DC CORRESPONDENT
HYDERABAD, JUNE 8

Armed commandos of the Central Industrial Security Force (CISF) provide security to the Hyderabad location of Bharat Biotech, one of the major Covid-19 vaccine manufacturers in the country, sources said on Tuesday. The force will be inducted at the facility on June 14.

CISF sources said that the office, located at Genome Valley in Shamirpet, will be secured by 64 armed personnel. The Union home ministry recently sanctioned a proposal to deploy the CISF at this facility, following which the force carried out a survey. "The organisation is an important facility when it comes to ensuring medical and health security of the country and it obviously faces a terror threat from various inimical elements. The CISF, hence, has been tasked to secure the Bharat Biotech facility in Hyderabad," an official said.

The force guards about 10 such facilities across the country, including the Infosys campuses in Pune and Mysuru, the Reliance IT Park in Navi Mumbai and Yoga exponent Ramdev's Patanjali factory premises in Uttarakhand's Haridwar.

CENTRE HAS GIVEN 20L VAX TO STATE: BJP

DC CORRESPONDENT
HYDERABAD, JUNE 8

BJP state president Bandi Sanjay expressed happiness over Prime Minister Narendra Modi's announcement that the country would give free vaccines to people over 18 years of age. He thanked the Prime Minister on behalf of the people of Telangana. Sanjay said he believed that if the indigenous vaccine was not made, they would lose millions of crores of rupees.

Addressing the media online on Tuesday, he said the Centre had so far given 80 lakh doses to Telangana as part of vaccination. Sanjay clarified that 20 lakh vaccine doses were likely to reach Telangana on June 20 and another 20 lakhs by July 20. While the Chief Ministers of the neighbouring states congratulated the Prime Minister on the decision, Telangana Chief Minister K. Chandrashekar Rao did not even thank the Prime Minister for providing free vaccination, he alleged.

Sanjay accused Chandrashekar Rao for being negligent in delivering the fruits of development provided by the Centre to the people.

He alleged that Rao was upset with the Centre as the latter was giving free vaccines and hence did not thank the Prime Minister because of not getting any commission in vaccine procurement.

He said the Chief Minister had allocated ₹2,500 crore for corona vaccination and questioned where the funds had gone. Sanjay suggested allocating ₹500 crore to hire permanent doctors and staff. He demanded that the Chief Minister take steps to recruit doctors and other medical staff.

Sanjay demanded that the Chief Minister include the Covid and black fungus treatment under AarogyaSri and Ayushman Bharat. The Chief Minister was not interested to focus on Covid control even though he was handling the health portfolio after he sacked Etala Rajendar from the Cabinet, he said.

Legal teams look into complaints on case-to-case basis

KANIZA GARARI | DC
HYDERABAD, JUNE 8

In a clear case of misinformation, 10 persons who were treated for Covid-19 turned up at five small private hospitals in Siddipet on Tuesday, demanding refund of the excess fee they paid for treatment in those hospitals.

These hospitals are parts of the Telangana Hospitals and Nursing Homes Association (THANA) which contacted its head office in Hyderabad to verify if there are any orders issued with regards to the refund of fee. In fact, there is no government order for refund but respective legal teams are looking into complaints on a case-to-case basis.

In a back-to-back online meeting in Hyderabad, members of small hospitals condemned this action in the district and wanted to know on what basis this was being done.

Dr C.R.K. Prasad, senior member of THANA said, "Revenue officials are calling the patients and their relatives stating that they are going to be refunded but it is wrong. There was commotion at the hospitals. On what basis is it being done as there are no orders from the government? When the rates of the government are not feasible, the authorities have been apprised of the same and the association is waiting for them to get back."

In Hyderabad and on its outskirts, 14 hospitals have been barred from treating Covid-19 patients due to complaints of overcharging against them. Senior officials of both small and multi-specialty hospitals say that they have kept a legal team ready to deal with these problems.

A senior hospital director on condition of anonymity said, "There

Private hospital authorities are upset for being targeted and say that this kind of witch hunt is not fair as members of their fraternity too have lost lives. Blaming them for improper treatment, excess billing and improper care were like targeting them, they said.

Many of them are openly asking why it is that only one set of hospital groups are being targeted while others are left out. Doctors in particular are stating that the serious cases will be referred to government hospitals only, as these cases are causing more problems. A senior doctor in Ranga Reddy district says, "I lost three patients who were recovering and suddenly collapsed. Two patients' families understood the situation but one complained to the government. Permission was denied but it made us think why we must take stress when people and the government are only blaming us."

Others say that the government must supply oxygen, medical devices, medicines and manpower to private hospitals to manage patients during the pandemic as that will absorb them from additional costs. It is these costs which are leading to rising hospital bills and if the government is providing it to both public and private sector the issue of high billing will not arise, they opined.

hospitals. Blaming doctors and hospitals does not help during the pandemic as we have to first get the situation under control."

Many hospital authorities say the government officials are making them scapegoats and diverting attention of the public from their inadequacies. To control the outrage of the public, they are trying to show that refund is the way forward. But private hospitals are gearing up to fight legally as they claim that they are not wrong. With most hospitals debarred on the basis of complaints of some patients, it has evoked a strong resistance from them. In the end, it is the patient who suffers as private hospitals will be very cautious and not want to risk themselves in tackling severe and critical cases.

Police commissioner Bhagwat said, "The fear of suffering is more problematic than the actual suffering. In this period of pandemic, while many were affected by Covid19, even more were affected by a fear of contracting Covid19."

While those affected by Covid-19 can be treated, a concern is about those who are suffering silently with no easy way to share or overcome their fears.

"Many calls were from young people in depression and were feeling low in the uncertainty caused by Covid. Be it a software employee or a student or a hawker, everyone has a certain degree of fear of the future in these Covid times," Bhagwat said.

Rachakonda police said those who would like to avail its psycho social counselling service can call 040-48214800 during weekdays from 9am to 9pm. Professional counselors will offer their advice or treatment as required.

User privacy boosted clubhouse's appeal

A regional head for a popular private firm, he has been hosting debates on topics ranging from politics, gender, sexuality, international relationship and Indo-China wars, among others.

"Since I have to communicate with people from diverse backgrounds professionally, the Clubhouse chat rooms are of help to me. I feel confident and learn a lot when great speakers talk on a topic and provide it a new dimension."

Kaali Sudheer, art curator and film producer, among the first from Hyderabad to join this, started a club called Hyderabad adda. He along with his friend Anuj has been hosting several debates around the city's culture, food etc and said, "Clubhouse is nostalgia and addictive."

Many users say the rapidly rising popularity was due to its user privacy. "Conversations are not recorded and vanish immediately after any meeting gets over. Absence of face-time enables even introverts to communicate easily and put their point across."

Political parties too are quickly realising the immense possibilities the platform provides. Users are already discussing politics and in all languages.

Congress leader Dr Sravan Kumar Dasoju, arguably Telangana's first politician on Clubhouse, said, "It is a fascinating app, which allows politicians to listen to people across the social spectrum and geography, with varied professions, age and political views. It can be a great feedback tool."

Teenagers, vexed with the ongoing pandemic, binge-watching and other platforms, created rooms like 'just shut up', 'I love Chiru', 'I hate Covid19' and 'How many licks does it take?' etc. "The magic of this app, which will be a giant soon, is its human voice. The Gulf countries allowed the migrant workers to go back to work, only if they get Covid-19 vaccine. There is no special category for Gulf migrant workers to get Covid-19 vaccines. It is noted that the majority of workers are under the 20 to 44 years age group. They are not covered by any special groups designated for Covid-19 vaccination drive. Shockingly, there is no private hospital facility to provide vaccines for a cost in rural areas.

Speaking to this newspaper, Abdul Khadar, a migrant worker, said he should have reached Dubai by May end. Because of not getting Covid-19 vaccine, his visa was extended twice so far, he said. "I approached medical and health officials to get the vaccination done, but in vain," he lamented. The Telangana state government should provide a special category for Gulf migrant workers for jabs, he urged.

Poor quality of seeds
make farmers jitteryDC CORRESPONDENT
KHAMMAM, JUNE 8

Limited availability of quality chilli seeds on one side and unbridled selling of spurious seeds on the other seem to be casting a spell on hapless farmers in the district.

Long queues of farmers – both men and women – were witnessed in front of the seed dealer's office at Gandhi Chowk to buy chilli seeds, particularly of hybrid varieties on Monday. They stood in long lines without following Covid-19 guidelines in their desperation to get quality seeds, even without keeping proper physical distance.

The farmers want seeds such as Mahyco, 2222, Yasaswini and Armour hybrid varieties. The dealer is selling these varieties in limited quantities and giving other varieties that were not asked by farmers.

The 2222 and Yasaswini are being sold at ₹600 per 10-gram packet. A farmer needs 15 packets of seeds to raise chilli in an acre. These varieties are being sold for ₹1,100 to ₹1,500 per 10-gram packet in black market.

In another incident, the police took eight persons into custody for selling uncertified chilli seeds in various mandal headquarters in Khammam and seized chilli seeds worth Rs 16.46 lakh and two vehicles from them. The persons were selling chilli seeds in the name of Ds-Rd Star, Deccan Hot and DS Kadamba varieties.

The arrested persons include K Roshaiiah of Enkooor, Pallapothu Ravi Kumar of Manchukonda, Gugulothu Murali of Manchukonda, Bhukya Kishore of Murali Kishore Agros Limited, Khammam, Kunuku Srinivas, Ravi Seeds and Fertilizers, Khammam, Padala Srinivasa Rao, Sivasai Traders, Tallada, Adapa Suresh, Sri SSV Traders, Julurpad and Rangiseti Mukhesh, Javali Seeds, Chandrugonda.

The BJP leader pointed out that in addition to free vaccination, the centre will also distribute free rice to poor families until Deepavali festival in November. "BJP is the

J&K HAMLET 1ST TO GET 100% ADULTS JABBED

Srinagar, June 8: A remote hamlet in Bandipora district of Jammu and Kashmir has become the first village in India to vaccinate all its adult population against Covid-19, officials said on Tuesday.

The credit goes to the healthcare workers whose strenuous efforts shot Weyan hamlet, with an adult population of 362, to national fame, they said.

"The village is located only 28 kilometres away from Bandipora district headquarters, but a distance of 18 kilometres has to be covered by foot as there is no motorable road," an official of the health department said.

He said the task of vaccinating all the residents was even more difficult as the village consists of nomadic families who go to higher reaches for grazing their livestock. "There is no internet access in the village. So it was not possible for the residents to get appointments for vaccination like the way people in urban areas do," Bashir Ahmed Khan, Chief Medical Officer, Bandipora said while explaining the difficulty faced by the healthcare workers.

The vaccination in the village was covered under 'J&K model', which is a 10-point strategy to vaccinate entire eligible population at accelerated pace.

Despite initial vaccine hesitancy, Jammu and Kashmir has achieved 70 per cent vaccination in the 45+ age group, almost double the national average, the official said.

Commenting on the achievement, Yatish Yadav, media advisor to Jammu and Kashmir government, said the Union territory was raising the bar in the Covid-19 vaccination drive.

MAHA BJP SEEKS ₹7K-CR PACKAGE TO HELP PEOPLE

SONU SHRIVASTAVA | DC MUMBAI, JUNE 8

The BJP on Tuesday demanded that ₹7,000 crore kept aside by Maharashtra government to buy Covid vaccines should be used to give a financial package to common people suffering due to lockdown. On May 1, Maharashtra Chief Minister Uddhav Thackeray had said that the state government has kept the money to pay for 12 crore doses of Covid vaccines in a single payment.

The BJP said that since the Centre is now going to provide free vaccines, the money kept by the state for the same to provide financial assistance to people.

Maharashtra BJP spokesperson chief Keshav Upadhye said that the MVA government should provide a financial package to downtrodden people and farmers from ₹7,000 crore, which were kept aside for vaccines.

He said, "The MVA government has issued a global tender to purchase jabs for vaccination for citizens in the age group 18 to 44 years. The Chief Minister had said that the state government had earmarked ₹7,000 crore for the vaccination programme. The state government did not get any response for the tender. Since Prime Minister Narendra Modi announced the free vaccination, the funds kept for buying vaccines should be used to provide a relief package for farmers, small entrepreneurs, hairdressers, vegetable sellers, rickshaw-taxi drivers and the poor."

'Unlock' in Bihar begins as Nitish eases Covid-19 curbs

Malls, educational institutions, religious places to remain closed

K'taka to take call on unlock soon

NAYEAR AZAD | DC PATNA, JUNE 8

After almost 35 days of lockdown, the Bihar government on Tuesday decided to ease restrictions in the state. The announcement was made by Chief Minister Nitish Kumar after he held a review meeting with the crisis management group.

Announcing his decision on social media Kumar said that, "since there has been a decline in Coronavirus cases we have decided to end lockdown in Bihar. But night curfew would remain in place from 7 pm to 5 am. The government and private offices would be opened with 50 per cent attendance till 4 pm but malls and other educational institutions, religious places, and cinema halls would remain closed".

The state government has also allowed the movement of private vehicles during the day.

"Teams have been formed to keep a tab on those who violate Covid guidelines during the relaxation of lockdown. Cases have gone down but to wipe out the Covid infection people should strictly follow the guidelines", officials said after the government announced the lifting of lockdown.

On May 5, when the lockdown was imposed the Covid cases had exceeded one lakh. However, the latest data shows a significant fall in the number of cases and the recovery rate has also increased.

On Monday, 762 new Covid cases and 43 deaths were recorded. Reports suggest that active cases have declined to 8,230. Bihar government's decision to ease lockdown restrictions was welcomed by the BJP and other NDA partners. BJP state president Sanjay Jaiswal in a statement said, "we have managed to pass the biggest Covid wave. In Bengaluru, June 8: Amid talks that Karnataka may start the unlock process by lifting restrictions after June 14, Chief Minister B.S. Yediyurappa is likely to hold a meeting in a day or two, to discuss the matter and take a call.

The state is currently under lockdown till June 14, and there are indications that the government is likely to go for graded relaxation of restrictions, in districts that have less positivity rate to begin with.

"The Chief Minister, after discussing with everyone, will take a decision on what measures need to be taken in this regard, by taking everyone into confidence," deputy chief minister C.N. Ashwath Narayan said on Tuesday in response to a question on unlocking.

Speaking to reporters here, he said, the Chief Minister is likely to call a meeting (with experts, ministers and officials), in a day or two, during which all aspects will be discussed and the outcome will be made known.

"In most of the districts, other than a few, the numbers have come down. We will also have to ensure that the cases don't increase again, it will also be looked into," he added. Yediyurappa had earlier said that the state will start its unlock process only in those districts where the Covid-19 positivity rate drops below 5 per cent.

The Karnataka government had initially announced 14 days "close down" from April 27, but subsequently imposed a complete lockdown from May 10 to May 24, as the Covid cases continued to spike.

Citing lockdown yielding results and experts advice, it was further extended till June 7 and then again till June 14. Karnataka on Monday had reported 11,958 fresh cases and 340 fatalities, taking the tally to over 27 lakh and the toll to 31,920.

LOCKDOWN IN PUDUCHERRY TO CONTINUE

Puducherry, June 8: The Puducherry administration has extended its ongoing lockdown by another week from June 7 midnight to June 14 and announced easing of several restrictions. The announcement comes following a decline in Coronavirus cases in the Union Territory.

An order issued late on Monday night by the secretary (relief and rehabilitation) and member secretary of state executive committee of Puducherry said the corona curfew adopted all along would continue to be in force from 10 pm to 5 am the next day.

The present order permits functioning of retail units of liquor shops, including arrack shops from 9 am to 5 pm every day by strictly adhering to Covid safety norms.

Lucknow, June 8: The Uttar Pradesh government on Tuesday extended relaxation in Covid restrictions to all 75 districts of the state, with the active cases coming down the 600-mark in each of these districts.

The night curfew from 7 pm to 7 am and weekend curfew (for the entire day) will, however, continue throughout the state, an official spokesman said.

By Monday, the relaxation was extended to 72 districts barring Meerut, Lucknow and Gorakhpur.

"There will be relaxation in Coronavirus curfew in all the districts of the state from Wednesday onwards, from 7 am to 7 pm, for five days as the active Covid cases have come below 600," the spokesman said.

In a high-level meeting convened through virtual medium on Tuesday, Chief Minister Yogi Adityanath reviewed the Covid-19 situation and decided to give the relaxations in the Covid curfew.

The spokesman said in view of the decreasing infection rate, a standard of 600 active cases was set for having curfew effective in the districts.

"Only 797 new cases were reported in the state in the past 24 hours. Now, there are 14,000 active cases in the state," he said. "On Monday, 2.85 lakh Covid tests were done. The positivity rate of the state is 0.2 per cent, while the recovery rate has gone up to 97.9 per cent," he added.

In an order issued in this regard by additional chief secretary, Home, Awasthi said the curfew will be relaxed as per the conditions mentioned in the government order issued on May 30 by chief secretary R.K. Tiwari. According to the order issued by Tiwari, shops and markets outside containment zones would be allowed to open for five days (Monday to Friday). Instructions were issued that over the weekend, cleanliness, sanitisation and fogging campaigns will be carried out.

Shopkeepers and their employees will have to wear masks, maintain two-yard distance with each other and customers, and ensure the arrangement of hand sanitisers.

While there would be full attendance for frontline workers, for the rest of the government employees, there would be 50 per cent attendance on rotation.

almost all the districts there are less than 50 cases. We also observed that people in villages were less alert and mostly ignored Covid guidelines like wearing masks and maintaining distance.

Despite all these issues, there is less than one per cent positivity rate. The Bihar government's decision to end the lockdown and impose night curfew is in favour of the people of the state".

Newly-wed seeks help for ailing husband

AKSHAYA KUMAR SAHOO | DC BHUBANESWAR, JUNE 8

Mousumi Mohanty, the woman, said around ₹1 crore is required to treat her husband Abhishek Mohapatra. Abhishek requires urgent ECMO (Extracorporeal Membrane Oxygenation) treatment. "We belong to a middle class family. We can't arrange such a huge amount for the expensive treatment of my husband. I have arranged as much as I can. We can't afford airlifting him to Kolkata and planning to take him there by road tonight. I request all brothers and sisters to extend some financial assistance so that I can treat my husband. Your small assistance can help my husband's safe return home," Mousumi pleaded to the public.

Noted Odia cine artist Bobby Mishra also appealed to people to extend a helping hand to Abhishek. "Abhishek is currently undergoing treatment at a private hospital in Bhubaneswar. As his condition is deteriorating he needs ECMO treatment. I request all of you to help him as per your ability," Bobby said.

Assam CM advises Rahul to not 'knit-pick' like an immature kid

MANOJ ANAND | DC GUWAHATI, JUNE 8

Assam Chief Minister Himanta Biswa Sarma who took on Congress leader Rahul Gandhi by disclosing as to how he was busy feeding his dog when Assam government wanted to discuss urgent issues with him in 2015, on Tuesday told him to not "knit-pick like an immature kid" while referring to his remark on Prime Minister Narendra Modi's announcement on free universal vaccination.

While many Opposition leaders lauded Prime Minister Narendra Modi's announcement of free universal vaccination for all adults in India and centralisation of vaccine procurement, some also accused the government of 'wasting crucial time'.

However, Rahul Gandhi in his reaction on twitter said he had, "one simple question -

If vaccines are free for all, why should private hospitals charge for them?"

Sarma took to twitter and hit back at the Wayanad MP, telling to not 'knit-pick like an immature kid. Sarma in his tweet said, "One simple answer — Every 18+ Indian will be given free vaccines by PM @narendramodi. Govt at public hospitals, those who want to pay can opt for a private. Don't knit-pick like an immature kid." (sic)

Oppn for probe into reasons behind one of worst accidents

Karachi, June 8: The death toll in Monday's train collision in Pakistan's Sindh province rose to 65 on Tuesday, according to an official, even as the Opposition parties demanded an immediate probe into the reasons for one of the country's worst train accidents. At least 65 people were killed and over 100 others injured in the twin accidents between Reti and Daharki railway stations where eight carriages of Millat Express derailed just before Sir Syed Express rammed into them near Dharki, a city located in the Ghotki district of upper Sindh early Monday morning.

Pak-origin family's killing saddens Imran

Islamabad/Toronto, June 8: Pakistan Prime Minister Imran Khan on Tuesday denounced the killing of four members of a Pakistani-origin Canadian family in Canada, saying this "act of terrorism" reveals the growing "Islamophobia" in Western countries.

On Sunday, a 20-year-old man, wearing a vest like body armour, slammed a pickup truck into a Pakistani family of five, killing four of them, in what police allege was "a planned, premeditated act motivated by hate", according to media reports from Canada. The incident happened near the intersection of Hyde Park Road and South Carriage Road when the Muslim family was out for a walk in the evening, the Toronto Star reported. A black pickup truck driven by Nathaniel Veltman mounted the curb of a busy London intersection and struck a family of five as they waited to cross the street. The driver sped off, leaving a scene of chaos and tragedy, the report said. Veltman was arrested five minutes later.

Biden forms unit to clear supply chain bottlenecks

Washington, June 8: The Joe Biden administration has completed a 100-day review of supply chains and will now form a task force to address the bottlenecks in the semiconductor, construction, transportation and agriculture sectors. Administration officials said their goal is to increase domestic manufacturing, limit shortages of vital goods and reduce a dependence on geopolitical competitors such as China. The officials, speaking before the release of the 250-page review Tuesday, noted that the goal is to get ahead of crises such as the computer chip shortage that has hurt automakers this year.

"More secure and resilient supply chains are essential to our national and economic security, and our technological leadership," the report said, noting how the pandemic and subsequent economic turmoil exposed the US supply chain vulnerabilities.

A shortage of raw materials has made it harder for the US economy to recover from the pandemic-induced recession. The supply bottleneck has helped fuel a bout of inflation that the administration believes will be temporary, though it has provided Republican lawmakers and some economists with grounds for criticising Biden's $1.9 trillion Coronavirus relief package. The new task force will be led by the secretaries of Commerce, Agriculture and Transportation to focus on parts of the economy where there is a mismatch between supply and demand.

Besides the task force, the administration will take several other steps to bolster supply chains, with an effort spread across the government. The Department of Health and Human Services will use

Will act if UK doesn't honour Brexit deal: EU

London, June 8: The European Union's chief Brexit negotiator says the bloc is ready to act "firmly and resolutely" if the UK fails to honour its commitments under the divorce deal that was supposed to keep trade flowing after Britain left the EU.

Maros Sefcovic's comments, published Tuesday in the Daily Telegraph newspaper, came a day before he holds talks with his UK counterpart on implementing the deal. The relationship between the two sides has grown tense amid concerns over the so-called Northern Ireland protocol, which was designed to protect the peace process in Northern Ireland while preserving economic links with the Republic of Ireland, an EU member state. The protocol has sparked anger in Northern Ireland because it creates a customs border between the region and the rest of the UK, but the EU says the provisions are needed to protect the bloc's single market.

ermarket items shipped to Northern Ireland from England, Scotland and Wales. The Telegraph reported that the UK may extend this action to include chilled meats such as sausages and ground beef. Sefcovic cautioned against such action, saying negotiators should strive to achieve "mutually agreed compliance paths." "If this does not happen, and if the UK takes further unilateral action over the coming weeks, the EU will not be shy in reacting swiftly, firmly and resolutely to ensure that the UK abides by its international law obligations." While Sefcovic didn't specify what those actions might be, the Times of London quoted an unidentified EU official as saying the bloc was ready to impose trade sanctions, retaliatory tariffs. — AP

S'pore lecturer suspended for race rant at Sino-Indians

Racial tweets to Indians: Man jailed

Singapore, June 8: A 35-year old senior executive at a software company in Singapore, who made racially offensive tweets in April last year, including slurs to Indians and condemning Indian immigrants about Covid-19, was jailed for three weeks on Tuesday, a media report said.

Zainal Abidin Shaiful Bahari, a Malay, pleaded guilty to two charges each of committing acts he knew were prejudicial to the maintenance of harmony between different racial groups in Singapore. Another two similar charges were considered in sentencing, Channel News Asia reported. A member of the public called the police in April 2020 after seeing a tweet by the user "sharonliew86" condemning Indian immigrants about Covid-19. ISRAELI PARL TO VOTE ON NEW GOVT ON SUNDAY

Jerusalem, June 8: Israel's parliament speaker has scheduled a vote for Sunday on a new government that would end Prime Minister Benjamin Netanyahu's 12-year rule, the longest in the country's history.

Parliament speaker Yariv Levin, a Netanyahu ally, announced the timing of the vote on Tuesday, a day after acknowledging that a coalition had been formed. The fragile coalition consists of eight parties spanning Israel's political spectrum, with only a narrow majority in the 120-member Knesset, or parliament. But it appears to have held together despite a furious campaign by Netanyahu's supporters that has included death threats and protests outside lawmakers' homes. Netanyahu has accused his erstwhile right-wing allies of betrayal for allying with leftists and a small Arab party. Naftali Bennett, an ultranationalist former Netanyahu ally, would serve as prime minister for two years, followed by the centrist Yair Lapid. — AP

MAHATMA'S | MESSAGES

Event could not be observed at Pietermaritzburg station due to Covid

Gandhi train ejection commemorated in S. Africa

Johannesburg, June 8: The seed for Satyagraha (non-violent resistance) was planted in South Africa's Pietermaritzburg on the night of June 7, 1893, when a young barrister, Mohandas Karamchand Gandhi, was ejected from a train for being a non-white.

David Gengan, Chairman of Pietermaritzburg Gandhi Memorial Committee, reminded this once again on Monday while commemorating the incident and sending out Mah-atma's messages to the world, especially at a time when the global Covid-19 pandemic is wreaking havoc.

The Pietermaritzburg Gandhi Memorial Committee decided some years ago that the story of June 7, 1893, and its impact on young Gandhi would be told every year on the anniversary of the event, said Gengan.

Every year, the Gandhi memorial committee had been observing the event at the very station; hower, it had been unable to do so since last year because of the Covid-19 pandemic.

This year, various speakers from across the world spoke about the relevance of the messages of India's Father of the Nation for the world today.

Gengan said Gandhi's 21 years in South Africa shaped his philosophy, especially as it relates to peace and non-violence.

Gandhi's granddaughter Ela Gandhi, 80, who heads the Gandhi Development Trust, which oversees the Phoenix Settlement that he started during his stay in Durban, said that during the course of his life, Mahatma discovered many truths.

"These truths I believe are of great relevance for us today as we face the challenge of dealing with the Covid-19 pandemic.

As we struggle with the Covid-19 realities, we are becoming aware of the need for a change in our perception and behaviours to create a new normal," she said.

Ela added that in this context, Gandhi's seven observations have attained even greater significance. Sello Hatang, Chief Executive of the Nelson Mandela Foundation, said Gandhi's observations were something that was attainable by all human beings. "It is when we try our best to be better humans that we build a world that (Mandela and Gandhi) dreamt of, one that cares about the downtrodden, the forgotten, those who feel that they are the out-

A welcome shift in vaccine policy, but hurdles remain

The Union government's decision to rework its "liberalised vaccine policy" and return to centralised procurement of vaccine doses for all people aged above 18 years is welcome. This is perhaps for the first time that the government has chosen to reverse its policy seeing its adverse impact on the people. It is no secret that the Supreme Court's tough stance that it will have to subject the government decision to exclude a section of people from its vaccination policy to judicial review based on Articles 14 and 21 which guarantee the right to equality and the right to life, respectively, which led to this crucial policy change.

The court's decision to call for files that led to the questionable decision must have rung alarm bells in the corridors of power, though the court has repeatedly assured the government that it had no plans to interfere with its executive functions. The court's insistence that the government produce an account of the ₹35,000 crores earmarked in the 2021-22 Union Budget for vaccine purchase might, too, have forced the Centre's hand. Credit must be given to the political Opposition, led by Kerala chief minister Pinarayi Vijayan, who first suggested that the Union government should procure the vaccine for the states, too, which was endorsed by several other chief ministers including Tamil Nadu's M.K. Stalin and Odisha's Naveen Patnaik.

The job is half done now, and the governments at the Centre and in the states have a lot of distance to cover to secure Indian people. We are into the sixth month of the "world's largest vaccination programme" but have been able to fully inoculate only 3.3 per cent of the population; the figure for the share of population who have been given at least one dose is below 12 per cent. This is not a satisfactory pace by any reckoning. Given that a third wave could hit the children, too, and they also need to be given the jabs, the figures fall to pathetic lows when the number of children eligible for vaccination becomes part of the denominator. Added to this is the issue of digital divide, which the Supreme Court has flagged: This could deprive the most marginalised sections of society of vaccination. As per the government's own records, there are about 13,000 villages in the country where there is not a single common service centre through which the people there can register themselves on the CoWin app.

The challenges are formidable but not insurmountable. The government has taken some baby steps to address them, which included the agreement it recently signed with Hyderabad-based Biological E, for the purchase of 30 crore doses of the vaccine which is in the advanced stages of clinical trials and the upfront payment of ₹1,500 crores. It is also getting Covaxin produced in more facilities. The government has now to prepare a workable schedule on the procurement and administration of the vaccine to meet the deadline of December 31 which it itself has fixed for the universal vaccination before it gets back to the Supreme Court on June 30 for the next hearing.

Winning new frontier in space

The founder of Amazon who revolutionised the way people shop in the new millennium will be beating fellow billionaires Richard Branson and Elon Musk to blast off into space, fly 105 km up, spend three breathtaking minutes of weightlessness in about 10 minutes or so at the apogee of the flight and return to planet earth. The race to create space tourism 60 years after Yuri Gagarin became the first man to travel into space may be heralded by the seeming vanity of a rich owner of a spacecraft taking a thrilling ride into the sky along with his brother Mark, besides the highest bidder in an online charity auction which is now at $2.8 million, and two pilots.

Non-astronaut civilians have flown into space before but if the world's richest man is prepared to do it while possessing some $200 billion of assets on the ground it might just signal increasing confidence in man's mastery over space flights just as an expensive tourism industry is set to expand. What we do for science in terms of spacecraft exploring Mars and space probes flying a lot further may be a lot more productive. But it is in taking untrained civilians along for up-and-down flights that earth will resonate with stories from space to rekindle the imagination. When Armstrong stepped on the man, the whole of humanity was figuratively with him.

The flight will usher in the crossing of a frontier signalling human capabilities in engineering safety and reliability in space. Several astronauts who have enjoyed the thrill of viewing our planet from way above have waxed eloquent about their experience. The Bezos brothers and others will have even better viewing seats in the roomy Blue Origin's New Shepard capsule with very large windows. What opening the door for rich civilians to tag along means is that the human endeavour to explore space would get a fillip and further propel the human race towards a long stated ambition of colonising Mars and other planets that seemed way beyond reach in billions of years.

Turbulent Afghanistan could impact Kashmir

Syed Ata Hasnain

One feels glad to see Jammu and Kashmir drop steeply in the hierarchy of India's security concerns. I am not going to spoil the party by suggesting that the current situation is just a smokescreen behind which lie many scheming ideas and thoughts to take it all back to 2001. Why 2001? It is simply because that is a landmark year recorded as the one with the highest terrorist casualties (2,100 killed); or, in other words, the year with a disproportionately high number of engagements, contacts, gunbattles. It was also the year when we saw the beginning of the Nato onslaught into Afghanistan (then usually referred as AfPak) after 9/11. Afghanistan and J&K have a long association; I am not alluding to their deep history but only to recent times. It's the Soviet invasion of Afghanistan at the end of 1979 that brought the mercenaries, often called jihadis, to Afghanistan under the sponsorship of the United States and Saudi Arabia. The rise of Islamic obscurantism can be traced back mostly to the 1980s when the refugee camps on the Pak-Afghan border became the centres of conversion to more radical beliefs of Islam. Pakistan's Inter-Services Intelligence gained much of its experience in handling tricky intelligence and operations related situations in Afghanistan. As soon as the war ended with the Soviet defeat, the mercenaries were available for a song and became the new jihadis in J&K. People unaware of the nuances of the issues in J&K over the last 30 years need to be informed that the original separatist movement of 1989 was largely indigenous and may have been controlled, but for the sudden availability of the mercenary jihadis freed from the war in Afghanistan. The ISI got them together with funds, weapons and military wherewithal no one had control over. They were then infiltrated into Kashmir from every conceivable direction to add to the growing footprint of terror. Many of them were Afghans who had no love lost for Kashmiris. The Indian Army and its fledgling anti-terror force, Rashtriya Rifles, neutralised hundreds as intelligence on them was never far, with them getting on to the wrong side of many in the local population, especially women. The pipeline of so-called jihadis dried up by 1996, when the remnants of the mercenaries who fought the Soviet Army in Afghanistan had either met their end or returned to do service with the Taliban when it came to power. The infiltration of foreign terrorists from 1996 onwards was mainly that of Pakistanis who flooded North Kashmir, in particular in the Bandipur, Sopore, Lolab and Handwara tracts.

Kashmir's proactive media repeatedly queried me in 2010-12 about the then situation in Afghanistan and how it would affect Kashmir if the US troops withdrew. Those were the days when Gen. David Petraeus was in charge of the US Central Command and the principles of the "COIN" (counterinsurgency) doctrine were in full flow in Afghanistan. I always answered with the stock reply that almost became a byline: "When you throw a stone into water there are ripples in every direction. Ripples from the conflict in Afghanistan will invariably travel to J&K." I usually left it at that, and if someone persisted, I would usually say: "Let no one imagine that 2011 is 1989, we are far superior in deployment and even more in experience." All these words are coming back to me in bits and pieces to create a picture for the region once the Americans are out of Afghanistan. That is expected largely by July 2021, without waiting for President Joe Biden's September 11, 2021 deadline.

So, is a resurgence of extremist violence in the region likely after July? The American presence being sought at some Pakistani airbases to afford drone operations and possibly other forms of aerial warfare including Special Forces is with a view to ensure that Afghan territory, and maybe some Pakistani territory as well, is not used to conduct activities that are detrimental to US interests. It's to keep a vigil over these areas which have provided much sorrow to the world in the last two decades. Of course, this will never be sufficient to have full regional coverage, but the US can always be advised to include India in its coverage too, simply as emerging strategic partners, and Pakistan is in no position to resist that, given its precarious financial position.

The current 2021 season has thus far seen minimal activity in Kashmir. The infiltration season began almost two months ago but attempts have been few and far between. Obviously, the flavour for jihadism is low at present, but it would be incorrect to assume it is all over. In 2011 too, the infiltration picked up in the July-October period. Pakistan's attention is focused on Afghanistan, where mistakes can cost it dearly. On the J&K front, a season of low-profile activity can be accepted, and the separatist infrastructure can remain intact with infusion of money and wherewithal through some routes which are extremely difficult to neutralise. What really makes the difference is the absence of human resources. If enough rebels are not being recruited locally, there won't be sufficient resources for guidance, logistics and overground work. 2021 is not 1989 either as far as the Line of Control is concerned. The counter-infiltration layout and network is smart, extensive, integrated and efficient. Twenty per cent attempting infiltration could yet get through, but unless huge resources are deployed for this by the ISI, the impact will be low. That big effort is difficult in view of the visibility today and efforts by outfits like FATF to keep vigil internationally. It won't be easy for Afghan or any other foreign terrorists to function in Kashmir, especially with dilution of the extensive OGW networks. Besides, no one really trusts these jihadi elements in Kashmir nowadays, especially in the urban areas.

Diplomatically, India like all other interested nations have to address the situation of having to deal with an Afghan leadership other than the current one. Back channels would have been established by some nations and exchange of information would be in practice. What one really fears is bloodshed and civil war-like conditions in Afghanistan which could persist for some years. In such a situation it would become extremely unpredictable on what the fallout on Kashmir could be. We should make the best of the current situation, focus on development activity, and outreach to people with sufficient messaging that India's stable climates are far better than the turbulence of the neighbouring region.

FREE VACCINE

Unable to face the severe criticism from all corners — the Supreme Court, opposition parties and the people — the Modi government was compelled to go for the centralised vaccine policy (Centre will give vax free to states: Modi, DC, June 8). Had the Centre taken this decision on Covid-19 vaccination in a timely manner, many precious lives could have been saved.

K. Manasa Saanvi
Hyderabad

It is a welcome decision taken by the Central government on providing free vaccine for everyone above 18 years. In these tough times not everyone can afford to get vaccinated. Also, this decision could help the destitute people.

While the gesture of the Central government to supply vaccines to the states free of cost is commendable, the states should indicate their requirements well in advance and should not waste the vaccines.

VACCINE DRIVE

Kudos to the police, health, organisers and others involved in making the biggest-ever drive in the state to vaccinate people against Covid-19 at Hitex where 40,000 people have been vaccinated. This has created history and has set example for other states. (40K take the shot at massive camp, DC, June 7).

Cosmonauts steer space lab into higher orbit

MOSCOW, June 8. Three Soviet Cosmonauts steered their space laboratory into a higher orbit today to halt temporarily its gradual drop back to Earth, Moscow Radio reported. The manoeuvre, effected by firing rockets aboard the craft, was needed in order to keep the station aloft for a longer period of time.

The Space Station, called Salyut, has been in Earth orbit since April 19 and has been gradually drifting down into the upper reaches of the Earth's atmosphere, where friction could disintegrate it.

Big Tech now turning into a Big Brother: Will world act?

The Big Tech social media giants are having to rethink their policy of censoring anybody who suggests that Covid-19 originated from a lab near Wuhan. This is because it now seems quite possible, if not probable, that the virus was kindly bestowed upon us by Chinese scientists. I don't know either way, but I would suggest that a suspicion that the virus was man-made, given the proximity of the Wuhan Institute of Virology, scarcely qualifies as a lunatic conspiracy theory to be banned from public utterance. But that's what the Big Tech companies decided — almost certainly for political reasons.

By and large major liberal institutions concurred: the utterly hopeless World Health Organisation refused to entertain the suggestion that the virus had leaked from the WIV and the major liberal broadcasters in the United States scarcely covered the suggestion at all. A couple of leftist American journoes were invited into the WIV and marvelled at how clean everything was, what nice space suits everyone wore and how people definately weren't throwing chunks of Covid-19 out of the windows every few minutes, and thus gave it a clean bill of health. The idea got pushed into the conspiracy theory dungeon, a realm of racists and reactionaries. The banning of this idea, that the virus was man-made and leaked from a Chinese lab, was not because it was wrong, necessarily, but because it came from the political right and challenged the liberal view. How kind it is of them, then, to think again.

This perpetual, shameless, censorship on purely political grounds by the likes of Facebook, Google, Twitter and Instagram worries me rather more than the pandemic does, because there seems to be no readily available vaccine for it. If you had thought that Twitter and Facebook's deliberate suppression of stories regarding Hunter Biden's lucrative dealings in Ukraine, along with a serving US President's astonishing removal from all social media sites because they didn't like what he was saying, was simply the consequence of a peculiarly fraught US election, think again. They are still at it now, even more so. Theories which they do not like because of their political consequences, or provenance, are banned under the heading "false news". It is increasingly the case that "false news" is simply news that liberals do not wish you to hear about. Nor do facts count for very much when these dweebs are deciding what you can and can't say. Try advancing the strictly scientific point of view regarding the correct gender of a man who has transitioned into being a "woman" — and see how long before you are banned too.

But it is Covid-19 which has given the liberals the greatest scope for their authoritarianism. Quite a lot of what has happened in these past 12 months or so — from the official adulation of the Black Lives Matter movement and footballers "taking a knee", to the hilarious "decolonisation" projects — has happened under the shroud of disease, and therefore not subject to public scrutiny. But it is the disease itself which has provoked the most injurious acts of censorship — which have occurred ever since the pandemic was politicised into a left versus right argument.

It is surely not a conspiracy theory nor an expression of "false news" to have one or two doubts on being zapped by a vaccine which has received nothing like the usual longitudinal testing procedures and is, basically, a clever, perhaps brilliant and lifesaving, experiment on the entire world. I'd go further and suggest that if you do not have one or two doubts, then you must be a bit thick. By this I do not remotely mean to say that we should all refuse our vaccines — I have had mine and I'm no worse than usual, so far. But in lieu of the usual testing procedures, it would be nice to think that questions raised by worried members of the general public and opinions from scientists which run counter to the apparent majority might be listened to and debated and discussed.

The opposite, though, has happened. Express one or two doubts about the vaccine, perhaps citing the number of people who have died from blood clots as a consequence of receiving it, and Twitter has your card marked. According to its protocol, any comments which "make false claims that have been widely debunked" will be deleted. What, such as a worry that the virus may be man-made? Or — and think back to when the AstraZeneca rollout began — that there may, just may, be a link between the vaccine and blood clots. Denied outright at the time — and now entirely accepted, which is why people under 40 in Britain are being offered alternative jabs.

Meanwhile, leaked emails from Facebook have revealed that it is using an algorithm to censor those who are merely "vaccine hesitant". Amazon had a head start on this: a couple of years ago it pulled from its roster a film called The Greater Good in which a bunch of perfectly respectable scientists question the efficacy of mass vaccination programmes. Urged to take ever more censorious action by the left, these companies gladly succumb; it is their equivalent of taking a knee.

We need a law such as the one they are pushing through in Poland right now. If any social media company censors someone for saying anything not prosecutable under state law, they get fined. That would be a start.

460 claims cleared for ₹50 lakh insurance cover Over ₹200 cr death claims paid for Covid warriors

MADHUSUDAN SAHOO
NEW DELHI, JUNE 8

With increasing fatalities of health workers fighting Covid-19, the government has fast-tracked settlement of Covid death claims under the Pradhan Mantri Garib Kalyan Package (PMGKP), which provides an insurance cover of Rs 50 lakh to Covid frontline warriors.

India's largest non-life insurer, New India Assurance Company Ltd (NIACL), has so far settled 419 claims under the scheme, disbursing around Rs 210 crore to the claimants.

The PMGKP covers almost all healthcare workers, including doctors, nurses, paramedics, community health workers and even daily wage staff engaged in Covid duty. This scheme covers loss of life due to Covid-19 and accidental death in the line of duty. This is scheme managed solely by the NIACL, with the Union Ministry of Health and Family Welfare paying the entire premium for over 22 lakh health workers covered under the scheme.

According to Atul Sahai, chairman and managing director of NIACL, "The NIACL has received over 1,100 claims intimations approximately, though only 600 claims were supported by the documents.

Of this, we have paid a sum of Rs 209.5 crore for 419 claims as on the date, and 41 more claims stand approved awaiting either nomination documents or claimants' bank details. Some 140 claims have been turned down as the same were not covered under the policy, like the claimant wasn't a frontline healthcare worker or the death wasn't due to Corona."

"We have already received Rs 350 crore from the government in three tranches in the form of premium for the scheme so far. A total of 22.12 lakh health workers across the country are covered under the scheme by NIACL," Sahai added.

Though the claim documents were simple to access-like a laboratory test report and death summary by the hospital-getting them approved through the competent state authority was proving to be time-consuming. So, the government has from this month further simplified the claims procedure by routing them through the district collector. This is expected to improve the claim settlement ratio, which is now less than 55 per cent.

"Now, the government has decided to ease the claims procedure that was finalised between the concerned company and MoH&SW, and the district collectors have to verify that claim documents, counter verified by the state health nodal agencies in just one single page document. The documents shall remain carefully recorded at their office. It's a welcome step for speedy settlement of the claims," Sahai said.

However, health workers are concerned that the scheme does not cover death from post-Covid complications. Explaining, a senior doctor from Faridabad's Escort Heart Institute said, "Insurers now ask for all Covid-19 related documents immediately after the patient's death. So, there is no question of claim settlement from insurers if the patient dies of post-Covid-19 complications. Besides, any type of treatment or quarantine cost is not covered."

Global economy to expand 5.6% in 2021: World Bank

SANGEETHA G
CHENNAI, JUNE 8

The World Bank expects the global economy to expand 5.6 per cent in 2021, the fastest post-recession pace in 80 years. Despite the recovery, global output will be about 2 per cent below pre-pandemic projections by the end of this year. The World Bank also finds that services sector and private consumption will offset pandemic effects in India.

The global economy's expansion will largely be on strong rebounds from a few major economies fsays WB's latest edition of Global Economic Prospects. Among major economies, US growth is projected to reach 6.8 per cent this year, reflecting large-scale fiscal support and the easing of pandemic restrictions. Growth in other advanced economies is also firming, but to a lesser extent. China is anticipated to rebound to 8.5 per cent this year.

Despite the recovery, global output will be

For India, the Bank projected 8.3% growth in FY22 and 7.5% in FY23 about 2 per cent below pre-pandemic projections by the end of this year. Per capita income losses will not be unwound by 2022 for about two-thirds of emerging market and developing economies. "While there are welcome signs of global recovery, the pandemic continues to inflict poverty and inequality on people in developing countries around the world," said World Bank Group president David Malpass.

Emerging market and developing economies as a group are forecast to expand 6 per cent this year, supported by higher demand and elevated commodity prices. However, the recovery in many countries is being held back by a resurgence of Covid-19 cases and lagging vaccination progress, as well as the withdrawal of policy support in some instances.

In the case of India, the World Bank projected 8.3 per cent growth in FY22 followed by 7.5 per cent in FY23. This is supported by plans for higher spending on infrastructure, rural development, and health, and a stronger-than-expected recovery in services.

Better growth prospects since January, however, masks significant damage to economic activity from Covid-19. The economy is expected to follow the same, yet less pronounced, collapse and recovery seen during the first wave. Growth in FY23 is expected to slow to 7.5 per cent, says the Bank.

South Asia's growth is projected to rebound to a stronger-than-expected 6.8 per cent in 2021, with India accounting for most of the upgrade as strong services sector activity more than offsets the economic effects of the worsening pandemic. The outlook is underpinned by a rebound in private consumption.

Privatisation-bound banks may come out with VRS

New Delhi, June 8: Two state-owned banks being picked up for privatisation by the government are likely to come out with an attractive voluntary retirement scheme (VRS) to get rid of the extra flab, sources said.

Finance Minister Nirmala Sitharaman while unveiling Budget 2021-22 on February 1 had announced that the government proposed to take up the privatisation of two public sector banks (PSBs) and one general insurance company.

An attractive VRS will make them lean and fit for takeover by the private sector entities that are keen to enter the banking space, the sources said.

VRS is not forced exit but option for those who would like to take early retirement with good financial package, the sources said, adding that it has been done in the past before the consolidation of some of the PSBs.

The Niti Aayog, which has been entrusted with the job of identifying suitable candidates for the privatisation, has recommended the names to a high-level panel headed by Cabinet secretary Rajiv Gauba.

Central Bank of India, Indian Overseas Bank, Bank of Maharashtra and Bank of India are some of the names that may be considered for privatisation by the Core Group of Secretaries on Disinvestment.

Following clearance from the Core Group of Secretaries, the finalised names will go to the Alternative Mechanism

Banks asked to keep CCTV recordings of DeMo period

Mumbai, June 8: The RBI on Tuesday asked banks to preserve the CCTV recordings of their branches and currency chests from November 8, 2016, to December 30, 2016, till further orders with a view to assisting the enforcement agencies to take actions against persons involved in illegal activities during the demonetisation period.

The government had demonetised the then in circulation high value currency notes of Rs 500 and Rs 1,000 on November 8, 2016. As part of the exercise, the government gave the opportunity to the people to exchange junked currency notes or deposit them in their bank accounts. Huge crowds were witnessed at bank branches across the country for exchanging or depositing the demonetised currency.

On the basis of various inputs, the investigative agencies also started probing matters relating to illegal accumulation of new currency notes.

In order to facilitate such investigations, the RBI has asked the banks not to destroy the CCTV recordings of the period of demonetisation till further orders.

The present order is a continuation of an earlier advisory issued to the lenders in December 2016 to preserve the CCTV footage of operations at bank branches and currency chests.

Of the Rs 15.41 lakh crore worth Rs 500 and Rs 1,000 notes in circulation on November 8, 2016, when the note ban was announced, notes worth Rs 15.31 lakh crore have been returned.

RBI buys 61 tonne gold since January 2020

SANGEETHA G
CHENNAI, JUNE 8

The Reserve Bank of India bought 61 tonnes of gold since January 2020 in staggered purchases. The World Gold Council says central banks will continue to be positive on gold in 2021 as well, though their plans for gold this year compared to 20 per cent last year.

During the pandemic year of 2020, the RBI purchased 41 tonnes of gold. Its gold reserves stood at 635 tonnes at the end of 2019 and expanded to 676.6 tonnes at the end of the year. The central bank continued its staggered purchases in 2021 as well by accumulating 20 tonnes till May. At the end of May 2021, the gold reserves stood at 696.2 tonnes.

The World Gold Council's central bank gold reserves survey found that central banks will continue to be positive on gold, with roughly the same number of central banks expected to buy gold compared to last year.

Around 21 per cent of central banks intend to increase their gold reserves over the next 12 months. Central banks are also increasingly valuing gold's performance during periods of crisis.

Though the Bank of Russia had announced to halt its regular purchases, 52 per cent of respondents believe that global central bank gold holdings will grow in the coming year. However, 75 per cent of respondents believed so last year. At the same time, only 11 per cent do not know their plans for gold this year compared to 20 per cent last year.

Further 32 per cent of respondents say that global central bank gold holdings will remain unchanged while 5 per cent say that they will decrease. These results may reflect the slowdown in central bank gold buying in 2020 when net purchases declined to 326 tonnes compared to 668 tonnes in 2019.

Post-Covid economic recovery, negative interest rates, continuation of expansive monetary and fiscal policies combined with the prospect of rising inflation will likely be at the forefront of central bankers' concerns for the foreseeable future.

LARGE STEEL FIRMS RAISE MARKET SHARE

SANGEETHA G
CHENNAI, JUNE 8

Rising steel prices helped large steel-makers more as they have grabbed a part of the market share from small and mid-sized companies.

Five large steel makers, including Tata Steel, JSPL, JSW and SAIL and AMNS, increased their market share to 58 per cent in FY21 from 53 per cent in FY20. As a result, the market share of small and medium steel companies came down to 42 per cent from 47 per cent, says a Crisil report.

While 17 SME steel makers saw their revenues shrinking by 4 per cent and Ebitda by 2 per cent in FY21, the top steel-makers registered a 10 per cent growth in revenues and 60 per cent growth in Ebitda. The top four steel-makers also reduced their net debt in their Indian operations by 16 per cent or by Rs 34,000-35,000 crore.

The improvement in financials was driven by supply-chain efficiencies, higher exports and captive mines.

Suit says creditors should get recovery benefit

63 Moons to challenge DHFL order

RAVI RANJAN PRASAD
MUMBAI, JUNE 8

DHFL debenture-holder and market infrastructure provider 63 Moons Technologies plans to challenge the order of the National Company Law Tribunal (NCLT) permitting Piramal Group to take over DHFL under the Insolvency and Bankruptcy Code (IBC).

Tech firm 63 Moons holds more than Rs 200 crore of non-convertible debentures (NCDs) of DHFL. Jignesh Shah-promoted 63 Moon believes the current resolution plan is contrary to law and against the interest of DHFL creditors, including NCD-holders.

The company had filed an application in the NCLT-Mumbai seeking that recovery benefit of approximately Rs 45,000 crore filed by the DHFL administrator under section 66 of IBC should come to creditors, including debenture-holders.

"The current resolution plan is disappointing for NCD-holders in as much as they stand to bear the greatest loss as opposed to any other party involved. Other members of the Committee of Creditors, who comprise mainly of banks, have recourse to personal guarantees of promoters whereas NCD-holders do not have any such contractual recourse," 63 Moons said, adding:

"NCD-holders will be left high and dry with a massive 65 per cent to 75 per cent haircut if in future such recoveries from fraudulent transactions are allowed to pass through to the resolution applicants, instead of the creditors."

"The current DHFL resolution plan allows the Piramal Group to buy the company by paying mere Rs 37,500 crore as against the outstanding debt of Rs 85,000 crore. Also, in addition to this, the benefits of claims of over Rs 45,000 crore are to be appropriated by Piramal fully," the petition said.

"The Resolution Plan is drafted in such a way that it favours the resolution applicant (buyer), in this case Piramal Group, allowing it to reap the benefits of recoveries from the promoters," 63 Moons said.

"Ascribing a value of Re 1. to the recoveries of fraud where claims are in excess of Rs 45,000 crore creates unjust enrichment of the buyer (Piramal) at the cost of creditors," it alleged.

Refugee team picked for Tokyo

Lausanne: The refugee team for the Tokyo Olympics has 29 athletes competing in 12 sports. The team selected by the International Olympic Committee on Tuesday was drawn from 55 athletes who fled their home countries and got scholarships to train for the games in a new home country. The 29 — a rise from 10 in the inaugural refugee team at the 2016 Rio de Janeiro Olympics — are originally from Afghanistan, Cameroon, Congo, Republic of Congo, Eritrea, Iran, Iraq, South Sudan, Sudan, Syria, Venezuela. They will compete in swimming, athletics, badminton, boxing, canoeing, cycling, judo, karate, shooting, taekwondo, weightlifting, and wrestling. Zidansek first woman from Slovenia to reach Slam semis

Paris, June 8: Tamara Zidansek's breakout display at the French Open is the latest in a long line of outstanding sporting accomplishments by athletes from Slovenia, an Alpine nation of just over two million people. The world number 85 became the first woman representing the country to reach the semi-finals of a Grand Slam on Tuesday when she battled to beat Spain's Paula Badosa 7-5, 4-6, 8-6.

She will play Russian 31st seed Anastasia Pavlyuchenkova for a place in Saturday's final, and a chance to emulate Maribor-born Mima Jausovec, who won Roland Garros in 1977 while competing for Yugoslavia. With just three wins from eight previous Slam appearances, Zidansek arrived in Paris a virtual unknown, but she could soon join household names such as Dallas Mavericks star Luka Doncic and Tour de France champion Tadej Pogacar.

"It feels overwhelming. It's hard to take it in like this fast," said a beaming Zidansek following her quarter-final win. "Winning the first round was a big breakthrough for me. I got a lot of confidence from that," she added.

PAVLYUCHENKOVA IN AFTER 52 ATTEMPTS

Pavlyuchenkova reached her first Grand Slam semifinal at the 52nd attempt on Tuesday with a three-set win over doubles partner Elena Rybakina at the French Open. MUELLER ON THE MARK AS GERMANY EASE PAST LATVIA

Düsseldorf (Germany), June 8: Thomas Mueller scored his first international goal for three years on Monday as Germany crushed minnows Latvia 7-1 in their final warm-up friendly before the Euro 2020 finals.

Latvia, ranked 138th in the world, rarely got out of their half as Germany tuned up for their opening game of the European Championship against world champions France in eight days time in Munich. After a two-year exile from international football, 2014 World Cup winner Mueller got on the scoresheet while Premier League stars Ilkay Gundogan and Timo Werner also found the net in the rout.

"The result wasn't the most important thing, it was more about the way we wanted to play football and implement things," said Mueller, who claimed his first Germany goal since March 2018.

Germany captain Manuel Neuer was applauded onto the pitch by his team-mates before kick-off as he became the first goalkeeper to make 100 appearances for the national team. — AFP

Chhetri above Messi in goal list

Doha, June 8: Indian football talisman Sunil Chhetri has surpassed Argentina's global superstar Lionel Messi to become the second-highest active international goal-scorer with 74 strikes, adding another feather to his illustrious career.

The 36-year-old Chhetri achieved the staggering feat with his brace against Bangladesh in the joint preliminary qualifying round match for 2022 FIFA World Cup and 2023 AFC Asian Cup here on Monday night.

The seasoned striker, who helped India register their first win in six years in World Cup qualifiers, now stands only behind Portugal's Cristiano Ronaldo (103) in the active international goal-scorer list.

Chhetri leads Barcelona star Messi by two goals and sits a place above Ali Mabkhout of the UAE, who is third on the list with 73 strikes to his name.

Messi scored his 72nd international goal in a World Cup qualifier against Chile last Thursday, while Mabkhout added to his tally against Malaysia,

Manu feels Croatia tour 'perfect' before Oly

New Delhi, June 8: One of India's strongest Olympic medal hopes, ace shooter Manu Bhaker feels preparations "cannot get better" than the ongoing training-cum-competition tour of Croatia as she works on her consistency ahead of the Tokyo Games.

Thirteen Olympic-bound pistol and rifle shooters are currently training in Zagreb after having participated as guest invitees in the European Championship recently in Osijek. They will also compete in the ISSF World Cup, also scheduled in Osijek from June 22 to July 3. The Croatia tour was arranged after the National Rifle Association of India realised that it was not possible to hold camps in India amid a deadly second wave of the Covid-19 pandemic.

"The tour is very helpful. We are well looked after, our health and fitness needs are taken care of and, most importantly, we are getting to train at a very good shooting range and with some good competition as well," Bhaker said from Zagreb.

"So, I believe it cannot get better, leading up to the Olympic Games." When Bhaker says she wants to live up to her own expectations, the remark can be interpreted as a burning desire to win the gold medal, and it has often panned out that way in a stellar career seeking its zenith in a few weeks' time.

In an ominous sign for her challengers ahead of the Tokyo Games, the champion Indian shooter says she is wants to avoid being weighed down by expectations. "I just want to meet my own expectations. I am not thinking about anything else but focusing on giving my best for India in the Games."

The 19-year-old pistol ace will enter Tokyo as one of India's biggest medal hopes having won almost everything one can after a sensational start to her career.

According to the champion shooter, many of her teammates stand a chance of finishing on the podium in Tokyo and given the Indian shooters' form in recent years, she is not far-fetched in her thought. "I don't think I am the biggest medal hope... that is unfair. In our shooting team itself, I don't see anyone who is not the biggest medal hope. Then there are world class athletes in other sports as well for example badminton, weightlifting, wrestling, archery, boxing and the like," she said. — PTI

ENGLAND CRICKET | RACISM ROW

Second player under scanner

London, June 8: One more current England player is being investigated by the country's cricket board for his allegedly racist remarks on Twitter as a teenager after Ollie Robinson was suspended for similar conduct.

The old tweets of the player in question were unearthed by wisden.com, which did not reveal the identity of the cricketer since he had not reached the age of 16 at that time.

The website posted screenshots of the tweet without revealing the player's identity.

".....Your going out with a asian," the player seem to have posted with hashtags of #asianthroughhand-through # hweollo #chinky.

The England and Wales Cricket Board (ECB) is now investigating the matter. "It has been brought to our attention that an England player has posted historic offensive material on their social media account. We are looking into it and will make a further comment in due course," an ECB spokesperson was quoted as saying by the website.

The offensive posts came to fore hours after the ECB suspended Robinson pending a investigation into his racist tweets in 2012 and 2013.

Robinson, who scored 42 runs and took seven wickets on his Test debut against New Zealand, has already apologised for his behaviour after his old tweets emerged.

England's Culture Secretary Oliver Dowden, however, criticised the ECB's decision to suspend Robinson, calling it "over the top". The country's Prime Minister Boris Johnson also agreed with him.

Dowden contended that Robonson's tweets were a decade old, "written by a teenager" but agreed that they were offensive and wrong. — PTI

KOHLI & CO TO GET 3-WEEK BREAK AFTER WTC FINAL

London, June 8: The Indian team management has decided to give a three-week break to its players after the World Test Championship final in a bid to address the mental fatigue that might be triggered by lengthy spells in a bio-bubble.

The WTC final against New Zealand will be held from June 18 to 22 at the Ageas Bowl in Southampton and the members of the Indian squad will disperse for close to three weeks (20 days) before regrouping on July 14 to prepare for the five-match series against England starting in Nottingham from August 4.

"As skipper Virat Kohli and coach Ravi Shastri had told the media at the pre-departure press conference, there will be a break. There is a six-week gap between WTC final and opening Test against England, so we had to address the issue of players' well-being. Within UK, they can disperse off, go for a holiday, meet friends and family," a senior BCCI official said.

Obviously, there could be some team get-togethers also but players would be free to choose how they want to spend their time.

"Most of them have come to UK for multiple times and have friends and acquaintances around the country. It's only fair that they can switch off," said the source. — PTI

SL to tour England amid contract row

Colombo, June 8: The Sri Lankan cricketers have agreed to compete against England on a tour-specific contract but would not sign the annual contracts unless governing body SLC explains the evaluation process.

Sri Lanka are scheduled to tour England for three Twenty20s and as many ODIs between June 18 and July 4.

Following a stormy round of talks, the players were told by the management that they would either call off the England tour or send a third string side.

The players told the management they would sign a tour-specific contract but need more time to sign the annual contracts.

The players had defied a June 3 deadline to sign the contracts, citing lack of transparency in the process.

While defying the deadline the players said they were willing to play for the country even if the administration decided not to pay salaries due to their refusing to enter contracts.

At the height of the dispute and negotiations last month, the players said remuneration proposed to players were more than 3-fold lower than payments made to players of other countries.

The SLC had by then announced that 24 of the leading players had been offered contracts under four categories and they had been given a deadline until 3 June to sign them.

In the categories released only six players featured in the category 'A' and their annual pay ranges between $70,000 to 100,000.
