

IN BRIEF

VUNDAVALLI SEEKS WHITE PAPER ON POLAVARAM

DC CORRESPONDENT
RAJAMAHENDRAVARAM, NOV. 28

Former MP Vundavilli Arunkumar demanded that the government release a whitepaper on the status of Polavaram Project and the availability of funds for it.

He told the reporters here on Saturday that the YSRC government is not taking a firm and correct stand on the project and exerting pressure on the Union government to bear the full cost in accordance with the AP Reorganisation Act in 2014.

He said Chief Minister Y.S. Jagan Mohan Reddy need not be afraid of the cases pending against him and he should take a firm stand on the issue of Polavaram project and other promises made at the time of bifurcation. He said it was absurd on the part of the Union government to contend that Polavaram cost would be borne at 2014 rates. He wondered how anybody can execute the work in 2020 at 2014 rates.

He said that it is the right of the Andhra Pradesh people to have Polavaram Project constructed at the expense of the Union government, as it has been declared as a national project. He said that former Congress leader K.V.P. Ramachandra Rao has filed a PIL in the Supreme Court regarding the Polavaram project and other assurances of bifurcation. He himself had impeded in the case. The state government should also file an affidavit and impede itself.

He said even the former chief minister N. Chandrababu Naidu did not take a correct stand on the project, but as he was an ally in BJP for four years, he somehow managed the show. Now, Jagan Mohan Reddy is finding himself in a corner, Arunkumar said.

He said that the Centre should bear the entire cost of the irrigation component of the project, including the R&R cost. He said that Niti Aayog had submitted a report on the comprehensive development of Andhra Pradesh after bifurcation. However, it was kept a secret and it should be made public.

CROP DAMAGED IN 4.91L HECTARES IN STATE: MINISTER

DC CORRESPONDENT
KAKINADA, NOV 28

The agriculture and food processing minister Kurasala Kannababu said that the crop was damaged in 4,91,316 hectares in the state including nurseries in 3828 hectares, paddy in 3,23,734 hectares, blackgram in 42,112 hectares, Tobacco in 7,680 hectares, Bengal Gram in 62,598 hectares, Cotton in 20,750 hectares and Brinjal in 7,909 hectares in 6,600 villages in 449 mandals of 13 districts due to Nivar Cyclone.

After a teleconference with the state-level officials from his camp office, Kannababu instructed the officials to complete the enumeration of crop damages and submit a report on December 10 and the compensation should be given to the farmers on or before December 30. He said that due to closure of the canals from April 1, the officials should take steps to complete the crop before March 31 by encouraging the farmers to cultivate short duration varieties.

CROP DAMAGED IN 20,931 HECTARES KURNOOL DISTRICT

DC CORRESPONDENT
KURNOOL, NOV. 28

Due to the Nivar cyclone, 20,931 hectares of standing crops were damaged in the district besides several houses and other government properties that had been hit with the heavy rains.

Kurnool collector G. Veera Pandian said that 19 of 54 mandals in the district recorded more than 10 mm rainfall out with Nivar cyclone in the last 24 hours. One house was fully damaged while 34 others were partially damaged. Particularly, agriculture crop in 20931 hectares was damaged as per preliminary survey out of which 17,002 hectares of paddy got damaged.

The collector said horticulture crops, including banana and chilly, were damaged in 483.98 hectares. Also, 42 sheeps reportedly died while 3.4 km road surface was damaged and 45 electricity poles were uprooted.

However there is no human loss in the district and no evacuation was required at any villages in the district and the situation is said to be under control at present.

Cyclone Nivar claims eight lives

Rainfall had major impact on Nellore, Prakasam, Chittoor and Kadapa districts

DC CORRESPONDENT
VIJAYAWADA, NOV. 28

Heavy rainfall under the influence of Nivar cyclonic storm has claimed eight lives, including six in Chittoor and two in Kadapa, while four persons went missing in the state.

Based on a preliminary assessment, as the rainfall had a major impact on Nellore, Prakasam, Chittoor and Kadapa districts, 1.12 lakh people were affected, 6,133 houses marooned, 2,294 houses/huts damaged, 88 big animals, 2,618 small animals, 8,130 poultry birds perished.

As many as 1,597 villages/towns in 124 mandals were affected while six villages suffered inundation due to floods. The authorities have set up 223 relief camps and evacuated 40,306 persons and accommodated them in such camps while 265 medical camps were organised to provide healthcare.

As a temporary relief, ₹2.50 crore was released to the four districts for talking up immediate relief works. A special assistance of ₹500 each was given to the affected persons accommodated in relief camps.

Agriculture crops located in Nellore, Prakasam, Chittoor, Kadapa and Kurnool, suffered damages in about 2.14 lakh hectares based on preliminary reports while enumeration on the extent of the damage is underway.

In the fisheries department, cage culture units at Annamayya reservoir in Kadapa district and farms in Prakasam district were flooded causing an estimated loss of ₹51.15 lakh.

Infrastructure damage and loss to departments like roads and buildings, water resources, municipal administration, energy, panchayat raj, rural water supply, handlooms and textiles was estimated at ₹56,993.31 lakh for taking up restoration works both on temporary and permanent basis.

The state government deployed eight NDRF and six SDRF teams in the four districts for taking up rescue operations.

Meanwhile, two persons stranded in Mallimdugu reservoir near Renigunta in Chittoor district were rescued as were 60 stranded in a local canal at Tippapadu village of Gudur mandal in Nellore district.

Traffic allowed after damage was repaired

Traffic movement was allowed after repairing the damage to the diversion road on the National Highway near Audisankara Engineering College at Gudur. The area witnessed huge floodwater obstructing movement of vehicles between Nellore and Chennai.

Chittoor Police along with State Disaster Response Force teams rescued a 60-year-old person from Neeva river in Gangadharnellore mandal in Chittoor district on Saturday.

The survivor was identified as Sk Abdullah of Kotrakona village in Gangadharnellore mandal.

According to Chittoor DSP Sudhakar Reddy, Abdullah had gone to the middle of the river to collect grass for cattle. Water was released from the nearby NTR reservoir which marooned him

The teams rescued the man who lost hope of survival.

DSP Sudhakar Reddy said they had instructed the irrigation officials to close four gates of NTR reservoir to carry out the rescue operation and saved Abdullah.

Manumasiddhi Nagar in Nellore is under a sheet of water on Saturday.

Need to construct bridge at higher level: Minister

DC CORRESPONDENT
NELLORE, NOV. 28

Lamenting over plight of people living in some villages in Atmakur constituency, which were cut-off following floods to Penna River, minister for industries and information technology Mekapati Goutham Reddy promised to build high-level bridges to prevent repeat of such situation in future.

The minister was visibly upset with the situation at marooned villages when he visited affected habitations such as Veerlagudi-padu in Sangam mandal and Kachadevarayapalli in Anantasagaram mandal on Saturday.

Stressing that some people are still remaining in flood-affected villages instead of going to relief camps to protect their cattle, Goutham Reddy directed the officials to provide essential commodities, drinking water and medical aid to such people without any reservations.

He instructed the officials accompanying him to check feasibility for constructing a high-level bridge to the village.

The minister examined the flow of huge floodwaters of Penna River at Apparaopalem in Atmakur mandal.

Officials informed the minister that the Somasila project witnessed highest inflows to the extent 6 lakhs cusecs in 2001 while pointing to 4.50 lakh cusecs of inflow after 20 years. The minister also inspected the breaches in the tank at Nagulavellatur in Chejarla mandal.

He assured measures to restore power supply for Somasila reservoir.

Ready Bills on 1st day of Session: Speaker

DC CORRESPONDENT
VIJAYAWADA, NOV. 28

AP Legislative Assembly Speaker Tammineni Sitaram sought to prepare all Bills which would be introduced in the Assembly on the first day of Winter Session on Monday. He said the Assembly Winter Sessions would be held amidst Corona protocol taking all precautions. AP Legislative Council chairman M.A. Sharif directed all departments to prepare answers to the questions of legislators without fail. The Speaker and Chairman conducted a preparatory meeting with the officials on Saturday.

Sitaram and Sharif directed the police department to implement tight security following Corona protocol for the smooth functioning of Winter Sessions. They instructed the police to behave respectfully with the legislators without giving any chance for complaints.

Sitaram instructed the officials to take all necessary measures following the Covid-19 protocol for the Winter Sessions. He said that people would watch the Assembly session live and urged the officials to provide thorough information while providing answers to the questions of the legislators. He said that people seek their questions raised in the Assembly by their legislators about their problems and they would be satisfied when the officials would provide proper information. He sought to conduct a review on questions and answers of the earlier session before starting the Assembly session to provide required information to legislators and further to people.

The Council Chairman said that getting answers during Zero Hour is the right of legislators; hence the officials should provide complete information without fail to the questions.

Chief whip in AP Legislative Council, Ummareddy Venkateswarlu, said that MLAs and MLCs would face severe problems from the public in their areas if they failed to get proper answers. He sought to conduct of petition committee meeting frequently for the smooth performance of question and answer sessions.

NAIDU DEMANDS ASSEMBLY WINTER SESSION FOR AT LEAST 10 DAYS

DC CORRESPONDENT
VIJAYAWADA, NOV. 28

Telugu Desam chief N. Chandrababu Naidu on Saturday demanded that the Assembly Winter Session be extended for a period of at least 10 days to discuss many burning problems being faced by people of the state, including floods.

Naidu said the YSRC government has not only failed in solving the old problems but ended up creating new problems for people in the past 18 months of its mis-governance. He said a longer Assembly Session will allow time for holding discussions on a wide-range of issues being faced by the public. He alleged that only statements are being issued but no real compensation is being given to affected families at the field level.

Addressing an online meeting of the TDP Naidu charged that Chief Minister Y.S. Jagan Mohan Reddy has miserably failed in delivering governance and administration. Naidu alleged that there is zero coordination with in the official machinery as it has got de-motivated.

Crop damaged in 1L hectares in Prakasam

DC CORRESPONDENT
NELLORE, NOV. 28

Standing crops were damaged in 1 lakh hectares because of heavy rains during 'Nivar' cyclone in Prakasam district.

District collector Pola Bhaskar gave the information during a review on the damages in the presence of energy minister Balineni Srinivasa Reddy and education minister Adimulapu Suresh at Ongole on Saturday.

Collector said they have sent a report to the state government about loss to the tune of ₹111 crore to the agriculture sector and this includes ₹83 crore loss to the horticulture crops.

According to the collector, power supply was disrupted in 32 mandals because of damage to 132 substations and steps are being taken to restore power.

The financial loss pertaining to 11 main roads under pachayat raj department was put at ₹50 crore.

Similarly, 50 km of road between Nandyal and Ongole was damaged apart from 5 km road between Addanki and Darsi.

Temporary shelter was provided to 5,690 people affected by heavy rains at 44 relief centres in 35 mandals and the government has released ₹50 lakh for relief centres and ₹30 lakh to be provided ₹500 each to rain-affected people.

Speaking on the occasion, energy minister Balineni Srinivasa Reddy instructed the officials to submit a report on cyclone damages before December 15 while pointing to the Chief Minister's commitment to offer compensation immediately for crop damages.

He told the officials not to down the guard in view of two more cyclones forecasted for the region. He asked them to add the loss of cattle in the damages report.

Mr Reddy pulled up R&B officials for ignoring repairs to internal roads near Kurnool bypass flyover in Ongole.

Education minister Adimulapu Suresh praised the administration for containing property and human loss during the cyclone. He advised the officials to launch awareness programmes for the public in the next 50 days to prevent a second round of Covid-19.

Chirala legislator Balaram Krishnamoorthy urged the officials to instead sanction funds for Sankarayagudem.

According to some party leaders, YSRC supremo Jagan may soon crack down on party leaders who do not work in coordination with each other.

PARTY | AFFAIRS

Two groups in Amalapuram and Rajamahendravaram organising party programmes separately

Rifts surface in YSRC East Godavari district unit

DC CORRESPONDENT
KAKINADA, NOV. 28

Internal rifts are continuing to surface within the East Godavari district unit of ruling YSRC Party at all levels, including MLAs and MPs, despite warnings that Chief Minister Y.S. Jagan Mohan Reddy is viewing the matter seriously.

Recent clash between Kakinada MLA Dwarampudi Chandrasekhara Reddy and MP Pilli Subhash

Chandra Bose would have turned into a huge controversy but for intervention of the CM. The two leaders subsequently came together and dismissed the incident as a storm in the tea cup. However, such rifts within ruling party leaders are continuing to surface in some of the constituencies of East Godavari district.

For example, there are two groups working at cross purposes in Amalapuram and Rajamahendravaram to the extent of organising party programmes separately. Leaders of one group are not participating in functions organised by the other group.

Differences have arisen in who will occupy the mayor's post in Rajamahendravaram. Rajya Sabha member Subhash Chandra Bose has also trained his guns at former MLA and Mandapeta YSRC in-charge Thota Trimurthulu over the issue of tonsuring head of a person belonging to the Scheduled Caste.

At a meeting in Pithapuram, the leader of one group quarrelled with officials for not inviting him for the function. Pithapuram MLA Pendem Dorababu is said to be tired of sorting out such problems. Second-rung leaders feel party leaders should not be invited on the dais at all for official meetings. Only this can avoid group rivalries from surfacing in the public.

P. Gannavaram MLA Kondeti Chittibabu openly expressed his dissatisfaction at a meeting during the Praja Sankalpa Yatra accusing a minister of creating hurdles in development of his constituency. However, when questioned, Chittibabu maintained that there are no differences between him and the minister. He maintained that his statement was just a slip of the tongue.

The P. Gannavaram MLA told this reporter after the meeting that many roads between Appanapalli and Pasarlalupudi, Appanapalli and Pedapatnam Lanka, Ambajipeta and Pullettikurru, Gantipedapudi and Gannavaram; and Amalapuram to Mukkamala have been sanctioned at a cost of ₹50 crore. The dispute is in construction of buildings for village secretariats at Krapa and Sankarayagudem in the constituency.

Though he had proposed sanction of funds for Sankarayagudem building, officials sanctioned the same for Krapa. Chittibabu wants officials to instead sanction funds for Sankarayagudem.

According to some party leaders, YSRC supremo Jagan may soon crack down on party leaders who do not work in coordination with each other.

SHORT TAKES

CALLING
SCAM: STAFF

Mutt employees' association president V. Narayana has alleged that calling for tenders is a big scam. He urged people and devotees of Sri Raghavendra to protect properties of the Swamy. Narayana charged that Mutt officials are playing a game about selling Mutt lands on the pretext that they are yielding very less income from their lease.

The Mutt has more than 5,000 acres of land in different locations of the country. Several court cases are pending with regard to some of these lands in Karnataka and Tamil Nadu states.

Meanwhile, addressing media in Kurnool city on Saturday evening, Telugu Desam Mantralayam in-charge P. Tikka Reddy, along with party Kurnool unit president Somisetty Venkateswarlu, found fault with Mutt authorities in calling for the tender. They maintained that the move has been devised only to benefit YSR Congress party leaders. First it was Tirupati Venkateswara Swamy lands and now it is the turn of Manyralayam lands. YSRC is bent on weakening Hindu religious institutions, the TD leaders alleged. BJP district secretary K. Narsimha Varma said the Mutt has no right to dispose of its lands even though the state government may pressurise temple authorities in this regard. He said it is unfortunate that only Hindu temples are being targeted and their assets are being sold away.

"This is not at all acceptable to Hindus," the BJP leader asserted.

TTD releases white paper on its assets

ATM Cash loader nabbed, ₹10.38 lakh recovered

DC CORRESPONDENT
ANANTAPUR, NOV. 28

The One Town police nabbed a cash loader in ATM counters and recovered ₹10.38,970 cash and several ATM debit cards on Saturday. The cash loader had stolen cash from various ATM counters and escaped for the past few days.

According to one town inspector Prathap Reddy, Devarakonda Saikumar of Syndicate Nagar in Anantapur was working as cash loader under Ritters Business Service Pvt Ltd for the past nine months. He was appointed to load cash at ATM counters of Anantapur, Garladinne and Kudair areas in the district. He developed faith during his work as the company officials believed his services. Saikumar hatched a plan to steal cash from ATM centres during loading at various centres.

Even after other employees and security were with him, Saikumar started stealing cash in the name of rechecking the Automatic Teller Machine. A total of ₹18.97 lakh cash was stolen by Saikumar from various counters during the cash loading process for the past few days. The private services branch head S.

Ramanijeyulu lodged a complaint with the one town police against the cash loader Saikumar who was absconding.

Inspector Prathap Reddy, sub-inspectors Chand Bhasha and Vijayabhaskar and team launched a hunt for the ATM cash loader who was in the dark for the past few days.

The police nabbed Saikumar near APSRTC bus stand area. The CI said ₹10.38 lakh cash was recovered from Saikumar as against the total of ₹18.97 lakh that was stolen from the ATM centres. The remaining cash was already spent by the accused.

Two Telangana youth arrested for robbing bank

DU CORRESPONDENT
VIJAYAWADA, NOV. 28

The police arrested two youngsters on Saturday who robbed ₹77 lakh from State Bank of India, Nadikudi branch a week ago. The two persons inspired by movies (like Julayi Telugu movie) and YouTube videos committed the crime to earn money swiftly without leaving any evidence to settle their lives but the police traced the mystery through scientific investigation.

The robbery took place on 21 November in which the culprits did not leave any evidence but the police got a slip on which a phone number was written, a small video footage and with the phone number and other scientific methods, the police cracked the mystery.

Addressing a press meet at Guntur on Saturday, Guntur rural SP Vishal Gunni said that the police arrested 21-year-old Kedari Prasad and 37-year-old Vinay Ramulu relatives and natives of Gandhinagar of Miryalaguda in Telangana State and recovered the booty. He said that the duo accused studied Class X and intermediate and they planned to earn money in a swift way inspired by movies and YouTube videos which showed various types of bank robberies without leaving evidence.

He said that the duo used to visit Dachepalli for works, observed SBI at Nadikudi situated in inner lanes, conducted recce and robbed ₹77 lakh by cutting chest with gas cutter wearing gloves, detaching CCTV cameras and sprinkled chilli powder to mislead sniffer dogs.

SP Vishal Gunni said that the police formed eight teams which ardously worked with the help of a small video footage. He said that the police arrested the duo and recovered ₹77 lakh cash from them. He said that this is the first of its kind robbery and recovery case which was resolved in seven days in the country.

TD MLA stops wall construction

DC CORRESPONDENT
VISAKHAPATNAM, NOV. 28

The third time MLA and senior TD leader Velagapudi Ramakrishna Babu stood by the shop keepers and successfully stopped the construction of a compound wall on Andhra University Engineering College Road under the Three Town police station limits on Saturday. It may be recalled that the Andhra University (AU) authorities with the GVMC personnel demolished all the shops that were located in the engineering college road last month. The MLA, however, could not prevent the demolition as there was a large presence of police personnel who did not allow him to go near the spot.

On Saturday when the AU officials were preparing for construction of the compound wall, the MLA along with his followers, reached the spot and had arguments with the AU officials. He told them that the land on which the shops were built belonged to the AP irrigation department, but the AU officials demolished the shops.

2 KIDS OF A FAMILY DIE, 8 HURT IN MISHAP

DC CORRESPONDENT
HYDERABAD, NOV. 28

Two children of a family were killed in a road accident and eight others were injured when the car they were travelling in crashed into a parked lorry at Nandigama early on Saturday morning.

The victims were identified as Adil Khan, 13, and Mahabub Khan, 7. They were traveling with their family, residents of Chandrayangutta, towards Shadnagar when the mishap occurred.

"The incident occurred at Mekaguda bypass road. The car driver, who sustained injuries was shifted to a hospital. The rest of the family members will be identified after they receive medical attention," said the police.

The police rushed to the spot after learning the accident and rescued those stuck inside the car. A case has been registered by the police and an investigation was launched.

PIL FILED AGAINST MLC NOMINATIONS

DC CORRESPONDENT
HYDERABAD, NOV. 28

A petition was filed before the Telangana High Court seeking to quash the GO and notification regarding the recent nomination of three MLCs by the Governor.

The petitioner, advocate T. Dhanagopal Rao, said that the process to nominate the MLCs — Gorati Venkanna, Baswaraju Sariah and Boggarapu Dayanand — had not been followed with regard to the provisions laid down in Article 171(3) of the Constitution read with Clause 5.

The petitioner said that the Governor has the discretion to nominate MLCs who have special knowledge and practical experience in specialised subjects like literature, science, art, social service or co-operative movement as per clause 5 of Article 171.

Here, the Governor nominated the MLCs based on the recommendations of the Cabinet, which is contrary to the prescribed provisions.

The petitioner sought that he be nominated MLC in place of those three, and urged the High Court to tell the government to consider his name.

GUNFOUNDRY DOCTOR ENTERS FRAY

SANJAY SAMUEL
PAUL | DC
HYDERABAD, NOV. 28

It was during the Coronavirus lockdown that Dr Surekha Omprakash Beeshwa, a resident of Gunfoundry, decided that it was time she did something about the civic conditions in her municipal ward.

An Ayurvedic practitioner, Dr Surekha, said Gunfoundry, Ward No 78, is confronted with problems like lack of sanitation, many other basic amenities despite the locality being in the heart of the city.

"I was born and brought up in this division. Though situated in the centre of the city, the division is without basic civic amenities. It needs better sanitation, a revival of the library which was highly patronised in the past, proper maintenance of the community hall and some fitness centres and parks," she said.

People, she said, are vexed with the pathetic civic infrastructure in the area, and "when we ladies were debating during these lockdowns and the floods, I decided that I should do something. I need to get into politics and serve."

The division has a high percentage of families that are well educated and is home to several reputed educational institutions, many commercial establishments and hospitals.

Jobless make money from poll campaigns

Parties paid them up to ₹5K for participating in rallies

MADDY DEEKSHITH | DC
HYDERABAD, NOV. 28

Election rallies by all major political parties have come to the rescue of domestic helps and daily wage workers, who were braving economic hardships since the lockdown.

Many of them pointed out that the rallies have ensured that they can meet ends for at least a month.

Political parties have paid amounts ranging from ₹1,000 to ₹5,000 to those participating in the rallies and campaigns since the commencement of electioneering.

Sujatha, from Baghlingampally, said she was sacked as a domestic help by her employer in April. This pushed her into a financial crisis. Her husband and two children were also jobless.

She could get a job only in August. "I agreed to work for a 50 per cent wage cut and the employers are promising full payment only after January, and that too if their financial position improves," Sujatha told Deccan Chronicle.

Election rallies have come as a blessing. "The parties in the beginning offered ₹500 each to me and my children and ₹1,000 to my husband. Now, they are offering me ₹1,500 and my husband ₹2,500," she said.

Her family has earned

₹30,000 in a week, while continuing to work elsewhere. Additionally, there is the prospect of election-day money. Free transport is on offer or fuel if they have their own vehicles.

Venkateshwarlu, a daily-wage worker in Barkatpura, said he has been participating in multiple rallies on the same day. Each party was offering him ₹1,000 per rally and he could earn ₹3,000 every day, and food came free.

"If a political leader addresses a public meeting, we get ₹2,000, party T-shirts, face masks and caps, which have been extremely useful for us during the crisis. I have collected about 10 face masks and T-shirts for each person in our family."

He said parties have offered money for votes, which is a bonus. The money he has earned in the last 10 days would see him through for three months.

Venkateshwarlu said that people like him were saved by election rallies in these difficult times.

A few participants said there were special payments to cheer for the leader from atop buildings or sunshades, or by standing on barricades. The location would be selected by the local political leaders and payments, ranging from ₹2,000 to ₹5,000, based on the risk, would be made on the spot.

TWO HELD FOR CHEATING WITH FAKE PORTAL

DC CORRESPONDENT
HYDERABAD, NOV. 28

The Hyderabad cyber-crimes police arrested two persons — Prem Muley, 31, and Mahesh Kumar Dandote, 26, of Bidar district in Karnataka — for cheating people with a fake 'Dharani portal application'. The arrest was made on a complaint from officials at the TS Technology Services Limited here, who said that fake mobile applications which are in circulation in the name of 'Dharani mobile app'.

"They accused developed a mobile application in the name of 'Dharani Telangana Land Records' and mentioned it as 'Telangana Dharani app', designed to search land record details, ROR, Phani and Form B1 details in Telugu language. They made this app available for download on playstore and were cheating the public by posing as government officials," said the CCS police.

Sikhs to celebrate Prakash Utsav on November 29 & 30

DC CORRESPONDENT
HYDERABAD, NOV. 28

Sikhs will celebrate the 546th Prakash Utsav, birthday celebrations, of the first Sikh Guru, Guru Nanak Dev, on November 29 and 30. To mark the occasion, the Prabhanda Committee of Gurudwara Sahib, Secunderabad (GSS), will organise two deewans (congregations) on November 30, from 9.30 am 2.30 pm and from 9.30 pm to 2 am.

GSS Prabhanda Committee president S. Baldev Singh and secretary S. Avtar Singh said the event will be marked by the recitation of Gurbani keertans by reputed ragi jathas (religious preachers) who are being specially invited from various parts of the country.

Bhai Amarjit Singh of Patiala, Punjab, Giani Jagdev Singh, the GSS head priest, and Bhai Harpreet Singh Hazuri Ragi Jatha and others will recite shabad keertans and kathas and throw light on the teachings of Sikh Gurus.

On November 29, two deewans will be held at the Secunderabad Gurudwara premises, from 5 am to 10.30 am and 7 pm to 9 pm. After the culmination of the congregation Guru Ka Langar (free community kitchen) will be served to the devotees.

35 workers from Odisha rescued from brick kilns in Kamareddy district

NARENDER PULLOOR | DC
KAMAREDDY, NOV. 28

As many as 35 brick kiln workers from Odisha were rescued and shifted to their native places from Kamareddy district on Saturday. Among the victims, officials found the elderly, women and children.

The rescue took place after a relative of the victims complained to the District Legal Services Authority (DSLA) in Nizamabad about the misery of the Odisha workers in Machareddy mandal. Treating it as Suo moto case, Kamareddy district additional judge B. Sattiah directed officials to identify the workers.

Officials identified the 35 Odisha workers from brick kilns in Ugravai and Bhavanipet villages in Machareddy mandal. It is alleged, brick kiln owners—

Anjan Reddy and Prabhakar Reddy harassed the workers, and did not provide them with proper food and accommodation. The duo would beat and scold the workers.

Unable to bear the harassment, the victims brought the issue to the notice of their relatives in Odisha who in turn complained about it in the Kamareddy district court.

In the presence of the district additional judge B. Sattaiah, the police and labour department officials arranged a special vehicle and shifted the workers back to their native places.

Assistant labour commissioner Prabhudas, Kamareddy labour officer Salam, Kamareddy rural CI Chandrasekhar Reddy, Devunipally SI Jyothi, court liaison officer Kanthiah and others were present.

Kishan Reddy questions CM's silence on city floods

DC CORRESPONDENT
HYDERABAD, NOV. 28

Union minister of state for home G. Kishan Reddy said that the time had come to question the TRS government's failures. He criticised Chief Minister K. Chandrababhan Rao for failing to build double bedroom houses for the poor, though he had the time to construct a luxurious house for himself.

Kishan Reddy was speaking at an election meeting in Gandhinagar division in the Musheerabad Assembly constituency. The minister said that on coming to know of the tragedy following the rains and flooding in October, he had rushed from New Delhi whereas the Chief Minister had not bothered to come out of his farmhouse to visit the affected families.

"I am wondering how TRS leaders can ask for votes. I wish to remind that KCR had promised to clean Tank Bund and provide drinking water from Hussainsagar. I wish to exhort people to ask TRS candidates who visit them for votes, to first drink Tank Bund water," Kishan said.

He alleged that when MIM leaders give orders, TRS big guns obliged like puppets. He wondered why the CM did not react when MIM leader Akbaruddin Owaisi spoke of the demolition of PV Ghat and NTR Ghat.

He assured that BJP will implement all the schemes specified in the party manifesto. The TRS has spent ₹5 crore on each division to bribe voters, he claimed.

Speaking at a road show in Mahankali division took exception to the Chief Minister's claims at his LB Stadium public meeting. He wanted the CM to take action against people who are trying to instigate communities and sowing the seeds of communal disharmony. He said this was the handiwork of TRS and the AIMIM.

He termed the CM's meeting at LB Stadium as a damp squib. His face revealed the fears that were haunting him, Kishan said. On December 1, people must come out and vote for a change, he said.

Karimnagar CPTC is new forest learning centre

DC CORRESPONDENT
KARIMNAGAR, NOV. 28

The Karimnagar Police Commissionerate by implementing the Yadradri model of the Miyawaki method of planting at the City Police Training Centre (CPTC) is now a study centre for officials of the forest department.

As part of their field visit, forest officials from Bhupalpally, Mulugu, Warangal, Jangaon, Karimnagar, Sircilla, Peddapalli and Jagtial districts, visited the CPTC in Karimnagar on Saturday, to study how the mini forest was grown on a small piece of land.

During the implementation of the Haritha Haram programme in the state, the police officials of the Karimnagar police commissionerate planted as many as 12,500 saplings of 33 varieties under project-1 in one acre of land.

Under project-2, 14,800 saplings were planted in 1.14 acre of land in the CPTC present in the heart of Karimnagar city in 2017.

Appreciating the initiative, Chief Conservator of Forests M.J. Akbar, appreciating the effort said that the CPTC has become a model for the state and is competing with the

NAGA, ASSAM
ENGAGE IN UGLY
BORDER SPATMANOJ ANAND
GUWAHATI, NOV. 28

After Mizoram row, the inter-state border conflict has erupted between Assam and Nagaland with local organisations of Assam imposing an indefinite economic blockade thereby halting all economic activities between Assam and Nagaland at Mariani in Jorhat district.

Tension had started at the inter-state border since November 10 following the construction of a temporary structure allegedly by Mokokchung district administration within the Dissoi Valley Reserve Forest under Mariani range of Jorhat Forest Division of Assam. The problem aggravated with the Mokokchung district administration posting armed Nagaland policemen at the site.

In response the Assam Police on November 11 also deployed its personnel in temporary camps near the place where Nagaland policemen were camping in order to prevent any further encroachment by Nagaland.

The local students organisation — the All Tai Ahom Students Union (ATASU), which opposed the move to what they called encroachment of Assam's land by the neighbouring state of Nagaland, has launched a movement since November 10 which was suspended for three days on assurance of the administration to resolve the issue.

AIDE ATTEMPTS
'SUICIDE'

Bengaluru, Nov. 28: Karnataka Chief Minister B. S. Yediyurappa's political secretary and relative N. R. Santosh who was hospitalised following alleged suicide attempt, is 'stable and cheerful', and may be discharged in a day or two, doctors treating him said on Saturday.

According to sources, Santosh is said to have attempted suicide by consuming sleeping pills on Friday night.

On finding him unconscious at his Dollars Colony residence here, family members have rushed him to Ramaiah Memorial Hospital.

Santhosh (31) was brought at about 8.30 pm with an alleged history of consumption of sleeping tablets at around 7 pm, the Hospital President Dr Naresh Shetty said in a statement.

Noting that on admission he was drowsy, the doctor said appropriate treatment was administered immediately and all investigations were carried out.

"He has been taking sleeping tablets occasionally for his sleep disturbance as per past history. On Saturday morning, the patient is stable. He had his breakfast and is cheerful. The plan is to shift the patient to the ward post noon on Saturday. He may be discharged in a day or two based on his health status and recovery," the statement added.

BHUBANESWAR, NOV. 28

The Odisha government, under pressure from the Opposition and facing large-scale public outrage over the soft-peddling the investigation into the murder of five-year-old girl, on Saturday agreed to institute a probe by a court-monitored five-member Special Investigation Team (SIT), on Saturday.

The SIT will be headed by Inspector General of Police (IGP) Arun Bothra, who had cracked the 2018 Patnagarh parcel bomb case in which a newly-wed couple and their grandmother were killed.

State parliamentary affairs minister Bikram Kesari Arukha made the announcement in the Assembly. The announcement came a day after the Opposition parties attacked the Naveen Patnaik government over the ambiguity in the announcement by the latter regarding a SIT probe made on the floor of the House through video-conferencing on Friday.

The CM had said, "If required, the state government will order SIT probe into Pari murder case."

Arukha's announcement failed to pacify the Opposition which continued its attack on the government, forcing Speaker S.N. Patro to adjourn the proceedings till 3 pm.

UP 'love jihad' law gets Gov. nod

Jail term up to 10 years and fine of ₹50K for those violating its clauses

Lucknow, Nov. 28: The Uttar Pradesh ordinance aimed at curbing forcible or fraudulent religious conversions including those for the sake of marriage has got the assent of state Governor Anandiben Patel with the new law providing for a jail term of up to 10 years for any violations.

The law, which has been published in the UP gazette, comes into force at once, an official spokesperson said on Saturday. The ordinance was promulgated by the Governor on Friday with immediate effect.

Under the law which deals with different categories of offences, a marriage will be declared "null and void" if the conversion of a woman is solely for that purpose, and those wishing to change their religion after marriage need to apply to the district magistrate.

The Yogi Adityanath government on Tuesday approved the draft of the Uttar Pradesh Prohibition of Unlawful Conversion of Religion Ordinance, 2020, which also curbs religious conversions only for the sake of marriage, dubbed by BJP leaders as 'love jihad'.

"The way in which religious conversions are done using deceit, lies, force and dishonesty is heart wrenching, and it was necessary to have a law in this regard," Cabinet minister and UP government spokesperson Sidharth Nath Singh had said.

Conversion for the alleged purpose of marriage is, however, only one aspect of the ordinance.

The new law was opposed by the opposition Samajwadi Party.

Hours after the governor's nod, SP president Akhilesh Yadav said his party will oppose the Bill when it comes up in the state Legislature for passage.

"The Samajwadi Party is not in favour of any such law. We will oppose it (when it comes up in the assembly)," the former chief minister told a press conference.

The new law also has a provision under which if someone returns to their original religion, it shall not be deemed a conversion.

The onus to prove that the conversion has not been done forcibly will lie on the person accused of the act and the convert, it said.

In cases of violations of the law, the ordinance stipulates that the court shall grant appropriate compensation payable by the accused to the victim of conversion which may extend to a maximum of ₹5 lakh in addition to the fine.

The ordinance mainly envisages that no person shall convert, either directly or indirectly from one religion to another by use or practice of misrepresentation, force, undue influence, coercion, allurement or by any fraudulent means or by marriage nor shall any person abet, convince or conspire such conversion.

Minister Sidharth Nath Singh on Tuesday told reporters that the punishment under the new law is a jail term from one to five years, and a fine of ₹15,000.

But if the woman involved is a minor or belongs to a Scheduled Caste or a Scheduled Tribe, the jail term would range from three to 10 years, he said.

But if the woman involved is a minor or belongs to a Scheduled Caste or a Scheduled Tribe, the jail term would range from three to 10 years, he said. The fine would increase to Rs 25,000.

"In the case of mass conversions, the punishment is from three years to 10 years and a fine of Rs 50,000 on the organisations which indulge in it," he added.

India, Nepal put
'sour' ties back
on friendly trackSRIDHAR KUMARASWAMI
NEW DELHI, NOV. 28

With India declaring it is "Nepal's foremost friend and development partner", bilateral ties are once again firmly back on track following the successful two-day visit of foreign secretary Harsh Vardhan Shringla to Kathmandu this week. Sources said recently that both sides "noted the special relations between India and Nepal, and the importance of respecting each other's sensitivities", adding that the two sides "shared their perspectives on boundary matters and discussed ways to take it forward under the appropriate bilateral mechanisms".

The visit comes even as China — much to India's concern and dismay — has extended its influence in the Himalayan nation enormously in the past few years especially after the Nepalese Communists assumed office.

It may be recalled that ties between India and its Himalayan neighbour had soured in the summer months this year after Nepal went ahead and unveiled a new map that showed portions of territory in India's Uttarakhand state — Limpiyadhura, Kalapani and Lipu Lekh — as part of Nepal.

New Delhi had objected to that move. But much water has flowed under the proverbial bridge in the past few months. The ice had initially been broken in August after Nepalese Prime Minister K.P. Sharma Oli had called up Prime Minister Narendra Modi then to wish him on the occasion of India's 74th Independence Day, with both leaders "expressing mutual solidarity" and agreeing to strengthen cooperation.

Foreign Secretary Mr. Shringla said in Kathmandu during his just-concluded visit that culminated on Friday that "aside from our common civilisational inheritance, India's relationship with Nepal rests on four pillars — development cooperation; stronger connectivity; expanded infrastructure and economic projects; easier and enhanced access to educational opportunities in India for the young people of Nepal". He had also declared that "underlying all of these is a steadfast principle: we will work to Nepal's priorities".

The Foreign Secretary also "assured the people of Nepal that, once a vaccine is rolled out, meeting Nepal's requirements would be a priority for us". He had added, "Given our genetic profiles, what works for India is likely to work for Nepal as well. Together we will recover from the pandemic and together we will protect our people."

During his two-day visit, Mr. Shringla had called on Nepalese PM Oli, which included a one-on-one meeting, and had also called on the Nepalese President and the Foreign Minister, apart from holding talks with the Foreign Secretary of Nepal. Nepalese PM Oli had also conveyed Nepal's desire to build on the momentum in the bilateral relationship and enhance the level of bilateral engagement.

During the visit, discussions had taken place on "specific measures that could be taken to finalise key projects at the earliest, including the Pancheshwar Multipurpose Project, as well as launch new economic initiatives". Discussions had also taken place on "specific meetings that could be scheduled to maintain high level engagement, and address issues of mutual interest".

Centre ready for farm talks: Shah
Cong hits out at Modi govt over 'Delhi Chalo' march

New Delhi/Chandigarh, Nov. 28: Thousands of farmers dug in their heels at Delhi's border points, their numbers swelling through the day as many more joined them, and hundreds gathered at the city's Burari grounds on Saturday, disparate but united in their determination to hold protests against the new farm laws.

With many roads and entry points blocked, Union Home Minister Amit Shah appealed to the farmers to shift to the Burari ground and said the Centre is ready to hold discussions with them as soon as they move to the designated place.

He said a delegation of the farmers has been invited for discussion on December 3, adding now that some of their unions have demanded that talks be held immediately, the central government is ready to do so as soon as the protestors shift to the ground in Burari.

Punjab Chief Minister Amarinder Singh termed Shah's offer to hold discussions at the earliest as the best in the interest of the farming community and the nation at large. He urged the farmers to accept the appeal and shift to the designated place for their protest.

After a restive Friday that saw police using teargas shells, water cannons and multi-layer barriers to block the protesters and some farmers pelting stones and breaking barricades in their determination to push through as part of their 'Delhi Chalo' march, it was a quieter Saturday.

New Delhi, Nov. 28: Congress leader Rahul Gandhi on Saturday alleged that a soldier was pitted against an old farmer due to Prime Minister Narendra Modi's "arrogance".

The Congress also said it would have been better if the prime minister talked to the protesting farmers instead of getting "himself photographed in corporate offices". "This is a very sad photo. Our slogan was 'Jai Jawan, Jai Kisan', but today a soldier is standing against the farmer due to PM Modi's arrogance. This is very dangerous," he said in a tweet in Hindi along with the picture of a soldier showing a baton to an old farmer.

But the tension persisted with restless crowds milling around the city's edges and beyond and settling down from another night out in the cold.

Though there was no clear roadmap, the farmers, belonging to multiple groups, including 30 from Punjab, appeared clear in their resolve, some saying

Farmers from Punjab and Haryana continued their protests against the new farm laws, with many of them blocking traffic on the national highway after the police stopped them from their 'Chalo Delhi' march.

Congress chief spokesperson Randeep Surjewala accused Modi of getting pictures clicked in corporate offices while farmers are protesting on Delhi roads. "Wish the PM talks to farmers on the road instead of flying in the aircraft," he said in a tweet, after Modi visited a company in Ahmedabad which is engaged in the Covid-19 vaccine research.

Another spokesperson Abhishek Singhvi claimed whoever protests against the Modi government is "deemed a terrorist".

"Poor farmers from Punjab pointing out genuine grievances have been labelled khalistani. Why doesn't Modi come out and address the Annadatta however, only demands of them during elections," he tweeted.

Party leader Priyanka Gandhi Vadra also tweeted of similar pictures of farmers being prevented by the police from marching towards Delhi, where they wish to hold a protest against the new farm laws. She said it is right if the government frames laws against farmers, but it is wrong when farmers wish to make their voice heard in Delhi.

had been there for three days, refused to budge. As police personnel swarmed the area, many said they would not go to the Sant Nirankari ground in Burari that was offered to them for peaceful protests.

Settling down for another night on the road, some said they would wait for the outcome of a crucial meeting on Sunday to decide the next course of action.

Indo-Sino face-off:
Macros deployed
near Pangong lakeDC CORRESPONDENT
NEW DELHI, NOV. 28

India has deployed Marine Commandos (Marcos) from the Indian Navy in the Pangong lake area, which is one of the flash points with China in Eastern Ladakh.

Marcos will also get new boats to carry out operations in the lake apart from the existing infrastructure there. Indian Air Force's Garud and Indian Army's Para Special Forces have already been operating in Ladakh.

Indian Air Force's Garud Special Forces are deployed at the strategically crucial heights along with their shoulder-fired air defence systems Iglu to take on any aircraft violating Indian Air space.

India has deployed Marcos in Ladakh at a time when there is a virtual deadlock between India and China to disengage from the seven months military standoff in Eastern Ladakh. There has been no progress on the disengagement proposals that were discussed during eight rounds of Corps Commanders meeting. There has also been no discussion on the next date of Corps Commanders meeting.

India's position has been that it was China that had first moved its troops at the LAC and China will have to be the first to withdraw from these positions. India has told China that it will talk about all flash-points and not just about the south bank of Pangong Tso where Indian Army occupied strategic heights in August in a surprise move.

Indian Army has completed establishment of winter habitat facilities for all troops deployed in Eastern Ladakh.

The winter deployment in Ladakh is particularly difficult due to tough terrain, low temperatures and bone chilling winds which make survival extremely difficult.

India has deployed around 50,000 troops in the area to tackle any threat that may emerge from Chinese army.

The special Forces manned by Tibetan migrants "Special Frontier Force" had also taken part in the pre-emptive occupation of strategic heights in the Southern banks of Pangong Tso in August.

Naidu to chair SCO summit tomorrowDC CORRESPONDENT
NEW DELHI, NOV. 28

The ministry of external affairs announced on Saturday that vice-president Venkaiah Naidu would chair the 19th meeting of the Shanghai Cooperation Organisation council of heads of government to be hosted by India in virtual format on Monday. Pakistan will be represented by its parliamentary secretary for foreign affairs.

The other six SCO members — Russia, China, Kazakhstan, Kyrgyzstan, Tajikistan and Uzbekistan — will be represented by their Prime ministers, New Delhi added.

It may be recalled that Prime Minister Narendra Modi had just attended the SCO Council of Heads of State meeting in Virtual format earlier this month on November 10 that had been chaired by Russian President Vladimir Putin.

Off the beaten track

Different, and same: Pandemic musings

Big calamities induce great change. The Fukushima disaster 2011 in Japan left behind 16,000 dead and the haunting image of the Emperor Akihito, kneeling before aged victims— a never before, mutely humane gesture expressing remorse and reassurance.

April 2020, India. A possible 10 million emigrant workers abandon locked down cities. Some walk to distant villages with their family in tow and their meagre possessions on their heads — a replay of the post-Partition mass exchange of the dispossessed in 1947 — except this is just one-way.

Media reports kindle public sympathy. Yogi Adityanath mobilises hundreds of buses to ferry “his” people home to Uttar Pradesh. Their cousins from Bihar are left to brave the searing summer heat and exhaustion — some die on the way.

November 2020, New Delhi, Mumbai — lockdowns are long over but most people now carry documents to prove residence, drown themselves in vitamins and track the apps for movement restrictions. The worst is over. The Covid monster is dying. But the fear is palpable of being dragged under by its distended death spasms.

The ongoing pandemic’s most telling debris — other than heightened neurosis and germaphobia — are the ubiquitous masks. Masks everywhere in a macabre caricature of a Venetian Carnival — except here masks are the vehicle to scurry home not strut the streets and party.

Product design lags horribly. The masks either keep pollution out or the deadly spiked pathogens. You must choose between the two — a senseless game of Russian roulette. Pollution choked lungs gasp for air through impermeable medical grade masks. But there are eyes watching everywhere now.

Furtively, you avert your face, tug downwards and gulp in the air quickly, lest someone fingers you for violating the Covid regulations. Some are complicit out of propriety; others to escape the Rs 2,000 fine.

Sitting next to a stranger on a bus, in an aircraft or even in a waiting room is so off-putting that it makes you shun all human contact and become a mole. Voluntary social distancing is not going away anytime soon.

For the well-off, excluding others from physical proximity, unless they are suitably bathed and clad, was always the norm. South Asians smarten up before they go to beg for relief for a Bahubali (big man). It is not just hotels and the military, which enforce daily dress and hygiene inspections. Privileged homes also follow this rule, requiring house help to change into “clean uniforms” before going about their work.

It all goes back to the Raj, when mem-sahibs would drill the women of the “coolie lines” — people not like them — on the basics of hygiene, partly, to forestall the spread of classless contagion to the “main house”.

Hawking or spitting is second nature to South Asians. An early morning ritual which requires the most labored exertions to eject yesterday’s detritus from around our gullets, in a fluid heave by contracting the stomach and gagging ferociously. Sensible Europeans brush their teeth post dinner. Asians must do it early in the morning, before eating anything, or lose their meal.

Touching and feeling anything and everything is second nature. It could be a door frame, the back of a chair or even the person ahead of oneself in a queue. Does “connecting” physically create a human chain of reassurance circling the Globe?

With masks obscuring the face, all-American, blindingly white teeth and a now-it’s-on, now-it’s-off toothy smiles are yesterday’s asset — dentists, beware of your declining profits. Today it is the eyes which are once again the windows to a person’s soul.

And don’t forget how voice and audio have eaten into video’s share as the principal tool for business and social communication, to access knowledge, music, shows or catch-up on current affairs because pod casts allow you to “multitask” — the holy grail of the 2020s, also known by the less flattering epithet of “shared attention” — as by a mother of quintuplets.

Personal vehicles, insanely popular in South Asia because of poor public transport, soar in appeal. They extend the bubble of “safe social isolation” to the street. The purveyors of the virtues of “shared mobility” need to come up with very rigorous sanitisation options before people go back to Uber and Ola. One option is drive through UV sanitizers — giant versions of the smaller ones for home use, to disinfect mobiles and parcels, now available at between ₹2,000 to ₹10,000 apiece.

Accessing doctors is, at once convenient and yet dreadfully stressful. Letting a doctor look down your gullet online whilst lying in your bed is sheer luxury, as is ordering medicines like pizza. The bad old days of heaving yourself to a hospital or a clinic for a doctor’s appointment or to get a medical test done, are now mere memories, except for the truly ill, who now need generous insurance policies and “connections” for non-Covid medical help.

Dying at home was once a preferred eventuality for the aged. Today they are denied even this final dignity. Doctors hesitate to certify the cause of death. Even the dead must pass by a hospital to be stamped as “non-Covid” before being cremated or buried. Some say, the movers and shakers, who know how to live and die comfortably, get certificates prepared in advance, just to avoid the detour. Kafka rules now more than ever.

At best, farm laws pass reform buck to big biz

Pavan K. Varma

Chanakya’s View

As I saw thousands of farmers being tear-gassed and drenched by water cannons, and the mass of lathi wielding policemen and barbed wire barricades put up to prevent farmers coming to Delhi to protest against the recent farm bills, I was reminded of Tulsidas’ remarkably insightful lines in the Ramcharitmanas: Nahin kou asa janama jaha mahin, prabhuta pai jahi mada nahin: Never was a creature born in this world, whom power did not intoxicate. How else can one explain the arrogant manner in which the BJP government has handled the entire project of farm reforms? It is a classic case of hubris derailing even a well-intentioned attempt of change.

Firstly, it was the manner in which the three agricultural bills were passed in Parliament last September. This is a government with an overwhelming majority in the Lok Sabha, and a manageable preponderance in the Rajya Sabha. It is in a position on a simple numerical basis to get its legislative agenda through. Why then were these bills passed in a tearing hurry, without a structured discussion, through a voice vote, and without sending the bills for wider consultations and thorough consideration to the select committee?

Let us accept, too, that there is a need to replace the stranglehold of middlemen in agricultural trade and do away with the APMC Act. However, if the farmers are protesting the move it is not because they have shrunken craniums that prevent them from realising what is good for them. The question is not that agricultural commerce needs to be opened up, but what is going to replace it. The government says that removing unproductive middlemen and allowing farmers to sell to whomsoever they want is good for farmers. It will open the way for corporate India to buy from farmers, enhance business investment in the agricultural sector, facilitate healthy price competition and thereby increase farmer remuneration.

The fact of the matter is that, while this sounds great in theory, marginal and small farmers with less than five hectares of land account for 86 per cent of total farmers in India. No attempt has been made, as part of preparatory steps leading up to this reform legislation, to aggregate them or to encourage cooperatives. They have been given the freedom to sell outside the APMC, but given their indigent and scattered status, are without the power to negotiate the best deal for themselves.

It is true that there are only some 7,000 APMC mandis across the country, and farmers can theoretically sell to anyone they wish to. In fact, some states like Bihar, Kerala and Manipur have scrapped the APMC Act. But has the condition of the small and marginal farmers really improved in these states? The truth is that the old system — which does need reform — guaranteed to most farmers through the MSP, a minimum floor price for their hard earned produce. The much maligned middlemen or adhatis provide a support system to farmers for transporting their produce and selling it; they also are a part of a familiar socio-economic eco system available to farmers in times of need, such as a temporary loan for marriage ceremonies or child education. Now the assurance of the old system is being removed, and there is no explicit guarantee in the law for MSP.

Reforms, although necessary, need to be prepared for and properly transitioned. Suppose, the government made a peremptory announcement that henceforth everybody will travel in New Delhi only by public transport. The step can be justified as a ‘reform’ because it will save fuel, encourage savings, and reduce pollution. But the ordinary person will ask the basic question: is the existing public transport infrastructure good enough to meet this increased demand? If the answer is no, then people will protest.

The guarantee of MSP has led farmers, especially in Punjab and Haryana, but also elsewhere, to grow crops, such as paddy, even when government godowns are unable to efficiently store the grains, and rats consume a great deal of it. But why are farmers growing paddy in Punjab and other states? It is successive governments that have for vote bank politics guaranteed them free water and free electricity. Now that they have utilised this largesse to cultivate paddy, the government suddenly has a change of heart and says it will not buy, and wants corporate India to step in. A businessman, who is given certain inputs for production free, and encouraged to make a particular product which the government guarantees it will buy at remunerative prices, will change his production line to respond to such a situation. Suppose, after he has done so, the government says that its decision was wasteful, and it will not guarantee purchase, would not the businessman feel he has been cheated?

The agricultural sector is crying out for greater investment. The government feels that these farm bills will facilitate this but by the corporate sector. However, has the government come out with the requisite tax incentives and fiscal policies that will encourage such investment? Besides, there is a point beyond which governments — both at the centre and in the states — cannot abdicate their own responsibility. Systemic investments in modernising the food supply chain should have been made in much greater measure by governments. The buck is now being passed on to the private sector, on the uncertain premise that they will do what successive governments did not.

We need agricultural reform. But it must be done through consultation with the stakeholders and systematically prepared for. Teargassing farmers and intimidating them is not the answer.

The Swarna Palace fire mishap should be taken to its logical conclusion. Those responsible must be punished. Compensation must be paid for all the loss incurred on account of the mishap. On top of it all, Dr Pothineni Ramesh, who was the ultimate beneficiary of the Covid care centre, should be booked for disrespect to laws and punished accordingly. The government of the day ensured payment of compensation to all victims’ families. Even that amount should be recovered from the doctor.

CARE FOR FARMERS

Agriculture is the primary source of income to many across the nation (Farmers get permission for Delhi Protest, DC, Nov. 28). Farmers only want to be assured of a feasible and viable return for their produce. It is not rocket science to understand the basic economic factor. Hope the government will work out an amicable solution on the Central component of MSP for farmers.

Dr C. Ghanshyam
Visakhapatnam

For a month, Punjab farmers have conducted rail roko and lifted it as it was boomeranging on their economy. Now, amidst Covid threat and severe winter, a section of farmers are on Delhi Chalo campaign against Centre’s new farm laws. No other Congress-ruled state farmers are agitating and all over the country, farmers are not as vociferous as Punjab farmers. The Centre may not yield to pressure tactics of the Congress-sponsored Punjab farmers agitation.

Keeping in view the farmers agitation, the Farmers Bill does seem to be resented like no other with no respite in the near future. In this scenario it is best the government withdraws the Bills for the sake of peace in the country. It should not be taken as a prestige issue.

Licensing policy may not be relaxed

NEW DELHI, Nov. 28

The Ministry of Industrial Development is understood to have informed the Planning Commission that there would be no further liberalisation of licensing policy and it would go ahead, with the consent of the Cabinet with projects that would ensure over-all growth of the economy.

In the course of exchange of views it has had with the Planning Commission, the Ministry is believed to be of the view that if private sector did not come forward to help achieve the Fourth Plan targets in the industrial sector, the public sector would step in. Already, the Ministry has pointed out, some of the shortages that have developed in consumer goods, such as man-made fibres, were being overcome through the public sector. The Ministry feels strongly that the private sector should not be allowed to make money out of raw materials produced by the public sector.

been waiting to be rehabilitated for the past five months.

Soon after BJP Rajya Sabha MP and Amit Shah confidant Bhupendra Yadav was given charge of the poll campaign for the Greater Hyderabad Municipal Corporation, he immediately got down to business. He has set up shop in Hyderabad and has been approaching local Congress leaders for induction into the BJP. Realising that the Congress is on a weak wicket, Yadav and his team has been sending out feelers to the rival party’s leaders, even going to the extent of calling on them at their homes. This is the same pattern adopted by the BJP in West Bengal as the saffron party is determined to expand its footprint in the East and South. Unlike Trinamul chief Mamata Banerjee who is putting up a tough fight in West Bengal, there is no one in the Congress to counter the BJP’s expansionism.

Despite defeat, Rahul vac was on track; Patel’s unenviable role

Over the past few days, there have been numerous accounts of how Ahmed Patel managed affairs in Congress president Sonia Gandhi’s office as her political secretary. Among the various responsibilities entrusted to the late leader was to keep his boss out of the line of fire. It was left to him to tactfully handle delicate situations. A phone call from Patel generally meant he was ringing to convey some bad news. This happened with senior Haryana leader Birender Singh (now with the BJP) when he was getting ready to leave for the Rashtrapati Bhavan to be sworn in as a minister in the Manmohan Singh government in 2013. Minutes before Mr Singh stepped out, he got a call from Patel. When Mr Singh heard who the caller was, he realised he would not be joining the Union Cabinet. “I knew immediately I was out... because Ahmed Patel would not be calling to congratulate me,” says Mr Singh whenever he recounts this story. This was not the first or the last time that Mr Patel was called upon to perform such an unpleasant task. But he handled it tactfully, breaking the news in his inimitable gentle style. His general refrain was, “Sorry yaar, tumhara kaam nahin hua. Dekho, agli baar shayad kuch ho payega.”

Thanks to the enthusiastic response RJD leader Tejashwi Yadav got at his election rallies, Rahul Gandhi was convinced that their alliance was all set to form the next government in Bihar. In fact, he was so confident that he took a break in the midst of the election campaign and went off for a short holiday to Shimla at his sister, Priyanka’s house. The Nehru-Gandhi scion had even planned to go on a desert safari to Jaisalmer before the declaration of the Bihar poll results. However, these plans came unstuck because Rahul Gandhi was denied permission by the security agencies as Prime Minister Narendra Modi was due to visit the forward areas and spend his Diwali with the jawans. This was just as well as the Bihar poll results proved to be a real letdown for the Rahul-Tejashwi duo. However, this did not stop Rahul Gandhi from proceeding on vacation to Goa later with Sonia Gandhi.

Madhya Pradesh chief minister Shivraj Singh Chouhan has put the proverbial cat among the pigeons with his recent announcement that he is in no hurry to expand his Cabinet. This has obviously come as a rude shock for former ministers Tulsi Silawat and Govind Rajput who had to resign their posts in October as they had failed to get elected as MLAs in the stipulated six months following their induction into the Cabinet. Both Silawat and Rajput are Jyotiraditya Scindia loyalists who had crossed over to the BJP from the Congress along with 20 other MLAs which led to the downfall of the Kamal Nath government. The two were hoping to get back their ministries after they were re-elected in the recent Madhya Pradesh bypolls. They are naturally depending on Mr Scindia to push their case but their mentor is himself waiting for the ministerial berth promised to him by the BJP as reward for bringing down the Congress government.

Ahmed Patel’s untimely demise is undoubtedly a blow for the Congress but it is a personal setback for former Rajasthan deputy chief minister Sachin Pilot who had led a rebellion against the Ashok Gehlot government earlier this year but backed off subsequently. The Congress leadership had then set up a three-member committee, comprising Patel, K.C. Venugopal and Ajay Maken to hear out Mr Pilot’s grievances and find an alternate role for him. This was in July but the panel has yet to submit its report. With Patel’s departure, it is highly unlikely that Mr Venugopal and Mr Maken will be in a rush to send in their recommendations. As it is, Mr Venugopal and Mr Maken were depending on the more senior and experienced Patel to find an amicable solution to the Gehlot-Pilot rivalry. This is certainly not good news for Mr Pilot who has

MONASTERY

Peshawar, Nov. 28: Pakistan and the US have jointly completed restoration work at the Takht-i-Bahi Buddhist monastery in northwest Pakistan under the $230,000 cultural preservation project.

US Consul General Gregory Macris virtually participated in the closing ceremony of the project at the monastery in Mardan in Khyber Pakhtunkhwa Province.

"The US mission in Pakistan is committed to working with local partners to support conservation and preservation of sites of great cultural significance across Pakistan," said Macris.

The Humanitarian and Facilitation Organisation (HAFO) received a US grant to execute the two-phase project at Takht-i-Bahi.

DOCUMENT

Kathmandu, Nov. 28: Nepal's protracted political crisis deepened on Saturday after embattled Prime Minister K.P. Sharma Oli rejected Pushpa Kamal Dahal "Prachanda's" accusations that he was running the government without consulting the party, and instead blamed his rival for non-cooperation in handling the party's affairs.

In the much-awaited Central Secretariat meeting of the ruling Communist Party of Nepal (CPN) on Saturday, Prime Minister Oli submitted a separate 38-page political document in response to the allegations made by party's executive chairman "Prachanda".

Oli was responding to the allegations made against him by "Prachanda" in his 19-page political paper presented at the Secretariat meeting on November 18. In his report, Prachanda had accused Oli of running the government without consulting the party, failing to abide by the party's due procedures and engaging in corruption.

Oli dismissed the allegations levelled against him by "Prachanda" while submitting the separate report, according to a senior Standing Committee member of the party.

FUTURE OF WALES
GANDHI'S STATUE
IN QUESTION

London, Nov. 28: There is a question mark over the future of a statue of Mahatma Gandhi in Wales after an official Welsh government review into Britain's colonial and slave trading history drew up a list of memorials that require a rethink. "The Slave Trade and the British Empire: An Audit of Commemoration in Wales" report released this week also shortlists the commemoration of Britain's war-time Prime Minister Winston Churchill and Robert Clive, referred to as Clive of India for his role in establishing Britain's colonial hold in India, as "persons of interest" to move to a second stage of the review process.

Wales has a bronze sculpture of Gandhi at Cardiff Bay, unveiled in 2017 to mark the 148th birth anniversary of the leader of the Indian national movement.

In the audit, he has been classified under Category E of persons of interest who "require examination as having been highlighted by campaigners".

INDIAN MAN ON TOURIST VISA
MISSING IN UAE

Dubai, Nov. 28: An Indian man, who reached the UAE on a tourist visa to seek a job, has been missing since November 9, a media report has said.

Amrithalingam Samayamuthu, 46, a father of four from the south Indian state of Tamil Nadu, had come over to take up a job in the UAE, the Gulf News reported on Friday. Samayamuthu's nephew Durai Maniraja, who is a fisherman in Ras Al Khaimah, said his uncle came with three people from Tamil Nadu on November 8.

"They stayed in an accommodation in Hor Al Anz. His roommates said the next morning he went to the workplace. After he came back, they went for work at night," Durai said. He said Samayamuthu was upset as he would be alone in the room and also wanted to go.

"But the others told him not to. There was no news about him later is what they told us," Durai said. Samayamuthu had not called home as he did not have a UAE SIM card. His brother-in-law Kannan Nagoorankani, said he approached the Al Muraqqabat Police Station to file a complaint.

Germany hits mn cases as Russia links up with India on vaccine

Berlin, Nov. 28: Germany, once a beacon of hope in Europe's Coronavirus nightmare, logged more than one million cases on Friday, while Russia asked India to help mass produce its controversial Sputnik vaccine.

Although the virus spread is slowing thanks to weeks of tough restrictions, Europe remains at the heart of the pandemic, recording more cases than the United States in the past week.

The pandemic is spreading fastest in Asia and Latin America, and is up by a worrying 113 percent over the week in Mexico.

Until recently, Germany's relative success in containing the virus had offered some sense of hope, with authorities putting in place some precautions that still allowed life to carry on almost as normal. However, its measured approach has failed during the second wave, endangering the health of Europe's biggest economy and weighing on the mood as the northern hemisphere heads into the winter holidays.

Germany's Robert Koch Institute recorded more than 22,000 new daily cases on Friday, pushing the overall total beyond the one-million mark.

The number of Covid-19 patients in intensive care has soared from around 360 in early October to more than 3,500 last week.

Most countries hope to ease their virus rules for Christmas and New Year. — AFP

India, Lanka, Maldives to bolster maritime security cooperation

Colombo, Nov. 28: Top security officials of India, Sri Lanka and the Maldives on Saturday agreed to further strengthen cooperation and ensure peace for common benefit as they took stock of the current maritime security environment in the region during the high-level trilateral dialogue which was held here after a gap of six years. National Security Advisor Ajit Doval took part in the dialogue along with Sri Lankan Defence Secretary Major Gen (Retd.) Kamal Gunaratne and Maldivian Defence Minister Mariya Didi. Sri Lanka hosted the fourth National Security Adviser-level trilateral meeting on maritime security cooperation with India and the Maldives.

It took place after six years — the last one was held in New Delhi in 2014. According to a joint statement issued by Sri Lanka's Ministry of Defence, the three countries — recognising the significance of the forum for promoting meaningful cooperation in the Indian Ocean Region on common issues pertaining to maritime security — took stock of the current maritime security environment in the region.

They discussed mutual cooperation in the areas of Maritime Domain Awareness, Humanitarian Assistance and Disaster Relief, Joint Exercises, Capacity Building, Maritime Security and Threats, Marine Pollution, and Maritime Underwater Heritage, it said. They agreed to further strengthen cooperation in dealing with these challenges, to ensure peace and security in the region for common benefit, the joint statement said.

The three countries also exchanged views on common security threats and agreed to broad base cooperation by expanding the scope to improve intelligence sharing and include issues like terrorism, radicalisation, extremism, drugs, arms and human trafficking, money laundering, cyber security and effect of climate change on maritime environment, it said. — PTI wards the government's initiative for the expansion of protected areas, to which she agreed.

Cher also tweeted about her meeting with Khan. "Just Came From Meeting To Thank Prime Minister Imran Khan For Making It Possible For Me To Take Kaavan To Cambodia," she said. The Pakistan government on Monday issued a permit to transfer the elephant and sources said Kaavan will be flown to Cambodia on November 29.

The elephant was already handed over to experts who were dealing with its transfer. President Arif Alvi along with his wife Samina attended a function on November 24 at the Marghar Zoo in Islamabad to mark the handing over of the elephant to experts to finalise its shifting to Cambodia.

The experts have trained Kaavan to enter a large metal crate that will be used to transport it to the airport. They have also noted that Kaavan was responding well to music and singing. Kaavan is being relocated to a wildlife sanctuary in Cambodia on the orders of the Islamabad High Court in the context of providing proper care and natural environment. The elephant, popular among children and adults, was born in 1985 in Sri Lanka and the Sri Lankan government presented it to the then President of Pakistan.

In 1990, an elephant Sahli was brought from Bangladesh and stayed with Kaavan until his death in 2012. Animal rights activists campaigned for its release and their efforts got a boost with the Islamabad High Court's decision on May 21, ordering immediate relocation of all animals of the zoo, including Kaavan to some suitable wildlife sanctuaries. — PTI

Court rejects Don
Pennsylvania suit

Observes voters, not lawyers choose Prez

Washington, Nov. 28: In a fresh setback to US President Donald Trump's efforts to reverse the November 3 presidential election result in the battleground state of Pennsylvania, a court has dismissed a lawsuit filed by his team, observing that "voters, not lawyers choose the president." The judgement came four days after Pennsylvania certified Trump's Democratic rival Joe Biden as the winner in the state which has 20 electoral college votes.

Trump, a Republican, has refused to accept defeat in the November 3 presidential election, and told reporters on Thursday that it would be "hard" to concede to Biden, a Democrat. The President has said that he would leave the White House if the Electoral College declares Biden as the winner, but made clear he is not prepared to "concede" the election. He has launched a slew of lawsuits in key states, but has not provided any evidence to back his claims of electoral fraud. Many of the lawsuits have been dismissed by courts. The three-judge panel of the 3rd US Circuit Court of Appeals on Friday upheld a previous ruling that dismissed the Trump campaign's request for an injunction in the case in Pennsylvania to challenge the election results and slammed the lawsuit. "Free, fair elections are the lifeblood of our democracy. Charges of unfairness are serious, but calling an election unfair does not make it so. Charges require specific allegations and then proof. We have neither here," Judge Stephanos Bibas said in his order.

"The campaign cannot win this lawsuit," said Bibas, who was appointed by Trump. He authored the order along with two other judges on the bench, Chief Circuit Judge Brooks Smith and Judge Michael Chagares, who were appointed by former Republican president George W. Bush. Trump has refused to concede the November 3 election to Biden and has filed multiple lawsuits challenging the poll results in several states. Former vice president Biden was declared the winner of the US presidential election on November 7 after flipping Pennsylvania, Michigan and Wisconsin to the Democrats' column. Biden has 306 electoral votes to Trump's 232 votes. To win the race to the White House, the successful candidate should have at least 270 electoral votes out of the 538-member Electoral College.

Biden's tally is far more than the 270 needed to win the race for the White House, and he also leads the popular vote by more than six million. In his Thanksgiving Day remarks, Trump, however, said it will be a mistake if the Electoral College were to elect Biden. The president-elect leads by more than 80,000 votes in the battleground state of Pennsylvania. Trump's lawyers Rudy Giuliani and Jenna Ellis said they will now appeal to the Supreme Court. — PTI

KILLING OF SCIENTIST: KHAMENEI CALLS FOR 'DEFINITIVE PUNISHMENT'

Tehran, Nov. 28: Iran's supreme leader on Saturday called for the "definitive punishment" of those behind the killing of a scientist linked to Tehran's disbanded military nuclear programme, a slaying the Islamic Republic has blamed on Israel.

Israel, long suspected of killing scientists a decade ago amid tensions over Tehran's nuclear programme, has yet to comment on the killing Friday of Mohsen Fakhrizadeh.

However, the attack bore the hallmarks of a carefully planned, military-style ambush.

The slaying threatens to renew tensions between the US and Iran in the waning days of President Donald Trump's term, just as President-elect Joe Biden has suggested his administration could return to Tehran's nuclear deal with world powers from which Trump earlier withdrew. The Pentagon announced early Saturday that it sent the USS Nimitz aircraft carrier back into the Mideast.

In a statement, Supreme Leader Ayatollah Ali Khamenei called Fakhrizadeh "the country's prominent and distinguished nuclear and defensive scientist."

Khamenei said Iran's first priority after the killing was the "definitive punishment of the perpetrators and those who ordered it."

He did not elaborate. Speaking to a meeting of his government's Coronavirus task force earlier Saturday, President Hassan Rouhani blamed Israel for the killing. Rouhani said that Fakhrizadeh's death would not stop its nuclear programme, something Khamenei said as well. — AP

Imran lauds Cher efforts to relocate elephant

Islamabad, Nov. 28: Prime Minister Imran Khan on Friday appreciated efforts of US celebrity singer Cher to relocate Kaavan, dubbed as the world's loneliest elephant, from a Pakistani zoo to Cambodia for better conditions. Cher, who called on the Prime Minister in Islamabad, has been campaigning for retiring Kaavan, the country's only Asian elephant, to an elephant sanctuary. The story of Kaavan, who is 35 years old, attracted world attention after reports went viral about the deteriating condition of the zoo in Islamabad where the elephant was kept.

Khan "thanked Cher for her campaign and role in this regard," according to his office. He said that "it was indeed a happy moment for all of us that after giving joy and happiness to the people of Islamabad and Pakistan for about 35 years, Kaavan will now be able to retire with other elephants in a specialised sanctuary in Cambodia."

The Prime Minister also invited the singer to participate and contribute towards

SHORT TAKES

Hamilton takes Bahrain GP pole

Manama: Newly-crowned seven-time champion Lewis Hamilton claimed pole position for Sunday's Bahrain Grand Prix with an impeccable record-breaking lap on Saturday as Mercedes dominated the floodlit qualifying session. He clocked an all-time track record lap in one minute and 27.264 seconds to outpace team-mate Valtteri Bottas by 0.289 seconds, the pair delivering Mercedes' 11th front row lock-out of the season.

It was Hamilton's record-increasing 98th career pole position and the fluency and speed of his driving endorsed his status as the outstanding man to beat at Sakhi's Bahrain International Circuit. — AFP

Jehan pips Mick for F2 podium

Bahrain: Rising Indian racer Jehan Daruvala earned his maiden Formula 2 podium after pipping championship leader Mick Schumacher in a gripping battle for the third place at the Bahrain Grand Prix support race, here. Starting eighth on the grid, Jehan gained two places and stayed sixth for a few laps. However, in Lap 5, he lost two places and was forced off the circuit. The resulting loss of speed cost him more positions. He stayed in tenth place for a few laps before pitting to change tyres. Jehan emerged from the pits down in the 18th place but quickly climbed up the order. He gained more positions as others pitted and was running sixth by lap 19 of the 32 lap race. — PTI

TIME TO PONDER

With no Plan 'B' in place, India need their 'A' game to save ODI series

Sydney, Nov. 28: India's battered bowling unit will have little time to regroup and limited resources at its disposal in a desperate bid to perform a redemption act and save the ODI series against a Australia in the second game here on Sunday. It wasn't just about the margin of defeat — by 66 runs — but the manner in which the home team exposed India's vacant cupboard of all-rounders that will give Virat Kohli and Ravi Shastri numerous points to ponder. So with no back-up all-rounders or a plan B in place, India will have to execute their plan A perfectly.

With Australia's top order firing, Bumrah and company will have no option but to pick up the pieces and give a better account of themselves on a strip that promises to be a belter. — PTI

Smith finds his rhythm back

Sydney, Nov. 28: Australian batsman Steve Smith found his "rhythm" with a cracking hundred against India in the first ODI but admitted that there wasn't much pressure unlike other times.

Smith struck 105 off 66 balls in Australia's lopsided 66-run win in the first ODI.

"I just found a nice rhythm again," Smith said while crediting his skipper Aaron Finch for setting up a nice platform with a 156-run opening stand with David Warner.

"It was just see-ball, hit-ball and obviously the foundation had been set so I could be quite aggressive," Smith said.

Having found his "hands" as he had said prior to the match, Smith was happy that he could decide which bowlers to attack even though the entire Indian bowling line-up was at the receiving end of his onslaught.

"I picked my bowlers and where I wanted to hit them, and just played some good shots to the areas of my strengths."

By his own admission, the pressure was less unlike some other times when quick wickets have fallen around him.

"There wasn't a whole lot of pressure. Probably, at other times, when I have batted my best, it's been when the team has been under a bit of pressure and I have had to play almost an anchor role to help us get a total," he said.

Smith said that trying to switch from his natural style of building the innings to a more T20 friendly mode of power-hitting did affect his game.

"I haven't felt quite right for a while and maybe that's T20 cricket, trying to be a bit more powerful and probably not playing as much to my strengths as I'd like," Smith said.

What Smith did before this series was to get back to normal grip.

"So I've been getting myself back to my normal grip and finding it," he added.

The former skipper is hopeful that he can continue with his rich vein of form during the entire summer. — PTI

Hyderabad draw with Bengaluru

Margao, Nov. 28: Hyderabad FC settled for their second successive draw, a stalemate, in the Indian Super League, splitting points with Bengaluru FC at the Fatorda Stadium, here on Saturday.

Getting four points from two outings is best start in the league for Hyderabad.

However, it was a frustrating evening for Bengaluru FC, who are yet to taste a win this season.

The two sides showed attacking intent from the word go and BFC had their first attempt as early as the fifth minute. Ashique Kuruniyan tried his luck from a distance but his effort took a deflection before being collected by Hyderabad custodian Subrata Paul.

Hyderabad's adamant defending frustrated Bengaluru, who struggled to take the ball up to their attacking trio of Sunil Chhetri, Kristian Opseth and Udanta Singh. Trying to find an alternative, Bengaluru engaged in long-range shots, which proved futile.

Despite making a half-time change, replacing Kristian Opseth with Dimas Delgado, Bengaluru had nothing different to offer as their opponents continued to dominate the play. — PTI

BELIHU, GEMECHU EYE DOUBLE DELIGHT

DC CORRESPONDENT
NEW DELHI, NOV. 28

Two-time winners Andamlak Belihu and Tsehay Gemechu are not only ready to defend their titles, but are also determined to break the course record this year at the Delhi Half Marathon here on Sunday.

Ethiopia's Belihu will be bidding for his third successive crown but the course he will cover is radically different to the one he conquered in 2018 and 2019.

Belihu's compatriot Gemechu rewrote the women's course record when winning in both 2018 and 2019 and it currently stands at 66:00. She is raring to go even faster this year.
