‘KCR cup’ of joy for TRS to rope in youth

Party leaders plan sports events till district level

L. VENKAT RAM REDDY | DC
HYDERABAD, FEB. 13

The districts are abuzz with ‘KCR Cup’ sporting events, thanks to the 15-day deadline set by TRS supremo and Chief Minister K. Chandrashekar Rao for party MLAs and other leaders to enrol 50,000 members in each Assembly constituency, half of them from among the youth.

To attract youngsters, TRS MLAs and party leaders have come up with the idea of conducting sporting events for the ‘KCR Cup’. The CM’s birthday falls on February 17, in the middle of the membership drive, and party leaders expect to put up a big show to highlight the event. Party leaders are organising cricket, volleyball and football tournaments from the villages right up to the district level. The prize money ranges from ₹30,000 to ₹1 lakh and participants are provided sports kits, T-shirts and shoes.

K. Chandrashekar Rao

The CM’s daughter and Nizamabad MLC K. Kavitha’s Telangana Jagruthi is extending cooperation to organise the events.

The focus on younger members is because the party wants to show that the BJP’s claim that the youth are angry with the TRS and joining the BJP is false. The membership drive started on February 12 and ends on February 26. During the previous membership drives, Chandrashekar Rao used to give nearly three months for leaders to complete the exercise. Now, they have just 15 days with an insistence on more youth members.

Q NOW, people chosen by the masses will rule Jammu and Kashmir, not those born to ‘kings and queens’

AMIT SHAH,
Home minister,
attacking dynastic parties in the region

New Delhi, Feb. 13: Home minister Amit Shah gave an assurance in Lok Sabha on Saturday that the Centre will grant full statehood to Jammu and Kashmir at an appropriate time and asserted that the government has done more for it since Article 370 was scrapped in August 2019 than those who ruled it for generations.

Replying to a discussion on the Jammu and Kashmir Reorganisation (Amendment) Bill, he also slammed some Opposition members for their claim that the proposed law negates the hopes of the region getting back its erstwhile statehood.

The Bill to merge the Jammu and Kashmir (J&K) cadre of all-India services officers with the Arunachal Pradesh, Goa, Mizoram Union Territory (AGMUT) cadre was later passed by Lok Sabha by a voice vote.

The Jammu and Kashmir Reorganisation (Amendment) Bill, 2021 has already been passed by Rajya Sabha. It replaces an ordinance issued last month.

This legislation has nothing to do with statehood, and Jammu and Kashmir will be accorded the status at an appropriate time, Shah said.

He took a swipe at the Congress and other parties — which had backed Article 370 of the Constitution that gave special status to Jammu and Kashmir — saying this was a temporary provision but they continued with it for over 70 years before the Modi government annulled it.

Jammu and Kashmir has been a top priority for the current government since it took power in 2014, he said. Responding to Congress leader Adhir Ranjan Chowdhury, Shah said Opposition parties were free to visit the region.

Chowdhury had claimed that foreign delegations were being taken to the region, no all-party delegation was sent.

The home minister also gave the assurance to the people of Jammu and Kashmir that “no one will lose their land”. The government has sufficient land for development works, Shah said.

FM slams critics who saw Budget tilting to ‘cronies’

DC CORRESPONDENT
with input from agencies
NEW DELHI, FEB. 13

Finance minister Nirmala Sitharaman, on Saturday came back strongly on the critics and Opposition who have been accusing the Narendra Modi government of ‘crony capitalism’, ignoring the poor and mishandling the farmers’ protest.

Responding to the points made by Opposition MPs during the discussion on the Union Budget in the Lok Sabha, the Finance Minister singled out the Congress party and its leader Mr Rahul Gandhi who has been regularly hitting out at the government. Mrs Sitharaman said Mr Gandhi is probably becoming “Doomsday Man for India”.

Mr Gandhi has repeatedly attacked the Centre on multiple issues, including the farmers’ protests and the China standoff, and while participating during a discussion on the Union Budget on Thursday, he accused the government crony capitalism saying its policies are meant to benefit the rich.

Responding to the allegations, the FM said, “In spite of what we are doing for the poor and the steps taken for helping the poor and needy of this country...a false narrative is created...Who are our cronies? Our cronies are the common ‘janta’ (people) of this country. We don’t do work for any cronies, we work for the common citizen who believes in the Prime Minister. Where are the cronies? They are hiding probably in the shadow of that party which has been rejected by the people... The shadows, who were invited to even develop a port. No open tenders, no global tenders. These tendencies of the Congress makes it clear their belief in a democratic system is finished. He (Rahul Gandhi) is probably becoming a Doomsday Man for India,” she added.

Onions set to be expensive in state

DC CORRESPONDENT
HYDERABAD, FEB. 13

Onions are all set to leave consumers teary-eyed once again as the prices are soaring in states on which Telangana is heavily dependent for supplies. Telangana lacks adequate onion production and imports the bulb from Maharashtra, Karnataka, Madhya Pradesh and Andhra Pradesh.

Onion prices in the state have increased from ₹25 per kg to ₹35 per kg in a week in the retail market and is set to touch price range of ₹50-₹70 per kg by March.

In the ongoing Rabi (Yasangi) season, farmers in TS have opted for paddy, groundnut, maize and wheat but not onions.

As per statistics available with the marketing department, Telangana state consumes 5.08 lakh metric tonnes of onions every year or 42,400 metric tonnes per month. Of this, the state grows less than 2.5 lakh metric tonnes, that too in the Kharif season.

It procures the rest of the onions from other states, and any fluctuation in prices in those states immediately impacts Telangana.

The agriculture and horticulture departments speak of encouraging onion cultivation only when the prices hit the roof.

The policy of offering sops or incentives to farmers to encourage onion cultivation remains on paper. No subsidy being provided on onion seeds, there is no minimum support price nor marketing facilities.

Besides productivity is low when compared with other crops which is also discouraging farmers.

Farmers are forced to pay more for purchasing quality onion seeds, fertilisers and pesticides to protect crops as they are more prone to pest attacks. Onion prices are also under the control of a traders’ cartel. All these factors make farmers to shy away from onion cultivation.

Farmers have not sown onion in even 100 acres in the ongoing crop season.

The normal sown area in Yasangi is 21,869 acres. Last year, it was sown in 9,536 acres by this time of the year. This year, it was sown in just 92 acres against 9,405 acres which is the normal sown area by now.

Mahbubnagar district alone accounts for 80 per cent of onion production of state, but this time there are no takers even there.

The biggest onion market in state is Malakpet market where 10,000 quintals of onions land every day from other states. This has come down to less than 5,000 quintals and could go down further.

This is feared to lead to severe shortage of onion stocks and escalation of prices by March.

He said the Sri Padmavathi temple in Chennai will be built at a cost of ₹6.85 crore. TTD will bear ₹5.85 crore and Devasthanams’ Chennai advisory committee president Sekhar Reddy is contributing Rs. 1 crore. Construction of the temple will be completed within one-and-a-half years, he stated.

The TTD chairman said Gudiko Gomata campaign launched in Karthika Masam has already begun in AP, Karnataka, Delhi, and Telangana states. It will now be launched in Tamil Nadu on Saturday by Kanchi Pontiff Sri Vijayendra Saraswati Swamy Shankaracharya.

TTD board special invitees and Chennai advisory committee president Sekhar Reddy were among those present at the function.

It had said occupation of public ways in the anti-CAA protests at Shaheen Bagh locality here was not acceptable.

Observing that democracy and dissent go hand in hand, the apex court had said constitutional scheme comes with the right to protest and express dissent, but with an obligation towards certain duties.

The Western fairy-tale festival of love and affection, Valentine's Day, that gained in popularity across the country, especially among teens and youth, is likely to see a muted celebration this year.

Celebrated every February 14, it is going to be a low-key affair this time around, according to businesses that usually report brisk Valentine's Day sales. Because of the pandemic, fewer events have been planned and sales of greeting cards and soft toys too have fallen. And instead of meeting, couples say that they may just have to make do with expressing their love over phones.

Sita and Sanju, (names changed) have been in a relationship for over a year but they cannot afford to meet up this year.

"We are working from home and if this routine is broken it might raise suspicions. Our meetings in any case have been very few because of the pandemic and they are now virtual. We do not even feel like celebrating the day anymore because of how it is all around us," Sanju said.

Clubs, pubs and hotels, which usually host special events to mark the day, also have taken a back-seat as there are worries that the investment that goes into organising may not be recovered.

Radhika Masrani, a noted Zumba instructor, who organised a pre-Valentine Day dance event in her institution at Hyderguda, said "The idea was to create normalcy in the group. This is the first event we conducted for our trainees. The men were in black and women in red and romantic tunes from Bollywood films were played."

Novelty and gift shops have reported a drastic drop in the sales of popular Valentine's Day merchandise.

Prakash Jaisingh of Synthesis, Cards & Gifts at West Marredpally, who has been in this business for 31 years, said, "The business on Valentine's Day has slowly developed and touched its peak in the previous years. It is usually college students and youth who spend more money on cards and gifts.

KCR mass reach out revving up TRS

party with the single-point agenda of having a separate Telangana, he was brushed aside by several leaders in Telangana and beyond as an "also-ran", citing the example of Dr Marri Channa Reddy, arguing that when a stellar leader like him, with sufficient political clout, couldn't realise this dream, how would the TRS succeed, Rama Rao recalled.

Chandrashekar Rao, who had neither political lineage nor money to run a political party for long and was backed by no media, had grit and perseverance, he said.

"Much to the chagrin of many powerful leaders, KCR disproved critics and defied odds, and convinced all political stakeholders across India that the demand for a separate Telangana was fair and reasonable. He had to join hands and part ways with different political parties in his arduous journey that resulted in the formation of a separate Telangana," recalled B. Vinod Kumar, vice-chairman, State Planning Board.

"Along the journey, KCR had to take two strong political leaders — N. Chandrababu Naidu and Dr Y. S. Rajasekhara Reddy. But he won," Kumar added.

Rama Rao, while launching the membership drive at Sircilla, recalled, "the late Union minister Arun Jaitley once said that launching and sustaining a protest demanding a separate state could be easy. But, transforming a party that spearheaded the movement into a ruling party and winning popular mandate was a remarkable achievement."

"Bees saal baad (after 20 years), the TRS is a triumphant political organisation that created a government passionately committed to transforming the state into one of the best performers in India. Since it took over the reins, the KCR government has successfully balanced development and welfare schemes," said Peddi Sudershan, MLA. "People are comparing the situation before and after the formation of Telangana. There is a marked change in the administration and schemes are actually reaching the needy," said Dasyam Vinay Bhaskar, MLA.

The party, which secured a popular mandate for the second consecutive term, despite the setback of losing seats in the Lok Sabha elections bagged all zilla parishads, almost all municipalities and other local bodies in the elections held soon after. "The TRS is very strong at the grassroots level," Rama Rao said. He emphasised that though the support base of the party remained undisturbed, no party can win a 100 per cent mandate.

Though the TRS morale took a hit when it lost a byelection to the Dubbak Assembly seat with a slender margin and its majority thinned down in the GHMC elections, a day after having its Mayor and Deputy Mayor, the party is looking ahead to grow from strength to strength.

Against this background, the TRS supremo has decided to invigorate the party by accelerating its activities, including the membership drive and creating new committees. He started the campaign for upcoming byelection to the Nagarjunasagar Assembly seat by addressing a large public meeting at Halia.

The party is now working on a road map for the proposed tour of Chief Minister Rao to all districts.

Rama Rao, in Sircilla, set the tone for party leaders and cadre, when he said, "While the Central government is heaping encomiums on the achievements of Telangana, including schemes like Mission Bhagiratha, state-level BJP leaders are resorting to mudslinging."

"Please do not test our patience. We are being dignified. If we lose our cool, we won't spare any of your leaders, including Prime Minister Modi," Rama Rao said.

The coming two months would see hectic activity in the TRS to further propel morale to take on the Opposition and Chandrashekar Rao's state-wide yatra will demonstrate the power of his people-connect.

Two doctors test positive

HYDERABAD, FEB. 13

Two postgraduate doctor, one each at the Nizam's Institute of Medical Sciences (NIMS) and the Chest Hospital, contracted Covid-19 20 days after taking the first dose of vaccination against the disease.

Both doctors work in the intensive care unit in the pulmonary departments. The doctors were wearing personal protection kits and following safety protocols while at the hospital, their seniors said.

A senior doctor on condition of anonymity explained, "Hospital wards have the Covid-19 virus. The doctors are dealing with severe cases and there are chances of contracting from them."

Dr Srinivas Rao, senior resident at NIMS, said, "Vaccination is not the reason for the disease. The doctors have contracted Covid-19 as they are in proximity with the patients. They are working in the high-risk respiratory ward."

Both doctors are under observation and their symptoms are being closely monitored.

In the private sector, three doctors contracted Covid-19 after 24 and 48 hours of the first dose. They all are stable now, according to sources.

Dr Mustafa Afzal, senior infection specialist, said, "Vaccination is not the reason for the disease as the first dose is expected to trigger immune system for antibodies. The antibodies will be formed after the second dose and that will take two months. Hence infection is contracted by exposure to those who are carriers of the virus."

It is yet to be understood whether, after vaccination, the disease will be mild or severe. With a large pool of vaccinated beneficiaries it will soon be clear how effective is the vaccine in protecting them from the disease.

Senior doctors will gather at Indian Medical Association headquarters at Koti on February 14 to decide on the course of their protest against the Centre's proposal to allow the so-called 'mixopathy' which allows Ayush doctors to perform surgery after a period of training.

Allopathy doctors have been on a relay hunger strike from February 1 against mixopathy. Dr Yadagiri Rao, senior member of IMA, said the IMA needs support from other organisations in its protest against mixopathy. "Modern science doctors are raising awareness but it is not being understood by the people. To spread the message further other sections of society must be engaged," Dr Yadagiri Rao said.

Senior doctors will deliberate how to carry their protest forward as the government has not responded to their concerns so far. This lack of response has upset many doctors who want to intensify the protest.

Bandi urges Javadekar to probe irrigation dams

Sanjay alleges state is taking up projects without giving DPR

DC CORRESPONDENT
KARIMNAGAR, FEB. 13

In the name of projects, crores of public money is being handed over to private persons by the TRS government and this must be stopped immediately, BJP state chief Bandi Sanjay Kumar told Union minister for environment Prakash Javadekar in New Delhi on Saturday.

Without taking permission from the Union Jal Shakti ministry and without submitting detailed project reports (DPR) to the Centre, the state government is taking up construction of projects, Sanjay said and demanded a full-fledged inquiry into the alleged corruption that prevails.

He said that before constructing an irrigation project any state government must prepare a DPR and submit it to the Centre. It is only after getting permission that the state should get a no-objection certificate from the environment ministry.

But the Telangana state government had not submitted DPRs for any project and by increasing the project cost several times was looting public money in the form of commissions from contractors, he said. Even after the Jal Shakti ministry asked the state government for submission of DPRs on a number of occasions, it has not obliged fearing that the corruption could be exposed, Sanjay claimed. The Apex Council on the Godavari and the Krishna had also informed the state government that submission of DPRs on irrigation projects was mandatory, but the Telangana state government has ignored them, he added.

The state government is taking permission from the environment department keeping in view the National Green Tribunal and NGT is giving permissions only considering the environmental factors.

Until the new agricultural laws are suspended and justice is done, the Congress will continue its fight in support of farmers, said Congress Legislature Party (CLP) leader Mallu Bhatti Vikramarka. He alleged that the state government was doing a lot of injustice to the farming community by supporting the Centre's agricultural laws.

He was speaking the party's Polam Bata programme in the presence of party leaders on Saturday. He pointed out that the TRS which took part in the Bharat Bandh in support of the farmers suddenly took a U-turn after Chief Minister K. Chandrashekar Rao went to New Delhi. "Because of KCR and KTR, the state is being driven towards darkness," he claimed.

Bhatti expressed anger over the government decision to close procurement and Indira Kranthi Pathakam centres. The Congress will revive the centres if it forms government, he assured the farmers.

The SC and ST sub-plans which were introduced during the reign of the Congress government were not being implemented for the past four years, he alleged. The TRS betrayed the Dalits after promising them three acres of land each. Instead, it is taking back land from the Dalits which had been given in the previous Congress government in the name of construction of Rythu Vedikas.

Congress senior leader and MLC T. Jeevan Reddy, TPCC working president Ponnamp Prabhakar, Manthani MLA Duddilla Sridhar Babu and DCC president Aduri Laxman were among those who were present.

Because of the construction of Kaleshwaram project, drought-prone areas also received water. Farmers got the confidence that they could pursue agriculture and make a living.

"Congress leaders are unable to digest the fact that Chief Minister K. Chandrashekar Rao would garner more public patronage because of the project. Opposition leaders must appreciate the good work done by the government but making such comments just to make their presence felt is not welcome," the TRS legislator said.

The MLA noted that the Kaleshwaram project also supported the Sriramsagar Project and is helping in irrigating till the last ayacut. Because of the availability of the copious amounts of water, there was good yield in maize and paddy crops. Even the Mid-Manair and the Lower Manair dams are receiving water because of the KLIP and water bodies in places like Nalgonda are also brimming with water.

"Even the prices of agriculture lands have gone up considerably. The Telangana state is competing with states like Punjab in the production of food. However, Congress leaders are only criticising the good work. If they are really dedicated to the welfare of the farmers, they must fight in New Delhi against the new farm laws. Such behaviour will not be accepted by the farmers and people of Telangana," Venkataramana Reddy said.

Parties in poll mode for rural ZPTC seat

ADILABAD, FEB. 13

Ahead of elections to Adilabad Rural ZPTC seat, TRS is trying to show its strength in order to bolster the confidence levels of the party cadre by organising big events on special occasions. Ironically, BJP and Congress are also following suit.

TRS leaders organised a bike-rally here to mark the commencement of the membership drive.

Congress leaders also took out a massive bike-rally to accord a rousing welcome to CLP leader Bhatti Vikramarka on his recent visit while BJP leaders demonstrated their strength in a similar pattern across Adilabad town.

They are all apparently efforts to win over the electorate before elections to the ZPTC seat.

Meanwhile, TRS leaders are confident of winning the seat on the strength of the welfare schemes and development works taken up by their government.

Jogu Ramanna has been visiting the interiors more frequently. He is distributing CMRF cheques to applicants in villages coming under Adilabad rural mandal.

The Congress party organised Rythulatho Mukha Mukhi in Bheemsari village to reach out to farmers.

Ramanna announced that they will touch all the houses during the membership drive and enlighten the voters about welfare measures taken up by the TRS government.

IN BRIEF

WOMAN’S SUICIDE: SENA MINISTER UNDER LENS

BHAGWAN PARAB | DC
MUMBAI, FEB. 13

Maharashtra forest minister Sanjay Rathod from Shiv Sena has found himself in trouble as the BJP has demanded his arrest in connection with the death of a 22-year old girl in Pune. Chief minister Uddhav Thackeray has said that a detailed probe will be carried out and those found guilty will be punished.

On February 8, deceased Pooja Chavan, hailing from Beed district, allegedly committed suicide by jumping off a building in the Wanwadi area of the city. Her death has stirred up a political storm in the state, as several audio clips of her purported conversation with two persons have gone viral linking the incident to Mr Rathod.

The opposition party BJP has become aggressive on the issue demanding the arrest of the minister and his sacking from the cabinet. BJP leader Kirit Somaiya said, “Mr Rathod should not only be sacked as a minister but also be arrested immediately. What is Chief Minister Uddhav Thackeray waiting for if it clearly shows that the minister has a hand in Pooja Chavan’s death.”

Mr Rathod has not commented on the issue yet. According to sources, he has sought time to present his case to Mr Thackeray, who has reportedly taken a serious cognizance of the matter. However, Mr Rathod and other party leaders have been advised not to speak to the media on the issue.

2 MAOISTS KILLED IN ENCOUNTER

RABINDRA NATH CHOUDHURY | DC
BHOPAL, FEB 13

Two Maoists including a woman were killed on Saturday morning in an encounter with the police in tribal-dominated district of Mandla.

The encounter took place in the forested village of Lalpur.

The slain Naxals, identified as Pramila (25) and Mainu Uike (21), hailed from south Bastar district of Sukma in Chhattisgarh and together carried a bounty of ₹14 lakh, state home minister Narottam Mishra said.

They belonged to platoon number 3 of Vistar dalam of outlawed CPI (Maoist) functioning in south-western Madhya Pradesh districts of Balaghat, Mandla and Dindori.

Acting on a tip off on the presence of a dozen armed Maoists in Sala forest, security forces launched a search operation in the area, police said.

The Maoists opened fire on security forces when the latter zeroed in on the rebel camp, leading to a fierce gun battle between them that lasted 4 hours.

Bodies of the two slain Maoists recovered at the encounter site.

COVID: NATIONAL RECOVERY RATE STANDS AT 97.32%

DC CORRESPONDENT
NEW DELHI, FEB. 13

In a significant development on the Covid-19 front, 17 states and union territories have not reported a single death in the last 24 hours while 13 states and UTs had deaths ranging between 1 and 5. Total fatalities due to coronavirus in the last 24 hours were 103.

The new cases too are on a decline as 12,143 fresh cases were detected in the last 24 hours. India’s total active case-load currently stands at 1.36 lakh consists of just 1.25% of country’s total positive cases.

A total of 1.06 crore people have recovered so far out of which 11,395 patients have got discharged in the last 24 hours. The National Recovery Rate at present is 97.32%.

Kerala, with highest number of positive cases (5,397) has also reported the maximum number of single day recoveries (5,332). In Maharashtra, 2,422 people recovered in the past 24 hours followed by 486 in Tamil Nadu. Kerala continues to report the highest daily new cases at 5,397. It is followed by Maharashtra with 3,670, while Tamil Nadu reported 483 new cases.

Meanwhile, India has vaccinated 80.52 lakh healthcare and frontline workers with the first dose and the second dose to complete immunization against Covid-19 has started.

Rescue and restoration work at Raini village after a glacier burst on February 7 in Joshimath triggered a flash flood, in Chamoli district of Uttarakhand on Saturday.

Rescue hole at Tapovan tunnel being widened to reach workers

38 bodies have been recovered from affected areas while 166 are missing

Joshimath, Feb 13: Rescue teams on Saturday began widening a hole drilled into an approach tunnel on the way to the possible location of over 30 people trapped inside a sludge-choked tunnel of the NTPC’s Tapovan Vishnugad hydel project after a flash flood ravaged the area on Sunday.

“We are working under a three-pronged strategy to reach to those trapped in the tunnel. The hole we drilled on Friday is being widened to one foot so as to reach a camera and a pipe inside the silt flushing tunnel where the trapped are said to be located,” General Manager of the NTPC project, R P Ahirwal, said.

A hole with a diameter of one foot will help send in a camera to ascertain their location and a pipe to flush out accumulated water from the tunnel, Ahirwal said. The other two parts of the strategy are clearing the desilting basin of the NTPC barrage through which muck is constantly flowing into the tunnels and restoring the flow of the Dhauliganga to the right which has tilted to the left after the flash flood hampering the sludge clearing operation, he said.

Describing the rescue of people as a priority, he said the NTPC has put more than 100 of its scientists on the job.

When asked whether an attempt could also be made to send rescue personnel to the possible location of those trapped inside the tunnel through the hole, the GM said it will need to be widened further for that and will be done if the need arises.

“More than 100 of our scientists are on the job. They are devising strategies and having them implemented,” Ahirwal said.

He said all resources and mechanical equipment required for the operations are available at the project site.

● THE STATE Emergency Operation Centre said scientists of the Indian Institute of Remote Sensing during an aerial survey of the Rishiganga found that the glacial lake formed due to the avalanche over it has begun to release water which reduces chances of its breaching or causing a fresh flash flood.

However, citing the conditions inside the tunnel, he said, “We can operate only with a few machines at a time. Rest of them have to be kept on standby because our strategy is to keep the operations under-way round the clock.”

If for some reason an equipment stops working, there are alternatives on the standby to ensure that the operations do not stop, he said.

He said many experienced workers of the project went missing in the calamity and those put on the job are new people but still they are working with total dedication.

Talking about the biggest challenge being faced by the rescue team, the NTPC official said, “The rescue personnel are going to the tunnel where the men are likely to be trapped via HCC Adit where muck is constantly coming down from the NTPC barrage and its desilting basin to hamper the rescue efforts. The water of Dhauliganga too is coming into our tunnels through the desilting basin as it has tilted to the left after the avalanche.”

“Hence, restoring the flow of the Dhauliganga to the right is a big part of our strategy,” Ahirwal said. The sludge choked contours and conduits of the barrage’s desilting basin can also be removed more effectively only if the flow is restored back to its earlier position.

The work on restoring the flow of Dhauliganga has begun already with the help of heavy machines, he said. So far, 38 bodies have been recovered from the affected areas while 166 are still missing.

DIG Nilesh Anand Bharné said 11 of the dead have been identified. Eighteen body parts had also been recovered from the flood-hit areas, of which 10 have been cremated after taking their DNA samples so far, he said.

The State Emergency Operation Centre here said scientists of the Indian Institute of Remote Sensing during an aerial survey of the Rishiganga found that the glacial lake formed due to the avalanche over it has begun to release water which reduces chances of its breaching or causing a fresh flash flood.

The lake which has formed over the Rishiganga after the flash-flood had increased the concern of experts on Friday.

AIMPLB opposes uniform grounds of divorce petition

New Delhi, Feb 13: The All India Muslim Personal Law Board (AIMPLB) has moved the Supreme Court against a plea seeking “uniform grounds of divorce” for all citizens of the country, keeping with the spirit of the Constitution and international conventions.

The AIMPLB has opposed the plea filed by advocate and BJP leader Ashwini Kumar Upadhyay seeking uniform grounds of divorce on the basis that personal laws cannot be tested on the anvil of Articles 14, 15, 21 and 44 of the Constitution.

The applicant would like to submit that the expression and ‘Custom and Usage’ in Article 13 of the Constitution does not include faith of a religious denomination embedded in personal laws,” the plea said while seeking impleadment in the petition filed by Upadhyay.

The Constituent Assembly was aware of the distinction between ‘personal law’ and the ‘custom and usage’ and chose advisedly to exclude personal law and include custom and usage in Article 13 of the Constitution, it said.

The Board in its plea submitted that the laws relating to marriage and divorce amongst the Hindus themselves are not uniform and thus the customs and practices have been protected by the statute itself.

The top court on December 16 last year had issued notice to the Centre on the plea filed by Upadhyay. His plea sought directions to the Centre to take steps to remove anomalies in divorce laws and make them uniform for all citizens, without any prejudice on the basis of religion, race, caste, sex or place of birth.

“The court may declare that the discriminatory grounds of divorce are violative of Articles 14, 15, 21 and frame guidelines for ‘Uniform Grounds of Divorce’ for all citizens,” it said.

While Article 13 of the Constitution deals with laws that are inconsistent with or in derogation of the fundamental rights, Article 14 guarantees equality before law to all citizens. Article 21 pertains to the protection of life and personal liberty whereas Article 44 talks about a uniform civil code for the citizens.

“Alternatively, this court may direct the Law Commission to examine the laws of divorce and suggest ‘Uniform Grounds of Divorce’ for all citizens in the spirit of Articles 14, 15, 21, 44 within three months, while considering international laws and international conventions,” the plea said.

Hindus, Buddhists, Sikhs and Jains have to seek divorce under the Hindu Marriage Act, 1955. Muslims, Christians and Parsis have their own personal laws. A couple belonging to different religions has to seek divorce under the Special Marriage Act, 1956,” it said. If either partner is a foreign national then that person has to seek divorce under the Foreign Marriage Act, 1969.

Hence, the grounds of divorce are neither gender neutral nor religion neutral, the plea said.

SC ISSUES WARRANTS AGAINST NGO CHIEF FOR NOT DEPOSITING FINE

New Delhi, Feb 13: The Supreme Court has issued bailable warrants against the chairperson of an NGO for not depositing the cost of ₹25 lakh imposed on it for filing 64 PILs over the years without any success and “repeatedly misusing” the jurisdiction of the top court.

A bench comprising Justices S.K. Kaul and Hrishikesh Roy said the petitioner-Trust and its chairperson Rajiv Daiya were playing “ducks and drakes” with the Court.

The top court on December 5, 2017, refused to modify its earlier order against NGO Suraz India Trust for filing 64 PILs.

It had dismissed the plea filed by the NGO to modify the apex court’s May 1 order which also barred the organisation from filing any plea before any court across the country.

RECALL MAHA GOVERNOR: SHIV SENA

SONU SHRIVASTAVA
MUMBAI, FEB. 13

The Shiv Sena on Saturday accused the BJP of using Governor Bhagat Singh Koshyari’s shoulders to target the Maha Vikas Aghadi.

Accusing the governor of acting like a political puppet for the Centre, the Shiv Sena urged the Centre to recall him.

The Sena said that ever since Mr. Koshyari became the governor, he has been in controversy for several reasons. “He should behave like a mature person,” an editorial in Saamana said.

Militant accused of killing 3 BJP activists, policeman arrested

YUSUF JAMEEL | DC
SRINAGAR, FEB. 13

The Jammu and Kashmir police on Saturday claimed that a ‘The Resistance Front (TRF)’ militant involved in the killing of three BJP activists and a policeman in southern Kulgam district last year was arrested over Samba area of Jammu region overnight.

Inspector General of Police (Jammu range), Vijay Kumar, said that a most wanted militant Zahoor Ahmed Rather alias Sahil alias Khalid was hiding in the frontier district for some time and was arrested following receiving specific information about it from the Anantnag police.

TRF which the police insist is a front of outlawed Lashkar-e-Tayyaba (LeT) surfaced in J&K last year and has claimed responsibility for several violent acts that took place across the Valley over a period of time.

On the night of October 29, 2020, a group of militants had killed Fida Hussain Itoo, general secretary of the J&K unit of BJP Yuva Morcha, and two other party workers Umar Ramzan Hajam and Umer Rashid Beigh in Kulgam’s Yaripora village. Earlier in July last year, a police head constable Abdur Rashid Dar was shot dead from point blank range by gunmen outside his Kulgam’s Furrah village.

A statement issued by the police here said that Rather, a resident of Anantnag’s Jalkreeri Dooru village, who was involved in these killings was arrested from Teli Basti of Samba’s industrial township Bari Brahmana during a “covert operation” launched jointly by Samba police and Anantnag police.

“Besides involved in target killings in south Kashmir, he was instrumental in recruiting innocent youth into terrorist ranks and was along with another terrorist Abbas Sheikh running the LeT in the name of TRF,” the statement alleged.

The police said that Rather was earlier associated with Kashmir’s indigenous militant organization Hizb-ul-Mujahideen but quit it in 2020 to join the Lashkar-e-Tayyaba.

Ganediwala faced flak for interpretation of sexual assault

Reduced term for controversial judge

BHAGWAN PARAB | DC
with agency inputs
MUMBAI, FEB. 13

Bombay High Court judge Pushpa Ganediwala, who delivered two controversial orders on sexual assaults in the recent weeks, on Saturday took oath as the high court’s additional judge for one more year.

The decision to extend Justice Pushpa Ganediwala’s fresh tenure by only one year, instead of two years as recommended by the Supreme Court collegium, was taken by the Centre. The government on Friday put out a notification on her new term.

Justice Nitin Jamdar, the seniormost judge at the Nagpur bench of the Bombay High Court, administered the oath of office to her.

The oath-taking ceremony was attended virtually by the Bombay High Court’s Chief Justice Dipankar Datta.

Additional judges are usually appointed for two years before being elevated as permanent judges. The decision was taken after the judge faced flak for her interpretation of sexual assault under the Protection of Children from Sexual Offences (POCSO) Act.

● LAST MONTH, the SC panel, in a rare instance, withdrew its recommendation to the government to confirm the permanent status of Justice Ganediwala as a Bombay HC judge after two controversial orders were passed by her.

Justice Ganediwala’s fresh term comes into effect from Saturday after her earlier tenure as an additional judge ended on Friday.

Last month, the Supreme Court panel, in a rare instance, withdrew its recommendation to the government to confirm the permanent status of Justice Ganediwala as a Bombay High Court judge after two controversial orders were passed by her.

The collegium headed by Chief Justice S.A. Bobde, at a meeting held on January 20, had okayed the proposal for making Justice Ganediwala a permanent judge.

In a January 19 ruling, Justice Pushpa Ganediwala, 51, ruled that groping a minor’s breast without ‘skin-to-skin contact’ cannot be termed as sexual assault as defined under the Protection of Children from Sexual Offences (POCSO) Act. Days later, the Supreme Court put that order on hold, allowing the government’s top lawyer to file a petition against it.

The order was “disturbing” and would create a dangerous precedent, Attorney General K.K. Venugopal had said.

In another case last month, Justice Ganediwala ruled that “the acts of ‘holding the hands of the prosecutrix’ (female victim), or ‘opened zip of the pant’...does not fit in the definition of ‘sexual assault’,” and quashed the conviction of a man under child sexual assault laws. The survivor in this case, was a five-year-old minor.

FED AGENTS
FATALLY SHOOT
MAN IN FLORIDA

Coral Gables (Florida), Feb. 13: Federal agents investigating a financial scheme fatally shot a man in South Florida on Friday, authorities said.

The shooting occurred in Coral Gables and involved agents from the US Department of Homeland Security, the Miami Herald reported. Coral Gables is located just southwest of Miami.

During a large-scale financial investigation, an individual brandished a weapon at special agents with Homeland Security Investigations, as a result agents fired at the suspect, agency spokesman Nestor Yglesias said in a statement. The agents were treated at a local hospital for injuries that were not life-threatening, Yglesias said.

Investigators recovered a weapon at the scene, Yglesias said. Florida state law enforcement officials were investigating the shooting.

The man wasn't immediately identified.

BROKER TO BE EXTRADITED TO VENEZUELA

Madrid, Feb. 13: Spain's National Court has approved the extradition of a financial broker wanted in Venezuela on charges of fraud and embezzlement of funds.

The ruling on 40-year-old Ernesto Quintero triggered protests Friday among the Venezuelan community in Spain and Venezuelan opposition representatives.

Protesters, including Quintero's wife, demonstrated near the court in Madrid, calling for Spain to stop the extradition given the political instability in the Caribbean country. Quintero worked in a stock exchange in the western Venezuelan city of Maracaibo that was seized by authorities in 2010 owing to alleged fund-management irregularities, the unauthorised sale of client investments and for funneling money to Britain's Virgin Islands. He was arrested in Spain early in 2019 but released with conditions while his extradition was studied. He was detained again this week.

The court's three-judge panel rejected Quintero's argument that there were political motivations behind Venezuela's extradition request and that he would be in physical danger if handed over.

Antonio Ecarri, a Venezuelan politician designated as ambassador to Spain for the parallel government of Venezuelan opposition leader Juan Guaidó, claimed that any extradition now was a virtual death sentence given Venezuela's human rights record. Spain has previously rejected other extradition requests.

1 PEACEKEEPER
HURT IN MALI
HAS DIED: UN

United Nations, Feb. 13: One of the 28 UN peacekeepers wounded in an attack on a temporary United Nations base in central Mali has died from his injuries, the United Nations announced Friday.

Mali remains the deadliest of the UN's 12 far-flung peacekeeping missions and the peacekeeper from Togo was the sixth killed just since January in hostile acts in which 46 peacekeepers were also injured.

UN spokesman Stephane Dujarric, who announced the peacekeeper's death, extended the UN's deepest condolences to his family and the people and government of Togo and wished a speedy recovery to the 27 other peacekeepers.

The UN has condemned Wednesday's complex attack using direct and indirect fire against the temporary base in Kerena, near Douentza. There have been no claims of responsibility for the attack, but Islamic extremists linked to al-Qaida and the Islamic State group have staged regular attacks on UN peacekeepers and soldiers.

Dujarric said the Kerena base was set up recently to better protect the local population, bring back calm in areas impacted by intercommunal violence, as well as to reduce the threat of improvised explosive devices.

Mali has been in turmoil since a 2012 uprising prompted mutinous soldiers to overthrow the president. The power vacuum that resulted ultimately led to an Islamic insurgency and a French-led war that ousted the jihadists from power in 2013.

The country has also been plagued by a series of coups, the latest in August that overthrew President Ibrahim Boubacar.

7 injured in fuel tanker blast at Afghanistan-Iran border

The blaze consumed more than 500 trucks carrying natural gas and fuel

Herat (Afghanistan), Feb. 13: A fuel tanker exploded Saturday at the Islam Qala crossing in Afghanistan's western Herat province on the Iranian border, injuring at least seven people and causing a massive fire that consumed more than 500 trucks carrying natural gas and fuel, according to Afghan officials and Iranian state media.

It wasn't immediately clear what caused the blast. Wahid Qatali, Herat's provincial governor, said Afghan first responders did not have the means to put out the fire and had requested support from Iran in the form of fire-fighting aircraft.

"For the time being, we can't even talk about the casualties," Qatali told The Associated Press.

The intensity of the flames meant ambulances were having trouble reaching the wounded or getting close to the site of the blast, said Mohammad Rafiq Shirzy, spokesman for the regional hospital in Herat's provincial capital, also named Herat.

07 people injured by the fire have been admitted to the hospital so far, said Mohammad Rafiq Shirzy, spokesman for the regional hospital in Herat's provincial capital.

Seven people injured by the fire have been admitted to the hospital so far, he said.

Iran's semi-official ISNA news agency quoted truck drivers as saying more than 500 trucks carrying natural gas and fuel have been burnt so far.

Two explosions at the border crossing were powerful enough to be spotted from space by NASA satellites. One blast erupted around 1:10 p.m. Afghan time (0840 GMT), the next around a half hour later at 1:42 p.m. local (0912 GMT).

The fire continued to burn after nightfall, and forced Afghanistan to shut down its electrical supply from Iran, leaving Herat in the dark, said Wahidullah Tawhidi, spokesman for the Ministry of Power Supply.

The road between the city of Herat and Islam Qala is a dangerous stretch of highway that Afghans rarely travel at night for fear of attacks by criminal gangs. Taliban insurgents also travel freely in the area. Afghan security services had set up checkpoints and were assisting ambulances and emergency vehicles traveling to and from the border crossing.

Iran's state-run IRNA news agency reported that following the request from Herat's governor, Iranian "rescue forces and fire fighters are underway to extinguish the fire inside Afghanistan," according to Mohsen Nejat, director-general of crisis management in Iran's Khorasan Razavi province.

The fire spread to the Dogharoon customs facilities on the Iranian side and first responders — including the fire department, the Iranian army and border forces — were assisting in extinguishing the blaze, according to Iranian state television. Trucks carrying natural gas and fuel were directed to leave the scene.

The Islam Qala border crossing is around 120 kilometres (75 miles) west of the city of Herat. It is a major transit route between Afghanistan and Iran.

The United States allows Afghanistan to import fuel and oil from Iran as part of a special concession that exempts Kabul from sanctions against Iran. Satellite photos taken Saturday showed dozens of tankers parked at the border crossing before the explosion.

Charge against Trump a lie,
say his lawyers

Washington, Feb. 13 : Donald Trump's insurrection incitement charge is a "monstrous lie" and the impeachment proceedings against the former president a "politically motivated witch hunt" by the Democrats, his lawyers said as they presented evidence in the US Senate. Trump, a Republican, is accused of inciting riots in the US Capitol on January 6 which left five people, including a police officer, dead.

Trump's lawyers Bruce Castor, David Schoen and Michael van der Veen each took turns addressing the Senate members on Friday, day four of Trump's impeachment trial, to describe Trump as a staunch supporter of law and order, not someone who incited the chaos at the Capitol.

His attorneys had up to 16 hours over the course of two days to push back on House impeachment managers case that Trump should be convicted and barred from running for future office for inciting the attack on the Capitol to try to stop Joe Biden's presidential election victory being certified.

There is a complete lack of evidence on the article of impeachment against Donald Trump, his lawyers told the United States Senate. "We have a complete lack of evidence for the article of impeachment presented by the House managers," Trump's lawyer Castor said.

The impeachment by the House, the case for which was laid out by the House managers in the Senate during the last two days, was political.

"Their goal is to eliminate a political opponent, to substitute their judgment for the will of the voters," he said as he showed clips of various Democratic leaders. Castor said that the critical issue in this case is the very narrow issue that is charged against the 45th president.

"That issue is did the

AS VOTE DRAWS
NEAR, MCCONNELL
REVEALS LITTLE

Washington, Feb. 13: Seldom has Mitch McConnell signaled so little about such a consequential vote.

While many expect the Senate's top Republican to back acquitting former President Donald Trump of inciting rioters who assaulted the Capitol last month, no one is really sure. The Washington political universe and the world beyond will collectively hold its breath when the Senate impeachment trial roll call reaches the Kentucky's name.

Over 36 years in the Senate, the measured McConnell has earned a reputation for inexpressiveness in the service of caution. This time, the suspense over how he'll vote underscores how much is at stake for him.

45th president engage in incitement of — they continue to say — insurrection. Clearly there was no insurrection," he said. Trump's lawyer van der Veen used his opening remarks to dispute the Democrats' case that the former president had incited violence during his speech to supporters on January 6.

Trump had made allegations of voter fraud and urged his supporters to converge at the Capitol building a short while before the riot broke out.

"To claim that the president in any way wished, desired or encouraged lawless or violent behaviour is a preposterous and monstrous lie. In fact, the first two messages the president sent via Twitter once the incursion at the Capitol began were 'Stay Peaceful' and 'No violence because we are the party of law and order,'" the lawyer said.

Biden: Govs, mayors need $350 bn to fight virus

US: China must make available data of outbreak's earliest days

Washington, Feb. 13: President Joe Biden met with a bipartisan group of governors and mayors at the White House on Friday as part of his push to give financial relief from the coronavirus pandemic to state and local governments.

While Republicans in Congress have largely objected to this initiative, Biden's push has some GOP support among governors and mayors. "You folks are all on the front lines and dealing with the crisis since day one," Biden said at the start of the Oval Office meeting. "They've been working on their own in many cases."

Republican lawmakers have stressed that some past aid to state and local governments remains unspent and revenues have rebounded after slumping when the coronavirus first hit. But state governments have shed 332,000 jobs since the outbreak began to spread last February, and local governments have cut nearly 1 million jobs, according to the Bureau of Labour Statistics.

Republican Govs. Asa Hutchinson of Arkansas and Larry Hogan of Maryland attended the Friday meeting, along with Democratic governors, including New York's Andrew Cuomo and New Mexico's Michelle Lujan Grisham. The mayors of Atlanta, Detroit, Miami and Arlington, Texas, also were at the meeting. New Orleans Mayor LaToya Cantrell was set to attend, but she could not due to White House health screening and safety protocols, according to her press secretary. Under the relief package being crafted in House committees this week, every state and the District of Columbia would get at least $500 million, but most of the money going to states would be distributed based on their share of unemployed workers nationally.

Local governments would also get $130.2 billion and tribal governments would get $20 billion. The money could be used to cover costs incurred because of the pandemic and lost revenue and to address the negative economic impacts of the disease. Congress provided $150 billion in direct assistance to state and local governments in an earlier relief package signed into law last March.

Rep. James Comer of Kentucky, the lead Republican on the House Committee on Oversight and Reform, said that tens of billion and 468,103 deaths from the deadly virus.

US National Security Advisor Jake Sullivan, in a strongly-worded statement, expressed deep concerns about the way in which the early findings of the outbreak were communicated. "We have deep concerns about the way in which the early findings of the Covid-19 investigation were communicated and questions about the process used to reach them. It is imperative that this report be independent, with expert findings free from intervention or alteration by the Chinese government," he said.

"To better understand this pandemic and prepare for the next one, China must make available its data from the earliest days of the outbreak. Going forward, all countries, including China, should participate in a transparent and robust process for preventing and responding to health emergencies — so that the world learns as much as possible, as soon as possible," Sullivan demanded. The mission of the WHO has never been more important, and the US has deep respect for its experts and the work they are doing every day.

AIRLINES PUSH
WH TO REJECT
TESTS FOR FLYERS

Washington, Feb. 13: Leaders of several major US airlines met online Friday with White House officials to press their case against requiring Coronavirus tests for passengers on domestic flights, saying it would undermine the already fragile industry.

White House press secretary Jen Psaki downplayed speculation that the Biden administration could soon impose a requirement that passengers on domestic flights first pass a Covid-19 test. But she stopped short of taking the idea off the table.

"Reports that there is an intention to put in place new requirements such as testing are not accurate," Psaki said. A person familiar with the discussions said the airline CEOs talked with White House Coronavirus-response coordinator Jeff Zients.

WH aide threatens reporter, suspended

Washington, Feb. 13: White House deputy press secretary T.J. Ducklo has been suspended for a week without pay after he reportedly issued a sexist and profane threat to a journalist seeking to cover his relationship with another reporter.

White House press secretary Jen Psaki said in a statement Friday that Ducklo had been suspended without pay with the approval of White House chief of staff Ron Klain.

She said Ducklo is the first to acknowledge this is not the standard of behaviour set out by President Joe Biden, and that Ducklo had sent the reporter in question a personal note professing his profound regret.

Ducklo's personal life came under scrutiny earlier this week when Politico reported on his relationship with a reporter for the news outlet Axios who was assigned to cover the Biden campaign and its transition.

Before Politico broke the story Tuesday, People Magazine published a glowing profile of the relationship.

NO | SHOWS A testament to the grit of organisers who followed French rules

Circus festival adapts to Covid-19 rules

Marseille, Feb. 13: It's been a tough year for the performing arts in most countries, with virus lockdowns cancelling shows and shuttering venues.

But the world's top circus festival has found a way to flourish between the cracks in the rules — even without the huge crowds that would normally have attended. Ending Saturday in the Mediterranean port city of Marseille, the fourth edition of the Circus Biennale (BIAC), held every two years in the south of France, celebrates the injury-defying and spine-stretching arts that fuel the storied spectacle. More than 110,000 people attended the last BIAC, in 2019. This year it had up to 2,000 visitors, all professionals who work in the circus or are looking to buy shows. Even that is a testament to the grit and determination of the organisers, who skillfully adapted their festival to the French authorities' rules and regulations.

"We started with a plan A, then plan B, then plan C, then plan D, and finally

● IN FRANCE, theatres, concert halls and other venues have been shuttered since Oct. 30 due to Covid-19.

we decided to do plan E which was a Biennale for professionals. That was possible, we were allowed to do it," said BIAC organizer Raquel Rache de Andrade. The dozens of performances featured upside-down tutus, acrobatic bicycles, multicoloured parachutes and enough contortionism to shock a chiropractor.

Virus safety signs put up at the port-side venue showed a clown with red nose, bow tie and mask, and the accompanying text: "Having a big nose does not exempt you from wearing one." In France, theatres, concert halls and other venues have been shuttered since Oct. 30 due to Covid-19. Before that, they were shut from mid-March to late June.

No one knows when the performing arts will be allowed to begin again. But it's important to show that culture is essential, according to Yoann Bourgeois, a dancer and choreographer who trained in the circus arts and is the flagship artist of this year's BIAC.

"The management of this crisis has had an extremely violent impact on poets, artists, people who dedicate their lives to culture in general," Bourgeois said. "It has categorised what is considered essential or non-essential. We are convinced that poetry is essential to live."

Off the beaten track

A bottom-up view of the annual Budget

Despite the hoopla around the Union government's Budget, for citizens, allocations in their state budgets matter more. Nearly two thirds of total government expenditure is done by states and for capex, this proportion increases to 90 per cent (FY 2020-21 BE data).

Twenty-eight states and eight Union Territories share the enlarged pie at their level. No individual state matches the fiscal power of the Union finance minister's signature releasing budget allocations. But for citizens, at the receiving end of the pipe, what matters most is the efficiency and effectiveness of the last-mile expenditure management by the state governments.

Living in a well-performing state matters and not just for employment. Progressive "states" bend with the breeze blowing from Delhi, to tap the flow of funds, their way. Telangana is a good example. More importantly, enjoying decent levels of basic public services — subsidised food, education, public health, drinking water electricity and public transport, direct income transfers to farmers, women, old age pensioners and support to the specially-abled, subsidised credit — depends crucially on the efficiency of the local administration.

The primary federal fiscal role of the Union is to collect tax and pass through a mandated share (41 per cent XV Finance Commission) to the states. The Union government, however, games how much it passes through. The mandatory sharing applies only to tax not cess (say on petroleum products). Increasing the cess on imported liquor, as done in the Budget, whilst lowering the duty rate, avoids sharing the extra revenue with states. This is in bad faith.

Voluntary adoption of the Goods and Services Tax (GST) in 2017 enhanced centralisation of fiscal power in the Union. The GST council collectively determines tax rates. But the Union has veto power. Happily, the benefits, despite the convoluted design (multiple rates) of the GST, far exceed the costs from dilution of state tax autonomy. The avoided cost of pancaked sales tax on goods sold across state borders and the ease of movement — most recently via e-tax invoices — will reduce tax leakage and fraud, boost tax revenues and benefit both the Union and the states.

Significant "tax gouging" potential, however, remains with states via punitive tax on the non-virtuous (excise duty on alcohol) and the well-off (exorbitant sales tax on petroleum products and registration fee on purchasing a personal motorised vehicle or property). Less developed states use this mechanism pervasively. The share of "tax gouging" sources was just 46 per cent (2020-21 BE) in well-developed Maharashtra as compared to 63 per cent in Telangana and 57 per cent in Uttar Pradesh. Significantly, Maharashtra and Delhi — both high-income states — recently reduced the registration fee on property purchase, hoping to boost real estate transactions.

Less developed states rely heavily on tax receipts shared by the Union government, per the formula of the quinquennial finance commission, which compensates states with low tax potential to promote "balanced development". For Maharashtra and Telangana, central tax transfers are only 21 per cent and 20 per cent, respectively, of own tax revenue. Conversely, in Uttar Pradesh, central tax transfers are 87 per cent of own tax revenue.

Irrespective of the state you live in, if your annual income is more than Rs 1 million you are in the top quintile (20 per cent). Be prepared to finance delivery of common use public services to the bottom 40 per cent for some time. Aspirers (40 per cent) in the middle do not pay income tax either. But they consume more and thereby pull their tax weight by paying GST, sales tax and excise and bear the impact of customs duties (indirect taxes). It rangles that honest taxpayers also subsidise fraud and tax evasion. Their rightful outrage was mellowed by the Union Budget retaining this year's tax regime including the income tax relaxations and rationalised GST rates. But watch out for your state budget levies coming soon!

A "soft tax" regime rides majorly on the government's ability to ramp up tax collections using big data analytics to make tax evaders and their in-government colluders accountable. It does not help when ideologically driven e-privacy paranoia results in data "privacy" being privileged over better tax collection! The only upward bias in the Budget is in import taxes to protect domestic manufacturing under the Atma Nirbhar Bharat program, possibly to finance the new performance linked financial incentives for 13 industrial sectors. The intent, as also behind the proposal to set up three new textile parks, is to encourage global entrepreneurs to set up manufacturing hubs in India and create good new jobs — on the template of China three decades ago.

The big push is on capital investment, financed by imported capital. Foreign investment in insurance is now liberalized, raising the limit from 49 per cent to 75 per cent. Private Banks (ICICI, HDFC and Axis Bank) already operate under majority foreign ownership. There are also plans for restarting privatisation after a lapse of 15 years creating new opportunities for inward financial flows.

The International Financial Centre at GIFT city got another round of special incentives to ramp up business. Asset reconstruction and management companies are proposed to deal with the swollen non-performing assets (13.5 per cent of assets per RBI), giving public sector banks a clean slate to restart lending. Less convincingly, a Development Finance Institution is to re-engage with long-term project finance to compensate for an absent corporate bond market. Fintech, meanwhile, awaits formalisation, through legislation, of the hitherto ambivalent regulatory regime for cryptocurrency.

The revised FY 2020-21 Budget is expansionary with government borrowing a "never before" net ₹18.5 trillion (fiscal deficit 9.5 per cent of GDP). For the moment inflation is moderating as the RBI curtails excess liquidity and the economy heals steadily.

What follows next depends on the course of the pandemic. There is enough fiscal power in the FY 2021-22 Budget (fiscal deficit 6.8 per cent of GDP) for enhancing demand and facilitating growth. This comes at the expense of pandemic-related relief measures, which are skimpy and will be missed by the bottom 40 per cent who are also the least able to deal with inflation and suffer most from the downturn in employment. In the meantime, fingers crossed.

De-escalation at LAC: Is a real solution in sight?

K.C. Singh

Former Army Chief and now Union minister V.K. Singh's rash comment on the Line of Actual Control having often been breached by both India and China caused an uproar, with Beijing seizing on it as proof that India was the aggressor. But when news emerged of a likely coordinated de-escalation in Ladakh, after the nine-month standoff between Indian and Chinese forces, Gen. Singh's downgrading of the LAC acquired an intent. It was to ensure any withdrawal deal would not draw attention to Prime Minister Narendra Modi's assertion last year that no one had intruded into India.

Defence minister Rajnath Singh told Parliament on Thursday that a mutual and calibrated withdrawal of forces, north and south of Pangong Tso, was underway, but unwisely refused to share details, pleading their "sensitive and operational" nature. This naturally raised questions whether the likely buffer-zones ceded space historically and traditionally patrolled by Indian soldiers. Some speculated whether China had managed by subterfuge to push the LAC closer to its 1959 claim-line.

The defence ministry derided the next day "mis-informed and misleading comments". It reassured India's old claims, including the illegal occupation by China of 43,000 sq km in Aksai Chin, as shown in Indian maps. The LAC passes through Finger 8, north of Pangong. Mutual withdrawal will create a buffer-zone between Fingers 4 and 8. India will retain its Dhan Singh Thapa outpost near Finger 3, while Chinese troops shall stay beyond Finger 8.

The intrusions at Hot Springs, Gogra and Depsang Plains will be tackled after current withdrawals are completed. The 255-km Durbuk-Shyok-Daulat Beg Oldi road runs at places alongside the LAC, giving connectivity to the Karakoram Pass. At Depsang plains, the flat terrain allowed China to make deep intrusions, threatening the highway.

Multiple questions on about the timing and depth of the Chinese intrusions from April-May 2020, in the middle of a global pandemic it caused. Also, why the flexibility now after months of sabre-rattling. China may have had multiple motives for the sudden, heavily armed and wide-fronted intrusion, under the subterfuge of spring military exercises in Tibet. It had strongly objected in August 2019 to the unilateral revocation of Article 370, affecting the status of a "disputed territory", where China had a stake. In September, the "Howdy Modi" Houston rally with President Donald Trump signalled a growing India-US proximity. Meanwhile, US-China relations mired in trade sanctions. Then came Mr Trump's return visit to India in February 2020, in an US election year, indicating a deeper Trump-Modi connect. Meanwhile, the Covid-19 epidemic began swirling as Wuhan was locked down. In mid-March 2020 President Trump termed the new pandemic "China Virus". All these would have heightened Chinese paranoia. China also saw a chance for strategic gain by repositioning as the world was distracted by the pandemic.

Thus, China also began ratcheting up its aggressive behaviour towards US allies Australia and Japan, that along with the US and India are part of the "Quad". In May 2020, as the Ladakh LAC heated up, China hit Australian barley and beef exports. In August, Australian wine faced anti-dumping duties. By September, China fully suspended barley imports, ordering stricter controls on wheat. The next month, the squeeze was extended to Australian coal. Similarly, regarding Senkaku or Diaoyu Islands held by Japan, in the 17-month period from April 2019 to August 2020, Chinese vessels were inside contiguous zone 456 days out of 519, as against half that in the previous period. Chinese President Xi Jinping's Japan visit, due for early April 2020, was postponed, ostensibly due to the pandemic. In July, Japan's ruling party cancelled it over China's imposition of a new national security law on Hong Kong.

Initially surprised, the Indian Army quickly mirrored Chinese deployments, by inducting armour, drones, etc backed by air power and artillery. It upped the ante by seizing heights overlooking Spanggur Gap, south of Pangong, stymieing any Chinese thrust towards Chushul, besides dominating Chinese deployments in the sector. India, despite the financial cost, also dug in for the winter, demonstrating resolve. India also began raising the economic and reputational cost for China by banning several "apps" and tightening trade. China in May 2020 imposed draconian controls over Hong Kong, in breach of its international commitment to Britain. China also sharpened its tone on Taiwan, as the US began upgrading its Taiwan ties. The US-China verbal exchanges exacerbated as US presidential elections neared. After Mr Trump's defeat, outgoing secretary of state Mike Pompeo directly alleged genocide by China in Xinjiang against the Uighurs.

Having opened multiple flashpoints against its continental and maritime neighbours, China awaited the outcome of US presidential elections before reassessing tactics. The Biden administration's endorsement of the Trump approach to China, but with smarter tactics like outreach to key allies for building an "alliance of democracies", put China on notice. India's success in handling the Covid pandemic and its economy recovering rapidly also showed that the Chinese browbeating had faltered. China in any case had succeeded in underscoring Indian vulnerability to determined Chinese pressure at the LAC, especially with an irate Pakistan acting in tandem. India also needed to buy peace abroad, with farmers agitating at home and a Biden administration murmuring nervously about human rights and democracy breaches in India.

Will buffer zones be a precursor to a mutually acceptable delineation of the LAC or just a Band-Aid solution to a deeper problem of China seeking Asian hegemony and bipolarity with the US globally? Are there some unwritten understandings on India scaling back its border infrastructure upgrade, handling of the Dalai Lama, non-militarisation of the "Quad"? It is unlikely China will curb its South Asian ingress, using the Belt and Road projects. It is unimaginable that a nationalist Indian government will concede Chinese hegemony. Thus, the Ladakh de-escalation may just be both sides stepping back, having tested each other's "red lines", to try rebuilding trust and resume the usual path of cooperation, competition and calibrated friction.

FUEL PRICES

I am shocked at the cost of petrol and diesel (Assam cuts fuel prices by ₹5, duty on liquor by 25%, DC, Feb. 13). The government should focus on inflation and basic needs of the people instead of passing controversial laws. If they have some concern for the people they must immediately travel in their own vehicles without large convoys. The Government and Opposition must work on inflation to help common man.

T. Kailash Ditya

It is interesting to see election-bound Assam cutting fuel and liquor prices. Will other BJP-ruled states follow or wait for elections? The price would cross ₹100 by then. Is this not indirect bribery of voters? The government is only returning the money which they have collected and not doing any favour. BJP leaders who often talk of One Nation One Ration card, One Nation One Election should go for One Nation, One Fuel price.

WOMEN'S SAFETY

As a first step towards ensuring women's safety, the Mayor must ensure that all CCTV cameras are working and monitored 24/7. Secondly, all street lights must be replaced with LED bulbs. At many places trees are obstructing light rendering the area dark. Women will feel more safe if this is done.

APOLITICAL GOVERNOR

We are pleased with the Governor's positive remarks and appreciate them (Governors should be apolitical: Tamilisai, DC, Feb. 13). At the same time, most BJP Governors have behaved in a partisan way. They did not work as per the Constitution and took undue advantage of their position and played dirty politics during government formation.

UNEMPLOYED DOLE

It is amusing that the unemployed are given an allowance while the retirement age of government employees is raised (Unemployed to get ₹3,016 dole in next budget, DC, Feb. 13). The government's concern for the youth is fake. Payments to various sections is a bribe to get votes.

Trusty old allies
India, France can bond over big research

President Xi Jinping recently affirmed that "time and momentum are on China's side". The Great Helmsman believes in the "great rejuvenation of Chinese nation" led by the soon-100 years old Communist Party of China; he, however, cited challenges, adding: "The world is in a turbulent time that is unprecedented in the past century."

Only the future will ascertain if the "momentum" is indeed on China's side, but there is no doubt that the world is going through uncertain and difficult times. As this is bound to continue in 2021 and probably beyond, India has to find reliable and unwavering support abroad.

Addressing the World Economic Forum in Davos, Mr Xi recently asserted, somewhat ironically: "The misguided approach of antagonism and confrontation... will eventually hurt all countries' interests and undermine everyone's well-being."

For over 20 years, France and India have been practising cooperation. Recently, India had supported France when the country was attacked by Islamic fundamentalists: "India stands with Paris at this difficult moment and fully supports the French government on this issue," affirmed Mr Delhi.

Trust is the key in every relationship. When President Jacques Chirac came to India in 1998, he proposed a strategic partnership. Prime Minister Atal Behari Vajpayee readily agreed to give a concrete shape to one based on shared values.

The 1998 Indo-French partnership is deep for many reasons; one of them is a shared vision of the world. Further, France has never tried to bully India into accepting its views, while standing by India during the nuclear tests, in favour of a UN Security Council seat and on terrorism. This has not always been the case with other countries, including the United States.

The recently-concluded "Exercise Desert Knight-21" held in Jodhpur is another example of sharing. With 11 Rafale aircrafts having already joined that Indian Air Force (IAF), the collaboration has been a game changer for India in the confrontation with China in Ladakh.

Speaking in Jodhpur, Air Chief Marshal Rakesh Bhadauria said the first priority had been for the IAF to integrate the fighter planes in the existing fleet: "It has been done and the current exercise Desert Knight is the result of that." French Ambassador to India, Emmanuel Lenain, noting that the first French aircraft landed in India in 1953, observed "the partnership has persisted through good and bad times".

New Delhi and Paris also held their annual Strategic Dialogue on January 7. National security advisor Ajit Doval met his French counterpart Emmanuel Bonne, the French President's diplomatic advisor (known as the "Sherpa"). According to a South Block press release: "The two sides held discussions on... counter-terrorism, cybersecurity, defence cooperation, maritime security, regional and global issues, and cooperation in the Indo-Pacific region."

According to some sources, France agreed to an Indian request that defence technologies will not be shared with Pakistan. Further, Mr Bonne would have offered that 70 per cent of the assembly line for future Rafales could come under "Make in India" scheme, with technology transfer.

During the recent India-France-Japan Workshop on the Indo-Pacific held in Delhi, the foreign secretary said: "The Indo-Pacific has become an essential concept in international relations today." It is certainly a field where Paris and Delhi could collaborate, however a "turbulent-time" partnership means more than joining a new grouping or buying a few combat aircrafts. Of course, sharing advanced technology is difficult; years ago, Safran, the French company which has developed the engine for the Rafale, tried to work with DRDO on a new engine for the Tejas, nothing has materialised.

One still remembers how difficult has been the cooperation and transfer of technology under the "75 Project" for six Scorpene submarines. The fifth Scorpene, INS Vagir, built by the Mazagon Docks Limited (MDL) with technology transfer from France was launched in November 2020; MDL will manufacture a total of six submarines with technology assistance from the Naval Group under a US $3.75 billions deal signed in October 2005.

Concrete collaborations are, and will be, undoubtedly difficult, they will face obstacles, which in the end can only help deepen bilateral relations.

It is ironic that for years Paris believed in the depth of its relations with China, so much so that a P4 Lab was "offered" to China in Wuhan, with consequences that are suspicious today. The P4 lab episode is an example of what should never be done — work with untrustworthy partners.

What is required for France and India is to take their relations to the next level; for this, both nations need to work on a "big" research project.

I am thinking of an armed drone of the next generation; another field could be quantum communication, yet another could be a sixth-generation aircraft. In Jodhpur, the Air Chief said, "Our present vision is to incorporate all the latest technologies and sensors in our fifth-generation aircraft" and at a later stage work on a sixth-generation plane, a project in which both nations could collaborate.

For this, the thrust of the leaders of both countries is necessary — but can they find time to "dream" in these turbulent times?

FORMER PM OF GUINEA-BISSAU LEAVES COUNTRY

BISSAU, Feb. 13: Former Guinea-Bissau prime minister Aristide Gomes, who has been holed up in United Nations premises in the capital Bissau for 11 months, left the country on Friday.

Gomes, who left office in early 2020, boarded a special UN-chartered flight in the afternoon without making any comments.

The flight was headed for Dakar, the capital of neighbouring Senegal, according to an airport source.

Gomes, a leading member of the African Party for the Independence of Guinea and Cape Verde (PAIGC), took refuge in the local offices of the United Nations in March 2020 after President Umaro Sissoco Embalo took office following an election victory contested by PAIGC.

Citing fears for his safety, Gomes sought international help to allow him to leave the former Portuguese colony in West Africa. On Thursday the foreign ministry confirmed in a statement that an agreement had been reached to allow Gomes to go abroad for medical reasons. This came after the prosecutor general had given the green light for his departure, despite an investigation into embezzlement of public funds.

ECUADOR'S PREZ RUNNERS-UP SEEK RECOUNT

Quito, Feb. 13: The two runners-up in the first round of Ecuador's presidential election on Friday asked the country's electoral body for a vote recount to determine which one of them will contest a runoff. Environmental lawyer Yaku Perez and right-wing ex-banker Guillermo Lasso finished neck-and-neck in the race for second and third place in Sunday's vote.

Pre-election polls had placed Lasso comfortably in second place. First place went to young leftist economist Andres Arauz, but he did not earn enough votes to avoid a second-round runoff set for April 11.

"Our proposal is that this (electoral) process be suspended until a recount is given in the 24 provinces" of the country, Perez said at a meeting with Lasso at the headquarters of the National Electoral Council (CNE) in Quito.

CNE head Diana Atamaint, other council members and international election observers were present at the meeting. Perez, a prominent indigenous leader who claims there was wrongdoing in the first round, said a recount would offer a chance "to demonstrate to the country that there is no fraud, that the electoral process was transparent."

Hundreds of Ecuadorans rallied in support of their candidate Thursday. Perez, 51, an environmental lawyer, has been given 19.38 percent of the vote behind conservative Lasso, 65, who got 19.74 percent.

KILLING OF GIRL: BELGIAN COURT SENTENCES COP

Mons, Belgium, Feb. 13: A Belgian court on Friday gave a police officer a one-year suspended sentence over the fatal shooting of a two-year-old Kurdish girl during the chase of a van carrying migrants.

Victor-Manuel Jacinto Goncalves, 48, was found guilty of involuntary homicide after a trial in the southern city of Mons over the 2018 incident in which he opened fire at the vehicle. The high-profile tragedy caused a scandal in Belgium and, for rights activists, became a symbol of the dangers posed by the "criminalisation" of irregular migration.

The Iraqi Kurdish driver of the vehicle, on trial alongside the police officer, was jailed for four years. A third man accused of being the people smuggler was acquitted.

The lawyer representing Goncalves, Laurent Kennes, said the conviction was a "great disappointment" and that the legal team will consider appealing.

The toddler named Mawda was fatally wounded in May 2018 when she was shot in the head as police chased a van being driven across Belgium by traffickers taking migrants from the continent to Britain.

The officer — who initially faced up to five years in jail — insisted he intended to shoot out a tyre to halt the suspect vehicle, but his car swerved violently and the bullet went astray.

Prosecutors ended up demanding only a one-year suspended sentence.

Tensions running high in Myanmar

Street protests enter 2nd week with neither protesters nor military govt ready to back off

Yangon, Feb. 13: Mass street demonstrations in Myanmar entered their second week Saturday with neither protesters nor the military government they seek to unseat showing any signs of backing off from confrontations.

Protesters in Yangon, the country's biggest city, again congregated at Hleden intersection, a key crossroads from which groups fanned out to other points, including the embassies of the United States and China. They marched despite an order banning gatherings of five or more people. The US, especially after the announcement by President Joe Biden of sanctions against the military regime, is regarded as an ally in the protesters' struggle against the Feb. 1 coup.

China is detested as an ally of the ruling generals, whose support is crucial to them keeping their grip on power. Demonstrations also resumed in the second biggest city, Mandalay, with lawyers making up one large contingent. The military ousted the country's leader, Aung San Suu Kyi, and her government and prevented recently elected lawmakers from opening a new session of Parliament.

Suu Kyi and other senior members of her government and party remain in detention. The junta led by Senior Gen. Min Aung Hlaing said it was forced to act because Suu Kyi's government failed to properly investigate allegations of fraud in last year's election, which her National League for Democracy party won in a landslide.

The election commission there is no evidence to support the military's claims. Saturday's protests coincided with the birthday of Gen. Aung San, the country's independence leader and father of Suu Kyi. His name and image have appeared on signs carried by some demonstrators. Authorities have stepped up the arrests of politicians and activists, and in areas outside Yangon have become more aggressive in trying to break up protests.

According to the independent Assistance Association for Political Prisoners, at least 326 people have been detained since the coup, of which 303 remain in custody. There have been many reports over the past three nights of raids during a curfew in which security personnel have tried to seize people from their homes. In several cases, neighbours and others people have rushed to the scene in such numbers that security forces have abandoned their attempts to haul in their targets. Videos of such raids have been widely posted on social media.

3 killed in Mogadishu car bomb

Mogadishu, Feb. 13: Three people were killed and eight wounded after the Al-Shabaab Islamist group detonated a car bomb near a security checkpoint in the Somali capital Mogadishu Saturday, a security official and witnesses said.

"The police were chasing the hostile vehicle after spotting it a few kilometres away from where it exploded," the official, Abdurrahman Mohamed, informed.

"Three civilians died according to the information we have received so far and eight others are wounded," he said.

"The police opened fire on the vehicle and chased it and this allowed many people to flee. This has really limited the number of casualties the blast could have caused," Witnesses said they heard gunfire and saw vehicles including three-wheel tuk-tuks scatter before the heavy blast occurred on a key road near the presidential palace.

"I was at a gym close to where the blast occurred, but thanks to God we have heard the gunshots before the blast. And this alerted many people including myself and we fled from the area to take cover before the vehicle reached the area of the explosion," said one witness, Dahir Osman.

A police statement said there had been no deaths, only seven wounded in the blast which destroyed eight cars and nine tuk-tuks. However witnesses contradicted this, saying there were casualties.

"My uncle was among the dead, I went there to collect his body and I saw another civilian who died in the blast as well," said Suleiman Ali.

The Al-Qaeda linked Al-Shabaab claimed the attack through their Shahada News Agency, according to the US monitoring group SITE.

The Somali capital is regularly targeted with attacks by Al-Shabaab who have been waging a long and violent insurgency seeking to unseat the internationally backed government.

They were driven out of Mogadishu in 2011, but still control swathes of territory from where they plan and launch frequent, deadly strikes against government and civilian targets.

UN welcomes US revocation of Houthis as ultras

United Nations, Feb. 13: The United States announced Friday it is revoking the designation of Yemen's Houthi rebels as a terrorist group effective February 16, a reversal by the Biden administration welcomed by the United Nations and humanitarian groups who feared former president Donald Trump's actions would impede aid deliveries to the conflict-torn country facing the world's worst humanitarian crisis.

US Secretary of State Antony Blinken called President Joe Biden's decision to rescind the designation a recognition of the dire humanitarian situation in Yemen.

He said the new US administration listened to warnings from the United Nations, humanitarian groups, bipartisan members of Congress and others that the designations could have a devastating impact on Yemenis' access to basic commodities like food and fuel.

Yemen imports 90 per cent of its food, nearly all purchased through commercial channels, and UN humanitarian chief Mark Lowcock warned last month that US designation of the Houthis already had companies pulling back from dealing with the Yemenis and would likely lead to a large-scale famine on a scale that we have not seen for nearly 40 years.

Blinken's announcement followed a phone conversation Thursday with UN Secretary-General Antonio Guterres, where Yemen was one of the issues they discussed.

UN spokesman Stephane Dujarric on Friday called the US action extremely positive.

RAPE PLOT, CRIES FRENCH TV PRODUCER

Paris, Feb. 13: A prominent French television producer who is being investigated for child sexual assault said Saturday he was the victim of a plot by his nephew who had demanded money from him.

"I am not a predator!" Gerard Louvin told the newspaper Nice-Matin, in his first public comments on the affair — the latest sexual assault case to rock the intellectual elite in France.

French prosecutors said Tuesday they had opened an investigation into accusations of rape and complicity in raping minors by Louvin, who has produced some of the most popular shows on French television over the last decades, and his husband Daniel Moyné. The probe was opened in January after a complaint was filed by Louvin's nephew, named as Olivier A.

Indian-origin UN staffer in race for Secy-Gen post

United Nations, Feb. 13: A 34-year-old Indian-origin employee at the UN has announced that she is running to be its next Secretary General, throwing her hat in the ring against the world organisation's current chief Antonio Guterres, saying she refuses to be a bystander and it is now time for a new UN.

Arora Akanksha, whose work includes managing audits at the United Nations Development Programme (UNDP), said she will run for the post of the world's top diplomat.

People in my position aren't supposed to stand up to the ones in charge. We are supposed to wait our turn, hop on the hamster wheel, go to work, keep our heads down and accept that the world is the way it is, Akanksha said in a two-and-a-half minute campaign video posted online.

The #AroraForSG campaign video shows Akanksha walking inside the sprawling UN headquarters, as her voice over says that people who have come before her have failed to hold the UN accountable. For 75 years, the UN has not fulfilled its promise to the world — refugees haven't been protected, humanitarian aid has been minimal, and technology and innovation has been on the back-burner. We deserve a UN that leads progress," she said.

That is why I am running for the Secretary-General of the United Nations. I refuse to be a bystander. I will not accept this is the best the UN can do, she said in the video.

Akanksha posted another video on Twitter in which she thanked people for supporting her campaign. I am so humbled at the support I've received from everyone and thrilled that you're with me on this journey together. I know it's a David and Goliath story and I know we are the little guys here, but we have to remember, we the people, are more powerful than any system, she said, adding that once we realise that we can change the system, we can influence the system.

She urged people to vote on her website to send a message that they support change and support a new UN. Last month Guterres, 71 had confirmed that he will seek a second five-year term as chief of the world organisation.

Guterres's first term ends on December 31 this year and the term of the next Secretary-General will begin on January 1, 2022. Guterres assumed office on January 1, 2017 after a reformed selection process that included a public informal dialogue session.

Inmates must be allowed to have a spiritual adviser by their side as they are executed

Religion, death penalty collide at the US Supreme Court

Washington, Feb. 13: The Supreme Court is sending a message to states that want to continue to carry out the death penalty: Inmates must be allowed to have a spiritual adviser by their side as they are executed. The high court around midnight Thursday declined to let Alabama proceed with the lethal injection of Willie B. Smith III.

Smith had objected to Alabama's policy that his pastor would have had to observe his execution from an adjacent room rather than the death chamber itself. The order from the high court follows two years in which inmates saw some rare success in bringing challenges based on the issue of chaplains in the death chamber. This time, liberal and conservative members of the court normally in disagreement over death penalty issues found common ground not on the death penalty itself but on the issue of religious freedom and how the death penalty is carried out.

Justice Brett Kavanaugh, one of three justices who said they would have let Smith's execution go forward, said Alabama's policy applies equally to all inmates and serves a state interest in ensuring safety and security. But he said it was apparent that his colleagues who disagreed were providing a path for states to follow.

States that want to avoid months or years of litigation over the presence of spiritual advisers "should figure out a way to allow spiritual advisors into the execution room, as other States and the Federal Government have done," he wrote in a dissent joined by Chief Justice John Roberts. Justice Clarence Thomas also would have allowed the execution of Smith, who was sentenced to die for the 1991 murder of 22-year-old Sharma Ruth Johnson in Birmingham. Alabama had up until 2019 allowed a Christian prison chaplain employed by the state to be physically present in the execution chamber if requested by the inmate, but the state changed its policy in response to two earlier Supreme Court cases.

Robert Dunham, the executive director of the Death Penalty Information Center, says the court's order will most clearly affect states in the Deep South that have active execution chambers. Dunham said most state execution protocols, which set who is present in the death chamber, do not mention spiritual advisers. For most of the modern history of the US death penalty since the 1970s, spiritual advisers have not been present in execution chambers, he said. The federal government, which under President Donald Trump resumed federal executions following a 17-year hiatus and carried out 13 executions, allowed a spiritual adviser to be present in the death chamber. The Biden administration is still weighing how it will proceed in death penalty cases. The court's order in Smith's case contained only statements from Kavanaugh and Justice Elena Kagan.

"Willie Smith is sentenced to death, and his last wish is to have his pastor with him as he dies," Kagan wrote for herself and liberal justices Sonia Sotomayor and Stephen Breyer.

Rohit cracks whip with 161 to lift India against England

C. SANTHOSH KUMAR | DC CHENNAI, FEB. 13

As expected, the ball gripped, bounced and turned sharply. It was a tricky pitch to bat on, but an elegant Rohit Sharma made it look easy. The opener's classy 161, his seventh Test century, put India in the driver's seat against England in the second Test here at the M.A. Chidambaram Stadium on Saturday.

At stumps, India were 300 for six in 88 overs with Rishabh Pant (33 not out) and Axar Patel (5 not out) threatening to pile on runs.

Winning a crucial toss on a bunsen track, India suffered an early jolt when England pacer Olly Stone trapped Shubman Gill in the second over of the day. But Rohit, in the calm company of Cheteshwar Pujara, steadied the ship by stitching together a brisk partnership of 83 runs.

India, however, found themselves on the back-foot again shortly before lunch. Pujara's dismissal — after poking a shot away from his body off left-arm spinner Jack Leach — triggered a mini collapse. Virat Kohli's stay in the middle lasted just five balls. Off-spinner Moeen Ali knocked down the Indian skipper's off-stump to dismiss him for a duck. Kohli stood there in disbelief before trudging back to the pavilion. At this juncture, India were 86 for three.

Mumbaikars Rohit and Ajinkya Rahane forged a delightful stand for the fourth wicket (162 runs off 310 balls) to put an end to their lean patch. With Rahane (67 off 149) playing the perfect second fiddle, Rohit took the responsibility of unsettling the bowlers.

Rohit set the tone for the day by pulling Ben Stokes for back-to-back boundaries, including a six. Skipper Joe Root had to take Stokes off the attack and he never returned to bowl. Against spinners, Rohit used his feet effectively. His sweep shots were perfect examples of controlled aggression. It was a treat for the week-end crowd that walked through the turnstiles of a cricket ground in India for the first time since January 2020. Rohit took just 130 balls to complete his century, with a paddle shot towards fine leg.

Moeen, playing his first Test after an 18-month break, struggled to offer the same control that Leach provided from the other end. The productive sweep shot proved to be Rohit's undoing in the end as he holed out at deep square leg off Leach.

Rahane, too, followed suit. He was bowled while trying to sweep a full-length delivery shortly after England's appeal for a bat-pad catch was wrongly turned down by the third umpire.

NUMBERS GAME

ROHIT SHARMA'S FOURTH 150+ SCORE IN TESTS:

● Rohit Sharma became the 20th Indian batsman on 26 occasions to score 150 plus runs in an innings against England by making 161 off 231 balls with 17 fours and two sixes on the first day of the second Test match at Chennai on Saturday (February 13).

● It was Rohit Sharma's fourth 150 plus knock in 60 innings of 36 Test matches.

● After this innings, Rohit Sharma's Test average in India reached to 83.55. Among the 203 batsmen who have scored at least 1500 runs at home, Rohit Sharma reached that milestone today — only one batsman, Don Bradman, has a managed better.

● Sharma has seven hundreds in 23 innings in India, of which four have been 150-plus scores. Only once has he been dismissed for less than 150 after he has passed 100.

● Rohit Sharma made 19 hundreds in international cricket since the beginning of 2018, the most among all batsmen. Virat Kohli (18) and Joe Root (13) are next in the list. Rohit Sharma has struck four hundreds in Tests, 13 in one day internationals and two in Twenty-20 internationals; no other batsman has struck multiple hundreds in each format in this period.

● Rohit Sharma's 161 was seventh hundred in Tests at home for Sharma, without a single overseas century. Among all batsmen without an away hundred, only one — Mominul Haque — has more centuries at home (10). Only two other batsmen have scored their first away hundred after making more than seven centuries at home: Allan Lamb (nine) and Mahela Jayawardene (eight).

Robin Smith had seven centuries in England before scoring his first one away from home.

Centurion Rohit happy after fans return to stadium

DC CORRESPONDENT CHENNAI, FEB. 13

Rohit Sharma knew he had to be “proactive and not reactive” on a challenging Chepauk pitch that offered bounce and spun sharply. Calling his seventh Test century one of the most satisfying knocks, Rohit said it was the result of subtle adjustments he made in his game.

“When you play on turning pitches, you have got to be proactive. We wanted to make sure we used our feet more and swept the ball,” said Rohit.

“Getting on top of the bowler and making sure you are ahead of him is very crucial. The preparation helped. We knew how the pitch was prepared and that it would turn. We had a few good training sessions before the game and trained according to what we were going to expect in the middle,” he added.

Rohit said he had worked out plans for each bowler. “What helped me was the preparation I did before the game. Understanding the line that Moeen Ali was bowling. He was trying to bowl in the rough outside the off-stump. So there was very little chance of being out lbw when you are sweeping from outside off. With two fielders on the boundary line, even if I top-edged it, I knew it was going to land in a safe area. Against Leach, I wanted to make sure I played with an angled bat with the turn,” he explained.

Asked to rate Saturday's knock, Rohit said: “I am not going to rate any of my knocks because every knock comes with a different kind of pressure and this too came from different circumstances. I am not one to rate my knocks. A little disappointing to get out like that but I'm happy the team is in a good position.”

Thousands of fans cheered every run that came off his bat. Rohit said the return of spectators changed the atmosphere. “It was great to have them back. It's something that livens up the whole atmosphere. Without spectators, the intensity was a bit low in the first game. It's been a long time since fans enjoyed live action at the stadium. I am happy they witnessed some good cricket today. I am sure they're going to enjoy the rest of the days as well,” he said.

Rohit said a score of 350 would be a good first innings total. “It is going to start turning more as the days go by. We still have four wickets in hand and if Rishabh and Axar can get as many as possible tomorrow, it will help us.”
