Shah to visit Bengal again in January

New Delhi: After his recent visit to the poll bound West Bengal when former TMC heavyweight Suwendhu Adhikari along with more than a dozen of ruling party's MLAs joined the BJP, senior BJP leader and Union home minister Amit Shah is expected to visit the state again on January 12, which is Swami Vivekananda's birth anniversary. In West Bengal, where an aggressive BJP is countering TMC's poll plank of 'Bengali pride' with its vision of 'Asol poribortan,' Shah is expected to address a public meeting and a 'yuva rally' in Howrah during his two day long visit when he will also deliberate poll strategies with the party leaders.

Aditya Nath Das is AP's new Chief Secretary

DC CORRESPONDENT VIJAYAWADA, DEC. 22

Senior bureaucrat Aditya Nath Das will be the new Chief Secretary of Andhra Pradesh. He will assume charge on December 31 following the superannuation of incumbent Nilam Sawhney. Das' term could have been one year if he took charge in July, 2020. However, it is now cut short to five months, till May 31 to be precise, as Sawhney managed to cling on to the top post with two extensions of three months each, thanks to the pandemic which came in handy to cite as a reason for extension and get approval from the Centre. The 1984 batch no-nonsense officer was the first choice of Chief Minister Y.S. Jagan Mohan Reddy to head the CMO but he was posted in the irrigation department as it didn't materialise. Das has vast experience in irrigation where he served for nine consecutive years from 2007. After a brief stint in education in the TD rule, he was brought

"So far so good. May be this is what was destined to happen," was the first thought that entered the ever-smiling young bureaucrat Aditya Nath Das when he realised that he was hit by a bullet on the shoulder some two decades ago. The sound of continuous firing and the smell of gun powder made him realise that the outlawed People's War Group Naxalites (which later were rechristened as Maoists) were attacking his car. As collector of Warangal he went to the forest village of Yeturumagaram to attend the ITDA meet on that fateful day.

RIGHT TO KNOW

CIC: No public interest to know who is funding political parties

New Delhi, Dec. 22: There is no public interest in disclosing details of the donors of political parties, the Central Information Commission (CIC) has held, rejecting a plea for making the details public. The Commission upheld the arguments of the State Bank of India that the information sought by Pune-based RTI activist Vihar Durve was personal in nature held by it in fiduciary capacity.

Durve had sought details of donor and donee of electoral bonds from the books of accounts of State Bank of India branches designated to sell these bonds, sources said. After the denial of information by the SBI, Durve approached the commission where he argued that the SBI was supposed to uphold public interest and not the interest of political parties.

He said the SBI was not in fiduciary capacity with any political party and hence has no legal duty to maximize the benefit of any public or private sector bank; there was no relationship of "trust" between them. Durve had asked that the information was to be disclosed in the interest of transparency and accountability. The SBI, citing Electoral

Bonds Scheme, 2018, said information about buyers of bonds shall remain confidential and will not be shared with any authority for any purpose. Rejecting Durve's arguments, Information Commissioner Suresh Chandra said, "There appears to be no larger public interest overriding the right to privacy of the donors and donees concerned."

TSHC: ALLOW ONE MORE FOR MBBS COUNSELLING

DC CORRESPONDENT HYDERABAD, DEC. 22

The Telangana High Court on Tuesday directed the Kaloji Narayana Rao University of Health Sciences to allow another NEET ranker for the phase-2 counselling into first year MBBS course.

The court had already given directions with regard to one ranker on Monday. A division bench comprising Justices M.S. Ramachandra Rao and T. Amarnath Goud gave the interim direction in this regard based on the plea of the rankers that they were denied opportunity to participate in the phase-2 counselling following their admission in Siddhartha Medical College, Vijayawada, a state-wide institute, where Telangana has quota for 10 years after bifurcation. Counsel for the rankers Vedula Srinivas brought to the notice of the court that the varsity had communicated to all rankers on Monday that the allotments made during the phase-2 counselling were cancelled. It is a norm that students who take admission in the phase-1 would move to a better college in sliding in phase-2. But Kaloji University authorities treated students who took admission in Siddhartha in the "not joined anywhere" category and denied them an opportunity to take part in phase-2 counselling. "The court directions shall be an eye-opener to the university authorities. Its a grave injustice done to Telangana students because the NTR University is allowing students from Andhra and Rayalaseema to slide to better college in AP even after they took admission in Siddhartha while the same is denied by Kaloji University to students from TS," a parent pointed out.

US confers 'Legion of Merit' honour on Modi

SRIDHAR KUMARASWAMI | DC NEW DELHI, DEC. 22

Sending a strong signal to China, US President Donald Trump on Tuesday conferred the "Legion of Merit", America's highest military decoration, on three leaders of the "Quad" countries, including Prime Minister Narendra Modi.

The other two were Australian PM Scott Morrison and Japan's former PM Shinzo Abe. Modi was conferred the award for his "steadfast leadership and vision for India's emergence as a global power, and exemplary contribution made by him for the advancement of the India-US strategic partnership and promoting global peace and prosperity".

The award was received on the PM's behalf by India's ambassador to the US Taranjit Singh Sandhu. Earlier, in September, it had been conferred on the Emir of Kuwait, Sheikh Sabah Al-Ahmed Al-Jaber Al-Sabah. Prior to that, the honour was last conferred nearly decades ago, in 1991.

This comes at a time when President Trump has just about a month left in office, after which he will be succeeded by President-elect Joe Biden. It is a prestigious decoration bestowed by the President, mostly to heads of state or government.

In a statement Tuesday, the MEA said: "The President of the United States of America conferred the highest decoration, the Legion of Merit, Degree Chief Commander, to Prime Minister Narendra Modi on 21 December 2020. The award is in recognition of the Prime Minister's steadfast leadership and vision for India's emergence as a global power, and exemplary contribution made by him for the advancement of the India-US strategic partnership."

The Legion of Merit, Degree Chief Commander, is a "domed five-pointed American white star plaque of heraldic form bordered in purplish-red enamel 215/16 inches circumscribing diameter with 13 white stars on a blue field emerging from a circle of clouds; backing the star, a laurel wreath with pierced, crossed arrows pointing outward between each arm of the star and the wreath". The reverse is engraved with the words "United States of America".

GVMC evicts encroachers on govt property

DC CORRESPONDENT VISAKHAPATNAM, DEC. 22

Greater Visakhapatnam Municipal Corporation (GVMC) officials, led by deputy city planner K Rambabu, demolished several sheds and thatched houses on 15 acres of land in Krishnapuram and Srikrishnapuram areas here on Tuesday.

The GVMC has over 276 acres of land between Mudasarlova reservoir and Central Jail. Most of the land is vacant and temporary houses were built to an extent of 15 acres.

Official sources said tribal and Dalit families were given one acre each for cultivation in 1975 but over the years agricultural activities came to a halt as the city's urban area grew and BRTS road was laid from H a n u m a n t h a w a k a Junction on the National Highway to Simhachalam temple.

In the meantime, ownership of this D patta land changed hands and temporary houses came up in a big way. Indian Railways also sought some land for construction of a mechanical shed but dropped the idea when encroachers approached the High Court.

● TEMPORARY HOUSES were built on an extent of 15 acres of land between Mudasarlova reservoir and Central Jail

Corporation sources said that they launched a special drive to evict encroachers all over the city.

Government and GVMC lands that were occupied by top political leaders were taken back during a month-long special drive.

The drive, which was launched last month, will continue till every encroached land is taken back.

"We have taken back 40 acres of land so far and the drive will continue," said chief city planner, K Vidyulatha.

Senior Telugu Desam leader Pasarla Prasad, who lives in the area, said land mafia, having no links with any political party, occupy government lands and build sheds to make money from tenants.

Rajya Sabha member V. Vijay Sai Reddy appealed to the people to surrender the land on their own if they encroached.

"We will not hesitate to file criminal cases against encroachers if they do not surrender the land," Vijay Sai Reddy warned.

POSSESSION OF DEAD ANIMAL'S SKIN NOT AN OFFENCE: HC

Mumbai, Dec. 22: Possession of a dead animal's skin will not amount to an offence under the Maharashtra Animal Preservation Act, the Nagpur bench of the Bombay High Court has observed while quashing a FIR against a man for possession of skins of dead cows.

The Maharashtra Animal Preservation Act (MAPA), 1976 prohibits slaughter, purchase, sale, import, export and possession of beef.

A division bench of Justices V.M. Deshpande and A.S. Kilor passed the order on December 14 while hearing a petition filed by Shafiqullah Khan Ashfaqullha Khan seeking to quash a July 2018 case registered against him under provisions of the MAPA for alleged possession of 187 skins of cows in a van he was driving.

The FIR against Khan was registered with the Shivaji Nagar police station in Buldhana district. Khan was booked under sections 5A (prohibition on transportation of cow, bull or bullock within the state for purpose of slaughter), 5B (prohibition on transportation of these animals outside the state for purpose of slaughter) and 5C (prohibition on possession of flesh of cow, bull or bullock).

TENANT FARMER
TRIES TO END
LIFE BY SUICIDEDC CORRESPONDENT
VIJAYAWADA, DEC. 22

A tenant farmer Sk Saleem tried to end his life by suicide in the agriculture fields in Potumarri village of Guntur district on Tuesday. Saleem said that he had supported the YSRC in elections. He claimed that he took the farmland on lease but the ruling party leaders are forcefully restraining him from cutting the yield cultivated by him to grab the farmland.

Saleem said that he took about 7.5 acres of land from Padmavathi from Potumarri village in the district for cultivation as a tenant farmer. He said that there was a land dispute among Padmavathi and Sivareddy and a case was pending in the court.

Meanwhile, the MRO issued a notice that the agricultural land will be under the MRO and no one shall cut the harvest till the court issues an order and imposed entry restriction to Saleem to enter farmland.

Saleem alleged that the local MLA henchmen were also involved in the issue. He said that he has the right on the yield as a tenant farmer but the authorities and YSRC leaders are restraining him from cutting his harvest. The tenant farmer started deeksha in the farmland on Tuesday and later tried to end his life by inflicting injuries with two knives. However, locals stopped his bid while police and revenue officials rushed him to a hospital for treatment. Police are carrying out investigation.

CAR DRIVER HIT,
BUT DROVE DAS
TO SAFETY

What followed was a miracle. The driver who was hit more grievously slumped on the steering and but managed to drive the vehicle for a few more seconds that turned out to be crucial in Das' life.

Surprising as it may sound, but there was another person who saved his life—a member of the Naxal group who took his finger off the remote of the explosive in the nick of the moment realising that Das was not the intended target. The member was assigned to set off claymore mines planted all over the area.

Once normaly was restored, Das rushed his driver to a private hospital for timely treatment even as he got himself admitted to the Warangal MGM.

"It's a miracle and I strongly feel Sammakka Saralamma saved my life," Das told this correspondent in a tête-à-tête on his elevation as chief secretary smiling in his inimitable style.

"Das is known in bureaucratic circles for his positive approach towards dispute resolution providing a win-win situation for government and the agitating parties. He played a key role in former chief minister Y.S. Rajasekhara Reddy's Jala Yagnam," a massive programme of constructing irrigation projects in the combined state of Andhra Pradesh.

In various capacities in the irrigation department including as special chief secretary, Das spearheaded the Polavaram project and established a strong case with the Centre on the need for enhancing the project cost of the multipurpose irrigation project. He also makes a strong case of AP in the inter-state river water disputes.

Das also figured in the quid pro cases filed by the Central Bureau of Investigation against the Chief Minister during the UPA regime. As irrigation secretary he issued orders for enhancing the water allocation to a private cement company when it doubled its capacity. He later got discharged from the case by the High Court.

DBT turns a boon for lakhs

Jagan has changed the system and also brought in transparency into it

DC CORRESPONDENT
VIJAYAWADA, DEC. 22

Direct Benefit Transfer (DBT) has come like a boon for beneficiaries, as money is directly getting deposited into their bank accounts following the initiative of Chief Minister Y.S. Jagan Mohan Reddy in this regard.

Not very long ago, the system was very different. Old, sick and disabled, including daily wage earners had to stand in long queues to get their pension or other benefits from disbursing offices.

More often than not, the biometric system failed to work or there would be no power supply.

The person would have to go home disappointed to return the next day, which could as well be a replay of the previous day. Middlemen made a lot of money in the process.

However, the Chief Minister has changed the system and also brought in transparency into it, transferring the amount directly into the accounts of beneficiaries.

During his 3,648-km Praja Sankalpa Yatra as opposition leader, Jagan Mohan Reddy had seen people complaining of rampant corruption in distribution of pensions and other benefits. That experience made him bring in the DBT and Village Secretariat system, which made disbursement easy and transparent.

Prominent schemes under DBT for the year 2020 are Amma Vodi, which provides ₹15,000 as assistance to 42.33 lakh mothers involving ₹6,349.63 crore.

YSR Kapu Nestham provides ₹353.81 crore to 2.36 lakh women belonging to Kapu, Telaga, Vontari and Balija communities in the age group of 45-60.

On YSR Cheyutha, the state government spends ₹4,179.20 crore annually, benefitting about 22.29 lakh women belonging to SC, ST, BC, and minorities in the age group of 45-60. Under YSR Matsyakara Bharosa scheme, 1,09,231 fishermen are being given total ₹109.23 crore at the rate of ₹10,000 each during their off-season (April 15-June 14), when there is a ban on fishing in high seas.

The Jagananna Vasati

Deevana scheme, costing ₹1,220.99 crore, benefits 1,556,956 students. However, the money goes to their mother's bank account.

Jagananna Vidya Deevana is another total fee reimbursement scheme involving ₹3,857.39 crore, including ₹1,880 crore dues left by the previous government. The amount was released on April 28 benefiting 19 lakh students.

For YSR Vahana Mitra, the state has credited ₹262.50 crore into the accounts of 2,62,493 beneficiaries involving auto and taxi drivers, each of them getting ₹10,000 on June 4.

The government also credited ₹11.52 crore to 11,522 beneficiaries for the second year on November 9, covering those who could not make it in the first phase.

The other schemes which have helped beneficiaries under DBT are YSR Netanna Nestam, Jagananna Chedodu, YSR Aasara, YSR Sunna Vaddi (Farmers), YSR Sunna Vaddi (Self Help Groups), MSME Restart, One-Time Financial Assistance to Archakas, Imams, Pastors and Mouzams, YSR Rythu Bharosa, YSR Free Crop Insurance (Khairif) and YSR Pension Kanuka.

Sawhney joined the long list of advisers to the Chief Minister as a post-retirement benefit. She will be yet another principal adviser to the Chief Minister in addition to Ajeya Kallam.

Ironically, the government decided to allot subjects of health, Covid-19 management, Centre-state relations and bifurcation issues, administrative reforms and survey after it stripped other adviser Kallam of all the subjects. It is not known whether she would be looking into files. Another senior bureaucrat Y. Sriakashmi who reported to AP cadre taking advantage of a CAT order was posted as secre-

AP to keep tab on all passengers

Though the Union Government has made it mandatory for all passengers arriving from the UK in all transit flights to undergo RTPCR test on arrival at the airports itself and if found positive be sent to institutional quarantine and if found negative, to be advised for home isolation for seven days, the AP government has to keep monitoring closely on both the positive and negative cases. Moreover, it also faces a tough task to handle those who test negative and subsequently turn positive and asymptomatic, as they pose the danger of becoming super-spreaders of the virus.

In this backdrop, the state health authorities suggest resuming of screening of air passengers like it was during the peak Covid period.

On the other hand, the number of arrival/departure of air passengers at all the four airports in the state is gradually rising to pre-Covid days. In Visakhapatnam airport, the passenger arrivals was 1.40 lakh in November and 1.60 lakh in December and on an average 2.20 lakh passengers were arriving in a month on domestic flights.

Visakhapatnam airport director M. Raj Kishore said, "We are ready to facilitate screening of passengers for Covid-19 if asked to do so in the wake of finding a new strain of virus in the UK."

In Vijayawada airport, international flights under Vande Bharat Mission are arriving and this underlines the need for screening for Covid-19.

In Tirupati airport, on an average 30,000 passengers are arriving/departing on domestic flights in a month.

In Rajahmundry airport, 22,500 passengers arrived in November while 18,000 came this month till Tuesday.

The Airports Authority of India (AAI) authorities maintain that once they get guidelines from the Union ministry of home affairs or from Union ministry of civil aviation, they will go by it with regard to screening of passengers for Covid-19 in airports.

A senior health official from the state said, "We may have to resume screening of air passengers at our airports as some passengers move from one nation to another mainly in Europe. Their return may cause spread of the new variant in case they are infected."

‘Probe Naidu in
Amaravati lands’DC CORRESPONDENT
VIJAYAWADA, DEC. 22

The Andhra Pradesh High Court urged to order an inquiry into the role of former chief minister N. Chandrababu Naidu and his Cabinet colleagues for alleged conspiracy in the purchase of lands in Amaravati.

High Court division bench comprising justice C. Manavendranath Roy held the hearing on Tuesday by reopening the case based on an appeal from advocate-general S. Sriram representing the CID.

The AG informed the court that the government orders issued for setting up the Capital Region Development Authority (CRDA), fixing its purview, handing over the responsibility for taking up developmental works and other works, were having no note files prepared in the department of municipal administration.

He said that the employees of the department testified before the magistrate saying that such note files and six GOs were not prepared in the department and added that despite the regular practice of note files being put up for perusal of higher authorities, it went in the reverse direction with regard to Amaravati development issue.

He informed the court that no details pertaining to villages falling under the purview of capital region Amaravati before December 30, 2014, were mentioned in the note files and in violation of the norms and decisions pertaining to such important matters having their impact on state's economy, were not mentioned in records. He said that the employees agreed before the magistrate that they were subjected to severe pressure for issue of six GOs on December 30, 2014.

Referring to such development, the AG informed the court that it was proved beyond doubt that there was a huge plot on purchase of lands and also on the decision to fix Amaravati as the capital city for AP.

He also said that the testimony of employees before the magistrate also provided that the decision to develop Amaravati as capital city was taken to benefit the former CM Naidu and those who were close to the Telugu Desam and to the companies owned by them. He submitted to the court that even before announcement of the state government's policy decision on location for development of capital city, such information was leaked to select people resulting in such people purchasing lands at nominal price.

AG also informed the court that some persons resorted to abuse of power in Amaravati land scam apart from flouting every norm in fixing Amaravati as capital city. Referring to the petitions filed to strike off FIR registered by the CID on purchase of lands in Amaravati by TD national general secretary N. Lokesh and others, the AG asked how could it be possible to avoid inquiry on the issue. He asked the court to strike off the petitions filed by Lokesh and others and continue the inquiry on the issue.

Supreme Court senior advocate Siddharth Luthra representing the petitioners said that it was unfair to attribute crime when two persons involved in transaction of land and added that the petitioners purchased the lands located away from the capital city in compliance with all norms.

15 lakh house sites without legal hassles for poor

DC CORRESPONDENT
NELLORE, DEC. 22

Water resources minister Anilkumar Yadav claimed that they would distribute 15 lakh house sites free from legal disputes, in the state to the poor in the first phase on December 25. They are among the 30 lakh sites identified for underprivileged in the state.

The balance 15 lakh will be distributed after resolving the legal issues, said the minister while speaking to media persons after interacting with locals on their civic problems during his tour in the 10th Division of Nellore on Tuesday.

He said that 15,000 house sites would be distributed in Nellore and 7,800 houses will be built in these sites in the first phase.

"Only 2.6 lakh houses were built in the state during the five-year rule of TD and people were burdened with 3 lakh debt for 300 sq ft houses. Chief Minister Y.S. Jagan Mohan Reddy assured waiver of loan on 300 sq ft houses in the election manifesto, and he is going to keep his word now," Dr Anilkumar Yadav maintained.

He ridiculed some TD

leaders' statements that they would also provide the houses for free after the government decided to waive loans on 14,000 houses and offer them for just one rupee at Nellore.

He said they would also provide 14,000 more houses with the same conditions soon at Nellore.

The minister took objection to criticism that the government is providing house sites measuring only six ankanams (432 sq ft), he reminded that the extent of 300 sq ft houses built by TD is only around four ankanams.

Covid pandemic to impact cockfights this Sankranti

DC CORRESPONDENT
KAKINADA, DEC. 22

Covid-19 virus is likely to cripple cockfights in the ensuing Sankranti festivities. Firstly, there is very little money with the potential gamblers. Even though some of the organisers are ready to conduct cockfights, as usual, the prevailing conditions are not conducive for the event, despite a steady slump in new corona cases, including in East and West Godavari districts.

However, the fear of a second Covid wave is casting a shadow on cockfights. The big players may stay away this season while the relatively smaller ones may try to keep the show going.

Many are hoping that there would be cockfights at least for a three-day Sankranti period.

On their part, the organisers are apprehensive about overcrowding, which could lead to a viral outbreak, even if there are some silent carriers.

However, some organisers have already started cockfight gambling in the remote areas. WG district police have already booked cases against some organisers and seized cock-knives, cash and cocks.

"There were no fears of police cases as they become mute spectators and the organisers can continue their betting. But, now, the problem is Covid-19 virus," said one of the organisers.

He said people did not have enough money to bet on cockfights.

Kanumuri Abbayi Raju, an organiser of I. Bhimavaram in West Godavari, said that Covid has hit the economic conditions of the people and there are restrictions on Christmas and New Year celebrations. When a cockfight is organised, a minimum of 10,000 people will gather and social distancing goes for a toss.

This is why many gamblers are not keen, this time around.

Meanwhile, prized cocks, which appear in sandy markets six weeks before Sankranti, are yet to make their presence, implying low-key cockfights, if at all.

WATER TROUBLES

Record rains fail to recharge groundwater table

DC CORRESPONDENT
TIRUPATI, DEC. 22

The excess rainfall from June to December this year has filled all reservoirs and river basins across the state to the brim, but deep under the surface, a different narrative is playing out.

Despite record-setting rains this year, the state's groundwater levels have dropped marginally compared to their status last year.

An analysis of groundwater levels between December 2019 and December 2020, as per the latest available data on the APWRIMS (Andhra Pradesh Water Resources Information and Management System) website, shows that levels have marginally reduced 1.36 metres below ground level (bgl) in the past one year.

According to the data, the state has recorded an actual rainfall of 1075.11 mm on Tuesday, against the average rainfall of 850.35, with a deviation at +26.43 per cent. The current water levels in major, medium and other reservoirs all put together is 825.44 tmc, while its status as on the same date last year was 724

● In the Coastal region, groundwater is now available at an average depth of 10.19 meters, as against the depth of 9.02 metres last year tmc an improvement of 101.44 tmc of water.

As per the AP state water audit from June 1 to December 22, the state received 11,955.92 tmc of water from both rainfall and floodwater from upstream of different rivers and the total outflow till date was recorded at 10,959.58 tmc. Currently, the water storage level, including groundwater and soil moisture is 996.34 TMC.

Despite a season of record rains, groundwater levels have not been encouraging, and it dropped from 11.68 metres bgl last year (as on Dec.22) to 13.04 metres this year. In the Coastal region, the groundwater is now available at an average depth of 10.19 metres, as against the depth of 9.02 metres during the same date last year. In Rayalaseema region, it was 16.95 metres bgl, as against 15.29 metres last year.

When it comes to seasonal change, the appreciation in groundwater levels in the state is marginal, increasing from 14.59 metres in May 2020 to 13.04 metres (on Tuesday) - overall improvement of 1.55 metres. In the coastal region, the groundwater table was increased from 11.18 to 10.19 metres (+0.99 metres), and in Rayalaseema region, it was improved from 19.24 metres to 16.95 average increase of

2.3 metres.

Experts are attributing the fluctuations in groundwater stores to borewell exploitation, concreting roads, erratic, intense rainfall, and a lack of robust groundwater regulatory mechanism. "In some areas, especially in the Rayalaseema region, the draft may be higher than recharge. This kind of decline, even after excess rains is very common here. The only way to address the issue is to monitor and regulate the extraction of groundwater carefully," a geologist observed.

BOARD EXAMS ON HOLD TILL FEB. 2021: MINISTER

New Delhi, Dec. 22: Union minister of education Ramesh Pokhriyal 'Nishank' on Tuesday ruled out conducting board examinations for classes 10 and 12 till February next year in view of the Covid-19 situation.

Usually, the practical exams are conducted in January and theory exams begin every year in February and conclude in March. The minister said a decision about when the exams will be conducted will be taken later after assessment of the situation and consultation with stakeholders.

"Keeping the current situation in mind, it has been decided that the board exams for classes 10 and 12 will not be conducted till February next year. CBSE is making necessary preparations for conducting the 2021 examinations. A decision on the exam schedule will be taken later after assessment of situation and more consultations with stakeholders," Nishank said in an online interaction with teachers.

With no clarity on the board exam dates yet, several schools have already conducted pre-board exams online to keep the students prepared. The Central Board of Secondary Education (CBSE) had earlier this month announced that board exams in 2021 will be conducted in written mode and not online.

Schools across the country were closed in March to contain the spread of the Covid-19 pandemic. They were partially reopened in some states from October 15.

However, a few states have decided to keep them closed in view of a spike in the number of infections. The board exams had to be postponed mid-way in March. They were later cancelled and the results announced on the basis of an alternative assessment scheme.

Prime Minister Narendra Modi on Tuesday said that for the sake of development, ideological differences should take a back seat and these should not be seen through a political prism.

The government's schemes for the poor were reaching all sections of the people "without any religious bias", he claimed.

them, we have to work on a common ground for 'Naya Bharat'," he said.

The PM said that "when our thoughts are focused on a new India foremost, then such elements will have diminished space. Politics and society can wait, but the country's development cannot wait. In the last century, a lot of time has been lost over differences. There is no more time to lose".

Modi also referred to the law banning triple talaq. "There was a time when the dropout rate of our Muslim daughters was over 70 per cent. This was a big impediment to the development of Muslims. For 70 years, over 70 per cent of Muslim daughters were forced to drop out. The government got toilets made in schools. The Muslim girls' dropout rate is now reduced to 30 per cent," he said.

The AMU, which was known as the Muhammadan Anglo-Oriental College initially, was renamed Aligarh Muslim University on December 1, 1920. However, it was formally inaugurated as a university on December 17 that year.

Japan backs India against stand-off with China

PAWAN BALI | DC
NEW DELHI, DEC. 22

In a message to China, India and Japan on Tuesday strongly opposed any attempts to unilaterally change the status quo in the region by coercion or any activities that escalate tensions, during defence minister Rajnath Singh telephonic conversation with his Japanese counterpart Nobuo Kishi.

This is seen as a strong backing of India's position that China should restore status quo at the line of actual control (LAC) in Ladakh where both armies are involved in a military stand-off from last eight months. In recent years there has been an increase in defence co-operation between India and Japan both of which are dealing with an aggressive China in the region. India and Japan are part of the Quad which Beijing sees as an anti-China alliance. Indian and Japanese navies have been conducting exercise bilaterally and were also part of "Malabar Naval exercise" along with US and Australia.

During the conversation, Singh and Kishi shared their views on highlighting the importance of a free and open maritime order based on the rule of law, said a statement by Japanese defence ministry.

The two ministers also exchanged views on regional situations, including the East China Sea and the South China Sea, and reaffirmed their continued close cooperation. "In this context, the ministers affirmed their intention to continue

Underground hosp. along China border

NEW DELHI, DEC. 22

In a first and an unprecedented ramping up of security infrastructure development along the Indo-China border, security agencies are constructing underground state-of-the-art bunker hospitals complete with operation theatres, weather proof dormitories and storage for arms, ammunition and other equipments.

What is significant is that all these facilities will be in underground "explosion proof bunkers" that are being constructed all along 3,500 km long Indo-China border. Sources claim what makes this hugely strategic project even more unique is that these "bunker facilities" will not be easily traceable by enemy surveillance. So far bunkers are normally used on other borders like along with Pakistan and Bangladesh for merely surveillance duties at forward locations.

But the security infrastructure being developed along the China border is going to be unique and different as not only will it be extremely state-of-the-art but also would be underground so that these "assets and the security personnel using them can be well protected from enemy forces."

Considering the highly strategic nature of the entire project it is being kept as a closely guarded secret, specially the location of these bunkers, so that they cannot be targeted.

Even the implementation of the entire project is being monitored at the highest levels in the Government with senior officials from multiple security forces personally supervising it.

These all weather bunkers will also provide much needed respite to the troops who have to face harsh and adverse weather conditions, with temperature at times dropping to -30 degrees, in forward locations at high altitudes.

exchanging views in light of the current events occurring in the region and concurred in sending a clear message that they strongly oppose any attempts to unilaterally change the status quo by coercion or any activities that escalate tension," said the statement issued by Japanese defence ministry.

Singh and Kishi affirmed that they would continue to vigorously promote defense cooperation and exchanges to uphold and reinforce the free and open Indo-Pacific while maintaining close communication between their respective defense authorities, said Japanese defence ministry statement.

Kerala Gov. turns down spl session on farm Laws

DC CORRESPONDENT
THIRUVANANTHAPURAM, DEC. 22

Kerala Governor Arif Mohammed Khan has declined permission to convene special session of Assembly to discuss Centre's new farm laws.

The Governor rejected the Cabinet's recommendation saying that there is no urgency for convening a special session on December 23. The state government was planning to pass a resolution against the farm laws.

Earlier, the Governor asked the state government to furnish reasons for convening the session at such a short notice. Even though the reasons were conveyed to him, the Governor reportedly denied permission for second time.

Agriculture minister V.S. Sunil Kumar said that the Governor's action was highly unexpected. He said the Punjab and Delhi governments had convened special sessions of Assembly to protest against the farm laws. Delhi Chief Minister Arvind Kejriwal had even torn the copies of the bill on the floor of the House in protest.

The opposition Congress

led UDF has also criticised the Governor's decision to decline permission for the special session of Assembly.

Chief Minister Pinarayi Vijayan who was on a tour to Kollam and Pathanamthitta district, returned to Thiruvananthapuram in the evening. However, instead of insisting on the session, the ruling LDF is planning to fight the Governor's action politically.

Earlier, Speaker P. Sreeramakrishnan also sent a communication to the Governor listing out the reasons for convening the special session.

Eight passengers were found to be Covid-19 positive upon their arrival from Britain in late Monday night flights in different Indian cities. These passengers had arrived on different flights from London in Delhi (5), Kolkata (2) and Chennai (1), and have been sent for institutional quarantine. The Central health agencies are closely monitoring their health and their samples have been picked up for genome sequencing to see if they are infected with the new mutated virus detected in the United Kingdom. Several states have quarantined all those with recent travel history to the UK and collected their swabs for testing.

India has intensified its airport surveillance in view of the new, fast-spreading mutated strain of the Sars-CoV-2 (Coronavirus) detected in the United Kingdom. The Centre on Tuesday also issued a Standard Operating Procedure (SOPs) for Epidemiological Surveillance and Response in the context of a new SARS-CoV-2 virus variant detected in the UK.

The new SOPs say that all positive cases of incoming passengers have to be sent for genome sequencing, and if the report of the sequencing is consistent with the current SARS-CoV-2 virus

The Maharashtra government on Tuesday issued an SOP (Standard Operating Protocol) for the passengers arriving from Europe, South Africa and Middle East countries and flights coming from the airports of these countries. As per the SOP, The passengers, who do not have symptoms, will have to undergo 14 days of 'mandatory paid' institutional quarantine at arrival city.

Even while going to quarantine centers, the passengers need to pay for the transportation facilities. These passengers shall not be allowed outside the designated quarantine facility before 14 days in any condition. The state has also asked municipal commissioners to appoint a nodal officer in order to ensure the implementation of the SOP in a letter and spirit.

The SOP also mentioned that an area at the far end of the airport terminal should be identified and prepared for receiving these flights. The designated area should have adequate air-bridges, so as to receive the flights in a staggered manner, to avoid overcrowding.

The SOP, which has been issued by Maharashtra's chief secretary Sanjay Kumar, stated, "Sudden emergence of a fast-spreading variant of Covid-19 in UK, believed to be up to 70% more transmissible than the original strain is a cause of concern. In view of this, the Government of Maharashtra has formulated SOP, which will come into effect immediately."

It further said, "Municipal commissioner of the city where an airport is located shall identify different category hotels as institutional quarantine facility and shall also earmark a dedicated health care facility for identified suspects. He shall also appoint a nodal officer to see implementation of these SOPs."

The state has instructed the Airport authorities that the designated area should have adequate separate, immigration, luggage and custom centers/areas for managing these flight passengers.

However, if the genomic sequencing indicates the presence of a new variant of SARS-CoV-2 then the patient will continue to remain in a separate isolation unit.

"While necessary treatment as per the existing protocol will be given, the patient shall be tested on the 14th day, after having tested positive in the initial test. In case the sample is found positive on the 14th day, further samples may be taken until his two consecutive samples taken 24 hours apart are tested negative," the SOP said.

Niti Aayog member (health) V.K. Paul said on Tuesday that though the mutation found in the UK is an "adverse development" as it enhances the transmissibility or the spread of the Covid-19 virus by 70 per cent and acts as a super spreader, the mutated virus is of no immediate threat in terms of affecting the disease's severity or increasing deaths of Covid patients.

He added there was no need to panic as the mutated virus was yet to be traced in India.

According to reports, Maoists suspected Manu Galeri as a police informer and asked him to leave the village along with his wife and daughter in a praja court held on Monday.

The extremists alleged that Manu is passing information to the police about their movement in the area. They also held him responsible for the encounter by the security personnel in the area on Nov. 26.

POLL RESULTS

BJP won an election for first time from any seat in predominantly Muslim Valley

Gupkar alliance poised to win big in DDC polls

YUSUF JAMEEL | DC
SRINAGAR, DEC. 22

The People's Alliance for Gupkar Declaration (PAGD), a conglomerate of J&K's mainstream regional Opposition parties and their allies from the national Left parties, is poised to win big in the Union Territory's first-ever District Development Council (DDC) elections.

However, its arch-rival, the BJP, has also performed well, mainly in the Jammu region. What is also spectacular for the saffron party is that it has won an election for the first time from any seat in the predominantly Muslim Kashmir Valley.

The PAGD led by former chief minister Farooq Abdullah won 70 of the 177 seats the results of which were declared till this report was filed and is leading in over 40 seats. A total of 48 seats have gone to the BJP, while its candidates have a comfortable lead over their rivals in over 30 seats.

The Jammu and Kashmir Apni Party (JKAP), known in local political circles as the BJP's tacit ally, has bagged seven seats and the Congress 14 seats. One seat has gone in favour of the National Panthers Party. The Independents — some known to be proxies of the BJP — and others too have made a mark by winning as many 38 seats so far.

Former chief minister Omar Abdullah termed the results an eye-opener for the BJP and its "proxy political party" (an obvious reference to JKAP), and said the people had rejected the Centre's move to strip J&K of its special status and splitting it up into two Union territories in August last year.

Earlier, in a tweet, he also said: "The trends that have emerged in the DDC polls in J&K are very encouraging for the @JKPAGD. The BJP had made this election a prestige issue about Art 370 & J&K's special status. The people have now spoken & it's for those who believe in democracy to pay heed to these voices"

Among the PAGD winners is Waheed Ur Rehman Parra, a youth leader of its constituent People's Democratic Party (PDP), who was arrested by the National Investigation Agency on charges of helping separatist militants on November 25, a day after he filed his nomination papers from home district Pulwama.

Parra polled 1,323 votes, defeating his nearest BJP rival Sajad Ahmad Raina by a margin of 1,002 votes.

PDP president and former CM Mehbooba Mufti tweeted: "Couldn't be prouder of PDP's @parawahid who won his maiden election by a huge margin of votes. Despite being arrested on baseless charges right after filing his nomination people have shown their love & trust for Waheed. Hope justice prevails."

The BJP's victors from the Valley are Aijaz Hussain (Khonmoh-II seat in DDC Srinagar), Aijaz Ahmad Khan (Tulail seat in Bandipora district) and Minha Latief (Kakapora (Pulwama).

After being declared winner, Hussain told reporters outside the counting centre: "This is a win for the BJP. The propaganda has been bust as people have shown their faith in the Prime Minister and his policies. This is a message that nationalists are prospering in Kashmir."

PLANE CRASHES ALONG TEXAS ROAD, 1 KILLED

Grand Prairie, Dec. 22: At least one person was killed when a small plane crashed along a highway service road in North Texas shortly after taking off Monday afternoon, authorities said.

The Federal Aviation Administration said the single-engine Wheeler Express CT crashed about 1 miles (1.61 kilometres) west of the Grand Prairie Municipal Airport, located in the city just west of Dallas.

Grand Prairie Fire Chief Robert Fite said witnesses said the plane came down rapidly, hit a telephone pole and then struggled another 500 feet (152.40 metres) hitting the concrete multiple times before hitting a pickup truck traveling on the service road.

Fite said the person in the truck was slightly injured and was taken to the hospital.

RIVER SURGE HITS CANYON GROUP, 4 DEAD

Mexico City, Dec. 22: Rain unleashed a surge of water that swept away most of a 21-member group on a canyoning expedition in southern Mexico, killing at least four people and leaving three missing, authorities said Monday.

The civil defence office of Veracruz state said five more people were injured in the Rio Oro canyon, near the Gulf of Mexico. The accident occurred Sunday, and the office said searches continued Monday with police, volunteer rescue groups and firefighters participating.

The office did not release the names or nationalities of the victims, but such expeditions are popular among young Mexican tourists.

Canyoning involves hiking, climbing, rappelling and swimming through river canyons. The Rio Oro canyon includes waterfalls and relatively narrow rock passages.

CABINET RESHUFFLED IN INDONESIA

Jakarta, Dec. 22: Indonesia's president announced a Cabinet reshuffle Tuesday following the arrest of two of his ministers on corruption charges and his administration's lack-luster pandemic response.

The Cabinet shake-up comes amid surging Coronavirus cases in the world's fourth most populous nation. Indonesia's economy has fallen into recession for the first time since the Asian financial crisis more than two decades ago as the country struggles to control the pandemic.

Four ministers lost their jobs, including Health Minister Terawan Agus Putranto, and two others were rotated to more important positions, ending weeks of speculation about the possible changes.

President Joko Widodo chose the mayor of Surabaya, Indonesia's second-largest city, to become the social affairs minister, replacing Juliar Batubara, who was detained by anti-corruption commission on December 6. Batubara was accused of taking bribes related to the government's COVID-19 aid distribution.

U.S. POST OFFICE NAMED AFTER SLAIN SIKH COP

Washington, Dec. 22: US President Donald Trump on Monday signed into law a legislation to name a Texas post office after slain Sikh police officer Sandeep Singh Dhaliwal, who was gunned down in the line of duty during a routine traffic stop in Houston a year ago.

Trump signed H R 5317, which designates the facility of the United States Postal Service located at 315 Addicks Howell Road in Houston, Texas, as the Deputy Sandeep Singh Dhaliwal Post Office Building, the White House said in a statement.

The post office named after Dhaliwal in Houston is only the second US post office to be named after an Indian American. The first one was named after the first Indian American Congressman Dalip Singh Saund in Southern California in 2006. The House of Representatives and the Senate had recently passed the legislation in this regard. In his remarks on the Senate floor, Texas Senator Ted Cruz had said that Dhaliwal was a hero and a trailblazer whose commitment to his faith will inspire generations of Sikhs and other religious minorities.

Vax may work on UK virus: Pharma

But CEO of BioNTech says further studies are needed to be completely certain Berlin, Dec. 22: German pharmaceutical company BioNTech is confident that its Coronavirus vaccine works against the new UK variant, but further studies are needed to be completely sure, its chief executive said Tuesday. The variant, detected mainly in London and the southeast of England in recent weeks, has sparked concern worldwide because of signs that it may spread more easily. While there is no indication it causes more serious illness, numerous countries in Europe and beyond have restricted travel from the UK as a result.

"We don't know at the moment if our vaccine is also able to provide protection against this new variant," CEO Ugur Sahin told a news conference the day after the vaccine was approved for use in the European Union. "But scientifically, it is highly likely that the immune response by this vaccine also can deal with the new virus variants." Sahin said that the proteins on the UK variant are 99% the same as on the prevailing strains, and therefore BioNTech has "scientific confidence" that its vaccine will be effective.

"But we will know it only if the experiment is done and we will need about two weeks from now to get the data," he said. "The likelihood that our vaccine works ... is relatively high." Should the vaccine need to be adjusted for the new variant the company could do so in about 6 weeks, Sahin said, though regulators might have to approve the changes before the shots can be used.

Having to adjust the vaccine would be a blow for the rollout of immunisation campaigns and rein in the pandemic that has so far killed more than 1.7 million people worldwide. BioNTech's vaccine, which was developed together with US pharmaceutical company Pfizer, has been authorised for use in more than 45 countries, including Britain, the United States and the EU.

Hundreds of thousands of people have already received the shots. The companies submitted data to regulators showing the vaccine, which goes by the brand name COMIRNATY in Europe, is 95 per cent effective in preventing infection with Covid-19.

"All countries across the EU that have requested doses will receive them in the next five days, the very initial supply, and that will be followed up next week with further supplies," said Sean Maret, BioNTech's chief commercial officer. Several EU countries have said they plan to start vaccinating on Sunday.

Germany's health minister, Jens Spahn, said he expects the country to receive more than 1.3 million doses by the end of this year. Germany is among European countries that have banned flights from the UK because of the new variant there. — AP

Probe finds Trump officials attacked CDC virus reports

Washington, Dec. 21: Trump administration political appointees tried to block or change more than a dozen government reports that detailed scientific findings about the spread of the Coronavirus, a House panel investigating the alleged interference said Monday.

Accusing Health and Human Services Secretary Alex Azar and CDC Director Dr. Robert Redfield of stonewalling his investigation, Clyburn issued subpoenas compelling them to turn over reams of documents and emails by Dec. 30. The committee's findings were detailed in a letter to Azar and Redfield that centred on the actions of two political appointees earlier this year. — AP

Spain holds Christmas lottery

Madrid, Dec. 22: Children from Madrid's San Ildefonso school have begun calling out prize-winning numbers in Spain's bumper Christmas lottery known as "EL Gordo" (the fat one), which is being held under tight conditions because of the Coronavirus pandemic.

The lottery will shell out 400,000 euros ($489,000) or some 325,000 euros after tax, to holders of 20-euro tickets bearing the top-prize number.

The incredibly popular lottery dishes out a total of 2.4 billion euros in prizes this year, much of it in small prizes. Other lotteries have bigger individual top prizes but Spain's Christmas lottery, staged each year on Dec. 22, is ranked as the world's richest for the total prize money involved. — AP

Scientists probe virus variant's spread in kids

London, Dec. 22: Scientists in the UK are investigating the impact of a new mutant variant of Coronavirus, named VUI-202012/01, on children and whether its faster transmission in parts of England is down to the younger segment of the population.

The government's New and Emerging Respiratory Virus Threats Advisory Group (Nervtag) is monitoring the data to analyse this arc of the variant, which has led over 40 countries, including India, to suspend travel to and from the UK in order to try and contain the more infectious mutation.

Earlier strains of Coronavirus found it harder to infect children than adults, with one explanation being that children have fewer of the doorways called the ACE2 receptor the virus uses to enter a human body's cells.

Professor Wendy Barclay, from Nervtag and Imperial College London, said the mutations to the virus appeared to be making it easier to breach those doorways. "Therefore children are equally susceptible, perhaps, to this virus as adults, and therefore given their mixing patterns, you would expect to see more children being infected," she explained.

Experts do not believe that the new version is any greater threat to children's health and the scientist behind the world's first approved vaccine against Covid-19 has said the Pfizer/BioNTech jabs will work against the strain, though further investigation remains underway.

"The likelihood that our vaccine works is relatively high," said Ugur Sahin, chief executive of the German co-developer of the vaccine BioNTech.

Speaking on Bild TV in Germany, Sahin said his company would investigate the mutation in the coming days and that he viewed the matter with a degree of soberness.

His message of some confidence comes as the UK reached the half a million milestone for vaccinations of the jabs, delivered to the elderly and most vulnerable sections of the country's population.

"I can today announce that over half a million people, more than 500,000 people in the UK, have now received their first dose," Prime Minister Boris Johnson announced. — PTI

Drop in kindergarten enrolment is 30% of total reduction across the 33 states

Covid-19: Enrolment in US public schools dips

Washington, Dec. 22: Fearful of sending her two children back to school as the coronavirus pandemic raged in Mississippi, Angela Atkins decided to give virtual learning a chance this fall.

Almost immediately, it was a struggle. Their district in Lafayette County didn't offer live instruction to remote learners, and Atkins' fourth grader became frustrated with doing worksheets all day and missed interacting with teachers and peers. Her seventh grader didn't receive the extra support he did at school through his special education plan and started getting failing grades. After nine weeks, Atkins switched to home schooling.

It got to the point where it felt like there was no other choice to make, she said. I was worried for my kids' mental health. By taking her children off the public school rolls, Atkins joined an exodus that one state schools chief has warned could become a national crisis. An analysis of data from 33 states obtained by Chalkbeat and The Associated Press shows that public K-12 enrolment this fall has dropped across those states by more than 500,000 students, or 2%, since the same time last year.

That is a significant shift considering that enrolment overall in those states has typically gone up by around half a percent in recent years. And the decline is only likely to become more pronounced, as several large states have yet to release information. Chalkbeat and AP surveyed all 50 states, but 17 have not released comparable enrolment numbers yet.

The data, which in many states is preliminary, offers the clearest picture yet of the pandemic's devastating toll on public school enrolment decline that could eventually have dire consequences for school budgets that are based on headcounts.

But even more alarming, educators say, is that some of the students who left may not be in school at all. I would like to hope that many of them are from homes where their parents have taken responsibility on their own to provide for their education, said Pedro Noguera, the dean of the University of Southern California's Rosier School of Education, adding that affluent families will have an easier time doing that. My fear is that large numbers have simply gotten discouraged and given up. So far, many states have held off on making school budget cuts in the face of enrolment declines. But if enrolment doesn't rise, funding will be hit.

We've been trying to scream from the hilltops for quite some time that this is happening, Kirsten Baesler, North Dakota's schools superintendent, said of the enrolment declines. And it could be a national crisis if we don't put some elbow grease into it.

The declines are driven by a combination of factors brought on by the pandemic. Fewer parents enrolled their children in kindergarten, and some students left public schools for other learning environments. At the same time, students who are struggling to attend classes, as many are right now, may have been purged from public school rolls for missing many days in a row. That is a typical practice, though there is some more flexibility now.

The Chalkbeat/AP analysis shows that a drop in kindergarten enrolment accounts for 30% of the total reduction across the 33 states making it one of the biggest drivers of the nationwide decline. Kindergarten is not required in over half of states. — AP

4.6K FROM UK QUARANTINED IN TURKEY

Ankara, Dec. 22: Turkey has identified and quarantined 4,603 airline passengers who arrived from the United Kingdom on and after December 14, Turkish Health Minister Fahrettin Koca said Tuesday.

Flights from the UK, South Africa, Denmark and the Netherlands were suspended on Sunday evening in response to a new strain of Coronavirus said to be circulating there.

Koca tweeted that 335 passengers flying from those countries at the time of Sunday's announcement were tested for the virus on arrival in Turkey and isolated. — AP

23 DECEMBER 2020

Act quickly to stave off new virus strain threat

The decision of the Union government to take pre-emptive steps against the spread of a mutated version of SARS-CoV-2 that plunged Britain into an unprecedented crisis and the rest of the world into the fear of another wave is welcome. The stoppage of the air traffic to and from Britain till December 31 and the strict conditions on those who travel to India after a visit to that country should be able to help India save itself from another devastating attack of the virus. Several other European nations, which are already into the second phase of national lockdown due to surge in the Covid numbers, are also taking early steps to keep the new virus off its limits by virtually stopping all contacts with the island nation.

India has of late been witnessing a steady decrease in the daily number of caseload though states such as Maharashtra and Kerala show no signs of a thaw. In fact, Maharashtra, which has the highest total caseload, has imposed night curfew and tightened some other controls. Kerala, which managed to contain the virus in the initial stages and has kept the fatality rate low even now, has already warned of a major spike in the coming days. The state government fears that the elections to the local bodies held last week could turn a super spreader event. Delhi government has already imposed a slew of controls and augmented the healthcare facilities to successfully ward off a major outbreak. Fortunately, India looks like having averted a major outbreak which experts feared would visit us after the festival season.

It is in this background that the new threat has emerged. The mutant version, now referred to as VUI (Variant Under Investigation) 202012/01 or known as B.1.1.7, is not more dangerous than the original one but can spread faster, according to experts. Scientists are yet to decode the virus, first noticed in Southern England in December, whether the mutation makes it spread faster. According to Public Health England, the executive agency of the British department of health and social care, the mutations in the spike protein of the virus can change how the micro-organism interacts with human cells. Scientists insist that the vaccines, which have been given emergency authorisation, and those which are in the pipeline, will work against the new variant, too.

While science and scientists grapple with the pandemic and its causes, the non-medical measures come into the focus more than ever. Public health experts insist on the importance of Covid-appropriate protocols such as social distancing, wearing of masks and washing of hands to keep the virus away. The governments should not hesitate to impose restrictions on gatherings wherever necessary before it gets too late; political, social and religious events and festivals offer no excuse to be lax. The message the mutated virus would like to pass on to humanity is that no amount of caution is too much until such time when vaccines have been made available and a sufficient number of people are inoculated to attain herd immunity.

Tumble and roll

The reports of the emergence of a new highly-transmissible strain of coronavirus in the United Kingdom and a resultant suspension of air connectivity to London by several countries, including India, sent shockwaves across the global financial world. Being a part of the global financial system, India's key stock market indices — the Sensex and the Nifty — too suffered blow-backs, wiping out over ₹6.5 lakh crore worth investor wealth in just one day.

For the general public, the market reaction may appear insane. Having grown phenomenally after the worst crash during the pandemic, one may wonder as to why should investors be so panicky. However, since the investors bet their money on the foreseeable future, the investors always react ahead of the curve. Similarly, the Monday mayhem in the stock markets too could be a premature panic-driven reaction to the new strain of coronavirus. They may return to the stock markets soon as reports suggest that the new strain may be highly transmissible, but it is not more virulent than the previous versions.

While the world's toughest lockdown had wiped out nearly a quarter of economic productivity in the April-June quarter, the country's economic growth showed a robust recovery in the quarter ending in September. While full recovery of the Indian economy may take some more time, the green shoots have ended the talk of doomsday scenarios since the economy is largely driven by domestic consumption. While the developments in the UK may not have an immediate impact on India, full economic recovery, however, is predicated on the successful containment of coronavirus. Until normal economic activity remains unchecked in the country, external developments may not have a lasting impact on the economy. The government and people, therefore, must not lower their guard against the highly-transmissible pathogen.

Bhoomi putra for Bengal: Has BJP made a mistake?

Shikha Mukerjee

The man for all election seasons, Amit Shah, Union home minister and the BJP's craftiest leader, came to West Bengal and radically revised the strategy for conquest. The state's saffronisation has been Mr Shah's goal for years.

With the acquisition of a "bhoomi putra" — an experienced, violence-hardened, mass leader with charismatic appeal in Suwendu Adhikari from Trinamul Congress, Mr Shah has found a face to challenge Mamata Banerjee. Bengali identity, Mr Shah has had to acknowledge, transcends all the different ways in which the BJP slices and splices Hindutva issues to produce electoral victories with remarkable regularity.

It's a belated realisation that neither the communal card, nor polarisation, nor verbal assaults against dynastic politics, would pose a serious threat to the fiery, feisty political war veteran Mamata Banerjee, who has charisma in loads and local knowledge that can outmatch the collective brains of the BJP machine. It's also an admission that lightweight Bengalis as proxies for Narendra Modi would be dismissed with contempt by a culturally and politically fanatically proud people.

From one visit to the next in the space of a month, Mr Shah has finally realised that he has to back away from two issues he had identified as bestsellers in the West Bengal election market. The first is aggressively selling the Citizenship Amendment Act and National Register of Citizens as a cleanup mechanism to weed out Muslim illegals on the plea that it will be "considered" for action only after the Covid-19 vaccines are rolled out. The second is shooting down the idea that President's Rule was being seriously considered before the West Bengal elections. Pulling no punches, Mr Shah seems to have told BJP state party chief Dilip Ghosh and West Bengal governor Jagdeep Dhankhar to pipe down. These are sure signs that Mr Shah is only now beginning to gauge that West Bengal is the most complex undertaking he has ever had to handle. There is no template in the BJP's playbook that can be copied and pasted over West Bengal.

To convince the voter that the BJP is not indeed an "outsider", Mr Shah had to roll out Mr Adhikari and set him to work, the day after Christmas. The speed with which Mr Shah and the home ministry approved "Z" category security for Mr Adhikari even before he was formally inducted into the party at the Midnapore rally is an indication that it has a lot of catching up to do.

If the BJP was too complacent that its formula of communal polarisation, identity politics, homogenisation and mainstreaming within the Hindutva fold would be enough to convert the Bengali into a loyalist and thus reliable voter, the Trinamul Congress was just as smug. Obviously Mamata Banerjee can read the pulse of the people better than the BJP, which has inadequate leaders in West Bengal and out of state bosses who are clueless about the fiercely proud Bengali.

For both the TMC and the BJP, the defection of Suwendu Adhikari and nine other MLAs and MPs, as well around 100 lesser functionaries, is a turning point. As a young leader who led the Nandigram movement against the CPI(M)-led Left Front's strategy for industrialising West Bengal, Mr Adhikari shot into the limelight. He became known for his capacity to Bengalis can be a fanatically proud and snooty people. Suwendu Adhikari may be too local, too small time as a CM face. Every chief minister of West Bengal has been a national leader first and a local leader as well. Most were at loggerheads with the Centre, including Siddhartha Shankar Ray on occasion. Has the BJP made a mistake in stooping to conquer?

match violence with violence and for his capacity to mobilise, equip and deploy the small army of TMC loyalists. He was rewarded for his work and elevated as a youth leader, as part of the successor generation to be groomed for the party after Mamata Banerjee. So indispensable was he, that in the 2016 Assembly elections, when Mamata Banerjee needed a robust organisation to win her seats in Purulia, Bankura and Jhargram and she felt Mukul Roy, now with the BJP, would not be as effective, Mr Adhikari was given responsibility for 60-plus seats. It was also her way of placating Mr Adhikari after the induction of Abhishek Banerjee, her nephew. The move angered many, including Mr Roy, who saw it as heaping favours on the Adhikari clan. Regardless of how her preference annoyed others in the TMC, Ms Banerjee continued to pamper Suwendu with greater responsibilities, like observer for the 2019 Lok Sabha polls for crucial districts in Malda and Murshidabad, long considered Congress bastions.

The network that Mr Adhikari built across at least seven districts out of a total of 23 in West Bengal, and his popularity, made him an asset for the Trinamul Congress. The BJP's gain is thus the TMC's loss. To capitalise on this, Mr Shah has drastically revised the BJP's campaign content and strategy.

The plan is crude, and the BJP hopes it will be effective — luring Mamata Banerjee into a personal fight against Mr Adhikari, who she was wont to see as a loyalist turned disgruntled defector with an insider's knowledge of how the TMC government and organisation failed, its corruption, its dependence on a partisan bureaucracy and the police. It would challenge Mamata Banerjee's credibility and her legitimacy as a leader.

The other advantage of a Mamata Banerjee versus Adhikari fight would mean there would be two foes against the lone chief minister. It would serve to situate the BJP's best star campaigner, Prime Minister Narendra Modi, above the fray, with a solution to the problems of West Bengal by mainstreaming the marginalised, deviant locals.

The insider-outsider game set up by the BJP is theoretically neat. The question is — will it be effective? West Bengal has always seen itself as a leader in national politics. To sink to the ranks of laggard followers could be unsatisfactory. The state's chief ministers have always punched way above their weight, as they were politically important national leaders to begin with. Even though Mamata Banerjee was not a member of the social elite to which all her predecessors in office belonged, she was still a national leader, the successful leader of a party that she had founded, when she became chief minister. In contrast, Mr Adhikari is a local, perhaps too local.

The localisation of the BJP is far from complete. Adding a bhoomi putra is a design element and does not indicate a structural transformation. If localisation has indeed begun, it was difficult to find it, when Mr Shah's roadshow snaked through Bolpur, with a DJ managing the event, and dancers and bands preceding the leader as though it was a carnival, and not a political rally.

Ostensibly, this is a gigantic task rarely taken up in a country like ours (CM launches land survey to help property owners, DC, Dec. 22). All kinds of malpractices took place since the last survey in 1920s. Centre spars with Mamata in bid to turn Bengal babus into stool pigeons

The battle for the West Bengal Assembly elections looms ahead but skirmishes have already started. After the attack on BJP president J.P. Nadda's convoy in the state, the Centre retaliated against the Trinamul government by recalling three IPS officers from the state on Central deputation. Further, to perhaps underline the "message", the ministry of home affairs summoned state chief secretary Alapan Bandopadhyay and director general of police Virendra to Delhi to explain the law and order situation in Bengal.

A defiant chief minister Mamata Banerjee refused to comply with the summons. Also, she declined the Centre's demand to send the three IPS officers — Bholanath Pandey, Rajeev Mishra and Praveen Kumar Tripathi — on deputation saying there was a dearth of good officers in the state, and the state could not spare the three officers.

There is a precedent here. The then chief minister of Tamil Nadu J. Jayalalithaa had similarly denied the Centre in 1991 when the state police had conducted a raid on the house of former state chief minister and DMK leader M. Karunanidhi, her archrival. The Centre had asked the Tamil Nadu government to relieve the three officers involved for Central deputation. Like Mamata now, she had refused to spare those officers.

Apparently, there is little the Centre can do against civil service officers who are posted under the state government. For any action to be taken on an officer, the state and the Centre both need to agree.

REBELS FOR A CAUSE?

Outliers are far and few between in the civil service, which runs on obedience rather than resistance. But sometimes momentous events reveal "rebels" with a cause.

Punjab DIG (Prisons) Lakhminder Singh Jakhar has resigned from service in support of farmers who are in Delhi protesting against the three new farm laws. There are politicians, sports people, even ex-defence forces officers who have renounced their awards and medals in protest, but an IPS officer resigning from service for the farmers' cause is a first in the state.

Of course, IAS officer Kannan Gopinathan resigned from the service to protest against the restrictions imposed in Jammu & Kashmir following the abrogation of Article 370. Similarly, Shah Faesal, the young IAS officer from J&K resigned from the service in 2019 to start a political party. And just a few months ago, the DGP of Bihar Gupteshwar Pandey opting for VRS in a bid to contest the state Assembly poll (his position his still vacant), but that was not for a public cause.

Meanwhile, Jakhar who had served the Army joined the IPS as a 1994-batch officer and was slated to superannuate in August 2022. Interestingly, he had been suspended in May earlier this year on alleged corruption charges but was reinstated within a month. Clearly, outliers defy easy definition!

TN WON'T LET GO OF CHIEF SECY

By seeking the extension of the tenure of Tamil Nadu chief secretary K. Shanmugam, the state government has stirred up a hornets' nest in the upper echelons of the administration. An extension of tenure for Shanmugam could mean that several senior Tamil Nadu cadre officers eligible to succeed him may find their chances fading.

According to sources, Shanmugam, a 1985-batch IAS officer, has already received two extensions.

Meanwhile, there are 30 IAS officers in the state in the additional chief secretary rank, including four who are secretaries to the Central government. For them, the third extension for Shanmugam seems to indicate that the state government doubts their abilities to handle the top job.

Interestingly, when chief minister Edappadi K. Palaniswami first sought an extension of tenure for Shanmugam, it was for one year, but the Centre granted approval only for three months. The second extension was for another three months. Now the state government has requested a six-month extension for the babu who reportedly is playing a "critical role in Covid management in the state". Will the Centre oblige again?

Apple eyes car rollout by 2024

iPhone maker's self-driving car will have battery with better technology

POWER BATTERY

Central to Apple's self-driving car strategy is a new battery design that could radically reduce the cost of batteries and increase the vehicle's range.

The tech major plans to use a unique "monocell" design that bulks up the individual cells in the battery and frees up space inside the battery pack by eliminating pouches and modules that hold battery materials.

The company is also examining a chemistry for the battery called or lithium iron phosphate, which is inherently less likely to overheat and is thus safer than other types of lithium-ion batteries.

Central to Apple's strategy is a new battery design that could "radically" reduce the cost of batteries and increase the vehicle's range, according to a third person who has seen Apple's battery design.

Apple declined to comment on its plans or future products. Making a vehicle represents a supply chain challenge even for Apple, a company with deep pockets that makes hundreds of millions of electronics products each year with parts from around the world, but has never made a car. It took Elon Musk's Tesla 17 years before it finally turned a sustained profit making cars.

"If there is one company on the planet that has the resources to do that, it's probably Apple. But at the same time, it's not a cell-phone," said a person who worked on Project Titan.

It remains unclear who would assemble an Apple-branded car, but sources have said they expect the company to rely on a manufacturing partner to build vehicles.

And there is still a chance Apple will decide to reduce the scope of its efforts to an auto-nous driving system that would be integrated with a car made by a traditional automaker, rather than the iPhone maker selling an Apple-branded car, one of the people added.

Apple has decided to tap outside partners for elements of the system, including lidar sensors, which help self-driving

Industry bodies to ask Centre to relook at new wage definition

New Delhi, Dec. 22: Representatives of industry bodies, including from CII and Ficci, will hold a meeting with the labour ministry top brass on Thursday to make a case for holding back implementation of new definition of wages, which would increase social security deductions and reduce take-home pay of workers.

"The representatives of CII and Ficci among other industry bodies would meet union labour ministry top brass on December 24, 2020 to discuss the new definition of

Firms step up hiring after Covid impact

New Delhi, Dec. 22: Adapting to the new hybrid normal of remote and office work, cautiously optimistic corporates are looking to hire more people and provide better appraisals in the new year as they step out of the pandemic-ravaged 2020.

The coronavirus pandemic emerged as the biggest inflection point for the Indian job landscape. For the corporates, work-from-home and remote workers became the new normal and for the professionals, online learning and digital skills took the centre-stage.

In 2020, most companies "deprioritised" their hiring plans amid uncertain economic outlook while industries like travel, hospitality, retail, aviation, real estate, construction and automobile were severely hit.

Nevertheless, there is a cautious optimism among corporates and it is getting reflected in their recruitment plans for the new year. "Yes, the market is showing positive signs of recovery with almost all industries showing growth in hiring but with caution. Overall, the intent to hire recovered smartly from 11 per cent during the lockdown period to 18 per cent for HY (half year) and this number is growing," Deval Singh, business head, Mobilization (hiring) at TeamLease Services.

While there is caution in hiring, the market is displaying optimism. He said there is a 50 per cent increase in employment opportunities from the lockdown days.

Pay cuts have been reversed since Diwali in most organisations and bonuses were issued in few. Some IT companies even declared early appraisals, he noted.

Centre begins process to sell stake in SCI

New Delhi, Dec. 22: The government on Tuesday invited expressions of interest for strategic disinvestment of its 63.75 per cent stake in Shipping Corp of India along with the transfer of management control.

The Department of Investment and Public Asset Management (DIPAM) has issued Preliminary Information Memorandum (PIM) inviting Expressions of Interest (EOI) from potential buyers by February 13, 2021.

Shares of Shipping Corp were trading at ₹86.30, up 4.54 per cent over its previous close on the BSE. At the current market price, the government's stake sale in Shipping Corp is valued at about ₹2,500 crore.

The government has appointed RBSA Capital Advisors LLP as its transaction advisor to manage the disinvestment process.

Shipping Corporation of India is largest Indian shipping company with a fleet strength of 59 vessels. It operates a fleet of 59 ships, including crude oil tankers, very large crude carriers, petroleum product carriers, liquefied petroleum gas carriers, bulk carriers, container ships and off-shore support vessels.

The state-owned shipping company owns and operates around one-third of the Indian tonnage, and has interests in practically all areas of the shipping business; servicing both national and international trades.

Prominent among the companies that have shown interest in acquiring a stake in Shipping Corporation of India are Vedanta Resources Ltd and Dubai's DP World.

Shipping Corporation of India is largest Indian shipping company with a fleet strength of 59 vessels. It operates a fleet of 59 ships, including crude oil tankers, very large crude carriers, petroleum product carriers, liquefied petroleum gas carriers, bulk carriers, container ships and offshore support vessels.

Recently, Vedanta Resources has teamed up with Centricus Management Ltd to create a warchest of $10 billion to acquire the state-run companies.

The Cabinet Committee on Economic Affairs in November last year gave in-principle approval for the strategic divestment of Shipping Corp.

However, the plans were delayed due to the pandemic. The 2020-21 Budget has set a record divestment target of ₹2.1 lakh crore.

The government has so far raised ₹12,380 crore through minority stake sale in Central Public Sector Enterprises (CPSEs) and share buybacks this fiscal year. Strategic sale process of Bharat Petroleum Corporation Limited (BPCL) and Air India is ongoing and both the companies have received "multiple" EOIs from potential buyers.

ICICI Bank to focus on MNCs

Mumbai, Dec. 22: With the increase in foreign direct investment into the country, ICICI Bank on Tuesday said it is upping its focus on serving the multinational companies.

The lender is looking at services beyond credit needs of such overseas corporates with an eye on the fee income possibilities, its executive director Vishakha Muliyil told reporters.

It already serves about 1,500 MNCs out of an overall market of up to 5,000 companies, she said.

Muliyil said factors like aversion to China, favourable demographics and an improvement in the ease of doing business is leading many MNCs to look at investing in India.

Cole's goal settles point for Odisha

Goa: It could have been another defeat but Odisha FC clawed back a point despite taking the lead early against NorthEast United, drawing 2-2 in an Indian Super League game at the GMC Stadium, here on Tuesday. Odisha took the lead through Diego Mauricio (26') before Benjamin Lambot (45+1') drew parity. Kwest Appiah (65') then converted a penalty to put the Highlanders ahead but soon saw his goal cancelled out by Cole Alexander (67'). Odisha named an unchanged eleven from the side that lost to Bengaluru FC while NorthEast coach Gerard Nus rang in four changes with Federico Gallego handed a start. The first half saw a cagey contest with both sides heading into the break level after creating plenty of chances. The first big chance of the game arrived during the 10th minute but Odisha keeper Arshdeep Singh produced a fine save to deny an opener for the Highlanders.

Don's Test cap sells for $340k

Sydney: An Australian businessman has purchased Donald Bradman's first baggy green Test cap for 450,000 Australian dollars ($340,000) at auction, the second-highest price paid for a piece of cricket memorabilia. Peter Freedman, the founder of Rode Microphones who earlier this year paid 9 million Australian dollars ($6.8 million) at an auction for a guitar used by Nirvana front man Kurt Cobain, plans to tour Bradman's Test debut cap around Australia. "The price for Bradman's 1928 Australia cap sits behind the 1,007,500 ($760,000) paid at auction for Australian leg-spinner Shane Warne's Test cap earlier this year the world-record price for an item of cricket memorabilia," auction officials said. — AP

Sindhu hopeful of travelling from UK

New Delhi: Unfazed by the worsening Covid-19 situation in England where she is training right now, world champion shuttler P.V. She will have to be in Bangkok by January 3 to compete in the two Super 1000 events (January 12 to 17 and January 19 to 24). "I plan to travel in the first week of January. KOHLI SIGNS OFF

After pep talk, Virat leaves Australian shores for India

Adelaide, Dec. 22: Indian captain Virat Kohli left Australian shores on Tuesday after a pep talk with his beleaguered teammates, handing over the mantle of leading the side to Ajinkya Rahane in the remaining three Tests.

Kohli is coming back to India for the birth of his first child in January.

Before boarding his flight back home, the star batsman met his teammates and encouraged them to give their all in the remainder of the series, which the visitors trail 0-1 after the heavy defeat in the opening Test.

Long before setting foot on Australia, Rahane had been entrusted with the responsibility of leading in the team in Kohli's absence after the star had approached the BCCI for paternity leave.

The idea behind organising the pep talk was to boost the confidence of the players and keep them in a positive frame of mind heading into the crucial Boxing Day Test in Melbourne.

India lost the lung-opener here inside three days after crumbling to their lowest Test score of 36 which drew a lot of eyeballs across the cricket galaxy.

The second Test is scheduled to be held at the iconic Melbourne Cricket Ground (MCG) from December 26-30.

Kohli, who has been leading the Test team since 2014, urged his players to show intent and express themselves on the field without any inhibition.

While Kohli has departed for India, his white-ball deputy Rohit Sharma is quarantining in Sydney.

Kohli was India's best performer with the bat in the series opener, top-scoring with a sedate 74 in their first innings before being run out following a misunderstanding with Ajinkya Rahane. — PTI

Virat deserves respect: Smith

Adelaide, Dec. 22: Australian batsman Steve Smith on Tuesday said Virat Kohli deserves credit for prioritising the birth of his child over cricket as "there would have been a lot of pressure" on the India skipper to stay for the entire duration of the ongoing Test series.

India are 0-1 down in the four-match rubber after losing the opening Test by eight wickets during which they also collapsed to their lowest Test score. Kohli will head home on Tuesday. "Obviously, it's a big loss for India, not having him for the rest of the series. We just have to look at the way he played in the first innings. That was a pretty class display against some good bowling on a wicket that was doing a bit," Smith said during a virtual press conference.

"I just fist-pumped him at the end (of first Test) and said 'Mate safe travels, hope everything goes well with the baby, and pass on my best to your wife.' That was about it,"

Smith said.

"I'm sure there would have been a lot of pressure for him to stay but to stand up and want to go home for the birth of his first child, it's a credit for him. It's a milestone that he certainly wouldn't want to miss."

Kohli's 74 was the highest score by any batsman on either side in the first innings of the pink-ball day/night Test while Smith was out for 1.

Smith was also asked about legendary Australian spinner Shane Warne's view that red ball is "pathetic" and pink ball should replace it in all Tests. He disagreed with the idea.

"Personally I'd like to keep red-ball cricket alive. I think one series or something like that is a good amount. We've seen in Adelaide for instance it's worked exceptionally well, it's a great spectacle. We played some really good day/night games."

"But I think overall, I'd like to personally play red ball cricket a lot," Smith said. — PTI

Waugh sees 'no hope' of India bouncing back

Melbourne, Dec. 22: The Indian cricket team has "no hope" of making a comeback after the humiliation in Adelaide and will suffer a 4-0 whitewash in the four-match Test series against Australia, feels former batsman Mark Waugh.

India were bundled out for their lowest-ever Test score of 36 in their second innings as Australia claimed an eight-wicket win in the pink-ball Test to take a 1-0 lead in the series.

Asked if India could bounce back after losing the first Test, Waugh said: "No hope, no hope."

"I thought Adelaide was the Test that they could win on paper and with Virat Kohli here for just the one Test. I thought the conditions would suit them."

"I just can't see how they

can bounce back (after) Australia whitewashed them on the third day. So 'no' is the answer four-nil to Australia," he said on Fox Cricket.

CA SAYS SMITH NOT ONLY CAPTAINCY CANDIDATE

Batting mainstay Steve Smith's reappointment as Australia's Test captain is far from certain as the sport's governing body in the country feels there are some "great young leaders" coming through the system. Smith was removed from captaincy due to his involvement in the 2018 ball-tampering scandal, with Cricket Australia (CA) appointing Tim Paine to the top job.

However, there have been speculations recently that Smith could be reinstated as skipper. Asked about the board's view, CA chairman Earl Eddings told ESPNews: "First of all we've got three great captains in Meg, Aaron and Tim. We've got some great young leaders coming through. So it's not just about should Steve take over, it's about what's best overall. Steve's a great young man and he was a good captain when he was there. Like any succession there's planning in place."

ENG TOUR ON DESPITE COVID WAVE

Colombo, Dec. 22: The new strain of Covid-19 that has hit the United Kingdom will not jeopardise England's upcoming tour of Sri Lanka even though the development is a cause of concern, the country's cricket board (SLC) said on Tuesday.

Sri Lanka Cricket's (SLC) medical team feels that the tour starting January 14 is on schedule but additional Covid-19 protocols might be enforced for the visitors either before leaving their country or after arriving here.

According to ESPNews, SLC's medical team is expected to hold discussions with their English counterparts on Tuesday on the matter. — PTI

Tammy hammers West Ham

London, Dec. 22: Tammy Abraham hit a quickfire late double on Monday as Chelsea beat West Ham 3-0 to reignite their Premier League challenge after a consecutive defeats.

The Hammers proved tricky opponents at an empty Stamford Bridge but lacked the firepower to hurt Frank Lampard's men, who led early through Thiago Silva's bullet header.

Chelsea enjoyed a strong start to the season before losses to Everton and Wolves checked their progress but the victory at the London Stadium lifts them into fifth spot.

Champions Liverpool have opened up a five-point gap at the top of the table but behind them, just seven points separate second-placed Leicester from 11th-placed Wolves.

West Ham had the ball in the net in the seventh minute after a cleverly worked free kick but Declan Rice was denied by the off-side flag after an impressive finish from a tight angle.

Three minutes later Chelsea were in front when Silva powered home a header from Mason Mount's corner.

The Brazilian found the net from close range after a well-timed run, leaving West Ham goalkeeper Lukasz Fabianski rooted to the spot.

Chelsea enjoyed the lion's share of possession after their goal without creating much of note but West Ham worked their way into the game as the half wore on.

The win lifts Chelsea to 25 points — one behind fourth-placed Everton. — AFP

Raina sorry for code violation

Mumbai, Dec. 22: Former India cricketer Suresh Raina, who was among 34 people arrested and released on bail by Mumbai Police for violating COVID-19 social distancing norms at a club here, has regretted the "unintentional and unfortunate" incident.

A statement issued by the former batsman's management team said the 34-year old was not aware of the local timings and protocols at the time of the incident.

"Suresh was in Mumbai for a shoot which extended to late hours and was invited by a friend for a quick dinner post the same prior to him taking his flight back to Delhi. He was not aware of the local timings and protocols," said the statement.

"Once pointed out, he (Raina) immediately complied with the procedures laid out by the authorities and regrets the unfortunate and unintentional incident."

"He (Raina) always holds rules and laws laid down by governing bodies with the highest regard and will continue to do so in the future as well," it added.

Thirty-four people including Raina and Bollywood celebrity

Suresh Raina

Sussanne Khan were arrested after a raid at a posh club near the Mumbai airport on Tuesday for violating social distancing norms.

According to the police, those arrested in the raid at the Dragonfly Experience included seven staffers of the club.

The 13 women, who were arrested, were allowed to leave after being served notices. The men were shown as arrested and granted bail later.

Police said the raid was conducted after the club remained open beyond the permissible time limit and violated Covid-19 norms.

Raina, who has played 18 Tests, 226 ODIs and 78 T20s, announced retirement from international cricket in August earlier this year. — PTI
