Rise in material prices
burdens homebuyers

Builders face tough challenge to take up new constructions

DC CORRESPONDENT
VIJAYAWADA, DEC. 5

Rise in prices of construction material like sand, steel, cement and even labour charges has caused hardships to homebuyers in AP.

The cost of sand has been raised to ₹525 from ₹375 a tonne and it costs up to ₹750 or more if the sand to be procured from stockyards and transport charges to be added. So is the case with steel as its cost has been raised to ₹55,000 to ₹60,000 per tonne from the previous price of ₹45,000. In case of cement, its cost too has been raised to ₹300 to ₹350 per a 50 kg bag from the previous price of ₹240. The cost of plumbing material like pipes, electric wires and fittings and others has gone up by 5 per cent to 10 per cent.

The cost of labour too has gone up as the masons are demanding ₹200 for square feet at present unlike the earlier practice of nearly ₹150 or so. In the wake of prevalence of Covid-19, no camps are being run for labourers at construction project sites to avoid any spread of the virus and migrant labourers are not available as they are staying at home and attending to local works instead of migrating to workplaces travelling hundreds of kilometres. This resulted in daily payment of wages to local labourers ranging from ₹800 to ₹1,000 per head.

The builders are facing a tough challenge to take up new construction projects due to cost escalation fearing trouble to sell them off, especially in Tier-II cities and towns in the state. They maintain that on an average, they have to incur an additional expenditure of ₹250 per square feet due to cost escalation in construction materials and rise in labour charges.

The salaried class and those from middle-income are the worst hit as they are unable to afford the rise in cost of the flats. According to an estimate, a double bedroom flat coming up in suburban areas in a town, in 1,150 square feet area to cost ₹44 lakh unlike earlier cost of nearly ₹40 lakh showing rise by ₹4 lakh.

A homebuyer, identified as K. Venkateswara Rao, from Vijayawada said, "I retired from government service recently and I'm yet to receive all my dues from the government. When I enquired to buy a two bedroom flat not in a very prime locality in the city with my little savings, I have realised that I have to pay more due to cost escalation. I have shelved the idea of buying a flat for the time being."

CREDAI AP Chapter president Chigurupati Sudhakar said, "It is true as the cost of construction material has been raised, it is having its impact on cost of construction of housing projects. We appeal to the state government to intervene and reduce at least stamp duty on registration of flats from 7 per cent to 2 per cent similar on the lines of Maharashtra and Karnataka so that it reduces some burden on homebuyers in AP."

Police restrictions

Policemen house arrests Vijayawada city Congress president N. Narasimha Rao when he tries to venture out to lay seize to Chief Minister's house at Tadepalli in Vijayawada on Saturday. The PCC leaders bid to meet Chief Minister Y.S. Jagan Mohan Reddy and seek continuation of Amaravati as only Capital of AP on Saturday was foiled by the police through arrests and restrictions. TD came to Assembly to create ruckus, says BotsaDC CORRESPONDENT
VIJAYAWADA, DEC. 5

Minister for municipal administration Botsa Satyanarayana alleged that Opposition Telugu Desam came to the Assembly to create ruckus, shunning norms.

Addressing a press meet here on Saturday, the minister alleged that Leader of Opposition and TD chief N. Chandrababu Naidu totally failed as the Leader of Opposition due to his heedless behaviour of squatting on the floor at Podium and further sending his legislators to Speaker's chair for protests. He said the YSRC government despite financial crises implementing welfare schemes which brought good name among masses and unable to digest the same, while the Opposition tried to mislead people through their objectionable protests.

Satyanarayana said, "We have clearly laid the facts about our one-and-half-year governance in the Assembly, but the Opposition TD has failed miserably to play a constructive role and resorted to cheap tricks to disrupt the House."

Satyanarayana said that the Opposition leaders have been vindictive and intentionally tried to create chaos in the House, despite the discussions being taken as per the choice of the Opposition.

He criticised Chandrababu Naidu that despite having 40 years experience and working as chief minister three times, Naidu still doesn't know how to take up Opposition role in the Assembly. He recalled that against the rules, Naidu had squatted at the Speaker podium, where no Opposition leader would have done and this Opposition leader created a bad remark.

He added, "Chief Minister Y.S. Jagan Mohan Reddy and other leaders have clearly laid the facts on Polavaram project, along with other welfare schemes, where over ₹67,000 crore was directly credited into the beneficiaries' accounts. While the Chief Minister affirmed that the height of Polavaram will not be reduced, the Opposition leaders with their friendly media constantly distorted the facts and tried to mislead people."

Heavily coming down on Opposition TD, Satyanarayana said that Naidu and his team failed in addressing public issues as an Opposition party. All they tried is to gain sympathy from the public by getting suspended.

He defended that the Opposition was given the opportunity to speak in the House but all they did was chaos, and even pointed fingers threatening the Speaker which is a severe violation of norms and objectionable.

Naidu demands
nationwide debate
on farm lawsDC CORRESPONDENT
VIJAYAWADA, DEC. 5

Telugu Desam chief N. Chandrababu Naidu on Saturday called for a comprehensive nationwide debate between representatives of political parties and farmer associations for resolving apprehensions within farmers over the three contentious agricultural acts passed by the Centre.

He said opinions and suggestions of all stakeholders should be taken into consideration, so that a better deal could be provided to farmers through new policies.

Naidu expressed concern that despite having 22 MPs in Lok Sabha, the ruling YSRC has not broken its silence on the farm laws, which amounts to betrayal of farmers. He claimed that while the then TD government gave bonus in addition to MSP to farmers, farmers are not even getting the MSP under the current YSRC dispensation, because of which they are coming on to roads for registering their protests.

The TD chief feared that if the limit on holding stocks of food grains is not reduced, it will lead to black-marketing in future and only benefit middlemen.

He demanded that Rythu Bazaars be modernised and new agriculture policies formulated that are beneficial to both farmers and consumers.

Meanwhile, Telugu Desam national general secretary and MLC Nara Lokesh has accused YSRC Congress government of turning a blind eye to sufferings of farmers who have suffered severe losses due to heavy rains, floods and cyclone. Taking up a whirlwind visit of Ponnur, Bapatla and Chilakaluripeta segments in Guntur district, where crops had been damaged, he protested that the government has not yet paid any compensation to affected farmers.

Speaking at Ponnur, the party general secretary accused Chief Minister Y.S. Jagan Mohan Reddy of not visiting farmers when they are in distress. He maintained that when TD tried to raise farmers' woes in the assembly and council, ruling YSRC Congress members prevented his party legislators from doing so.

He accused the YSRC regime of not giving input subsidy despite the unprecedented losses suffered by farmers.

former minister and complained that the government had not yet given any compensation to them till now.

Speaking after visiting farm fields at Pachaladiparru, Lokesh criticised Chief Minister Y.S. Jagan Mohan Reddy, alleging that the CM was not at all bothered to visit the affected fields and solve the farmers' problems in their hour of distress.

Lokesh asked why the Jagan Mohan Reddy regime was not even ensuring proper enumeration of cross losses. He mentioned that when the TD raised the farmers' woes in the Assembly and the Council, the ruling YSRC was making counter attacks.

ASSEMBLY PASSING
RESOLUTION ON
LOCAL BODY POLLSDC CORRESPONDENT
VIJAYAWADA, DEC. 5

Telugu Desam termed the resolution passed by the ruling YSRC in the AP Assembly on the local body elections in the state as 'unilateral' and 'objectionable'.

Telugu Desam AP president Kinjarapu Atchannaidu asked how the government could defy the decision taken by a Constitutional institution like the State Election Commission which had to hold the elections every five years as per the constitutional obligations. He claimed that the YSRC was running a vengeful and destructive regime demolishing all the established institutions.

Atchannaidu accused Chief Minister Jagan Mohan Reddy of behaving as crazy as US President Donald Trump who had to pay a heavy price for his failures.

Vehicles plying in AP without valid inter-state permit due to establishment of a check post 120 km away from border, are causing a loss of at least ₹1.60 crore, the CAG said.

The CAG report further said 1,39,315 of 1,79,278 offences related to repeat offences. Levying of just ₹1,000 penalty instead of ₹2,000 led to loss of ₹10.45 crore. Transactions at Chinturu check post were done manually and registers not maintained properly. This showed a discrepancy of ₹3.09 crore in revenue collected at Chinturu.

At three check posts, revenue collected could not be reconciled between April 2016 and March 2018. Audit with treasuries found that ₹1.49 crore was untraceable. Quarterly road tax of ₹69.10 lakh and ₹34.55 lakh penalty were not collected from 500 transport vehicles. Non-renewal of 48,472 transport vehicle fitness certificates caused a loss of ₹91.78 lakh. Lack of coordination between departments of Registration and Stamps, and Transport led to loss of ₹86.82 crore in stamp duty.

He said it was against the spirit of the Constitution.

The AP government had passed a resolution in the Assembly on Friday stating that it was not possible to conduct gram panchayat polls in February, 2021 in the wake of prevalence of Covid-19 and the threat of a second wave.

On November 17, the SEC had started proceedings to conduct gram panchayat polls in February, 2021 after consulting the state government.

In the backdrop of the recent Assembly resolution, the commissioner mentioned that the SEC is an independent agency with the authority to hold elections every five years as per article 243K of Indian Constitution. He further said that the SEC had the power similar to the Election Commission of India to conduct elections.

The SEC appealed to the Governor to reject any ordinance the state government could come up with making it mandatory for the SEC to take government's permission to conduct gram panchayat polls. He even suggested to the Governor to consult legal experts from the Supreme Court on the issue.

ONE HELD FOR FLOATING FAKE AIRPORT PORTAL

AKSHAYA KUMAR SAHOO | DC
BHUBANESWAR, DEC. 5

A three-member team of IGI Airport police station, New Delhi, on Saturday arrested a youth from his in-laws house at Naraharipur village in Odisha's Bhadrak district for allegedly committing a cyber fraud amounting to ₹1 crore.

The accused, identified as Rajendra Malick of Bairi village in Jajpur district, was held while hiding at his in-laws house to avoid police action.

According to the police reports, Malick runs a travel agency through which he used to "make" online train and flight tickets using fake identity documents. He also used to dupe people of thousands of rupees on the pretext of getting them a job at IGI Delhi Airport.

Malick who lives in Bhubaneswar floated a website faking the official website of IGI Airport. In the website, he advertised for various posts and asked job aspirants to deposit ₹1,000 registration fee. Thousands of youths fell victim to Malick's design and deposited the money.

"The accused has looted people of over ₹1 crore by promising them jobs at IGI Airport. Besides, he has cheated people in many other ways," IGI Airport police station inspector Vijaya Kumar who led the three-member team said.

A complaint was lodged against Rajendra on December 2 by a resident of Delhi. Based on the complaint, the Delhi police booked a case under Section 420, 468 and 471 of the Indian Penal Code team reached Bhadrak and arrested him on Saturday morning.

"Based on the complaint, we launched the investigation and successfully reached the accused. We are interrogating the accused to know further details about the cheating and fraud perpetrated by him," the police said.

Soon after his arrest, the accused was produced in the local Dhamnagar Court which remanded him in the transit remand of Delhi police.

SPICEJET PLANE UNDERSHOOTS RUNWAY

New Delhi, Dec 5: A SpiceJet plane undershot the runway while landing at the Guwahati airport on Friday, but no one was hurt in the incident, senior DGCA officials said.

Aviation regulator Directorate General of Civil Aviation has grounded the two SpiceJet pilots who were operating the SG960 Bengaluru-Guwahati flight, they said on Saturday.

"They (pilots) have been off-rostered. It (matter) is under investigation," one of the officials said.

Officials said that while the plane landed before the designated point on the runway, none of the passengers were affected. "However, some of the runway lights were damaged while landing the SG960 Bengaluru-Guwahati flight," an official said.

SpiceJet did not respond to PTI's queries on this matter. It was not clear how many passengers were on board the plane when the incident occurred. The SpiceJet plane, which has registration number VT-SLL, is fit for flying and has conducted multiple flights post the runway incident, the officials said.

HUBBY SEEKS MAINTENANCE FROM WIFE

Thane, Dec 5: A man from Bhiwandi in Thane district of Maharashtra has been booked for allegedly harassing his wife for delivering a baby girl and demanding ₹30,000 as "maintenance" from her parents for the child, police said on Saturday.

Besides the man, his parents were also booked under section 498A (Husband or relative of husband of a woman subjecting her to cruelty) of the Indian Penal Code (IPC), an official said.

The woman (21) was harassed by the accused, identified as Dilshad Gaba Momin, Sonu Gaba Momin and Naushad Momin, for delivering a baby girl and was asked to bring ₹30,000 from her parents towards "maintenance" of the child, the official said quoting the complaint.

Police are yet to make any arrest in the case.

PM to lay foundation stone for Parl building on Dec 10

LS speaker says as many as 1,224 MPs can sit together in the building

New Delhi, Dec 5: Prime Minister Narendra Modi will lay the foundation stone on December 10 for a new Parliament building and the construction is expected to be completed by 2022 at an estimated cost of ₹971 crore, Lok Sabha Speaker Om Birla said on Saturday.

"The existing temple of democracy is completing 100 years... It is a matter of pride for our countrymen that the new one will be built by our own people as a prime example of Aatmanirbhar Bharat," Birla said here announcing details of the new proposed building.

"The new building will showcase the cultural diversity of the country. Hopefully, in the 75th year of independence (2022), Parliament session will be held in the new building," he said.

Birla said the new building will be earthquake resistant and 2,000 people will be directly involved in the construction of the new building and 9,000 indirectly.

He said as many as 1,224

MPs can sit together in the building, while a new office complex for all MPs of both the houses would be built at the site of the existing Shram Shakti Bhawan.

The existing Parliament building will be conserved as it is an archaeological asset of the country, Birla said.

The existing building is a British era building, designed by Edwin Lutyens and Herbert Baker who were responsible for planning and construction of New Delhi.

The Foundation Stone of the existing Parliament House was laid on February 12, 1921 and the construction took six years and cost ₹83 lakh at that time. The opening ceremony was performed on January 18, 1927 by the then Governor-General of India, Lord Irwin.

The new building will have an area of 64,500 square metres and is being built at an estimated cost of ₹971 crore, Birla said.

He said the outlook of the new building will be similar to the existing one.

"There will be a basement, ground, first and second floors in the new building and its height will be same as the old building so that both are in symmetry," he said.

The Lok Sabha Speaker said the invitation will be extended to all political parties. While some would attend physically and others would attend virtually, Birla said, while adding that the ground laying ceremony at 1 pm on December 10 would follow all Covid-related guidelines.

As per rules, the speaker of the lower house of parliament is also the custodian of the parliament building.

Sufficient steps have been taken to control air and noise pollution during the construction work for the new parliament building, which will have separate offices for all MPs and those will be equipped with the latest digital interfaces as a step towards creating 'paperless offices'.

The new building will also have a grand Constitution Hall to showcase India's democratic heritage, a lounge for members of Parliament, a library, multiple committee rooms, dining areas and ample parking space.

In the new building, the Lok Sabha chamber will have a seating capacity for 888 members, while Rajya Sabha will have 384 seats for the upper house members.

This has been done keeping in mind the future increase in the number of members for the two houses.

At present, Lok Sabha has a sanctioned strength of 543 members and Rajya Sabha of 245.

In September this year, Tata Projects Limited won the bid to construct the new parliament building at a cost of ₹861.90 crore. The new building will be constructed close to the existing one under the Central Vista redevelopment project.

The existing Parliament House building will be suitably retro-fitted to provide more functional spaces for parliamentary events, to ensure its usage along with the new building.

The existing building is a massive circular edifice of 560 feet in diameter. The Parliament House Estate is enclosed by an ornamental red sandstone wall or iron grills with iron gates that can be closed when occasions demand. The building has twelve gates.

Hindus will be beaten up if they visit church: VHP

MANOJ ANAND | DC
GUWAHATI, DEC. 5

In what is said to be in retaliation of alleged closure of a Hindu temple in Meghalaya, the right wing group Vishwa Hindu Parishad has warned Hindus against visiting churches during Christmas in Assam's Barrak Valley.

In a viral video Mithu Nath, the general secretary of Cachar district unit of the Vishwa Hindu Parishad, declared himself "outraged" by the alleged shut down of the Vivekananda Centre (part of the Ramakrishna Mission) in Christian-majority Meghalaya state capital Shillong, and said that Hindus would "not be allowed" to attend Christmas Day programmes and festivities.

"If Hindus go and visit Churches on Christmas Day, they will get brutally beaten," warned Mr Nath in his speech amidst the slogan of "Jai Shri Ram" by his supporters. He added, "They are locking temples in Shillong and we are going and celebrating Christmas with them. This cannot happen, we will not allow this to happen."

"If we do so (assault by Hindus) I know the headlines in newspapers the next day - 'Gunda Dal' has vandalised Oriental school.. but that is not our priority. We will not allow Hindus in programmes during Christmas when they are locking gates of temples in Shillong," he said.

Addressing a crowd of around 70 people dressed in saffron and shouting 'Jai Shri Ram' repeatedly Mr Nath also said, "We accept this", referring to claims the media twists the right-wing outfit's name.

However, Mr Nath's claim - that the Khasi Student Union had shut down a temple - has been denied by authorities of the Meghalaya government, who said it was the Cultural Centre (where students are taught advanced computer courses) whose gates had been closed - not locked - because of a district holiday. No temple of the Ramakrishna Mission has been shut, the official added.

Although the Christian population in the north-eastern state's Cachar district is relatively small, the Christmas is traditionally celebrated by the Oriental School at Ambikapaty near Silchar. People from various religions gather every year.

He died in the morning, days after he was admitted to the hospital on November 22 in a critical condition, Dr Divyang Dalwadi, a critical care expert of the hospital, said. "He was admitted to the hospital with severe lung infection. He was also suffering from hypothyroidism," the doctor said.

In his career spanning over three decades, Justice Udhwani had also served as an additional judge of special POT court in 2003.

People have a right to protest peacefully: UN

United Nations, Dec 5: People have a right to demonstrate peacefully and authorities should let them do so, spokesperson for UN Secretary-General Antonio Guterres has said on the farmers' protests in India.

India has called the remarks by foreign leaders on protests by farmers as "ill-informed" and "unwarranted" as the matter pertained to the internal affairs of a democratic country.

As to the question of India, what I would say to you is what I've said to others when raising these issues is that people have a right to demonstrate peacefully, and authorities need to let them do so, Stephane Dujarric, Spokesman for the Secretary-General, said on Friday.

Reacting to the comments by the foreign leaders, External Affairs Ministry Spokesperson Anurag Srivastava said, "We have seen some ill-informed comments relating to farmers in India. Such comments are unwarranted, especially when pertaining to the internal affairs of a democratic country."

In a terse message, the ministry further added that "it is also best that diplomatic conversations are not misrepresented for political purposes."

On Friday, India summoned Canadian High Commissioner and told him that the comments made by Prime Minister Justin Trudeau and others in his Cabinet on the farmers' protest constituted an "unacceptable interference" in the country's internal affairs and these actions, if continued, will have a "seriously damaging" impact on the bilateral ties.

Thousands of farmers from Punjab, Haryana and several other states have been protesting for the last nine days at the borders of Delhi against three farm laws.

FARMERS' PROTESTS: MPs IN UK SEEK MINISTERIAL INTERVENTION

London, Dec 5: A group of 36 cross-party parliamentarians has written to UK Foreign Secretary Dominic Raab asking him to make representations with his Indian counterpart, S. Jaishankar, about the impact on British Punjabis affected by the demonstrations by farmers against new agricultural reforms in India.

India has called the remarks by foreign leaders and politicians on protests by farmers as "ill-informed" and "unwarranted" as the matter pertained to the internal affairs of a democratic country.

The letter, issued on Friday, has been drafted by British Sikh Labour MP Tanmanjeet Singh Dhesi and signed by other Indian-origin MPs including Labour's Virendra Sharma, Seema Malhotra and Valerie Vaz as well as former Labour Leader Jeremy Corbyn.

The Foreign, Commonwealth and Development Office said the department has not received the letter as yet. The police handling of protests is a matter for the government of India, an FCDO spokesperson said.

FARMERS BRING THEIR OWN FOOD, TEA AT GOVT MEETING

New Delhi, Dec 5: Meeting the government for the fifth time on Saturday with their demands for scrapping the three new farm laws, union leaders decided to have their own tea and food, ferried from their langar (community kitchen) at Singhu border, where thousands of farmers are protesting for over a week.

The fifth round of talks began at 2.30 pm and was attended by 40 representatives of various farmer organisations.

Union leaders said they had their own food and tea during a break, rather than having what was arranged by the government at Vigyan Bhawan, the meeting venue.

During their last meeting on Thursday also, the farmer leaders had their own lunch, tea and even water.

Farmers' leaders had earlier on Thursday told the government to focus on resolving the issues instead of trying to be a good host by offering lunch.

Thousands of farmers have been camping at various borders of the national capital as part of their protest against the laws.

Union Agriculture Minister Narendra Singh Tomar, Railways, Commerce and Food Minister Piyush Goyal and Minister of State for Commerce Som Parkash, who is an MP from Punjab, are holding talks with the representatives of the farmer groups at the Vigyan Bhawan. The laws have been presented by the government as major reforms in the agriculture sector by removing middlemen and allowing farmers to sell anywhere in the country.

Support for agitation by farmers grows, MP farmers leave for Delhi

RABINDRA NATH CHOUDHURY | DC
BHOPAL, DEC 5

Farmers from various districts in Madhya Pradesh on Saturday started for Delhi to join the ongoing stir in the national capital demanding scrapping of the three farm laws passed in the parliament recently.

Small groups of farmers took out rallies in Shivpuri, Dewas, Gwalior, Mandasaur and Raisen in protest against the farm bills and then left for the national capital in trucks to join the ongoing agitation.

In Dewas, around 40 farmers marched to the local district collector's office and submitted a memorandum to deputy collector demanding scrapping of the farm laws.

In Mandasaur, the local 'Kissan Sabha' staged a demonstration in protest against the farm laws and threatened to intensify the agitation if the Centre did heed to their demand.

Ruling BJP here, however, claimed that the call by some farmers' bodies to oppose the farm laws have no impact in Madhya Pradesh.

"No recognized farmers' bodies in MP have so far joined the stir. Only some local leaders have been trying to provoke the farmers to join the agitation. But, they have failed", BJP spokesman here Rajneesh Agrawal said.

Mr Agrawal said no farmer has joined the stir and only middlemen in the agriculture sector are opposed to the farm laws because they are well aware that the laws will eliminate their role in the market and ensure fair price to the farmers of their produce. Farmers in MP are happy with the Shivraj government for its pro-farmer policies, he

RSS-AFFILIATE BKS SUGGESTS 4 AMENDMENTS TO NEW FARM LAWS

Jodhpur, Dec 5: RSS-affiliate Bharatiya Kisan Sangh proposed on Friday four amendments to the three contentious central farm laws to make it "farmer-friendly" and address the apprehensions that have led to protests.

"Instead of scrapping the new laws as some organisations have been demanding, we propose four amendments in these legislations," BKS general secretary Badri Narayan Chaudhary said, adding that it would be enough to address the apprehensions.

The amendments are that there should be no purchasing below the MSP in the wholesale markets or outside, registration of all traders on a government portal that can be accessed by all, payment to the farmers in a stipulated time through bank guarantee and setting up of the agriculture tribunals for resolution of farmers' disputes in their hometown itself.

The BKS welcomed the new laws that it said was a "long-pending demand". Chaudhary said the outfit had been pushing for 'one nation-one market' since long.

The BKS leader said the wholesale markets were introduced with the welfare of farmers in mind and it helped them a lot. "But gradually, it became a means of exploitation of farmers," he said, adding that many organisations had been demanding rectification in the system for a long time.

Off the beaten track

The evolution of the indigenous BPO

A friend of mine, a professor of business communication at a business school nearby, dropped in recently after renewing his driving licence. "What's up?" I asked. "I just thought of something more for us Indians to be proud of," he said.

"What?" I asked. "Well, Indians thought up aircraft and plastic surgery long before the people in the West thought of them," he replied, "but there's also something in management science that we invented long ago."

"What?" I asked. "Business Process Outsourcing," he replied. "BPO. The backbone of some of our business... The West invented the term and took credit for the concept, as usual. But we thought of it first. You see it all over the place."

Pictures came to mind of ranks of young people wearing headphones, speaking in fake American accents answering tedious telephonic questions from overseas customers, or ranks of computers recording inter-bank transactions, and so on. I couldn't make the connection. "How so?" I asked.

"Back in the 1980s," he replied, "when I was in Bangalore, if you wanted to register a company, you went to the Registrar of Companies. You did your paperwork, and, when it was done, you handed over an envelope containing his private fee for your work. He'd say, 'Heh, heh, saar, this is not necessary,' and place the cover in his drawer. A few years later, it had changed. You handed him the cash when the job was done, and he counted it before putting it away. And a few more years down the line, you never even got to see the registrar. You handed your papers and the fee to an agent outside his office and you got your registration a day or two later."

"I don't understand," I said. "Forgive me for being so slow."

"I see you haven't thought about it," he said, straightening up and using the professorial tone that he might use on a backbencher who's just slept through a lecture. "The purpose of governance in India is to create and manage queues. Where there are queues, there are people willing to pay to jump them. Governance is about helping people to jump queues for a consideration. The longer the queue, the bigger the consideration, and the happier the officials. Okay?"

"Okay," I replied.

"That's why no one bothers about overpopulation," he continued. "The greater the population, the longer the queue. The idea was, the more the people suffer, the longer the queue, and the more people are willing to pay to jump."

"Right," I agreed.

"But that's old hat," he went on. "Thirty years back, someone saw the virtue of a freer economy. Simple: the more money people have, the more they'll pay to jump the queue. So they loosened up bits of the economy, and watched the money roll in. And that was when they thought of BPO. People were beginning to complain about corruption, you see."

"But what's BPO got to do with corruption?" I asked.

"Everything!" he said, happily. "Officials began to outsource their business to agents. The agent collects the money and delivers papers. He settles with the officials afterwards, outside the office. One side-effect: it keeps the officials safe. A surprise check at the office will produce no evidence that anyone's taken any money under the table!"

"And it doesn't end there. The government can hire more people for the vigilance department whose people conduct raids. Since there are queues for those jobs as well, they can make more money there, and depend on the vigilance fellows — who have paid to get those jobs — to do what they can to sustain the system, but the people can be lulled into thinking that someone is doing something about corruption. Brilliant!"

"Yes," I said, not knowing what else to say, "but what does all this have to do with your driving licence?"

"Ahi!" he said. "I should have told you. I got my licence from a new transport office at Melkar, some 30 kilometres from Mangalore. It's a new office, and my wife I only had to wait two minutes to get our work done. So, you see, the agent tells the officials when it's time to expand the office to get more work done. So there are more jobs, more buildings, more of everything, and they make money out of all that, and at least some people are happy because they get their work done really fast."

"The system has evolved. It used to create queues and take what the traffic would bear. Now, it manages queues so that the people running the system get the best possible income with the least possible risk. It works in good times and in bad. In good times, people earn more, and are willing to pay more. In bad times, the population increases, so there are more people willing to pay..."

"Terrific!" I said. "You should write a paper about this!"

"No way!" he said, horrified. "Officials hate whistleblowers, and they protect themselves. Remember the officer who gave the Wadhawan family a certificate allowing them to travel to their farmhouse during the lockdown? The Wadhawan family is in trouble, but the official who signed the certificate is the police commissioner of Pune. If I write a paper about this, it'll cost me my job!"

"Right," I said. "It works very well for officials. But the people are suffering, aren't they?"

He looked a little shame-faced, but only for a moment. "For an answer to that," he said, "we have to look to the West."

"How so?" I asked.

"Before the French Revolution," he said, resuming his professorial persona, "someone told the French Queen, Marie Antoinette, that the people of France were suffering. 'The masses are starving,' he said, 'they have no bread to fill their bellies.'"

"And how did Marie Antoinette respond?" I asked.

"Let 'em eat cake!"

Battle of 'Bhagyanagar' concludes in stalemate

Sriram Karri

It begins with the name. Always. You can hold on to it or change it, but the decision is never easy. Ask parents as they go through greater anxiety in deciding the name of their child to be over any other birthing issue. Should we continue to be Hyderabad, or become Bhagyanagar?

When a city of over one crore was thrown the challenge, over which its nearly 77 lakh registered voters brooded hard during a fortnight of the most shrill vituperative campaign that forced the attention of the nation, in which less than half turned out to vote in the midst of a pandemic, some turning nostalgic for a chance to vote on paper ballots again, the Hyderabad or Bhagyanagar duel, with all its underlying implications of this symbolism and euphemism, ended in an uneasy stalemate.

A SPLIT VERDICT

The ruling TRS, receiving yet another drubbing by the BJP in the state, received 12,04,167 votes (35.81 per cent) to the saffron party's 11,95,711 (35.56 per cent), the MIM holding on to its fortress, winning 6,30,866 votes (18.76 per cent), a distant but formidable third. The TRS has 55 divisions in the 150 municipal council, while the BJP has 48. The MIM held on to its 44. A high court judgment on Monday will give us the result for the last seat. The ruling TRS in short had only 8,456 votes more than its challenger.

The Bhagyanagar reference resonates strongly amongst both its supporters and opponents, and is a very viscerally fundamental call to people to decide on their idea of "mini India" as the city perceives itself to be. Over half of them said they would rather watch from the sidelines. The half that matters, the one that turned up to vote, was nearly split. Statistically, combining the MIM votes to TRS does mean a decisive rejection of the name change idea and all other implications, but it is still largely an uneasy stalemate.

SAFFRON-PINK BATTLES AHEAD

The TRS has failed to defend its 99 incumbent seats won in the last elections, losing 44 out of them to the BJP. Where it has won too, it is the BJP, which was a close second in most. More importantly, the BJP has stolen the narrative and set the agenda — it has successfully portrayed the TRS as a dynastic, nepotistic, corrupt, decadent party and government, which has failed to deliver its promises, all of which are explained by their policy of appeasing Muslims under pressure from the MIM.

The TRS, in turn, tried hard to set its stated narrative of continuity and development as an alternative paradigm but was unconvincing. The TRS called the BJP communal, fanatic, insane, divisive and a big failure, even promising to be the nucleus of a new formation that would challenge Narendra Modi on a national level.

As a voter said, "while according to the TRS, it was a vote between development and communalism, the BJP dubbed it a battle between a dynasty's corrupt politics versus nationalistic Hindutva without appeasement. People see the picture in their own way, without the funnel vision of parties — as a battle between corrupt, nepotistic development versus communal nationalism".

In this round, the advantage is still with TRS-MIM but the momentum has been taken by the BJP. The impasse will be broken by battles, nay, war, that lies ahead.

A MULTI-CUT STRATEGY

The BJP has demonstrated successfully, with three different electoral coups — in Nizamabad Lok Sabha elections in 2019 defeating K. Kavitha, incumbent MP and daughter of chief minister K. Chandrashekar Rao; in a byelection in Dubbaka last month, in which they humbled the TRS strategist in-charge, T. Harish Rao, minister and CM's nephew; and finally, the GHMC, in which they had dented the hitherto invincible image of K.T. Rama Rao, CM's son and heir apparent.

As a BJP leader said, "daughter, nephew and son have been given a drubbing each. Each individually and three together add up to what people feel — a strong anti-KCR family and TRS emotion. The next defeat is reserved for KCR in the Assembly elections".

Meanwhile, the next byelection is in sight, in Nagarjunasagar constituency, whose sitting TRS MLA passed away on December 1.

BJP'S SECOND SOUTHERN BASTION

Despite the fascinating changes in Tamil Nadu and Kerala politics, it is unlikely the BJP is realistically close to winning power on its own in any southern state as Telangana. In 2013, MIM chief Asaduddin Owaisi told me in an interview, explaining why his party was opposed to the formation of a separate Telangana. "The YSRC and TDP will die out in this region because they will be dubbed as Andhra parties. A new regional party may win and come to power based on sentiment, but as we have seen in Jharkhand and other such states, such parties lose credibility soon because of corruption and family domination. Telangana will become very vulnerable to a BJP onslaught."

Owaisi's words, spoken when Narendra Modi was chief minister of Gujarat, have come very true. The BJP is not coming for some 60 MLA seats or 17 Lok Sabha seats; it is coming to make more fundamental changes to how south India perceives itself.

For too long, most people argued and believed that the five southern states are not ripe as a social soil for a political Hindutva to bloom. Pakistan is too far away, far less people understand Hindi, education and prosperity levels are relatively higher and delivery of development and welfare much more effective for decades here. The case of Karnataka was dismissed as an exception.

Not any longer. Not the way Telangana is rapidly shifting from pink to saffron. Not unless the development alternative introspects and reinterprets itself as a stronger moral alternative, not a merely more convenient substitute.

RENAMING COLONIES

The innovative idea of Anantapur Collector to rechristen the names of colonies and places regardless of caste, creed and community is appreciable (No caste-based locality names, DC, Dec. 5). The localities which are being bifurcated based on caste, apparently won't give any complacent results. However, the need of the hour for every section of people is to get united and establish peace and harmony to stand tall. There are many challenges ahead, viz, to rebuild our economy, to ensure hassle free education, to develop sources of employment and overall development. A collective and constructive endeavour by everyone to remove caste-based barricades will only lead to attain the status of a developed country.

JAGAN'S STATEMENT

Jagan's statement should be taken seriously and a case filed against Naidu for illegal or unlawful trade practices (Naidu milked coop dairies to enrich Heritage: Jagan, DC, Dec. 5). Otherwise, what is the use of making the statement? It is a pity that a ruling party is making hollow statements against the Opposition leader and his followers day in and day out without taking concrete action against anybody. The Prime Minister, during a poll campaign in 2019, made a shocking statement against Naidu that Polavaram project is an ATM for Naidu. It that was a fact, why was there no action against Naidu till date? While in Opposition, even Jagan brought out a fat booklet with several allegations of misappropriation of peoples' money but nothing happened till date.

BJP'S VICTORY

After winning Dubbaka assembly by-election recently, the BJP saw the GHMC elections as a good opportunity to make a mark in south and reached out to voters. That scores of Union ministers flew down to take campaign for a Mayor election shows that BJP won't take any election easy.

Indians are not alone in falling for the 'strong man' myth

IT is not fashionable to cite old classics. But if one turns to Roman, Greek and, more so, the English classics, one is struck by their relevance to modern times. Take this, from John Stuart Mill's essay on representative government: "There are nations who will not voluntarily submit to any government but that of certain families, which have from time immemorial had the privilege of supplying them with chiefs." This applies to South Asia.

He added, "But there are also cases in which, though not averse to a form of government — possibly even desiring it — a people may be unwilling or unable to fulfil its conditions. ... Thus a people may prefer a free government, but if, from indolence, or carelessness, or cowardice, or want of public spirit, they are unequal to the exertions necessary for preserving it; if they will not fight for it when it is directly attacked; if they can be deluded by artifices used to cheat them out of it; if by momentary discouragement, or temporary panic, or a fit of enthusiasm for an individual, they can be induced to lay their liberties at the feet even of a great man, or trust him with powers which enable him to subvert their institutions; in all these cases they are less unfit for liberty: and though it may be for their good to have had it even for a short time, they are unlikely long to enjoy it."

India is passing through this dangerous phase. It ought to have known better. Indra Gandhi all but tore up the constitution during her regime and installed herself as a dictator. A wave of anger swept across the country and she lost the 1977 election. But the small men who formed a government fell apart over the loaves and fishes of office. In 1980, the people returned her to power, unmindful of her past record.

Now, Narendra Modi is following in her footsteps. He undermined the cabinet, suborned the civil service, but his greatest challenge was political. As soon as he came to power in 2014, he called for a 'Congress-free India'. He began campaigning from day one.

Hyderabad just held municipal elections. Modi was about to descend to the city to campaign against two parties: the Telangana Rashtra Samithi and the All India Majlis-i-Ittehad-ul-Muslimeen, which was founded by the legendary Bahadur Yar Jung and now led by the indomitable Asaduddin Owaisi. Modi sent his deputy Amit Shah to campaign for the BJP. Owaisi asked, "Why not Donald Trump?"

There is no doubt that Modi enjoys popularity across the country, though it is on the decline. He was elected to power in 2014 and 2019. Why? By common consent, the government led by the extraordinarily upright Manmohan Singh was scarred by his ministers' corruption. He was perceived as 'weak'. Nor did he receive the support of his party and its president Sonia Gandhi, which it was her duty to extend. She was focused on grooming her mediocre son. The Congress is in a deep crisis.

Modi is out to wipe out not only the Congress but also all regional parties and establish one-party rule. To what can we attribute his rise? Besides presiding over the Gujarat pogrom in 2002, Modi oversaw the state's economic revival. Businessmen courted him and vice versa. He portrayed himself as a 'strong man', and the country fell for him.

But Indians are not alone in falling for the 'strong man' myth. Countries like Hungary and Poland also revel in democracy in form, but dictatorship in reality. In The Myth of the Strong Leader, Archie Brown writes: "The central misconception, which I set out to expose, is the notion that strong leaders in the conventional sense of leaders who get their way, dominate their colleagues, and concentrate decision-making in their hands, are the most successful and admirable."

"While some leaders who come into that category emerge more positively than negatively, in general huge power amassed by an individual leader paves the way for important errors at best and disaster and massive bloodshed at worst. ... [T]he myth of the strong leader is a central thread which unifies the discussion of democratic, revolutionary, authoritarian and totalitarian leaders. Those in the first of these categories can do far less damage, precisely because there are constraints upon their power from outside government."

"It is, nevertheless, an illusion — and one as dangerous as it is widespread that in contemporary democracies the more a leader dominates his or her political party and cabinet, the greater the leader. A more collegial style of leadership is too often characterised as a weakness, the advantages of a more collective political leadership, too commonly overlooked."

Stalin and Mao created famines, as did Churchill in Bengal. Thatcher had to be booted out of power by her party, while Attlee is highly regarded by history. This is true of both domestic and foreign policies. Modi is in decline. Witness the mammoth protests by Punjab's farmers. But his end is not very near.

MINE MISHAP:
NICARAGUANS
SEARCH MINERS

Managua, Dec. 5: An unregulated gold mine collapsed Friday in southern Nicaragua near the border with Costa Rica, leaving about 10 wildcat miners missing.

Vice President Rosario Murillo said firefighters and rescue personnel were being sent to the scene in the hamlet of La Esperanza.

Murillo did not specify how many people were trapped, but local media put the number at 10 to 15. They reported that one injured miner was able to escape and report the collapse. President Daniel Ortega said that “we hope we don’t have major tragedies” at the mine.

HIGH CARBON MONOXIDE LEVEL
KILLS 18 MINERS

Beijing, Dec. 5: Eighteen of the 23 workers were killed in a coal mine in China due to an excessive level of carbon monoxide, local officials said on Saturday.

The accident happened at around 5 pm on Friday at the Diaoshuidong coal mine in the district of Yongchuan in Chongqing Municipality, state-run Xinhua news agency reported.

Eighteen miners were confirmed dead due to excessive level of carbon monoxide, it said. Rescuers, including police officers and firefighters, are trying to reach the trapped miners.

The cause of the accident is under further investigation, the report said. The Diaoshuidong coal mine, which was established in 1975 and became privately-owned in 1998, has an annual production capacity of 120,000 tonnes of coal, according to the local emergency management department.

Hydrogen sulfide poisoning in the mine left three dead and two injured in March 2013, Xinhua report said.

CRIME VICTIM
CHASES, SHOOT
MAN IN FLORIDA

Miami, Dec. 5: A man who says he was the victim of a burglary attempt chased a man down a South Florida street and shot and wounded him with an assault-style rifle as he begged for his life, authorities said.

Corthoris Jenkins, 28, was charged with attempted first-degree murder with a firearm, court documents showed Friday. Jenkins told investigators he was playing video games when a man burst into his Miami-area apartment on Tuesday, the Miami Herald reported.

Instead of calling 911, Jenkins grabbed the rifle and ran after the man, who fell to his knees in the street, a police detective said in court. “He begins to what appears to be to beg for his life,” Miami-Dade Detective Iry Watson told a judge on Wednesday afternoon. “But the defendant takes the assault rifle and shoots him multiple times.”

Authorities said the man who was shot remained hospitalised on Friday, and detectives have not yet been able to talk to him.

2 TRUMP ALLIES APPOINTED BY PENTAGON

Washington, Dec. 5: The Pentagon has appointed two close allies of President Donald Trump to a defence advisory board, continuing a post-election purge in the final weeks of the administration.

The acting secretary of defence, Christopher Miller, who was installed by Trump on Nov. 9 after he fired then-Defence Secretary Mark Esper, said in a written statement Friday that nine members of the Defence Business Board had been replaced with the appointment of 11 new members.

The new members include Corey Lewandowski and David Bossie, who are among Trump’s most vocal supporters. The nine others are Henry Dreifus, Robert McMahon, Cory Mills, Bill Bruner, Christopher Shank, Joseph Schmidt, Keary Miller, Alan Weh and Earl Matthews.

“These individuals have a proven record of achievement within their respective fields and have demonstrated leadership that will serve our department and our nation well,” Miller said. He also said the nine individuals removed from the board had been serving in “expired positions,” although this was not explained.

Biden proposes scaled-down
Prez inaugural to avoid Covid

US President-elect suggests lot of virtual activity with emphasis on safety

Washington, Dec. 5: US President-elect Joe Biden has said the presidential inauguration on January 20 will not be a “gigantic” event, but something closer to what the Democratic convention was like, with a lot of virtual activity across America and an emphasis on safety due to the raging Coronavirus pandemic. Biden said he expected to be sworn in on January 20 on the platform already being constructed on the steps of the US Capitol, but plans to avoid the crowds that typically gather on the National Mall and along Pennsylvania Avenue to view the ceremony and parade that attracts millions of people.

“My guess is there probably will not be a gigantic inaugural parade on Pennsylvania Avenue, but my guess is you’ll see a lot of virtual activity in states all across America engaging even more people than before. That’s in train now and I’m not in a position to give you an example of exactly what it will look like,” he said when asked about the inauguration planning at a news conference on Friday in his hometown of Wilmington, Delaware. “But, I promise you, it’ll be available either virtually or in-person for many and my guess is, there will still be a platform ceremony, but I don’t know exactly how it’s all going to work out. The key is keeping people safe,” he said. Biden, 78, suggested that the festivities could end up looking like the virtual convention Democrats held in August, with on-line activity in the states. “We are in discussion with the House leadership and the Senate leadership as to what they plan for the inauguration, particularly those 200,000 spots they control. But I think you’re going to see something that’s closer to what the convention was like than typical inauguration,” he said. He said that his first and foremost objective was to keep people safe but also allow them to celebrate. “We’re in consultation. My team is in consultation with folks who help us put on the convention, as well as with our colleagues in charge of the inauguration,” he said.

Vaccine will not be mandatory: Biden

Washington, Dec. 5: US President-elect Joe Biden said on Friday that Americans will not be forced to take the Coronavirus vaccine and he is willing to get vaccinated publicly to assuage any concerns about its efficacy and safety. “I don’t think they should be mandatory. I wouldn’t demand it to be mandatory, but I would do everything in my power just like I don’t think masks have to be made mandatory nationwide,” Biden told reporters at a news conference in Wilmington, Delaware.

Biden was responding to a question if Covid-19 vaccine be made mandatory. Biden, who is due to take office on January 20, said he will make sure that the vaccine is both free and available and that any follow up on the vaccine is free and available that relates to any health complications from it. “I will do everything in my power as the president of the United States to encourage people to do the right thing, and when they do it, demonstrate that it matters. That’s why I said in my inaugural speech I’m going to ask people to commit for 100 days to wear a mask, not because I’m asking it for any reason to punish this is not a political issue,” he said. “It has become one. But if people do it for 100 days in the middle of what will be still a raging crisis and the vaccine is able to be distributed, they are going to see deaths drop off the edge,” he said.

“They are going to see hundreds of thousands of people not getting sick; and my hope is they will be then inclined to say okay, it’s worth the patriotic duty to go ahead and protect other people,” Biden said. On Friday the US recorded 2,861 new deaths. It has seen more than 14 million confirmed cases in total and more than 275,000 deaths. Biden said he is willing to get inoculated in public to assuage any concerns about its efficacy and safety. — PTI

Congress urged to pass $900 bn stimulus

Washington, Dec. 5: US President-elect Joe Biden on Friday urged Congress to pass the $900 billion stimulus package required to provide relief to people and small businesses who have been badly hit by the deadly Coronavirus pandemic.

“Americans need help, and they need it now, and they need more to come early next year,” Biden said at a speech in Wilmington in Delaware, noting that he is encouraged by the bipartisan efforts in the Senate for the economic relief bill of about $900 billion.

“It’s a bipartisan effort. If Congress as they work out the details of this relief package they’re going to have to focus on resources for direct public health responses to Covid-19. We need meaningful funding for vaccines now,

Distancing rules
back in S. Korea

Seoul, Dec. 5: South Korea’s capital on Saturday began enforcing stricter distancing rules as the country added nearly 600 new Coronavirus cases for the second straight day.

The restrictions require large stores, gyms, movie theaters, barbershops and amusement parks to shut down after 9 pm, and restaurants to provide only deliveries and take-outs after that time.

Public transportation will also be reduced after 9 pm in an aim to discourage unnecessary gatherings.

The 583 cases reported by the Korea Disease Control and Prevention Agency brought the national caseload to 36,915, including 540 deaths.

The agency said 411 of the cases were from the densely populated Seoul metropolitan area, where health officials are struggling to track infections tied to various places, including hospitals, churches, schools, saunas and gyms. The country had reported 629 new cases on Friday, its highest daily jump in nine months. — AP

BAHRAIN 2ND NATION TO GRANT
PFIZER SHOT FOR EMERGENCY USE

Dubai, Dec. 5: The island kingdom of Bahrain said Friday it has become the second nation in the world to grant an emergency-use authorisation for the coronavirus vaccine made by Pfizer and its German partner BioNTech.

The state-run Bahrain News Agency made the announcement on Friday night, following an earlier announcement by the United Kingdom on Wednesday, making Britain the first in the world.

“The confirmation of approval by the National Health Regulatory Authority of the kingdom of Bahrain followed thorough analysis and review undertaken by the authority of all available data,” the kingdom said on its state-run Bahrain News Agency. Bahrain did not say how many vaccines it has purchased, nor when vaccinations would begin. It did not immediately respond to questions from The Associated Press. Pfizer later said that the details of its sales agreement with Bahrain, including the “timing of delivery and the volume of doses,” was confidential and declined to comment.

“We have developed detailed logistical plans and tools to support effective vaccine transport, storage and continuous temperature monitoring, Pfizer said. “Our distribution is built on a flexible just in time system which will ship the frozen vials to the point of vaccination.” — AP

Islamabad, Dec. 5: Pakistan Prime Minister Imran Khan has said the government will introduce a new system of “reward and punishment” for the civil servants under which corrupt bureaucrats will be sacked instead of just transferring. Speaking at a ceremony to celebrate the completion of two years of Pakistan Citizen Portal at the Prime Minister House on Friday, Khan said he was dissatisfied over the performance of the current local governments, the Dawn reported. “The government was introducing a new system of ‘reward and punishment’ for the civil servants. Under the new system officials would not be transferred but sacked if found involved in corruption and irregularities,” he said.

He also said under a separate new system introduced at the village level funds would be transferred directly to the councils. “A new local government system is being introduced which will usher in a revolution. It will be implemented at the village level where people will be able to elect their representatives who will directly receive funds every

Lanka to hurry
Easter Sunday
probe: Minister

Colombo, Dec. 5: Sri Lankan government will expedite the ongoing probe of Easter Sunday suicide bombings that killed 258 people, including 11 Indians, last year, a senior Cabinet minister said on Saturday.

Nine suicide bombers, belonging to local Islamist extremist group National Thawheed Jamaat (NTJ) linked to ISIS, carried out a series of blasts that tore through three churches and as many luxury hotels in Sri Lanka, killing 258 people, including 11 Indians, and injuring over 500 on the Easter Sunday on April 21, 2019.

“Sri Lankan government will expedite the ongoing probe of Easter Sunday suicide bombing. I will meet the Attorney General on Monday to see how we could proceed,” Sarath Weerasekera, the minister of public security, told the parliament.

He was reacting to an opposition lawmaker charging that the current government appeared not interested now to carry on with the probe.

Niroshan Perera, the opposition member told parliament, that the head of the local Catholic Church Malcolm Cardinal Ranjith had just a few days ago had expressed doubt if the investigations were leading nowhere. Ranjith said if the current government showed no genuine interest in the investigations to see its conclusion the catholic minority would lose confidence in the government.

Assuring there was no attempt to sweep the investigation under the carpet, Weerasekera said the legal process would be expedited from next week. Weerasekera said 257 people have been arrested and 86 of them are currently under detention orders while 172 are in remand custody. — PTI

NMC hosp founder
‘stopped’ by India

Mumbai/Dubai, Dec. 5: The founder of troubled hospital operator NMC Health has filed a legal challenge against a move by Indian immigration authorities to prevent him from departing to the United Arab Emirates (UAE) last month, according to his court petition.

B.R. Shetty’s NMC, listed in London and UAE’s biggest hospital group, went into administration in April following months of turmoil over its finances and the company’s disclosure that it had $6.6 billion in debt, well above its earlier estimates. Shetty had said November he planned to return to the UAE and denied reports he had fled the country after the hospital group’s implosion.

His petition, filed in the Karnataka high court on November 30, said immigration officials at Bengaluru airport stopped him boarding a flight to the UAE on Nov. 14, “without assigning any reasons whatsoever.” — Reuters

Hayabusa2 left the asteroid Ryugu, about 300 million kilometres away, a year ago

Japan awaits spacecraft with asteroid soil samples

Tokyo, Dec. 5: Japan’s space agency said the Hayabusa2 spacecraft successfully separated a capsule and sent it toward Earth to deliver samples from a distant asteroid that could provide clues to the origin of the solar system and life on our planet.

The Japan Aerospace Exploration Agency said the capsule successfully detached Saturday afternoon from 2,20,000 kilometres (1,36,700 miles) away in a challenging operation that required precision control.

The capsule is now descending to land in a remote, sparsely populated area of Woomera, Australia, on Sunday. Hayabusa2 left the asteroid Ryugu, about 300 million kilometres (180 million miles) away, a year ago.

After the capsule release, it is now moving away from Earth to capture images of the capsule descending to the planet. Yuichi Tsuda, project manager at the space agency JAXA, stood up and raised his fists as everyone applauded the moment command center officials confirmed the successful separation of the capsule.

Hayabusa2’s return with the world’s first asteroid subsurface samples comes weeks after NASA’s OSIRIS-REX spacecraft made a successful touch-and-go grab of surface samples from asteroid Benu.

China, meanwhile, announced this week its lunar lander collected underground samples and sealed them within the spacecraft for return to Earth, as space developing nations compete in their missions.

Many Hayabusa2 fans gathered to observe the moment of the capsule separation at public viewing events across the country, including one at the Tokyo Dome stadium. In the early hours of Sunday, the capsule, protected by a heat shield, will briefly turn into a fireball as it reenters the atmosphere 120 kilometres (75 miles) above Earth.

At about 10 kilometers (6 miles) above ground, a parachute will open to slow its fall and beacon signals will be transmitted to indicate its location. JAXA staff have set up satellite dishes at several locations in the target area to receive the signals, while also preparing a marine radar, drones and helicopters to assist in the search and retrieval of the pan-shaped capsule, 40 centimeters (15 inches) in diameter. — AP

Covid-hit Hamilton may miss next GP

Manama: Formula One world champion Lewis Hamilton, who was diagnosed with coronavirus this week, is struggling with the illness and is in doubt for next week's season-ending Abu Dhabi Grand Prix, Mercedes team boss Toto Wolff said on Friday. The seven-time champion won the Bahrain Grand Prix last weekend and was ruled out of Sunday's Sakhir Grand Prix after waking up on Monday with mild symptoms. The 35-year-old is now in the process of isolating for 10 days according to the established protocols. "He is not great. Covid-19 is something you mustn't take lightly and he is in safe hands," said Wolff. — AFP

Anderson retires from int'l cricket

Christchurch: Plagued by injuries, New Zealand all-rounder Corey Anderson, who once held the record for fastest ODI hundred, called time on his international career and signed a three-year deal with USA's Major League Cricket. The 29-year-old, who has played 13 Tests, 49 ODIs and 31 T20Is for New Zealand, didn't feature in any of Black Caps' assignment for the past two years. In the 93 international games across formats, he scored 2,277 runs with two hundreds and 10 half-centuries. He also picked up 90 wickets. PCB to probe team Covid cases in NZ

Karachi: The Pakistan Cricket Board has started a probe into how as many as 10 players tested positive for Covid-19 after landing in New Zealand. The investigation has been launched after it emerged that some players from one or two teams in the ongoing domestic Quaid-e-Azam Trophy had complained of coughing, fever and sneezing — symptoms of a possible Covid-19 infection — just a few days before they left for the tour of New Zealand. "These players were deemed to have viral infections due to changing weather and later also tested negative in the Covid-19 tests carried out in Lahore by the board. But they tested positive after reaching Christchurch where the entire squad is now quarantined at a managed facility after the 10 positive tests," a PCB source said. — PTI

Cricket fraternity divided over concussion rule

Sydney, Dec. 5: Indian batting great Sunil Gavaskar finds nothing wrong in Yuzvendra Chahal coming on as a "concussion substitute" for Ravindra Jadeja but doesn't like the concept of teams being provided cushion for a batsman's inability to face bouncers. Chahal replaced Jadeja, who got hit on the head, in the first T20 International and did a star turn with figures of 3 for 25 in the team's 11-run victory in Canberra. "First and foremost let me say that match referee is a former Australian cricketer David Boon. He was okay with Chahal substituting for Jadeja. They normally say like-for-like and Chahal is not an all-rounder but if he goes out with the bat whether it's one run or 100 run, he is an all-rounder," Gavaskar said. "An Australian match referee had no objection to that. So I don't see why there is so much of noise about it."

Gavaskar however doesn't endorse the concept as he feels it is a leverage given to batters for a technical deficiency.

"On the business of concussion substitute itself, I don't agree with it. May be I am old fashioned and I have always believed that if you are not good enough to play the bouncer and get hit on the helmet, then you don't deserve a substitute. I am sorry," Gavaskar said.

'RULES SHOULD BE USED FAIRLY'

Former Australia captain Mark Taylor has cautioned against abusing the concussion substitute rule, saying it is for the protection of players and needs to be used fairly and responsibly. "The concussion rules are there to protect players. It's up to the players to make sure they use the concussion sub fairly and responsibly," Taylor said. — PTI

Now, it's Handball Premier League

INDIANS READY TO HIT TEST MODE

Sydney, Dec. 5: India will look to figure out their playing XI as the Test squad gets into the groove by taking on Australia 'A' in a three-day warm-up game at Drummoyne Oval from Sunday.

With India and Australia playing the second T20I on the same day, the visiting Test squad has been named India 'A' for the first of the two practice games scheduled ahead of the much-anticipated four-Test series.

The four games will be a chance to sort out India's combinations both in the batting and bowling departments ahead of opening Day-Night Test scheduled at Adelaide from December 17.

In batting, Mayank Agarwal is set to open the innings but there is a question mark over his partner with the choice being between Prithvi Shaw and Shubman Gill.

While Shaw was preferred in the New Zealand series, he struggled for consistency in the IPL. Gill, on the other hand, have scored 440 runs for Kolkata Knight Riders and also looked in good touch in the third ODI.

The other option is KL Rahul, who has been in rampaging form and also formed a formidable pair with Mayank for the KXIP, but the last time he had played a Test was in September 2019.

In the wicketkeeper's slot, it will be Wriddhiman Saha versus Rishabh Pant.

For Saha, who had injured both his hamstrings during the IPL, it will be a test to show his fitness after getting back at the nets recently.

Pant has been India's number one choice in overseas Tests but he was dropped from the limited over series and will have to deliver the goods to seal the keeper's slot.

With skipper Virat Kohli going on paternity leave after the opening Test and the injured Rohit Sharma too uncertain, the onus will be on Ajinkya Rahane, Cheteshwar Pujara and Hanuma Vihari to show the way. — PTI

Chahal for concussed Jadeja was a legitimate switch

Over The Top

India's recovery after losing the ODI series in the first two matches itself has been smart and impressive. Winning the third ODI against the trend of play showed resolve, resilience and wherewithal, which was being seriously questioned. It also created the confidence to win the first T20 international. There was some quirky luck for India when Yuzvendra Chahal, who came in as 'concussion substitute' for Ravindra Jadeja did the star turn, picking up three wickets. Without Jadeja's batting and Chahal's bowling, India would never have won, so maybe the Man of the Match award should have been shared between the two!

That the Aussies did not like how the substitution was carried out was evident from coach Justin Langer haranguing match referee David Boon during the innings changeover.

Australia's objections, as one understands from reports, was on two fronts.

One, since Jadeja continued batting after being hit on the helmet, was this strictly a case for concussion substitution? Second, was Chahal for Jadeja a "like-for-like" replacement which this rule demands? Debate on the matter will doubtless continue for some time. What's clear though is that the decision of the referee is final and binding, so Chahal for Jadeja in the first T20 was a legitimate switch.

The momentum is now with India, and if the T20 series can be won, it will be a shot in the arm for the team which looked so beleaguered in the first two ODIs. There is no scope for excuses at the highest level and India — to put it bluntly — were outplayed and outclassed by the Aussies in the first two matches of the ODI series.

But it must also be acknowledged that unlike the Aussies, who've played a bilateral series in England and also some domestic Sheffield Shield cricket — plus the IPL for those who were in the league — India's players have had no such opportunities apart from the IPL.

Even being in a bio-secure bubble at home is an advantage, which is why I think this turnaround by the Indian team has been quite remarkable. Issue now is sustenance — of form and fitness — and resource management by the support staff as there is still a lot of cricket remaining on this tour.

Jadeja, for instance, will not play in the remaining two T20s. That is a major blow considering he is a genuine all-rounder and has been in excellent form with bat though his bowling has been found wanting. In the T20s for instance, will he be replaced by Chahal? And if so does that weaken the Indian batting?

This is Kohli/Shastri's immediate vexing problem. In a slightly longer time frame is the bigger concern: will Jadeja be fully fit for the first Test? The Test series which starts on December 17 is the main assignment and India will want all their

Pujara subjected to racism in UK

Leeds, Dec. 5: English county side Yorkshire finds itself in the centre of a raging issue with their former players and employees backing cricketer Azeem Rafiq's claims of "institutional racism" at the club, including reference to India's Cheteshwar Pujara with a generic name.

Former West Indies international Tino Best and Pakistan's Rana Naved-ul-Hasan provided evidence in support of Rafiq as part of an ongoing investigations into his allegations.

According to ESPNcricinfo, two former Yorkshire employees — Taj Butt and Tony Bowry — have also given evidence against the club which has institutionalised racism.

"(There were) continuous references to taxi drivers and restaurant workers when referring to (the) Asian community," Butt, who was employed within the Yorkshire Cricket Foundation as a community development officer, was quoted as saying by the cricket portal.

"They called every person of colour 'Steve'. Even (India) batsman Cheteshwar Pujara, who joined as an overseas professional, was called Steve because they could not pronounce his name." Butt tendered his resign-nation within six weeks of joining.

Having worked as a coach until 1996, Bowry was the cultural diversity officer at the Yorkshire Cricket Board from 1996 until 2011, before he was appointed as a cricket development manager to develop the game for black communities.

"Many youngsters struggled to make progress, and the few that did found the environment of the dressing rooms very difficult and unwelcoming, as a direct result of racism they faced," Bowry said.

"It affected performance... they were labelled trouble-makers." — PTI

KDCA elections are put on hold

DC CORRESPONDENT
HYDERABAD, DEC. 5

Justice G. Krishnamohan Reddy, Ombudsman of the Andhra Cricket Association, has stayed elections to the Krishna District Cricket Association scheduled on Sunday.

KDCA, an affiliate of the ACA, has been asked to adopt a new constitution in tune with the Supreme Court appointed Lodha Committee reforms.

"It is contended by the complainant in his written arguments that the President of KDCA without compliance of the order of the Ombudsman and without any fundamental constitution and just basing on the Rule No. 6 of the byelaws of ACA, cannot proceed with the election of its office bearers and shall wait for a sub-committee report on codifying the Lodha committee reforms for implementation to KDCA otherwise conducting the election on 06-12-2020 is invalid," Justice Reddy said in his order dated December 5.

"It is held that the election process initiated by KDCA through the said election officer and also consequent unanimous election of the office bearers of its Apex council are declared as null and void and hence, cannot be enforced.

Further, ACA is hereby directed to form a committee to draft appropriate byelaws and, rules and regulations for KDCA in terms of its own byelaws and, rules and regulations subject to making necessary changes as early as possible because further delay in the matter causes more and more inconvenience to KDCA to elect its office bearers. In view of the inconvenience faced by KDCA because of non-conducting of its election after the expiry of the term of the previous office bearers, it is also observed that ACA has to take necessary measures to decide within one week as to who would form the full members of KDCA taking all aspects into consideration to enable KDCA to adopt temporarily the byelaws and, rules and regulations of ACA and then on that basis to conduct the election to its office bearers," the order read.

East Bengal are yet to score in the league. SCEB will be disappointed that a good display did not lead to points, with a couple of key refereeing decisions going against them. NEUFC coach Gerard Nus did five changes to the side that drew against FC Goa. Gurmeet, Ashutosh, Shereef, Kwesi Appiah and Ninthoinganba Meetei were back in the playing eleven. — Agencies
