US death toll from coronavirus hits 2 lakh

Washington, Sept. 22: The U.S. death toll from the coronavirus topped 200,000 Tuesday, a figure unimaginable eight months ago when the scourge first reached the world's richest nation with its sparkling laboratories, top-flight scientists and stockpiles of medicines and emergency supplies. "It is completely unfathomable that we've reached this point," said Jennifer Nuzzo, a Johns Hopkins University public health researcher. The bleak milestone, by far the highest confirmed death

● The bleak milestone, by far the highest confirmed death toll from the virus in the world, was reported by Johns Hopkins, based on figures supplied by state health authorities toll from the virus in the world, was reported by Johns Hopkins, based on figures supplied by state health authorities. But the real toll is thought to be much higher, in part because many Covid-19 deaths were probably ascribed to other causes, especially early on, before widespread testing. The number of dead in the U.S. is equivalent to a 9/11 attack every day for 67 days. It is roughly equal to the population of Salt Lake City or Huntsville, Alabama. And it is still climbing. Deaths are running at close to 770 a day on average, and a widely cited model from the University of Washington predicts the U.S. toll will double to 400,000 by the end of the year as schools and colleges reopen and cold weather sets in. A vaccine is unlikely to become widely available until 2021. "The idea of 2.00,000 deaths is really very sobering, in some respects stunning," Dr. Anthony Fauci, the government's top infectious-disease expert, said on CNN.

The U.S. hit the threshold six weeks before a presidential election that is certain to be in part a referendum on President Donald Trump's handling of the crisis. In an interview Tuesday with a Detroit TV station, Trump boasted of doing an "amazing" and "incredible" job, adding: "The only thing we've done a bad job in is public relations because we haven't been able to convince people — which is basically the fake news — what a great job we've done." And in a pre-recorded speech at a virtual meeting of the U.N. General Assembly, Trump lashed out at Beijing over what he called "the China virus" and demanded that it be held accountable for having "unleashed this plague onto the world." China's ambassador rejected the accusations as baseless. — AP

No breakthrough in talks, troops in for long winter

PAWAN BALI | DC
NEW DELHI, SEPT. 22

India and China said in a joint statement Tuesday that during the sixth round of the corps commanders' talks, both sides agreed to stop sending more troops to the frontline, refrain from unilaterally changing the ground situation and avoid taking any action that may complicate the situation. "They agreed to earnestly implement the important consensus reached by the leaders of the two countries, strengthen communications on the ground, avoid misunderstandings," said the joint statement. It said the two sides had a candid and in-depth exchange of views on stabilising the situation along the LAC in the India-China border areas. "The two sides also agreed to hold the seventh round of military commander-level talks as soon as possible, take practical measures to properly solve problems on the ground, and jointly safeguard peace and tranquility in the border areas," said the statement. The sixth corps commanders' meeting was held after foreign ministers of both nations met in Moscow and agreed on a five-point agenda. Sources said, however, that at the sixth round of corps commanders' talks, no breakthrough could be achieved on disengagement. This means that despite the joint statement, the 30,000-40,000 more troops which India rushed to Ladakh after the Chinese transgression in early May will remain at the forward posts during winter when sub-zero temperatures and bone-chilling winds at extreme heights make survival difficult and continuing logistics supplies to these points is a nightmare. The corps commanders' meeting, that started around 9.30 am Monday at Moldo, on the Chinese side of the Line of Actual Control, went on till beyond 11 pm. The Indian delegation was headed by 14 Corps commander Lt. Gen. Harinder Singh. Lt. Gen. P.G.K. Menon, who is likely to replace Lt. Gen. Singh next month, was also present. For the first time, a representative from the external affairs ministry, joint secretary (East Asia) Naveen Srivastava, took part in the Corps commanders' meeting. The Indian officials who attended Tuesday's meeting debriefed their senior officials. There is a lot of concern that if the Chinese troops don't move out soon or are not pushed out from the places where they have transgressed, they may permanently change the alignment of the LAC.

MUMBAI, SEPT. 22

The income-tax department has issued a notice to NCP supremo Sharad Pawar seeking a clarification on his poll affidavits submitted to the Election Commission. He took a dig at the Centre, saying the notice was sent to him because the government "loves us". The veteran Maharashtra leader on Tuesday confirmed he has received a notice from the Centre asking for a "clarification and explanation" on his election affidavits. "I got the notice yesterday. We are happy that they (Centre) have a special love for us (Pawar family) among all members. The notice was served by the I-T department after the Election Commission asked (it) to... We will reply to the notice," he said. The notice was in reference to the affidavits submitted in 2009-10, 2014 as well as 2020. Mr Pawar said the department was seeking some information and clarifications related to the last three elections, and similar notices were also sent to his daughter Supriya Sule, a Lok Sabha MP, Mr Pawar said.

Backed agri bills as farmers will benefit: CM

Ramanathapuram/Madurai, Sept. 22: The AIADMK extended support to the three farm bills as they benefited the farmers. But, DMK chief MK Stalin, though he could not pick holes even with a magnifying glass, has still announced a protest against it, Chief Minister K. Palaniswami said on Tuesday.

Palaniswami, who visited Ramanathapuram to inaugurate new projects and distribute government welfare assistance to beneficiaries, said his party's aim is to safeguard the interests of farmers. "Since the three bills benefited the farmers, we supported it. We will support any initiative aimed at benefiting the farmers and at the same time oppose any scheme that would affect them and this is our stand and we have made this clear," he told reporters at Ramanathapuram.

Several schemes aimed at the welfare of farmers including the water resources rejuvenation 'Kudimaramathu' and construction of a slew of check dams have been implemented only because he was a farmer, the Chief Minister said answering a question on DMK chief MK Stalin criticising him for calling himself a farmer and supporting the farm bills.

"I am a farmer. To this day I am doing farming and I take pride in calling myself a farmer. Stalin does not know anything about agriculture," he said, adding, since the DMK president could not find fault with the government, he was making unfounded allegations.

Stalin was talking "without knowing" about the bills that have been adopted in Parliament,

Palaniswami told reporters at Madurai. The Farmers (Empowerment and Protection) Agreement of Price Assurance and Farm Services Bill, 2020 was in sync with a 2019 Tamil Nadu law, he said. Farmers are also protected from price fall besides other advantages. "If Stalin can explain what is wrong in these provisions it will be good. Farmers will not be affected, these benefit them and that is why we have supported." Tamil Nadu has already taken steps to help farmers sell their produce anywhere freely and only this framework has now been extended across the nation through the Farmer's Produce Trade and Commerce (Promotion and Facilitation) Bill, 2020, he said. — PTI ■ P3

Plea to set up police complaints authority

A. ARUL PALANI | DC
CHENNAI, SEPT. 22

A Madurai-based NGO has demanded the government to set up police complaints authority in the state to end custodial torture and death. Citing the death of trader Jayaraj and his son Bennix in Sathankulam police station, Thoothukudi in June, executive director of People's Watch Henri Tiphagne hoped that district/state police complaints authorities may ensure a mechanism specialized in handling a wide ambit of complaints against the police, including the most serious, was readily available to the public at large and change in policing culture.

Tiphagne said that after the death of Jayaraj and Bennicks many similar gruesome incidents took place in several police stations. He said the government must collect details regarding the cops facing cases before either the NHRC or the SHRC or any criminal trials in the criminal courts along with relevant details including disciplinary actions initiated against such police officers. Based on this the government may take a decision whether cops should fit to continue.

Grant building permission as per rules in Ooty: HC

J. STALIN | DC
CHENNAI, SEPT. 22

A person who has been running from pillar to post to get building permission for construction of a building in Ooty for over a year, got reprieve with the Madras high court directing the Udhagamandalam municipality to process his application strictly in accordance with the development control rules prepared, sanctioned and notified along with the revised master plan and also the review approved master plan and pass necessary orders within 8 weeks.

Justice N.Anand Venkatesh gave the directive while disposing of a petition filed by L.Loganathan.

The judge said Abudukumar Rajarathinam, counsel for the petitioner, submitted that the master plans 1997 and 2011 as well as the development control rules permit the usage of the petitioner's land as a primary residential use zone (economically weaker section). The provisions of the Tamil Nadu District Municipalities (Hill Station) Buildings Rules, 1993, should be followed only with respect of minimum extent of land, width of plot, plot coverage and set-back requirements in view of the fact that the 1993 rules, issued by the municipal administration and water supply department was reviewed by a list of 21 heads of departments including the board of revenue, director of agriculture, director of town and country planning, chief conservator of forests and also inspector of municipalities. He brought to the notice of this court all these authorities involved in the notification of the 1993 rules as well as the authorities who have to give the NOC for putting up the construction were the same. Abudukumar submitted that the application submitted by the petitioner was kept pending since the authorities was under the impression that the application submitted by the petitioner was against Rule 7 (2) of the Tamil Nadu District Municipalities (Hill Station) Buildings Rules, 1993. He submitted that once the master plan 1997 and 2011 and also the development control rules for Udhagamandalam local planning area has declared the subject property as a primary residential use zone (economically weaker section) and the same was in force, the building plan approval sought for by the petitioner will have to be considered only in line with the master plan and the rules, the judge added.

The judge said a careful perusal of the master plan 1997 and 2011 shows that the survey number within which the subject property was situated falls within the category of primary residential use zone (economically weaker section). In view of the above, once an application satisfies the requirements under the development control rules, which were sanctioned and notified along with the master plan, the authorities will have to process the application and give necessary sanction/permission for construction of the building, the judge added.

Senior citizen asked to pay property tax again

T. SUDHEESH | DC
CHENNAI, SEPT. 22

During pandemic times, the Greater Chennai Corporation (GCC) has sent a property tax shocker to a senior citizen at Motilal Street near T. Nagar here, resulting in a dispute over remittance.

A row has erupted between the Motilal Street Welfare Association and Kodambakkam (Zone X) officials after GCC sent SMSes to Indira Ganesh, 75, asking her to pay the pending taxes in 2014-15 which she has already paid.

VS Jayaraman, secretary, Motilal Street Welfare Association, said on September 5 the authorities asked the woman to pay the property tax of 2014-15. "We were shocked as there were no dues till September 5.

A row has erupted between the Motilal Street Welfare Association and Kodambakkam (Zone X) officials after GCC sent SMSes to Indira Ganesh, 75, asking her to pay the pending taxes in 2014-15 which she has already paid

Even when she paid taxes for 2015-16 and 2018-19, the dues for 2014-15 had not come up. The sudden appearance of tax dues after five years is a mystery. The senior citizen on April 8, 2014, had obtained a receipt for the same. When this was pointed out, the officials wanted the resident to produce the receipt issued by the GCC and the debit of the amount in the bank pass book. They said if the lady cannot produce the documents, she has to pay again. The point is how could the GCC omit the receipt of the payment? The GCC should correct its system to reflect true picture of the dues by the residents," he said.

K. Anna Durai, assistant revenue officer at T. Nagar, said the confusion arose as they did not find her payment details of 2014-15 in the records. The issue will be sorted out if she produces the bank details, he said.

Asked why the GCC sends SMS to the residents despite the three-member committee appointed by the government last year to study about the property tax revision has not come up with a report, he clarified that the reminders were sent only to those who have tax dues.

'Fund embezzlement' in PM crop insurance scheme?

DC CORRESPONDENT
THOOTHUKUDI SEPT. 22

Farmers complained of corruption in the Pradhan mantri crop insurance scheme as non-cultivators in several villages of Thoothukudi district allegedly benefited from the scheme in connivance with revenue department officials.

Though farmers' associations have been blowing the whistle at the monthly farmers' grievance meetings about the corrupt practices in the crop insurance scheme, the officials did not look into the issue, said Tamil Farmers Association president Narayansamy. He added that a misappropriation of around Rs 15 lakh under the crop insurance scheme has been brought to light by the farmers at Lakshmipuram village in Vilathikulam taluk in Thoothukudi district.

The local village administrative officer (VAO),

Caught redhanded, VAO Chellamariappan sought forgiveness from the villagers and agreed to give back the misappropriated insurance amount

The malpractice came to light after the publication of the list of beneficiaries under the crop insurance scheme in the taluk during 2018-2019

CM: Stalin can't find fault with bills even with magnifying glass

"This law is already there in Tamil Nadu. The Centre has brought this Bill since other states do not have it."

Similarly, after explaining the features of the Essential Commodities (Amendment) Bill, he said all the three passed bills have absolutely no adverse impact for farmers and on the contrary the provisions are good for them and the people.

The farmers market (Uzhavar Sandhai) would continue to function in Tamil Nadu and opposition parties were spreading rumours that these would be affected, he said.

Farmers in states like Punjab were agitated due to spread of rumours that there would be no Minimum Support Price and government procurement but the Centre has categorically made it clear that MSP and procurement would continue, he said.

"We don't understand why he (Stalin) opposes the farm bills. What is wrong in these laws. He searched with a magnifying glass and could not find any fault (with farm bills). Still, he has announced a protest Murugesan's wife, Avudaital by producing fake documents that they had farm fields in Lakshmipuram village and cultivated maize.

"These four beneficiaries do not have any farm land in Lakshmipuram village," said the farmers who against the bills," Palaniswami said. The "historic" ₹14,000 crore worth Cauvery Gundaru river linking project would be inaugurated before the end of January next year, he said.

Unlike the DMK regime, which entered into a Memorandum of Understanding with a private entity for coal bed methane extraction in the fertile Cauvery delta region affecting the farmers interests, it was the AIADMK government which declared it as a protected zone for agriculture, Palaniswami said.

"Can Stalin deny that he was responsible for the project," he asked, adding this aspect cannot be hidden and farmers would not forget that the leader of opposition was responsible for that project during the DMK led rule years ago.

To a question on his party's Rajya Sabha MP, S R Balasubramoniyar's criticism on some provisions of the farm bills, Palaniswami said: "we will seek an explanation from him. He has said that he has only put on record his opinion. Still we will ask him to explain."

Earlier, at a review meeting at the Ramanathapuram Collectorate, Palaniswami said all steps for implementing the Cauvery Gundaru project has been initiated and through the initiative one lakh acre would get irrigation facilities in Ramanathapuram district.

The scheme, part of proposals envisaged under the Peninsular Rivers Development component of the National Perspective Plan, aims at diverting surplus water from Mettur dam to water deficit regions. On Sunday, the Rajya Sabha passed the Farmer's Produce Trade and Commerce (Promotion and Facilitation) Bill, 2020, and the Farmers (Empowerment and Protection) Agreement of Price Assurance and Farm Services Bill, 2020. The Essential Commodities (Amendment) Bill, 2020 that seeks to remove commodities like cereals, pulses, oilseeds, onion, and potatoes from the list of essential commodities and will do away with the imposition of stock holding limits, was adopted on Tuesday in the upper house. These three bills have already been passed by the Lok Sabha.

The malpractice came to light after the publication of the list of beneficiaries under the crop insurance scheme in the taluk during 2018-2019.

"We found four names repeated in the list of beneficiaries and the crop they mentioned to have cultivated was not included for insurance in the particular year," said farmer Rengasamy, who demanded an inquiry into the issue by the Thoothukudi district collector to bring to light similar misappropriations of insurance funds.

Vilathikulam tahsildar Rajkumar, when contacted, said he too had received complaints and initiated an inquiry.

Price fall, rains put farmers in a spot

The steep fall in market price of paddy across Tamil Nadu and unseasonal rainfall have put the farmers of Tiruvallur district in dire straits.

A sack (78 kilos) that usually cost ₹1,260 has fallen to ₹ 700, says B. Balaji, a farmer at Karigilavakkam.

Farmers are not even getting the money they have invested. "I have spent around ₹22,000 for an acre and got less than ₹15,000 in return. I could harvest only 22 sacks per acre," says Balaji.

The crop was affected by pests and non-procurement of fertilisers due to logistic issues during the pandemic. "We usually get 300 sacks of produce per acre. It has been reduced to 220 sacks this time," Balaji added.

To avoid huge losses, farmers are planning to sell their produce to the government procurement centres. The government processes the paddy in these centres in a conducive temperature and sells it. "We are drying the produce to sell it to the procurement centres. We sell a kilo for ₹19," says Prema, another farmer.

CHENNAI, SEPT. 22

DMK president M. K. Stalin has urged Prime Minister, Narendra Modi not to approve the detailed project report Karnataka for the construction of a reservoir at Mekedatu against the orders of the Cauvery Water Dispute Tribunal and Supreme Court of India.

In his letter to the Prime Minister, which was personally handed over to him in Delhi by DMK MPs T. R. Baalu, Kanimozhi, A. Raja, Tiruchy Siva and Dayanidhi Maran on Tuesday, Stalin said, "I am disappointed that the Hon'ble Chief Minister of Karnataka during his meeting with you demanded for early approvals and clearances for irrigation and drinking water projects including Mekedatu."

Pointing out that Tamil Nadu had expressed 'strongest opposition' for the projects, he said the proposed Mekedatu reservoir was in total violation of the final order of the Cauvery Water Disputes Tribunal dated February 5, 2007 as well as the judgment of the Supreme Court of India dated February 16, 2018.

The farmers and people of Tamil Nadu had been consistently and persistently opposing the reservoir and the state Assembly had passed unanimous resolutions disapproving the project, he said, adding that the civil appeal filed by the state of Tamil Nadu seeking a restraint order was pending before the Supreme Court, making the subject matter sub judice.

"The proposed Mekedatu reservoir under the guise of drinking water purpose would irreparably and irreversibly affect the flow of water from river Cauvery to the lower riparian states particularly Tamil Nadu and also threatens the very existence of many com-

VINEETA PANDEY | DC
NEW DELHI, SEPT. 22

A major decline in fresh cases of Coronavirus was recorded in the last 24 hours as newly detected cases came down to 75,083. It is the fifth consecutive day when cases were found to be reducing from 97,894 on September 17.

Union health secretary Rajesh Bhushan said that the decline in fresh cases has nothing to do with lesser testing. This coincided with over 1 lakh recoveries in one day for the first time taking the country's Recovery Rate to 80.86 per cent. The total number of recovered patients is almost 45 lakh while India's case fatality rate is 1.60 per cent.

“On September 19, we had conducted 8.81 lakh tests and detected 93,337 cases. On September 20, we conducted over 12 lakh tests and found 92,605 cases, on September 21, we tested 7.31 lakh people and got 86,961 positive cases while on September 22 we tested 9.33 lakh samples and found 75,083 positive. So, testing is not less and the number of positive cases are not determined by tests. We are monitoring this data on a daily, weekly and monthly basis to keep a track of the trend of Covid-19,” Bhushan said.

On Tuesday, a substantial decline in new cases was noted in Maharashtra, Andhra Pradesh, Tamil Nadu and Delhi. Prime Minister Narendra Modi will be chairing a meeting with Chief Ministers and health ministers of seven high-burden states —Maharashtra, Andhra Pradesh, Karnataka, Uttar Pradesh, Tamil Nadu, Delhi and Punjab — on Wednesday to review the situation.

PARTY IN CASESHAHAB ANSARI | DC
MUMBAI, SEPT. 22

The Bombay High court on Tuesday allowed Shiv Sena chief spokesperson and Rajya Sabha member Sanjay Raut to be added a party to the proceedings in Kangana Ranaut's petition challenging her office demolition.

While hearing the petition filed by Kangana Ranaut, a division bench of Justice Shahrukh J. Kathawalla and Justice Riyaz I. Chagla had observed that since the actor submitted a DVD of statements made by Raut, he should get an opportunity to be heard, and BMC officer too should respond to the allegations levelled by the petitioner.

Referring to the DVD of Raut's statement, Justice Kathawalla sought to know whether she wanted to make Raut a party to the plea.

“You do not want to show the ‘Ukhaad diya’ caption (from DVD)? You will have to implead Raut,” Justice Kathawalla told the actor.

Her lawyer sought time and was reluctant to make Raut a party to the case, saying he would instead argue on the aspect of ‘malice in law’ by BMC. However, after the Bench insisted that Raut should be given the opportunity to be heard, advocate Saraf accepted it.

Release IGST due

FM tells CentreDC CORRESPONDENT
HYDERABAD, SEPT. 22

Telangana state finance minister T. Harish Rao on Tuesday demanded that the Centre immediately release the Integrated Goods and Services Tax (IGST) dues of ₹2,641 crore to the state before the next meeting of the Goods and Services Tax (GST) Council on October 5.

Participating in the group of ministers (GoM) meeting presided over by Sushil Kumar Modi, GST Council convener and Bihar Deputy Chief Minister, through videoconference on the IGST settlement, Harish Rao said the money was needed to fight Covid-19.

The minister said the release of funds from the Centre will come as a major relief to the states that are battling financial problems caused by the Covid-19 pandemic.

Stressing the importance of recommendations being approved before the GST Council meeting, Harish Rao said “If that fails, we will have to wait for three months for the release of IGST funds.” Responding to the argument, Sushil Modi assured Harish Rao that the group will meet again on October 1, in advance of the GST Council meeting.

Harish Rao said that Telangana state and 16 other states were supposed to receive IGST payments to the tune of ₹25,058 crore. He suggested that the ₹1,015 crore from the Consolidated Fund of India to be collected from the states can be adjusted against future payments.

Harish Rao said the GST Council had calculated that Telangana state should receive ₹2,638 crore in IGST payments but the figure should be ₹2,641 crore. State officials will consult with Delhi regarding the missing ₹3 crore from the IGST payments.

“We are not really worried about that small discrepancy, but the group of ministers must recommend full IGST payment to all states before the next GST Council meeting,” the finance minister said.

Work-from-home
works well: IT cosKANIZA GARARI | DC
HYDERABAD, SEPT. 22

Very large and large information technology companies have informed their employees that they will work from home (WFH) till March 31, 2021. Medium-sized and small enterprises have said that their WFH period will extend till December.

This has been evaluated based on the performance of employees in the WFH setup. A survey by the Hyderabad Software Exporters Association (Hysea) found that 95 per cent of the 300 companies in the survey stated that they are going to continue with the WFH strategy till the Covid-19 cases come down or there is a vaccine for the disease.

In terms of productivity, small and medium companies have reported more than 75 per cent and large and very large companies at 90 per cent in the WFH mode. Large and very large companies are looking at 70 per cent WFH options and small and medium size companies 30 per cent once the number of Covid-19 cases reduce.

The survey found that 31 per cent employers wanted 70 to 89 per cent of their employees to work from home till March 2021. The employers found that in the six months since from the lockdown in March, there was now a proper WFH strategy and many employees were settled in their respective profiles when compared to the risk factors of travel, asymptomatic carriers and the stress of getting exposed.

It is the large and very large companies that have seen a major benefit in the WFH mode as they expect to opt for 25 per cent less office space than pre-pandemic times, when people start returning to office.

Large and very large companies have hired freshers in the last six months and 50 per cent of the companies are looking at returning to campus hiring in 2021-22. Campus hiring will be of pre-pandemic levels, according to the survey, which is a sign that the business is doing fine. Large and very large companies are involved in lateral hiring for the current financial year.

The downsides of WFH were power cuts, broadband disruptions and the working atmosphere at home having a lot of obstacles. Due to these reasons, morale was reported to be low by 34 per cent of the employers.

The negative effects of the pandemic were noted in the manufacturing and retail sector while IT industry, healthcare and education have noted a positive impact.

Work from United States of America and Europe has also seen a major impact for small and medium-sized enterprises.

Bharani Kumar Aroll, HYSEA president and CEO of Infopeers Solutions, explained, “In the last six months, a higher percentage of large companies have their workforce at home compared to small and mid-sized companies. The driving factor to come back to office is only when cases reduce or there is an available vaccine. Till then, the industry will prefer to continue with the work-from-home mode.”

Nepal shelves book
with disputed map

Kathmandu, Sept. 22: Nepal has stopped the distribution of a new textbook that includes the country's revised political map showing three strategically-important Indian areas as part of its territory, saying there were a number of factual errors in it, according to a media report on Tuesday.

India has already termed as untenable the “artificial enlargement” of the territorial claims by Nepal after its Parliament unanimously approved the new political map of the country featuring Lipulekh, Kalapani and Limpiyadhura areas which India maintains belongs to it.

A Cabinet meeting on Tuesday instructed the Ministry of Education not to distribute and print any more copies of the text book meant for class IXth to XIIth as there were some reservations from the Ministry of Land Management and Cooperatives and the Ministry of Foreign Affairs, The Kathmandu Post reported. The Ministry of Education does not have the authority to change Nepal's geographical area and there are faults in the book, said spokesperson for the Ministry of Land Reform and Cooperatives Janak Raj Joshi.

The body is yet to officially declare the revised geographical area of the country.

The Department of Survey, which is the official agency that declares the total area of the country, however, hasn't made any decision on the area, Joshi said. Education Minister Giriraj Mani Pokharel on September 15 released the 110-page book titled, Self Study Material on Nepal's Territory and Border which dwells around historical facts about the country's territory and its border dispute mainly with India.

The book states Nepal's new area to be 147,641.28 square kilometers including the 460.28 sq km area of the Kalapani area which was included in Nepal's political map on May 20 by the Cabinet.

“This is the first phase of the new Chief Minister's farmers' welfare scheme,” he said, indicating more sops for the farmers in the pipeline by his government.

He was launching the farm loan (at zero per cent interest) and farmers credit card distribution programmes here.

He also announced that zero per cent interest farm loans would be re-launched in the state. Chouhan had launched the scheme during his previous terms as Chief Minister.

“All the farmers welfare schemes like crop damage relief, PM Samman Nidhi, zero per cent interest loans, crop insurance and others would be implemented through a comprehensive package. The first phase of CM's farmers welfare scheme is in the

As many as 22 former Congress MLAs, supporters of Jyotiraditya Scindia, resigned from the Assembly as well as from the party in March this year leading to the fall of 15-month-old Kamal Nath government. They later joined BJP after Scindia switched over to the saffron party from Congress.

John Lennon killer says sorry

New York: Mark Chapman, the man who killed John Lennon, has apologised to the late Beatle's widow, Yoko Ono, 40 years after his death. Chapman shot Lennon four times outside his New York Manhattan apartment as Ono looked on, in 1980. He was denied parole for the eleventh time following a hearing last month. During the hearing, Chapman said he killed the 40-year-old rock star for "glory" and that he deserved the death penalty. "I just want to reiterate that I'm sorry for my crime," Chapman told the parole board at the Wende Correctional Facility in New York.

Finland bans neo-Nazi group

Helsinki: Finland's Supreme Court on Tuesday banned a neo-Nazi group on the grounds that its activities are "significantly contrary to law." Finland's national police had sought to dissolve the right-wing Nordic Resistance Movement, known for being violent and openly racist, and two lower courts of law confirmed the ruling. Finland's highest court ruled that the group's activities "did not enjoy freedom of expression or freedom of association, as the association's activities by their nature entailed an abuse of these rights." National Police Chief Inspector Heikki Lausmaa told Finnish broadcaster YLE that the Supreme Court ruling is "a clear statement that an organisation that is violent and uses speech deemed racist or otherwise violating human dignity should not have a place in Finnish society."

Nasa moon return to cost $28b

Washington: Nasa on Monday revealed its latest plan to return astronauts to the Moon in 2024, and estimated the cost of meeting that deadline at $28 billion, $16 billion of which would be spent on the lunar landing module. Congress, which faces elections on November 3, will have to sign off on the financing for a project that has been set by President Donald Trump as a top priority. The $28 billion would cover the budgetary years of 2021-25. In a phone briefing with journalists on Monday on the Artemis mission to return human beings to the Moon, Nasa administrator Jim Bridenstine noted that "political risks" were often the biggest threat to Nasa's work, especially before such a crucial election. Barack Obama cancelled plans for a manned Mars mission, after his predecessor spent billions of dollars on the project.

Pakistan Muslim League (Nazawaz) President Shehbaz Sharif on Tuesday confirmed meeting Chief of Army Staff (COAS) General Qamar Javed Bajwa ahead of All Parties Conference (APC) on Sunday.

Speaking to reporters outside the Lahore High Court (LHC), the PML-N leader said discussion on Gilgit Baltistan matters was held during the meeting with the army chief. All the parliamentary leaders were also present, he added.

Shehbaz, the Opposition Leader in National Assembly, said the incumbent government led by the Pakistan Tehrik-e-Insaf (PTI) was trying to oppress PML-N. The decisions taken during APC will be implemented at any cost, he said.

On September 20, 2020, the 11-party opposition's APC hosted by Chairman of Pakistan People's Party (PPP) Bilawal Bhutto Zardari had demanded resignation of Prime Minister Imran Khan.

The 26-point resolution passed by the APC stated that the opposition had decided to form a national alliance in the name of the Pakistan Democratic Movement (PDM).

Sikh taxi driver assaulted, called 'Taliban' in Britain

London, Sept. 22: An India-born Sikh taxi driver was subjected to verbal and physical abuse by passengers he drove from a casino in the city of Reading in south-east England, prompting a United Kingdom police force to launch an investigation.

Vaneet Singh, 41, said that a group of four men slapped and shoved him, and asked "are you Taliban" after he received them from the Grosvenor Casino in Reading, Berkshire, in the early hours of Sunday.

One of the four also tried to remove his turban. "It was horrible, really frightening, I will never work the nightshift again. I'm still very scared," he said. Thames Valley Police are appealing for witnesses as they investigate the report of an assault.

Singh, who worked as a music teacher at a school in Slough, Berkshire, turned to taxi driving after his teaching job was stalled during the Coronavirus pandemic.

The musician, who lives in Tilehurst with his wife and three children, said he has been left shaken up by the assault and will be avoiding night shifts. "It's very bad experience. It's my religion so I respect my turban," he said. One of the four passengers, all described as white, pulled at his turban as he was driving and slapped him on the head, while others kicked and punched the back of the driver's seat.

He says he tried to explain the religious significance of the turban to them and asked them not to touch it.

He recalled the passengers being well behaved at the start of the journey but "totally changed" as it went on. Singh, who is suffering from aches and pains since the incident, is convinced the attack was of a racist nature and believes he was a victim of hate crime.

Police release footage after officers shoot 13-year-old boy

Salt Lake City, Sept. 22: A 13-year-old Utah boy with autism was shot by police after his mother asked for help getting him hospital mental-health treatment and officers agreed to talk with him, police footage released Monday showed.

The videos show Salt Lake City officers chasing him down an alley after they arrive at his home, then yelling at him to get on the ground. The boy collapses after a series of shots ring out, moaning. "I don't feel good. I don't feel good."

He survived but suffered broken bones and pierced organs, the family's attorney has said. His mother, Golda Barton, had warned police that her son said earlier that day, September 4, that he had a gun and had threatened to shoot her male coworker and break windows in the house, the video showed. But she told officers she thought it was a BB gun or pellet gun.

There were no indications he was armed. She wanted him to be hospitalised for help with his mental health issues. Officers said they would have to proceed as though the boy did have access to a real gun, the videos show.

STOP PLAYING BREXIT 'GAMES', EU TELLS UK

Brussels, Sept. 22: The European Union is pleading with Britain to stop playing "games" as time is running out to clinch a free trade deal over the next month.

The sides committed to a new meeting to discuss Britain's plans to disregard part of the withdrawal agreement it had signed with the 27-nation EU amid acrimony that British Prime Minister Boris Johnson would even contemplate to break an agreement he himself signed.

EU countries' ministers for European affairs met in Brussels on Tuesday and German chairman Michael Roth said the British plan was "extremely" worrisome since it "violates the guiding principle of the withdrawal agreement," which officially allowed the United Kingdom to leave the bloc last Jan. 31.

A transition period now runs until Dec 31, during which time both sides are negotiating a trade agreement to replace the open and unfettered economic relations that are currently in place.

The EU has repeatedly expressed its exasperation at what it sees as British stubbornness and refusal to compromise on some key points. Without a deal on future trade relations, chaos is expected at the borders on Jan. 1. — AP

Charlie Hebdo HR manager moved from home in the wake of threats

Paris, Sept. 22: Police have moved the head of human resources at French satirical magazine Charlie Hebdo from her home following death threats received last week, she told a French magazine.

Marika Bret, who has been living under police protection for nearly five years in the aftermath of the deadly assault on Charlie Hebdo in January 2015, said the threats were "sufficiently concrete to be taken seriously".

Taiwan: China must back off

Taipei, Sept. 22: Taiwan on Tuesday demanded that China "back off" and accused it of threatening peace, after a Beijing official rejected a largely respected marine boundary following recent incursions.

Foreign minister Joseph Wu urged Beijing to "return to the civilised international standards" after a Chinese foreign ministry spokesman said there was no so-called median line in the Taiwan Strait "as Taiwan is an inseparable part of Chinese territory".

Wu told reporters: "The median line has been a symbol of preventing military conflicts and maintaining peace and stability in the Taiwan Strait for many years. The Chinese foreign ministry's comment is equivalent of destroying the status quo." "I call on the international community to condemn the CCP for its dangerous and provocative words and deeds threatening peace... China must back off," he added in a tweet.

China considers Taiwan part of its territory to be absorbed into the mainland, by force if necessary, even though it has been self-ruled for more than seven decades.

Beijing has ratcheted up pressure on the democratic island since the 2016 election of President Tsai Ing-wen, who rejects its view that Taiwan is part of "one China".

Last year, Taiwan accused China of violating a long-held tacit agreement after its fighter jets — for the first time in years — crossed the median line of the waters that separate the two sides.

Spying allegations against NYC cop fiction, says Beijing

Beijing, Sept. 22: China on Tuesday said allegations against a New York City police officer charged with being an "intelligence asset" for the Chinese government are a "pure fabrication" and part of a US plot to smear Chinese diplomats in the United States.

Baimadajie Angwang, a naturalised US citizen from Tibet, allegedly agreed to spy on US supporters of the Tibetan independence movement since 2018 as an agent for China in its effort to suppress the movement, according to a criminal complaint filed in Brooklyn federal court.

It says he secretly worked for unnamed handlers from the Chinese Consulate in New York. Chinese foreign ministry spokesperson Wang Wenbin on Tuesday said the indictment against Angwang was full of hedging terms such as "seems" and "possibly," giving the appearance that prosecutors were straining to make their case.

"The relevant accusations made by the US side are pure fabrication," Wang told reporters at a daily briefing. "The US plot to discredit the Chinese Consulate and personnel in the United States will not succeed."

If Biden wins, China wins: Don

Washington, Sept. 22: Former US vice president Joe Biden has enormously harmed the US economy in his five decades as a politician, President Donald Trump has said, adding that if the Democratic leader wins the November 3 polls it would be a win for China. Biden, 77, and his running mate Kamala Harris are challenging incumbents President Trump, 74, and Vice President Mike Pence in the presidential election.

"Joe Biden spent the last 47 years shipping your jobs to China and foreign countries. You know that. I've spent the last four years bringing the jobs back to our country and back to Ohio," Trump said at a rally in Dayton, Ohio on Monday.

The Republican leader described the November 3 polls as the most important in recent memory. "On November 3rd, Americans will decide whether we lift our nation to soaring new heights of prosperity or whether we will allow Joe Biden — Sleepy Joe — to shut down our economy, impose a $4 trillion tax hike, abolish Ohio clean coal, oil, natural gas, and ship your jobs in factories overseas to China and countries that you never even heard of," he said.

The democratic tax plans for the 2020 election lists a gradual increase in proposed taxes by $4 trillion in the next decade, placing a greater burden on the super-rich category.

"Put simply: If Biden wins, China wins. If we win, Ohio wins and most importantly, in all fairness, America wins. Because you finally have the president who puts America first, and I do put America first," Trump said to applause from the audience. Trump has held election rallies in the last two weeks, notwithstanding the risks posed by the coronavirus. Thousands attend the events without masks and breaking social-distancing norms.

Trump has called the rallies "protest against stupidity". "You know this is really not a rally. This has to do with workers, programmes, all the things we love," he said. — PTI

Filipino primary school teacher happy to give it back after social media alerts the ownerSurfboard drifts 8,000 km from Hawaii to Philippines

Manila, Sept. 22: When big wave surfer Doug Falter lost his board in a wipeout in Hawaii, his best hope was for a local fisherman to pick it up. He never imagined it would be found more than 8,000 kilometres (5,000 miles) away in the southern Philippines.

More than two years after watching his pale blue custom-shaped board disappear in the huge swell of Waimea Bay, Falter was alerted via social media that it had been found near the remote island of Sarangani. And the new owner — local primary school teacher and aspiring surfer Giovanne Branzuela — was happy to give it back to him.

"When I saw the picture of it, I couldn't believe it, I thought it was a joke almost," Falter, 35, said via Zoom. "I was certain that the board would never be found again." Branzuela, who bought the badly weathered surfboard from his neighbour a couple of months ago for 2,000 pesos ($40), said fishermen had found it floating in the sea in August 2018 — six months after Falter lost sight of it.

They thought it may have fallen off a passing yacht and sold it to Branzuela's neighbour for a few dollars. Despite months drifting across the Pacific Ocean, the name of the board's shaper, Hawaii-based Lyle Carlson, was still visible on the now-yellowish surface.

Curious, Branzuela looked him up on Facebook and sent him a photo of the board. Carlson shared the picture on Instagram, tagging Falter. "It turned out it's a surfboard from Hawaii. I couldn't believe it myself," Branzuela, 38, said via telephone. "It's been my dream to learn to surf and ride the big waves here," he added.

"For now I can use his surfboard. I told him I will take good care of it."

The pair have been chatting on Facebook and Falter plans to visit the small island to retrieve his board after Coronavirus travel restrictions are lifted.

"That board meant so much to me because of my accomplishments on it," said Falter, a commercial photographer who took up surfing about 15 years ago in Florida before moving to Hawaii.

"It was my first big wave surfboard custom shaped for myself. I surfed it on the biggest days I've ever surfed in my life", he said, including the 2016 Eddie Aikau big wave surf contest in Waimea Bay when the swell was 20 metres (60 feet) high.

Falter said he wants to give Branzuela a beginners surfboard in exchange for his and show him how to catch waves around Sarangani and neighbouring Balut island.

In the meantime, Falter shares short YouTube videos on surfing basics and is raising money to send supplies to Branzuela's school. — AFP

23 SEPTEMBER 2020

As India reopens, we need more tests, infra

As coronavirus figures skyrocket in India amid reports of a second wave sweeping much of mainland Europe, comes renewed confirmation of bad news that SARS-CoV-2 reinfections are real. The official caseload, meanwhile, has surpassed the 5.5 million mark. A vaccine, while it is only going to be seasonal, is still several months away and, by all estimates, will take longer to reach every ordinary citizen.

But the economy, which has taken the worst hit in recorded history, must now be opened at all costs. It will take a minimum of two months to restore it to its pre-Covid health, a report by a committee headed by former Reserve Bank of India (RBI) governor C. Rangarajan, advising the Tamil Nadu government on medium-term measures, has suggested, and the Centre is certainly seen implementing what it has somewhat cheekily dubbed Unlock 4.0 with older students returning to school in parts of the country, international flights beginning to operate in air bubble arrangements and Taj Mahal accepting visitors. The ongoing Monsoon Session of Parliament, however, has been unfortunately curtailed by several days, jeopardising important legislative decisions.

Autumn's lower temperatures plus the reopening will undoubtedly bring on the second wave of coronavirus in India. The crisis seems to be unfolding here in a worse manner than we could have imagined, with the virus having reached the rural heartlands.

Experts suggest that the Covid-19 pandemic will peak at different rates in different regions of the country. Maharashtra, Andhra Pradesh, Tamil Nadu, Karnataka and Uttar Pradesh currently have the most infections; of these the last three states experienced late surges. Hence, a renewed urgency for health infrastructure, doctors, drugs, ventilators and a prompter and more localised administrative response coordinated by state governments and effectively bolstered by central funds and support is the absolute need of the hour. Of these, drug manufacture is our area of strength and we have done some good work on the count of expanding laboratory and testing infrastructure.

The Delhi high court on Tuesday stayed the Delhi government's September 13 order making it mandatory for 33 private hospitals in the city to reserve 80 per cent of their Intensive Care Unit (ICU) beds as prima facie violative of fundamental rights. It is a welcome ruling. Most coronavirus patients improve with administration of palliatives and home isolation is sufficient to contain the disease. That is indeed a silver lining. India has topped the world both in the daily infection rate as well as number of recoveries. Health workers have put their shoulder to the wheel and are working heroically against odds.

If only these odds were fewer in number. The governments — state and Centre — have no choice but to perform or face electoral ire.

Regulate, don't strangle NGOs

There are certain hallmarks for most of the doings of the Narendra Modi government: a popular, presentable reason that can be easily sold to the public to achieve certain motives outside and a half-boiled, unworkable plan that will put a lot of people to inconvenience inside. Demonetisation, the Citizenship (Amendment) Act, 2019, and the bills to rework the functioning of Indian farming are the classic examples. The latest to join the league is the amendment to the Foreign Contribution (Regulation) Amendment Act, 2020, that Parliament has passed now.

The government is sure the piece of legislation is a must to control the waywardness of non-governmental organisations, including the religious ones. The main feature of the new bill is that it makes it mandatory for all the key people of the organisations to present their Aadhaar numbers to the authorities for getting the registration. The government, which got the Aadhaar Act passed in Parliament as money bill, had assured the Supreme Court that Aadhaar numbers will be made mandatory only when a person receives government largesse. It will be interesting to note how the government will defend this provision in the bill, should it be challenged in court. It defies logic when the government mandates the recipient organisation to open an account at a particular bank in the national capital at a time when banking has become a mobile application and the regulators get real time information on any transaction of agencies on their watch if they wanted. The bill empowers the government to make the organisations use the fund after a summary inquiry, whereas the existing law allows such an action only if the organisation concerned is found guilty of violating the law. The bill has many such crippling provisions. Regulating a sector is part of governance, but strangulating it is not. The government must realise it.

Restructuring of Railways: Most officers are unhappy

Modi sarkar is pushing ahead with restructuring of the Indian Railways board and services. The Cabinet recently greenlit the revamping of the powerful railway board that governs the railways. The board will now have five members. The present chairman of the board, V.K. Yadav, will be the first CEO of the Board. The board will also have independent members in non-executive roles. The Cabinet also decided to merge all central railway service cadres into a single Indian Railways Management Service (IRMS). While Mr Yadav is now chairman and CEO, Pradeep Kumar has been appointed member, infrastructure, P.C. Sharma has been appointed member, traction and rolling stock, P.S. Mishra has been made member, operations and business development. Manjula Rangarajan has been appointed member, finance. In the new structure, the chairman shall be the cadre controlling officer responsible for human resources (HR) with assistance from a director general level officer. Three apex level posts shall be surrendered from railway board, and all the remaining posts of the railway board shall be open to all officers regardless of the service to which they belonged.

The government says that the reform will end "inter-departmental rivalries" that, many say, have been hampering growth and efficiency of the railways for decades. But not all railway babus are pleased with the decision. Their first objection is to the proposed merger of cadres, which they claim is "unscientific and against established norms" since the government is proposing to merge "fundamentally dissimilar" entities. Instead, they argue for two distinct services instead of one - separating the civil services and the engineering wings.

NEW HEFT TO PMO
The appointment of three IAS officers to the Prime Minister's Office (PMO) will add heft to the already most powerful PMO ever. The officers are Raghuraj Rajendran of the Madhya Pradesh cadre as director, Amrapali Kata of the Andhra Pradesh cadre as deputy secretary and Mangesh Ghildiyal of the Uttarakhand cadre as under-secretary.

Mr Rajendran was earlier serving as private secretary to the minister for steel and petroleum and natural gas Dharmendra Pradhan. Amrapali Kata is an officer of the 2010 batch was deputy secretary in the cabinet secretariat (intelligence). Mr Ghildiyal was working with the Uttarakhand government.

The appointments make these three officers seem like "high-fliers" in babudom. They have clearly been chosen for their track record. In the presidential-style Modi PMO they are now expected to be team players who must focus on tough decisions and showing results.

UP'S DUBIOUS CRACKDOWN
Though public perception belies it, the Uttar Pradesh government claims it has a zero-tolerance policy towards corruption. And it backs it up with data. According to sources, since coming to power three years ago, chief minister Yogi Adityanath has cracked the whip on around 800 state government officials. Just recently the state government suspended two IPS officers, Abhishek Dikshit, SSP of Prayagraj, and Manilal Patidar, SP of Mahoba, for their involvement in corrupt practices and "lax policing".

The state data claims that it has acted against more than 775 officials so far, including some retired officials who were found complicit in malpractices. The government has forcibly retired 325 officials and suspended and demoted over 450 babus.

But, sources say, despite the Yogi government's crackdown on corrupt babus, some suspended officers seem to have wiggled back into the administration on plum postings. J.B. Singh, the Gonda DM, was suspended in June 2018, along with Kumar Prashant, the DM of Fatehpur, and faced disciplinary action over irregularities in the procurement of wheat. But Mr Singh's bureaucratic wilderness was short-lived. In 2019 he was appointed the DM of Etawah. Kumar Prashant, too, found himself back in favour. Last year he became the DM of Badaun, a more important district than Fatehpur. There are other instances, say sources, where after a brief period of lying low, suspended officials find themselves back in the saddle.

According to sources, murmurs of protest are rising, and railway unions are planning a series of protests against the move.

To rule India, history of our geography vital tool

Abhijit Bhattacharyya

Does geography have a history? Yes, it does. It's political geography: of maps and atlases, covering the globe. Political geography maps, accurately drawn in meticulous detail, depicts the world we live in. Naming and numbering all countries, islands, oceans, seas, mountains, the physical topography, and the rulers and the ruled in each of those pages, along with economic figures. It shows the evolution of geography of demography through the ages. Hence, it's important for aspiring, or established, leaders to have fair idea of the history of the geography that they represent, rule or reign.

In the context of the vast demography of South Asia, the learning process is all the more important for potential leaders because India has always been volatile, susceptible to internal discord and violence, thereby resulting in frequent changes of political geography maps. So much so that it's a reality of the history of South Asian geography that the Indian ruling class traditionally proved utterly myopic, being unable to see beyond their noses, thus resulting in their chronic failure to unite the vast, diverse elements of the countryside. The history of Indian geography thus, as seen from the changed/changed maps, stands as a mute, yet profound, testimony to this sordid scenario. The ruling class has always liked to fight among its own spectrum and colour. Little wonder that this collective band of the disparate ruling class inevitably ended up facing, and invariably fading, before foreign invaders. The tradition goes on, as can be found from the 21st century aggression by the Communist Party of China (CPC), on whom some Indians still seem to have abiding trust, faith and confidence to mutually turn the "Line of Actual Control" into a "border area" resolution, from foreign soil, as was catastrophically done, at the behest of a third party arbiter, in 1966 at the high table of Tashkent.

One would like to suggest that the reader go through the 376 pages of "A Historical Atlas of South Asia", published in 1978! To understand better; as to how fragile and fractious has been the map or geography of India, through the vicissitudes of history. Should it not, therefore, be obligatory for each and every aspiring Indian ruler, from all corners of the country, irrespective of his or her political colour, to learn a lesson or two, and study the atlas of the history of India's geography along with the Constitution of India? Today, for example, Delhi's geography is at the crossroads. Isn't the ominous signature on the horizon visible?

Indeed, five critical geographical areas, which this writer perceives as the "red zones" of India, are fast emerging under the Chinese Communist Party's active short to mid-term action plan. All indications point to its deep thought, firm belief and definite action plan. From the Belt and Road Initiative, to the CPEC, through Nepal, Bhutan, Bangladesh, Sri Lanka and Myanmar. The CPC think tanks are focused on breaking/destroying India through the creation of a new geography of "Greater" countries, cutting through India's topography.

To reiterate what I have written earlier in these columns, I firmly believe that India's entire political class and its diplomats cannot match the cunning, deception and deceit of the Han Chinese in the international arena. Hence, the Chinese have managed to go rogue globally, undoubtedly helped by the lack of ideology of the post-Mao People's Republic. Given the congenital blunders made by New Delhi and its failure to tackle the Dragon for the past 70-plus years; there is nothing to indicate that the contemporary mandarins of Lutyens' Delhi will be able to out-match or reverse the evil designs of the Dragon any better than their predecessors or anytime soon. I sincerely hope that I am proved wrong about this.

To start with, India needs to start preparing to face the worst, with an ultra-defensive mechanism: first identify the areas which the CPC is targeting, and study and analyse its past record of action. As they say, to be "forewarned is forearmed".

There are five "Greater" geographical zones where the Chinese are planning to target India — and the action on the Line of Actual Control in Ladakh is just the start. The five emerging areas are: Greater Pakistan; Greater Nepal; Greater Burma; Greater Bangladesh and "Greater China": with Beijing hoping to turn Bhutan into another Xinjiang owing to its tiny size and dearth of demography! These five might become reality mainly through indirect, invisible and divisive CPC machinations. Not necessarily through the visible CPC-controlled PLA militia, but through unethical operations undertaken, at times reluctantly or under duress, by some of India's neighbours.

The tell-tale signs are already visible. Can't most of India see the Dragon-inspired defiance by Nepal, making bizarre claim over India's territory? Has anyone gone through some of the claims being articulated by mass-circulating Nepalese media, with Dehradun and Nainital being openly claimed by some elements in Kathmandu. The "Greater Nepal" campaign is already on. What will be claimed next — from Himachal Pradesh to Sikkim?

Nepal is neither a Muslim-majority nor a Christian-majority country. It's an overwhelmingly Hindu nation, which earlier used to be the world's only Hindu kingdom, before the monarchy was abolished. Now Beijing has managed to turn this landlocked nation against Hindu-majority India.

Look at India's West Bengal state. The Communist influence there was once all-pervasive, with China's Chairman Mao an icon to many. The first salvo was fired on May 24, 1967 across three police stations — Naxalbari, Kharibari, Phansidewa? It took an Indira Gandhi to tackle the CPC's "malevolence and perfidy", douse the Naxalite fire and save India. The CPC learnt its lesson, and didn't mess around with India's iron lady, more so after her triumph in the 1971 Bangladesh war.

"Greater" Pakistan has taken shape, with Pakistan-occupied Kashmir already in place, and "Greater" Bangladesh and "Greater" Myanmar will automatically follow if the "Greater" Nepal movement turns into a hydra-headed monster that will impact Himachal Pradesh, Uttarakhand, Uttar Pradesh, Bihar and West Bengal. Geography will automatically navigate the foreign demography to cut down India's topography. Make no mistake, most of India's Northeast will be targeted by a "Greater" China, with some adjacent irredentist areas marked for Dhaka and Rangoon. Will India wake up in time to see through the Dragon's designs?

KEEP SCHOOLS CLOSED

It is heartening to note the Covid-19 recovery rate improving despite there being no vaccine yet for the virus (Covid-19 recovery rate improves as schools re-open in many states, Sept. 22).

Meanwhile, reopening of schools might put the students and the parents alike on tenterhooks. Come what may, children and teachers can't be taken for a ride just because the recovery rate is progressive, as it is nothing short of crossing the Rubicon to keep the students under constant surveillance. With the academic year having a maximum of 4 to 5 months, all the respective state governments can continue online classes with a reduction of syllabus and conduct the annual examinations online. The universities switching over to online exam make a case in point.

MOBILE FAIR PRICE SHOPS

CHIEF MINISTER Edappadi K. Palaniswami has to be congratulated for having launched 3,501 Amma mobile fair price shops for the benefit of more than 5.37 lakh ration cardholders in the state. The general public wholeheartedly welcomes this novel scheme, as it is more convenient and they can purchase all essential commodities with correct weight at their doorstep and malpractice of any form also can be avoided. The salespersons may kindly maintain the quality and quantity of the ration materials and provide with utmost care and service and earn good name to the government.

A GREAT PRIDE

IT IS a matter of great pride that Lt. Kumudini Tyagi and Lt. Riti Singh will become the first women officers who will be deployed on Indian Navy warships as part of the ship's crew. Though Indian Navy does employ several women officers in its ranks, women have not so far embarked on warships for lengthy duration for various reasons, including lack of privacy in crew quarters. The entry of these two officers will pave the way for more women to be deployed on frontline warships. The development comes on a day when IAF has also shortlisted a woman fighter pilot for the newly acquired Rafale fighter jets.

Both teams score 200 but Rajasthan beat Super Kings

Sharjah, Sept. 22: Rajasthan Royals beat Chennai Super Kings by 16 runs in an IPL game on Tuesday riding on brilliant performances from Sanju Samson (74 off 32 balls), Steve Smith (69 off 47 balls) and Jofra Archer (27 off 8 balls, 1/26).

Batting first Royals scored 216/7 with the help of 17 sixes hit by their batsmen and nine by Samson alone.

In reply, CSK could manage 200/6 with Faf du Plessis scoring 72 off 37 ball with the help of seven sixes. Mahendra Singh Dhoni scored 29 off 17 balls but it was Rahul Tewatia's leg breaks that caused a lot of damage to top order. Tewatia took 3/37 in his four overs while Archer bowled a brilliant 19th over to seal the match.

Sent into bat, Rajasthan lost young opener Yashasvi Jaiswal (6) in the third over but then Samson joined hands with Smith as the duo played sensibly initially before the Kerala wicket-keeper batsman went hammer and tongs at opposition spinners.

Samson (74 off 32) looked in great nick, while Smith, returning to competitive cricket after recovering from concussion suffered before the ODI series against England, made 67 off 49 balls to lay the base for Rajasthan's total.

In the final over, Jofra Archer (27 off 8 balls) hit four sixes off Lungi Ngidi as Royals got 30 runs to take the score past 215.

In all, Royals hit 17 sixes with Samson accounting for nine of them and Smith and Archer having four each in their kitties.

While Smith played the second fiddle initially, Samson took the CSK spin duo of Ravindra Jadeja and Piyush Chawla to task

Kohli goes gaga over Chahal

Dubai, Sept. 22: Crediting Yuzvendra Chahal's three-wicket burst for his side's 10-run win over Sunrisers Hyderabad in their IPL opener, Royal Challengers Bangalore captain Virat Kohli said the wrist spinner proved that he can get purchase on any wicket.

Chahal (3/18) removed in-form Englishman Jonny Bairstow (61) and Vijay Shankar in successive balls in the 16th over to tilt the game decisively in RCB's favour. He had earlier gotten rid of Manish Pandey (34) in the 12th over.

"It's amazing to be honest. Last year, we were on the other side of the result, 6-nil to start. It is nice to be 1-nil. We kept our composure tonight," Kohli said at the post-match presentation on Monday.

"Yuzi (Chahal) comes in and completely changed the game for us. Not many spinners got much out of the pitch, but tonight he showed that you can turn it if you have it in your wrists. He showed he can get purchase on any wicket. The

PADIKKAL IMPRESSES ON DEBUT

Dubai, Sept. 22: Considered a future India star, Devdutt Padikkal made an impressive IPL debut with a scintillating fifty but the young Kerala batsman says he was nervous when his place in the playing XI was confirmed to him. Displaying a range of shots and confidence in striking the ball hard and clean, the 20-year-old scored a 42-ball 56 to help Royal Challengers Bangalore post 163 for 5 against Sunrisers Hyderabad.

"I was very nervous upon hearing the news of making my debut. But when I came to bat I settled down after playing a few balls," Padikkal told Chahal during an interview. "I was very nervous upon hearing the news of making my debut. But when I came to bat I settled down after playing a few balls," Padikkal told Chahal during an inter-

MARSH MAY BE RULED OUT OF IPL

Dubai, Sept. 22: Australian all-rounder Mitchell Marsh is likely to be ruled out of the remainder of the IPL as the ankle injury he suffered during the game against RCB has turned out to be "serious", team sources said on Tuesday.

Playing for Sunrisers Hyderabad, Marsh was handed the ball by skipper David Warner to bowl the fifth over but he could bowl only four deliveries.

Marsh, whose career has been marred by a series of injuries, twisted his ankle in the second ball while trying to stop a drive by Aaron Finch in his follow through but managed to bowl two more balls before hobbling out.

He later, courageously, came out to bat at number 10 in SRH's chase but it was evident that he was finding it even difficult to stand. "It seems a serious injury. I am not sure if he be able to compete in any of the matches," a team source said. — PTI

Mumbai look to bounce back

Abu Dhabi, Sept. 22: Grace and strength will be on one side while poise and killer instinct on the other when a revamped Kolkata Knight Riders take on Mumbai Indians, who have once again faltered in the beginning of the IPL, on Wednesday.

Since 2013, MI have never won an opening game and the script didn't change against Chennai Super Kings, who took control of the match during the last 10 overs of the first innings.

They will be keen to bounce back while KKR would look for a perfect beginning as it will be a battle between big hitters on both sides on a sluggish Abu Dhabi track.

It will be Shubman Gill's third IPL, the one where he would like to own the stage with his languid grace and effortless hitting, which he is so capable of. He can hit sixes over extra cover with grace and caress the ball through covers too.

These are exactly the traits that made Rohit Sharma, the great white ball exponent that he is. Seasoned Rohit versus young Shubman is one for the keeps and makes this battle enticing. But it's not just grace which makes T20 so appealing. The brute masculinity of power that sends the ball soaring into the orbit is what makes it so special.

Hardik Pandya, who is back with a chiselled body.

● Since 2013, MI have never won an opening game and the script didn't change against Chennai Super Kings, who took control of the match during the last 10 overs of the first innings.

There is no doubt that he can unleash his firepower against Sunil Narine and Kuldeep Yadav as well as KKR's highest paid multi million dollar recruit Pat Cummins. The second pacer could be between Prasidh Krishana and Kamlesh Nagarkoti. But Hardik will find his match in Andre Russell, easily the most destructive hitter in current T20 cricket.

Russell had openly criticised the team management last year for sending him down the order. He had hit 52 sixes during one of KKR's worst editions.

But this time, he has been promised a promotion to number three slot and this could spell doom for any opposition.

"If it benefits the team and helps us win games, why not. If that meant Russell comes in at three and bats 60 balls, he might actually make a double hundred. Anything can happen with Dre Russ," KKR mentor David Hussey had said recently. — PTI

Wadia calls for better umpiring standards

New Delhi, Sept. 22: Kings XI Punjab co-owner Ness Wadia wants the BCCI to ensure better umpiring standards and optimum use of technology in the IPL, following an umpiring howler which cost his team a match against Delhi Capitals.

Wadia expressed his views after KXIP appealed against on-field umpire Nitin Menon's controversial 'short run' call at a crunch time of the game held on Sunday in Dubai.

"It is exceedingly unfortunate that today with tremendous use of technology, we still do not use technology to ensure the total fairness and transparency in cricket game," Wadia said.

"I would request BCCI to ensure better umpiring and to ensure henceforth that technology is used to the maximum so as to ensure fairness and transparency in a game which is used across the best leagues in the world." — PTI

IBRAHIMOVIC'S BRACE GIVES AC COOL START

Milan, Sept. 22: Zlatan Ibrahimovic scored twice as AC Milan got their Serie A campaign up and running with a 2-0 win over Bologna on Monday.

Ibrahimovic, who turns 39 next month, showed he has lost none of his goalscoring skills having also netted last week against Irish side Shamrock Rovers in the Europa League.

"If I had been 20 years old I would have scored two more goals. I'm like Benjamin Button, born old, but I'll die young. Seriously, the team has worked well: you can see we're not at 100 per cent yet, but it was important to start well," said the Swede.

Ibrahimovic grabbed the opener in the 35th minute, rising higher than Danilo to get his head to a Theo Hernandez cross, and celebrated in front of the 1,000 spectators allowed into the San Siro for the first time since the pandemic — mostly invited front-line health workers who had toiled during the worst of the crisis.

The Swede missed a chance for a second shortly after when he was denied by a sliding tackle from Brazilian defender Danilo. But six minutes after the break he added a second from the penalty spot. — AFP

‘Incredible’ Foden keeps Wolves at bay

Wolverhampton, Sept. 22: Pep Guardiola labelled Phil Foden as "incredible" after Manchester City survived a scare to start their Premier League title challenge with a 3-1 win against Wolves on Monday.

City's delayed start to the campaign — due to their involvement in last season's Champions League — had allowed Liverpool to build a six-point lead over them before they had even kicked a ball.

Guardiola's side could not afford to slip up at Molineux if they wanted to keep pace with the champions and they raced into a two-goal lead before half-time thanks to Kevin De Bruyne's penalty and Foden's cool finish.

City's swaggering first half gave way to an anxious spell as Wolves dominated after the interval and they had to cling on after Raul Jimenez got one back before Gabriel Jesus sealed the points in stoppage time.

Foden's goal was a welcome morale boost in his first match since the midfielder was sent home in disgrace, along with Manchester United's Mason Greenwood, after the pair invited local women into the England team's hotel. The breach of coronavirus protocols after England's Nations League match in Iceland was publicly condemned by City, but the 20-year-old retains Wolves' trust.

"For the goal and in the second half Foden played incredibly well, he helped us keep the ball," Guardiola said.

While City equalled Aston Villa's record of winning 10 consecutive opening fixtures to a season, there is little doubt Liverpool remain the League's pre-eminent force for now.

But Guardiola was delighted to open with a victory given the shorter than usual pre-season. "We could not run much because we are tired in our legs but in general we did a good game," he said.

It feels like a crucial season for City and Guardiola as they look to regain the title they won in 2018 and 2019. — AFP
