AIIMS report: SSR died by suicide

New Delhi: In a significant development, the All India Institute of Medical Sciences (AIIMS) Forensic Medical Board — that was formed to examine forensic evidences pertaining to the Sushant Singh Rajput death case — has ruled out murder of the late actor. Dismissing the theories of poisoning and strangling, in its “conclusive medico-legal” opinion to the CBI, the panel said, “there were no injuries over the body of the victim other than hanging”. The panel further said, “There were no marks of struggle on the body and clothes of the deceased”.

Billions of bullion shifted by road

The Hague: This really was the gold standard of road trips. The Netherlands' central bank transported its Dutch-based stock of gold — 14,000 bars and about 1,000 boxes of gold coins — from its headquarters in Amsterdam to a safe in the nearby city of Haarlem in a closely guarded operation that ended on Saturday, the bank said. Along with the bullion worth $11.7 billion, the bank also shifted bills worth another $5.3 billion in the operation that was led by the Royal Dutch Military Police. It was shifted about 20 km with a police helicopter hovering overhead.

Amid border tension, PM opens Atal tunnel in HP

PAWAN BALI | DC
NEW DELHI, OCT. 3

At a time of heightened tensions with China, Prime Minister Narendra Modi on Saturday inaugurated the strategically important all-weather Atal Tunnel in Himachal Pradesh, which connects Manali to Lahaul-Spiti valley and will reduce the road distance to Leh by 46 km and travel time by four to five hours.

The Atal Tunnel, which is the world's longest highway tunnel, is part of government effort to improve connectivity to the Line of Actual Control (LAC) so that forces and ammunition reach the forward areas faster. The tunnel is built with ultra-modern specifications in the Pir Panjal range of the Himalayas at an altitude of 3,000 metres (10,000 feet) above sea level.

The 9.02 km long tunnel built by Border Roads Organisation can be used around the year. Earlier the valley was cut off for about six months each year owing to heavy snowfall. The tunnel reduces the road distance by 46 kms between Manali and Leh and the time by about 4 to 5 hours.

Launching an attack on the Congress, the Prime Minister said that country had seen a time when defence interests were compromised and cited the delay in buying modern fighter aircraft (Rafale) for the Air Force, the plan to put indigenous aircraft Tejas in cold storage, the lack of modern rifles for the armed forces, and not strengthening ordnance factories.

The Prime Minister said that the construction of the Atal tunnel was delayed once the Atal Behari Vajpayee government went out of power.

“Atalji laid the foundation stone of approach road of this tunnel in 2002. Once his government went out of power, this job was most likely forgotten. Till 2013-2014, progress was made only on 1.5 km. Experts say that if the pace of progress had continued at the same rate then the tunnel would have been completed by 2040. After 2014, the project progressed with unprecedented pace. Every problem which BRO faced was removed. Earlier 300 metres of the tunnel was being constructed but after 2014 it increased to 1,400 metre per year,” said Modi.

Stand-off on MBBS, BDS counselling

SAMPAT G. SAMRITAN | DC
VIJAYAWADA, OCT. 3

There seems to be a stand-off between the NTR university of health sciences and the department of higher education over counselling for admission into first year MBBS/BDS courses in both government and private medical/dental colleges in the state.

Following trouble in counselling for admission into PG medical courses in the last academic year, AP High Court had issued an order for the constitution of a committee to come up with a set of recommendations on the conducting of counselling.

It had directed the university authorities to take steps to avoid anomalies in the counselling process for admission and also ensure no repetition of the lapses.

● NTR VARSITY officials not willing to issue any notification over counselling for MBBS/BDS

NTR university authorities are unwilling to issue any notification on conducting counselling for admission into first year MBBS/BDS courses in the current academic year, unless the state government issues two orders with specification of the procedure for counselling and also on fee structure.

A six-member committee, including health secretary, Dr K.S. Jawahar Reddy, higher education special chief secretary, Satish Chandra, with university registrar, K. Sankar, as convener, submitted its report to the health special CS recently.

Trump given experimental drug, flown to military hosp

Washington, Oct. 3: US President Donald Trump, who was shifted to a military hospital after being tested positive for Covid-19, is undergoing remdesivir therapy and is doing well, White House physician Dr Sean Conley said.

Trump, 74, was flown to Walter Reed Military Medical Centre in Bethesda, a Maryland suburb of Washington DC, on Friday. He wore a mask and walked up to the helicopter from the White House. He was administered supplemental oxygen at the White House hours after being diagnosed with Covid-19 and before being flown to the hospital.

Dr Conley said that as a precautionary measure the President had received a single eight-gram dose of an experimental drug, Regeneron's polyclonal antibody cocktail. He completed the infusion without incident.

“He is not requiring any supplemental oxygen, but in consultation with specialists we have elected to initiate remdesivir therapy. He has completed his first dose and is resting comfortably,” Dr Conley said. Trump and First Lady Melania Trump, 50, were tested positive for Covid-19 on Friday. While the President was taken to the military hospital, the First Lady stayed back at the White House.

A person familiar with US President Donald Trump's Covid-19 illness said some of his vital signs over the past 24 hours were very concerning but they have improved since he was admitted to a military hospital.

It contradicted Trump's doctors, who said during a press conference Saturday that the President was doing very well and felt as though he could walk out of the hospital. They said he had not been on oxygen on Saturday or when he was with their medical team Friday, and that his symptoms were subsiding. — Agencies

Eastern Ghats in the last six years. The factors that are attributed to their disappearance are deforestation, mining, an increase in human habitations, lack of fruit-bearing trees and heavy radiation from mobile towers.

According to reports till the 1990s, ornithologists found a big number of Malabar trogon, nuthatches, malkoha, green avadavats, rufous woodpeckers, greater yellow naped woodpeckers and shymas, hawks, falcons, eagles, and owls. Similarly, there were hanging parrots, emerald doves, yellow-throated bulbul, thrushes, spotted creeper, oriental pied hornbills, pied hornbills and blossom-headed parakeets.

Maoist movements and combing operations by police are also causing disturbance to native bird-houses.

Megha, Ramky, Navayuga ink pact on AP port

N. VAMSRI SRINIVAS | DC
VIJAYAWADA, OCT. 3

In a significant development, major corporates Megha, Ramky and Navayuga have signed a tripartite agreement on the Machilipatnam port.

Representatives of the three companies signed the agreement on Friday and decided to pursue the project.

Sources in know of the development confirmed to Deccan Chronicle that the agreement was signed and Megha would have a controlling stake while Navayuga would have a 26 per cent share.

The development comes after Chief Minister Y.S. Jagan Mohan Reddy recently directed the infrastructure department to float tenders under the engineering, procurement and construction (EPC) mode for the port which has been in limbo for almost two decades.

The YSRC government had cancelled the concession agreement with Navayuga on the Machilipatnam port as the company had failed to take up construction since 2008. Navayuga challenged the government's decision in the AP High Court, which allowed the state government to float fresh tenders but put a condition that the final award should done subject to the outcome of its verdict.

TIRUPATI, OCT. 3

Union minister for Jal Shakti Gajendra Singh Shekhawat said that the Centre will extend support and assistance in the construction of the Balaji reservoir to meet the drinking water needs of pilgrims in Tirumala.

Paying a visit to the Papavinasanam dam in Tirumala along with irrigation minister P. Anil Kumar, Shekhawat had darshan of Lord Venkateswara at the Tirumala temple. TTD chairperson Y.V. Subba Reddy and additional executive officer A.V. Dharma Reddy welcomed him.

TTD SE-II Nageswara Rao and EE, water works Srihari updated Shekhawat on the status of all five projects in Tirumala and the need for the reservoir to meet the water needs of pilgrims.

MP: DRIVERS CAN CARRY DOCUMENTS IN ELECTRONIC FORMDC CORRESPONDENT
VIJAYAWADA, OCT. 3

YSR Congress Narasaraopet MP Lavu Sri Krishna Devarayalu said that the Union ministry of road transport and highways agreed to allow drivers to carry electronic versions of their documents with validated digital signature.

The MP said that he had written to Union minister Nitin Gadkari, suggesting suitable amendment to the Motor Vehicle Act allowing drivers to carry vehicle documents in digital format. He stated that the drivers not carrying physical copies of documents had to pay up hefty fines.

"I welcome digitisation of documents and it will ease compliance on the part of lakhs of drivers. This also shows the power of youth coming together and approaching responsible public representatives to bring about positive developments."

They brought to Shekhawat's notice that the water being drawn from major sources like Papavinasanam, Kumaradhara, Pasupudhara, Akasaganga and Gogarbhram was not sufficient.

Shekhawat said the Centre will offer support towards the construction of the Balaji reservoir. He asked the state government to send a report on the project and assured that favourable action will be taken after examining it. MP Mithun Reddy, Srikalahasti MLA B. Madhusudhan Reddy and others were present.

The TTD trust board in its maiden meeting last year took up a discussion for the approval of much-delayed project. The demand for drinking water in Tirumala is growing year after year and the deficiency is somehow being managed by the temple body every year.

In order to ensure the continuous supply of drinking water, the TTD has decided to utilise the catchment of water flowing from the Tirumala hills. They wanted to retain nearly 1 tmc ft of water flowing down from the Tirumala hills at the Mallemadugu project and pump it back to Tirumala.

₹10 CRORE TO DEVELOP TIRUPATI SHILPARAMAMAVINASH P SUBRAMANYAM

TIRUPATI, OCT. 3

Shilparamam here is all set to get a major face-lift to attract more visitors.

The state government on Saturday gave an administrative sanction for ₹10 crore to the AP Shilparamam Arts, Crafts and Cultural Society to take up development of Shilparamam.

The Shilparamam park was established in 2014 to promote, popularise and preserve the cultural heritage of the Telugu states. The existing basic infrastructure provided initially now outlived its utility and is in a dilapidated condition.

The old-fashioned infrastructure and dull environs have adversely impacted the visitors' footfall, denting the revenue and image of the park.

The CEO of AP Shilparamam Arts, Crafts and Cultural Society has prepared a master plan to give a facelift to the park and submitted proposals to the government, seeking a sanction of ₹10 crore for the project.

The state government readily agreed to the proposals and, on Saturday, accorded administrative sanction for ₹10-crore investment to make improvements to Shilparamam.

The development work includes construction of entrance plaza, arch, visitor's facility centre, water fountain and arts and crafts village with stalls and open ground, training centre for artisans, crafts emporium with souvenir shop, food courts, toilet blocks and renovation of open-air theatre, providing pathways, landscaping and gazebos, storm-water drains, external electrical works, plumbing and sanitation works.

Engineers preparing arguments for presentation before Council

D. SIVA RAMI REDDI | DC
KURNOOL, OCT. 3:

Sharing of Krishna river waters, a contentious issue between Telangana and Andhra Pradesh, would be on top of the agenda during the Apex Council meeting on October 6, the second since September 16, 2016, under the provisions of AP Reorganisation Act, 2014.

Telangana is objecting to the Rayalaseema Lift Scheme to take waters to Nellore through Rayalaseema districts from the Pothireddypadu head regulator. It has a carrying capacity of 44,000 cusecs and the Andhra Pradesh government called for tenders and finalised packages at a cost of ₹23,000 crore.

Affirming the stand taken by Andhra Pradesh, the Union Government made it clear that Rayalaseema Lift Scheme does not require any environmental clearance as it was not a new project and does not involve any addition in culturable command area (CCA).

Irrigation engineers are preparing arguments for presentation before the

● In a letter addressed to Chandrasekhar Rao, the minister referred to the objection raised by Andhra Pradesh in its letter dated May 14 to the Godavari River Management Board on the new projects taken up by Telangana in the Godavari basin in violation of relevant provisions of the AP Reorganisation Act 2014.

Council. Telangana even wants control over Srisaillam dam.

Engineer-in-Chief (ENC) of Andhra Pradesh government Narayana Reddy said, "Our arguments are sound and we will put up a bright show at the meeting."

Narayana Reddy told Deccan Chronicle. "technically we have a robust argument and our engineers are fine-tuning it. Telangana objections fly in the face as they are rebuttable and lack any solid ground".

On Telangana Chief Minister, K Chandrasekhar Rao, seeking management of Srisaillam dam that falls in Andhra Pradesh, he said, "We cannot speak on political statements. That itself shows that they have no arguable ground on the projects being taken up by us on using Krishna river waters."

The Ministry of Environment, Forest Clearance, and Climate Change deposited before the National Green Tribunal (NGT) last month that Rayalaseema Lift Scheme does not fall under any of the categories listed in the schedule of EIA notification 2006. It says Rayalaseema Lift is neither an irrigation project nor is a power-generation component involved. Therefore, it is not covered under item 1(c) of the EIA notification, 2006.

This stand of the Union Government on Rayalaseema Lift Scheme is expected to put at rest the contentions of Telangana government as it vindicates the stand of Andhra Pradesh.

Union minister for Jal Shakti, Gajendra Singh Shekhawat, in a letter dated August 7, prevailed upon the two Chief Ministers not to go ahead with projects on Krishna Godavari rivers, which are being objected to by them.

In a letter addressed to Chandrasekhar Rao, the minister referred to the objection raised by Andhra Pradesh in its letter dated May 14 to the Godavari River Management Board on the new projects taken up by Telangana in the Godavari basin in violation of relevant provisions of the AP Reorganisation Act 2014.

The seven projects objected to by Andhra Pradesh include Kaleshwaram LIS, GLIS phase 3, Seetarama LIS, Tupakulagudem, Telangana drinking water supply project, barrages on lower penganga river, and Ramappa Lake to Pakhal Lake division.

The minister also stated that the draft project report of Kaleshwaram LIS was accepted by the advisory committee of the ministry in June 2018. But the government of Telangana has subsequently changed the scope and opted for enhancement of lifting of Godavari waters from 2 TMC per day to 3 TMC per day without submitting the DPR to Godavari River Management Board.

TD launches website for Covid-19 affectedDC CORRESPONDENT
VIJAYAWADA, OCT. 3

The Telugu Desam has started a website, www.apfightscorona.com, to gather information on the people's problems due to Covid-19 and seek to resolve them.

TD chief N. Chandrababu Naidu said that though Unlock 4.0 has begun, the number of Covid-19 cases in AP continues to increase rapidly. He said that TD wants to ensure that no AP citizen suffers from the ill-effects of the virus and had started the website to raise problems on the platform.

The public who lost work opportunities, need medicines and who require ambulance services may look up and seek help from this website, said Naidu, claiming that the need for this forum was felt even more because of the failure of the government in resolving the grievances of the people which became clear if one followed the latest Covid-19 reports.

Terming it alarming that Coronavirus cases crossed the seven-lakh mark in AP, Naidu deplored the fact that infections reached one lakh in East Godavari district and young people were succumbing to the virus.

He stated that according to an Oxford University report, poor families in AP were struggling for even daily food grains and it was revealed that 99 per cent of families covered under the midday meal scheme could not get groceries enough for a single meal a day.

Citizens can share their experiences and requirements, Naidu said.

YSRC looking for a leader to help party in Vizag civic pollsKMP PATNAIK | DC
VISAKHAPATNAM, OCT. 3

The ruling YSRC is in serious search for a leader who could lead the urban segment of the Visakhapatnam city, in its run up to the mayoral elections. The party lost all the four Assembly segments to the Telugu Desam in the last general elections. Soon after coming to power, the top leaders launched a strategy to weaken the Opposition by luring some of its leaders.

Former MLA of Gajuwaka Palla Srinivasa Rao, a prominent Yadava leader and son of former legislator Palla Simhachalam, turned down the offer of mayor post. The party has been dilly-dallying on admitting former minister Ganta Srinivasa Rao, who held a sway over north Andhra during the Chandrababu Naidu regime.

Recently, Visakhapatnam South MLA Vasupalle Ganesh Kumar quit TD and joined the YSRC along with his two sons. However, there were no second rung leaders to follow him. This leaves

● SOON AFTER coming to power, the top leaders of YSRC have launched a strategy to weaken the Opposition by luring some of its leaders

Visakhapatnam East MLA Velagapudi Ramakrishna Babu, who won for the third time in a row and another old-timer P.V.G.R. Naidu who has roots in the Visakhapatnam West constituency since his father Petakamsetti became Anakapalle MP for the first time.

Naidu, popularly known as Ganababu, also refused offers from YSRC though there were reports in local newspapers of his joining the ruling party.

"Our cadre and second-rung leaders are intact and there was not much loss after the exit of Vasupalle Ganesh Kumar. We had a meeting of senior leaders in the presence of former minister Ch. Ayyanna Patrudu and other leaders and we could assess that our strength has not eroded," said Velagapudi Ramakrishna Babu while talking to DC after the meeting.

Now the city leadership is left to minister Muttamsetti Srinivasa Rao (Avanthi), whose influence is limited to Bhimili and Anandapuram mandal, Malla Vijay Prasad, who has hardly any say either in Visakhapatnam West, where he won during the Congress rule or his home constituency Visakhapatnam North. Former city president Vamsi Srinivasa Yadav, who was denied ticket for East constituency and Akkaramani Vijayanirmala, who lost to Velagapudi Ramakrishna Babu, are now not showing much interest in the party activities.

"It is a difficult task for the party to pick up a leader who would manage the affairs of the entire urban segment, a role played by Ganta Srinivasa Rao in the previous government. We will plan to get a majority of seats in the corporation elections and a person who would don the mayor post would also lead the city affairs," said a senior YSRC leader.

CONSORTIUM GETS TWO OPTIONS

Following the tripartite agreement, the consortium will have two options, one being that the consortium will propose to the state government to revive the concession agreement with Navayuga and allow the consortium to take up construction at the earliest. The second option would be that Navayuga would withdraw the case, paving way to the government to float the EPC tenders and the consortium would bag the contract.

"Navayuga retaining 26 per cent indicates that the consortium would attempt the first option of reviving the concession agreement, according to which the original concessionaire should hold a minimum stake of 26 per cent during the construction period," sources pointed out.

BOPPARAJU ELECTED APRSA PRESIDENTDC CORRESPONDENT
VIJAYAWADA, OCT. 3

Bopparaju Venkateswarlu has been elected as president of Andhra Pradesh Revenue Services Association for a fourth successive term, in the elections held for the 2020-23 term here on Saturday. All 23 office-bearers were elected unanimously. Pithani Trinadha Rao will be the associate president while V. Giri Kumar Reddy is the treasurer.

Venkateswarlu called for construction of new buildings replacing the offices of Tahsildar/RDO that are in a dilapidated condition, release of funds spent to meet various expenditures and ex gratia for revenue employees while on Covid-19 duty and better service conditions.

Eminent pediatrician Dr E.C. Gangi Reddy, the father-in-law of Chief Minister Y.S. Jagan Mohan Reddy, passed away in Hyderabad early on Saturday. The last rites were performed in his native Pulivendula where his body was taken by about 1 pm.

Dr Reddy, father of Y.S. Bharati, was undergoing treatment at a superspecialty hospital at Hyderabad.

The CM arrived at Pulivendula from Vijayawada by 1.40 pm and paid floral tributes to Gangi Reddy along with his wife and family members. Later, he joined the funeral procession. After the funeral, the Chief Minister left for Vijayawada via Kadapa.

Seeing him off at the airport were senior party leaders, Deputy Chief Minister Amjad Basha, A. Suresh, Gadikota Srikanth Reddy, D.C. Govinda Reddy, Sudhir Reddy, Amarnath Reddy, Suresh Babu, Rythu Sangham's Sambatur Prasad Reddy, and officials like Midde Gowthami, Prithvitej, Vikas Marmat, and airport director Shiv Prasad.

DURGA FLYOVER INAUGURATION ON OCT. 16

Vijayawada: The much-awaited formal official inauguration of Kanaka Durga flyover here will take place on October 16.

Roads and buildings minister Shankara Narayana on Saturday said that Chief Minister Jagan Mohan Reddy and Union minister Nitin Gadkari will jointly inaugurate the flyover virtually. He further said that the CM and the Union minister will also take part in the foundation laying and inaugural ceremonies of 16 projects worth ₹7,584 crore.

The flyover inauguration was scheduled on September 4, but was postponed due to the death of former President Pranab Mukherjee.

LOCKDOWN | IMPACTEndowments department fails to avail loan facilities to clear their pending dues*Temple staff suffers due non-payment of salaries, pension*Rich temples put staff into hardships

Endowment Departments, fixed salaries based on the earnings of temples.

According to the information, over 58,000 temples have been notified in the state and brought under the Endowment Department.

However, the governments have failed to bring a uniform pay structure to employees with almost 70 per cent of employees, including archakas, hired on a temporary basis.

In revolutionary initiatives post 1970s, the state government after bringing even big temples g into the of Vizianagaram and Srisuryanarayana Swamy varu of Arasavilli are among some with strong enough financial sources with lands, fixed deposits, gold and silver deposits in banks. Since March 20, the Endowments Department organised everyday rituals by allowing limited staff. During Covid-19 lockdown, the government stopped salaries to employees and pension to those retired till June.

After relaxation, the management is paying 50 per cent of salaries and pensions to all category of employees.

● Govt has failed to clear salary and pension dues because there has been no daily collection. Even temples having thousands of crores in deposits, gold, and silver reserves are in the dubious loss.

● Employees are seeking parity with teachers and government employees who are getting complete salaries even without work.

However, some devasthanams retrenched outsourcing personnel on a massive scale. However, following hue and cry, they were all reinstated. Simhachalam devasthanam needs ₹2.20 crore towards payment of salaries and pensions every month. The department has paid 50 per cent of salaries and pensions till July. After receiving petitions from unions, the devasthanam urged the government to obtain permission to clear the dues, said executive officer of Sri Varahalakshmi Nrusimha Swamy Devasthanam of Simhachalam V. Trinatha Rao.

Meanwhile, a similar situation is prevailing at all high revenue earning temples in the state. The Satyanarayana Swamy temple of Annavaram is supposed to pay ₹3 crore as salaries and pensions every month but has not paid them since July.

TRS leader could be the comeback man

The sudden surfacing of a former deputy chief minister, who was putting in only occasional appearances after the 2018 Assembly elections, is being seen as significant in the TRS ranks. In the 2018 elections, he had sought the party ticket for his daughter but did not have his way. Now, for the election to the Nalgonda-Warangal-Khammam graduates' constituency of the Legislative Council, the ruling party is in search of a strong candidate. Though the seat is in the kitty of the ruling party, TRS working president K.T. Rama Rao is keeping all options open: The party is wary after suffering defeat in the Karimnagar-Medak-Adilabad graduates' seat. In this context, the former deputy chief minister met the TRS working president and interacted with him for a while. TRS cadres feel that KTR may field the former deputy CM for the forthcoming poll. Confidants of the former deputy CM say that he has laid down a condition, that his daughter should get a ticket in the 2023 Assembly elections if the party wants to field him for the MLC poll.

KCR keeps the water boiling

The six-page letter that Chief Minister K. Chandrashekar Rao wrote to Union Jal Shakti minister Gajendra Singh Shekhawat on Friday night, just three days ahead of the Apex Council meet, has built up curiosity overnight in the two Telugu states. The Centre has called the Apex Council meeting on October 6 where KCR and his Andhra Pradesh counterpart Y.S. Jagan Mohan Reddy will discuss their disputes over the Krishna and Godavari river waters, with Singh overseeing. There is wonder that things have come to such a pass and the bonhomie between the two Chief Ministers appears to have dissipated so quickly: They have had lunch together, with family in tow, and each received a warm welcome when visiting the other. Water is a sensitive issue, and KCR has used it as one of the main pillars in his fight for statehood. KCR is seen as a veteran in politics, especially water politics, and observers are trying to figure out what message he wanted to send by writing the letter at the proverbial last minute before the Apex Council meeting and setting out tough terms.

KCR quickly rewards a prodigal

Senior bureaucrat V. Seshadri has created a record of sorts by getting a posting within a short period after coming to the Telangana state cadre from the Prime Minister's Office. Usually, Chief Minister K. Chandrashekar Rao takes his own sweet time to give postings to AIS officers coming back from Central deputation. The officers while their time away, waiting to catch the eye of the big man. But Seshadri was busy from day one after returning from Delhi, assisting the CM and the Chief Secretary in formulating the new Revenue Act. So impressed was he with the officer that KCR took him as his secretary in the Chief Minister's Office. Everyone knows of the integrity and efficiency of Seshadri and are of the view that the CM has made his intention clear to not allow any wrongdoing, knowingly or unknowingly, at least in departments to be allotted to this soft-spoken yet tough officer who is also a stickler for rules.

Inside track of Jagan-Shah meeting

Andhra Pradesh Chief Minister Y.S. Jagan Mohan Reddy's recent meeting with Union home minister Amit Shah has become a hot topic of debate in political circles. Contrary to public pronouncements that the CM had discussed many issues concerning the state, sources said his main agenda was to tell his side of the story in the ongoing tussle with the High Court. Also on the agenda was to explain to the No. 2 man at the Centre the insider trading of land in Amaravati and a few other issues concerning a powerful man in the judiciary. Grapevine has it that the CM made use of the services of an advocate, son of a former SC judge from the state, in building up his case. The advocate was called to the Shah-CM meeting but only for a brief moment. After documentary evidence collected against the powerful figure was handed over, the invitee had to leave. The curious moments continued even after Jagan left for Tirupati. The same evening, sources say, a YSRC parliamentarian who aspires to become No. 2 in the state hosted a dinner for his fellow MP from the state who had switched loyalties to the BJP and a young and a flamboyant leader from Rayalaseema who contested the last Lok Sabha polls on a TD ticket. The sad part is that while the young politician is having a gala time with ruling party leaders in Delhi, his close relatives are languishing in jail in cases which they alleged were foisted out of political vendetta.

The Alt Invitational is a prestigious online teams tournament held every fortnight or so, packed with world-class players. It's not easy to secure a place, but my friend Jonathan Harris managed it for the first time last week. Things didn't start well for his 11-strong team, and by Thursday morning, after four days of play, it seemed impossible they would qualify for the quarterfinals. As it happens, I spent Thursday afternoon playing rubber bridge with two of the team, Steve Root and Niall Igoe (with a client of ours who doesn't like playing online). As Steve and I travelled home in the same direction, he got an urgent text: they were through! He needed to be ready to play in 20 minutes.

The rest unfolded like a dream. Few expected Team Harris to beat the all-star Team Donner, but they made light work of it. The next day, they played the semis against the brilliant Peter Fredin and his team, and triumphed again. And in the final they met the mighty Team Zhao — and ended up champions. What a debut! Congratulations to the whole team, and particularly the four who played the final: Steve, Niall, Marusa Gold and Todor Tiholov. On this deal, Steve was North.

East led the ♠2, won in dummy. Steve did well to play a club to the ♠9, followed by the ♣K (East throwing a diamond). West won and returned a spade. Steve now ran the clubs, carefully watching East's discards. East came down to ♠J9 ♥KJ, ♦AK. He should have thrown a winning diamond and kept the ♥5, but that was hard to do. Steve cashed the ♥A, and played the ♥10 to East's ♥K. East cashed the ♦AK — but that was it for the defence.

RJD MP MOVES SC AGAINST NEW FARM LAWS

New Delhi, Oct. 3: RJD MP Manoj Jha has moved the Supreme Court challenging the constitutional validity of the newly enacted three agriculture laws, saying they are “discriminatory and manifestly arbitrary” and will expose marginal farmers to exploitation by big corporates.

Parliament has recently passed the three Bills - the Farmers (Empowerment and Protection) Agreement of Price Assurance and Farm Services Act, 2020, the Farmers Produce Trade and Commerce (Promotion and Facilitation) Act, 2020 and the Essential Commodities (Amendment) Act 2020. These have come into effect from September 27 after President Ram Nath Kovind gave his assent.

Jha, a Rajya Sabha member of the Rashtriya Janata Dal (RJD), has filed the plea in the top court through lawyer Fauzia Shakil.

Besides Jha, Congress Lok Sabha member from Kerala TN Prathapan and Dravida Munnetra Kazhagam (DMK) Rajya Sabha member from Tamil Nadu Tiruchi Siva had moved the top court against the farm laws.

BSP ANNOUNCES 2ND LIST OF 10 CANDIDATES

RABINDRA NATH CHOUDHURY | DC BHOVAL, OCT. 3

Bahujan Samaj Party (BSP) on Saturday announced its second list of 10 candidates for the November 3 by elections in 28 Assembly constituencies in Madhya Pradesh.

Former minister Mahendra Singh Boudh who has recently joined BSP after resigning from Congress has figured in the second list of candidates of the party and has been given ticket for the Bhandar (SC) Assembly seat.

The BSP has earlier announced the first list of eight candidates for the assembly by-polls.

“BSP has decided to field candidates in all the 28 Assembly seats that are going to by-elections in MP on November 3. The party will go alone in the ensuing assembly by-elections”, state party president Ramakant Pippal said.

KERALA RECORDS OVER 7,000 CORONA CASES

GILVESTER ASSARY | DC THIRUVANANTHAPURAM, OCT. 3

Kerala on Saturday recorded 7,834 cases of Covid-19 taking the total number of cases so far to 21,333 even as 4,476 persons recovered from disease during the last 24 hours.

Of the total cases, 1,39,620 patients have recovered and 80,818 are under treatment in various hospitals across the state. Of the fresh cases, 6,850 contracted the infection through contact, the source of infection among 648 is yet to be known, 95 health care workers got infected, 49 came from abroad while 187 from other states.

The state also reported 22 more deaths taking the official death toll to 813.

COVID RECOVERIES SURGE TO 54,27,706

New Delhi, Oct. 3: India's Covid-19 death toll crossed one lakh and the infection tally climbed to 64,73,544, while the number of people who have recuperated from the disease crossed 54 lakh pushing the recovery rate to 83.84 per cent, the Union Health Ministry said on Saturday.

The total coronavirus cases mounted to 64,73,544 with 79,476 new infections being reported in a day, while the death toll climbed to 1,00,842 with the virus claiming 1,069 lives in a span of 24 hours, data updated at 8 am showed.

The total recoveries have surged to 54,27,706, while there are 9,44,996 active cases of coronavirus infection in the country which comprises 14.60 per cent of the total caseload, the data showed.

The COVID-19 case fatality rate was recorded at 1.56 per cent.

India's Covid-19 tally had crossed the 20-lakh mark on August 7, 30 lakh on August 23 and 40 lakh on September 5. It went past 50 lakh on September 16 and crossed 60 lakh on September 28.

Atal Tunnel Inaugurated by PM Modi

The 9.02 km long tunnel, dedicated to the nation on Oct 3, 2020, will connect Manali to Lahaul-Spiti valley throughout the year.

Earlier the valley was cut off for about 6 months each year owing to heavy snowfall

Key Facts

- The project was announced by the then PM Atal Bihari Vajpayee in June 2000
- Built by Border Roads Organisation at a cost of ₹ 3,200 crore, it is the world's longest highway tunnel
- It reduces the road distance by 46 km between Manali and Leh and the time by about four to five hours
- Constructed with ultra-modern specifications at an altitude of 3000 metres from the Mean Sea Level
- Single tube double lane tunnel with a roadway of 8 metres and an overhead clearance of 5.525 metres

- It is 10.5-metre wide and has a 3.6 x 2.25 metres fire-proof emergency egress tunnel built into the main tunnel itself
- Designed for traffic density of 3000 cars and 1,500 trucks per day with max speed of 80 km/hr
- The tunnel has ample safety features built into it, which include telephone connections, fire hydrant mechanisms and auto incident detection system with CCTV cameras

Dream of Atal's friend comes true after opening of tunnel

Tholang (HP), Oct. 3: The decades-long dream of former prime minister Atal Bihari Vajpayee's friend, Arjun Gopal, came true on Saturday with the inauguration of Atal Tunnel at Rohtang in Himachal Pradesh.

Amar Singh and Ram Dev, sons of Arjun Gopal alias Tshidawa, said their father had suggested the construction of the tunnel to the former prime minister.

Prime Minister Narendra Modi on Saturday inaugurated the strategically important all-weather Atal Tunnel, which reduces the distance between Manali and Leh by 46 km and the travel time by four to five hours.

Atal Tunnel is the longest highway tunnel in the world, and the 9.02 km long tunnel connects Manali to Lahaul-Spiti valley throughout the year. The valley was earlier cut off for about six months every year due to heavy snowfall.

The tunnel is built with ultra-modern specifications in the Pir Panjal range of Himalayas at an altitude of 3,000 metres (10,000 feet) from the Mean Sea Level (MSL).

Himachal Pradesh Chief Minister Jai Ram Thakur

● AMAR SINGH and Ram Dev, sons of Arjun Gopal alias Tshidawa, said their father had suggested the construction of the tunnel to the former prime minister.

had earlier said, Vajpayee got the idea for constructing the tunnel on a suggestion from his friend Arjun Gopal of Tashi Dohbe village in Lahaul.

Talking to PTI in their native village Tholang in Lahaul-Spiti district, Amar Singh (75) said his father met Vajpayee in 1998 in Delhi, seeking the construction of the strategically significant tunnel beneath Rohtang Pass for the benefit of the residents of Lahaul-Spiti district.

My father passed away in 2008. Today, his decades-long dream came true and my joy knows no bound, he said.

Singh, who retired as state deputy director (education), said the former prime minister and his father came close during an officers' training camp (OTC) of the Rashtriya Swayamsevak Sangh (RSS) in 1942 in Gujarat's Vadodara.

When Vajpayee became the prime minister in 1998, my father met him through a prominent RSS activist Chaman Lal, he said.

Singh said Lahaul-Spiti-Pangi Janjaati Sewa Samiti' was formed with Gopal as its founder president to pursue the construction of the tunnel.

He said Vajpayee sent copies of the memorandum submitted to him for construction of the tunnel to defence, finance and surface transport ministries.

Following initial objection by the defence ministry, the Union government gave its approval for constructing the tunnel in 2000, Singh claimed, adding that Vajpayee himself announced about the project during a public meeting at Keylong in June, 2000.

Gopal's other son, Ram Dev (61), a retired officer of the state information department, said the economy of Lahaul-Spiti district would see a drastic change after the opening of the tunnel. He also travelled in a Himachal Road Transport Corporation bus which was flagged off by Modi from north portal in Lahaul to south portal in Manali of Kullu district. Residents of the tribal district also hailed the construction of the tunnel. — PTI

TEJASHWI YADAV IS CM FACE OF GRAND ALLIANCE

NAYEAR AZAD | DC PATNA, OCT. 3

The opposition Mahagathbandhan in Bihar on Saturday announced seat-sharing formula for the upcoming assembly elections amid high drama.

Congress in-charge for Bihar assembly elections Avinash Pandey announced Tejashwi Yadav as the CM face of the grand alliance.

As per the seat-sharing formula in the opposition coalition, the RJD will be contesting on 144 seats, the Congress 70 and Left parties 29 seats. “Two smaller partners JMM and Vikasheel Insan Party (VIP) will be getting seats from the RJD quota”, RJD leader Tejashwi Yadav said while making a formal announcement in Patna on Saturday.

Upset over being ignored by the grand alliance leaders, VIP Chief Mukesh Sahani walked out of the event and hinted that he may quit the opposition coalition.

Mukesh Sahani had joined the RJD-led grand alliance just before the Lok Sabha polls in 2019 and he was expecting “sizeable seat share” to contest in the assembly elections.

Reports suggest that he also wanted the grand alliance to declare him as a deputy CM candidate.

“I will announce my next move after meeting party leaders. I feel cheated”, VIP Chief Mukesh Sahani said.

The grand alliance in Bihar comprises RJD, Congress, VIP and three left parties (CPI-ML, CPI and CPM).

Two of RJD's prominent allies Jitan Ram Manjhi and Upendra Kushwaha had earlier left the grand alliance due to differences over leadership and seat-sharing pact.

Political analysts claim that Manjhi's exit was a jolt for Tejashwi Yadav who has been trying to strengthen his party's structure and voter's base in Bihar in the absence of his father.

BIHAR BSP PRESIDENT QUILTS PARTY

Patna, Oct. 3: The BSP of Mayawati which is part of a three-party alliance headed by Upendra Kushwaha of RLSP for Bihar polls, suffered a setback on Saturday when its state unit president Bharat Bind quit and joined RJD.

RJD leader Tejashwi Yadav gave membership of the party to the BSP leader.

Yadav released a picture admitting Bind into the party on his twitter and also the party's social media platform.

Yadav, the younger son of RJD supreme Lalu Prasad, wrote on his twitter handle that the Bahujan Samaj Party Bihar president joined them to lend support in making a new Bihar and remove anti-youth NDA.

After being spurned by the NDA and discarded by the RJD-helmed Mahagathbandhan, Kushwaha has forged an alliance with the BSP and a non-descript Janatantrik Party (Socialist) for the Bihar elections. — PTI

MP gangrape victim ends life

Cops had not registered victim's FIR

RABINDRA NATH CHOUDHURY | DC BHOVAL, OCT. 3

An alleged gangrape victim in a Madhya Pradesh village committed suicide over non-registration of FIR in the case by police.

The 33-year-old woman, who was allegedly gangraped in her village of Gotgoria under Narasinghapur district on September 28, was found hanging in her house on Friday, police said on Saturday.

Her husband said she took the extreme step when police refused to file an FIR in the case, besides harassing her relatives for asking to register an FIR in the incident.

Two police officers were arrested for not registering a case in the incident.

In-charge of Gotgoria police outpost Misrilal Koddape and in-charge of Chacheli police station Anil Singh were arrested for lapses in registering the case. They were booked under section 166-A (non-recording of information) of Indian Penal Code.

Besides, three other people were arrested on charges of rape and two others arrested for instigating suicide (of the victim), Narasinghpur district superintendent of police Ajey Singh said.

The deceased's husband told the police that his wife was gangraped by three local villagers, Parsu, Arvind and Anil, when she was cutting standing crops in a farm land on September 28.

She narrated the incident to the family members when she returned home. Later, the family members took her to the Gotgoria police outpost to lodge a complaint on the night of the fateful day.

Gotgoria police, however, said an FIR would be registered after her medical examination.

However, the complaint was not registered by Gotgoria police on September 29 also.

They then approached Chichli police station to lodge the complaint.

Later, instead of registering the case, the deceased's husband and her brother-in-law were locked up in the police station, her husband said.

The harassment by the police provoked her to end life, he added.

Didi: BJP is the biggest pandemic of the country

Kolkata, Oct. 3: West Bengal Chief Minister Mamata Banerjee Saturday took out a protest rally in the city against the Hathras alleged gangrape case and launched a scathing attack against the BJP, which is in power in Uttar Pradesh, calling it the “biggest pandemic” torturing Dalits the most and running a “dictatorship” in the country.

Banerjee said she would stand by the Dalit community till the end as her caste is “humanity” and she does not believe in differentiation on the grounds of caste and religion.

darkness, but we will lead them towards the light,” she said, addressing the rally.

Continuing her tirade against the saffron camp, Banerjee said, “The country is going through super autocracy as democracy has been murdered by BJP.

“Dictatorship is going on across the country. Instead of government for the people, it is running a government against the people, the Dalits and the farmers. This is super autocracy,” she said.

Referring to the TMC delegation being stopped by the Uttar Pradesh police from meeting the victim's family at Hathras on Friday, Banerjee said she felt like “running to UP and standing by the family of the victims”.

She said, “My heart is in Hathras. I feel like running to that village and standing by the Dalit family in their fight against injustice. Our representatives went to Hathras but were stopped a km from the village.

India reiterates no first use of nuclear weapons

DC CORRESPONDENT NEW DELHI, OCT. 3

India on Saturday reiterated its nuclear doctrine of “No First Use” against nuclear weapon states and non-use against non-nuclear weapon states. India also reiterated its “long-standing and unwavering commitment to universal, verifiable and non-discriminatory nuclear disarmament leading to the complete elimination of nuclear weapons”.

New Delhi's position was reiterated by Foreign Secretary Harsh Vardhan Shringla at the “High-level meeting to commemorate and promote the International Day for the Total Elimination of Nuclear Weapons”.

India's reiteration of its nuclear doctrine is significant, as it comes at a time when the armed forces are on alert at the borders, both at the LoC with Pakistan and the Line of Actual Control (LAC) with China, and also in readiness for any contingency to face a “two-front war”, an euphemism for a hypothetical Sino-Pakistani joint attack on India. Both these neighbours also possess nuclear weapons.

Shringla said, “India espouses the policy of “No First Use” against nuclear weapon states and non-use against non-nuclear weapon states. India reiterates its unwavering commitment to universal, verifiable and non-discriminatory nuclear disarmament leading to the complete elimination of nuclear weapons, in line with the Final Document of the First Special Session of the UNGA on disarmament.” He added, “We believe that nuclear disarmament can be achieved through a step-by-step process underwritten by a universal commitment and an multilateral framework.”

Memorial located in eastern Ladakh mentions the heroics of the ‘Gallants of Galwan’

Army builds memorial for soldiers killed in Galwan Valley

New Delhi, Oct. 3: The Indian Army has built a memorial for its 20 personnel who were killed while valiantly fighting Chinese troops in Galwan Valley in eastern Ladakh on June 15, official sources said on Saturday.

The memorial, located at Post 120 in eastern Ladakh and inaugurated earlier this week, mentions the heroics of the ‘Gallants of Galwan’ under operation ‘Snow Leopard’ and the way they evicted the Chinese People's Liberation Army (PLA) troops from the area while inflicting “heavy casualties” on them in “hand-to-hand combat”.

China is yet to disclose the number of its soldiers killed and injured in the clash though it officially admitted to have suffered casualties.

According to an American intelligence report, the number of casualties on the Chinese side was 35.

Post 120 lies along the Shyok-Daulat Beg Oldi (DBO) road. The names of all the 20 Indian Army personnel were inscribed at the unit-level memorial.

Colonel B. Santosh Babu, the commanding officer of the 16 Bihar regiment, was among the Indian Army personnel killed in the clash that had significantly escalated the border tension between the two countries with India calling it “a premeditated and planned action by China”.

The Chinese soldiers used stones, nail-studded sticks, iron rods and clubs in carrying out brutal attacks on Indian soldiers after they protested the erection of a surveillance post by China around patrolling point 14 in Galwan Valley.

Giving a brief account of Operation ‘Snow Leopard’, the Army mentioned in a plaque at the memorial that Colonel Babu led the ‘Quick Reaction Force’ of 16 Bihar Regiment and attached troops tasked to evict a group of Chinese troops from the general area in ‘Y nala’ (a junction) and stop them from moving further to Patrolling Point 14.

“The column successfully evicted the PLA OP from Y Nala and reached PP14 where a fierce skirmish broke out between the IA (Indian Army) and PLA troops. Col B Santosh Babu led from the front and his troops fought gallantly in hand-to-hand combat, causing heavy casualties to the PLA. In the ensuing fight twenty ‘Gallants of Galwan’ achieved martyrdom,” the Army wrote.

The list of 20 personnel in the memorial included three naib subedars, three havildars and 12 sepoy. The defence ministry has also started the process to inscribe the names of Colonel Babu and other soldiers at the National War Memorial in Delhi.

During a visit to Lukung forward post in eastern Ladakh on July 17, Defence Minister Rajnath Singh personally conveyed his appreciation and compliments to the troops from the Bihar regiment for displaying exemplary grit and courage in fighting the Chinese troops.

Off the beaten track

A Kolkata 'Kumroween' & other Covid sacrifices

I could murder a malpoa right now. And that potoler dolma I've been drooling over in my dreams, the shorshe illish that dance in my peripheral vision, disappearing like chimera (or Nemo) when I look them in the eye. Some nights I wake in a chom chom sweat, and dig around my kitchen cupboards to find my dalmut hoard sadly depleted. Nor can Tesco's mango chutney fill the yawning achaar-shaped chasm in my gut. And when I think of mishti doi — oh boi. I melt into a puddle of yearning. My dwindling pile of panchphoron too, in its steel tiffin box, is not to be sneezed at (what will I have left then?).

It's been more than a year since we last travelled to Kolkata, the city of my birth, of my parents and oldest friends, of the spices, sweets, books and great memories I bring back yearly, and our stocks are all but gone. Cold turkey they call this sudden, enforced withdrawal, but it's kosha mangsho for me. As merry as our Sherwood curry may be, there are jhaals, jhols and ombols that can't be concocted outside Bengal. Not without an infusion of its tangy winter smog, monsoon winds that roll from the Bay, and Rabindrasangeet saturating the air no matter what the weather. Sniff as hard I might, I can smell none of this now.

Sure sign of Covid you say, but these notun gurer cravings and maacher muthia longings are symptoms of homesickness instead. Evading the former has unfortunately required the renunciation of the akash, batash, and barir ranna of Kolkata this year. Abetted by inept, often unfeeling governments, the Coronavirus has harvested death and deprivation everywhere. In Bengal alone so far there are a staggering 216,000 cases, and nearly 5,000 deaths, with Kolkata accounting for 70 per cent of it.

But just for a moment, shall we dwell on the lesser tragedies? Like the suspension of flights to Kolkata from much of Britain and the hijacking of my annual trip home. Since moving to Britain two decades ago, I have returned home for the harvest every year. Of a very different crop usually; the diurnal glide of crisp blue skies and mellow sun, long addas over favourite foods, slow, smoky evenings with family and friends, and pilgrimages to fondly remembered haunts. Including the biggest and brightest of festivals.

This pandemic has put paid to even that. It has hijacked not just my homecoming but mighty Durga's too. Kolkata's Durga Puja is an extravaganza so massive, so magnificent, so, er, mingly, it can only be a shadow of itself this socially-distanced year. The ocean of humanity that swamps the resplendent pandals and eye-popping illuminations won't be welcoming the Mother Goddess with their customary rapture this year, because they will, hopefully, stay home to prevent further dissemination of the killer virus. Which is as it should be. But because it is indeed the high point of the year for many and in these dismal times, a tonic for the soul, some puja organisers have been exploring alternatives, from virtual pujas to portable ones. Bearing the Devi round in a bedecked palanquin in Jodhpur Park, for people to see from the safety of their homes, is one such I gather. As if Corona Devi, flexing her spiky muscles to demonstrate her might, instructed the good folks of Kolkata — "Koro na!" But Kolkata peeps replied (cching Durga), "OK tata, but y' know? Ashche bochor abar hobe!"

The high point of our trip back however is quite another tradition. Timing it so the bulk of our visit is post-puja; quiet and contemplative after the fervour and din, we finish every trip with the tiny, homegrown celebration we've come to know as 'Kumroween'. It all started with October being the best time for us to visit India, but the kids didn't want to miss the trick or treating of an English Halloween. So we devised our own little fusion festival, a best-of-both-worlds hybrid that was all treats and no trick, incorporating an array of Bengali delicacies and bonhomie, with fancy dress, eerie party balloons and trim (on which we had fun scrawling a scary range of faces), and the pièce de résistance - a glowing Jack o' Lantern carved from an almost invariably misshapen kumro. Thus 'Kumroween', an invariably misshapen but always entertaining tradition was born. Over the years, patched together Gupis and Baghas have rubbed shoulders with Professor Lupin and Harry Potter, a cobbled Captain Hook has sung along with affable, unthreatening crocs, whilst pleasantly plump skeletons tucked into kochuri, aloor dom, and goja. Most of all, it has given us the opportunity to gather our family and friends round, to say hello, thank you, and au revoir, so quickly do our fortnights in Kolkata fly. Two splendid weeks of breaking bread, or indeed luchi, with family, catchup addas with friends lasting half the day, and storytime and play for our children with their beloved but rarely-seen Dida and Dadu, coalescing one last time on spooky, sparkling, slightly sad Kumroween night.

There can be no Kumroween this year. No festivities of any sort for us in Kolkata. In fact, no trip at all. Just sadness and long distance anxiety as every day brings the names and images of people we once knew, or knew of, who have succumbed to the marauding bug. With more to come. But malpoa, madugga, Mababa, and my mother city; you are on my mind. And if it is OK tata for this year, horn please, because ashche bochor abar hobe.

Chanakya's View

The horrific Hathras rape outrage raises some deeply disturbing questions. First and foremost, is the role of the UP government and police. Why was the victim's body taken away forcibly from her home and cremated against her family's will in the dead of night? The family wanted to perform the last rites in the morning and then cremate her. But her parents and brothers were locked in their house.

Quite apart from the legal propriety of cremating the body when another autopsy was clearly warranted, there is a shocking insensitivity to this episode. The family of the young Dalit girl was in trauma. They had just lost a daughter to one of the most brutal rape incidents seen in recent times. To take away the dead body against the family's will, lock up family members, and forcibly carry out the cremation at 2:30 am, shows an unpardonable callousness to basic human emotions.

Why was the UP sarkar in such a tearing hurry? Quite clearly, there must be a reason. If it thought that with her cremation the matter may quickly die a natural death, the outcome was just the opposite. Thanks to the media, most of them brave young women, the entire nation was sickened by the pitiless, cruel and high-handed behaviour of the police. The visuals of the mother wailing at not being able to even see the face of her dead daughter were appalling.

The UP government seemed to have only one priority, which was to claim that the girl was not gangraped. The state police cited the report of the Forensic Science Lab in Agra, which apparently said that no trace of semen was found. Surely, the police would know that the absence of semen is no proof that rape did not take place. Moreover, as against the forensic report, there is the dying declaration of the girl herself where she says that she was raped. Is this not proof enough? In the light of the victim's confirmation of rape, why was the body not subjected to a fresh examination by a panel that would include a senior gynaecologist? Was this the reason why the body was cremated in such unseemly haste?

There is also the visual of the district magistrate of Hathras obviously trying to intimidate the victim's family. The media will go away in a day or two, he can be heard telling the family; only the police will remain, so it would be better if you change your statement. This raises the question of why the UP police want to whitewash this gruesome incident. Who is UP chief minister, Yogi Adityanath, trying to protect? Is there a caste angle to this dastardly crime, which has something to do with the fact that the four accused who have been arrested are allegedly of the dominant Thakur caste, which is the same caste as the UP CM?

Why was the UP sarkar in such a tearing hurry? Quite clearly, there must be a reason. If it thought that with her cremation the matter may quickly die a natural death, the outcome was just the opposite.

Who is the Yogi trying to protect? Is there a caste angle to this dastardly crime, which has something to do with the fact that the four accused are allegedly of the dominant Thakur caste, the same caste as the UP CM?

According to the National Crime Records Bureau (NCRB), nearly 10 Dalit women are raped every day, with UP recording the largest number, 14.7 per cent of India's total. No doubt, UP is the most populous state in the country, but the fact remains that even nationwide — again as per NCRB data — crimes against Dalits have increased by 47 per cent in the period between 2014 and 2018. The rivalry between the BJP and the Congress has triggered a "competitive rape politics" where a rape in Rajasthan — a Congress ruled state — is being compared to the Hathras incident. This is deeply shameful. Both incidents were heinous and gruesome. But Yogi Adityanath, who dresses in saffron and calls himself a Yogi, must answer for the condemnatory manner in which his administration and police acted in Hathras. Even now the victim's family is being barricaded by the police, their phones are being illegally tapped, and journalists or politicians of Opposition parties are not being allowed to meet them freely. Why?

The brutal Nirbhaya rape led to national outrage because it happened in the capital of the Republic. But the Nirbhaya of Hathras was not that fortunate. She was fatally assaulted on September 14, and — as per her own statement — raped, her neck broken and her tongue cut. But national media hardly took any real notice of this shocking incident, until her death on September 29. On electronic media we were presented frenzied accounts of which actresses allegedly smoked hash, Rhea Chakraborty's bail application, and Kangana Ranaut's verbal tantrums. If the media had paused from its breathless chase of Bollywood actresses and focused on this case, perhaps the victim would have got better medical attention, and her life could have been saved.

The minimum that should be done now is to immediately suspend the Hathras DM. The Superintendent of Police (SP) has been suspended. The accused should be tried through a fast-track court in a time bound manner, and if found guilty, hanged like the Nirbhaya perpetrators. There is a demand that an investigation into the rape and murder should be entrusted to the CBI. But, a "caged parrot" may not be the solution. What this case needs is a time bound inquiry by a Supreme Court designated judge, which must also fix responsibility for the highly suspect role played by the UP government and the police. It would be good if the UP CM is asked a few questions, not only by his political opponents, but in a judicial process.

NAIDU'S FORECAST

The BJP has been hobnobbing with this idea for long (Naidu foresees simultaneous LS, Assembly elections in 2022, DC, Oct. 3). What N. Chandrababu Naidu stated is not new. The Indian democracy witnessed several ups and downs over seven decades and yet survived major assaults. Naidu also contributed to the sabotage one way or the other. It is no surprise he is hailing every step taken by the BJP/NDA.

HATHRAS GANGRAPE

The horrendous Hathras gangrape has exposed the deep-rooted malaise of caste and gender discrimination in our society. The dangerous part is the apathy or antipathy of police towards the hapless victim and her family. The state is supposed to be custodian of rights. If it is lenient towards predators, it will be a disservice to society. There is glaring failure, if not connivance of authorities to the dismay of civilians.

LIQUOR POLICY

It is shocking that Andhra Pradesh government has miserably failed repeatedly in liquor policy (AP to change 3 Liquor bottle rule, DC, Oct. 3). It is clear that the government wants to loot Bacchus lovers in a big way and keep prices high in the name of prohibition process, that too non-branded liquor. Controlling this is not that easy as ruling party leaders are involved indirectly.

Foundation laid for fertilizer project

BY M.P. Rabindranath
"Chronicle" staff reporter

HYDERABAD, October 3 A giant step that would transform Andhra Pradesh's agrarian economy into one of the modern economy was witnessed yesterday as the Union Minister for Petroleum and Chemicals, Dr. Triguna Sen laid the foundation for the Ramagundam Fertilizer Project.

The banks of Godavari — the site of the project-presented a glittering sight with thousands of people pouring in to witness the realisation of the Rs. 71 crore project that would in course of time change the face of Karimnagar district — may be even Telangana and its impoverished masses.

The project when commissioned will save the country annually Rs. 36 crores in foreign exchange by reduction of fertilizer imports and Rs. 120 crores by replacement of imported foodgrains.

Hope alive for those shown the door in BJP reshuffle

Great expectations

The BJP organisational reshuffle has not disappointed anyone. It seems all those shown the door are hoping for "better" options. The party's former vice-president, Vinay Sahasrabudhde, is said to be angling for a Union Cabinet berth. Mr Sahasrabudhde is currently head of ICCR, enjoying a Cabinet rank. Therefore, it remains to be seen whether Prime Minister Narendra Modi would accommodate him as the country's education minister. Another axed vice-president, Prabhat Jha, is hoping to get a gubernatorial assignment. Ram Madhav, who was a party general secretary and a player in the north-eastern states and Jammu & Kashmir, is aspiring to head the party in his home state Andhra Pradesh.

Swamy's allegation

information on her educational qualification is not news. In a letter addressed to the Lok Sabha Speaker Om Birla, Mr Swamy observed, "In our country, the educational qualification is highly valued and obtained after much effort. Hence our culture has given such high value to educational qualifications." Mr Swamy's focus on obtaining a higher educational qualification is being viewed with a lot of interest. Some cynics wonder why Mr Swamy, an astute politician, currently unhappy with the BJP leadership for its failure to "discipline" in-house Swamy-baiter Amit Malviya, has written this. Mr Malviya heads the BJP IT cell and weeks before the BJP organisational reshuffle, Mr Swamy had boasted that Mr Malviya would be removed. Nothing happened.

The controversy around Sonia's educational qualification was first raked up in 1999 when the Congress president reportedly attributed her English language course obtained in Cambridge to the University of Cambridge. Sonia had apologised, pointing that it was a "typing mistake".

Man of many bosses

He has been described as an 'eighth wonder' of the world. Uttar Pradesh's senior bureaucrat Navneet Sahgal has a knack of bouncing back. The former principal secretary to chief minister Mayawati and Akhilesh Yadav, has now become head of the information and public relations department under chief minister Yogi Adityanath after the Hathras gangrape outrage. Yogi, struggling to counter adverse media coverage, had no choice but to think of Mr Sahgal as his Man Friday. Mr Sahgal also holds the distinction of serving as personal secretary to Union minister Akhilesh Das who had belonged to the Congress during Manmohan Singh era. In a state where bureaucrats get marked over their alleged political affiliation, Mr Sahgal, currently additional chief secretary, is proving to be an exception. Exceptional.

Midnight 'news' alerts

Journalists covering the Lok Janshakti Party (LJP) are both intrigued and annoyed for getting WhatsApp messages on almost a daily basis post-midnight. The message, attributing information to a prominent LJP leader, makes sensational claims such as LJP walking out of NDA or fighting all Bihar Assembly seats independently. While it disturbs the sleep of many scribes, mornings usher in business as usual within the NDA.

Abandoned Kamal Nath

All is not well between former Madhya Pradesh CM Kamal Nath and senior party leader Digvijaya Singh. At one point when the Congress was in power for 15 months from December 2018 to March 2020, the Nath-Digvijaya jodi was a bada bhai-chhota bhai pair. But now that crucial Assembly by-polls have been announced in 28 seats, Digvijaya is not to be seen. Kamal Nath, at 72, is fighting a lone and grim battle to regain a foothold in MP politics. Chances of dislodging Shivraj Singh Chouhan regime are slim as the BJP needs to win barely one third of the seats going to polls while the Congress would need almost all of them: the 20 out of 28 seats for Congress is seen as a figure that would rattle everyone in the BJP from Bhopal to New Delhi. The Nov. 10 verdict is keenly awaited when results of these bypolls would be declared along with the Bihar Assembly outcome.

IN BRIEF

Reunification: German anniv

Berlin, Oct. 3: Germany is marking the 30th anniversary of its reunification on Saturday, drawing a generally positive picture of the progress made in knitting together east and west amid celebrations that are low-key because of the Coronavirus pandemic. Germany was reunited on October 3, 1990, after four decades of Cold War division. East Germany joined the western federal republic less than a year after the east's Communist rulers — under pressure from growing protests — opened the Berlin Wall and the rest of the highly fortified border between the two states. While much progress has been made since then, economic and other differences between the west and the less-prosperous east still persist.

Sudan, rebels
seal peace deal

Juba: Sudan's transitional authorities and a rebel alliance signed on Saturday a peace deal initialed in August that aims to put an end to the country's decades-long civil wars, in a televised ceremony marking the agreement. "The next biggest challenge is to work with all local and international partners to preach the agreement and its benefits," Prime Minister Abdalla Hamdok tweeted on Friday upon his arrival at Juba, the capital of South Sudan. Reaching a negotiated settlement with rebels in Sudan's far-flung provinces has been a crucial goal for the transitional government, which assumed power after a popular uprising led the military to overthrow President Omar al-Bashir in April 2019. Sudanese civilian leaders hope the deal will allow them to revive the country's battered economy by slashing military spending, which takes up much of the national budget.

Afghan car bomb attack: 15 killed

Jalalabad: At least 15 people were killed and more than 30 others wounded in a car bomb attack that targeted a government building in eastern Afghanistan on Saturday, officials said. The explosion occurred at an administrative building that also housed some military facilities in the Ghani Khel district of Nangarhar province, the governor's spokesman Attaullah Khogyani said. "The car bomb detonated at the entrance of the district headquarters building. Several armed attackers tried to enter the building after the attack but were killed by security forces," he said. Provincial police spokesman Farid Khan confirmed the details. He said most of the victims were Afghan security force members but several civilians were also among the dead. No one had so far claimed responsibility for the attack but Khan blamed the Taliban. Both the Taliban and the Islamic State group are active in the region.

RICK MORANIS
PUNCHED IN ATTACK

Los Angeles, Oct. 3: "Honey, I Shrunk the Kids" star Rick Moranis was assaulted in an apparently random street attack in New York.

The 67-year-old actor was punched in the face by a random passer-by when he was walking on Central Park West near 70th Street, reported New York Post. A CCTV video footage, released by the police, showed a man dressed in black hoodie with a backpack on his shoulder punch Moranis with a closed fist directly into the face. Afterwards, the actor fell to the ground and the suspect nonchalantly walked away.

Moranis, who suffered pain in his head, back and right hip, went to a local hospital to be evaluated, police said. He later filed a complaint with the police. In a statement, Moranis' spokesperson said that the actor is doing "fine".

"Rick Moranis was assaulted on the Upper West Side yesterday. He is fine but grateful for everyone's thoughts and well wishes," the representative said. Moranis rose to prominence with his work on Canadian comedy sketch series "Second City Television".

He later became one of the most sought-after comic stars in the 1980s and 1990s.

His film credits include 1984's "Ghostbusters" and its 1989 sequel, "Spaceballs", "Parenthood" and "The Flintstones" remake.

2 US SENATORS, TRUMP EX-AIDE TEST VIRUS +VE

Washington, Oct. 3: Two US Senators, a former adviser to President Donald Trump, his campaign manager and three White House journalists have tested positive for Covid-19, joining several officials working at the presidential palace to have contracted the infection.

Republican Senators Thom Tillis from North Carolina, and Mike Lee from Utah confirmed they have been tested positive for Coronavirus.

"Over the last few months, I've been routinely tested for Covid-19, including testing negative last Saturday, but tonight my rapid antigen test came back positive," Tillis said.

Hope Hicks, 31, is the closest aide of the President to have tested positive. Former White House counsellor Kellyanne Conway also announced on Twitter that she has been tested positive. Trump's age, health woes raise his risk for Covid-19

Washington, Oct. 3: President Donald Trump has several strikes against him — age, obesity, elevated cholesterol and being male — that could put him at greater risk of becoming seriously ill from the Coronavirus infection he disclosed early Friday.

Here's what experts say about Trump's outlook and next steps.

SIGNS AND SYMPTOMS: Infection causes mild or no symptoms in about 80 per cent of cases. About 15 per cent of people become seriously ill and 5 per cent get critically ill. Symptoms, when they do occur, usually appear two to 14 days after infection and can include loss of smell or taste, coughing, a sore throat, trouble breathing, fatigue, muscle or body aches, headache, nausea or vomiting, diarrhea and fever. Up to half of patients who are hospitalised don't have a fever when admitted but nearly all develop one. How people fare varies widely — some seem to be recovering and then suddenly worsen. Pneumonia, often with a specific appearance on X-rays, sometimes develops but complications in virtually every organ of the body have been reported. Doctors also increasingly recognize that some people have long-lasting symptoms.

TRUMP'S RISKS Older age, being male and having any other health problems increase the chance of severe illness, and Trump has those. At 74, "his age would be the primary risk factor," said Dr. David Banach, an infectious diseases physician at the University of Connecticut's health system. — AP

Azerbaijan Prez criticises mediators; fighting rages on Baku, Oct. 3: Heavy fighting between Armenia and Azerbaijan continued Saturday in their conflict over the separatist territory of Nagorno-Karabakh, while Azerbaijan's president criticised the international mediators who have tried for decades to resolve the dispute. Fighting that started September 27 is the worst to afflict Nagorno-Karabakh and surrounding areas since the 1994 end of a war that left the region in Azerbaijan under the control of ethnic Armenian local forces backed by Armenia.

Shushan Stepanian, a spokeswoman for the Armenian Defence Ministry, said that "intensive fighting is taking place along the entire front line," and claimed that Armenian forces had shot down three planes. Azerbaijan's defence ministry did not respond to the claim of planes being shot down, but said Armenian forces had shelled civilian territory within Azerbaijan, including the city of Terter. Nagorno-Karabakh officials have said more than 150 servicemen on their side have been killed so far. Azerbaijani authorities haven't given details on their military casualties but said 19 civilians have been killed and 55 more wounded. Nagorno-Karabakh was a designated autonomous region within Azerbaijan during the Soviet era. It claimed independence from Azerbaijan in 1991, about three months before the Soviet Union's collapse. Full-scale war that broke out in 1992 killed an estimated 30,000 people. By the time it ended in 1994, Armenian forces not only held Nagorno-Karabakh itself but substantial areas outside the territory's formal borders.

Several United Nations Security Council resolutions have called for withdrawal from those areas, which the Armenian forces have disregarded. Azerbaijani President Ilham Aliyev said in a television interview that the forces must withdraw from those areas before fighting can stop. In the interview with al-Jazeera, a transcript of which was distributed Saturday by the presidential press office, Aliyev criticised the so-called Minsk Group of the Organisation for Security and Cooperation in Europe, which has tried to mediate a resolution of the Nagorno-Karabakh dispute. — AP

Belarus: No foreign media credentials

Kyiv, Oct. 3: Belarus, rocked by weeks of protests against its authoritarian president and Western condemnation over a crackdown on dissent, on Friday rescinded the accreditation of all journalists working for foreign news outlets and said they must apply for new ones in a process that could take a week or more.

The action was the latest by Belarusian authorities against journalists and news media amid the wave of large protests that have occurred almost daily since the country's authoritarian president won a sixth term in a disputed Aug. 9 election. "In the current situation, we are forced to exercise our sovereign right and apply the necessary protective measures, including in the form of new provisions of the regulations," the Belarus Foreign Ministry said in a statement announcing the move. The ministry said that journalists working for foreign media can apply for new credentials beginning Monday; temporary accreditation applications will be considered within five days, and permanent within 30 days. The largest protests against President Alexander Lukashenko have taken place on Sundays. Earlier this week, authorities in Belarus suspended for three months the credentials of the popular independent news website tut.by, which has covered the protests. Some credentialled foreign journalists were deported in August, including two from AP, and the credentials of two Belarusian nationals working for AP were revoked. — AP

Take legal step to bring Nawaz: Imran

Islamabad, Oct. 3: Pakistan Prime Minister Imran Khan has asked his party leaders to devise a legal strategy to bring back former premier Nawaz Sharif from the United Kingdom as in the absence of an extradition treaty between the two countries it would be difficult to get him extradited, according to a media report.

Presiding over the first meeting of a committee recently formed to counter the Opposition, Prime Minister Khan on Friday asked Pakistan Tehreek-e-Insaf (PTI) leaders to foil all moves of the Opposition aimed at destabilising the government and "maliciously" the Army, the Dawn News reported. The government had earlier sent a request to the British government for the Pakistan Muslim League-Nawaz (PML-N) leader's repatriation to ensure that he faces the corruption cases pending against him in the courts. Sharif has been living in London since November last year when he was allowed to go there for medical treatment.

A source privy to the meeting told Dawn that the prime minister was committed to bringing back Sharif from London and directed the committee members to devise a legal strategy because in the absence of an extradition treaty between Pakistan and the UK, it would become difficult to get him extradited. — PTI

NEW | STUDY Killings of at least 30 transgender or non-gender conforming people documented in 2020

Sexual, gender minorities more likely to be crime victims

Phoenix, Oct. 3: The first study of its kind found that people who are gay, lesbian, bisexual, transgender, queer or gender non-conforming are nearly four times as likely to be victims of violent crime than those outside such communities.

Although other research has long shown that LGBTQ people and gender minorities are disproportionately affected by crime, the study published in Science Advances, a multidisciplinary journal, on Friday looked at data that has only been collected since 2016, making for the first comprehensive and national study to examine the issue. It found that members of such communities, referred to as sexual and gender minorities, experienced a rate of 71.1 violent victimisations per 1,000 persons a year, compared with 19.2 per 1,000 a year among non-sexual and gender minorities. But it was the fact that sexual and gender minorities are victims of such a variety of crimes at such disparate rates — and who they're victimised by — that surprised researchers, said lead author Andrew R. Flores, an assistant professor at American University. For example, researchers found that such a population is much more likely to be victimised by someone they know well than a person who is a non-sexual and gender minority. The fact that sexual and gender minorities are victimised by people close to them at such higher rates "does kind of raise questions hopefully future research can address about the nature of these incidents and the nature of these relationships," Flores said. "There are certain socialisations that goes in that. I think many people are son's Transgender Justice Initiative. A survey of more than 12,000 LGBTQ teens around the country released in 2018 by the Human Rights Campaign found that 67% report they've heard family members make negative comments about LGBTQ people. Cooper said transgender people are particularly vulnerable, especially by partners or people close to them.

The study also found that sexual and gender minorities are burglarised at twice the rate of other households, and that they're more likely to be victims of other types of property theft. The study is based on a national crime survey conducted by the federal Bureau of Justice Statistics, which until 2016 had not asked respondents about their sexual orientation and gender identity. The Trump administration, without seeking public comment, announced that it was moving the sexual orientation and gender identity questions from the general demographic section of its national crime survey to a part of the survey only pertaining to victims. This will limit what researchers can learn about crime disparities.

IPL player reports corrupt approach

New Delhi: A cricketer, competing in the Indian Premier League in the UAE, has "reported a corrupt approach", putting BCCI's anti-corruption unit (ACU) on a high alert. The 13th edition of the IPL in being held in the UAE in a bio-secure environment, which has significantly reduced the chance for persons with dubious credentials approaching the player directly. The threat though still remains by and large due to the online network of corruptors. BCCI ACU chief Ajit Singh confirmed the development to PTI. "Yes (a player has reported approach)," Singh, the former DGP of Rajasthan Police confirmed the news. "We are tracking him. It will take some time," he said when asked if the alleged corruptor or "person of Interest" has been nabbed. As per anti-corruption protocols, the name of the player (Indian or overseas) or franchise is not revealed for confidentiality purposes. — PTI

Tsitsipas through to fourth round

Paris: Greek fifth seed Stefanos Tsitsipas advanced to the fourth round of the French Open on Saturday after his opponent Aljaz Bedene retired with an ankle injury while trailing 6-1, 6-2, 3-1. Slovenian Bedene, who defeated Tsitsipas in straight sets when they met at Rotterdam earlier this year, first called for the physiotherapist on Court Suzanne Lenglen to get treatment on his right ankle after going down 5-0 in the opening set. After returning to court Bedene won the first game to get on the scoreboard and then got his ankle strapped before the start of the second set. Tsitsipas, the reigning ATP Finals champion, kept his focus and went about his business smoothly, hitting 28 winners and breaking the 56th-ranked Bedene's serve five times before he decided he could no longer continue. — Agencies

Neymar sizzles in PSG's big win

Paris: Neymar scored his first goals of the season to help Paris Saint-Germain make up some lost ground in the French league with a 6-1 rout of visiting Angers. PSG moved up to second in the sixth round after winning four games straight. The defending champions started with two defeats. Kylian Mbappe, who also scored, had the first big chance at Parc des Princes in the fifth minute saved by the quick reacting Angers goalkeeper Paul Bernardoni. But the home side did not have to wait long for the breakthrough, a fine goal from Alessandro Florenzi in the seventh minute. The Italian defender lifted the ball over an opponent with his fist touch, then lobbed it over another defender inside the far post with his next. — AP

Union Berlin rout Mainz 4-0

Finland forward Joel Pohjanpalo also scored, just seconds after coming on for his debut, to wrap up an unhappy start for new Mainz coach Jan-Moritz Lichte. Former assistant coach Lichte took over Mainz on an interim basis on Monday when the club fired Achim Beierlorzer after losing their first two games and players boycotted a training session in support of a demoted player, Adam Szalai. — AP impressive. However, it was Kagiso Rabada (1/51 in 4 overs), who dismissed the dangerous Andre Russell (13) cheaply, was taken to task by Eoin Morgan (44 from 18 balls) and Rahul Tripathi (36 off 16 balls) in the 18th over that got KKR 23 runs.

With 31 to get from 12 balls, Nortje bowled a superb 19th over getting rid of Morgan and only giving five runs in the process. With 26 needed off the last over,

Marcus Stoinis (1/46 in 4 overs) proved his utility as a bowler by removing Tripathi with a slower yorker after being smashed by the batsman in an earlier over.

With their third win, Delhi (six points from four games) move to the top of the table.

Earlier, if the Powerplay belonged to Shaw, who blazed his way to 66 off 41 balls with four boundaries and as many sixes, Iyer dominated the remaining part of the innings with his silken smooth batting as he scythed the opposition attack with seven fours and half a dozen sixes.

A few of Iyer's sixes landed either in the top tier or got lost in the car park adjoining the stadium, such was the timing rather than brute force that the DC skipper used.

Containment was never possible on such a track with Capitals batsmen hitting as many as 14 sixes and 18 boundaries in the entire innings.

Upbeat Sunrisers take on MI

Sharjah, Oct. 3: Boasting an explosive batting line-up that complements their effective death bowling, Mumbai Indians will have their nose ahead in the IPL match against Sunrisers Hyderabad here on Sunday.

To add to SRH's worry, doubts remained over lead seamer Bhuvneshwar Kumar's participation in the match. Bhuvneshwar picked up an injury on Friday night and was unable to complete his final over in the game against Chennai Super Kings. He walked off the field with the help of the team physio.

In the event the experienced seamer misses out, table-toppers Mumbai will fancy their chances more at the Sharjah Cricket Stadium, whose boundaries are much shorter than Dubai and Abu Dhabi and have been a paradise for power-hitters.

The defending champions, having humbled a strong Kings XI Punjab in their last game, are unlikely to make any changes to the winning combination. Skipper Rohit Sharma is in sublime form and he can pummel any attack into submission on his day. Rohit has scored 170 runs from four games this season.

While the poor form of Quinton De Kock is worrisome, the prolific Suryakumar Yadav would be more than keen to convert his starts. The biggest positive for the defending champions is that their middle-order has finally delivered with Ishan Kishan, Hardik Pandya and Kieron Pollard launching into opposition attacks with their big-hitting prowess. Young Kishan has been the find for MI, after his blistering yet responsible knock against Royal Challengers Bangalore. — PTI

CHENNAI SEEK TURNAROUND IN CLASH OF KINGS

Dubai, Oct. 3: Hit hard by a start that least defines them, Chennai Super Kings would be desperate to find answers to their predicament when they take on Kings XI Punjab in an IPL match here on Sunday.

So used to be on top of their game in the previous editions, sitting at the bottom of the points table now with three losses in four matches is an unknown territory for the Mahendra Singh Dhoni-led side.

Nothing has worked for them despite having the resources. They even made three changes to their playing XI against Sunrisers Hyderabad but neither comeback of Ambati Rayudu nor the presence of Dwayne Bravo could lift the gloom. A misfiring top-order, save Faf du Plessis, combined with inadequate run-flow in the middle overs and the habit of leaving way too much for the climax, proved to be their bane. — PTI

Kohli back in form, RCB win

Abu Dhabi, Oct. 3: Captain Virat Kohli roared back to form with an unbeaten 72 and stitched a 99-run stand with Devdutt Padikkal (63) to power Royal Challengers Bangalore to a comfortable eight-wicket win over Rajasthan Royals in an IPL match here on Saturday.

This was after wrist spinner Yuzvendra Chahal snared three wickets in an impressive bowling show that helped them restrict RR to 154 for 6.

Kohli's knock came off 53 balls with seven fours and two sixes. It was RCB's third win in four matches.

Padikkal yet again produced an impressive innings before he was dismissed by Jofra Archer in the 16th over, after hitting six fours and one six.

Padikkal allowed his captain to get in and settle down before Kohli produced some of his trademark shots later on to accelerate.

The RCB needed 31 runs after Padikkal's dismissal and another in-form batsman AB de Villiers (12 not out) ensured that his side reached the target with five balls to spare.

Young guns manifest the richness of Indian cricket

Ayaz Memon
Over The Top

Insane hitting by batsmen, especially in the death overs, has been one of the major talking points of the IPL's second week. Power-hitters like Rohit, Rahul and Samson from the top order, and Pollard and Hardik Pandya as finishers, have peppered the grounds with sixes galore.

Then there is Rahul Tewatia, who hit five sixes in an over to transform defeat into victory for Rajasthan over Punjab, making a Himalayan target of 223 look like a stroll in the park. And Watson, Warner, Russell, Bairstow, Morgan and Pant — who binge on sixes — haven't yet got into full throttle!

Interestingly, while flat pitches, fast outfields and small grounds (Sharjah) have enabled several scores of 200+ plus already, apart from two stirring Super Over finishes, bowlers haven't exactly been rendered inconsequential.

Shami, Cummins, Rabada among pacemen and Chahal and Rashid among spinners have been quite superb. If they've sometimes still finished on the losing side, it is because their batsmen failed them.

For India's superstars, it's been a mixed bag so far. Rohit has hit splendid form and, after losing the first match, has inspired Mumbai to the top of the table as much with his batting as tactical nous in crunch situations.

M.S. Dhoni was able to lift his batting form against Sunrisers yet is still short of the vigour of old that would help him win matches off his own bat. His problems are compounded by the fact that CSK are also bottom of the points table currently.

That RCB were able to clinch a thrilling Super Over climax against Mumbai Indians, and he hit the winning shot, is only small redemption for Virat Kohli. He's otherwise had three batting failures in a row, and despite two victories, RCB still look undercooked.

The highlight of the past week for me, however has been the performance of young Indian players, manifesting the richness of cricket talent in the country as well as the role played by the IPL in exposing them to the world.

Take the match between CSK and SRH on Friday. While Warner and Rashid played big roles in the team's success, it was the rollicking partnership between 19-year-old Priyam Garg and 20-year-old Abhishek Sharma which turned things around.

All looked lost when Warner and Williamson were dismissed off successive deliveries before Garg and Sharma played with great intrepidity to break CSK's stranglehold. SRH's young bowlers Natarajan, Khaleel and Samad played their part splendidly too.

This is not an isolated example where India's youngsters have shone. KKR, who have invested in Shubham Gill, Kamlesh Nagarkoti, Shivam Mavi and Varun Chakravarthy have started reaping rewards already.

Gill is becoming widely regarded as India's best young batsman. Coach Ravi Shastri, who I spoke to, thinks very highly of him and sees him as someone who should be a "regular fixture for India in all formats."

Leg spinners Ravi Bishnoi (Punjab) and Rahul Chahar (Mumbai) have caught the eye too even if they haven't claimed as many wickets as Chahal or Rashid.

Getting into a slightly older age group, there is Navdeep Saini, Sanju Samson, Prithvi Shaw, Rishabh Pant, Shreyas Iyer who are also serving their teams with great efficiency, some of them with excellence.

A bulk of these players have come from the under-19 teams, but the IPL showcases their talent to India's selectors, coaches and captain whose business it is to track performances of players, especially youngsters. The importance of the IPL in fast-tracking players into the Indian team is evident from what's happened in the past 12 years: R. Ashwin, Rahane, Jadeja, Rahul, even Rohit and Kohli to an extent have benefited from playing in the league.

Of course, not everybody who has excelled in the IPL has made it to the India team or been able to sustain a place, as the examples of Paul Valthaty, Manpreet Gony, Pawan Mangi and several others highlights.

Having got the platform and the attention, it is still up to the player to make the most of the opportunity. An India career does not come free, whatever the earnings in the IPL.
