friday as a resurgent Coronavirus further highlights their sharp differences just four days before the US presidential election.

Even with the United States reaching another daily record in new Covid-19 infections on Thursday, President Trump stuck to his strategy of downplaying its dangerousness and calling for businesses to reopen.

He has also ramped up fear-mongering, warning of rampaging “socialists” and seeking to portray his Democratic challenger as intent on shutting the country down.

Biden has sought to persuade the few remaining undecided voters that he would provide a steady hand on the wheel and heal America's “soul,” calling Trump irresponsible.

The former vice president has held drive-in, socially distanced rallies, while Trump's gatherings have often seen attendees ignore such guidelines and eschew masks.

The two candidates plan to be in three Midwestern states on Friday, with both campaigning in Wisconsin and Minnesota.

Through this, many budding and existing entrepreneurs with bright ideas shall be mentored and guided towards succeeding in their projects, which will both be towards domestic as well as defence requirements. CDIIC welcomed all Technology-based startups having innovative ideas with dual use (commercial & defence applications) to apply at their incubation facility and be a part of the Defence-Startup ecosystem.

ZUCKERBERG WARNS ‘CIVIL UNREST’ IN U.S.

San Francisco , Oct. 30: Facebook chief Mark Zuckerberg on Thursday warned of the potential for civil unrest as votes are tallied in a US election that will be “a test” for the social network.

Zuckerberg expressed his concern while describing safeguards against misinformation and voter suppression at the leading social network that are intended to avoid the kinds of deception and abuse that played out four years ago.

“I’m worried that with our nation so divided and election results potentially taking days or weeks to be finalized there is a risk of civil unrest,” said Zuckerberg, who had also been grilled during a session on Capitol Hill earlier this week. “Given this, companies like ours need to go well beyond what we’ve done before.” Confusion early this week over political ads at Facebook marred the onset of what was supposed to be a cooling-off period ahead of the US presidential election November 3. Rival parties complained FB was undermining campaign efforts after blunders arose around a ban on new paid political ads being published in the week before Election Day.

31 OCTOBER 2020

Don't relax yet, ward off India's 2nd wave

Notwithstanding the steady stream of good news with occasional reverses on the vaccine front, there is little on the ground for the world to breathe easy in the fight against the pandemic Covid-19. At present, 4.54 crore people have been infected the world over with 11.87 lakh deaths as on October 30. The US is leading the tally with 92.1 lakh cases and 2.34 lakh deaths, while India is in the second place with 80.9 lakh infections and 1.21 lakh deaths. The increase in daily caseload, which showed a decline in the beginning of September has reversed the trend. The number was around three lakhs in the beginning of August and showed a softening effect throughout the month but slowly increased the next month. October 30 recorded the highest-ever daily increase of 5.45 lakh new patients. The same is the case with the number of daily deaths: it was around 7,000 in the end of July but it halved towards the end of September but the numbers have again crossed 7,000 by the end of October. Many are now suspecting a second wave of the pandemic. The number of new cases in the US is going up in a steady way, and the case is same in many European nations. Britain, which has been reporting close to one lakh new infections every day, has imposed its toughest lockdown in many parts, including in England. France has imposed a national lockdown while German chancellor Angela Merkel, who has ordered tougher measures, has warned of a "long, hard winter" this year. India, too, has seen its ups and downs: the daily increase in the number of infections peaked in the second half of September and then showed a downward trend. They are hardening again.

Indian authorities and experts have been warning of another round of spike in infections once the festival season ended. The cue came from Kerala, which saw a sharp increase in the numbers after Onam and the state, which contained the virus exceptionally well when others faltered, is at present second only to Maharashtra in reporting new cases. Credit must be given to the Union government that launched Jan Andolan, a mass campaign to make people aware of the need to take precautionary measures such as wearing masks, observing social distancing and hand hygiene. However, it has not gained the traction it should have. Few people bothered about them while celebrating a festival last week and while voting in the first phase of Bihar Assembly elections.

The government may re-launch the campaign in mission mode with increased thrust on the rural areas so that the people take the easy and cheap option of keeping the virus away than the tougher, costlier and often fatal option of fighting it in their bodies. Lockdowns have been proved to have a debilitating impact on the economy and the government may keep that as the last option should the need arise. As Prime Minister Narendra Modi cautioned, the virus has not gone away. The government must keep reminding the people about that hard fact.

Pak lies on terror exposed

Pakistan stands self-condemned through the shocking boast of its federal minister Fawad Chaudhry — said to be close to Prime Minister Imran Khan — that the Pulwama terrorist attack on February 14 last year, in which 40 CRPF men were killed, was a "major achievement" of the government and the Opposition parties — meaning the people of Pakistan.

Mr Chaudhry was addressing his country's National Assembly or Parliament, and his remarks were direct and emphatic, removing any scope for backtracking as he appeared to do somewhat in a subsequent tweet. So shocking and dramatic was the statement that the Pakistan PM may wonder what his minister was up to, really.

Had he given himself the mission to undermine the PM who has lately found himself in the line of fire of an effective combine of 11 Opposition parties. Was Mr Chaudhry playing the Army's game if the latter is in the process of washing its hands of Mr Khan whom it had dropped up in office two years ago?

Such questions are apt to arise in Pakistan's domestic debate, but in India we ought to bear in mind that the evilness of that country's policy toward us derives from the stranglehold the Pakistani military has gained in determining policy since the Ayub coup six decades ago. The civilians make up a huge constituency of incompetents and innocents, who are manipulated at will by the Army.

It is not the Pakistani "Muslim" who is the enemy but the Army. In recent years this premise has sometimes been somewhat obscured in our thinking, and as a by-product, the Kashmir policy too lacks clarity. The Centre misidentifies the inimical forces, targeting even those who have stood by our Constitution and flag.

The broader implications of Mr Chaudhry's self-shaming admission ought to be brought before the world. In this context, raising China's all-season support to Pakistan, which has emerged as its buddy pal, is also to be questioned.

Battle for Bihar: Super flop or a blockbuster?

Shobhaa De

It's not the time for hawa hawai," declared our beloved Prime Minister as he savaged the Opposition RJD in Bihar and mocked the "yuvraj" (Tejashwi Yadav). Pandemic or no pandemic, voters in Bihar showed up in decent numbers (54 per cent) during Phase 1 of the Assembly polls — the first major election of the pandemic. I am not holding my breath for Phase 2 (November 3). I don't think too many other people are either. Diwali will soon be upon us, and it's time for some cheer! Without my favourite weekend distraction (movies at the nearest multiplex), I have been getting my giggles via OTT platforms. We are all so spoilt for choice, the head spins!

I was never a gym rat... So I happily imagined I would never turn into a "pandemic binger" — matlab, for the first few months of the Covid curse, I stayed away from compulsively watching any and every new show dropping on this platform and that platform. My children kept recommending all sorts of amazing series — Turkish, Korean, Spanish — but I chose books and writing over those. More fool me! Now it is a bit too late to convert, jump in and spend five straight hours feeding on tight, taut, well-scripted international/national series everybody is raving over, but I do what hoarders of precious things frequently attempt — I save up my free hours for the weekend and catch one or two of the latest releases that have caught my fancy. Even though Serious Men is nearly a month old, I only managed to watch it earlier this week — and I was hooked from the opening scene itself. Since I hadn't read Manu

Joseph's brilliant and multi-layered book, on which the series is based, my mind was unprejudiced and receptive. In any case, I watch just about anything featuring Nawazuddin Siddiqui, and the dialogue delivered in the trailer had me begging for more. Once I started, I got into it fully, more because the city of Mumbai itself was Aayan Mani's (Nawazuddin's character) co-star! There is something very specific and particular about life in Mumbai's chawls. And director Sudhir Mishra captures the tiny and untidy moments through camera work that is intimate but never intrusive. The script is economical and revelatory without being over-reaching or obvious. Apart from Nawazuddin with his controlled rage, disillusionment, anguish and impatience with his lot, the series is enriched by the presence of a marvelous little chap, Aakshath Das, playing Adi Mani, Aayan's hearing-challenged son, with total transparency. It is a very tough role for a kid to pull off convincingly, since the dialogues are "constructed" (watch... and find out), but the line this kid hurls arrogantly at pompous adults — "Primitive minds: I can't deal you!" — was just brilliant! His clever and ambitious father has tutored Adi to spit out that scathing sentence at those asking him tough questions to establish his "boy genius" credentials. When he is stumped for an answer, Adi throws this well-rehearsed insult at them and stomps off angrily! It is also the line that ends the series on a very poignant note, on a deserted beach. Serious Men is a scathing commentary on caste politics, dishonesty and corruption.

As Mumbai struggles to get back on its feet, with more and more "relaxations", especially when it comes to leisure and entertainment activities (restaurants, gyms, bars, movie theatres gradually opening), I am wondering whether the pandemic has completely changed the way in which we seek a bit of fun and camaraderie. Movies have always been up there as the number one stress busters. We used to spend crazy amounts on weekend movie outings at plush multiplexes. We took the trouble to dress up and make a real occasion out of it. The entire "experience" was enjoyable, including watching a film on a big screen, particularly with other people. It didn't matter that the cinema hall was filled with strangers. The theatre experience itself was a collective one — shared emotions bound strangers together for a few short hours. That comfortable habit has been convincingly broken. Watching movies or a favourite series in the privacy of your home has become a highly personalised and transformative act. We watch at our convenience, often relaxing on a comfy bed and munching micro-oven popcorn. There is no interval to break the spell, plus, it is we who possess the power to walk away, do something else, and come back nonchalantly, after an hour or so. Just the convenience of being able to pick up where one had left off has made a lot of diehard movie fans rejig their entertainment preferences — and from the look of it, web series are winning this round.

Acting opportunities across OTT platforms are creating their own star system, which is far more organic and genuine than the manipulations of mainstream Bollywood

Personally speaking, I doubt I will be foolish enough to book tickets at a multiplex to watch a big-ticket film — regardless of the star cast. I am a little bratty now and have grown accustomed to calibrating and curating my entertainment hours as per my convenience. I enjoyed Emily in Paris over three nights of carefully measured watching... savouring every tiny glimpse of the most gorgeous, most glamorous city on earth. That holds true for another French import Call my Agent, shot in Gay Paree (ummmm — pun intended). It features throw-away lines like "Fragility is an actor's strength". Rebecca was a huge let down, as was A Suitable Boy. But the Korean Crashlanding made up for those wasted hours. I am looking forward to Scam 1992, the Harshad Mehta story that has received great reviews and made an overnight star out of Pratik Gandhi. These acting opportunities across OTT platforms are creating their own star system, which is far more organic and genuine than the manipulations of mainstream Bollywood. I wonder how many cine-goers will want to pay a packet to watch those tired, overexposed veterans still clinging on to their ancient superstar images. There are any number of competent, credible "non-star" actors delivering big time in one hit show after another. They have created their own fan following and niche. The best thing about watching your favourite shows from home? No masks! It feels great to just breathe minus discomfort and watch a frisky fashionista — Lily Collins as Emily — taking on the snooty French and winning the war! It's time for "Battle cry Bihar"! And this stellar star cast can take the pants off just about any actor from Bollywood.

NEET MOVE

After getting a legal opinion and also considering the urgency of medical admissions, the Tamil Nadu Governor has put an end to the anxiety of students by approving the Bill which allows 7.5 per cent horizontal reservation in medical colleges run by the state government for government school students who have cleared Neet this year. Though late, this is a welcome move and the Governor's decision is laudable.

ELECTION MANIFESTO

BJP's election manifesto in Bihar announced free vaccine for people of the state. And within a few hours, Tamil Nadu Chief Minister Edappadi K. Palaniswami has come out with the same statement. When most of the commitments as per the manifesto by any of the parties have not been dealt with for implementation in the past, if the ruling party keeps its promise it will certainly benefit the state. And the question running in the minds of the people of Tamil Nadu is, 'When will the country have the vaccine?'

IPL BLUES

Having got accustomed to playing in front of a frenzied audience and drawing strength from them, it is unusual watching cricketers pumping themselves upon the field in the ongoing IPL in UAE, which is something hard to digest. Like all creative artistes, sportsmen thrive on the adrenaline rush that comes from instant appreciation from the audience. The immediate feedback, be it through deep-throated approbation or occasional boos impact their ego one way or the other. With the Covid-19 pandemic optically vanishing by the dawn of 2021, the IPL should be back to its customary best next summer, witnessing the vociferous crowds, the Mexican waves, the banners, and placards with cheeky messages — all make for the feverish pitch of this greatest cricket carnival.

Communist MP in Britain was Tata's cousin, Gandhi's friend

Idle thoughts in a supposedly idle season. I access my mobile phone more times a day than I used to before the plague of Covid restricted my visits to people and places, including the mother country in which the Ganga flows. But, gentle reader, even so, I have not succumbed to the temptations of Twitter, Instagram, Facebook, LinkedIn, TikTok or other "time-pass" forums and platforms and don't want anyone to know what I ate for breakfast and neither do I wish to pass on to the rest of humanity some video I may have chanced on, or some witticism which has gone "viral". (By the way, isn't this description of popularity a bit ironic since Covid-19 has invaded all humanity?)

No, no, I am not humourless, but get that way when 20 different people send me a video in which a Chinese-looking youth working at a table hears the standard ring-tone of a mobile telephone and looks around to answer it when he sees that it's his cat seated next to him playing the tune with sticks on a xylophone. Funny the first time and raised a tolerant smile the second, but then...

So, what do I do instead? I cook dishes I find in the cookbooks that have laid on the shelves for years and even download recipes for honey-and-tamarind-marinated pork ribs (apologies to my Muslim, Jewish, vegetarian, vegan and squeamish readers!). And I scribble, as writers must — except I have taken to wondering whether fingering a computer should retain the same metaphor for modest writing as in the era of the fountain pen.

And as everyone does, I read. The latest literary phase has been books and essays on Indians who brought back to India something they had picked up from their sojourns in the West. The list of such characters includes Raja Ram Mohan Roy, Swami Vivekananda, Dadabhai Naoroji, Mahatma Gandhi, Jawaharlal Nehru, Dr Ambedkar and so, so many more. The latest book, which I am still reading, is a biography of Shapur Saklatvala, who doesn't quite fit the category because he never returned to India after serving twice in the UK parliament as a communist MP from North Battersea in the early 1920s and then again in the late years of that decade.

The book is called Comrade Sak and is written by Mark Wadsworth, a black British writer with Caribbean roots. Before I say that this is an essential book which traces the life, convictions and career of this communist Parsi, a cousin of the Tata family, I ought to declare an interest. Or even a couple. Mark, the writer, is a friend and Comrade Sak, Shapur, was a "cousin-brother", as we joint-familys-Parsis used to say, of my great grandfather Jamshed Saklatvala. Not that either fact affects my reading or evaluation of the biography which traces not only his life and career but appends his speeches and his copious correspondence with Mahatma Gandhi about the organisation and representation of Indian workers. Sak was in favour of their unionisation and his ideological insistence led him to support anti-capitalist communism. Gandhi, in very interesting letters in reply, asserted at length that workers and capital could and should live together. He quotes with approval the stance of the Tata capitalists and their supportive benevolence towards their workforce.

I have said above that the factors which may bias my reading don't, but perhaps a few pages of the book do resonate in a personal way. Jamshed Saklatvala, my great grandfather, went to work on the setting up of the steel plant in Jamshedpur, helping the Tata cousins with the survey of the land etc. At the time the Saklatvalas and Tatas were partners in this pioneering capitalist venture.

The Saklatvalas didn't get their name, as I discovered, from some village called 'Saklat' in Gujarat. The surname of my ancestors comes from the fact that they owned mills which turned Bengali jute into sack cloth which was used for making ships' sails and storage sacks — hence 'sack cloth wala'. And where then did those mills go? Or did the discovery of plastic sacks and the end of sails for ships ruin the trade my ancestors lived off, leaving at least one of us selling words to worthy newspapers and discerning publishers?

Mark's book tells me that Jamshed Saklatvala's private papers emphatically allege that the Saklatvalas were in some sense, through devious means, short-changed or done out of their fortune and partnership by one of the heirs and descendants of the founding capitalist J.R. Tata.

If that is true, just as after the Black Lives Matter explosion, sections of the population of the USA and even of Britain are claiming reparations, perhaps I should, on behalf of the Dhondys and the Saklatvalas claim reparations from the Tata industrial empire. I suppose I would settle for the more profitable branches of the Jaguar and Landrover manufacturing plants and perhaps throw in a small claim on Tata-Tetley tea. Watch this space!

BPCL puts Bina refinery expansion proposal on hold BPCL has put on hold its plans to expand its Bina refinery and install a secondary unit at its Mumbai refinery to boost efficiency pending privatisation of the company, N. Vijayagopal said. The Central government wants to sell its 53.25% stake in BPCL to raise funds to rein in a ballooning fiscal deficit. "It is for the new owner to decide whether they want and have the flexibility to add refining capacity," Vijayagopal said.

Jio's robust growth offsets RIL's poor refinery growth

Jio's subscriber base hits 406 m, largest ever outside China

New Delhi, Oct. 30: Billionaire Mukesh Ambani's Reliance Industries Ltd on Friday reported a 15 per cent drop in second quarter net profit after the pandemic-hit oil demand dragged down continued good showing in consumer-facing businesses such as telecom. Consolidated net profit attributable to owners at ₹9,567 crore in July-September compared with ₹11,262 crore a year back, Reliance said in a stock exchange filing.

A plunge in fuel demand after the raging pandemic forced people to stay home and stifled the economy dealt a body blow to the firm's traditional cash cow oil refining and petrochemicals, even as consumer-facing businesses, which account for 35 per cent of the oil-to-telecom-to-retail conglomerate's revenues, continued to do well.

Its digital services, which includes the telecom arm Jio, saw stand-alone net profit swell to ₹2,844 crore in the second quarter of current fiscal (April 2020 to March 2021) from ₹990 crore a year back.

This after the four-year-old Jio's subscriber base grew to 406 million, the largest in India.

Net addition of 7.3 million subscribers and per-user revenue rising to Rs 145 helped the telecom business soar.

The gradually 'unlock' that has seen markets and malls reopen helped the company's retail business recover with almost flat revenue and a 14 per cent lower EBITDA of ₹2,009 crore.

Reliance said 85 per cent of its retail stores were open as of second quarter. It added 232 stores to take the total to 11,931 stores.

Ambani raised an unprecedented ₹2.5 lakh crore since April from sale of stake in the digital and retail units and a rights issue. Of this, over ₹1.76 lakh crore has already flowed into the company, helping it achieve net zero debt status.

Petrochemicals revenue fell 23 per cent to ₹29,665 crore and pre-tax profit dropped 33 per cent at ₹5,964 crore. Refining EBITA almost halved to ₹3,002 crore as revenue slumped 36 per cent.

The firm's twin refineries earned $5.7 per barrel on turning every barrel of crude oil into fuel, as compared to a gross refining margin (GRM) of $9.4 per barrel last year.

The profit in Q2 was lower sequentially as well as the April-June earning of ₹13,248 crore included one-time gain of ₹7,629 crore from sale of 49 per cent stake in petro retailing business to BP.

Investors such as Facebook, Google and global private equity funds have picked up a cumulative 32.96 per cent stake in Jio Platforms for ₹1.52 lakh crore. All the deals, except Google, have been completed, bringing ₹1.18 lakh crore into the telecom and technology company.

Another ₹37,710 crore was raised from the sale of an 8.48 per cent stake in its retail unit.

India's forex kitty touches all-time high of ₹560 bn

Mumbai, Oct. 30: The country's foreign exchange reserves swelled by $5.412 billion to touch an all-time high of $560.532 billion in the week ended October 23, RBI data showed on Friday.

In the previous week ended October 16, the reserves stood at $555.12 billion after increasing by $3.615 billion.

During the reporting week, the surge in the forex kitty was mainly on account of an increase in foreign currency assets (FCA), a major component of the overall reserves.

FCA rose by $5.202 billion to $517.524 billion, the RBI's weekly data showed.

Expressed in dollar terms, the foreign currency assets include the effect of appreciation or depreciation of non-US units like the euro, pound and yen held in the foreign exchange reserves.

The gold reserves were up by $175 million in the reporting week to $36.860 billion, as per the central bank data. The special drawing rights with the International Monetary Fund (IMF) rose by $8 million to $1.487 billion.

The country's reserve position with the IMF also climbed by $27 million to $4.661 billion during the reporting week, the data showed.

Gold ETFs log ₹2.4K cr inflow in Sept quarter

New Delhi, Oct. 30: Gold exchange-traded funds (ETFs) saw staggering net inflows of over ₹2,400 crore in the three months ended September 30, as investors continued to hedge their exposure to riskier assets due to higher economic uncertainty resulting from Covid-19.

In comparison, investors had infused ₹172 crore in this asset class in July-September 2019, according to the data available with the Association of Mutual Funds in India. The category has been among the better-performing ones so far this year and received a net inflow of ₹5,957 crore.

As per the data, a net sum of ₹2,426 crore was pumped into gold-linked ETFs till September 30.

Divam Sharma, co-founder, Green Portfolio, said returns generated by gold ETFs over the last one year have increased number of investors buying the asset.

"Gold investment picked up due to higher economic uncertainty resulting from COVID-19 pandemic," said Harsh Jain of Groww.

COVID PANDEMIC HITS INVESTOR PERCEPTION OF INDIA: SURVEY

SANGEETHA G. CHENNAI, OCT. 30

Among the emerging nations, India seems to be the worst affected by the Covid-19 pandemic as the strength of the economy has deteriorated the most in India in the first half of 2020, finds a study.

The Investors' Macro Ratings Index, which looks at investors' perception of the economy based on parameters like real GDP growth, inflation, fiscal deficit and bank credit, has deteriorated in all the emerging economies, as per a report by Motilal Oswal Financial Services.

However, India was the most affected in the first half and Taiwan was the least affected.

The study examined macro-economic parameters in emerging economies like India, Brazil, China, Indonesia, South Korea, Malaysia, Russia, South Africa, Taiwan and Thailand.

As per International Monetary Funds' projection, India's real GDP growth is expected to contract 10.3 per cent in 2020, which is the highest contraction among the 10 emerging markets. India is also the only economy with a double-digit contraction. On the other hand, China is expected to see 1.9 per cent growth, the highest among all of them. At 4.9 per cent retail inflation in 2020 will be the highest in India.

COFFEE-BREAK

Your day today By Dr C.V.B. Subrahmanyam

Aries: Be extremely careful. Share your plans with others. Don't get influenced by those trying to carry you on the wave of your own enthusiasm.

Taurus: Express yourself such that everyone understands. A friend seeks financial help. Check your accounts and settle outstanding bills. Keep helping others.

Gemini: Relax and enjoy with family and friends. Don't expect success today. Those involved in personal property transactions must clinch them today.

Cancer: Appreciated by all colleagues, your sincerity brings some upgrades. You'll change your idea of moving, your location or company.

Leo: Time with family keeps you relaxed and cheerful — making it a good way to release the tension building up in your life lately.

Virgo: Think twice before speaking to avoid controversies. Enemies and opponents in the society may criticise you, tarnishing your reputation at work. You'll spend money on home renovation.

You share your b'day with Sikandar Kher, Bollywood actor. He is best known for his roles in Woodstock Villa, Khelein Hum Jee Jaan Sey, Players, Aurangzeb, Tere Bin Laden: Dead or Alive and The Zoya Factor.

Libra: Health may deteriorate. Financial situation improves; your personality enhances. Expect some hurdles, but you will vanquish them and proceed ahead towards success. Plan properly at work.

Scorpio: Handle unexpected situations tactfully. You'll enjoy the purest feelings of first love. Someone rekindles romance. Your financial condition improves.

Sagittarius: Ongoing real-estate activity may gather momentum. Expect temporary defection in profession as higher ups may not value your advice.

Capricorn: Evaluate your work daily to know how you lag behind. Winning a long-pending legal battle raises energy and confidence levels.

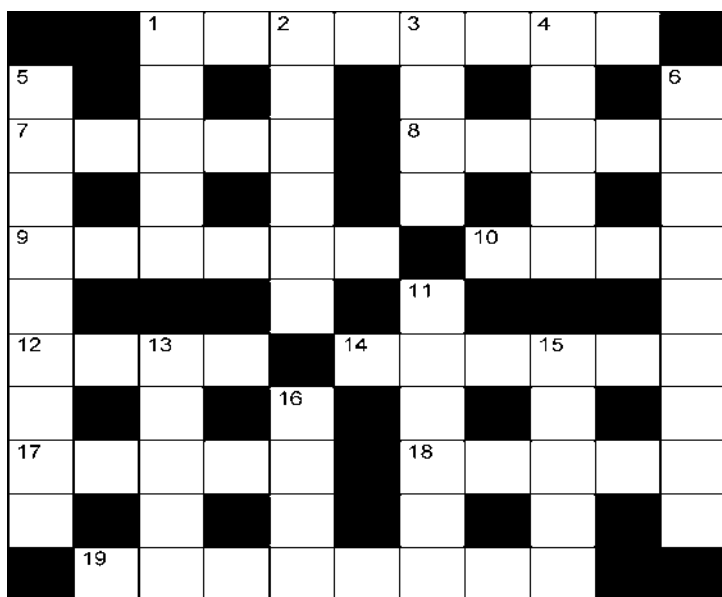

Aquarius: Expect scarcity of funds — your money gets blocked. The deteriorating health of a loved one disturbs you, further draining resources.

Pisces: Settle personal property matters, if any. Higher ups recognise your talents and workmanship. Some government employees get due recognition. Those seeking a place change may be disappointed.

Most of the time, it will not matter, because the missing cards will split 3-1 or 2-2. However, a lightning player, not a bug, assumes a 4-0 break. Then, if South can work out which defender has four, he can pick them up successfully. But who might that be?

The key clue is West's lead, the diamond two. That shows exactly a four-

THE RIGHT THOUGHT FOR THE RIGHT PLAY

Mark Twain wrote, "The difference between the right word and the almost-right word is the difference between lightning and a lightning bug."

At the bridge table, the difference between the right play and the almost-right play often depends on the form of the game.

If you are playing Chicago, it costs money; if pairs, you lose matchpoints; and if teams, the opponents gain the international match points. In today's deal, how should South try to gain in his favorite form of the game? He is in three no-trump, and West leads the diamond two.

When South denied holding four spades, North wished he had just raised immediately to three no-trump — which he might well have done with the king in his doubtless.

Mike Tyson back in the boxing ring

Los Angeles: Mike Tyson and Roy Jones Jr. insisted Thursday they are preparing for a bruising battle when the two fifty-something fighters face each other in an eight-round exhibition bout in Los Angeles.

Former world heavyweight champion Tyson, 54, will be fighting for the first time in 15 years when he meets four-division world champion Jones, 51, at the Staples Center on November 28. While the California State Athletic Commission-sanctioned event has been dismissed as a "circus act" in some quarters, Tyson and Jones bristled at criticism the pay-per-view fight would not be a legitimate contest.

"Not a real fight? It's Mike Tyson versus Roy Jones. I'm coming to fight and I hope he's coming to fight and that's all you need to know," Tyson told a virtual press conference. Jones, whose last fight came in 2018 with a unanimous decision over cruiserweight Scott Sigmon, also rejected the fight's exhibition tag, while describing himself and Tyson as "freaks". — AFP

Boxers Kavinder, Sanjeet in finals

New Delhi: Indian boxers Kavinder Singh Bisht (57kg) and Sanjeet (91kg) advanced to the finals of the Alexis Vastine International Tournament in Nantes, France after clinching contrasting victories.

However, four-time Asian medallist Shiva Thapa (63kg) settled for a bronze after going down in his semifinal clash. He lost to local favourite Lounes Hamraoui in a 2-1 decision on Thursday.

Kavinder defeated Frenchman Benik George Melkumian 3-0 to set up a summit clash against another local hope Samuel Kistohurry.

Sanjeet, a gold-medallist from the India Open, got the better of American Sherrod Fulghim in a 2-1 verdict. Sanjeet will also be up against a French opponent, Soheib Bouafia in the final. Amit Panghal (52kg) is also through to the finals after beating American Christopher Herrera in a draw that only featured four boxers. — PTI

Taylor ton in vain as Zim go down

Rawalpindi, Pakistan: Pakistan overcame Brendan Taylor's century through fast bowler Shaheen Afridi's 5-49 to record a 26-run victory in the first one-day international against Zimbabwe on Friday. The match also marked the beginning of both nations' 2023 World Cup qualification campaigns. Taylor's 112 off 117 balls ended in a losing cause as Zimbabwe was bowled out for 255 in 49.4 overs. — AP

Brief scores: Pakistan 281/8 in 50 overs (Imam-ul-Haq 58, Haris Sohail 71; B. Muzarabani 2/39) bt Zimbabwe 255 in 49.4 overs (Brendan Taylor 112, W. Madhevere 55; Shaheen Afridi 5/49, Wahab Riaz 4/41).

Stokes, Sanju help Royals snap Kings' win streak

Abu Dhabi, Oct. 30: Rajasthan Royals beat Kings XI Punjab by seven wickets in a crucial IPL match here on Friday.

Sent in to bat, Chris Gayle smashed a 63-ball 99, while K. L. Rahul hit 46 off 41 as KXIP posted 185 for 4 against RR.

However, Ben Stokes' 26-ball 50 and Sanju Samson's 25-ball 48 helped the Royals chase down the total in 17.3 overs.

Earlier, Gayle and Rahul (46) took the RR bowlers to the cleaners, stitching 120 runs for the second wicket in 13.4 overs to help KXIP post a challenging total after being put in to bat.

Nicholas Pooran played a late cameo of 22 off just 10 deliveries with the help of three sixes.

Gayle, who had four boundaries and eight sixes in his explosive innings, was out just two balls before the end of the innings and he showed his disappointment of missing out on a hundred by throwing down his bat.

During his knock, Gayle took his tally of sixes to 1001 in his glittering T20 career.

KXIP lost their first wicket in the opening over itself when Mandeep Singh got dismissed for a first-ball duck with Ben Stokes taking a brilliant diving catch off an equally superb delivery by Archer.

But Gayle and Rahul maintained a high scoring rate, reaching 53 for 1 at the end of powerplay. The self-styled 'Universe Boss' smacked two fours and six in consecutive deliveries off pacer Kartik Tyagi. Gayle reached his third fifty in six matches in this IPL in style, hitting a six off Rahul Tewatia in the 11th over as KXIP cruised along to reach the 100-run mark in the 13th over.

Ruturaj one of the most talented players: Dhoni

Dubai, Oct. 30: A 'reticent' Ruturaj Gaikwad took some time to make a mark in the ongoing IPL but he has managed to impress his CSK skipper Mahendra Singh Dhoni, who believes that the young opener is "one of the most talented players going around".

Gaekwad scored his second straight half-century on Thursday to set up a six-wicket win over Kolkata Knight Riders here. He got his chance after Chennai Super Kings decided to field untested players following a disastrous start to the season.

"(The changes) are a conscious effort. We want to give games to people who haven't played and we need them to grab those opportunities. Ruturaj we'd seen him in the nets, but then he got Covid positive and took 20 days. Unfortunate but he'll remember this season," said Dhoni at the post-match presentation.

"He's one of the most talented players going around. What makes it difficult is he's not somebody who speaks a lot, so sometimes it becomes difficult for the management to gauge a player."

Gaekwad, who had tested Covid-19 positive in the lead up to the tournament, has all the shots and his style of play is pleasing to the eye.

Things did not look bright for the 23-year-old after he failed in his first three innings (0, 5, 0).

"Once he started going in the innings, you could see that he was hitting the ball the way he wants to and he was planning. When we made him play the first game, he got out, stepped out.

"It becomes difficult to tell whether it was the pressure that made him step out or whether that's his natural game. One ball isn't enough," Dhoni further added.

Good start is the key, says Quinton

Dubai, Oct. 30: Mumbai Indians opener Quinton De Kock says having an experienced and strong middle-order is always a plus for any team but it does not make the job of the openers easy since they are responsible for team's good starts.

MI have a strong middle order with the likes of Suryakumar Yadav, Hardik Pandya, Kieron Pollard and Krunal Pandya in the ranks.

Asked whether an experienced middle-order helps him to be aggressive, De Kock said, "Having an experienced middle order, just in general helps out in any situation. I wouldn't say it changes our mind-set up front. We always try and look to get off to the best start possible, whether they're there or not."

"Obviously knowing that

they are behind you, the likes of SKY (Surya), Polly (Pollard), Hardik (Pandya), when you are out there, you just bat to the situation and if you're still lucky enough to be out there batting with them, it's just important you end up giving them strike because they're the bigger strikers of the ball, so yeah," Kock further added.

SRH lock horns with Virat & Co

Sharjah, Oct. 30: An IPL Play-offs spot at stake, Royal Challengers Bangalore need to shrug off the disappointment of two back-to-back defeats and put up a strong challenge against strong-willed Sunrisers Hyderabad when the two teams clash, here on Saturday.

But it would be easier said than done since SRH are brimming with confidence after their crushing win over Delhi Capitals.

Going by current standings, RCB are better-placed at number two and they need to win one of their remaining two games — against SRH or DC — to make the cut.

And even if RCB lose both their matches and stay on 14 points, they can still qualify. But for that they need favourable results from other games.

RCB can ill afford to lose both their last two games as it will affect their NRR, resulting in their elimination if other teams on 14 points have higher run rates.

SRH, on the other hand, have nothing to lose. Sitting on the sixth spot with 10 points from 12 games, the Hyderabad outfit need to win their remaining two matches — against RCB and MI — to reach 14 points to stay in the reckoning.

Just winning both the games might not be enough for SRH. They would be hoping that at least one out of RCB, DC (14 points) and Kings XI Punjab (12 points) don't reach the magic fig-

Mumbai, Delhi to meet in a big bout

Dubai, Oct. 30: Their play-off berth secured, defending champions Mumbai Indians would look to add to the woes of Delhi Capitals, who are on a three-match losing streak, and consolidate their position at the top when the two teams face each other in their penultimate IPL league game here on Saturday.

CSK six-wicket win over Kolkata Knight Riders on Thursday sealed MI's play-off berth. The defending champions are currently on 16 points and with an excellent net run rate (NRR), are almost certain to finish in the top two.

Despite three defeats on the trot against Kings XI Punjab, KKR and Sunrisers Hyderabad, DC are placed third with 14 points from 12 games, courtesy their consistent run in the first phase of the league. The three defeats should come as an eye opener for DC as they can ill-afford to take things lightly and need at least a win to seal their play-off place.

But it won't be an easy task as their last two games are against the top two teams on the table — MI and RCB.

If DC lose their last two games, it is entirely possible that KXIP will go past them on NRR even if they finish on 14 points and in such a case, the Delhi side could be eliminated if other teams on 14 have a higher NRR.

Going by paper, MI definitely have a clear-cut edge over DC and having confirmed their last four berth, the title holders would be playing without any pressure.

Antwerp silence Tottenham; easy wins for Milan, Arsenal

Paris, Oct. 30: Jose Mourinho said he would have liked to make 11 half-time changes after his Tottenham Hotspur side slumped to a shock 1-0 Europa League defeat at Royal Antwerp on Thursday, while Serie A leaders AC Milan and Mikel Arteta's Arsenal eased to straightforward wins.

Spurs failed to create a single chance of note in a lifeless display, with Gareth Bale, who rejoined the club on loan from Real Madrid in the close-season, lasting less than an hour before being substituted.

Refaelov found the back of the net for Antwerp and took the match away from Tottenham as the surprise win takes them to the top of the early Group 'J' table after their opening 2-1 victory at Ludogorets last week.

Meanwhile, Milan made it two
