CHINESE VILLAGES POP UP NEAR LAC IN ARUNACHAL

PAWAN BALI | DC NEW DELHI, DEC. 6

Continuing with its aggressive stand, the Chinese government has built new villages near the Line of Actual Control in Arunachal Pradesh this year, to beef up its defences and also to put pressure on India in the disputed area, the satellite images shared by independent OSINT indicate on Sunday.

This follows reports of the Chinese building a village within Bhutanese territory near the site of the Doklam standoff between India and China in 2017. Going by the satellite images, one of the villages constructed this year is a mere 5 km from the Bum-La pass at the LAC in Arunachal Pradesh.

Poonam commits financial irregularity worth ₹54 crore

N. VAMSI SRINIVAS | DC HYDERABAD, DEC. 6

Senior bureaucrat Poonam Malakondaiah has committed a financial irregularity to the tune of ₹54 crore in Andhra Pradesh. While the state government could recover ₹36 crore, its efforts to realise the remaining amount from a beneficiary contractor are yielding no result. Poonam is currently special chief secretary of the agriculture department.

She had transferred ₹54 crore to Powermech-BSCPL, a private consortium engaged in developing AP Medtech Zone (AMTZ) during her stint in the health department a few years ago.

“Transfer of amount was highly irregular and against the rules of the Central government. It tarnishes the image of the state government,” said K. Bhaskar, the commissioner of health and family welfare, in a communication to the government.

Bhaskar, who is also mission director, National Health Mission, shot off a letter to K.S. Jawahar Reddy, then Special CS, health, after noticing the irregularity committed by Poonam.

As per the guidelines of the NHM, funds should be used only for the activities approved under record of proceedings issued by the Centre, he said.

STATE HAS NO POWER OVER POLLS: DESAM

MOHD ILYAS | DC VIJAYAWADA, DEC. 6

Leader of Opposition in the AP Legislative Council Yanamala Ramakrishnu on Sunday accused the YSR Congress government of continuing its “archaic and anarchic” policies by passing a resolution in the Assembly insisting that the State Election Commission take its prior consent on holding elections. He claimed that asking the SEC to take consent of the government was yet another contempt of the court.

Ramakrishnu claimed that Article 243K had clearly laid down that all powers regarding the conduct of elections, supervision, regulation and direction shall be vested in the SEC. He further claimed that nowhere in the Constitution has it been written that the government should give consent or the SEC should take consent of the government for elections. He pointed out that once the election process started, the Assembly would have no role to play and the Governor also cannot issue an ordinance.

YSRC objects to SEC's letter to Gov on Assembly

DC CORRESPONDENT VIJAYAWADA, DEC. 6

Municipal administration minister Botsa Satyanarayana on Sunday said State Election Commissioner Nimmagadda Ramesh Kumar could not object to the Assembly passing a resolution on the postponement of local body elections till the threat of Covid-19's second wave subsides. He also said that the SEC has no right to comment on the Legislative Assembly's decision.

Addressing a press meet here on Sunday, Mr Satyanarayana objected to the SEC writing a letter to Governor Biswabhusan Harichandan questioning the resolution passed by the Assembly.

He said the SEC has no right to question the rights of legislators and the Legislative Assembly. The minister said the responsibility to protect the health of people is on the shoulders of the government, and therefore it has decided not to conduct local body polls until the threat of the second wave of Covid-19 subsides.

Satyanarayana accused the SEC of parroting the words and statements of the Leader of Opposition and Telugu Desam chief N. Chandrababu Naidu.

He questioned why the SEC did not release the letter addressed to the Governor when he officially wrote it objecting to the Assembly resolution.

Due to the second wave of Covid-19 cases, the minister said the legislators using their privileges passed a resolution in the Assembly stating the conduct of local body elections is not feasible under the current situation. The SEC, therefore, the minister argued, cannot be questioned. He also recalled that Prime Minister Narendra Modi has recently cautioned all states to be vigilant.

He said the local body elections were supposed to be held in 2018 during the Telugu Desam government but SEC Ramesh Kumar did not take any measures to conduct elections. “Later, when the YSRC government prepared everything to conduct elections in March this year, Ramesh Kumar postponed them without any reason.”

DC CORRESPONDENT with agency inputs NEW DELHI, DEC. 6

The Opposition parties, led by the Congress, five Left parties, NCP and DMK, on Sunday supported the December 8 “Bharat Bandh” call given by the farmers’ unions demanding a repeal of the three agriculture-related laws passed recently by the government. The AAP, Trinamul Congress, RJD, TRS and several other regional parties have also supported the strike call.

“We the undersigned leaders of political parties extend our solidarity with the ongoing massive struggle by the Indian farmers organised by various kisan organisations from across the country and extend our support to their call for a Bharat Bandh on December 8 demanding the withdrawal of these retrograde agri-laws and the Electricity Amendment Bill,” the parties said in a joint statement.

The statement further said the new agri-laws were passed in Parliament in a “brazen anti-democratic manner preventing a structured discussion and

10,000 new bicycles turn garbage

HOSKOTE NAGABHUSHAN | DC ANANTAPUR, DEC. 6

At least 10,000 bicycles and a large number of tractors, including loaders hydraulic and garbage collection autos and several implements, were left unused and idle in the district since January 2019.

The bicycles were dumped at Mandal Parishad Development Officer's offices in various mandals, while the garbage related vehicles and implements were kept behind the Pennar Bhavan in Anantapur.

The bicycles were purchased under the Adarana Scheme during the Telugu Desam regime. They, however, were not distributed because of the implementation of the Model Code of Conduct for General Assembly elections in the state.

Sources said each bicycle was bought by the government for ₹4,000 and sent to MPDO offices for the distribution. The bicycles were supposed to be distributed to the beneficiaries under the Adarana scheme a few days before the general election. However, after the elections, the YSRC government discontinued the TD regime's scheme.

With the government showing no interest in putting these bicycles to use, they were dumped in MPDO office premises and were lying there for about two years. Most of them have rusted. These bicycles have large carriers on their back, which could help petty businessmen.

Suresh, the convener of Praja Science Vedikar, observed that the bicycles could be distributed for people instead of leaving them to rust. Sources said the bicycles had no symbols of the TD and so they can be given to new beneficiaries.

Similarly, garbage collection vehicles were reportedly kept idle behind Pennar Bhavan. There are 63 tractors, 63 sewage/garbage collection vehicles worth ₹12 crore unused. Analysts say these could have been distributed to new beneficiaries or gram panchayats.

FUNDS TRANSFER
OF AMTZ MD

The private consortium, however, is not assigned any activities under NHM and there is no relation between it and NHM, he pointed out.

Deccan Chronicle had earlier reported about the missing of ₹18 crore from the NHM kitty and about the audit firm raising serious objections over the non-receipt of the amount. It also highlighted that ₹54 crore was released to the contractor twice within two days based on the same invoice, which again is a serious lapse on the part of Poonam.

Documentary evidence available with this newspaper establishes that she had released the amount to the contractor at the behest of Dr Jitender Sharma, the tainted managing director of AMTZ (Proceeding No. 03/AMTZ/2014 dated November 19, 2018). The company, however, did not repay the amount till date.

The state vigilance and enforcement department has already submitted a preliminary investigation report on AMTZ in which it pointed out financial and administrative lapses committed by Poonam and Dr Sharma.

In another case, former chief secretary L.V. Subrahmanyam sought Chief Minister Y.S. Jagan Mohan Reddy's permission to register a case by the Criminal Investigation Department to investigate administrative and procedural lapses in health department projects that resulted in huge financial loss to the exchequer. "Poonam was special CS, health at the time the lapses took place," he pointed out.

FAKE MAOISTS

EXTORTIONDC CORRESPONDENT
VISAKHAPATNAM, DEC. 6

The Srikakulam police nabbed two persons for allegedly posing as Maoists and indulging in extortion in Veeraghattam mandal in the district.

As per the reports, two youngsters tried to extort money from a trader, posing as members of the banned outfit. The duo also allegedly threatened the trader with weapons including a country made firearm for money.

When the trader raised the alarm, the neighbours rushed to the spot and nabbed the duo when they tried to escape from the spot. The duo was handed over to the police.

Srikakulam superintendent of police Amit Bardar said that they nabbed two persons on the charges of extortion. However, he ruled out the Maoists' connection in the case and said that they are verifying with other sources. He said that they will disclose more details only after further interrogation into the case.

The locals said that some youngsters are indulging in extortion for easy money to meet their vices.

VIJAYAWADA, DEC. 6

The cooperative milk dairies objecting the AP government promotion of Amul. The Milk Producers Sangam dairy chairman and former MLA of Telugu Desam, Dhulipalla Narendra, objecting to the promotion of Amul by YSR Congress government said it was surprising that the government was working for Gujarat companies. He said that AP government-Amul project would destroy the entire cooperative milk dairies in the State.

Mr Narendra alleged that the Amul would not spend ₹3,000 crore on infrastructure but the government is spending which is severely objectionable.

He questioned why Amul became a brand ambassador instead of Vijaya Dairy which is operated by farmers of AP State. Alleging that Chief Minister Y.S. Jagan Mohan Reddy is working for the Gujarat companies like Amul, he expressed suspicion that Jagan is Chief Minister of AP or the CM of Gujarat. He said that Amul is paying very less prices to milk in AP compared to the payments in Gujarat State.

Mr Narendra sought that Amul should come on its own irrespective of the government. Mentioning about the government dictum to milk farmers to sell their milk to Amul, he said that it is not right for the government.

Hopes plenty on new law to curb online gambling

Police initiated strict measures against the cultural clubs in the state

MD ILYAS | DC
VIJAYAWADA, DEC. 6

The passing of the AP Gaming (Amendment) Bill 2020 is giving a ray of hope to restrain online gambling in the state.

The Andhra Pradesh Gaming Act of 1974 imposes many restrictions on gambling and, in most cases, prohibits the use of land-based premises for gambling with the aim of making any profits or gains but does not cover online gaming comprehensively.

The online gambling had become an addiction in a bid to earn easy money but in most cases players end up losing. Various sections of society including social activists and politicians are welcoming the ban of online gambling and are seeking strict implementation of the new law.

The physical card games for skill and gain were popular in the state like the Teen Patti but is illegal in the state. Each year, cockfights are also conducted all over the state during the three-day Sankranti festival in January. During the festivity, card game lovers indulge in Teen Patti and rummy unofficially.

riages and even deaths to pass time waiting for the completion of the rituals. Private clubs which operate in the name of cultural and recreation clubs are famous for organising card games in Guntur, Vijayawada, Narasaraopeta, Ongole, Nellore, Eluru, Kakinada, Rajamahendravaram and so on.

Police initiated strict measures against the cultural clubs for the past few years which limited card game activities as only a few clubs operate card games on the sly to its members and sometimes they give chance for guests to play after taking guest charges. With gambling applications on mobiles everyone got a chance to play cards and other gambling games without fear of police of anyone knowing.

Soon online card games and gambling turned fatal and traps which resulted in suicides by losing players. For instance, a naval dockyard employee M. Satish, 33, ended his life by suicide unable to pay ₹15 lakh he borrowed to play online rummy. Police found that ₹30,000 of his salary of ₹35,000 was being paid for interest. His parents had to mortgage their house and cleared ₹8 lakh but unable to clear remaining debts and continuous losses, he ended his life.

Minister Muttamsetti (Avanthi) Srinivas, AP BJP vice-president S. Vishnuvardhan Reddy, CPI state secretary K. Ramakrishna, several legislators and other leaders raised their voice seeking a ban of online rummy in view of several incidents of addiction and suicides. Further, Chief Minister Y.S. Jagan Mohan Reddy had announced bringing in a new legislation to ban online rummy and the new Bill passed on December 1.

Welcoming the ban, social activist P. Chandra said that online rummy and other gambling activities are destroying the lives of people. He said that the government which is implementing phase-wise liquor ban should initiate measures in true spirit to implement the new law to restrain online gambling activities.

Telugu Desam MLA Anagani Satyaprasad welcomed the new law to contain online gambling. He lamented that there are

ABSENCE OF ENTERTAINMENT DURING

VIJAYAWADA, DEC. 6

The Covid-19 lockdown came in handy for card game lovers who switched over to digital platforms offering games. The absence of other entertainment during the lockdown provided a lot of time for gambling lovers to play online.

Online gambling activity also increased in AP due to virtual activity due to ban on online rummy in Telangana state. Sources said that online rummy lovers belonging to TS had adopted virtual methods through hosts in other states where there is no ban on online rummy. For instance, if a person living in TS wants to play online rummy but as the ban would not allow him there, he would depute a person

Home minister Mekathoti Sucharitha said that stringent action and increased penalty and

Sources said that the host will play amidst supervision of main players through live video telecast with the help of various live video applications.

Further, as the CCTV camera is linked to the main player's mobile phone or computer through online, he would watch the host through live video and give suggestions about the moves to the host. There is no legality to this method and only mutual trust between the main player and host will help one play online rummy virtually. The fresh passing of new law is going to curb this virtual online rummy in the state.

imprisonment for online and offline gambling have been included in amendment to the Gaming Act. Affirming strict implementation of the new law she said that a toll-free number would be started to receive complaints about gambling.

ELURU, DEC. 6

A 45-year-old man on Sunday succumbed to an undiagnosed illness which exhibited the symptoms of viral encephalitis, at Government Hospital, Eluru, even as over 290 people were reportedly being treated for similar symptoms in the city.

According to doctors, patients being treated for the disease are from all age groups, including diabetics. "They are having symptoms of viral encephalitis. Some of the patients have even been discharged from the hospital after they recovered within two to three hours of treatment," the doctors said.

The symptoms exhibited by patients include unconsciousness, fits with froth, nervous weakness, severe headache, loss of memory and snoring.

Viral encephalitis is an inflammation of the brain caused by a group of viruses called enteroviruses. Once inside the blood, the viruses migrate to the brain where they start to multiply. The body notices the invasion and mounts an immune system response. This causes the brain to swell, causing permanent brain damage.

However, it is not yet confirmed that the illness affecting patients in Eluru is viral encephalitis.

Chief Minister Y. S. Jagan Mohan Reddy will be visiting Eluru on Monday to review the situation personally. Deputy chief minister Alla Kalikrishna Srinivas, meanwhile, visited wards of various hospitals in the district.

Officials have taken 25 samples from patients and sent them to various laboratories to diagnose the disease. Results of blood and urine samples have shown no virus. They are, however, waiting for results of other samples.

West Godavari district collector Revu Muthyala Raju said a team consisting of six medical experts arrived in Eluru for examining the patients from All Indian Institute of Medical and Sciences, and a team of etiologists headed by the state health director has also come to take stock of the situation.

He said two teams from the Indian Institute of Nutrition and the Indian Institute of Chemical Technology would arrive in Eluru on Monday and samples taken from vomiting were sent to the Centre for Cellular and Molecular Biology.

The collector said the disease could be identified within 48 hours. He, meanwhile, instructed officials to do a house-to-house survey and shift any person showing such symptoms to hospitals through ambulances.

Many of the cases reported are from Dakshina Veedhi, Padamata Veedhi, Ashoknagar, Chodidibba, Kothapeta, Sanivarapupeta and Arundhathi Peta. People with diseases belong to all classes and areas, including well-to-do and slum areas. The first victim of this disease was identified as Sridhar, a resident of Vidyannagar in Eluru.

Though the hospital had handed over the body to relatives to take it home, police and medical personnel went back to the victim's house to take back the body for a post-mortem examination. The relatives, however, refused to hand over the body, resulting in heated arguments between the relatives and the police.

According to sources, a woman, who had gone to a vegetable market to buy vegetables, had suddenly collapsed. Local traders admitted her to the hospital. She was later identified as Paleti Radha of Southern Street in Eluru. An attendant of another patient, V. Rupa said she had collapsed while speaking to her neighbour. Froth started coming out of Rupa's mouth, and she was immediately admitted to the hospital.

The attendant of another patient, Ramana, said his father suddenly collapsed while he was getting ready to leave for his work. However, after being treated at the hospital, he recuperated, but he is unaware of what happened.

KGGH gets ready for surgeries, post-Covid-19DC CORRESPONDENT
KURNOOL, DEC. 6

Kurnool General Hospital gets ready to start super speciality cardio care surgeries as Covid-19 has receded. Last nine months, there was not even a single surgery done here.

Professor Prabhakar Reddy said there is a rising number of people dying at home due to lack of adequate medical care since all hospitals focussed on Covid-19.

A lot of people are delaying the visit to the emergency department of the hospital due to fear of Covid-19.

KGGH Superintendent said repairs are carried on in operation theatres and they will be ready by next week.

Prof Reddy, who is a cardiothoracic surgeon, said on an average he was performing 40 surgeries per month at Kurnool Government General Hospital.

Sounding a caution, Prof Reddy said, “Patients who have multiple comorbidities such as diabetes, hypertension, coronary artery disease, kidney disease and heart failure are at a very high risk of developing complications of Covid infection. They should not avoid consulting their doctors, as many are also doing the online consultations.”

Prof Prabhakar Reddy who also served as state

Covid-19 Nodal officer, said all patients of heart attack should receive the recommend primary percutaneous coronary interventions or timely thrombolysis for patients presenting with Myocardial infarction even during the pandemic.

Many patients are also coming late for the treatment much beyond the initial golden one hour, some times even after a few days of suffering from an acute event.

This is not only increasing the mortality in these patients but also there are more complications which can be hazardous to them later on, he said as a matter of concern for the cardiac patients.

KURNOOL, DEC. 6

Director of Medical Education is probing allegations of fraud and misappropriation of funds at Kurnool Government General Hospital during the term of cardiology professor Chandrasekhar. A one-person inquiry commission was ordered with Kakinada Medical College principal Babji.

Meanwhile, Prof Jikki assumed charge as principal of Kurnool Medical College while Chandrasekhar was asked to report at Cardiology Department of the Hospital.

When contacted, Mr Babji said he had conducted the inquiry, and a report was submitted to Director of Medical Education.

The then Joint collector Prasanna Venkatesh had conducted a thorough inquiry in 2018 following a series of news reports in Deccan Chronicle and interviewed 1,500 patients and submitted a report to the government.

Kurnool MLA S.V. Mohan Reddy raised this issue in Assembly, but further action was suppressed due to political pressure.

It is alleged that Prof Chandrasekhar registered Kurnool Heart Foundation, and occupied four R&B quarters, and constructed the building by diverting SC Corporation funds. He had not handed over to the government and continues to have occupied without any proper orders.

It is also alleged that he was not paying even the rent for the buildings so occupied. Under demand from the government, it is said he had paid ₹6,000 for six years and later stopped.

Though R&B engineer-in-chief ordered to take back and occupy the building, SE R&B want to occupy the building, but the district collector had not cooperated because of political pressure at that time. The handover and locking building halted at the final stage for want of panchanama, it is learnt.

He had set up a cath lab with ₹3 crore in 2008 but allegedly the facility was not utilised properly.

A source in the Kurnool Government General Hospital said vigilance inquiry was conducted on Prof Chandrasekhar but surprisingly nothing was found as a result.

demand for hike
in incentivesDC CORRESPONDENT
ANANTAPUR, DEC. 6

Silk reelers from the state are demanding increase in incentives due to poor trading for the past few months following the Covid-19 pandemic. Andhra Pradesh is the second largest raw silk producer in the country next only to Karnataka. In view of potentiality of the sector to develop the farming community to up-lift rural economy, the AP government is assisting the farmers and entrepreneurs to take up sericulture activities.

It also has heritage of traditional silk weaving pockets like Dharmavaram, Venkatagiri and also Uppada of East Godavari district is the latest silk weaving pocket developed by the Sericulture Department in the recent years. Silk saris and fabrics produced in the state are famous throughout the country along with a thriving export market to other counties.

The reeling sector is widely spread in Hindupur competing with nearby Karnataka reelers. Tens of hundreds of charakh are existed in Hindupur town alone and a big number of families dependent on the

to seek govt's nod

Ramakrishnu accused the YSRC of becoming a “hydra-headed” party that was destroying the state with its eccentric and bizarre policies. He claimed that the Supreme Court had ordered the SEC to conduct the elections in consultation with the government but it did not talk about taking the consent of the government. Now that the election process has already begun, Ramakrishnu said it is the sole responsibility of the SEC to conduct the elections.

The TD leader asserted that the state government had no right to interfere with the SEC's duties in the middle of the election process. He opined that it was wrong to start litigation on the powers of the SEC on the pretext that there were problems in the consultation process with the government as no institution should be seen as a competitor with another institution in a democracy. He said that the SEC should not be brought in conflict with the legislature.

The minister alleged that Ramesh Kumar and Naidu are now trying to put the lives of the people at risk by conducting elections. However, the government, he said, has the responsibility to save people's lives and therefore has refused to conduct the local body elections.

Satyanarayana alleged that Naidu destroyed cooperative dairies to promote his firm Heritage during the TD government and now he is opposing the benefit that milk farmers are getting under the AP government-Amul project. He also said that the government is taking all measures to contain mass illness at Eluru and said that an investigation had been started to find out the cause.

BODY CAMERAS
ON AURANGABAD
CONDUCTORS

Aurangabad, Dec. 6: Bus conductors and ticket inspectors in Maharashtra's Aurangabad city will soon be equipped with body cameras to keep a tab on the behaviour of passengers and other activities during transportation, an official has said.

A few days back, some women conductors of the civic-run buses complained of misbehaviour with them during their duty hours. "Acting on it, the Aurangabad Smart City Development Corporation has decided to install body cameras in the front pockets of shirts of the conductors and inspectors of its buses to record the activities in the vehicles during their duty," the ASCDCL official said in a statement on Saturday.

The cameras will help in the real-time examination of tickets and to keep an eye on other activities in the buses, he said. The ASCDCL administration has also deployed former defence servicemen as line inspectors, who will check tickets of passengers and their behaviour, the official said. They will also ensure security of passengers and give the feedback of commuters to authorities, he added.

The ASCDCL has a fleet of 100 buses, out of which 29 are currently being run on 12 routes in the city, ferrying around 5,000 passengers in a day, another official said. The Maharashtra State Road Transport Corporation's employees have been hired as drivers and conductors of these buses, he said. During the lockdown period, these civic-run buses were used to ferry Covid-19 patients. Last month, the ASCDCL resumed its bus services for normal passengers, the official added.

The ASCDCL has been formed by the Aurangabad Municipal Corporation to implement smart city projects. Aurangabad Municipal Commissioner Astik Kumar Pandey heads the ASCDCL.

Pawar warns of escalation if farmers' demands not met

NCP chief to brief Prez, feels Centre not keen to touch basic issues

SONU SHRIVASTAVA | DC
MUMBAI, DEC. 6

NCP chief Sharad Pawar on Sunday warned the Central government that the farmers' agitation will further escalate if their concerns are not addressed soon.

The NCP chief is also scheduled to meet President Ram Nath Kovind on December 9 at 5pm over the ongoing farmers' protest against the new farm laws. Mr. Pawar will be accompanied by CPM leader Sitaram Yechury, CPI leader D Raja and DMK MP T.R. Baalu. Responding to Mr Pawar, BJP leader Chandrakant Patil said that the farm bills will not be withdrawn, though the government may agree on a few changes.

Mr. Pawar said that if the Central government does not take serious notice of the ongoing protest, then this would not be limited to Delhi but people from every corner of the country would stand up in support of the farmers and resolve the problem in their own way.

Speaking with reporters on Sunday, the former union agricultural minister said that the contribution of farmers of Punjab and Haryana are in the agriculture sector is the highest in the country.

"Farmers from these states not just fill our stomach but are also major contributors to India's supply of food grains, especially rice and wheat, to more than a dozen countries. Therefore, when the farmers of Punjab and Haryana hit the road, the central government should have taken serious note of it. But unfortunately the central government is not paying attention to it."

Mr. Pawar said that it seems that the central government does not want to touch the basic issues.

"When the farm bills were being passed, we'd requested the government that they shouldn't be passed in a hurry. They should be sent to a Select Committee and a discussion is required, but that didn't happen and the Bill was passed in haste. Now the government is facing problems because of that haste," former union agriculture minister said.

However, Mr Patil, the Maharashtra BJP president, said that the central government is holding a discussion with the farmers every day. The government has admitted to bring MSP on the paper. "The government is committed to MSP. Now what is the issue?," he asked.

Mr Patil also said that the opposition had created rumors that new farm bills would wipe out the MSP. "The government will not scrap these new farm laws," he added.

Maharashtra NCP unit president Jayant Patil said in a statement that the party workers will join Tuesday's nation-wide shutdown in protest against passing of the agri laws by Parliament without holding discussions. "The ongoing talks between farmers and the Centre have failed due to which farmers' organisations have given a call for a Bharat bandh on December 8. The Maharashtra NCP will support the bandh," the NCP leader said.

Health ministry: Not aware where Covid-19 vaccine records are keptIndia cases lowest in 138 days
as Pfizer seeks vaccine nodSANJAY KAW | DC
NEW DELHI, DEC. 6

India's total Covid-19 active caseload dropped to 4,03,248 — the lowest in 138 days — as 36,011 fresh Coronavirus infections were recorded against 41,970 recoveries in the last 24 hours.

After getting the nod for emergency use in the UK and Bahrain, Pfizer Inc. has become the first pharmaceutical company to seek from the Drugs Controller General of India (DCGI) an emergency use authorisation for its vaccine in India.

This is the first such request received by the DCGI amid the race to find a potential vaccine for the deadly virus.

In its application submitted to the drug regulator, Pfizer has sought permission to import the vaccine for sale and distribution in India, besides waiver of clinical trials on Indian population in accordance with the special provisions under the

New Drugs and Clinical Trials Rules, 2019. While five other vaccines are currently in advanced phases of clinical trials in India, Pfizer is getting ready for emergency roll-outs and is now in the final stages of planning before it starts its vaccination drive on December 14 in the UK.

The Pfizer vaccine's one major drawback is that it has to be stored at -70° Celsius, a temperature which most Indian cold storages cannot reach.

ally paid to them. The National Expert Group on Vaccine Administration for Covid-19 (NEGVAC) was constituted under the chairmanship of Member (Health) of Niti Aayog V. K. Paul on August 7 to prepare a strategy for the roll-out of Covid-19 vaccine.

The information on these points was not provided by the Central Public Information Officer (CPIO), saying the details of meeting, agenda and material circulated during the meetings do not come under the definition of "information" which can be shared under the Right to Information (RTI) Act.

Not first time
China built
LAC villages

He said that these villages had been built in order to strengthen the weakening border forces by balancing the outflow of residents. He said that the relocation move also promises to offer China better border surveillance and patrols through a network of herders. All these new villages are within Chinese territory.

This development is significant as the villages have come up at a time when India and China are involved in a major military standoff in eastern Ladakh. These villages will also help China to solidify its claim over these disputed areas.

However, this is not for the first time that China has built villages near the LAC. China had been building villages along the LAC for some time now. Even in 2019, there were reports of the Chinese building around 20-25 "model" villages at several points near the LAC. These villages had well connected roads and boasted of community halls, shops and playing areas. The Indian Army had been keeping a close watch on these villages.

Last month there were reports that China had established a village "Pangda" 2 km within Bhutan's territory near Doklam as part of its "salami slicing" strategy, by taking over territory in a gradual manner.

There is now a virtual deadlock between India and China over the move to disengage from the seven-month military standoff in eastern Ladakh. There has been no progress on the disengagement proposals which were discussed at the eighth round of the corps commanders' meeting. There has also been no discussion on the next date for the corps commanders of India and China to meet again.

The Indian Army has completed the establishment of its winter habitat facilities for all troops deployed in eastern Ladakh. The winter deployment in Ladakh is particularly difficult due to the tough terrain, low temperatures and bone-chilling winds that make survival extremely difficult. India has deployed around 50,000 troops in the area to tackle any threat that may emerge from the Chinese Army.

Nadda: All parties are family-centric except the BJP

Dehradun, Dec. 6: Describing rival political parties as family-centric, BJP president J. P. Nadda on Sunday said the BJP is the only ideology-based party where the whole organisation is "one big family".

Nadda was addressing a booth committee of the Pradesh BJP on the third day of his four-day tour of Uttarakhand to galvanise the party's organisational structure.

"All other political parties have become confined to families, whereas ours is a party which in itself is one big family," he said. "We are an ideology-based party that does not discriminate between classes, castes and religions," Nadda said.

Underlining the key role of the cadre in the party, he said even a booth level worker can be seen rising to eminent positions only in the BJP. "Our cadre base is our speciality and it is built through booth committees," Nadda said at the meeting where he shared the dais with Pradesh BJP president Bansidhar Bhagat, district president Sita Ram Bhatt, Mandal president Vijendra Thapliyal and booth president Sonia Verma.

Presided by Verma, the meeting was termed as "historic" by the party. It is for the first time in the country's political history that the national president of a party shared the dais with the presidents of mandal and booth committees — two primary units of the party, Pradesh BJP vice president Devendra Bhasin said.

Pressure on Shivraj

CHOUDHURY | DC
BHOPAL, DEC. 6

Pressure is mounting on Madhya Pradesh Chief Minister Shivraj Singh Chouhan from a strong section of the ruling BJP here to expand his Cabinet to accommodate two loyalists of senior party leader Jyotiraditya Scindia in his ministry.

Two former ministers, Govind Singh Rajput and Tulsi Silawat, had resigned from the Chouhan ministry ahead of the November 3 Assembly bypolls in the state when their six-month-tenure as non-MLA ministers came to an end on October 27.

The two former ministers, close lieutenants of Mr Scindia, staked claim for reinduction in the Cabinet after they won the November 3 bypolls.

Mr Scindia has already held discussions with the chief minister on this as well as on accommodating two other former ministers, Imarti Devi and Giriraj Dandotia, who lost the byelections, heads of some corporations, BJP sources said.

"Mr Scindia discussed the issue with Mr Chouhan during his Bhopal visit last week. He is scheduled to arrive here on December 11 and may take it up with the party leadership here," sources close to Mr Scindia said.

Pressure is also mounting from other senior MLAs and former ministers seen as close to Mr Chouhan to induct them in the Cabinet.

REAL | LIFE Child found badly bruised with bite marks in September last year, director says mother unstable

Biological mom seeks toddler in custody of film maker

Mumbai, Dec. 6: A Bollywood film maker who is the foster father of a two-year-old and the toddler's biological mother feature in a custody row, while a man has surfaced claiming to be the boy's father, an official said on Sunday.

The toddler was found at Borivli in September last year badly bruised and having bite marks with the woman who claimed he had slipped out of her hands and hurt himself, an official of the Women and Child Development department said.

While the woman, who had reached Mumbai from Uttar Pradesh leaving behind a daily wage labourer husband and a 12-year-old son, was referred to a local NGO for mental illness treatment, the infant was taken by the Child Welfare Committee under its care, the official said.

After living in two foster care homes, the toddler was shifted to the Bollywood directors home in May this year as the previous family said the Coronavirus-induced lockdown had made it difficult to look after him, the official said.

At a recent meeting of the Child Welfare Committee in Mumbai, the Bollywood director said he should be allowed to keep the toddler longer, as the mother was not mentally fit.

However, the 30-year-old mother said she was medically fit to look after her son now. The Committee sought a fresh medical fitness certificate for the mother from a government hospital and a decision on with whom to keep the toddler is expected in a few days, the official said.

Meanwhile, a person claiming to be the toddler's biological father has approached the authorities, the official said, adding they will match his DNA report. A DNA test last month confirmed the woman is the toddler's biological mother.

The toddler may be placed with the Children's Aid Society at Mankhurd here as per provisions of the Juvenile Justice Act, before the issue is resolved, the official said.

As per the Centre's model guidelines for foster care, a foster family can adopt a child after five years of care, if the child has no biological family claiming her.

"We have been informed that the director, who is married and has a son, is not looking to adopt the toddler," the official said. However, seeing the mother's condition, he became apprehensive and requested that the child be in foster care for a little longer till she is fine, the official added.

The NGO founder has informed the Committee that the woman may develop "severe reactive depression" if kept away from her son for long, the official said.

● THE 30-YEAR-OLD mother said she was medically fit to look after her son now. The Committee sought a fresh medical fitness certificate for the mother from a government hospital and a decision on with whom to keep the toddler is expected in a few days, the official said.

SAUDI PRINCE

BAHRAIN MEET

Dubai, Dec. 6: A prominent Saudi prince harshly criticised Israel on Sunday at a Bahrain security summit that was remotely attended by Israel's foreign minister.

Prince Turki al-Faisal, who led Saudi intelligence for more than two decades and served as ambassador to the US and Britain, warned that any normalisation deals needed to help the Palestinians obtain their own independent state. He described Israel as a "Western colonising" power. He said Israel has "incarcerated (Palestinians) in concentration camps under the flimsiest of security accusations."

RETURN BUDDHA
STATUE: DUTCH
COLLECTOR TOLD

Beijing, Dec. 6: A Chinese court has ordered a Dutch art collector to hand over a Buddha statue in the latest twist in a 3-year-old legal battle with villagers who say it was stolen from a temple.

Residents of Yangchun, a village in the southeastern province of Fujian, say the statue is a 1,000-year-old relic that holds the mummified remains of a monk and disappeared in 1995. The collector says he bought the object in Hong Kong in 1996 but denied it was the stolen statue.

The ruling Communist Party is stepping up efforts to retrieve Chinese art and artifacts that are believed to be stolen and in foreign hands. The Sanming Intermediate People's Court on Friday ordered the collector, Oscar van Overeem, to return the statue within 30 days, the official Xinhua News Agency reported.

Two committees representing villagers sued in a Dutch court in 2017, but judges ruled the following year they didn't count as legal entities that could make a claim.

OLI SKIPS
CRUCIAL RULING
PARTY MEETING

Kathmandu, Dec. 6: Nepalese Prime Minister K P Sharma Oli, one of the chairmen of the Communist Party of Nepal (NCP), on Sunday skipped a crucial meeting of the party's 45-member strong Standing Committee, amid growing internal rift.

In a letter sent to the party's Standing Committee, Oli said that he was unable to attend the meeting, NCP spokesperson Narayan Kaji Shrestha said. Shrestha said that the next Standing Committee meeting has been scheduled for December 13.

The rift surfaced after the dissident group leaders, including the party's executive chairman Pushpa Kamal Dahal 'Prachanda' and senior leader Madhav Kumar Nepal, demanded Oli's resignation from both as the party's chairman and as Nepal's PM after he accused them of conspiring to topple his government. In apolitical document presented on November 13 at the party's Secretariat meeting, Prachanda criticised Oli for failing to properly run both the government and the party.

PROTESTS
RESIDENCE

Jerusalem, Dec. 6: Several thousand protesters in Jerusalem gathered Saturday outside the official residence of Prime Minister Benjamin Netanyahu, demanding his resignation as Israel moves toward an early election.

The protesters have been gathering weekly for the past six months, saying Netanyahu should step down because of his corruption trial and what they say is mismanagement of the country's deadly Coronavirus crisis.

The protests began last spring when Netanyahu and his chief rival, Benny Gantz, agreed to form what they called an emergency government focused on managing the health and economic challenges stemming from the virus pandemic.

Their partnership has been paralyzed by infighting, and a pair of lockdowns hit the economy hard, sending unemployment skyrocketing to double-digit figures.

With wintry weather settling in, the crowds have begun to shrink. But participants remained vocal and animated Saturday. Nearly all wore masks, though not everyone observed social distancing.

2,30,000 new Covid-19 cases,

Health officials warned of surge as people travelled for Thanksgiving

UK Oppn leader Starmer
self-isolates for 2nd time

Washington, Dec. 6: The United States notched a record number of Coronavirus cases in 24 hours for the third day running, as it was reported that Britain's Queen Elizabeth II will get a vaccine within weeks.

A tally by Johns Hopkins University showed the world's worst-hit country — which has seen a dramatic virus resurgence in recent weeks — reached nearly 230,000 new infections and 2,527 Covid-related deaths on Saturday alone.

For two weeks, the US has regularly topped 2,000 deaths per day, as it had in the spring at the height of the first wave of the country's outbreak.

US health officials warned of a surge after millions of Americans travelled to celebrate last week's Thanksgiving holiday despite pleas from authorities to stay home.

The Coronavirus has now killed more than 1.5 million people and infected 66 million around the world since emerging in China last year, according to a tally from official sources compiled by AFP.

In Britain, it was reported that the 94-year-old monarch will receive the Pfizer-BioNTech Coronavirus vaccine within weeks after UK regulators granted emergency approval. The rollout of the vaccine will begin next week.

The queen and her 99-year-old husband Prince Philip are in line to get the jab early due to their age and will not receive preferential treatment, the Mail on Sunday reported.

The newspaper said Britain's most senior royals would reveal they have been given the inoculation "to encourage more people to take up the vital jab", amid fears so-called antivaxxers could dent enthusiasm for it.

British health officials are set to use criteria based on age and vulnerability to decide who gets the vaccine first.

Elderly care home residents and their carers will be the very first to get inoculated, followed by those aged 80 and over and frontline health and care

London, Dec. 6: Britain's Leader of the Opposition, Labour leader Keir Starmer, has gone into self-isolation for a second time after a member of his staff tested positive for Covid-19.

In line with the current government rules, even though Starmer was said to be well and not displaying any symptoms of Covid-19, he will now have to stay at home for 14 days since his last contact with the affected person, which his spokesperson said ends on December 16.

"I'm pleased to say my colleague is feeling ok. I'm not showing any symptoms. But will now be working from home. Keep safe and follow the public health advice," he said.

staff. Britain has pre-ordered 40 million doses of the vaccine in total, and is set to receive an initial batch of 800,000 to begin next week's rollout.

The World Health Organisation has warned that vaccines are no magic bullet for the Coronavirus crisis, as Russia started vaccinating its high-risk workers and other countries geared up for similar programmes. The WHO cautioned against what it said was an erroneous belief that the pandemic would end soon with vaccines on the horizon.

"Vaccines do not equal zero Covid," said WHO emergencies director Michael Ryan, adding that not everyone will be able to receive it early next year.

"Vaccination will add a major, major, powerful tool to the tool kit that we have. But by themselves, they will not do the job," WHO Director-General Tedros Adhanom Ghebreyesus also cautioned against the "growing perception that the pandemic is over" with the virus still spreading fast.

● "BLACK PANTHER" star Letitia Wright has deleted both her Twitter and Instagram profiles, days after the actor came under fire for sharing a video by a coronavirus vaccine sceptic on her social media accounts. The "Small Axe" actor had shared a link to a 70-minute YouTube video which expressed doubts over the in-progress Covid-19 vaccines, which will begin roll-out in the UK in the coming week.

The Opposition leader has previously had to self-isolate in mid-September when a member of his household showed possible symptoms of the deadly virus. He did not experience any symptoms at the time. His latest self-isolation follows a week after Prime Minister Boris Johnson came out of his self-isolation after coming in contact with an MP who had later tested positive with the virus.

It comes as the UK recorded 15,539 new cases of Coronavirus and 397 new deaths on Saturday, taking the country's death toll beyond 61,000 to make it the fifth highest in the world. The vaccine developed by American drug-maker Pfizer and Germany's BioNTech was being sent to hospitals across the UK.

Peshawar, Dec. 6: Seven patients being treated for the Coronavirus died after one hospital in Peshawar ran out of oxygen supplies, officials said Sunday.

Farhad Khan, a spokesman at Khyber Teaching Hospital, said the patients died Saturday night when the vendor who supplies the hospital with medical oxygen to refill tanks with failed to arrive in time. The hospital, which is the second largest in Peshawar, receives its oxygen cylinders from a vendor in Rawalpindi, Khan said.

Provincial Health Minister Taimur Saim Jhagra tweeted about the incident, saying the hospital's board of governors has been ordered to probe the incident and take action within 48 hours.

VIRUS AID GRAFT:
INDONESIA MIN
SURRENDERS

Jakarta, Dec. 6: Indonesia's social affairs minister turned himself in to anti-corruption authorities Sunday to face charges of taking bribes related to the government's Covid-19 aid distribution.

Social Affairs Minister Juliani Batubara arrived at the Corruption Eradication Commission's headquarters in the capital, Jakarta, hours after the commission's Chairman Firli Bahuri called on him to surrender in a news conference just before midnight Saturday.

Batubara, who is also a member of the ruling Indonesian Democratic Party of Struggle, made no comment. The anti-corruption commission said he is accused of receiving at least 17 billion rupiah from two supplier companies through his two subordinates, who were also named as suspects.

Large-scale rollout of vaccine in China

Taipei, Dec. 6: Provincial governments across China are placing orders for experimental, domestically made Coronavirus vaccines, though health officials have yet to say how well they work or how they may reach the country's 1.4 billion people.

Developers are speeding up final testing, the Chinese foreign minister said Thursday during a UN meeting, as Britain issued approval for emergency use of Pfizer Inc.'s vaccine candidate and providers scrambled to set up distribution.

China's fledgling pharmaceutical industry has at least five vaccines from four producers being tested in more than a dozen countries including Russia, Egypt and Mexico. Health experts say even if they are successful, the certification process for the United States, Europe,

Japan and other developed countries might be too complex for them to be used there.

However, China said it will ensure the products are affordable for developing countries.

One developer, China National Pharmaceutical Group, known as Sinopharm, said in November it applied for final market approval for use of its vaccine in China.

Others have been approved for emergency use on health workers and other people deemed at high risk of infection.

"We must be prepared for large-scale production," said Vice Premier Sun Chunlan, who has overseen much of the country's response, during a visit Wednesday to developers, according to the official Xinhua News Agency.

Japanese eager to scrutinise
asteroid samples

Tokyo, Dec. 6: Japanese space officials said they are excited about the return of a capsule that safely landed in Australian Outback on Sunday while carrying soil samples from a distant asteroid so they can start analysing what they say are treasures inside.

The capsule's delivery by the Hayabusa2 spacecraft completes its six-year sample-return mission and opens the door for research into finding clues to the origin of the solar system and life on Earth. "We were able to land the treasure box" onto the sparsely populated Australian desert of Woomera as planned, said Yuichi Tsuda, Hayabusa2 project manager at the Japan Aerospace Exploration Agency, or JAXA, adding that the capsule was in perfect shape.

"I really look forward to opening it and looking inside." The capsule will be packed in a container as soon as its preliminary treatment at an Australian lab is finished and brought back to Japan this week, Satoru Nakazawa, a project sub-manager, said during an online news conference from Woomera. Hayabusa2 left the asteroid Ryugu, about 300 million kilometres from Earth, a year ago.

After it released the capsule on Saturday, it set off on a new expedition to another distant asteroid. Scientists say they believe the samples contain valuable data unaffected by space radiation and other environmental factors.

CHINESE PROBE
TO BRING MOON
ROCKS TO EARTH

Beijing, Dec. 6: A Chinese probe that landed on the moon transferred rocks to an orbiter Sunday in preparation for returning samples of the lunar surface to Earth for the first time in almost 45 years.

The upper stage of the Change'e lander blasted off Friday from the lunar surface. If the mission succeeds, it will make China the third country after the United States and former Soviet Union to bring moon rocks to Earth.

CHINA LAUNCHES
SAT FOR EARTH
OBSERVATION

Beijing, Dec. 6: China on Sunday successfully launched a new Earth observation satellite which can take high-resolution pictures of ground objects across the globe.

The satellite was launched from the Xichang Satellite Launch Centre in southwest China's Sichuan province, state-run Xinhua news agency reported. The satellite, Gaofen-14, was sent into orbit by a Long March-3B carrier rocket.

It can efficiently obtain high precision stereo images globally.

US Sikhs protest
Indian farm laws

Washington, Dec. 6: Hundreds of Sikh-Americans have held peaceful protest rallies in several cities across the US in support of the Indian farmers who have been protesting against the new agricultural reforms in India.

A large car caravan of protesters from various parts of California blocked the traffic on the Bay Bridge on Saturday as they moved towards the Indian Consulate in San Francisco, while several hundreds gathered in downtown Indianapolis. The protesters at both the places demanded the new laws be repealed.

People take part in a rally to demand the government's resignation and snap parliamentary elections on Sunday in central Chisinau. Moldova last month elected pro-European Maia Sandu to the presidency, earning her a surprise victory over pro-Russian incumbent Igor Dodon. Study evaluates multidimensional effects of the pandemic over the next decade

Additional 207 mn can be pushed into poverty by '30

United Nations, Dec. 6: An additional 207 million people could be pushed into extreme poverty by 2030 due to the severe long-term impact of the Coronavirus pandemic, bringing the total number of the world's extremely poor to more than a billion, a new study from the UN Development Programme (UNDP) has found.

The study assesses the impact of different Covid-19 recovery scenarios on the Sustainable Development Goals (SDGs), evaluating the multidimensional effects of the pandemic over the next decade. The study is part of a long-standing partnership between the UNDP and the Pardee Center for International Futures at the University of Denver.

"Severe long-term effects of the Covid-19 pandemic could push an additional 207 million people into extreme poverty on top of the current pandemic trajectory, bringing the total to over 1 billion by 2030," noted the study.

The 'Baseline Covid' scenario, based on current mortality rates and the most recent growth projections by the International Monetary Fund (IMF), would result in 44 million more people living in extreme poverty by 2030 compared to the development trajectory the world was on before the pandemic. Under a 'High Damage' scenario, where the recovery is protracted, Covid-19 is likely to push an additional 207 million people into extreme poverty by 2030, and increase the female poverty headcount by an additional 102 million compared to that baseline, says the report.

The 'High Damage' scenario anticipates that 80 per cent of the Covid-induced economic crisis would persist in 10 years' time due to loss in productivity, preventing a full recovery to the growth trajectory seen before the pandemic. However, the study also finds that a focused set of SDG investments over the next decade in social protection/welfare programmes, governance, digitalisation, and a green economy could not only prevent the rise of extreme poverty, but actually exceed the development trajectory the world was on before the pandemic.

"This ambitious, yet feasible 'DG Push' scenario would lift an additional 146 million people out of extreme poverty, narrow the gender poverty gap, and reduce the female poverty headcount by 74 million, even taking into account the current impacts of the Covid-19 pandemic," UNDP said.

UNDP Administrator Achim Steiner said as this new poverty research highlights, the Covid-19 pandemic is a tipping point, and the choices leaders take now could take the world in very different directions.

"We have an opportunity to invest in a decade of action that not only helps people to recover from Covid-19, but that re-sets the development path of people and planet towards a more fair, resilient and green future," he said.

The concerted SDG interventions suggested by the study combine behavioural changes through nudges for both governments and citizens, such as improved effectiveness and efficiency in governance and changes in consumption patterns of food, energy and water.

The proposed interventions also focus on global collaboration for climate action, additional investments in Covid-19 recovery, and the need for improved broadband access and technology innovation, UNDP said.

To end farm stir, PM must signal shift in govt stand

In the confrontation between the country's farmers and the Centre, the Union government first appeared to be uncaring, relying on its brute Lok Sabha majority. Before the vote on the troubling farm-related laws in September, it gave no value to farmers' representatives who travelled to Delhi to have its ear. Bureaucrats, rather than political leaders, were sent to meet them, which basically meant reeling off the catechism. In Parliament, the government laughed off moves by Opposition parties to have the three contentious farm bills sent to a select committee for a close discussion.

And now the government appears stuck on the Singhu border with Haryana and on to Punjab, and on the UP border, where farmers from several states, with the robust contingents from Punjab becoming the toast of the country, are amassed — several divisions of them, if military terminology be permitted, with women and the elderly participating too.

Five rounds of talks between the 30-odd farmers' unions and the government's representatives — with the Union agriculture minister in the lead — have produced no results. The farmers have given an all-India strike call for tomorrow (December 8). The government has offered another round of talks the following day in which it has promised to come with some "concrete proposals". If the proposed strike is met with repression in the smallest degree, the next meeting is unlikely to take place.

In any case, "concrete proposals" would appear to be wispy. This is because, in effect, the government side has so far reiterated in different ways that it is not going to budge from the stand the BJP took in Parliament. Prime Minister Narendra Modi batting repeatedly for the three agri-laws passed in Parliament has become the stumbling block. In effect he has taken up cudgels for the corporate sector directing through contract farming what crops to grow and in what quantities and then dictating the price through large-scale storage and market operations.

The Indian farmer has thus come to fear losing his agency. This is why even in states — and these are the majority — where the minimum support price is not offered in practice, farmers appear to be rallying to the wider cause being currently articulated. There are few takers for the government's assurance that the MSP regime will not be scrapped when the new laws kick in. Since the PM's public stance has become the limiting factor, the negotiations in Delhi's Vigyan Bhavan have been pretty pointless, really speaking. Perhaps only some assurance from Mr Modi can unlock doors at this stage.

Since farmers have risen in agitation against existing laws, only Parliament has the authority to modify them in a way that will satisfy India's food growers, or to undo them. Calling a special session of Parliament, which the agitating farmers as well as some Opposition parties, including Congress, the main Opposition party, have demanded, to discuss the whole issue afresh, suggests itself. Also remember that the bills were passed in Rajya Sabha by a voice vote, with the deputy chairman not permitting division. This was irregular. There is also substantial legal opinion, which suggests that the subject of agriculture in all its aspects is the exclusive remit of the states and not the Centre in our constitutional scheme. This makes the three laws ab initio suspect.

Rajini: A long way to go

This is a mystique that is so overpowering that whatever he does makes news. For, the klieg lights love to shine on him, be it inside or outside film studios. So it was only natural that his announcement on the launch of his own political party in 2021 sent the media corps into a frenzy. They continued to camp outside the gates of his house in Poes Garden, a professional practice that the media in Chennai is accustomed to since the days of the late J. Jayalalithaa, who too lived in that posh locality. Linger on, hoping to catch up on any nugget of information that may be flung out of the gates, the media seeks to stitch a narrative on Rajinikanth's political future.

Beyond that, in a domain whirring with rumours and speculations, another strategy is scripted based on the secret wishlist of those who really want to see Rajinikanth as the next chief minister of Tamil Nadu. Dwelling in that domain is a set of serious politicians, desperately wanting the 69-year-old actor on the political arena, as their hatchet man. There is an agenda distinctly different from that of the superstar's legions of fans, who blindly believe that their matinee icon can change the world upside down in real terms, too.

But the superstar has seemingly given in to the wishes of those serious politicians and not the devout fans after a quarter century of dilly-dallying. That he had a change of heart soon after BJP honcho Amit Shah came calling to Chennai, despite having conveyed his reluctance to take the political plunge just over a month ago on health grounds, and his surprise appointment of an otherwise obscure BJP "intellectual" as prime coordinator almost hit the nail on who exactly was choreographing his moves.

However, all media narratives, high hopes of fans and clever political manoeuvres notwithstanding, when the voter finally adjudicates on the matter, the mystique could be blown to smithereens.

Biden in Afghanistan

Manish Tewari

State of the Union

In the wake of the September 9, 2001, terror attacks on the US, President George W. Bush greenlighted Operation Enduring Freedom on October 7, 2001. The avowed aim was to rid Afghanistan of the Taliban and Al Qaeda. For 17 months the then A m e r i c a n Administration under the Bush-Cheney-Rumsfeld combine relentlessly pounded that war devastated country from air and land even as a bulk of the Taliban and Al Qaeda leadership escaped to Pakistan and even Iran where they were sheltered by the respective deep states of both these nations. Black sites, waterboarding, rendition and Guantanamo Bay were some of the new words that entered the everyday lexicon of people around the world.

On March 20, 2003, the United States of America invaded Iraq and soon Afghanistan became a sideshow for the Bush Administration. By the time Bush demitted office in January 2008 the number of US troops in Afghanistan were 47,000 in number. They were supplemented by 50,000 additional Nato troops and 70,000 personnel of the Afghan national army. However, the mission had not gone according to plan. Despite a civilian administration under Hamid Karzai assuming office on December 22, 2001, the hold of the Afghan government and the coalition forces on Afghanistan was at best tenuous.

Barack Obama inherited the war. Even as a Democratic presidential nominee Obama had visited Afghanistan on the 19th of July, 2008. He made a distinction between the United States' involvement in Iraq and Afghanistan by terming the latter as a war of necessity. In February 2009, Obama increased the number of US troops by 21,000 that included 4,000 military trainers. Ten months later, bowing to pressure from the Pentagon and the ground commander in Afghanistan, General McChrystal Obama announced a surge of 30,000 troops in Afghanistan, bringing the total number of US troops deployed to a hundred thousand. Forty thousand Nato troops, additionally, were already serving their tours of duty in that country.

However, the situation did not stabilise and the Taliban kept on gaining ground. While its grip on the country side kept waxing and waning but on the whole its influence increased.

On December 28, 2014, the United States and Nato ended their combat missions in Afghanistan and commenced Operation Freedom's Sentinel (OFS) and the Nato-led Resolute Support. The objectives of both these missions were narrowly defined, namely to conduct counterterrorism operations targeting terrorist groups like Al Qaeda and its local ISIS affiliate, as well as focusses on building up local Afghan security forces to help fight the Taliban. However, this recalibration was nothing more than a fig leaf to create the illusion of an honorable exit. The fact being that the Taliban continued to hold sway over much of the countryside. Obama handed over as the American Special Representative for Afghanistan reconciliation to try and broker a deal with the Taliban. On February 29, 2020, Khalilzad and Mullah Abdul Ghani Baradar signed the agreement for bringing peace in Afghanistan in Doha. It was followed up with the intra-Afghan talks between the government in Kabul and the Taliban that began on September 12 to map out a political role for the latter. However, they are bogged down over procedural issues as yet with a huge trust deficit to bridge especially between the women of Afghanistan and the Taliban.

Concurrently, violence levels, rather than decreasing, are only escalating. At least 369 pro-government forces and 212 civilians were killed in Afghanistan in October 2020 marking the highest civilian death toll in a single month since September 2019 with the US also launching air strikes in the Helmand Province and Donald Trump threatening to bring the bulk of the US troops home by Christmas both from Iraq and Afghanistan.

This is the situation that Joe Biden inherits. In a piece in the Foreign Affairs magazine in spring, he stated: "It is past time to end the forever wars." However, it is easier said than done for if Biden sticks to the Doha exit plan to bring the number of US troops down to 2,500 with the Taliban not keeping its end of the bargain it is doubtful whether the Ashraf Ghani government would be able to hold up. All the blood and treasure that the US has expended would go down the tube with the clock being turned back to 2001. The Taliban and its mentor Pakistan will have the last laugh while a child born in 1979, who for the last 41 years only knows conflict as the new normal, the last weep.

Kishwar Desai
London Diary

After vax 1st, will 'lucky Boris' swing Brexit deal?

Yes — the vaccine is coming! The vaccine is coming! And I have been told — that people are now heading back to the UK as this may be the first country to get a reliable injection to beat the pandemic.

But the problem is how to keep the virus from spreading during these last few weeks — and once again rules, regulations, etc., are being trotted out. As always these have raised levels of dismay. But a week is a long time in politics — and from being one of the most unpopular prime ministers for imposing restrictions — "lucky" Boris is now shooting up the popularity charts!

Who even remembers that just last Monday Parliament debated legislation about imposing a system of tiers in different parts of the country to replace the lockdown? This was so unpopular even among Tory MPs that Boris Johnson faced the worst backbench revolt of his year long Premiership. Fifty six Tory MPs voted against the government. Had Labour Party and Scottish Nationalists also voted against, the government would not have been able to impose the tiers.

Yet the very next day came the good news that the Pfizer vaccine was ready and had won its approval from the UK regulators. Someone had the foresight to book forty million of these vaccines for us. So the Prime Minister was pulled up from the depths of defeat to a sense of being the first off the starting line! UK had once again beaten the world!

A list has been quickly drawn up of who has priority for receiving the first round of shots. The vaccines have to be kept at -70 degrees C so the logistics are tricky. They also arrive in packages of 975 so only hospitals can deal with such large numbers. As of now care home patients and frontline workers have top priority. Then comes the turn of the NHS staff followed by the over 80s and then down the age ladder. Fortunately, thanks to the NHS — there are detailed lists of everyone — their addresses and even who has what illness. This will make the task easier.

Fortunately, unlike in India, the VIP system does not apply here. While I am worried about whether my father at 97 will get the vaccine in India (as he should be in the first list), in the UK everyone awaits their turn, and Parliamentarians and other VIPs are not a priority. And even the Queen, at 94, will wait to receive it, when her turn comes. This is always reassuring.

The triumph of UK being first in the world among the "vaxxers" did not go down well with everyone. Tory Ministers could not help boasting that it was thanks to Brexit that UK could be the first, leaving the EU behind — as all of Europe will get it at the same time. The EU regulators then retaliated by casting some doubts on the early bird decision of the UK regulators. Had corners been cut? Then the Americans joined in. Dr Fauci, hitherto the hero for standing up to Donald Trump, said the US regulators would take longer to approve. But he later added that he did not doubt the decisions of the UK regulators.

However, just when things were beginning to look rosy, the Brexit crisis has resurfaced. A deal has to be signed by end of December. Otherwise UK exits Europe without a deal. If that happens, lorries going from here to Europe across the Channel as well as EU lorries coming to UK will need to fill in many forms and pay tariff on the goods. Some people predict queues of lorries stretching for miles at the ports. Apart from the delay, it will play havoc with social distancing. It may even delay the vaccines arriving from Brussels. So it is a delicate few days of negotiations before the 27 nations of EU unanimously approve of the Brexit deal. Will 'lucky' Boris swing it again?

There is already huge excitement over Christmas. Decorations are up and going by the crowds thronging into Harrods — it seems Christmas has come early. This is the vaccine effect — though Oxford Street lights are a bit dim because several well known stores have gone into administration together. Arcadia, a consortium of well known brands such as Top Shop, Top Man, D H Evans, Miss Selfridge, Burton, Dorothy Perkins, was owned by Sir Philip Green — a billionaire who lives on a yacht in the South of France. He has refused to rescue these shops and 13,000 employees will be made redundant. As a consequence Debenhams which has been on the High Street across the country since 1,778 has also gone bankrupt with 12,000 employees losing their jobs. No "Merry Christmas" just a silent night for them. But this has also meant that it is a shopping bonanza for all those who have been at home for far too long. And so yes, those long queues you see in London are not for the vaccine — but to pick up some great discounts from the shops which are closing down. Ironically — the biggest profits will be made just before the cash registers stop ringing!

Germany to spend $7.3 bn on vaccination

Germany will spend as much as 6 billion euros ($7.3 bn) on vaccinating its population against the coronavirus. "That's a lot of money," health minister Jens Spahn said. Still, the cost of "not getting it under control is higher," he said. The cost of drugs, vaccination stations and digital tools will likely be between 5 billion euros and 6 billion euros, Spahn said. Germany aims to begin mass vaccinations by the summer.

Insurer cuts stake in several firms LIC's holdings rise 40% in H1

FC BUREAU MUMBAI, DEC. 6

Life Insurance Corporation (LIC), India's insurance behemoth and a dominant player in the stock market, saw the value of its top 200 equity holdings jump by 40 per cent in the first half of this fiscal to $77 billion (Rs 5.7 lakh crore). The figure must have gone up considerably since the end of the September quarter, as the stock market has rallied 13 per cent in the last two months.

LIC's market portfolio saw significant stride in the last two decades when compared with the market capitalisation of the BSE.

In the March 2000 quarter, the value of LIC's holdings was just $4 billion compared with the BSE m-cap of 102 billion. But in March 2010, LIC's portfolio value jumped $59 billion while the BSE m-cap zoomed to $1.14 trillion. According to a Kotak Institutional Securities report, when the BSE m-cap peaked to $1.8 trillion in March 2019, LIC owned $81 billion of that.

In March 2020, when the markets were at a low, having lost over 35 per cent to the pandemic scare, the value of LIC's equity holdings plunged to $55 billion—the lowest in six years. THERMAL PLANTS MAY GET TO SELL POWER BEYOND AGREED PERIOD

SUDARSHAN VARADHAN BENGALURU, DEC. 6

India's power ministry proposes letting coal-fired power plants keep selling power after completing their 25-year agreements with buyers, a letter seen by Reuters shows, despite national promises to close old plants to curb pollution. The proposal, if approved, would help old coal plants earn additional revenue, increase liquidity in short-term power markets and help distribution companies in states access cheaper power, the ministry said in the draft proposal dated Friday.

"It is in the consumer interest to keep the tariff of electricity as low as possible," says the letter sent to states and utilities such as NTPC Ltd.

Such a move would enable federal-run electricity generators such as NTPC "to sell power in any mode" after distribution companies exit an agreement upon the completion of the tenure, the ministry said.

Power minister R.K. Singh and finance minister Nirmala Sitharaman have previously said they plan to shut old coal-fired power plants. The environment ministry has also pushed for shutting down coal plants, which account for 80 per cent of India's industrial pollution, if they do not comply with green laws.

A final decision on the proposal is not imminent. —Reuters

Angola stops diamond sales to boost local mfg

SANGEETHA G CHENNAI, DEC. 6

Angola, the third largest producer of diamonds in Africa, plans to stop direct sales of rough diamonds to India. It is putting pressure on the Indian polishing industry to invest in that country in order to create a diamond value chain locally.

Angola wants to increase diamond production from about 9 million carats per year to 15 million carats by 2022 as part of its efforts to cut its over dependence on oil exports and diversify its export basket. Angola has only explored 40 per cent of its diamond-rich territory within the country. As it is facing difficulties in attracting foreign investment, Angola wants Indian polishing companies to invest in the country.

"Angola is in the process of consolidating reforms for the diamond sector and we are working on setting up a bourse and selling rough locally through tenders. We do not plan to send rough directly to India, instead we would like Indian companies to manufacture diamonds locally," Eng. Fernando Amaral of Sodiam said. GEMS and Jewelry Export Promotion Council in a recent meeting, Sodiam is the state-owned diamond trading company of Angola.

"Diamonds are an important source of revenue for Angola and its people, and with the new diamond policy modalities we would like to sell through sights, tenders and spots. The sight contracts will be only for two years. Angola is hoping to increase diamond production from about 9 million carat per year to 15 million carat by 2022. We invite Indian companies to invest in Angola and cut and polish diamonds locally," he added.

"The Angolan state announced a diamond policy focused on marketing and trading of rough that offers incentives for those who invest in diamond mining in the country. We believe India can play a key role here," said Jose Carlos Ferreira de Sousa of Endiama, an Angolan national company dedicated to the prospecting, exploration and marketing of diamonds.

Currently, 95 per cent of the rough diamonds produced by Angola comes to India either through Belgium, Dubai or directly for polishing. India's imports of rough diamonds from Angola amounted to just $6.01 million in FY20.

According to Indian diamond industry, stoppage of direct sales of roughs will not affect Indian industry. "Angola is trying to develop its value chain. It wants Indian companies to invest in that country. However, it is not feasible. Only two companies—KGK Group and Kapu Gems—have set up manufacturing facilities in Angola. Even if they do not sell roughs directly, it is not going to affect us," said Vipul Shah, vice chairman, GJEPC.

In fact, Indian industry has a dominating presence in the global diamond value chain, which was evident during the lockdown times. When the industry had decided to stop imports of roughs in order to clear the inventories, mining companies had faced a tough time. The price of rough diamonds across categories had fallen by 20 to 25 per cent during the April-June period. With the resumption of imports, prices have returned to earlier levels.

Women's representation takes back seat on boards

RAVI RANJAN PRASAD MUMBAI, DEC. 6

Women's representation on corporate boards in 2020 saw a noticeable slowdown. The rate of increase is just 0.6 percentage points among the top global listed companies tracked by Morgan Stanley Corporate International (MSCI) since 2009.

"Emerging research has suggested that women are being more impacted by the economic fallout caused by the Covid-19 pandemic, which has the potential to undo years of progress," the global investment research firm said.

"If the trend over the past four years continues it may take until 2029 for women to comprise 30 per cent of corporate boards, and until 2045 to reach 50 per cent," MSCI said.

"In 2020, we saw a noticeable slowdown in the rate of increase for female representation on boards, with a gain of only 0.6 percentage points among constituents of the MSCI ACWI Index, after a jump of 2.1 percentage points last year," MSCI said.

MSCI ACWI is a stock index that tracks about 3,000 stocks in 49 developed and emerging market countries.

In the case of India, of the 86 companies in the MSCI ACWI Index five companies had no women on their boards.

Female representation on boards in CEO/CFO positions in India was 3.5 per cent compared to 16.6 per cent director seats held by women.

"Though fewer new female directors were added to boards this year than in the past, the number of all-male boards globally continued to decline. Only 17 per cent of constituents of the MSCI ACWI Index have all-male boards in 2020, down from 18.6 per cent last year," MSCI said.

There were 23 companies in the index with majority-female boards in 2020, up by just one from 2019, but still representing 0.8 per cent of companies.

Much of the change came in emerging markets, where the percentage of all-male boards dropped from 34.3 per cent in 2019 to 31.0 per cent in 2020.

PANDEMIC INCREASES TECH ADOPTION BY LOGISTICS COMPANIES

SANGEETHA G CHENNAI, DEC. 6

The pandemic has accelerated adoption of new-age technology by the logistics and warehousing sector.

New-age tech-driven service providers form a small segment of the industry. From a smaller base they have been growing faster. The pandemic has accelerated the process with more logistics companies adopting new-age technologies.

With social distancing being the norm, logistics firms are reducing human interface. Companies in the last-mile segment are offering non-contact delivery options, according to a report by Dun and Bradstreet.

In order to ensure safe and efficient movement of goods, logistics providers are automating processes. Automation in cargo handling equipment is set to increase.

An increase has been visible in the usage of cloud platforms and SaaS solutions to enable organisations to adopt digital solutions without increasing their capex. They also have been increasingly using intelligent supply chain technologies, big data and analytics and machine learning to track and optimise supply chain operations.

Going ahead, robotics process automation (RPA), artificial intelligence (AI) and business intelligence will be adopted in various supply chain processes, including warehousing operations. Drones and use of smart locker solutions for contactless pick-ups is being adopted. Robotics, drones and autonomous vehicles will reduce dependence on labour.

According to Icrs, e-commerce prefers technology-driven logistic companies.

Foreign funds colonising start-ups: Naukri founder

New Delhi, Dec. 6: In perhaps the first red flag by a significant start-up curator against 'flipping', Naukri.com founder Sanjeev Bikhchandani said foreign funds are the new East India Company that are colonising successful start-ups in India by transferring ownership overseas to skip Indian regulations and taxes.

The internet entrepreneur says an estimated Rs 17 lakh crore of market cap has been transferred abroad after young Indian start-ups were forced to shift their company domicile overseas by foreign investors promising them growth funds.

"Shades of the East India Company-type of situation here—Indian market, Indian customers, Indian developers, Indian workforce. However, 100 per cent foreign ownership, foreign investors. IP and data transferred overseas. Transfer pricing issues foggy," he tweeted. "Basically institutionalised transfer of wealth away from India while living off the Indian market and Indian labour somewhat like the days of the Company rule."

Profits from such "global exploitation" of intellectual property (IP) created in India by Indians retained overseas. "Tax to Indian govt on such profits??? Indian investors shut out," he tweeted.

Reached for comments on his tweets, Bikhchandani, whose listed firm Info Edge (India) owns job search portal naukri.com, matrimony site jeevasathi.com and real estate search engine 99acres.com, said flipping is externalising Indian companies.

"You take an Indian start-up and transfer ownership off the Indian market and Indian labour somewhat like the days of the Company rule."

Platinum back in vogue as gold acts pricey

ANNIE LEE, YULIYA FEDORINOVA & EDDIE SPENCE DEC. 6

Even before the release of the next James Bond film, No Time to Die, Swiss watchmaker Omega is offering a platinum-gold version of the Seamaster Diver 300M that actor Daniel Craig wears when playing 007.

The 51,700 Swiss franc ($57,000) time piece—made 95 per cent from platinum—underlines a renaissance in demand for the silvery-white metal. Omega isn't the only luxury goods maker to note the trend, with interest in high-end watches helping to almost double platinum-jewellery demand in Europe in the third quarter from the preceding three months.

That's helping platinum to make a comeback, after languishing behind gold and palladium for most of the year: its relative value is part of its appeal. Platinum posted its biggest monthly gain in November since 2008 amid a revival in investor buying. Jewellery purchases are being driven by demand in China, where wealthy consumers are starting to make emotional purchases with cash hoarded during the pandemic.

"We have observed that Covid has resulted in a re-evaluation of love gifting," said Trevor Raymond, director of research at the World Platinum Investment ter from the preceding three months.

Council. "Platinum has been very strongly associated with love gifting, globally and in China."

The WPIC expects China's platinum jewellery consumption to rise by 13 per cent next year, the first increase since 2013 and climbing above sales both this year and in 2019. The widening price differential with gold over most of this year has also spurred buying.

"Platinum is more competitive," said Michael Xue, chairman of Shenzhen Bofook Jewellery Co., a Chinese jewellery maker that specialises in working with the metal. "Gold prices have increased way too much since the pandemic."

Bofook said its platinum jewellery sales jumped 20 per cent in the third quarter from a year earlier.

Hong Kong-based Luk Fook Holdings International Ltd launched a new men's collection in June and is offering new products to meet expanding demand in the platinum market, said Nancy Wong, deputy chief executive officer of the jewellery chain.

Many Chinese jewellery makers built up platinum stocks in March when prices slumped, recalling the benefit from similar purchases during the global financial crisis, according to the WPIC.

The association expects platinum markets to post a record deficit this year as disruptions to key producers in South Africa outstrip the Covid impact on automaker demand.

Now prices are rising too. Platinum has almost doubled from a mid-March low, with a 25 per cent surge since early November. But at $1,060 an ounce, it's still much less pricey than gold, which was trading above $1,800. —Bloomberg

Schumacher's son wins F2 title

Sakhir, Bahrain: Mick Schumacher, the Formula One-bound son of seven-time world champion Michael Schumacher, clinched the Formula Two drivers' title on Sunday.

Despite finishing 18th in the final race of the season at the Bahrain International Circuit, ahead of Sunday's later Sakhr Grand Prix, he took the title by 14 points ahead of nearest rival Briton Callum Ilott, who finished 10th.

Jehan Daruvala won the race, taking his first F2 victory after Schumacher had flat-spotted a tyre on the first lap.

Schumacher ended the season on 215 points and Ilott on 201. "I don't really understand I am champion yet. It would sound a lot better if we did a good race today. Nevertheless, people will forget this race and remember the good times this year," he said. — AFP

Mbappe scores 100th goal for PSG

Paris: Kylian Mbappe scored his 100th goal for Paris Saint-Germain after making a late appearance as a substitute for the Ligue 1 leaders in Saturday's 3-1 victory at in-form Montpellier.

With Neymar preserved ahead of next week's Champions League clash against Istanbul Basaksehir and Mbappe rested from the start, Colin Dagba's first career goal gave PSG the lead on 33 minutes. English forward Stephy Mavididi levelled before half-time. Moise Kean restored the advantage for PSG on 77 minutes after Rafinha triggered a quick counter, hitting a magnificent solo goal. The Italy international was then replaced by Mbappe, who wrapped up the victory in stoppage time as he brought up his century of goals in his 137th game for PSG, tapping in a Layvin Kurzawa cross.

"I've been wanting to score for a few matches, it's a bit of a release," Mbappe told Canal Plus. — AFP

Dhawan, Pandya seal T20 series for India with a game to spare

Sydney, Dec. 6: India sealed the T20 International series against Australia with a game to spare after a swashbuckling Hardik Pandya finished what Shikhar Dhawan had set out to achieve with a scintillating 36-ball 52 in the second and penultimate match here on Sunday.

The visitors thus avenged their 1-2 ODI series loss, chasing down a challenging 195-run target set by the home side. They won the opener in Canberra by 11 runs on Friday.

Needing 25 of the final 12 balls after fetching 12 in the 18th over, Pandya brought the equation down to 14 in the last over with two fours. The all-rounder then hit two sixes to seal the match in India's favour.

Pandya remained unconquered on 42 off 22 balls.

India were off to a sedate start with no boundaries coming in the first two overs. But fours and sixes rained from the willows of Dhawan (52) and K.L. Rahul (30) once the duo got their eye in.

Dhawan got himself a couple of boundaries and a six off Glenn Maxwell as India scored 34 runs in two overs to gain the momentum they were looking for. Dhawan, despite coming down the wicket early, managed to pull Sean Abbott over deep mid-wicket for another six.

Australia got their first breakthrough when Rahul gave a simple catch to Mitchell Swepson at deep point. But India had still managed a strong start, reaching 60/1 at the end of the Powerplay.

Having played some fine shots, Dhawan top-edged a slogged off leg-spinner Adam Zampa to give Australia their second wicket.

Kohli hails Pandya's raw talent

Sydney, Dec. 6: India captain Virat Kohli on Sunday said winning the T20 series against Australia without established players like Rohit Sharma and Jasprit Bumrah meant a great deal to him and lavished praise on the marauding Hardik Pandya's "raw talent".

Pandya struck an unbeaten 22-ball 42 to take India home with six wickets in hands in the second T20 International and help the visitors take a 2-0 unassailable lead in the three-match rubber here.

"Yeah meant a great deal. We've played as a team in T20 cricket. The fact that we don't have Rohit and Bumrah, our established white ball players, in and still doing well makes me happy and

CHAHAL EQUALS BUMRAH'S RECORD

■ Yuzvendra Chahal equalled Jasprit Bumrah's Indian record of most wickets in Twenty-20 Internationals by dismissing Steven Smith on Sunday.

■ It was leg-break googly bowler's 59th wicket at an average of 23.98 in 44th innings of as many matches. Bumrah also claimed same number of wickets in at an average of 20.25 in 49 innings of 50 matches.

■ Only three bowlers completed a half century of wickets in Twenty20 for India.

■ R. Ashwin the third one who claimed 52 wickets at an average of 22.94 in 46 innings of as many matches.

I am very proud of this team," Kohli said after the win.

While Rohit has missed the series because of a hamstring injury he suffered during this year's IPL, Bumrah has been rested from the T20 matches keeping in mind the upcoming four-Test series against Australia.

The India skipper believes that with his raw talent, Pandya, who earned the man-of-the-match award for his batting, can become a bankable player for the team in years to come.

"The reason for him (Hardik) coming into the team in 2016 was pure ability. He has raw talent. And now he realises that this is his time, the next 4-5 years, to be that bankable player that can win you games from anywhere. His plans are right and I'm glad to see that," Kohli said.

"He now realises that this is the time to establish in that (finishing) role and play match-winning knocks for us. He plays with all his heart and he certainly got that competitive nature about him and also has the skill to execute that at the highest level." — PTI

STARC TO MISS FINAL T20 GAME AGAINST INDIA

Sydney, Dec. 6: Australian pacer Mitchell Starc has pulled out of the remainder of the T20 series against India due to an illness in his family.

The 30-year-old pacer had missed the third ODI due to back and rib niggles but returned to claim two wickets in the 11-run loss in the first T20I in Canberra on Friday.

He had arrived in Sydney on Saturday but soon left the team bubble after learning about a family illness.

"There is nothing in the world more important than family and in this case Mitch is no exception," said Australia head coach Justin Langer said in a statement.

Man Utd climb to fourth spot

London, Dec. 6: Manchester United roared back to beat West Ham 3-1 on Saturday, while Chelsea moved top of the Premier League by the same score-line over Leeds as fans returned to the English top-flight for the first time in nine months.

United fell behind at the London Stadium, but for the fifth consecutive away league game came back to win as a three-goal blitz from Paul Pogba, Mason Greenwood and Marcus Rashford turned the tables in a 13-minute spell after half-time.

United, who have won nine successive league games on the road, are now fourth in the table, one point ahead of Manchester City, who earlier cruised past Fulham 2-0.

Ole Gunnar Solskjaer started with Bruno Fernandes and Rashford on the bench in an attempt to keep two of his star men fresh for Tuesday's crucial Champions League trip to RB Leipzig.

But they were needed to inspire a second-half turnaround after Tomas Soucek's goal seven minutes before half-time gave West Ham a deserved lead at the break.

Cheered on by 2,000 fans in their cavernous 60,000-seat stadium, the Hammers should have been further ahead but squandered their chances.
