Flutter over rechristening of EVR Periyar Salai in Chennai

■ Signage of 'Grand Western Trunk Road' blackened

G. BABU JAYAKUMAR | DC
CHENNAI, APRIL 13

The surprise rechristening of Periyar EVR Highway, one of the longest arterial roads in Chennai, to 'Grand Western Trunk Road' by the Highways Department, earned the ire of the followers of Periyar E.V. Ramasamy with several leaders coming out with statements condemning the government.

With social media bringing to light the clandestine name change by publishing the photograph of the new signage put up opposite Ripon Building with the new name on Tuesday, television channels picked up the news, causing wide-spread flutter.

Besides the anger that was expressed through social media, a group of volunteers belonging to the Dravidar Viduthalaai Kazhagam blackened the new name on the board with tar. DMK president M.K.

Stalin wondered if the name change was the handiwork of the religious chauvinists who shivered on hearing the name of Periyar. He said if the old name was not restored immediately, necessary orders would be passed after May 2.

RECORDS CALL IT GWTR, SAYS HD

B. VIJAYALAKSHMI | DC
CHENNAI, APRIL 13:

An official of the highways department of the state government on Tuesday denied renaming the road. "As per our records, the road is called Grand Western Trunk Road since the British era," he told DC. "EVR Periyar Salai aka Poonamallee high road is in Chennai corporation records." The name GWT was aimed at helping the passengers, he said.

Maha declares 15-day curfew

Mumbai, April 13: The Maharashtra government on Tuesday announced a 15-day long statewide curfew from April 14 amid the spike in coronavirus cases in the state.

The curfew, which excludes essential services, will come into effect from 8 pm on Wednesday, Chief Minister Uddhav Thackeray said in his address via social media to people of the state.

Section 144 (prohibitory orders) of the Criminal Procedure Code will be in force till the "lockdown-like" restrictions are in place, Mr Thackeray said. He refrained from terming the new curbs as a lockdown.

There is a shortage of medical oxygen and beds and the demand for Remdesivir has increased in Maharashtra, he said, adding the Centre should help supply oxygen for coronavirus patients in the state by using Air Force planes.

Meanwhile, a total of 1,61,736 new coronavirus infections have been reported in a day pushing India's tally of cases to 1,36,89,453, while the national Covid-19 recovery rate dropped further to 89.51 per cent, according to data updated by the Union Health Ministry on Tuesday.

According to Perumbakkam police, the locals in Chitalapakkam alerted the police after they spotted the bodies of two persons on Arasankalani main road at around midnight. The police rushed to the spot and recovered the bodies. After a preliminary investigation, police found the duo ran away from their houses in Bengaluru after their parents did not approve of their relationship.

Over 1.4 lakh vaccinated in Tiruchy dt: Collector

R. VALAYAPATHY | DC

As many as 1.41 lakh people have been vaccinated for Covid-19 in Tiruchy district so far, and arrangements are being made to vaccinate private sector workers in their work spot itself, said Collector S. DivyaDarshini, soon after inspecting anti-Covid measures adopted at the Mahatma Gandhi Memorial government hospital here on Tuesday.

The collector was accompanied by Dr.

Vanita, Dean, Dr. K.A.P. Viswanatham government medical college hospital, and other health department officials. She told newsmen that at present 450 beds were ready for Corona outpatients at MGMGH, and if needed, bed numbers will be increased.

city corporation limits as containment area, as part of the anti-Covid activities, she added.

She further said 68 persons, 64 from Tiruchy district and one each from Cuddalore, Thanjavur, Perambalur and Pudukcherry, were under treatment for Covid-19 infection at the MGMGH, but were discharged on Tuesday. Second wave another shocker for sex workers

T. SUDHEESH | DC
CHENNAI, APRIL 13

The second wave of Covid-19 pandemic, which is spreading its tentacles across the city fast, has turned the life of hundreds of sex workers in and around Chennai miserable again. This comes at a time when they are still struggling to come to terms with the blues of lockdowns last year.

Following the restrictions imposed by the authorities to contain the spread of the virus, many non-governmental organisations and activists in the city have extended their support for collecting and distributing provisions to these workers after the general public stayed away from them fearing infection.

Emmanuel Prasanth, project manager, Real Charitable Trust, Vyasarpadi here, said they have found many sex workers are now out of work since the second wave hit the city. "We are trying to get provisions including rice, dal and groceries from various quarters to distribute to around 844 workers associated with us. The second wave is absolutely painful for this community.

Following the restrictions imposed by the authorities to contain the spread of the virus, many non-governmental organisations and activists in the city have extended their support for collecting and distributing provisions to these workers after the general public stayed away from them fearing infection.

This comes at a time when they are still struggling to come to terms with the blues of lockdowns last year.

We are working among them for many years. Many of them are continuing in this business unwillingly as they are unable to find other jobs. Since the pandemic hit, we had been conducting skill development programmes among them so that they could fight the pandemic stress. Now the second wave has completely shattered the livelihood of this community once again", he said.

A local activist working for the welfare of sex workers in the city also pointed out that the second wave hit the city when the community is still under stress due to the impact of lockdowns. "The community has never been put under any social security schemes despite them struggling for a long time. Their livelihood has now completely collapsed as the general public is under the scare of Covid-19 infection. So the government has to support them to overcome this tough time", he said.

It may be recalled that the National Human Rights Commission report, "Human rights of women in the context of Covid-19", released in October last year had recognised sex workers as informal workers. The Supreme Court in September had also directed all states to provide dry rations to sex workers identified by National AIDS Control Organisation and legal services authorities, without insisting on any identity proof. Under the Immoral Traffic (Prevention) Act, 1956, sex work, not maintaining any place as brothel, is not illegal.

"We were struggling to cope with the situation ever since the pandemic broke out. We have no work. Now the second wave is another shocker. We can't survive without the support of the government", says a sex worker.

HC declines to forbear Pondy govt from constructing community hall

DC CORRESPONDENT
CHENNAI, APRIL 13

The Madras high court has declined to forbear the Pudukcherry Adi Dravidar Development Corporation from constructing a community hall in the land at Kathasthar in Periapet Thirubuvana.

Pudukcherry. The first bench comprising Chief Justice Sanjib Banerjee and Justice Senthilkumar Ramamoorthy disposed of the PIL filed by M.Shivakumar.

The bench said the petitioner makes it out that the petitioner was a public spirited citizen with the interest of children and young adults in his heart. The petitioner has instituted this PIL for the ostensible purpose of preserving what the petitioner describes as a playground that has been traditionally used by children and young adults in the locality to play there, the bench added.

The bench said according to officials, there was a smaller community centre and the property was recorded as a community centre and a park. The photographs relied upon by the officials reveal that there was a dilapidated building and the general area was rundown and used as a dumping ground for waste and rubbish. According to the officials, following an appeal from the local residents, work has been taken up for building a modern community centre and substantial money has been expended and partial construction has been completed, the bench added.

The bench said for a start, the petition does not appear to be in public interest. The petitioner's motive may be to stop the construction and allow the land nearby the petitioner's residence, which the petitioner had free use of,

to be preserved in its original state. However, since the construction appears to have progressed substantially, as would be evident from some of the photographs relied upon by the officials, no order was made on the petition except to request the officials to ensure that some amount of open and green area was left preserved so that the building being constructed does not cover the entirety of the land. However, the open space may be used as car parking space or open ground for use in connection with the community center, the bench added.

HC declines to restrain authorities from taking action against water lorry owners

DC CORRESPONDENT
CHENNAI, APRIL 13

The Madras high court has declined to restrain the authorities from initiating any action against the members of the South Chennai Private Water Lorry Owners Association while transporting water in lorries.

Disposing of the petition filed by South Chennai Private Water Lorry Owners Association, the first bench comprising Chief Justice Sanjib Banerjee and Justice Senthilkumar Ramamoorthy said nonetheless, the members of the petitioner association who possess the necessary approvals are permitted to seek permission from the Tahsildar concerned for transporting water by lorries. The necessary documentary proof of having obtained necessary approvals shall be enclosed with such individual applications, the bench added.

The bench said it was stated that there were 425 members in the petitioner association and that such members operate about 2000 lorries to transport water to the public, including IT companies, hospitals and the like. The petitioner states that all its members draw water from agricultural wells, which were not used for cultivation purposes and that such extraction does not affect the groundwater table. It was further asserted that the officials frequently intercept these lorries and harass the members of the association on the ground that the water has been extracted from bore wells. In spite of submitting a representation on July 18, 2019, no action has been taken thereon and therefore the present petition has been filed, the bench added.

The bench said state government pleader V.Jayaprakash Narayanan submitted that various approvals were required both for the extraction of ground water and for the transportation thereof. In case individual members of the petitioner association possess the requisite approvals, the transportation of water by such persons would not be prevented by the officials. On the other hand, the present petition has been filed by the association and the petition does not contain averments to the effect that the requisite approvals have been obtained by the members of the association. Consequently, he submitted that the petition was liable to be dismissed. "On the basis of the facts set out in the affidavit in support of the petition, an order of the kind requested for by the petitioner association cannot be granted because there was no basis to conclude that the members of the petitioner association have the requisite approvals from the authorities concerned", the bench added.

Govt urged to change fishing ban period

A. ARUL PALANI | DC
CHENNAI, APRIL 13

Urging the state government to change the fishing ban period on the east coast of Tamil Nadu, the fishermen have demanded the government not to impose a ban on fishing this year. They stated that last year their livelihood was affected for more than 135 days due to the Coronavirus-induced lockdowns. If the government insists on a fishing ban, it may reduce it to 45 days instead of the usual 61 days, said Nanjil P. Ravi of the All-India Fishermen Association.

He said the fishing ban is enforced from April to June every year to facilitate the breeding of fish and conservation of fish stock in marine ecology. Ravi said due to fluctuations in weather conditions, the period from October to December may be considered as the lean period and impose ban during this period instead of April to June. The state receives heavy rainfall during northeast monsoon in the months of October-December, with winds from the western disturbances emerging over the Bay of Bengal and Indian Ocean.

Over the years, cyclones ravaged the state, especially the coastal districts. As a result, among others, the fishing activities also get affected on the Bay of Bengal and Indian Ocean.

Fishermen are able to pursue their job without any disturbance from April to June since it is summer season and there is hardly any natural disturbance. While this being so, the government permits the fishermen to venture into sea during the rainy northeast monsoon season. Hence, the ban on fishing using mechanised boats can be shifted to the northeast monsoon season to ensure fishermen are not unemployed twice a year.

When fishing is permitted during the hatching/breeding period, the fishing population and their growth get affected. Hence, the government must amend the Tamil Nadu Marine Fishing Regulation Act, 1983 suitably. For more than two decades the fishermen had been demanding the government to change the period. However, so far there is no response from the government, he said.

He also demanded the government to provide ₹5 lakh per year for repairing the mechanised boats. He appealed to the government to ensure that families of all active fishermen get financial assistance without delay.

Document registration on auspicious days at extra fees

DC CORRESPONDENT CHENNAI, APRIL 13

The state government will permit registration of documents relating to property transactions on highly auspicious days like Chithirai Thirunal (April 14), Aadi Peruku (August 3) and Thai Poomam (January 8, 2022) by keeping the Registrar's office open and charging extra fees.

According to a government order, the move was to generate more revenue for the Registration Department as the registration charges would be more than the normal charges as per the Table of Fees.

There has been a demand from the public to enable them to do the property registrations on the highly auspicious days of the year Chithirai Thirunal, Aadi Peruku and Thai Poomam, which are otherwise government holidays, the order said.

So, acceding to the popular demand, the offices would be kept open and registrations would be allowed on those days for those willing to pay the extra fees.

Neolithic painting, human habitat found in Tirupattur district

AUSPIN BAYLIS AND K. SENTHIL NATHAN | DC TIRUPATTUR, APRIL 13

Based on information about the presence of caves located three kilometers away from Gajalnaickenpatti, Tirupattur district, a research team comprising Tamil Prof. Dr. A. Prabu, Archaeologist Prof. Sekar, and research scholars Dharanidaran and Krishnakumar, during a field visit found the caves and remains of human habitat there. Explaining their findings, Dr. Prabu said the team visited the Selliamman temple located in the vicinity and found 'New Stone Age' stone daggers kept there for worship. Opposite the temple, is a spot called 'Thamburan Kuntru', a cave in which 'New Stone Age' (now called 'Neolithic Period') humans lived. Thamburan could mean 'leader' or 'god'. The cave which has three sides, could have accommodated at least 10 persons. On one of its sides are three troughs which are constantly filled with water, even in summer. The cave interior is painted white and has five paintings. Three of them are still intact, while two others have been eroded slightly. One of them is understood to indicate either a place where those early residents lived or could be a picture of the lamp used by them. A human figure with a bow in his right hand and an arrow in his left is yet another painting, which refers to a hunting event. There are more than six natural caves near this place behind the Selliamman temple, called 'Kuhaikuntru'. The painting of a white bird in the entrance of one of the caves indicates that these caves were used by people of that time. These paintings are very new findings which have never been seen before, said Prof. Dr. K. Rajan.

Although many rock paintings have been found in these parts of the state, this is the first rock painting found in the district after the division of Tirupattur into a separate district. The rock paintings are on the verge of extinction due to locals who use these caves to mostly drink and eat. Hence, the team has urged the district administration and archeology department to take immediate action to protect these sites.

Party offices wear deserted look

G. BABU JAYAKUMAR & D. SEKAR | DC CHENNAI, APRIL 13

All offices of the major political parties in Chennai that bustled with humanity in the run up to the elections now wear a deserted look, post-polls, with not even the top leaders making their customary appearances in normal times.

The close to a month long gap between polling and counting of votes has given most functionaries of the parties a sabbatical with not much political activity happening around and also the fear of Coronavirus looming over.

AIADMK top honchos like party coordinator O Panneerselvam and co-coordinator Edappadi K Palaniswami, or even their predecessors, are not used to visiting the party headquarters at Lloyds Road regularly. The practice is to turn up there only to attend meetings or discussions or special occasions that require garlanding the statues of the leaders.

But in the case of some other parties it is different. Top leaders like DMK President M K Stalin, TNCC chief K S Alagiri and also the top brass of the BJP attended office on a regular basis and interacted with the functionaries, who too would be present there.

The tradition in the DMK is that the leaders always attended office and kept in touch with the cadre thronging the party office for various purposes. Similarly the TNCC and BJP offices provided a place for interface between the leaders and cadre and for workers to develop a sense of bonhomie.

But now with the leaders not turning up at the offices, the throngs of cadre are also missing. Enquiries at the BJP office, where of course there is some movement of people when compared to other party offices, revealed that many of the leaders had gone to West Bengal for campaign.

However, Kamalalayam in T Nagar will draw crowds when events are organised there. So even now BJP cadre turn up after the elections as the party holds celebrations like New Year's Day and so on to keep the place abuzz.

In the DMK, Stalin visited Anna Arivalayam after the elections and even held discussion with the candidates to understand the poor voter turnout in many constituencies. Other leaders too came there post elections.

With the party general secretary Duraimurugan testing positive for Coronavirus, he first went into isolation, keeping away from the office, and then got himself admitted to hospital. Perhaps that was one reason other leaders too did not feel the need to visit the office and kept in touch with key functionaries over the phone.

Even during the lockdown, Stalin was in touch with functionaries and cadre through meetings held over video conference, preparing them for the elections. Perhaps the situation that is unfolding on the Coronavirus front could lead to a similar practice among all parties as the second wave is also making an impact on politicians.

Anyway, the offices of the other smaller parties like the VCK, DMDK, MDMK now draw only some cadre with some business there. The leaders do not visit the offices, VCK's Thol Thirumavalavan is said to have gone to the office in K K Nagar once after the polls but otherwise, it is only the functionaries and staff who are present there.

MDMK's office in Koyambedu used to bustle when events or discussions were held. There was a time when the party founder Vijayakanth too would visit the place often. But now with the leader not keeping well, the cadre too go there only when there is a need. So, post-polls, the place is deserted.

Tayagam, the MDMK headquarters in Egmore, too, is not a busy place nowadays as it used to be once upon a time when the party general secretary Vaiko was active. However, Vaiko does not miss an opportunity to issue statements even after the elections but without visiting the office.

In the case of the PMK, since the top honchos, S Ramadoss and Anbumani Ramadoss, even otherwise interact with their followers mostly through social media and video conferencing, their office has no reason to draw crowds.

For Naam Tamilar Katchi, the entire activity revolves around the coordinator, Seeman, who works mostly from home, preferring to reach out to cadre and voters through social media.

Once in a while he used to organise meetings to address the followers and also other events, say a feast to celebrate the ear-piercing of the leader's child, that would help him personally interact with cadre. But in general the leader does not meet up with them regularly, other than through the videos put up by the IT wing that maintains the social media accounts, and hence there is no need for anyone to visit their leader at his house now.

EVMs in scooter: Repoll ordered at Velachery booth

DC CORRESPONDENT CHENNAI, APRIL 13

The Election Commission has ordered a re-poll on Saturday, April 17, at booth No 92 of Velachery Assembly constituency, from where an EVM and accessory equipment were taken in a scooter by a couple of officials after the conclusion of polling on April 6.

The transport of the election machines independently by the officials came to light after they were caught by the members of the public near Taramani, causing a sensation in the area.

Though it was initially claimed that the EVM was kept as a spare machine, it was later found that 15 votes were polled in that.

The Chief Electoral Officer Satyabrata Sahoo had said that he had sent a report to the ECI, which would take a final call.

The ECI, ordering the re-poll on the particular booth, said the 'poll taken on 6th April, 2021 (Tuesday) at polling No 92 of 26-Velachery Assembly constituency to be void.'

The ECI instructed the Returning Officer to hold the re-election from 7 am to 7 pm and give wide publicity to the polling areas concerned and the political parties and contesting candidates in writing. Adequate security may also be provided, the ECI said.

Henry Irwin's grave found in Ooty

B. RAVICHANDRAN | DC OOTY, APRIL 13

The grave of Henry Irwin, noted architect and punter, has been discovered in Ooty.

As the 127th Ooty turf racing season, sans punters, is all set to start on Wednesday, the long forgotten grave of Henry Irwin, a British racing enthusiast and a celebrated architect, has been rediscovered recently not far from the race course here.

Irwin's noted contributions in architecture are in Chennai that included the Madras Central station and Connemara library. The nearly 100-year-old graves were discovered recently by Dharmalingam Venugopal, director, Nilgiri Documentation Centre (NDC), who had discovered many famous graves including that of John Sullivan, founder of modern Nilgiris and McIvor the creator of Ooty Botanical gardens. He now discovered the grave of Henry Irwin, at the cemetery attached to St. Thomas Church, here.

Elaborating on Henry Irwin, D. Venugopal said that Irwin was a British architect and engineer who worked for the Madras government towards the end of the 19th century. He was a sports loving man with a particular liking for horses. He owned and rode several horses in Madras. He was a great punter too. Around 1896, he tried to drain away the upper lake in Ooty then, to make way for a race track in Ooty, he noted.

Henry Irwin settled down in Ooty after retirement at Loch End and died on August 5, 1922 at the age of 81. His wife predeceased him. Both were buried in the St. Thomas Church cemetery. Henry Irwin was no ordinary architect. He was one of the greatest of British architects of India who combined the European style with the Indian style in architecture.

"His landmark buildings include the Vice Regal Lodge in Simla, the Ambli Vilas Palace in Mysore and the American College in Madurai. However, it was in Chennai that he made most of his contributions. The iconic buildings that he created include the Madras Central station, the Egmore station, the southern railway headquarters next to Central station, the Madras High Court and the Law College, the Connemara Library, the Museum Theater and the Art Gallery, the Victoria Memorial Hall and Bank of Madras," Venugopal noted. It is a tragic irony the several monuments across the country, particularly in Chennai, that Henry Irwin created continue to enthrall generations of citizens, but his grave lies in obscurity and neglect in a corner in Ooty, Venugopal said.

DK prez Veeramani warns of rebellion if name not restored

From P1

DK president K. Veeramani warned of a rebellion if the name was not restored as Periyar EVR Highway. Mr Veeramani, in a statement, recalled that it was the late M.G. Ramachandran who named the road, earlier known as Poonamallee High Road, after Periyar in 1979 on the occasion of the birth centenary of the founder of Dravidar Kazhagam.

Pointing out that the Highways website also now described the road as Grand Western Trunk Road, Mr Veeramani demanded that the change be made online, too. He asked as to who was the government pleasing through the name change.

Among the other leaders who condemned the AIADMK government for changing the name given by MGR himself was MDMK general secretary Vaiko.

Many users of social media wanted to know who was exactly behind the name change and if they were empowered to do it. Though the names of roads and streets are changed to honour leaders and other successful people, it is normally done through proper announcements and not just by appointing a board and fixing it on the kerb.

TMC, BJP PLAYING ‘DIRTY POLITICS’: OWAISI

BRANMOY PRANMACHARI | DC BERHAMPORE, APRIL 13

AIMIM chief Asaduddin Owaisi on Tuesday accused the BJP and Trinamul Congress of trying to grab power in West Bengal by playing a “dirty game” of body politics into the recent killings of five persons at Shitalkuchi in Cooch-behar in the fourth phase of the Assembly Election.

At a party rally in Sagardighi of Murshidabad he alleged, “Both the BJP and TMC want to grab power over the bodies of our slain youth and an 18-year-old Rajbanshi youth. It is a dirty game they are playing. They are dividing the people over caste, creed and religion to trigger communal disharmony and hatred. TMC even branded us as ‘Outsiders’ and Vote Katua here.”

Mistakes of past need not constrain our thinking: PM

Says experiences, expertise, resources must in the fight against pandemic

SRIDHAR KUMARASWAMI | DC NEW DELHI, APRIL 13

The Covid-19 pandemic has presented us an opportunity to reshape the world order and we must think of the entire humanity and not merely of those who are on our side of the borders, Prime Minister Narendra Modi said on Tuesday, adding that “we in India have tried to walk the talk (and) have tried to protect our own 1.3 billion citizens from the pandemic” but that despite many constraints, India had still “supplied vaccine to over 80 countries”. Acknowledging that “the supplies have been modest” and the “demands huge”, he said it would “be a long time before the entire humanity can be vaccinated”.

Advocating that that “humanity as a whole must be at the centre of our thinking and action”, PM Modi promised that India would continue to share its “experiences, expertise and resources with the entire humanity in the fight against the pandemic”, adding that the “mistakes and misdeeds of the past seven decades need not constrain our thinking for the future”.

PM Modi further pointed out that “while humanity has not faced the Third World War, the threat of violence has not

Congress, Sena fear Kumbh returnees may worsen crisis

SONU SHRIVASTAVA | DC MUMBAI, APRIL 13

Senior Congress leader and Maharashtra Cabinet minister Asalam Shaikh criticised the BJP led-Uttarakhand government for not enforcing the Covid related norms in Kumbh Mela. Shaikh stated that these were the same people who alleged that Tablighi Jamaat had spread the virus. Shiv Sena Rajya Sabha MP Sanjay Raut also expressed apprehension that the people returning from Kumbh mela in Haridwar will turn out to be potential carriers of Covid.

Without taking the name of the BJP, Shaikh said that the same people who accused the Tablighi Jamaat of spreading Covid in the country have allowed lakhs of people to gather at Kumbh Mela in Haridwar.

He claimed that the number of Coronavirus patients are increasing by four times in Haridwar.

The Prime Minister was delivering an address at the four-day sixth edition of the Raisina Dialogue conference in the Capital that began in Virtual format on Tuesday. Calling upon the participants “to emerge as a powerful voice for a human centric approach”, he reminded them that “while we may be used to having Plan A and plan B, there is no Planet B, only planet Earth” and that “we must remember that we hold this planet merely as trustees for our future Generations”.

The Raisina Dialogue is “India’s flagship conference on geopolitics and geoeconomics, held annually since 2016” and is “jointly organised by the Ministry of External Affairs (MEA) and the (thinktank) Observer Research Foundation (ORF).

PM Modi said, “Is it perhaps because in the race of economic development the concern for welfare of humanity has been left behind. Is it perhaps because in the age of competition, the spirit of

GUJ: FRAMES OF CREMATORIUM FURNACES MELT

Surat, April 13: Metal structures of furnaces at some crematoriums in Surat have started melting or breaking as they are being used round-the-clock due to the rush of bodies amid the Covid-19 pandemic, officials said on Tuesday.

Since the past one week, around 16 gas-based furnaces at the Kurukshetra Crematorium and Ashvini Kumar Crematorium here in Gujarat are operating 24X7 to cremate bodies, hence maintenance issues are cropping up, they said.

The metal frames of gas furnaces, on which the bodies are kept, and chimneys are melting or breaking because of overheating and excessive use, the official said.

In the last couple of days, Surat city reported 18 to 19 deaths due to Covid-19 every day. “Before the outbreak last year, around 20 bodies were cremated at the Kurukshetra Crematorium every day. Now, there is a sudden rush of bodies. At present, we are handling about 100 bodies per day,” Kamlesh Sailor, president of a trust which manages the crematorium, said. — PTI cooperation has been forgotten. After the end of the second world war, over the next few decades many structures and institutions were created but under the shadow of the two wars they were aimed at answering only one question, how to prevent the Third World War? Today, I submit to you that this was the wrong question, as a result all the steps taken were like treating a patient symptoms without addressing the underlying causes. Or to put it differently, all the steps taken were to prevent the last war not the next one.”

Dawoud, a journalist, was set free pending an investigation into whether he disseminated false news.

Michael LaRosa, a spokesman for First Lady Jill Biden, said Major would “undergo some additional training to help him adjust to life in the White House.”

“The off-site, private training will take place in the Washington, DC area, and it is expected to last a few weeks,” LaRosa said.

Tennessee school shooting: 1 dead

Washington, April 13: One person was killed and a police officer wounded in a shooting at a high school in the US state of Tennessee on Monday, police said. Knoxville city police said on Twitter “multiple gunshot victims” had been reported at Austin-East Magnet High School, before adding in a statement read out on local television that one of the injured had died.

Officers had responded to reports of a “male subject” who was possibly armed in the school, the Knoxville Police Department said. “Upon approach of the subject, shots were fired.”

A KPD officer was struck at least one time and transported to UT medical center with injuries that are not expected to be life threatening,” the statement said.

US suggests ‘pause’ in use of J&J vax over blood clot fears

Recommendations by health authorities is blow to immunisation campaign

Washington, April 13: US health authorities recommended a “pause” Tuesday in the use of the Johnson & Johnson Covid-19 vaccine “out of an abundance of caution” over potential links to a rare type of blood clot, in a blow to the country’s immunisation campaign.

The disorder appears similar to that observed in rare cases of people who received the AstraZeneca vaccine in Europe — and the shots by both companies are based on adenovirus vector technology.

The US Food and Drug Administration and the Centers for Disease Control are assessing the “potential significance” of six reported cases of a type of clot in the brain called cerebral venous sinus thrombosis (CVST) in combination with low levels of blood platelets (thrombocytopenia).

All the cases involved women between the ages of 18 and 48, and symptoms occurred six to 14 days after vaccination.

As of Monday more than 6.8 million doses of the single-shot J&J vaccine had been administered in the US — meaning that the rare effect appears to have been detected in around one in a million cases.

“People who have received the J&J vaccine who develop severe headache, abdominal pain, leg pain, or shortness of breath within three weeks after vaccination should contact their health care provider,” the FDA said.

The CDC will convene a meeting of a top expert committee on Wednesday to further assess these cases and their significance, and the FDA will also carry out its own investigation. “Until that process is complete, we are recommending this pause out of an abundance of caution,” it said, to ensure the medical community was aware of the development and could develop appropriate treatment plans.

The pause deals a hit to the United States’ Covid vaccination campaign, which has so far administered 45 percent of the adult population at least one dose — among the most rapid rates in the world.

The J&J vaccine was celebrated for the fact it can be stored at fridge temperature and requires just one dose — unlike Pfizer and Moderna that need two and require freezing.

But even before the pause, the company was affected by supply problems after a contractor spoiled 15 million doses that never

J&J delays Europe vax rollout

Berlin, April 13: Johnson & Johnson said Tuesday it is delaying the rollout of its Coronavirus vaccine in Europe amid a US probe into reports of rare blood clots in some recipients.

The announcement came after regulators in the United States said they were recommending a “pause” in administration of the single-dose shot to investigate reports of potentially dangerous blood clots. “We have been reviewing these cases with European health authorities,” Johnson & Johnson said.

“We have made the decision to proactively delay the rollout of our vaccine in Europe.” The delay is a further blow to vaccination drives in European nations, plagued by supply shortages, logistical problems and concerns over unusual blood clots in a small number of people who received the AstraZeneca vaccine. The blood clot reports prompted several countries to limit the vaccine to older age groups. — AP

The FDA said that normally, an anticoagulant drug called heparin is used to treat these blood clots, but in this case administering heparin might be dangerous.

That might be because the disorder resembles a rare reaction to heparin, in which the body forms antibodies in response to the thinner which in turn triggers platelets to form dangerous clots. — AFP

Do not blame me for defeat: Min. to oppn

MANOJ ANAND | DC GUWAHATI, APRIL 13

Assam minister and top BJP leader Himanta Biswa Sarma who is confident about his party returning to power second time in the state on Tuesday said that the Congress-led grand alliance has shifted its candidate outside the state, ignoring the safety of strongrooms where EVMs are stored.

Pointing out that most of the candidates are keeping a close watch and joint surveillance on strongrooms, Sarma told reporters that the Congress-AIUDF which have shifted their candidates should not blame him for defeat. “If they lose elections in counting of votes they will have a new refrain that in their absence something was done with EVMs. Hope they will not blame me for doing something wrong with EVMs,” said Sarma while taking a dig at Congress-AIUDF alliance for shifting at least 20 candidates in the Assam assembly polls to a hotel in Jaipur.

Suspecting motive behind this move, Sarma said, “This was the time when all the candidates should keep a close watch on strongrooms where EVMs are stored but surprisingly Congress-AIUDF have shifted their candidates outside the state.”

He said that these political parties should clarify their stand that they have left the strongrooms at their own risk and would not blame him for defeat in counting of votes on May 2.

It is significant that at least 20 candidates of the Congress-AIUDF alliance in the Assam Assembly polls have been shifted to a hotel in Jaipur. They were flown to Jaipur in a chartered flight and taken to a hotel on the Delhi highway on the outskirts of Jaipur. Most of them are AIUDF candidates.

Days after the Congress-AIUDF shifted their candidates outside Assam fearing horse-trading, the Bodoland People’s Front (BPF) another constituent of Congress led grand alliance also shifted its prospective winning candidates outside the state.

Iran to enrich uranium to highest level

Dubai, April 13: Iran will begin enriching uranium to 60 per cent purity, higher than the programme ever has before though still short of weapons grade, after an attack on its Natanz nuclear facility, an Iranian negotiator said Tuesday. The announcement marks a significant escalation after the sabotage, suspected to have been carried out by Israel. It could result in further action by Israel, whose Prime Minister Benjamin Netanyahu has vowed never to allow Tehran to obtain a nuclear weapon, and further raise tensions across the Mideast.

Nuclear negotiator Abbas Araghchi’s comment, quoted by the state-run IRNA news agency, came after Iran’s foreign minister warned that the weekend assault could hurt ongoing negotiations over its tattered atomic deal with world powers. Those talks are aimed at finding a way for the United States to re-enter the agreement, the goal of which is to limit Iran’s enrichment of uranium in exchange relief on sanctions. Iran had been enriching up to 20 per cent. That is a short technical step to weapons-grade levels of 90 per cent. — AP

China's exports rose 30.6 per cent over a year ago in March as global consumer demand strengthened and traders watched for signs of what President Joe Biden might do about reviving tariff war talks with Beijing. Exports rose to 241.1 billion, decelerating from the dramatic 60.6 per cent rebound in the first two months of 2021, customs data showed. ■ Dues to Centre, states, staff extinguish with plan passage SC: Dues not payable if not part of IBC resolution plan

New Delhi, April 13: In an important judgement, the Supreme Court on Tuesday held that all dues, including statutory ones, payable by ailing companies to the Centre, states and their tax authorities shall stand extinguished if they are not part of approved resolution plan to revive firms under the Insolvency and Bankruptcy Code (IBC).

The apex court said the principal objects of IBC is to provide for revival of the Corporate Debtor and to make it a going concern and remedied the mischief by which tax and other authorities used to keep pursuing such companies to pay their dues leading to a situation which made resolution plans for their revival unworkable.

A bench comprising justices R. F. Nariman, B. R. Gavai and Hrishikesh Roy, deciding a batch of pleas against several orders of the National Company Law Appellate Tribunal, held that the 2019 amendment made to a provision of the IBC is clarificatory and declaratory in nature and so will be effective from the date on which IBC has come into effect in 2016.

As per the amendment made in 2019 in section 31 of IBC, any debt in respect of the payment of dues arising under any law for the time being in force, including the ones owed to the Central Government, any State Government or any local authority, which does not form a part of the approved resolution plan, shall stand extinguished.

Once a resolution plan is duly approved by the adjudicating authority, the claims as provided in the resolution plan shall stand frozen and will be binding on the Corporate Debtor and its employees, members, creditors, including the Central Government, any State Government or any local authority, guarantors and other stakeholders, Justice Gavai, who wrote the 139-page judgment, said.

It said on the date of approval of the resolution plan, all claims, which are not a part of the resolution plan, shall stand extinguished and no person will be entitled to initiate or continue any proceedings in respect to a claim which is not part of the revival package.

Consequently all the dues, including the statutory dues owed to the Central Government, any State Government or any local authority, if not part of the resolution plan, shall stand extinguished and no proceedings in respect of such dues for the period prior to the date on which the Adjudicating Authority grants its approval under Section 31 could be continued, the bench held.

The top court was faced with the question whether any creditor, including central or state governments, was bound by the Resolution Plan once it is approved by an adjudicating authority under IBC.

The other issue was as to whether after approval of the resolution plan a creditor is entitled to initiate any proceedings for recovery of any of the dues from the corporate debtor, which are not a part of the Resolution Plan.

INDIA-EU TRADE TALKS TO RESUME

Finance minister Nirmala Sitharaman said resumption of formal negotiations on India-EU trade deal during the leadership summit next month in Porto, Portugal, would

Star-studded field for India Open Marin, Momota among top entries as badminton action returns to India

New Delhi, April 13: Olympic champion Carolina Marin and World No. 1 Kento Momota will headline a star-studded field of international shuttlers when the India Open Super 500 event is held here from May 11 to 16, albeit behind closed doors due to the raging Covid-19 pandemic.

The $400,000 tournament, one of the last few qualification events for the 2020 Tokyo Olympic Games, has attracted 228 (114 men and 114 women) entries from 33 different national associations, including China.

However, the Badminton Association of India (BAI) said "due to the rapidly rising Covid-19 cases in the country, the tournament will be contested in a bio-secure bubble without spectators and media while implementing strict Covid-19 safety protocols." "All the players and officials coming from South Africa, Brazil, Middle East and European countries including UK will be serving a 7-day quarantine period and have to report in the capital city on May 3," BAI said in a release.

"... Players and officials from rest of the world can arrive on May 6 and undergo a 4-day quarantine period."

On the court, three-time world champion Marin will lead the women's singles category along with other Top-10 shuttlers such as Akane Yamaguchi, 2019 world

No fans at torch relay in Osaka

Tokyo, April 13: The torch relay for the Tokyo Olympics ran through a mostly empty Osaka city park on Tuesday, showing the risks of trying to hold the postponed games during a pandemic.

It came on the same day that the government said new coronavirus cases in Osaka hit 1,099, a single-day record for Japan's second largest metropolitan area.

The torch relay began three weeks ago in north-eastern Japan, attempting to navigate around the pandemic with a total of 10,000 runners crisscrossing the country and bound for the opening ceremony on July 23 in Tokyo.

Osaka, which announced plans last week to take the relay off city streets and bar the public, became the first detour since the relay began. Organizers warned beforehand there may be more.

Wednesday's second leg in Osaka — the day the Tokyo countdown clock hits 100 day to go — will be in the same park under the same closed-doors conditions.

SA WOMEN CRICKETERS STUCK IN BANGLADESH AFTER POSITIVE TEST

Dhaka, April 13: Five members of a South African women's cricket team have become stranded in Bangladesh after testing positive for Covid-19, officials said Tuesday.

Seventeen other members of the South Africa Emerging team left Bangladesh late Monday, before the country imposed a ban on international flights over a surge in new cases there.

The five remaining have been put into isolation in Dhaka, said Shafiqul Alam Nadel of the Bangladesh Cricket Board.

"All members of the South African team gave Covid-19 test samples before their departure from Sylhet. Five of them tested positive," said Himangshu Lal Roy, deputy director of the Osmani Medical College in the northeastern city.

The team's fifth match was due to start on Tuesday in Sylhet.

But they cut short the tour because of the flight ban, which will last from Wednesday until April 14, as part of efforts to combat the new spread of infections in the South Asian nation.

The five in isolation will be tested again and if the results are negative "we will send them back home at the earliest possible time," said Nadel.

Documents sent by AFP indicated that team manager Matshipi Marcia Letsoalo and players Sinalo Jafta, Leah Jones, Nobulumko Baneti and Robyn Searle had been left behind.
