Off the beaten track

Trump, and the art of leaving

This month we left an old and truly awful year behind with almost as much fanfare as ever, despite life being far from normal. But the degree of jollity and bonhomie that attend year-end salutations are out of the ordinary in themselves. Not only do we not display such fellow feeling in the course of the year, there is almost nothing else we leave behind with such elan.

At the end of the year, we reach out to even those we don't particularly like and wish them well. Do we mean it? Mostly, yes. Does it improve our state of mind going into the new year, even if it doesn't improve the year itself (as 2021 has already proven)? Yes! Although centering on fresh starts for ourselves, our genuine intention to begin well makes us behave better than we ordinarily would with others, and with more integrity than when exiting anything else.

Amongst those rare affairs we leave behind with grace are school and college; quitted almost perfunctorily and with some relief at the time, they accrue copious layers of sentiment over the years. We depart kids' birthday parties too with some decorum, but only because we've been bribed with return gifts and cake, and are children still, under strict behave-or-else orders from our parents. It is childhood then that most of us renounce with a modicum of dignity, because of the quick-gilding memories and the hurry we are in to leave.

In almost any other situation, we appear to exit as if "pursued by a bear". Because it isn't human nature to leave things well. Or well alone. If something's going well, our instinct is to not end it at all. Why stop something, we ask ourselves, that works to our advantage? We only wrap things up when they no longer serve our ends. When they're beyond redemption with no recompense. But oh, they can't run out on us either; we have to be the one that walks, have that last word, or leave behind an indelible impression. Even if it's a negative one; rendering a place, person, or situation, broken and unusable for those who come along.

Is that what Donald Trump's been doing since his election defeat? Like a spurned lover, does he want to destroy America, if America won't have him? The Capitol riot on January 6 when Trump supporters stormed the House of Representatives has been cast as many things; from a righteous protest by its right-wing adherents, to an insurrection and coup attempt by almost everyone else. And the last two it would appear to be, even as it unfolded on our screens like a Hollywood horror movie. But was it also Trump's bid, like an entitled, mean-spirited rock star leaving a hotel room worse than they'd found it, to trash Washington and American democracy, if he could no longer preside over it?

It's true we leave very few jobs with good grace, fearing a loss of earnings and very often, face. We might have been fired, or so thoroughly fed up by the time we call it quits, the good-will naturally dissipates. Even those we revere rarely bow out well. Sunil Gavaskar, retiring right after his 37th test century, and at the height of his fame, timed it to perfection. But not everyone steps down at the top of their game, when people are still asking why, rather than why not. Some might say Kapil Dev bid adieu a tad too late, when questions over his fitness were already being raised. Celebrities, basking in our adoration, find leaving the limelight quite the wrench. Like Barbra Streisand, they may have flounced off saying they'd had enough, charging you $1,000 to watch their "last" performance, only to return a few years later. But budge up Babs, having left five dead and a country in disarray, Donald now takes the cake!

Trump may be an extreme example; of bad grace, ill intent, reprehensible actions, and orangeness, but it's not just those we place on pedestals who make debacles of departures. In more modest ways, we're all deficient in the art of leaving well. In my personal life, I've been hopeless. Not only do I not know 50 ways to leave lovers, I haven't even mastered one. I know I'm fortunate to be happily settled with my second husband and three children (two human and one canine), despite never having managed to finish a relationship well. Or indeed, at all. Despite the abuse, I dithered every time, fervently trying to fix what oughtn't be fixed, till the other party found a new punching bag and I could move on. Having talked to women trapped in abusive relationships like myself, and heard countless other tales of romantic stalemates, I can attest that if there are indeed 50 ways to leave your lover, they've only ever worked for Simon. Or Garfunkel.

Of course, there's ending relationships badly, and then there's instigating armed revolt to lay siege to parliament, or trash it because you can't crash it as I half suspect, but we can still learn a valuable lesson from the shocking events of this month. We can learn how not to execute the world's worst departure from the King (Kong) of all bad losers, if not in 50 different ways then at least in one. Whatever you do, wherever you are, however hard-done-by you feel (or even if you actually are), don't be a chump, don't do a Trump, never take a dump on those you're leaving. And with that one surefire way to make an elegant exit, I will say adieu, but so bad am I at leaving, I'll proffer this too — that if you can think of 49 other excellent modes in which to walk, tell us, won't you?

Resist new usurpers of Hindu's eternal legacy

Pavan K. Varma

Chanakya's View

It is a truism to say that Hinduism is a way of life. What this essentially means is, that unlike many other religions, Hinduism does not lay down an inflexible code of do's and don'ts for its followers. It does not have only one God, nor only one book of faith, nor one Pope, nor a single place of paramount pilgrimage, nor only one presiding temple. Such diversity in practice often leads some uninformed observers to believe that Hinduism is not a cohesive religion: it is not one but many faiths. Such an assessment is wide off the mark. Hindus allow for differences of opinion, within and without, and variations in practice, dictated by choice not diktat, without diluting the core fealties of their faith.

But there are some people now who want to convert this remarkably eclectic religion, that has evolved from centuries of cerebration and philosophical insight, into a prescriptive faith. They want to dictate to its followers what they should wear, what they should drink, what they should eat, how they should practise their religion, what constitutes "correct" Hindu behaviour, what morality is, and who is a "good" Hindu as against a "bad" one. This, of course, is anathema for most Hindus. Hinduism has been used to being Hindus in a self-assured way without being told that there is a higher "authority" that will judge them on how good or bad they are. What makes it worse is that those who believe that they are "better" Hindus, and therefore the "authority" to judge the conduct of "lesser" Hindus, are woefully ignorant of what Hinduism is really about.

Inexplicably, Hindus never took this threat seriously, but they should have been alerted to its dangers long before. The Shri Ram Sena was founded in the 1960s by Kalki Maharaj, close to the Shiv Sena, and a former member of the Bajrang Dal and the Vishwa Hindu Parishad. On January 24, 2009, members of the Shri Ram Sena barged into a pub — Amnesia — in Mangalore, and beat up a group of young men and women, on the grounds that the women were violating traditional Indian — read Hindu — values. Two of the women had to be hospitalised. Pramod Muthalik, the leader of the Sena said: "Whoever had done this has done a good job. Girls going to pubs is not acceptable. So whatever the Sena members did was right. You are highlighting this small incident to malign the BJP government in the state."

In January 2009, Muthalik announced a plan to target couples dating on February 14, Valentine's Day. "Our activists will go around with a priest, turmeric, and a mangalsutra on February 14. If we come across couples together in public and expressing their love, we will take them to the nearest temple and conduct their marriage." Such incidents need to be recalled, because what then seemed to be a fringe trend, is increasingly becoming mainstream. The Love Jihad law passed by the UP government, and being emulated now by other BJP ruled states, may ostensibly be aimed at preventing fraudulent conversions of Hindu women through the ruse of marriage, but its real intent is to infantilise adult Hindu women and take away from them their constitutional right to marry whomsoever they wish.

Now, Shivraj Singh Chouhan, the chief minister of Madhya Pradesh, has announced a "samman" programme, where employed women can register at the local police station for their own safety. Ostensibly meant to protect women, what such a programme is likely to do in a patriarchal society is to empower policemen in the thana to keep a watch on where employed women go, who they meet, what they do, and why they don't return home at a "respectable" time. Women must become appropriately "chaste" in conformity with the limited vision of these self-anointed protectors of Hinduism, and Hindus in general must bow before their brittle and distorted notions of Hindu fidelity. Our memories are short-lived but we should not forget that some years ago, Govind Pansare, M.M. Kalburgi, Narendra Dabholkar and Gauri Lankesh, were shot dead allegedly by members of the Sanatan Sanstha and Hindu Janajagruti Samiti. The horrific murders were reportedly inspired by a book published by the Sanatan Sanstha, which argues that those who don't conform to prefixed ideas of Hindu spirituality and religion are villains of society and must be eliminated.

Hinduism has no 10 commandments. It has consciously chosen not to be prescriptive, and that is the key too for its survival and being a sanatan or eternal dharma. Its concept of dharma, while outlining a framework for ethics, leaves a great deal to the conscious choice that individuals make in given situations. With progress, education and modernity, a vast number of Hindus want to have the freedom of being Hindus in accordance with their own vision of what that means. They are emerging as confident citizens of a globalised world, and do not wish to be straitjacketed in the narrow vision of some blindly orthodox, patriarchal and largely upper-caste Hindus.

In the eighth century CE, the great Adi Shankaracharya could say: Na mantram, na teertham, na vedam, na yagna, chidananda roopam, Shivo ham, Shivo ham: There is no mantra, no pilgrimage, no Veda, no ritual, all that matters is Bliss and Awareness that makes each one of us Shiva. If Hindus want to preserve this real Hinduism, they must learn to resist the new usurpers of their great legacy.

In the process it broke into two, its tail portion dropping on the way.

Huge tongues of flame suddenly leapt up and when the fire was brought under control after two hours by the fire-fighting squads, all that could be salvaged of the aircraft was the cockpit and part of the first class portion of the passenger lounge.

Kharge or Sharma: Who will succeed Azad in LS?

Senior Congress leader Ghulam Nabi Azad has been the leader of Opposition in the Rajya Sabha for over six years. This post will soon be falling vacant as Mr Azad's term ends next month. The Budget Session of Parliament is barely a few days away but there's no clarity about Mr Azad's successor in the Upper House. From all accounts, the post would have gone to Anand Sharma who is the party's deputy leader in the Upper House. However, Mr Sharma now has competition as veteran leader Mallikarjun Kharge, who was recently elected to the Rajya Sabha, is emerging as a serious contender. The Opposition leader's post is critical as he or she leads the charge against the Treasury. Mr Kharge held the post in the Lok Sabha for five years (he moved to the Rajya Sabha after he failed to make it to the Lower House in the 2019 election) and despite the Congress party's poor bench strength, the veteran leader from Karnataka managed to get under the government's skin on several occasions. Though Mr Sharma has acquitted himself well in the Rajya Sabha, Mr Kharge's seniority could well tilt the scales in his favour.

There is a strong buzz in the capital that Uttarakhand and Madhya Pradesh chief ministers Trivendra Singh Rawat and Shivraj Singh Chouhan may be shifted to Delhi when Prime Minister Narendra Modi reshuffles his Cabinet, which may now take place only after the West Bengal election. Mr Rawat has made himself unpopular with the people and party workers. Both complain that Mr Rawat has no presence and has failed to make any impact. Furthermore, he comes across as a poor second in comparison to his Uttar Pradesh counterpart Yogi Adityanath. Unlike Mr Rawat, Mr Chouhan's popularity ratings remain high but the BJP leadership is unhappy at his acquiring a larger-than-life image. Mr Chouhan has become increasingly assertive and aggressive in his second term and this has not gone unnoticed by the leadership in Delhi. In fact, the party has been keen on promoting another leader in the state for some time but has not got an opportune moment to do so.

First, Congress insiders had a grouse that Nehru-Gandhi scion Rahul Gandhi was inaccessible to them and that his politically-inexperienced team members kept him from meeting party cadres. And now it is the same story with his sister Priyanka Gandhi Vadra, Congress general secretary in charge of Uttar Pradesh. When Priyanka joined politics two years ago, excited Congress cadres were confident that her entry would bring about a much-needed change in the party as she was reputed to be more open and connected well with workers. But, unfortunately for Congress members, it is as difficult to get an audience with Priyanka as it is with Rahul Gandhi. In Priyanka's case, they blame Sandeep Singh, the main honcho in her office, for her inaccessibility. Unhappy Congress members maintain that Sandeep keeps a tight control on her appointments and is known to give preference to those who defer to him. There have been several instances when Sandeep has exchanged hot words with party leaders, the latest being UP legislator Aradhana Mishra.

Ever since home minister Amit Shah visited Delhi Police headquarters for a review meeting last week, speculation has been rife that the force will finally get a full-fledged commissioner. According to the grapevine, S.M. Sahai, a 1987 IPS officer, presently serving in the PMO, is the frontrunner for the post. The present incumbent, S.N. Shrivastava, was given additional charge as police commissioner after his predecessor Amulya Patnaik demitted office last March. An order issued then had stated that Mr Shrivastava would hold this charge till further orders. He has since been continuing as an ad hoc police chief as his confirmation orders have yet to come. He is set to retire in June. This is perhaps the first time that Delhi Police has been functioning with an acting chief commissioner for such a prolonged period.

When Arnab Goswami, Republic TV's editor-in-chief and co-founder, was arrested by the Mumbai Police last year in an abatement to suicide case, the ruling BJP had gone all out to defend him. Union ministers and party spokespersons had lined up to attack the Maharashtra government for indulging in a witch hunt. Mr Goswami is currently embroiled in a fresh controversy over his long WhatsApp chats with the head of the Broadcast Audience Research Council revealing that he was fixing his channel's TRPs. But, unlike the last time, no minister or BJP spokesperson has come to his rescue suggesting that the saffron party wishes to distance itself from its favourite news anchor. Maybe it has something to do with Mr Goswami flaunting his proximity to the government's top bosses and how they were ready to hand down favours to him. Worse, he made fun of Prime Minister Narendra Modi's poetry. Clearly, Mr Goswami's benefactors have not taken kindly to his remarks.

MAHA TO START JAIL TOURISM FROM JAN 26

Nagpur, Jan. 23: The Maharashtra government will start 'jail tourism' in the state from Pune's Yerawada prison on January 26 to facilitate people to visit and see from close quarters the historical prisons, a minister said on Saturday.

Chief Minister Uddhav Thackeray and Deputy Chief Minister Ajit Pawar will inaugurate the jail tourism initiative at Yerawada Central Jail on the Republic Day, state Home Minister Anil Deshmukh said in a press conference.

This is the first of its kind initiative in the country, he claimed. "Jail tourism in the state will start from the Yerawada jail in the first phase. Students from schools, colleges and other people will get a chance to visit these historical places," he told reporters here.

"Under the British rule, several freedom fighters, including Mahatma Gandhi, Lokmanya Tilak, Motilal Nehru, Pandit Jawaharlal Nehru, Sardar Vallabhbhai Patel, Sarojini Naidu, Subhas Chandra Bose had been imprisoned in Yerawada jail and their memories have been preserved there," he said.

Deshmukh said that guides will be provided to the visitors and ticket prices will range from ₹5 to ₹50. The prisons in Thane, Nashik and Ratnagiri will also be part of the jail tourism initiative, the minister added.

SOMNATH BHARTI SENTENCED TO 2 YEARS IN JAIL

DC CORRESPONDENT
NEW DELHI, JAN. 23

A court on Saturday sentenced AAP MLA Somnath Bharti to two years in jail for assaulting the AIIMS security staff in a case registered in 2016. Additional Chief Metropolitan Magistrate Ravindra Kumar Pandey also imposed a fine of Rs one lakh on the Aam Aadmi Party (AAP) leader.

Bharti, however, was granted bail to enable him to file an appeal before the high court against his conviction in the case and jail term.

According to the prosecution, on September 9, 2016, Bharti, along with nearly 300 others, brought down the fence of a boundary wall at the AIIMS here with a JCB operator.

"The court is of the considered view that the prosecution has duly proved its case beyond all reasonable doubt against accused Somnath Bharti," the magistrate said.

The court convicted Bharti for various offences under the IPC, including under sections 323 (voluntarily causing hurt), 353 (assault or use of criminal force to deter public servant from discharge of his duty) and 147 (rioting). It also held the AAP MLA guilty under section 3 (mischievous causing damage to public property) of the Prevention of Damage to Public Property Act.

The offences carry a maximum punishment of five years in jail. The court, however, acquitted Bharti's associates and co-accused - Jagat Saini, Dileep Jha, Sandeep Sonu and Rakesh Pandey - citing a lack of evidence against them.

The case was lodged on the basis of a complaint from R.S. Rawat, Chief Security Officer, AIIMS.

BSF DETECTS UNDERGROUND TUNNEL ALONG IB IN KATHUA

Jammu, Jan. 23: The Border Security Force (BSF) on Saturday detected a second underground tunnel constructed by Pakistan in Jammu and Kashmir's Kathua district to facilitate the infiltration of terrorists, a spokesperson of the border guarding force said.

This is the second such structure found in 10 days.

The secret tunnel was detected during an anti-tunnelling operation in the border outpost (BOP) Pansar area of Hiranagar sector, opposite Abhiyal-Dogra and Kingre-de-Kothe in Shakargarh, the spokesperson said.

This is the second underground tunnel detected by BSF personnel in Hiranagar sector during the past 10 days, fourth in the past six months along the International Border (IB) in Samba and Kathua districts and 10th in the past decade.

On January 13, a 150-metre-long tunnel was detected in Bobiyaan village in the same sector.

The spokesperson said the latest tunnel was unearthed on a specific intelligence input in the early hours of the day during the anti-tunnelling drive. "The tunnel is about 150 metres long and 30 feet deep with about three feet diameter," he said, adding that the BSF had shot down a Pakistani Hexacopter carrying loads of weapons and ammunition in June 2020 in the same area besides foiling an infiltration bid by terrorists in November 2019. - PTI

INDIA-CHINA TO HOLD CORPS COMMANDERS MEETING TODAY

PAWAN BALI | DC
NEW DELHI, JAN. 23

India and China will hold ninth round of Corps Commanders meeting on Sunday at Moldo to try resolve the ongoing military stand-off in the Eastern Ladakh.

The last round of the Corps Commanders meeting was held on November 6. However, due to lack of any tangible progress no meeting was held between the army commanders in over two and a half months.

The military stand-off in Eastern Ladakh is in ninth month with both sides having deployed around 50,000 troops at each side of the line of actual control (LAC) in Eastern Ladakh. Despite temperatures dipping to -30 degrees C in the region, both India and China have maintained troops at forward posts this winter at LAC in Ladakh.

India is reported to be have asked Russia for early deliveries of S-400 air defence missile system to be mainly deployed at LAC.

Farmer leaders allege conspiracy to kill them

New Delhi, Jan. 23: A man is being questioned by the Haryana police after protesting farmers alleged that a conspiracy was hatched to kill four of their leaders and create disturbance during their proposed tractor parade in Delhi on January 26, officials said on Saturday.

The man was presented before reporters by the protesting farmer leaders on Friday night.

A police official said the man, stated to be around 21 years of age, was being quizzed in Sonapat by the Crime Branch of the state police. He said the man was residing in Sonapat and had no previous criminal record.

"He was not carrying any arms or ammunition. We are questioning him, but nothing has so far been found that points to any kind of conspiracy, as is being alleged," the official said, adding that further investigations are underway.

At the Singhu border press conference late on Friday night, the farmer leaders presented the man who claimed that his accomplices were asked to pose as policemen and baton-charge the crowd during the proposed tractor parade in the national capital on Republic Day.

The farmer leaders claimed that they caught the man from the protest site at the Singhu border.

MP CONGRESS PROTESTS OVER FARM LAWS

RABINDRA NATH CHOUDHURY | DC
BHOPAL, JAN. 23

Police used tear gas shells and water cannons as Congress activists led by Madhya Pradesh state chief Kamal Nath here on Saturday staged a rally in protest against 3 farm laws brought by the Centre.

The police used 'mild force' to disperse the Congress workers and leaders who were marching towards Raj Bhavan to gherao it. "Police used tear gas shells and water cannons after the demonstrators went unruly", a police officer said.

"The situation is now under control", Bhopal district deputy inspector general of police Irshad Wali said.

Congress on Saturday launched the state level rally here after holding rallies at district headquarters in the state over the last past couple of weeks in support of the farmers' demand to repeal the 3 farm laws.

He was subsequently handed over to the Haryana police. Farmer leader Kulwant Singh Sandhu alleged that attempts are being made to disrupt the ongoing agitation against three farm laws.

The man, who had his face covered with a scarf, claimed at the press conference that a plan was hatched to shoot four farmer leaders, who are known faces in the media, at the stage on Saturday.

"On January 26, there was a plan to create disturbance during the tractor parade by opening fire on Delhi Police personnel, which would prompt them to retaliate against the protesting farmers in a strong manner," he said.

Thousands of farmers, mostly from Punjab, Haryana and western Uttar Pradesh, have been camping at several border points of Delhi since November 28 last year, demanding a repeal of the three farm laws and a legal guarantee to the minimum support price (MSP) for their crops.

Enacted in September last year, the three laws have been projected by the Centre as major reforms in the agriculture sector that will remove middlemen and allow farmers to sell their produce anywhere in the country.

However, the protesting farmers have expressed their apprehension over the new laws.

Mamata declines to speak at Netaji event after 'Jai Shree Ram' slogans were raised

RAJIB CHOWDHURI | DC
KOLKATA, JAN. 23

Controversy cast a shadow on Prime Minister Narendra Modi's Kolkata visit on Saturday to inaugurate the Centre's 'Parakram Diwas' celebration in memory of the 125th birth anniversary of Netaji Subhash Chandra Bose as the solemn occasion witnessed a tug of war between the BJP and ruling Trinamul Congress over the iconic freedom fighter to woo the voters in poll-bound West Bengal.

All eyes were set on the event at the Victoria Memorial where Mr Modi and chief minister and TMC supremo Mamata Banerjee faced each other in person after a gap of a year and also shared the dais.

Ms Banerjee also greeted the PM with a welcome stole.

However, their joint public appearance, supposed to be the last before the Assembly Elections, could not beat the rising political temperature in the state due to a neck and neck battle between two rival parties for poll success. As the anchors announced Ms Banerjee's name to deliver her address, the CM was greeted with Jai Shree Ram slogans from the audience, leaving her furious. One of the anchors tried to pacify those shouting the slogan and urged them to give an opportunity to Ms Banerjee to speak.

The CM said, "I think there should be a dignity at a government programme. It is a government programme and not an event of any particular political party. It is rather a programme of all political parties and the public at large. I am obliged to the PM and Union ministry of culture for organizing the event in Kolkata. But it does not suit you to insult someone after inviting her. In protest of that I will not say anything."

She then angrily returned to her seat. Eulogising Bose Mr Modi said that his government has been following his footsteps to make the country atmanirbhar from the LAC to LOC.

KOLKATA, JAN. 23

Stoking mass sentiment about Netaji Subhash Chandra Bose on his 125th birth anniversary, chief minister Mamata Banerjee on Saturday sought the Centre to declare the iconic freedom fighter's birthday a national holiday, restore his concept, Planning Commission and unravel the mystery about his death.

The Trinamul Congress supremo raised the three key demands while preferring her 'Deshanayak Diwas' to the Centre's 'Parakram Diwas' in memory of the birth anniversary of Bose after paying tribute to him at his statue at the Shyambazar Five-point crossing and leading an eight-km-long march across the city to outsmart Prime Minister Narendra Modi hours before his visit to Kolkata to inaugurate 'Parakram Diwas' celebration.

Ms Banerjee told a rally at Red Road, "The central government is yet to declare Netaji's birthday as a national holiday. We are sad about it. In protest, we demand that Netaji's birthday has to be declared as a national holiday, either today or tomorrow. We also do not know how he had died. This should be revealed through an inquiry. Netaji, according to us, was eliminated because his freedom struggle had scared many."

Countering the slogan 'one nation, one election' of Mr Modi and BJP, the TMC chief, in her bid to play up regional politics ahead of the polls, also called for regionwise bifurcation of the nation's capital into four including one at Kolkata to decentralise union powers from New Delhi. She argued that parliament sessions can be held in the four regional capitals in turns.

She added, "Kolkata once used to be the capital of the country. When the British used to rule the nation sitting here, why can't Kolkata be one of the capitals of the country? I feel it has to be done since it was the origin of renaissance and freedom movement. I ask the Centre to set up the country's capital in four corners: North, South, East and North East. Why would the parliamentary sessions be restricted to a particular place? What is there in Delhi? Maximum are outsiders there."

Bengali legend, Sugata Bose got a call from the PMO to learn that Mr Modi would pay a surprise visit to the Netaji Bhavan, the ancestral house of the family at Elgin Road in South Kolkata that now houses the Netaji Research Bureau, which was earlier not in his itinerary.

Some BJP leaders including Kailash Vijayvargiya, who gathered outside the address, tried to enter but were stopped.

They however shouted Jai Shree Ram slogan when Mr Modi dropped at the Netaji Bhavan after landing in Kolkata.

Prof Bose, also the NRB chairperson, said, "I had told the PMO that Mr Modi is welcome as a PM in honour of Netaji and not as a political personality. The CM also visited here alone in the morning. The PMO agreed. Alongwith my brother Sumantra Bose, director of the NRB, I welcomed the PM and guided him to visit the museum. No political leader was allowed. We protected the sanctity of the occasion."

On the Centre's 'Parakram Diwas' he added, "I do not like it because Netaji was not a mere warrior. I like Deshanayak Diwas."

Thank you, says Brazil for vaccine

DC CORRESPONDENT
NEW DELHI, JAN. 23

Ecstatic over India supplying the Covid vaccine to his country, Brazilian President Jair Bolsonaro thanked Prime Minister Narendra Modi, saying that Brazil was "honoured to have a great partner" like India.

The Prime Minister replied that the "honour is ours", adding that India is a "trusted partner" of Brazil and pointing to efforts to fight the pandemic.

At a weekly media briefing earlier on Friday, the Ministry of External Affairs had said that vaccines had been despatched already to Brazil and Morocco as contractual supplies, with Saudi Arabia, South Africa, Bangladesh and Myanmar also set to receive these.

It may be recalled that in addition, vaccine supply as a gift from India under grant assistance has so far been made to seven countries including five neighbours - Bhutan, the Maldives, Bangladesh, Myanmar, Nepal, Mauritius and Seychelles.

Sri Lanka and Afghanistan will also receive vaccines as grant assistance once regulatory approvals are received from these two countries. Observers point out that

● OBSERVERS POINT out that India's vaccine supplies especially as grant assistance to neighbouring countries has been a huge success

India's vaccine supplies especially as grant assistance to neighbouring countries has been a huge success of Indian foreign policy and has generated much overseas goodwill for New Delhi. India is also seen as having scored over giant eastern neighbour China which had expanded its influence drastically in south Asia in the past several years.

MEA Spokesperson Anurag Srivastava had said, on Friday, "As you can see the supply of Indian made vaccines are underway both as gifts as well as on commercial basis. ... In terms of quantities and types of vaccines, the supplies abroad on G-to-G, G-to-B and B-to-B basis would be based on availability and regulatory approvals."

WHO chief Tedros Adhanom Ghebreyesus thanked Prime Minister Narendra Modi for his continued support to the global COVID-19 response, saying acting together, including sharing of knowledge, will help in combating the coronavirus.

The App can also be downloaded from the Union

NAVALNY WIFE,
SUPPORTERS
HELD AT RALLY

Moscow, Jan. 23: Russian police on Saturday detained over 1,000 protesters, including the wife of jailed Kremlin critic Alexei Navalny, as several thousands took to the streets nationwide to denounce President Vladimir Putin's rule. Thousands of people, including teenagers, packed Moscow's central Pushkin Square and nearby streets as riot police hauled off demonstrators and beat others with batons.

Among those detained were Navalny's wife Yulia Navalnaya and his prominent aide Lyubov Sobol. AFP journalists saw several protesters left badly injured after clashing with police in Moscow.

"What a joy that you are here!" Navalnaya wrote before being detained and posting a picture of herself from inside a police van. The protests in Moscow were estimated to be the largest demonstrators since 2019 when Navalny supporters rallied to demand free local elections.

Navalny had called on Russians to protest this week after surviving a near-fatal poisoning with Novichok and returning to Moscow following months of treatment in Germany, only to be arrested on arrival.

Some protesters marched towards the Kremlin, while others blocked Tverskaya Street, the Russian capital's main thoroughfare.

Police clashed with the demonstrators in the city centre and hit them with truncheons, AFP journalists said.

Larry King

LARRY KING,
BROADCASTING
GIANT, DIES

Los Angeles, Jan. 23: The iconic talk show host Larry King, one of the most recognizable figures on US television as he interviewed everyone who was anyone over a career spanning 60 years, died Saturday at the age of 87.

The company he co-founded, Ora Media, did not state a cause of death but media reports said King had been battling Covid-19 for weeks and had suffered several health problems in recent years. King, with his trademark suspenders, black rim glasses and deep voice, was best known for a 25-year run as a talk show host on CNN's "Larry King Live."

"For 63 years and across the platforms of radio, television and digital media, Larry's many thousands of interviews, awards, and global acclaim stand as a testament to his unique and lasting talent as a broadcaster," Ora Media said in a statement posted on Twitter.

King's long list of interviewees ranged from every US president since 1974, world leaders Yasser Arafat and Vladimir Putin, and celebrities such as Frank Sinatra, Marlon Brando and Barbra Streisand.

In an emotional last "Larry King Live" show in 2010, tributes included one from President Barack Obama, who in a video message called King "one of the giants of broadcasting".

Trump impeachment trial to begin on Feb. 8

Harris' vote as Senate chairman gives Dems majority

Washington, Jan. 23: The United States Senate would begin the impeachment trial of former President Donald Trump on February 8, Senate Majority Leader Chuck Schumer said. "The January 6th insurrection at the Capitol, incited by Donald J. Trump was a day none of us will ever forget. We all want to put this awful chapter in our nation's history behind us. But healing and unity will only come if there is truth and accountability. And that is what this trial will provide," Schumer said on the senate floor.

Both the Republican and the Democratic Party now have 50 seats each in the 100 member Senate. However, the crucial vote of Vice President Kamala Harris in her capacity as the chairman of the senate gives the Democrats a majority in the upper chambers of the Congress.

Giving details of the impeachment process, Schumer said the house managers will come to read the article of impeachment at 7 pm on Monday. Members will then be sworn in the next day.

After that, both the house managers and the defense will have a period of time to draft their legal briefs, just as they did in previous trials, he said.

"During that period, the senate will continue to do other business for the American people, such as cabinet nominations and the Covid-relief bill, which would provide relief for millions of Americans who are suffering during this pandemic. Then, once the briefs are drafted, presentations by the parties will commence in the week of February 8th," Schumer said.

Senate Minority Leader Mitch McConnell said that the impeachment began with an unprecedentedly fast and minimal process in the house. The sequel cannot be an insufficient senate process that denies former president Trump his due process or damages the senate or the presidency itself, he said.

"Senate Republicans strongly believe we need a full and fair process where the former president can mount a defence and the senate can properly consider the factual, legal, and constitutional questions at stake," he said.

The Republican leader suggested that the impeachment trial begin on February 11. "That timeline would have provided the Senate some more floor

global broadcasters resign

Washington, Jan. 23: The heads of three federally-funded international broadcasters were abruptly fired late Friday as the Biden administration completed a house-cleaning of Donald Trump appointees at the US Agency for Global Media.

Two officials familiar with the changes said the acting chief of the USAGM summarily dismissed the directors of Radio Free Europe/Radio Liberty, Radio Free Asia and the Middle East Broadcasting Networks just a month after they had been named to the posts.

The changes came a day after the director of the Voice of America and his deputy were removed and the chief of the Office of Cuba Broadcasting stepped down. The firings follow the forced resignation of ex-President Donald Trump's handpicked choice to lead USAGM only two hours after Joe Biden took office.

Trump's USAGM chief Michael Pack had been accused by Democrats and others of trying to turn VOA and its sister networks into pro-Trump propaganda machines. Pack had appointed all of those who were fired on Thursday and Friday to their posts only in December.

The two officials said the acting CEO of USAGM, Kellu Chao, had fired Middle East Broadcasting Network director Victoria Coates, Radio Free Asia chief Stephen Yates and Radio Free Europe head Ted Lipien in a swift series of moves late Friday.

It was not immediately clear if any of those removed would try to contest their dismissals. — AP

BIDEN CALLS

OBRADOR

Washington, Jan. 23: President Joe Biden made his first calls to foreign leaders as America's commander in chief on Friday, dialing up Canadian Prime Minister Justin Trudeau and Mexican President Andrés Manuel López Obrador at a strained moment for the US relationship with its North American neighbours.

Biden's call to Trudeau came after the Canadian prime minister this week publicly expressed disappointment over Biden's decision — one of his first acts as president — to issue an executive order halting construction of the Keystone XL oil pipeline. — AP

domestic extremism threat

Washington, Jan. 23: President Joe Biden has directed his intelligence community to study the threat of domestic extremism in the United States, an undertaking being launched weeks after a violent mob loyal to Donald Trump stormed the US Capitol.

The disclosure Friday by White House press secretary Jen Psaki is a stark acknowledgment of the national security threat that officials see as posed by American extremists motivated to violence by extremist ideology.

The involvement of the director of national intelligence, an office created after the September 11, 2001, attacks to prevent international terrorism, suggests that American authorities are examining how to pivot to a more concerted focus on violence from radical extremists at home. Federal Bureau of Investigation Director Chris Wray has said that, over the last year, the most lethal violence has come from anti-government activists, such as anarchists and militia-types. The rise of domestic violent extremism is a serious and growing national security threat," Psaki said. — AP

Trump shuns 'ex-presidents club'

Washington, Jan. 23: It's a club Donald Trump was never really interested in joining and certainly not so soon: the cadre of former commanders in chief who revere the presidency enough to put aside often bitter political differences and even join together in common cause. Members of the club pose together for pictures. They smile and pat each other on the back while milling around historic events, or sit somberly side by side at VIP funerals.

They take on special projects together. They rarely criticise one another and tend to offer even fewer harsh words about their White House successors. Like so many other presidential traditions, however, this is one Trump seems likely to flout. Now that he's left office, it's hard to see him embracing the stately, exclusive club of living former presidents.

"He kind of laughed at the very notion that he would be accepted in the presidents club," said Kate Andersen Brower, who interviewed Trump in 2019 for her book "Team of Five: The Presidents' Club in the Age of Trump."

"He was like, 'I don't think I'll be accepted.' It's equally clear that the club's other members don't much want him — at least for now. Former Presidents Barack Obama, George W. Bush and Bill Clinton recorded a three-minute video from Arlington National Cemetery after President Joe Biden's inauguration this week, praising peaceful presidential succession as a core of American democracy. The segment included no mention of Trump by name, but stood as a stark rebuke of his behaviour since losing November's election.

"I think the fact that the three of us are standing here, talking about a peaceful transfer of power, speaks to the institutional integrity of our country," Bush said.

Obama called inaugurations "a reminder that we can have fierce disagreements and yet recognise each other's common humanity, and that, as Americans, we have more in common than what separates us." Trump spent months making baseless claims that the election had been stolen from him through fraud and eventually helped incite a deadly insurrection at the US Capitol. He left the White House without attending Biden's swearing-in, the first president to skip his successor's inauguration in 152 years. Obama, Bush and Clinton recorded their video after accompanying Biden to lay a wreath at the Tomb of the Unknown Soldier following the inauguration. They also taped a video urging Americans to get vaccinated against the coronavirus. ## US to revisit Taliban deal

Washington, Jan. 23: The Biden administration has said it will review the US-Taliban deal to assess whether the militant group is reducing violence in keeping with its side of the agreement in the Afghan peace accord. During a telephonic conversation with his Afghan counterpart Hamdullah Mohib, National Security Advisor Jake Sullivan underscored that the US will support the peace process with a robust and regional diplomatic effort, "which will aim to help the two sides achieve a durable and just political settlement and permanent ceasefire". National Security Council spokeswoman Emily Horne said on Friday.

"Sullivan also made clear the United States' intention to review the February 2020 US-Taliban agreement, including to assess whether the Taliban was living up to its commitments to cut ties with terrorist groups, to reduce violence in Afghanistan and to engage in meaningful negotiations with the Afghan government and other stakeholders," she said.

The Trump administration had signed the peace deal with Taliban in February last in Doha.

The accord drew up plans for withdrawal of United States troops from Afghanistan in exchange for security guarantees from the insurgent group. As part of the deal, the US committed to withdraw its 12,000 troops within 14 months.

There are currently only 2,500 American troops left in the country. The Taliban committed to prevent other groups, including Al Qaeda, from using Afghan soil to recruit, train or fund raise toward activities that threaten the US or its allies. — PTI

Levante, Valladolid play out stalemate

Valencia, Spain: Levante needed Roger Marti's late goal to salvage a 2-2 home draw with Valladolid in the Spanish league on Friday. The match came alive when Levante's Dani Gomez scored in the 62nd minute from a pass by Jorge Frutos after the midfielder sped down the left and set up the forward. Ruben Alcaraz made up for two misses in the first half when he helped rob the ball from Levante's Mickael Malsa and scored from outside the area to level in the 73rd. Oscar Plano appeared to have given Valladolid the winning goal five minutes later after a pass by Pablo Hervias. But Marti dribbled around his marker to open a tight shooting angle. He drove a shot that took a deflection off a defender before finding the net to seal the draw in the 83rd. Levante moved into 10th place and Valladolid into 15th. — AP

Roma handed 3-0 loss in Italian Cup

Rome: Roma were handed a 3-0 Italian Cup defeat to Spezia on Friday after they made six substitutions during a chaotic Last 16 clash they had already lost earlier in the week. Paulo Fonseca's side were eliminated on Tuesday after a 4-2 extra-time defeat at the Stadio Olimpico, which they finished with nine-men after initially recovering from an early two-goal deficit to take the match beyond 90 minutes. The capital city club were down to nine less than two minutes into extra time after Gianluca Mancini and goalkeeper Pau Lopez were both dismissed, and in the aftermath of the second red card brought on Daniel Fuzato and Roger Ibanez to take their total of subs over the allowed maximum of five. In a statement Serie 'A', which organises the Italian Cup, said the 3-0 loss has been awarded because it was a larger margin of defeat than the one handed to Roma on the field. — AFP

Kerala held by 10-men Goa

Bambolin: A 10-men FC Goa managed to fend off a tough press from Kerala Blasters to settle for a point with a 1-1 draw in the Indian Super League here on Saturday. The Gaurs took the lead through a 25th-minute strike from Jorge Ortiz Mendoza, while Rahul KP (57th) scored with a brilliant header in the second half. Goa were reduced to 10 men in the second half after Ivan Gonzalez received marching orders following two yellow cards within a span of seconds. Goa started with what they do best — playing intriguing short passes, maintaining maximum ball possession and keeping Kerala on the back foot. Kerala were lucky not to concede early in the game. Ortiz played a one-two with Noguera at the edge of the box, and shot past the keeper Albino Gomes. The effort hit the woodwork not once, but thrice before the ball bounced back into play. Goa continued their surge with Ortiz and Noguera combining once again. — PTI

Wolves move ahead

Vitinha takes Wanderers into FA Cup fifth round

London, Jan. 23: Nuno Espirito Santo admitted Wolves had been lucky to scrape into the FA Cup fifth round as Vitinha's sublime strike sealed a hard-fought 1-0 win against non-league Chorley on Friday. Nuno's side were fortunate to avoid an embarrassing upset after a lacklustre display at Victory Park.

Vitinha's brilliant long-range drive put Wolves ahead early in the first half.

But sixth tier Chorley, the last non-league club standing in this season's competition, pushed Wolves all the way and could easily have forced extra-time.

Wolves keeper John Ruddy had to make several good saves before they secured a Last 16 tie against Southampton or Arsenal.

"They were well organised. We should have moved the ball faster but a win is a win. They were tough," Wolverley coach Nuno said.

Wolves are winless in their past six Premier League games and Nuno will hardly have been encouraged that a revival is around the corner after their trip to suburban Lancashire.

Taking possession 35 yards from goal, Vitinha set his sights and unleashed a ferocious, swerving drive that flashed over startled Chorley keeper Matthew Unwin.

It is doubtful Unwin faced many shots of that quality in the National League North, but the on-loan Porto midfielder's first senior goal was Wolves' only strike on target in the entire game. Patrick Cutrone did go close for the visitors with a rising drive that just cleared the bar.

Connor Hall threatened an equaliser when his header forced Ruddy to save early in the second half.

Wolves were struggling to keep Chorley at bay and Ruddy had to tip over Andy Halls' header before the plucky underdogs eventually ran out of steam. — AFP

Neymar, Kylian roar for PSG

Paris, Jan. 23: Neymar made his 100th appearance for Paris Saint-Germain on Friday and marked the occasion with a goal in a 4-0 rout of 10-man Montpellier that took Mauricio Pochettino's side clear at the top of France.

Kylian Mbappe scored twice and Mauro Icardi was also on target with PSG leading 1-0 before netting three times in the space of four minutes around the hour mark.

The game, played behind closed doors at the Parc des Princes, was conditioned by the early sending-off of Montpellier goalkeeper Jonas Omlin for a foul on Mbappe, as PSG made the most of their extra man.

It was their fourth straight win since drawing at Saint-Etienne in Pochettino's first match in charge after the Argentine was appointed as coach on January 2.

The former Tottenham Hotspur boss was back on the Paris bench having spent a week self-isolating following a positive Covid-19 test that forced him to miss his new team's 1-0 win at Angers last weekend.

PSG are now three points clear of second-placed Lille, who go to inform Rennes on Sunday. Lyon in third are five points behind the leaders before visiting derby rivals Saint-Etienne, who will be without seven players because of a coronavirus outbreak.

The capital club's rivals may have their work cut out trying to overtake the reigning champions on this evidence, with the attacking quartet of Neymar, Mbappe, Icardi and Angel Di Maria running riot.

Neymar's goal took his tally to 81 in 100 appearances for PSG since his world-record 222 million-euro ($264m) move from Barcelona in August 2017. His time in Paris has been marred by injuries at important moments but there can be no disputing his impressive record in front of goal as he prepares to face his old club in the last 16 of the Champions League next month.

MBAPPE BACK IN FORM

Mbappe was more prominent in this game, however, as he scored his first goals of the Pochettino era.

Pochettino said: "I was already happy with Mbappe's performances before tonight. I am pleased that he scored because scoring goals is crucial for a striker's confidence. But we knew it was only a matter of time," he added.

The France World Cup-winning star was scythed down just outside the box by Omlin in the 16th minute, with the Swiss goalkeeper initially shown a yellow card before the punishment was upgraded to red following a VAR review.

PSG made the extra man count as Di Maria played in Mbappe to open the scoring with a dinked finish over substitute goalkeeper Dimitry Bertaud in the 34th minute.

Pochettino lost goalkeeper Keylor Navas to injury at half-time, while captain Marquinhos was also forced off early in the second half. The coach later said he thought it was "nothing serious" for either player.

Mbappe cut the ball back for Neymar to make it 2-0 on the hour mark, before Icardi tucked in his third goal in four games.

It was 4-0 in the 63rd minute when Icardi set up Ligue 1's leading scorer Mbappe to finish for his second of the night and 14th of the season. Layvin Kurzawa almost provided the cherry on top of the cake soon after, but his stunning overhead kick was tipped onto the crossbar by Bertaud. — AFP

Elvedi nets brace to down Dortmund

Berlin, Jan. 23: Defender Nico Elvedi netted twice as Moenchengladbach ended their six-year wait to beat Dortmund when their 4-2 home win on Friday lifted the Foals to fourth in the Bundesliga table.

Two goals by Dortmund striker Erling Braut Haaland were booked by Elvedi netting from set-pieces in the action-packed opening 32 minutes.

Algeria left-back Ramy Bensebaini restored Gladbach's lead early in the second half before substitute Marcus Thuram headed the hosts' fourth.

Dortmund are now fifth — out of the Champions League places — after failing to win any of their last three games since their impressive 3-1 win at RB Leipzig in early January.

In the other direction, Gladbach are fourth having taken 13 points from a possible 15 in 2021.

They are eight points behind leaders Bayern, who are at bottom side Schalke on Sunday.

RB Leipzig already this season, Gladbach claimed another big-name Bundesliga scalp.

It was also a significant win for their coach Marco Rose, who the German media are tipping to replace caretaker boss Edin Terzic at Dortmund next season.

After 12 straight defeats to Dortmund, Gladbach earned their first win over the Black-and-Yellows since April 2016. "We're finally ended the run of defeats," Rose added.

Breel Embolo came on for Gladbach in the second-half despite police claims, which the Swiss striker denies, that he attended a party in Essen last Saturday that broke Germany's lockdown rules.

Dortmund made a lethargic start at Borussia Park and a Gladbach goal after 44 seconds was ruled out by the VAR.

However, the hosts took the lead with 11 minutes gone when Lars Stindl's curling free-kick was headed home by Elvedi.

Dortmund roared back with two goals inside six minutes, both created by Jadon Sancho for Haaland, who fired home his first from a tight angle on 22 minutes.

After Jude Bellingham won the ball back for Dortmund, great footwork by Sancho then again unpicked Gladbach's defence for Haaland to blast his side 2-1 ahead on 28 minutes.

However, another Stindl free-kick on 32 minutes could only be parried by Roman Buerki and Elvedi tapped home the rebound from close range to make it 2-2 at the break.

Gladbach regained the lead five minutes into the second-half when Bensebaini swung in a shot which curled outside Buerki's grasp.

Dortmund conceded their third goal of the night from a set-piece when Thuram headed home a Florian Neuhaus corner 11 minutes from the whistle.

It was the France forward's first appearance after suspension for a spitting at an opponent last month. — AFP

SHORT TAKES

Murray pulls out of Oz Open

Melbourne: Five-time Australian Open finalist Andy Murray withdrew from the year's first Grand Slam tournament, saying on Friday he could not figure out a workable quarantine that would allow him to compete amid the coronavirus pandemic. The announcement comes a little more than a week after Murray, who has won three Grand Slam singles titles elsewhere, said he tested positive for Covid-19 shortly before he was due to board a charter flight to Melbourne. "Gutted to share that I won't be flying out to Australia to compete at the Australian Open. We've been in constant dialogue with Tennis Australia to try and find a solution which would allow some form of workable quarantine, but we couldn't make it work," Murray said. — AP

Hockey women slump to 1st loss

Buenos Aires: Indian women's hockey team suffered their first defeat on the tour of Argentina when they lost 1-2 to B side of the hosts, letting Agustina Gorzelany strike late in the match. Sol Pagella (11') put the Argentina side ahead while Indian forward Salima Tete (54') scored in the final quarter. However, the Indian defence let Gorzelany score three minutes after finding the equaliser. In the previous matches, India drew 2-2 and 1-1 respectively with the Argentina junior team. "Today we played against a stronger Argentina squad consisting many of their senior players. This was a perfect practice match for us ahead of next week's schedule where we play against the Senior side," said chief coach Sjoerd Marjine. — PTI

Clippers score 6th straight win

Los Angeles: Kawhi Leonard scored 31 points, Paul George added 29 and the Los Angeles Clippers beat the Oklahoma City Thunder 120-106 on Friday night for their sixth straight win. Serge Ibaka had 17 points and 11 rebounds to help the Clippers improve to 12-4, tying the Lakers for the NBA's best record. Shai Gilgeous-Alexander led the Thunder with 30 points and eight assists against his former team. Lu Dort added 19 points. The Thunder were in catch-up mode most of the way before dropping their second straight and fourth in five games. They were just 14 of 42 from 3-point range and only got to the free throw line 13 times. The Clippers grabbed control in the first half, scoring 36 points in the first quarter and 34 in the second on 63 per cent shooting. They had scoring runs of 21-2 and 11-4 in the first. They opened the second quarter with a 19-10 spurt, including George's steal and dunk followed by his consecutive 3-pointers, for their largest lead of 27 points. From there, the Thunder put together a 25-15 surge, hitting five 3-pointers, to trail 70-53 at halftime. The Thunder worked to reduce a 23-point deficit to 10 points in the third. They outscored the Clippers 15-2 during one stretch, helped by eight points from Dort and Muscala's first 3-pointer after he missed four attempts in the first half. — AP

NO PAIN NO GAIN

Saini says he risked aggravating his injury to play in Brisbane Test

New Delhi, Jan. 23: A groin strain prevented India pacer Navdeep Saini from giving his best in the Brisbane Test but fearing that he may not get such a big stage again, he remained at the beck and call of his captain and ended up bowling five overs despite injury.

The 28-year-old, who finally made his Test debut in the Australia series after years of wait, said he risked aggravating his injury by bowling in the second innings but given what was at stake, "it was a no brainer".

"Ajinkya bhaiya asked me if I would be able to bowl with the injury, I just had to say yes," Saini, who was in the middle when Rishabh Pant hit the winning runs at the Gabba, said.

Having taken four wickets in his debut game at Sydney, Saini suffered a groin strain in Australia's first innings and could bowl only 7.5 overs at the Gabba, increasing concerns for an already injury-hit India, who were forced to go into the game with a bowling attack which had the combined experience of four games.

For someone who made a massive leap of playing Ranji Trophy for Delhi in 2013 straight from making a quick buck in tennis ball cricket across Haryana, Saini wondered about the timing of his injury as he had just realised his dream of playing Tests.

But the like of the rest of his teammates, he showed a steely resolve and carried on.

"I was fine and suddenly I got injured. I was wondering 'why it is happening in such a crucial game and have got the opportunity to play after a long time'.

"I just wished if could keep going with that injury and support my team. I knew I might not get a stage like that again. Captain asked me if I could do it. I was in pain but said I would do with whatever I could.

"I am recovering now and should be fit soon," said the lanky fast bowler from Karnal who was fast-tracked into first-class cricket by former India opener Gautam Gambhir and received his maiden Test call-up in back in 2018. Saini is not part of India's squad for the first two home Tests against England starting February 5 in Chennai.

'SIRAJ AMONG MY BEST MATES' Mohammed Siraj, the find of Australia tour in coach Ravi Shastri's words, was seen counselling Saini consistently in the latter's maiden Test. It helped the Delhi pacer immensely as he and Siraj go back a long way.

"He is one of my best mates. We have played a lot together (for India A). We talk a lot about bowling. He was always there for me in the first game. Pace is important but he was telling me to also focus on line and length to be effective.

"Siraj is a very different bowler. He showed a lot of courage by staying back after his father's death. What he achieved was very crucial for the team and showed his character."

Talking about his extraordinary journey, Saini, son of a bus driver, said he never planned to be a professional cricketer; it was only fate at play. — PTI

ANDERSON'S 6-FOR KEEPS SL IN CHECK

Galle (Sri Lanka), Jan. 23: England pacer James Anderson returned his best figures of 6-40 in Asia to help bowl out Sri Lanka for 381 on Day Two of the second Test on Saturday.

The tourists were 98/2 at stumps after Lasith Embuldeniya struck early to remove the openers. Skipper Joe Root, on 67, and Jonny Bairstow, on 24, were batting as England trail by 283 runs in Galle.

Anderson, 38, denied wicketkeeper-batsman Niroshan Dickwella a century after sending him back on 92 to claim his 30th five-wicket haul and second in Sri Lanka—his previous best was 5-75 in Galle in 2012.

Anderson, who replaced Stuart Broad in the team for this Test, bowled 29 overs with 13 maidens before Sri Lanka were bowled out in an extended second session with Dilruwan Perera scoring a defiant 67.

The pace spearhead struck in his first over of the day to send Angelo Mathews caught behind for 110 after the former captain added just three runs in the morning.

But the dismissal was skipper Joe Root's mastermind after he reviewed the umpire's call, which was not out, and replays suggested the ball had grazed Mathews' bat.

Fast bowler Mark Wood sent debutant Ramesh Mendis trudging back to the pavilion for nought with wicketkeeper Jos Buttler taking a one-handed diving catch towards his left. — AFP

Neeraj worried about Olympics

New Delhi, Jan. 23: Star javelin thrower Neeraj Chopra on Saturday admitted that the uncertainty over the staging of the postponed Olympics due to Coronavirus creates anxiety but said he is proceeding with his preparations thinking that the Games will happen and he will give his 100 per cent.

There has been intense speculation over the staging of Tokyo Olympics in July-August with some reports suggesting that the Games may be scrapped while the organisers, the Japanese government and the International Olympic Committee insisting they will be held on schedule.

"There is some anxiety for sure. If Olympics is happening, the target is clear, I have to give my 100 per cent in Olympics. But by chance if Olympics is not held, I may plan differently," he said in an online interaction with reporters.

"There are sometimes this thought in mind that we are training so hard but Olympics may not happen," said the 23-year-old reigning Asian Games and Commonwealth Games gold medalist, who is currently training at Kalinga Stadium in Bhubaneswar.

"I am just hoping that things move forward positively and Tokyo Games are held," he added.

There is some anxiety for sure. If Olympics are happening, the target is clear, I have to give my 100 per cent at the Games. But by chance if Olympics are not held, I may plan differently.

— NEERAJ CHOPRA star javelin thrower

Neeraj will be competing in his first Olympics and he has already qualified for the Tokyo Games early last year before the Covid-19 pandemic began. He said he will be disappointed if the Tokyo Olympics is cancelled.

"I was late in qualifying for 2016 Rio Olympics but my performance while winning the junior world championships in 2016 or even 1m less than that would have given me a medal.

"If Tokyo Olympics is cancelled, it will be like I have lost two chances to win a medal in Olympics," Neeraj said.

"If Olympics is happening, I will go for selective high intensity competitions against top javelin throwers who are going to take part in Olympics. It is important to have a consistent performance before Olympics," he further added. — PTI

Bhullar, Sharma miss cut in UAE

Abu Dhabi, Jan. 23: India's Gaganjeet Bhullar and Shubhankar Sharma missed the cut after struggling for birdies in the season-opening Abu Dhabi HSBC Championship here on Saturday.

Bhullar, who was even par after 12 holes when play was suspended on Friday night, did not drop a shot over last six holes, but was also unable to birdie any and stayed at par. With 72-72 he missed the cut by one.

Earlier, Sharma who scored 76 and 73 also missed the cut at the tournament.

"Not the start I was looking forward to in the Desert Swing, but I will come out stronger next week in Dubai," Sharma said.

Tyrell Hatton (65-68) saw his commanding overnight lead trimmed to one shot by Rafa Cabrera Bello (67-67) as the second round was completed in the morning. Hatton had opened up a five-shot lead over a group of players including four-time Major Championship winner Rory McIlroy (64-72) but play remained unfinished on Friday.

Among the players yet to complete were Hatton, McIlroy, Spanish pair Cabrera Bello and Nacho Elvira, and Australian Lucas Herbert.

Hatton dropped a shot on the 17th in his remaining five holes to slip to 11 under and Cabrera Bello pounced, making birdies on the 11th, 14th, 15th and 17th to sign for a second consecutive 67 and is now just one back.

Herbert also had a productive morning, picking up two shots in his final eight holes to move to eight under, while Elvira did the same after having ten holes to make up in the morning.

Northern Ireland's McIlroy made a single birdie on the 17th in his remaining four holes to complete the trio in a tie for third, three shots off the lead.

Five others — Scotsman Stephen Gallacher, Thai Jazz Janewattananond, Frenchman Romain Langasque, Australian Jason Scrivener and Paraguay's Fabrizio Zanotti — were at seven under. — PTI

Indian doubles pairs fizzle out in semifinal

Bangkok, Jan. 23: The Indian mixed doubles pair of Satwicksairaj Rankireddy and Ashwini Ponnappa produced a spirited performance before going down narrowly to top seeds Dechapol Puavaranukroh and Sapsiree Taerattanachai in the semifinals of the Toyota Thailand Open here on Saturday.

Up against the world number three Thai pair, Satwik and Ashwini, who are ranked 36th, showed great skills and temperament as they scripted an extraordinary fightback after losing the opening game by a whisker.

However, in the end, Dechapol and Sapsiree prevailed 22-20, 18-21, 21-12 over the Indians in a 57-minute battle.

Satwik and Ashwini, who spent most of the last year away from the court in two different cities and could only practice together for a few weeks, on Friday became the first Indian mixed doubles pair to reach the semifinals of a BWF World Tour Super 1000 event.

Earlier, the impressive run of Satwik and Chirag Shetty also came to an end after a close semifinal defeat in men's doubles.

The Indian pair, ranked 10th in the world, lost 18-21, 18-21 to world number nine Malaysian combination of Aaron Chia and Soh Wooi Yik in a 35-minute match.

MARIN CLINCHES SPOT IN FINAL

Spain's fifth seed and former world number one Carolina Marin breezed into the final, beating South Korea's An Se-young 21-19, 21-15.

She came out on top last week against top-seeded Tai Tzu-ying, and continued her winning streak Saturday, maintaining her signature aggressive play against seventh-seeded An.

An, an 18-year-old who was awarded "Most Promising Player" in 2019, was downcast after Saturday's defeat.

Shastri's contribution in Oz win can't be undermined

Over The Top

Accolades have been profuse — and from all quarters — for India's cricketers that beat Australia to win the recent Test series. There is not an iota of exaggeration or hyperbole, which usually accompanies success, in this. Every word of praise has been richly deserved.

The hard-fought 2-1 triumph will be forever remembered, in fact gain even more lustre with time. Beating Australia in their backyard is considered the toughest assignment in international cricket. India did this against such heavy odds as to make the result mind-boggling, beyond belief.

The hardships endured both physical and psychological — by the team finds few parallels, not just in Indian cricket history, but in the sport itself. Heroes emerged in each daunting situation — senior pros, those with the experience of just 2-3 Tests, some even debutants — debutants, taking a cue from each other to lead the team to the incredible series win.

In hindsight, it wasn't calibre which won the series for India. In fact, skills wise, Australia may have been marginally ahead, as statistics suggest.

Top scorer and highest wicket-taker in the series were both Aussies. Where India scored was in grit, courage, self-belief, application, ambition, and not the least, judicious use of attrition or aggression to outplay the opponents. What this reflects better planning, proactive strategizing, time and meaningful communication with players.

This redounds to the credit of chief coach Ravi Shastri, and his support staff. B. Arun, Vikram Rathour and R. Sridhar. The efforts of the players, their resilience and der-ring-do, cannot be diluted even a whit. But Shastri's contribution in the victory can't be undermined either.

His strong influence comes through clearly in the entertaining and insightful conversation between R. Ashwin and fielding coach Sridhar after the series which the off-spinner has put on social media, followed by what bowling coach B. Arun had to say in a press conference on Friday.

What I've gleaned from the Ashwin-Sridhar tete-a-tete and Arun's press conference, these are the areas where Shastri's planning was crucial:

a) Bowling strategy against Smith, Labuschagne etc started in July, almost five months before the tour, along with Kohli and Sridhar. This entailed detailed studying of the Aussie batting during the hard lockdown period. The strong on side field to Smith, shutting up his off side run scoring opportunities paid off to a large extent. Shastri also asked Rahane to use Ashwin within the first 10 overs after Australia chose to bat first at Melbourne. The off-spinner got the master batsman cheaply.

b) Not reacting adversely when the team got bowled out for 36 at Adelaide. From what Sridhar says, Shastri in fact says the players should wear it as a badge, take lessons from the debacle so that it inspires them to success. This was crucial in keeping the morale of the team intact despite the freakish yet massive setback, and showed fine understanding of human nature.

c) Changing tactics after the first Test, confabulating with Kohli (before he left) and stand-in captain Rahane to play five bowlers, show more aggression against the Australians who appeared to be trying too hard to exacts revenge for the 2018 loss.

d) Not sending members of the ODI and T20 squads, plus the net bowlers like Shardul, Washington and Natrajan, back to India. His apprehension that some players might get injured came true when more than half a dozen got injured. These three did the start turn in the final

e) Tackling each player's failures/shortcomings (deploying other coaches in this too), with a mix of compassion and firmness to get the best out of them.

Shastri's booming, often bombastic approach has frequently made him the butt of criticism in mainstream media, memes and scorn on social media. But he's stuck his neck out, in picking players (remember Jasprit Bumrah being given a Test place against all advice) or not (Rahane, Pujara, Ashwin have been dropped), taking the jibes and barbs on the chin when the plays fell, all the while expressing confidence that the Indian team would deliver big time.

I think Shastri deserves a hat tip.
