Even as Nationalist Congress Party (NCP) supremo Sharad Pawar on Sunday indicated that Maharashtra home minister Anil Deshmukh could be asked to step down in the wake of extortion allegations raised against him by former Mumbai police commissioner, the party said there will be no resignation by the minister over former Mumbai police chief's allegation that he wanted police officers to collect ₹100 crore monthly from bars and hotels in the city.

After a three-hour meeting at NCP president Sharad Pawar's residence here, Jayant Patil, the party's state chief and senior minister in the Maha

Sharad Pawar

Vikas Aghadi government, said there is no need to divert attention from the main incident of bomb scare outside industrialist Mukesh Ambani's residence and the killing of Mansukh Hiran, a Thane-based businessman.

The focus is on these two events and after that appropriate steps will be taken, he said. "The question of Maharashtra Home Minister Anil Deshmukh resigning does not arise,"

Mr Patil told reporters.

During a media briefing earlier in the day, Pawar said Maharashtra Chief Minister Uddhav Thackeray will decide the fate of Deshmukh. The allegations levelled by Mr Singh against Mr Deshmukh are serious and require an in-depth probe, he said.

Mr Pawar's comments came amid speculation in state political circles that Maharashtra may soon have a new home minister.

Won't allow Didi to kick away development: PM

Modi picks on Trinamul graffiti to settle scores

RAJIB CHOWDHURI | DC
KOLKATA, MARCH 21

Daring West Bengal Chief Minister Mamata Banerjee to put her leg on his head and "kick" him, Prime Minister Narendra Modi made it clear on Sunday that he would not allow the Trinamul Congress boss to "kick" away the state's development any further.

Mr Modi's assertion came as Bollywood star Mithun Chakraborty, who joined the BJP recently, is likely to become a voter at Cossipore-Belgachhia Assembly seat in north Kolkata, where his relatives stay, so that he can be fielded by the saffron party as a heavyweight candidate to contest the polls.

Addressing a mega BJP rally in Bankura, the Prime Minister said: "I saw nowadays followers of Didi are making wall paintings on her. In the pictures, Didi is seen trampling on my head and playing football with it. Why are they insulting the rich culture and tradition of Bengal? I want to tell certain things clearly to her. I always keep my head bowing down to the service of 130 crore citizens of the country as a mark of respect."

Biggest hike in Covid-19 nos in 4 months; laxity blamed

DC CORRESPONDENT
NEW DELHI, MARCH 21

India on Sunday saw biggest rise in daily cases in four months as 43,846 fresh Covid-19 cases and 197 more deaths were reported in the last 24 hours.

In view of the rising numbers, Rajasthan has imposed night curfew in eight towns — Ajmer, Bhilwara, Jaipur, Jodhpur, Kota, Udaipur, Sagwara and Kushalgarh — while markets will remain closed after 10 pm from March 22 in areas under all city municipal corporations.

The Gujarat government has announced that Holi celebrations will be restricted and no permission will be granted due to the surge in Covid-19 cases though "Holika Dahan" can take place with restrictions. Maharashtra, Punjab, Karnataka, Gujarat and Madhya Pradesh account for 77.7 per cent of the new cases in the last 24 hours. Maharashtra continues to report the highest daily new cases at 27,126, followed by Punjab with 2,578 while Kerala reported 2,078 new cases.

AIIMS director Randeep Guleria blamed large crowds, carelessness on the part of people and mutant virus strains for the latest Covid-19 surge.

"There is a loss of Covid-appropriate behaviour. Now people feel that the pandemic is over because vaccines are here. They fail to wear masks," he said.

Meanwhile, with several people testing positive daily at the Kumbh Mela, the Centre on Sunday directed the Uttarakhand government to follow stringent measures and increase testing to control the spread of Covid-19 at the religious gathering.

LS SPEAKER TESTS COVID POSITIVE, IN AIIMS CENTRE

PREZ FOR MORE WOMEN IN SCIENCE, TECH

Rourkela (Odisha), March 21: President Ram Nath Kovind on Sunday called for enhanced participation of women in the field of science and technology. Kovind, while addressing the 18th convocation of the National Institute of Technology (NIT), Rourkela here, said, "Growth and excellence of women in the technical area will add a new dimension to our national development."

He said more girls need to get higher education, particularly in science, technology, engineering and mathematics.

Quoting a recent survey, he said enrolment of women in engineering and technical institutions in India is abysmally low at only 20 per cent.

"Our girls should be encouraged to pursue technical education and excel in the same manner as they do in other areas. Our daughters are outshining boys and getting more gold medals in arts and other fields," he said.

Mr Kovind said three of the seven gold medal winners at NIT Rourkela are women and the situation is similar in other central universities.

Around 1,518 of the 7,116 students in the university are women, the President pointed out.

EPS flaunts development card, trashes opposition

DC CORRESPONDENT
TIRUVANNAMALAI, MARCH 21

Chief Minister Edappadi K. Palaniswami on Sunday flaunted the development agenda of the AIADMK governments and said the opposition's only aim was to grab power.

"The AIADMK governments built good roads, ensured drinking water facilities and improved public infrastructure," he said while campaigning for the AIADMK candidate former minister Sevur S. Ramachandran in Arani.

The state won the prestigious award of being the 'Best State' on the strength of its work. "The government provided uninterrupted power supply throughout the year," he said. "From April, farmers will also be provided round-the-clock three-phase power supply, which was quite the opposite during the DMK rule."

The government is strictly toeing the principles of former chief ministers and party leaders M.G. Ramachandran and J. Jayalitha, the Chief Minister said. The government is known as 'people's government' because it has been doing its level best to meet the demands of the electorate and fulfill its poll promises, Mr Palaniswami said. ■ PG2

Stalin taunts ruling party as a BJP toy

Kancheepuram, March 21: Even if the AIADMK emerged victorious in a single seat, the victor would be a 'BJP MLA' and hence people should vote for his party and its allies in the April 6 Assembly elections, DMK president M.K. Stalin appealed to the electorate here on Sunday.

In his campaign at Uthiramerur near here, Mr Stalin said he had been saying that his party-led combine would win 200 out of 234 segments in Tamil Nadu. However, considering the feedback from the people to his continuous campaign across the state, the DMK leader said, "we are going to win in all the 234 constituencies." Even if the AIADMK won a single seat in Tamil Nadu, the victor would not be an "AIADMK candidate but a BJP one." ■ PG2

CM highlights govt's welfare schemes

SANJEEVI ANANDAN | DC
KRISHNAGIRI, MARCH 21

Chief Minister Edappadi K. Palanisami is the first star campaigner to visit Krishnagiri for seeking votes to the six assembly constituencies in this district. The Chief Minister started his campaign from Uthangarai (R) constituency which was formed in 2007, and according to the new electoral list, the constituency has over 2.4 lakh voters.

Uthangarai witnessed the first election in 2011, though it was formed in 2007. From the beginning, AIADMK candidates were elected twice. N. Manoranjitha was continuously elected in 2011 and 2016 assembly polls. Now, the AIADMK has fielded T.M. Tamil Selvam, instead of sitting MLA Manoranjitham. Tamil Selvam contested against DMK ally, Congress candidate S. Arumugam.

Chief Minister Palaniswami during his visit to Uthangarai on Sunday evening, campaigned for his party candidate, Tamil Selvam. The Chief Minister who addressed the public from his campaign vehicle, urged the people to defeat the DMK if they wanted to see a peaceful state.

Recalling an incident in a biriyani shop in which the shop owner was attacked by DMK cadres, the Chief Minister termed the DMK a 'rowdy movement'. But the AIADMK is a protective government which has made protecting the public and especially women, its priority.

Listing out the freebies promised in the AIADMK's election manifesto Edappadi K. Palanisami asked voters to elect the party again, if they wanted to get the benefits announced by his party. After completing his Uthangarai campaign, the chief minister moved towards other assembly constituencies including Bargur, Krishnagiri and Veppanahalli.

He would halt in Hosur and continue his campaign on Monday to meet voters in Hosur and Thally constituencies in Krishnagiri district.

BJP 'charge sheet' lists 100 reasons to reject DMK

Chennai, March 21: Stepping up its poll battle in Tamil Nadu, the BJP on Sunday released a 'charge sheet' against the DMK listing out 100 reasons to reject the Dravidian major-led combine in the April 6 assembly elections.

Accusing the DMK of 'deceiving' the people on a plethora of issues such as language and 'jallikattu', the party appealed to Tamil 'Makkal' (people) to ensure a massive mandate to the AIADMK-led NDA in this elections for a better future of Tamil Nadu.

The document, which listed out the DMKs 'betrayal' under 11 subjects, including Cauvery water dispute with Karnataka, Tamil society and social justice, besides its 'antagonistic' stand towards the majority Hindus, alleged that the party 'abused' power when it was at the helm.

BJP national general secretary in-charge of Tamil Nadu, C T Ravi unveiled the 'chargesheet' in the form of a booklet in the presence of party's state elections in-charge and union minister VK Singh and others at Kamalalayam, the state party headquarters.

The charge sheet accused the DMK of being behind the 'Karuppar Kootam' which allegedly depicted the "Kandha Shashti Kavacham", hymn in praise of Lord Muruga, in a derogatory manner.

EPS: Karuna became CM taking crooked path

"DMK president M K Stalin shows his contempt for the Hindus at every instance, be it the kumkum (vermilion) which he wiped off when it was applied on his forehead by the Srirangam temple priests or the vibuthi (holy ash) that he hurled when it was offered to him in Pasumpoon," it said.

Throwing a barb on the language issue, the document claimed the DMK was responsible for creating a situation where learning Tamil was not 'compulsory' thus deviating from Tamil as medium of instruction (in schools).

"The BJP-led government at the Centre created an opportunity for the students to learn Tamil in the Hindi-speaking states through its new National Education Policy, but the DMK ruined their prospects," it said.

Another reason to defeat the DMK was that the party had banned the popular Jallikattu bull taming sport when it was power in the state and a partner of the Congress-led UPA at the Centre, the BJP said.

On the emotive Sri Lankan Tamils issue, the 'charge sheet' accused the DMK of miserably letting them down during the last phase of the ethnic war in 2009 and held it "fully responsible" for the 'massacre' of nearly 1.5 lakh innocent Tamils in the island nation.

Though DMK patriarch M Karunanidhi was in power then, instead of taking steps to prevent the killings, he resorted to a "fast between breakfast and lunch and fooled the people," the BJP document said, calling it a "historical disgrace".

On the Cauvery issue, the BJP alleged the DMK had neglected Tamil Nadus interests and it had failed to renew the water-sharing agreement for a 50-year-period during 1974, leading to the water woes of the state.

It was the Narendra Modi government that notified the Cauvery Water Management Scheme on June 1, 2018, while the the Congress-led UPA did not take any step to notify the final award of the tribunal submitted in 2007, the document noted.

grabbed the post. Unlike him, I was elected by a majority of the MLAs."

"Stalin is adept in spreading falsehood deliberately, and does not have the qualities and character of a leader," Mr Palaniswami alleged. "There is perfect harmony and peace in the state.

Mr Stalin is ignorant of these realities; instead he reads out speeches written by someone else," he said.

The AIADMK government has been pushing the Centre to waive all taxes for the handloom sector, and also provide them yarn in subsidised rates, he said.

Candidates sweat it out with promises for Srirangam

R. VALAYAPATHY | DC
SRIRANGAM, MARCH 21

The Srirangam assembly constituency is one that faces a direct battle between the AIADMK and the DMK in the polls. The present trend shows a slight tilt in favour of the AIADMK candidate.

Thanks to late Chief Minister J. Jayalalithaa who was an one-time MLA of Srirangam, who won the 2011 election by defeating her DMK rival, N. Anand, with a margin of over 41,000 votes, and her subsequent achievements to the Sri Rangan constituency is still fresh in the minds of voters of the constituency, which is now a plus point to K.U.P.A. Krishnan, a former AIADMK minister during late Chief Minister M.G. Ramachandran's tenure, who also won the constituency in the 1991 assembly elections.

Following the resignation of J. Jayalalithaa due to the Supreme Court's verdict in a corruption case against her, there was a by-election in Srirangam assembly in 2015, in which state Backward Class and Minorities Welfare minister S. Valarmathi, won the election and subsequently she won in the 2016 election, defeating the present DMK candidate M. Palaniyandi, with a margin of over 14,000 votes, and was elevated as cabinet minister by Jayalalithaa.

Though there is a talk against Valarmathi that she did not carry out any concrete welfare scheme to Srirangam constituency, she is said to have improved basic amenities across the constituency. She also supplied rice and essentials to over 85,000 families of Srirangam constituency during the lockdown in the wake of the epidemic.

Right from the 1952 elections to 2016 elections, the AIADMK won the Srirangam constituency nine times, and the integrated Congress won four times, whereas the DMK only once in 1996.

There are 3,10,739 electorates including 1,60,676 women voters in the constituency. It has the first six wards of the Tiruchirappalli city corporation and Manikandam, Andanallur panchayat unions, seven village panchayats in Manapparai panchayat union, and the Sirugamani town panchayat area comes under this constituency.

AIADMK nominee K.U.P.A. Krishnan, a former minister and experienced politician, has a major attraction among voters of the Srirangam assembly segment. The achievements of late Chief Minister J. Jayalalithaa in this constituency adds to his optimism. She made Srirangam into a separate revenue division, constructed high-class yatri nivas for the benefit of devotees of Sri Ranganathar temple, and established the TNPL's paper board manufacturing unit near Manapparai, a government engineering college at Sethurapatti, National law university, women's horticulture college and an excellent road network even in the remote areas of the constituency. Despite all these, there is a talk among Srirangam voters that J. Jayalalithaa did not solve their long time issue of a dispute between them and officials of the Sri Ranganathaswamy temple, Srirangam (title deed), which claimed that the entire land of Srirangam area belonged to the temple. This risk has been faced at least by two generations living by constructing their own houses in Srirangam. This issue is even now a major hurdle for all candidates. Hence, all candidates including the AIADMK and DMK have assured the Srirangam voters that this time the land issue (title deed) would be settled amicably.

Srirangam is a rural constituency and the major occupation of people here is agriculture. They raise banana, paddy, sugarcane and flower crops. The question is if there is shortage in the water discharge from Mettur reservoir and the monsoon fails, farmers here would be severely affected. This is their main demand and around Manikandam panchayat union area, where there are a lot of flower farmers, besides seeking to establish a perfume factory. Though Backward class minister S. Valarmathi made a promise in the regard during the 2016 elections, she did not fulfill her assurance.

K.U.P.A. Krishnan claims that since he was a former MLA of this constituency, he knows all the pending problems including the temple land issue (Adimananai Pirachchanai), and if elected this time, all the unsolved issues of the Srirangam constituency would be solved.

DMK candidate M. Palaniyandi said wherever he goes campaigning, he came to understand that the voters of Srirangam assembly segments were totally upset over the unsolved issues like the temple land dispute, non-fulfilment of basic amenities, construction of check dams across river Cauvery and Kollidam, and inauguration of the new bus stand at Srirangam. He assured them that if elected, he would sort out these issues at the earliest.

There was an overall talk among political observers, the Amma Makkal Munnetra Kazhagam candidate and former mayor of Tiruchirappalli city corporation Charbala Thondaiman may split the AIADMK votes, but this was dismissed by AIADMK candidate K.U.P.A. Krishnan and also party cadres who said that the present government gave a good governance to the people of the state.

Stalin: We should not allow BJP, AIADMK to win

From P1

The lone AIADMK Lok Sabha member P. Ravindhranath, who is the son of Deputy Chief Minister O. Panneerselvam, functioned as a 'BJP MP' and this proved his contention, he claimed.

"We should not allow the BJP (to win) and similarly, the AIADMK also must not come (succeed)," he said and asked the people to remember this aspect.

Reiterating his allegation of corruption against Chief Minister Edappadi K. Palaniswami, the DMK chief claimed that the AIADMK is a 'branch' of the BJP. Mr Palaniswami has time and again dismissed such graft allegations as lies and derogatory.

DMK has tremendous confidence that all its poll assurances including the ₹1,000 'rights' assistance per month to women family heads could be fulfilled, he said.

RWH still a challenge in city

T. SUDHEESH | DC
CHENNAI, MARCH 21

As World Water Day '21 falls on Monday, it is a reminder that the preservation of water - despite the Greater Chennai Corporation (GCC) encouraging rainwater harvesting (RWH) and make people aware of the advantage of water conservation and its judicious use - still remains a daunting challenge in the city.

It was in 2003 that the then Chief Minister late J. Jayalalithaa brought out a landmark ordinance on RWH in Tamil Nadu, encouraging residential associations, local governments and public servants to tap into the advantage of rainwater harvesting to try and resolve the water scarcity the state often witnessed.

Even after 17 years, the ambitious project has not yielded the desired result forcing authorities to continue to remind the people of harvesting the water as the South East monsoon brings in heavy rains.

P. Sathyanarayana, a resident at Race View Colony Main Road Extension in Guindy, says that a RWH structure has caused frequent water stagnation in the area as the water does not flow into the system. The pipe is damaged because it was covered with a layer of concrete as the road was re-laid a year ago', he said.

The poor upkeep of Guindy RWH is not an exceptional case in the city. A study carried out by the Rain Centre, a city-based NGO, has found that most of the RWH systems the government constructed were dysfunctional due to many reasons including broken pipes, clogged hoses, badly-maintained bore pits and sediments in the drains. The audit, which covered 1,100 samples, which included independent houses, government buildings, apartments and other units, had revealed that even government buildings had not been maintaining RWH systems properly.

According to Dr. Shekhar Raghavan, founder, Rain

Centre, if the government wants to tap rainwater properly they have to encourage the building of recharging wells instead of pits. It is very difficult to get desired results from the RWH system if the pipes are not maintained well. These pipes and drains clog and as a result water is pushed out', he said.

The RWH systems started appearing in the city after the government amended the Madras Metropolitan Area Groundwater (Regulation) Act 1987 in October 2002 to make rainwater harvesting compulsory in all buildings in the state. In 2002, Chennai had received rainfall above the normal for the October to December period. It encouraged the government to bring in the ordinance in 2003. As a result, house owners began constructing rainwater harvesting structures across the city. However, they were becoming useless due to the improper maintenance of the system, especially after the Chennai deluge of 2005.

According to the United Nations, World Water Development Report 2019, over two billion people across the world experience high water stress, and about four billion people experience severe water scarcity during at least one month of the year. In India, the numbers are alarming with nearly 150 million people lacking access to safe water.

Meanwhile, the GCC officials claim that the Integrated Storm Water Drain (ISWD) network they have proposed to construct across the city will maximise harvesting of rainwater. 'The forced aquifer recharge technology associated ISWD will help to store rainwater in the lakes and ponds across the city,' said an official.

Complaint against MNM candidate

DC CORRESPONDENT, CHENNAI, MARCH 21

A complaint has been registered against Makkal Needhi Maiam's (MNM) Virugambakkam constituency candidate, movie lyricist Snehan, for violating model code of conduct put out by Election Commission of India (ECI).

N. Viswanathan, a lawyer, who filed the complaint with cVIGIL app, alleged that the party workers were distributing notices and pamphlets about the candidate without displaying the number of copies and name of the printing press.

"I have decided to register complaint after I have seen these campaign materials being distributed without following ECI rules," he said.

"It's important to display the number of copies as ECI has put a cap on the campaign expenditure of each candidate. So violating the rule will help hiding the total expenditure from the monitoring committee. ECI should immediately investigate into the matter and fine the candidate for making sure free and fair election", he said.

Forest staff assn seeks salary hike, promotion

DC CORRESPONDENT TIRUCHY, MARCH 21

The Tiruchy unit of the Tamil Nadu Forest Staff Association consisting of forest rangers, watchers, guards and foresters, appealed to the state government to provide salary hike with promotion opportunities to forest guards and forest watchers.

Association's Tiruchy regional secretary, T.R. Anandan, briefing newsmen on the resolutions adopted at the association's Tiruchy region general council meeting held here on Saturday under the leadership of M. Sadhasivam, association's Pudukkottai district president, said the meeting wanted the services of foresters who were directly recruited in 2017 to be regularised, immediate disbursal of retirement benefits to retired forest staff and that 50 percent of forest rangers for the Tamil Nadu forest plantation corporation should be nominated from the forest department.

The meeting also urged the government to limit a forest protection beat within 500 hectares, to establish new forest protection beats, and to appoint at least two forest guards in every beat. It said its staff members did not get promotions even after completion of eight years in service. The government should sanction at least monetary benefits of the promotional posts, and also to those who died in harness.

The meeting also appealed to the government to sanction compensation and a government job for a member of the deceased staff member family, on the lines of the police department.

International Day of Forests
Todas, foresters to restore shola parks in Nilgiris

B. RAVICHANDRAN | DC OOTY, MARCH 21

The Toda tribes have joined hands with foresters here to plant native shola tree saplings at Pagalkodmund eco-tourism park to mark the International Day of Forests (IDF) on Sunday, and usher in a new era of forest restoration drive through the native flora.

While this year's theme of the IDF is "Forest restoration: A path to recovery and well-being", to build a better future, tribesmen attached to the Pagalkodmund eco-development committee (EDC) decided to bring back the olden glory to the environs around Pagalkodmund eco-park there by planting native shola species.

The Toda tribes, one of the primitive tribes in the nation, also form the ancient local community in the hills. They have decided to go in for the native species to sensitize the public on the importance of restoration of native tree species for eco-balancing to further sustain the local and other endemic fauna that depend on the native flora for their survival.

Northey Kuttan, president, Pagalkodmund EDC, said that due to urbanisation and negligent attitude towards conservation, the human race over the decades have exploited nature, without giving it back anything to replenish. Forest restoration is the only means to bring back the lost glory that will help neutralize the carbon emissions that pose a threat to global ecology as global warming and climate change factors already began to show its impact in the recent years.

"Toda tribes with their inherent tribal knowledge on conservation, realized the importance of native trees for good hill ecology that in turn lead to path to recovery and well being. We hope this effort will be emulative to others," Kuttan added.

Narayanasamy cites reason for not contesting polls

Puducherry, March 21: Senior Congress leader and former Chief Minister of Puducherry V Narayanasamy on Sunday said he was not contesting the April 6 Assembly elections as there was a need to coordinate poll-related works and programmes of the party in the Union Territory.

He told reporters at the PCC office that the president of the Pradesh Congress Committee A V Subramanian was contesting the poll from Karaikal (North) and so he (Narayanasamy), along with the Congress Member of Parliament V Vaithilingam, had to coordinate election-related party activities. "This is the reason for my not contesting the poll," he said.

The Congress, heading the Secular Democratic Alliance (SDA), has been earmarked 15 constituencies out of the total 30 segments in the Union Territory. The party has fielded its candidates in 14 seats leaving out Yanam where it would support an Independent.

Narayanasamy said that

Malladi Krishna Rao of the Congress, who was Health Minister, had announced support to the AINRC nominee N Rangasamy seeking election from Yanam. Rao had also quit the post of Health Minister and that of MLA. "There was delay in fixing a nominee of the Congress for Yanam," he said and added that an independent Kolapally Ashok had, in the meanwhile, sought support of the Congress in the poll in Yanam. "We are supporting Ashok in response to his request," he said.

He alleged that since last week certain government departments in the Centre have been targeting leaders of the rival party and been taking action against them in Puducherry. He did not, however, elaborate on the departments but said such action should be avoided. He appealed to the election authorities to act in an impartial manner. "This is our big appeal to the authorities."

Narayanasamy reiterated that the Union Home Minister Amit Shah should prove and show evidence in support of his (Shah's) allegation against him that he had given cut money to the Gandhi family from the Central funds meant for the Union Territory.

Shah had said while addressing a public rally in Karaikal on February 28 that Prime Minister Narendra Modi had given to Puducherry Rs 15,000 crore as Central grant and that "I had given cut money out of this to the Gandhi family."

Rejecting the charge, Narayanasamy reiterated his call to the Home Minister to prove it or tender an open apology. "I am ready to face any probe into this as the allegation is unfounded," he said.

He said the local unit of BJP had also brought out what they called charge sheet against him and the government he had headed. Narayanasamy said voters in the Union Territory were aware that the BJP would implement anti-people and anti-development programmes if it was voted to power.

Power distribution, department of printing press and stationery and several other essential services would be privatised if the NDA captured power in Puducherry, he added.

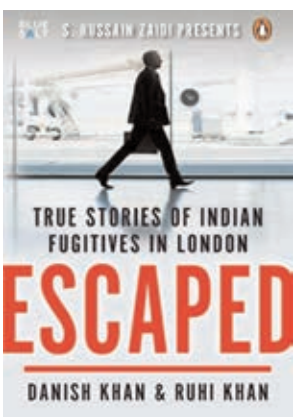

"People in Puducherry will never give scope to parties promoting communal and religious sentiments," he said. Claiming that the Congress-led SDA would romp home in the forthcoming polls, Narayanasamy said he, along with Vaithilingam, and other leaders of the alliance would embark on electioneering on Monday from neighbouring Kalapet village.

Chronicle of Indian fugitives who escaped to UK

London: A new book on some high-profile as well as lesser-known Indian extradition cases attempts to decode why the UK is considered a safe haven for those wanting to escape the law in India. 'Escaped: True stories of Indian fugitives in London', released worldwide on Monday, tracks 12 cases involving alleged offenders wanted in India to stand trial for offences ranging from loan defaults to murder.

The book, by London-based journalists and researchers Danish and Ruhi Khan, includes a recap of the more recent cases involving former Kingfisher Airlines boss Vijay Mallya and diamond merchant Nirav Modi, wanted in India on fraud and money laundering charges, as well as some historic ones including those of former Indian Naval officer Ravi Shankaran and musician Nadeem Saifi.

"These 12 cases were chosen as much for the significance of the allegations against them as for the interesting arguments raised during their hearings and the observations made in their judgments," said Danish Khan. "We have studied in much detail many other extradition cases, have had long interviews with experts and pored over case laws and parliamentary reports to understand the principles underlying the extradition process that we explore in our last chapter," he said.

As journalists covering the recent court cases in London, the couple said they drew on their own observations and reporting and also dug into British archives, old newspaper records and parliamentary reports to review cases dating back to the 1950s that have had a significant impact on the India-UK extradition policy.

"We have used investigative reporting and eye-witness accounts to bring to life the stories of the flamboyant billionaire Vijay Mallya and diamond czar Nirav Modi. We have also made extensive use of the British archives and historical newspapers reports to bring into focus the less heard but extremely important and intriguing stories of other fugitives that throw a spotlight on India over the past seven decades – whether it is the underworld-cricket-Bollywood nexus or the Indo-Pak diplomatic wars," said Ruhi Khan.

Among some of the past extradition cases is that of a key lieutenant of Dawood Ibrahim, Iqbal Mirchi, who set up a base in London at a time when the Middle East was the most popular destination for underworld dons and it proved a good choice as he was successful in his fight against being extradited to India. The authors say they have tried to take a close look at how Mirchi built his empire, rising from the mohallas of Bombay to London's millionaire row. The book similarly tracks the lives of all these fugitives who "escaped" from India, many winning their battle against extradition and others carrying on a long-drawn legal fight to stay on in the UK.

WON'T ALLOW DIDI TO KICK AWAY DEVELOPMENT: PM

Sending a strong warning to Ms Banerjee, Mr Modi added: "So Didi, if you wish at all, you can keep your feet on my head. Didi, you can even kick me. But listen to my words with all ears. I will not let you kick the development of Bengal any longer." He threw the challenge to the two-time CM after she boasted of her footwork despite her injured leg and threatened to "kick out" the BJP from the state like a football in the Assembly polls.

In his second campaign visit to the poll-bound state within 24 hours, Mr Modi also wondered how TMC leaders could become mala-maal (wealthy) by acquiring huge properties in the past one decade instead of ushering in any development and public welfare. Seeking to know the source of such funds, he also ridiculed Ms Banerjee for not having any satisfaction and still offering the slogan "Khela Hobe" (Game On) after playing with the state for 10 years.

Mumbai, March 21: Shiv Sena leader Sanjay Raut on Sunday admitted that the allegations made by former Mumbai police chief Param Bir Singh against minister Anil Deshmukh, and the Sachin Waze case have tainted the image of the Maha Vikas Aghadi (MVA) government in the state, and said all allies need to introspect if their feet are on the ground.

Talking to reporters, he also said that "something needs to be rectified" and the ruling allies should come together to discuss how these stains can be washed off.

"Such allegations against the government or ministers are unfortunate and shocking. The contents (of Singh's letter) are sensational," he said. "The veracity of the letter's contents will be dene by the CM and Sharad Pawar. The MVA government has completed a year-and-a-half now and all allies need to introspect if their feet are on the ground," he said.

Raut said police administration is the backbone of any government. The backbone is symbol of pride and self-respect and the government should always strengthen it, he added.

C'garh CM fulfils ₹5,600 cr promise to farmers

DC CORRESPONDENT HYDERABAD, MARCH 21

The Chhattisgarh state government on Saturday fulfilled its promise of providing ₹5,600 crore to farmers in the state under the Rajiv Gandhi Kisan Nyay Yojana, a scheme to provide financial support to farmers.

Chief Minister Bhupesh Baghel on Saturday, during a programme at his residence-cum-office in Raipur, digitally transferred ₹1,104.27 crore as the fourth and last installment of Rajiv Gandhi Kisan Nyay Yojana (RGKNY) into the bank accounts of more than 19 lakh farmers of the state, keeping the promise of financial aid to farmers under the scheme.

Chhattisgarh Chief Minister Bhupesh Baghel chairs a meeting for the digital transfer of the fourth and last installment of RGKNY at his residence-cum-office in Raipur.

Lok Sabha MP Rahul Gandhi in his virtual message congratulated the Chief Minister and his government for keeping up the party's promise.

"Today, we have fulfilled the promise of providing

₹5,600 crore to the farmers of Chhattisgarh. At a time when the Central government has brought three laws which are against the farmers, I am happy that Chhattisgarh government has taken up the path of helping the farmers, small businessmen, youths and poor people. This has resulted in strengthening the rural economy of the state by putting money in it. As a result, Chhattisgarh is not facing the problems that other states are witnessing. I congratulate the people of the state and the government for this achievement," Gandhi said.

The Chief Minister in his address said that after coming to power, his government had promised that farmers will get the actual price of their produce. Under the RGKNY, 19 lakh farmers were provided ₹5,627 crore as agricultural input assistance.

"Today I am satisfied that we have fulfilled the promise made to the farmers. We have proved that we do not make false promises," he said.

Appreciating the schemes, Congress leader and Chhattisgarh in-charge P.L. Punia said that the Parliament standing committee on agriculture has also suggested the implementation of these schemes in all states.

The Chief Minister added that farmers have been paid ₹4,500 crore in three installments under the scheme before Saturday. The RGKNY was implemented from May 21, 2020, to provide agricultural input assistance to farmers and to increase production and productivity of major crops of the state.

Under the RGKNY, farmers cultivating paddy in Kharif 2019 were paid in installments directly into their bank account at the rate of ₹10,000 per acre on the basis of the acreage obtained through cooperative society.

In all, under this scheme, 18.38 lakh farmers including 9.54 lakh marginal farmers, 5.60 lakh small farmers, and 3.21 lakh large farmers, have been paid ₹4,500 crore in three installments as input assistance and 4,777 certified seed growers have been paid ₹23.62 crore in three installments. In this way, ₹4,523.62 crore has been paid to a total of 18.43 lakh farmers in three installments.

US def chief arrives in Kabul

Kabul, March 21: US Defence Secretary Lloyd Austin arrived Sunday in Kabul on his first trip to Afghanistan as Pentagon chief, amid swirling questions about how long American troops will remain in the country.

According to the Washington Post, which was among the small group of US media travelling with him, Austin said senior US offi-

"There's always going to be concerns about things one way or the other, but I think there is a lot of energy focused on doing what is necessary to bring about a responsible end and a negotiated settlement to the war," Austin said.

President Joe Biden said last week in an ABC News interview that it will be "tough" for the US to meet a May 1 deadline to withdraw troops from Afghanistan. But he said that if the deadline, which is laid out in an agreement between former President Donald Trump's administration and the Taliban, is extended, it wouldn't be by a "lot longer".

In response, the Taliban on Friday warned of consequences if the US doesn't meet the deadline. Suhail Shaheen, a member of the Taliban negotiation team, told reporters that if US troops stay beyond

May 1, "it will be a kind of violation of the agreement. That violation would not be from our side. ... Their violation will have a reaction."

Austin met with Ghani and according to a statement released by the presidential palace both sides condemned the increase in violence in Afghanistan. There was no mention of the May 1 deadline. Washington is reviewing the agreement the Trump administration signed with the Taliban last year and has been stepping up pressure on both sides in the protracted conflict to find a swift route to a peace agreement.

Myanmar docs' march peaceful

One person shot dead at a rally elsewhere

Mandalay, March 21: A peaceful march at dawn on Sunday by medical professionals in Myanmar's second biggest city kicked off another day of protests around the country against last month's coup. Security forces shot dead at least one person at a rally elsewhere.

With public protests getting ever more dangerous, anti-coup demonstrators in Mandalay acted early to minimize the risk of confrontation with security forces. The independent Assistance Association for Political Prisoners had verified 247 deaths nationwide linked to the post-coup crackdown.

The actual total, including cases where verification has been difficult, is probably much higher, it said. It also has confirmed that 2,345 people have been arrested or charged, with 1,994 still detained or sought for arrest. About 100 doctors, nurses, medical students and pharmacists, wearing the long white coats, lined up on a main road in Mandalay to chant slogans and proclaim their opposition to the Feb. 1 coup that toppled the elected civilian government of Aung San Suu Kyi. ## Switch or status quo the only two options open for Kerala

With the CPI(M)-led Left Democratic Front (LDF) and the Congress-led United Democratic Front (UDF) releasing their manifestos, electioneering in Kerala is hotting up with the discussion hovering around whether the state will stick to its four-decade old practice of faithfully alternating between the two fronts or break it. The government led by chief minister Pinarayi Vijayan goes back to the people with a fair record of facing one too many issues which include two back-to-back floods, epidemic Nipah and pandemic Covid-19. As for the UDF, it hopes to cash in on the controversies the government landed itself in the election year including the gold smuggling case and allegations of irregularities in government appointments.

The LDF has claimed it met almost all the promises it had made in its 2016 election manifesto and hence hopes the one for this edition will catch the people's imagination. The focus of the LDF manifesto lies in expanding the social security network while seeking to transform the state into a knowledge economy. A unique and refreshing change aimed at women's empowerment is to give a monthly allowance of ₹2,000 to homemakers. It has also promised to raise the welfare pension to ₹2,500 from the present ₹1,600. It hopes the K-Fone project which will lay broadband Internet backbone to the last village will address the issue of digital divide and open up job opportunities for its trained human resources. The LDF also promises to make life easy for investors and entrepreneurs.

The UDF is not far behind the Leftists when it comes to social security. A UDF government will introduce the Nyay scheme that Congress president Rahul Gandhi had announced in the manifesto for the 2019 Lok Sabha elections. As per the scheme, every impoverished family will get ₹6,000 a month in their account. The UDF promises to raise the welfare pension to ₹3,000; a bit higher than what the LDF has promised. Health and education figure prominently on the UDF agenda, too. But unlike the Leftists, the UDF is open to the idea of privatisation of education. It promises to attract more investment by creating world-class infrastructure and by making processes easy. The UDF promises to bring in legislation to protect the customs and rituals at the Sabarimala temple, though the issue is pending before the constitution bench of the Supreme Court.

Kerala has not been very open to the BJP and its brand of politics though its vote share has gone up from six per cent in the 2011 elections to nearly 15 per cent in the 2016 elections. It has remained stuck at that point for the last five years, and the saffron party is now making all efforts to make an inroad into the minority vote bank, especially of the Christians, and the middle class. It has drafted some of the well-respected technocrats such as "Metroman" E. Sreedharan for the purpose. It is yet to be seen how the effort will pay off. For the time being, the party plays a marginal role in the state's politics and the question remains as to whether Kerala will follow its own pattern or create a new one in these elections.

Team India in top form

Having come back twice in the series from a one-match deficit to beat England 3-2, Team India will go into the T20 World Cup later this year in a more positive frame of mind. The advent of players like Ishan Kishan and Suryakumar Yadav, who proved to be matchwinners in their debut series, means team composition problems may have been sorted out. In what seemed like a routine "win toss, bowl first and chase a target to win" series, Virat Kohli's men were forced to bat first at the business end of the series and still they won two key games in a row to take the Cup.

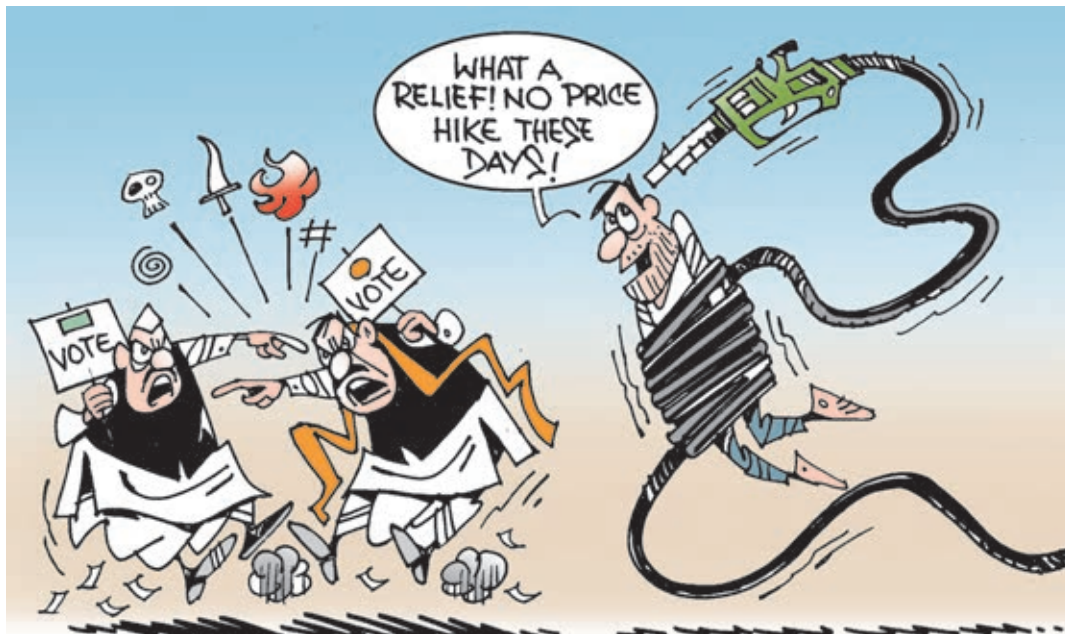

Team India's batting prowess against the white ball in all conditions is well-known. What was creditable was the batsmen delivered when the chips were down with the skipper putting up his hand to open the innings in place of the out-of-form batting star K.L. Rahul in the decider. Kohli anchored the series-winning effort rather than smashing the ball around as his opening partner Rohit Sharma was doing it well enough at the other end. Sachin Tendulkar had cottoned on to the idea that the best batsmen in the team should bat through most of the available overs in limited-overs cricket and Kohli has woken up to that now.

Attacking batting and clever bowling, as seen in the change of pace and denial of pace tactics used consistently in a sterling team effort was laudable, with Bhuvneshwar Kumar and Shardul Thakur outstanding in putting the leash on the England batsmen. The fact that England were a competitive side right through the series lends greater credence to this dress rehearsal for the T20 World Cup, which India hasn't won since sensationally shocking the world in the inaugural edition in 2007. Confidence in his team's combined abilities in a most unpredictable format of the game should be a morale booster for Kohli who, incidentally, has never won an ICC event as captain as opposed to MS

India and US: It's still the economy, stupid

Sanjaya Baru

Sanjayovacha

Many observers and analysts have already commented on the fact that the first high-level visitor to India from the Biden administration in the United States happens to be US defence secretary Lloyd Austin. Keeping the defence and security relationship in focus serves both the Biden administration and the Narendra Modi government well at a time when the world's two biggest democracies are arguing about human rights and trade. Their shared concerns about China help bridge the differences on other fronts.

The same purpose of focusing on the security relationship and their shared views on the Chinese threat in Asia could have been achieved if US national security adviser Jake Sullivan had been the first visitor, but defence secretaries also double up as arms salesmen. Defence sales have remained at the centre of the bilateral relationship ever since George W. Bush's defence secretary Donald Rumsfeld and then defence minister Pranab Mukherjee signed the New Framework for the US-India Defence Relationship in 2005, defining the transactional underpinning to a strategic relationship.

China has for long been a factor in relations between India and the United States. What keeps changing is the equation in this geopolitical menage a trois. Even at a time when their bilateral relations were otherwise prickly and the United States and India were described as "estranged democracies", American military support to India when China attacked it in 1962 kept the relationship going. There was a brief interregnum, at the time of the liberation of Bangladesh in 1971, when the US Navy entered the Bay of Bengal as an act of solidarity with Pakistan and in consultation with China.

When Prime Minister Atal Behari Vajpayee wrote a letter to President Bill Clinton mentioning China as a factor in India's decision to conduct the Shakti nuclear tests in 1998, President Clinton promptly leaked the letter to Beijing, thus ingratiating himself with the Chinese leadership. China was then a major market and destination for US investment. US business interests drove its strategic policy and President Clinton was beholden to American business lobbies that were still enjoying their honeymoon years with China.

While President George W. Bush signalled a reset on China and affirmed India's nuclear status, President Barack Obama resumed America's flirtatious relationship with China. President Joe Biden has now made it clear that he will stay with the course set by his predecessor Donald Trump of seeking to contain China. The "New Cold War" is here.

There are, however, two dimensions to the emerging US-China Cold War. First, trade and investment policies. Second, Indo-Pacific security. India has differences with both China and the United States on trade and investment issues. Not surprisingly, therefore, President Biden chose to send his defence secretary as his first emissary to India. Mr Austin's visit has thus given both governments the opportunity to say nice things to each other within days after India's external affairs minister and the US secretary of state were able to participate in a gathering of friends called the "Quad". When the conversation shifts to trade, investments and human rights, the two nations will have to come to terms with the fact that both are "strained" if not "estranged" democracies, dealing with domestic challenges that have become dividers rather than bridges in their relationship.

The apologists for both governments have argued that it is just as well that the focus in the bilateral relationship is currently on defence and security and not on trade and investment, because that is where there is greater agreement. The question remains, though, whether the two governments would be able to narrow down their differences on trade, investment and human rights in the extra time they have bought for their partnership by first focusing on China, the Indo-Pacific region and defence matters.

Consider the fact that even during the tenure of President Donald Trump, a self-confessed friend of India and hailed as such by the Narendra Modi government, the United States was not prepared to address India's concerns on trade and investment related issues, even if it was quite happy to refrain from comments on human rights issues. Can one expect the Biden administration to be more accommodative than Mr Trump and his administration?

The question will be answered when the recently confirmed US trade representative Katherine Tai engages her Indian counterpart, commerce minister Piyush Goyal. During the Senate confirmation hearings last week, Ms Tai did not reveal her mind on India. Even when references were made to India by several senators, Ms Tai chose to remain silent, except to say that she understood the fact that US should view relations with India in a wider context. It remains to be seen how the Biden administration will define its trade policies within that "wider context". It is useful to note that unlike some of President Biden's Indian American nominees, the Taiwanese American Ms Tai sailed through the Senate confirmation proceedings with both Democrats and Republicans confirming her appointment.

How the US defines its economic policy towards India is far more important than how it defines its defence and security policy. I say this for two reasons. First, consider the legacy of its post-war global leadership. The US has been a factor for good in the economic revitalisation of Europe and East Asia during the Cold War. As a defence partner, its legacy has been less impressive. It's economic support in the period between 1950 and 1980 helped Western European and the East Asian economies. Its military interventions in Asia and Latin America failed to improve the defences of its allies.

Second, for India, China is as much a defence and security threat as it has been an economic challenge. In fact, after the recent border standoff, it can be asserted that while India may have the military capability to deal with a Chinese threat, it does not as yet have the economic and human capital capability to deal with China's economic challenge. Hence, securing US support for India's economic rise is as important for India as strengthening its defence capabilities. It is the unveiling of US policy beyond defence and the security of the Indo-Pacific region that one is keenly awaiting.

TOUCH-ME NOT

It was interesting to learn that Kailash Bohra, an assistant commissioner of police, who had allegedly sought sexual favour from a rape victim in Jaipur for looking into her complaint, was sacked by the Rajasthan government. The Anti-Corruption Bureau caught the ACP when he made sexual advances on the young victim. For the purpose of evidence, the officials had sprinkled some phenolphthalein powder on her clothes. When the hands of the accused were dipped in sodium carbonate, the colour of the water changed from white to pink. This is the invisible chemical normally spread on currency notes by the investigating team. The ACB officials should make extensive use of the phenolphthalein powder to trap errant cops. There is a Kailash Bohra at almost every police station in the country. And summary dismissal from service is the apt punishment they deserve.

WALK THE TALK

Though most of the candidates are yet to start their election campaign in TN, the MNM Chief, Kamala Hassan has hit the right track to walk the talk with the people of his constituency in Coimbatore South. Being an ace actor is definitely an advantage in vast interest in the public to take selfies with the actor. However, as in the cases of paid attendance, during their meetings, how many would turn this into a real vote is a matter to be seen on April 6, 2021. Incidentally, all these candidates, who walk the talk on election eve, will have to wait for another 5 years before they could meet their elected members.

DEFIES LOGIC

The announcement of the TN government to close schools affiliated to the state board for classes 9, 10, and 11 because of increasing Covid-19 cases in some schools may sound logical from the prism of the government. But one feels good administration of schools could have prevented this drastic move of the government. Its announcement that digital learning will continue for the aforesaid classes defies logic. It's because our education system is all about exams and grades/marks, and the students' learning outcome will not be there when there are no final exams. To put it in simple terms, students, schools and parents have got a raw deal in the closure of schools.

SC pawn in RSS opening move aiming to fulfil Mathura agenda

The long-expected event has happened as many had feared. On March 12, a bench of the Supreme Court comprising Chief Justice S.A. Bobde and Justice A.S. Bopanna issued notices to three ministries of the government of India — home, law and justice and culture on a petition filed by Ashwani Kumar Upadhyaya, a leader of the ruling Bharatiya Janata Party (BJP), challenging the constitutional validity of the Places of Worship (Special Provisions) Act, 1991, which came into force on Sept 18, 1991.

According to the act, "No person shall convert any place of worship of any religious denomination or any section thereof into a place of worship of a different section of the same religious denomination or of a different religious denomination or any section thereof. ... It is hereby declared that the religious character of a place of worship existing on the 15th day of August 1947 shall continue to be the same as it existed on that day."

The act did not apply to any "place of worship which is an ancient and historical monument" or was covered by the Ancient Monuments and Archaeological Sites Act or Remains Act, 1958. Had this act been applied to the Babri Masjid promptly, the mosque would have been saved. The 1991 act says that nothing contained in it would apply to the Babri Masjid and to the litigation concerning it pending in the courts.

Other exceptions to the 1991 act are acquiescent in the conversion before this act came into force. Most important of all, the act will not apply to "any dispute with respect to any such matter settled by the parties amongst themselves before such commencement" of the Act of 1991. As it happens, dispute regarding one of the two mosques which the BJP and Rashtriya Swayamsevak Sangh (RSS) hope to destroy concerned Krishna Janamasthan at Mathura, Krishna's birthplace according to Hindu belief.

But the matter was settled nearly half a century ago by an elaborate, detailed agreement on Oct 12, 1968. It sought to "settle the long-standing disputes between the Shri Krishna Janamasthan Sangh and the Shahi Masjid Eidgah Trust". Documents to authorise it by the parties were mentioned. A written iqarnama was registered. The signatories acted in a representative capacity at the instance of "both Hindu and Muslim communities". The core of the agreement was peaceful coexistence between the eidgah and the Krishna Janamasthan (birthplace.)

In Mumbai, there is a traffic island which houses a mosque, temple and a church. This spirit evaporated with the rise of Hindutva for political ends. The BJP rose from two seats in the Lok Sabha in 1985 to power in 1987.

This sordid game was long in the planning. The RSS set up the Vishwa Hindu Parishad (VHP) at Mumbai on Aug 29, 1984. In 1986 at Allahabad, a World Hindu Sammelan (conference) was held.

Eventually, the VHP adopted an 18-point code of conduct which explicitly called for the 'liberation' of the birthplaces of Ram at Ayodhya and of Krishna at Mathura and also for the Kashi Vishwanath Mandir at Varanasi to be 'liberated' from the Gyanvapi Masjid.

In August 1990, L.K. Advani promised that if Muslims surrendered the Babri Masjid, the BJP would give up its demands for the other two at Mathura and Varanasi. Places of worship were being used as bargaining counters. The 1991 act was praised by a five-member bench of the Supreme Court in the Babri Masjid case as recently as November 2019. Only a seven-member bench can overrule it now.

The issue, however, is more political than legal. The leader of the opposition in the UP Assembly and senior Samajwadi Party leader Ram Govind Choudhary said: "BJP and its forces that support it are busy in these kind of things — how to play with Hindu sentiments and encash it. All the more for all these years they could not and did not do any public interest, welfare, development works. Price rise is unprecedented, unemployment has reached highest in 45 years. So they are back to usual tricks."

This is a replay of the tactics used in the Babri Masjid case. There is already a debate in the courts and on public platforms about the danger of political problems being discussed in courts of law. In this case, as in the Babri Masjid case, to the political dimension is added the vastly more charged dimension namely religion. This is not insuperable. In the Shaheed Ganj Masjid case in Lahore, the premier of Punjab Sikandar Hayat Khan refused to bring in legislation to override a hostile judgement of the high court. He was then a member of the Muslim League. Mohammad Ali Jinnah backed him completely. So did the council of the All India Muslim League. They were much smaller men who played around with the Babri Masjid case.

Lee, Okuhara win
All England titles

Birmingham: Lee Zii Jia put up an incredible show to emerge as the All England badminton men's singles champion, while Nozomi Okuhara secured her second All England crown after beating the Thai shuttler Pornpawee Chochuwong 21-12, 21-16 at BWF World Tour 1000 event on Sunday.

The 22-year-old Lee toiled for one hour and 14 minutes to dethrone Viktor Axelsen of Denmark 30-29, 20-22, 21-9 in a pulsating final at the Arena Birmingham on Sunday. With the win, Zii Jia ended a four-year title drought for Malaysia to show that he is indeed the worthy successor of his senior Lee Chong Wei.

Chong Wei was the last Malaysian to win the title in 2017.

Lee shocked world number one Kento Momota to reach the last four and the 22-year-old suffered no dip in form as he comfortably saw off the unseeded Dutchman Mark Caljouw.

Man City, Saints
in FA Cup semis

London: Manchester City's quest for an unprecedented quadruple of trophies remains intact after seeing off Everton 2-0 to reach the FA Cup semi-finals on Saturday as Southampton also booked their place in the last four. City were far from their flowing best at Goodison Park, but goals in the final six minutes from Ilkay Gundogan and Kevin De Bruyne booked City's place in the semi-finals for the fourth time in five seasons.

Pep Guardiola described the clash as the toughest his side have had since November as they recorded a 25th win in 26 matches in all competitions.

"It was the toughest game since the last international break we had," said Guardiola. City won the domestic treble of Premier League, FA Cup and League Cup for the first time in English football history two seasons ago and are firm favourites to repeat that feat. Saints cast aside their Premier League struggles to ease past Bournemouth 3-0 to reach the semi-finals. — AFP

James injury
rocks LA in loss

Los Angeles: LeBron James faces an indefinite layoff after suffering an ankle injury as the Los Angeles Lakers slumped to defeat against the Atlanta Hawks on Saturday. Lakers superstar James collapsed to the Staples Center court in agony after a collision with Atlanta's Solomon Hill in the second quarter of the Hawks' 99-94 win. After writhing on the floor clutching his right ankle, the 36-year-old returned briefly to hit a three-pointer before limping back to the locker room, knocking over a chair in frustration. ESPN later reported that an MRI scan revealed a high ankle sprain and that James faced an "indefinite" injury layoff. — AFP

WORK IN PROGRESS

Rohit says it's early to talk about batting line-up for World Cup

Ahmedabad, March 21: India vice-captain Rohit Sharma feels it is still too early to finalise the team's batting line-up for the upcoming T20 World Cup and skipper Virat Kohli opening alongside him in the series decider against England was only a tactical move.

Before Rohit's media interaction, Kohli said that he will open in the upcoming IPL and would also like to bat at the top of the order in the T20 World Cup at home later this year.

"It is still long time to go for the (T20) World Cup, so early days to talk about how our batting will look like. We have to sit and analyse what suits the team the most," said Rohit after the series win.

"Today was a tactical move because we wanted to play an extra bowler and wanted to leave one batsman out. Unfortunately it was KL (Rahul) which was very tough."

India replaced an out-of-form Rahul with pacer T. Natarajan to have an extra bowling option for the crucial game.

"KL has been one of our key players in limited overs, especially in this format. Looking at current form, the team management decided to go with the best 11. Having said that, it doesn't send any signal that KL will not be considered or anything like that."

"This was just for one particular game. Things might change as we go closer to World Cup."

Before the series, Kohli had said that Rohit and Rahul were India's first-choice opening pair.

"We do understand his (Rahul's) ability and his contribution at the top, what he's done for us. So, yeah, I'm not going to rule out anything or neither will I say that this is the preferred batting lineup for a World Cup."

"There is still a good amount of time left with IPL in between. So, you know, good enough time for us, at that point in time to judge what will be the best possible eleven for us," added Rohit.

Though Kohli said after the series win that the World Cup squad is more or less sorted, Rohit felt the management is flexible on that front.

On Kohli opening with him regularly, he added:

Rohit Sharma in action against England during the fifth Twenty20 in Ahmedabad on Saturday. — AP

"It was good for us to win this game with that batting order. But again, everything will depend on what the captain is thinking at that particular time. I'm sure we need to sit and analyze and think about what will be the right thing to do for the team. And if it means he has to open with me so be it."

"The combination, getting the right players in as somebody who's in good form, giving him an opportunity. Those are the things that really matter, and I think we'll be focusing on that come the World Cup. We just finished the T20series, so I don't think Virat will open in the ODI series." — PTI

Morgan urges Eng players to take advantage of IPL

Ahmedabad, March 21: Captain Eoin Morgan wants England's IPL-bound players to make the most of the opportunities in the upcoming T20 league as they prepare themselves for the T20 World Cup to be held in India later this year.

The T20 World Cup is scheduled to be hosted by India in October-November this year and Morgan expects English cricketers to take full advantage of the IPL, starting April 10.

"Taking advantage of the upcoming IPL is going to be huge," Morgan said after their

Eoin Morgan

36-run defeat to India here on Saturday night.

"As a team and individuals we don't want to stand still, we want to continue to move forward. Any opportunity guys get at the IPL, you want to try to make the most of it," said Morgan, who is the skipper of Kolkata Knight Riders.

England will be at home all summer, taking on New Zealand (two) and India (five) in seven Tests between June and September before they get to play white ball cricket in Bangladesh and Pakistan in the build up to the T20 World Cup in India later this year.

"So I think the experience over the next couple of months is probably the most valuable, and then having the time to work on your game after that," he said. — PTI

KOHLI & CO.
REACH PUNE
FOR ODI LEG

Pune, March 21: The Indian cricket team arrived here for the final leg of the ongoing series against England, which comprises three ODIs, beginning with the first game on Tuesday.

After claiming the four-Test series 3-1, India on Saturday clinched the five-match T20 series by 3-2 margin at the refurbished Narendra Modi Stadium.

It is reliably learnt that the Indian team, led by skipper Virat Kohli, arrived here by a Chartered Flight from Ahmedabad at around 4.45 PM.

The three ODI matches are to be played at the MCA stadium in Gahunje, on the outskirts of the city, on March 23, 26 and 28, sans spectators.

Karnataka pacer Prasidh Krishna, all-rounder Krunal Pandya and Suryakumar Yadav were included in India's 18-member squad which was announced on Friday.

Apart from Kohli, the Indian squad also comprises Rohit Sharma, Shikhar Dhawan, Shubman Gill, Shreyas Iyer, Hardik Pandya, Rishabh Pant and bowlers led by Bhuvneshwar Kumar.

England greats feel India favourites to win T20WC

London, March 21: Depth in the team and playing in home conditions make India the favourites to win this year's T20 World Cup, believes former England skipper Mike Atherton.

Even without the services of all-rounder Ravindra Jadeja and fast bowlers Jasprit Bumrah and Mohammed Shami, India beat world no. 1 side England in the five-match T20I series 3-2 on Saturday.

"They probably have more strength in depth because of the IPL and the T20 cricket they play and the fact that they have just beaten England without probably three main bowlers," Atherton said on Sky Sports.

"Put all those things together, and the fact that they are playing at home, they are the team to beat."

The T20 World Cup is scheduled to be held in India in October and November this year.

Another former England skipper Michael Vaughan lauded India for the series win and said the addition of Jadeja and Bumrah will only strengthen the side in the T20 World Cup.

"India have adapted brilliantly in this series ... the better team have won ... Add @Jaspritbhura93 & @imjadeja to this team in Indian conditions & they are favourites to win the T20 World Cup," Vaughan tweeted. — PTI

INJURED ARCHER RULED OUT

Ahmedabad, March 21: An injured Jofra Archer was on Sunday omitted from a 14-member England squad for the three-match ODI series against India starting in Pune on Tuesday.

Archer will also miss the beginning part of this year's Indian Premier League, the England and Wales Cricket Board (ECB) said on Sunday.

England captain Eoin Morgan on Saturday had revealed that Archer was likely to pull out of the ODI series and the ensuing IPL as the star pacer's elbow injury has worsened.

A statement from the ECB said that "Archer is returning to the UK for further management and investigation of his right elbow injury."

"He has been deemed unfit for selection for the ODI series that features matches on 23, 26 and 28 March," the ECB said.

India women slump to T20 series defeat

Lucknow, March 21: Indian women dished out a superb batting effort but their bowling colleagues failed to step up as South Africa women registered a series-clinching six-wicket win in a last ball thriller in the second T20 International here on Sunday.

Shafali Verma (47) blasted six fours and two sixes in her 31-ball innings and forged a 79-run stand with Harleen Deol (31) to set the foundation while Richa Ghosh provided the late charge with a 26-ball 44 not out to help India post a competitive 158 for 4 after being put in to bat.

Chasing the target, Lizelle Lee smashed a 45-ball 70 studded with 11 fours and a six, while Laura Wolvaardt slammed an unbeaten 39-ball 53 as South Africa romped home in the last ball.

Defending the total, left-arm spinner Rajeshwari Gayakwad got rid of Anne Bosch (2) early but Lee starred in two crucial partnerships, adding 58 with skipper Sune Luus (20) and then 50 with Laura to keep them in the hunt.

Defending 19 off 12 balls, Harleen dismissed du Preez (10) in the first ball but she conceded two fours, leaving Arundhati Reddy nine to defend in the last over.

Needing six off last two balls, Reddy bowled a no ball which changed the complexion of the game as Laura took the team home in the last ball. — PTI
