NGT's ban not applicable, Hyd can burst crackers

Green crackers norm must be met, says NGT

HYDERABAD, VIJAYAWADA, NOV. 9

It will be a Diwali with fireworks for the two Telugu speaking states this year. And the fireworks must be of the less polluting variety.

They have escaped the National Green Tribunal ban on firing crackers in all cities and towns where the air quality during November falls under the "poor" and worse categories.

Cities that recorded a 'moderate' or better air quality last November can go ahead with the traditional celebrations.

The Pollution Control

Boards in Andhra Pradesh and Telangana on Monday evening said the air quality in the two states in November last year fell in the 'moderate' category and met the NGT's norms.

However, the NGT made it clear that any fireworks that are set off must meet the 'green crackers' norms, that emit less smoke and gases compared to the traditional fireworks, and any celebration that involves fireworks must be only held between 8 pm and 10 pm on November 14, the day of Diwali.

There was some concern in Telangana state and Andhra Pradesh over whether some of their largest cities and towns could use fireworks, with the NGT issuing notices to both the states, along with 21 others, seeking their views on whether a ban needs to be put in place on the sale and setting off of fireworks this Diwali, particularly in 122 cities nationwide that did not meet the Central Pollution Control Board's air quality attainment norms.

The NGT's pincer case in a case it was hearing about the National Capital Region of Delhi over pollution caused by fireworks and the possibility of an increased spread of Coronavirus because of the aerosol particles emitted when fireworks are set off.

TRS to retain Dubbak seat, BJP to come 2nd

Result to set tone for GHMC polls, eyes on victory margin

S.A. ISHAQUI I DC
HYDERABAD, NOV. 9

The ruling Telangana Rashtra Samiti appears all set to retain the Dubbak Assembly seat, when the result is announced on Tuesday for the November 3 election. The BJP hopes to wrest the seat from the TRS but it is increasingly expected to take the second place from the Congress.

Counting of votes, beginning with postal ballots, will commence at 8 am on Tuesday. At 8.30 am, the EVMs will be taken up for counting, the first trends will be available in about half an hour. The result is expected at about 12.30 pm.

A lot depends on the outcome of the bypoll in view of the fast approaching elections to the Greater Hyderabad Municipal Corporation Council. The GHMC polls, interestingly, come in the cusp of the half-way mark of the government's tenure, from which point it will start getting ready for the 2023 polls.

While the TRS is expected to win the seat, much will be read into its margin of victory. It had won with 37,925 in 2014 and 62,704 in 2018. The Congress secured 26,799 votes and the BJP 22,595 in 2018, though the votes in an Assembly election and a bypoll cannot be compared. Some senior leaders in their private conversations say that in the unlikely event that the BJP pulls off an upset, then the political calculations will begin to be redrawn in the three main parties.

SREEPARNA CHAKRABORTY and NAYEAR AZAD I DC
NEW DELHI/PATNA, NOV. 9

Bihar is looking at a generational change in politics with the exit polls predicting that the Mahagathabandhan led by the RJD's Tejashwi Yadav and including the Congress is on its way to dethrone old socialist warhorse Nitish Kumar, the Bihar Chief Minister who leads the JD(U)-BJP combine.

But it remains to be seen whether the "Grand Alliance" of the RJD, the Left parties and the Congress will manage to romp home to power, as most of the exit polls have projected, or will merely emerge as the single largest entity, leaving the field open for post-poll alliances.

In case of a fractured mandate, it will be interesting to see which way the small caste-based parties swing as the process of government formation kicks off. Counting will be taken up at 55 centres in 38 districts across the state on Tuesday morning.

Most exit polls have predicted a rout for the ruling JD(U)-BJP combine and a resounding victory for the Grand Alliance led by Mr Yadav, the son of former chief minister Lalu Prasad Yadav. Bihar has 243 Assembly constituencies, and the most keenly watched on Tuesday will obviously be Raghupur in Vaishali district, from where Mr Tejashwi Yadav is seeking election.

Mr Yadav is currently a member of the Legislative Council and this is his first Assembly election. Raghupur has in the past been represented by his parents Lalu Prasad Yadav and Rabri Devi both former CMs. Tejashwi's once-estranged older brother Tej Pratap Yadav is contesting from Hasanpur in Samastipur district. Tuesday's counting will also decide the political fate of nearly a score of ministers, including Nand Kishore Yadav (Patna Sahib), Pramod Kumar (Motihari), Rana Randhir (Madhubani), Suresh Sharma (Muzaffarpur), Shrawan Kumar (Nalanda), Jai Kumar Singh (Dinara) and Krishnanandan Prasad Verma (Jehanabad).

A win for the Grand Alliance would be a redemption for Mr Yadav. It might be recalled that Mr Kumar was elected chief minister as part of the RJD-Congress-JD(U) combine in 2015, but he had switched over to the NDA even as he remained the CM.

However, in last year's Lok Sabha polls, the NDA had won 39 of the 40 seats and only one had gone to the Congress. A win will also revive the fortunes of the three Left parties — CPI, CPI-M and CPI-ML — part of the "Mahagathabandhan".

The results will also indicate the political fortunes of Chirag Paswan, the LJP chief, who left the NDA in Bihar and put up candidates against the JD(U). Mr Tejashwi Yadav, meanwhile, celebrated his 31st birthday on Monday with simplicity, and also urged party workers to avoid visiting his house to greet him.

Pfizer's vaccine found 90% good

New York, Nov. 9: Pfizer says an early peek at its vaccine data suggests the shots may be 90 per cent effective at preventing Covid-19, indicating the company is on track later this month to file an emergency use application with US regulators.

Monday's announcement doesn't mean a vaccine is imminent. This interim analysis, from an independent data monitoring board, looked at 94 infections recorded so far in a study that has enrolled nearly 44,000 people in the US and five other countries. Pfizer Inc did not provide any more details about those cases, and cautioned the initial protection rate might change by the time the study ends. Even revealing such early data is highly unusual. "We're in a position potentially to be able to offer some hope," Dr Bill Gruber, Pfizer's senior vice-president of clinical development, said. "We're very encouraged." Authorities have stressed it's unlikely any vaccine will arrive much before the end of the year, and limited initial supplies will be rationed.

The shots made by Pfizer and its German partner BioNTech are among 10 possible vaccine candidates in late-stage testing around the world — four of them so far in huge studies in the US.

Mesco trustees buy costly land by siphoning off funds

HYDERABAD, NOV. 9

The city-based MESCO, a popular non-profit organisation which runs health facilities and educational institutions, is caught in the web of deceit and corruption woven by people at its helm of affairs.

Dr Fakhruddin Mohammed, secretary of MESCO (Modern Educational Social and Cultural Organisation), and his associates have been facing allegations of diverting and swindling funds besides bringing disrepute to the organisation by admitting students in excess of the permitted strength. Inquiries by Deccan Chronicle revealed that a method was devised to siphon off funds. They invested in educational institutions run by other societies on behalf of MESCO but allegedly gradually converted them into their personal investments. Lands were purchased from the proceeds of the educational institutions but were allegedly registered in favour of individuals.

"Land documents were not produced for audit and it is found that payments are made in cash," pointed out the audit company Hawaldar and Associates, which had done a comprehensive audit into the affairs of Blue Birds Education Society, Warangal, at the behest of Dr Fakhruddin himself.

Material available in the court of third additional district judge, Warangal, pointed out several lapses including booking lakhs of rupees of preliminary expenses without vouchers and not accounting for various fees collected from students.

"We received computers and books worth ₹10 lakh from MESCO. At the time of paying back the amount Dr Fakhruddin asked us to deposit the money in Blue Birds instead of MESCO," Basheer Qureshi, a former member of managing committee of Mahabubia Panjetan, told Deccan Chronicle. The amount deposited in Blue Birds was subsequently shown as an investment made by Dr Fakhruddin.

It was also found that his associates bought about two acres of land in Warangal, the value of which runs into crores of rupees, from the educational society funds.

Batting heavy MI look to post huge total with 130 sixes compared to Delhi's 84

Mumbai sits pretty in IPL title clash against Delhi

MOSES KONDETY I DC
HYDERABAD, NOV. 9

After 52 days of exciting action, it's the final countdown at the IPL. Fittingly, Mumbai Indians and Delhi Capitals, who have occupied the top two spots on the points table for most part of the League, will fight for the coveted cup on Tuesday night.

For starters, the tournament itself is the winner, with the BCCI pulling it off in far away UAE in these crushing Covid times. The teams have certainly beaten the virus there.

The title match promises fireworks ahead of Diwali with explosive players on both sides pointing to a cracker of a contest. While defending champions Mumbai sit pretty with the experience of playing five finals and winning the IPL on four occasions — in 2013, 2015, 2017 and 2019 — Delhi are in their maiden big game that could add to nerves.

Their paths to the summit clash too have been contrasting. While Mumbai made it at the first attempt, Delhi clawed into it via the second Qualifier. Head-to-head, Mumbai are way ahead, having beaten the Capitals comfortably — by five wickets, nine wickets and 57 runs — in the three matches they have played this season.

"The journey has been a roller-coaster. Hoping we're able to play freely in the next game against MI, the biggest team," Capitals captain Shreyas Iyer said. His counterpart Rohit Sharma kept feet firmly on ground. "There will be a psychological advantage a little bit, yes, but again every day is a new game. You can't think too much about what has happened in the past," he said.

A batting heavy side, Mumbai will look to blast their way past with hitters like Kieron Pollard, Quinton de Kock, Hardik Krunal Pandya, Suryakumar Yadav and captain Rohit Sharma to set up a huge total should they bat first. For the record, Mumbai batsmen have slammed 130 sixes compared to 84 by the Capitals in the tournament.

Delhi does boast of big bats too. Marcus Stoinis, Shimron Hetmyer, Shreyas, Rishabh Pant will need to step up to the plate and fire in the boundaries. On the bowling front, it will be an interesting contest for the Purple Cap (awarded to one with the highest wickets) between Delhi pacer Kagiso Rabada (29) and Mumbai quick Jasprit Bumrah, who is fast catching up at 27. Trent Boult in the second Mumbai bowler in the top three, with 22 wickets. The Capitals also have a reliable attack in new-ball bowlers Anrich Nortje, Stoinis and crafty spinners R. Ashwin and Axar Patel. Whether they will be able to weather the storm remains to be seen.

Inquiries also revealed that more than ₹10 crore was spent on setting up diagnostic labs in Lucknow, Delhi and Kolkata to serve as authorised service providers for the Gulf Cooperation Council (GCC) countries but they remained non-starters with the GCC refusing accreditation.

Besides, MESCO College of Pharmacy ran into trouble with the management admitting 100 students against the strength of 60 sanctioned by the Pharmacy Council of India. Twenty eight students admitted in excess have lost their academic year as they were forced to leave the college and the fate of another 12 students hangs in balance, sources said.

Explaining how it would identify genuine depositors to make the payment, the AP government told the court that the CID would gather details of the depositors through ward secretariats.

The details would be vetted by the CID deputy superintendent of police and the revenue divisional officer. The secretary of the District Legal Services Authority, the collector and the superintendent of police would certify the details. The AP government said that it would deposit the money directly into the bank accounts of eligible depositors through the respective collector. On a request of the AP government to transfer AgriGold related cases to the AP High Court, the bench said that the Chief Justice of the Telangana High Court had been vested with the power to transfer the case.

The court said that it would hear regularly all the cases related to AgriGold which were filed by depositors, bankers, bidders for the auction of the company's property so that they can be paid.

MONEY SEIZURE

Political observers said that the no-holds-barred verbal war between the TRS and the BJP after money was seized from a relative of BJP candidate M. Raghunandan Rao had changed the equations and converted the triangular fight into a straight contest.

They pointed out that even if the TRS retains the seat, the chances of getting one lakh majority may not be easy, though the ruling party has always performed exceedingly well in byelections historically.

Analysts are of the opinion that if the TRS bags the seat by a smaller margin, Opposition parties will pick up on the issue in the GHMC elections. They pointed out if BJP finishes second place, it would be an advantage to the party as it can claim to be the only alternative to the TRS and can see dreams of gaining power in the 2023 Assembly elections.

Analysts say that if the Congress ends up third, it will face a tough time in the GHMC election. Besides, BJP leaders have indicated that many Congress leaders could change loyalties. Recently TRS working president K.T. Rama Rao also mentioned in his press conference mentioned that many Congress leaders are likely to switch over to the BJP. Worryingly for the party, it has seen its votes erode from about 44,000 in 2014 to about 26,700 in 2018.

Authorities have made arrangements for counting of votes at Indur Engineering College, Ponnala, near Siddipet. The counting will be conducted in 23 rounds on 14 tables.

The byelection was necessitated by the sudden demise of sitting TRS MLA Solipeta Ramalinga Reddy. Polling was recorded at 82.61 per cent. As many as 23 candidates are in the fray, though the main contest is between TRS candidate Solipeta Sujatha, BJP nominee Raghunandan Rao and Congress candidate Cheruku Srinivas Reddy.

Firecracker dealers expect lower sales due to Covid crisis

T.S.S. SIDDHARTH | DC
HYDERABAD, NOV. 9

Almost all the firecrackers sold in the city this year will be 'green' or low-emission crackers in line with the Supreme Court mandate, according to members of the Telangana Firecracker Sellers Association.

The Supreme Court had directed in 2018 that only green crackers would be allowed into the market. The apex court had specified that the crackers may be fired only from 8 pm to 10 pm.

"The traders in the state are expecting lower sales from the start of the season, as they have had to contend with the impact of the Coronavirus. The dealers restricted themselves to purchasing only 25 per cent of the stock that they do usually," J. Manik Rao of the Fireworks Dealers Association of Telangana, told Deccan Chronicle.

Even of this smaller quantity of crackers, traders expect to sell only a fraction this year because of the increased environmental awareness as well as the impact of Covid-19 lockdown on the economy.

"The production of crackers for the subsequent year starts post-Diwali. The manufacturers at Sivakasi upgraded

In Hyderabad, Neetu Kumari Prasad, Telangana State Pollution

Control Board member, told Deccan Chronicle: "People in Hyderabad can go on to celebrate the festival with crackers, but only in the stipulated time period of 8 pm to 10 pm. We have taken this decision because the ambient air quality of the city falls in the 'moderate' category."

In Vijayawada, authorities said that the decision to permit use of fireworks was taken based on air quality monitoring data from November 2019 which showed that the average ambient air quality values were good, satisfactory and moderate.

A senior AP Pollution Control Board official said: "Though we intended to recommend to the state government to impose a total ban on firing of crackers, following NGT order and verification of AQI values of last November, we intend to recommend to allow only green crackers in a stipulated period for Diwali." The green tribunal, in its order, also directed all states and Union Territories to initiate special drives to check air pollution from all sources in view of its potential to aggravate Covid-19 infections.

While sales have been bleak so far, Manik Rao was hopeful that people would come out to purchase crackers as the festival came closer and there was clarity on the rules of firing crackers.

TRS leader grabs Banjara
Hills land, flouts SC orderDC CORRESPONDENT
HYDERABAD, NOV. 9

While Chief Minister K. Chandrashekar Rao is working to ensure that Telangana state would be free of litigation over land with the Dharani portal and a comprehensive land survey, ruling party leaders are grabbing lands and making a mockery of the Supreme Court's orders.

Despite the top court's orders to maintain status quo in a parcel of disputed land located on Road No. 12, Banjara Hills, the alleged intervention of a TRS leader is causing trouble to the other parties involved in the matter.

V. Narasimha Reddy, TRS candidate for the Nalgonda Lok Sabha seat, and a ruling party MLA were misusing their powers in the Banjara Hills land deal, it is alleged. The land is located in Survey No. 129/52.

In 2019, Narasimha Reddy applied for permission to construct a residential building in Survey No 129/68 (Paiki). GHMC town planning officials inspected the spot and found that the land as claimed by the applicant was not present on Road No 12, Banjara Hills, and rejected the petition.

The erstwhile AP government had issued clarification through a Gazette that Survey No. 129/68 (Paiki) was not correct and warned people not to enter into sale agreements citing that number.

The deputy inspector of surveys had established that though the land in Survey No 129/68 exists, it is not abutting Road No 12, Banjara Hills, as claimed by the litigants, but is located 1.2 km away from Survey No. 129/52.

Recently, M. Sukumar Reddy lodged a complaint with the Banjara Hills police alleging trespass into the disputed land by the other parties who tried to level the land and raise a compound wall. The police have registered a case on businessman M.L. Agarwal on the complaint.

The complainant further alleged that the intervention of Narasimha Reddy is causing agony. He said that the parties who do not have the rightful title of the land are violating the orders of the apex court at the behest of Narasimha Reddy.

All vaccinations, including for adults, must be timely

Immunisation is a global health and development success story, which has saved millions of lives. November 10 is celebrated every year as World Immunisation Day to create awareness about the importance of getting timely vaccinations for preventing diseases.

What is a vaccine?

Vaccine is a biological preparation that provides active acquired immunity from a few infectious diseases and certain cancers.

What are the types of immunisation?

There are two types of immunisation; namely, active and passive. Active immunisation is achieved through vaccine. Passive immunisation is when you get preformed antibodies; for example, from mother to child or through antiserum.

How does immunisation help in checking diseases?

Annually, immunisation currently prevents 2-3 million deaths globally from diseases like diphtheria, tetanus, pertussis, influenza and measles. Thanks to the universal immunisation programme introduced in 1978 in India, majority of children across the country are vaccinated.

What is adult vaccination?

Adults need vaccination to boost efficacy of childhood vaccines, promote immunity from newer co-morbidities and afford protection when immunity is suppressed due to illnesses.

What are the vaccines recommended for adults?

Vaccines recommended for adults are: DPT, MMR,

Dr Aarathi Bellary

Influenza (people > 50 years), Pneumococcal (> 65 years), Human Papilloma Virus (9-26 years), and Zoster (> 60 years).

Vaccines recommended for high-risk individuals are: Hepatitis B, Hepatitis A, Meningococcal, Varicella, Haemophilus influenza B, Rabies, and Typhoid DPT: Adults, who have completed their primary vaccination series, should receive a Td vaccine every 10 years till the age of 65. DTP is recommended for everyone, especially people with weakened immune systems.

MMR: All adults should receive two doses of MMR vaccine or one dose of measles, followed by one dose of MMR vaccine. MMR is not given to pregnant women as it is a live vaccine.

Varicella: All adults without evidence of immunity to varicella or previous infection should receive two doses of single antigen varicella vaccine.

Herpes Zoster/Shingles Vaccine: All adults above 50 years of age should take this vaccine. It also provides protection from a condition called post herpetic neuralgia.

Human Papillomavirus Vaccine: HPV vaccine safeguards people from a series of infections that can lead to cervical, vulvar and vaginal cancer among women and penile cancer in men. It can be given to young males and females between the age of nine and 26 years.

Pneumococcal Vaccine: This vaccine acts as a safeguard from infections caused by Streptococcus pneumoniae bacteria, which can lead to pneumonia, meningitis, blood infections and death. People living with chronic illness, sickle cell disease, transplanted organs and those immune-suppressed should consider taking this vaccine.

Hepatitis A and Hepatitis B Vaccine: Both these viruses infect the liver. Everyone can take Hepatitis A and B vaccines to protect themselves. People, who regularly travel outside the country, men having sexual relations with other men, those using illegal drugs, and people having chronic liver disease should take this vaccine.

Influenza Vaccine: This is a yearly vaccination that protects one from flu. It is intended for everyone above the age of 6 months.

Vaccination for Health Care Workers: These vaccines are Hepatitis B, Influenza, MMR, Varicella and Tdap.

Adult vaccines are an integral part of approach towards comprehensive wellbeing. Talk to your health care providers about getting vaccinated today.

VUJJINI VAMSHIDHARA | DC HYDERABAD, NOV. 9

Arguments of Chief Minister Y.S. Jagan Mohan Reddy in the discharge petitions were completed before the CBI special court on Monday. Jagan Mohan Reddy sought the court to discharge him in the cases filed by the CBI in the Jagathi Publications case.

The CBI had named Jagan Mohan Reddy as the first accused and auditor V. Vijaysai Reddy as the second accused.

S. Niranjan Reddy, counsel for Jagan Mohan Reddy argued that the CBI had erred in lodging the case on an issue related to investments made into Jagathi Publications and other issues related to the company. When the company was accused, how could anything be attributed to Jagan Mohan Reddy, counsel asked.

Niranjan Reddy recalled the case of Sunil Bharti Mittal, who got relief at the Supreme Court in case related to the excess spectrum allocation issue.

KTR: TS TO CHECK LAND ISSUES WITH SYMPATHY

DC CORRESPONDENT HYDERABAD, NOV. 9

The state government will sympathetically examine issues related to land rights of people in different parts of the city who do not have these rights due to various reasons, minister K.T. Rama Rao has said.

Interacting with representatives of 20 residential colonies from Uppal at a meeting in Pragathi Bhavan, Rama Rao said the government decision to notify residential colonies such as KCR Nagar, have benefitted their residents.

"The municipal administration department was ready to solve the problems faced by people in other colonies too," the minister said. The online Dharani land records system will ensure that every inch of land in the city will be properly accounted for and land rights issues can be solved with such thorough records, he said.

The state government, Rama Rao said, was addressing one issue after another, sometimes some of them simultaneously, to solve the problems faced by the people. The works taken up for road development and streamlining of traffic in the city over the past six years is one such example, he added.

Development was possible only under the leadership of Chief Minister K. Chandrababhan Rao, he said, adding that every effort will be made to ensure that the poor in society will have their due rights on land and all revenue-related issues speedily will be resolved. The government was working on solving such problems in LB Nagar, Uppal, Qutubapur, Kukatpally, he added.

IIT-H researcher's plan for CO2 battery wins fellowship

DC CORRESPONDENT HYDERABAD, NOV. 9

When India's next mission to Mars takes off in 2024, a possible planetary rover that could be part of that mission may well carry a battery designed at the Indian Institute of Technology in Hyderabad.

The IIT-H on Monday announced that its researcher Dr Chandra Shekhar Sharma, associate professor, department of chemical engineering and Creative & Advanced Research Based On Nanomaterials (CAR-BON) Laboratory, has been awarded the prestigious Swarnajayanti Fellowship for 2019-2020 for his work on the proposed 'Metals CO2' battery.

The metal CO2 batteries are a new technology that has scientific community across the world excited as it not only provides lightweight and high-density power sources but could lead to an ability to draw the source of power, carbon dioxide, from the atmosphere.

Such power sources could also contribute to reducing the gas which is a significant contributor to greenhouse effect that the world is grappling with.

Since the atmosphere on Mars primarily consists of CO2, the broad objective of the IIT-H concept is to scientifically explore and develop a working prototype of Metal (M)-CO2 battery technology and to study the feasibility of this technology in India's next Mars mission, particularly for surface landers and rovers.

Development of Metal-CO2 batteries will provide high specific energy density with the reduction in mass and volume which will help the reduction of payload mass and launch cost in planetary missions, IIT-H said in a release.

A real battery prototype will be developed as an outcome of this fellowship and the Indian Space Research Organisation and Defence Research Development Organisation will be brought on board in the early phase of the project for inputs for indigenous battery development for the Indian space mission.

Dr Sharma was congratulated by Prof. B.S. Murty, Director IIT Hyderabad, for winning the prestigious fellowship and said this recognition pushed IIT-H further into the top league of research institutes working on cutting edge technologies.

NARENDER PULLOOR AND AVINASH P SUBRAMANYAM | DC NIZAMABAD, TIRUPATI, NOV. 9

Two of the four Army personnel who gave their life to stop an infiltration attempt from across the Line of Control (LoC) on Sunday were from the Telugu states.

Army jawan Ryada Mahesh (26) of Komanpally village of Velpur mandal in Nizamabad district and Havildar Ch. Praveen Kumar (37), from Chittoor district's Reddyvaripalle in Irala mandal where killed in Machil sector of Kupwara district of Jammu and Kashmir.

Maresh's family in Nizamabad district was initially informed that he had sustained critical injuries in the encounter. Later, on Sunday night they were told that he had died.

Since then, Mahesh's wife Suhasini, parents, Raju and Gangavva, were inconsolable. Mahesh and Suhasini had a love marriage last year. Mahesh completed schooling at his native place and finished his Intermediate in Nizamabad.

After training, Mahesh was posted in Assam and later at Dehradun, before his transfer to Jammu and Kashmir.

Minister V. Prashanth Reddy rushed to Komanpally and consoled the bereaved family. He assured them of all help. At a young age, Mahesh had made a great sacrifice for the country, he said.

Collector C. Narayana Reddy, commissioner of police Kartikeya accompanied the minister.

Meanwhile, Himachal Pradesh Governor Bandaru Dattatreya spoke to the parents of Mahesh on Monday.

TRS MLC K. Kavitha paid tributes to the jawan, whose mortal remains are likely to reach his native village by Tuesday. Officials are making arrangements for his cremation.

There was gloom in Reddyvaripalle following the death of Havildar Praveen Kumar, who was the only son of Chikala Prathap Reddy and Sugunamma. He had married Rajitha 10 years ago and the couple has an eight-year-old daughter and a five-year-old son.

Inspired by many others from his village, Praveen, who completed his graduation, joined the Army about 17 years ago in 18 Madras Regiment. He served in the National Security Guard for almost three years.

According to his relatives from Reddyvaripalle, Praveen Kumar's family members were expecting his visit for Sankranti. They recalled his earlier visit to the village and said that he used to spend most of his time with friends and family members.

"Praveen has been an inspiration to many youngsters in the village to join the Army. He constantly encouraged the youth to join the armed forces. It is a terrible loss to both the family and the village. He was a great human being," a relative of Praveen said.

The defence ministry paid tributes to the soldier. His mortal remains would be shifted from Machil sector to New Delhi and from there to his native village. The last rites are likely to be performed at his native place Wednesday evening.

Deputy Chief Minister K. Narayana Swamy, minister Peddireddy Ramachandra Reddy, MP N. Reddeppa and Puthalappattu MLA M.S. Babu visited the village on Monday and consoled the family members of the martyred soldier. They said that Chief Minister Y.S. WASTE TO ENERGY PLANT TO BE INAUGURATED TODAY

The 19.8 MW waste to energy (WtE) plant in Jawaharnagar to be officially inaugurated on Tuesday will be the first such unit to be commissioned in southern India.

"The state government considers WtE as an environmentally friendly technology of thermal combustion to dispose of the while generating green power," said an official.

The first phase of the WtE project comprises two boilers fired by refuse derived fuel (RDF). The plant has a multi-stage flue gas cleaning system and online continuous emissions monitoring systems (CEMS) to prevent environmental pollution. The facility uses air-cooled condensers and conserves water.

As per the power purchase agreement with the TS Transco, the green power is being evacuated with negligible transmission losses.

The GHMC has assessed the potential for generating power from garbage at the Jawaharnagar dump yard at 98 MW, keeping in mind the increase in waste generation in the future.

The government was requested to grant permission to expand the WtE plant capacity.

REVANTH HOLDS PROTEST OVER FLOOD FUNDS

DC CORRESPONDENT
HYDERABAD, NOV. 9

TS Congress working president A. Revanth Reddy along with key leaders from Malkajgiri organised a protest at the GHMC headquarters on Monday over alleged embezzlement of flood relief funds. The MP accused the TRS leaders, including some corporators, of looting ₹250 crore of the ₹500-crore relief fund that was sanctioned.

He asked why the government had not distributed the ex gratia sum in the form of cheques or directly deposited it into the accounts of the affected families, instead of handing over cash. He alleged that the TRS was buying votes in the process.

Revanth Reddy said he had submitted a representation with a list of victims who had not received financial aid, and urged the commissioner to issue the funds to affected persons in Kukatpally, LB Nagar and Malkajgiri.

SRAVAN DASOJU SLAMS KTR OVER FLOOD RELIEF

DC CORRESPONDENT
HYDERABAD, NOV. 9

AICC spokesperson Dr Sravan Dasoju slammed minister K.T. Rama Rao for the alleged failure of the government and the GHMC to provide the list of beneficiaries of flood relief funds in Hyderabad, despite multiple requests having been made to the administration.

The Congress leader invited Rama Rao to an open discussion at the Telangana Martyrs' Memorial to discuss the widespread irregularities involved in the distribution of flood relief funds in Hyderabad.

Despite having 100 corporators "like Kauravas" in the GHMC Council, the TRS had miserably failed to rescue the people during the floods. They are looting public money, Dr Sravan alleged.

He asked why the government had not provided financial assistance to the farmers who were also adversely affected as incessant rains had lashed the whole state last month.

LEGAL TANGLE SC upset HC stayed trial court proceedings in matrimonial case

Courts not adhering to deadline worries SC

PARMOD KUMAR | DC
NEW DELHI, NOV. 9

The Supreme Court has deprecated the tendency of courts not adhering to the deadline given by it for the completion of trial and Telangana High Court overreaching its order by putting on hold the trial that was to be completed within two months as per its July 16, 2019, orders.

The top court bench comprising Chief Justice Sharad A. Bobde, Justice A.S. Bopanna and Justice V. Ramasubramanian expressed its anguish over High Court staying the trial court proceedings in a matrimonial matter which the top court had directed the trial court to complete within two months.

Speaking for the bench, Justice Ramasubramanian said, "Suffice it to point out that any attempt to overreach an order of this court passed by consent should be discouraged and deprecated."

Having expressed its disapproval of the High Court staying the trial court proceedings which top court had directed to be completed within two months, Justice Subramanian said, "Therefore, the order of stay granted by the High Court is liable to be vacated and trial directed to be proceeded"

The court asked the trial court to endeavour to conclude the trial within two months. The top court said this while closing a consent petition filed by one T.S.K. Ashwin against his estranged wife Tubati Srivalli, blaming her for the delay in the matrimonial case and thereby delaying his proposed travel to the United States.

"Apart from the party/parties responsible for protracting the proceedings, it is unfortunate that the state, the trial court as well as the High Court have omitted to take note of the timeframe fixed by this court," the bench noted in its recent judgment.

The top court noted that though by its July 16, 2019, order passed with the consent of the rival parties, the trial, as directed by it, was to be concluded within two months but a period of 15 months has now elapsed, the trial has not concluded.

The case is rooted in a criminal complaint filed by the wife on December 20, 2015, against her husband, his parents and other close relatives for alleged offences under Section 498A read with Section 120B and Sections 420 and 365 of the IPC.

The husband who was on bail granted on December 29, 2017, moved the trial court to relax the bail condition to allow him to travel to the US. On dismissal of his application, he moved the High Court which allowed him on November 8, 2018, to go to the US, after furnishing bank guarantee of ₹3 lakh for appearance as and when called upon.

The wife challenged it before the Supreme Court, which passed an order on July 16, 2019, by consent of parties, directing the trial court to conclude the trial of the criminal case within two months.
