YSRC sweeps urban local body election in AP

Amaravati: n a landslide of unprecedented scale that is now being described as Jagan Wash, the ruling YSR Congress in Andhra Pradesh on Sunday swept the elections to the urban local bodies, literally burying the main opposition Telugu Desam in 75 municipalities and 11 municipal corporations. The humiliation for the TDP was such that it could cross the double-digit in only five ULBs while other opposition parties BJP and JSP made little gains. The Congress was nowhere in the picture. ■P4

Farmers' stir may continue till Dec: Rakesh Tikait

Allahabad, March 14: The Bhartiya Kisan Union-led farmer agitation against the three central farm laws may continue till December this year, the outfit's national spokesperson Rakesh Tikait said here on Sunday. Tikait made the statement while talking to reporters here after his recent visit to the poll-bound West Bengal. "This agitation possibly will stretch up to November or December this year," he said. Talking about his West Bengal visit, Tikait said during poll campaigning there, the central government people have been asking farmers to give them one feastful of rice. "I have advised Bengal farmers to ask grain seekers to fix an MSP of ₹1,850 per quintal for paddy before giving them a single grain of rice," Tikait told reporters here. He said after Bengal, he was planning to visit other parts of the country to press for the enactment of a law guaranteeing an MSP for various crops. "In Bihar, the paddy is currently being bought by traders at an abysmally low rate of ₹750 to ₹800 per quintal. I want a law guaranteeing the minimum support price for various crops," said Tikait. He said he was not going to sit in Delhi alone but was planning to visit all over the country, including Madhya Pradesh on March 14 and 15, Ganga Nagar in Rajasthan on March 17, Ghazipur's UP Gate border in Delhi on March 18, Odisha on March 19 and Karnataka on March 21 and 22. During his visit here, Tikait also garlanded a statue of his late father and farmer leader Mahendra Singh Tikait at Tikait Park in Jhalwa near here. The BKU spokesperson claimed the three central laws will lead to the closure of all small-time neighbourhood shops, leaving only big commercial malls to survive. "These farm laws will ruin traders and lead to the closure of small business utilities and the collapse of small industries. These laws will bring in big multinational firms like Walmart," claimed Tikait. "Had this government belonged to a political party, it would have talked to farmers and resolved the matter," Tikait said.

Quad to promote free Indo-Pacific

SRIDHAR KUMARASWAMI
NEW DELHI, MARCH 14

In their second strong veiled public message to China within two days, the leaders of the four-nation "Quad" -- comprising the United States, India, Japan and Australia -- have jointly declared that they were "recommitting to a shared vision for an Indo-Pacific region" that is "free, open, secure, prosperous, and inclusive" and "governed by international law and bedrock principles such as freedom of navigation and peaceful resolution of disputes" wherein "all countries are able to make their own political choices, free from coercion", adding that "in recent years, that vision has increasingly been tested".

In a joint article published in The Washington Post on Sunday, within two days of their historic virtual summit hosted by Mr Biden on Friday, the four leaders -- US President Joe Biden, Prime Minister Narendra Modi, Japanese Prime Minister Yoshihide Suga and Australian Prime Minister Scott Morrison -- once again mentioned their momentous Covid-19 vaccine initiative and vowed to "partner at each stage to ensure that vaccines are administered throughout the Indo-Pacific region into 2022", adding that they would "combine our scientific ingenuity, financing, formidable productive capacity and long history of global-health partnership to surge the supply of life-saving vaccines".

The four leaders said: "Our vaccine initiative will be guided by a Quad vaccine experts working group that brings together the sharpest scientific leaders from Australia, India, Japan and the United States to meet the region's pressing needs." As per this initiative the "vaccines will be developed in the US, manufactured in India, financed by Japan and the US, and supported by Australia" that will amount to "at least one billion doses of Covid-19 vaccines by the end of 2022".

Tweeting about the opinion piece, Mr Modi said on Sunday morning that the four leaders had written about the "shared vision" of their countries "as the Quad works towards a free, open, secure, inclusive and prosperous Indo-Pacific". The four leaders also wrote they would meet in person by the end of this year.

DMDK strikes 60-seat deal with AMMK

DC CORRESPONDENT
CHENNAI, MARCH 14

Actor-politician Vijaykanth's DMDK struck a deal with TTV Dhinakaran's AMMK by which the DMDK gets 60 seats in the alliance. Other parties like SDPI and Owaisi's AIMIM have already struck minor deals in which they got six seats and three seats respectively from AMMK.

The negotiations between DMDK and AMMK had stretched out for a couple of days after the DMDK withdrew from the AIADMK alliance because it had not been offered sufficient number of seats. The AMMK deal is to be considered favourable for a party that has progressively failed to attract the voter since an impressive enough debut in electoral politics. However, in the 2016 TN assembly elections when the DMDK had forged an alliance with the Left, DMDK and VCK to field candidates in 104 seats, it had won none.

Saravanan claims 'torture' by DMK Dt secretaries, joins BJP

Chennai, March 14: Weeks before assembly elections, DMK legislator P Saravanan joined the BJP here on Sunday, protesting what he called the 'dominance' and 'silent torture' by the district-level officer-bearers of the Dravidian party.

Saravanan, representing Tirupparankundram constituency in Madurai region, is the second DMK MLA after Ku Ka Selvam (Thousand Lights constituency here) to join the BJP ahead of the April 6 assembly polls.

Joining the BJP party in the presence of state unit president L. Murugan, Saravanan indicated arm-twisting by district level officer-bearers as the reason for quitting the Dravidian outfit, which is leaving no stone unturned to return to power in the state after being in opposition for 10 years.

When asked if he had taken up with the DMK brass about the issues he faced, Saravanan, who was elected to the assembly in 2019 bypoll, said district secretaries gave a kind of 'silent torture' to him. The intra-party issues were taken to the notice of second-rung leadership but to no avail, he claimed.

District secretaries ruled the roost in DMK and it caused regret to many, he alleged. Though some adapted themselves to the situation, he could not as he viewed politics only as an extension of his services to the people, he maintained.

Saravanan said he is a medical doctor, and considering his 'soft-nature' he could not put up with such an ambience in the DMK and that was why he joined the BJP.

DC CORRESPONDENT
CHENNAI, MARCH 14

The Congress released the list of candidates for 21 of the 25 Assembly constituencies allotted to it by the DMK and for the Kanniyakumari Lok Sabha constituency late on Saturday night in New Delhi. As anticipated, V. Vijayakumar alias Vijay Vasanth, son of H. Vasanthakumar whose death caused the vacancy, is the candidate for the Kanyakumari Lok Sabha byelection.

The names of candidates for four Assembly constituencies were withheld after protests at the TNCC headquarters in the city. Among prominent candidates declared are R. Mohan Kumaraman-galam, son of late Union Minister Rangarajan Kumaramangalam for Omalur. Mayura S. Jayakumar will stand in Coimbatore South against MNM founder and actor Kamal Haasan and BJP candidate Vanathi Srinivasan as the seat has been allotted to the national party by AIADMK. Thirumogan Evera, son of former TNCC president E.V.K.S. Elangovan, will seek election in Erode (East). The Congress had won three Assembly constituencies in Kanyakumari district in 2016 but only the candidate for Kiliyoor has been announced with sitting MLA, S. Rajeshkumar renominated. Rubi Manoharan gets Nanguneri where Vasanthakumar had won but resigned to contest from Kanniyakumari in the 2019 Lok Sabha election.

Puducherry, March 14:

High drama unfolded at the Puducherry Pradesh Congress Committee office here on Sunday during a meeting to finalise the candidates list for the April 6 assembly poll, when some party men opposed the allocation of 'key' seats to the DMK.

Noisy scenes were witnessed at the screening committee meeting for a while and senior party leaders including former Chief Minister V. Narayanasamy intervened to pacify the disgruntled workers.

A delegation of AICC including Digvijay Singh, Pallam Raju, Sanjay Dutt and Dinesh Gundu Rao were deputised by the high command to hold discussions with the local leaders and prepare the list of candidates of the party.

The Congress has been earmarked 15 seats while its alliance partner the DMK has been allotted 13 seats. Cadres from Mangalam constituency and Tirubhuvani and Mannadipet segments, who gathered at the party office, registered their protest against these seats being given to the DMK, a constituent of the Secular Democratic Alliance. They were also up in arms against the Congress being allotted six seats less this time than the previous poll held in 2016.

During the meeting, one of the functionaries of the party from Mangalam constituency attempted to present a DMK flag to the party president A. V. Subramaniam symbolically show that Congress has bartered away key constituencies of the party to DMK, which set in motion heated arguments.

Congress, DMK field old faces in Ooty, Coonoor

B. RAVICHANDRAN | DC
OOTY, MARCH 14

It is a case of 'old wine in a new jar' for the Congress and the DMK, as these parties have preferred old faces to contest in Ooty and Coonoor constituencies.

The Congress has announced that its incumbent MLA of Ooty R. Ganesh will contest from Ooty assembly constituency again. He is contesting here in Ooty for the third straight election. While he narrowly lost in 2011 polls to the AIADMK in the 2016 polls, he won comfortably against the AIADMK rival. Ganesh, known for his polite demeanor, is also president, Nilgiris district Congress committee, for over a decade. No doubt, he has almost made Congress his own in the hills and is in firm control over the party in the Nilgiris. But for the first time in decades, he will encounter a direct contest from the BJP, backed by the AIADMK. One has to wait and see how the fight between the Congress and BJP turns out.

In Coonoor assembly constituency, the DMK has fielded K. Ramachandran, an old guard who won the 2006 polls in Gudalur constituency and 2011 polls in the Coonoor constituency. Incidentally, he served as Khadi board minister in the M.K. Karunanidhi cabinet between 2006 and 2011. When he was denied ticket to contest in Coonoor in 2016, the DMK witnessed widespread protest that saw even some of the DMK cadres throwing slippers at DMK bigwig A. Raja's car when he visited Kotagiri for a meeting. That made the DMK high command to plunge into action to pacify Ramachandran.

A staunch rival to B.M. Mubarak, district secretary of DMK in the Nilgiris, Ramachandran has to face the stiff challenge from AIADMK this time.

A spokesman of the block level committee of the Mannadipet Assembly constituency told media that it is a 'big injustice' the Congress meted out to its party men by letting DMK field its candidates in certain key constituencies, from where the victory of the national party would be a certainty.

Police and the central armed police force personnel rushed to the Congress party office and stood guard outside. Talks held by AICC delegates came to a halt when the protest by those feeling disappointed over the allocation of the Mannadipet, Mangalam and Tirubhuvani (reserved) segments to DMK erupted inside the party office.

After restoration of order, the venue of the deliberations was shifted to the first floor from the ground floor. — PTI

Vanathi Srinivasan is facing Kamal Haasan in Coimbatore South

From P1

The 'ghar wapsi' Saravanan, who returns to the BJP as the sitting DMK MLA from Thirupparankundram, has been rewarded with a ticket to contest the Assembly poll from the Madurai North constituency. He had been denied a ticket by DMK.

Actor-politician Khushboo has been given the ticket to contest from Thousand Lights seat where she will be taking on DMK's N. Ezhilan. With this, the much anticipated fight for the Chepauk constituency where DMK chief M.K. Stalin's son Udha-yanidhi is standing as a debutant with Khushboo becomes a non-starter.

Vanathi Srinivasan is the candidate for Coimbatore South, where she will be facing actor-politician

Kamal Haasan and Congress' Mayura Jayakumar. Nainar Nagendran, who had surprised everyone by filing his nomination two days ago for the Tirunelveli seat, has been given the constituency. He will be facing DMK's Lakshmanan. Former IPS officer K. Annamalai is being fielded at Aravakurichi against DMK's R. Elango.

The other candidates are

Vinoj P. Selvam (Harbour), Thanigavelu (Tiruvanna-malai), ex-MLA Kalivarathan (Thirukovilur), C.K. Saraswathi (Modakurichi), D. Periyasamy (Thittakudi), Poondi S. Venkatesan (Thiruvayaru), H. through performances including street dramas, political satire and music concerts.

Not only political parties but also the Election Commission of India (ECI), responsible for conducting free and fair polls, is using talent of these artistes to reach out to the voters during election season.

For instance, the electoral officials under Greater Chennai Corporation (GCC) have roped in a city-based music band 'On the Streets of Chennai' led by a group of youngsters to attract youth to take part in the electoral process under Systematic Voters' Education and Electoral Participation (SVEEP) programme.

They performed at Gandhi statue at Marina promenade on Sunday. Senthil Raj, a member of the band, said they had always been busy during election time as the government agencies, especially ECI, wanted to create awareness among people. "We have never performed for any particular political parties. But many political parties use art and music to reach out to voters. This time we are creating messages through music through SVEEP programme under GCC. We will conduct concerts in every main point of the city," he said.

According to GCC, at least 65,982 first time voters in Chennai will take part of democratic process in the upcoming election.

G. Prakash, GCC Commissioner, who is also District Election Officer, launched these campaigns as part of SVEEP and it continues to create awareness among voters with the Musical Awareness Program held at Gandhi statue at Marina promenade drumming up slogans like "Mask up Chennai, Vote Chennai".

With the final list of candidates announced by all major political parties, another fight will be for wall space. Most of them have already reserved wall spaces of private buildings and government structures like culverts, bridges and compounds walls," said painter M Mani, an artiste who is busy putting up political graffiti.

There is, however, a sudden jump in the illegal political advertisements after elections were announced.

Recently, the GCC has painted over or removed 16,000 illegal advertisements including political graffiti, posters and hoardings from buildings at more than 8,000 locations in all 16 Assembly constituencies in the city.

His Purampokku revolved around the relevance of capital punishment in a democratic society. Laabam, starring Vijay Sethupathi and Shruti Haasan, explores the lives of farmers and how they have been exploited right from the time the British ruled us.

Compensation can't be denied on mere suspicion: HC

J. STALIN | DC
CHENNAI, MARCH 13

Holding that mere suspicion cannot be a ground to deny compensation to victims, the Madras high court has awarded ₹8 lakh as damages to the family of a person, who fell down from a running train between Nalli and Kovilpatti railway stations and died while returning from Madurai on March 6, 2014.

Justice S.M. Subramaniam granted the award while allowing a petition filed by C. Solaippan and S. Velammal, parents of the deceased, and set aside the order of the railway claims tribunal, rejecting their petition claiming compensation from the railways on the ground that the deceased was not a bona fide passenger and falling down from the train was not established.

The judge said there was a possibility of a passenger falling from a running train not being noticed by any person and there were many possibilities of an untoward incident. Even in case of availability of witnesses, co-passengers may not come forward to depose before the courts. All such practical difficulties and the prevailing situations should be taken into consideration for extending the benefit of compensation to the victims. There was no evidence to establish a trespass in the present case. The divisional railway manager's report states that it was a case where there was suspicion. Mere suspicion cannot be a ground to deny compensation. Therefore, this court was bound to consider the concept of social justice as well as social protection to be extended to such victims which was an obligation on the part of a civilised nation.

KERALA MAHILA CONGRESS CHIEF RESIGNS

Thiruvananthapuram, March 14: In an embarrassment to the Congress in Kerala, party's women's wing president Lathika Subhash on Sunday resigned from the post hurt over the denial of Ettumanoor seat to her, shortly after the candidates list for the April 6 Assembly polls was released in New Delhi.

The 56-year-old senior leader also shaved her head sitting in front of the Congress office here as a mark of protest.

Subhash, who met reporters at the party headquarters Indira Bhavan here, soon after the KPCC chief Mullappally Ramachandran announced the party list at New Delhi, said it was short of women candidates.

Of the list of 86 candidates released today by the Congress, only nine are women. It may be for the first time that any leader in any political party in Kerala has taken such a drastic step in protest against the party leadership for denial of poll ticket.

A known woman face among party leaders and activists, Lathika Subhash had taken over as the head of Mahila Congress in 2018 from Bindhu Krishna, now a party candidate in Kollam.

A weeping Subhash said she tonsured her head as a symbol of protest for all the women in the party, who have been toiling hard for the success of other candidates, but have been sidelined and ignored by the leadership for years.

She also said she does not want to continue in a position which could not earn her even a deserved election ticket.

YOGENDRA YADAV SAYS GOAL IS TO DEFEAT BJP

Guwahati, March 14: Activist Yogendra Yadav met jailed Rajgor Dal president Akhil Gogoi on Sunday and appealed to the people to defeat the ruling BJP in Assam.

Yadav and Kisan Sangharsh Samiti leader Sunilam met Gogoi at the Gauhati Medical College Hospital. "Gogoi has put up 19 candidates in the 86 seats in the first two phases. His goal is to ensure that the BJP is defeated," Yadav said.

"We have come with one message that the BJP should be ousted for the way it has treated farmers and taken decisions against their interests and welfare," the Samyukt Kisan Morcha leader said.

Yadav said that he had met Gogoi in jail in February last year and his health condition has deteriorated considerably since then.

"He has been subjected to considerable mental torture and his medical condition has deteriorated but still the ideological clarity, mental resolve and the courage shown by him is a model," he said.

Yadav alleged that Gogoi has been put in jail to ensure that he cannot interact with the people during the elections.

"This is not a criminal trial but a political trial," he alleged. Yadav said that he had not gone to discuss politics but Gogoi was very interested to know how the farmers' agitation was progressing.

BJP POLARISING HINDUS, SAYS AIUDF CHIEF

New Delhi, March 14: Asserting that unlike in 2016 there is "No Modi wave" in the Assam Assembly polls this time, AIUDF chief Badruddin Ajmal on Sunday alleged that the BJP was attempting to polarise the Hindus by pointing at him, invoking the 'Mughals' and portraying the Muslims as enemies, but said the ruling party will not succeed.

Dismissing as "baseless" the BJP's charge of communalism against his All India United Democratic Front (AIUDF), Ajmal claimed "no outfit was more secular" than his party in Assam, and cited the AIUDF giving substantial representation to non-Muslims in elections in the past.

Ajmal said the Assam election would be a "turning point" for the country as the BJP's defeat will begin from the state. It is a part of along with the Congress, is fighting hard for it, he said.

The BJP will be defeated in the polls in West Bengal, Assam, Tamil Nadu, Kerala and Puducherry, and this will send a message to the entire country, he said, exuding confidence that "secular forces" will win.

Didi shuns bedrest, renews campaign in 'wheelchair'

Warns the saffron party of prowess of a "wounded tiger" than a dead one

RAJIB CHOWDHURI | DC KOLKATA, MARCH 14

Within two days of returning home from hospital against doctors' advice, and ignoring their prescription of a two weeks of bed rest, West Bengal Chief Minister Mamata Banerjee, sitting on a wheelchair with a plaster on her left ankle, resumed her campaign for the Assembly elections on Sunday, warning the BJP of the prowess of a "wounded tiger" than a dead one.

The Trinamul Congress supremo was speaking after she led a party rally from Gandhi statue on Mayo Road to Hazra in South Kolkata. The rally took place hours before Union home minister Amit Shah's arrival on a two-day state tour and his roadshow for actor-turned-BJP candidate Hiran Chatterjee in Kharagpur of West Midnapore in the evening.

The BJP, however, suffered a massive jolt when Behala East MLA and TMC defector Sovan Chatterjee, along with his close friend Baishakhi Banerjee, decided to quit the BJP soon after it announced Tollywood actor Payel Sarkar's name as its candidate against his estranged wife Ratna Chatterjee of the TMC in his Assembly constituency. Chatterjee, who was the BJP (Kolkata Zone) observer, wanted a ticket either for himself or Baishakhi, a co-convenor in his wing, at the seat.

Mamata Banerjee told the crowd, "We have a big responsibility to protest democracy from the autocrats and bring it back to the common people. Evil power should be defeated and destroyed. Good power must arise. The conspiracy and ploy encircling Bengal shall cease to exist. May people of Bengal conquer all. Live peacefully and take care. Have restraint. Have faith in me. YSR Congress sweeps AP's urban local bodies election

Amaravati, March 14: In a landslide of unprecedented scale that is now being described as Jagan Wash, the ruling YSR Congress in Andhra Pradesh on Sunday swept the elections to the urban local bodies, literally burying the main opposition Telugu Desam in 75 municipalities and 11 municipal corporations.

The humiliation for the TDP was such that it could cross the double-digit in only five ULBs while other opposition parties BJP and JSP made little gains.

The Congress was nowhere in the picture.

In a late night tweet, Chief Minister Y.S. Jagan

Mohan Reddy dubbed it as a great victory of the people and said it enhanced the responsibility on him to deliver better. "This historic win was possible with the blessings of each sister, brother, grandmother, grandfather and friend. As a member of your family, I strive to do much better," the YSRC chief remarked.

The YSRC attributed the resounding victory to the faith people reposed in the leadership of Mr Reddy, who lives up to his promises and implemented a welfare agenda in the last 22 months. The ruling party also claimed the verdict was an endorsement of the governments decision to have three different capitals for the state.

TDP president N Chandrababu Naidu, in a tweet, told his party rank and file there was nothing to be disappointed with the results. "We fought well despite rowdiness, threats, intimidation, abuse of power and inducements," he claimed.

Sadly for the TDP, it failed to make a mark in either Vijayawada or Guntur municipal corporations, which form part of the current capital region Amaravati, where people have been opposing the capital trifurcation plan. — PTI

SHAH: BJP WILL BRING BACK 'SONAR BANGLA'

Kharagpur (WB), March 14: Union home minister Amit Shah on Sunday promised that after coming to power, the BJP will be successful in ushering in "true change in West Bengal and turn the state into 'Sonar Bangla' (Golden Bengal) again."

The senior BJP leader held a colourful roadshow at Kharagpur town in Paschim Medinipur district in support of BJP candidates contesting the West Bengal Assembly election.

Shah claimed that the huge turnout in the roadshow underscored that people want change in the state under the leadership of Prime Minister Narendra Modi.

"I promise that the BJP government will be successful in bringing 'asli parivartan' (true change) and 'Sonar Bangla' will be created again," Shah said in a brief speech at the end of the roadshow.

The roadshow, held between the local BJP office 'Premhari Bhavan' and Malancha petrol pump, took over an hour to cover the less than one kilometre stretch, as the huge gathering made it almost impossible for the motorcade to move ahead.

Shah was accompanied by BJP national general secretary in-charge of West Bengal Kailash Vijayvargiya and the party's state president Dilip Ghosh.

Thousands of people took part in the roadshow, which began after sundown, while people also gathered on rooftops and balconies in buildings on both sides of the road to watch it. Shah waved at the spectators and threw rose petals at the participants of the roadshow. — PTI

The four leaders said: "We will renew and strengthen our partnerships in Southeast Asia, starting with the Association for Southeast Asian Nations (Asean), work with the Pacific Islands, and engage the Indian Ocean region to meet this moment. The Quad is a flexible group of like-minded partners dedicated to advancing a common vision and to ensuring peace and prosperity. We welcome and will seek opportunities to work with all of those who share in those goals."

Talking about the situation way back in December 2004, when the Indo-Pacific region was hit by the tsunami, the four leaders pointed out that their four countries had then "answered the clarion call for help" and that their "cooperation, known as 'the Quad' was born in crisis, became a diplomatic dialogue in 2007 and was reborn in 2017", adding that "we are again summoned to act together in support of a region in need".

With reference to the Covid-19 pandemic and other challenges, the four leaders said: "In this dark hour, our partnership offers a spark of hope to light the path ahead. Our foundations of democracy and a commitment to engagement unite us. ... We summon from tragedy the strength and resilience to unify and overcome. And we recommit ourselves, once again, to an Indo-Pacific region that is free, open, secure and prosperous."

Mob sorry for

temple in Pak

Peshawar, March 14: The Hindu community in Pakistan's restive Khyber Pakhtunkhwa has decided to pardon the mob that vandalised and burned down a century-old temple in the province. The local clerics and members of the Hindu community held a meeting on Saturday to resolve the dispute.

As per the dialogue, informally called 'jigra', the accused have tendered an apology over the attack and a similar incident in 1997. The Muslim clerics have assured full protection to the Hindus and their rights as per the country's Constitution. A reconciliation statement from the meeting would be presented to the Supreme Court, in a bid to secure the release of the ac-used from detention. On December 30 last year, a mob led by some local clerics and members of radical Islamist party Jamiat Ulema-e-Islam vandalised the temple and an adjoining 'samadhi' and set it on fire in Karak district. —PTI

Several former and current royal aides who could not give evidence in court during Meghan Markle's recent legal case about privacy against a British newspaper are expected to speak to the inquiry.

The actual worst incidents haven't come out. There are some harrowing stories to tell, the newspaper quoted a royal source as saying. The complaint against Meghan dates back to October 2018 when an email was sent by a member of the Duke and Duchess of Sussex's staff to a senior courtier. —PTI

Our commitment to look into the circumstances around the allegations from former staff of the Duke and Duchess of Sussex is being taken forward but we will not be providing a public commentary on it, a Buckingham Palace spokesperson said.

Both Home Secretary Priti Patel and London mayor Sadiq Khan said they had asked for explanations from the Metropolitan police over how the vigil was handled.

And Liberal Democrats leader Ed Davey called for Metropolitan police chief Cressida Dick to resign, having "lost the confidence of millions of women in London".

Reclaim These Streets — who initially organised the event in south London's Clapham — condemned the actions of officers "physically manhandling women at a vigil against male violence."

Social media footage showed police restraining and handcuffing some mourners, leading to an outpouring of criticism from across the political spectrum.

The murder of Everard, who vanished after setting out to walk home from a friend's flat, has shocked the country and brought discussion around women's safety to the fore once again.

Organisers had cancelled the vigil after police outlawed it because of Covid-19 restrictions, but hundreds still turned out, with tensions overspilling as Saturday night fell.

Mourners shouted "shame on you" at police, with tensions running high as a man arrested in connection with Everard's murder is an officer.

In the hours following the vigil, rage mounted with pressure groups and politicians condemning police actions. Opposition Labour MP Harriet Harman condemned the "terrible" scenes at Clapham in a tweet, adding: "Met mishandled vigil plan from the outset. They should have reached agreement."

Labour leader Keir Starmer called the scenes "deeply disturbing" and also criticised the way the vigil was policed.

Caroline Nokes, the conservative chair of the women and equalities committee, said she was "truly shocked at the scenes from Clapham Common — in this country we police by consent, not by trampling the tributes and dragging women to the ground". —AFP

Moscow, March 14: Russian police on Saturday arrested around 200 opposition politicians and municipal deputies at a Moscow conference as authorities tighten the screws on Kremlin critics ahead of parliamentary elections. A police raid on an opposition conference dedicated to running for municipal office came after President Vladimir Putin's top critic Alexei Navalny was jailed for two and a half years last month and more than 10,000 protesters detained across the country.

While Russian police routinely break up opposition protests, the mass arrests of municipal deputies at a conference in Moscow were unprecedented. Participants from more than 50 of Russia's regions had gathered to discuss parliamentary and local elections in September at a forum organised by a project backed by prominent Kremlin critic Mikhail Khodorkovsky. Forty minutes into the conference police broke up the event and detained the participants.

"The ENTIRE forum of Russian municipal deputies has been detained in Moscow!" Khodorkovsky said on Twitter, calling the detentions "unconstitutional". US Secretary of State Antony Blinken called for an end to "persecution of independent voices". —AFP

On Saturday, the civilian leader of Myanmar's government in hiding vowed to continue supporting a revolution to oust the military leaders who seized power in the February 1 coup. Mahn Win Khaing Than, who was named the acting vice president by Myanmar's ousted lawmakers and is a member of deposed leader Aung San Suu Kyi's political party, addressed the public for the first time since the coup. This is the darkest moment of the nation and the moment that the dawn is close, he said in a video posted on the shadow government's website and social media. —AP

In Yangon, video posted on social media showed crowds of people, some wearing hard hats and gas masks, running down a street amid sounds of gunfire. The demonstrators quickly sprayed vapour from fire extinguishers as they retreated.

The use of fire extinguishers common now in protests across Myanmar is intended to smother tear gas and also create a vapour screen that makes it harder for police to pursue or shoot demonstrators. There were also reports of injuries from live rounds and rubber bullets in other parts of Yangon, including Insein district, where billows of black smoke could be seen after clearance operations. A third person died in the northern city of Hpakant when police fired into a crowd of demonstrators, local media reported. A fourth victim, a woman, died after being shot in the head in Mandalay, the country's second-largest city, as security forces were conducting clearance operations. In Yangon, video posted on social media showed crowds of people, some wearing hard hats and gas masks, running down a street amid sounds of gunfire. The demonstrators quickly sprayed vapour from fire extinguishers as they retreated.

Yangon, March 14: At least four people were shot dead during protests in Myanmar on Sunday, as security forces continued their violent crackdown against dissent following last month's military coup. Two of the victims were killed in Yangon, the country's largest city. One of them was shot in the head and another was shot in the abdomen in Hlaing Thar Yar Township.

Quad still regional body, but headed towards ‘near-Nato’

It is a testimony of sorts to the probable durability of the Quad — the loose, informal, association of the US, Japan, India and Australia which began life in 2007 with political criticism in India for New Delhi entering into an “alliance” with the US and its Cold War allies — that Prime Minister Narendra Modi, US President Joe Biden, Australia’s PM Scott Morrison, and the Japan PM Yoshihide Suga should pen a joint article in the Washington Post on Sunday — just days after their virtual summit last Friday — in which they played the Quad as a conglomerate of democracies to ensure “freedom of coercion” in the Indo-Pacific, the stretch from the Indian Ocean region to Japan.

This area has borne the brunt of the all-too-visible rise of China as an economic and military power that aims to challenge the supremacy of the US on the world stage, much like the former Soviet Union had done for four decades after the Second World War.

If that was a fight against Communism and encompassed the world, with the Nato — a military alliance of the US and its West European allies — in the lead role, the Quad is projected as a “regional” institution which purports to oppose “autocracy” from the standpoint of “democracy”.

This is the formulation US national security advisor Jake Sullivan offered to the media in Washington after the virtual summit last Friday. He specifically rejected the “propaganda” that the Quad was the “new Nato” by noting — rightly — that the Nato was a military alliance while the Quad would work on “fundamental issues” of the economy, technology, climate and security — in particular “maritime security”.

Come to think of it, such a remit does not differ so greatly from the avatar into which Nato has evolved in the post-Cold War era, except that the Quad is posited for the present as a regional entity.

If North Korea and the military takeover in Burma are autocracy-democracy contestations in the American readout of the Sullivan press conference, there can be little question that Hong Kong, Taiwan, Xinjiang, the Senkaku Islands where China militarily rubs up against Japan, and the Chinese military intrusion into eastern Ladakh, relate squarely to China.

The China focus is hard to miss as none of the summeeters had “any illusion about China”, Mr Sullivan reported. If it weren’t for this, Mr Sullivan is unlikely to have presented the Quad summit as “a great day for American diplomacy”. The US sees itself pitted against China in competition in which it intends “to prevail”. The US NSA noted that the highest-level meet of the Quad was President Biden’s first summit since he was elected fifty days ago, underlining the unusual significance of the meet. The Quad was also extolled as an “emergent institution” that was a “critical” part of the “architecture” of the Indo-Pacific region, and the leaders agreed to adopt coordinated positions on China.

The focus of the summit was not China, however. That may have made the summit uni-dimensionally adversarial. It was the common fight against Covid-19 in which American technology, Indian manufacturing, Japanese and American finance, and Australia’s “logistics” support are to contribute one billion doses of vaccines by 2022 for the Indo-Pacific area and beyond.

After the near “coup” in America this January, and the derisive calling of India an “elected autocracy” by a Swedish institution, the autocracy-democracy trope could well be under debate.

Enforcing mask rules is vital

With the fears of a second wave of the pandemic lurking around, the government seems to have decided to crack down on violators of Covid-appropriate behaviour. While the director-general of civil aviation has directed airline companies to deplane passengers who refuse to wear masks properly and even put them on a no-fly list for a certain period of time, the Maharashtra government has hired Covid marshals to impose the practice on public places, including public transport.

The sudden spurt in the number of cases being reported every day has made India once again the country with the second largest number of people infected by coronavirus, surpassing Brazil. Experts have not singled out a reason for the potential second wave but one reason can arguably be the lackadaisical approach people have towards the pandemic. People in most states have long stopped wearing masks while social gatherings go on uninterrupted as if there was no pandemic around. The opening of educational institutions and recreation avenues would have only accentuated the scene. Elections in five states scheduled for March and April are unlikely to help the situation either.

At present, six states together contribute more than four-fifth of the total number of active cases but there is no guarantee that it will not spread further. The government will have to revisit the restrictions it had imposed last year when the pandemic began spreading if it were to avoid a total national lockdown. True, there is Covid fatigue among the people but we are left with few options.

The government must re-energise the vaccination programme in the meanwhile. Reports suggest that it could take years to vaccinate at least 70 per cent of the population and attain herd immunity. This is unacceptable. India has exported more vaccines than it has used to inoculate its people. It must work with the vaccine manufacturers and the private sector in healthcare to speed up the process. A comprehensive multi-pronged approach is needed to stop a second wave, if it is in the offing.

To fulfil Quad promise, will India ‘self-correct’?

K.C. Singh

President Joe Biden’s decision to hold the first-ever “leaders’ summit” of the Quarilateral, or “Quad”, hosted “virtually” with the Prime Ministers of India, Japan and Australia, early in his tenure on March 12, days before his secretary of state Antony Blinken visits Japan, South Korea and China, sent a clear and unmistakable message to Beijing. Mr Biden wanted the group, with a nebulous agenda so far, to get more focused on meeting a number of contemporary challenges, many emanating from China.

The Quad has a chequered history, shaped by political developments in each country, amid unsettled debate in each nation on whether China was best managed through engagement or containment or a subtle mix of the two. The group was born in May 2007, on the sidelines of a Asean Regional Forum meeting in the Philippines. The then leaders of the four nations favoured closer engagement between the major democracies of the Indo-Pacific. Japan’s PM Shinzo Abe was a strong proponent; Australia had a right-wing Liberal Party government and US President George W. Bush was in the penultimate year of his second term. It was only in India that Prime Minister Manmohan Singh faced resistance from the Communists, who were giving “outside support” to the ruling UPA.

Thus, the preponderance of opinion favoured a low-profile meeting at the additional or assistant secretary level. I had the privilege to represent India at that historic meeting, which built on a rudimentary engagement between the four nations for humanitarian assistance and disaster relief during the deadly 2004 tsunami. China immediately understood that, the criteria for membership being a democracy, it stood excluded, if not targeted. It made strong demarches in all the capitals opposing it.

But the favourable domestic factors altered when Prime Minister Abe lost power in September 2007 and the Labour Party won in Australia in the following December. New Australian PM Kevin Rudd, former diplomat and Sinologist, chose engagement with China over light containment or regional balancing.

Chinese assertiveness is generally traced to the 2008 financial crisis which rattled the Western financial markets. China saw itself as the bulwark that stabilised the global economy. The Chinese leadership began its power grab in a world in which the United States seemed weakened and distracted by the wars in Afghanistan and Iraq. However, it took another decade before the four nations again had their domestic politics align in the hands of right-wing parties. Prime Minister Narendra Modi won power in May 2014, President Donald Trump took charge in January 2017. Liberals trounced the Labour Party in Australia in 2013 and Mr Abe was back in office in Tokyo in 2012, to rule till 2020. The scenario was thus ripe and the Quad reincarnated in 2017. It matured gradually with meetings elevated to the ministerial level, including one hosted by Japan in person in 2020 despite the pandemic. Moreover, the China problem became clear after four years of Trumpian trade sanctions and fist-waving. Despite Chinese responsibility in letting the Covid-19 virus spread abroad, it was silent in the crucial initial phase, and after its quick economic rebound turned more aggressively to gain strategic advantage. Both its maritime ambitions and its continental territorial claims, such as the Ladakh intrusions into Soft power is at the root of the Quad. Will the government finally realise, as foreign parliaments debate whether democracy is degrading in India, that denial is not the answer?

Indian territory in mid-2020, were pursued ruthlessly.

All that remained to be seen, before the Quad could be rallied to reach the next level, was the China policy of President Joe Biden. He showed early that with decades of experience as a senator and later as vice-president, he was for continuity with smarter calibration. The Quad leaders’ summit last week displays this new China policy. The US realises the European powers are unwilling to rock the Chinese boat as they are dependent on the Chinese market, especially the Germans and French. The British, having detached from the European Union, have little leverage to rouse their erstwhile partners and risk Chinese ire by taking up its clear violations of the Hong Kong handover agreement, contemptuously abandoning treaty obligations.

The Quad leaders delivered their statements and then interacted. The joint statement, poetically titled “The Spirit of Quad”, spells out the immediate agenda in five paras. It opens by stating two nostrums: desirability of “free and open Indo-Pacific”; and the region “anchored by democratic values”. The first addresses the core anxiety of most Asean nations on whose maritime space China has unilaterally encroached. The second was always the raison d’être for the Quad, including at its birth in 2007. Both send a powerful signal to the region as indeed China that, unlike President Trump who used rough instruments like trade sanctions, Mr Biden will use an eclectic mix of moves to corral and undercut China.

Three working groups are to cover vaccinations, which posits the Quad as the saviour of the region from what Mr Trump called “China flu”, climate change and critical technologies. It is realised that developed nations can’t or will not decouple from China by cutting off all trade. The strategy now is to undermine what Chinese President Xi Jinping calls “dual circulation”, a version of self-dependence on itself for markets and critical technologies. China controls over 58 per cent of the global supply of rare earths like neodymium and lithium, needed for batteries of electric vehicles or wind turbines for clean power generation. Four years ago, China controlled 90 per cent of that supply. On February 24, Mr Biden issued an executive order for a 100-day review of critical product supply chains. China continues to be critically dependent on imported advanced chips.

Therefore, in para 3 of the joint statement, the common goals and global challenges adumbrated are: economic and health impacts of Covid-19, climate change, cyber space, critical technologies, counterterrorism, quality infrastructure development and disaster relief. The need for a Quad plan for infrastructure development is a recognition that China has managed to embed its influence all across Eurasia by its Belt and Road Initiative, which need to be countered. India’s prowess in vaccine manufacturing has been recognised and financing and knowhow promised to multiply India’s vaccine exports.

But as soft power is at the root of the Quad, even Mr Modi conceded that the Quad members were “united by democratic values”. President Biden echoed that strongly. Will the BJP government finally realise, as foreign parliaments debate whether democracy is degrading in India, that denial and anger is not the answer? Nor is an agitated media counterattack or new laws to control independent news platforms. Self-correction is the answer. Otherwise, the Quad will merely be a limping Triad-plus.

NAIL THE LIAR

The Madras high court is right in urging the Election Commission of India and Chief Electoral Officer to ensure that nominations and affidavits of electoral candidates are perfect in all respects. Recently, the nomination of Ms Krina Patel, the Congress candidate from the Singarava seat for the Ahmedabad district panchayat, was rejected as her house in Kanbha village does not have a toilet. Ms Patel had ‘lied’ in her affidavit stating that she had a toilet at her home in Kanbha from where she had filed the nomination (in October 2017, Gujarat had claimed that all its villages are free of open defecation). Actually, she was living in a flat in Naroda, owning ‘15 lakh worth of gold and driving a ‘10 lakh worth SUV. She was a resident of Kanbha only on paper. The truth came to light following a complaint by an opposition party.

DYNASTY POLITICS

The history of politics has witnessed several leaders and the legislative assembly members in those times have a vision towards serving the public. Now, this has turned out to be dynasty politics and the grandson of former CM can occupy that constituency as if it’s a private car park. When a few deserving ones were denied tickets this time, Udayanidhi has taken his position with the backing of the incumbent CM by overlooking seniors indicates dictatorship by dynasty prevails.

Women’s Week: Meghan vs Kate, let-down nurses & Sarah Everard

Hell hath no fury than a woman scorned? Right or wrong? Those of us who had seen Meghan Markle blow into the UK, play the princess and then storm out may find it a little difficult to take everything on Oprah’s show at face value. Luckily I can’t be called a racist as I am probably as brown as her. My background in television also ensures that I automatically discount some of all “reality TV” especially if there is big money at stake. The reality is that the moment the camera is switched on, everyone acts just a little bit — because no one wants to come out looking like the bad guy or gal. I have seen it far too often — there are no re-takes in life, but plenty in television. No one “lies” but everyone has a version of what happened. And if you have an axe to grind — do the hatchet job before the opponent can step in.

International Women’s Day was on Monday last but the storms had already gathered. In sunny California, Oprah Winfrey interviewed Meghan Markle and Harry Sussex last Sunday night West Coast time on CBS. Even before the ITV showed it on Monday, it was all over the newspapers and TV and has not gone off the air all week. That is real global TV clout. Eleven million people watched it in UK and apparently 70 million (roughly as many as UK population) worldwide.

Harry has not featured very much in the subsequent discussions. It is all about Meghan and Catherine, the Duchess of Cambridge with the Queen in the background. It would be an ideal Ekta Kapoor serial — multi-generation, multi racial family with dogs and horses and palaces and international locations. May be Netflix will come back with Crown: the American sequel.

It was the apparent mention about the possible colour of the baby Meghan was carrying — which seemed to have shocked the TV audience; they should know that in India most people — without even knowing the meaning of racism — prays for a ‘gora’ child! But this one will run and run. When the wedding took place, everyone was impressed by the choir with Black British singers, the dignified presence of Meghan’s mother and the Bishop from Chicago giving his radical sermon. At the time the Palace bathed in praise about its modern attitude. But then as we know in Indian movies, it is after interval that the tragedy sets in.

The tabloids are having a great time with the Daily Mail doing scores (literally) of items on Meghan every day. Piers Morgan ex Tabloid editor and TV pundit stalked off his “Good Morning Britain” show when his fellow presenters upbraided him for badmouthing Meghan. But then Meghan officially complained he had called her a liar. ITV shares fell that afternoon and Morgan went permanently next day. The Royal Family has launched a retaliatory barrage of talking up the Queen, their best weapon. There are reminiscences from round the Commonwealth as to how non-racist she is and what a sense of humour she has. All in a week’s work.

Despite the success of reaching 24 million vaccinations, Boris Johnson seemed to lose the plot, again. The week after the Budget saw millions of pounds being given away to all and sundry, he announced unapologetically that nurses on the NHS will only get one per cent increase in their pay. There was widespread consternation. These are the Carona warriors — who had been applauded every Thursday evening during the first lockdown by everyone including Boris and his fiancée Carrie Symonds and their dog. And now this.

In the meantime, there is news that Carrie has refurbished the living rooms in 10 Downing Street lavishly. But the British government is so mean that there is no budget for spending any money on interior decoration of the official residence; neither at Downing Street nor Chequers the weekend home of Prime Minister which is a private donation run on private charity money. Carrie seems to have raised the money from Conservative Party donors which has caused even more mockery than if she had won it in a lottery. The moral of the story is there are those who know how to get the money — and the others can wait.

Women remained in the news, in tragic circumstances. Sarah Everard, a young woman graduated from Durham University and working in a middle managerial position in London was walking across Clapham Common in South East London, not far from where we live, around 9 pm. She was returning to her home in Brixton on the other side of the Common. She never reached home and her mobile phone went silent. This was around ten days ago. On Friday the police confirmed abduction. Even worse news followed. Her body was found in the rural areas of Kent. Shockingly, the man responsible was a police officer in a senior responsible position.

On Thursday both Houses of Parliament had set aside all other business to celebrate International Women’s Day. The murder dominated the discussion, including the radical suggestion that men should be banned from stepping out after 6 pm.

Restoration of MSME status for traders sought

The Confederation of All India Traders (Cait) has demanded restoration of the MSME status taken away in 2017 from 8 crore retail and wholesale traders who are part of the service industry. The government in June 2017 removed retail and wholesale traders from the MSME category forcing the players either borrow at a higher rate or from informal financial sources, Cait secretary general Praveen Khandelwal said.

MUMBAI, MARCH 14

Excess liquidity in the banking system combined with volatility in fuel prices could pose an upward risk to inflation. This has led to speculation in some quarters that the Reserve Bank of India could soon be shifting into a tightening mode in tune with its global peers.

But experts feel that even with upward risks to inflation, the monetary policy committee (MPC) of the RBI may continue with the rate pause in April policy as well, given that the economic growth is faltering and Covid-19 cases are rising again. However, they expect the RBI to take some measures to drain excess liquidity in the system which has been above Rs 4-lakh crore throughout the pandemic.

Retail inflation (CPI) inched up from 4.1 per cent in January 2021 to 5.03 per cent in February. Separately, the Index of Industrial Production declined unexpectedly by 1.6 per cent in January 2021, after turning positive in December in stark contrast to market expectations.

The entire decline was led by the manufacturing sector, which saw broad-based worsening—more than two-thirds components declined. The continued contraction in manufacturing showed that there is still some distance to cover before the economy recovers. The rate setting panel/

RAJAN CAUTIONS AGAINST DRASTIC CHANGES IN MONETARY POLICY

BIJAY KUMAR SINGH
NEW DELHI, MARCH 14

As the economy slowly comes out of the pandemic blues, former RBI governor Raghuram Rajan on Sunday cautioned that "drastic changes" in India's monetary policy framework can upset the bond market as the current system has helped in containing inflation and promoting growth.

"I believe the (monetary policy) framework has helped bring inflation down, while giving the RBI some flexibility to support the economy. It is hard to think of what would have happened if we had to run such large fiscal deficits without such a framework in place," Rajan said in an interview.

His remarks were in response to a query on whether he was in favour of reviewing the 2-6 per cent target band for inflation under the monetary policy framework.

The Reserve Bank of India (RBI) has the mandate to maintain retail inflation at 4 per cent with a margin of 2 per cent on either side. The current medium-term inflation target, which was notified in August 2016, ends on March 31. The inflation target for the next five years starting April 1 is likely to be notified this month.

Against this backdrop, Rajan said, "We risk upsetting bond markets if we make drastic changes in the framework". — PTI

888 HIGHWAY PROJECTS HANGING

New Delhi, March 14: Unhappy over delayed highway projects which amount to Rs 3.15 lakh crore, a parliamentary panel has asked Ministry of Road Transport and Highways to prioritise their completion instead of announcing new projects.

The delayed 888 projects pertain to construction of 27,665 km of national highways.

The Department-related Parliamentary Standing Committee on Transport, Tourism and Culture, in its latest report tabled in Parliament also asked the National Highways Authority of India (NHAI) to prioritise its delayed road projects.

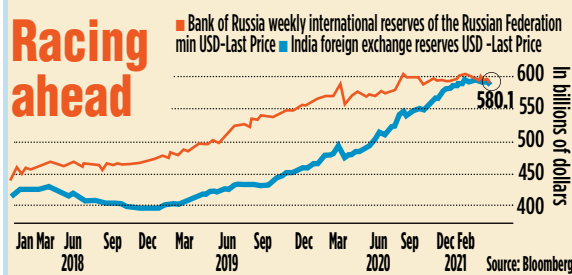

"The committee is anguished to note that 888 road projects under the Ministry are delayed at present, which amount to Rs 3,15,373.3 crore involving a length of 27,665.3 km," the 31-member panel chaired by T.G. Venkatesh said.

It also expressed concern that against a target of 6,469 km during the current fiscal, the ministry has been able to award only 2,517 km till January 2021.

Similarly, the ministry could complete construction of only 2,273 km as against the target of 4,571 km under the scheme, it said.

"The committee feels that if this trend continues, it would not be possible for the Ministry to meet the targeted timeline for completion of Bharatmala Pariyojna Phase-I by 2025-26, which is already lagging four years behind. — PTI

India FX reserves surpass Russia's, now 4th biggest

ANIRBAN NAG & SUBHADIP SIRCAR
MARCH 14

India's foreign exchange reserves surpassed Russia's to become the world's fourth largest, as the nation's central bank continues to hoard dollars to cushion the economy against any sudden outflows.

Reserves for both countries have mostly flattened out this year after months of rapid increase. India pulled ahead as Russian holdings declined at a faster rate in recent weeks.

India's foreign currency holdings fell by $4.3 billion to $580.3 billion as of March 5, the Reserve Bank of India said on Friday, edging out Russia's $580.1 billion pile. China has the largest reserves, followed by Japan and Switzerland on the International Monetary Fund table.

India's reserves, enough to cover 18 months of imports, have been bolstered by a rare current-account surplus, rising inflows into the local stock market and foreign direct investment.

Analysts say a strong reserves position gives foreign investors and credit rating companies added comfort that the government can meet its debt obligations despite a deteriorating fiscal outlook and the economy heading for its first full-year contraction in more than four decades.

"India's various reserves adequacy metrics have improved significantly, particularly in the last few years," Kaushik Das, chief India economist at Deutsche Bank, said before the latest data were released. "The healthy FX reserves position should give enough comfort to RBI for dealing with any potential external shock-driven capital-stop or outflows in the period ahead."

The RBI bought a net $88 billion in the spot forex market last year, central bank data show. That helped make the rupee the worst performer among Asia's major currencies last year and earned India a place on a US Treasury watchlist for currency manipulation.

Reviews by Anupama Subramanian

A well-made gripping thriller

THEEDUM NANDRUM

CAST: Rasu Ranjith, Aparna Balamurali, Lijomol, Eesan
DIRECTION: Rasu Ranjith
RATING: 3/5

Rasu Ranjith, finalist in Naalaya Iyakkunar reality show has forayed into tinsel town with Theedum Nandrum. A dark film, TN takes the saying 'you reap what you sow' to its logical conclusion.

The film set in North Chennai revolves around three youngsters Shiva (Rasu Ranjith), Dass (Eesan) and Maaran (Sandeep Raj) and they indulge in burglary for their livelihood. Shiva and Dass are thick friends. Dass and Sumathi from the same area fall for each other and soon enter marital bliss. However, Sumathi who is averse to what Dass's love requests him to turn a new leaf. The trio's lives change when they cross paths with the local dons. Shiva and Dass get caught and detained under Goondas Act.

Meanwhile, Sumathi delivers a child and on his return from jail, Dass decides to reform and lead a simple life. However, Maaran convinces his friends to join him for one-final booty. What happens next forms the remainder of the story.

Even though Tamil cinema has had several films with similar backdrops, Theedum Nandrum stands out for its unique treatment. The writing is fresh, although it is predictable at times. Eesan and Aparna score well in emotional scenes. Lijomol, who plays Rasu's love interest, does a neat job. Sandeep is equally good.

With his sharp cuts, Rasu who has also edited the film brings the right tautness during the burglary scenes and action sequences including the terrifically choreographed climax fight. However, a bit of trimming in the second half would have helped. Sathya's rerecording is brilliant and is a key component in keeping the intensity up.

Rasu's gripping style of storytelling combined with best performances from all artistes makes the film a compelling watch.

Predictable and less engaging

GANESAPURAM

CAST: Chinna, Rajpriyan, Kasimayan
DIRECTION: Veerangan K
RATING: 1.75/5

Set in the '90s in a remote village Ganesapuram near Theni, the film talks about three friends Ammasi (Chinna), Pettu (Rajpriyan) and Maarnadu (Kasimayan) whose profession is thieving. There are several such groups who operate in the neighboring villages and they are controlled by the local zamindar (Pasupathi Raj), who in a way exploits them.

One day, a tussle breaks out between Chinna and the panchayat head (Kayal Pereira), which ends in the former slapping the latter. An enraged panchayat leader's son Periyapandi (Rajasimhan) waits for a chance to bump off Chinna.

Meanwhile, there is this Paechi (Risha) who falls for Chinna and after a few mix-ups the latter also reciprocates. However, Chinna's love affair creates a rift among friends which affects their thieving activities. The rest is all about whether the friends reunite or Chinna succumbs to his rivals.

Chinna fits the role of a ruffian and does a decent job. Tik Tok fame Rajpriyan who plays Chinna's friend performs naturally. Kasimayan is adequate. But he is given a separate love track and a duet song and that does not gel with the film. Risha is passable. We have seen umpteen numbers of films in similar genres and one wishes the director could have infused some freshness in narration. The length of the movie is also yet another aspect that goes against its enjoyment quotient.

A novel attempt goes awry

CAST: Arya, Sayyeshaa, Karunakaran, Satish
DIRECTION: Shakti Soundar Rajan
RATING: 2.5/5

Shakti Soundar Rajan's Teddy, inspired by the English franchise Ted, was a distinctive attempt at making a fantasy thriller but with the done-to-death topic of organ trade. The movie kicks off with Srividya (Sayyeshaa), who is abducted by a faction that controls the red market. In a strange twist of events, while in a coma due to heavy drug ingestion, her soul leaves her body and enters into a teddy bear, which now can talk and walk. The teddy gets away from the Chennai hospital in search of a safe space to hide.

On coming across an eccentric Siva (Arya), a savant who is able to capture anything with his photographic memory, Teddy has a strong urge to befriend him and explain what had happened to Sri. Initially in doubt, Siva nonetheless agrees and sets out on a course to find out Sri's fate and the criminals behind her kidnapping.

Teddy has an acceptable first half and both Arya as well as Sayyeshaa will get your curiosity aroused. Yes, Sri's transformation into Teddy is inexplicable, but a couple of loopholes here and there could have been stitched together by a strong second half. That's when the movie turns south, with the makers just piling on the ambiguities. Just because there is an unconventional plot doesn't mean one can skip the logic required to connect the dots.

On the other hand, the bond between Arya and the teddy will keep us engaged for a good portion. These early moments make for a moving climax between the lead pair. Arya is very agile and is adept at a number of things. With a unique character and nice stunts, there's no question of for whom the movie is made. However, it is unclear why he keeps a stiff face and behaves like a robot throughout the film. After her initial disappearance, Sayyeshaa has nothing to do other than re-appear in the final moments, and she is pure eye candy. Others such as Magizh Thirumeni, Sathish and Karunakaran do their bits.

Yuvan's camerawork and Imman's music are in line. Some other plusses can be attributed to the action sequences and Teddy's VFX work. In the end, Teddy had plenty of potential but some lazy writing makes it an ordinary affair. Watch it once, and then probably forget about it.

Man City stretch lead at the top

London: Manchester City showed their strength in depth as a much-changed side by Pep Guardiola won 3-0 at Fulham on Saturday to stretch their lead at the top of the Premier League to 17 points. All three goals came in the first 15 minutes of the second-half as John Stones, Gabriel Jesus and Sergio Aguero struck to take City ever closer to a third league title in four years. Manchester United have two games in hand on the runaway leaders, but City need a maximum of just 14 points from their final eight games to claim the title. "The dynamic of the season is good," said Guardiola. "The second-half was so important. It is an important victory for us and we are closer." Guardiola's men are still on course for a historic quadruple of trophies this season. The Catalan coach made seven changes with Kevin De Bruyne, Ilkay Gundogan and Riyad Mahrez among those left on the bench for the full 90 minutes. — AFP

Afghanistan win, level series 1-1

Abu Dhabi: A career best wicket haul by leg-spinner Rashid Khan helped Afghanistan level their two-match series against Zimbabwe with a hard fought victory in the second Test in Abu Dhabi on Sunday. The 22-year-old continued his fairytale rise at international level with 7/137 in a marathon 62.5 overs effort to end Zimbabwe's resistance-packed second innings on 365, soon after lunch on the fifth and final day. That gave Afghanistan 108 runs to win in 45 overs which they achieved for the loss of four wickets, two each to pacer Blessing Muzarabani and spinner Ryan Burl. But Rahmat Shah with 58 and Ibrahim Zadran 29 ensured Afghanistan achieved the target to win by six wickets and level the series at 1-1. — AFP

Brief scores: Afghanistan 545/decl. & 108/4 (Rahmat 58, Burl 2/16, Muzarabani 2/25) beat Zimbabwe 287 & 365 (Williams 151 n.o., Tiripano 95, Rashid 7/137).

Giannis stars in Bucks victory

Los Angeles: Giannis Antetokounmpo's triple-double of 33 points, 11 rebounds and 11 assists propelled the Milwaukee Bucks to a 125-119 NBA victory over Washington on Saturday, despite Russell Westbrook's 42-point triple-double for the Wizards. It was part of an explosion of five triple-doubles on the day — an NBA single-day record. Westbrook added 10 rebounds and 12 assists for Washington, but even with his league-leading 11th triple-double of the season the Wizards missed the production of NBA leading scorer Bradley Beal, who sat out with a sore knee. Jrue Holiday added 10 of his 18 points in the fourth quarter for Milwaukee as the Bucks held on in the back-and-forth battle. — AFP

JAI KISHAN

Ishan hits half-century on debut, powers India to series-leveiling win

Ahmedabad, March 14: Ishan Kishan's fearless half-century on debut and skipper Virat Kohli's perfectly paced knock set up a series-leveiling seven wicket win for India in the second T20 International against England here on Sunday.

Kishan smashed 56 off 32 balls at the top of the order and felt completely at home on the big stage, having played enough IPL cricket in a similar environment. Chase master Kohli (73 not out off 49 balls) took charge after Kishan's dismissal to power India to victory with 13 balls to spare.

The Indian bowlers put up a disciplined effort to restrict England to 164 for six in 20 overs after Kohli opted to bowl.

India did not have the best of starts in the chase as they lost K.L. Rahul in the opening over for naught, caught by Jos Buttler behind the stumps off left-arm pacer Sam Curran.

Kishan, known for his attacking batting, made a formidable England attack look ordinary with his disdainful hitting. His sensational knock comprised five fours and four sixes.

Kishan and Kohli took the attack to the opposition to stitch a quickfire 95-run stand for the second wicket.

Kishan was caught plumb in front of the wicket by Adil Rashid in the 10th over but he had done his job by then.

Kohli and Rishabh Pant (26 off 13) then shared 36 runs for the third wicket before the latter gave a simple catch to Jonny Bairstow off Chris Jordan in the 14th over to raise England's hopes. But it was not to be as Kohli anchored the chase perfectly. The skipper ended the game with a six off

Proteas blow India women away

MITHALI FIRST WOMAN TO SCORE 7000 ODI RUNS

Lucknow, March 14: Veteran batter Mithali Raj on Sunday added another feather to her cap by becoming the first player to complete 7,000 runs in women's ODI cricket.

The Indian skipper reached the 7,000-run milestone in her 213th match, which was the fourth ODI of the ongoing five-match series against South Africa here.

"Magnificent Mithali! #TeamIndia ODI skipper becomes the first woman cricketer to score 7000 ODI runs. What a performer she has been!" the BCCI tweeted.

The 38-year-old, who made her international debut in 1999, was also the first player to score 6,000 runs in women's ODIs. England's Charlotte Edwards, who retired from international cricket in 2016, is second the list of leading run scorers with 5,992.

Mixing caution with aggression, both kept the

Joined by Lara Goodall, Wolvaardt could not stay long enough after Lee's dismissal, getting out shortly after reaching her half century.

Goodall got a life when Sushma Verma missed a stumping and in the next delivery, the batter stepped out and played an inside-out shot for a boundary.

After that, Goodall hit off-spinner Deepti Sharma waist-high full toss outside off to the cover boundary.

Earlier, the 31-year-old Raut struck 10 boundaries in her unbeaten 104.

Harmanpreet smashed seven fours and a six, reaching her half-century in only 33 balls before falling to a slower ball. Soon after, Raut got to her century in 119 balls with a single.

MOTERA PITCH FOR D/N TEST RATED 'AVERAGE'

New Delhi, March 14: The pitch for the day-night Test between India and England in Ahmedabad has been given an average rating by the ICC, escaping sanctions after the game got over inside two days on that controversial surface. The ICC in its "Rules and Regulations" page has updated the ratings of all recent games and the pitch at Motera was rated "average" for the third 'Test' and "Good" for the final Test. It was rated "Very Good" for the first T20International.

Incidentally, the pitch at the SCG for the third Test between India and Australia was also rated "average".

A substandard pitch could have attracted sanctions for the refurbished Narendra Modi Stadium.

The pitch was a subject of intense debate during the four-match series which India won 3-1 to qualify for the World Test Championship final.

VIJAY HAZARE | TROPHY FINAL

Shaw, Tare guide Mumbai to title

New Delhi, March 14: Skipper Prithvi Shaw's marauding 73 off 39 balls followed by former skipper Aditya Tare's unbeaten hundred guided Mumbai to their most deserving Vijay Hazare title triumph with a crushing six-wicket victory over Uttar Pradesh in one of most lopsided final on Sunday.

Opting to bat, UP rode on opener Madhav Kaushik's unbeaten 158 to post 312/4, but it was overshadowed by the Shaw blitzkrieg which set the platform for Tare to finish off the chase in style with as many as 51 balls remaining.

This is Mumbai's fourth Hazare title and the one to remember for Shaw (827 runs), who now holds the record for highest runs scored in single edition of this competition.

Shaw (73 off 39 balls; 10x4, 4x6) and fellow opener Yashasvi Jaiswal (29; 3x4; 1x6) gave the side an aggressive start by conjuring 89 runs in 9.1 overs.

Shaw started with a cover-drive, off left arm seamer Yash Dayal. He got a life on 5, after being dropped by Karan Sharma at mid-off, and he then smashed three fours in the second over off Aaqib Khan.

He then took on Dayal, hammering two boundaries and a six over mid-wicket, his trademark pull-shot, as Mumbai raced to 32/0 after three overs.

Shaw continued his onslaught and notched up his 50 in only 30 balls, with a six, another pull shot, but then holed in the deep off Shivam Mavi when another hundred looked imminent.

Veteran Tare, who hammered 18 boundaries in his 107-ball knock, anchored the innings and found an able ally in Shams Mulani (36), as the duo took the game deep, as Mumbai cruised to the target, with 174/2 after 25 overs.

Earlier, UP rode on opener Kaushik's unbeaten 158 to post 312 for four.

Kaushik, who hammered 15 fours and four sixes, in his 156-ball knock and Samarth Singh (55 off 73 balls; 4x4; 3x6) added 122 runs for the first wicket to lay the foundation of a big score. It will be some consolation that Kaushik is now the highest individual scorer in a National One Day Championship final, surpassing Mayank Agarwal's 125 against Punjab in 2014.

Brief Scores: Uttar Pradesh 312/4 in 50 overs (Madhav Kaushik 158 n.o., Akshdeep Nath 55; Tanush Kotian 2/54, Prashant Solanki 1/71) lost to Mumbai 315/4 in 41.3 overs (Aditya Tare 118 n.o., Prithvi Shaw 73, Shivam Mavi 1/63).

SA series has given a big sense of relief to women cricketers

Hemant Kenkre
Silly Point

When Mithali Raj tucked Proteas medium pacer Anne Bosch for a boundary, she entered the pantheon of greatness. By becoming the second batsman (and first Indian) to cross 10,000 international runs, the petite Hyderabad created another record, something she's been adept at ever since she made her debut against Ireland at Milton Keynes in June 1999.

And what a debut it was, smashing 114 unbeaten runs in a partnership of 258 runs with opening partner Reshma Gandhi. Just 16-years old then, Mithali announced herself in style and has been the backbone of women's cricket in India for over two decades. Having led the Indian team in two International Cricket Council (ICC) World Cup finals and holding many records, Mithali must have kept milestones out of her mind focusing on the primary task on hand — of beating the visiting South Africans in the current One Day series.

Her secondary objective (an important one at that) will be to prepare the Indian team for the Womens ODI World Cup that begins in New Zealand in March 2022. Mithali's career resume shows her many accolades in One Day cricket including in World Cups and the only one missing is the world championship under her belt. Becoming the first player to complete 7,000 runs in women's ODI cricket with a fluent 45 runs in her 213th ODI match, she will be totally focused on the larger task on hand at the end of the India-South Africa One Day series.

The current series, played in Lucknow has given a big sense of relief to women cricketers in India and their fans who had high hopes from the eves after their stellar performances abroad. Having been a finalist at the ICC T20 World Cup played in Australia in March 2020 had boosted the popularity of womens cricket in India. The worldwide spread of the Covid virus soon after that event caused a lot of planned matches (including the tour of England) to be cancelled or postponed.

The only time, the Indian eves got an opportunity to step on the field of play after March 2020 was to play the Womens Challenger series during the Indian Premier League (IPL) which was played in the United Arab Emirates last November. The ODI series against the Proteas has seen the Indian team struggle in two of the three matches played thus far and have posted a challenging total of 266 for 4 wickets bolstered by a century by Poonam Raut and a 54-run cameo by Harmanpreet Kaur.

With the 50 over ICC World Cup on the anvil next year, the ICC recently announced an expansion of their events which will start post the 2023 cycle. Both the ODI and the T20 World Cups (for women) will have more teams participating, the objective being the spread of cricket across the world. This does augur well for those who follow the shorter formats of the game with eight tournaments being played across T20 and ODI formats from 2024 till 2031.

Once again, the ICC much like the Board of Control for Cricket in India (BCCI) seem to have put Test cricket for women on the back burner. A quick look at the Test matches played by women will show that India played their last Test against South Africa in 2014 while Australia and England played against each other in 2019. From an ICC perspective, they could have also included a world Test championship for the eves like they did for the men.

For Indian women not to have played a single Test match for over six years shows BCCI's apathy towards promoting Test cricket for women.

For two senior players like Mithali and Jhulan Goswami who made their Test debuts in 2002 to have played just ten Test matches so far in their journey is a matter of concern for the BCCI. At 38-years each, the duo who have served Indian women's cricket with distinction do not have too much time left in the game which is dominated only by the shorter formats with Test cricket totally ignored.

The BCCI could well take an example of England and Australia who do host Test matches even if occasionally. It was in Lucknow, that Mithali and Jhulan made their bow into Test cricket fourteen years ago.

The same city which is hosting the current ODI series. One can rest assured that the ladies (along with their colleagues) will be happier to play more Test cricket than what has been offered to them. For Mithali, having the Test cricket component standing at just 6 per cent of her total tally of international runs is an indicator of the treatment meted out to womens Test cricket.
