Covid-19: Govt gears up to administer vaccine

50k-litre capacity storage facilities to be dedicated for storing vaccine

DC CORRESPONDENT
VIJAYAWADA, DEC. 16

Andhra Pradesh is gearing up for the Covid-19 vaccination programme with a target to complete the training schedule on how to administer vaccine to beneficiaries (health personnel) by December 24.

State health authorities said that soon after the completion of the training for top health officials at the national level, a state-level programme for training trainers involving additional directors, joint directors and other senior officials of various wings of the health department was completed recently.

At present, authorities have started district level training programme with joint collectors, district medical and health officers, district immunisation officers to train the medical officers working in primary health centres and community health centres.

Trained medical officers in turn will train health workers like ANMs, ASHA workers and others who are to be actually involved in administration of the Covid-19 vaccine in a phased manner. As the entire training programme is being done virtually, health authorities are taking it up in an aggressive manner to ensure that all health workers understand requisite protocols for administration of the vaccine.

Apart from conducting training programmes, authorities are also looking for sites to store and administer the vaccine. As three rooms are required to store and administer vaccine as per protocol, health authorities are checking out both government and private buildings to convert them into sites for taking up vaccination programme.

Each site will be utilised for administration of Covid-19 vaccine to 100 persons per session. For instance in Krishna district, health authorities have identified nearly 43,026 beneficiaries to administer Covid-19 vaccine in phase-I. Krishna district medical and health officer Dr M. Suhasini said, "We have identified the beneficiaries for administration of Covid-19 in phase-I and coming up with an action plan on storage and transport of the vaccine for its administration to the targeted beneficiaries."

AP is having cold storage facilities with a total capacity of 1,00,620 litres to store several varieties of vaccines for routine immunisation programme and out of it, nearly 50,000 litres capacity storage facilities are to be dedicated for storing Covid-19 vaccine.

According to an estimate, 50,000 litres capacity of cold storage facilities will help store 1.50 crore vaccines.

Chief Minister Y.S. Jagan Mohan Reddy had already announced in the Assembly that the state might get nearly one crore Covid-19 vaccine doses from the Centre.

Moreover, as the Covid-19 vaccine will not be having any expiry date and also no vaccine veil monitoring, on the lines of vaccines meant for routine immunisation, health authorities are getting ready to store it between two plus and eight plus degrees centigrade.

A senior health official said, "We are making all necessary arrangements ranging from providing proper cold storage facilities to transport until administration of the vaccine to the targeted beneficiaries. At present, we are not having any idea as to when the Centre will release Covid-19 vaccine to AP and also the quantum except for expected one crore doses of vaccine."

Minister slams BJP for silence over demolition of temples

DC CORRESPONDENT
VIJAYAWADA, DEC. 16

Minister for endowments Vellampalli Srinivas slammed leaders of the BJP for protesting against the demolition of Hindu temples in Vijayawada city which took place during the previous government and said that the state government had already given an order to reconstruct them.

Addressing a press conference here on Wednesday, the minister said that BJP leaders were intentionally creating ruckus over the demolished temples and started protests after seeing the GO released by the government with political motives. He questioned BJP leader Somu Veerajuu as to why he did not respond at the time of demolition when their own party leader was the endowments minister in the TD coalition government.

Srinivas stated that BJP leaders are playing cheap politics by taking this protest and trying to create communal disputes in society. He said that hundreds of acres of temple lands were distributed during the previous TD government. He said that almost 14 acres of temple lands which are worth of ₹437 crore were given to Siddhartha Educational Institution for just ₹21 lakh, similarly, the same BJP minister who was in

BJP TO GOVT: RESTORE DEMOLISHED TEMPLES DURING KRISHNA PUSHKARALU

DC CORRESPONDENT
VIJAYAWADA, DEC. 16

Several BJP leaders and activists staged a protest at Saniswara temple demanding that the state government restore demolished temples during the Krishna Pushkaralu in the state here on Wednesday.

Addressing the agitators, AP BJP president Somu Veerajuu slammed the previous Telugu Desam regime for demolishing the temples during conduct of Krishna Pushkaralu and also for failing to reconstruct them. He flayed both the ruling YSRC government and the Opposition Telugu Desam for adopting anti-Hindu policies.

The BJP senior leader targeted the minister for endowments Vellampalli Srinivasa Rao for failing to act to restore the demolished temples. He also turned critical against Chief Minister Y.S. Jagan Mohan Reddy for having no faith and respect towards Hindu traditions and objected to the release of funds to the tune of ₹5 crore to dargahs and ₹24 crore for churches for their development.

Maintaining that a large number of Hindu temples were not being maintained properly for want of funds, he demanded that the minister for endowments quit his position as he failed to pay attention to the temples.

Veerajuu later said that their party would extend support to the Amaravati stir scheduled to be held on December 17.

He claimed that unlike in the TD government, Chief Minister Y.S. Jagan Mohan Reddy had not awarded even a single cent of temple land to any person or institution.

Srinivas asserted that the state government has been relentlessly striving for the development of Hindu temples and thus allocated ₹70 crore for developing Kanaka Durga temple in Vijayawada.

5 minister tour in Sarvepalli to campaign for Tirupati bypoll

DC CORRESPONDENT
NELLORE, DEC. 16

By inviting five ministers to his Sarvepalli constituency, which is part of the Tirupati Lok Sabha segment, to launch a host of development works, legislator Kakani Govardhan Reddy dropped enough hints that they are gearing up for the ensuing by-election to the Tirupati Parliament seat on Wednesday. Ministers took the opportunity to highlight the achievements of the government understandably to attract the electorate.

Govardhan Reddy went one step ahead and said that they are going to win the seat with a thumping majority.

Ministers present include Deputy CM K. Narayan Swamy, Peddireddy Ramachandra Reddy, Balineni

Srinivasa Reddy, Mekapati Goutham Reddy and P. Anilkumar Yadav.

While addressing a huge gathering at Venkatachal, Deputy Chief Minister K. Naryana Swamy claimed that each person among the downtrodden in the state are benefited to the extent of ₹1.50 lakh to 2 lakh through 'Navarathnamu,' the flagship programme of the state government.

Naidu demands Jagan explain motive of his visits to Delhi

DC CORRESPONDENT
VIJAYAWADA, DEC. 16

Telugu Desam chief N. Chandrababu Naidu on Wednesday demanded that Chief Minister Y.S. Jagan Mohan Reddy explain to the public whether his Delhi visits were aimed at protecting himself from his cases or for protecting the state's interests.

He question as to what the Chief Minister had achieved for the state out of his visits to Delhi for over 10 times. He recalled that the Chief Minister spoke loudly of bending the necks of the Centre but now is prostrating in Delhi for his own selfish interests.

Addressing a video conference with party leaders of Rajahmundry parliamentary constituency, Naidu said that the Chief Minister failed to bring Central funds for the Visakhapatnam Railway Zone and could not take forward the Vizag-Chennai Industrial Corridor (VICIC) or the Bangalore Chennai Industrial Corridor (BCIC).

He alleged that the CM did not care about the Petroleum Complex and also did not try to recover the first year's revenue deficit from the Centre. Naidu accused the YSRC of using the vaccination as a pretext to postpone the local body elections. He alleged that false tweets were being posted in the name of starting Coronavirus vaccinations from December 25.

Naidu accused the YSRC of using the vaccination as a pretext to postpone the local body elections. He alleged that false tweets were being posted in the name of starting Coronavirus vaccinations from December 25. He deplored that each and every section of society fell victim to the YSRC atrocities with attacks continuing on persons and property.

Naidu said that if the meters were fixed on the agricultural motors, then the upland farmers would have to sell away their lands at cheaper rates. He alleged that Jagan Mohan Reddy had committed breach of trust by denying the lawful rights of Amaravati farmers and now, he was taking back the farmers' right.

Boat rides back in Krishna at Srisalam

DC CORRESPONDENT
KURNOOL DEC. 16

Boating on Krishna river is back with the AP Tourism Corporation at Srisaalam launching trips to Akkamahadevi caves from Wednesday at Srisaalam reservoir.

The round trip costs ₹320 for adults and ₹220 for children, said an official. Life jackets, fire extinguishers, water guns and other safety gear were made available on the boat, AP Tourism Srisaalam unit manager B. Penchal Reddy.

Officials had stopped the boat trip on Krishna river near Srisaalam in September 2019 following a tragedy. Soon after the Covid-19 pandemic struck a blow to the tourism department.

Reddy said that the government has given permission for operating boats to various tourist destinations across the state recently paving way for resuming water travelling by boat at Srisaalam reservoir.

After getting permission from governments from both Andhra Pradesh and Telangana, the AP tourism department resumed boat trips for Akkamahadevi caves from Srisaalam reservoir in Krishna River on Wednesday.

Akkamahadevi caves are located on the left side of the reservoir in Nallamala forest under Telangana state limits. To reach the caves from Patalaganga of Srisaalam temple town it takes at least four hours per every trip, officials said.

Trips to Akkamahadevi caves started with 20 passengers.

3 NABBED, ₹12.69 LAKH GOLD RECOVERED

DC CORRESPONDENT
TIRUPATI, DEC. 16

Tirupati Urban Police on Wednesday nabbed three persons involved in a robbery case and recovered 207 gram of gold worth ₹12,69,000, one motorcycle and an autorickshaw from their possession.

According to TDSP Crime DSP G. Muralidhar, the accused were identified as S. Veeranagulu, 31, V. Prasanna Kumar, 32, of Tirupati and B. Sunil Kumar, 27, of Nandigama in Srikakulam district.

Veeranagulu, who worked at a shop in the city limits, observed the valuables there and also at his owner's house. He along with two of his friends have plotted to steal the valuables from his owner's house and shop.

As per the plan, Veeranagulu stopped working at the shop one month before the robbery. Later, the trio, who observed the owner residing alone in the house, attacked him and stole away the gold ornaments in the house.

Countdown begins for PSLV launch today

DC CORRESPONDENT
NELLORE, DEC. 16

The countdown commenced on Wednesday for the launch of the Polar Satellite Launch Vehicle (PSLV)-C50 to place the communication satellite CMS-01 in orbit. The rocket is scheduled to blast off from the Satish Dhawan Space Centre (SDSC) at the Sriharikota range at Nellore district 3.41 pm on Thursday.

The satellite is envisaged to provide services to the extended C-Band to cover the Indian mainland, Andaman, Nicobar and Laksh-adweep Islands. CMS-01 will be India's 42nd communication satellite and the PSLV-C50 the 22nd flight of the rocket in the 'XL' configuration with strap-on motors. This will be the 77th launch vehicle mission from the SDSC.

Shar officials said that the operation to fill fuel into different stages of the vehicle is going on. Indian Space Research Organisation has arranged for live telecast of the launch through Doordarshan from 3.10 pm on Thursday besides livestreaming it on YouTube, Facebook and Twitter.

Mother of medicine student on bike yatra to meet CM for help

DC CORRESPONDENT
ANANTAPUR, DEC. 16

The mother of Rudhiya Hanam studying medicine in Davavo Medical college in Davavo city in the Philippines took out a motorcycle ride to the house of Chief Minister Y.S. Jagan Mohan Reddy on Wednesday to request him to grant money to pay the fees of her daughter and also to bill her travel expenses back home.

Babuljan and her family members run a clothes shop at Hindupur in the district. She realised her dreams of making her daughter Hanam study medicine course in the Philippines. Hana completed her first year. However, family was unable to pay the total amount of ₹35 lakh for the course along with hostel fees to the consultancy after paying the initial amount of ₹3 lakh due to the lockdown following the Covid-19 pandemic.

"For technical reasons, I am unable to mortgage my house after running into losses," Babuljan said.

Though Babuljan approached the Deputy Chief Minister and the local MLC for assistance to get a bank loan, they have not responded. "Instead of helping me Deputy Chief Minister Amzad Bhasha insulted me," she said with tears in her eyes.

Meanwhile, the consultancy pressurized the parents to clear dues otherwise the student's Visa would be cancelled and the student will have to face criminal charges.

With no other option, Babuljan headed towards Amaravati to meet the Chief Minister on a motorcycle on Wednesday. A banner highlighting her pleas for a bank loan and assistance was attached to the vehicle. She hoped the Chief Minister would respond positively and help her get a bank loan.

"The construction sector in the state has completely collapsed with the Tughlaq CM's decisions while the construction sector in the neighboring states are flourishing," he said.

Anjanadri hills, birthplace of Lord Hanuman

DC CORRESPONDENT
TIRUPATI, DEC. 16

There is enough evidence available in Puranas which proves that the birthplace of Lord Hanuman is Anjanadri, one of the Seven Hills on the Seshachala Ranges, said scholars and pundits of the Tirumala Tirupati Devasthanams (TTD).

Explaining the same to TTD EO Dr K.S. Jawahar Reddy during a meeting here on Wednesday evening, scholars and pundits said that evidence in Puranas proves the whereabouts of the birthplace of Lord Hanuman atop Tirumala.

The TTD EO said there are many places across the country which are being claimed as the birthplace of Lord Hanuman.

He asked the pundits to do extensive research and come out with concrete proof, to ascertain that the birthplace of Lord Hanuman is indeed Anjanadri.

The pundits said that there are references about the birth of Lord Hanuman in the Skanda Purana, Varaha Purana, Brahmanda Purana and the Venkatachala Mahatyam. They also showed relevant slokas in the Puranas, which mention the birthplace of Lord Hanuman.

The EO directed additional EO A.V. Dharma Reddy to focus on the issue and find a quick solution so that the historical importance of Anjanadri will reach the devotees.

Sri Venkateswara Vedic University vice-chancellor Sudarshana Sharma, National Sanskrit University vice-chancellor Muralidhar Sharma, scholars Shankar Narayan, Ramakrishna and Vibhishana Sharma were present during the deliberations.

Dead frog found in Vijaya milk

DC CORRESPONDENT
ANANTAPUR, DEC. 16

A dead frog was found in the milk supplied by the women and child welfare department for a pregnant woman at Rayam-palli village in Rayadu-rgam mandal in the district on Wednesday.

The department supplied a one-litre packet of double toned milk of Vijaya Vajra brand manufactured by Belgavi District Cooperative Milk Producer Societies Union Ltd of Belagavi in Karnataka and supplied by cooperative federation of Lalapet in Hyderabad. The milk was manufactured in the month of October and distributed to a pregnant woman Indrajya of Rayampalli in Rayadurgam mandal four days ago. When the woman opened the packet on Wednesday she noticed the dead amphibian in the milk. Soon the video of the dead frog in the milk went viral after the woman alerted her neighbours and raised a hue and cry.

Sources said that the women and child welfare department had distributed milk in Rayampalli village in Rayadurgam mandal four days ago to be given away as part of the government's initiative to supply milk to pregnant women in the state. Though the milk was processed in October, it had a validity period of three months.

The woman got bad odour smell but went ahead to boil the milk as it still had a validity period for consumption.

Officials of the Integrated Child Development Services (ICDS) visited the village on Wednesday evening along with the coordinator of anganwadi centres when the clip went viral.

Rayadurgam ICDS project official Prabhavathamma said the milk along with found residues will be sent to lab for testing.

Authorities ruled out a dead frog in the milk and said it could be plastic waste mixed during processing at the milk dairy unit at Belagavi in Karnataka and supplied through a state government owned agency. However, witnesses said they saw a dead frog in the packet.

WASNIK WARY OF CHANGE IN MP LEADERSHIP

RABINDRA NATH CHOUDHURY | DC BHOPAL, DEC. 16

All India Congress Committee (AICC) general secretary in-charge of Madhya Pradesh affairs Mukul Wasnik on Wednesday remained non-committal on change of guard in state Congress amid growing demand in the party here to replace Kamal Nath as PCC chief.

Wasnik who arrived here in the morning on a 3-day-visit to the state to review preparations of the party for the upcoming civic body polls, told reporters that the party needed senior leaders for their experience and the young ones for revitalisation of the organisation.

He was replying to a question as to if change in leadership in MP Congress was imminent.

When insisted by reporters to clear the air on the matter, he quipped "Do you expect me to answer all your questions today itself".

Nath's recent statement that he needed 'some rest' and wanted to stay at home has given birth to speculation that he may pave the way for a new PCC chief.

J&K SOUTHERN DISTRICTS SEE LOW VOTER TURNOUT

DC CORRESPONDENT SRINAGAR, DEC. 16

The seventh phase of Jammu and Kashmir's first ever District Development Council (DDC) elections recorded an overall 57.22 per cent voting on Wednesday.

State election commissioner (SEC) K.K. Sharma said that the polling was by and large peaceful in the 31 constituencies where voting took place.

He said Jammu division recorded an average voter turnout of 71.93 per cent with frontier district of Poonch highest 80.12 per cent followed by Reasi district with 76.75 per cent and Udhampur 75.63 per cent voting.

The lowest 58.82 per cent turnout in Jammu division was reported from hilly Doda district.

The Kashmir Valley reported 39.52 per cent average voter turnout with Bandipora district recording the highest polling at 70.47 per cent followed by Baramulla with 59.53 per cent and Kupwara district recorded 59.23 per cent polling, he added.

Once again, the southern districts of the Valley — Anantnag, Kulgam, Pulwama and Shopian— considered to be the hotbed of militancy saw majority of voters staying away from the polling.

As per the official statisticians, Anantnag recorded 22.46 per cent, Kulgam 17.98 per cent, Pulwama 11.06 per cent and Shopian just 6.55 per cent polling.

Govt clears ₹3,500 cr aid for sugarcane farmers

Move to benefit 5 crore farmers, 5 lakh workers in sugar mills

DC CORRESPONDENT NEW DELHI, DEC. 16

The government on Wednesday cleared financial assistance of ₹3,500 crore to sugar mills for the export of 60 lakh tonnes of sweetener during the ongoing marketing year 2020-21 as part of its efforts to help them clear outstanding dues to sugarcane farmers.

Briefing media after the meeting, information and broadcasting minister Prakash Javadekar said the Cabinet Committee on Economic Affairs (CCEA) has approved a subsidy of ₹3,500 crore on exports of 60 lakh tonnes of sweetener and the subsidy amount will directly be given to

The dues will be directly credited to their accounts on behalf of sugar mills against the cane price dues, and the subsequent balance, if any, will be credited to mills' accounts.

Farmers sell their sugarcane to the sugar mills, however, they don't get their dues from the sugar mill owners as they have surplus sugar stock. To address this concern, the government has facilitated the evacuation of surplus sugar stock. This will enable payment of dues of the sugarcane farmers.

The CCEA has approved the subsidy at the rate of ₹6 per kg for the current year, much lower than about ₹10.50 per kg in the 2019-20 marketing year keeping in view favourable international prices.

According to official sources, the government will incur about ₹3,500 crore for this purpose, and this assistance would be directly credited into farmers' accounts on behalf of sugar mills against cane price dues and subsequent balance, if any, would be credited to mill's account.

The decision will benefit five crore farmers and 5,00,000 workers employed in sugar mills and related ancillary activities. Sugar mills will be able to earn ₹18,000 crore revenue from the export, said Javadekar, who is also Union environment minister.

This subsidy aims at covering expenses on marketing costs including handling, upgrading and other processing costs and costs of international and internal transport and freight charges on the export of up to 60 LMT of sugar limited to Maximum Admissible Export Quota (MAEQ) allocated to sugar mills for the sugar season 2020-21.

Adhikari resigns as TMC legislator

RAJIB CHOWDHURY | DC KOLKATA, DEC. 16

Dealing yet another blow to West Bengal Chief Minister Mamata Banerjee's Trinamul Congress, rebel leader Shubendu Adhikari quit as Nandigram MLA a day before his visit to New Delhi and likely induction in the BJP. Adhikari, fearing a "political vendetta" against him by the TMC, also sought Governor Jagdeep Dhankhar's "intervention" in a letter for his and his aides' protection from being implicated by the state police in false cases.

At around 4 pm on Wednesday Adhikari, accompanied by Congress MLA Sudip Mukherjee from Purulia, went to the West Bengal Assembly and handed over his resignation letter to Assembly secretary Abhijit Som, in the absence of Speaker Biman Banerjee. He also sent a copy of his resignation letter to Banerjee via email. His move came nearly three weeks after he had resigned from the Mamata Banerjee Cabinet.

A drama, however, unfolded later as Adhikari's resignation was not immediately accepted till reports last came in, according to sources, since an MLA is required to submit his resignation letter physically in front of the Speaker to ensure that there is no pressure on him for his decision. Adhikari remained silent. But his loyalists under the banner of Dadar Onugami (elder brother's followers) hoisted the BJP flag at his office in Heria in East Midnapore in jubilation.

In the evening Dhankhar tweeted Adhikari's letter, which states: "I am constrained to seek your intervention as constitutional head so that the police and the administration apparatus in the state is dissuaded from implicating me and my associate followers in criminal cases out of political motivation and vendetta. I am in public life now for 25 years, during which my prime focus has been and is to be in service of the people. I have passionately involved myself with commitment and dedication to serve the people in all positions, including as a minister in the government till my resignation on 27.11.2020."

CPM-led LDF registers big win in local body polls

DC CORRESPONDENT THIRUVANANTHAPURAM, DEC. 16

The CPM-led ruling Left Democratic Front in Kerala on Wednesday registered a significant victory in local body polls considered as the semifinals ahead of crucial Assembly elections next year.

Chief Minister Pinarayi Vijayan termed the success of ruling front as "peoples victory".

"It's a befitting reply from the people of Kerala to the forces who tried to destroy our achievements, central agencies which worked with ulterior motive, communal forces which wanted to weaken the unity of the people and the forces which unleashed lies against the government," he said.

The Chief Minister said the people irrespective of caste, creed, religion, region extended wholehearted support to LDF.

"The mandate reflects the secular mindset of the people of the state," he said.

For the LDF, the victory is vital as it comes in the backdrop of serious allegations related to gold smuggling, corruption in mega projects faced by the government and Chief Minister's office.

Almost all central agencies including CBI, ED, Customs, NIA are camping in the state in connection with the investigations into various cases forcing even Chief Minister Pinarayi Vijayan to accuse the BJP-led government at the Centre of misusing these agencies to derail the pro-people projects and topple democratically elected state government.

Despite facing such an adverse political situation, the LDF managed to keep its rural base almost intact winning 514 grama panchayats.

The UDF which was expected to do better this time, ended up with 377 grama panchayats.

However, the UDF maintained its upper hand in municipalities winning 45 of the 86. The LDF won 35 while BJP added one more to its 2015 tally.

Meanwhile, Opposition leader Ramesh Chennithala claimed that the UDF had improved its performance compared to 2015. "LDF cannot claim a big victory as its tally in grama panchayats and municipalities has gone down," he said.

SC SEEKS CENTRE'S REPLY ON PILS FOR REMOVING FARMERS

New Delhi, Dec. 16: The Supreme Court on Wednesday issued a notice to the Centre and others on a batch of petitions seeking removal of farmers camping at several roads near Delhi borders in protest against the three new agri laws.

A bench comprising Chief Justice S.A. Bobde, and Justices A.S. Bopanna and V. Ramasubramanian also indicated that the court may form a committee having representatives of the government and the farmer unions across the country to resolve the deadlock over the legislations.

In a hearing conducted via video conferencing, the bench directed the petitioners to make protesting farmer unions parties to the pleas and posted the matter for hearing on Thursday.

"Your negotiations with protesting farmers have not worked apparently till now," the bench told the Centre.

Meanwhile, Solicitor General Tushar Mehta told the bench that the government will not do anything against the interest of farmers.

Multiple pleas have been filed in the SC seeking a direction to authorities to immediately remove the farmers, saying commuters are facing hardships due to the road blockades and the gatherings might lead to an increase in the number of Covid-19 cases.

India, UK panel to study recognising of degrees

New Delhi, Dec. 16: India and the UK on Wednesday agreed to set up a joint task force consisting of designated higher education organisations from both the countries to work towards mutual recognition of academic qualifications.

Union education minister Ramesh Pokhriyal 'Nishank' said. A decision in this regard was taken in a bilateral meeting between Nishank and UK Foreign Secretary Dominic Raab here on Wednesday.

"India and the United Kingdom have agreed to set up a joint task force consisting of designated higher education organisations from both the countries to work towards mutual recognition of academic qualifications. This will support India's agenda for internationalisation of higher education. "The agreement to work towards mutual recognition of academic qualifications aligns with the vision of Prime Minister Narendra Modi for creating a globally mobile workforce and internationalisation of Indian higher education, as proposed in the National Education Policy (NEP) 2020 rolled out in July this year," Nishank said.

The meeting was also attended by minister of state for education Sanjay Dhotre and senior officials of the education ministry.

Raab hailed India's National Education Policy 2020 as visionary and said the proposed reforms will open up opportunities for students, the economy and for deeper engagement and collaboration between the two countries.

"This policy will help make the bridge of education between India and the UK stronger. The UK has a lot of respect for the academic rigour coming out of India, and the contribution of the Indian student community is highly valued by our country. The UK has made several changes in its visa and immigration rules to facilitate student mobility," he said.

Both sides expressed hope and confidence that they would further enhance mutual engagement in the field of education, research and innovation, leading to deeper and stronger bilateral relations. — PTI

Sangh suffers from Islamophobia but sincerely wants to eradicate caste animosity: Vinay Sitapati

SRIRAM KARRI HYDERABAD

Dr. B.R. Ambedkar was critical of every kind of religious bigotry, says Vinay Sitapati, author of Jugalbandi, in the second part of this interview. He defends the RSS and Sangh, saying they are actually keen to eradicate caste differences. Excerpts.

Vinay Sitapati

ter, Dr Ambedkar, have responded to acts like CAA or the NRC?

Ambedkar was critical of every kind of religious bigotry. But in a different way Ambedkar too was focussed on the welfare of his own community, the Dalits. It is the nature of democracy in a group-based society that different ideologies subscribing to electoral politics will try to fashion their own coalition. Democracy in India has always been largely about the arithmetic of group numbers.

For example, Savarkar had simple task. Hindus are 80 per cent of India, and can easily dominate election. The problem for him is that Hindus don't think of themselves as one. If they did, it would be easy for any Hindu party to win elections. But his math was right — get the Hindus to feel united and win power. In the process, the Muslims are alienated, even demonised. But lower caste Hindus are co-opted, and made partners.

The underlying logic — trying to form coalitions for the sake of a numerical majority — is not unique to the BJP. Every party does it. The Communist party says we will unite the have-nots, workers and farmers and win, while demonising capitalists, traders and businessmen. All OBC and Dalit parties have this formulation of a majority too. They demonise the upper caste, in a bid to consolidate the SCs, STs and OBCs; to which then you add Muslims.

There are many ways to get to a majority in elections and each ideology is a reflection of a particular calculation to reach it. Owaisi is trying to fashion his own majority. The BJP is playing the same game, with a different set of blocks. In that sense, every political party pursuing power in a democracy is therefore majoritarian in that sense. They are all playing a game of stitching together a sustainable majority and advocating and justifying policies to benefit constituents of their groupings.

● But how viable is Owaisi's argument of Muslims and Dalits — in argument both victims of upper caste Hindus — to create a subaltern's government?

The BJP, at this point of time, under Narendra Modi has already succeeded in stitching together a sustainable majority, which is across the caste hierarchy of Hindu society. My critique of Owaisi is that he is not a liberal counter-narrative against the RSS, merely the other side of the coin.

He says he opposes a ban on beef but not because he believes every individual must have the right to eat what she or he wants. Owaisi says there should be no ban on beef because lots of people eat beef, especially Muslims and Dalits. The BJP beats him and the likes of him at this game because there is no significant liberal constituency in India, who want to keep the state away from their private choices.

● A strong critique of RSS is it is a thinly-veiled Brahmanical hegemony?

I don't agree. If that was the case, why are OBCs, Dalits and Tribals voting for the BJP more than for any other party? Do they not know their own interests? The RSS idea of India has, for over a century, has been articulated by upper-castes who nonetheless have rejected a Hinduism that is only for upper-castes. In fact, no one wants the abolition of caste differences between Brahmin and Dalits more than the RSS and the BJP. Of course this was initially entirely for electoral reasons — to create a Hindu 'vote-bank'. But if you wear a mask for a 100 years, that mask becomes your face. And today, with a Dalit President and OBC Prime Minister ruling the country, it is obvious the mask has become the face. The correct criticism of Hindu nationalism is that they are anti-Muslim. There is no way to dilute this charge. But don't group Muslims and lower-castes Hindu together. That is, in a way, creating another kind of vote-bank politics in India. And that vote-bank has failed.

● Let us understand your argument correctly. You are saying RSS is anti-Muslim but not anti-Dalit. It means it wants unity between all castes and polarisation only on communal lines? So the allegation they are anti-Dalit and anti-Muslim is half wrong?

Absolutely. Take the example of the Janata government in 1977 which the Jana Sangh (precursor of the BJP) was the largest component of. They could have become prime minister, but they chose not to. They really wanted Jagjivan Ram to become PM. Why? Simple reason: he was a Dalit. And the RSS wanted to make sure that India had a Dalit prime minister. Critics of the BJP must reconcile themselves with these facts.

On the other hand, they have always been suspicious of Muslims. The 'Love Jihad' laws of today give you a great insight in RSS thinking. They do not want Hindus to marry Muslims. They want those religious boundaries to be maintained. On the other hand the sangh parivar even pays money as incentive for inter-caste marriages, for example between a Brahmin and a Dalit. The VHP has actively rejected Manu Smriti for upholding caste oppression. In this sense, they are progressive.

ANIME STUDIO ARSON: JAPAN DETAINS MAN

Tokyo, Dec. 16: Japanese prosecutors on Wednesday charged a man with murder over the 2019 arson attack on Kyoto Animation that killed 36 people, the country's deadliest violent crime in decades.

Shinji Aoba, 42, was detained in the aftermath of the July attack, but has been under constant medical supervision since then after sustaining severe burns in the incident.

The charges include murder, attempted murder, arson, trespass and breach of the arms-control law, the Kyoto prosecutor's office said, without giving further details.

More than 30 people were also injured in the attack, in which Aoba is accused of breaking into the studio's building, spreading gasoline around the ground floor and setting it alight.

TRYING TO FLEE: CHINA INDICTS 10 HK RESIDENTS

Hong Kong, Dec. 16: Chinese prosecutors on Wednesday announced the indictment of 10 people from Hong Kong over an attempt to flee the city amid a crackdown on opposition political activity.

The Yantian district prosecutor's office in the city of Shenzhen just across the border from Hong Kong said on its microblog that 10 of the suspects were charged with illegally crossing the border while two were also charged with organising the attempted journey.

Two others are minors and a decision on how to handle their cases will be made at a later time, the office said. Relatives of the 12 say they have been prevented from hiring their own lawyers and that the accusations against them are politically motivated. The 12 were arrested at sea in August while they were apparently attempting to flee to Taiwan after a tough national security law took effect in Hong Kong.

FIJIANS TOLD TO SEEK SHELTER FROM CYCLONE

Suva, Dec. 16: Fijians living in the path of an approaching super cyclone were told to hunker down at home or head to emergency shelters immediately on Wednesday, as authorities warned of the storm's potential to uproot buildings and cause mass destruction.

The Fiji Meteorological Service said Cyclone Yasa had intensified into a top-of-the-scale category five storm, with gusts of up to 280 kilometres per hour (174 miles per hour). It is on track to hit Fiji late Thursday and the National Disaster Management Office said around two-thirds of the island nation's population of 900,000 were in its path.

National Disaster Management Office director Vasiti Soko said anyone who doubted their home's structural integrity should prioritise survival over protecting their property and flee right away.

"If you need to move to an evacuation centre, we are pleading that you move before it gets dark."

PIG GENETICALLY MODIFIED FOR FOOD GETS NOD

New York, Dec. 16: US regulators have approved a genetically modified pig for food and medical products, making it the second such animal to get the green light for human consumption.

But the company behind it says there are no imminent plans to sell it for meat. The pig is genetically engineered to eliminate the presence of alpha-gal, a type of sugar found in many mammals. The sugar makes its way into many products — including medications, cosmetics and food — and can cause allergic reactions in some people.

The main goal of the company behind the pig, United Therapeutics Corp., is to develop medical products, such as blood thinners, that won't set off such reactions, said its spokesman Deway Steadman. Eventually, the Silver Spring, Maryland-based firm hopes to develop a way for the pig's organs to be transplanted into people.

The pig, called GalSafe, also has commercial potential as food, but Steadman said the company doesn't know when it might be able to secure an agreement with a meat producer to process and sell it.

Many European nations impose pre-Christmas virus restrictions

Berlin, Dec. 16: Several European countries on Wednesday imposed tighter Coronavirus restrictions ahead of Christmas, as the United States reported another record number of new infections.

Hopes for an end to the pandemic were boosted by positive assessments of the Moderna Covid-19 vaccine, but a study warned that at least a fifth of the world's population in poorer nations may not have access to vaccines until 2022.

With the virus resurgent in Europe, Germany closed non-essential shops and schools, swathes of England came under tighter curbs, and Denmark extended its restrictions.

"It's very good that we're closing the shops, it's for our health. We can't wait for things to fall apart," said shopper Jurgen in Berlin, where people were rushing to finish their Christmas purchases before the shutdown.

Germany had coped relatively well with the first wave in the spring, but it has struggled to contain a resurgence in recent months and its health minister said it wanted the European Union to approve the Pfizer-BioNTech vaccine "before Christmas".

Calls have been growing for the EU health regulator to speed up its vaccines decision process, with the bloc lagging behind a growing number of nations that have authorised the drug.

Britain has already started using it, but high infection numbers forced London on Wednesday to join large parts of central and northern England under tough, economically painful restrictions. Pubs, bars, restaurants and other hospitality sites will close, apart from take-aways, as will theatres and other entertainment venues. "The hospitality business needs this week, and it's devastating. It is devastatingly awful," said Lesley Lewis, owner of The French House, a London pub. "But if this is what it takes to save lives, that's what we have to do."

Record death toll in Germany

Frankfurt Am Main, Dec. 16: Germany registered a record number of deaths from Covid-19 on Wednesday, the first day of a new partial lockdown to try and cope with a surge in infections.

A total of 952 people died in the previous 24 hours, according to the Robert Koch Institute disease control centre.

It said 27,728 new Coronavirus cases were registered, a figure close to the daily record of nearly 30,000 infections reported on Friday.

The previous daily record for fatalities was also reached Friday, when almost 600 people were reported to have died as the number of those in intensive care in the country reached alarming levels. Some 83 percent of intensive care beds in hospitals were occupied on Wednesday, the Interdisciplinary Association for Intensive Care and Emergency Medicine (DIVI) said.

The latest figures come as a new partial lockdown was imposed, with non-essential shops and schools closed in a bid to halt an "exponential growth" in infections.

The restrictions will apply until January 10, with companies also urged to allow employees to work from home or to offer extended company holiday. — AFP

WTO mulls how to ease food aid

US AUTHORISES FIRST AT-HOME COVID-19 TEST

Washington, Dec 16 : The United States on Tuesday authorised its first rapid at-home test for Covid-19, which is available over-the-counter and produces a result in around 20 minutes.

The test, made by California-based Ellume, will sell for around $30 and the company plans to roll out three million units in January 2021, and millions more in subsequent months. VIRUS HUNT: WHO TO SIFT CHINESE SAMPLES, DATA

Falkensee, Dec. 16: A German scientist who is part of a small team of experts assembled by the World Health Organisation to investigate the origins of the Coronavirus says they plan to sift through samples and medical data from China to help determine where the bug first jumped from animals to humans and which species it came from.

The search for the source of the new Coronavirus has sparked claims of cover-ups and fuelled political tensions, particularly between the US administration of President Donald Trump and Beijing.

Most researchers think that the virus, also known as SARS-CoV-2, originated in animals in China, probably bats, and the WHO has put together a 10-person team to examine the science. Mission member Fabian Leendertz, a biologist at Germany's Robert Koch Institute who specialises in emerging diseases, said that the goal is to gather data to be better prepared for possible future outbreaks.

"It's really not about finding a guilty country," Leendertz said.

Senate run-offs: Biden campaigns

Nominates Buttigieg as transportation secy

Atlanta, Dec. 16: President-elect Joe Biden threw his weight into the Democratic battle for control of the US Senate on Tuesday, as his White House win was finally acknowledged by top Republicans and holdout foreign leaders.

Biden flew into Georgia — a southern state he won in an upset against President Donald Trump — to host a rally for two Democratic candidates in run-off races that will determine the Senate's balance of power.

"Honk for your next United States senators Jon Ossoff and Rev. Raphael Warnock," Biden told the crowd at the drive-in event in Atlanta — urging voters to turn out in force on January 5.

"Send me these two men, and we will control the Senate!" One day after the Electoral College affirmed Biden's victory, attention shifted to the looming Senate battle — and to the shape of the incoming administration, as Biden also announced he had nominated Pete Buttigieg, a former Indiana mayor and presidential rival, as secretary of transportation. He would be the first openly gay person confirmed by the Senate to a presidential cabinet post — in sync with Biden's pledge to usher in the most diverse cabinet ever when he takes office on January 20.

Rouhani: 'Happy' Trump leaving

Tehran, Dec. 16: President Hassan Rouhani said Wednesday that Iran was "very happy" over the looming departure from office of US counterpart Donald Trump, who led a campaign of "maximum pressure" against the Islamic republic.

President-elect Joe Biden, who defeated Trump at the ballot box in November, has signalled a willingness to return to diplomacy with Iran after four tense years under the outgoing president.

"Some say you are over-excited by the advent of Mr. Biden. No, we are not, but we are very happy to see Trump leave," he said in televised comments at a cabinet meeting.

— AFP

"Thank God, these are his final days," Rouhani added, calling Trump a "tyrant", "the most unruly, lawless president" and a "terrorist and murderer." The electoral college confirmed Biden as the next US president on Monday even as the incumbent continues to refuse to accept defeat.

The formal handover of power will take place on January 20 when Biden is sworn in.

Tensions between Tehran and Washington soared during Trump's presidency as his administration sought to bring Israel and the Gulf Arab states closer together with a hard line against Iran.

And while Trump still refuses to concede — continuing to tweet baseless allegations of mass fraud that have been rejected in dozens of lawsuits — top Senate Republican Mitch McConnell finally broke his silence with a message to the president: It's over. "The Electoral College has spoken. So today I want to congratulate President-elect Joe Biden,"

McConnell said on the Senate floor, adding that Americans can also "take pride" that they will have their first female VP in Kamala Harris. Biden said that he had a "good" phone conversation with McConnell, a longtime Senate colleague. "I told him that while we disagree on a lot of things, there are things we can work together on," he said. — AFP

Afghan, Taliban in Pak to talk peace

Islamabad, Dec. 16: A high-level Afghan-Taliban delegation arrived here on Wednesday to hold talks with the top Pakistani leadership as part of efforts to push forward the reconciliation process, amid growing incidents of violence in Afghanistan. The Taliban Political Commission (TPC), headed by Mullah Abdul Ghani Baradar, is on a December 16-18 visit to Pakistan, according to the Foreign Office (FO).

"During the visit, the delegation will meet with the Foreign Minister and call on the Prime Minister," the FO said. The visit comes after a delegation led by US special representative for Afghanistan reconciliation, Zalmay Khalilzad, on Monday met Pakistan's Army chief General Qamar Javed Bajwa and discussed with him the ongoing Afghan peace process.

AP reported that Baradar and his delegation were summoned to Islamabad from Qatar, where they have been negotiating since September with Afghan government representatives. — PTI

ERDOGAN: U.S. CURBS ATTACK SOVEREIGNTY

Ankara, Dec. 16: Turkish President Recep Tayyip Erdogan on Wednesday called US sanctions against Ankara over its purchase of a Russian missile defence system an "open attack" on the NATO member state's sovereignty. The United States made good on months of threats to punish Turkey for buying the S-400 system under a 2017 law known as CAATSA, which aims to limit Russia's military influence and punish it for its behaviour abroad.

Hoarder risks facing colossal fine, jail time

27K artefacts seized in France

Paris, Dec. 16: French authorities have seized a "priceless" haul of over 27,000 archaeological artefacts ranging from Bronze Age bracelets to Roman coins that had been secretly amassed by a single person in the east of the country, customs said Wednesday.

The seizure of the 27,400 objects was the result of a year-long investigation conducted by French customs, Belgian authorities and the French culture ministry.

The hoarder, who has not been named and now faces a criminal probe, had built up the collection for personal and trading purposes, the French customs service said.

He had amassed the collection himself using metal detectors as well as what appears to be a deep archaeological knowledge. The man had first aroused suspicion in 2019 when he told authorities he had found almost 15,000 Roman coins by chance on land he had acquired in Belgium.

The French customs service then confirmed that this haul had actually been built up through "the looting of various sites in France", it said.

The case has now been handed to the judiciary, with the man risking a colossal fine and possibly jail time.

This seizure is "a clear message to those who — for the profit and the selfish pleasure of a few — deprive us of our shared heritage and erase entire sections of our history", Economy and Finance Minister Bruno Le Maire said in a statement.

He described the haul as a "priceless treasure". The collection includes

BEZOS'S EX-WIFE GIVES $4 BILLION IN CHARITY

San Francisco, Dec. 16: MacKenzie Scott, the ex-wife of Amazon founder Jeff Bezos, said Tuesday she has given $4.2 billion to groups helping the vulnerable as the pandemic hits lives like "a wrecking ball." Scott, who formerly went by the name MacKenzie Bezos, last year signed a "giving pledge" to donate the bulk of her wealth to charity.

In a round of donations early this year, Scott gave nearly $1.7 billion to groups devoted to race, gender and economic equality, as well as other social causes.

"This pandemic has been a wrecking ball in the lives of Americans already struggling," Scott said in a post detailing her second round of giving this year. — AFP

Facts don't back PM's theory on farmers' stir

Prime Minister Narendra Modi's speech in Kutch on Tuesday, in which he spoke of "a great conspiracy to mislead farmers, in and around Delhi", can be said to mark a new stage in the agitation of farmers of North India, in the vanguard of which are Punjab farmers. This stage bespeaks the hardening of the government's stand against the farmers knocking on the doors of the nation's capital for the past 20 days.

After six rounds of dialogue between the government and the farmers' representatives, including a session with Union home minister Amit Shah, the food growers maintain their opposition to the three controversial agri-laws, passed in controversial circumstances last September. The government is just as adamant and will not agree to their repeal, the farmers' key demand. The farmers have rejected the government's implied offer of amending specific sections of the three laws if farmers can pinpoint them.

In Parliament, and in various statements made by the government's representatives outside the legislature, not excluding the remarks of the PM at various forums, the government is yet to cogently explain to the need for the laws that have created a storm, other than to say that these represent much-needed "reform" that will benefit farmers and the farm sector, and will not leave them worse off. The agriculturists are not persuaded, however. The government's bland assurances have done nothing to reassure farmers that the real reason for these "reforms" was to not to benefit big industry, rather than the owners of farmland.

The real attack on the government has come from Akali Dal president Sukhbir Badal on the same day that the PM was accusing the Opposition of misleading farmers come from Akali Dal president Sukhbir Badal on the same day that the PM was accusing the Opposition of misleading farmers and playing politics in the guise of backing farmers. The Akalis depend principally on the votes of agriculturists.

Such was the force of the Dal's opposition to the three farm laws that its announcement of leaving the Narendra Modi government came on the floor of the Lok Sabha, in the course of the discussion on the controversial farm laws. Subsequently, the Punjab party left the ruling alliance. Therefore, the notion of innocent farmers being "misled" by the Opposition — assiduously propagated by the government and the BJP — does not square with the facts. In the first instance, this opposition to the agri-laws came from the Akali Dal when it was a member of the ruling NDA until three months ago. This was clearly a case of opposition from within.

In a newspaper interview, Union agriculture minister Narendra Singh Tomar said the BJP under Mr Modi came back with an increased majority in 2019 because of the "transformative" policies of demonetisation and GST. The extremely negative economic effects of these policies did not concern him and he equated more seats in Parliament with approval of these policies by the people. In the same way, he noted, the farm laws, that have triggered a tsunami of protest, will also be backed by the electorate.

The farmers seem to be up against the strength of ideology rather than economic logic.

Naked power grab

The fracas in the Karnataka Legislative Council may be par for the course in many a legislature, but it did nothing for the reputation of a House of Elders. The physical pushing and shoving of the deputy chairman, who was the presiding officer at the time and the kind of street language members used against each other made this a new low so far as meetings at the majestic Vidhana Soudha building in Bengaluru goes. The issue does run deeper and the incident only further illustrates the naked power grabbing politics gripping places reserved for people's representatives.

It appears the ruling party BJP was in a tearing hurry to pass the contentious Karnataka Prevention of Slaughter and Preservation of Cattle Bill 2020 and the Congress, afraid of losing the chairmanship and control of the council, was hell bent on stopping the proceedings and the Bill. But the Congress chairman had no right to duck legislative business in adjourning the House on December 10 even as the BJP and JD(S) had no right to forcibly occupy the chair through deputy chairman Dharmegowda to try and pass the Bill.

The Congress' fear of losing the last vestige of power in Karnataka it had enjoyed in its alliance of convenience with the JD(S) till 2019 may have led it to such subterfuge in blocking legislation the BJP is keen to enact. The cattle protection laws are in keeping with BJP's pursuit of Hindutva, to enable which it has been seen enticing the JD(S) into its sphere of influence by dangling the carrot of an alliance that may stretch into the next Assembly elections.

The JD(S) is a past master in the art of gravitating towards political power as evidenced in its supreme H.D. Devegowda once becoming Prime Minister of India in a large coalition with a minuscule number of MPs. Its effort to remain relevant in Karnataka politics today is understandable. However, the least expectation is presiding officers of legislatures will meticulously follow the rule book so as not to deny a majority from having its say, such majority always being on the floor of the House.

Child nutrition crisis may derail India's aspirations

Patralekha Chatterjee

Dev 360

It can be tempting to blame every crisis on the Covid-19 pandemic. But quite often, facts get in the way. Many things were bad enough even prior to the onset of the pandemic, that gutted so many lives and livelihoods.

The latest data from the National Family Health Survey (NFHS-5) is a case in point. It shows that several states across the country are doing worse since the last NFHS was conducted in 2015-16. They have reversed course and are showing worsening levels of child malnutrition despite improvements in sanitation and better access to fuel and drinking water.

Arguably, the first set of findings from the NFHS-5, conducted in 2019-20, four years after the last one (2015-16), relates to only 22 states and Union territories and does not include major states like Madhya Pradesh, Tamil Nadu and Uttar Pradesh. Data for these states will be released sometime in the middle of next year.

It is also true that not everything in NFHS-5 reeks of gloom.

Immunisation coverage has expanded in many states, the number of households using clean fuel has improved. Ditto with sanitation facilities. The total fertility rate (TFR) across most Indian states is also declining.

All this is good news. But we can't afford to take the eye off the ball and gloss over the heart-breaking reality of growing numbers of stunted and undernourished children in India.

In Maharashtra, the percentage of children in the 6-59 months group who are anaemic has shot up from 53.8 per cent (2015-2016) to 68.9 per cent in 2019-2020. Rural children are more severely affected. In the same period, the percentage of children under five who are stunted (low height for age) has gone up from 34.4 to 35.2.

What leapt out at me was the data from Mumbai. Children in the 6-50 months group who are anaemic has risen from 65.7 per cent in 2015-2016 to 72.8 per cent in 2019-2020.

Or take Gujarat, a relatively affluent state. The percentage of children under five who are stunted has risen from 38.5 (2015-2016) to 39.0 (2019-2020). In the same period, children under five who are severely wasted has gone up from 9.5 per cent to 10.6 per cent and those between 6-59 months who are anaemic has shot up from 62.6 per cent in 2015-2016 to 79.7 per cent in 2019-2020.

Nutrition experts point out that out of 22 states and Union territories for which we have data, there is a surge in severe acute malnutrition cases in 16 states/UTs, compared to NFHS-4 conducted in 2015-2016.

Even Kerala, that usually leads in social policies, has problems: anaemia is growing among children.

The underfed hugely outnumber the overfed but alongside the crisis of child under-nutrition, we are also seeing a rise in child obesity, perhaps due to more junk food consumption.

All this is exacerbated by widespread under-nutrition and anaemia among women, including those who are pregnant.

What is going wrong and what has changed between 2015-2016 and 2019-2020?

"We don't have granular data for all states and Union territories as yet but the first lot of data from NFHS-5 points to worsening malnutrition and anaemia in several states. From the data that's available, it's hard to pinpoint why malnutrition worsened even before the pandemic set in, but it's important to note that the period when it worsened coincides with the time India suffered economic shocks. We had demonetisation in 2016, which gutted much of the informal sector which dominates the Indian economy. We don't know to what extent those who took a severe hit during demonetisation have recovered. The GST rollout also affected small businesses and rural wages have stagnated," says Dipa Sinha, assistant professor of economics at New Delhi's Ambedkar University and a key figure in India's Right to Food Campaign.

"The other unknown for which we don't have much data is the impact of the weakening of the social protection framework with inadequate budgetary support and no expansion in response to the economic slowdown which could have affected affordability of diets. PDS (public distribution system) provides only rice and wheat in most states. Some states also give pulses and oil, but many poorer states don't," she adds.

Some experts point out that the work of the Narendra Modi government's flagship National Nutrition Mission and Anaemia Mukh Bharat (AMB) campaign, with an ambitious target of reducing anaemia by three percentage points per annum till 2022, are not really captured in the NFHS-5 data because they really got going only recently.

Even if that is so, it is vital to review what is actually happening on the ground. There are enough indications that all is not well with many programmes. Take the mid-day meals, for example — the Central government's flagship school-based feeding programme aimed at improving the nutritional status of students and promoting the universalisation of elementary education.

According to the Accountability Initiative of the Centre of Policy Research, only 14 states in India could utilise 100 per cent of the funds allocated to them for mid-day meals for the year 2018-2019, and states like Telangana, Assam and Goa used only two-third of the money allocated to them under this head. Gujarat and Haryana used only 40 per cent of the funds allocated to them for mid-day meals. All this goes to show that there is a lot that is dysfunctional on the ground.

India's child nutrition crisis should give policymakers sleepless nights.

Stunting is a marker of chronic or recurrent undernutrition, usually associated with poor socioeconomic conditions, poor maternal health and nutrition, frequent illness, and/or inappropriate infant and young child feeding and care in early life.

Children who suffer from stunting may not only not grow to their full height, there is also a risk that they would not develop their full cognitive potential.

Experts say mothers who suffer from under-nutrition are more likely to have children who suffer from stunting or wasting, perpetuating the cycle of poverty and undernutrition. Anaemia is also hugely debilitating. It can affect children's cognitive performance and physical growth. In women, anaemia can adversely impact the capacity to work and can lead to poor pregnancy outcomes.

Children are India's future, on whom the country's dreams rest, but they are paying the price of adult bungling and apathy. We can't afford that. Nor can we afford diversions like the needless hullabaloo over serving boiled eggs, a source of protein, to poor children in government programmes.

WINTER SESSION

It is not a good idea to scrap the Winter Session of Parliament. The Covid numbers are declining gradually these days. It's not hard to conduct the session for a few hundred members by taking appropriate measures to control the spread of virus. As social life is functioning around the country, it's expected that the government runs its business as usual. There are many important issues of national importance waiting for in depth deliberations.

CJ SHIFTED

The "decision" to shift CJ of Andhra Pradesh High Court, "following" a written complaint by AP CM two months back, vindicates the stand of Chief Minister. The rarest of the rare instance of a Chief Minister lodging a complaint against a Chief Justice is not something simple. The issue concerning misconduct of a Supreme Court judge is serious. The mutual recrimination slowly built up and reached its peak with both the CM and HC "refusing" to budge. The transfer should end the mutual recriminations and usher in a cordial atmosphere so that justice prevails, not political bias.

S.C. VERDICT NO DEFEAT OF GOVT. — PM

NEW DELHI, Dec. 16 Prime Minister Indira Gandhi emphatically declared amid cheers in the Rajya Sabha today that the Supreme Court judgement striking down the princes derecognition order did not constitute any defeat of the Government.

Hitting back firmly at interpellation from the Jana Sangh and Swatantra benches on a calling attention motion tabled by Mr Bhupesh Gupta (CPI) about the judgment and the situation arising from it, Mrs. Gandhi also declared that the Government was not in any predicament as a result of the court order. The discussion which lasted two hours was marked by noisy interruptions by various members. To the thumping of desks from her colleagues, Mrs. Gandhi said the Government fully anticipated "obstacles in every path in the march to progress".

Gymkhana divided on suspension of ex-cop

Due to various complex rules around admission, the Delhi Gymkhana Club has maintained its exclusive "aura" for 107 years. Its governing body is comprised of various retired government and defence officials as well as other private citizens. Its elections are a hotly contested affair, often leading to accusations of use of "illegal" and "unlawful" means between the contestants.

These days the club is roiled by a letter written by 50 members collectively to the club president expressing their outrage at the "arbitrary decision" of the governing body. One of the issues that has riled members is the proposed suspension of a member, Dr Parvez Hayat, a retired IPS officer, for a day and further debarring him from contesting the club elections. Sources say that the member's suspension was the result of allegations levelled against him by vice-admiral B.S. Randhawa. The letter alleged that the club authorities did not observe the rules and due process before taking the decision to suspend the retired IPS officer.

Such controversies are not new. Earlier this year, the National Company Law Tribunal (NCLT) had ruled that the club was acting in a manner "prejudicial to public interest" and, therefore, must be probed. It said that a five-member central government appointed panel should investigate the affairs of the club, including land usage and its admission policy for members.

UPRIGHT BABU RILES UTTARAKHAND MINISTER

These days your average babu can rarely say "no" to a minister. Blind obedience is what is expected from them, leaving little room for independent decision-making.

But like always, there are exceptions to the rule. An instance from Uttarakhand has recently come to light. There is even a touch of the bizarre about it!

The state's minister of women and child welfare, Rekha Arya, reportedly wrote to the DIG of Dehradun, Arun Mohan Joshi, inquiring about her additional secretary V. Shanmugam, who, she said, was "missing". And since the officer was "incomunicado", she feared he might have been kidnapped!

As it turns out, according to sources, trouble had been brewing between the minister and the IAS officer for some time. Matters came to a head sometime in September when Mr Shanmugam awarded a contract in a tender possibly against the wishes of the minister. Subsequently, he went into a two-day "self-isolation" and did not take any calls from his office or the minister.

The irate mantri forced chief minister Trivendra Rawat to order an inquiry into the award of the contract, but additional chief secretary Manisha Panwar has reported that the probe did not find any misconduct by Mr Shanmugam. Further, Mr Panwar has stated that the officer had followed due process while awarding the contract and while going on leave. This is where matters rest, for now. It remains to be seen whether the minister will pursue the issue further or let it fly. It would also be interesting to see if the babu manages to hold on to his post or gets transferred elsewhere.

Contrast this with a powerful babu in Delhi who did not vanish after his "gaffe". Immense sweeping powers and other capabilities were exercised in Delhi and his statement vanished instead. What was reported in the media (of course, the story was promptly withdrawn, though the video exists!) on questioning the credentials of democracy itself led to much speculation whether this was just a gaffe or something more!

One issue that has riled up members is the proposed suspension of a member, Dr Parvez Hayat, retired IPS officer, for a day and further debarring of him from the club elections. The member's suspension was the result of allegations levelled against him by vice-admiral B.S. Randhawa.

SBI: GDP to dip only by -7.4%, full recovery in 7 qtrs

India's GDP growth is expected to be at (-) 7.4 per cent in FY21 on better than projected recovery, said a SBI research report, upgrading its earlier forecast of (-) 10.9 per cent. The report also said it would take seven quarters from the fourth quarter of FY21 for GDP to reach the pre-pandemic level in nominal terms. It said the revised estimates are based on SBI 'Now-casting Model' with 41 high frequency indicators.

LPG price raised again by ₹50; ATF costlier by 6.3%

Cooking gas LPG price was increased by Rs 50 per cylinder, the second hike in rate this month following firming of international prices. Also, aviation turbine fuel (ATF) price was raised by a steep 6.3 per cent. Non-subsidised LPG price was increased to Rs 694 per 14.2-kg cylinder from Rs 644 earlier, according to a price notification of state fuel marketing companies. On Dec. 1, price was hiked by a similar Rs 50 per cylinder.

Reforms window for states open till February 15

The finance ministry has extended the deadline till February 15 for states to implement reforms—one-nation one ration card, ease of doing business, urban local body/ utility and power sector reforms—to become eligible for additional borrowing this fiscal. To meet the extra fund requirements of states on account of Covid-19, the Centre in May had decided to raise the states' borrowing limit by 2 per cent of GSDP.

Guv's advice for raising credit-GDP ratio

Lend by cash flow, not collateral: Das

FALAKNAAZ SYED
MUMBAI, DEC. 16

Banks should rely less on collateral security for lending and instead focus more on cashflow-based lending to help improve the credit-to-GDP ratio in the country, the Reserve Bank of India (RBI) governor Shaktikanta Das said on Wednesday. The credit bureaus and the proposed public credit registry (PCR) are expected to improve the flow of credit as well as credit culture, the apex bank chief added.

India is ranked amongst the most financially underpenetrated economies, which suffered from a bad loan problem with industrial credit while also having an underpenetration in last mile credit. As per RBI data, the scheduled commercial banks' credit as a per cent of GDP came down to 50.99 per cent in FY20 from 51.51 per cent in FY19.

On the other hand, the credit-to-GDP ratio in advanced economies and China is in the range of 150 to 200 per cent.

"To improve the credit to GDP ratio, access to credit and cost of credit need to be addressed by lesser reliance on collateral security and greater cash-flow based lending. Credit bureaus and the proposed Public Credit Registry (PCR) framework are expected to improve the flow of credit as well as credit culture," Das said in his keynote address titled the National Strategy on Financial Education 2020-

Shaktikanta Das

25 at the webinar on 'Investing in investor education in India: Priorities for action' organised by the National Council of Applied Economic Research (NCAER).

The views had earlier been put forth by former deputy governor Viral Acharya, who, in July this year, said that an estimated 50 per cent of Indians were employed informally and remained invisible to the banking system despite earning as much as their peers in the formal system. "When they want a loan, the bank denies them credit unless they provide a hard asset collateral, which is not easy to come by if you are the last mile and below the poverty line," Acharya had said.

He said the average Indian could not provide collateral and hence resorted to informal finance which remained infamous for 'extraordinary high rates, onerous terms and inhuman collection policies'. Acharya had cited the example of micro entrepreneurs and said that "if the formal financing system can observe the cash flow patterns of micro entrepreneurs through other transactions that they are doing, they can start doing cash flow lending and can start serving the unique needs of the customers based on the specific maturity profile and their cash flows."

India, with a large section of population in the working age group, is already the third largest economy in the world in terms of purchasing power parity and is aiming to become a $5 trillion economy.

"We need to harness the demographic dividend by meeting the aspirations of a large young population. This necessitates creating an enabling environment and infrastructure in the form of education, training and opportunity. Among all the prerequisites for achieving demographic dividend and accelerated growth, quality of human resources, greater formalisation of economy, a higher credit to GDP ratio and greater financial inclusion are the differentiating factors that would elevate our economy to the desired level," Das added.

400 foundries stop work over high raw material price

Coimbatore, Dec. 16:

About 400 small and tiny foundries in the district remained silent on Wednesday as part of their indefinite strike to draw the attention of the Centre to the spiralling price of raw materials in the last two months.

The foundries, affiliated to the Coimbatore Tiny and Small Foundry Owners Association (Cosmafam), stopped production indefinitely, resulting in a loss of Rs 30 crore daily, its president Shiva Shanmugakumar said.

The increasing prices would not only affect the foundries but also related industries such as wet grinder, pump & motors, textiles and automobiles, who are the large-scale customers of foundry products, he said.

The price increase ranged from 30 to 55 per cent compared to the pre-lockdown period, he said.

Hoarding by the traders, thus creating artificial scarcity of the materials, also contributed to the price hike, he said, adding the entire industrial sector is seeking the intervention of the Centre to bring down the prices for its survival.

The Coimbatore and Tirupur Medium Industries Association, with nearly 50,000 units, has also given a call to down shutters for a day on Wednesday to express solidarity with striking foundries. Nineteen SME associations had already staged a demonstration here on Tuesday. —PTI

Sebi relaxes norms for CIRP firms, MF sponsors

RAVI RANJAN PRASAD
MUMBAI, DEC. 16

The Sebi board on Wednesday made changes to the shareholding norms for corporate insolvency resolution process (CIRP) companies, relaxed mutual fund sponsor eligibility criteria and also decided to relax minimum promoter contribution in follow-on public offer.

The regulator said firms that remain listed due to implementation of resolution plan under the Insolvency and Bankruptcy Code will be required to have at least 5 per cent public shareholding at the time of their admission to deal on a stock exchange.

There is no such minimum requirement now.

Further, such companies will be provided 12 months to achieve public shareholding of 10 per cent from the date shares are admitted for dealings on the stock exchange and 36 months to achieve public shareholding of 25 per cent. For this, the current timelines are 18 and 36 months, respectively.

The Sebi also decided to relax the profitability criteria for becoming a mutual fund sponsor, aiming to facilitate innovation and expansion in the sector.

The regulator has also decided to segregate and ring-fence assets and liabilities of mutual fund schemes. This is in addition to the existing requirement of segregating bank accounts and securities accounts.

On sponsor eligibility, the Sebi said sponsors that are not fulfilling the profitability criteria when applying will also be considered eligible to sponsor a fund. "This is subject to having a net-worth of not less than Rs 100 crore for the purpose of contribution towards the net-worth of the Asset Management Company (AMC)."

The net-worth of the AMC has to be maintained till it makes profit for five consecutive years.

The new rules will open the gates for new players to come in as mutual fund sponsors with high net-worth but no profitability. At present, a sponsor has to show profits in three out of the immediately preceding five years.

The board approved the proposal to do away with the applicability of minimum promoters' contribution and the subsequent lock-in requirements for the issuers making a Further Public Offer of specified securities subject to conditions.

Covid steals 81 mn jobs in Asia-Pac

SANGEETHA G
CHENNAI, DEC. 16

Covid-19 wiped out some 81 million jobs in the Asia-Pacific while 364-429 million casual workers were affected by the Indian lockdown measures, says the International Labour Organisation (ILO) in a study.

The report estimates that in Asia and the Pacific, the Covid-19 crisis has led to a gap of 81 million jobs compared with the pre-crisis numbers. The regional jobs gap in 2020 is largely driven by South Asia, where the employment estimate is nearly 50 million jobs below the pre-crisis baseline, corresponding to a 7.4 per cent drop in employment.

"India implemented one of the strictest lockdowns among the large middle-income countries...An estimated 364-429 million workers have been adversely affected by the lockdown measures," the report said.

While India's total Covid-19 fiscal response package as a percentage of GDP was higher than the median among the Asia-Pacific countries, government support to income or revenue, as part of the Covid-19 policy expenditure, was on the lower side and lesser than countries like Pakistan, China and Australia.

Overall, in Asia-Pacific, labour income is estimated to have declined by 9.9 per cent in the first three quarters of 2020. An additional 22-25.4 million persons could be added to working poor or those living on less than $1.90 a day.

Electric cars to get cheaper as battery costs plunge

DAVID R. BAKER
DEC. 16

Electric vehicles may cost about the same as their fuel-guzzling brethren in just three or four years—and only get cheaper from there, shows a new report from Bloomberg-NEF.

Electric cars and buses have long been saddled with bigger up-front costs than those burning petrol or diesel, due to the cost of batteries. But researchers say that price premium will disappear once battery packs reach $100 per kilowatt-hour—a tipping point BNEF expects to occur in 2023, according to its Battery Price Survey. Battery costs have plunged nearly 90 per cent in the last decade, from $1,100 per kilowatt-hour in 2010 to $137 this year. Packs built for cars—as opposed to home solar arrays or pieces of the power grid—cost even less. They now average $126 per kilowatt-hour.

The survey also found examples of batteries for electric buses in China selling below $100 per kilowatt-hour, said lead author James Frith. China's average pack price for electric buses is only slightly higher, at $105.

"Within just a few years we will see the average price in the industry pass this point," said Frith. "What's more, our analysis shows even if prices for raw materials were to return to the highs seen in 2018, it would only delay average prices reaching $100/kWh by two years." —Bloomberg

WHATSAPP TO HELP BUY 'SACHET-SIZED' HEALTH POLICIES

New Delhi, Dec. 16: WhatsApp on Wednesday said it expects to facilitate the purchase of "affordable sachet-sized" health insurance through its platform by the end of the year as part of its efforts to provide users in India with greater access to financial solutions.

The Facebook-owned company noted that its 'Payments' feature is now available to users across the country (having 20 million users) with support from banking partners

State Bank of India, HDFC, ICICI and Axis Bank.

"WhatsApp is deeply committed to India with over 400 million active users, this is our largest market," said WhatsApp India head Bhijit Bose at an event. —PTI

Double-digit dip in growth likely: Acma

MICHAEL GONSALVES
PUNE, DEC. 16

The Automotive Component Manufacturers Association of India, or Acma, on Wednesday said the sector will see a double-digit decline in growth this fiscal, after a 34 per cent drop in the first half of the year due to coronavirus-induced disruptions.

The industry body said it would take two to three years, depending on how steep the recovery is, for the component makers to work out a whole-sector capex planning.

In the first half of the fiscal, Acma said, the turnover of the automotive components industry stood at Rs 1.19 lakh crore ($15.9 billion), registering a de-growth of 34 per cent as compared to Rs 1.82 lakh crore ($26.2 billion) in the first half of the previous fiscal.

The performance was mainly affected by the first quarter when the auto sector had almost "zero revenue" due to the nationwide lockdown, with restrictions continuing in the second quarter as well. "Going forward, obviously this year as well, because of the lockdown and the challenges we continue to face, we will have a double-digit contraction. As you know 34 per cent, we have already contracted in the industry in H1.

"Although we are optimistic about our H2 performance, we will not be able to completely recover from the Q1 and Q2 fiascos," Deepak Jain, president at Acma told reporters in a video conference.

The auto components sector has been set back by three to four years due to the pandemic and it could take two to three years for the sector to reach the peak levels of 2018-19.

Jain, however, said the performance of the industry during the festive season has been heartening and there are indications the vehicle demand would be sustained.

According to Acma, exports of auto components declined by 23.6 per cent to Rs 39,003 crore ($5.2 billion) in H1 FY21.

Term plan purchases taper down from July

SANGEETHA G
CHENNAI, DEC. 16

In the initial months of the pandemic the fear for life was higher among Indians, especially the youth. The term insurance buying pattern shows this fear tapered down as the country started coming out of the lockdown.

Between March and July, when the country was under the lockdown, the purchase of term insurance policies surged 60 per cent year-on-year. However, after July when the country started opening up, the growth came down to 30 to 40 per cent, as per data from Policy Bazaar.

"When the pandemic was spreading fast in China, Europe and the US, the fear was higher in India. The lockdown further increased the fear. This saw people rushing to secure their lives. However, the lower mortality rate in India alleviated the fear among the citizens and the country also had started opening up by July," Amit Garg, business head, term insurance, PolicyBazaar told Financial Chronicle.

The trend was largely seen in metros and tier-I cities, which have a larger share of educated and employed people. Tier II cities also saw 40 per cent growth between March and July and then it fell to 20 to 30 per cent post-July.

Term insurance purchases by self-employed people saw the highest surge, accounting for 30 per cent of the term insurance buyers. The number has now gone up to 40 per cent.

Beware of these pests coming to eat your crops

AGNIESZKA DE SOUSA & MICHAEL HIRTZER
DEC. 16

Climate change is opening up new habitats to old pests, transforming them from a nuisance into a growing menace and placing unprecedented threats on the global food supply. Here are bugs to keep an eye on.

■ Fall Armyworm—Spodoptera frugiperda

Found in: Africa, Australia, East and South Asia, and North and South America
Eats: Corn, rice, sorghum, sugar cane, wheat

Native to tropical areas of the Western Hemisphere, this invasive species has spread rapidly, causing "major damage to economically important cultivated grasses," according to CABI, the non-profit Centre for Agriculture and Biosciences International. The pest infested about 15 per cent of Zambia's corn crop this year. It also contributed to a 4 per cent decline in China's corn harvest—a difference of about 11 million tonnes—sending prices skyrocketing and forcing the country to open its strategic stockpile, according to the US Department of Agriculture.

■ Coffee Berry Borer—Hypothenemus hampei

Found in: Tropical climates i.e., almost all coffee-producing countries
Eats: Coffee

These tiny beetles make their home inside the fruit of coffee plants, eating them from the inside out. The bug used to stick around lower, warmer elevations, but rising temperatures have coaxed them higher uphill. That's affecting the more expensive arabica coffee varieties, which prefer to grow on the slopes. Controlling the beetle population requires careful, labour-intensive monitoring. And farmers, who are already seeking higher ground because of climate change-coffee plants are particularly sensitive to temperatures—are running out of room.

■ Desert Locust—Schistocerca gregaria

Found in: Africa, Asia, and the Middle East; plus a few cases in Europe
Eats: Pretty much anything

This pest has a Biblical appetite. In the past year it's ravaged crops in regions as far-flung as East Africa and northern India. Both outbreaks were made possible by warmer seas, which generate more hurricanes and typhoons, which in turn create the perfect breeding ground for locusts. Ample rains moisten the soil, helping eggs thrive and encouraging vegetation growth in typically arid regions. As the climate gets more volatile, locust swarms are expected to become both more frequent and more severe.

■ Soybean Gall—MidgeRessel-iella maxima

Found in: US Great Plains, creeping into the Midwest
Eats: Soybeans

This tiny up-and-comer has been appearing in soybean fields in some US states. Its larvae attack the stems of soy plants that are in flower. There's no known effective defence. "Nothing was significant enough to suppress the larvae," says Erin Hodgson, associate professor of entomology at Iowa State University. "Plants can experience straight-up death."

■ Spotted wing drosophila—Drosophila suzukii (Matsumura)

Found in: Asia primarily, but increasingly in the Americas and Europe
Eats: Summer fruits, such as berries, cherries, and grapes

The flying pest's small larvae feast on soft, expensive fruit varieties, rendering them non-saleable and costing farmers millions of dollars. Although it showed up in North America only a decade ago, it's already wreaked havoc on US berry farmers. Rising temperatures will expand the drosophila's potential habitat, allowing it to push farther north each year. —Bloomberg

SHORT TAKES

Moody is SRH director of cricket

New Delhi: Australian Tom Moody has been appointed director of cricket at Indian Premier League side Sunrisers Hyderabad, who are captained by his compatriot David Warner.

Moody, 55, was the Hyderabad coach for seven years and led them to their only IPL title in 2016. He was replaced by another Australian, Trevor Bayliss, last year and late on Tuesday the franchise announced that Moody would be returning. The former batsman switched to coaching and TV commentary after retiring in 2001 and helped Hyderabad reach the play-offs five times during his stay as coach.

Hyderabad, who also have New Zealand skipper Kane Williamson and Afghanistan spin ace Rashid Khan in their ranks, failed to reach this year's final when they lost to DC in the playoffs in November. —AFP

Shuttler Foo Kune banned for doping

Geneva: Mauritian badminton player Kate Foo Kune, her country's flag-carrier at the 2016 Rio Olympics, was banned for two years for doping on Wednesday after failing to prove her drink was spiked. Foo Kune tested positive for a banned steroid last year but she escaped a ban when the Badminton World Federation's anti-doping panel accepted her explanation that she was the victim of sabotage. But after a BWF appeal against its own panel's decision, the Swiss-based Court of Arbitration for Sport said there was no evidence of foul play. "The CAS panel found the athlete's assertion of intentional spiking during the 2019 African Badminton World Championships devoid of supporting evidence," said a statement from the court, announcing a two-year ban from December 15. — AFP

Floyd, Laila voted to Hall of Fame

Canastota, New York: Floyd Mayweather, who captured 11 world titles in five weight divisions and retired unbeaten, former heavyweight champion Vladimir Klitschko, and Laila Ali have been elected to the International Boxing Hall of Fame and Museum. The Class of 2021 announced Tuesday also includes former Olympic champion Andre Ward, Ann Wolfe, Marian Trimiari, and Dr. Margaret Goodman. Elected posthumously were: Davey Moore, Jackie Tonawanda, cut man Freddie Brown, manager-trainer Jackie McCoy, journalist George Kimball, and television executive Jay Larkin. Honorees were selected by members of the Boxing Writers Association and a panel of international boxing historians. Induction day is scheduled for June 13 and also will include last year's class. — AP

Prez candidate wants Leo to stay

Barcelona: Barcelona presidential candidate Jordi Farre said on Tuesday he would work to make sure Lionel Messi stays at the Catalan giants should be elected next month, and hinted at a improbable bid for Neymar by the cash-strapped club.

Farre was promoter of the motion that led to previous club chief Josep Maria Bartomeu's resignation and with elections set for January 24 has been trying to attract support for his candidacy by offering free tattoos and pizzas with the Barca crest to fans who supported his bid for the top job.

The 45-year-old businessman and engineer said his priority is convincing Messi to stay despite the disillusioned Argentina forward's bid to leave in the close season and the fact he can begin negotiating a departure next summer in the new year. — AFP

Tough India face Australian might in Pink Ball affair

Adelaide, Dec. 16: A peerless Virat Kohli and his "fearless" India would look to unleash their might on an Australian team which is ready for revenge but not exactly in 'pink of health' ahead of the first Day/Night Test starting here on Thursday.

Media mogul Kerry Packer, while promoting his path-breaking 'World Series Day/Night Test matches' on Channel 9 back in late 1970s, had an unforgettable caption "Big Boys Play At Night".

Even in 2020, there couldn't have been a more appropriate catch-line for a series where Kohli's magnificence meets its match in Steve Smith's manic consistency,

NUMBERS GAME

INDIA TO PLAY 1ST DAY/NIGHT TEST AWAY FROM HOME

- The first day/ night Test match of the four-match Border-Gavaskar series between India and Australia will be played at Adelaide Oval from Thursday (December 17). It will be the 99th Test match between the two teams and on 49th Test match on Australian soil.
- Australia have a good record against India in previous Test matches played between the two teams. They have won 42 and lost 28 in 98 previous encounters between the two sides. The remaining 27 matches ended with out a result which include one tied match. They have won 29, lost seven and drew 12 in 48 Test matches played against India at home.
- India have a better record against Australia since 2000. They have won 17, lost 15 and draw 10 in 42 Test matches from January 2000 to January 2019.
- Australia have won seven, lost two and draw three in 12 Test matches played against India at Adelaide Oval. India's victories here came in 2003-04 and 2018-19.
- Adelaide Oval is hunting ground for Indian skipper Virat Kohli, who has scored 431 runs at 71.83 in six innings of three Test matches with three hundreds at this ground.
- India are in third place in the Test Team rankings with 114 rating points, whilst Australia top the rankings with 116.46 rating points. New Zealand follow closely in second with 116.37 rating points. India will feel the pressure as the race to the World Test Championship final heats up.

Prithvi to open as Saha keeps

Adelaide, Dec. 16: India have kept faith with opener Prithvi Shaw while opting for Wriddhiman Saha ahead of Rishabh Pant as wicketkeeper for the opening day-night Test against Australia in Adelaide starting Thursday.

Selectors also confirmed Umesh Yadav as the third seamer alongside Mohammed Shami and Jasprit Bumrah in the absence of the injured Ishant Sharma, while Ravi Ashwin won the race to be their frontline spinner ahead of Kuldeep Yadav.

The flamboyant Shaw was under pressure from another young talent — Shubman Gill, also 21 — to open the innings alongside Mayank Agarwal after just one decent knock in four warm-up innings.

But he will take the field for his fifth cap on Thursday while Gill continues his wait to earn a first.

"Prithvi has performed at the Test level, but he would be playing in Australia for the first time. I think it is very exciting to see his progress as well," the Indian captain Kohli said.

The dogged and experienced Cheteshwar Pujara will come in at number three, followed by Kohli in his only Test of the tour before heading home for the birth of his first child.

Pant, an explosive batsman who became a viral sensation on India's last tour of Australia with his banter behind the stumps, also stroked a quickfire ton against Australia 'A', but he was surprisingly overlooked in favour of Saha. India won their maiden series 2-1 in Australia in 2018-19. —PTI

City held; Wolves peg back Chelsea

Manchester, Dec. 16: Manchester City's faltering Premier League title challenge suffered another setback on Tuesday as lowly West Brom held out for a 1-1 draw at the Etihad.

City could have moved to within three points of leaders Tottenham and Liverpool, who face each other on Wednesday, but threw away two points against the side sitting second bottom of the table.

Ilkay Gundogan opened the scoring for Pep Guardiola's men but Ruben Dias's own goal just before half-time proved costly as City's problems in front of goal continued in a goalless second-half despite a siege on the West Brom goal.

A point edges City up to fifth on goal difference, while West Brom move to within two points of safety at the other end of the table.

West Brom had the first big chance of the game when the ball ricocheted off Joao Cancelo into the path of Karlan Grant and he forced Ederson into a fine save low to his left.

City's probing was finally rewarded on the half hour as Raheem Sterling got to the by-line and his cut back was fired home from the edge of the area by Gundogan.

Guardiola's men shot themselves in the foot by conceding for the first time in seven games two minutes before half-time as they failed to clear a free-kick into the box and Semi Ajayi's shot was deflected into his own net by Dias.

THE RESULTS

Manchester City (Gundogan 30)	1
West Bromwich Albion (Dias 43-og)	1
Wolverhampton (Podence 66, Pedro Neto 90+5)	2
Chelsea (Giroud 49)	1

after the break as City set up camp in the West Brom half but lacked the imagination or pace to open the visitors up.

Meanwhile, Frank Lampard believes Chelsea have become complacent after the Blues blew a lead to lose 2-1 at Wolves and suffer back-to-back Premier League defeats for the first time during his reign in charge.

Daniel Podence produced a moment of magic as he twisted and turned inside the Chelsea box to find space for a shot and his effort deflected off Reece James and inside Edouard Mendy's near post.

Neto thought he had won a penalty when driving past James, but after a VAR review referee Stuart Attwell overturned his original decision as there was no contact on the Portuguese winger.

However, Neto was not to be denied on the counter-attack deep into stoppage time as he accelerated past Zouma and drove low into the far corner to move Wolves into the top half of the table and within three points of the top four.

Benzema on the double as Real win

Barcelona, Dec. 16: Karim Benzema scored two late goals to give Real Madrid a 3-1 win over 10-man Athletic Bilbao, helping lift his team level on points with the front-runners of the Spanish league on Tuesday.

Bilbao proved to be tough opponent at Alfredo Di Stefano stadium despite playing most of the match with only 10 men.

But when the Basque Country team was threatening to at least salvage a point, Benzema scored his team-high ninth and 10th goals of the season.

Madrid was in third place behind league leader Real Sociedad and second-place Atletico Madrid on overall goal difference. Atletico has two more games in hand to play.

Bilbao lost Ral Garcia in the 14th minute after the forward earned his second yellow card for a stomping the foot of Toni Kroos during a tackle.

Kroos put Madrid ahead on the last kick of the first half.

Madrid has won four matches in a row, three in La Liga and one in the Champions League.

Meanwhile, Sevilla won 3-0 at Ciudad de Lucena, Osasuna routed Tomares 6-0, and Valladolid beat Cantolagua 5-0 in the first round of the Copa del Rey.

LAZIO, BENEVENTO PLAY OUT A DRAW

Elsewhere, Lazio continued their patchy Italian League form with a 1-1 draw at Benevento on Tuesday as the Inzaghi brothers faced off on the sidelines.

Simone Inzaghi's Lazio qualified for the knockout stages of the Champions League for the first time in over two decades midweek but have been wildly inconsistent domestically and sit eighth on 18 points after 12 matches.

Promoted Benevento, led by former AC Milan, Juventus and Italy striker Filippo Inzaghi, move up to 13th after the draw, six points above the relegation zone. — Agencies

I am representation of new India: Kohli

Adelaide, Dec. 16: India captain Virat Kohli on Wednesday declared himself a "representation of new India", forever ready to take up challenges with optimism, as he responded to Greg Chappell's view that he is "the most Australian non-Australian cricketer of all time".

On the eve of the first Test against Australia,

Kohli was asked about his aggressive brand of cricket coupled with a fighting attitude that the former Australia captain, who also served as India coach, found similar to the mindset of his countrymen.

"I would like to say that I have always been myself," the skipper said during a virtual media conference ahead of the opening Test against Australia here starting Thursday.

"The way my personality and character is, I am the representation of new India. For me, that's how I look at it," he asserted.

"In my mind, it's not (about) being compared to the Australian mindset as such. It's how we have started to stand up as the Indian cricket team and my personality has been like this from day one,"

the Indian captain added.

The new India, according to one of the country's most followed sporting icons, is the one that's not afraid to take up challenges.

"The new India takes up challenges and is filled with optimism and positivity. We make sure that we are ready for any challenges that come our way," he added. —PTI

Less niggles, more respect, says VK

Adelaide, Dec. 16: India captain Virat Kohli vowed a "high-voltage" Test series against fierce rivals Australia Wednesday but also predicted a more respectful era between the cricketing powers, saying grudges and tensions were "pointless".

The superstar batsman, who has a reputation as one of the sport's most aggressive players, said this week's opening Test in Adelaide would be highly competitive, but would not get personal.

"It's going to be high-voltage cricket because we have quality players on both sides and they are all hungry and eager to perform... it's definitely going to be as competitive as it has always been," he said.

"There's going to be tension, there's going to be stress, there's going to be emotions flaring every now and then, but I don't foresee anything getting personal anymore. I think all of us are getting smarter and a few more years into our careers so we want to make better choices," he added.

"I think this year has made people realise a lot of things which might not have been necessary in the past, where you hold grudges or you have unnecessary tensions between teams or individuals, which is absolutely pointless," he said.

"It could be a combination of playing a lot of IPL cricket together, Australia changing their approach to an extent and also just the way things have panned out this year. Everyone is just grateful for the opportunity to be back on the field," Virat further added. —PTI
