KCR CONVEYS RAMA NAVAMI GREETINGS

DC CORRESPONDENT

Chief Minister K. Chandrashekar Rao on Tuesday conveyed his greetings to people in the state on the occasion of Sri Rama Navami.

The Rama Navami, which occurs on Chaitra Shuddha Navami in the Vasantha Rithu (spring season), is celebrated on a large scale every year. But the celebrations have been scaled back due to the coronavirus pandemic, the CM said.

The CM urged the devotees of Lord Rama and Goddess Sita to watch the celebrations online to be held at the Bhadrachalam temple in the presence of a limited number of priests and officials.

The CM said the relationship between Lord Rama and Goddess Sita is holy and the sacrifices they made for the welfare of mankind should be the ideal for the present and future generations. The CM prayed to Lord Rama and Goddess Sita to shower their blessings on the people in the state and help the people to lead comfortable lives with peace, satisfaction, and prosperity.

FARMERS SHOULD AGITATE AGAINST TRS: KOMATIREDDY

DC CORRESPONDENT
HYDERABAD, APRIL 20

Congress Bhongir MP Komatireddy Venkat Reddy on Tuesday asked farmers to protest against the TRS government for not setting procurement centres in villages. He said that till they launch an agitation on par with the one that farmers have organised in New Delhi, the state government would not start the procurement centres.

Venkat Reddy said that Chief Minister K. Chandrashekar Rao had promised to set up procurement centres and procure every last grain of paddy from the farmers. However, after the Nagarjunasagar bypoll, the government had ignored the promise. In an open letter to the Chief Minister, the Congress MP reminded him of the promise made in the Legislative Assembly to purchase paddy from the farmers through procurement centres.

TRS, BJP IN SECRET PACT FOR POLLS: CONGRESS

DC CORRESPONDENT
HYDERABAD, APRIL 20

The Congress on Tuesday accused the TRS and the BJP of entering into a secret pact for the Nagarjunasagar Assembly and Lingojiguda GHMC bypolls. The friendly ties between the two parties was evident from the understanding on the Lingojiguda bypoll, AICC secretary S.A. Sampath Kumar.

He pointed out that the TRS had announced that it would not contest against BJP in Lingojiguda. The BJP had fielded a weak candidate in Nagarjunasagar.

Congress veteran V. Hanumanth Rao said the Congress had been saying that TRS and BJP were two sides of the same coin. He said BJP former MLC N. Ramchander Rao approaching TRS working president K.T. Rama Rao to withdraw from Lingojiguda and the latter agreeing was a clear sign of their friendly ties. "All this looks like a high intense political drama between the two parties. If the TRS is true in its claim that BJP is a rival party, then why has it TRS not booked any cases against Bandi Sanjay for targeting Chief Minister K. Chandrashekar Rao with unparliamentary language," Sampath asked.

Centre okays TS' new zonal system for jobs

50,000 jobs to be notified in various departments of the state

DC CORRESPONDENT
HYDERABAD, APRIL 20

The decks have been cleared for the release of job notifications to fill over 50,000 vacancies in various departments soon with the Centre approving the state government's new zonal system for job recruitments.

The Union ministry of home affairs issued a gazette notification late on Monday approving the two new districts — Mulugu and Narayanpet — and amendments made to zones (shifting of Vikarabad district from Gadwal zone to Charminar zone) by the state government.

The new zonal system was approved by taking 33 districts into consideration as against 31 districts approved in 2018.

Chief Minister K. Chandrashekar Rao had on December 13, 2020, announced the decision of the government to fill over 50,000 posts within three months. However, it has not made headway due to a delay in Centre's approval to new districts and zones.

The CM had increased 10 districts in Telangana to 31 in 2016, besides augmenting the two zones into seven zones. He also created two multi-zones in 2017, all of which decisions the state government sent to the Union home ministry for approval.

Post the approval from the ministry of home affairs, it was sent to President Ram Nath Kovind for his final approval. President Kovind approved the zonal changes in May 2018, after which, the Centre issued a gazette notification immediately.

However, the CM decided to create two more districts (Mulugu, Narayanpet) in 2019, taking the total districts to 33. It was done to fulfil a poll promise ahead of the 2018 Assembly polls, due to strong demands from local people.

This effected changes in zones by shuffling districts. The state government submitted revised proposals and districts and zones to Centre for approval in 2019 but they were lying with the Centre since then. It had halted recruitment drives in TS as the state government has to issue job notifications by distributing among all districts, zones and multi-zones, without which the process would land in legal tangles.

The Chief Minister brought a new zonal system in Telangana in 2018, according to which, 95 per cent of all government jobs sanctioned for a given zone are reserved for locals.

This local status of a candidate is decided based on her or his school study from Class I to VII. Based on these certificates, a candidate is considered a local for jobs. Those who have studied for four years in a particular district/zone from class I to VII are treated as a local of that particular district/zone.

Marri: SEC, govt took unilateral decision on polls

DC CORRESPONDENT
HYDERABAD, APRIL 20

Marri Shashidhar Reddy, chairman of the state Congress Election Commission Coordination Committee, has asked the State Election Commission (SEC) to postpone the April 30 civic polls due to the Coronavirus situation and night curfew imposed on Tuesday. The curfew would affect the right of the candidate to campaign with the voters, he said in a representation given to State Election Commissioner C. Parthasarathy.

The Congress leader said that the elections could be super spreaders of Covid-19, and the polls should be postponed for the sake of safety of the people. "Or else the SEC and government will be held responsible for any harm caused to the people", he added.

He said the state government had taken a unilateral decision to conduct civic body elections without taking into consideration the opinion of political parties, representatives of employees and others.

Court had said it would not intervene in the poll process but the court in another petition had come down heavily on the state government for not taking steps to reduce the gathering of the people in public places. The court had threatened to do so if the government did not, he pointed out.

Shashidhar Reddy pointed out that even Chief Minister K. Chandrashekar Rao and several others who were part of the Halia public meeting had tested Covid-19 positive. He said that he had petitioned the Election Commission against the meeting but it had said that it could go ahead with Covid protocols. This, he said, is impossible to follow.

The night curfew imposed on Telangana will not impact the screening of movies in cinema theatres but what will change are the show timings. The changes are done in a way as to enable viewers reach their homes before 9 pm.

Movie exhibitors said that, for instance, the shows scheduled at 11 am would begin at 10 am while the 6pm shows will now start at 5 pm.

Balgovind Raju, representing the single-screen theatre owners of Telangana, said, "There were rumours in the social media that theaters will be closed. We will keep them open and follow safety protocols."

He said the real challenge for the exhibitors are the postponement of release of big-ticket films such as the Naga Chaitanya and Sai Pallavi-starrer Love Story, which was to be released on April 16 but

WHY ONLY NIGHT CURFEW, ASKS EX-MP VIJAYASHANTI

DC CORRESPONDENT
HYDERABAD APRIL 20

BJP leader and former MP Vijayashanti has asked Chief Minister K. Chandrashekar Rao what was the use of the night curfew when no restriction is in place in the state during the day-time. "The government is failing in taking adequate preventive steps to control the second Covid wave," she said.

On Tuesday, she and some other BJP leaders shared a statement on social media, saying the government imposed the curfew only after the high court exerted pressure on it. Otherwise, the TRS government would not have acted, they said.

She accused the state government of completely failing to control the second wave of Covid. "The state government is not learning any lesson from the first wave of Covid and continuing with the same negligent attitude to the pandemic's spread in the second wave," she said.

The ex-MP said the Chief Minister had conducted review meetings and public events without wearing masks and such meeting photos had circulated in the social media. Several ministers and senior leaders are also following in the footsteps of Chandrashekar Rao and adding to the health concerns of the state, she said.

BJP seniors deny role in ex-MLC meeting KTR

DC CORRESPONDENT
HYDERABAD, APRIL 20

Bandi Sanjay, state president of the Bharatiya Janata Party, has categorically stated that the party leaders who called on Telangana Rashtra Samiti working president K. T. Rama Rao to discuss the Lingojiguda GHMC division polls had done so without consulting or informing the state or the national leadership.

This was a severe blow to the efforts of senior party leader N. Ramchander Rao, a prominent leader in the delegation that met Rama Rao, to drag senior party leaders into the controversy in an apparent bid to wriggle out of trouble.

After the meeting, he sought to portray in party circles and the media that the meeting had taken place with the approval of the party leadership. However, with the prospect of disciplinary proceedings hanging on him, Ramchander Rao passed the buck to the Ranga Reddy district party unit. He is likely to meet the party inquiry committee on Wednesday and offer his explanation.

Sanjay in a statement on Tuesday said that the party had taken serious note of the BJP leaders meeting Rama Rao without informing the leadership, leave alone consulting it. Neither he nor senior leaders like Union minister of state G. Kishan Reddy, party vice-president D.K. Aruna, BJP OBC Morcha president Dr K. Laxman and former general secretary Muralidhar Rao had any knowledge of the meeting, Sanjay said adding that the leadership was of the strong view that the meeting with Rama Rao had severely damaged party interests. Sanjay made a specific reference to Ramchander Rao and other leaders ignoring discussing the issue with Kishan Reddy and Dr Laxman though they were available in Hyderabad. The three-member committee under the chairmanship of former legislator Y. Lakshminarayana will go deep into the reasons for meeting Rama Rao without intimating the leadership.

The state BJP president said the party won all the divisions in the LB Nagar Assembly constituency and was confident of repeating it in Lingojiguda where the death of corporator-elect A. Ramesh Goud had forced a bypoll. It was the TRS that proposed to facilitate unanimous polls, he said. When contacted, the former MLC said the meeting with Rama Rao was a coincidence and was not planned by him. He said BJP Ranga Reddy district party president Sama Rangareddy approached him with a proposal to meet D. Sudheer Reddy, ruling party MLA from LB Nagar.

"The district president told me that he had informed all senior leaders about a meeting with the MLA and KTR. We met Congress MP A. Revanth Reddy also to seek his support for the unanimous election," Ramchander Rao said.

Meanwhile, the RR district party leaders and a few corporators met Lakshminarayana and offered their explanation that they too were unaware of the meeting with Rama Rao till they met the local MLA.

Congress asks poll panel to defer elections

While the second wave of Covid-19 is showing a severe impact on the state, the government decided to conduct elections in Warangal and Khammam municipal corporations besides five other municipalities.

In a shocker to the opposition parties, in what has become a standard operating procedure, the SEC, the notification, the poll schedule, and the reservations to wards were all announced in quick succession on the same day. The opposition, by the modus operandi first unveiled in the GHMC elections, ends up having the least possible time to pick candidates.

The SEC issued notification on April 16 and gave just two days time to parties to find candidates and have them file their nominations, an once of the practice perfected during the leadup to the Greater Hyderabad Municipal Corporation polls, which had also attracted severe criticism from the opposition parties.

"We are making a genuine and an apolitical appeal to the SEC and government to postpone the municipal elections keeping in mind the dangerous situation prevailing in the state," said N. Uttam Kumar Reddy, Telangana Pradesh Congress Committee president.

The government itself admitted the grim situation and imposed night curfew in the state, he pointed out.

As widely reported in the media, the public meeting recently held by Chief Minister and TRS supremo K. Chandrashekar Rao, as part of the campaigning for Nagarjunasagar bypoll, ended up being a possible Covid super-spreader. Besides Mr Chandrashekar Rao himself, several other participants at the meeting, including the TRS party candidate N. Bhagat and energy minister G. Jagadish Reddy were found to have tested positive soon after.

Elections and campaigning in parallel to the surge of a second wave of Covid has drawn widespread public consternation even as the courts are constantly pulling up the government over its actions to prevent further spread and managing the Coronavirus spread. In West Bengal, all major parties have now declared that they would not organise any public meetings.

"When Telangana is going through such a health crisis, what is the need to rush these elections for municipalities? Why risk the lives of lakhs of people at a time when long queues outside hospitals, testing centres, for oxygen cylinders, for Remdesvir and other drugs and sadly, outside crematoriums? How can it come down to a choice of power over people?" said an official.

PARENTS HEAVE A SIGH OF RELIEF

A parent from Hyderabad Public School, Dr Samina Ali, said that first announcement from the CICSE to only defer the examinations had made her sceptical and worried at the same time because she did not want her son to sit for the exam amid the havoc that she was seeing first hand as a frontline worker.

"My child was prepared, I didn't want him to appear for the exams. It is not just the child but also poses a fatal threat to the entire family," Dr Ali said.

The CICSE also instructed schools to prepare for admissions to Class 11 and plan for the next academic year.

Another parent, Shruti

Tibrewala, said that they can look forward now that the board has finally decided on not conducting the exams.

"The announcement earlier about only postponing Class 10 exams was a setback, because students could not do anything. There was no clarity on what to do next, whether keep preparing for exams or start looking ahead. But now there is finally a sense of relief," she said.

Parents that Deccan Chronicle spoke to all echoed the same thought.

The CICSE further said that any decision on Class 12 ISC exams will be taken in the first week of June after monitoring and assessing the Covid situation.

COMMODITIESDC CORRESPONDENT
HYDERABAD, APRIL 20

The imposition of night curfew meant residents thronging grocery shops in Old City on Tuesday evening to buy and stock essential commodities with great frenzy. Queues were seen before the ATMs.

The news on imposition of night curfew in the city disappointed the hoteliers and Haleem makers. They were worried this would adversely impact their revenue to the tune of 80 per cent. More so, as in the month of Ramzan, their business starts after 7 pm. In the Ramzan season, fasting people prefer to stay at home during the daytime and come out for shopping and dining in the evening.

Haleem makers decided to reduce the production up to 60 per cent. Mohammed Abdul Majeed, president of Haleem Makers Association said, "Already our business has suffered badly and with this curfew on, we are not able to do any business. Only one hour is left after Iftar (breaking of fast)." He said many haleem-makers will be forced to shut their shops.

Majeed appealed to the government and the police to allow transportation of meat from slaughterhouses to haleem-making points during the night hours. "We start preparation of haleem in the wee hours and for this we need meat at night time. If the transportation is not allowed in the night hours, we will not be able to prepare haleem before the Iftar time."

GGH DENIES ISSUE
OVER BODIES OF
COVID PATIENTSDC CORRESPONDENT
HYDERABAD, APRIL 20

Gandhi Hospital authorities have said that there was never an issue of bodies of Covid-19 patients being kept in rooms near wards because there was no space in the hospital mortuary to hold the patients losing their lives.

"It is a fact that we hold the bodies of the deceased patients for some time in a room or hall next to a ward. But this is not because there are many patients losing their lives and lack of space in the mortuary," Dr M. Raja Rao, Gandhi Hospital superintendent explained. "The reason why this is done is because as per protocol, when a patient passes away, an ECG is required to be taken as a final check and only if there result shows that the person has flatlined, only then the death can be officially declared," Dr Raja Rao said.

The reason why sometimes we have to keep bodies in a room near a ward is to ensure availability of a power source to run the ECG machine. There is no other reason for bodies to be kept in such a manner, he explained.

Dr Raja Rao also said that it takes some time to take pictures of the deceased and print them so they can be tacked to the covering on the body to ensure that there is no confusion in terms of identification of the deceased by the families.

The Gandhi Hospital mortuary can hold 12 bodies at a time.

Candidates of various parties have already commenced campaigns in their respective divisions. Transport minister P. Ajay Kumar is seeking votes for the ruling party in various divisions of KMC by pointing to projects that TRS has implemented in Khammam since last two years. "People of Khammam should vote for TRS as it has brought IT Hub-2 to the town. Three tanks around Lakaram have been beautified. Greenery has been developed along the NSP left canal and walking tracks established at various places," Ajay Kumar pointed out. In 50 per cent of divisions that it is contesting, Bharatiya Janata Party has fielded financially sound candidates. It has gone to the town exposing failure of the TRS government in checking the spread of Covid-19 in the district. In addition, it says Chief Minister K. Chandrasekhar Rao has done great injustice to youth by not issuing any job notifications. BJP is fighting the KMC elections in alliance with Jana Sena, which has been given 12 seats in the corporation.

Congress Legislature Party leader Mallu Bhatti Vikramarka is looking after elections in Khammam municipality on behalf of his party. He pointed out that vexed with the ruling party, 500 families from TRS have joined the Congress. The party candidates are focusing on door-to-door campaigns, detailing the corruption going on under the TRS rule.

FAROOQ, OMAR
TEST NEGATIVE
FOR COVID-19DC CORRESPONDENT
SRINAGAR, APRIL 20

Former Jammu and Kashmir chief ministers Farooq Abdullah and Omar Abdullah have tested negative for the Covid-19, about two weeks after testing positive for the virus. The sources close to the Abdullahs said that results of the father-son duo came out to be negative on RT-PCR on Tuesday.

Junior Abdullah had tested positive for Covid-19, a couple of days after his father was discharged from a Srinagar hospital where he was treated for the virus for five days. Farooq who is the president of National Conference was discharged from the hospital despite his second test coming positive as doctors were of the opinion that he could recover at home since all his parameters were fine.

Two days later, Omar had tweeted on April 9, "For a year I did my best to dodge this damn virus but it's finally caught up with me. I tested positive for Covid this afternoon. I'm completely asymptomatic. Based on medical advice I'm self-isolating at home & monitoring my parameters like oxygen saturation levels etc (sic)".

There seems to be no respite in the surge of Covid-19 cases in Odisha. The state which clocked 4,445 new cases on Monday, registered 4,761 fresh Covid-19 positives on Tuesday, evoking stricter guidelines from the state government. The state reported five more deaths on Tuesday, taking the total casualties to 1,953.

The state government banned entry of devotees in all temples in Bhubaneswar and a few other famous shrines, including Tarini Temple in Keonjhar district.

As per the state health department sources, Tuesday's figure was the highest ever tally of daily Covid-19 infections in Odisha since the outbreak of the pandemic last year. The total number of cases in the state climbed up to 3,77,464. Coming to the daily infections, three districts in the state have reported more than 500 plus cases of virus infections with Khurda being the worst hit at 820 cases.

Sundergarh is the second in the list with 673 positives and Nuapada reporting 534 cases, both being the districts sharing border with Chhattisgarh. Jharsuguda with 234 cases and Bolangir 322 cases are the other districts accounting for sizeable amount of daily surge in the Covid positive infections.

The Bombay High Court on Tuesday sought responses from the Central and Maharashtra governments in a plea alleging improper management of Covid medical treatment in the state. The court adjourned the hearing to Thursday. Acknowledging that the petition raised "serious issues of public importance", the court directed the respondents to come prepared with instructions on the next date of hearing.

A division bench of Chief Justice Dipankar Datta and Justice G.S. Kulkarni sought to know from the petitioner if all the respondents were served the copy of the petition and adjourned the hearing till Thursday, as only the state government was represented in the court.

During the hearing, advocate Arshil Shah on behalf of petitioner, advocate Sneha Marjadi, argued that the second wave of the pandemic was already in motion and the Union as well as state government and the Municipal Corporation of Greater Mumbai have failed to systematise the medical treatment of people affected with the virus. To prove this point, he contended that the number of patients were already outnumbering beds and on top of that there was shortage of oxygen and Remdesivir injection.

15-day complete lockdown likely

MUMBAI, APRIL 20

Maharashtra Chief Minister Uddhav Thackeray led MVA government is planning to impose a "complete lockdown" for 15 days in order to contain the Coronavirus infections in Maharashtra. The decision is likely to be announced on Wednesday.

Despite imposing the night curfew and section 144 in daytime, the numbers of the patients have been increasing.

In the meeting held on Tuesday, most of the Maharashtra cabinet ministers insisted for "complete lockdown", said a government official.

The public transport including suburban trains and BEST buses may be operational for the essential services personnel.

Maharashtra on Tuesday reported 62,097 new cases taking a total number of active cases to 6,83,856. While 519 new deaths were reported.

Maharashtra Cabinet minister Aslam Shaikh told this newspaper, "It will be a complete lockdown excluding outstation trains and flights for the next 15 days."

He said that the suburban trains and BEST buses would remain operational for government employees, who are working in essential services and offices.

Public health minister Rajesh Tope also confirmed that the cabinet has advised the Chief Minister to impose complete lockdown.

Tope also clarified that the lockdown similar to the one imposed during the first surge of Covid is needed to be imposed to deal with the present situation.

Tope said that the Chief Minister would himself announce the lockdown on Wednesday evening.

Meanwhile, the state government on Tuesday tightened curbs in the state. Shops selling groceries, vegetables, fruit, dairy products, and all types of food, including meat and poultry, will be open between 7am and 11am, an order by the state government said.

The new curbs will be effective from Tuesday itself. The disaster management unit (DMU) of the relief and rehabilitation department issued an order in this regard.

"All grocery, vegetable shops, fruit vendors, dairies, bakeries, confectioneries, all types of food shops including chicken, mutton, poultry, fish and eggs, shops related to agricultural implements and farm produce, pet food shops, shops related to materials for impending rainy season" will remain open from 7 am to 11 am, said the order. Home delivery from such shops may be allowed between 7 am to 8 pm, but the time window can be changed by local authorities, it said.

The Supreme Court on Tuesday stayed the Allahabad High court's order directing lockdown in five cities of Uttar Pradesh — Lucknow, Kanpur, Allahabad, Varanasi, and Gorakhpur.

A bench headed by Chief Justice Sharad A. Bobde and comprising Justice A.S. Bopanna and Justice V. Ramasubramanian passed the stay order on a plea by Uttar Pradesh government against April 19, 2021, order of the Allahabad High Court.

The High Court had ordered a week-long lockdown in the five cities that was to last till April 26 to arrest the rampant spread of Covid. Having ordered interim stay of the lockdown order by the High Court, the top court, however, directed that the Uttar Pradesh government shall immediately

J&K announces fresh tough measures

YUSUF JAMEEL | DC
SRINAGAR, APRIL 20

Jammu and Kashmir government on Tuesday extended night curfew in all 20 districts of the Union Territory (UT) besides announcing a slew of other tough measures in view of an upward trajectory in Covid-19 cases. However, Kashmir's Divisional Commissioner, P.K. Pole said that the government has no plan to impose fresh lockdown in the Valley as the administration is following the mantra of "Jaan bhi, Jahaan bhi."

Meanwhile, the authorities in J&K and Ladakh have informed the Union government that the surge in the Covid-19 positive cases in the twin UTs is a result of inbound travellers as many of them have turned out to be the carriers of the asymptomatic transmission of virus.

The J&K Lt. Governor, Manoj Sinha, announced the government's decision that only 50 per cent shops and other businesses will remain open on an alternate basis within the municipal and urban body limits in the UT from Thursday. He tweeted, "Only 50% shops in market complexes / bazaars / malls within the municipal limits / urban local body limits shall be open on an alternate basis through a rotation system," he tweeted.

Sinha said that the magistrates of all districts have been told to devise a mechanism to implement the order, preferably in consultation with local market associations. He said that curfew from 10 pm to 6 am in force for the two weeks in eight districts has been extended to all twenty districts of the UT. "Corona Curfew at night shall be extended to all municipal / urban local body limits of all 20 districts of J&K. It was already in force in eight districts earlier, from 10 pm to 6 am," he said in another tweet.

Responding to fresh restrictions, the Jammu Chamber of Commerce and Industry (JCCI) rolled out a new market timing to supplement the government's efforts. Arun Gupta, president of the JCCI, said that after holding consultations with various traders' bodies of the winter capital, it has been decided that all kinds of business establishments will remain closed on Sundays. He also said that all types of shops in the city will remain open from 10 am to 7 pm except restaurants and other eateries which shall close at 9 pm instead. "This is a crucial time and we all need to extend our best possible cooperation to the government for fighting Coronavirus," he said.

However, the J&K Transporters Welfare Forum (TWF) has called for a strike over fresh government order which allows only 50 per cent passenger movement in public transport vehicles. TS Wazir, president of the forum, said this diktat was issued without consulting transporters. "With only 50 per cent passengers on board, we won't be able to even earn the money for fuelling purposes," he said adding that the government should either hike passenger fare by 50 per cent or the transporters will go for a strike from Wednesday.

The administrations of J&K and Ladakh have while sharing the inputs during a review meeting chaired by Union home secretary, Ajay Kumar

Bhalla, on Covid-19 status, the management and response strategy informed the Centre that the number of positive cases has risen in their respective UTs exponentially due to inbound travellers.

The meeting which was held by Bhalla along with Union health secretary Rajesh Bhushan with chief secretaries of all the UTs of the country through video conference, was also attended by Dr. V. K. Paul, member (Health) NITI Aayog, Dr. Balram Bhargava, secretary, DHR & DG ICMR besides the police chiefs.

The official sources said that during the meeting, "Ladakh, J&K and Lakshadweep pointed to the rise in cases due to large numbers of inbound travellers." Lakshadweep has seen a sudden spike after April 14, primarily due to the travel of a large number of people to mainland to shop for the recent festive occasions, an official statement added.

It also said that the home secretary pointed out the steep growth in the number of cases all across the country from 20,000 cases reported on January 1, 2021, India has almost ten times more cases (more than 2,00,000 cases) being reported daily since April 15. He said that in the last eleven days, new cases have almost doubled from 1.31 lakh reported on April 9 to 2.73 lakh reported on April 2.

The official statement stated that the UTs shared their present efforts for containment and management of the positive cases.

ASSAM ORDERS CLOSURE OF
GROCERY SHOPS,
MALLS BY 6 PMMANOJ ANAND | DC
GUWAHATI, APRIL 20

A day after reviewing the situation, Assam government on Tuesday issued new Standard Operating Procedure (SOP) to contain the escalating Covid situation and directed closure of grocery shops, shopping malls and other establishments by 6 pm from Tuesday.

Making face mask compulsory in all public places, Assam chief secretary Jishnu Barua told reporters that they would be reviewing the situation in next three days.

"If situation continues to escalate, we may impose more restrictions," said the chief secretary requesting the people to show Covid-19 appropriate behaviour.

Besides increasing tests across the state, the chief secretary said that they have stock of more than five lakh vaccines. "We have taken steps to intensify the vaccination drive and the health department has already prepared a roadmap to complete the vaccination," he said.

The state administration in its new SOP said that shop owners shall ensure a minimum six feet distance among customers and shall not allow more than five persons inside the shop. In addition, shop owners should compulsorily keep sanitisers and hand wash in their shops, it added.

"Barber shops, salons and parlours shall continue to provide service with strict compliance of Covid appropriate behaviour such as wearing of face masks, face cover, hand gloves," the new SOP stated.

"Industrial units and Tea gardens may function subject to observance of Covid appropriate behaviour: Head of the unit/tea garden shall be responsible for ensuring social distancing, mask wearing by workers and staff, sanitisation of industrial premises, thermal scanning etc."

Asking that work from home and virtual working should be encouraged, the state government has also imposed restriction of office strength.

"Except officers, only 50 per cent employees can work from the office. Pregnant women employees and women with children of five years or below irrespective of their grade shall be eligible to work from home," the state government said.

Suspending the morning assembly in all the schools, the authorities have directed the schools, colleges and universities to provide quality virtual options. "Not more than 50 per cent students should attend in person on any day," the Standard Operating Procedure said.

SELF-CLEANING

Nanomaterial can clean mask by simply keeping it in sunlight

Virus-filtering material developed

New Delhi, April 20: Researchers at the Indian Institute of Technology (IIT), Mandi have developed a virus-filtering, self-cleaning and antibacterial material that can be used to make face masks and other PPE equipment to prevent the spread of Coronavirus.

The team claims that the developed nanomaterial can clean the mask by simply keeping it in bright sunlight and make it ready to wear again.

The results of the research have recently been published in the prestigious journal of the American Chemical Society — Applied Materials and Interfaces.

According to the researchers, face masks have become a default piece of apparel to be worn in public in these pandemic times.

"Keeping the urgency of the pandemic situation and cost-effectiveness in mind, we have developed a strategy to repurpose existing PPEs, especially face masks, by providing an antimicrobial coating to these protective clothing and textiles. For this, the research team has used such materials that are a hundred thousand times smaller than the width of the human hair to confer antimicrobial properties to polycotton fabric," Amit Jaiswal, Assistant Professor, School of Basic Sciences, IIT Mandi, said.

The team has incorporated nanometre sized sheets of molybdenum sulphide, MoS2, the sharp edges and corners of which act as tiny knives that pierce bacterial and viral membranes, thus killing them.

"The 'nanoknife'-modified fabrics demonstrated excellent antibacterial activity even after 60 cycles of washing. Improperly disposed off PPEs are a serious secondary source of transmission, and having reusable antimicrobial masks can help circumvent this risk. The reusability of the fabric will also enable it to be integrated with home-made masks.

"The researchers have developed prototypes of a 4-layered face mask using the MoS2 modified fabric. They report that these masks, in addition to killing microbes and being light-cleanable, can also filter more than 96 pc of particles that are in the size range of the Covid virus (120 nanometres), without compromising on breathability of the fabric, and could thus be a powerful tool to prevent the spread of Coronavirus and other microbial infections.

"We expect that the impact of this innovation on society will be immense and immediate, considering the current situation of global Covid-19 pandemic. The proposed materials can also be used to fabricate screens and sheets for creation of makeshift isolation wards, containment cells and quarantines for holding individuals who come in contact with pathogens," said Jaiswal.

IN BRIEF

Cops shoot man with ‘handgun’

Dallas, April 20: Dallas police officers shot and killed a man Monday who pointed at them what turned out to be a replica handgun, authorities said.

Police responded about 4 p.m. Monday after receiving a call about a man walking along a residential street about one mile north of the US 75-Interstate 635 interchange. The man pointed at arriving officers what appeared to be a handgun before fleeing on foot. Shortly thereafter, officers responded to a report of an armed man stealing from a drug store. They tracked the man as he crossed all lanes of Interstate 635 on foot just west of US 75, then shot and killed him.

Dubai princess: UN seeks info

Geneva, April 20: Independent experts working with the UN human rights office on Tuesday called on the United Arab Emirates' government to provide more details about the fate of a daughter of Dubai's powerful ruler who has claimed she was taken hostage.

The experts called for the immediate release of Sheikha Latifia bint Mohammed Al Maktoum, who turned up in videos broadcast by the BBC two months ago in which she questioned whether she would survive.

They expressed concerns about alleged rights violations she has faced, and possible threats to her life.

40,000 displaced in Mozambique

Johannesburg, April 20: Some 40,000 displaced and urgently needing food, work suspended on a multi-billion-dollar gas investment, and scores of dead still being counted.

The damage caused by Mozambique's extremist rebels on the town of Palma continues to be assessed.

Four weeks after the rebels launched a three-pronged attack, which lasted at least five days, Mozambican police and relief agencies are working to help the thousands uprooted by the violence and restore the town to daily life.

Although the fighting has ended, Palma does not appear to be completely secure.

Egypt fires top railway official

Cairo, April 20: Egypt's transportation minister on Tuesday said he sacked the country's top railway official, following three train accidents in less than a month that left at least 29 people dead and some 320 injured.

The firing of Asharf Raslan, head of the railway authority, was part of a wide ranging overhaul of the rundown railway system's leadership amid public outcry over repeated train crashes.

Raslan, who headed the railway authority since July 2018, was replaced Mustafa Abuel-Makarm, the office of Transportation Minister Kamal el-Wazir said in a statement.

The changes included the main departments of the railway authority that manages train traffic in the Arab world's most populous country.

CHAD PRESIDENT KILLED AFTER 30 YEARS IN POWER

N'Djamena, April 20: Chadian President Idriss Deby Itno, who ruled the central African nation for more than three decades, was killed Tuesday on the battlefield in a fight against rebels, the military announced on national television and radio.

The stunning announcement came just hours after electoral officials had declared Deby the winner of the April 11 presidential election, paving the way for him to stay in power for six more years.

The circumstances of Deby's death could not immediately be independently confirmed due to the remote location of the battlefield. It was not known why the president would have visited the frontlines in northern Chad or participated in ongoing clashes with the rebels who opposed his rule.

Deby, a former army commander-in-chief, first came to power in 1990 when his rebel forces overthrew then-President Hissene Habre, who was later convicted of human rights abuses at an international tribunal in Senegal.

Over the years Deby had survived numerous armed rebellions and managed to stay in power until this latest insurgency led by a group calling itself the Front for Change and Concord in Chad.

Avoid travelling to India, US to citizens over Covid spike

Washington, April 20: The US has advised its citizens to avoid travelling to India, even if they are fully vaccinated as there is a 'very high level' of Covid-19 in the country.

The Centers for Disease Control and Prevention's (CDC) on Monday released travel recommendations by destination. It uses science-based Travel Health Notices to alert travellers to health threats around the world and advise on how to protect themselves. The CDC has a 4-level system for COVID-19 and in that India is placed in 'Level 4: Very high level of Covid-19'.

In the note Monday, the department noted that "the Covid-19 pandemic continues to pose unprecedented risks to travellers."

The CDC has urged Americans to avoid all travel to India.

Travellers should avoid all travel to India. Because of the current situation in India even fully vaccinated travellers may be at risk for getting and spreading Covid-19 variants and should avoid all travel to India, the CDC said in a statement.

US: SC likely to bar some ‘green card’ applicants

Washington, April 20: The Supreme Court appeared ready Monday to prevent thousands of people living in the US for humanitarian reasons from applying to become permanent residents.

The justices seemed favourable, in arguments via telephone, to the case made by the Biden administration that federal immigration law prohibits people who entered the country illegally and now have Temporary Protected Status from seeking "green cards" to remain in the country permanently.

The designation applies to people who come from countries ravaged by war or disaster, protects them from deportation and allows them to work legally.

The case pits the administration against immigrant groups that contend federal law is more forgiving for the 400,000 people who are TPS recipients. Many have lived in the US for many years, given birth to American citizens and have put down roots in this country, their advocates say. The Justice Department says it is maintaining a position held consistently for 30 years by administrations of both parties.

President Joe Biden supports changing the law to put TPS recipients, among other immigrants, on a path to citizenship. Legislation that would allow people who are here for humanitarian reasons to adjust their immigration status has passed the House, but faces uncertainty in prospects in the Senate. Justice Brett Kavanaugh said the court should be "careful about tinkering with the immigration statutes as written," especially when Congress could act. "But just kind of big picture, why should we jump in here when Congress is very focused on immigration?" Kavanaugh asked.

The case turns on whether people who entered the country illegally and were given humanitarian protections were ever "admitted" into the US under immigration law. — AP

Floyd death case against ex-cop goes to the jury

Minneapolis, April 20: The murder case against former Minneapolis police Officer Derek Chauvin in the death of George Floyd has gone to the jury. Twelve jurors — six of them white, six Black or multiracial — are beginning deliberations in a city on edge against another round of unrest.

During closing arguments Monday, prosecutors contended that Chauvin squeezed the life out of Floyd by pinning his knee against Floyd's neck last May, ignoring bystanders, his own training and common sense.

The defence argued that the now-fired white officer acted reasonably and that the 46-year-old Black man died of an underlying heart condition and illegal drug use.

Officer Derek Chauvin "had to know" he was squeezing the life out of George Floyd as the Black man cried over and over that he couldn't breathe and finally fell silent, a prosecutor told the jury Monday during closing arguments at Chauvin's murder trial.

"Use your common sense. Believe your eyes. What you saw, you saw," Steve Schleicher said, referring to the excruciating bystander video of Floyd pinned to the pavement with Chauvin's knee on or close to his neck last May for up to 9 minutes, 29 seconds, as bystanders yelled at the white officer to get off.

Chauvin attorney Eric Nelson countered by arguing that Chauvin did what any "reasonable" police officer would have done after finding himself in a "dynamic" and "fluid" situation involving a large man struggling with three officers.

As Nelson began speaking, the now-fired Chauvin removed his Covid-19 mask in front of the jury for one of the very few times during the trial. The dueling arguments got underway with Minneapolis on edge after Floyd's death last spring set off protests in the city and across the United States that at times turned violent.

The defence contends not only that Chauvin acted reasonably but that the 46-year-old Floyd died of heart disease and illegal drug use, not Chauvin's actions.

Prosecutor Jerry Blackwell had the final word, offering the state's rebuttal argument.

The prosecutor, who is PoC, said that the questions about the use of force and cause of death are "so simple that a child can understand it."

"In fact, a child did understand it, when the 9-year-old girl said, 'Get off of him,'" Blackwell said, referring to a young witness who objected to what she saw. "That's how simple it was. 'Get off of him.' Common sense."

Under the law, police are given certain latitude to use force, and their actions are supposed to be judged according to what a "reasonable officer" in the same situation would have done — a point the defence stressed repeatedly. Nelson noted that officers who first went to the corner store where Floyd allegedly tried to pass a counterfeit $20 bill already were struggling with Floyd when Chauvin arrived as backup.

The attorney also noted that the first two officers on the scene were rookies and that police had been told that Floyd might be on drugs.

"A reasonable police officer understands the intensity of the struggle," Nelson said, saying that Chauvin's body-worn camera and his police badge were knocked off his chest.

J&J virus vaccine manufacturing halted at plant that ruined doses

Washington, April 20: The US Food and Drug Administration requested that production of the Johnson & Johnson coronavirus vaccine be halted at a factory that previously reportedly ruined about 15 million doses of the shot.

The pharmaceutical giant told AFP at the end of March it had identified a batch of doses at a plant in Baltimore run by Emergent BioSolutions "that did not meet quality standards," but did not confirm the specific number affected. The New York Times later reported the batch consisted of about 15 million doses.

Emergent BioSolutions said in a regulatory Securities and Exchange Commission filing on Monday that the FDA had requested a pause on April 16 in production of the single-shot vaccine pending an inspection at the Baltimore, Maryland facility.

Johnson & Johnson said it was sending experts to the site to oversee vaccine production. — AFP

DON'T MEDDLE IN OTHER'S AFFAIRS: XI

Beijing, April 20: Chinese President Xi Jinping on Tuesday hit out at the United States, saying there should be no "bossing" and "meddling" in the internal affairs of other countries as Beijing is increasingly coming under pressure from Washington and its allies over issues of human rights violations, Taiwan and Hong Kong.

"Bossing others around or meddling in others' internal affairs would not get one any support. We must advocate peace, development, equity, justice, democracy and freedom, which are common values of humanity, and encourage exchanges and mutual learning among civilisations to promote the progress of human civilisation," Xi said, without directly referring to the United States.

"What we need in today's world is justice, not hegemony," he said.

French envoy ouster plea in Pak parl

Islamabad, April 20: A resolution was tabled in the lower house of the Parliament on Tuesday for the expulsion of the French ambassador from Pakistan over the issue of blasphemous cartoons being published in the European country. Amjad Ali Khan of the ruling Pakistan Tehreek-e-Insaf (PTI) party presented the resolution in the National Assembly with Speaker Asad Qaiser in the chair.

Technically, it was not an official document as it was moved by a member in his private capacity but it was accepted for discussion. The resolution condemned the publication of blasphemous caricatures by French magazine Charlie Hebdo in September last year and expressed regret over the French's president "encouragement of the elements hurting the sentiments of the hundreds of millions of Muslims in the name of freedom of expression". "The House condemns the publication of insulting sketches by the controversial French magazine Charlie Hebdo and Muslims around the world had also expressed outrage at the publication of the sketches," it added.

It stated that a debate should be held in the House on the expulsion of the French ambassador from Pakistan over the issue of caricatures. "This House also demands that the state should decide matters of international relations and no person, group or party can exert unnecessary illegal pressure," according to the resolution.

It also said that all European countries in general and France in particular should be made aware of the seriousness of this issue of blasphemy. The resolution said that the issue should be raised collectively on international forums.

REINSTATE TRAVEL BAN TO KEEP U.S. SAFE FROM ISLAMIC TERROR: TRUMP

Washington, April 20: Former US President Donald Trump has urged his successor Joe Biden to reinstate the travel ban on certain Muslim countries in order to keep the country safe from radical Islamic terrorism.

If Joe Biden wants to keep our country safe from radical Islamic terrorism, he should reinstitute the foreign country travel ban and all of the vetting requirements on those seeking admission that go with it, along with the refugee restrictions I successfully put in place, Trump said in a statement on Monday.

Terrorists operate all over the world and recruit online. To keep terrorism and extremism out of our country, we need to have smart, commonsense rules in place so we don't repeat the many immigration mistakes made by Europe and the USA prior to Trump," said the former US president.

Special security cover to all churches in island nation

Lanka Easter attack 2nd anniv today

Colombo, April 20: Sri Lanka's Catholic church will observe a two-minute silence on Wednesday morning to mark the second anniversary of the deadly Easter Sunday attacks in 2019 that killed 258 people, including 11 Indians.

Malcolm Cardinal Ranjith, the Archbishop of Colombo, has requested people to observe a two-minute silence at 8.45 am on Wednesday in memory of the victims of the Easter Sunday attacks.

Nine suicide bombers belonging to local Islamist extremist group National Thawheed Jamaat (NTJ) linked to ISIS carried out a series of devastating blasts that tore through churches and as many luxury hotels on April 21, 2019, killing 258 people, including 11 Indians.

Cardinal Ranjith said that two main memorial services would be held at the St Anthony's Church in Colombo and the St Sebastian's Church in Negombo the two of the three churches devastated by the suicide attacks two years ago.

Cardinal Ranjith, who will be presiding the memorial service at the St Anthony's Church, said that it was at 8.45 am on April 21, 2019 when the first suicide bomber targeted a church.

The police said there will be a special security cover to all churches throughout the island nation.

All provincial police stations have been directed to provide appropriate security tomorrow during the memorial events, police spokesman senior deputy inspector general Ajith Rohana said.

The Muslim Council of Sri Lanka (MCSL) has also called upon all Sri Lankans to support and join the call of the Archbishop of Colombo in observing the two-minute silence.

We also call upon Muslims to make supplications for these victims in this holy month of Ramadan, said the MCSL statement issued by Vice President Hilmly Ahamed.

It also urged the Government to hasten a thorough investigation on the Easter Sunday attacks and bring the real perpetrators to justice without relying on anecdotal evidence.

The Muslim community condemns the suicide bombers as Islam totally forbids killing of innocents even during a war; hence the Muslim community denied an Islamic funeral for the suicide bombers, the statement added.

The MCSL said the Muslim community has been targeted by some in a hate campaign for the carnage of a few who called themselves Muslims.

Cardinal Ranjith has vowed to take drastic action if the real culprits were not dealt with by the second anniversary of the attacks on April 21. — PTI

Vaccination: Set realistic targets, don't pass buck

The Union government's decision to open up vaccination against Covid-19 for all those aged above 18 is a welcome step but the decision to halve its procurement of vaccines and let the state governments and private players do the rest of the job throws up uncomfortable questions. The demand for relaxing eligibility conditions for vaccination was voiced by many state governments, and was raised in the letter former Prime Minister Dr Manmohan Singh had written to Prime Minister Narendra Modi the other day. The decision makes more than 98 crore of the 136 crore Indians eligible for vaccination; inoculating them all would be a major step for the nation to return to business as usual.

The Centre needs to explain how its decision to let the vaccine manufacturers sell 50 per cent of the production to state governments and private players will make its vaccination targets more achievable. It seems to have little planning to augment production in a drastic way in a short period of time. Union health minister Dr Harsh Vardhan, in his uncharacteristically distasteful reply to Dr Singh, was silent on the former Prime Minister's practical suggestion to use the compulsory licensing route to do so. In effect, all that the Centre has done is to liberalise the sale of half of the production of the vaccine at a time when the nation is facing an acute shortage of it. The Centre refused to pay heed to the call of the two manufacturers for more financial aid all these days, and when it did, it also gave them a chance to make super profits. It's ad-hocism at its worst.

This is not the first time the Centre has been found wanting in the fight against the pandemic: From the Prime Minister's assurance last year to the nation that we shall defeat the virus in 21 days to launching the "world's largest vaccination programme" with little planning on this New Year Day, ad-hocism and chest-thumping have been its hallmark. And the data on the milestones India has covered reflects that of a poor performer: we do not talk about flattening the curve at all, and have inoculated fully only one per cent of the population in the last four months. It's incomprehensible that the health minister jeered at Dr Singh's suggestion to look at the percentage, instead of the absolute number of doses.

It is time that the Centre sets achievable targets and works hard towards them, coordinating the efforts of all the stakeholders. It must rescind the decision to earmark half of the vaccine produced locally to the channel other than its own; it is in effect handing over the responsibility of making the vaccine available to the larger chunk of the population to the state governments while still holding all the purse strings, including those of the PM-Cares Fund. The government must also explore all options, including easy imports and compulsory licensing, to jack up availability of the vaccines. Impulsive decision making and chest-thumping can hardly replace careful planning and resolute action.

Man's Ingenuity on Mars

When Wilbur and Orville Wright flew their motor-operated plane in 1903 it was airborne for 12 seconds only. When Neil Armstrong took his first step on the moon in 1969 it was a small one for man but it represented a giant leap for mankind. So too with Ingenuity, just 48 centimetres tall and weighing 1.8 kg and which was airborne for exactly 39 seconds after climbing to only three metres above the rugged Martian surface. But such a short flight on another planet — where the atmosphere of mostly carbon dioxide is thin (about a hundredth of that on Earth) and there is no air to push against — is symbolic of a technological breakthrough that comes only once in a few generations. Ingenuity needed a heater and thermostat to be kept warm to withstand up to the minus 100 degrees Celsius temperatures of Martian nights.

The short flight opens up exciting possibilities for the future of space exploration; which need not be limited to a rover on wheels needing a surface to move on. Ingenuity's chief engineer Dr Bob Balaram, an alumnus of IIT Madras, believes such flight capabilities could evolve and help explore the moons of Saturn in the future. Helicopters and fleets of drones with heavier payloads can spot the most interesting terrain for rovers to move to and explore. The conquest of technology might even lead to the designing of helicopters that can one day fly even in the rarefied atmosphere around Mount Everest.

A comparison, however bizarre, may help bring out the extent of man's ingenuity in handling the complexities of remote-controlling the helicopter's flight on Mars when you consider the failure just the other day of a self-driving Tesla car, running at high speed and not negotiating a turn on the road to crash into a tree and kill two occupants. The Persuance rover was only 60 metres away recording the historic flight but just imagine the capabilities of flying machines that can capture images at close quarters of worlds millions of miles away from earth. Such breakthroughs may encourage men who envisage colonising planets in the solar system to dream on.

'Hindu politics' by Opp. is a sign of BJP's New India

Nilanjan Mukhopadhyay

In more states than one, the Opposition to the BJP is its veritable B-team. Take the Arvind Kejriwal-led Aam Aadmi Party for instance in Delhi.

What is common to West Bengal chief minister Mamata Banerjee and former Uttar Pradesh chief minister Akhilesh Yadav? Besides the latter being a joint recipient of her letter, written last month to 15 Opposition stalwarts asking them to join forces to fight assaults on India's constitutional federalism, both have also recently publicly displayed their Hindu identities.

Mr Yadav's efforts at projecting his Hindu identity was unfortunately followed by his testing Covid positive, possibly because he had bathed at Haridwar during the Kumbh Mela and met with a Hindu seer, who was perhaps infected with the coronavirus. Ms Banerjee demonstrated that she was not a lesser Hindu than her adversary-in-chief, Prime Minister Narendra Modi, when she recited the Chandi Path to launch her campaign in Nandigram several weeks ago.

Ms Banerjee, as well as Mr Yadav, in ways more than one, embody the majority of India's Opposition leaders who have since 2014, taken recourse to startling innovations to wear their hitherto invisible Hindu birthmarks on their sleeves. Rahul Gandhi's efforts to publicly display being a Dattatreya Brahmin in the run-up to the Gujarat Assembly polls are widely known and were commented upon adequately.

Alongside widely embracing their religious identity, the (Hindu) Opposition leaders now mask past commitment and efforts at increasing the political representation of religious minorities, especially Muslims. They also no longer promise minority-specific development programmes with the same gusto as they once did. Some years ago, Sonia

Gandhi had bemoaned that her party suffered electorally due to its "prominority" image.

The contagion of over-anxious display of one's Hindu identity is in complete contrast to the unanimity in the political class, at dawn of the republic in 1950, that India's majority community was obligated to make the religious minorities, especially the Muslims, feel secure, respected and instil in them the belief that the majority was sensitive to their faith and tradition.

The chief minister of Bihar, Nitish Kumar, drew strength from this unspoken agreement when he mocked Prime Minister Modi for his refusal to wear a skull cap offered by a Muslim cleric in 2011. It is useful to recall Nitish Kumar's didactic advice: "In a country as diverse as ours, symbols must be respected. In order to maintain harmony with everyone, sometimes one has to wear a cap and sometimes one needs to sport a tilak."

Barely eight years after this taunt, the fortunes have reversed. Mr Kumar is now a much-diminished executor of Mr Modi's policies, albeit with a balk at times on matters related to hard Hindutva. The Prime Minister has also successfully politically coerced his opponents to become mindful of the ways of the "New India", where being merely sensitive towards the concerns of religious minorities is deemed a political handicap, or perilous.

The Opposition parties are driven by their assessment that in the people's perception, whatever may be shortcomings of Prime Minister Modi and his government's deliveries, he has one most important "accomplishment" beneath his belt — that he has "fixed" Muslims. The Opposition parties are driven by their perception of majoritarian elation and are now unwilling to risk loss of support among Hindus. In more states than one, the Opposition to the BJP is its veritable B-team. Take the Arvind Kejriwal-led Aam Aadmi Party for instance in Delhi.

This explains Akhilesh Yadav's conscious decision to refrain from critiquing Hindu nationalist politics in recent years, especially after 2017, the way his father Mulayam Singh Yadav, the Samajwadi patriarch, did three decades ago when he pledged in October 1990 not to allow even a single "bird to flutter" over Ayodhya's skies on the day of the Vishwa Hindu Parishad's promised commencement of the "kar seva" at the disputed site. The impression that there has a complete reversal is the outlook of large sections of Hindus towards Muslims is reflected in several of Mamata Banerjee's decisions too, most visibly in the significantly lesser number of Muslims she has nominated as candidates in these elections.

Ms Banerjee and Mr Yadav have another commonality. Prashant Kishor and his brand of ideological agnosticism is part of their campaign to return to power, the former's currently and Mr Yadav's in 2017. Since his advent in India's political space as an electoral strategist, first for Mr Modi and later for others, Mr Kishor has preached that political commitment to ideas and policies is redundant. Winning polls, he asserts, is all about reading the data right, an effective communication strategy and making the right moves at opportune moments. His philosophy enables him to move to one "client" party from another. Mr Kishor's belief in post-ideology politics is reflected in the weakened commitment to political beliefs of Ms Banerjee, Mr Yadav and several others.

His influence was visible in Ms Banerjee's letter to the Opposition leaders. It was an unambiguous effort at opening a door for a post-poll pact with the Congress while staking claim to a national role in the event of the Trinamul Congress returning to power in West Bengal. But Ms Banerjee chose not to criticise the BJP's corrosive ideology. Instead, she used the passage of the law that clipped the powers of the Delhi government and held it as evidence of the ruling side's objective of establishing "one party authoritarian rule in India".

Ms Banerjee's letter was silent on the abrogation of Article 370 and taking away Jammu and Kashmir's statehood, a precursor to the law clipping the Delhi government's powers. The letter listed the reasons why the Opposition parties must forge a common cause. But none of these were ideological. Ms Banerjee limited herself to listing instances showing that the BJP consistently undermines India's federal character; hang-handed governors, using investigative agencies to target political opponents, limiting fiscal independence of states, dissolution of consultative bodies, worsening Centre-state relations and so on.

Mamata Banerjee has not sought allies among the Opposition parties to protect India from a majoritarian onslaught. Instead, it is a call to unite to safeguard its federal character and autonomy. Although people in more than one hundred seats are still to vote, the letter is the final proof of the BJP winning this round politically. Whether it has secured West Bengal electorally too shall be known only on May 2.

FIGHT COVID

Today's Covid-19 pandemic situation across the country is alarming. We have no one to blame but ourselves. If we go into the streets, we see so many people without masks. From the time the lockdown was lifted the government should have continued to have a strict watch over people's behaviour and not wait for things to grow out of hand. The government should swoop down on violators.

VIP CORONAVIRUS

Several Chief Ministers including K. Chandrasekhkar Rao have tested positive for Covid-19. Many Central and state ministers, IAS and IPS officers have also tested positive. However, these VIP Covid-19 patients don't face problems like finding beds in hospitals and high-end medical attention round the clock. These are the problems of the general public. Coronavirus is the "leveller" that treats both the haves and the have-nots the same way, but our leaders have made the virus look biased.

India rejects Pak's request

NEW DELHI, April. 20 The Government of India today firmly turned down Pakistan High Commission's request to return the two diplomats who had been granted asylum in India on April 6.

In its reply to the Pakistan High Commission's note of April 7, the Ministry of External Affairs said today, "since Mr. Shahbuddin and Mr. Haque have been granted asylum, there can be no question of their being returned to the High Commission."

The Ministry took serious objection to Pakistani allegation that the Government of India was involved in any activity.

Bengal lesson: Drawbacks of a multi-phase state election

After various incidents of violence in the first four phases of voting in West Bengal, the Election Commission of India ordered the election campaign to end 72 hours before the fifth phase of polling. This order of bringing the campaign to an end, 24 earlier than the mandated 48 hours is an indication of EC not being in full command. The EC tried to send out a message of being tough by putting a 24-hour ban on Mamata Banerjee's campaign and another 48-hour bar on that by BJP leader Rahul Sinha, and issuing notices to BJP leader Suwendu Adhikari. These steps are welcome, but it can't possibly evade the question — why in spite of an eight-phase election, on grounds that it was necessary so that polling took place in a free and fair manner, has it not been able to curb violence in the earlier phases that resulted in the death of a few people?

The multi-phase election and few days of gap between different phases is aimed at facilitating movement of security forces from one location/district to another as an adequate number of forces are needed to be deployed at each polling booth for a free and fair election. But visuals from the ground especially at booths where violent incident took place clearly indicated that though security forces were deployed inside the polling booths, they were hardly seen outside them. It is a well-known fact that violence mostly take place outside the polling booth and hardly inside. The question that the EC actually needs to answer is this, was planning an eight-phase poll spread over a month, and during a pandemic too boot, wrong, after all? While there are advantages to holding a phased election, were there also challenges that it failed to take into account? Equally, was not deploying security forces outside polling stations in spite of visible signs of tension in many villages due to shortage? It so happened that more than 1,000 companies of central forces were deployed in West Bengal at the time.

As noted above, the huge gap between the different phases of polling in the 2021 West Bengal Legislative Assembly election was kept to facilitate comfortable movement of security forces between locations. The EC did the right thing following this protocol. However, it failed to assess that these days could also be used by anti-social elements for movement from one place to another. Thus, questions should also be asked for the rationale behind the eight-phase election. Why could the election not be planned over fewer phases?

Even though there is no data on the number of violent incidents in different phases, there is a general sense that violent incidents have increased in the later phases of the election compared to the earlier phases of voting. As we have noted before, a multiple-phase election does help in movement of security forces ultimately resulting in deployment of an adequate number at each polling station, but at the same time, spread over a month, it provides an opportunity for escalating violence, as workers of different parties fighting against each other get time to settle scores, right from one phase on to the next. Election in one phase could minimise this possibility, as they would not otherwise get the opportunity to organise themselves. Whatever violence takes place would then only be spontaneous. There may be some other disadvantages, but a single-day polling can certainly help in reducing the duration of tension between party workers.

A multi-phase election results in a very long period of election campaign. The campaign comes to an end 48 hours before the polling only in those constituencies where voting is scheduled to take place. There is no restriction on campaigning in constituencies where voting is scheduled at a later date. It has now almost become a rule that senior leaders of political parties will address rallies in constituencies where voting is to take place on a later date on the same day that voting is in progress in some other constituency. It has also become customary for these leaders to accuse leaders of their rival parties of their involvement in violent incidents in their speeches delivered during these rallies. This only raises the tempers of party workers that at times trigger violence in the said constituency on the voting day. A single-phase election or polling over fewer phases will certainly restrict the campaign period that will only help in keeping the political temperatures down, ultimately leading to less violence on the polling day.

Elections are due to be held in many states next year, Uttar Pradesh being a large one. Possibly, EC would think about a phased election. While so doing, it should keep the West Bengal lesson in mind.

HERO MOTOCORP TO SUSPEND OPS AT ALL PLANTS FROM 22ND

Two-wheeler maker Hero MotoCorp said it is temporarily stopping operations at all its manufacturing facilities across the country, including its Global Parts Centre (GPC), in the wake of a surge in Covid-19 cases. The firm has six manufacturing units located at Dharuhera and Gurugram, Haryana; Chittoor in Andhra Pradesh; Haridwar in Uttarakhand; Neemrana in Rajasthan, and Halol in Gujarat with a capacity of 90 lakh units.

Move part of efforts to boost supply Govt mulls duty cut on oxygen

MADHUSUDAN SAHOO NEW DELHI, APRIL 20

Anticipating a shortage of oxygen from the sharp spike in Covid-19 cases in many states, the government may encourage private companies to import oxygen to boost ramped up domestic supply. Besides, it is also expected that the Centre may relax the total import duty—which includes integrated GST—on medical oxygen by at least 10-12 per cent to boost private trade, a government source said.

The government move came soon after its decision on Monday to open vaccinations for all above 18 years of age from May 1.

A senior government official said, "We are closely looking into the development on oxygen supply and demand. If needed, we will allow private firms to import it with some duty relaxation. They may get a waiver of a minimum 10-12 per customs duty on oxygen if they intend to import."

As per industry estimation, the demand for the much sought-after liquid medical oxygen (LMO) has jumped manifold amidst the second wave of Covid-19. "During the first wave of Covid-19 last year, the demand for LMO increased four times to 2,800 tonnes per day. Further, with the second wave, the demand has gone up to more than 5,000 TPD," an industry source said.

STOP INDUSTRIAL USE OF OXYGEN: HC

New Delhi, April 20: The Delhi High Court on Tuesday said that economic interests cannot override human lives, and in view of hospitals in the national capital running low on oxygen, the Centre should immediately implement the ban on industrial use of oxygen instead of waiting till April 22.

A bench of Justices Vipin Sanghi and Rekha Palli said oxygen supply of various hospitals will run out in 4-8 hours and in such a situation there was no justification in implementing the ban from April 22 as the need was low.

The court directed the Centre to forthwith implement the ban and divert the oxygen to hospitals.

The court also issued notice to INOX Air Products, which produces oxygen, as to why contempt action be not initiated against it for not complying with court orders to supply oxygen and directed the presence of the company's MD on the next date of hearing on April 22.

The court also sought the presence of the Uttar Pradesh government on the next date.

The direction came after senior advocate Rahul Mehra told the bench that INOX did not supply oxygen as directed by the court claiming that doing so would lead to a law and order situation in UP from where the supply was to come.

The court also directed the Centre to issue appropriate orders and also meet the representatives of the steel and petrochemical industries to divert some portion of their oxygen. —PTI said the government is looking into all aspects of oxygen requirement.

"In order to save the lives of people now we are trying our best to meet the demand and boost supply. About the pricing, I think they could also be given the freedom to set pricing of their own," the official added.

BHARAT BIOTECH TO BOOST VACCINE OUTPUT

CHRIS KAY APRIL 20

Bharat Biotech International Ltd will ramp up production of its Covid-19 shot to about 700 million doses on an annual basis as the country struggles to contain a fresh and virulent coronavirus wave.

The planned expansion comes after the government last week gave the firm a Rs 65-crore grant. New Delhi has pushed Bharat Biotech to double its output by June and churn out 100 million doses of its inactivated Covaxin shot per month by September.

"Inactivated vaccines, while highly safe, are extremely complex and expensive to manufacture, resulting in lower yields compared to live virus vaccines," the firm said. —Bloomberg

DBS, StanChart weigh bids for Citi consumer business

ANSHUMAN DAGA, NUPUR ANAND & SUMEET CHATTERJEE APRIL 20

DBS Group, Mitsubishi UFJ Financial Group (MUFG), OCBC and Standard Chartered are set to bid for parts of Citigroup's consumer business in Asia, people with direct knowledge of the matter said.

The sale process will start within a couple of weeks, they added, declining to be named as they were not authorised to speak to media.

The move comes after Citi said it would exit from its consumer franchises in 13 markets, 10 of which are in Asia, as it refocuses on its more lucrative institutional and wealth management businesses in these markets.

Potential bids from the regional banks and StanChart, which makes most of its profit in Asia, underscores their growing appetite for businesses like credit cards and mortgages in a push to lock in long-term income growth.

The businesses Citi is exiting had $82 billion in assets and were allocated $7 billion in tangible common equity last year.

As Citi is not giving up its banking licences in most of the markets it is exiting, the sale of the consumer banking portfolios and branches will only appeal to lenders with existing presence in these countries, the people said.

Representatives at MUFG and StanChart, and Sumitomo Mitsui Financial Group, which the sources said was another potential bidder, declined to comment. "DBS has always been open to exploring sensible bolt-on opportunities in markets where we have a consumer banking franchise," Southeast Asia's biggest lender said.

In 2016, DBS bought ANZ's wealth management and retail businesses in five Asian markets for about $80 million.

Citi's sprawling India consumer business, comprising retail deposits, mortgages and credit cards, and its Taiwan business would be among the most valuable parts of its Asian consumer portfolio, the sources said.

DBS, the only big foreign bank with a fully owned Indian subsidiary, is eyeing Citi's India business, which is also set to attract StanChart and Kotak Mahindra Bank and Axis Bank, the sources said. SBI Cards and Payment Services is also weighing a bid for Citi's credit card portfolio. —Reuters

Container shortage eases but freight still high

SANGEETHA G CHENNAI, APRIL 20

While the hurdles in container availability, which troubled exporters for several months at a stretch, have eased, the freight charges are still ruling high, and are still 40 to 50 per cent higher than last year. Container shortage and demand issues had dragged down the consolidated cargo traffic at government-run ports to a three-year low in FY21.

The government on Tuesday claimed that the shortage of containers has been eased in the country. Around 58 per cent additional exports were handled in March and around one lakh empty containers were repositioned on Indian ports from across the world by the shipping lines. The Container Shipping Lines Association (India) said it has increased availability by more than 17-18 per cent compared to March 2019.

India is also targeting to manufacture containers domestically. State-run Concor has already issued an order of 2,000 containers to BHEL and Braithwaite. Discussions have been initiated with steel manufacturers, for producing corten steel in India at competitive prices, and railway wagon manufacturers like BHEL, DCM-Hyundai and Balmer & Lawrie to set up plants for manufacturing containers.

Meanwhile, the total consolidated cargo traffic handled at the government-run ports in FY21 dropped to a three-year low and was 5.3 per cent lower than in FY20. In volume terms, the cargo managed at 1,248 million tonnes was 1.7 million tonnes lower than in FY20.

Achinta finishes 2nd at Asian meet

Tashkent: Indian weightlifter Achinta Sheuli finished second in the 73kg group B competition at the Asian Championship here on Tuesday. The Commonwealth Championship gold medalist lifted 309kg — 139kg in snatch followed by 170kg in clean and jerk. The Indian had the best snatch lift (139kg) in the four-man field. However, he failed to lift 174kg in his final clean and jerk attempt which would have seen him top the group. Kazakhstan's Sairamkez Akmolada 310kg (130kg+180kg) finished first in the group. No request for pre-Oly vaccines

Tokyo: Tokyo 2020 organising committee said on Tuesday that they received no request from athletes to vaccinate them before the opening of the Olympic games. The vaccine rollout in Japan has been very slow with less than 1 per cent vaccinated, causing concern about the postponed Tokyo Olympics that are scheduled to open in just over three months. Naoko Takahashi, chairperson, Athletes' Committee, Tokyo 2020 said during a press conference that while athletes have questions about the Covid-19 vaccinations, they were not about whether athletes can get them or not. —AP

It was another spellbinding performance from the Warriors talisman, who is fast becoming the frontrunner for this season's NBA Most Valuable Player award with an average of 31.4 points per game. ICC confident big game will go ahead as planned despite India being 'red-flagged'

Dubai, April 20: The World Test Championship final between India and New Zealand will go ahead as planned in Southampton from June 18, the International Cricket Council (ICC) has assured after Britain added India to its travel 'red list' following a massive surge in Covid-19 caseload.

India's entry into the "red list" effectively bans all travel from the country and makes a 10-day hotel quarantine compulsory for UK residents arriving back home. However, the ICC expressed confidence in staging the WTC final in a bio-secure environment.

"The ECB and other members have demonstrated how we can stage international cricket safely in the middle of a pandemic and we are confident that we can continue to do that and that the WTC Final will go ahead as planned in June in the UK," said the ICC in a statement on Monday night.

"We are currently discussing with the UK Government the impact of countries being on the red list," it added.

A BCCI source said that it's difficult to say anything at this point in time and the Board is hoping that India will not be in the 'red list' by the time the team leaves for UK in early June for the WTC final.

"We still don't know how the situation will pan out in June. The travel related

● India's entry into the British "red list" effectively bans all travel from the country and makes a 10-day hotel quarantine compulsory for UK residents arriving back home.

SOPs are always dynamic as per Covid situation. When India leaves for UK at the start of June, it might be that the country is not in red list which requires 10 days of hard quarantine.

"But, if it is needed, it would be done. The situation is too fluid right now," the source said on conditions of anonymity.

Media reports in the UK said that in case it is required, the Rose Bowl in Southampton and its on-site hotel could be cleared for 'red list' arrivals by reverting to the full bio-secure set up that saw it successfully stage international fixtures last season.

"We are currently discussing with the government the impact of countries being on the 'red list'. By working collaboratively we demonstrated how we can stage international cricket safely in the middle of a pandemic and hope to be able to do so again this year," an ECB spokesperson was quoted as saying by Guardian newspaper.

The Indian women's cricket team is also scheduled to tour UK in June while the men's team is to play five Tests in England starting August 4.

There is also concern about how the inclusion of India in the 'red list' will impact the England and New Zealand cricketers who are currently playing in the IPL and intend to fly to the UK for the two-match Test series between the two countries that starts at the Lord's on June 2. The IPL will conclude on May 30 with the summit clash scheduled in Ahmedabad. India has reported 2,59,170 new positive cases in last 24 hours, the highest single-day surge, taking the country's Covid-19 caseload past the 1.5 crore mark. —PTI

SA captains fear ICC suspension

Johannesburg, April 20: The ICC on Tuesday said it will not intervene in the governance crisis engulfing South African cricket till the country's board asks for it, after the three national team captains expressed concerns over possible suspension by the game's global governing body.

The three skippers Dean Elgar, Temba Bavuma and Dane van Niekerk have signed a joint statement expressing their concerns before the ICC statement came as a relief.

"The ICC encourages Members to work with governments to resolve issues. Not all government intervention is problematic and for the ICC to get involved it requires a formal complaint from our Members that it is unwanted," the apex body said in a statement.

"Should that happen we will evaluate the situation based on the facts provided and plan an appropriate course of action."

An ICC source said that Cricket South Africa (CSA) hasn't yet reached a situation that demands the apex body's intervention.

Dane van Niekerk

"ICC doesn't want to press the panic button yet and want them to solve the issue themselves," the source said.

Earlier, the players feared if the current impasse is not resolved soon, South Africa may not be able to take part in the ICC T20 World Cup, to be held in India in October-November. —PTI

FIFA vows 'consequences' for Super League clubs

Montreux (Switzerland), April 20: FIFA president Gianni Infantino on Tuesday warned that clubs involved in the European Super League could face "consequences", as the backlash built against the deeply divisive plans.

Infantino leant his support to European football's governing body as it attempts to quash an initiative that threatens its prized Champions League and the health of domestic competitions such as England's Premier League.

"It is our task to protect the European sport model, so if some elect to go their own way then they must live with the consequences of their choices," Infantino said at UEFA's congress in Switzerland.

"They are responsible for their choices."

Twelve powerful clubs — six from England, and three each from Spain and Italy — have signed up for the Super League, which offers guaranteed spots for its founding members and billions of dollars in payments. Liverpool, Arsenal, Chelsea, Manchester City, Manchester United and Tottenham Hotspur are the English clubs involved, together with Barcelona, Atletico Madrid and Real Madrid from Spain and Italian trio Juventus, AC Milan and Inter Milan.

Currently, teams have to qualify for the Champions League each year through their national competitions, and face a lengthy group phase before reaching the high-profile latter stages.

The Super League would guarantee a spot for its founding members every year, removing the uncertainty of qualification and the accompanying risks to revenue. The breakaway plan prompted a furious reaction from fans and officials, with UEFA president Aleksander Ceferin saying on Monday it was motivated by "greediness, selfishness and narcissism", and Liverpool manager Jurgen Klopp saying its closed nature was "not right".

On Tuesday, Ceferin implored club owners, particularly those of Premier League teams, to row back on the plans. —AFP

Indian boxers book seven semis berths

New Delhi, April 20: Babyrojisana Chanu outclassed defending European champion Alexs Kubicka as seven Indian boxers stormed into the semi-finals at the youth world championships for men and women in Kielce, Poland.

Along with Chanu (51kg), Arundhati Choudhary (69kg), Sanamacha Chanu (75kg), Ankit Narwal (64kg), Vishal Gupta (91kg), Bishwamitra Chongtham (49kg) and Sachin (56kg) assured themselves of at least a bronze by advancing to the last-four stage on Day 7 of competitions.

With the confirmation of seven more medals, the 20-member Indian contingent is now assured of 11 medals from the ongoing championship.

Earlier on Day 6, Vinka, Alfiya, Gitika and Poonam had advanced to the semi-finals.

In a clash between two strong gold contenders in women's 51kg category, Asian youth champion Chanu put up a strong tactical performance.

She did not allow her Polish opponent Kubicka to score any point, blanking her 5-0. The Manipuri boxer will now take on Lucia Ayari of Italy.

Later, Arundhati outpunched Ukraine's Anna Sezko 5-0 while Sanamacha sent Russian Margarita Zueva packing with referee stopping the contest in the second round.

In the men's category, Asian junior champion Bishwamitra and Asian youth championship silver medalist Narwal also lived up to expectations and notched-up easy 5-0 victories against Serbian Omer Ametovic and Brazil's Ezequiel Da Cruz respectively.

Fleming says Ali adds value to CSK

Chennai Super Kings head coach Stephen Fleming feels that England player Moeen Ali has strengthened the team as he brings all-round value to it, which was missed in the last IPL season.

Fleming said Ali's impressive batting at No. 3 has been instrumental in the team getting good scores so far this season. “He is adding an all-round aspect to our game which we lacked last year,” Fleming said of Ali, who hit a quickfire 26 and returned with figures of 3/7 in CSK's 45-run win over Royals.

“His contribution was just what we were looking for. We are absolutely happy with the way he has started.”

DELHI DYNAMITE

Mishra's explosive spell (4/24) fires Capitals to a six-wicket victory

Chennai, April 20: Delhi Capitals notched up a six-wicket win over defending champions Mumbai Indians in a low-scoring IPL match here on Tuesday.

Experienced leg-spinner Amit Mishra snared four wickets as Delhi produced a disciplined bowling performance to restrict Mumbai to a below-par 137 for 9 after deciding to bat first at the MA Chidambaram Stadium.

Chasing the total, Shikhar Dhawan scored a 42-ball 45 and added 53 runs with Steve Smith (33) for the second wicket. Once they back in the hut, Lalit Yadav (22) and Shimron Hetmyer (14) held their nerves to take DC home in 19.1 overs.

Earlier, Mishra spun his web as Mumbai suffered a middle-order collapse on a sluggish Chepaunk track after they were 67 for 2 at one stage as Delhi led by Mishra (4/24) made a spectacular comeback.

Opting to bat, Mumbai lost opener Quinton De Kock (1) early, who edged a Marcus Stoinis (1/20) delivery to Rishabh Pant in the third over.

Suryakumar Yadav (24) then joined Rohit Sharma (44), who got his first boundary with an elegant drive, which raced to deep extra cover fence in the third over.

The duo rallied the innings with their 58-run stand.

Rohit took on ace off-spinner Ravichandra Ashwin (0/30) in the 4th over which fetched 15 runs.

The Mumbai skipper hammered a boundary and a maximum with a loft over extra cover, while Surya also got one boundary, courtesy an outside edge.

Rohit then hit Kagiso Rabada (1/25) for a six over long-off. Surya then However, Delhi pegged back the defending champions by grabbing three quick wickets.

Both Rohit and Hardik holed out at long on.

Mumbai then lost half its side for 81 as Krunal Pandya (1) chopped an under-cutting arm ball by Lalit Yadav (1/17) onto his stumps.

Mishra then used his googly to trap Kieron Pollard (2) in front of the Sunrisers eager to turn it around

Chennai, April 20: Bruised and battered after suffering a hat-trick of defeats, a desperate Sunrisers Hyderabad would seek inspiration from skipper David Warner to arrest any further slide when they take on Punjab Kings in an IPL match here on Wednesday.

SRH couldn't have asked for a worse start to the season as they slumped to three straight defeats, and in all occasions while chasing. Punjab are a tad better than SRH, having registered one win out of three games to be placed at seventh in the standings, a rung above their Wednesday's opponents.

Chasing has been Sunrisers' Achilles' heel so far in the league. They failed to get past a low score against Mumbai Indians in their last match.

SRH have been hit hard by the lack of depth in their playing XI and below-par Indian bench strength.

In these circumstances, the onus rests on Warner to do some magic and inspire his side to bounce back in the tournament.

A big innings is due from the SRH captain as he has scored just 93 runs from the three matches he has played so far with the 54 against Royals Challengers Bangalore being the highest. He also needs some serious introspection before deciding his playing XI on Wednesday.

Warner and Rashid Khan are certainties in the foreign players' slots, but the absence of Kane Williamson has been badly

Knights run into vintage Kings

Mumbai, April 20: On a roll after back-to-back wins, the vintage Chennai Super Kings would look to extend their winning run when they clash with struggling Kolkata Knight Riders in their next IPL match here on Wednesday.

After their abject campaign in UAE last year, the CSK started the season in an ominous fashion, losing to Delhi Capitals by seven wickets in a one-sided affair.

But since then, the MS Dhoni-led side has come on its own with the “Captain Cool” making the most of his resources at the batting-friendly Wankhede stadium.

Deepak Chahar's brilliance handed them their first win of the season against Punjab Kings it's been a tale of two Englishmen — Moeen Ali and Sam Curran for the CSK.

Explosive all-rounder Ali has embraced the number three spot with knocks of 36 from 24 (vs Delhi Capitals), 46 off 31 (Punjab Kings) and 26 off

In their chase of 189, Jos Buttler had started to look ominous and sent a good-length ball from Ravindra Jadeja into the stands as the ball had to be replaced.

Well aware that the dry ball would turn more than the dew-laden wet ball, Dhoni stepped up his attack with Jadeja and Ali from both ends.

While Jadeja dismissed the dangerous looking Buttler and Shivam Dube in one over, Ali accounted for David Miller, Riyan Parag and Chris Morris in his match-turning 3/7.

The only brightspot of their abysmal campaign in UAE, youngster Sam Curran has also made some impact both with the bat and ball.

Be it his 15-ball 34 against in a losing cause to Delhi Capitals, or his bowling in the Powerplay, Curran is giving Dhoni many options.

Against a side which will play its first match of the season at the Wankhede, smarting from two successive defeats, CSK will start as overwhelming favourites against KKR as Eoin Morgan is all set to ring in some changes to revive their campaign. After their emphatic start against Sunrisers Hyderabad, KKR have slipped to fifth spot.

DON'T WANT ANYONE TO SAY I'M UNFIT: MSD

Mumbai, April 20: Chennai Super Kings skipper Mahendra Singh Dhoni on Monday said it is hard to “keep up” with younger players in the squad but it will be a “big positive” for the 39-year-old if they are not able to point fingers at him over his fitness.

The 39-year-old Dhoni, who retired from international cricket last year, admitted that “getting old and being fit are two difficult things”.

“When you are playing, you don't really want anyone to say he's unfit. I have to keep up with the younger guys, they are very fast, it's good to challenge them,” Dhoni said after CSK beat Rajasthan Royals by 45 runs in their IPL match.

“Performances are something that's guaranteed. I wasn't guaranteeing performances when I was 24. I can't guarantee when I am 40, but at least if people can't point finger at me that he's unfit then that will be a big positive for me.”

Talking about the match, he said he was glad CSK scored 180-plus, though he said they could have got more. “I felt Sam bowled really well. Deepak, there was a bit of miscalculation with the knuckle delivery. So I felt a good start was important. Even the wet ball was spinning.” — PTI

Who knows how many black sheep are embedded in game?

Ayaz Memon Over The Top

The ICC handing out 8-year bans to former Zimbabwe captain Heath Streak and former Sri Lanka all-rounder Dilhara Lokuhettige last week is a grim reminder that cricket is still not totally free, as imagined, of match/spot fixing and corruption.

While the attention of the world was focused on the Indian Premier League, these two cases showed why cricket administrators — ICC and by extension all affiliated cricket boards — have an onerous task ahead in freeing the sport of this malaise.

While Lokuhettige may not register on everybody's radar, he is still an ex-international having played 11 white ball matches for Sri Lanka in early and mid-2010s. In 2019, he was charged with corruption after being featured in a sting expose by Al Jazeera TV facilitating and promoting corruption in a T10 tournament in the UAE in 2017.

Lokuhettige's 8-year ban by the ICC announced holds him guilty of being party to fix or influence matches solicit or entice other players into corruption, fail to disclose to the ACU approaches made to him by bookies. The third charge, one might say, is superfluous in the context of the other two.

Even more damaging for the sport was Heath Streak's involvement in corruption. Streak is a Zimbabwean cricketing legend, arguably his country's greatest cricketer and at his peak, among the best players in the world. As captain, he was widely respected for his inspiration leadership, and his own strong performances.

Why someone with such sterling credentials get sucked into corruption — for a couple of bitcoins, a fancy cellphone and some pieces of silver — is shocking, but also brings about a sense of déjà vu.

The 2000-match fixing scam, it might be recalled, featured some of the biggest names in cricket then. Even the best can succumb to temptation. Greed, after all, is one of the tragedies of the human condition. Before these two cases, Sanath Jayasuriya copped a two-year ban and Shakib Al Hasan one year ban from the ICC. Both these are stellar names in the game.

Streak has admitted to five breaches of the ICC's anti-corruption code. At the crux was his association with a bookie, Mr X (name not disclose), to whom he passed inside information and introduced him to players (four), including a national captain, all with the aim of influencing matches.

What's alarming is that Streak's unholy shenanigans with Mr X stretched over 15 months starting from September 2017, and spread over tournaments like the Bangladesh Premier League, Afghanistan Premier League, 2018 tri-series involving Bangladesh, and Afghanistan, 2018 Afghanistan and Zimbabwe series, and IPL 2018 when he was bowling coach of KKR.

The sweep of Streak's misdemeanours highlights the monumental challenge cricket faces. With white ball tournaments and leagues cropping up all over the world, it is not just players, but also franchise owners/management (as the IPL scam of 2013 showed), and support staff now as well, that are above suspicion.

Who knows how many black sheep are embedded in the game?
