Single judge bench, headed by D.V.S.S. Somayajulu heard the petition on Thursday.

SEC counsel N. Ashwani Kumar asked the court some time to respond.

The judge posted the next hearing in the case to March 20.

PRIVILEGE PANEL ISSUES NOTICE TO NIMMAGADDA

DC CORRESPONDENT
VIJAYAWADA, MARCH 18

The cold war between the state government and State Election Commissioner Nimmagadda Ramesh Kumar, which was subdued during the panchayat elections, resurfaced after a notice was issued to Ramesh Kumar by the Assembly Privilege Committee on Thursday.

Earlier, ministers Peddireddy Ramachandra Reddy and Botsa Satyanarayana lodged a complaint with the Assembly Privilege Committee against the orders of the SEC to keep them under house arrest. The committee which discussed the issue on Wednesday issued notices to Ramesh Kumar on Thursday. They were sent by email and post.

Interestingly, Ramesh Kumar is going on leave for four days from Friday and there are doubts about his response to the notice. It may be recalled that the Assembly Privilege Committee, which met on February 2, on a complaint lodged by the ministers, decided to take action against the SEC. It was announced that they would meet on March 17 and accordingly notice was issued to the SEC on Thursday.

Privilege committee chairman Kakani Govardhan Reddy clarified that Ramesh Kumar should attend the hearing whether he is in office or not. He clarified that the Privilege Committee has full powers to protect the rights of the legislators.

BC, SC, ST and minority nominees to head civic bodies

DC CORRESPONDENT
VIJAYAWADA, MARCH 18

YSRC Congress on Thursday claimed that choosing 78 of 86 nominees from those belonging to BC, SC, ST and minorities communities as heads of corporations and municipalities was unprecedented in the country's history.

Party general secretary Sajjala Ramakrishna Reddy said that BCs, SCs, STs and minorities constitute over 70 per cent of the population and the YSRC government was giving a proportionate representation to them. Speaking to the media here, Ramakrishna Reddy said that 40 posts of mayors and chairpersons were given to BCs, 12 for minorities while women were given 52 seats overall. He said it was unprecedented and way ahead of the so-called BC states.

He stated that Chief Minister Y.S. Jagan Mohan Reddy had made it clear that people in majority should be given due representation. He stated that unlike during the TD government, which used BCs as a vote bank, the Chief Minister had given recognition to weaker sections in tune with his contention that 'BCs are Backbone Class'.

Speaking of Mydukur municipality, Ramakrishna Reddy stated that the party had won because the Jana Sena councillor remained neutral and ex-officio members had backed YSRC. He said that they had not misused power anywhere. Recalling the 2014 local body elections, he said TD leaders abused their power to lure opposition candidates into TD, something which the YSRC would never resort to. On ZPTC and MPTC polls, Ramakrishna Reddy urged the SEC to conduct them as early as possible as there were no more legal hurdles.

Women empowerment, Jagan shows the way

DC CORRESPONDENT
VIJAYAWADA, MARCH 18

YSRC Congress, which gives priority to women in welfare schemes, has continued the momentum while choosing nominees for mayor and municipal chairperson posts. Women have been offered 52 of the total 86 posts. They belong to BC, SC, ST and minority communities.

Chief Minister Y.S. Jagan Mohan Reddy gave the crucial home ministry to Guntur MLA Mekatothi Sucharita and gave cabinet berths to Taneti Vanitha and Pamula Pushpasreevani.

Navaratnalu schemes, mainly Amma Vodi and housing schemes, attracted women and this helped YSRC in the gram panchayat and Urban Local Body elections.

In the recent past the government filled nominated posts of 56 BC Corporations under which 29 women appointed as chairpersons and 336 women were appointed as directors against the total available 672 posts.

YSRC leaders pointed out that 60.47% of mayor and chairman posts had been given to women. They stated that earlier also the government had made history by allocating 50% of temple boards, agricultural marketing committees, nomination posts, nominated contracts to SC, ST, BC minority social groups and allocating 50% of all posts to women.

Rayana Bhagyalakshmi was elected as mayor of Vijayawada city and Bellam Durga as deputy mayor. S Amuda is Chittoor mayor, Golagani Hari Venkata Kumari (Visakhapatnam), Dr Sirisha (Tirupati), Moka Venkateswaramma (Machilipatnam), Vijayalakshmi (Vizianagaram) and Gangada Sujatha for Ongole. The Visakhapatnam mayor post was reserved for BC (general) and YSRC selected Venkata Kumari from the Yadav community.

Vijayawada mayor Bhagyalakshmi said that Jagan Mohan Reddy was striving for empowerment of women in real earnest. She said she was confident that women would be promoted in all sectors by the YSRC government.

Home minister Sucharita said that in the not too distant future, women will emerge as main leaders in the state.

YSRC rewards BCs to achieve social justice

DC CORRESPONDENT
VIJAYAWADA, MARCH 18

By giving BCs a great deal, Chief Minister Y.S. Jagan Mohan Reddy is strengthening his BC vote bank, particularly by offering many posts to them reflecting social justice in the state. The ruling party gave high priority to BCs in the selection of mayors and chairman of corporations and municipalities.

In the undivided Andhra Pradesh, a majority of posts in the party and government would be earmarked for upper castes. It changed when Telugu Desam founder N.T. Rama Rao began giving importance to BCs in the party and his government in 1983. The party continued the tradition of giving importance to BCs and the yellow party turned as BCs party due to support of a majority of BC communities. After facing defeat in 2014, YSRC changed its strategies and started efforts to attract BCs, the otherwise traditional supporters of TD. The party offered tickets to BCs in the 2019 election and further passed a BC Declaration, which resulted in winning over BCs and their eventual support helped YSRC dethrone TD.

Meanwhile, YSRC is also giving priority to minorities and other weaker sections. The government formed 56 BC corporations and sent two BC leaders to the Rajya Sabha besides giving berths in the State cabinet.

Around 78% of 86 top posts in municipalities and municipal corporations have been given to nominees from SC, ST, BC and minority communities.

BJP LEADER VOWS TO FIGHT TO GET JUSTICE TO DIVYA

DC CORRESPONDENT VIJAYAWADA, MARCH 18

AP BJP Mahila Morcha state secretary Sadineni Yamini vowed to fight to get justice for the woman who was forced to convert to Islam and also was subjected to harassment.

The BJP women wing leader said on Thursday that the woman identified as Divya, hailing from Guntur, was cheated in the name of love jihad by a man identified as Ahmad. She alleged that Ahmad, claiming to be a Hindu with the name Tarak, married Divya and after 15 days of marriage, he entered into 'nikah' with Divya.

She further alleged that Ahmad even before marrying Divya, sedated and raped her and when she became pregnant, he forced her to undergo a medical termination of the pregnancy and said that even after marriage, he forced her to undergo abortion.

The BJP leader said that Divya confessed to them that she was subjected to harassment to read Quran by Ahmad and his family members while Divya's parents-in-law even threatened to sell her in Dubai. She said the victim woman along with other leaders from Hindu organisations complained to the Guntur Urban SP and added that they also sent a representation seeking justice.

Rural surge scary, act now to stop second Covid wave

Prime Minister Narendra Modi has warned of a second peak of pandemic Covid-19 unless quick and decisive action was taken. In his meeting with chief ministers on Wednesday, Mr Modi listed out the points that need early action. On top of the to-do list is the time-tested “test-track-treat” formula with a focus on tracking the contacts of every person who contracted the virus. The Prime Minister also reminded the chief ministers of the need to conduct genome tests to track the variants of the virus. The share of RT-PCR tests should remain high and the states should guard themselves against vaccine wastage, he told them.

Mr Modi has flagged the issues that plague India’s Covid fight at a time when the country finds itself in the throes of a second wave. The daily caseload has gone up for a seventh consecutive day on Wednesday, which reported 28,903 cases — the highest reported this year. India’s active case load has reached 2.34 lakh on Wednesday against 1.84 lakh a week ago; test positivity rate has gone up from 2.3 per cent to 4.98 per cent in the same period.

According to Niti Aayog, while the first phase was in the metros and big cities of the country, the recent surge is reported from rural areas, too. As per the health ministry estimates, 70 districts in 15 states recorded 150 per cent rise in the number of cases in the last 15 days. The virus spread in the rural areas where the health infrastructure is weak and less attended will make the fight tougher.

The government should not wait anymore to take tougher decisions. It must immediately take a relook at the Covid controls which were in place last year and advise states to see which could be used the best to contain the virus spread. The Prime Minister has also warned against wastage of vaccines. Some states have reported a wastage figure higher than the national average of 6.5 per cent. There are nations that have little or no access to vaccines and India, having built its capacities in scientific research and pharmaceutical manufacturing over the decades, should not take its advantages for granted. The Union government must use technology to the optimum to ensure that wastage is brought to a minimum. Several states have reported about vaccine hesitancy. The Prime Minister led the inoculation campaign by taking the jab himself, sending the right message. Perhaps, he should have done the exercise sooner? Also, credible local faces, including religious leaders at the community level, should be roped in to break the “hesitancy barrier” and press the idea home.

This newspaper has been highlighting the point that public health is as much an issue of the public as it is of the government. It’s next to impossible for governments alone to make a difference. There must be an aggressive campaign to promote Covid-appropriate behaviour and violators should be sternly dealt with. Reports say that passengers were deplaned on Wednesday and Thursday for their refusal to follow the protocol. Such defiance is unacceptable. The governments at the Centre and the states and the people must brace themselves for decisive and quick action to stop a second wave of the pandemic.

According to Niti Aayog, while the first phase was in the metros and big cities of the country, the recent surge is reported from rural areas, too. As per the health ministry estimates, 70 districts in 15 states recorded 150 per cent rise in the number of cases in the last 15 days. The virus spread in the rural areas where the health infrastructure is weak and less attended will make the fight tougher.

Guns, racism & crime in US

A series of shootings in Atlanta in which six Asian Americans were among seven women in eight fatalities in three different massage parlours have shaken up America. The investigation is yet to establish if the 21-year-old white youth’s actions were racially motivated but the signs seem clear enough as the profiles of a majority of the victims reveal.

As an epidemic, hate crime is on the rise in the USA, its graph exploding exponentially since the outbreak of the coronavirus pandemic. By calling it a “China flu” in his typically bigoted rhetoric, the former President Donald Trump may have ignited a wave of anti-Asian hate crimes. The attacker, on interrogation, had tried to rationalise his action as a way of eliminating an avenue to his own sex addiction. But, as a legislator said pertinently, such racially motivated crimes cannot be “rebranded as economic anxiety or sexual addiction”.

A diverse, multiracial society like America must own up that it has a huge racial problem in which visibly successful migrants are increasingly the victims of racial abuse, harassment and violent hate crimes, which have numbered close to 4,000 since the advent of the pandemic. The Black Lives Matter movement had highlighted shades of an even older form of racism rampant in the US but Covid-19 has enabled racism to spread so much as to create national insecurity, fear of foreigners and xenophobia in the US.

There is no such a thing as a perfectly equal society but one that turns on itself like this so easily and frequently must fear over where it is headed even as complexities arise in the modern age. Endemic violence is not so much an Asian American problem as an American problem, a major part of which can be traced to the Second Amendment and loose gun control. The perpetrator was able to buy a 9 mm handgun on the same day that he used it to exhibit his malefic intentions. Do we blame the trigger finger or unfettered access to deadly weapons in a country now notorious for mass killings?

Of Rahul, Indira and the ‘mistake’ of Emergency

Karan Thapar

As I See It

One of the best tests of a politician’s skill and talent is his ability to handle awkward and embarrassing moments. Amongst the worst is when you’re asked to accept and admit your own mistake, that of your party or your family. It seems this is not Rahul Gandhi’s forte. Actually, the truth is his family is rather poor at it. His grandmother was no better.

Earlier this month, when Kaushik Basu of Cornell University questioned Rahul about the Emergency, he claimed Indira Gandhi had called it a “mistake” and added: “The Congress at no point attempted to capture India’s institutional framework.” He was utterly wrong on both counts.

The one that’s a flagrant violation of the truth is the latter. Under the Emergency Indira Gandhi arrested at least 100,000 people, including most Opposition leaders. The press was censored. The judiciary and civil service tampered with. Elections postponed. The Constitution brutally amended. All of this should be known to Mr Gandhi, even if he was five at the time.

A less obvious error — actually it’s an untruth — is the claim his grandmother Indira Gandhi considered the Emergency a “mistake”. Indira Gandhi accepted responsibility for the Emergency and the election defeat that followed. Of that there’s no doubt. But that’s very different to calling it a mistake. In fact, she found artful ways of responding to the errors and lapses of the Emergency, while exculpating the Emergency itself. When she spoke of it, she justified it.

Her first tactic was to accept excesses may have been committed. In an interview to Mary Carass, in July 1978, she said “muzzling the press was too strong a step”. In other words, a less stringent form of control would have been preferable. But controlling the press was not a mistake.

A second tactic was to claim other people made mistakes but she was willing to take responsibility for them. Indian Express on January 24, 1978 reported her speech at Yavatmal: “Mrs Gandhi said even if others, who were responsible for the mistakes and excesses, were not willing to own up, she would own the responsibility for those mistakes.”

A third tactic was to actually minimise whatever errors or mistakes she was willing to acknowledge. To Mary Carass, she said: “Except for the detention of political persons and press censorship there was not much that was abnormal”. Of the killings at Turkman Gate, she had the effrontery to say: “There was no violence... just one or two isolated cases”.

Even on the critical issue of sterilisation, which, perhaps, traumatised North India, Indira Gandhi refused to accept the extent of what had happened. This is what she told Paul R. Brass on March 26, 1978: “The basic thing which defeated us was the false propaganda. It’s not that we didn’t make mistakes or any of those things, but they were blown out of all proportion. Even with regard to family planning, the way they spread things... frankly, I don’t think it was sterilisation at all. It was a propaganda... no such thing took place on that scale. There were some cases, but most of the cases we followed up did not turn out to be true.”

In each of these instances Indira Gandhi was only referring to specific things that happened under the Emergency — censorship, arrests, Turkman Gate, sterilisation — but not the Emergency itself. She was trying to distinguish between the Emergency and mistakes that happened. You don’t need forensic expertise to realise she had no problem with the actual declaration of the Emergency.

Indian Express reported on January 24, 1978, that, after accepting responsibility for other people’s mistakes and excesses, Indira Gandhi justified the Emergency. “She, however, asked the audience to recall the situation in the country when the Emergency was declared, and said things were in a chaotic condition all around. If things were allowed to continue, the situation that developed in Bangladesh would have been repeated in India”. The paper adds Mrs Gandhi said “the situation just before the imposition of Emergency was very grave, and the very survival of the nation was threatened”. She described the Emergency “as a dose of medicine to cure the disease”.

When Paul Brass asked: “Would you have done anything differently in relation to the Emergency?” Her answer began with the word “No”. It couldn’t have been more pointed. Thereafter she said her mistake was not to have “personally” looked into the suffering the Emergency caused. Her exact words were: “My mistake was not to have looked into these matters personally and discussed”.

So let’s be clear, Indira Gandhi didn’t think the Emergency was a mistake and she certainly didn’t apologise for it. No doubt she accepted responsibility for the 1977 election defeat and accepted the biggest cause was the Emergency, but she never said it was wrong. Sagarika Ghose, her most recent biographer, who helped immeasurably with my research, concurs. I’ve found no record of Indira Gandhi accepting and admitting the Emergency was a mistake.

Rahul Gandhi also alleged while the RSS today is stuffing institutions with its own people, the Congress’ behaviour during the Emergency was “fundamentally different”. Again, he’s wrong. Its behaviour was almost identical — from the Supreme Court, where a junior judge was made Chief Justice, forcing H.R. Khanna to resign, to the civil service, where his grandmother publicly called for “committed” officers and Nirmal Mukherjee was removed as home secretary. The commitment required was to her and her family.

Now I can understand why Rahul Gandhi flubbed. First, he wanted to distinguish the Emergency from the situation prevailing today, and make the former seem nowhere near as bad. Hence his claim “the Congress at no point attempted to capture India’s institutional framework”. Second, by asserting his grandmother called the Emergency a “mistake”, he wanted to ensure no further embarrassing questions would be asked. It was a way of conceding a point in the hope of ending the conversation.

But his answers have created a new controversy. There are now questions about his knowledge, his judgment, his truthfulness and, of course, his ability to handle awkward moments. On all these, he acquitted himself pretty miserably. If this was a googy, Mr Gandhi got bowled. If it was a test, he didn’t pass. If the intention was to impress his audience, he didn’t succeed. So if he’s going to be our Prime Minister one day, he needs to learn how to handle awkward situations, in particular those connected to his family’s past.

VIRUS IN KURNOOL

With slow rise in numbers of Covid-19 cases in Kurnool, the district administration should take necessary precautions including closing of schools and restrict inter state border crossings (Kurnool district witnesses spike in cases, DC, March 18). Private schools which conducted online classes during the pandemic should have completed the final examinations by now instead of running full day classes in summer. The state education and health ministries should issue directions in this regard.

RATION CARDS

The issue of scrapping of three crore ration cards for not linking Aadhaar has been taken seriously by the apex court and on which it asked the response of centre and states. If in the name of cancelling bogus cards, a real beneficiary is denied his due it would amount to be denial of his right to food security. As there are umpteen lacunae on the ground to ensure everyone an Aadhaar, it has not been made mandatory by the apex court to link it with welfare schemes. If crores of people are kept outside of food security zone on one reason or other, it leads to widespread starvation. The pandemic has already raised the number of poor exponentially. The government should fix the problem by making public distribution system universal and effective. India is not at bright spot on global hunger index.

Joe’s ‘moonshot’: Afghan window for ‘dignified’ US exit closing fast

In recent years, as the negotiations phase in the 21st-century variant of the Great Game has gathered pace, every cliché in the diplomatic playbook has been trotted out to illustrate its sporadic progress.

There have been multiple windows of opportunity, open doors, seats at the table, options on the table — and inevitably some dealings under the table. ‘Between the devil and the deep blue sea’ doesn’t figure all that frequently in official statements, but it pretty much sums up the choices Afghanistan has faced for the past 40 years.

Among the latest options is a draft ‘peace’ agreement secretly proposed by the Biden administration, but much commented on since it was leaked last week. Some officials in Kabul have poured scorn on the US wish list — which is hardly surprising, given it effectively consigns the Ashraf Ghani administration to oblivion. The Taliban have been more reticent in their response so far, saying they are studying the document.

The entity that the US and its allies dislodged from power nearly 20 years ago is being offered substantial representation in every tier of an interim government. A constituent assembly is envisaged, with elections to be held once it has completed its task. There are motherhood statements about education, intellectual freedom and women’s rights.

As golden-throated philosopher Freddie Mercury once wondered: “Is this the real life? Is this just fantasy?”

For many years now, the biggest fear among some Afghans has revolved around their nation’s prospects once the foreign military forces exited. That apprehension highlights the crux of Afghanistan’s abiding tragedy: since the late 1970s, its fortunes have largely been determined by outsiders. Of course, more broadly, that has been the case for centuries.

The tyranny of geography is an immutable fact, but what’s particularly remarkable is the extent to which Afghanistan has resisted being swallowed up by neighbouring empires. Only time will tell whether that rugged exceptionalism serves it well in this century.

When the US invaded in collaboration with the Northern Alliance in 2001, in the wake of the 9/11, the Taliban chose to melt away, reinforcing the impression of a Western-led cakewalk into Kabul. Once the botched effort to track down Osama bin Laden failed, the Bush-Cheney-Rumsfeld administration saw little reason to expend too much energy or too many resources on Afghanistan. Its attention shifted to Iraq.

Perhaps the Taliban realised even back then that they had time on their side — apart from sanctuaries in Pakistan, where bin Laden also found refuge. Over the years they steadily re-established their clout across the countryside. The US and its allies poured in tens of thousands of troops, and tens of thousands of people — mainly Afghans — have been killed since then. Both sides have committed innumerable war crimes that will likely go uninvestigated and unpunished.

And where are we today? The debate is over the exit of the remaining 2,500 US troops in Afghanistan by May 1. Actually, the figure is closer to 3,500, according to the New York Times (which notes that the Pentagon routinely understates troop numbers). Then there are the 8,000 or so ‘contractors’ — unofficial military personnel, in effect — plus smaller contingents from the usual Western allies, which wouldn’t stay behind once the Americans pack up.

Joe Biden is under considerable pressure to postpone the pullout. Should he do so, as seems likely, the Taliban would have an excuse to renege on their part of the Doha bargain — whereby they have resisted the temptation to attack foreign forces. Beyond that, the violence has not significantly diminished in the past year. Apart from other atrocities, targeted killings of women in particular occur with brutal regularity. The Taliban deny responsibility, but no one else claims it.

It’s reasonable to assume that the security situation would deteriorate in the immediate aftermath of a Western troop withdrawal, with uncertain consequences. The alternative, however, is also fairly dire. What could a continued foreign presence achieve that has not already been attempted in the past two decades, with all too few worthy results?

Will a planned flurry of diplomatic activity — including talks in Turkey between Kabul representatives and the Taliban, and UN-sponsored conference of foreign ministers from Russia, China, the US, Iran, India and Pakistan tentatively scheduled for next week — achieve very much? Some commitments may be made, but what will they be worth?

The latest US plan is informally being referred to as a moonshot. But the original moonshot was backed by science. This one is riding on unsubstantiated hope. The Americans will only be postponing the inevitable if they linger. A ‘dignified departure’ won’t be an option down the track, just as ‘peace with honour’ proved elusive in Vietnam.

She also said that theBJP woman leader who has rescued the girl was receiving threat calls and wanted security for her. The police had behaved in a negligent manner when the parents of the girl went to lodge a complaint. The police did not even provide treatment to the girl, Aruna said.

Hike in education budget 'not enough'

Teachers' federations express disappointment over allocations for education

HARLEEN MINOCHA | DC
HYDERABAD, MARCH 18

The state Budget proposed an allocation of ₹11,735 crore to the school education sector and ₹1,873 crore for higher education. The figures were ₹10,421 crore and ₹1,723.27 respective last year, apart from ₹100 crore to improve the literacy rate. The increases were not enough, stakeholders said.

In addition, a ₹4,000 crore scheme to benefit government schools was announced in the Budget by finance minister T. Harish Rao. Under this scheme, basic facilities in government schools will be revamped over the next two years. The minister stressed the importance of using modern technology in government schools to put classrooms on digital platforms. The government has proposed setting aside ₹33.6 crore for SC, ST welfare, and ₹1,602 crore for minorities welfare. Harish Rao said education with international standards is being provided free to the poor and backward class students. Parents are eager to send their children to study in residential schools, he said.

However, Telangana State United Teachers' Federation (TSUTF), Telangana Private Teachers Forum (TPTF), Students Islamic Organisation of India (SIO) among others expressed disappointment over the allocations.

"The TSUTF said these allocations were not enough to develop of schools, provide infrastructure, recruit teachers and improve online education. "Of the ₹2.3 lakh crore Budget, earmarking ₹11,735 crore for school education and ₹2,000 crore for infrastructure is unreasonable," said the TSUTF. Ministers praise KCR, hail state Budget

DC CORRESPONDENT
HYDERABAD, MARCH 18

State ministers claimed that the Budget was a testament to Chief Minister K. Chandrashekar Rao's vision for a progressive state. "KCR has fulfilled his commitment to farmers once again by making huge allocations for agriculture and allied sectors," they said.

Ministers Errabelli Dayakar Rao, Allola Indrakaran Reddy, Venula Prashanth Reddy and Satyavathi Rathod said the Budget gave equal priority for employment, agriculture and welfare.

They said the allocations were higher than of the previous Budget, and this would contribute to the comprehensive development of tribals and women.

They said, ₹250crore has been earmarked for the Greater Warangal Municipal Corporation by way of development funds, which will give a fillip to the region's growth. On behalf of women and tribals, especially of the Greater Warangal Municipal Corporation and of the people of the state, the ministers thanked the Chief Minister.

infrastructure creation.

The private teachers forum said the allocation for the education sector remains dismal which, they said, was discouraging. "In 2014-15, out of the ₹1,00,637 crore Budget, ₹10,963 crore was allocated for education, which was 10.89 per cent. The budget size has doubled to ₹2,30,825.96 crore for 2021-22 but only 6.78 per cent or ₹15,608 crore is the allocation for education. Going by the Budget size, the government should allocate at least ₹23,000 crore," they said.

Students from minority communities said that the budget cuts in scholarships were responsible for minority enrolment in higher education. The SIO said that there was a lack of support from the government to bridge a historic gap in the education sector where minority students constitute only 7.5 per cent in higher education enrolment.

"As predicted, the consistent cuts in minority scholarships and Maulana Azad Fellowship in the last six to seven years has resulted in this poor minority enrolment figure. The government should immediately hike the scholarships and take necessary steps in terms of policy intervention to provide reservation for select backward castes among minorities," they demanded.

Y.S. Rajashekar had intense bond with Karimnagar: Sharmila

KARIMNAGAR, MARCH 18

Former Chief Minister, late Y.S. Rajashekar Reddy had an intense bond with the Karimnagar district. The pulse of the entire Telangana can be felt by standing at the Kaman chowrasta of the Karimnagar city, said Y.S. Sharmila.

In view of establishing a new political party in Telangana, Sharmila held a Atmayee Sammelanam meeting with Y.S. Rajashekar Reddy fans of old Karimnagar district at Lotus Pond in Hyderabad on Thursday.

Addressing the gathering, Sharmila said that Karimnagar is the reflection for the Telangana state and Singareni, the 'city of energy' which is present in the district is a big asset for the entire region.

Karimnagar has given birth to talented people like Narayana Reddy and Gidde Rammulu. It is the weavers of the district who woven a saree which can be fixed in a match box.

Unable to see farmers problems, Y.S. Rajashekar Reddy introduced free current supplying scheme to the farming sector and sanctioned loans to farmers through banks. When people of weavers community committed suicide, ₹1.5 lakh ex gratia was granted to their family members during the reign of Rajashekar Reddy. SC TO HEAR PLEA ON ROHINGYAS ON MARCH 25

PARMOD KUMAR | DC NEW DELHI, MARCH 18

The Supreme Court on Thursday agreed to hear on March 25 a plea for immediate release of Rohingya refugees detained in Jammu and to restrain the Centre from deporting them to Myanmar.

Chief Justice Sharad A. Bobde heading a bench also comprising Justice A.S. Bopanna and Justice V. Ramasubramanian agreed to hear the plea as lawyer Prashant Bhushan pointed out that the detained refugees may be soon deported to Myanmar where the Army has taken over and violence is taking place and policemen too are fleeing to India.

The application for the release of Rohingya refugees and to prevent their deportation has been filed by a fellow refugee Mohammad Salimullah. The plea has sought to protect rights of Rohingya refugees guaranteed under Article 14 and Article 21, read with Article 51(c) of the Constitution, against their deportation as they had taken refuge in India after escaping widespread violence and discrimination against their community in Myanmar.

“Release the detained Rohingya refugees immediately and direct the Union Territory government and the ministry of home affairs to expeditiously grant Refugee identification cards through the FRRO for Rohingyas in informal camps,” says the plea.

HC REFUSES TO STAY RELEASE OF ‘MUMBAI SAGA’

SHAHAB ANSARI | DC MUMBAI, MARCH 18

The Bombay High Court on Thursday permitted the release of the Hindi film “Mumbai Saga” on March 19, after refusing to allow a plea seeking a stay to the release. The HC refused to grant any relief to gangster D.K. Rao, alias Ravi Bohra, and the family members of underworld don Amar Naik and his brother Ashwin Naik, who had approached the court.

The families sought stay on the release of the film on the grounds that the release, publication and telecast of the film would lead to violation of right to privacy, fair trial and liberty of the two.

One of the major reasons for seeking a stay on the release of the film was that the trial against Bohra and Naik was likely to begin soon and the film, if released, would cause a prejudice to their case. Both the persons have been charged under the provisions of stringent law Maharashtra Control of Organised Crime Act (MCOCA).

Kerala polls, a prestige issue for Rahul Gandhi

Cong. leader has been actively working on poll strategy

DC CORRESPONDENT NEW DELHI, MARCH 18

Congress leader Rahul Gandhi, who skipped the joint rally with the Left following the ‘controversial’ alliance with the ISF is focussing more on Kerala. For Gandhi Kerala Assembly polls has become a “prestige” issue as the reports coming in show a slight edge to the ruling LDF. He is a Lok Sabha MP from Wayanad in Kerala. The Congress leaders were currently engaged in a public disagreement among themselves over Bengal Congress’ decision to form a triangular alliance with the Left and the ISF, a new political outfit launched by Furfura Sharif’s pirzada Abbas Siddiqui.

Attaching priority to Kerala, Gandhi has been visiting the state quite frequently. In fact, he launched the campaigning for the state polls even before any of the three top BJP leaders — Prime Minister Narendra Modi, Union home minister Amit Shah and party president J.P. Nadda did.

In the states going to polls this year Kerala seems to be the brightest option for the Congress. Historically the state has a cyclic tradition but this time the LDF may break this rule. If the Left succeeds in breaking the jinx and winning the ensuing elections, it would be an embarrassment for the Congress in general and Gandhi in particular because he is an MP from the state.

After the Jammu outing of some of the G23 writers the pressure is also on Gandhi to deliver positive results in the Assembly states. If the party loses in the state from where he is a Lok Sabha MP it will not look good on him.

With an eye on Assembly polls Gandhi in one of his statements in Kerala had said that politics in Kerala is mostly issue-based rather than on other issues that caused a sharp reaction from MPs of BJP of northern states. Insiders claim that Gandhi has been instrumental in ticket distribution and has actively worked in the election strategy too. In the coming days several other rallies of Gandhi across the state are planned to ensure maximum seats for the party.

CONGRESS DIVIDED ASSAM IN ALL POSSIBLE WAYS, SAYS MODI

MANOJ ANAND | DC GUWAHATI, MARCH 18

Prime Minister Narendra Modi, on Thursday, blamed the Congress party for making Assam one of the most disconnected states in the country.

Addressing a massive public rally in Karimganj in poll-bound Assam, Mr Modi accused the Congress party of indulging in “corruption and vote-bank-based governance” which has caused immense damage to the state.

Asserting that the NDA government has overcome the injustice made to the state, he said, “Decades ago, this entire region was one that had better connectivity. Rail connectivity was very poor in Barak Valley, and people have continuously demanded for it. Quality of roads, too, was poor. People had to travel long distances to reach

Pointing out as to how connectivity of the region has improved manifolds during the NDA regime, the Prime Minister while addressing his first election rally after the Election Commission announced poll schedule for the state, Modi said, “During its rule, the Congress party divided Assam in all possible ways. But the BJP government has been connecting it on all fronts. We are not just connecting the state just physically, but also culturally.”

Launching a frontal attack on Congress that ruled the state for 15 years at a stretch before the Bharatiya Janata Party (BJP) came to power in 2016, the Prime Minister said that the situation within the Congress is such that it can do anything for votes.

Some of the earlier Covid-19 preventive measures like creation of containment zones, sanitising public places and setting up well equipped monitoring centres are all set to stage a comeback, now that the state was witnessing a rise in infections.

Expanding vaccination facility to mini-clinics, public health centres and newly set up temporary hospitals and extending it to private hospitals keen on coming on board over and above the existing 761 hospitals were among new efforts proposed at a review meeting, presided over by Chief Secretary Rajiv Ranjan on Thursday.

The meeting attended by senior officials from health department, Corporation and other related departments wanted to monitor the vaccination dose to ensure that the vaccine was not wasted and also rope in NGOs like the Rotary Club with experience in vaccination in the exercise.

79.54 per cent of the new cases are from these states. Maharashtra has reported the highest daily new cases at 16,620 (accounting for 63.21 per cent of the daily new cases). It is followed by Kerala with 1,792 cases, while Punjab reported 1,492 new cases. Despite daily high cases, Kerala is reporting a consistently declining trend over the last one month.

Delhi too is witnessing a rise in cases after nearly two months. Delhi CM Arvind Kejriwal said On Thursday that his government is prepared to open vaccination for all categories of people to break the chain of transmission and put an end to the cycle of waves. He said, if permitted, his government can vaccinate everyone in Delhi in three months.

SPEAK UP SC set aside the MP HC’s order that created uproar

Break the silence: SC tells victim

PARMOD KUMAR | DC NEW DELHI, MARCH 18

The Supreme Court on Thursday set aside a Madhya Pradesh High Court order directing an accused in a rape case to tie Rakhi on victim as a condition for bail as top court urged victim women not to suffer and break silence.

Noting that the actual number of cases of offences against women are much higher than that are reported, the court called upon women not to suffer in silence but and speak up. “This silence needs to be broken.

In doing so, men, perhaps more than women have a duty and role to play in averting and combating violence against women”, said Justice S. Ravindra Bhat who authored the judgment.

Having set aside the HC order that had created uproar, a bench comprising Justice A.M. Khanwilkar and Justice S. Ravindra Bhat in its judgment said, “The role of all courts is to make sure that the survivor can rely on their impartiality and neutrality, at every stage in a criminal proceeding, where she is the survivor and an aggrieved party.”

“Judges play — at all levels — a vital role as teachers and thought leaders. It is their role to be impartial in words and action, at all times. If they falter, especially in gender related crimes, they imperil fairness and inflict great cruelty in the casual blindness to the despair of the survivors”, the court said.

Saying that the judgment was not as much on the merits of the conditions of bail under challenge, Justice Bhat speaking for the bench said that a “wider canvas of (what appears to be) entrenched paternalistic and misogynistic attitudes that are regrettably reflected at times in judicial orders and judgments.”

Issuing a slew of directions to be followed by the subordinate judiciary while dealing with the cases involving offences against women, Justice Bhat said, “Gender violence is most often unseen and is shrouded in a culture of silence. The causes and factors of violence against women include entrenched unequal power equations between men and women that foster violence and its acceptability, aggravated by cultural and social norms.”

RUTTE WINNING MOST SEATS IN DUTCH VOTE

The Hague, March 18: Dutch voters pushed PM Mark Rutte toward a fourth term in office in Wednesday's general election that bolstered his conservative party's position as the biggest in parliament and boosted a key ally into second place, an exit poll suggested.

With Rutte's bloc and other mainstream parties thriving, the far-right failed again to make a major breakthrough despite its hopes of appealing to populist sentiments and capitalising on the severe economic downturn and pandemic that has killed 16,000 people in the Netherlands.

Rutte, 54, has now won four elections in a row. He has been in power for more than a decade at the head of three different coalitions.

Kamala Harris currently doesn't live there

Washington, March 18: A 31-year-old man has been arrested outside United States' Vice President Kamala Harris' official residence in Washington, D.C. on weapons and ammunition charges, according to media reports.

The arrest comes as the district is in a state of heightened security following the Jan. 6 insurrection attempt at the United States Capitol.

Harris and her husband, Doug Emhoff, do not currently live at the Naval Observatory, as the official residence of the United States' Vice President is undergoing renovation.

The couple is living at Blair House, near the White House.

TIME FOR INDIA, PAK TO BURY THE PAST: BAJWA

Islamabad, March 18: Pakistan Army chief General Qamar Javed Bajwa said on Thursday that it was time for India and Pakistan to "bury the past and move forward" as he asserted that the peace between the two neighbours would help to "unlock" the potential of South and Central Asia.

Addressing a session of the first-ever Islamabad Security Dialogue here, Gen Bajwa also said that the potential for regional peace and development always remained hostage to the disputes and issues between Pakistan and India — the two "nuclear-armed neighbours".

"We feel it is time to bury the past and move forward," he said, adding that the responsibility for a meaningful dialogue rested with India.

India last month said that it desires normal relations with Pakistan in an environment free of terror, hostility and violence. India has also told Pakistan that "talks and terror" cannot go together.

Man charged for killings in Atlanta

Atlanta (US), March 18: A white gunman was charged with killing eight people at three Atlanta-area massage parlours in an attack that sent terror through the Asian American community, which has increasingly been targeted during the coronavirus pandemic.

A day after the shootings, investigators were trying to unravel what might have compelled 21-year-old Robert Aaron Long to commit the worst mass killing in the US in almost two years. Long told police that Tuesday's attack was not racially motivated. He claimed to have a "sex addiction," and authorities said he apparently lashed out at what he saw as sources of temptation. But those statements spurred outrage and widespread scepticism given the locations and that six of the eight victims were women of Asian descent. The shootings appear to be at the "intersection of gender-based violence, misogyny and xenophobia," state Rep. Bee Nguyen said, the first Vietnamese American to serve in the Georgia House and a frequent advocate for women and communities of colour.

Atlanta Mayor Keisha Lance Bottoms said that regardless of the shooter's motivation, "it is unacceptable." Authorities said they didn't know if Long ever went to the massage parlours where the shootings occurred but that he was heading to Florida to attack "some type of porn industry." "He apparently has an issue, what he considers a sex addiction, and sees these locations as something that allows him to go to these places, and it's a temptation for him that he wanted to eliminate," Cherokee County sheriff's Capt. Jay Baker said.

RUSSIAN FM LAVROV TO VISIT CHINA

Moscow, March 18: Russian President Vladimir Putin said Thursday that US President Joe Biden's remarks about him reflect US own past and current problems. Biden was asked in an interview whether he thought Russian President Vladimir Putin is a killer and said "I do."

Russia on Wednesday announced it's recalling its ambassador in Washington for consultations.

Asked about Biden's remarks during a video call with residents of Crimea marking the anniversary of its 2014 annexation from Ukraine, Putin charged that they reflect the United States' own troubled past.

The Russian leader

pointed at America's past history of slaughtering Native Americans and slavery, arguing that the painful legacy has weighed on the United States. "Otherwise where would the Black Lives Matter movement come from," he said.

He added that Russia would still cooperate with the United States where it answers Moscow's interests.

N. KOREA'S NO TO U.S. OFFER FOR TALKS

Seoul, March 18: North Korea said Thursday it will ignore a United States offer for talks unless it withdraws its hostile policy on the North, days after Washington said it reached out to Pyongyang through various channels.

The statement by Choe Son Hui, the first foreign minister, came hours before the top diplomats and defense chiefs of the United States and South Korea meet in Seoul in their first joint talks in five years to discuss North Korea's nuclear programme.

We don't think there is need to respond to the US delaying-time trick again, Choe said in a statement carried by state media. We have already declared our stand that no (North Korea)-US contact and dialogue of any kind can be possible unless the US rolls back its hostile policy toward (North Korea). Therefore, we will disregard such an attempt of the US in the future, too.

US-China ties face new test in Alaska

Washington, March 18: The United States and China will face a new test in their increasingly troubled relations when top officials from both countries meet in Alaska. Ties between the world's two largest economies have been torn for years and the Biden administration has yet to signal it's ready or willing to back down on the hard-line stances taken under President Donald Trump.

Nor has China signaled it's prepared to ease the pressure it has brought to bear. Thus, the stage is set for a contentious first face-to-face meeting Thursday. Secretary of State Antony Blinken and national security adviser Jake Sullivan will meet China's top two diplomats, State Councilor Wang Yi and Chinese Communist Party foreign affairs chief Yang Jiechi in Anchorage, Alaska.

Difficult discussions are anticipated over trade, human rights in Tibet, Hong Kong, China's western Xinjiang region, Taiwan, Chinese assertiveness in the South China Sea, and the coronavirus pandemic. No agreements are expected.

"This really is a one-off meeting," said a senior administration official. "This is not the resumption of a particular dialogue mechanism or the beginning of a dialogue process." The official briefed reporters ahead of the meeting on the condition of anonymity. Blinken will attend the meeting having just come from Japan and South Korea, where he and Defence Secretary Lloyd Austin were promoting the Biden administration's commitment to its treaty allies in Asia. Just a day before the meeting, Blinken announced new sanctions on officials over China's crackdown on pro-democracy advocates in Hong Kong.

In response, the Chinese stepped up their rhetoric opposing US interference in domestic affairs. China, not unexpectedly, slammed the US criticism of the move to give a pro-Beijing committee power to appoint more of Hong Kong's lawmakers.

In meetings with Indian counterparts during your upcoming visit, I strongly encourage you to make clear that in all areas, including security cooperation, the US-India partnership must rest on adherence to democratic values, Menendez said in his letter, a copy of which was released to the press on Wednesday. 100,000 women held rallies against misogyny, dangerous workplace cultures

Oz police boss for app to prove sexual consent

Canberra, March 18: A senior Australian policeman suggested on Thursday a phone app be developed to document sexual consent in a bid to improve conviction rates in sex crime cases. New South Wales state Police Commissioner Mick Muller said dating apps have brought couples together and the same technology could also provide clarity on the question of consent.

"Technology doesn't fix everything, but ... it plays such a big role in people meeting at the moment. I'm just suggesting; is it part of the solution?" he said. He said the number of sexual assaults reported in Australia's most populous state was increasing while a prosecution success rate of only 2 per cent stemming from those reports showed the system was failing.

"Consent can't be implied," he wrote in News Corp. newspapers. "Consent must be active and ongoing throughout a sexual encounter." Responses to the consent app suggestion have been largely negative or skeptical. State Premier Gladys Berejiklik congratulated him on "taking a leadership position on having the conversation" about the sexual assault problem, but declined to share her opinion on the app.

Lesley-Anne Ey, a University of South Australia expert on harmful sexual behaviour involving children, said she didn't think the app would work. "I don't think they're going to interrupt the romance to put details into an app," Ey told Australian Broadcasting Corp. Catharine Lumby, a Sydney University specialist in ethics and accountability, described the app as a quick-fix that misunderstood the circumstances of sexual assaults. "Fundamentally what we are now having a reckoning with is the fact that there is a very small minority of men in this society who are opportunists, who make the decision to sexually assault women," Lumby said.

"They don't care where, how or why they do it. They will take the opportunity and I'm sure they are more than capable of manipulating technology," Lumby said. More than 100,000 women protested in rallies across Australia on Monday demanding justice while calling out misogyny and dangerous workplace cultures.

The public anger erupted after the Australian attorney general denied an allegation that he raped a 16-year-old girl 33 years ago, and a former government staffer alleged she was raped two years ago by a colleague in a minister's Parliament House office.

He said his suggestion could gain popularity in time. "To be honest with you, the app idea could be the worst idea I have in 2021, but the reality is in five years, perhaps it won't be," he said.

"If you think about dating 10 years ago, this concept of single people swiping left and right was a term that we didn't even know." A consent app similar to his proposal was launched in Denmark last month. But the app hasn't been widely adopted, with fewer than 5,000 downloads, according to mobile intelligence site Sensor Tower.

Tokyo ticket for safe bet Sharath

Doha: The seasoned Achanta Sharath Kamal on Thursday became the first Indian paddler to qualify for the Tokyo Olympic Games after a dominant win over Pakistan's Muhammad Rameez at the Asian Olympic Qualification tournament in Doha. The veteran Indian thrashed Rameez 11-4, 11-1, 11-5, 11-4 in little over 22 minutes in the second men's singles round-robin match in the South Asia group. Kamal had lost his opening match 9-11, 13-15, 11-5, 11-7, 12-10, 9-11, 8-11 to compatriot Gansekaran Sathiyam. The win over Rameez ensured at least a second-place finish for Kamal and it was enough to secure a spot in the delayed Games, scheduled to begin in July. One quota is awarded to the highest-ranked second-placed player in the event. Sharath being the top-ranked player in the group, secured the berth under the Asian quota. It will be his fourth appearance at the Olympic Games.

Oly official quits after sexist mock

Tokyo: The creative director for Tokyo's Olympic ceremonies resigned on Thursday for suggesting a female comedian appear as a pig, just weeks after the Games' chief stepped down over insulting remarks about women. Hiroshi Sasaki announced his decision after a report on Wednesday revealed his proposal that Naomi Watanabe, a popular celebrity and plus-size model, appear as an "Olympig" wearing pig ears at the opening ceremony. In a statement released early Thursday, Sasaki apologised to Watanabe and said he understood his suggestion was inappropriate.

"My idea would be a huge insult to Ms. Naomi Watanabe. This can't be taken back," he said. "I regret this from the bottom of my heart, and I deeply apologise to her and everyone who felt discomfort over this," he added. Watanabe, in a statement issued through her agency, said she was "surprised" by the remarks. — AFP

Slams maiden T20 fifty as India force series decider

Ahmedabad, March 18: A determined India beat England by eight runs in the fourth T20 International to level the five-match series 2-2 here on Thursday.

Invited to bat first, India scored 185 for 8 in the stipulated 20 overs, with Suryakumar Yadav (57) and Shreyas Iyer (37) doing the bulk of scoring at the Narendra Modi Stadium. Suryakumar's 31-ball effort was his maiden half-century in international cricket and Iyer made his runs in just 18 balls, hitting five fours and a six, as India managed to put up a challenging total.

Suryakumar smashed three sixes and six fours during his stay in the middle.

In reply, England were stopped at 177 for 8 in their full quota of overs. All-rounder Ben Stokes top-scored for England with 46 off 23 balls while Jason Roy smashed a 27-ball 40 at the top of the order.

Suryakumar, who replaced an injured Ishan Kishan, struck six fours and three sixes in his 31-ball 57 to top score for India after being asked to bat. He debuted in the second T20I but did not bat in that match. He did not play in the third game.

India did not have a big partnership but quickfire knocks from Shreyas Iyer (37 off 18 balls) and Rishabh Pant (30 off 23) took the hosts to their highest total of the series.

England again opened the attack with leg-spinner Adil Rashid but Rohit Sharma (12) clobbered him for a six in the first ball of the match and then followed it up with a four.

But Rohit's promising innings was cut short in the fourth over as he was caught and bowled by Jofra Archer, who took career-best figures of 4/33.

India's Suryakumar Yadav plays a shot against England during their fourth Twenty20 match at the Narendra Modi Stadium in Ahmedabad on Thursday.

Suryakumar hit Archer for a six in the first ball he faced in international cricket, picked up the gaps and found the boundaries to keep the scoreboard moving, though the England bowlers were by no means wayward.

India's 45 for 1 after the powerplay was not a top-notch effort but Suryakumar smacked Rashid for a six and a four in the seventh over to overtake opener KL Rahul (14). The home side suffered a double blow in his innings. India were 75 for 3 at halfway mark with Suryakumar going great guns. He reached his maiden international fifty from just 28 deliveries, with a four off Rashid in the 12th over.

Pant joined the party as he hit two fours off Stokes in the 13th over, taking

PAKISTAN HOPE TO HOST INDIA IN 2023 ASIA CUP

Karachi, March 18: Pakistan Cricket Board chairman Ehsan Mani is optimistic about hosting India in the Asia Cup in 2023 and hopes the political relations between the two neighbouring countries would improve by then. Mani informed that Sri Lanka will host the Asia Cup in 2022, ruling out any chances of the continental event being staged this year in June.

"In 2022 Sri Lanka will have it (Asia Cup) and in 2023 Pakistan will be hosting the regional event. I am optimistic that by time the political relations between the two countries would have improved and this would pave the way for the Indian team to come to Pakistan," Mani said. He also said that if the Indian team visits its neighbours, it will be a "big breakthrough" for Pakistan cricket. — PTI

INDONESIA PULL OUT AFTER +VE COVID-19 CASE

Birmingham, March 18: The Indonesian badminton team has withdrawn from the ongoing All England Championships after all the players and the officials were forced to self-isolate themselves for 10 days following a Covid-19 positive case in their flight to London, the world governing body (BWF) said on Thursday.

The world body said results of the matches that have already taken place will stand and "the draw will remain unchanged."

BWF later said that a Turkish player Neslihan Yigit was also forced to withdraw as she was on the same inbound flight from Turkey to UK as the Indonesian team. — PTI

Wrestler Ritika dies by suicide

Chandigarh, March 18: Wrestler Ritika Phogat (17), a cousin of the Phogat sisters, allegedly committed suicide in Haryana's Charkhi Dadri district after she lost the final bout of a tournament, police said on Thursday.

Ritika took the extreme step on the night of March 15, they said.

A native of Rajasthan's Jaipur village, Ritika was staying with her uncle and Dronacharya awardee Mahavir Singh Phogat in Charkhi Dadri's Balali village under Jhohu Kalan police station for the past four years, said Station House Officer (SHO) Dilbagh Singh.

She was upset over losing to her rival by one point in the final bout of a championship, he said.

The championship was held in Rajasthan's Bharatpur from March 12 to 14.

Ritika was learning and practising wrestling at the Mahavir Phogat Sports Academy in Charkhi Dadri.

Wrestling star Geeta Phogat described Ritika, her maternal cousin, as a "talented wrestler".

"It's a very sad moment for my family. Ritika was a talented wrestler and I don't know why she took such a step. Victory and defeat are a part of an athlete's life. We should never take such a step," she said in a tweet in Hindi.

Former Union minister Vijay Kumar Singh also took to Twitter to condole Ritika's death.

"Terrible news that we lost #RitikaPhogat who had a brilliant career ahead. The world has changed from where it was some decades ago. Athletes are facing pressures which were not there earlier. An essential part of their training should be to deal with these pressures," he said. — PTI

Nikhat Zareen (in blue) is declared winner over World Champion Ekaterina Patseva of Russia 5-0 in the Bosphorus Boxing Tournament in Istanbul on Thursday.

Nikhat stuns World No.1 to make Last 8

New Delhi, March 18: India's Nikhat Zareen stunned reigning world champion Paltceva Ekaterina to breeze into the women's 51kg quarterfinals at the Bosphorus Boxing tournament in Istanbul here.

The Asian Championships bronze medallist, Zareen caused a major upset on the second day of the tournament on Wednesday when she out-punched the Russian boxer 5-0.

The Indian pugilist will have yet another tough bout ahead as she takes on two-time world champion Kyzaibay Nazym of Kazakhstan in her last-eight round. Apart from Zareen, 2013 Asian champion Shiva Thapa, Sonia Lather and Parveen also registered victories in their respective categories to proceed to the quarterfinals. Thapa got the better of Kazakhstan's Smagulov Baghtiyov 3-2 in the men's 63kg division.

The third day of the event will witness six Indian boxers fighting it out in their respective quarterfinal bouts. Lather, Zareen, Parveen and Jyoti (69kg) will be seen in action in the women's category while Thapa and Solanki will present Indian challenge in the men's competition. — PTI

CHELSEA BLANK ATLETICO TO SAIL INTO CL QUARTERS

London, March 18: Thomas Tuchel said "super hungry" Chelsea have their sights set on reaching the Champions League final after Hakim Ziyech ended his goal drought to inspire a 2-0 win against Atletico Madrid in the Last 16 second leg on Wednesday.

Morocco forward Ziyech grabbed his first goal since October to put the hosts ahead in the first half at Stamford Bridge. Emerson came off the bench to score the late goal that sealed a comfortable 3-0 aggregate victory over the lacklustre La Liga leaders.

Adding to Atletico's misery, Stefan Savic was sent off in the closing stages for elbowing Antonio Rudiger in the stomach. While Chelsea were the superior side for long periods, Atletico could justifiably claim they should have had penalty for Cesar Azpilicueta's challenge on Yannick Carrasco when the score was 0-0.

Meanwhile, holders Bayern Munich also cruised into the quarterfinals as a 2-1 win over Lazio in the Last 16 second leg sealed a 6-2 aggregate victory. — AFP

After Dutee, Dhanalakshmi humbles Hima in 200 race

Patiala, March 18: S. Dhanalakshmi of Tamil Nadu, who had stunned Dutee Chand in the 100m final, on Thursday beat another star athlete Hima Das in the 200m semifinal heats by running a meet record time of 23.26 seconds in the Federation Cup National Senior Athletics Championships here on Thursday.

Her victory over Hima

Das (Assam) in the semifinal heats lifted her to the top 10 of Indian all-time list. Archana Suseendran (Tamil Nadu) won her semifinal heats in 24.07 seconds to raise expectations of an interesting final. It must be stated that both Hima Das (23.10) and Archana Suseendran (23.18) have faster times than the one blazed by Dhanalakshmi on Thursday. Dhanalakshmi's time bettered P. T. Usha's long-standing meet record of 22.80 seconds set in Chennai in 1998.

Having run 24.05 seconds when finishing third in the Federation Cup here two years ago, Dhanalakshmi had recorded a 23.47 in the Tamil Nadu State Championships in Sivakasi on January 24. — PTI

Lakshya leaps into quarters

Birmingham, March 18: Lakshya Sen on Thursday became the youngest Indian male shuttler to reach the All England Championship quarterfinals, where Olympic silver medallist P. V. Sindhu joined him with an easy win at the Super 1000 tournament here.

Sindhu, the reigning world champion, recorded a dominant 21-8, 21-8 win over Denmark's Line Christophersen in a completely lop-sided second-round match.

Earlier, Lakshya saw off France's Thomas Rouxel 21-18, 21-16 to make it to his maiden quarterfinals.

However, it was curtains for H. S. Prannoy and B. Sai Praneeth after the duo went down in the men's singles second round on Thursday.

Lakshya will next face Netherlands' world No 36 Mark Caljouw. Sindhu will take on Japan's third seed Akane Yamaguchi.

In the men's singles, Prannoy, a former top 10 player couldn't find his way across World No.1 Kento Momota, the Japanese playing his first event since a horrific accident that saw him undergo an eye surgery last year.

The Indian lost 15-21, 14-21 in a 48-minute match to bow out of the competition. Olympic hopeful Praneeth then squandered a first-game advantage, losing 21-15, 12-21, 12-21 to second seed Viktor Axelsen of Denmark.

Also ousted from the tournament was the mixed doubles pair of Satwicksairaj Rankiredy and Ashwini Ponnappa, who lost 19-21, 9-21 to Japanese duo of Yuki Kaneko and Misaki Matsutomo in the opening round.

Saina Nehwal, who finished second best here in 2015, looked in considerable pain, troubled by her right thigh. She decided to retire after lagging behind (8-21, 4-10) in her opening round match against seventh seed Mia Blichfeldt of Denmark. — PTI
