COURT PULLS UP
TVVP FOR BIASED
PROMOTIONS

DC CORRESPONDENT
HYDERABAD, JUNE 17

A division bench of the Telangana High Court, comprising Justice M.S. Ramachander Rao and Justice T. Amarnath Goud, faulted the Telangana Vaidya Vidhana Parishad (TVVP) for not following the seniority list in effecting promotions.

The bench was dealing with a petition filed by Vijay Kumar, working as senior assistant in TVVP. He challenged the promotion of his junior as section officer. The said order itself very categorically stated that it is only an ad-hoc promotion and it is liable to be reviewed after final allocation of the employees of the APVVP and the TVVP.

Dr K. Lakshmi Narasimha, counsel for the petitioner, submitted that a final seniority list was finalised in 2016 and it was based on this list that the final allocations were made.

After unlock, Covid-19 SoPs must be enforced strictly Experts suggest empowering local admin to prevent future waves

KANIZA GARARI | DC
HYDERABAD, JUNE 17

The process of unlocking after the second wave must be slow to control the Covid-19 situation, and lift of restrictions must not allow the formation of new variants of Sars-CoV-2, the Coronavirus strain which causes Covid-19. Experts state that if there is crowding and even small gatherings in poorly ventilated spaces, coupled with ignoring the face mask, there are chances of spread of the Coronavirus and Covid-19 superspreader events.

To prevent this from happening, the local administration must be empowered to take action. The measures that are to be taken were supported by lessons provided by the Birhanmumbai Municipal Corporation, Nandurbar district in Maharashtra and Kerala, where surveillance was used to control the second wave.

Effective surveillance helped in controlling panic by building faith among the people that the administration would provide them access to healthcare facilities and timely treatment. These models used technology to guide people on the availability of beds and oxygen concentrators and provided the right picture with regard to Covid-19 data which helped in handling the situation.

“These three models show that the local administration was able to build confidence in the people and reduce panic,” explained Dr Rajan Shukla, associate professor of Indian Institute of Public Health.

“State and local administrations have to learn to pre-empt or nip panic in the bud. Hiding information does not help. Instead, it leads to mistrust and increases desperation in the community. Public health systems

Health officials increase focus on local surveillance

HYDERABAD, JUNE 17

The number of Covid-19 cases have been declining over the last fortnight in Adilabad, Kamareddy, Komaram Bheem-Asifabad, Narayanpet, Nirmal and Nizamabad districts. These districts have shown single digit numbers, and there is stress on ensuring the remaining districts are also able to achieve cases in single-digit numbers.

While the decline in Covid-19 cases is slow, there are only five districts where the numbers continue to be high — Hyderabad, Ranga Reddy, Khammam, Nalgonda and Karimnagar.

Health officials state that there will be greater attention being paid to these districts as the movement of people will lead to sporadic cases and controlling the outbreaks is important.

The epidemiology wing of the government has been based on transparency and effective communication,” Dr Shukla said.

Districts which continue to report a large number of cases must be mentioned clearly, and there must be measures taken to control Covid-19 spread to other districts. Effective management of the local administration along with state and Central governments is important in controlling the spread of Covid-19.

Strict implementation of Covid-19 appropriate behaviour (CAB) by engaging police, food and civil supplies and agriculture departments along with the women and child welfare department and gram panchayats is the way forward.

been asked to carry out constant surveys and follow-up whenever there are more than 10 cases in a given area.

A senior health official explained, “We are laying stress on increasing surveillance locally. This has seen a setback due to the work-from-home mode during the different phases of lockdown. We are also studying the models of other states and will take them up accordingly.”

The crux, according to officials, is to be prepared for the third wave and that is driving the administration to equip government hospitals with infrastructure and medical devices and provide training to healthcare workers to deal with the cases.

In a recent all-India survey by medical colleges it was found that 50 per cent of the people were wearing masks, of which 15 per cent were not wearing them properly. This means that only 35 per cent were wearing masks properly. The other half of the population was simply not wearing masks.

Experts said this would allow for opportunistic movement for the Coronavirus whose transmission process becomes easy. To prevent this, awareness campaigns must be conducted by ASHA, anganwadi and local administration workers on wearing masks and wearing them properly.

There is a major concern for rural areas in the recent reviews taken up by public health specialists, infection control specialists and senior doctors across the country wherein they insist that severe acute respiratory infections (Sars) must be continuously surveyed and reported.

This will help in early identification of cases and assist in tracking, tracing and treating of small pockets of infection early, as they arise. Public health centres and primary health centres in rural areas must notify these cases to nodal centres immediately.

Experts state that in the rural areas people are not aware of home-testing kits and ASHA and anganwadi workers must be equipped with these Two chain-snatchers were arrested by the Rachakonda police who recovered 70 grams of gold ornaments and a bike, all worth ₹4.1 lakh, from the accused.

According to the Meerpet police, K. Narsingh alias Nari, 25, a resident of H a s t h i n a p u r a m, and his cousin Vignesh, 19, an engineering student from Balapur, were arrested for robbery and chain snatchings.

Police said they targeted elderly women and those walking alone in secluded lanes of residential colonies. Depending upon the situation, they would either snatch chains or commit robberies.

Following a complaint from a woman, the police booked a case and, with the help of CCTV footage, identified and arrested Sarsingh and Vignesh on Thursday and remanded them to judicial custody.

CBSE schools to form result panel

The results of XII stand board examination by CBSE and ICSE will be declared by July 31, 2021.

“After perusing the scheme presented by the concerned Boards, prima facie, we have no hesitation in accepting the same and permit the Boards to proceed on that basis,” said a vacation bench comprising Justice A.M. Khanwilkar and Justice Dinesh Maheshwari in their order.

However, Justice Khanwilkar in the order pronounced by him said that the scheme “must incorporate” providing for a “dispute resolution mechanism” in case the students apply for correction of the final results declared by the concerned Boards. The court made it clear that the conduct of optional examination would be subject to “conducive situation and logistical constraint”.

Under the scheme framed by the CBSE, each school will constitute a five-member Result Committee to be headed by the principal.

Noting that the marks to be awarded will be based on the school-level assessment involving variations in the quality of question papers, evaluation standard, the mode of conduct of exams etc, in an important rider the CBSE said that the total marks awarded should be in consonance with the past performance of the school in Class XII Board examinations.

The subject wise marks assessed by the school for 2020-2021 should be within a range of +/- 5 marks obtained by students in the school in the subject in the reference year.

However, the overall average marks for the school assessed in 2020-2021, for all the subjects, should not exceed the overall average marks obtained by the school by 2 marks in the specific reference year.

Over an hour long hearing saw the court rejecting a plea by some students seeking revisiting the decision to cancel class XII exams. These students were seeking conduct of physical examination as there is a substantial decline in the number of Covid cases across the country.

“There is no question of reversing the earlier decision regarding cancellation of examination because no prejudice will be caused to the students as they can still appear in the optional examination to be concluded in due course,” the court said in its order.

In any case, the court said that the students, “who want to appear in the examination for improvisation of their marks, will get that opportunity under the scheme. That takes care of the concern of such students.”

Meanwhile the top court sought response from Andhra Pradesh, Assam, Tripura and Punjab on a plea seeking the cancellation of board examinations to be conducted by them.

Lawyer appearing for the petitioner Anubha Shrivastava Sahai and others the court that out of 28 states, 18 have cancelled their exams, 6 have conducted and completed them and remaining four have not responded.

In both the cases — CBSE/ICSE and in the matter relating to the cancellation of Class XII examination in four states — the next hearing will take place on June 21, 2021.

Property auction to fetch 13K-cr: TSHB

DC CORRESPONDENT
HYDERABAD, JUNE 17

The Telangana Housing Board and Rajiv Swagruha Corporation have submitted a report to the state government that they own 3,000 acres besides 1,200 Rajiv Swagruha flats in major cities and towns across the state, which would fetch nearly ₹13,000 crore if auctioned.

The Cabinet sub-committee on resource mobilisation headed by finance minister T. Harish Rao and comprising of ministers K.T. Rama Rao and V. Srinivas Goud met in Secretariat on Thursday to finalise the auction of Housing Board lands and flats.

The committee was given the task to recommend measures to raise revenues for the government to tide over Covid-induced financial crisis since March 2020.

The state government on June 16 allowed the HMDA to issue a notification to auction 65 acres to raise ₹2,500 crore with the minimum bid price fixed at ₹25 crore per acre.

Official sources said the stage is now set to issue notification to auction Housing Board land parcels and Rajiv Swagruha flats.

The cabinet sub committee also discussed increasing the land value across the state as there is a wide gap between the government prescribed values and market value.

The increase of land values will result in increase in registration charges and stamp duty and contribute to higher earnings for the state government from the stamps and registrations department.

In its report, the Housing Board estimated that the auction of its 3,000 acres would fetch up to ₹12,000 crore. This apart, the auction of Rajiv Swagruha flats in Bandlaguda, Pocharam, Jawaharnagar and Gajularamnagar would fetch another ₹1,200 crore. The committee asked officials to take steps to clear pending legal disputes if any on these lands and flats in courts at the earliest and see that no problems crop up during auctioning.

Injustice done to Kalyannagar: HC

The encroached land had been classified by the government as a ‘slum’ colony. In 1989, the special court constituted under the AP Land Grabbing (Prohibition) Act directed the government to allot alternative land to Kalyannagar Society. Then, the HC had also on several occasions since 1995 asked the government to allot alternative land or evict the encroachers but the orders were not implemented by the government.

The court observed that injustice was done and fraud was played on the Kalyannagar Society with encouragement from the then Congress MLA P. Janardhan Reddy and that the society was suffering since then with the prolonged legal battles.

Quoting from the Constitution that the concept of equity, justice and good conscience is integral to Indian law, the bench declared that the damage done to the society should be compensated.

The court also imposed costs of ₹2 lakh on the state of Telangana, to be given to the Kalyannagar Society within eight weeks. The court also declared the notifications issued by the government designating the area as a slum was null and void ab initio. As per the case, the Kalyannagar Co-operative Housing Society was registered as a co-operative society in 1963 with 350 members from the lower and middle class families. On 5.11.1964, the society purchased land from C. Rajya Lakshmi Devi and another individual, an extent of 34 acres and and 4,472 square yards.

In another sale deed, it purchased from A. Ramaswamy three acres and 2,489 square yards in Survey No. 128/1 and a part of Survey No. 128/10 of Yousufguda village.

On 1.3.1978, the director of town planning and the Municipal Corporation of Hyderabad (MCH) issued an approved layout to the society comprising 287 house plots in an area of 38. acres. However, the sale deeds could not be executed in favour of the members in view of the prohibition under the Urban Land (Ceiling and Regulation) Act, 1976 and the society was awaiting exemption from the provisions of the Act.

In the meantime, the land started being encroached “with help from” (then) local MLA Janardhan Reddy. Even after the court issued injunction orders, the encroachers occupied the society land. With the help of the then, 503 huts were raised in the land belonging to the society. In 1988, the government deleted the land parcel from the excess holdings under the Urban Land Ceiling Act.

A land grab case had been lodged against 503 dwellers. The court declared them as encroachers and ordered that they be evicted. However, the orders were not implemented. In 1992, the then local body declared the area as a slum but no compensation was paid to the Kalyannagar Society.

In 1993, Janardhan Reddy, then minister for labour, employment and housing, gave a statement at a meeting chaired by him that the state government desired to retain the notified land. He promised to consider giving alternative land of equal value free of cost to the Kalyannagar Society and to maintain the status quo till then.

Contrary to this, later, slum area developmental works were done. Aggrieved by this, the society members approached the High Court. The case started getting shifted from one bench to another.

Though several orders were passed by the court from time to time, directing the respondents to explore the possibility of giving alternative land to the society, nothing came of it. Ultimately the state bluntly refused to grant anything to the society.

NIZAMABAD, JUNE 17

Social media and electronic media were abuzz on Thursday with reports over TRS MP B.B. Patil purportedly defecting to the BJP.

Patil is a two-time MP from Zaheerabad. Reports claimed that Patil may shift to the BJP soon due to the changed political equations.

Patil is a native of Sirpur village in Madnoon mandal of undivided Nizamabad district (presently in Kamareddy district) and an industrialist in neighbouring Maharashtra state.

While entering politics, Patil approached the BJP in 2014. After getting ground reports on the political situation in then newly carved out Telangana state, Patil, however, joined the TRS. He won the 2014 and 2019 general elections.

Interestingly, Patil has strong relations with the BJP top leadership.

He is also closely attached to finance minister T. Harish Rao.

However, after the swarm of reports, Patil on Thursday ruled out shifting out of the party. "The TRS is a farmer friendly party and I have been given due respect. Why should I go to the BJP," he asked.

PASHUPATI KUMAR ELECTED AS LJP PRESIDENT

NAYEAR AZAD | DC
PATNA, JUNE 17

Hajipur MP Pashupati Kumar Paras, younger brother of late union minister Ram Vilas Paswan was elected as Lok Janshakti Party (LJP) national president on Thursday amid an ongoing rift with his nephew Chirag Paswan.

The decision was taken during the party's national council meeting in Patna which was chaired by former LJP MP Surajbhan Singh. Chirag's cousin Prince Raj who is in the soup over allegations of sexual harassment did not attend the meeting, party leaders said. The development comes after Paras along with four other MPs of the party staged a political coup against Chirag Paswan and deposed him as LJP president.

On Sunday four LJP MPs — Veena Devi, Chandan Singh, Chaudhary Mahboob Ali Kaiser and Prince Raj had backed Pashupati Paras as their leader. Pashupati Paras had reached Patna on Wednesday and filed a nomination on Thursday, party insiders told this newspaper that he was elected unopposed.

"I assure you that there is no dispute within the party. I have been given a big responsibility to carry forward the work started by my elder brother Ram Vilas Paswan. Therefore, it's my duty to work for the backward and downtrodden people," Pashupati Kumar Paras told reporters after he was elected as LJP's national president on Thursday.

RAUT JUSTIFIES ATTACK ON BJP WORKERS

SONU SHRIVASTAVA | DC
MUMBAI, JUNE 17

A day after the clash between the Shiv Sena and the BJP workers, the Shiv Sena said that the Sena Bhavan in Mumbai is not just a headquarter of a political party but pride of Maharashtra. The Sena spokesperson Sanjay Raut said that those who try to attack the Sena Bhavan will be rebutted in the same manner.

The Sena and BJP workers had clashed on Wednesday outside the Sena Bhavan after the BJP youth wing held a protest march against "offensive" remarks in Sena mouthpiece Saamana about a land deal controversy in Ayodhya. Accusing the Sena workers of hooliganism, the opposition party BJP in Maharashtra had also alleged that they had assaulted a woman member of the party.

The Sena leader defended his party activists for their behaviors and actions saying that they are certified goons as far as Maharashtra's identity and Hindutva are concerned. "We do not need anyone's certificate to prove that we are goons. We are certified goons. Mumbai is in Maharashtra because of goondagiri of Marathi mannos (Marathi speaking people). As we do goondagiri, therefore, the voice of Marathi Manos is at a high level in Maharashtra. If anyone tries to suppress our voice, we will have to do goondagiri," he added.

NEW DELHI, JUNE 17

Twitter India MD Manish Maheshwari was questioned by the Delhi Police in connection with the probe into the alleged 'Covid toolkit' matter, officials said.

A team of Delhi Police's Special Cell which is probing the matter was sent to Bengaluru where the Twitter India MD was questioned on May 31 in connection with the alleged 'Covid toolkit' matter, a senior police officer said.

● DELHI POLICE had also issued an official statement earlier saying the statements by Twitter on the ongoing probe in the 'toolkit' case were 'mendacious', and designed to impede lawful enquiry & seek 'dubious sympathy'.

The strongly-worded statement, which also termed Twitter's conduct "obfuscatory, diversionary and tendentious", came after the social media firm Thursday called the recent "visit" by a Delhi police team to its offices a form of "intimidation". Twitter also said it was concerned about its employees and the potential threat to freedom of expression.

The Delhi Police had also issued an official statement earlier saying the

The police action drew sharp criticism from the opposition Congress and Left which accused the government of trying to stifle free speech and indulge in intimidation.

The row over the purported 'Covid toolkit' escalated after the Delhi Police's Special Cell visited two Twitter India offices on May 24 and served a notice, asking it to share information based on which it had classified a related tweet by Sambit Patra as "manipulated media".

India slams Pak's Bill on Jadhav

DC CORRESPONDENT
NEW DELHI, JUNE 17

Slamming Pakistan's Review and Reconsideration Bill 2020 passed recently by the Pakistani National Assembly as violating the judgement of the International Court of Justice (ICJ) in the case pertaining to imprisoned former Indian naval officer Kulbhushan Jadhav, India on Thursday said the Bill "does not create a machinery to facilitate effective review and reconsideration" of the Jadhav case, "as mandated by the judgement of the ICJ".

According to reports, the Bill was passed in the Pakistani Parliament last week to provide a right to appeal to Jadhav who was sentenced in 2017 by a Pakistani military court to death on charges of "espionage and sabotage".

India called upon Pakistan to take appropriate steps to address the shortcomings in the Bill and to comply with the judgement of the ICJ "in letter and spirit". Explaining its position, New Delhi said the "Bill invites the municipal courts in Pakistan to decide whether or not any prejudice has been caused to Jadhav on account of the failure to provide consular access". This, the MEA said, was "clearly a breach of the basic tenet that municipal courts cannot be the arbiter of whether a State has fulfilled its obligations in international law". New Delhi took strong objection to the fact that the Pakistani Bill "further invites the municipal court to sit in appeal, as it were, over the judgement of the ICJ".

It may be recalled that in a major victory for India two years ago, the ICJ at The Hague in the Netherlands had on July 17, 2019, held Pakistan guilty of violation of the Vienna Convention on Consular Relations for its failure to give India consular access to Jadhav while directing Pakistan to provide "effective review and reconsideration of the conviction and sentence" (of death penalty) awarded earlier by a Pakistani military court to Jadhav.

Student-activists walk out of Tihar, thank Delhi High Court

SHWETA SINGH & SANJAY KAW | DC
NEW DELHI, JUNE 17

Two days after being granted bail by the Delhi high court, student activists Natasha Narwal, Devangana Kalita and Asif Iqbal Tanha walked out of Tihar jail in Delhi on Thursday, but only after a sessions court ordered their immediate release, ignoring Delhi Police's plea for more time to verify their permanent addresses.

Pinjra Tod activists Natasha Narwal and Devangana Kalita, and Students' Islamic Organisation activist Asif Iqbal Tanha had been booked under the UAPA anti-terror law for their alleged role in the Delhi riots last year. They were arrested in May 2020.

While granting bail to the student activists on Tuesday, the high court had observed that "in the anxiety to suppress dissent, the state has blurred the line between right to protest and terrorist activity" and if such a mindset gains traction, it would be a "sad day for democracy".

in the case, has challenged the high court bail order in the Supreme Court, which is expected to come up for hearing today.

"This shows the desperation of the government... We are women who are not scared of them... We survived because we received tremendous support from friends, from well-wishers. I thank them all," Kalita said soon after she came out of the prison.

Refusing to comment on the case, Kalita said, "We would like to thank the Delhi High Court for upholding what we believe in. Any such protest that we have done is not terrorism. It was a democratic protest, led by women."

"They won't be able to threaten us with jail. If they threaten to incarcerate us, that will only strengthen our resolve to carry on our fight," said Narwal, whose father died of Covid-19 in May this year while she was in jail. Her brother, who came to receive her, said they miss their father, who if alive would have come to greet her on walking out of jail.

In the Karkardooma court, additional sessions Judge Revinder Bedi pulled up the Delhi Police for delay in verification of addresses and sureties of the students. On the police's application seeking more time before releasing them on bail, the judge said, "I would say that this by itself cannot be a plausible reason for the accused to be kept imprisoned till the time such reports are filed."

NEW DELHI, JUNE 17

There was a slight rise in the daily Covid-19 infections in India, with 67,208 cases reported in the last 24 hours, along with 2,330 deaths. There is, however, a continuous fall in the country's active caseload, that stood at 8,26,740 on Thursday. This is the lowest decline in active cases after 71 days.

The health ministry said a net decline of 38,692 cases was seen in the last 24 hours, and active cases are now only 2.78 per cent of the country's total positive cases.

Delhi reported 158 new cases and 10 deaths, as its positivity rate dipped to 0.20 per cent. However, after a brief respite, Mumbai's Dharavi has started reporting fresh cases again.

While it may be too early to predict another wave now, health experts say that crowding and not using masks at public places after the unlocking can prove to be disastrous.

However, the next wave is unlikely to disproportionately affect children than adults, a sero-prevalence study by the World Health Organisation and All India Institute of Medical Sciences has revealed.

The SARS-CoV-2 sero-positivity rate among children was high and was comparable to the adult population in the survey, that was held in five states with a total sample size of 10,000.

The data of 4,500 participants were taken for the results of the time of the mid-term analysis from four states of India and more results are likely to come in the next two-three months.

Madhya Pradesh has reported the first case of Delta Plus, a new variant of coronavirus.

The advanced Delta variant was detected in a 65-year-old woman in Bhopal during the genome sequencing of samples sent from Madhya Pradesh to National Centre for Disease Control (NCDC), a senior health department officer said here on Thursday.

State medical education minister Vishwas Sarang has confirmed the report.

"A new variant of coronavirus has been detected in Bhopal", Mr Sarang said, citing a report of NCDC. This was the first case of Delta Plus in Madhya Pradesh and seventh in India detected till June 7, the health department officer said.

Madhya Pradesh on Thursday reported 145 new cases taking the tally of cases to 7,88,954.

gested population, there was a very high (highest reported yet in any sero-assessment) seroprevalence of 74.7 per cent, said Dr Puneet Misra, professor of community medicine at AIIMS, who led the survey.

The Serum Institute of India says it will begin Novavax trials on children from July 15 and hopes to introduce its Indian version — Covavax — by September.

Sputnik V has said it will soon offer a booster shot, adjusted to work against the Delta Covid variant, to other vaccine manufacturers.

IN ODISHA TOWN, 'NO JABS MEAN, NO BUSINESS FOR TRADERS'

AKSHAYA KUMAR SAHOO | DC
BHUBANESWAR, JUNE 17

Odisha's Sundargarh Municipality authorities have come out with an idea to create mass awareness regarding Covid-19 vaccination.

In order to motivate more and more people to take jabs to defeat Coronavirus, the district administration has announced that owners of businesses houses and shops of the town who have not taken vaccines shall not be allowed to open their establishments.

"Shopkeepers will be made aware that those who have not received jabs and also not ensured vaccination to the sales executive working under them will not be allowed to open their businesses," Sundargarh Sub-Collector Abhimanyu Behera said on Thursday.

"The first norm of the Covid management protocol is that it is executed for the welfare of the public, so people need to be aware and cooperate with the authorities be it for enforcement of guidelines or vaccination. The initiative is aimed at motivating people to align with the norms of the government, especially some sections of people who are hesitant to the inoculation drive," he said.

A few days ago, in one such step to shake off reluctance among the general masses to take the vaccine and create greater awareness about the importance of vaccination, some shopkeepers in Hinjili area in Ganjam district were seen offering a discount of at least 5 per cent to fully vaccinated people upon purchase of grocery items.

Campaign poster reads vaccination is a religious, human obligation to save lives

Kashmir clergy launch drive to end 'jab fears'

YUSUF JAMEEL | DC
SRINAGAR, JUNE 17

Islamic religious leadership of Kashmir is formally launching a Valley-wide campaign on Friday to end the Covid-19 vaccination timidity and encourage people to get vaccinated to protect themselves against the deadly virus.

The campaign under the banner of 'Mutahida Majlis-e-Ulema' (MMU), an amalgam of religious organisations and leaders, will begin with special sermons to be delivered by the imams and preachers before congregational Friday prayers to highlight the importance and urgency of the vaccination.

"At each masjid (mosque) and other places of worship the aima (Islamic leaders) will tell the faithful the wellbeing and safety of human lives is a religious and human obligation. In fact, Shariat (Islamic canonical law based on the teachings of the Qur'an and the traditions of the Prophet Muhammad often referred to as Hadith and Sunna) lays special emphasis on it," said Kashmir's chief Muslim cleric Mirwaiz Umar Farooq who is also the head of the MMU. He added that the Friday prayers would be offered strictly under the Covid guidelines and Standard Operating Procedures (SOPs).

The amalgam has also issued a poster carrying a passionate appeal to the people to shun 'vaccine hesitancy'. Mirwaiz Umar said this is being done as many people are reluctant to take vaccines apparently because of some false illusions or hearsay.

The poster written in Urdu says that in view of the surge in the number of deaths due to Covid-19 and positive cases and in order to defeat the virus it is imperative to get vaccinated by one and sundry. It also says vaccination is neither us-Islamic nor is there any baseness in it under the Sharia law but in fact, it is a religious and human obligation to save human lives.

Referring to official staistics, it says that less than 50 per cent of the population of Srinagar district has got vaccinated against Covid-19, so far. It points out that about one thousand people have died of Covid-19 in Srinagar city alone and 98 per cent of them had not been vaccinated.

Expressing serious concern over the reluctance of the majority of people in Srinagar to get vaccinated against Covid-19, the MMU has stressed upon the masses to "shun vaccine hesitancy and get administered for the shots to save themselves, their fellows and society from the deadly virus".

It said that the amalgam has, on the directions of Mirwaiz Umar Farooq who remains under house detention since August 5, 2019, in order to spread awareness regarding the importance of vaccination started a campaign through posters and social media "so that the people realise the seriousness of the issue and not exhibit any kind of carelessness in this regard".

PROMPTS LANKA
POLLUTION FEAR

Colombo, June 17: A container ship carrying chemicals sank off Sri Lanka's capital on Thursday nearly a month after catching fire, raising concerns about a possible environmental disaster, officials said.

The ship's operator said the wreck of the Singapore-flagged X-Press Pearl "is now wholly sitting on the seabed at a depth of 21 metres (70 feet)". A salvage crew was at the site to deal with any debris and report any spill, X-Press Feeders said.

The head of Sri Lanka's Marine Environment Protection Authority, Darshini Lahandapura, also confirmed that the ship had sunk.

She said it was currently unsafe to remove the wreck because of rough monsoon seas. "The sea is very violent. In the rough season, we can't do anything," she said.

BHUTAN, NEPAL
MONSOON RAINS

Thimpu, June 17: At least a dozen people have been killed in Bhutan and Nepal and several others are missing as torrential monsoon rains hit the region, triggering landslides and inundating homes, officials said Thursday.

The annual monsoon season is crucial to replenish water supplies across South Asia, but it also causes death and destruction. Ten collectors of cordyceps — a fungus valued for its alleged aphrodisiac properties — died when their remote mountain camp north of Bhutan's capital Thimpu was washed away early Wednesday.

Five others were injured and were in a stable condition in hospital, officials said.

SHOOTING

Baltimore (US), June 17: One person was killed and five others were wounded when gunmen walked up a street and opened fire on a Baltimore block from an intersection, the city's police commissioner said.

Commissioner Michael Harrison said the shooting on Wednesday erupted in a west Baltimore neighbourhood and the conditions of the five wounded ranged from serious to critical. He declined to release the identities of those who were shot.

Officers responded to reports of gunshots after 2 pm Wednesday and found two people shot, Harrison said. Those two were taken to hospitals, and the four others arrived separately in private vehicles, he said. So far investigators have learned that the six people were together on the three-lined block of rowhouses when at least two or three people began firing.

Beijing, June 17: All 13 workers, who were trapped in an iron mine in north China's Shanxi Province, have been confirmed dead, according to the local authorities. The bodies of the workers were lifted out of the well that flooded the Dahongcai iron mine in Daixian County on June 10. A rescue team comprising 1,084 people worked for six straight days.

The DNA confirmation has been completed, according to the local rescue headquarters. Police have detained 13 suspects. An investigation into the cause of the accident is underway, the state-run Xinhua news agency reported on late Wednesday night.

Chinese coal mines are one of the deadliest in the world. In 2009, China had the most mining accident fatalities in the world, with a total of 2,631 coal miners dying in accidents.

Delta variant infections in England doubling in 11 days

London, June 17: The number of people infected with the Coronavirus is increasing rapidly in England, doubling every 11 days, which coincides with the Delta variant of Covid-19 becoming dominant in the country, a new study reports on Thursday. The Imperial College London led Real-time Assessment of Community Transmission (REACT-1) analysis, based on over 100,000 home swab tests taken between May 20 and June 7, estimates that 0.15 per cent of people have the deadly virus, or roughly 1 in 670.

It found that the link between infections, hospitalisations and deaths had been weakening since February, but since late April, the trend has been reversing for hospitalisations. "We found strong evidence for exponential growth in infection from

SPIKE FED BY CORONAVIRUS STRAINS

Jakarta, June 17: Indonesia's president ordered authorities to speed up the country's vaccination campaign as the World Health Organisation warned Thursday of the need to increase social restrictions in the country amid a fresh surge of Coronavirus infections caused by worrisome variants.

We need vaccination acceleration in order to achieve communal immunity, which we hope can stop the Covid-19 spread, President Joko Widodo said in a remarks while visiting a vaccination center just outside the capital, Jakarta.

Widodo said he ordered his cabinet ministers and local governments to increase the number of people vaccinated each day to 1 million by next month. He said Indonesia is currently vaccinating half a million people a day.

"These data coincide with the Delta variant becoming dominant and show the importance of continuing to monitor infection rates and variants of concern in the community," he said.

The findings come days after UK Prime Minister Boris Johnson announced a month-long delay to an end to lockdown restrictions, citing the rising number of cases of the Delta variant — first identified in India. "These findings highlight the stark context in which we took the difficult decision to delay Step 4 of the roadmap out of lockdown," said UK Health Secretary Matt Hancock. "Cases are now rising, but thanks to our incredible vaccination programme and enhanced response package, including surge testing, we have the tools to curb the spread of this virus. We all must hold our nerve that little bit longer as our vaccine rollout continues and I urge everyone to keep observing hands, face, space and fresh air, and make sure you receive both doses," he said. — PTI

The Hong Kong Stock Exchange said in a post on Twitter Thursday afternoon Hong Kong time that its site was facing technical issues and that it was investigating. It said in another post 17 minutes later that its websites were back to normal.

Internet monitoring websites including ThousandEyes, Downtdetector.com and fmg.com showed dozens of disruptions, including to US-based airlines. Many of the outages were reported by people in Australia trying to do banking, book flights and access postal services. Australia Post, the country's postal service, said on Twitter that an "external outage" had impacted a number of its services.

U.S. CONGRESS
JUNETEENTH A
FED. HOLIDAY

Washington, June 17: The United States will soon have a new federal holiday commemorating the end of slavery. The House voted 415-14 on Wednesday to make Juneteenth, or June 19th, the 12th federal holiday.

The bill now goes to President Joe Biden's desk, and he is expected to sign it into law. Juneteenth commemorates June 19, 1865, when Union soldiers brought the news of freedom to enslaved PoC people in Galveston, Texas — two months after the Confederacy had surrendered. That was also about 2 1/2 years after the Emancipation Proclamation freed slaves in the Southern states.

It's the first new federal holiday since Martin Luther King Jr. Day was created in 1983.

"Our federal holidays are purposely few in number and recognise the most important milestones," said Rep. Carolyn Maloney, D-N.Y. "I cannot think of a more important milestone to commemorate than the end of slavery in the United States."

Rep. Sheila Jackson Lee, D-Texas, speaking next to a large poster of a PoC man whose back bore massive scarring from being whipped, said she would be in Galveston this Saturday to celebrate along with Republican Sen. John Cornyn of Texas.

"Can you imagine?" said the rather short Jackson Lee.

SC DISMISSES CHALLENGE TO OBAMACARE

Washington, June 17: The Supreme Court has dismissed a challenge to the Obama era health care law, preserving insurance coverage for millions of Americans.

The justices, by a 7-2 vote, left the entire law intact Thursday in ruling that Texas, other Republican-led states and two individuals had no right to bring their lawsuit in federal court. The Biden administration says 31 million people have health insurance because of the law known as "Obamacare."

Major provisions include protections for people with pre-existing health conditions, a range of no-cost preventive services and the expansion of the Medicaid programme. — AP

Golden Coach exhibition revives racism debate

Amsterdam, June 17: On a blustery autumn day in 2015 Dutch King Willem-Alexander and Queen Maxima for the last time stepped out of the golden coach which traditionally transported them to the opening of parliament.

Nearly six years later, the monarch was back on Thursday to unveil a newly restored carriage — but this time as the centrepiece of an exhibition at the Amsterdam Museum exploring the Netherlands' troubled relationship with its colonial past.

The horse-drawn carriage called the "De Gouden Koets" has been embroiled in a racism controversy over a picture on the left-side panel of the opulent coach, which has undergone an extensive refit.

Called "Tribute of the Colonies", the image depicts kneeling PoC people handing over produce like cocoa and sugarcane to their white masters — including to a young white woman on a throne representing the Netherlands.

Next to her, a young white man is seen giving a young PoC boy a book as he is presented by his subservient father, an image which painter Nicolaas van der Waay in 1896 said was meant to portray "civilisation."

Margriet Schavemaker, artistic director of the Amsterdam Museum, said the carriage used by the Dutch royals for baptisms, marriages and other occasions "has also become an object of controversy."

"In ongoing debates it has become known that one of the panels depicting the Dutch colonial past is making a large group in the Netherlands uncomfortable," Schavemaker said.

The carriage underwent extensive restoration in September 2015 shortly after its last parliament trip, in a day marked by pomp and ceremony when the Dutch royals are traditionally driven through the streets of The Hague.

Last year the government announced that, amid the controversy, its return to ceremonial duties would be postponed following the refit and it would go on show at the museum instead. The Amsterdam Museum show also comes as the Netherlands faces a reckoning with its history as a colonial and slave-trading power in Asia, the Caribbean and South America.

Several other Dutch museums have launched similar projects, including the famed Rijksmuseum which recently opened an exhibit entitled "Slavery". — AFP

Pragmatism in Geneva as Biden, Putin stabilise ties

America's President Joe Biden and Russia's boss Vladimir Putin, showing a remarkable order of statesmanship and good sense, avoided any temptation to offer drama and guaranteed failure in their first (business-like) meeting in Geneva on Wednesday, an outcome which may have pleased the liberal extremists of America, no matter how bad it may have been for the world.

Instead, they provided a low-key, "pragmatic", way forward in their bilateral relationship which can probably only move forward in cautious, incremental steps, so deep is the mutual mistrust accumulated in the three decades since the collapse of the USSR and the birth of Russian capitalism which does not privilege a political system that exalts Western-style individualism.

With the perpetually drunk Boris Yeltsin the new czar in Moscow when Communism ended, the US sensed they had in the bag the only country, which was its military equal and exercised geostrategic influence as well. With his early exit and the arrival on the scene of Mr Putin, a former middle-rank KGB agent, expectations from the new Russia faded as this leader fortified himself on the plank of Russian nationalism.

Mr Biden was adroit. He took Mr Putin for what he was and was not out to change him or Russia, but rather to reach preferred goals.

President Biden has played his hand with finesse. He planned his first face-to-face contact with Mr Putin very early in his presidency — and not long after calling the Russian leader "a murderer". This bolstered his liberal credentials (and his constituents loved it), and situated him as an emphatic counterpoint to his disastrous predecessor, Donald Trump, who had foolishly given credence to Moscow's assessments on bilateral issues over those of his intelligence agencies, making the West squirm. But the choreographed personal insult led Mr Putin to withdraw the Russian ambassador in Washington and a tit-for-tat recall of the American ambassador followed. The dyke in relations widened. In this background, the course that the intense three-hour long conversation between the two leaders with their key foreign policy and national security aides in tow, can only be viewed positively — more than just a glass half-full.

At separate press conferences, they confirmed this. Mr Biden used "positive" and "good" to describe the event. Mr Putin, responding to an ambush question from a prominent US news outlet, denied that the talks were marked with "hostility", and said the leaders had a "constructive" conversation. Both Presidents called the outcome "pragmatic". Mr Biden also said that Russia was not looking for "a new Cold War". A "joint communiqué" issued after the separate press conferences noted that talks will commence on restoring "strategic stability" in order to prevent unintentional conflict. At their meeting, the two leaders decided to send back their ambassadors. This is important in conducting state-to-state relations.

An important American concern was met when the Presidents agreed to institute a committee of experts to look into the issue of cyber-attacks that the US has attacked Russia for, including in meddling with its elections. Mr Biden wisely indicated that "the proof of the pudding was in the eating" and that it would become clear in a relatively short time if Moscow meant business on this. It appears the leaders of America and Russia have hinted at being constructive in dealing with trouble spots such as Afghanistan and Libya, although Syria can be more difficult.

Mr Biden was adroit. He took Mr Putin for what he was and was not out to change him or Russia, but rather to reach preferred goals. Mr Putin quoted Tolstoy to suggest "there is no happiness in life, there is only a mirage on the horizon, so cherish that". This is a realistic start. If US-Russia hostilities remain restricted, a country like India can have a broader bandwidth to operate in.

Women priests: TN's bold move

Welcoming women to the sanctum sanctorum, Tamil Nadu's minister in charge of temples, P.K. Sekar Babu, recently heralded the breaking of another glass ceiling on the distaff side. Knowledge of Agama Sastra alone will be the qualifier to be a priest and not gender, he declared, opening a Pandora's Box. Out came the naysayers with their own objections based on custom, least considering the fact that women priests are already there in substantial numbers in the country.

Apart from performing priestly duties in small temples in the state, women have also been solemnising weddings for celebrities in big cities. Very recently, Bollywood actor Dia Mirza's wedding to Vaibhav Rekhi in Mumbai was conducted by a woman priest. Earlier on, actor Aparna Sen's daughter was united in wedlock by a woman priest. Closer home, a woman who stepped into the shoes of her deceased father and took over as priest of an Amman temple near Madurai in 2006 got her right to succession ratified by the Madras high court. When the presiding deity is an Amman with the form of a woman, why should a woman not perform pujas, the judge had asked.

Yet minister Sekar Babu's idea is facing opposition. Even if he has made it clear that women priests would be given leave on the five days of their menstruation, their storming Agama temples is not that easy. Even the locus standi of a secular government in taking such a decision has been questioned. But in the land of Periyar E.V. Ramasamy, a woman inside the sanctum sanctorum might just become a reality.

RSS, BJP & Yogi factor: Key to 2024 lies in UP

Anand K. Sahay

Far & Near

The summoning of Uttar Pradesh chief minister Yogi Adityanath to New Delhi recently in the wake of widespread anxiety being expressed in the state BJP over its Assembly poll prospects in a few months, given the CM's disastrous Covid-19 management, naturally became a high-profile political event. The stakes were rightly deemed to be high. A slip in UP can ricochet at the Centre, and who knows how the pieces will fall.

The CM showed up when called — but after that the story dries up. It didn't matter that the UP leader had held really long conversations with those at the very top — Prime Minister Narendra Modi (well over an hour), home minister Amit Shah (even longer), and BJP president J.P. Nadda. Here was rich material to be tapped for political reporting, speculation, or comment, but no one did — as if on cue.

For comparison, look at Punjab, whose CM and MLAs were recently summoned to Delhi by the Congress leadership because there seems to be a crisis brewing. The news pages were filled with plausible and implausible stories or just plain repetitions for want of anything new to say. "Hold the dateline!" is an old newsroom mantra, and the media did not let go.

In the case of UP, however, there was nothing at all — not even the regurgitating of background as is frequently done, or clever words extolling the power duo at the Centre about how well they had handled the UP crisis (since nothing less than gushing praise will do in their case).

It is noteworthy that there was resounding silence on this front even after the chief minister returned to Lucknow. Top-rung BJP politicians who had just days earlier bitterly complained to their high command — and above all to the RSS bosses — about Yogi's general high-handedness, his arrogant mismanagement of the Covid crisis, and his many caste-slanted actions, seemed clueless about what had transpired in Delhi, or preferred to stay quiet if they knew. Busy newshounds, who had waxed eloquent about a PM-CM tussle and other such astounding things, fell silent.

Is the overall motif of silence in this important matter a part of a well thought out strategy crafted by the BJP, or indeed the RSS, since it is the RSS cadre on the ground who will be required to do the heavy lifting at election time? After all, it is the RSS — rather than the formal shell of the BJP — which really exercises supervision or control over the main body of legislators, and typically it is the low-key RSS organiser who plays pastor. The pastor offers counsel and keeps his superiors informed about the goings-on. He meddles, but not in full view.

Evidently, since senior BJP leaders in UP had publicly complained against the CM's mismanagement and his autocratic style, it wouldn't have done to keep quiet and do nothing; hence the directive to the CM to go to Delhi to explain himself to the big shots. This was a triumph of form over substance, and also careful choreography and convenient optics.

If any action — or concession — follows at Yogi's end as a consequence of the Centre's supposed advice, it is likely to be only about as cataclysmic as tinkering with his council of ministers. And look at what Yogi has got in return. His actions say it all. The man had the gumption to calmly hand his three principal interlocutors, as well as the President of India, some so-called Harvard University report commending his management of the pandemic which no one believes, but that's hardly the point.

The point is that Yogi was summoned but was also pandered to. He was permitted to create the impression that he was on a goodwill mission to New Delhi, and not summoned as a boy to be chastised, which is usually the fate of erring CMs of the same party as the one that rules at the Centre. It is well understood that UP is Mr Modi's first line of defence. It has already fallen in the recent panchayat elections, with BJP performing poorly. If it falls in the Assembly election too, reputations can roll in Delhi, and the fallout can be uncertain.

There are also other reasons why Yogi couldn't have been ticked off. He is an extreme egoist, a far-right maverick, who runs his own outfit, the Hindu Vahini. He is not of RSS-BJP stock. He is a stranger to institutional or collegial functioning. If he is stung, he can fight the Assembly election on his own if only to spite the BJP and deny it the votes of the ultra-right Hindu constituency. Confident of his ability to do so, the saffron-robed monk CM did not need to bend or genuflect in Delhi.

If Yogi is stung, he can fight the Assembly election on his own if only to spite the BJP and deny it the votes of the ultra-right Hindu constituency. Confident of this ability, he did not need to genuflect in Delhi.

Whatever the UP BJP, or the national BJP, may think of Adityanath and his usefulness to the party in UP, the RSS's assessment of this matter is not known. It may or may not be exactly the same as that of the BJP. Indeed, the RSS's assessment of the performance of the Union government under the present leader, especially on the handling of the pandemic, steep unemployment and inflation, surrendering of territory to China in Ladakh, and worsening relations even with Nepal, is also not known.

On this subject, of no little importance, we have just one clue. A few weeks ago, in a well-publicised address, the RSS chief, Mohan Bhagwat, held the people, the administration, as well as the government, responsible for the surge in the Covid second wave numbers and the exceptionally high death figures. This forced the government to stop in its tracks in the planning of a false propaganda blitz on the handling of the pandemic.

But the Prime Minister did not fail to fire a riposte at Mr Bhagwat in his June 7 address to the nation. Without any reference to the latter, he sang his government's praises and ran down its opponents and critics. Such an open, daring, even insolent, defiance of the RSS sarsanghchalak by a BJP or Jan Sangh leader, mounted in full public view, has not been encountered before.

It will be interesting to know how Mr Bhagwat has taken the insult, and whether the RSS organisation is behind him foursquare. The untangling of this puzzle can tell us something about how things might shape in UP, or indeed in Delhi.

LUXURY CARS

It is a shame that money is being squeezed from the common man in Telangana state to fund an extravagant lifestyle for additional collectors (CM gives SUV surprise to officials, DC, June 14). This at a time when the GHMC staff were not paid and small hospitals are being banned for excess billing so that corporate hospitals will have more footfall. Is such splurge of public money unquestionable?

In its ambitious plan to implement the Haritha Haram this year, I hope the GHMC will take care not to plant saplings along roadsides and central medians (TS eyes 33% green cover, DC, June 17). Also, when the trees are mature and fully grown, they will interfere with overhead power cables and disrupt power supply after thunderstorms.

Charminar to be lightened

By a staff reporter

HYDERABAD, June 17. The historic Charminar is to be lightened within two months.

Two points have not been finalised from where light would be focussed on the monument from Mecca Masjid side and a point next to the bus stand. Internal illumination is also being arranged.

The Charminar was constructed in 1591 by the founder of Hyderabad, Quli Qutub Shah. There has been public clamour that the monument should be beautified by laying parks around it as it was visited by thousands of tourists.

India's culture & how it evolved... Yoga is exercise, it's not Hinduism

Most of India's culture has been much influenced and shaped by the successive waves of invasions from the northwest. How we look at it depends on how far back we want to go. The northwestern waves were a continuous process till continental Indian power was consolidated by the rise of the British in the eighteenth and nineteenth centuries.

These hordes were mostly not encumbered by religious ideology or cultural baggage and the Brahmanical elite quite willingly assimilated them into the Hindu fabric and gave them a place in the Hindu social hierarchy. Possibly the last of these hordes were the Buddhist Kushans led by Kanishka who established their dominance over the Aryavarta region, stretching from the Indus to Pataliputra. Kanishka was a descendant of Kujula Kadphises, founder of the Kushan dynasty that ruled much of Central Asia, including Afghanistan. Buddhism and Brahminical Hinduism had a long history of theological intermingling and cultural exchange.

The waves after this came armed with Islam and the process of complete assimilation ceased. The Afghan and Mughal kings of Delhi too shared pretty much the same geographical origins as Kanishka and those before him. But Islam made them different. This difference gave rise to a new era of, for lack of a better description, separate development, which was what apartheid was also meant to be. That separateness can be seen even today. But it wasn't as if racial and cultural intermingling ceased. While it was common, it was no longer the norm. Yet the pre-British story of India was how these two great theologies and cultures fused to give the region new languages, art forms, literature, music and architecture. Among the greatest exponents of our ragas and sangeet were Muslims, just as Hindus like Firaq Gorakhpuri (Raghupati Sahay) and Ram Prasad Bismil became great writers in Urdu. Only our theologies became impervious and separate dogmas. Bade Ghulam Ali Khan and Bismillah Khan were not singing Hindu songs and playing Hindu ragas, just as Wadali Brothers, Puranchand and Pyarelal, were not singing Muslim songs. Unfortunately, of late we have seen an acceleration towards separation when with time we should be seeing more creative fusion.

The All-India Muslim Personal Law Board, the VHP's Muslim version, opposes the celebration of International Yoga Day on June 21. This is utterly misguided, unfortunate and silly. It calls yoga a religious symbol. It is not. Today it's just a school of balance-focused exercises, pure and simple. Like Tai Chi. I wonder what they would say about Hyderabad's Nawab Sadiq Jung Bahadur "Hilm", who wrote: "Kanhaiya yaad hai kuch bhi hamaari"; or Mah Laqa Bai or Chanda Bibi, who had a diwan or collection of poems in Dakhni called "Gulzar-e-Mahlaqa".

Yoga, like jihad, takes different meanings by what is prefixed or suffixed to it. Jihad is an Arabic word that just means "striving" or "struggling", especially with a praiseworthy aim. It was meant as self-betterment, but in the Islamic context it has acquired very different meanings. Yoga as exercise is a physical activity — mainly of postures in sequences that are sometimes accompanied by breathing exercises. It's this yoga that has become familiar worldwide, especially in Europe and the United States. It is derived from the postures used in the medieval spiritual discipline of Hathya Yoga.

The AIMPLB specifically cites Surya Namaskar as offensive, but it's just a common sequence of asanas. Most Hindus revere the Sun as it is the giver of life and sustenance. Due to this, some Hindus set aside a part of their daily worship for salutations to the Sun by prostrations. This method of adoration affords them so much muscular activity that it takes to some extent the place of physical exercise. Muslims can practise these same asanas without worshipping the Sun. But before they reject the Sun salutation, they'll do well to recall Allama Iqbal, who wrote: "Ai aaf-taab! Hum ko zia-e-shaoor de/ Chasm-e-khirod ko apni tajjalli se noor de." (O radiant one! Grant us the grace of wisdom/Let our eyes see reason in your resplendent glow.)

I only hope some of the "grace of wisdom" will penetrate the dark recesses of minds in the AIMPLB. Muslims as whole will do well to listen to saner voices in the community like Prof. Mohd Abbas Niazi of AMU, who said: "Yoga is an exercise, and no religion is against a healthy lifestyle." Or quietly just don't do yoga, without making a hullabaloo over it. But don't dismiss it as unsecular. Yoga is no extension of Hinduism, just as a raga isn't. The Brihadesshi describes raga as "a combination of tones which, with beautiful illuminating graces, pleases people".

Modern yoga practices' only link with Hinduism is that it evolved in India. By this standard, they must oppose many mathematical principles that evolved in ancient India and think of algebra as an exclusive Islamic discipline. Yoga is a non-sectarian physical and mental health-oriented set of exercises. If yoga is Hindu, then karate is Buddhist, kung fu is Confucian and taekwondo also Buddhist. Will the AIMPLB seek a ban on them too?

The RSS and BJP governments all over India are trying to impose yoga as an exercise in schools. Like any exercise, this too should be optional. Those who want to skip yoga can use it for some other form of exercise. But exercise is a must. When I was in school, we used to have an exercise period every day. Some played soccer, others played kabaddi, some just marched about, drilled by the NCC instructor. We didn't have yoga then. It was still a Western fad.

Tariff value for edible oil import slashed

The government has reduced the tariff value for import of edible oil, including palm oil, by up to $112 per tonne, a move which can lower domestic prices. The Central Board of Indirect Taxes and Customs, through a notification, has cut the tariff import value of crude palm oil by $86 per tonne, and of RBD and crude palmolein by $112 per tonne each. It also reduced the base import price of crude soybean oil by $37 per tonne.

■ Rupee loses 76p, to remain weak
Hawkish US Fed comments trip ₹FALAKNAAZ SYED
MUMBAI, JUNE 17

The rupee fell sharply on Thursday breaking the 74-mark after the US Federal Reserve held rates unchanged but turned a little hawkish in its monetary policy commentary, indicating two rate hikes in 2023.

Federal Reserve chairman Jerome Powell said that there had also been initial discussions about when to pull back on the Fed's $120 billion in monthly bond purchases, a conversation that would be completed in coming months as the economy continues to heal.

The surprisingly hawkish tone drove US treasury yields and the dollar up, weakening the Indian currency to its lowest level since early May and making it a top loser among Asian emerging market currencies.

The Fed's comments came in conjunction with the Reserve Bank of India's (RBI) reiteration of its forex stance in its latest bulletin, in which it indicated that India's record $600 billion foreign exchange reserves might not be good enough, as it falls short on some measures, including import cover and liability outflows. Analysts expect the rupee to remain an underperformer among emerging market currencies.

At the interbank forex market, the domestic unit opened weak at 73.65 against the American currency, then lost further ground and finally closed at 74.08, losing 76 paise over its previous close.

On Wednesday, the rupee had settled at 73.32. The domestic currency has lost 128 paise in the last eight trading sessions.

Weakness in global equity markets—after the Fed surprised investors by signalling faster-than-expected rate hikes—and the sharp drop in the rupee sapped the risk appetite of stock traders in Mumbai. The Sensex ended 0.34 per cent lower at 52,323.33 and the Nifty-50 declined 0.48 per cent to 15,691.40.

The Dollar Index, which gauges the greenback's strength against a basket of six currencies, rose 0.6 per cent to 91.67.

"While foreign exchange reserves provide cushions against unforeseen external shocks, levels are often deceptive," RBI researchers, led by deputy governor Michael Debabrata Patra, wrote in the RBI Bulletin for June 2021, released on Wednesday. "A better gauge of external vulnerability is an assessment of specific indicators."

Forex reserves surged to $605 billion in the week to June 4 as the RBI mopped up dollars flowing into the nation's booming stock market as well as via foreign direct investments. The pile is the world's fifth-biggest after China, Japan, Switzerland and Russia, and is enough to cover 15 months of imports. But that's less than the 39 months cover offered by Switzerland's reserves, 22 by Japan's, 20 by Russia's and 16 months by China's pile, said the RBI researchers.

"This (the Fed's comments) comes in conjunction with RBI's reiteration of its FX stance in yesterday's bulletin, where it indicated that FX reserves are still not adequate enough when seen in the light of cross country comparison ratios, high net international investment position of (-)12.9 per cent of GDP and random shocks amid heightened global uncertainty—all of it implying that RBI's tactical forex intervention in forex will be biased towards dollar purchases, keeping INR subdued/EM underperformer even in case of healthy EM flows," said Madhavi Arora, lead economist, Emkay Global.

OIL TUMBLES

MULTI-YEAR
HIGHSSCOTT DISAVINO
SINGAPORE, JUNE 17

Oil prices slumped nearly 3 per cent from their highest level in years on Thursday as the US dollar strengthened after the Federal Reserve signalled it might raise interest rates as soon as 2023 and hopes the United States and Iran could come to a nuclear agreement.

But an upcoming election in Iran on Friday could scuttle the nuclear talks and leave US sanction on Iran's oil exports in place.

Brent futures fell $2.07, or 2.8 per cent, to $72.32 a barrel by 12:22 pm EDT (1622 GMT), while US crude fell $2.00, or 2.8 per cent, to $70.15.

On Wednesday, Brent settled at its highest since April 2019 and WTI at its highest since October 2018.

The US dollar strengthened to its highest since mid April against a basket of other currencies after the Federal Reserve signalled it might raise interest rates at a much faster pace than assumed.

A firmer greenback makes oil more expensive in other currencies, which could dent demand.

Indirect talks between Tehran and Washington on reviving the 2015 Iran nuclear deal have come closer than ever to an agreement, but essential issues remain to be negotiated, the top Iranian negotiator said on Thursday. —Reuters

CII pitches for ₹3L cr stimulus to spur growth

New Delhi, June 17: The Indian economy requires a Rs 3 lakh crore fiscal stimulus, including cash transfer to households through Jan Dhan accounts to spur economic growth amid the pandemic, industry chamber CII said on Thursday and pitched for appointment of a 'Vaccine Czar' for speedy vaccination coverage.

CII president T. V. Narendran also said the chamber expects GDP to grow at 9.5 per cent in 2021-22 as the strong growth in the second half of the fiscal year will be supported by robust external demand and large-scale coverage of vaccination, allowing resumption of economic activity.

He also advocated for appointment of a "Vaccine Czar" for speedy vaccination coverage.

The new president said suitable fiscal measures to alleviate the stress of people impacted by the second wave of Covid-19 are the need of the hour.

The Indian economy is a consumption-led economy and the pandemic has impacted the consumer demand and due to this, the chamber has called for measures such as cash transfer as a number of actions are needed to deal with this demand shock, he told reporters.

"Fiscal stimulus of Rs 3 lakh crore is required... There is room for administering additional fiscal stimulus of up to Rs 3 lakh crore," he said adding the RBI should expand its balance sheet to accommodate the increased stimulus so that lending costs are contained. Measures suggested by it

INDUSTRY VOICE

■ Economy requires ₹3 lakh crore fiscal stimulus, including cash transfer to households through Jan Dhan accounts to spur growth

T. V. Narendran

■ A 'Vaccine Czar' be appointed for speedy vaccination coverage

■ Other suggestions include enhanced MNREGA allocations; short-term GST cuts to boost demand; time bound tax relief/interest subvention/stamp duty concession for home buyers include enhanced MNREGA allocations from the budgeted amount; short-term and focused GST cuts to boost demand; time bound tax relief/interest subvention/stamp duty concession for home buyers; LTC cash voucher scheme like last year; and extension of the Aatmanirbhar Bharat Rozgar Yojana till March 31, 2022.

Narendran also asked for ensuring timely payment to companies, including MSMEs; accelerating public works programmes to ensure implementation of NIP; hiking ECLGS (Emergency Credit Line Guarantee Scheme) amount to Rs 5 lakh crore, reduction in excise duty on fuel and inclusion of ATF (aviation turbine fuel) and other fuel products in GST (Goods and Services Tax).

On vaccination, he said there should be minimum 71.2 lakh average daily vaccination doses from now till December 2021 to cover the entire adult population.

"The Vaccine Czar (or minister) should be empowered to undertake actions like in the UK on a daily campaign to track domestic vaccine production and import supplies; equitable distribution of vaccines; track progress on vaccine deployment and administration; and using a dashboard approach and share progress reports daily," he said.

He said vaccination is a complex process as it needs coordination among different agencies, states, Centre, private and public sectors. "Lot of players are involved in the process..."

So for all that a single person contact is required with whom everyone can deal with," the CII president, who is also CEO and MD of Tata Steel, said.

He also called for incentivising people to get vaccinated—at the bottom of the pyramid, there should be cash/ food/ insurance incentive for those taking two doses and for the relatively better off, the government could offer rebate on air/train travel within the country.

He said the cumulative impact of the two Covid waves on incomes and consumer sentiment, coupled with the rise in household medical expenses in the second wave, may affect consumer demand for some time. —PTI

More Telangana firms plan public issue

RAVI RANJAN PRASAD
MUMBAI, JUNE 17

Companies from the Telangana State are queuing up for stock market debut after the recent successful listing of Gland Pharma and MTAR Technologies.

Hyderabad-based KIMS Hospitals and Doodla Dairy's initial public offerings (IPOs) are currently open for subscription.

Vijaya Diagnostics Centre, Gemini Edibles &

Fats India and MedPlus Health Services may tap the primary market in the near future to raise about Rs 3,850 crore, according to market sources.

Vijaya Diagnostics filed the draft red herring prospectus with the Securities and Exchange Board of India in early June. It has a network of 80 diagnostics centres and 11 reference laboratories across 13 cities and towns in Telangana, Andhra Pradesh, NCR and Kolkata.

Vijaya Diagnostics' Rs 1,000 crore public offer is an offer for sale by promoter S. Surendranath Reddy and private equity investor Kedaara Capital.

Hyderabad-based edible oil company Gemini Edibles & Fats India produces and markets rice bran oil. The company is looking to raise around Rs 850 crore from the primary market, sources said.

Hyderabad-based MedPlus Health Services, an online pharmacy and general store, is planning to raise around Rs 1,500 crore from the primary market and has shortlisted merchant bankers for the public offer. The company may file its draft offer document by August.

MedPlus Health Services was started by Dr. Madhukar Gangadi in 2006 with its first pharmacy store in Hyderabad. MedPlus is the second largest pharmacy retail chain in the country with over 2000 pharmacy stores.

Tide turns for banker who quit and got $1.6 mn in litigation

GASPARD SEBAG
JUNE 17

A Paris banker who quit Mediobanca SpA's Messier Maris & Associates won a 1.3 million euros ($1.6 million) payout after convincing judges he'd been unfairly treated by the M&A boutique.

But that was 2018. Last week, a Paris court put the finishing touches on a costly turnaround that left Laurent Azout losing all but a fraction of his award and even owing the company thousands of euros for not working his three-month notice period. The legal saga puts the spotlight on a French provision called a "prise d'acte," often used by white-collar workers to complain that their employer's behaviour is so egregious they simply can't stay. In effect, employees can quit while blaming their bosses for their departure and subsequently collect unfair-dismissal payouts in court. The provision allows an employee to terminate a job contract if the employer carries out "sufficiently serious breaches," the Paris judges had ruled.

After joining Messier Maris in 2011 to run the newly created structure's telecom, media and technology sector, Azout got nearly 1.7 million euros over four years through a so-called guaranteed-bonus programme. The awards were meant to ensure his pay was sufficient as he built up a new clientele after leaving Lazard Ltd and until he started collecting performance-based "origination" bonuses.

The judges considered in their ruling that the phasing out of the guaranteed bonus was justified given that Azout had received a 1.1 million-euro origination bonus in 2015.

The 43-year-old was ordered in the Paris appeals court last week to pay Messier Maris 54,999.99 euros for not working his three-month notice period. —Bloomberg

Flipkart, Amazon file plea against HC order

SANGEETHA G
CHENNAI, JUNE 17

Flipkart and Amazon have approached a division bench of the Karnataka High Court challenging its earlier order permitting probe by the Competition Commission of India.

Flipkart filed the appeal on Wednesday and Amazon on Thursday. The petitions challenge the High Court single bench's order of June 11 that had dismissed their plea against the CCI probe.

The companies pleaded that the single judge's order had deviated from the binding view of the Supreme Court, and allowed the CCI to initiate an investigation, without ascertaining whether the practices complained of have resulted in any adverse effect on competition as per the Competition Act.

The CCI had ordered a probe in January 2020 against both Amazon and Flipkart on a complaint filed by the Delhi Vyapar Mahasangh (DVM), representing small businesses.

The petitioner had alleged that the e-commerce companies were violating the competition laws while selling smart phones on their platform.

The Delhi Vyapar Mahasangh had levelled allegations of predatory pricing, deep discounting, preferential seller listing, and exclusive partnerships, among others, against Amazon and Flipkart. The Confederation of All India Traders (Cait) too had impleaded itself as a party in the case. The e-commerce companies have been pleading that they are only a platform and sellers are responsible for matters related to discounts.

In February, the e-commerce players got a stay on the probe from the Karnataka High Court, which found that the ongoing investigation by the Enforcement Directorate (ED) should be first completed before the CCI could initiate a probe. The ED in 2019 had initiated an investigation against Amazon and Flipkart for alleged FDI violation.

VEHICLE POLLUTION
CERTIFICATES TO HAVE
PHONE NUMBERS

New Delhi, June 17: The Ministry of Road Transport and Highways has issued a notification to make the PUC (pollution under control) certificate for all vehicles uniform across the country and also to link the PUC database with the National Register.

As per the changes in the Central Motor Vehicles Rules 1989, the QR code shall be printed on the PUC form and will have details of the vehicle, owner and the status of the emission.

The new PUC will have vehicle owner's mobile number, name and address, engine number and chassis number.

The concept of rejection slip is being introduced for the first time.

"A common format of rejection slip is to be given to the vehicle owner in case the test result value is more than the maximum permissible value," an official statement said.

This document can be shown at the service centre for getting the vehicle serviced. —PTI

Adani juggernaut will roll on but it needs quality investors

ANDY MUKHERJEE
JUNE 17

Gautam Adani's debt-fuelled empire received a jolt this week when the Economic Times reported that three of the six Mauritius-based funds that have invested most of their money in the Indian billionaire's stocks had seen their accounts frozen by the national share depository.

The Adani Group refuted the report as "blatantly erroneous," helping to put a floor below plunging share prices. But not before $6 billion of wealth was lost on Monday. The jitters returned the next day and continued through Thursday.

A temporary bout of nervousness in the stock market won't shake Asia's second-richest man, who has managed to sustain - without any visibility on future profit - a decade-long entanglement in a controversial and costly coal mine investment in Australia. Behind that confidence lies the workhorse of the group. Adani Ports & Special Economic Zone Ltd. is spewing $1 billion of cash annually, a nine-fold jump from 2014. All that the businessman needs to make his bets pay off is a decade-long dream run in which India goes from lower-middle-income economy to higher-middle-income nation.

That jump in per capita income may have been delayed even before Covid-19. Still, when the growth spurt eventually comes, it should trigger a hunger for commodities similar to what China witnessed between 2006 and 2016. By supplying electricity to 1.4 billion Indians when they're sleeping, providing them with piped gas when they're sitting down for breakfast, and hosting their data when they're browsing the Internet and waiting for a flight to take off from one of his airports, Adani will collect the cash that will justify the estimated $20 billion debt in the group's listed companies.

That's why the turbulence this week isn't entirely without significance. In case of lingering damage to investor confidence, the conglomerate may need to taper its breathless expansion, lest financiers turn skittish as well. And that won't do for Adani.

In less than three decades, his low-key trading firm has transformed itself into a massive owner of energy and transport assets in the country. Now the businessman wants to expand into cement manufacturing, presumably making use of the fly ash produced by his power plants. An initial public offering for the airport business may also be on the cards.

It would be a typical move. To grab the capital-guzzling opportunities that have come its way, the original firm, Adani Enterprises Ltd, has spun off several units into the public market. But the list of shareholders of these stocks, which have risen 200 to 900 per cent in value in the past year, need some explaining. Take Adani Green Energy Ltd, which wants to be the world's largest renewable energy producer by 2030. Earlier this year, the firm sold a 20 per cent stake to Total SE.

That's a solid name. As are Vanguard Group Inc and Blackrock Inc, which have small shares.

Sandwiched between them, however, are the likes of Elara India Opportunities Fund. The $4 billion investment vehicle seems to have found most of its opportunities in Adani group shares. Look beyond the 97 per cent of the fund's assets that are parked in five of them, and it doesn't hold even a $1 million stake in what other fund managers would typically buy in India.

Elara isn't alone. Six Mauritius-based offshore funds have put more than 95 per cent of their assets ($2 billion to $4 billion) into Adani's firms.

In an interview with CNBC, Jugeshinder Singh, the CFO of Adani

Group, said that more high-quality institutions will come as the firms establish a longer track record in public markets. He also argued that the questions that are being asked of him about obscure fund managers should ideally be answered by the investors themselves. Trouble is, where do we find them? I could have asked analysts, but I couldn't find a single one who covers the Adani Green stock the market values at $25 billion.

The Adani juggernaut will roll on. However, as the group gets bigger—and more covetous of cash-generating assets—it would need larger dollops of outside equity. It would be helpful if it comes from investors who at least have a website. —Bloomberg

Eight new girls in India hockey team

Bengaluru: India on Thursday named eight Olympic debutants and as many veterans in its 16-member women's hockey squad for the Tokyo Games to be held from July 23 to August 8. The squad is a perfect mix of youth and experience and includes as many as eight players who had represented India in the 2016 Rio Olympics. The team will be captained by star striker Rani Rampal in the quadrennial Games. The eight Olympic debutants include drag-flicker Gurjit Kaur, Udita, Nisha, Neha, Navneet Kaur, Sharmila Devi, Lalremsiami, the first player hailing from Mizoram in the team, and Salima Tete. Tete had led the Indian team at the 2018 Youth Olympic Games at Buenos Aires to a silver medal performance. — PTI

Nurse says docs ‘killed Maradona’

San Isidro: A lawyer for a nurse under investigation in the death of Argentine football great Diego Maradona said on Wednesday that doctors killed him through negligence. “They killed Diego,” attorney Rodolfo Baque told reporters after his client, nurse Dariana Gisela Madrid, was questioned by prosecutors. Maradona died of a heart attack last November at the age of 60, weeks after undergoing brain surgery for a blood clot. Madrid, 36, is one of seven people under investigation for manslaughter after a board of experts looking into Maradona's death found he had received inadequate care and was abandoned to his fate for a “prolonged, agonising period.” Baque insisted it was the doctors treating Maradona while he recovered from the brain operation, not his client, who were to blame for the football legend's death. — AFP

Ledecky locks up two Games spots

Omaha, United States: Katie Ledecky powered through a punishing and unprecedented double at the US Olympic swimming trials Wednesday, winning the 200m and 1,500m freestyles to keep building her Tokyo programme. Little more than an hour after winning the 200m free, Ledecky returned to win the 1,500m in 15min 40.50sec, shaving five-hundredths of a second off her previous best this year. Ledecky launched her night by adding the 200 metres to the 400 metres freestyle victory she claimed on Monday, giving herself a chance to defend two of the four titles she won in Rio de Janeiro in 2016. — AFP

Skipper Ramos to leave Real Madrid

Madrid: Sergio Ramos broke down in tears, saying leaving Real Madrid was one of the most difficult moments of his life as he bid farewell on Thursday after 16 years at the club. He played 671 games for Real Madrid and will be remembered as one of the club's greatest ever players, having won five La Liga titles and four Champions Leagues. The 35-year-old was unable to agree an extension to his contract and will become a free agent on July 1. Ramos and Real Madrid president Florentino Perez delivered short speeches in a presentation room at the club's training ground, with Ramos' family in the audience. “The moment has come, one of the most difficult in my life, because you are never ready to leave Real Madrid,” Ramos said. — AFP

ULTIMATE TEST

India, NZ in battle for legacy as WTC final begins today

Southampton, June 17: Virat Kohli carries the expectations of a billion while cricket romantics will pin their hopes on Kane Williamson when India and New Zealand engage in a battle to create a lasting legacy in pristine whites in the inaugural World Test Championship final starting here on Friday.

For the connoisseurs of the glorious game, Test cricket is the ultimate format and despite its aura, the 144-year-old history needed a facelift along with a context which the World Test Championship provided despite various bottlenecks, including the Covid-19 pandemic. For Kohli, India's most successful Test captain, a trophy-less cabinet doesn't do justice to the champion performer that he has been for a decade. Last one forgets, he has been a fine leader in his own right even though Mahendra Singh Dhoni may forever remain a sentimental favourite. Kohli needs a global triumph. Every captain needs it but perhaps the Indian captain wants it more.

It's how history will remember him just like it remembers Dhoni with a lot of respect and utmost fondness for those heroic World title wins.

Williamson stands in his way with a bunch of fine cricketers and the most amiable set of players that one would come across in international cricket.

They are India's rivals but when Williamson hits those cover drives, Devon Conway teases a Ashwin or Jadeja, Boult gets one banana inswinger aimed at Rohit Sharma's boot-laces, the crazy fans of a cricket-mad nation wouldn't possibly be able to hate them. — PTI

Just another game: Virat

Southampton, June 17: India captain Virat Kohli on Thursday asserted that one Test match is not a “true reflection” of his team even if it happens to be the World Test Championship final against New Zealand here and he is treating it as “just another” game.

For the Indian captain and his team, the WTC final is like their Test debuts as young players trying to come up the ranks.

“One game over five days. It's not going to reflect anything and those who understand the game know and also what has gone over the period of last four to five years,” Kohli said on the eve of the big final against the Black Caps.

“If we win, cricket will not stop and if we lose also, cricket won't stop. We are playing in quest of excellence and understand who we are as a team,” he added.

He was not forthcoming when a question on team combination was posed based on a previous answer that the team would select a composition “with all bases covered” regardless of the weather forecast of rain on opening day.

“... A team with enough batting depth and bowling resources,” he said when asked if he would factor in the rain and overcast conditions.

He was also dismissive when asked if this was the biggest cricketing event of his illustrious career.

“This is just another

Test match. All these things (WTC final) look good from the outside. One game can't become a do-or-die game.”

KANE PLAYS DOWN FAVOURITES TAG

New Zealand skipper Kane Williamson on Thursday said a place in the final against India is a testament to the team's growth over the past two years but he is not reading too much into the favourites tag given to his side.

“Firstly, we are really looking forward to the match, it's been quite a long time coming. In terms of favourites, these tags that come about. We are much more concerned with the cricket that we want to play,” Williamson said. — PTI

Locatelli blow for Swiss

Rome, June 17: Manuel Locatelli scored a brace and Ciro Immobile added a late third as Italy sealed their place in the Euro 2020 last 16 on Wednesday with a game to spare after a 3-0 win over Switzerland in Rome.

Sassuolo midfielder Locatelli put the Azzurri ahead after 26 minutes in the Group A clash, adding a second just after the break with Immobile scoring for the second consecutive game a minute from time.

Roberto Mancini's side are top of Group A with six points from two games, with six goals scored and none conceded, two points clear of Wales who beat Turkey 2-0 earlier.

Italy will advance as Group A winners if they avoid defeat against surprise Euro 2016 semi-finalists Wales at the Stadio Olimpico on Sunday.

The only bad news for the Italians in a game they dominated was the loss of captain Giorgio Chiellini who hobbled off the pitch with a muscle injury in the first half.

The 36-year-old Juventus defender had a 20th-minute goal ruled out for handball by VAR and four minutes later asked to be replaced, holding his thigh.

Lazio defender Francesco Acerbi took his place, making his debut in a major international tournament at the age of 33, with the captain's armband handed to Juventus teammate Leonardo Bonucci.

WALES CLOSE IN ON KNOCKOUTS

Aaron Ramsey and Connor Roberts scored as Wales took a huge step towards reaching the last 16 with a 2-0 win over Turkey in Baku.

Wales, semi-finalists five years ago, moved top of Group A before Italy host Switzerland later in the day in Rome.

Captain Gareth Bale missed a penalty before setting up Roberts for his goal during injury time.

THE RESULTS

North Macedonia	1

Italy	3
(Locatelli 26, 52, Immobile 89)
Switzerland	0
Turkey	0
Wales	2
(Ramsey 42, Roberts 90+5)

“We've given ourselves a brilliant opportunity tonight,” Ramsey said.

“It (the penalty) was a big moment in the game but we dug in, to a man we left everything out there. That's what we've built our success on.”

NERVY WIN FOR UKRAINE

Andriy Yarmolenko scored one goal and set up Roman Yaremchuk for another as Ukraine defeated North Macedonia 2-1 to boost their last-16 hopes. The West Ham forward grabbed the opener on 29 minutes in Bucharest and then teed up Yaremchuk with a brilliant first-time pass to double the lead five minutes later.

Ezgjian Alioski pulled a goal back for North Macedonia just before the hour as he converted the rebound from his missed penalty. — AFP

MISFIRING CROATIA AIM TO IMPROVE

Glasgow, June 17: Croatia's chances of advancing in the European Championship hinge on two things — firing up a struggling front line and containing Czech Republic forward Patrik Schick. Under pressure to deliver after reaching the World Cup final three years ago, Croatia were stifled against England in the first group match and lost 1-0.

Croatia assistant coach Vedran Corluka called on the team to be “more dangerous” and “attack-minded” in the Group D game against Czech Republic at Hampden Park on Friday.

RASHFORD HOPES TO START VS SCOTS

Marcus Rashford's status as a national figurehead couldn't earn a starting spot in the opening win against Croatia but he did come off the bench and finish wearing the captain's armband after Harry Kane was substituted. It's a sign of the depth of options available to England coach Gareth Southgate that Rashford is a backup despite his 21 goals in 57 appearances for Manchester United last season. “You have to be professional about it,” Rashford said at England's St. George's Park training base. — AP

WOMEN'S | ONE-OFF TEST

Debutant Shafali falls short of ton

Bristol, June 17: Debutant Shafali Verma fell agonisingly short of what would have been a sensational Test hundred against England in the one-off Test on Thursday.

Shafali was dismissed for 96 after she put on a brilliant opening stand of 167 runs with Smriti Mandhana.

In pursuit of England's mammoth 396 for nine in their first innings, India were 167 for one in 50 overs when Shafali walked back to the pavilion. India still trail by 229 runs. Mandhana was unbeaten on 66.

Shafali and Mandhana had provided India a confident start but the visitors still have a mountain to climb.

England's total of 396 was the highest-ever total scored by a team against India in Test.

Verma was at her usual aggressive self as she cut and pulled in her own inimitable style. The 17-year-old not only presented the straight bat for defence with grace, she also hit a six off Nat Sciver with remarkable ease.

It was only the second six hit by an Indian woman in Test cricket. Mandhana was cautious yet fluent. She got her first boundary when she punched one off Sciver in the cover region. When she got the opportunity, Mandhana did not hesitate to pull. Her elegant drives were a delight to watch.

She raised the team's fifty with one such well-

Cross missed a chance to dismiss Mandhana (when on 23) when she dropped the left-hander in her follow-through.

This was after Indian bowlers were made to put in some hard yards for the second consecutive day.

Debutant Sophia Dunkley (74 not out) led the charge with a resolute unbeaten half-century and two crucial partnerships with tail-enders after England resumed at the overnight score of 269 for six.

Dunkley first added 56 runs for the eighth wicket with Sophie Ecclestone (17) and then forged a 70-run stand with Anya Shrubsole, who punished the Indian bowlers in her career-best 47.

England declared their innings when Shrubsole was bowled by Sneha Rana, who ended up as India's best bowler with a four-wicket haul.

Shrubsole was aggressive in the post-lunch session, punishing spinner Rana for two hours and a six. She also creamed off boundaries off pacer Shikha Pandey.

Nadal out of Oly and Wimbledon

Paris, June 17: Rafael Nadal said on Thursday he was withdrawing from Wimbledon and the Tokyo Olympics in a bid “to prolong my career”.

The 35-year-old Spaniard, who won Olympic gold and Wimbledon in 2008, triumphing again at the All England Club two years later, revealed his decision on Twitter. “I have decided not to participate at this year's Championships at Wimbledon and the Olympic Games in Tokyo,” he tweeted.

“It's never an easy decision to take but after listening to my body and discussing (ing) it with my team I understand that it is the right decision.”

World number one Novak Djokovic last week ended Nadal's four-year reign as French Open champion and went on to seal his 19th Grand Slam.

“The goal is to prolong my career and continue to do what makes me happy, that is to compete at the highest level and keep fighting for those professional and personal goals at the maximum level of competition,” said Nadal.

SUPERSTAR NEYMAR TO MISS GAMES

Paris Saint Germain striker Neymar, the world's most expensive footballer, will not play for Brazil at the Tokyo Olympics, but veteran Daniel Alves did make the squad announced Thursday. Neymar's PSG teammate Marquinhos, who also landed a gold medal in Rio five years ago, is another name not on coach Andre Jardine's list. — AFP

ERIKSEN TO BE FITTED WITH ICD HEART-STARTER DEVICE

Copenhagen, June 17: Christian Eriksen will be fitted with an implantable device to monitor his heart rhythm, the Danish football federation said on Thursday.

Eriksen is recovering in a Copenhagen hospital after suffering cardiac arrest during Denmark's game against Finland at the European Championship.

The Danish federation said doctors have determined that Eriksen needs to have an ICD implantable cardioverter-defibrillator. “This device is necessary after a cardiac attack due to rhythm disturbances,” the federation said in a statement.

“Christian has accepted the solution and the plan has moreover been confirmed by specialists nationally and internationally who all recommend the same treatment. We encourage everybody to give Christian and his family peace and privacy the following time,” it said.

An ICD monitors a person's heartbeat and can send electrical pulses to restore a normal rhythm if necessary. — AP
