CBI holds internal probe on gold

New Delhi: The CBI has set up an "internal enquiry" after 103 kg gold worth Rs 43 crore, seized and sealed by it eight years ago, went missing, officials said. The Madras High Court has directed the Tamil Nadu Crime Branch-CID police to probe the case of "missing" gold, which left the country's premier investigating agency red-faced. The gold is part of 400.47-kg bullion and ornaments confiscated by the CBI when it carried out searches at the office of Surana Corporation Ltd in Chennai in 2012.

Tata group sees limitless growth

New Delhi: The post-COVID-19 new world order offers limitless opportunity for India but for the country to be ready to participate in it, there is a need to establish regulatory standards on data and taxation in general, Tata Sons Chairman N Chandrasekaran said on Saturday. Speaking at the 93rd annual convention of industry Chamber FICCI, he also said that if the idea "that the 2020s belong to India" has to be realised, industry should be bold and start visioning all projects at scale. "I see a collaborative role between the industry and government here...The government should enable this partnership," he said.

RULES EASED TO REGULARISE INDIVIDUAL PLOTS

DC CORRESPONDENT
VIJAYAWADA, DEC. 12

The state government has amended rules to regularise individual plots in unauthorised layouts in Andhra Pradesh. This will help 25,876 people to regularise their plots. Many people, unaware of this drawback, had bought plots and got into trouble. The regularisation of individual plots in unauthorised layouts was possible only after the layouts were regularised earlier. However, the government has now decided to regularise individual plots by directly relaxing the rules.

The government issued a circular amending the regularisation rules. It stated that in spite of continuous persuasion, monitoring and instructions being issued from time to time, out of the total 10,630 identified unauthorised layouts, only 26,28 layouts prepared by Urban Local Bodies (ULB) and Urban Development Authorities (UDA) and only 697 in principle patterns layouts were approved by the competent authorities.

GADKARI CALLS FOR SWADESHI ALTERNATIVES

New Delhi, Dec. 12: Asserting that India was importing "a lot of things" from China, Union Minister Nitin Gadkari on Saturday urged the domestic industry to come up with Swadeshi alternatives to the imports from various nations without compromising with their quality and cost.

Addressing the annual meeting of Ficci virtually, the MSME and road transport minister highlighted the need to reduce imports and increase exports. He said this can help enhance economic growth and boost the contribution of domestic manufacturing to the GDP to up to 30 per cent. Citing the example of magnets used in electric vehicles, he asked industry experts to study which parts are being imported by India. "Now the magnet, there are a lot of things we are importing from China. I am not a businessman or a business expert but I am seeing a huge potential for electric cars, e-bikes, electric autorickshaws and even electric trucks," said the minister. He called upon business experts to deliberate with the domestic automotive industry, especially those engaged in manufacturing of electric vehicles, to find out what products are being imported, like magnets and lithium ion batteries. —PTI

KCR seeks nod for 5 new airports in Telangana

DC CORRESPONDENT
HYDERABAD, DEC. 12

Chief Minister K. Chandrashekar Rao on Saturday urged Civil Aviation Minister Hardeep Singh Puri to expedite the process of establishing five more airports in Telangana State.

Rao met the Minister in New Delhi and handed over a letter seeking to expedite the process for the establishing the airports. In his letter, he stated "I had requested the Prime Minister immediately after the formation of Telangana in 2014 to establish five more airports in the state, as it has only one in Hyderabad".

Rao brought to the notice of the Union Minister that the Telangana government has initiated action for creating additional domestic airports and based on discussions with the Chairman, Airport Authority of India (AAI), a formal proposal was sent in 2018 for the AAI to give feasibility reports.

It was indicated that only no-frills airports for small aircrafts will be developed initially, and they could subsequently be expanded for commercial operations based on demand. The identified areas were Basantnagar in Peddapalli district, Mamnoon in Warangal Urban district, Adilabad district, Jakrapally in Nizamabad district, Devarkadra in Mahabubnagar district and Bhadrachalam district.

He informed Puri that though AAI has already taken up Obstacle Limitation Surface Survey (OLS), soil testing and other investigations at the sites and some draft reports have recently come, the final reports are yet to be given.

He sought the Union Minister to ensure hand-holding with the state government in finalising the sites and getting all statutory clearances on a single-window basis so that the state government can commence infrastructure work for starting Non-Scheduled Operator's Permit (NSOP) operations with its own funds.

Eluru illness to boost organic fertilisers' sale

DC CORRESPONDENT
VIJAYAWADA, DEC. 12

The mystery illness affecting several people at Eluru in East Godavari district of Andhra Pradesh has led to experts demanding the promotion of organic fertilisers and pesticides to cultivate crops, mainly vegetables.

A large number of tenant farmers take small farm land holdings on lease to raise vegetable crops, including leafy vegetables. As their harvest period is relatively less, they go for multiple crops in a year. Given the high demand for vegetables and their vulnerability to infections from pests, the overprotective farmers spray several varieties of pesticides without any control. This is resulting in high concentration of pesticides in vegetables.

For instance, cabbage and cauliflower are vulnerable to pests. Farmers keep spraying pesticides on them to protect the crop without following any protocol. There is a crop-wisdom for using pesticides. They cannot be sprayed if the crop is to be harvested in 10 to 15 days. Farmers do not comply with any norms irrespective of their ill-effects on consumers as they want their crop to be sold for a good price.

As leafy vegetables like spinach, coriander, mint, etc., and others are also more vulnerable to get infested with pests, farmers use pesticides indiscriminately. When people fail to wash and cook them properly, the residues of pesticides find their way into the human body affecting their health depending on the concentration levels. So is the case with chillies which are more vulnerable for pests and viruses and are subject to indiscriminate use of pesticides. Farmers use pesticides rampantly on vegetables like brinjal and okra.

Some farmers even raise vegetable crops in marshy lands with water sourced from canals that carry polluted water discharged from untreated effluents from industries, civic bodies and processing units of fish and shrimps in some parts of the state.

This causes deposit of high concentrations of harmful chemicals on them and they will affect health of consumers.

Dr YSR Horticulture University, director of research Dr R.V.S.K. Reddy said, "It is true that some farmers are using pesticides indiscriminately. There is a need to promote usage of organic fertilisers and pesticides.

Reforms are for farmers, says PM

New Delhi, Dec. 12: As farmers vowed to expand their protests over new farm laws, Prime Minister Narendra Modi on Saturday assured them that his government was committed to their welfare and that the legislations were aimed at giving them alternate markets to boost income.

Without directly referring to the farmers' agitation, which entered the 17th day on Saturday, Modi said agriculture reforms as part of government efforts are aimed at removing roadblocks, and the new laws will also bring in technology and investment in the sector.

The government, he said, is committed to protecting the interest and welfare of farmers through its policies and actions. "Reforms will help draw investment in the agriculture sector and benefit farmers," he said at the annual meeting of industry body FICCI here. "The aim of all government reforms is to make farmers prosperous." The new legislations, which were approved in the previous Parliament session, give farmers an additional option outside of the designated mandis to buy or sell their crops, he said. "The idea is to help increase farmer income," he reiterated.

REPEAL AGRI LAWS, WILL TALK: FARMERS

New Delhi, Dec. 12: Sticking to their demands, farmer leaders on Saturday said talks were ready to hold talks with the government, but will first discuss repealing the three new farm laws, and announced further intensification of their ongoing protest against the legislations.

Addressing a press conference here, farmer leader Kanwalpreet Singh Pannu said that thousands of farmers will start their 'Delhi Chalo' march from Rajasthan's Shahjahanpur through the Jaipur-Delhi Highway at 11 am on Sunday.

NAIDU ASK DGP TO IMPLEMENT RULE OF LAW

DC CORRESPONDENT
VIJAYAWADA, DEC. 12

Continuing his episode of writing letters to DGP Gautam Sawang, Telugu Desam Chief N. Chandrababu Naidu wrote another fresh letter on Saturday demanding that the police department implement 'rule of law' in the state to save people from the attacks of the ruling YSRC leaders.

He alleged that atrocities by the YSRC leaders have largely increased as the ruling party leaders were involved in every attack incident and expressed fear about breakdown of constitutional institutions in the future which he said would be a big threat to democracy.

Naidu in his letter stated that it appears that mafia and corrupt forces have taken over the state and the rule of anarchy now prevails over the rule of law. He alleged that most unfortunately, a section of police seems to be actively conspiring with the ruling party leaders in implementing law and order as per the diktats of the ruling party henchmen.

Naidu said that on December 11, 2020, TD leaders Nallari Kishore Kumar Reddy, Reddappagari Srinivasula Reddy, Gullolla Sankar Yadav, Dommalapati Ramesh, Challa Ramachandra Reddy, and Maddipatla Surya Prakash were among the others on their way to B. Kothakota mandal in Thamballapalle constituency for a commiserate visit to the bereaved families who had passed away. While on their way, the leaders were halted by around 200 henchmen of the YSRC leader at Angallu.

NARENDRA: GOVT DAMAGING DAIRY SECTOR IN STATE

DC CORRESPONDENT
VIJAYAWADA, DEC. 12

Former Telugu Desam legislator and Sangam dairy chairman Dhulipalla Narendra alleged that the ruling YSRC government was trying to damage the dairy sector in the state through Amul.

Addressing the media at a press meet at Guntur on Saturday, he claimed that the Sangam dairy largely developed due to the collective efforts of milk farmers as its turnover reached to ₹13 crore from mere ₹3 crore and refuted allegations of the YSRC leaders about anomalies in the Sangam dairy. He alleged that the government was harassing Sangam dairy under which vigilance notices were issued on baseless allegations.

He alleged that the government borrowed crores of money as loans to provide investment for AP-Amul project but reluctant to develop cooperative milk sector which shows the government's anti cooperative sector attitude.

He stated that the cooperative milk sector would fight against the injustice and demanded that the government promote native cooperative milk dairies for the empowerment

DC CORRESPONDENT
VIJAYAWADA, DEC. 12

Maha Padayatra (mega walkathon) was conducted at Guntur on Saturday, demanding continuation of Amaravati as the solo capital of AP in which farmers, women and leaders and activists of several political parties participated. On completion of one year of Amaravati movement, the Amaravati Parirakshana Samiti JAC (APSJAC) has called for various protests for a week under which a walkathon was conducted on Saturday which started at Vidyannagar and concluded at Ambedkar statue Lodge Centre.

CPI national secretary K. Narayana, who joined the walkathon supporting Amaravati demand, asserted on the need of solo capital for AP. He demanded that the central government provide funds for construction of new capital.

He recalled that Vice-President Muppavarapu Venkaiah Naidu played a crucial role during the time of United AP bifurcation hence he should interfere in the capital issue. He sought Venkaiah Naidu to convince the BJP-led NDA government for release of funds for capital construction and further cancellation of three capitals decision.

Telugu Desam MP of Guntur Galla Jaydev claimed that discussion in Parliament is essential to shift Capital from Amaravati.

Govt agencies, ULBs cause for disappearance of water ponds

CAG observes five ponds disappearing in Vijayawada and Nagari town

MD ILYAS | DC
VIJAYAWADA, DEC. 12

Three ancient ponds in Andhra Pradesh secured the World Heritage Irrigation Structures status. However, the Comptroller and Auditor-General (CAG) has observed that the ponds were encroached by Urban Local Bodies leading to five ponds disappearing in Vijayawada and Nagari town. CAG studied 37 water bodies in six selected (out of 110) ULBs and found encroachments in 25 of them.

The CAG audit observed construction of an indoor stadium and a Rythu Bazaar in Nalla Cheruvu and ZP high school, gram panchayat office and an anganwadi centre in Nagari town. The water bodies especially in and around urban areas are facing a threat from rapid urbanisation without adequate attention to ecology. The ancient Cumbam tank in Prakasam district, Porumamilla tank popularly known as Anantharaja Sagaram in Kadapa district and KC Canal in Kurnool district recently got the World Heritage status.

The audit also studied urban local bodies (ULBs) (Vijayawada, Markapur, Srikakulam, Vizianagaram, Nagari and Pulivendula Municipalities/Municipal Corporations) and 37 water bodies in the villages adjacent to them and found encroachments (in approximate area of 132.03 acre) in 25 out of 37 water bodies under the five ULBs and 9 out of 37 test checked tanks in the adjacent villages. Of these, five tanks (three in Vijayawada city and two in Srikakulam town) did not physically exist as the entire area (25.21 acres) under these tanks was encroached.

The exact extent of encroachments was not known as the revenue department had not undertaken any physical survey in recent times. The last physical surveys/measurements were conducted way back in 1906 to 1956.

For example, the audit observed an indoor stadium and a Rythu Bazaar in Nalla Cheruvu in Patamata area of Vijayawada city.

Similarly, a Zilla Parishad High School, a Gram Panchayat Building, and an Anganwadi Kendra were seen in a tank in Gundrajakuppam area of Nagari town.

CAG found ULBs did not take any action for notification of the water bodies as municipal assets, geo-tagging/geo-mapping, formation of bunds, erection of fencing, etc. for protection of water bodies.

During the joint physical verification of the selected water bodies, CAG observed the total extent of 34 tanks was 1466.94 acres. As per the visual assessment of the officials of the ULBs/Revenue Department during the joint physical verification, an approximate area of 132.03 acres was encroached.

Interestingly, the government itself turned ponds into residential colonies causing disappearance of water bodies. The CAG report stated DKT or Darakastu Pattas issued in an extent of 6.79 acres in Kummari Cheruvu in Gunadala of Vijayawada, 5 acres in Pedda tank in Alikam village near Srikakulam, 0.10 acre in Chinna Cheruvu in Srikakulam town, 16.63 acres in the tank in Achhavelli village near Pulivendula which led to the ponds disappearing.

Residents of Patamata which has turned into a posh area where indoor stadium and Rythu Bazaar were constructed were dumbfound about the CAG's findings. They said that majority people migrated to Patamata from other areas hence they don't know the history. Elderly people said that the VMC itself constructed an indoor stadium and Rythu Bazaar and the present generation is unaware about it. They objected to turning the ponds into concrete buildings as it will cause havoc during heavy rains as it happened in Hyderabad.

CAG stated that the stakeholder departments/organisations were lax in carrying out the mandate of protecting the water bodies in the state and had failed to prevent/evict encroachment/encroachers of water bodies. Due to the inaction of all stakeholders, there is a continued risk of further encroachments/degradation of water bodies with consequential ecological imbalances. CAG further stated that the government did not furnish any reply on the encroachment and disappearance of water tanks audit observations.

The disposal of the in principle patterns was not progressing as expected due to which the processing of regularisations of individual plots was getting delayed. The director of town and country planning issued orders permitting ULBs and UDAs to process individual LRS applications irrespective of approval of layouts.

According to reports, as many as 26,956 applications were received for regularisation in 13 districts of AP in which only 628 were regularised and 11 were rejected. Notices were issued to 178 and 263 applications did not submit required documents and majority of applications were stuck due to absence of regularisation to their layouts.

The norms of mandatory regularisation of unauthorised layouts turned out to be a big hurdle for people who wished to regularise their individual plots. The buyers lamented that developers and promoters did not complete the layout regularisation processes and majority of buyers are unaware about the same. They welcomed the amendment of regulations paving way to regularise individual plots.

They said that with regularisation of individual plots, they will get the opportunity to build a house on their land and take bank loans.

State Town and Country Planning Department director V. Ramudu stated that the government has amended the rules to benefit those who were facing difficulties by buying lands in unauthorised layouts.

He said that realtors are also required to regulate the entire layout and the government would initiate measures for regularisation of unauthorised layouts.

In addition to providing 24 hours uninterrupted power supply, the government has announced a subsidy of ₹1 per unit. Sewage treatment will start and land, water facilities and other facilities will be provided. The government has also come forward to offer interest unit. In addition to that, 20 pharma companies, engineering equipment industries, cylinder manufacturing, oxygen plant and several mobile companies are also interested in setting up their industries.

With the inclusion of Kopparthi Industrial Hub in the Vizag Industrial Corridor, many companies are coming forward to set up their industries. Industrial adviser to the state government Rajoli Veerareddy said several companies were in talks with the government for subsidies and other issues.

He said the government was also ready to provide all the necessary infrastructure to those in the respective industries. Veerareddy said the Kopparthi Industrial Hub would soon be in touch with new industries.

Endowments minister Vellampalli Srinivasa Rao took objection to projecting the state government as anti-Hindu while reminding that they have brought a legislation against sale of temple lands while 50 temples were demolished during the previous government.

He said that the TD government had accorded permission for the sale of lands belonging to Mantralayam but the YSRC government stalled the move by banning the sale of temple lands.

He was addressing a gathering after setting the foundation stone for the renovation of Raja Gopuram at Sri Janardhana Swamy temple along with Kandukuru legislator M. Mahidhar Reddy in Kandukuru of Prakasam district on Saturday.

He claimed that the government was taking all necessary steps to prevent encroachment of temple lands while assuring to free the encroached lands of different shrines apart from taking action on the landgrabbers.

Referring to the 4 lakh acres of lands belonging to temples in the state, he said they will take steps to protect the lands and also develop them.

He said they are going to install CC Cameras to protect the properties of the temples.

Bharatiya Janata Party AP president Somu Veerajulu appealed to the electorate in Tirupati parliament segment to back the BJP-JSP nominee in the ensuing byelection.

"There is no benefit for the ruling YSRC with another MP seat since it is already having 21 seats in the state. GOVT AYURVEDIC COLLEGES FACE VACANCY CRISIS

ATHER MOIN | DC
HYDERABAD, DEC. 12

There is a major crisis at the two government Ayurvedic colleges in the state with posts of 40 per cent teaching staff remaining vacant. More so, the Telangana government has not yet recruited professors for these colleges since the last 10 years, despite giving an undertaking to central Ayush Ministry that lecturers for these colleges will be recruited.

Dr. Mallu Prasad, former member of Central Council of Indian Medicine (CCIM), has written to Ayush Department secretary about such lack of teaching staff. "Quality of education is suffering, as there are no permanent professors. During CCIM inspections every three years, government of Telangana has kept giving an undertaking that professors will be appointed. But they have not been recruited at all. They are opting only for lecturers on contract basis," Dr. Prasad pointed out.

In many cases, it is the Ph. D students who are teaching their juniors. Ayurveda doctors say such a practice is harmful for medical education in Ayurvedic medium, which the central government is keen on promoting.

Lack of experience and expertise among lecturers affects skill-building among students. The state-level Ayush Department maintains recruitment is a long process. A senior government official of AYUSH, on condition of anonymity, stated, "Recruitment processes have got stopped due to queries and court cases."

CHRISTMAS FESTIVITIES TO BE LOW-KEY

It will be a low-key Christmas festivities this year with events like carols and nativity being cancelled in many places and pre-Christmas dinners suspended. Some churches have divided pre-Christmas congregations. Also cancelled by many churches is Carol rounding.

Solomon Prem Kumar, Property secretary, Wesley Church Ramkote, said "This Saturday we had Youth Christmas Service and ensured the attendance was less. Carol rounding will not be happening this year, although we will have carols in church premises."

United Peoples Fellowship Church, with more than 2,000 members, opened church last week, but urged the members to attend virtual services. Its Founder Sis Joy Cherian said, "We have to respect the law of land and we have told all the members to will look forward to delivering the message of God's love through safer mediums of communications."

CSI Medak Cathedral had their pre-Christmas Program last Sunday but this year the nativity play was missing, because of the pandemic as the play requires close proximities, said Rev Andrew Prem Sukumar. Panels formed in TS to monitor covid-19 shots

HYDERABAD, DEC. 12

Frontline workers like police, defence, municipal and healthcare workers are on the priority list for Covid-19 vaccine, which the state, district, mandal and task force set-up by the state government will take up.

According to the Union Health ministry, the special panels will enroll, prepare, implement and oversee the vaccination process. Healthcare workers are a priority as they deal directly with Covid patients and are at a higher risk. According to sources, those working in Covid wards will be the first to get the vaccine both in government and private sectors. There is no force on any doctors but they are being encouraged to take it, said sources. This is more so because many doctors exposed to patients were infected.

Sources said that some senior doctors are on ECMO treatment since they got infected while performing surgeries.

This exposes the fact that the normalcy that is seen from the street is far from what the ground situation is with regard to the prevalence of the pandemic.

A senior doctor from IMA, on condition of anonymity, said, "It is a Catch-22 situation for healthcare workers. There is a risk of infection from patients despite following protocol. There is also a risk of the vaccine's side-effects. The risk factor is high, either way. If treatment must continue then the decision to vaccinate those treating Covid patients has to be taken as a priority."

Healthcare workers state they will be the 'unofficial' mass volunteers for vaccine trials and in the present situation their choice is limited. The only consolation is that there is no force to take the vaccine and it is only an advisory from the government.

INDO-SINO TALKS ENTER 8TH MONTH WITH NO DEAL

PAWAN BALI | DC NEW DELHI, DEC. 12

The military stand-off between India and China in Eastern Ladakh has entered in its eighth month with no agreement on disengagement in sight.

The winter season and snow in upper reaches has for time being reduced the possibility of an armed confrontation between the two sides in the region. However, soldiers deployed in front bases in Ladakh are now fighting the elements with temperatures dipping way below sub-zero temperatures.

The altitudes in Ladakh range from high to super high altitude and the area experiences heavy snow fall, after the month of November. This coupled with the wind chill factor, temperatures dips down to minus 37-40 degrees.

The eighth round of Corps Commanders meeting held on November 6 had given rise to hope that the two sides could reach an agreement on a disengagement plan.

It had seemed that China has agreed to move back from the Finger 4 and take its troops beyond Finger 8 in the Northern bank of Pangong Tso. Even army chief General M.M. Naravane had said that he was hopeful that the Indian and Chinese militaries will be able to reach an agreement on disengagement and de-escalation of tension in eastern Ladakh.

However, since then things have got stuck with no forward progress. There has also been no further meeting of the Corps Commanders since then. India's position has been that it was China which had first moved its troops at the LAC and China will have to be first to withdraw from these positions.

Farmers: Repeal agri laws first, then talk

Sticking to demands, farmers to intensify their agitation

How many more farmers will have to die, asks Congress

SREEPARNA CHAKRABARTY | DC NEW DELHI, DEC. 12

Claiming that 11 farmers have lost their lives while protesting against the new farm laws over the last 17 days, the Congress on Saturday questioned how many agriculturalists would have to lose their lives to get the legislations repealed.

"How many more sacrifices will the farmers have to make to get the agri laws repealed?" former Congress president Rahul Gandhi tweeted. He tagged a media report which claimed that 11 protesting farmers had lost their lives in the last 17 days due to various reasons such as ill health or a mishap.

Congress' chief spokesperson Randeep Surjewala claimed that despite the death of 11 farmer brothers in the last 17 days, the Modi government was not relenting.

"They (government) are still standing with their 'money providers' not with 'annadaatas' (food providers)," Mr Surjewala tweeted. "The country wants to know — 'Is Rajdharma (constitutional responsibility) bigger or Rajhat' (stubbornness)?" he asked.

Farmers, especially from the three food bowl states of Punjab, Haryana and Uttar Pradesh are protesting the Farmers (Empowerment and Protection) Agreement of Price Assurance and Farm Services Act, 2020; Farmers Produce Trade and Commerce (Promotion and Facilitation) Act, 2020; and The Essential Commodities (Amendment) Act 2020.

While the government has projected the three laws as major reforms in the agriculture sector that will remove middlemen and allow farmers to sell anywhere in the country, the protesting farmers have expressed apprehension that the new laws would pave the way for eliminating the safety cushion of Minimum Support Price and do away with the mandis, leaving them at the mercy of big corporates.

Confessions of an old feminist

It was when I hit 40 that it started to bother me. Now this is true: born in the 1960s, my sister and I were sure that we would never live to see the change of the century, the fin de siècle. We would be so old! Almost 40. Life would surely be over. In our youth, we did the usual thing: asked our parents what life was like in the “olden days”.

Well, karma. It's now my turn. And the millennium happened, I turned 40. Getting my reading glasses almost on the date was exciting. I had always wanted to wear glasses and decided that I had “lost” my eyesight at 7 I wanted them so bad but that's another story. Anyway. With my new reading glasses, I was instantly outraged by such newspaper headlines: “Elderly woman of 45 run over”.

The lifestyle pages might have been full of rubbish about 60 being the new 40 and 70 the new 30 or whatever. But as far as the general public was concerned, 45 was elderly. Yes, my joints had started creaking. My hair was greying. And all the rest of the accoutrements of ageing but you know, big deal. I didn't feel “elderly”. And at best, I had moved up a notch from being “Didi” to “Bhabhi” or “Madam” as far as the general public were concerned. Respect at last! What respect? Ephemeral, as you will discover soon.

That 40 bridge was crossed almost two decades ago. I'm looking forward to some senior citizen benefits in a couple of years, if Modi government hasn't done away with them by then of course: 1/4 per cent interest rate increase on FDs and such. But before I even get there, I have to get around the fact that I have in less than 20 years progressed from “elderly” to my death bed.

All day I get advice from the yooofs of India. Do not say this. Do not think like that. When you eat, lift your hand to your mouth. You don't know this, but the Earth rotates on its axis. Why did you say this when you meant that? Did you know that the tomato is not indigenous to India? Or even better, how dare you say the tomato is not indigenous to India you traitorous old coot. Go home Aunty and all the rest of it. Not that I mind being called Aunty. I've been an Aunty since I was in my 20s.

And then, there are the men. Earlier they explained menstruation to me. Now they explain menopause. In between they explain everything else. To be fair, it's not my age so much that forces them to be so generous with their little knowledge. It's my femaleness. The thing is, it doesn't stop.

I'm not unsympathetic to ageists, don't get me wrong. I understand. Between the ages of 12 to 39, I also thought I knew everything and this self-delusional omniscience peaked in my 30s. I do think my Mother conked me on the head a few times and I still didn't get it. Thick and a know-it-all. Imagine how annoying that was.

As is the manner of all things, I learnt. That I am elderly, aged, stupid, ignorant, in dire need of schooling, that my own words need to be explained back to me and especially all my jokes (they may be terrible but they're mine!), maybe I even need cancelling. Because as I have learnt (I can still pick up one or two things) that it's mainly older people who get “cancelled”.

I genuinely thought I would be philosophical about the whole thing. End on the last resort poetry like TS Eliot: “I grow old, I grow old...”

Or WB Yeats and “arise and go now”. But then I thought, what the what. There's still some life in the old dog. So here are the last two verses of Lewis Carroll's satirical version of Robert Southey's poem. Hah! I beat you to your “did you know”. And don't worry about the last line. I'm not that violent. Yet.

“You are old,” said the youth, “one would hardly suppose That your eye was as steady as ever; Yet you balanced an eel on the end of your nose— What made you so awfully clever?” “I have answered three questions, and that is enough,” Said his father; “don't give yourself airs! Do you think I can listen all day to such stuff? Be off, or I'll kick you down stairs!”

Ground reality darkens PM ‘vista’ of democracy

Pavan K. Varma

Chanakya's View

At the bhoomipoojan of the proposed new Parliament building it was heartening to hear Prime Minister Narendra Modi speak about the ancient democratic traditions in India, and modern India's belief in the theory and practice of democracy. It is, indeed, a matter of pride that defying the Cassandras who predicted the early demise of democracy in independent India, our Republic continues to be the world's largest democracy.

However, the PM's espousal of democracy sits in rather strong contrast to the actual practice of the government he heads, where more and more decisions appear to be in the nature of farmans. Demonetisation, which caused immense economic dislocation, and from which the country has still not fully recovered, was announced by the PM himself like a bolt from the blue one evening. Similarly, the decision to impose the lockdown at the onset of the Covid pandemic was done at four hours' notice without adequate advance preparation causing unprecedented suffering for millions of migrant labour.

The categorical statements by home minister Amit Shah that the Citizenship Amendment Bill (CAA) will be explicitly linked to the patently discriminatory NRC exercise, was unprecedented by consultation and deliberation, thereby leading to nationwide protests. Most recently, the three farmer's bills were rammed through Parliament through a voice vote, without sufficient discussion, and without referring them to a select committee of Parliament for widespread consultations with legitimate stakeholders. Consequently, the farmer's agitation is there for all to see.

In a democracy there is a tangible dialectic between intent and process. In dictatorships the process can be overlooked, and the ruling dispensation can proceed unchallenged in implementing its intent. That is why, undemocratic polities may give the illusion of taking decisions faster, but their foundations are brittle and their decisions, precisely because of the lack of democratic debate, questionable and unsustainable. When the intent, even if laudable, is unaccompanied by democratic processes, the result causes unease, apprehension, and social instability.

At the bhoomipoojan, the PM's eloquence on India's democratic credentials, and the importance of civilised discourse, could not hide the fact that the plan for the massive restructuring of New Delhi has suffered from an overwhelming opacity and lack of transparency. Once again, it is evidence of the current government deciding unilaterally what is good for the people, and then proceeding to implement that decision without fully consulting the people.

Lutyens, who built New Delhi along with Herbert Baker, was a racist, and what he left us with is not sacrosanct. But, in terms of the process for change, the government has been opaque to the point of being undemocratic.

The facts speak for themselves. The building of a new Parliament is only one piece of a larger decision to almost rebuild the key heritage areas of New Delhi. As per the plan, the existing Parliament will be junked and made into a museum; the North and South Blocks of the central secretariat will also be junked and made into museums; the iconic Central Vista will be jettisoned, and make way for a new residence for the PM and the Vice President. A new Central Secretariat to house all the babus of the government will be constructed. Several key buildings in these areas will be demolished. In other words, the existing Master Plan for New Delhi will be more or less thrown into the dustbin.

Cities cannot be fossilised and should change with changing times and needs. We can, therefore, give the government the benefit of doubt in terms of its intent. Lutyens, who built New Delhi along with Herbert Baker, was an incorrigible racist, and what he left us with is not sacrosanct. But, in terms of the process for change, the government has been opaque to the point of being undemocratic.

The original brief for a project of this magnitude simply said that New Delhi must represent “the values of a new India” and be “rooted in the Indian culture and social milieu”. Should not what this should entail be a matter of democratic discussion, among experts and in Parliament? Then, why was an open design competition not held? This was the methodology followed for the rebuilding of the World Trading Centre in New York, the renovation of the Notre Dame in Paris, and the Indira Gandhi Centre for the National Arts in New Delhi. Again, the selection was based on tenders for which 80 per cent was allocated for quality, and 20 per cent for price. But who decided what constituted the best quality? The government itself. The result was that a Gujarat based company got the contract even when its price bid was reportedly the highest.

Nor were the technical scores for the winning company disclosed. No convincing study was presented to show that the existing Parliament building is falling apart, and cannot be repurposed for future needs. No public jury of eminent architects, environmentalists, landscapers and town planners was appointed to judge the proposals. Why was the meeting of the Central Vista Committee held without the presence of non-government members? Why were environmental clearances sought to be obtained piecemeal, rather than for the project as a whole? Why has the approval of the Heritage Conservation Committee not yet been obtained? The only thing we see is a tearing hurry to complete this architectural megalomania by March 2022, and to start construction even when petitions against it are pending before the Supreme Court.

In a democracy, the democratic bona fides of a government depend on its willingness to follow the democratic process of discussion and debate. In the absence of this, eloquence with regard to our democratic past appears less than convincing.

BENGAL ATTACK

The attack on the Bharatiya Janata Party president's convoy near Kolkata is egregious. Change needs to come from both the Trinamul and the ruling dispensation (Nadda stoning: All parties guilty of decorum breach, DC, Dec. 12). Democracy calls for punctiliousness and constructive criticism and not confrontation.

Dr C. Ghanshyam Visakhapatnam

The so-called stone-pelting on Bharatiya Janata Party president J.P. Nadda is naturally an act of intolerance which could have been avoided if in the place of Nadda, someone from BJP's hierarchy with roots from Bengal could have been selected to woo Bengal voters for 2021 elections, (Centre, WB engage in power play, DC, Dec. 12). One cannot expect a leader from Tamil Nadu or Andhra to go to UP or Bihar or Punjab to woo voters there and be successful. Except PM, nobody will be successful.

Someswar Visakhapatnam

The smallest gesture the Bhodro Mohila of Bengal, the Chief Minister Mamata Banerjee could do was to say “sorry” for the unsavoury attack on Nadda's convoy, even if he was a baahire bhadralok on a visit to the state for political reasons! Bengalis have the reputation of entertaining rivals as “guests of honour”. Mamata has cast a shadow on Bengal's culture. She should correct the image suitably.

K. Nehru Patnaik Visakhapatnam

Perennially angry Mamata has dramatically dissed Bharatiya Janata Party president J.P. Nadda's name in bad taste on dais and asserted that stone throwing was planned by the BJP to tarnish the reputation of TMC. She asserted the BJP is a party of Gujarat and Delhi and they are outsiders to Bengal and unwelcome. Feeling insecure about future with many of her colleagues switching to BJP, she is lambasting Central leaders, Governor and Central forces. Even in the Marxist rule, WB witnessed lawlessness and political murders and now only the players have changed.

Madhav image irks BJP top brass, he may be repatriated

Once a favourite of the Rashtriya Swayamsevak Sangh, the BJP and the media, Ram Madhav is clearly in the wilderness today. When he was dropped as BJP general secretary some months ago, it was expected that the high-profile leader would be rewarded with a Rajya Sabha seat as a precursor to his induction as a minister in the Narendra Modi government. His cheerleaders, especially those in the media, were convinced that it was only a matter of time before Mr Madhav was rehabilitated. But, so far, there is nothing on the horizon. A Rajya Sabha seat that did fall vacant recently was awarded to Sushil Modi, former deputy chief minister of Bihar. Apparently, the BJP leadership is not happy with the larger-than-life image Mr Madhav has cultivated for himself. It feels he is far too individualistic to be contained by a system. It is now up to the RSS to take a call on Mr Madhav's future as he was loaned to the party by the Sangh. It is speculated that he will go back to the RSS but there are many in the Sangh who are not happy about his return.

Finding itself on the back foot when the farmers began their agitation against the farm bills, the Modi government was busy defending itself and hard selling the agriculture reforms. The media, too, kept the focus on the protesters and pushed the government to respond to their demands. However, this narrative underwent a dramatic change when Opposition parties extended their support to the December 8 Bharat bandh called by the farmers. The government cleverly shifted the spotlight to what it described as the Opposition's “hypocritical” stand on the farm bills. The government first fielded Union law minister Ravi Shankar Prasad to attack the Congress which, he said, had proposed the introduction of similar reforms in its election manifesto. On the day of the bandh, the BJP unleashed a galaxy of senior ministers and chief ministers to repeat the same accusations. Television news channels promptly fell into the trap. As a result, most news bulletins were replete with interviews of BJP ministers with an occasional concession being made to an Opposition leader. The bandh and the farmers were last on the priority list.

For three years, the West Bengal police was on the hunt for Bimal Gurung, the founder of the Gorkha Janmukti Morcha, who had been charged under the Unlawful Activities (Prevention) Act for his role in the 104-day shutdown in Darjeeling. Mr Gurung suddenly emerged from hiding in October and declared he was snapping ties with the BJP and pledged support to West Bengal chief minister Mamata Banerjee. As a result, fortune is now smiling on Mr Gurung. From being a hunted man and constantly on the run, he has now been provided security by the same police that was on the lookout for him. Not just that but the grapevine says Mr Gurung has also been given sufficient funds to enable him to campaign for the Trinamul Congress as Ms Banerjee faces a tough Assembly election next year. In this process, the demand for a separate state of Gorkhaland has been put on the backburner as the Trinamul chief has said a firm no to a division of the state.

The Capital is rife with speculation that it was not Punjab chief minister Amarinder Singh who had sought a meeting with home minister Amit Shah. Instead, it is said, Mr Singh was summoned to Delhi by Mr Shah for a discussion on the farmers' stir. The home minister is not happy with Mr Singh's open support to the protesters and his laxity in dealing with them. Mr Shah wants the chief minister to initiate moves to end the blockade of the highways. Apparently, Mr Singh's attention was also drawn to the pending cases of financial impropriety against his son Raninder Singh. The Punjab chief minister, however, stuck to his guns and has instead put the onus of ending the agitation on the Centre.

IMMIGRATION
RULES, BIDEN TOLD

Washington, Dec. 12: Influential American lawmakers, including Indian-American Congresswoman Pramila Jayapal, have urged President-elect Joe Biden to reverse the immigration policies of Donald Trump, as they introduced a resolution, seeking reform of the immigration system that is just, empathetic and fair.

Jayapal and several of her Congressional colleagues on Friday in a resolution urged Congress to create humane, community-based alternatives to detention, and revamp the current deportation system to include, among other things, guaranteed access to legal representation.

Jayapal along with congressmen Jesús "Chuy" García, Veronica Escobar, Alexandria Ocasio-Cortez, Judy Chu and Yvette Clarke unveiled a Roadmap to Freedom Resolution as a progressive vision to transform the immigration system to one that is focused on dignity and rooted in the needs and lives of impacted people.

The Roadmap to Freedom Resolution will be introduced at the beginning of the 117th Congress.

US EXECUTES
DRIVER WHO KILLED HIS CHILD

Terre Haute (US), Dec. 12: The Trump administration continued its unprecedented series of post-election federal executions by putting to death a Louisiana truck driver who severely abused his 2-year-old daughter for weeks in 2002, then killed her by slamming her head against a truck's windows and dashboard. Alfred Bourgeois, 56, was pronounced dead at 8.21 pm. Eastern time on Friday after receiving a lethal injection at the federal prison in Terre Haute, Indiana.

His lawyers argued Bourgeois had an IQ that puts him in the intellectually disabled category, saying that should have made him ineligible for the death penalty under federal law. Victor J. Abreu, said it was "shameful" to execute his client "without fair consideration of his intellectual disability." In his last words, Bourgeois offered no apology and instead struck a deeply defiant tone, insisting that he neither killed nor sexually abused his baby girl.

LETTER FROM
'ZODIAC KILLER'
DECODED

Los Angeles, Dec. 12: A team of cryptography enthusiasts announced on Friday they had successfully cracked one of the coded messages sent over 50 years ago by the "Zodiac Killer," who terrorised northern California in the late 1960s and remains unidentified.

The message was sent in November 1969 to the San Francisco Chronicle newspaper by the alleged serial killer, its code consisting of a series of cryptic letters and symbols.

Sleuths hoped the coded message contained the identity of the killer, who committed at least five murders in 1968 and 1969 but claimed 37 in total and inspired other serial killers.

According to the trio said to have broken the code, the message includes boasts and defiance of authorities without any real clues on motive or identity.

It includes to message: "I hope you are having lots of fun in trying to catch me... I am not afraid of the gas chamber because it will send me to paradise (sic) all the sooner because I now have enough slaves to work for me."

Trump forces US regulator to approve Pfizer vaccine faster

FDA chief told to quit if drug regulator does not clear vaccine by end of day

Congress averts shutdown, buys time for more talks

Washington, Dec. 12: US President Donald Trump on Friday piled pressure on the US drug regulator to quickly approve the Pfizer-BioNTech Covid-19 vaccine as America readied to roll out mass immunisations.

The Washington Post reported that the White House told the Food and Drug Administration (FDA) chief Stephen Hahn to submit his resignation if the agency does not clear the vaccine by the end of the day.

Hahn later disputed the characterization of the call, but the alleged threat came as Trump tweeted that the agency was a "big, old, slow turtle" and told Hahn to get the "dam" vaccines out immediately.

An expert committee had already voted to grant an emergency use authorisation, which was expected within days, as the FDA worked to iron out last-minute details with Pfizer.

These included a fact sheet for doctors. The FDA has said it wants to warn people with severe allergies to avoid the shots for now. Trump's intervention reinserts politics into the scientific process, which could undermine vaccine confidence in the world's hardest-hit country, where the death toll is nearing 3,00,000.

It was also not clear whether having an EUA a day or two earlier than expected would change when the first Americans — nursing home residents and health care workers — would get their injections, which is expected Monday or Tuesday. The country hopes to have 20 million people inoculated this month.

Washington, Dec. 12: Congress sent a temporary government-wide funding bill to President Donald Trump on Friday that would avert a federal Shutdown at midnight and buy time for on-again, off-again talks on Covid-19 aid.

The bill sets a new deadline of midnight next Friday. The short-term measure passed the Senate by a unanimous voice vote without much drama and sent senators home for the weekend without a clear picture of what awaits next week. The House passed the bill Wednesday.

Trump was expected to sign it before midnight. The talks are stalled but there is universal agree-said on Friday that it is buying 100 million more doses of the Moderna vaccine candidate, amid reports the government passed on the opportunity to secure more supply of the Pfizer jab.

The purchase brings its total supply of Moderna doses to 200 million, enough to immunize 100 million people with the two-shot regimen, which is yet to be green-lighted by authorities. Two other vaccine candidates stumbled on Friday.

France's Sanofi and Britain's GSK said on Friday their vaccine would not be ready until the end of 2021. — AFP

ment that Congress won't adjourn for the year without passing a long-delayed round of pandemic relief. An emerging $900 billion aid package from a bipartisan group of lawmakers hit a rough patch after Senate Majority Leader Mitch McConnell, R-Ky, swung against the effort. Still, negotiations are ongoing and pressure remains intense.

The House has recessed for a few days, with leaders warning members to be prepared to return to Washington to vote on the year-end deals. Negotiators on a separate $1.4 trillion omnibus spending bill appeared to be moving in a positive direction, said the chairman of the Senate Appropriations Committee, Sen. Richard Shelby, R-Ala. This bill would serve as a vehicle to carry any year-end virus assistance. "I'm hopeful we're going to get there on both the omni and the Covid package," McConnell said. — AP

Oxford-AstraZeneca vaccine,
Sputnik to be mixed for trial

London, Dec. 12: The Oxford University and AstraZeneca Covid-19 vaccine, currently awaiting regulatory approvals, is set to be used for a "mix and match" trial with Russia's Sputnik vaccine against the Coronavirus, according to UK media reports.

The two sets of experts are to join forces to explore if a combination of the two jabs, both using a benign virus called adenovirus, could prove effective in offering people long-term protection against Covid-19.

According to The Times, the idea is that by using different vaccines, each shot may prompt a stronger immune response. AstraZeneca, the pharmaceutical major which produces the Oxford University's vaccine, has agreed to collaborate with Sputnik in a deal apparently sealed after an offer was made on Twitter, the newspaper said.

Early results from the final-stage trial of the Sputnik vaccine showed it was 90 per cent effective and findings that involved more cases with the Oxford vaccine indicated it was 62 per cent effective in one regimen and 90 per cent in another. — AP

Britain promises to stop funding
fossil fuel projects

London, Dec. 12: Britain is to end government funding for fossil fuel projects overseas, Prime Minister Boris Johnson said on Friday, on the eve of an international climate change summit.

Johnson announced a halt to funding of new crude oil, gas and coal projects before opening the Climate Ambition Summit co-hosted by Britain, the United Nations and France on Saturday.

"I'm pleased to say today that the UK will end taxpayer support for fossil fuel projects overseas as soon as possible," Johnson said in a statement released by his office.

Britain has been criticised for sending billions of pounds abroad to help extract and refine fossil fuels and build power stations.

It has promised to end this soon, while saying there will be "very limited exceptions".

"Calling time on financing overseas fossil fuel projects really is a welcome move," said the policy director at Greenpeace UK, Doug Parr.

Christian Aid's head of campaigns and UK advocacy Pete Moorey said to tackle the climate crisis, 80 percent of known fossil fuels needed to be left in the ground.

"The UK government is right to heed this warning and end support for fossil fuels overseas," he added.

"Developing countries need investment to leapfrog the dirty energy that has led us into this crisis and access the clean renewable that can both accelerate their development and tackle the climate emergency."

UN CHIEF URGES
'CLIMATE CRISIS'
DECLARATION

London, Dec. 12: UN chief Antonio Guterres on Saturday urged world leaders to declare a "state of climate emergency" and shape greener growth after the Coronavirus pandemic, as he opened a summit marking five years since the landmark Paris Agreement.

The Climate Ambition Summit, being held online, comes as the United Nations warns current commitments to tackle rises in global temperatures are inadequate.

The commitments made in Paris in 2015 were "far from enough" to limit temperature rises to 1.5 degrees Celsius, the UN secretary-general said in his opening address to the summit, which is co-hosted by Britain and France. — AFP

Downing Street said it intends to implement the policy by November next year, when Britain will host the UN summit on climate change COP26, in Glasgow.

Over the last four years, the British government "supported 21 billion ($28 billion, 23 billion euros) of UK oil and gas exports through trade promotion and export finance", it added.

Britain has been criticised by watchdogs and activists including Swedish campaigner Greta Thunberg for financing dirty energy projects abroad. — AFP

French police protest

French police officers gather on the Trocadero square in front of the Eiffel Tower to protest in Paris. About 50 cops gathered with their vehicles and blared their sirens to protest President Emmanuel Macron saying it is "unbearable" that people of color are more likely to be stopped by law enforcement than white people. Two unions threatened to stop carrying out identity checks after Macron's remarks a week ago in an interview with the online outlet Brut, meant to capture the youth audience. "We just want to say to the president and politicians that we are neither racist nor violent," one officer said. — AP

SCOTUS dismisses
Texas election suit

Washington, Dec. 12: The US Supreme Court has rejected a lawsuit filed by Texas, along with 17 other States, and backed by President Donald Trump seeking to overturn the results of the presidential elections in several key battleground States won by Democratic candidate Joe Biden who now is the president-elect.

"Texas has not demonstrated a judicially cognisable interest in the manner in which another State conducts its elections. All other pending motions are dismissed as moot," the Supreme Court said in a brief unsigned order on Thursday, delivering a devastating blow to the efforts of Trump to challenge and overturn the election results decisively won by Biden.

Supreme Court Justices Samuel Alito and Clarence Thomas said they believed the court was required to hear the case but expressed no position on Texas' claim. — AP

CONTENDERS
GENERAL PICK

Washington, Dec. 12: New York Gov. Andrew Cuomo is one of several contenders under consideration by President-elect Joe Biden for the role of attorney general, a person with knowledge of the search process said on Friday.

The other three contenders at the moment include former Alabama Sen. Doug Jones, federal appeals court judge Merrick Garland and former Deputy Attorney General Sally Yates, said the person, who cautioned that no decision had been reached and no announcement was expected imminently.

The person was not authorised to discuss the search process by name and spoke on condition of anonymity. — AP

Iran executes ex-oppn figure Ruhollah Zam

Tehran, Dec. 12: Iran authorities on Saturday executed Ruhollah Zam, a former opposition figure who had lived in exile in France and was implicated in anti-government protests, days after his sentence was upheld.

State television said the "counter-revolutionary" Zam was hanged in the morning after the supreme court upheld his sentence due to "the severity of the crimes" committed against the Islamic republic.

Judiciary spokesman Gholamhossein Esmaili had on Tuesday said Zam's sentence was upheld by the supreme court "more than a month ago".

London-based human rights group Amnesty International, in a statement after his verdict was confirmed, described Zam as a "journalist and dissident". It said the confirmation marked "a shocking escalation in the use of the death penalty as a weapon of repression".

Iran's Revolutionary Guards announced the arrest of Zam in October 2019, claiming he had been "directed by France's intelligence service".

State television said he was "under the protection of several countries' intelligence services".

The official IRNA news agency said he was also convicted of espionage for France and an unnamed country in the region, cooperating with the "hostile government of America", acting against "the country's security", insulting the "sanctity of Islam" and instigating violence during protests in 2017.

At least 25 people were killed during the unrest in December 2017 and January 2018 that was sparked by economic hardship.

Zam, who was granted political asylum in France and reportedly lived in Paris, ran a channel on the Telegram messaging app called Amadnews. — AFP

Icebreaker leaves Oz after 150 trips

Hobart, Dec. 12: The giant orange icebreaker Aurora Australis left Australia for the final time on Saturday after more than 150 trips to Antarctica. Next stop: a shipyard in Dubai, where it will be refurbished and either leased or sold.

The Australian Antarctic Division announced earlier this year that after 30 years of sailing to the frozen continent for research and to support Australian bases in Antarctica, the Aurora Australis would be replaced by a larger ship.

The 95-metre (312-foot) Aurora Australis was built in Newcastle north of Sydney and launched in September 1989. It undertook its maiden voyage to Heard Island, an external Australian territory in Antarctica, in 1990.

It has since ferried researchers, crucial food and fuel supplies and been involved in several rescues. Sean Lawrence, a seaman for 14 years on the vessel, planned to toast the icebreaker with a beer as he watched it leave the River Derwent. "You form a bond when you're isolated and working in extreme conditions," he said.

"To suddenly have that leaving your life, it leaves a bit of a hole." Lawrence was aboard the Aurora Australis when it ran aground near Mawson Station in Antarctica during a blizzard in 2016. — AP

SHORT TAKES

Harris added to Australia squad

Sydney: Victoria's Marcus Harris was on Saturday added to an injury-plagued Australia squad for next week's first Test against India after Will Pucovski was ruled out of the series opener alongside David Warner. The four-match series begins with the day-night Test at Adelaide from December 17. Harris was drafted into the squad for the seasoned Warner, who suffered a groin injury during the second one-day international against India, while Pucovski sustained a concussion while batting for Australia A in a tour match against the visitors at Drummoyne Oval in Sydney. Windies struggle against Kiwis

Wellington: Kyle Jamieson has made a reputation in his short Test cricket career for New Zealand as a man who makes things happen. He enhanced that reputation on the second day of the second Test, taking 5-34 as NZ had the West Indies 124-8 at stumps in reply to its first innings of 460. The tourists need 136 to avoid the follow on. It was Jamieson's second fiver in only five tests in which he has increased his claim to the designation allrounder with a half a century and two innings of 40 or more. — AP

Angulo on target as Goa post win

Goa: A second successive win helped FC Goa climb to fourth on the ISL Season 7 table as they beat a gritty Odisha FC 1-0 at the GMC Stadium on Saturday. Igor Angulo (45+1') netted the winner to help Juan Ferrando's side register another victory. Arshdeep Singh shone for Odisha between the sticks but their inefficiency upfront meant Stuart Baxter's side remained winless in the competition. Vinit Rai was handed his first start of the season as Odisha made four changes to their line-up. Ferrando rang in just one change as Alberto Noguera replaced Edu Bedia. Goa outplayed their opponents in the first half and headed into the break with a one-goal lead. — Agencies

Ashwin, Amir steal the show

Coimbatore: The season's opening round of the 23rd JK Tyre — FMSCI National Racing Championship (JKNRC) witnessed lots of excitement, with Ashwin Datta and Amir Sayed stealing the show on Day 2 here on Saturday. The 16-year-old Sayed from Kottayam proved his class winning every other race, four in all, with ease in the JK Tyre Novice Cup. It was his first visit to this circuit but he mesmerised one and all with his magic on the wheel. Even as the others struggled to tackle the tricky and slow first corner, Sayed, despite limited track time, handled it with ease. In fact, he turned it to his advantage winning both the races on Friday in a commanding manner. He further shifted top gear to win two more races on Saturday.

ROHIT OR MISS?

Sharma 'clinically fit', to be reassessed in Oz

New Delhi, Dec. 12: The BCCI on Saturday declared senior batsman Rohit Sharma "clinically fit" to join the Indian team in Australia but said a call on his participation in the last two matches of the Test series there will be taken after a reassessment by the squad's medical team.

Rohit had sustained a hamstring injury during the IPL, which led to him missing the white-ball leg of the ongoing Australia tour. He is out of reckoning for the first two Tests of the four-match series. The opening Test starts at Adelaide on December 17.

"He has been given a detailed programme to follow for the duration of the two weeks he will be quarantined for. He will be reassessed by the Team India medical team post his quarantine to establish his fitness status and a call on his participation in the Border-Gavaskar Trophy will be taken accordingly," the BCCI said in a statement.

Rohit on Friday cleared an eagerly-watched fitness test at the National Cricket Academy in Bengaluru and will leave for Australia on December 14, three days before the start of the marquee Test series against the world's number one team.

"... Rohit Sharma has completed his rehabilitation process at the NCA in Bengaluru and is now clinically fit. He has been rehabilitating and training at NCA since 19th November following a high-grade left hamstring injury suffered during the Indian Premier League (IPL)," the statement said.

The BCCI said the NCA medical team is satisfied with Rohit's fitness but added that he will need to work on his endurance.

VIHARI SLAMS CENTURY, STAKES CLAIM

Sydney, Dec. 12: Rishabh Pant and Hanuma Vihari put themselves in the reckoning for next week's first Test with contrasting hundreds as India thoroughly dominated Australia A in the pink ball warm-up match here on Saturday.

Needing 19 runs to reach his century when Jack Wildermuth commenced the second evening's final over, Pant clobbered him for 4, 4, 6, 4, 4, to remain unbeaten on a blistering 103 off only 73 balls. Overall, he hit nine fours and six sixes. At the other end, Vihari laboured his way to a fine 104-run knock off 194 balls.

Also staking a claim for selection is young Shubman Gill, with an elegant 65 off 78 balls and 10 sweetly-timed boundaries. In the final session of play, Pant's aggressive approach paid dividends as he smashed the Australia A bowlers to all corners of the Sydney Cricket Ground, the southpaw making a strong case for himself for the wicketkeeper's job in Adelaide ahead of Test specialist Wriddhiman Saha.

To cite an example of his power-hitting, Pant swept one over the cow corner for a six, leaving Nic Maddinson to search for the ball among the rows of chairs at the SCG.

At the close of play, India were strongly placed at 386 for four for an overall lead by 472 runs, having bundled out the home team out for a paltry 108 in their first innings on Friday.

In their first innings, India were all out for 194, which would have been far less if not for pace spearhead Jasprit Bumrah's maiden first-class fifty, but the visitors staged a strong comeback with both bat and ball. — PTI

Siraj earns praise for sporting gesture

Sydney, Dec. 12: India fast bowler Mohammed Siraj's fine gesture of rushing in and attending to rival Cameron Green after he was hit on the head during the opening day of the warm-up game here has got praised from the Australian media.

Green attempted a catch off a straight drive from Jasprit Bumrah off his own bowling but the ball flew through his fingers and hit on the right side of his head.

Siraj immediately dropped his bat and rushed to check on Green. Bumrah also did the same following his teammate.

Wolves outfoxed by 10-man Villa

London, Dec. 12: Aston Villa snatched a 1-0 win at Wolverhampton Wanderers in the Premier League on Saturday after substitute Anwar El Ghazi drilled in a stoppage-time penalty as both sides finished the game with 10 men.

Villa had Douglas Luiz sent off in the 85th minute and Wolves midfielder Joao Moutinho was dismissed shortly after the visitors scored against the run of play to register their fourth away win of the season.

The result lifted Villa up to eighth on 18 points from 10 games while Wolves, again sorely missing injured striker Raul Jimenez, stayed 11th on 17 points from 12 games.

El Ghazi said he felt relaxed about taking the penalty.

"I practise penalties a lot, even if I am not playing," the Dutch midfielder told the BBC.

"I did not feel a lot of pressure to be honest. I appreciate Jack Grealish gave it to me, but he knows my capabilities."

The home side looked more likely to grab the winner in a dour clash, with their 18-year old striker Fabio Silva hitting the post midway through the second half as he made his first start for the club.

Villa keeper Emiliano Martinez pulled off several fine saves, taming a stinging low shot from Daniel Podence before he somehow kept out a fierce Leander Dendoncker volley 10 minutes from time.

When the match seemed to be heading for a draw, Nelson Semedo hauled down John McGinn in the penalty area and El Ghazi made no mistake with the spot-kick as he blasted the West Ham United manager David Moyes has taken aim at the video assistant referee (VAR) after a decision went against his side in the 2-1 win at Leeds United on Saturday and called on the Premier League's more influential managers to protest.

West Ham goalkeeper Lukasz Fabianski conceded a penalty in the second minute when he brought down Patrick Bamford but seemed to have redeemed himself by saving Mateusz Klich's spot kick.

But after a review by VAR, a retake was ordered due to Fabianski leaving his line, and Klich scored at the second attempt.

"Until we get the rules sorted out I don't think I'm going to be too happy," said Moyes, whose side fought back to clinch victory with headed goals by midfielder Tomas Soucek and defender Angelo Ogbonna.

VERSTAPPEN SNATCHES FINAL POLE OF SEASON

Abu Dhabi, Dec. 12: Red Bull's Max Verstappen snatched the final pole position of the year, denying rivals Mercedes a front-row lock out in Saturday's qualifying for the season-ending Abu Dhabi Grand Prix.

The Dutchman, who had led a one-two for Red Bull ahead of team mate Alexander Albon in final practice, produced a stunning one minute, 35.246-second lap under the floodlights at the Yas Marina track.

Verstappen's time was 0.025 seconds quicker than Valtteri Bottas, who urged on by team boss Toto Wolff over the team radio, still put his Mercedes on the front row. World champion Lewis Hamilton, back in the car after his COVID-19-enforced absence in Sakhir, was third and 0.086 seconds off the pace.

Verstappen's display around the 5.5km long lap earned him only the third pole of his career and his first since last year's Brazilian Grand Prix.

It was only the second time Mercedes had been denied pole this season and the first time all year that a non-Mercedes powered car will start from the front, with Lance Stroll having started on pole for Mercedes-engineered Racing Point in Turkey.

India's batting needs to deliver in Test series

Ayaz Memon
Over The Top

By the time you read this, Rohit Sharma will hopefully have joined the Indian team in Australia. A 14-day quarantine period is mandatory Down Under so Rohit will perforce have to miss the first two Tests. Considering his experience and caliber, this is a setback for India.

There has been so much debate on the Rohit issue that I have nothing further to add save that this unsavoury episode need never have been had key members in the Indian cricket establishment shown better co-ordination and communication. There's a serious lesson to be learnt.

Of immediate importance, however, is how the Indian team in Australia can make the Test rubber, which starts on December 17, rewarding top after having shared honours in the white ball series.

In ODIs, India evaded a whitewash with a fine performance in the third match. Likewise, Australia prevented a clean sweep by India in the T20s, winning the last match. Both teams missed key players in one or the other series, so there was no advantage for either.

Keen competition in the ODIs and T20s has set the tone for the marquee show on this tour, the Test matches. White ball cricket can't be compared to the longest format, but seeing the intensity of players from both side, my appetite is whetted for a stirring contest.

In 2018, India had created history winning a rubber for the first time ever Down Under. That this had taken 70 years (Independent India's first assignment was against Don Bradman's team in 1947-48) shows what a massive psychological hurdle beating Australia in Australia had been.

Doubtless the Australians will be revenge hungry this time. Of the two major domos missing in 2018, David Warner has unfortunately injured himself and will not play at Adelaide. But Steve Smith has looked in ominous touch this season, and young Marnus Labuschagne has taken the cricket world by storm since the 2019 Ashes.

The big challenge for India, however, is not so much in keeping the Aussie batsmen quiet, but for their own batsmen to come good on pacy, bouncy pitches and give their bowlers enough runs to defend.

In 2018, Bumrah, Shami and Ishant performed magnificently, but without the dogged and determined batting of Pujara — ably supported by Kohli — the best efforts of the bowlers would have been in vain. As a ball park figure, India's batting needs to deliver 380-400 runs first up to be competitive.

With Rohit not available for the first two Tests and Kohli returning home after Adelaide, India's batting has a vulnerability about it that the formidable Aussie attack of Cummins, Hazlewood, Pattinson/Starc and Lyons will want to exploit.

In the two warm up games, the team has shown spirit, skill and ambition. Both in batting and bowling there have been some fine performances, though it must be said that most of the front-line Aussie players were not involved.

The second match at Sydney, which finishes today, was the more important being a day-night affair played with a pink ball, in preparation for the first Test.

Several Indian players (Shaw, Gill, Vihari, Pant, Saha, Saini, Siraj) are on trial, some key ones (Bumrah, Shami, Rahane, Agarwal) were looking to get into rhythm before the first Test. In the two days play as yet, India have been quite impressive.

Bundled out for a paltry 194 on a spicy pitch — largely through a spunky 71-run partnership between Bumrah and Siraj — India's pace bowlers struck back marvelously to bowl out the opponents for 108. The hostility with which Bumrah, Shami, Saini and Siraj bowled wouldn't have been lost on the Aussies.

In the second innings, with the pitch having eased considerably, India (barring Shaw who threw his wicket away) batted consistently down the order to swell the lead past 325 and put themselves in a potentially winning position.

But this success has also created a vexing situation for the think tank: there are multiple claimants for the second opener's spot, the number 6 slot, the wicket-keeper, the spin all-rounder, and who the 3rd/4th seamer should be.

Skipper Kohli and chief coach Shastri have a head scratching dilemma of getting the right combination for Adelaide over the next few days.
