Etala dashes off to meet BJP president in Delhi

DC CORRESPONDENT
HYDERABAD, MAY 30

Former minister and Huzurabad MLA Etala Rajendar left for Delhi on Sunday, along with former MP Vivek Venkataswamy and former MLA Enugu Ravinder Reddy.

Speculations were thick on social media for the entire week about a likelihood of the sidelined TRS MLA joining the BJP after discussions with top national leaders of the party. The Delhi trip of Rajendar added to this buzz. Rajendar and Vivek Venkatswamy would meet BJP president J.P. Nadda and discuss chances of the ousted health minister joining the ruling party at the Centre, some BJP leaders said here this evening. Close associates of state BJP president Bandi Sanjay and Union minister of state for home G. Kishan Reddy said these two leaders would also fly to Delhi on Monday morning to meet Nadda and discuss the Rajendar's entry into the party.

Rajendar was sacked by Chief Minister K. Chandrashekar Rao from his Cabinet in the beginning of May. Two inquiries are going on against him about alleged land grabs. Rajendar subsequently met several Congress and BJP leaders apart from former MP Konda Vishveswar Reddy and Telangana Jana Samiti president Prof. M. Kodandaram in hectic parleys about his future plans. BJP sources said Rajendar first met BJP leader and former chairman of Telangana Legislative Council Swamy Goud and requested the latter for support. Goud arranged a meeting with BJP state president Sanjay and invited him to join hands for a fight against Chandrashekar Rao.

HYDERABAD MAY 30

The 'political moves' of sacked health minister Etala Rajendar reportedly dominated proceedings at the Cabinet meeting chaired by Chief Minister K. Chandrashekar Rao at Pragathi Bhavan here on Sunday.

Though the lockdown extension and Kharif agriculture season were the prime items on the Cabinet agenda, political issues were discussed at length soon after the cabinet finished the official agenda.

The Cabinet meeting started at 2 pm and ended at 7 pm. The agenda was completed in two hours. After this, officials were sent out of the meeting hall and the Chief Minister was closeted with ministers for about three hours to discuss the political developments against the backdrop of Rajendar's removal from the Cabinet.

Incidentally, Rajendar was leaving for Delhi from Shamshabad airport amid speculations that he would meet top BJP leaders in the national capital and might likely join the saffron party.

TS lockdown for 10 more days, relaxation till 1 pm

Extra hour of grace period for people to reach home

DC CORRESPONDENT
HYDERABAD, MAY 30

The state government has decided to extend the lockdown in Telangana state by 10 more days until June 9 to contain the spread of Coronavirus. The decision comes in the wake of an everyday decrease in the number of Covid-19 cases in the state.

However, the relaxation period has been increased to seven hours every day from 6 am to 1 pm. The Cabinet has also decided to give grace period of one hour till 2 pm to enable people to reach homes after relaxation time. The 17-hour lockdown will be enforced from 1 pm to 6 am from May 31 to June 9. It was decided to implement the lockdown strictly from 2 pm to 6 am, the next day. The decision was taken in the Cabinet meeting chaired by Chief Minister K. Chandrashekar Rao at Pragathi Bhavan on Sunday.

The state government had imposed a 20-hour lockdown across the state since May 12 from 10 am to 6 am with a four-hour relaxation from 6 am to 10 am, which ended on May 30.

It had initially imposed a night curfew across the state from 8 pm to 7 am from April 20 after Covid second wave led to a steep increase in Covid-19 cases and deaths. It was followed by 20-hour lockdown from May 12 to May 30.

Sabka Saath, Sabka Vikas followed for 7 yrs: Modi

DC CORRESPONDENT

NEW DELHI, MAY 30

As the BJP-led NDA government completed seven years in office amid India grappling with the second wave of the Covid-19 pandemic, Prime Minister Narendra Modi on Sunday said the nation followed the mantra of "sabka saath, sabka vikas, sabka vishwas" and that "India now moves ahead not under the pressure of other countries but with its own convictions".

On a day the ruling BJP held welfare programmes across the country to mark the second anniversary of the NDA government's second term as "Sewa Divas", with party president J.P. Nadda flagging off Covid relief material for Delhi, the Opposition parties claimed the Narendra Modi government had proved to be the "weakest government in the country in the last 73 years", saying that the government had given the country "unmeasurable pain" as it listed unemployment, petrol prices, inflation, the farmers issue and "mismanagement of the Covid crisis", among other issues, to attack the government.

Prime Minister Modi, asserting that India was "fighting Covid-19 with all its might", on Sunday spoke to a number of people ranging from those engaged in transporting medical oxygen to lab technicians, and said the nation's resolve to prevail over the virus was equal to the magnitude of the challenge it faces.

In his monthly "Mann ki Baat" radio address, Mr Modi noted that the nation also faced several natural disasters, including cyclones, landslides and earthquakes during the pandemic, and said more lives were saved than in the past with the Centre, states and local administrations coming together to carry out relief and rescue operations.

With the demand for medical oxygen rising hugely during the recent surge in Covid-19 cases and many states and hospitals complaining of its shortage, the PM said the production of the liquid medical oxygen had risen by over 10 times to nearly 9,500 MT daily from 900 MT earlier.

West Bengal chief secretary unlikely to visit Delhi today

RAJIB CHOWDHURI
KOLKATA, MAY 30

Speculation is rife that West Bengal chief secretary Alapan Bandyopadhyay may not visit New Delhi on Monday as the Mamata Banerjee government has not relieved him from his present post in the state. It is also the date of his retirement.

The top state bureaucrat, who got three months extension last week from the Narendra Modi government following a request from the Trinamul Congress government for his efficiency in handling the Covid-19 pandemic, was asked to report by 10 am at North Block to the Department of Personnel and Training under the Ministry of Personnel, public grievances and pensions headed by the Prime Minister himself.

The order was sent as per provisions of Rule 6(1) of the Indian Administrative Service (Cadre) Rules, 1954 on May 28 evening hours after the 1987-batch IAS officer accompanied the chief minister in skipping the PM's review meeting on Cyclone Yaas at Kalaikunda Air Force Station in West Midnapore.

Though the Trinamul Congress supremo on Saturday appealed to the PM and Union home minister Amit Shah to withdraw the Centre's controversial order after attacking them, the state government has received no further communication from the Centre till the reports last came in Sunday evening.

On the other hand, the state government has also taken a firm stand by not issuing Mr Bandyopadhyay any order for his release, which is essential for the bureaucrats under the All India Service cadres to go for Central deputation from their places of posting in the state.

2nd Covid wave ebbing, new cases fall to 1.5 lakh

BALU PULIPAKA | DC
HYDERABAD, MAY 30

The deadly second wave of Covid-19 appeared to be ebbing faster, with the country reporting a shade over 1.5 lakh new cases on Sunday.

At 11.15 pm on Sunday, the number of daily new cases stood at 1,52,644, the crowd sourced covid19India.org reported. This is down from 1.65 lakh cases reported for Saturday by the Union health ministry on Sunday morning. The number of dead also decreased from 3,460 on Saturday to 3,110.

However, the fall in cases and the plateauing of Covid-19 cases in India does not mean that the country can let its guard down as the situation continues to be of concern and challenge, the World Health Organization's regional director for South East Asia Dr Poonam Khetrapal Singh has said.

She warned, "We can't predict the next surge," but went on to add saying it can be prevented. Dr Singh was quoted by ANI as saying that the lesson from the second wave surge is one that "at no cost can we let our guard down. We must take Covid-19 vaccine at the first available opportunity."

The second wave, Dr Singh added, put an immense burden on the already overwhelmed health services, and that another surge must be prevented.

The daily recoveries continued to outnumber the daily new cases for the 18th day in a row.

12 cr vax doses for states in June

DC CORRESPONDENT
NEW DELHI, MAY 30

The Centre on Sunday said that nearly 12 crore anti Covid-19 vaccine doses will be made available to the states and Union territories in June, which is 50 per cent more than what they got in May, to boost the nearly halted vaccination drive. However, out of these 12 crore, nearly half will be provided by the Centre directly while the rest will be available for direct procurement by the states/ UTs and private hospitals.

The health ministry said states were informed about the availability of vaccines for June and a delivery schedule will also be shared with them for better coordination.

Several major cities like Delhi and Mumbai have started witnessing a significant dip in daily cases. Delhi on Sunday had 946 new cases and 78 deaths.

The deaths in the national capital have dropped below 100 for the first time in 47 days. In Uttar Pradesh, meanwhile, curfew has been eased in 55 districts from 7 am to 7 pm which have fewer than 600 cases, while the curfew will continue in districts with more than 600 active cases for one more week.

Qatar Airways private jet flew a distance of over 13,000 kilometres from Delhi to Douglas-Charles airport in Dominica on Friday carrying several documents needed for deportation of 62-year-old Choksi who is wanted in ₹13,500 crore-bank loan fraud case, Prime Minister of Antigua and Barbuda Gaston Browne told a local radio station in Antigua.

Indian officials in Delhi refused to confirm or deny whether a plane had been sent to Dominica. According to flight status, Qatar Executive flight A7CEE left the Delhi airport at 3.44 am on May 28 and reached Dominica at 1.16 pm local time on the same day, via Madrid. The Wardhannapet police on Sunday arrested a BSF (Border Security Force) trainee dropout who had robbed a person, and recovered gold ornaments worth ₹3.50 lakh, a two-wheeler and four smartphones from him.

Speaking to mediapersons here on Sunday, police commissioner Tarun Joshi said that accused, Banoth Venkatesh, a native of Ganeshpahad under Damacherla mandal in Nalgonda district, had quit BSF training after three months at Dispur as he could not cope, in 2018.

Thereafter, Venkatesh had taken coaching at a private institute for the recruitment of police constable in Dilukhnagar of Hyderabad. He rented a two-wheeler from a firm and removed its GPS to avoid being caught. He also befriended a girl who worked in a local store. Due to lockdown, Venkatesh returned to his native village and was busy taking kabaddi coaching in Miryalaguda.

He went to Hyderabad on May 21 on the bike and picked up his girlfriend when she wanted him to drop her at her native village Nekkonda in Warangal Rural district.

On his way back to Miryalaguda, Venkatesh noticed a person named Harishankar on the roadside at Jayaram Thanda under Raiparthi mandal. Venkatesh introduced himself as a policeman, threatened Harishankar and decamped with the jewellery the latter was carrying.

Based on a complaint lodged by Harishankar, the police deployed special teams to arrest the accused. Venkatesh was arrested when he was heading to Nekkonda to meet his girlfriend. Commissioner Tarun Joshi lauded ACP Ramesh, inspector Vishwashwar and sub-inspector Vamshi Krishna and Jafferghadh sub-inspector Kishor for arresting the accused.

Some fear fever and other consequences of vaccination

DC CORRESPONDENT
HYDERABAD, MAY 30

The ongoing Covid-19 vaccination drive for people from high-risk groups, the so-called 'superspreaders' identified by the state government, is facing some resistance from many of the intended beneficiaries, particularly whose lives depend on their daily earnings, according to some Greater Hyderabad Municipal Corporation (GHMC) officials.

Also, with several complaints of vaccination eligibility tokens by the GHMC staff coming to light, where ineligible people managed to acquire tokens and turned up on the first two days of the drive, the GHMC started a pilot programme to evaluate online registration of beneficiaries with its staff going to shops, vendors etc and using an app on their phones to upload pictures and details of the intended beneficiaries.

Though the GHMC has targeted vaccinating 1,000 people a day at each of its 32 special vaccination centres, Sunday, the third day of the drive, saw only 22,603 turning up to get their shots. Last Friday, which was the first day of the drive, saw 21,666 getting the shots, while the second day on Saturday saw 22,399 turning up to get vaccinated.

"We are seeing some reluctance from people who are daily wagers or those who are dependent on daily earnings, because they are worried about the side-effects of the vaccination," GHMC deputy commissioner B. Srinivas, said at the vaccination centre for Goshamahahal Circle.

Another GHMC official said this phenomenon was being seen across the city as people were worried that they would develop fever or other symptoms which prevented them from trying to make a living during the relaxation hours.

"We are seeing this among street vendors, and even other categories of people working in shops and the like who are worried about losing their day's wages or earnings. But as the days go by, we hope we will see more people turning up to get their shots," the official said.

With respect to identification of beneficiaries and putting their details online, a GHMC official said this was tried out for Sunday in the Serilingampally and Goshamahahal circles.

"Our staff are approaching the beneficiaries, taking their pictures with their phones and collecting other details. Following this, a message is sent to the beneficiary's phone and upon displaying this at a vaccination centre, he or she can get the shot," the official said.

Meanwhile, TSRTC on Sunday launched its three-day special drive to vaccinate all its 47,000 employees.

'SUPERSPREADERS' A SLUR, STATE TO
RENAME CATEGORY AS 'HIGH RISK'DC CORRESPONDENT
HYDERABAD, MAY 30

The use of the word 'superspreaders' in the special vaccination drive for people involved in different trades may soon change to 'high risk groups'. The government had last week announced a vaccination drive for people working in Rythu Bazaars, vegetable, fruit and flower, meat and fish markets, kirana and wine shops, street vendors, hair cutting shops, and ironing of clothes, along with journalists working for electronic and print media organisations and called these categories 'superspreaders'. TSRTC staff too were added to this category and vaccination drive.

The use of the term 'superspreaders' had received much criticism, particularly on social media platforms, with people saying that politicians, who extensively took part in election campaigns, were the real superspreaders and that they too must be included in the special drive.

Now, some officials are now veering towards the opinion that using the term 'superspreaders' may have been insensitive, and the term 'high risk groups' would be better suited. "We are looking at changing the notices outside the 32 special vaccination centres for these groups," a GHMC official said.

A banner hung on the gate of a site of the special vaccination drive in Goshamahahal circle of the GHMC in Nampally, Hyderabad, makes it clear that the identified categories of people are 'superspreaders'. — DC

Minister K.T. Rama Rao stepped in to help after Karnataka Congress chief B.V. Shivakumar raised the difficulties a woman was having in securing the body of her husband, a Covid-19 patient, from a city hospital.

According to the Shivakumar, the husband of Shashikala Manjunath of Mandya in Karnataka, succumbed to Covid-19 at Medicare Hospital in Hyderabad. The hospital had billed ₹7.5 lakh but his wife could only pay ₹2 lakh. The hospital management reportedly said the body would be handed over after she settles the bill.

After her relatives brought the matter to Shivakumar, he appealed to Rama Rao on Twitter for support. "I request Telangana CM KCR Garu to kindly help the family of Shashikala Manjunath from Mandya, whose husband died at Medicover hospital. She informs me the hospital isn't releasing his body as she has been able to pay only 2 lakh out of the 7.5 lakh bill. @TelanganaCMO @KTRTRS," (sic)," he posted.

KCR for discussionDC CORRESPONDENT
HYDERABAD, MAY 30

Retorting strongly against the allegations of land encroachment, Etala Jamuna, wife of former minister Etala Rajendar, said they had done nothing wrong in acquiring land where she has a poultry hatchery unit.

Addressing the media along with her son Nithin at her Shamirpet residence on Sunday, she dared Chief Minister K. Chandrashekar Rao to come for a discussion on who had become rich after the formation of Telangana state. She asked him to provide affidavits from 2004, adding that she was ready to discuss her properties. Turning emotional, she said she had bought 46 acres of land for a modern hatchery unit in Masaipet. As a woman, she said, she ran poultry hatcheries and employed hundreds of people. Still, false cases were filed against her instead of providing assistance.

Condemning the false propaganda that 100 acres of land belonging to the poor and vulnerable had been occupied by her, Jamuna challenged the authorities stating that she was ready to face any action if she had done anything wrong. She also asked the officers to admit their mistakes and apologise to her and family.

Jamuna said that in 1994, they bought lands in Devaryamjal village and set up godowns there. She recalled that the earlier governments had made several attempts to evacuate the godowns. She questioned the Chief Minister as to why he had made false allegations against her and her family. The godowns were built in accordance with all regulations in the then undivided Andhra Pradesh, she said and added that the government had forcefully vacated the godowns.

She also recalled how the building of the Namaste Telangana newspaper which belongs to Chandra-shekar Rao, was built on the loan taken by mortgaging their lands in Devaryamjal. How then was Chandrashekar Rao now alleging that they were occupied lands.

GIRAFFE'S DEATH NOT DUE TO COVID: NEHRU ZOO PARK

Hyderabad: The Nehru Zoological Park has ruled out the possibility of Covid-19 being the cause of the death of Babi, the 4 year old female giraffe, on May 27.

While the initial post-mortem findings indicated that the animal had a severe case of pneumonia, a zoo official, when asked if samples were sent for testing for Covid-19, said the disease had been ruled out as a possible cause of the giraffe's death. "Her lungs had collapsed.

We found lots of nodules in the lungs that indicate that a bacterial infection caused pneumonia.

The tissue samples have been sent for analysis and identification of the cause of pneumonia to the Veterinary Biological Research Institute and we are waiting for the report," the official said.

10 HOSPS LOSE LICENCE TO TREAT COVID PATIENTS

The taskforce cracked the whip on 10 private hospitals in Khammam for violating the Covid-19 guidelines. The permissions given to these hospitals for treating such patients have been cancelled.

The violations included not displaying the price list of medical services and medicines, treating more Covid-19 patients than was allowed, collecting more fees from the patients not only for the remdesivir injections but also for tests like rapid antigen test and CT scan.

Some of these hospitals have been treating Covid-19 patients without taking permission. These hospitals appointed agents in the villages and treated the patients.

These hospitals collected ₹3 lakh to ₹4 lakh from each Covid-19 patient. High rates for every service, test and medicines have been charged from them.

The hospitals were Viswas Multi-Specialty Hospital, Cure Hospital, Prasanthi Hospital, Marwell Hospital, Janani Children Hospital, Indus Hospital, Vijayalaxmi Multi-Specialty Hospital, Sri Balaji Chest and Diabetes Centre, New Home Hospital and Sankalpa C-Star Hospital.

According to official sources, these entities together collected ₹20 crore by way of additional charges from patients. Many of the patients mortgaged their assets to pay the medical bills. The taskforce team received scores of complaints against these hospitals, following which action was taken.

It is recalled that a Balaji Chest Hospital doctor Syamsunder had been arrested some time ago for not only cheating a patient but also causing the death of a patient for administering a duplicate remdesivir vial.

District medical and health officer Malathi said the hospitals that were treating Covid19 patients without any permission should face police cases.

She said the vigil by the task force will be continued in all private hospitals. "They must engage only in ethical practices in the present pandemic situation," she said.

KARIMNAGAR, MAY 30

Prime Minister Narendra Modi has taken many courageous decisions in the best interests of the people, which have helped him complete seven successful years in office, said BJP state chief Bandi Sanjay Kumar on Sunday.

Responding to the call given by party president J.P. Nadda, party leaders conducted 'Seva Hi Sangathan' programmes across Karimnagar district.

Sanjay Kumar, who represents Karimnagar in the Lok Sabha, inaugurated a blood donation camp organised by Bharatiya Yuva Morcha in Bommakal village.

At a programme in Manakondur, he distributed everyday essentials to the village panchayat staff and sanitation workers while he distributed them to workers in Mugdhampura village.

He praised the cadre and workers for their enthusiastic participation in service-oriented programmes like donation of blood, distribution of provisions, sanitizers and masks to frontline warriors and poor families in at least five villages of each mandal.

The Modi-led government is leaving no stone unturned and has been striving to prevent the spread of Coronavirus. It has introduced several welfare schemes to help people facing hardships because of the pandemic. A special initiative has been launched to protect children whose parents have succumbed to the virus, he pointed out.

BJP-led govt failed to bring 'Acche Din': Cong BC leader

KARIMNAGAR, MAY-30

Being in power for seven years at the Centre, the Narendra Modi-led BJP-NDA government did not bring about the promised 'acche din' (good days) and instead it brought 'sachhe din' (bad days) to the people, alleged the chairman of the district Congress Backward Class cell, Puli Anjaneyulu, on Sunday.

In a statement, Anjaneyulu alleged that the Modi government made false poll promises like depositing of ₹15 lakh into the bank account of every poor family, creation of two crore jobs to the unemployed youths and bringing back black money deposited in foreign banks. Nothing has happened though the BJP ruled the nation for seven years. The central government has failed in controlling the spread of Coronavirus. It even did not take proper steps for administering the vaccine to the people. By lighting the lamps and clapping, Modi was trying to divert the attention of the people instead of saving their lives, he said.

He said non-availability of the oxygen and ICU and even normal beds in hospitals was a serious problem and this led to several loss of lives. Yet, BJP leaders are celebrating the seventh years of its rule.

"By handing over the nation and the farming sector to the corporate entities like Adani and Ambani and to the multinational companies, the BJP government pushed the nation back by 70 years."

Adilabad: Thudumdebba (Adivasi Hakkula Porata Samiti) leaders on Sunday distributed essential commodities to 13 Adivasi families from the Maangli village located on a hillock in the deep forests of Adilabad rural mandal.

Thudumdebba took the initiative on learning that poor villagers do not have essential commodities and their problems had doubled due to the lockdown.

A team of Thudumdebba leaders and activists, led by district president Godam Ganesh, walked four kilometres on the hard terrain and climbed up two hillocks to reach Maangli by stationing their vehicles at a point.

Maangli village is 16 kms from Adilabad town and falls under Vanwat gram panchayat.

There is no road connectivity to Maangli, where, in the absence of power connectivity, solar energy is used at night.

He asked officials to rethink before blindly implementing the "thoughtless methods" suggested by the CM. They must propagate agricultural methods that instead benefit farmers.

The Congress leader suggested that to decrease the economic burden on farmers, officials must link Rural Employment Guarantee scheme to the agriculture sector.

Jeevan Reddy said on one hand, Chandrashekar Rao boasted that Telangana is the only state which is procuring food grains from farmers. On the other hand, he criticised Food Corporation of India (FCI) for purchasing 100 per cent food grains from Punjab.

32 KIDS ORPHANED
DUE TO COVID-19DC CORRESPONDENT
NEW DELHI, MAY 30

The Delhi Commission For Protection of Child Rights (DCPCR) has identified 32 children who were orphaned during the Covid-19 pandemic in the national capital.

Ten more children have been identified who have lost their single parent to the viral disease, DCPCR chairman Anurag Kundu said.

He said a survey was started earlier this month to trace children in similar distress. "Sixteen children have been identified who lost their parents during the second wave. We have been enquiring about them whether they require medical attention, rations, counselling, immunisation etc," said DCPCR member Ranjana Prasad.

Chief Minister Arvind Kejriwal had on May 14 said the Delhi government will bear the cost of education and upbringing of children who were orphaned during the pandemic. Most often people quit tobacco only to relapse faster than they had quit. It leads them to frustration and loss of confidence. On this World No-Tobacco Day, we must understand how a person gets addicted to tobacco.

Most people take to smoking because of peer pressure or experimentation. But it, later on, leads to frustration and a desire to quit, mostly due to health reasons. The only wish is someone to help quit successfully.

The World Health Organisation (WHO) had recognised tobacco as a complex disease that needs treatment. All tobacco users will have some other disease. So it would be better to commit early to quit smoking.

So why do people find it so difficult to quit smoking? There are two main reasons. One, nicotine affects the brain causing physical dependence, leading to severe cravings. Two, it is the psychological misconception of tobacco users that they can quit with willpower alone.

For quitting smoking, one needs to have a proper assessment and grading of tobacco addiction, which will help a Certified Tobacco Cessation Specialist to finalise an appropriate treatment required. A tool — an Android app ICAN-CARE — is available to assess the willpower, addiction level and type of tobacco dependence of the person.

One can follow the ICAN-CaRe 7Ds of quitting tobacco by drinking plenty of water, deep breathing exercise, delay, distract, diet, discuss and use drugs for comorbidities and symptom relief.

CENTRAL VISTA
WORK: HC
VERDICT TODAY

New Delhi, May 30: The Delhi High Court will decide on Monday whether to allow the continuation of the Central Vista project work during the prevailing Covid pandemic.

A bench of Chief Justice D.N. Patel and Justice Jyoti Singh, which had been hearing a plea for suspending the ongoing construction work during the Covid pandemic, has fixed May 31 for delivery of its judgement on it, the high court's cause list revealed on Saturday.

The court had reserved its judgement on May 17 on the joint plea by Anya Malhotra, a translator, and Sohail Hashmi, a historian and documentary filmmaker.

The two had contended in their plea that the project was not an essential activity and can be put on hold for time being. During the May 17 hearing, the Centre had termed the plea as a "facade" or a "disguise", aimed at stalling the project.

The petitioners on the other hand had contended they were only interested in the safety of workers at the site and citizens living in the area. — PTI

NDRF gets nod for mini O2 plants

Home ministry finds sudden rise in oxygen demand, lack of transportation behind crisis

DC CORRESPONDENT
NEW DELHI, MAY 30

Taking serious note of the acute shortage of oxygen faced across the country during the lethal second wave of the Corona pandemic Union home ministry in a major initiative will soon allow the National Disaster Response Force (NDRF) to have their own "cryogenic oxygen containers and mini oxygen plants" that can be set up at any required location within a few hours.

The NDRF is a highly specialised nodal agency of the Government to deal with any natural or man made disaster. Home ministry sources said the government had taken the oxygen shortage in the county extremely seriously and was putting in place a robust mechanism to avoid a repeat of such a situation in future.

Officials claimed a detailed analysis of the oxygen shortage revealed that apart from the sudden increase in the demand the other main reason was transportation of oxygen. Officials added that there is no dearth of oxygen production in the country and the main problem was of transportation.

"Adequate oxygen was available across various industrial plants in the country. But the main problem was that of transportation since highly specialised tankers are required for its transportation and not enough of them were available in the country. Now this problem would be resolved before the anticipated third wave which is likely to strike sometime in September or October," an official said.

Sunday's consignment for the government of Odisha extends AM/NS India's support for Covid-19 to six states across India. It has been supporting relief work in Gujarat, Rajasthan, Madhya Pradesh, Punjab and Haryana. The company has built a 250-bed Covid hospital in Gujarat which is now being expanded to 1,000 beds. With the Coronavirus cases on rise in rural areas of the state, Chief Minister Uddhav Thackeray has announced a new drive 'Corona-Mukta Gaon' (Corona-free village) in Maharashtra. If villages in the state become corona-free, the entire state will inevitably get rid of the virus, he said on Sunday.

The cases in Maharashtra state are on decline in recent days. However, while the Covid-19 pandemic in urban areas has seen a drop, the rural areas have witnessed a gradual rise. The new drive is aimed at bringing the cases in rural areas under control.

Villagers afraid that swab strip used for test would infect them
Tribals flee into forest to avoid virus test

Pithoragarh (Uttarakhand), May 30: Residents of a tribal village here ran to a nearby forest when a team of district health workers came to their doorsteps recently to test them for Covid-19.

Kuta Chaurani village is inhabited by Banrawats — an endangered tribe.

The shy tribals fled to the adjoining forest on getting information about the arrival of a Covid testing team in their village on Friday, Didihat SDM K.N. Goswami said on Sunday.

"While we could test residents of Aultari and Jamtari villages, those living in Kuta Chaurani fled to the forest, the SDM said.

The Banrawat community was declared a primitive tribe on the verge of extinction by the Government of India in 1967.

"Over 500 members of this highly endangered tribe are living in eight localities of Didihat sub division. We had sent our corona testing team to Aultari, Jamtari and Kuta Chaurani villages to test them. A total of 191 members of the community from Aultari and Jamtari came forward to undergo the test but residents of Kuta Chaurani fled to the forests to avoid tests," Goswami said.

The villagers were afraid that the swab strip taken for the test would infect them," the SDM said.

Jagat Singh Rajwar, an elderly member of the community from Kuta Chaurani village, said the swab tester could cause further infection to them.

● THE ADMINISTRATION has also been informed about the poor conditions in which the members of the endangered tribal community are forced to live with no work for them due to the Coronavirus lockdown, Sanju Pant, coordinator of Didihat youth society, said.

"We are ready to go for a health check, take medicines but do not agree to let the strip enter our body," Rajwar said.

According to the SDM, his team has persuaded some literate members of the community to create awareness among the locals about the necessity of the tests.

"We will make another attempt to test them in two-three days," Goswami said. Sanju Pant, coordinator of Didihat youth society, said corona kits have been distributed among some members of the community after taking them into confidence.

The administration has also been informed about the poor conditions in which the members of the endangered tribal community are forced to live with no work for them due to the Coronavirus lockdown, Pant said.

"We have requested the administration to distribute consumer goods other than food material to the community members," he said.

The SDM said packets of spices, edible oil and other essential items besides food packets have been distributed among them for

ONE KILLED IN PLANE CRASH IN UTAH

Eden, May 30: One man died and another man suffered severe burns when their single-engine aircraft crashed Saturday morning near the Powder Mountain area near Eden in northern Utah, authorities said.

The National Transportation Safety Board said it is investigating the crash of the Cessna 172S.

It's not clear why the plane went down.

Authorities said the injured man was transported by air to the University of Utah burn center.

The plane had left Ogden's Hinkley Airport not long before the crash.

The crash resulted in a small fire, but officials say the crash site was cold and wet so the fire was quickly extinguished.

PLANE CRASHES INTO LAKE, 7 BELIEVED DEAD

Smyrna (US), May 30: A small jet carrying seven people crashed into a Tennessee lake on Saturday, and authorities indicated that no one on board survived. The Cessna C501 crashed into Percy Priest Lake near Smyrna after taking off from a nearby airport about 11 am, the Federal Aviation Administration said in a statement. Rutherford County rescue crews were still at the scene of the crash late Saturday and planned to work through the night, Rutherford County Fire Rescue Capt. Joshua Sanders said at a news conference.

He indicated that there were no survivors. "Our efforts have transitioned from a rescue effort to that of a recovery effort. ... We are no longer ... looking for live victims at this point," Sanders said.

He said none of the names of the victims would be released until their families had been notified. Earlier Saturday, officials confirmed that at least one person had died in the crash.

CHINESE CRAFT DOCKS WITH ORBITAL STATION

Beijing, May 30: An automated spacecraft docked with China's new space station carrying fuel and supplies for its future crew, the Chinese space agency announced.

Tianzhou-2 spacecraft reached the Tianhe station eight hours after blasting off from Hainan, an island in the South China Sea, China Manned Space said. It carried space suits, living supplies and equipment and fuel for the station.

Tianhe, or Heavenly Harmony, is third and largest orbital station launched by China's increasingly ambition space programme. The station's core module was launched April 29. The space agency plans a total of 11 launches through the end of next year to deliver two more modules for the 70-ton station, supplies and a three-member crew.

China was criticised for allowing part of the rocket that launched the Tianhe to fall back to Earth uncontrolled. There was no indication about what would happen to the rocket from Saturday's launch.

Beijing doesn't participate in the International Space Station, largely due to US objections.

TIGRAY WAR: ETHIOPIANS FLAY U.S. SANCTIONS

Kampala, May 30: Thousands of Ethiopians gathered in the nation's capital Sunday to protest outside pressure on the government over its brutal war in Tigray.

Protesters at the rally in Addis Ababa carried banners that criticised the United States and others in the international community who are voicing concern over atrocities in Tigray, where Ethiopian forces are hunting down the region's ousted and now-fugitive leaders.

Troops from neighbouring Eritrea are fighting in Tigray on the side of Ethiopian government forces, in defiance of international calls for their withdrawal.

But the protesters in Addis Ababa carried placards that said "Ethiopian young people denounce the western intervention."

Others said Ethiopia's sovereignty was at stake. The US said last week it has started restricting visas for government and military officials of Ethiopia and Eritrea, who are seen as undermining efforts to resolve the fighting in Tigray, home to an estimated 6 million of Ethiopia's 110 million people.

More US states ease rules as vax rates rise

Infections fall just in time for Memorial Day weekend

Providence, May 30: Just in time for Memorial Day weekend, more US cities and states are shrugging off lingering Covid-19 restrictions as vaccination rates rise and the number of infections falls.

Massachusetts lifted a mask requirement Saturday a day after New Jersey dropped its mandate. In New York City and Chicago, officials reopened public beaches, though winds and cool temperatures kept crowds away.

"Welcome back, Chicago," Mayor Lori Lightfoot said in a video announcement. The lakefront is open. Chicago's Navy Pier also reopened retail stores and restaurants, carnival rides, and tour boats and cruises after the pandemic forced months-long closures at the busy tourist destination.

It's one more sign of progress that reflects increasingly positive health data. On Saturday, Illinois' Department of Public Health reported 802 new confirmed and probable infections, the second-lowest one-day total in the last six months.

For businesses nationwide, the improving outlook and long holiday weekend offered a chance to welcome customers back to in-person shopping. Midtown Scholar Bookstore in Harrisburg, Pennsylvania, opened its doors to customers for the first time in nearly 14 months Friday. Masks are still required.

The business had switched to internet orders, sidewalk sales and virtual author events to survive the pandemic.

We had to get creative, we had to pivot, store manager Alex Brubaker said.

Rio De Janeiro, May 30:

Tens of thousands of people in Brazil staged another day of protest against President Jair Bolsonaro, in particular for his chaotic handling of the pandemic, which has claimed more than 461,000 lives here. In downtown Rio de Janeiro, some 10,000 people wearing masks marched through the streets, with some chanting "Bolsonaro genocide" or "Go away Bolsovirus."

Similar rallies were held in other major cities, the latest in a wave of anger against Bolsonaro that began months ago. After the United States, Brazil has the world's second highest Coronavirus death toll.

At the outset of the pandemic, the far right Bolsonaro dismissed Covid-19 as "a little flu" and as the death toll has risen steadily he has gone on to infuriate people in other ways, opposing stay-at-home measures and masks, touting ineffective medications, refusing offers of vaccines, and failing to anticipate oxygen shortages that left patients to suffocate.

One of the themes of the rally Saturday was how many lives might have been saved if the Bolsonaro government had started Brazil's vaccination drive earlier. The drive is going slowly and has sputtered frequently for lack of supplies.

"We must stop this government. We must say 'enough is enough,'" businessman Omar Silveira said at the Rio rally.

PM TO UPDATE SINGAPOREANS ON VIRUS FIGHT

Singapore, May 30: Singapore Prime Minister Lee Hsien Loong said on Sunday he will share his government's plan on how to combat the Covid-19 pandemic while slowly reopening the country for business in a speech to be broadcast on Monday.

The prime minister said the Covid-19 restrictions were working and the government was taking strict measures to keep Singaporeans safe from the deadly virus.

"Thank you for staying home and complying with the guidelines," said Prime Minister Lee while announcing his address to the nation in a Facebook post on Sunday.

Vax mandates: US hospital sued

Houston, May 30: A hospital in the US has been sued by over 100 staffers for turning them into Covid-19 vaccine "guinea pigs" by mandating them to get the shot. The plaintiffs filed suit against Houston Methodist Hospital Friday, the latest group of workers to challenge mandatory inoculations at essential workplaces.

Attorney Jared Woodfill said he is representing 117 workers. The lawsuit states that for the first time in US history, an employer is forcing its employees to be vaccinated "with an experimental Covid-19 mRNA gene modification injection" or be fired.

The lawsuit cited that the US Food and Drug Administration issued its first emergency use authorisation for Covid-19 in December 2020, but the vaccines are awaiting full FDA approval and licensing, which will likely take months for the agency to review additional data.

The complaint cited that forcing employees to get the vaccine violates Nuremberg Code, a medical ethics code that bans forced medical experiments and mandates voluntary consent. "Methodist Hospital is forcing its employees to be human 'guinea pigs' as a condition for continued employment," the lawsuit states.

Italy extends entry ban for Indians

Rome, May 30: Italy extended Sunday an entry ban for people coming from India, Bangladesh and Sri Lanka, as a continued precaution against the more transmissible Indian variant of the novel Coronavirus.

The ban, which does not apply to Italian citizens, was introduced in late April and was due to expire on Sunday. It was prolonged until June 21, a spokesman for Italian Health Minister Roberto Speranza said in a statement.

The B.1.617 variant of the Coronavirus was first detected in India last year and has been blamed for much of a devastating Covid-19 wave that has battered South Asian nations in recent weeks. This week, the World Health Organisation (WHO) said the variant has officially spread to 53 territories, and has been linked to seven other territories by unofficial sources, taking the total to 60.

In an interview with AFP, WHO regional director for Europe Hans Kluge said the increased contagiousness of the new variants of the Coronavirus, including the Indian one, was one of his main worries. "We know for example that the B.1617 (Indian variant) is more transmissible than the B.117 (British variant), which already was more transmissible than the previous strain," the Belgian doctor said.

Call for action, inclusion at Seoul climate summit

Seoul, May 30: World leaders on Sunday called for more action and inclusion of all countries in the global drive towards a cleaner and greener planet at a climate summit hosted virtually by South Korea.

Climate change is a major threat to global growth, with perils ranging from declines in crop yields, extreme weather that devastates tourist economies, disease outbreaks and other catastrophes that would sap productivity.

South Korea — which recently announced plans to cut finance for international coal projects — is seeking a bigger role in the global initiative to go green. "South Korea will play a responsible role as a bridging nation between developing and advanced nations," said President Moon Jae-in as he opened the 2021 Partnering for Green Growth and the Global Goals 2030, or P4G, summit.

The two-day summit is the second of its kind following the inaugural meeting held in Copenhagen in 2018, and is focused on public-private partnerships, especially in developing countries.

Advanced nations have laid out ambitious emissions-cutting goals in recent months, as well as plans to ultimately go carbon neutral by 2050.

German Chancellor Angela Merkel called on the countries to phase out their dependence on fossil fuels, warning climate change is threatening people's lives and the economy as much as the Covid-19 pandemic.

Earlier this month Germany tightened its targets to reduce CO2 emissions — including a 65 percent cut in emissions by 2030 — after a landmark ruling by the country's top court declared a flagship climate protection law "insufficient".

British Prime Minister Boris Johnson said countries must now deliver on their green pledges.

"It's a great start, but let's not pat ourselves on the back just yet because our planet and our people need more," he said.

"We need governments that will not just make promises on climate and nature but match those words with deeds."

World leaders committed under the 2015 Paris accord to keeping the global temperature increase to under two degrees Celsius — and ideally closer to 1.5°C — by 2050.

Yet many of the largest emitters have so far failed to keep up their commitments and countries have not even agreed on a unified rulebook governing how the Paris agreement works in practice.

The UN says that emissions must fall nearly eight percent annually to keep 1.5C in play — equivalent to the emissions saved during the pandemic every single year through 2030.

World leaders also stressed the importance of making sure that poorer countries are not left out in the global initiative to go green.

CHINA FRICTION IN MORRISON ARDERN TALKS

Christchurch, May 30: Growing friction with China and how to reopen borders after the pandemic will likely be among the topics discussed by the leaders of Australia and New Zealand in their first face-to-face meeting since the Coronavirus outbreak began.

Australian Prime Minister Scott Morrison arrived in the tourist resort of Queenstown for an overnight visit Sunday. He greeted his New Zealand counterpart Jacinda Ardern with a traditional Maori hongi, in which the pair pressed noses together. Morrison is the first major world leader to visit New Zealand since both countries shut their borders last year to contain the virus.

The neighbouring countries opened a quarantine-free travel bubble last month, although a recent outbreak of the virus in Melbourne has prompted New Zealand to suspend the travel bubble with Victoria state.

Morrison's visit came as New Zealand was dealing with extensive flooding in the Canterbury region following heavy rains. Video footage showed one farmer being rescued by helicopter from a raging river, while other swelling rivers threatened to flood thousands of homes.

INDIAN GETS 10-YEAR UAE GOLDEN VISA

Dubai, May 30: An Indian student has received the UAE's coveted 10-year Golden Visa, which is mostly reserved for prominent global personalities, for her merit and excellent academic credentials, according to a media report.

Tasneem Aslam from Kerala received the Golden Visa in the exceptional student category and is allowed to stay in the country till 2031, Khaleej Times reported.

The UAE government in 2019 implemented a new system for long-term residence visas, enabling foreigners to live, work and study in the UAE without the need of a national sponsor. These golden visas are issued for five or 10 years and will be renewed automatically.

This is one of the best moments in my life. I feel privileged to achieve this and I am thankful to Almighty Allah. My parents support has been enormous, and Insha Allah I hope to sponsor them in near future, Tasneem said.

Tasneem studied Islamic Sharia from Al Qasimia University in Sharjah and topped her class with a grade point average (GPA) of 3.94 on 4.

RECENT EXCAVATIONS

In Nov., archaeologists had announced the discovery of 100 coffins

Egypt bets on ancient finds to revive tourism

Cairo, May 30: Workers dig and ferry wheelbarrows laden with sand to open a new shaft at a bustling archaeological site outside of Cairo, while a handful of Egyptian archaeologists supervise from garden chairs.

The dig is at the foot of the Step Pyramid of Djoser, arguably the world's oldest pyramid, and is one of many recent excavations that are yielding troves of ancient artifacts from the country's largest archaeological site.

As some European countries re-open to international tourists, Egypt has already been trying for months to attract them to its archaeological sites and museums.

Officials are betting that the new ancient discoveries will set it apart on the mid- and post-pandemic tourism market. They need visitors to come back in force to inject cash into the tourism industry, a pillar of the economy.

But like countries elsewhere, Egypt continues to battle the Coronavirus, and is struggling to get its people vaccinated. The country has, up until now, received only 5 million vaccines for its population of 100 million people, according to its Health Ministry. In early May, the government announced that one million people had been vaccinated, though that number is believed to be higher now.

In the meantime, authorities have kept the publicity machine running, focused on the new discoveries. In November, archaeologists announced the discovery of at least 100 ancient coffins dating back to the Pharaonic Late Period and Greco-Ptolemaic era, along with 40 gilded statues found 2,500 years after they were first buried.

That came a month after the discovery of 57 other coffins at the same site, the necropolis of Saqqara that includes the step pyramid.

Saqqara is a treasure, said Tourism and Antiquities Minister Khaled el-Anany while announcing the November discovery, estimating that only 1% of what the site contains has been unearthed so far.

Our problem now is that we don't know how we can possibly wow the world after this, he said.

If they don't, it certainly won't be for lack of trying.

In April, Zahi Hawass, Egypt's best-known archaeologist, announced the discovery of a 3,000-year-old lost city in southern Luxor, complete with mud brick houses, artifacts and tools from pharaonic times. It dates back to Amenhotep III of the 18th dynasty, whose reign (1390-1353 B.C.) is considered a golden era for ancient Egypt.

That discovery was followed by a made-for-TV parade celebrating the transport of 22 of the country's prized royal mummies from central Cairo to their new resting place in a massive facility farther south in the capital, the National Museum of Egyptian Civilization.

The Red Sea resort of Sharm el-Sheikh is now home to an archaeological museum, as is Cairo's International Airport, both opened in recent months.

Centre petty in a needless confrontation with Bengal

The manner in which Prime Minister Narendra Modi's "review meeting" — or, really speaking, so-called review meeting, in light of everything that's transpired since — concerning the devastation caused by the cyclone Yaas with West Bengal chief minister Mamata Banerjee was conducted, it would seem the idea was not so much to discuss cyclone-related damage in the middle of the second wave of Covid but to provoke a fresh round of confrontation between the Centre and the state.

In the three weeks since the state Assembly election result became known, and Ms Banerjee led her party to a record victory, in the process trouncing the BJP which had hoped to form government, not a day has passed without the exchange of bitterness and acrimony between the Centre and the state and the BJP and the Trinamul Congress.

Regrettably, governor Jagdeep Dhankhar has taken it upon himself to be at the centre of these activities in ways that suggest he values his party association more than the neutrality his constitutional duties cast on him. He had been invited to the "review" meeting at the Kalaikunda air base, along with a clutch of BJP leaders, including the leader of the Opposition in the Assembly.

This is far from usual. In the event, the CM did well not to have any part in any of this. That would have set a dreadful precedent. A meeting between the PM and a CM ought to be just that, the presence of senior aides apart; else it would always be a crowd commandeered by the Union government. The governor decidedly has no role to play in such a meeting. Nor do Opposition party leaders since this was not billed as an all-party meeting.

The CM, therefore, met the PM at the airbase, handed him an estimate of financial requirements to repair the damage caused by the cyclone, and with the PM's "permission" proceeded to her next meeting along the damaged coastal belt. Nevertheless, through the BJP's propaganda network, which alas includes sections of the impressionable media, it has been given out that the CM "skipped" the meeting called by the PM to review the damage.

Ms Banerjee is a very combative street politician and is known to give as good as she gets. This does not always make a pretty picture. However, events initiated by the Centre after her party's recent electoral triumph suggest that her actions have been reactive, not pro-active. It is ironical that a PM who skipped talking about "federalism" after taking office and insisted on calling it "cooperative federalism" should be the presiding deity when ugly fracas plays out on daily basis in relation to a state in which his party has been firmly placed on the electoral mat.

Perhaps nothing shows this more graphically than the way the Centre chose to deal with the chief secretary, Alapan Bandyopadhyay. He was asked to report for duty at the Centre on the last day of his service as an IAS officer. Ironically, only four days before he was to superannuate, at the state's request, the Centre had granted him an extension of three months in service (as against the six sought). This has been widely viewed as an act of infinitesimal smallness — a part of the act of continuing jousting against a state with whose CM the Centre is at odds.

2 yrs of Modi 2.0: Little to celebrate

The conspicuous absence of celebrations around the completion of two years of the NDA-2 regime betrays how tumultuous they have proved to be. There are many reasons why this period was far from memorable from among the seven years of Narendra Modi rule since 2014. Waves of a rampant pandemic, which have tested the capacity to govern in over 200 nations, have had less to do with why the last two years have been particularly filled with turmoil in India.

The biggest mandate in democratic India's history in 35 years since 1984 was squandered by the regime giving primacy to a Hindutva agenda, beginning with the abrogation of Article 370 in the "taming" of Jammu & Kashmir and Ladakh. The pursuit of an amended citizenship bill promising to give citizenship to all refugees except Muslims tore the fabric of a pluralistic democracy asunder leading to communal riots in New Delhi. The seeming foreign policy gains from the showmanship of the "Howdy Trump" and "Howdy Modi", besides the positive vibes generated by the banning of the triple talaq had all but evaporated.

While the verdict in the sticky dispute over the Ayodhya shrines, courtesy of an obliging judiciary, was welcomed with the enthusiasm reserved for the resolution of any historical disagreement, there was a ruthless persistence in a divisive agenda, which seemed to be driven by the itch to settle scores more than repaying the people who voted again for the BJP over the combined opposition. In prioritising a blatantly political agenda, from Kashmir to Lakshwadeep and Puducherry, even the new farm laws became suspect, triggering a long running agitation.

In promoting electoral aims above governance, which was largely left to bureaucrats even during the pandemic, the ruling party lost the perception battle, too. Image management and a retributory stance against the public media run by Big Tech are seen now like a pushback by a federal regime fast losing its popularity, also reflected by poll verdicts in many prominent states. The second Covid-19 wave has simply added to the image of a faltering Centre and the ruling party, which now has less than three years to undo the post-2019 damage.

Flux in Centre-state ties with breakdown of trust

Sanjaya Baru

An outstanding address to the Goods and Services Tax (GST) Council by Tamil Nadu's finance minister P.T. Rajan, a contentious interaction between Prime Minister Narendra Modi and West Bengal chief minister Mamata Banerjee and the questionable remarks by V.K. Paul, a member of the Niti Aayog, blaming state governments for the mess over the Covid vaccination strategy once again draw attention to the sorry state of Centre-state relations today. Mr Modi came to power in New Delhi in 2014 promising to adopt "cooperative federalism" as his watchword. Seven years into office he is reminding many people across India of the Indira Gandhi era when the Centre rode roughshod over the states.

Prime Minister Narendra Modi's recent direct interaction with district magistrates, ignoring their chief ministers, was also a reminder of Prime Minister Rajiv Gandhi's attempt to empower the district level bodies, funding them directly from New Delhi, by-passing state governments. The Indira-Rajiv era of unhappy Centre-state relations was challenged by several powerful chief ministers, including Jyoti Basu, N.T. Rama Rao and M. Karunanidhi. The Centre is a conceptual myth, declared NTR, who in the early 1980s emerged as a stout defender of the rights of state legislatures and state governments.

Seeking to retrieve the trust of provincial political leaders, Indira Gandhi appointed the Justice Sarkaria Commission on Centre-state relations in 1983. Every time that Prime Minister Manmohan Singh had problems in dealing with state governments he would, in jest, recall NTR's assertion and remind himself of Justice Sarkaria's views.

In the quarter century from 1989 to 2014, successive PMs had managed Centre-state relations within a framework of consensual politics. Prime Ministers P.V. Narasimha Rao, Atal Behari Vajpayee and Manmohan Singh maintained excellent personal, political and administrative relations with all the chief ministers, irrespective of their party political affiliation.

Against this background, it is disconcerting to hear the Tamil Nadu finance minister speak of "a deterioration of the 'relationship of trust' between the governments of the Union and the states". It was even more worrisome to see a photograph of a scheduled meeting between the PM and the West Bengal CM in which the PM was seated at the head of the table and the CM and other officials, including the Leader of the Opposition BJP in the state Assembly, were required to be seated along both sides of the table. In the event, Ms Banerjee chose not to attend the meeting.

During his first term in office, Prime Minister Manmohan Singh travelled to many state capitals to chair meetings with state CMs and their ministerial colleagues and officials, often accompanied by the deputy chairman of the Planning Commission and senior Central government officials. The seating arrangement always had the PM and his team seated across the table facing the CM and his/her colleagues.

It was a gesture of respect that built trust. These meetings were meant to discuss the implementation of various Centrally funded projects at the state level. The Centre has the money, but it is the states that implement all the projects and programmes. A cooperative relationship between the two is essential for good governance in a quasi-federal administrative system like that of India.

The "deterioration in the relationship of trust" that the Tamil Nadu finance minister spoke of contrasts with the environment of trust and mutual accommodation that former finance minister Arun Jaitley referred to when he addressed a special midnight session of Parliament launching the new GST system. The late Arun Jaitley paid handsome tribute to three state finance ministers affiliated to political parties that opposed the BJP — Thomas Isaac of Kerala, Haseeb Drabu of Jammu and Kashmir and Amit Mitra of West Bengal — for their cooperation and contribution to making the introduction of the GST possible. Jaitley's consensual style, which he learnt at the feet of Prime Minister Vajpayee, served the nation well.

Narendra Modi's imperious manner as Prime Minister contrasts with his attitude towards the Central government as the chief minister of Gujarat and his promise of pursuing "cooperative federalism". When Ms Banerjee objected over not being allowed to speak during the PM's interaction with district magistrates, BJP spokespersons chided her for speaking out of turn. This incident reminded me of what used to happen at New Delhi's Vigyan Bhavan during chief ministers' conferences during the first term of Dr Manmohan Singh. Mr Modi would step out of these meetings to address a group of select media people, summoned by the CM's staff, in the lobby of Vigyan Bhavan. Ms Banerjee may well have learnt from that example of how a CM could upstage a PM at a national conference.

Whatever the banter and the normal party political differences, the fact is that such interactions between the PM and CMs were usually cordial and businesslike during the tenures of consensual PMs like Narasimha Rao, Vajpayee and Dr Manmohan Singh. The current phase of discord and distrust must be brought to an end if India's political leadership as a whole has to deal with the challenges of the Covid-19 pandemic and restore momentum to the economy.

Narendra Modi's imperious manner as PM contrasts with his attitude towards the Central government as the chief minister of Gujarat and his promise of pursuing 'cooperative federalism'

Neither the management of the pandemic and the vaccination drive nor the challenge of fiscal stabilisation and restoration of growth momentum can be handled by the Central government alone. The citizen demands a rational and efficient vaccination programme, a humane and competent healthcare administration and revival of economic growth, employment opportunities and confidence in the medium-term prospects of the economy. The bizarre games of political one-upmanship, the consequent weakening of federal institutions and systems and the mutual blame game between politicians at the Centre and in the states does not serve the interests of the citizen and the nation.

India has lived through many crises and it has recovered speedily when the Centre and the states have shared a spirit of cooperative federalism. Any excessive politicisation of federal governance does no good to either pandemic management or economic revival, nor indeed to an overall improvement in the welfare of the citizen. A prolonged period of political grandstanding and continued tensions between the Centre and the states has already adversely impacted governance and economic development. In the event, the nation needs a renewed commitment to cooperative federalism as defined by the principles of the Constitution.

CBSE CLASS XII EXAM

The indecision over the CBSE Class XII exams has put students who plan to go abroad in a dilemma. Conducting the exams when the Covid-19 fatality rate is at its peak will be devastating. The viable solution will be to reduce the syllabus, get students vaccinated and then conduct the exams offline. The evaluation must be lenient so as to compensate for online learning.

COVID HOSPITALS

The Telangana state government has cancelled the permit of 10 hospitals for not following government rules on charging patients. This will have no impact on patients as they might have already faced harassment and paid through their nose. The same thing happened during the first wave of Covid-19. In due course, the hospitals will get back their licence. Only bureaucrats will gain in this process. It would have helped the families of patients if the government audits hospital bills and make them pay back the extra charges with interest.

Tobacco India's top health crisis: Act now, or just go up in smoke!

The consumption of tobacco in all its forms — cigarettes, cheroots, bidis, gutka and other forms of chewing tobacco — is our number one health challenge now.

According to the World Health Organisation, there are approximately 120 million smokers in India, and India is the home of 12 per cent of the world's smokers. More than 10 million die each year due to tobacco in India. According to the same study, 70 per cent of adult males in India smoke. Among adult females, the figure is much lower, at between 13-15 per cent. The total tax revenue derived from cigarettes and tobacco products is about ₹30,000 crores.

According to a study commissioned by the Government of India, the total economic costs attributable to all diseases related to tobacco consumption is over ₹104,000 crores.

In recent years, the cigarette business has been reporting a drop in consumption. But we do not know if there was a corresponding decrease in the incidence of cancer and other smoking induced ailments. The government, presumably under pressure from the rich and powerful cigarette industry, has not yet conducted a detailed study of this and the consequential cost to the economy in spite of a specific request from the revenue department to enable it to evolve a scientific basis for cigarette taxation.

Whatever be the drop in stick sales, it is very evident that rupee sales and profits have not shown any decline. Industry bosses can, like the cigarette-smoking Dev Anand in the film Hum Dono did, continue to sing "barbadhion ka jashn manata chala gaya, har fikr ko dhuey mey udhatha chala gaya."

Objectively speaking, this is not a bad situation at all, and is proof that the government policy, whether deliberate or accidental, is still halfway good. For, as far as this industry goes, a good policy will ensure that the state gets more revenue, while the consumption keeps dropping each year. But this does not necessarily mean any good news on the health front, as dropouts may have switched to bidis? Nevertheless, the decline in consumption, attributed by the industry to higher excise duties in each of the previous few budgets, means the policy is in the right direction and that there is a case for further increasing the tariffs on cigarettes and bidis once again this year.

The cigarette industry will, no doubt, argue now that it is not wise to kill the goose that lays the golden egg. In this case it is not a golden egg but a time bomb, as each cigarette smoked now implies a future medical cost. Very recently the US government negotiated a $368 billion damages package from the US cigarette industry to pay for future health costs. As the finance minister's adviser, I had once recommended that the health ministry be asked to similarly estimate future health costs in India. It followed that excise duties should be determined with the idea of recovering these costs now. I also advised that raising excise duties each year is a win-win situation. If consumption drops, it means future savings.

It is not that the incidence of smoking is low in India if we take into consideration the widespread bidi habit. NCAER has estimated that 348 million people belong to households with an annual income of over ₹12,500. Logic suggests that the vast majority of cigarette and bidi smokers must come from this segment. This is, by any standards, a very high and dangerous figure. Another point of concern is that the US congressional investigations have revealed that cigarette companies routinely spiked tobacco with extra nicotine to intensify addiction. It is rumoured that similar practices are still widespread in India. There is, therefore, a case for pegging excise duties with nicotine content as well.

One reason suggested for the drop in stick sales in the first half is that smuggled cigarettes ate into the share of locally produced brands. Industry analysts estimate that a third of MNC production are for illegal exports. The port of Antwerp is the hub of the international cigarette smuggling business. Antwerp is to cigarettes what Dubai is to gold! The Indian cigarette industry estimates that smuggled international brand penetration now accounts for two per cent of the market and to some 30-40 per cent of the segment for king-size cigarettes.

Cigarettes are an easy target because they are in the organised sector. But the consumption of bidis and chewing tobacco is just as dangerous and these sectors are growing. Therefore, the danger to public health only keeps increasing. The unfortunate part of this is that the government actively supports and subsidises the increased production of tobacco. Tobacco farming makes a huge footprint on our agriculture and now accounts for 4,95,000 hectares of the most fertile land. Apart from using up valuable agricultural land, tobacco farmers derive all the largesses the state and Central governments confer on them. Free water and free power are the more obvious ones. Then there is subsidised fertiliser and tax-free status for all farming. The government must review these policies. I would like to see tobacco farming taxed on an acreage basis to make it less profitable and for the government to recover all the unmerited subsidies that tobacco farmers encash.

This is easier said than done. The tobacco sector is a powerful vested interest. ITC and the other cigarette manufacturers are the top half of that pyramid. It is easy to take it on, but it's now time to take on the base.

Five-year personal loans at easy rates Banks to offer ₹5L Covid loan

FALAKNAAZ SYED MUMBAI, MAY 30

Public sector banks on Sunday announced that they would be offering unsecured personal loans of upto Rs 5 lakh to salaried, non-salaried as well as pensioners to meet the treatment cost for Covid-19 at a concessional rate. The banks also announced new loan schemes for hospitals/dispensaries, vaccine manufacturers, oxygen and ventilator manufacturers and suppliers, importers of vaccines and Covid-related drugs logistics firms.

Loans extended under the above schemes would form part of the Covid loan book under the guidelines issued by the central bank this month and are under priority sector lending.

Addressing a joint press conference, State Bank of India (SBI) chairman Dinesh Khara, Indian Banks Association (IBA) chairman Rajkiran Rai and IBA chief executive Sunil Mehta announced various support measures and launch of three new loan products by all nationalised banks to mitigate the impact from the pandemic resurgence.

Khara said, "Individuals, including salaried, non-salaried and pensioners, can avail of unsecured personal loans from Rs 25,000 to Rs 5 lakh to meet Covid-19 treatment. The repayment tenure would be five years. SBI would charge interest of 8.5 per cent per annum while other banks are free to decide their interest rate."

The PSBs have also offered to provide upto Rs 2 crore as healthcare business loan for setting up oxygen plant along with power backup system to existing hospitals, nursing homes under the government's Emergency Credit Line Guarantee Scheme (ECLGS). The loan tenure is of five years. Capped at an interest rate of 7.5 per cent these loans are backed by 100 per cent guarantee cover of the National Credit Guarantee Trustee Company Ltd (NCGTC) under ECLGS 4.0, which was announced by the government on Sunday. The third product is a business loan for healthcare facilities up to Rs 100 crore to setup/expand healthcare infrastructure and to manufacturers of healthcare products at a concessional rate.

The government has announced modifications to the ECLGS by enlarging the scheme's scope. The validity of ECLGS has been extended to September 30, 2021 and disbursement is permitted up to December 31, 2021.

Similarly, to address the disruptions caused by the resurgence of Covid pandemic, the Reserve Bank of India on May 5 announced several measures, including a term liquidity facility of Rs 50,000 crore to Ease Access to Emergency Health Services (Covid Loan Book) such as resolution framework 2.0 for Covid related stressed assets of individuals, small businesses and MSMEs, re-assessment of working capital limits, etc.

While the economy had revived well from the beginning of fourth quarter of FY21, the pandemic's resurgence from April 21 has impacted the lives of individuals, and cash flows of businesses and MSMEs.

"In regard to Resolution framework 2.0, PSBs have formulated a templated approach for restructuring of loans," a release from SBI and IBA said.

PAYTM BOARD OKAYS ₹22K CR IPO IN Q3

PRASOON SRIVASTAVA NEW DELHI, MAY 27

The company is looking at an enterprise value of over Rs 2 lakh crore for the IPO, which is likely to be discussed at its board meeting scheduled for Friday.

"The board of directors of Paytm has given in-principle approval for the mega IPO planned to be launched in October-December quarter. ECLGS extended to aviation, scope widened

FALAKNAAZ SYED MUMBAI, MAY 30

The government on Sunday announced extending the Emergency Credit Line Guarantee Scheme (ECLGS) to the civil aviation sector that has been facing headwinds since the onset of the pandemic, besides expanding the scope of the scheme. It also extended the validity of the scheme till September 30, 2021 or till guarantees for an amount of Rs 3 lakh crore are issued. Disbursement under the scheme will be permitted up to December 31, 2021.

In a statement, the finance ministry said that on account of the disruptions caused by the second Covid-19 wave to businesses across various sectors of the economy, it has been decided to enlarge the scope of ECLGS.

In March, ECLGS 3.0 was introduced to cover business enterprises in hospitality, travel and tourism, leisure and sporting sectors.

The ministry has also removed the current ceiling of Rs 500 crore of loan outstanding for eligibility under ECLGS 3.0, subject to maximum additional ECLGS assistance to each borrower being limited to 40 per cent or Rs 200 crore, whichever is lower.

As per an official statement by the finance ministry, under ECLGS 4.0, 100 percent guarantee cover will be extended to loans of up to Rs 2 crore given to hospitals, nursing homes, clinics, medical colleges for setting up on-site oxygen generation plants. The interest rate has been capped at 7.5 per cent for the same, which means the banks can offer loans at lower rates than this ceiling.

"Borrowers who are eligible for restructuring as per the RBI guidelines of May 5, 2021, and had availed loans under ECLGS 1.0 of overall tenure of four years comprising of repayment of interest only during the first 12 months with repayment of principal and interest in 36 months thereafter will now be able to avail a tenure of five years for their ECLGS loan i.e. repayment of interest only for the first 24 months with repayment of principal and interest in 36 months thereafter," the ministry said.

Also, the new scheme has made a provision of additional ECLGS assistance of up to 10 per cent of the outstanding as of February 29, 2020, to borrowers covered under ECLGS 1.0, in tandem with restructuring as per the RBI guidelines of May 5, 2021.

The revised operational guidelines are being issued by the National Credit Guarantee Trustee Company Ltd (NCGTC).

Addressing a joint press conference, State Bank of India chairman Dinesh Khara, Indian Banks Association chairman Rajkiran Rai and IBA CEO

Sunil Mehta said the new measures and loan products announced by the banks were aimed at mitigating the impact from the resurgence of the Covid pandemic.

To implement the expanded ECLGS measures, the public sector banks have put in place systems and processes for seamless implementation of RBI's Resolution Framework 2.0, they said.

Declining to comment on the likely number of resolution applications by the MSMEs this time, Rai said last time out of the 8.5 lakh eligible firms only 60,000 had availed of the facility.

Recently the government had announced collateral-free automatic loans worth Rs 3 lakh crore for micro, small and medium enterprises, out of which Rs 2.54 lakh have been sanctioned, IBA and SBI officials said, adding there was still headroom to lend another Rs 46,000 crore under this scheme.

To a question, Rai said the Covid second wave has impacted the collections of public sector banks in the month of May. "It is difficult to give numbers but can say that we faced difficulty in collections in the month of May and we are offering the available reconstructing scheme to customers," Rai said.

With 1,400 semiconductors in a car, chip-makers get upper hand

IAN KING & KEITH NAUGHTON MAY 30

A century after automakers showed the world the value of assembly-line manufacturing, a shortage of semiconductors is teaching the industry a painful new lesson in what it takes to build a car.

For most of its history, the industry has relied on a distinct approach to buying car parts, procuring components from suppliers right at the moment they're needed. It's referred to as just-in-time manufacturing and is designed to streamline production and eliminate the costs of keeping warehouses stocked with parts waiting to be used.

But the shortcomings of that system were made starkly clear this year as the automakers confronted a dearth of the chips they need to build advanced functions into their vehicles, and found themselves near the bottom of chipmakers' customer lists because of their approach. That shortage is threatening to cut $110 billion in sales from the industry, and forcing auto manufacturers to overhaul the way they get the electronic components that have become critical to car design.

"Customers need to change," said Hassane El-Khoury, chief executive officer of ON Semiconductor Corp, which gets more than a third of its revenue from the automotive market. "That just-in-time mindset doesn't work."

Semiconductor makers are demanding guaranteed, long-term orders rather than the short-term flexibility the carmakers are used to. The chipmakers' assertiveness, even under pressure from lawmakers, underscores the rebalancing of power from the companies whose logos are on the cars to those that provide the advanced technology that runs them.

As these components play a bigger role in everything from in-car entertainment to self-driving functions, chip manufacturers say they're willing to invest in expanding production to head off a repeat of shortages that have forced the industry to mothball factories and furlough workers—if the carmakers give them orders that can't be cancelled and commit to long-term agreements.

"Why would I have invested a single dollar when my customer can cancel within 30 days and it takes me two years to build capacity?" El-Khoury asked.

There are signs the industry is listening. A week before, Ford Motor Company CEO Jim Farley indicated a new willingness to reverse decades of outsourcing for parts.

"As the industry changes, we have to in-source now, just like we in-sourced powertrains in the '20s and '30s," said Farley, who has shut down half his factories.

Automakers can no longer "assume the dominance of an 800-pound gorilla" in negotiations with chip companies and battery makers, said Mark Wakefield, head of the auto practice at consultancy AlixPartners.

Pioneered by Toyota Motor Corp. in the 1960s, just-in-time strategy helped the industry organise a system for sourcing the 40,000 or so components that go into a modern vehicle, many of which can be made in a matter of days. But semiconductors—the heart of sensors, engine management and battery controllers, infotainment and eventually systems that will pilot vehicles—are created in a process that takes months.

Today's cars contain an average of 1,400 semiconductors—and that puts the chipmakers at an advantage.

Intrastate e-way bills see rise, interstate bills dip

SANGEETHA G CHENNAI, MAY 30

While intrastate e-way bills continued to grow even in the pandemic year of FY21, interstate bills registered a decline. Textiles was the top sector generating e-way bills last fiscal.

At 37.55 crore, intrastate e-way bills registered a marginal growth of 1.65 per cent from 36.94 crore in FY20. However, the restrictions across state borders during the nation-wide lock-down and even during unlock phases interstate e-way bills saw a decline by 7 per cent from 25.94 crore in FY20 to 24.13 crore in FY21. Gujarat was the top state to produce the highest number of interstate e-way bills, while Maharashtra generated the highest intrastate bills, as per government data.

However, Karnataka was the top state to verify e-way bills followed by Gujarat and Kerala.

Textiles continued to be the top sector generating e-way bills even in FY21, but there was a decline of 21 per cent in the number of bills from 8.20 crore in FY20 to 6.47 crore in FY21. In FY20, the sector had seen a growth of 15 per cent in e-way bill generation. Electrical machinery and equipment, machinery and mechanical appliances, iron and steel articles and automobiles were the other top e-way bill generating sectors. Among them, electrical machinery and equipment as well as machinery and mechanical appliances continued to register growth.

E-way bills meant for both exports and imports were down in line with the decline in overseas trade in FY21.

Bills for imports fell 15 per cent, while exports were down 4.7 per cent. About 98 per cent of the 61.68 crore e-way bills generated in FY21 were meant for road transport, while one per cent each used them for rail and air transport.

A large chunk of bills were meant for shorter distances. Around 44 per cent of the bills were generated for transporting goods for less than 100 km. Another 14 per cent for distance between 100 and 200 km.

SANITISERS WITH LEUKEMIA-CAUSING BENZENE IS LATEST WORRY

ANNA EDNEY MAY 30

Four decades ago, the US government used rarely deployed emergency powers to reduce workers' exposure to benzene, a chemical linked to a five-fold increased risk of leukemia. After a landmark study in 1977 highlighted its health risks, employers and manufacturers were forced to limit the industrial compound in their workplaces. Yet just within the past few months, elevated levels of benzene have appeared in some hand sanitisers, and last week, an analysis by an independent testing lab revealed its presence in some sunscreens and after-sun skin soothers.

While the amounts found in skin products have been relatively small—far less toxic than the doses that resulted in blood cancers and regulatory action—they're still spurring alarm from public health experts. Questions are being raised about how benzene was allowed into the common lotions, and how to keep it out.

"There's no such thing as a safe level of exposure, and that's especially true for children," said Philip Landrigan, director of the Global Public Health Program and Global Pollution Observatory at Boston College who has studied toxic chemicals and human health for 40 years. "Benzene actually causes DNA mutations, it's a potent carcinogen. Even a small dose can set in motion the chain of events that can lead to a cancer a few years later."

Chelsea edge City to emerge kings of Europe

Portugal, May 30: Chelsea won the Champions League for the second time as a Kai Havertz goal secured a tense 1-0 victory over Manchester City in Saturday's final in Porto, shattering Pep Guardiola's dream of lifting the trophy for the third time. Havertz rounded Ederson to score three minutes before half-time at the Estadio do Dragao and the Chelsea players ran to celebrate with the German.

Coach Thomas Tuchel, full of energy on the touchline just like his opposite number, punched the air in celebration, and later jumped with joy on the pitch after Chelsea held on for victory in the second half after City lost distraught skipper Kevin De Bruyne to injury. The London club finished fourth in the Premier League, a huge 19 points behind champions City, but this, remarkably, was their third win over Guardiola's side in six weeks.

They ended City's hopes of a domestic treble when they triumphed in the FA Cup semi-finals in April and delayed their title celebrations with victory in Manchester.

Now, in a final watched by a limited crowd of just over 14,000 fans who created a raucous atmosphere, they have denied City the first Champions League crown they and Guardiola so crave.

Abu Dhabi's Sheikh Mansour just to get to the Champions League final. They are now the eighth consecutive team to lose in their first appearance at this stage. The same misfortune befell Qatar-owned Paris Saint-Germain last year as well as Tottenham Hotspur when they were beaten by Liverpool in the last all-English final in 2019.

"It is the first time we're here, we'll learn, we'll come back," Guardiola said. "The players did everything, they wanted to do well, to win this competition, sometimes you perform well, sometimes not."

Chelsea also lost when they first got to the final, on penalties against Manchester United in Moscow in 2008.

They overcame the final hurdle by beating Bayern Munich in a shoot-out in 2012 and now they have their second European Cup to move level with Juventus, Benfica and Porto as well as another English side, Nottingham Forest.

Their transformation into one of Europe's super clubs has been down to the riches of Roman Abramovich, their Russian oligarch owner who was in attendance in Portugal.

"It's such a special occasion. At this moment in time, we're the best team in the world. You can't take that away from us," said Mason Mount, who has been outstanding for the Stamford Bridge side this season.

WORKED 15 YRS FOR THIS, SAYS HERO HAVERTZ

Portugal, May 30: German forward Kai Havertz said he had "worked 15 years" for the moment when he scored the goal that won the Champions League for Chelsea against Manchester City on Saturday.

Havertz's 42nd minute strike -- his first goal for the club in the Champions League -- gave Chelsea their second European crown nine years after they beat Bayern Munich to win their first.

"I don't know what to say, I waited a long time. I've worked 15 years for this moment, I am overwhelmed," 21-year-old Havertz told BT Sport.

Chelsea captain Cesar Azpilicueta hailed the young forward.

COACH TUCHEL SET FOR NEW DEAL

Chelsea coach Thomas Tuchel is set to reap the rewards with a handsome new contract, although whether he will be allowed to put down roots in west London remains to be seen given how managerial cycles tend to go at Stamford Bridge.

"We have a strong bond, a strong group who can really defend and play and have answers on all questions in the game," Tuchel said.

"Once the celebrations are over and once we digest this experience, it is the moment to grow, to evolve, to learn from it and become better."

IPL PHASE 2 | IN UAE

Pat to skip, other Aussies doubtful

Sydney, May 30: Kolkata Knight Riders pacer Pat Cummins is set to miss the UAE-leg of the IPL and Cricket Australia needs to make a call if it is prudent to let other Australian players compete in the League and spend more time in mentally tough bio-bubble.

The BCCI on Saturday approved IPL's resumption in September in the UAE. The organisers were forced to suspend the league earlier this month after multiple cases of Covid-19 were reported inside the bio-bubble.

"Cummins, despite a multi-million dollar IPL contract, has already said he will not return to the T20 tournament this season," a report in the Sydney Morning Herald said.

Cricket Australia will have to factor in the workload and bio-bubble fatigue ahead of the T20 World Cup, scheduled to take place in India in October-November.

The Australian players had to serve a quarantine period upon their arrival back home via Maldives from India due to travel restrictions in the country in the wake of Covid-19 pandemic.

"CA will need to decide whether it's in the best mental health interests of its players to spend even more time in a bio-secure bubble," the report said. "CA could decide the IPL will ensure players are fine-tuned for the World Cup, which could also be held in the UAE," the report added.

ECB's Director of Cricket Ashley Giles has already said due to a busy international schedule from June onwards, the English players are unlikely to be available for the remainder of the tournament.

Australia have a tour of West Indies scheduled from late June ahead of the T20 World Cup, followed by a Test against Afghanistan and the Ashes series.

"The Australians could also have a short tour of Bangladesh in August but that has not been confirmed. However, the Bangladesh board is planning for five Twenty20 matches."

The currently-suspended IPL saw participation from over 40 Australian cricketers, support staff and broadcasters.

The IPL, which was held in the UAE last season, has 31 matches remaining.

BCCI WANTS CPL TO BE ADVANCED

The BCCI is trying to convince Cricket West Indies to advance the start of the Caribbean Premier League by a week or 10 days to ensure a seamless bubble-to-bubble transfer of players for the IPL's resumption.

The CPL is scheduled to get underway from August 28 with the final to be played on September 19, while the remaining part of IPL is likely to be held from September 18 to October 10, not leaving the players with any time to settle down.

"We are in talks with Cricket West Indies. We are hoping that if CPL can be finished a few days in advance, it would help in bubble to bubble transfer of all players to Dubai and in time to complete the mandatory three-day quarantine," a BCCI source, privy to the development, said on Sunday. — PTI

MITHALI MOVES ON FROM 2018 SPAT WITH POWAR

New Delhi, May 30: Personal likes or dislikes don't matter when one is playing for the country, India's Test and ODI captain Mithali Raj said on Sunday, insisting that she and head coach Ramesh Powar have "moved on" from a bitter past to take the team forward.

Mithali and Co. are currently quarantining in Mumbai ahead of the UK tour, which is expected to provide a big push to the team's preparations for the ODI World Cup in New Zealand early next year.

The full-fledged series comprising India's first Test in seven years will also be Powar's first assignment as head coach. The former India spinner returned to the role after being sacked following India's semifinal defeat in the 2018 World T20. Mithali was controversially dropped from that game and relations between the two went south with both accusing each other of unprofessional conduct.

"We can't be living in the past. I've played for so many years. I don't have an ego or I don't give attention to my personal likes and dislikes. And 21 years has been a long time for me to sort of, you know, go through many challenges," she said. — PTI

Mary goes down in summit clash

Dubai, May 30: Six-time world champion M C Mary Kom (51kg) signed off with a silver medal in the Asian Boxing Championships after going down in an intense final against Nazym Kyzaibay of Kazakhstan here on Sunday. Mary Kom lost in a split 2-3 verdict. It was her seventh medal in the tournament, the first being a gold that came way back in the 2003 edition.

Up against an opponent 11 years younger to her, the 38-year-old made an impressive start and clinched the opening round comfortably by relying on her sharp counterattacks.

The intensity picked up in the second round and both the boxers showed aggressive intent. The Kazakh drew level at this point with her jabs landing perfectly.

Mary Kom fought back in the final three minutes but that was not enough to get the judges' nod.

The Manipuri legend also won a prize money of $5,000 for her campaign, while Kyzaibay was richer by $10,000.

Kyzaibay is a two-time world champion and a six-time national champion.

On Monday, Amit Panghal (52kg), Shiva Thapa (64kg) and Sanjeet (91kg) will fight it out in the men's finals.

Panghal will square off against reigning Olympic and world champion Shakhobidin Zoirov of Uzbekistan. It will be a repeat of the 2019 world championship final in which the Indian had lost to settle for silver.

Thapa will be up against Mongolia's Baatarsukh Chinzorig, who is the Asian Games silver-medalist.

Sanjeet will take on Kazakh legend Vassiliy Levit, who is chasing his fourth gold at the continental showpiece.

Eight other Indians — the Olympic-bound trio of Simranjit Kaur (60kg), Vikas Krishan (69kg), and Lovlina Borgohain (69kg), and Jaismine (57kg), Sakshi Chaudhary (64kg), Monika (48kg), Saweety (81kg) and Varinder Singh (60kg) — secured bronze medals after semifinal losses. — PTI

Osaka lets racquet talk, Andujar shocks Thiem

Paris, May 30: World number two Naomi Osaka let her racquet do the talking at the French Open on Sunday, maintaining her media boycott but briefly telling a TV interviewer that her clay court game is "a work in progress".

Osaka opened the first day of action at Roland Garros with a 6-4, 7-6 (7/4) victory over Romanian world number 63 Patricia Maria Tig.

However, Osaka was threatened with disqualification from the French Open if she persists with her controversial media boycott, officials said.

"We have advised Naomi Osaka that should she continue to ignore her media obligations, she would be exposing herself to possible further code of conduct infringement consequences," said a statement from the four Grand Slam tournaments after issuing the world number two with a $15,000 fine.

"As might be expected, repeat violations attract tougher sanctions including default from the tournament."

Meanwhile, fourth seed Dominic Thiem blew a two-set lead to be dumped out in the first round by Spanish veteran Pablo Andujar on Sunday.

The 35-year-old Andujar staged a remarkable comeback to defeat the two-time Roland Garros runner-up 4-6, 5-7, 6-3, 6-4, 6-4 after almost four-and-a-half hours on Court Philippe Chatrier.

It is the first time in his 17-year career that Andujar has come from two sets behind to win.

"It's a very special moment because I'm 35 and I don't know how long I'm going to play," said Andujar. "I had to believe to be able to get this result."

"It was very difficult, in the third set he wasn't quite as strong."

It is Thiem's first opening-round exit at Roland Garros and the first time he has failed to reach at least the quarter-finals of the tournament since 2015. — AFP
