India, US to field Vikramaditya, Nimitz at Malabar war game

PAWAN BALI | DC NEW DELHI, NOV. 16

In an indication that they mean business, the second phase of the naval exercises Malabar 2020 involving the Quad countries (India, the United States, Japan and Australia) starting from Tuesday is going to get bigger with the participation of the Indian Navy's aircraft-carrier Vikramaditya and the US Navy's nuclear-powered aircraft-carrier Nimitz.

Beijing sees such exercises as a militarisation of the informal Quad, that it sees as an anti-China alliance. India invited Royal Australian Navy this year to join the Malabar exercises, in a clear message to China. "Phase 2 of Exercise Malabar 2020 will witness joint operations, centered around the Vikramaditya carrier battle group of the Indian Navy and the Nimitz carrier strike group of the US Navy," said Indian Navy spokesman Commander Vivek Madhwal.

DC CORRESPONDENT TIRUPATI, NOV. 16

Tirumala Tirupati Devasthanams (TTD) on Monday filed a memo in connection with the defamation suits filed against Dr A.V. Ramana Deekshithulu and others at the X additional district judge court here.

In the memo, TTD appealed to the court not to press the I.A 158/2020, filed in September to withdraw defamation suits, in connection with the case — O.S. No. 264/2018. TTD prayed the court to dismiss the I.A. 158/2020 without costs as not pressed and pass necessary orders as the court may deem fit and proper in the circumstances, the memo read.

In 2018, Dr Ramana Deekshithulu made startling allegations against the then TTD trust board, which was appointed by the previous state government.

Paddy output plummets in East Godavari due to floods and heavy rains

Floods wash away bumper harvest hopes

VADREVU SRINIVAS | DC KAKINADA, NOV. 16

Yield of paddy in the eastern delta has fallen compared to last year due to floods and rains. Farmers are on an average getting 27 to 28 bags per acre against 31 to 33 bags during last year's Kharif season. Overall, paddy yield is expected to be 11.40 lakh tonnes this year against 13.09 lakh tonnes last year. In addition, farmers are worried about paddy getting discoloured. Another reason for decrease in yield is farmers of central delta and Yeleru canal ayacut transplanting nurseries only twice. When transplanting started for the third time, weather conditions deteriorated and did not favour the crop.

Agriculture Department officials said paddy had been cultivated over 2,19,214 hectares in East

CBI takes over defamation case from CID

DC CORRESPONDENT VIJAYAWADA, NOV. 16

The Central Bureau of Investigation has registered a case against 16 individuals and other unidentified persons for allegedly making defamatory comments against judiciary on different social media platforms.

The CBI, following the directions of the Andhra Pradesh High Court, took over the case from the state Crime Investigation Department which had already registered 12 cases and clubbed them into a single case. Significantly, none of the serving and former public representatives who figured prominently in the HC hearings for their outburst against the High Court and apex court judges have been made accused by the CBI.

The CBI had mentioned in the FIR that these cases were initially registered by the CID based on the complaints of the Registrar General on the allegation that key personnel who are occupying posts of prominence in AP gave interviews and issued statements targeting judges and posted abusive and intimidating comments against judges over the recent orders of the HC.

The HC on October 12 directed the CBI to probe the case and submit a

SC judge recuses from case on Jagan

PARMOD KUMAR | DC NEW DELHI, NOV. 16

Supreme Court Justice Uday Umesh Lalit, who was to hear a PIL seeking the removal of Y.S. Jagan Mohan Reddy from the post of Andhra Pradesh Chief Minister over his "scandalising" remarks against a senior judge of the top court, on Monday recused himself from the case saying, "I have difficulties. As a lawyer I had represented one of the parties. Place the matter before the Chief Justice for listing before an appropriate bench of which I am not a member."

Justice Lalit had, as senior Supreme Court lawyer in 2011-12, appeared before the Andhra Pradesh High Court on behalf of Reddy.

The Chief Minister had, in a letter written to Chief Justice of India S.A. Bobde, alleged that a sitting judge of the SC was trying to "destabilise and topple my democratically elected government."

In an open letter addressed to CJI Bobde on October 6, the Chief Minister had alleged that the senior judge had been influencing the sittings of the Andhra Pradesh High Court, including the roster of a few judges.

The HC expressed displeasure over the CID investigation before handing over the case to the central agency. CBI office in Visakhapatnam registered the case under various sections. Rakesh Kumar and J. Uma Devi observed that "The postings were made to bring hatred, contempt, incite disaffection and ill-will against the HC and Hon'ble judges."

It had noted that the Speaker and the Deputy CM had not restrained themselves from making "scathing remarks" against the judiciary.

SC sends bail plea of man for jailed for tweet to HC

DC CORRESPONDENT with agency inputs NEW DELHI, MUMBAI, NOV. 16

The Supreme Court on Monday refused to entertain a plea for bail of a man who was arrested from Gujarat for posting allegedly objectionable comments in his tweets against Maharashtra Chief Minister Uddhav Thackeray and his minister-son Aaditya.

A bench of Chief Justice S.A. Bobde and Justices A.S. Bopanna and V. Ramasubramanian asked the counsel for Sameer Thakkar to approach the Bombay HC with the plea saying that it can also uphold his fundamental rights.

"The High Court can also uphold your fundamental rights. It can also transfer the case and grant you bail. Then why are you coming under 32 (under Article 32 of the Constitution, writ pleas are filed in the Supreme Court). You please go to the High Court," the bench told senior advocate Mahesh Jethmalani Jethmalani said that Thakkar has been arrested for "bailable offences" and this will "shock your Lordships" "We are quite immune from shock. We see it everyday. Nothing shocks us," the bench observed and asked him to approach the High Court.

Meanwhile, a local court in Mumbai on Monday, granted bail to Sameer Thakkar. Thakkar was granted bail after the Maharashtra government earlier in the day assured the Supreme Court that it will not oppose Thakkar's bail application.

Senior counsel Rahul Chitnis on behalf of the state had told the Supreme Court that Thakkar's interrogation was completed.

SC TO AP: SEEK EC'S APPROVAL FOR SCHEMES

DC CORRESPONDENT VIJAYAWADA, NOV. 16

The Supreme Court on Monday asked the state government to approach the State Election Commission for permission to execute development works and schemes.

A three-member bench headed by Chief Justice S.A. Bobde was hearing an interim application filed by the state government seeking modification of an earlier order in which the apex court while defending the SEC's decision to postpone elections to local bodies in February, directed the state to implement development works and schemes after obtaining the election body approval.

Senior counsel Mukul Rohtagi, appearing for the state government, argued that prior permission is not required as there is no code of conduct. The bench sought to know from the counsel if the state made any attempt to approach the SEC. Following this, Rohtagi sought the SC permission to apply to the SEC for carrying out specific works.

He alleged that a pink diamond from the temple treasury had gone missing and there was an attempt to excavate the temple for hidden treasures.

YSRC MP Vijaya Sai Reddy also accused former chief minister N. Chandrababu Naidu of taking away the pink diamond and demanded a search of his house. In this regard, the then trust board led by its chairman Putta Sudhakar Yadav, passed a resolution (Res. No. 109, 05-06-2018) to issue notices to Deekshithulu and others and to file a suit against them for damages.

In a counter filed by the TTD recently, it was stated that Deekshithulu and Vijay Sai Reddy have given written statements, saying that they did not make any statement to cause defame or disrespect either to Lord Venkateshwara Swami or to TTD.

Taking into consideration the pleadings of the defendants and also to save money and time in further proceeding the matter, the present trust board passed a resolution (Res. No. 227, 29-02-2020) seeking withdrawal of the suit.

The board's decision, however, came in for widespread criticism from opposition parties and also from several Hindu outfits and organisations. Also, a Hindu outfit, Hindu Janasakthi Welfare Association filed a petition before the court, seeking to include it as a plaintiff. The TTD, however, recently filed a counter to this petition. Now, TTD has filed a memo in connection with the defamation suits, before the X additional district judge and the case has been posted to November 23.

Mani, Sunil Kumar Singh and Anti-Corruption Council of India Trust, seeking action against the Chief Minister for his allegations.

They have alleged that Jagan Mohan Reddy didn't just write a letter to Chief Justice Bobde levelling allegations against the senior judge, but he also made his aide hold a press conference to release the letter, with false statements.

Singh has urged the Supreme Court to issue an order to bar the Chief Minister from making public statements that lower the image of the judiciary in the eyes of the public.

DC CORRESPONDENT
VIJAYAWADA, NOV. 16

Telugu Desam senior leader Devineni Umamaheswara Rao demanded that the YSRC government to come out with facts on Polavaram irrigation project's dam height in the wake of apprehensions on its reduction.

Speaking to the media on Monday, the former minister stated that there were conflicting reports on Polavaram dam's height from various quarters and asked the state government to clear the apprehensions on the issue among the political parties and the farmers.

He also asked the state government to clarify as to when it was going to complete the execution of the whole project and alleged the inordinate delay in its execution resulted in cost escalation.

He turned critical on the state government for failing to mount pressure upon the Centre to get the assured special category status and also funds for Polavaram project and other schemes and works.

He cautioned that in the event of a reduction in Polavaram dam's height, it would affect the water storage capacity and also upset the plans to the inter-link the Godavari with Krishna and Penna rivers.

3 proposals submitted on restructuring Nellore dist

Panel requested to keep Sarvepalli segment in Nellore district

PATHRI RAJASEKHAR |
DC
NELLORE, NOV. 16

The 12-member District-Level Committee constituted for restructuring SPSR Nellore district has submitted three proposals to the state government for reorganisation of the district.

One is to keep the district intact, citing geographical and historical reasons. The committee justifies this recommendation pointing out that the district was formed based on area, population, geographical contiguity, physical features, historical associations, education, culture, common interests and problems, administrative convenience and economic growth.

Contrary to this is dividing the district on the basis of parliamentary constituencies, taking population and number of electors into consideration. Sources in the administration said this would deprive the original Nellore district of major industrial centres including the Krishnapatnam Port, apart from special economic zones (SEZs) in Menakauru and Tada.

Despite have long history and possessing great heritage, Nellore district has become very small compared to other districts in Andhra Pradesh after it lost vast areas when Prakasam district was formed, a senior official pointed out.

Among the 10 existing assembly constituencies, Nellore City, Rural, Kovur, Atmakur, Udayagiri, Kavali and Kandukur assembly segments of Prakasam district are part of Nellore Lok Sabha seat, whereas Sarvepalli, Gudur (SC), Sullurpetta (SC) and Venkatagiri in Nellore district are attached to Tirupati parliament seat.

In the second proposal of reorganising Nellore district, the committee wants to keep Sarvepalli constituency in Nellore district, along with Sarvepalli's vital installations, such as Krishnapatnam Port, Vikram Simhapuri University, Agriculture Rice Research Station, power projects, like APGENCO and SEMB Corp, NCERT, Fisheries Research Centre, and other big business establishments. There are also large chunks of lands available for establishing industries through APIIC in the Chennai-Bangalore Industrial Corridor.

Incidentally, legislator of Sarvepalli, Kakani Govardhan Reddy of YSRC, has requested the committee to keep his segment in Nellore district, sources said.

As per the third proposal, the committee has underlined the need to keep Gudur assembly segment in Nellore district, as there will be no representation for SCs from Nellore district in the assembly if the district is bifurcated. This is because two SC seats, Gudur and Sullurpetta, will become part of Tirupati (or Balaji) district.

If the government agrees for second and third proposals, the restructured Nellore district will comprise nine assembly segments including Kandukur, Udayagiri, Kavali, Atmakur, Kovur, Nellore City and Rural, Sarvepalli and Gudur, sources in the administration said.

ple were carrying out a bad propaganda against the government that AP would become 'Angla Pradesh' (English Pradesh). But people should not believe such talk as many of the students in private schools are preferring Sanskrit, French or other languages instead of Telugu with an intention of getting highest marks.

Stating that Jagan was setting right the lacuna and preferred Telugu language in English medium schools, he said that the Chief Minister had promised that free transport facility would be provided to Telugu medium students. He said that Godavari districts have given good preference to the Telugu literature, but for the past eight years, there was no official language commission or its office, but Jagan appointed a commission for Telugu language within three months after assuming charge as Chief Minister.

Prasad said that the commission has full powers and the it can inspect any government office and give suggestions to the departments in implementing Telugu language. He also said that a Telugu dictionary would be published soon for making use of the employees to clear doubts in implementing the Telugu language in the administration.

Prasad also expressed satisfaction over the implementation of Telugu language in East Godavari district. He said Kunavaram tahasildar office was implementing Telugu language cent per cent, district insurance office (98 per cent), Gangavaram tahsildar Office (96 per cent), Rampachodavaram tahasildar office (96 per cent), Kakinada Municipal Corporation (93 per cent) and implemented Telugu language.

Olive Ridley turtles

Last season 64,030 baby turtles walked into sea

DC CORRESPONDENT
VISAKHAPATNAM, NOV. 16

Protective nesting of endangered species Olive Ridley sea turtles on the Visakhapatnam shore are showing positive results. The 2019-2020 season had 811 nestings in which the turtles laid 74,932 eggs and 64,030 were of them hatched successfully and the babies walked back to sea towards their home. The season began during Sankranti this year and ended in mid-May.

“We achieved 85.40 per cent success rate by using the ex-situ method and the increasing trend shows a growth of 20 per cent,” said founder-director of Visakha Society for Care and Protection of Animals Pradeep Nath. Talking to this correspondent here on Monday, he said the Society began conservation of Olive Ridley Turtles way back in 1996 with 23 nests, and now it has gone up to 811 nests.

Mr Nath attributed the rising trend due to the imprint technology that the female turtle possesses where she returns to the place where she was born and walked through to the ocean. It takes 20 years for the female turtle to attain reproductive stage.

He said the nesting period starts from January and ends in May and asked the government agencies to protect the beaches and make it convenient for the turtles to lay eggs and hatch them.

Mr Nath said by increasing protection for the endangered Olive Ridley the nesting ground could gradually cover the entire 133 km Visakhapatnam district beach grounds to allow these species to nest anywhere along the coastline for nesting, egg-laying, food and safety.

He also appealed to the fisheries department to insist on the mechanised boats to use turtle excluding devices to prevent butchering the turtles.

“Dead turtles are already seen at different parts of the Visakhapatnam beach indicating the arrival of the nesting season,” Mr Nath added.

Rain batters life in Tirupati

Irrigation officials have deputed field staff to keep a tab on tanks and canals to prevent breaches.

At the same time, normal life across several parts of Chittoor district, especially in Tirumala and Tirupati city, has been disrupted on Monday following intermittent rains throughout the day under the influence of the northeast monsoon.

Temperature dropped due to strong surface winds, forcing people, especially senior citizens, to remain indoors. Several low-lying areas in the district have been inundated and people are walking through knee-deep water for reaching their homes.

Urban and rural pockets of Tirupati had witnessed showers during the last couple of days, recording 18.6 mm rainfall on Saturday, 19.4 mm

Farmers urge state govt

KAKINADA, NOV. 16

Distraught farmers have pleaded for immediate purchase of their paddy, which has been discoloured due to the recent rains. Kadiyam farmers, led by Rajamahendravaram MLA Gorantla Buchaiah Chowdary, took out a rally on Monday demanding the government should sort out their problems.

Buchaiah Chowdary said that the Chief Minister Y.S. Jagan Mohan Reddy was not justifying the farmers in providing compensation for their crop loss. He alleged that all tenant farmers have not been paid compensation. Citing an example, he said after a farmer with 10 acres of land gives it on lease to three others the government gives compensation only to the original and tenant farmer, leaving the remaining farmers in the lurch. Many tenant farmers are suffering from such problems. He said that revenue and agriculture department officials did not register their names in the e-crop list.

TD state secretary Velugubanti Prasad said that the government must purchase the discoloured paddy as even paddy purchasing centres are refusing to buy them. He said that the crop has been damaged thrice this season.

TD leaders V. Nani, former sarpanches V. Venkateswara Rao, G. Satyanarayana, P. Prakash Kumar and others were present.

KOLKATA, NOV. 16

Playing the industrialisation card ahead of next year's Assembly elections, West Bengal BJP president Dilip Ghosh on Monday asserted that the party would turn the state into a Gujarat so that no one would have to migrate elsewhere for jobs.

He said that the Tata Group was given land by the BJP government in Gujarat for its Nano small-car project soon after it was "driven out" of Singur in Hooghly by Trinamul Congress supremo Mamata Banerjee when she was in the Opposition during the Communist rule.

Ghosh said at Barasat in North 24 Parganas, "We want to turn our state into Gujarat. Didi sometimes complains against attempts to make this state a Gujarat. We say we will try for it 100 times. We will certainly turn this state into Gujarat. Our youth will get jobs here. No one will have to go to Gujarat."

The Midnapore BJP MP told the Chief Minister, "Shutting down the Tata factory, you will win votes. Will we have to live as beggars here?" He pointed out that the Gujarat government had given land to the Tatas within 24 hours of its exit from West Bengal, he said.

SAHOO | DC
BHUBANESWAR, NOV. 16

Senior BJP leader Daggubati Purandeswari who was recently appointed the party's in-charge for Odisha in place of Arun Singh has a tough task in her hand — packing more firepower to the state organisation that has been struggling to wrest power from the ruling Biju Janata Dal (BJD).

Despite her party winning eight of the 21 Lok Sabha seats and 23 of 147 Assembly seats in the simultaneous polls held in May 2019, it has bitten the dust in the three Assembly elections held recently.

Desperately trying to position itself as the key rival of the ruling BJD since it walked out of an 11-year-old alliance with the former in 2019, the saffron party has always been found wanting on several fronts. It has failed to match the cadre strength and number of booth level workers of the ruling party.

According to party insiders, the BJP is failing repeatedly to register spectacular results largely because of lack of "adequate" efforts by the state leaders and "diluting" its stands against the ruling dispensation. Discreet silence mega mining and chit fund scams and alleged close proximity of some leaders of the BJD supremo and Chief Minister Naveen Patnaik, according to political analysts, have confused the voters if it (the BJP) is the real political adversary of the ruling party.

FREE PRESS SOUL OF DEMOCRACY,
SAY LEADERS

New Delhi, Nov. 16: Describing a free press as the 'soul of democracy', top leaders including President Ram Nath Kovind and Prime Minister Narendra Modi on Monday commended media persons for their work as frontline warriors during the Covid-19 pandemic.

In their messages on the occasion of the National Press Day, the leaders also stressed that any attack on the freedom of press is detrimental to national interests and must be opposed by one and all.

While the President and the PM lauded the media for its contribution during the pandemic, vice president M. Venkaiah Naidu and Union ministers Amit Shah and Prakash Javadekar emphasised on the importance of freedom of press in the country and condemned any attack on it.

In his written message, which was read out during a webinar organised by the Press Council of India (PCI) to celebrate the National Press Day, the President said that media persons have been among frontline Corona warriors who played a major role in educating people and mitigating the impact of the pandemic. Kovind said the theme of this year's National Press Day celebration, 'role of media during Covid-19 and its impact on the media', deals with the most serious crisis facing the world and the country.

Daggers drawn in Congress
over Bihar election debacle

It could win only 19 out of the 70 seats it contested in just concluded polls

SREEPARNA
CHAKRABARTY | DC
NEW DELHI, NOV. 16

Even as Nitish Kumar begins his record fourth term as Bihar chief minister, the Congress Party is in the throes of a meltdown over its disastrous performance in the Assembly polls which prevented the Grand Alliance from winning the elections by a hair's breadth.

The Congress, which could win only 19 out of the 70 seats it contested in the just concluded Bihar polls, is largely being held responsible for the debacle of the Mahagathbandhan or the Grand Alliance with the Left parties and the Rashtriya Janata Dal having performed far better.

This has led to many senior Congress leaders, who were already on a warpath over the "organisational mess in the party", to speak out again. Sources told this newspaper that the group of 23, which comprises leaders who had written a letter to Congress president Sonia Gandhi expressing their grievances in late August, are planning to take up the Bihar polls debacle, too.

Sources said that the leaders are waiting for Congress treasurer Ahmed Patel to recover from Covid-19. Patel, who is known to be very close to Congress president Sonia Gandhi and has been her political secretary, is currently in hospital.

Senior lawyer and Rajya Sabha MP Kapil Sibal, who is one of the leaders among the group of 23, has already come out in the open saying that the party is unwilling to introspect.

"If for six years, the Congress has not introspected, what hope do we have for introspection now? We know what is wrong with Congress. The party itself knows the answers. But they are not willing to recognise those answers. If they do not recognise those answers, then the graph will continue to decline," he said.

Sibal added that there was "reluctance because the CWC is a nominated body. Democratic processes must be adopted and embraced even in the constitution of the CWC, which is reflected in the provisions of the Congress' constitution itself".

Among others who have spoken out are Tamil Nadu MP and former finance minister P. Chidambaram's son Karti Chidambaram and Bihar Congress leader Tariq Anwar.

"It's time we introspect, ideate, consult & act @INCIndia," Karti Chidambaram tweeted.

Anwar said on Sunday that the Congress must learn from the Bihar debacle and complete alliance formalities well in advance for upcoming

OATH-TAKING

Patna, Nov. 16: The opposition Grand Alliance on Monday decided to boycott the oath-taking ceremony of Nitish Kumar, claiming the mandate in the elections was "against the NDA" which has been changed by a "fraud".

RJD, which is spearheading the five-party Mahagathbandhan, and its allies have decided to remain away from the swearing-in function of Kumar.

"The RJD boycotts oath-taking ceremony of this puppet government. The mandate is for a change, and against the (ruling) NDA. The peoples verdict has been changed by the rulers order," the RJD alleged in a tweet. — PTI

At swearing-in,
Sushil looks forlorn

Patna, Nov. 16: Senior BJP leader Sushil Kumar Modi, who has not been retained in the new Bihar dispensation after serving as the deputy chief minister for close to 15 years, attended the swearing-in ceremony of new NDA government on Monday but looked aloof in the crowd of new MLAs.

A 14-member council of ministers headed by Chief Minister Nitish Kumar was administered the oath of office at the Raj Bhawan here by Governor Phagu Chauhan.

Sushil Modi, who has been Nitish Kumar's deputy in all the NDA government he has led in Bihar, was not among the 14. He was invited for the swearing-in ceremony though, and he came, but did not look his usual self.

Otherwise a vibrant politician, Sushil Modi watched, not betraying much emotions, as Kumar and others were administered the oath of office.

The BJP has replaced Sushil Modi as the deputy chief minister, bringing in two new faces for the post multiple-term BJP MLAs Tarkishore Prasad and Renu Devi.

At one point of time, Kumar spotted his long-term deputy and asked him to come near him. The two walked together for some distance, much to the glee of the paparazzi, but their paths were different this time and they separated.

Kumar and Sushil Modi's pair as CM and Deputy CM since 2005, barring a 20-month gap when Kumar was in alliance with the RJD, has been the hallmark of the ruling coalition in the state.

The smooth sail of the successive JD(U)-BJP governments in the state has, to a large extent, been attributed to the good chemistry the two leaders shared.

However, this rapport was resented by a section of his Sushil Modi's own partymen who would have otherwise confronted the JD(U) boss on some issues.

Nitish Kumar: Masterful
craftsman of realpolitik

Patna, Nov. 16: "Politics is the art of the possible", German statesman Otto Von Bismarck once famously said. And who understands it better than Nitish Kumar, the modern-day craftsman of realpolitik, who has survived many a headwind to secure a fourth straight term as the Bihar Chief Minister despite his party finishing a poor third in the 243-member state Assembly.

Nitish Kumar's unusual knack for spotting friends has got him where it has despite the drastic slump in the electoral fortune of his party that won just 43 seats, down from 71 it had in 2015, and 31 less than ally BJP which clinched 74. The most atypical of politicians owing their rise to post-Mandal politics, Nitish Kumar stood out for his ability to address the governance deficit, unlike a majority of the breed reared in the socialist stable, but was often accused of pursuing politics of opportunism. Call it political opportunism or sagacity, his moves, in effect, prevented the Hindutva forces from holding sway over Bihar, where a section of the BJP feels mortified over not having its own chief minister till date despite enjoying a near hegemonic status nationally.

Known for weighing his options carefully before making any move, Kumar, upon a closer look, comes across as a risk taker who has not shied away from going against the tide. An engineer by training who had taken an active part in the JP movement, he spurned a job offer from the state electricity department and decided to take the political gamble, an oddity among educated youth in Bihar for whom the lure of "sarkari naukri" remains undiminished.

Unlike Lalu Prasad and Ram Vilas Paswan, his co-travellers during the movement led by Jayaprakash Narayan, electoral success eluded Kumar for long.

He got the first taste of victory, after three successive defeats, in the 1985 Assembly polls when he won from Harnaut as a candidate of the Lok Dal though the Congress swept the elections riding the tailwind generated by the assassination of Indira Gandhi the previous year.

Four years later he entered the Lok Sabha from Barh even as fellow MP from Saran Lalu Prasad shifted to Bihar, taking over as the chief minister and scripting a spectacular success story which altered the state's political landscape. Kumar, one of the most articulate leaders of the Janata Dal, had fully backed Lalu in the keenly fought internal contest for chief ministership.

The next decade-and-a-half saw Prasad's rise as one of the most powerful but controversial figures of his time who ruled the state by proxy, getting his demure homemaker wife Rabri Devi elected as his successor, when a charge sheet in fodder scam caused him to step down as the chief minister. During the same period, Kumar burnt his bridges with Prasad, floated the Samata Party, and built his own political edifice brick by brick.

BHOPAL, NOV. 16

Two ministers in the Shivraj Singh Cabinet have sparked a political row by 'deciding' to continue in their positions despite being defeated in the recent byelections in their respective Assembly constituencies.

State ministers Imarti Devi and Giriraj Dandotia have so far maintained a silence over their next course of action following their loss in the bypolls, indicating that they are not in favour of stepping down and want to continue in their position till January 2 when their six-month tenure in the ministry ends.

As per the Constitution, a non-MLA can be inducted into a ministry for six months during which he or she needs to be elected. The Congress on Monday raked up the issue demanding that all the ministers in the Shivraj Singh ministry who lost the bypolls should step down on moral grounds.

"It is unethical on the part of the ministers who lost the bypolls to continue in their positions. They forfeited the moral right to continue in the ministry after losing. Chief Minister Shivraj Singh Chouhan should ask them to put in their papers if they do not volunteer to resign," Congress spokesman ● MP MINISTERS Imarti Devi and Giriraj Dandotia have so far maintained a silence over their next course of action following their loss in the bypolls, indicating that they are not in favour of stepping down and want to continue in their position till January 2 when their six-month tenure in the ministry ends.

Bhupendra Gupta said here.

The BJP has chosen to keep mum on the issue. "It is the Chief Minister's prerogative to decide whom he wants in his ministry and whom he wants to drop", BJP spokesman here Rajneesh Agrawal said.

Legal experts say that Constitutional provisions do not bar the defeated ministers from continuing in the ministry till the end of the six-month-period even after failing to get elected to the House during the period.

"As per Article 164 (4) of the Constitution, a person who is not an MLA can continue as a minister for six months," Anand Bhardwaj, senior advocate of the Gwalior bench of the Madhya Pradesh High Court, said.

Another minister in the Shivraj Singh cabinet, Anand Singh Kansana, has also lost the byelections. He has announced that he will step down. But he is yet to put in his papers.

Winter, budget sessions likely to be clubbed

New Delhi, Nov. 16: In the wake of rising Covid-19 cases in the national capital, it is being contemplated that a single extended session of parliament be held instead of separate winter and budget sessions, sources said on Monday.

However, nothing has been finalised and discussions are still in a preliminary stage. A final call is yet to be taken, but there are suggestions that a single unified session can be held in the place of two sessions in such a short span of period, the sources said.

The winter session of parliament usually starts from the last week of November or the first week of December, while the budget session starts from the last week of January and the Union Budget is tabled on February 1.

The monsoon session, which was held from September 14 in midst of the pandemic, was cut short by eight days and concluded on September 24 as, despite the elaborate arrangements made by authorities, many MPs and Parliament staff members tested positive for Covid-19.

Several first-time measures such as staggered sitting of Lok Sabha and Rajya Sabha and the use of both chambers and galleries to accommodate members while following physical distancing norms were implemented during the monsoon session.

The Budget session was also curtailed earlier this year amid the looming threat of the Covid-19 pandemic.

Former Lok Sabha secretary general P.D.T. Acharya said it is a convention to hold three sessions of parliament in a year. It is not a rule. As per the Constitution, there should not be a gap of six months or more between two sessions.

If government clubs two sessions of parliament and holds only two sessions this year, then it will not be a violation of any rule, Acharya added.

The national capital had recorded its highest single-day spike of 8,593 Covid-19 cases on Wednesday. On Thursday, 104 fatalities, the highest in a day in over five months, were recorded. The rise in cases prompted the Centre to announce fresh steps on Sunday including a house-to-house survey. — PTI

GUPKAR | ALLIANCE BJP terms PAGD an unholy alliance, which wants exactly what 'Pak, anti-India nations want

BJP asks Congress to clarify its stand on Article 370

DC CORRESPONDENT
NEW DELHI, NOV. 16

Slamming the People's Alliance for Gupkar Declaration (PAGD) as an "unholy alliance," which wants exactly what "Pakistan and anti-India countries want," the BJP on Monday asked the Congress to clarify its stand on Article 370 after the Jammu and Kashmir PCC chief said that the party will contest the maiden District Development Council (DDC) with the alliance.

Reminding the Congress top brass, including party president Sonia Gandhi and former president

Rahul Gandhi, that restoration of Article 370 is the declared agenda of the alliance, senior BJP leader and Union minister Ravi Shankar Prasad said the Congress should tell the nation categorically whether or not it supports annulment of pro-people and humanitarian laws that came into force in J&K after the annulment of the Article 370.

Prasad also asked the Congress leadership whether or not it supports the statement of PAGD chairman and National Conference chief Farooq Abdullah that he wished Article 370 will be restored with China's help and also of PDP's Mehbooba Mufti, who had said that she would only hold the Tricolour after the J&K state flag is restored.

He cited Central laws including on juvenile justice, human rights and reservations for SC/ST, OBCs, and those against child marriage, corruption, transactions and against triple talaq, that were implemented in J&K post-annulment of Article 370 and the benefits of annulment of Article 35(A).

He asked: "I want to ask Sonia Gandhi and Rahul Gandhi, do they want the restoration of Article 370? Please tell the nation categorically and clearly does the Congress support annulment of pro-people laws."

He accused the PAGD of pushing J&K towards a state of "narrow conservatism."

The PAGD is an amalgamation of various Jammu and Kashmir based political parties who are seeking the restoration of Article 370.

Earlier, targeting the Congress over its ties with the NC and the PDP, BJP spokesperson Sambit Patra also lashed out at the PAGD, describing the alliance as "unholy".

"This Gupkar Alliance wants exactly what Pakistan and anti-India countries want. Pakistan has gone to every forum and spoken against the removal of Article 370. The Gupkar Alliance says the same thing," said Patra who also took at a dig at Gandhi over comments of the likes of former US president Barack Obama to RJD leader Shivanand Tiwari.

EVICTION OF GUJJAR-BAKERWAL
COMMUNITY 'ILLEGAL': MEHBOOBA

Srinagar, Nov. 16: Jammu and Kashmir Peoples Democratic Party (PDP) president Mehbooba Mufti on Monday warned the government against evicting members of the Gujjar-Bakerwal community from forest areas in the Union Territory, saying if they are harassed, the consequences would be dangerous.

Mehbooba visited the upper reaches of Pahalgam in south Kashmir's Anantnag district on Monday and met people whose 'Dhoks' (temporary shelters) were demolished by authorities as part of an anti-encroachment drive.

"This is part of the illegal process started by central government in Jammu and Kashmir after the abrogation of Article 370, under which the people, who live here like nomads, Gujjars, Bakerwals, whose forefathers have been living here for centuries, are being evicted," Mehbooba said.

IN BRIEF EXTREMIST GOES ON TRIAL IN FRANCE

Paris, Nov. 16: An Islamic State operative goes on trial Monday in France on terror charges for swaggering bare-chested through a train in 2015 with an arsenal of weapons and shooting one passenger.

He was brought down by three American vacationers in an electrifying capture that Clint Eastwood turned into a Hollywood thriller. The scene five years ago on the fast train from Amsterdam to Paris is the focus of the month-long trial of Ayoub El Khazzani, with testimony expected from the two US servicemen and their friend, who have been hailed as heroes. Eastwood, who turned the drama on August 21, 2015 in car No. 12 into a movie "The 15:17 to Paris," has been also summoned to appear on November 23. It was unclear whether they would be present or testify by video. El Khazzani, a 31-year-old Moroccan boarded the train in Brussels armed to the hilt, authorities say.

JETLINER HITS BROWN BEAR IN ALASKA

Yakutat (US), Nov. 16: An Alaska Airlines jetliner struck a brown bear while landing early Saturday evening, killing the animal and causing damage to the plane, officials said.

None of the passengers or crew members on board the plane were injured during the accident at the Yakutat Airport in southeast Alaska, The Anchorage Daily News reported. The Boeing 737-700 killed the brown bear sow, but a cub thought to be about 2 years old was uninjured, Alaska Department of Transportation and Public Facilities spokesman Sam Dapevich said.

Airport crew members had cleared the runway about 10 minutes before the flight was expected to land, Dapevich said. The plane landed after dark and crews followed normal procedures for runway checks. The staff did not see signs of wildlife during the check, but the pilots spotted the two bears crossing the runway as the jet slowed after landing, Dapevich said.

"The nose gear missed the bears, but the captain felt an impact on the left side after the bears passed under the plane," Alaska Airlines said in a statement. The pilots saw the bear lying about 20 feet (6 metres) from the center of the runway as the plane taxied to a parking area just before 6:30 p.m., the airline said. It was not immediately clear how many passengers were on the flight. The plane departed from the town of Cordova.

SPACEX SENDS 4 ASTRONAUTS TO SPACE STATION

Cape Canaveral, Nov. 16: SpaceX launched four astronauts to the International Space Station on the first full-fledged taxi flight for NASA by a private company. The Falcon rocket on Sunday thundered into the night from Kennedy Space Center with three Americans and one Japanese, the second crew to be launched by SpaceX.

The Dragon capsule on top — named Resilience by its crew in light of this year's many challenges, most notably COVID-19 — reached orbit nine minutes later. It is due to reach the space station late Monday and remain there until spring. "By working together through these difficult times, you've inspired the nation, the world, and in no small part the name of this incredible vehicle, Resilience," Commander Mike Hopkins said right before liftoff. Once reaching orbit, he radioed: "That was one heck of a ride." Sidelined by the Coronavirus himself, SpaceX founder and chief executive Elon Musk was forced to monitor the action from afar.

He tweeted that he "most likely" had a moderate case of Covid-19. NASA policy at Kennedy Space Center requires anyone testing positive for Coronavirus to quarantine and remain isolated. Sunday's launch follows by just a few months SpaceX's two-pilot test flight. It kicks off what NASA hopes will be a long series of crew rotations between the US and the space station, after years of delay. More people means more science research at the orbiting lab, according to officials. Cheers and applause erupted at SpaceX Mission Control in Hawthorne, California, after the capsule reached orbit and the first-stage booster landed on a floating platform in the Atlantic. Musk tweeted a single red heart. The flight to the space station — 27 1/2 hours door to door — should be entirely automated.

Belgium's Janssen begins Covid-19 vaccine trial in UK

Clinical trial to involve 6,000 volunteers across the country

London, Nov. 16: Belgium-headquartered global pharmaceutical company Janssen began a major new clinical trial of its potential vaccine against Covid-19 in the UK from Monday, which will involve 6,000 volunteers across the country. Recruitment into the Phase 3 study will complete in March 2021 and the trial will last for 12 months. It marks the third potential vaccine to enter clinical trials in the UK, alongside US biotech company Novavax and University of Oxford/AstraZeneca, whose studies remain ongoing.

"The start of further clinical trials in the UK is yet another step forward in the race to discover a safe and effective vaccine, and comes alongside recent news that we could be on the cusp of the first major breakthrough since the pandemic began," said UK Business Secretary Alok Sharma.

"While we are optimistic with the progress being made, there are no guarantees and it is possible there will be no one-size-fits-all vaccine. That is why it is absolutely vital that while our scientists are cracking on with the job, we continue to follow the guidance to control the virus, protect the NHS and save lives," he said. The UK volunteers will take part in the trial at 17 National Institute for Health Research (NIHR) sites, including in Southampton, Bristol, Cardiff, London Leicester, Sheffield, Manchester, Dundee and Belfast, according to the government's Department for Business, Energy & Industrial Strategy (BEIS).

It said the government has developed a portfolio of six different vaccine candidates and secured access to 350 million doses to date. Of this, 30 million doses of the Janssen vaccine could be made available to the UK if it is safe and effective by mid-2021.

Street artist Eme Freethinker works on one of his mural paintings on a segment of the Berlin wall (1961-1989) in Berlin's Mauerpark on Sunday. The still-standing segment of the so-called "rear wall", which used to prevent access for east Germans to the death strip, is a legal graffiti and street art space that has become an alternative to museums, many of which are closed due to the Covid-19 pandemic.

"Finding an effective vaccine with a good safety profile is a top priority in helping to protect us all more quickly against Covid-19. While the news of a potential vaccine is tremendously exciting, our ambition in the scientific community is to ensure we leave no stone unturned in the search for a solution to help end this pandemic," said Professor Saul Faust, Director of the NIHR Southampton Clinical Research Facility and Chief Investigator for the Janssen Phase 3 trial.

"All the vaccines that are being trialled work by generating immune responses to the same part of the coronavirus as the RNA vaccine that has announced some interim early results," he said.

The trial by Janssen Pharmaceutical Companies, part of Johnson & Johnson, is jointly funded by the UK government's Vaccine Taskforce to test the safety and effectiveness of a potential Covid-19 vaccine. Paul Stoffels, Vice Chairman of the Executive Committee and Chief Scientific Officer,

Merkel, govts to assess lockdown

Berlin, Nov. 16: German Chancellor Angela Merkel will assess the effects of a nearly two-week-long partial lockdown with state governors in a video conference Monday.

Germany went into a partial lockdown at the beginning of November that included closing restaurants, cafes and cultural institutions, but left open schools and stores after virus figures spiked exponentially in October. The rise of new infections has since slowed down, but on Friday the country still registered a new record of 23,542 cases. On Monday, 10,824 new cases were reported by the country's disease control center. However, virus figures are usually lower at the beginning of the week because there's less testing on weekends.

Merkel and the 16 state governors will begin their evaluation of the country's Coronavirus situation in the afternoon. Local media reported that possible new measures could include recommendations to further reduce social contacts and to cut school classes in half and have elementary school children wear masks.

Johnson & Johnson, said: "We are delighted to be initiating our global Phase 3 trial in the UK to study the safety and efficacy of a two-dose regimen of our investigational Covid-19 vaccine candidate. "This collaboration with UK researchers and the NIHR demonstrates our continued commitment to working together with partners around the world, and marks another positive step forward."

PERU PRESIDENT RESIGNS, CRISIS GRIPS NATION

Lima, Nov. 16: Peru's interim president resigned Sunday as the nation plunged into its worst constitutional crisis in two decades following massive protests unleashed when Congress ousted the nation's popular leader.

In a short televised address, Manuel Merino said Congress acted within the law when he was sworn into office as chief of state Tuesday, despite protesters' allegations that legislators had staged a parliamentary coup. "I, like everyone, want what's best for our country," he said.

The politician agreed to step down after a night of unrest in which two young protesters were killed and half his Cabinet resigned. Peruvians cheered the decision, waving their nation's red and white flag on the streets.

Kids will tell what they want for Christmas from six feet away

Here comes Santa with mask, plexiglass

New York, Nov. 16: Santa Claus is coming to the mall — just don't try to sit on his lap. Despite the pandemic — and the fact that Santa's age and weight put him at high risk for severe illness from the Coronavirus — mall owners are going ahead with plans to bring him back this year. But they are doing all they can to keep the jolly old man safe, including banning kids from sitting on his knee, no matter if they've been naughty or nice. Kids will instead tell Santa what they want for Christmas from six feet away, and sometimes from behind a sheet of plexiglass. Santa and his visitors may need to wear a mask, even while posing for photos.

China: RCEP is a milestone of great significance

Beijing, Nov. 16: China on Monday termed the Regional Comprehensive Economic Partnership (RCEP) agreement to create the world's biggest free trade bloc as a "milestone of great significance", while studies showed that the deal is more of a strategic significance to Beijing providing marginal economic impact.

Fifteen Asia-Pacific nations, including China, on Sunday signed the agreement. India, one of the leading consumer-driven markets in the region, pulled out of talks last year, concerned that the elimination of tariffs would open its markets to a flood of imports that could harm local producers. A declaration by the countries which have signed the RCEP agreement said that they can start negotiations with India for joining the pact once New Delhi submits a written request stating its intention for the same.

Analysts say that without India, the agreement would not have much relevance as it cannot provide a big market combining India and China, the most populous countries in the world. "After 8 years of negotiations, the RCEP was officially signed," Chinese Foreign Ministry spokesman Zhao Lijian told a media briefing here while answering a question on the agreement. "This means that the most promising agreement covering the largest population and economic volume was officially set and up. It's a milestone of great significance," he said. As Covid-19 continues to spread, unilateralism, protectionism are rising, he said, adding that the signing of the RCEP will be a strong boost to regional and global economic recovery.

"This shows strong support of all sides to multilateralism and free-trade, strong support to open and collective free trade regime. This is a show of support for collective efforts against common challenges," he said.

Meanwhile, studies show the benefits RCEP will not outweigh the negative impact of the long-running US trade war on China's economy even though it will make China's market much more integrated with the rest of Asia. However, analysts agree that the trade pact, which covers 30 per cent of the global economy, is far more strategically significant than providing a direct economic impact, Hong Kong-based South China Morning Post reported on Monday.

China may claim a symbolic victory in the signing of the world's biggest trade deal in the face of ongoing US disinterest in multilateralism, but the direct economic benefits will be marginal, the Post report said.

The trade deal, initiated by the Association of Southeast Asian Nations (ASEAN) in 2012 but often regarded as a China-led counterpart to the Comprehensive and Progressive Agreement for Trans-Pacific Partnership (CPTPP), covers nearly one-third of the world's population and GDP.

However, while the RCEP adds incrementally to Chinese GDP, it will not be enough to cancel out the damage of the trade war with the US, research showed. In June, researchers at the Peterson Institute for International Economics found that RCEP, would add 0.4 per cent to China's real income by 2030, while the trade war would trim 1.1 per cent.

Macron sees Donald's envoy TIME FOR TRUMP TO CONCEDE, SAYS OBAMA

Paris, Nov. 16: French President Emmanuel Macron faced the potentially uncomfortable position Monday of meeting US President Donald Trump's top diplomat, having already congratulated President-elect Joe Biden for his election victory.

Neither side said much in advance about US Secretary of State Mike Pompeo's low-profile visit to Paris, the starting point of a seven-country tour of Europe and the Middle East. Macron's office described Pompeo's planned stop Monday at the presidential Elysee Palace as a "courtesy" visit.

No press conference was scheduled, seemingly ruling out the likelihood of journalists getting to ask Pompeo or Macron about their conflicting visions of the US election outcome. Pompeo has not accepted Trump's election defeat. Macron has already spoken by phone with Biden to congratulate him.

Pompeo's trip is aimed at Washington, Nov. 16: It's time for US President Donald Trump to concede to President-elect Joe Biden, as there is no scenario to reverse the outcome of the election, his predecessor Barack Obama has said. Trump, who is refusing to concede, has 232 electoral college votes. He has challenged the election results in various states including Pennsylvania, Nevada, Michigan, Georgia and Arizona. He had demanded a recount in Wisconsin.

In all these states, he alleged there were massive voters' fraud and electoral malpractice. Biden has 306 of the 538 electoral college votes, well above the halfway mark of 270. "Absolutely," Obama told 60 Minutes of the CBS News in an interview aired Sunday when asked if in his view, it is time for Trump to concede. "Well, I mean, I think it was time for him to concede probably — the day after the election — or at the latest, two days after the election. When you look at the numbers objectively, Joe Biden will have won handsily. There is no scenario in which any of those states would turn the other way, and certainly not enough to reverse the outcome of the election," Obama said.

More than the courtesy of a concession, the Trump White House is declining to free up the usual funds and facilities for the incoming administration. Biden is not receiving secret national security briefings as Trump did when he was president-elect, he alleged. Asserting that a president is a public servant, Obama said that they are temporary occupants of the office, by design. "And when your time is up then it is your job to put the country first and think beyond your own ego," shoring up the priorities of Trump's outgoing administration.

From Paris, he was expected to travel to Turkey. The trip will also include visits to Israeli settlements in the West Bank that have been avoided by previous secretaries of state. Before the scheduled meetings with Macron and his foreign minister, Pompeo laid a bouquet of red, white and blue flowers at a memorial to victims of terrorism at a Paris landmark, the Hotel des Invalides. The ceremony lasted about a minute.

17 NOVEMBER 2020

As RCEP is born, India must tread cautiously

The world's largest trade bloc emerged on Sunday after 15 countries in East and Southeast Asia, and Australia signed a deal to open up their economies further to foster free trade. The Regional Comprehensive Economic Partnership (RCEP), which has been anchored by China, accounts for 29 per cent of the global economy in terms of its size, overshadowing similar arrangements in Europe and North America. However, India, the third-largest economy in terms of purchasing power parity, is conspicuous by its absence as it walked out of negotiations in 2019.

Prime concerns expressed by India were the fear of Chinese goods flooding the country, misuse of simplified country of origin rules, lack of mechanism to prevent dumping of industrial products by China and agricultural and dairy products by Australia and New Zealand. There was no mechanism to address a potential trade deficit arising out of lower tariffs mandated under the RCEP. The deal expected the member-countries to offer similar treatment to co-members as they offer to any of their strategic-partner countries. The member-countries expected India to adhere to these conditions without an assurance on opening up services sector, where Indian companies are far ahead, and allowing easy movement of labour under this deal, making the RCEP tilted heavily towards China.

Nevertheless, staying away from the RCEP is also not a smart move because India would be an attractive investment destination for export-focused companies

After the signing of the deal, several member-countries of the RCEP wished India too joined the deal, which seeks to promote free trade in Asia. The interests of the current member-countries do not align any further. While it is a fact that India would lose out of accessing the largest market in the world, one must also try to understand if India - with the current level of industrialisation - can cash in on the RCEP. Currently, RCEP is nothing but ASEAN plus-5, which means China, Japan, South Korea, New Zealand and Australia and 10 countries of the ASEAN. Southeast Asian countries already have a free-trade agreement. But now three leaders in manufacturing - China, Japan and South Korea - and two agricultural and dairy majors - Australia and New Zealand - have joined the ASEAN's free trade zone. It is a win-win for all of them. While companies can choose to set up factories in smaller countries to access the world's largest market, China, Japan, and South Korea can compete to sell products. The Indian industry, however, does not have the inherent strength to compete with bigger players and may end up being a dumping ground.

Nevertheless, staying away from the RCEP is also not a smart move because India would be an attractive investment destination for export-focused companies. The government, therefore, should begin consultations on the reforms required to make the Indian industry as competitive and efficient as South Korea and Japan. If the government intends to double farmers' income, it should become more productive. It doesn't reflect well on India to be fearful of New Zealand's dairy products. It is high time the government nudges its industry and farming truly world-class and does whatever is required for that to happen.

Farewell to a legend

What does it take to become the best loved man of Bengali cinema? A formidable supply of talent, love for one's craft, a vast body of work, association with legends? Matinee idol looks that would floor a generation of college-goers? Or is it the fact that he represented the last of the bhadralok, a way of being rendered obsolete by the changing mores and aesthetic of the people of a nonetheless-declining state? Mentored by theatre actor Ahindra Choudhury and the icon, Sisir Kumar Bhaduri, the boy from Kolkata's Surya Sen Street got his big break when selected by Satyajit Ray for the titular role in Apu Sansar, the concluding part of Apu Trilogy based on Bibhutibhusan Bandopadhyay's Pather Panchali. Soumitra Chatterjee would go on to collaborate with Ray on some of his best acclaimed projects. He would play the ebullient Amal in Tagorean Charulata and the inscrutable Feluda of Ray's own detective series with equal ease. Straddling the world of arthouse and popular cinema with aplomb, a director's actor, he could be versatile, as the hardy Punjabi cab-driver of Abhijaan, the attractive imposter of Mrinal Sen's Akash Kusum or the swashbuckling villain in Tapan Sinha's history thriller Jhinder Bandi, setting the screen alight with the chemistry he shared with Sharmila Tagore. Aparna Sen and Madhabi Mukherjee. His ability to fit into the role in a way that offered his audiences identification at extraordinarily intimate levels was the quality that defined him. He also famously refused the Padma Shri on account of there being no safety net for film industry daily wagers. But recognition, Sangeet Natak Akademi Award, Padma Bhushan, Dadasaheb Phalke Award, Chevalier of Legion d'Honneur, would follow this gracious soul who confidently stuck to his genre, refusing offers from Bollywood, and choosing to return to the stage and poetry. A lifelong pursuit of the arts thus ended on Sunday. All around there is the sound of hearts shattering. The world of Bengali, nay international, cinema is poorer. Travel well, Apu.

RCEP shifts Indo-Pacific dynamics, blow to Delhi

K.C. Singh

While the entire world was focused on the American presidential election, the signing on November 15 of the Regional Comprehensive Economic Partnership (RCEP) has significantly altered the Indo-Pacific strategic environment. With all 10 Asean members joining China and Japan, besides South Korea, Australia and New Zealand, a huge free trade bloc is born. With a combined $26.2 trillion of GDP, one-third of the world's total, it will facilitate commerce among members by eliminating 90 per cent of tariffs.

Therefore, while US President-elect Joe Biden's path to office is now clear, despite the Trumpian Twitter tantrums, he faces a more complex scenario in the Indo-Pacific region. There is still some time before the RCEP is fully implemented as a certain number of Asean and non-Asean signatories must ratify it first. But any analysis of the implications of the Biden presidency simply cannot ignore this new development.

Multiple challenges await the next US President, at home and abroad. Overcoming the Covid-19 pandemic, with cases spiking due to the onset of winter and the lax observance of precautions, looms above all else, as indeed do its economic consequences. The American economy has shrunk, compared to a year earlier, by slightly over minus four per cent, as Britain's figure tops minus 10 per cent and the Eurozone at minus eight per cent. Canada and Japan fall in between those figures and that of the US. The Economist magazine writes that while the pandemic will fade by the end of 2012, the "tech surge will outlive

Mr Biden's presidency". These deeper changes are pitted against the desire of the liberal faction of the Democrats to favour manufacturing jobs and social goals. The US markets did not drop on the Biden-Harris victory as control of the Senate remains with the Republicans, seen as blocking the Democratic socio-economic agenda. This balance hinges on the fate of two Senate run-off contests in Georgia on January 5. If the Democrats win both, they will seize control of the Senate, the strength of both parties being tied at 50 each, giving the vice-president the casting vote. That could rile the US and even the Indian markets.

As regards the pandemic, Mr Biden's approach has emerged, despite Mr Trump not cooperating with his transition team. A group of experts has been formed to suggest a plan, including for vaccination of the populace, based on science and medical expertise rather than Trumpian evasion and half-truths. Mr Biden realises control of the pandemic is critical to reviving the economy and jobs. The Democrats want to hit the ground running after Mr Biden's inauguration on January 20.

As a global power, the US cannot ignore the foreign policy challenges. On China, Mr Trump's forthright criticism of predatory trade practices, theft of intellectual property and state capitalism led to trade sanctions to coerce Beijing to accept a more transparent rules-based system. The Covid-19 pandemic emanating from China and its delay in alerting the world has merely crystallised concerns into open hostility, now percolating down to the popular level. Thus, there is bipartisan consensus for maintaining the pressure on China. The Biden administration may substitute open confrontation, which Henry Kissinger calls the two nations at the foothills of a new Cold War, with smarter containment strategies. The difficulty is that if the sanctions are rolled back, what does China offer as concessions to address America's economic and security concerns? Michele Flournoy, a frontrunner for the defence secretary's job, has advocated US defence readiness to have the capacity to sink the entire Chinese naval fleet in 72 hours!

There is also the technology competition symbolised by the US barring Huawei's access to top US semiconductors. Taiwan is a key component in US advances in cutting-edge semiconductor design and production. The continuing Chinese threats to Taiwan and the US dithering over defending it, in case China tries to annex it militarily, has created strategic vacuum. Some Chinese analysts argued that if China occupies Taiwan, as it has Hong Kong, Taiwan's famed chip producer TSMC would be a bonus.

The RCEP's signing by two components of the "Quad" - Australia and Japan - queers the US and Indian approach to the Indo-Pacific. Only weeks back this group was being projected as the skeleton of a new security architecture to contain China. It was hoped the Biden administration may review US withdrawal from the Trans-Pacific Partnership (TPP), which Japan had championed to balance Chinese trade influence in the Indo-Pacific. It exists in a modified form, minus the US, as the Comprehensive and Progressive Agreement for Trans-Pacific Partnership (CPTPP). It is possible the US and Japan may yet re-engage to discuss America's re-entry, but with the RCEP finalised China has first-mover advantage. In one swoop China has negated the hype over the de-coupling from China. It also leaves India stranded, strategically and trade-wise, between its Quad partners and a China-dominated group, which has drawn away two of the Quad's four members. Moreover, for the new US administration, the Indo-Pacific may be a lower priority than rebuilding alliances ignored or abandoned by Mr Trump and healing rifts with nations like Germany and France.

The Global Times, the largely reliable English voice of Beijing, headlined an editorial: "Indo-Pacific strategy upholder India misses the bus of RCEP and long-term growth". India still has paths open to both joining the RCEP, albeit with diminished negotiating weight, or playing along with the US if its interest in CPTPP emerges. But in any case, all the bluster over Supply Chain Resilience Initiative (SCRI), that the Quad members were to create as an alternative to Chinese dominance of supply chains, now appears a non-starter.

Besides the fear of RCEP affecting Indian industry and farmers, including those in the dairy sector, Chinese obduracy in accepting full de-escalation at the Line of Actual Control in Ladakh has heightened Indian suspicions. Is it a coincidence that the Chinese intrusions followed India's unwillingness to join the RCEP in November 2019, and sponsoring alternative approaches like Quad Plus? With India's options now conditioned by the initiatives of others, New Delhi needs peace at home with farmers and in the region with neighbours. In any case, its majoritarian proclivities, with the West Bengal election approaching, can become an irritant in US-India ties just as China has outplayed it in the Indo-Pacific. In chess terms, it is not checkmate yet. But China controls the board with the better pieces.

A-BETTING SUICIDES

Young people with a lot of life ahead are committing suicides unable to bear the emotional stress of losses after cricket betting is nothing but weeping over split milk. The penchant for betting increases with each loss to recover the lost gambit. While the upbringing constitutes one reason the real cause is to make a fast buck. Youngsters should be given general counselling through media that they are leaving behind a trail of misery not only to the parents but also to their dependents.

TODAY'S PRINCES

Subsequent to the Independence of India the princely states in India were abolished with the result privy purses were too given up in 1950. However, even after more than 70 years, the present-day Chief Ministers of certain states are enjoying rights and privileges like princes. For example, a few Chief Ministers are acting according to their whims, e.g. creation of more than one state capital, demolition of university properties, etc. In place of privy purses these CMs are availing Central financial aids without submission of proper accounts. It appears there is no difference between princely states and existing states.

Excavation at Golconda begins

By a staff reporter
HYDERABAD, Nov. 16. Excavation work near the enclosure wall of Qutub Shahi tombs at the historic Golconda on the outskirts of the city, was commenced by the State Archaeological Department, today.

Mr. N. Ramesan, Finance Secretary and Mr. S.R. Ramamurthy, Education Secretary, inaugurated the work at two different points adjacent to the area where a summer house and a palace were unearthed during excavations last year.

Dr. Abdul Waheed Khan, Director of Archaeology and Museums, told newsmen that the chance discovery of the summer house and the palace, buried three metres below a mound, had encouraged them to probe further into the depths.

Everything is looking bleak: Can Modi still bring change?

The BJP has won yet another election, and victory is attributed to the popularity of Prime Minister Narendra Modi. He is in the seventh year of his term and appears to have lost none of his attractiveness for the voter. There is no data available on this, of course, and elections across the subcontinent are won on the back of tribalism, organisation and money.

But let us assume that it is the personal attractiveness and credibility of the Prime Minister that has yet again taken the BJP through in Bihar. The question is — to what end does he want to keep winning? Power is held for a purpose — to be able to effect change. What change has Mr Modi used his power for?

On the economy, the numbers cannot be kept hidden. The rate of GDP growth has gone from eight to seven to six to five to four to three per cent over the last 12 quarters. Something sabotaged the economy just before January 2018 and today is not the time to go again into it. The fact is that without Covid-19 and long before the lockdown, the Indian economy was wrecked. Hours after the Bihar election results were out, the RBI announced that in the second quarter, meaning July to September, India's economy would again contract, and we were in recession.

The government did not acknowledge this or respond to it. The Prime Minister muttered some more things about development, but his heart is not in it. Do you remember the last time he spoke about his world beating economic performance? It is because there is nothing to say. Bangladesh has overtaken India's per capita GDP. What more can be added to that?

As I am writing this, there is news that we have lost at least 11 more lives on the Line of Control in Kashmir. The media's response to this in India has been to claim that Pakistan has also lost 11 lives. It has become like a game, and if we are able to get enough of the other side out then it is fine for us to suffer the losses we have. This is lunacy but it is the product of the way that Mr Modi has characterised relations with neighbours, as being a zero sum game. Meaning that their loss is our gain. But this is bogus. We gain nothing material by killing their people. We lose when our people are killed.

On the LAC, we are preparing to formalise the surrender that we have already effected on the ground. We have permanently been stopped from patrolling till Finger 8 in Ladakh and heaven alone knows what else has been given up amid the secrecy.

Mr Modi's refusal to acknowledge that the Chinese had intruded into and were holding ground that India had been previously patrolling was a clear signal to the other side. He has since stopped speaking on this subject. What is there to say? India has not even been given an explanation for why our leader thinks his friend Xi Jinping had launched his aggression. Our constitutional recklessness in Jammu and Kashmir happened without any understanding of the international ramifications.

As one defence analyst has said, Mr Modi changed the status of Ladakh on the map, while Mr Xi changed it on the ground. So much for the 56 inches. Our clinging to Donald Trump has not paid off. His secretary of defence, who was promising an eternal military alliance, was fired this week.

What else is there? We could talk about Covid-19. We carry the second highest number of infected people in the world, the third highest number of dead. What role if any the government has had in controlling it or mitigating it is unknown. The lockdown appears to have had exactly the opposite effect that we were told it would have. We are still clocking over 40,000 cases a day and have no real control over the epidemic. Two-thirds of India's working women lost their jobs because of the lockdown. Reports have shown that the work participation rate for women fell from an already low 9.15 per cent in December 2019 to just 5.8 per cent in August this year. For men, it is down from 67 per cent to 47 per cent. Most of India is not working. Have you heard Mr Modi talk about this? No. What is there to say?

The good thing is that we are in Year 7 of his reign. His words do not mean anything at this point. It is the numbers we must look at and the numbers are clear. If there is still support for Mr Modi among the population, it must be for something else, not his performance. There the record is quite clear.

Power is held to effect change. Mr Modi has shown himself incapable of effecting it in the positive sense. On the economy, on the border, on employment, on the epidemic. One wonders to what end he not only holds on to it but seeks to acquire more.

RIL, Aramco, BP, Total all stay away Biggies keep off BPCL stake sale

New Delhi, Nov. 16: The government on Monday received 'multiple' bids for buying out its stake in India's second-biggest fuel retailer BPCL but Reliance Industries as well as supermajors Saudi Aramco, BP and Total did not make a bid. Tuhin Kanta Pandey, secretary, Department of Investment and Public Asset Management (Dipam), which is handling the strategic sale, tweeted that the transaction advisors (TAs) for the sale of government's 52.98 per cent stake in Bharat Petroleum Corp Ltd (BPCL) have reported receiving "multiple expressions of interest."

"The transaction will move to the second stage after scrutiny by TA," he said. "Strategic disinvestment of BPCL progresses: Now moves to the second stage after multiple expressions of interest have been received," finance minister Nirmala Sitharaman also tweeted. Neither of them gave the number of bids received or the names of the bidders. Separately, four industry officials said three-four bids have been put in. Reliance Industries, which was considered a potential bidder as BPCL would have added a 22 per cent fuel market share to its fledgling retail business and made it the nation's number one oil refiner, did not put in an expression of interest

(EoI) at the close of the deadline on Monday. Saudi Arabian Oil Company (Saudi Aramco), which had been keen to enter the world's fastest-growing fuel market, too did not put in an EoI. UK's BP plc and Total of France—which have plans to foray into the Indian fuel market—had previously ruled themselves out of the BPCL race as they did not want to add oil refining assets when the world was moving away from liquid fuels. A clutch of private equity funds and/or pension funds are said to have put in an EoI. Russian energy giant Rosneft-led Nayara Energy, which operates a 20 million tonne oil refinery at Vadinar in Gujarat and also has 5,822 petrol pumps, was considered a potential bidder for BPCL but reports last month had indicated it was no longer keen. M&M plans to revive BSA bike

SIDDHARTH PHILIP NOV. 16

Mahindra & Mahindra Ltd is crafting plans to build a UK factory to resurrect the BSA motorcycle brand in a test case for whether Britain can attract companies post-Brexit. Mahindra, which bought the defunct marque in 2016, is scouting for a site to assemble the motorcycle, chairman Anand Mahindra said in an interview. Whether it goes ahead partly hinges on talks over government grants and a trade deal with the European Union, he said. "With Brexit, the UK government is going out of its way to give benefits, which actually goes toward filling that difference in viability," said Anupam Thareja, a managing partner at Phi Capital and co-founder of Mahindra's Classic Legends subsidiary. The classic-bike brand owner is adopting a wait-and-see approach to Brexit negotiations before giving the green light to BSA. The factory project would depend on tariff levels and the ease of moving both workers and products across borders, Thareja said. Making the bikes in the UK is key for the brand to maintain authenticity, says Mahindra. BSA started as a bicycle maker before crafting its first motorcycle over a century ago. It featured in the World War-II, when used by the British Army, but went bust in the 1970s. —Bloomberg

Just 5 mall projects see completion in 2020

SANGEETHA G CHENNAI, NOV. 16

As the business in malls has still not recouped to pre-Covid levels, mall development is moving at a snail's pace. The calendar year was supposed to see the launch of 54 new malls spanning over 22.2 million sq. ft, as per the pre-Covid estimates. However, just 5 malls covering 2.75 million sq. ft have been completed yet. These new malls have come up in Gurgaon, Delhi, Lucknow and Bengaluru, as per the data from Anarock Retail. The yet-to-recover business in malls has put the construction process on hold. Malls remained closed for a longer period even after the lock-down. As of August, malls were seeing 60 per cent sales of last year, though the footfalls were much lesser. However, malls are expecting the festive season to take the sales to 80 per cent. "Since the shopping malls reopened across the country, the industry and mall developers noticed more serious buyers walking-in with a set agenda of what to buy. While the dwell time has decreased, however, the ticket size has increased drastically. During the Navratri and Diwali season, shopping malls across the country reported an increase in footfalls on a week-on-week basis and witnessed a continued growth during the weekends. We are hoping to reach 80 per cent of sales on an average," said Amitabh Taneja, Chairman, Shopping Centres Association of India. Considering the slower pace at which mall development is taking place, many of the launches would be pushed to 2021. "Covid-19 added enormous pressure to the already delicately-poised Indian retail sector. The anticipated new mall supply was severely hit this year and most of it will spill over to 2021 and beyond. New completions have been deferred and leasing activity has been delayed," said Anuj Kejriwal, CEO and MD of Anarock Retail. However, even in 2021, only 14 new malls spread over 5.9 million sq ft are likely to get operational.

WPI inflation at 8-month high of 1.48%

FC BUREAU NEW DELHI, NOV. 16

Driven by rising prices of vegetables and manufactured items such as vegetable oils, steel and basic metals, the wholesale price-based inflation went up to an eight-month high of 1.48 per cent in October, the data released by the Ministry of Commerce and Industry showed on Monday. This was the highest level for the Wholesale Price Index inflation after February, when it was 2.26 per cent. The WPI inflation was at 1.32 per cent in September and zero per cent in October last year. "Some food article prices softened in October, while manufactured items witnessed hardening of prices in the same month. Food inflation in October stood at 6.37 per cent against 8.17 per cent in the previous month," the release said. Similarly, the price rise in vegetables and potato remained high at 25.23 per cent and 107.70 per cent, respectively. "Inflation in non-food articles and minerals was higher at 2.85 per cent and 9.11 per cent, respectively. While, in the manufactured products category, inflation stood at 2.12 per cent in October, compared to 1.61 per cent in September," the data showed.

Take on risk, trust recovery in 2021: Morgan Stanley

JOANNA OSSINGER NOV. 16

Morgan Stanley strategists said an expected "V-shaped" economic recovery, greater clarity on Covid-19 vaccines and continued policy support offer a favourable environment for stocks and credit next year. It has also cut its forecast for gold to $1,825 an ounce on average for 2021 from a previous $1,950 on the expected global economic recovery. In an outlook for 2021, a team including Andrew Sheets recommended investors overweight equities and corporate bonds against cash and government debt, and sell the US dollar. Volatility is set to decline, and investors should be "patient" in commodity markets, the strategists said. "This global recovery is sustainable, synchronous and supported by policy, following much of the 'normal' post-recession playbook," they wrote. "Keep the faith, trust the recovery." A gauge of global stocks headed toward a record on Monday amid optimism that the expected roll-out of vaccines and additional US fiscal stimulus will bolster the world economy. WORLD STOCKS HIT RECORD ON RECOVERY, VACCINE HOPES

CHUCK MIKOLAJCZAK NEW YORK, NOV. 16

A gauge of global stocks hit a record on Monday as the latest batch of positive data for a possible Covid-19 vaccine boosted sentiment, along with signs of economic recovery in Asia, while oil prices jumped. US stocks climbed, with the Dow Industrials nearing the 30,000 mark for the first time, thanks to news from pharma company Moderna saying its prospective vaccine was 94.5 per cent effective in preventing Covid-19. Cyclical names, which generally benefit the soonest as an economy recovers from a recession, led the way higher, with energy, industrial and financial sectors the top performing. The MSCI World Index of global shares, building on strong overnight gains in Asia's leading markets and a stronger open for most European bourses, extended gains after the Moderna announcement to hit a record.

positive outlook for equities. JPMorgan strategist Marko Kolanovic said US election results create a bull case for markets, while David Kostin at Goldman Sachs expects society to normalise gradually next year. The Morgan Stanley team doesn't expect a smooth path upwards and noted that significant challenges remain. Risks include a worse-than-expected Covid-19 winter wave, and a return to austerity in the longer term, according to the note. Investment calls in the report include: a base case for the S&P 500 to reach 3,900 by the end of 2021; 10-year US treasury yield at 1.45 per cent by the end of next year; the US Dollar Index to weaken about 4 per cent by the end of 2021; and preference for high-yield credit over investment grade and leveraged loans over high-yield bonds. —Bloomberg

Alrosa sees uncertain diamond market

SANGEETHA G CHENNAI, NOV. 16

Despite recording a year-on-year growth in October, diamond miner Alrosa is worried about an uncertainty in the market. Uncertainty puts pressure on Indian gems and jewellery exports, which has not even recovered in October. Alrosa had started seeing the first signs of recovery in the diamond market from mid-August when the Indian diamond polishing industry resumed imports after a four-month voluntary ban. The company saw growth in September and October. In October, the sales grew 3.6 per cent to $310 million. The recovery was also led by end demand for jewelry as September demand in China and US grew 13 per cent and 14 per cent y-o-y respectively. However, Alrosa finds that it is "definitely too early to speak of the full recovery". The markets still face uncertainty caused by the pandemic's impact on the global economy and subsequent developments. The key indicator for the diamond industry will be upcoming Christmas and Chinese New Year retail sales," said

Jim Vimadalal, director, Indian Representative Office, Alrosa. While the festive goods are already on the way to the markets, any disruption due to the second wave of the pandemic can hit the Christmas and New Year sales. The second wave has already put Europe under restrictions and an uncertainty is looming large over the US. This uncertainty will put further pressure on the Indian gems and jewellery industry. Indian gems and jewellery exports were down even in September and October. While it recorded a dip of 27 per cent in September, the decline was 21 per cent in October. Cut and polished diamond sales were down 19.6 per cent in September and the category details are not yet out for October. According to trade circles, the October shipments were affected by the container availability issues as well.

DIGITAL STRATEGY HELPS MARUTI SELL OVER 200,000 CARS

MICHAEL GONSALVES PUNE, NOV. 16

The digital revolution in selling cars is taking stronger root in India with social distancing becoming the new normal in a Covid-scarred world. Maruti Suzuki, India's biggest carmaker, on Monday said it has sold over two lakh cars through the online channel. The company, which initiated its online sales platform around two years back, said the digital channel now covers nearly 1,000 dealerships across the country. "Since introducing this new digital channel in 2018, we have witnessed a three times increase in digital enquiries and recorded sales of over 2 lakh units since April 2019," Shashank Srivastava, executive director (marketing & sales) at Maruti Suzuki India, said. This digital channel has helped to generate over 21 lakh customer enquiries as well, he pointed out. Citing the Google Auto Gear Shift India 2020 Report, he said nearly 95 per cent of new car sales in India are digitally influenced as the customers first research online and then buy at dealerships. —Reuters

Ratification of RCEP trade deal may take years

JAMES PEARSON HANOI, NOV. 16

Fifteen Asia-Pacific economies signed what could become the world's largest free trade agreement in Hanoi on Sunday, covering nearly a third of the global population and about 30 per cent of its global gross domestic product.

Who has signed? RCEP includes China, Japan, South Korea, Australia, New Zealand and the 10 members of the Association of South East Asian Nations (Asean): Brunei, Vietnam, Laos, Cambodia, Thailand, Myanmar, Malaysia, Singapore, Indonesia and the Philippines. India was involved in early discussions but opted out last year over concerns related to cheap Chinese imports. Member states have said there is still room for India to join RCEP, however. Anyone can join RCEP 18 months after it comes into force but India, as one of the original negotiating partners, can join at any time once the deal comes into effect.

What happens next? RCEP, signed on Sunday, must now be ratified before coming into effect, a process that will take months to start and years to complete.

According to copies of the 510-page, 20-chapter agreement uploaded to the foreign ministry websites of RCEP member states on Sunday, the deal must be ratified by at least six Asean countries and three non-Asean signatory countries before it can come into effect.

East Asian rivalry Notably, RCEP marks the first time China, Japan and South Korea have been brought together under a single trade agreement—a process that has been otherwise marred by historical and diplomatic disputes. Last year, at the height of a trade dispute between

Japan and South Korea, which had its roots in a dispute stemming from Japan's wartime colonisation of the Korean peninsula, South Korean officials said Japanese trade restrictions violated the "spirit" of the RCEP. Japan may find significant benefits (with RCEP), as it now has preferential access to South Korea and China, which it did not have," said Deborah Elms of the Singapore-based Asian Trade Centre.

When will it kick in?

RCEP provides some flexibility for less-developed members to implement the practical and legislative changes it requires. Cambodia and Laos, for example, have three to five years to upgrade customs procedures. Specifically which areas are open to tariff reductions under RCEP is complex and changes from country to country. Some states have listed what RCEP includes while others have listed what it does not. For countries which already have free trade agreements with each other, an added benefit of RCEP is that it creates a common set of rules of origin, which will facilitate easier movement of goods between the 15 members.

How does RCEP compare with CPTPP? The idea of RCEP hatched in 2012, was seen as a way for China, the region's biggest importer and exporter, to counter growing US influence in the Asia-Pacific. It gained momentum when Trump withdrew the United States from the Trans-Pacific Partnership (TPP) in 2017. The TPP has since been renamed the Comprehensive and Progressive Agreement for Trans-Pacific Partnership (CPTPP) and it includes seven RCEP members, but not the United States. RCEP focuses heavily on cutting tariffs and increasing market access but is seen as less comprehensive than the CPTPP. It also requires fewer political or economic concessions and has less emphasis on labour rights, environmental and intellectual property protections and dispute resolution mechanisms. RCEP's market size is nearly five times greater than that of the CPTPP, with almost double its annual trade value and combined GDP.

Kipruto charged with sex crime

Nairobi, Kenya: Olympic steeplechase champion Conseslus Kipruto of Kenya has been charged with having sexual intercourse with a 15-year-old girl and was released on bail Monday after pleading not guilty. Kipruto was charged with what is referred to as "defilement" in Kenyan law — sexual intercourse with a minor under the age of 18. Because of the girl's age, Kipruto faces at least 20 years in prison if convicted, according to Kenya's sexual offenses laws. The 25-year-old Kipruto, who is a policeman, was charged in a courthouse in Kapsabet. He was released on $1,800 bail. Kipruto is alleged to have had intercourse with the girl on Oct. 20 and 21, according to the charge sheet, and was first arrested on Nov. 11. Kipruto won gold in the 3,000-meter steeplechase at the 2016 Olympics. — AP

Prajnesh loses US Challenger final

Cary, US: Indian Davis Cupper Prajnesh Gunneswaran squandered initial advantage to lose to Denis Kudla of USA in three sets in the final of the Atlantic Tire Championships here. The fourth seeded Indian lost 6-3, 3-6, 0-6 in the men's singles summit clash of the ATP Challenger event in one hour 33 minutes on Sunday. Prajnesh started on a bright note, putting up a dominant display to take the opening set of the tournament. However, he was unable to keep the momentum going as the second-seeded American came back strongly in the next two sets to claim the title. Prajnesh had got the better of Thomaz Bellucci in the quarterfinals before receiving a walkover against Denmark's Mikael Torpegaard in the semifinal. —PTI

Italy beat Poland, England bow out

Rome: Three years after an embarrassing failure to qualify for the World Cup, Italy are back in contention with the best in Europe. England, meanwhile, are already out of contention for the Nations League finals with one round of matches still to play. An Italy squad badly hit by the coronavirus still managed to beat Poland 2-0 on Sunday, putting the Azzurri in control of their group, while England were beaten 2-0 by Belgium. Another win at Bosnia-Herzegovina on Wednesday will see Italy hosting the four-team finals in October — just a few months after hosting the opening game of the European Championship in Rome. — AP

Covid threat to Test

Paine in self-isolation after Corona outbreak in Adelaide

Sydney, Nov. 16: A fresh Coronavirus outbreak in Adelaide on Monday forced Australian players, including captain Tim Paine, into self-isolation but the country's cricket board asserted that the first Test against India here from December 17 will go ahead as scheduled.

A cluster of Covid-19 cases in Adelaide prompted other states like Western Australia, Tasmania and the Northern Territory to close their borders with South Australia and impose a 14-day hotel quarantine on all visitors from Adelaide from 11.59 pm on Monday.

"There is ongoing monitoring but that's the end of the story," a CA spokeswoman was quoted as saying by Sydney Morning Herald on the match which is still a day-nighter.

The number of cases had crept up from four on Sunday to 17 on Monday.

The development has the potential to throw the Australian summer of cricket into chaos but CA insisted there is no reason to think next month's Test series opener against India — Day/Night Pink ball match — at the Adelaide Oval is in doubt.

The newspaper said CA is monitoring the fallout of the outbreak and its officials were in contact with key decision-makers in Adelaide.

Tasmanian health authorities have returnees from South Australia since November 9 to quarantine.

This meant that Paine, Matthew Wade and their team mates in the Tasmania squad, which recently completed the opening round of Sheffield Shield matches in South Australia, had to go into isolation.

The India squad and those Australians who took part in the Indian Premier League in the UAE are in a 14-day quarantine in Sydney since Thursday.

They will complete the isolation a day before the ODI series which begins on November 27 at the SCG. — PTI

Silly Point

There must have been plenty on Indian skipper Virat Kohli's mind as he boarded the chartered flight from Dubai to Sydney. Not qualifying for the final of the Indian Premier League must be tingling his thoughts, even as a section of the media rose in favour of his erstwhile vice captain, Rohit Sharma as a better option to lead the country in white ball cricket. Their brief for Rohit to captain the country may be justified but their timing, on the eve of the team's departure for Australia, isn't the best from the perspective of the team that's poised to take on one of the best in the game.

The first of the three One Day Internationals begins in a less than two weeks from now and the team has got a guarded welcome from the Aussies even as they practice in the bubble created in suburban Sydney. Rahul pulls along with tennis ball

Sydney, Nov. 16: After competing on the slow UAE tracks for nearly two months during the IPL, India's star studded batting line-up is gearing up for the lively Australian pitches with the traditional tennis ball training on Monday. In-form K.L. Rahul spent considerable time in perfecting his pull-shots with deliveries hurled from 18 yards during Monday's net session.

There was nothing unusual in such session as players train like this when they gear up to compete on tracks where there is steep bounce on offer. In a video posted on twitter by the BCCI, Rahul's senior teammate Ravichandran Ashwin was seen using a tennis racket and serving the stand-in white ball vice-captain with tennis balls aimed at his rib cage.

Rahul was trying to keep the pull shot down, an art his skipper Viat Kohli has mastered over the years, rolling his wrists.

There is a basic purpose of practising against tennis balls. From a shorter distance, the ball travels faster and it helps in making the reflexes quick.

batsman will get a fraction of a second more from the 22 yards.

During the '80s and '90s before a tour of Australia or West Indies, the specialist batsmen were known to bat against wet tennis balls from 16 or 18 yards on cement wickets to get adjusted to the bounce.

With training modules undergoing a sea change, now the tennis racquets are used to add more pace to the light tennis balls.

Team's senior speedster Mohammed Shami posted a video on his personal twitter handle, where he was seen bowling with the pink kookaburra ball.

Shami is a part of all three squads and it is a given that India will need his skills most during the four-Test series starting on December 17 with the day-night pink ball game in Adelaide. — PTI

Dustin dazzles at the Masters

Augusta (Georgia, USA), Nov. 16: Nothing ever comes easily for Dustin Johnson in the majors, except for slipping into that Masters green jacket.

Johnson overcame a jittery start that conjured memories of past majors he failed to finish off. He turned that into a command performance, making sure this one-of-a-kind Masters with no fans also had no drama.

Not even close. Johnson tapped in for par on the 18th for a 4-under 68 to finish at 20-under 268, breaking by two shots the record set by Tiger Woods in 1997 and matched by Jordan Spieth in 2015.

His five-shot victory was the largest at the Masters since Woods won by 12 in his record-breaking win in 1997. All that was missing were the roars for any of his pivotal putts early and his birdie putts on the back nine that put it away.

The Masters, postponed from April because of the Covid-19 pandemic, was forced to do without patrons for the first time. Johnson still received a warm reception coming up the 18th from club members and their wives, his partner, Paulina Gretzky, and a few champions.

Two-time champion Bubba Watson was there to congratulate him.

"I always dreamed of having one of those,"

Johnson said as he went to sign his card. "Now I got one."

Johnson's four-shot lead was reduced to one after five holes, and then he quickly restored control. Cameron Smith and Sungjae Im each shot 69 and were the only ones who really had a chance.

Smith got quite the consolation. He became the first player in Masters history to post all four rounds in the 60s, and all it got him was a silver medal.

Johnson became the 12th Masters champion to never trail after any round, and his closing 68 broke another record held by Woods it was his 11th consecutive sub-par round at Augusta National.

No one had a better finish than defending champion Tiger Woods, but only after the five-time Masters champion posted the highest score of his career three balls in Rae's Creek for a 10 on the par-3 12th hole. He finished with five birdies over the last six holes to salvage a 76.

The betting favourite and biggest basher in golf, Bryson DeChambeau, couldn't even beat 63-year-old Bernhard Langer, who shot 71 and wound up one shot ahead of the U.S. Open champion.

Nadal starts with comfortable win

London, Nov. 16: Rafael Nadal launched his bid for a first ATP Finals trophy in style on Sunday, taming in-form Andrey Rublev in straight sets in London.

The Spanish world number two, chasing the biggest prize missing from his glittering resume, barely broke sweat as he outclassed the Russian debutant 6-3, 6-4 at the empty O2 Arena.

Nadal, who last month equalled Roger Federer's record of 20 Grand Slams by winning the French Open, has won 86 titles but just one of those has come on an indoor hard court.

His record at the eight-man elite event pales in comparison with his main rivals. Federer, who is absent with injury.

Novak Djokovic produced a masterclass against Argentina's Diego Schwartzman on Monday as he embarked on his campaign for a record-equalling sixth title.

The world number one wobbled at the start of the match against the diminutive eighth seed, making his debut at the elite eight-man event but recovered to win 6-3, 6-2.

The Serbian, 33, has enjoyed another sparkling season despite the coronavirus interruption, winning four titles including the Australian Open.

"Always the first match is very tricky," said Nadal. "Every match is difficult when you are playing against the best of the best so it's a positive start for me, very happy," he added.

Nadal has qualified for the ATP Finals for a record 16 consecutive years but has been forced to withdraw on six occasions.

A combination of injury and his preference for other surfaces has counted against him but his greater freshness as a result of a shorter season may boost his chances this year. — AFP

Not only series win, WTC berth also on India, Oz minds

Hemant Kenkre
Silly Point

There must have been plenty on Indian skipper Virat Kohli's mind as he boarded the chartered flight from Dubai to Sydney. Not qualifying for the final of the Indian Premier League must be tingling his thoughts, even as a section of the media rose in favour of his erstwhile vice captain, Rohit Sharma as a better option to lead the country in white ball cricket. Their brief for Rohit to captain the country may be justified but their timing, on the eve of the team's departure for Australia, isn't the best from the perspective of the team that's poised to take on one of the best in the game.

The first of the three One Day Internationals begins in a less than two weeks from now and the team has got a guarded welcome from the Aussies even as they practice in the bubble created in suburban Sydney. Former Aussie skipper Steve Smith, who missed the last Test series against India, has fired the first salvo, telling the Indians that short pitch bowling does not bother him and his four failures to Kiwi left-arm pacer Neil Wagner were nothing but an aberration. The Aussie taste for the hook and pull shot is legend and one doubts whether the Indians will fall to this ruse.

Notwithstanding the ODI series and the three Twenty20 that follow, the home team is concentrating on the four-match Test series that kicks off mid-December. The Aussie distaste for losing is well documented and their loss in the last Test series to India will be at the back of their minds. Aussie head coach, Justin Langer, has reminded the Indians that his team is 'two-years better' and more experienced. Their focus on the Test series is not only to try and avenge their loss and get the Border-Gavaskar Trophy back down under. It is also a crucial one vis-a-vis the World Championship of Test cricket (WTC) as both teams are in contention to qualify final of the tournament.

India is currently at the number one spot with 360 points followed closely by Australia (296), England (292) and New Zealand (180). With the hiatus on Test series due to the pandemic, International Cricket Council is reported to have tweaked the ranking system to give the teams an opportunity to qualify for the prestigious WTC final. A leading cricket website has published a report stating that ICC's cricket committee has opted to choose the finalists from the percentage of points they have earned from the series played so far. Reacting to the report, ICC has clarified that no decision has been taken as yet and the future of the WTC will be discussed at their board meetings this week.

To decide who gets to become the champion in the WTC, it is only fair for all teams (constituting the pool of nine) get a chance to play against each other at home and away. With India and Pakistan not likely to clash in the near future and the Covid pandemic disrupting the execution of a few series, featuring Sri Lanka and Bangladesh, the ICC Board will have to come up with a solution for the WTC to be held as scheduled before Kohli walks out for the toss with Tim Paine at Adelaide for the first Test on December 17.

The way things are panning out, it looks very difficult for all nine Test teams to play six series (home and away), as per the original plan for the WTC. It would therefore be prudent for the ICC to reschedule the tournament and extend it for another year to enable all teams to get a fair shot for the championship. For now, only India, Australia, England, New Zealand and Pakistan stand a realistic chance of qualifying for the WTC final scheduled for next June at Lord's. In context of the WTC being decided, either as originally planned or by a new formula mooted by the ICC Board, the result of the India, Australia Test series will set the tone for the next set of series' featuring other teams.

Irrespective of what the ICC decides, both teams will be giving it their very best in what promises to be a tough series of Test matches. As far as ICC goes, deciding a world championship on percentages or runs/wickets ratios will not be the best way to decide the ultimate winner.

Deviations, considering these difficult times, will ensure completion of the first cycle of the WTC, but will, as a senior journalist friend put it, only be of academic interest. Giving each team a fair chance in the WTC is what the ICC need to decide on or (in short) it simply won't be cricket!
