Deshmukh quits after HC orders 'extortion' probe

TRIBUNE NEWS SERVICE

NEW DELHI, APRIL 5 The 17-month-old Maha Vikas Aghadi government in Maharashtra suffered a jolt on Monday with state Home Minister Anil Deshmukh resigning hours after the Bombay High Court ordered a preliminary CBI probe into the extortion allegations against him.

MAHA GOVT. MINISTER TO MOVE SUPREME COURT

Citing loss of moral right to continue, the NCP's Deshmukh sent his resignation to CM Uddhav Thackeray while the BJP mounted pressure on the ruling Shiv Sena-NCP-Congress alliance to resign on moral grounds. The Maharashtra Government and Deshmukh have, however, decided to move the Supreme Court against the HC orders. NCP chief Sharad Pawar approved Deshmukh's move days after defending him and questioning the timing of former Mumbai police chief Param Bir Singh's allegations of extortion against the minister. One of workers was declared brought dead, another died during treatment at a hospital, while one body was recovered from the debris. The deceased have been identified as Mustakeen and Sagar Kumar, both residents of Bihar, and Peechu and Imtiaz from Ludhiana. - It was found the upper floors of the building were constructed in violation of the bylaws
- The MC decided to conduct a survey to check violations in the city, but no such survey was carried out

CM MARKS INQUIRY

CM Capt Amarinder Singh has ordered a magisterial probe by the Divisional Commissioner, Patiala. He announced ₹2 lakh compensation for the next of kin of those killed and free treatment for the injured charged after first aid. It is learned the level of the roof slab (lintel) of the top floor of multi-storey building was being raised without permission from the Municipal Corporation when the incident occurred around 9.40 am. The debris fell on two adjoining buildings, killing one and injuring some. A portion of the two factories suffered damaged. Two commercial vehicles were also crushed, injuring an occupant.

After the incident, workers from nearby factories and locals tried to rescue those trapped. The Fire Brigade was joined by teams of the National Disaster Response Force and State Disaster Response Fund in the rescue operation.

Kanwaldeep Singh, owner of an adjoining factory, said: “The labourers at our factory were unaware of the construction work in the neighbouring unit. The debris fell on our factory, killing one worker. The condition of another is critical.”

DC Varinder Kumar Sharma said a probe would be carried out later, but their foremost priority was to save lives. He said the factory owner had not sought permission for the construction work. CP Rakesh Agrawal said a case had been registered against the factory owner and contractor.

State trails Hry by 5.5L jabs

Dists must send samples thrice a day to labs: Minister

CHANDIGARH, APRIL 5

In spite of various initiatives, Punjab lags behind its neighbours when it comes to Covid vaccination. So far, 12.5 lakh doses of the vaccine have been administered in the state, in stark contrast to 18 lakh jabs given in Haryana in the same period.

In all, 6.51 lakh persons over 45 years of age have received the first dose with 6,536 getting the second dose. Around 4.12 lakh healthcare and frontline workers have been administered the first dose, while 1,15,290 have received the second shot.

To further ramp up the vaccination drive among high-risk groups, the state government has set district-wise vaccination and testing targets as per high positivity and low testing rates, respectively.

Health and Family Welfare Minister Balbir Singh Sidhu today directed Civil Surgeons to ensure vaccination and sampling/testing as per the district-wise weekly target.

Sidhu said besides vaccination centres at hospitals,

A woman gets the jab in Jalandhar.

72 DEATHS IN 24 HOURS

- The state reported 2,714 cases and 72 deaths in the past 24 hours
- The maximum deaths — 11 — were from Hoshiarpur while Gurdaspur and Ludhiana reported eight deaths each
- Among other districts, Jalandhar and Kapurthala reported seven deaths each

STEEP SURGE IN POSITIVITY RATE

- There has been a steep surge in state's positivity rate, increasing rapidly to 7.9% between March 27 and April 2, against 2.9% between February 27 and March 5
- The Health Dept is conducting an awareness drive in rural areas as a high rate of deaths has been recorded in villages
- Health Minister urged people to get tested without delay if symptoms appeared to ensure immediate treatment mobile camps are also being organised at pre-determined locations, for which captive beneficiary data has made available by managements of industries, residential societies, organisations, etc.

Pointing out the need for reducing turnaround time between sampling and test results, he said as time lag led to the spread of infection within this window, all districts must send samples at least three times a day to the designated labs.

There was a need to review the status and performance of private labs. Covid testing must be increased to ensure adherence to the guidelines, he added. — TNS

RBI clears ₹21K cr CCL for rabi season

TRIBUNE NEWS SERVICE

CHANDIGARH, APRIL 5
The Reserve Bank of India (RBI) on Monday cleared a sum of Rs 21,658.73 crore towards Cash Credit Limit (CCL) up to April 2021 for the procurement of wheat in Punjab during the ensuing rabi marketing season.

With this, the bulk of CCL sought by the state government for the purchase of 105.60 lakh tonne of wheat for this season has been released by the central bank. The release of CCL would facilitate the state government in making timely payments to farmers against purchase of food-grain in the current season, which would begin from April 10 and culminate on May 31, according to an official spokesperson.

The central government has fixed the minimum support price (MSP) of wheat at Rs 1,975 per quintal, hiking it by Rs 50 from last year's Rs 1,925 per quintal.

Meanwhile, Chief Minister Capt Amarinder Singh directed the Food and Civil Supplies Department to ensure that farmers did not face any hassles in the procurement of their produce, especially amid the Covid pandemic.

Illegal mining unabated on Sutlej riverbed in Moga

KULWINDER SANDHU
TRIBUNE NEWS SERVICE

MOGA, APRIL 5
Even as administration has banned mining on the Sutlej riverbed till May 30, illegal quarrying is still going on in the area. However, the mining mafia has changed tactics. Earlier, heavy machinery was being used to quarry sand, but, now sand is directly moved to the user, in light of the restrictions imposed by the district administration.

A visit to Sanghera village in Dharamkot subdivision revealed that the mining mafia had hired local cart owners to transport sand from the riverbed during the night to yards in the nearby villages on the pretext of “own use”. Actually, this sand is stored and supplied to consumers from there.

A team of the Mining Department led by District Mining Officer Gursimran Singh Gill and Dharamkot DSP Subeg Singh raided a few such yards at Sanghera and adjoining villages in the past couple of days and found huge quantities of stocked sand. However, no legal action was taken against the owners of the houses and the big fish involved in illegal mining activities.

Gill admitted that he went to Sanghera and its adjoining villages and found sand dumped in many houses. During a checking of the records, it was found that the sand was bought by the residents from the authorised contractors. However, locals alleged that the mining sites authorised by the government had not been operational for past many months.

District Magistrate Sandeep Hans confirmed that he had banned the movement/plying of JCB machines, trucks and tractor-trailers on the riverbed and within 500 metre radius of the river embankments.

Jaspinder Kaur, sarpanch of Takhtuwalla village, alleged that illegal mining on the riverbed had been going on unabated for the past many years. There were also reports of excessive sand mining even from the approved quarries. The mining beyond permitted depth with the help of heavy machinery has led to extensive damage, she said.

Gangster Bishnoi's key aide held in HP

Gagan Brar 'connected' to Youth Congress leader Gurlal Singh Bhalwan's murder

TRIBUNE NEWS SERVICE

CHANDIGARH, APRIL 5

The Punjab Police, in a joint operation with the Himachal Pradesh Police, arrested a close aide of jailed gangster Lawrence Bishnoi, who played a key role in the planning, execution as well as providing shelter to killers of Youth Congress leader Gurlal Singh Bhalwan on the directions of Bishnoi and Canada-based Goldy Brar.

The suspect has been identified as Gagandeep Singh, alias Padda, alias Gagan Brar, alias Labh Singh Labhu, alias Gogi, of Panjara Kalan village in Kotkapura. He used to work as a bouncer in clubs and hotels of Chandigarh.

DGP Dinkar Gupta, in a press communiqué, said the killing was organised by

High Court sets aside order imposing ₹2 lakh costs on Principal Secretary

SAURABH MALIK

TRIBUNE NEWS SERVICE

CHANDIGARH, APRIL 5

A Division Bench of the Punjab and Haryana High Court has set aside an order imposing Rs 2 lakh costs on the Punjab Principal Secretary, Department of Food, Civil Supplies and Consumer Affairs. The amount was directed to be paid from Principal Secretary's "personal pocket" by a Single Bench of the High Court.

The order by the Division Bench of Chief Justice Ravi Shanker Jha and Justice Arun Palli came on an appeal filed by the state of Punjab through Advocate General Atul Nanda. Rapping the state officers for being "totally callous and indifferent towards the court proceedings", a Single Bench had adjourned the hearing of a case subject to payment of Rs 2 lakh costs by the Principal Secretary.

Taking up the petition filed against Punjab and other respondents by Himanshu Kukkar and other petitioners, the Single Bench had asserted that the state counsel was seeking adjournment, after the counsel for the petitioners had addressed substantial part of his arguments. It was further pointed out by the state counsel that nobody had assisted her from the department with regard to the case before the Bench.

"Having heard counsels for the parties and perused the record, we do not wish to delve into the merits any further and in the given situation consider it just and appropriate to set aside the order under challenge as regards imposition of costs of Rs 2 lakh upon the appellant personally. And, it so ordered. We are sanguine that the parties shall render the required assistance to the judge to enable him to proceed further with the matter," the Bench concluded while disposing of the petition.

2 STF officials booked for 'assault'

On March 22, the accused appeared before STF in charge Jaswinder Singh, and produced his interim bail papers which he had brought from the Punjab and Haryana High Court. As per the complainant, Inspector Jaswinder Singh along with ASI Harjit Singh and other unidentified persons allegedly assaulted him and kept him in police custody. Lovepreet also alleged the STF officials forced him to give a witness against some people. Arhtiyas oppose DBT, may boycott purchase

PARVEEN ARORA
TRIBUNE NEWS SERVICE

KARNAL, APRIL 5
Arhtiyas have opposed the Direct Benefit Transfer (DBT) to farmers against the payment for grain procurement and threatened to boycott wheat buying from April 8 if the payment was not resumed through them.

In a state-level meeting of arhtiyas held here, the Haryana State Anajmandi Arhtiyas' Association also demanded dues of the last paddy season, 12 per cent interest on the delay in releasing the payment and permission to farmers residing in border areas to sell their crop in Haryana.

Ashok Gupta, state president of the association, said: "The state government had told us that the payment will be transferred as per the will of farmers. A majority of farmers have already given their consent to transfer their payment through arhtiyas while registering their crops on the Meri Fasal, Mera Byora portal. In spite of this, the government has said it will credit the payment in the bank accounts of farmers."

GOVT'S ASSURANCE

The state government has assured arhtiyas that they would continue to get their commission even if farmers are directly paid for their produce. This, however, is not the concern of arhtiyas.

WE HELP IN CRISIS

“Arhtiyas are like ATMs to farmers, who borrow money from us in times of crisis. They pay off the debt after having sold their crop. If the state government pays farmers directly, we won't get our money back.”

Ashok Gupta, ARHTIYA

“The state government has time till April 7 to meet our demands, otherwise we will boycott the procurement from the next day,” he said.

The state government has assured that arhtiyas that they would continue to get their commission even if farmers are directly paid for their produce. This, however, is not the concern of arhtiyas.

Gupta said: “Arhtiyas are like ATMs to farmers, who borrow money from us in times of crisis. They pay off the debt after having sold their crop. If the state government pays farmers directly, we won't get our money back. Payment through arhtiyas is a guarantee that we will get out money back.”

Rajnish Chaudhary, president, Karnal Arhtiyas' Association, raised another concern related with the DBT scheme. “Last season, the Agriculture Department had transferred the payment to wrong bank accounts. Till now, farmers have not received the money,” he said.

He further said payments were pending because “IT” forms were not available online. “The state government should start a portal on the lines of CM window to address the grievances of arhtiyas and farmers.”

After the state-level meeting, a delegation of arhtiyas led by Gupta left for Chandigarh for a meeting CM Manohar Lal Khattar. After having met the CM, Gupta said arhtiyas were adamant on their demand.

ACS reviews measures in Karnal

TRIBUNE NEWS SERVICE

KARNAL, APRIL 5
Additional Chief Secretary (ACS), Agriculture and Farmers' Welfare, Sumita Misra, today reviewed procurement arrangements at the grain market here.

She assured farmers of resolving their problems and directed officials to help farmers to register their produce on the Meri Fasal, Mera Byora portal. Misra interacted with farmers and enquired about their problems, if any.

Deputy Commissioner Nishant Kumar Yadav informed the ACS around 8,715 quin-tals of wheat had been procured so far.

She also visited the Indo-Israel Centre of Excellence for Vegetables, Gharaunda, and Horticulture Training Institute, Uchani. During her visit to the vegetable centre, she inspected the polyhouse, net-house and low-tunnels.

Hooda: Make procurement process simple

CHANDIGARH, APRIL 5
Former CM Bhupinder Singh Hooda today hit back at CM Manohar Lal Khattar over his statement in Karnal, alleging that the Opposition was instigating farmers against the BJP-JJP government.

“The CM is trying to cover up his failures by shifting the onus on the Opposition for the protests against the BJP-JJP leaders. Instead of levelling baseless allegations, the government needs to avoid confrontation with the protesting farmers,” said Hooda.

On Saturday, the CM had faced farmers' ire in Rohtak where he had gone for a condolence meeting. The protesting farmers had clashed with policemen.

Alleging mismanagement in procurement, he said that the farmers were harassed at procurement centres and were being forced to register at the “Meri Fasal Mera Byora” portal. “It is not practical for farmers to first take their produce from fields to home and then to mandis,” he said.

Hooda demanded that the government should simplify the procurement process so that the farmers don't have to face harassment in the grain mandis. — TNS

Protesters gherao FCI offices, seek legal guarantee on MSP

PANIPAT/SONEPAT, APRIL 5
Farmers in Haryana today held protests outside Food Corporation of India (FCI) offices and raised several demands, including a legal guarantee for the Minimum Support Price (MSP).

The protesters expressed anguish over the Union Government's decision to seek farmers' land records for online payments to their accounts and demanded its immediate rollback. The Samyukt Kisan Morcha has given the call to mark April 5 as the “FCI Bachao Diwas”.

In Panipat, Kuldeep Balana of the BKU said, “Last year, the state government had procured wheat with moisture content up to 14 per cent. But this year, the moisture content threshold has been reduced to 12 per cent, making it difficult for farmers to sell their crop.”

In Sonapat, members of the All-India Kisan Khet Mazdoor Sangathan, All-India Kisan Sabha, Kisan Mazdoor Sangharsh Samiti, BKU and Bharatiya Kisan Panchayat staged dharna outside FCI godowns and submitted a memorandum of demands to the General Manager, FCI.

They said the protest at the Delhi borders would continue until the farm laws were repealed.

Swami Shradhanand Saraswati and Master Mahender Chauhan from the 52 “pals” said the Centre was least concerned about farmers who were protesting for the past four months.

In Rohtak, farmers assembled at Mansarovar Park and took out a procession to the FCI office. Inderjit Singh, an SKM leader, said, “Central policies made the FCI bankrupt. If procurement by the state is weakened, the Public Distribution System will collapse, leading to mass hunger.” — TNS

Mitti Satyagrah Yatra reaches Tikri

JHAJJAR, APRIL 5
The Mitti Satyagrah Yatra, carrying soil from several states, arrived at the Tikri border on Monday.

The yatra, comprising 40 persons led by eminent social activist Medha Patkar, was received by protesters at the Tikri by the Samyukt Kisan Morcha leaders Yogender Yadav, Purushottam, Inderjit Singh, Amrik Singh, Jasbir Kaur, Jia Lal, Balbir Thaken and Harbhagwan.

“A statue made by West Bengal sculptors has become the centre of attraction at Tikri. The soil was placed as a mark of homage for martyrs at the statue. The yatra has already visited Singhu and Shahjahanpur borders and installed memorials to mark the martyrdom of kisans,” said activist Inderjit. — TNS

Chhattisgarh attack

Centre, state must work in sync to quell Maoist insurgency

EVEN as the powers that be are busy sticking the ‘urban Naxal’ label on all kinds of people, be it students or protesting farmers, the real Naxals keep striking deep in the forest at regular intervals. Twenty-two security personnel were killed and 31 others injured in a Maoist ambush in Chhattisgarh’s Bastar region on Saturday. Bastar has been the epicentre of major Maoist attacks in recent decades, including the deadliest one that claimed the lives of 76 CRPF men in April 2010. Several other states are also grappling with the menace. In May 2019, insurgents had triggered an improvised explosive device in Maharashtra’s Gadchiroli district, killing 15 members of a police quick response team.

According to reports, an unverified intel input lured the security forces into the Maoists’ lethal trap. This grave lapse needs to be probed thoroughly so that responsibility can be fixed and another disaster avoided. The Chhattisgarh incident has elicited the usual platitudes from the state and Central governments about giving a ‘befitting response’ and ‘never forgetting the sacrifices of the martyrs’. Undoubtedly, the killings have belied the tall claim that Maoist insurgency is on its last legs.

Naxal/Maoist violence has claimed more than 12,000 lives in the country, including those of around 2,700 security personnel, in two decades. There is no denying that a lot has to be done to break the back of the terrorists, right from snapping their supply of money, arms and ammunition and ensuring development in the infested areas to giving a cutting edge to the security forces in terms of intel, training and equipment. It’s also imperative to weaken local support for the insurgents by providing adequate education and job opportunities to residents. The blame game between the state and the Centre is uncalled for. Both have to work in close coordination to root out insurgency. At the same time, the noxious practice of raising the bogey of Naxalism to vilify protesters has proven to be counter-productive while targeting real culprits.

Covid surge

An alarming second wave demands adult vaccination

APRIL is all set to be a challenging month for the people and government alike with Covid-19 restrictions getting expanded and lockdown measures reintroduced in some states. A sudden surge in coronavirus cases, the steepest since September 16 last year, with the country recording over one lakh cases on Monday, has meant that a return to normalcy is going to take a while longer, ironically when the trajectory was expected to head south aided by vaccine optimism. But with only 10 states accounting for a majority of the cases, the government has preferred instead a national campaign beginning today to ensure community participation. Covid-appropriate behaviour, personal hygiene and sanitation to check the spike even as some countries like France and Bangladesh have seen a weeklong lockdown being implemented. The rise in infections itself has been attributed to a severe decline in Covid protocol, pandemic fatigue and lack of effective containment measures. The impact on employment in business and industry will also unfold gradually, with restrictions impacting the workforce and output. Railway stations in states like Maharashtra have witnessed a rush of migrant workers bound for their home states.

The government, unwilling to fritter away the gains of managing the pandemic, has deputed health teams to visit the states witnessing a surge, with directives to curb the mortality rate and ramp up health-care infrastructure. Faced with the task of rejuvenating the economy, emphasis is being laid on testing, tracing, treatment and vaccination to prevent the situation from getting out of hand that makes the task of protecting the economically vulnerable groups even more onerous.

The health authorities should get down to micro-managing the vaccination, zeroing in on regions witnessing the spike and taking steps that are required to avoid disruption to life. While the Centre has delegated to the states the discretion to take decisions based on local conditions in this case, frequent resort to restrictive measures will call for scrutiny. A fair bit of responsibility will also lie with the people by ensuring that they abide by the desired norms.

THOUGHT FOR THE DAY

The measure of a man is what he does with power. — Plato

ON THIS DAY...100 YEARS AGO

LAHORE, WEDNESDAY, APRIL 6, 1921

THE FIRST SPEECH OF LORD READING.

AS was to be expected, the first public utterance of Lord Reading in India is only a continuation of his recent speeches in England, and breaks no new ground. We have the same insistence on justice, the same stress on the necessity of combining it with sympathy, on the one hand, and understanding on the other, the same recognition of the essential identity of human nature in the East and the West. “My experience of human beings and human affairs”, said His Excellency, “has convinced me that justice and sympathy never fail to evoke responsive chords in the hearts of men of whatever race, creed or class. They are the two brightest gems in any diadem. Without them there is no lustre in the crown. With them there is a radiance that never fails to attract loyalty and affection. It is true that as Viceroy, I shall be privileged to practise justice in larger fields than in the courts of law, but the justice now in my charge is not confined within the status and law reports; it is a justice that is unfettered and has regard to all conditions and circumstances and should be pursued in close alliance with sympathy and understanding.” The one new note touched in the speech was as regards the race to which Lord Reading belongs. “I note specially your sympathetic reference to the ancient race to which I belong,” says His Excellency, “and I observe with pleasure that you state that your pride in welcoming me is enhanced by this circumstance. It is my only connection with the East until the present moment, and this leads me to wonder whether by some fortunate, almost indefinable subtle sub-consciousness, it may quicken and facilitate my understanding of the aims and aspirations, the trials and tribulations, the joys and sorrows of the Indian people.”

The celebration of power

Instead of privileging ‘powerful’ persons, let’s learn the art of empathy

AVIJIT PATHAK
SOCIOLOGIST

RECENTLY, a leading newspaper made me aware of the list of 100 ‘most powerful’ persons in India. As an ordinary mortal, I looked at this list and began to ask myself two disturbing questions: Why is it that, despite the presence of these powerful persons amongst us, we continue to live amid the all-pervading decadence with gross inequality, societal neurosis and collective violence? And is it that a list of this kind (or its celebration) also reveals our hidden aspiration — the urge to become like them?

As the list indicates, these people are primarily our political bosses and those who own and run the gigantic corporate empires. And quite often, we like to know about them — their ‘success’ stories, and even all sorts of gossip centred on their personal lives. It will not be wrong to say that as a society we celebrate this sort of power. Hence, it is important to reflect on the discourse of power. Possibly, the power we worship is the egotistic power: the power to dominate and control others; or, the power to establish one’s ‘superiority’ over others in the name of techno-economic capital, politico-administrative authority, and even specialised knowledge (this knowledge often manifests itself in the form of power — the power to exclude someone as ‘mad’, or the power to diminish the opinions of others as they are ‘lay’ persons). As a matter of fact, some illuminating social scientists like Karl Marx, Max Weber and Michel Foucault reflected on this entire dynamics of acquisition, possession and exercise of this sort of power, and its inevitable consequences — our alienated existence amid the ‘iron cage’ of bureaucracy and the chains of surveillance, or our dependence on the benevolence of this brigade of powerful people. Even democracy, as we are witnessing, has degenerated into a ritualistic process of consuming our narcissistic ‘masters’; and socialism with its gospel of the ‘dictatorship of the proletariat’ didn’t take much time to turn into a Stalinist nightmare.

Why not seek the power to be ‘powerless’, the courage to be kind, the ability to radiate one’s fragrance without any utilitarian motive?

Yet, power continues to tempt us as it nurtures our inflated egos, and activates the victim’s wish to be a victor. Isn’t it true that our fancy schools often conduct workshops on leadership skills, and want their students to internalise the psychology of self-promotion, dramaturgical performance and narcissism? Or, isn’t it the fact that our education system is obsessed with the narratives of the toppers (billboards in our towns and cities demonstrate the victorious expressions of these IIT-JEE toppers)? Or, isn’t it true that often we love to impress others by demonstrating our social capital, or connections — the mighty politicians we know, IAS/IPS officers with whom we are in touch, the brand of corporate houses we wish to associate with, or even the academic and cultural celebrities with whom we drink at the India Habitat Centre? The smell of this sort of power is intoxicating; it fulfils the egotistic urge to look ‘special’, and dominate others. Some sort of narcissism or authoritarianism is implicit in this discourse of power.

Is there any alternative? As we see the rising authoritarianism throughout the world, the militarisation of the human consciousness in the name of narcissistic nationalism, the reckless neoliberal global capitalism with its select billionaires amid hunger and malnutrition in different parts of the world, and the promotion of exhibitionist/possessive individualism through the mythologies of celebrity culture and seductive consumerism, no alternative, it would be argued, looks feasible. Yet, what we cannot deny is that throughout human civilisation the trace of an altogether different sort of quest can be seen. It is not the quest of Nietzsche’s ‘superman’ driven by the ‘will to power’; nor is it about timidity, or passive withdrawal from all worldly affairs. Instead, it is a quest for a qualitatively different form of power — the power to be ‘powerless’, the courage to be kind and compassionate, the ability to radiate one’s fragrance without any utilitarian motive: the way Alyosha in Dostoyevsky’s ‘The Brothers Karamazov’ bloomed like a flower. This is the ultimate power: the power of love that enables one to see beyond egotistic boundaries, and experience the abundance of the infinite. This was the quest of Buddha and Jesus, or Rumi and Kabir. And possibly, in the active political realm, as some might say, this was the quest of Gandhi, Martin Luther King and Nelson Mandela.

In fact, the list I referred to indicates our ways of seeing, or our priorities. At a deeper level, it indicates our obsession with ranking and associated hierarchy. Hence, we love to classify 10 ‘beauty queens’; 10 top universities; and even 10 top Marxist intellectuals. It is an extremely difficult task to question this hierarchical mind, see the uniqueness of each of us, and appreciate diverse articulations of life energy. A village woman buying a toy in the local ‘mela’ for her daughter is no less beautiful than Aishwarya Rai with her daughter in front of the television camera; a dedicated teacher in an unknown school is not inferior to a Harvard professor as far as the urge to disseminate knowledge is concerned; and even the likes of Modi and Ambani can learn a couple of lessons of meaningful living from a Sufi mystic. It is only through this profound art of understanding and empathy can we move towards a world that, instead of privileging 100 ‘most powerful’ persons, sees the possibility of inner flowering of every human soul.

Thank God for marriage

COL HP SINGH (RETD)

NO man or woman really knows what perfect love is until they’ve been married a quarter of a century. These words of writer Mark Twain helped me take a conscious decision of an arranged marriage lest one should be arraigned later for making a wrong choice. Being the first born in an extended family, everyone was in a tearing hurry to see me wedded. ‘Get married in haste and repent at leisure’, was the lone contrary view of my marriage-hardened father.

I took the plunge with a caveat of an extended courtship. Take care to get what you like or you will end up liking what you get; was the underlying rationale. Little did one realise that more than knowing the prospective bride, there were so many blind spots in one’s personality waiting to be revealed by my psychologist fiancée. Till then, ‘Johari Window Model’, used for understanding relationships, had been only of academic interest to me.

The roots of romanticism lie in reality. The honeymoon phase over, I realised there was so much to learn, courtesy our disparate upbringing. It took me some time to master the art of sitting on bed without crumpling the bedsheet or bathing without wetting the walls of the bathroom. Life lessons of eating slowly without making noise, shutting the cupboards when not in use and walking on a mopped floor as if it was a minefield were repeated till they were perfected. Spirituality had taught me that you are not the doer; it was only in marriage that one learnt that whatever one did could have been done better.

Elementary grooming completed, it was now time to graduate to honing finer life skills. Fortunately, by then, I had the company of my children, thrilled to be their father’s co-pupils. Our demeanour, every word uttered and response to situations was under scrutiny. Learning for the youngsters was an exciting experience, but for me to unlearn and then relearn was rather exasperating. Programmes were constantly fed to the subconscious till I learnt to handle life situations differently.

The more she advanced in her professional field of psychology, the more I drifted towards the realm of philosophy. Some situations do not merit your reactions and meaningful silence is better than meaningless words; this was perhaps the greatest takeaway of my philosophical midlife. Happiness, after all, is assured when you finally decide to be a nobody. Eating your own words is a good diet to lose some ego, was a divine realisation.

As we approach our silver jubilee, I thank this nuptial alliance for bringing out the best in me. Otherwise, for most couples, marriage is all about understanding what irritates their spouse and using that knowledge strategically. I feel contented that my tutored son won’t have much to learn after his marriage and wonder whether he’ll ever seek any marital advice from his evolved father. Let’s wait till he loses his bachelor’s degree and someone attains her master’s degree.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Chhattisgarh martyrs

It is shocking and sad to see the loss of 22 security personnel in an anti-Naxal operation in Chhattisgarh. Insurgency has assumed dangerous proportions. In the past, West Bengal and Andhra Pradesh had suffered from this menace. It is a big challenge to internal peace and order. There must be an integrated operational plan from the PMO to deal with it and root it out, once and for all.

RAKESH SUDAN, KURUKSHETRA

Killings to what end?

The news ‘7 CoBRA men among 22 dead’ has sent shockwaves and confirms the murderous fallout of the Naxal movement, which once carried overtones of clashes between poor peasants and exploitative landlords. The killings serve no purpose of any ideology. Violence is never justifiable. The mainstream Naxalbari movement is derailed and must end now.

SYLVIA MALIK, JIND

Keep dignity of office

Refer to ‘Bengal’s battle for ballot’; it is a matter of disgust that neither the BJP nor the TMC wants to remain behind in this mud-slinging campaign against each other. It is more than unusual to listen to the PM addressing a rival from the stage, in the manner he did. Modi is the PM of the whole country. Winning or losing an election is one thing, to keep it dignified is another.

RAVINDER KUMAR JAIN, LUDHIANA

Tigress of Bengal

The battle of Bengal is as interesting as it is closely contested. With a number of handicaps, BJP-engineered defections and all Central agencies at the beck and call of the Centre, Mamata Banerjee, rightly called the ‘Tigress of Bengal’, is single-handedly putting up a valiant fight against the formidable Modi-Shah election machine. For Mamata, it is an existential battle. For the BJP, Bengal is a prize that it has long-eyed for both ideological and electoral reasons. A TMC win would bust the myth of Modi-Shah invincibility and project Mamata as a leader at the national level. A BJP win would be another step towards a one-party government in India, with all its harmful consequences.

BEANT SINGH BEDI, MOHALI

Mamata-Modi campaign

The Bengal’s ballot battle is an open war of words between the TMC and the BJP, spearheaded by Mamata and Modi-Shah, respectively. Her plea to Opposition leaders to form a united front to defeat the BJP is unusual. It could be read as an admission of her weakness, or a description of the emerging format of political competition in which an aggressive BJP is forcing the redrawing of battle lines. But earlier attempts at a joint opposition had failed because they were initiated as responses to electoral defeats and remained coalitions of convenience. Among these BJP-opposing party leaders, the dream of becoming PM by TMC supremo Mamata Banerjee and BSP’s Mayawati have negated all attempts for the idea of such a front.

LJS PANESAR, BY MAIL

Unreserved trains

It was intriguing to observe that the Railways is set to run 71 unreserved mail/express passenger trains from April 5. Was it prudent to do so at this crucial juncture, even as Covid is fast assuming alarming proportions across the country? All these trains happen to be ‘unreserved’ and the strict onboard observance of Covid-related guidelines can hardly be ensured. Why needlessly expose passengers to the virus, and in the process score a self-goal, too?

SK GUPTA, NEW DELHI

Vulnerable to Covid

The pandemic has again taken a frightening turn. The Haryana Government has imposed some curbs on gatherings, which on the ground carry no meaning. At Narwana, on the Bad-dawal toll plaza, where hundreds of farmers have been agitating for over three months, politicians of all parties find in the farmers a ready gathering, and come and address them, ignoring all Covid protocols, and in the presence of heavy police presence. The government must end this agitation to check the spread of Covid.

RAAMESH GUPTA, NARWANA

Oil shockers

Apropos of the ongoing tensions with Saudi Arabia over oil production cuts, there is a need to look for oil outside the WANA region. Hitherto OPEC region has been the mainstay supplier of crude oil, but terms have often been loaded against the clientele. India imports 85% of its oil needs, and being the third largest consumer, it needs an alternative that is imperative to reduce dependence.

BALSIMRAN SINGH, AMRITSAR

Powerful performer

Actor Shashikala had an amazing screen presence. Her intimidating depiction of a blackmailer in Gumrah sent shivers down one’s spine. Her role in Dulhan Wahi Jo Piya Man Bhaye dominated the film. She will not easily fade away from the hearts of her admirers. Her characters were not easy to execute, but she played them with elan.

DEEPAK TAAK, PANCHKULA

Recalibrating strategic ties with China

GANESH NATARAJAN & AJIT RANADE
STRATEGIC AFFAIRS EXPERTS

FOR almost 50 years, the bilateral relationship between India and China was able to keep the thorny issues of border settlement and of deeper economic engagement separate. Bilateral trade grew at 20 per cent per annum during the first 15 years of this century. India went from being number 19 to six in Beijing's list of export destinations. Both were enthusiastic supporters of the BRICS grouping which has led to the formation of a development bank and an annual summit, of which the thirteenth one will be held in Delhi next month. Over the years, the frequent meetings between President Xi Jinping and Prime Minister Narendra Modi have created an expectation that this could truly be the hallmark of an Asian century when the two countries could work as partners and friends. But the events of the summer of 2020 and the Galwan conflict have irreversibly changed the equilibrium. With this military conflict, which follows the long standoff in Doklam in 2017, China has unilaterally dismantled the status quo, and has signalled a more hostile stance towards India. This has raised important questions for policymakers in India. How should India navigate this new landscape in which the relationship is evolving? The immediate response to the Galwan incident was correctly to mobilise our troops and the Indian Army gave a fitting reply to the aggressors. This was combined with economic sanctions like the banning of Chinese apps, restrictions on capital flows and emotional boycott of Chinese goods. What of the medium-to-long term? What should be the strategy? This calls for seeing the challenge on a larger scale of time, space and force. What are the forces shaping Chinese behaviour? What is their path of evolution in the coming decades? What is the best path for India in the short term and the long term? How can diplomacy and economic policy work in an intertwined fashion, to best further India's interests? These questions have been addressed in a recent comprehensive policy paper authored by six people (including the present two authors) associated with the Pune International Centre. It is ironic that the recalibration is happening when China continues to be India's biggest trading partner. India's import dependency in key areas like pharmaceutical intermediaries, capital goods, electronics and telecom equipment cannot be eliminated overnight. But we believe that the long-term strategy calls for lesser economic dependency, stronger diplomatic and geopolitical coalitions with likeminded democracies, and a stance of calm confrontation of Chinese aggression. We argue that in the short run, India will have to build balancing coalitions with likeminded countries, as, indeed, we are doing through Quad with the United States, Japan and Australia. We envisage three groups of countries that we can engage with in such coalitions: major democracies of the world, countries bordering China, and India's own neighbours, all of whom have a lot to gain in preventing the rise of China as a malevolent and autocratic superpower. We need to go beyond treaties and agreements and engage deeply with these 20 countries, encouraging frequent exchanges at multiple levels: diplomats, economists, scientists, academics, innovators and entrepreneurs. There have been many discussions and debates about protectionist measures to keep Chinese imports and Chinese firms from playing any role in the growth of the Indian economy. We believe that a significant proportion of such moves will be self-defeating because they can hurt India's productivity and exports. There is certainly a case for three groups of restrictions: limit companies controlled by the Chinese State from controlling stakes in a number of sensitive infrastructure assets, including 5G and telecom, steer clear of China-controlled technology standards and block any surveillance of Indian persons. A selective retreat from economic engagement with China and increased emphasis on the global market would be an ideal approach to take in the next two decades, which can result in starting with 'less China' and eventually approaching a near-'China-less' state of our nation. This represents a call to action, which the military demonstrated so admirably and which now must be heeded by political parties, diplomats, policy planners, bureaucrats, industrialists, indeed, all citizens. And the starting point of the new race is less than equal, which is only to be expected. Whether we look at the size of the economy, state capacity, capabilities of the best firms, extent of internationalisation, mastery of science and technology or the pace of filing of patents, China continues to be India's biggest trading partner. India's import dependency in key areas like pharmaceutical intermediaries, capital goods, electronics and telecom equipment can't be eliminated overnight. But the long-term strategy calls for lesser economic dependency and stronger diplomatic & geopolitical coalitions with like-minded democracies.

China is significantly ahead of India. China's economy is five times bigger, and the bilateral trade balance is heavily skewed in its favour. The trade imbalance can be partly corrected by a focused approach. India has recently launched the productivity-linked incentives (PLI) and chosen sectors for deep investments and creating 'global champions'. Investments of over $28 billion from India and abroad have been announced. Iconic companies like Apple are the early beneficiaries of this PLI opportunity. We did an assessment of the global opportunities and the relative status of India and China to identify and advocate industry-specific strategies in the following three broad categories of the industry sectors: 1. Huge asymmetry areas where India must progressively reduce dependence. Rare Earths are a classic example.

2. Opportunities to focus on atmanirbharta and meet all domestic demand. Telecom is an immediate imperative. 3. Global industry-building opportunities. These exist in chemicals, pharmaceuticals — where we have made a good start with vaccine manufacturing — automotive, particularly with autonomous connected and electric vehicles and hydrogen as an alternative fuel source, hardware, consumer electronics and even agriculture — where a resolution of the current standoff can become the beginning of a practical domestic and exports policy that would help millions of farmers in the country. In the medium-to-long term, China has its own vulnerabilities. Its demography is ageing and workforce declining. Its growth will surely slow down. It has an uneasy geopolitical relationship with several countries. It has adopted an adversarial relationship with large private sector companies like Alibaba. It is possible that China may grow at four per cent while India can grow at close to eight per cent for the foreseeable future. This changes the skewed ratio of economic size from 5:1 to just about 2:1. To achieve this high and sustained growth, India has a domestic economic reforms agenda to pursue. As a nation, we can and must move towards being an alternative centre of the global supply chain and join the race for being a major global manufacturing hub. This needs strategic patience and has the potential to create additional employment for 200 million people. The atmanirbharta strategy has to be combined with reforms which can make India globally competitive and give it atmavishwas or self-confidence.

Tackle Maoists with a top-down approach

MAROOF RAZA
SENIOR JOURNALIST

One way out is to get the Army to depute senior officers (from colonels to generals) with experience in counter-insurgency operations to command the CRPF paramilitary men under the Home Ministry. If the Army can provide officers for the NSG and Establishment 22, which are under the Home Ministry or the PMO, then why not for anti-Maoist operations?

THE latest ambush by Maoist rebels on a large contingent of security personnel in Bastar is yet another well-planned and ruthlessly executed attack in a long line of similar attacks in the Maoist-infested regions of central India. Hundreds of policemen from various cadres have been killed in attacks, mostly in the past two decades, by well-armed Maoist rebels in the region. Often, the pattern of their ambushes is similar to that of the past. It's either on a large posse of security personnel making their way back to camp after a tiring few days of operations in the jungles and when their guard is down. Or, it is an attack on a police camp, which can never be quite completely fortified. But there are ways to prevent such massacres. This requires a top-down approach, and not a bottom-up one, to address the challenges across the several states where insurgency has existed for at least three decades, much like the way the Indian Army has been deployed in the north-eastern states. Maoist insurgents have been expanding their footprint across the heartland over the past three decades and their red line of rebellion now runs from Pashupati (in Nepal) to Tirupati (in south India). At its height, the Maoist insurgency was visible in over 200 districts across, most severely, in central India. And though our earlier Prime Minister Manmohan Singh has stated on record on more than one occasion that the Maoist insurgency "was the single biggest internal security challenge ever faced by our country", Delhi's efforts then and now have been a piecemeal exercise. One problem is the federal nature of India, and the resistance of state governments. It limits what the Central government can do to tackle the challenges comprehensively. One state's insurgent cannot be a vote bank for another state! Sadly, politics often takes precedence over the safety of citizens, and, in this case, the overstretched policemen operating in these areas, without an adequate senior police leadership. A decade ago, a DGP of the CRPF had told me that it was a challenge for him to get enough CRPF senior officers (IGs and DIGs) to move out of the comfortable cities that they were based in to command their forces on the battlefields. Since IPS officers neither have the experience nor the inclination to battle insurgencies, they are reluctant to be based in operational areas and their troops are devoid of effective leadership, unlike the Army officers who have to command their troops from operational areas. One way out is to get the Army to depute senior officers (from colonels to generals) with experience in counter-insurgency operations to command CRPF paramilitary men under the Home Ministry. If the Army can provide officers for the NSG and Establishment 22, which are under the Home Ministry or the PMO, then why not for anti-Maoist operations? Moreover, with the Army being so top heavy, the opening of new avenues for officers will be an opportunity for them, many of whom are doing the job that one brigadier or major-general did decades ago in the corps/command/Army headquarters. And those JCO/NCOs retiring at a relatively young age, with experience in CI Ops can be offered the opportunity to serve in the Maoist-infested zones. There would be the usual objections — from the Army headquarters and the CRPF — about how this can create inter-service manpower and budgeting issues, but if there is a will, there will be a way. A year ago, a Chinese incursion on the LAC led us to abandon the plans and doctrines that seemed to have been etched in stone. What will it take us to wake up to the threats posed on the lives and limbs of the policemen who are sent into the jungles, again and again, to be slaughtered? A decade ago, the then Home Secretary RK Singh wanted to up the ante by asking for 30,000 men from the Army's Rashtriya Rifle units and helicopters. But he had run into opposition in Delhi, with the Army Chief reluctant to apply "quick-fix-solutions" by using excessive force. And with the Maoists having shot down an IAF helicopter in Chhattisgarh's Sukma district a decade ago, the reluctance to use helicopters — even for non-aggressive operations like reconnaissance and movement of troops to reinforce operations — gathered momentum in New Delhi. This must now be reviewed. Historically, insurgencies have been contained and eliminated by a three-part strategy that involves: (a) The use of necessary military force to counter the aggressiveness of insurgents; (b) and while military operations are being enforced — although this could take from a few months to few years — the government must have ideas and initiatives ready, with plans for infrastructure upgrades that would address the basic grievances of the alienated people, who took to arms in the first place. (c) finally, when military operations are reduced to a minimum and the ground situation is under control with the implementation of such initiatives, then 'talks' must be initiated to address the political demands of the locals, with fixed timelines for political deliverables. Essentially, there are two ways to confront insurgencies. One is to manage it at a low-key level, like New Delhi has done for decades in the North-East. The other is to go hammer and tongs, as the Sri Lankan forces eventually did against the LTTE, to finish off any serious resistance by the Tamil militants. Above all, to successfully battle an insurgency, all major governmental agencies must be on the same wavelength. For the armed forces to distance themselves from the challenges of this grave challenge by claiming that this is not their battle (while the insurgencies in the North-East and Kashmir are) shows double standards. The PM and the National Security Adviser would do well to exercise their authority to get the forces to participate in and collectively address a problem that cannot have a knee-jerk approach, notwithstanding strong political warnings that translate to little on the ground.

SIMILAR PATTERN: Hundreds of policemen from various cadres have been killed in attacks by Maoists, mostly in the past two decades. PTI

Mandi Sadar neglected, CM should apologise, says Cong

TRIBUNE NEWS SERVICE

MANDI, APRIL 5
Chief Minister Jai Ram Thakur was his main target as Leader of Opposition Mukesh Agnihotri campaigned here today in favour of Congress candidates for Municipal Corporation election along with other Congress leaders.

Addressing a press conference, Agnihotri said that the neglect of the Mandi Sadar segment by the state government in the last three years would cost the BJP dear in this election.

He said the Chief Minister should apologise to the people of Mandi Sadar by accepting that he had failed to ensure the development of Mandi town.

“The people of Mandi Sadar Assembly segment gave mandate to the BJP in the last Assembly election to ensure the development of Mandi town and its nearby places. But the Chief Minister ignored the demands of Anil Sharma, BJP MLA from Mandi Sadar regarding development issues. Due to that there is strong resentment among people of Mandi Sadar against the Chief Minister,” he added.

“The people of Mandi Sadar are aware that Rs 440 crore, a part of the Jal Jeevan Mission, was allocated to only two Assembly segments of Seraj and Dharam-pur, the home segments of Chief Minister and IPH Minister, respectively. Similarly, Rs 450 crore of the Central Road Fund Scheme was allocated for Seraj and Dharampur. Around 2,000 jobs were provided to the youths of Seraj and Dharampur in different departments while the youths of Mandi Sadar did not get jobs,” he said.

Cong misguiding people on taxes, says Khanna

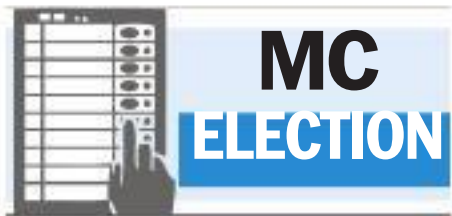

PALAMPUR, APRIL 5
Avinash Rai Khanna, state BJP in-charge, today assailed the Congress for misguiding people on the imposition of municipal taxes in the merged areas of Palampur.

Addressing mediapersons here, Khanna said that there was no proposal to levy taxes in the newly merged areas of the Palampur MC. The statement of Palampur MLA Ashish Butail and Congress leader Asha Kumari were far from truth that taxes would be levied on houses, cowsheds, animals, pets, scooters and cars. The government had no such proposal and the Congress was adopting cheap tactics to get political mileage in the MC elections.

Khanna said the BJP would respect the sentiments of people and if any village wanted to go out of the MC limits, the government would go for delimitation. Trilok Kapoor, state general secretary, said one family had ruled Palampur for long but failed to upgrade the municipal council. — OC

BJP placed well in Mandi, has better chance in Solan

In Dharamsala and Palampur, both parties neck and neck

PRATIBHA CHAUHAN
TRIBUNE NEWS SERVICE

SHIMLA, APRIL 5

The campaign for the elections to the four municipal corporations ended today. The BJP seems to be comfortably placed in Mandi, has an edge in Solan while in Dharamsala and Palampur, the scales seem to be evenly balanced.

The elections are being held on party symbols. The stakes are high especially for Chief Minister Jai Ram Thakur, as these elections are being considered a precursor to the Assembly elections due in November 2022. In case the Congress is able to win even one MC or retain Dharamsala, it will be a big victory considering the fund and resource crunch the party is facing.

Rebels have queered the pitch for both Congress and BJP, especially in Palampur and Dharamsala. Efforts to placate them have failed, making the going tough for both parties. In Dharamsala, the BJP is facing 14 rebels while the Congress has five rebels.

While the Chief Minister has campaigned in all four places, Union Minister of State for Finance Anurag Thakur sought votes for the party candidates in Dharamsala on the last day of the campaign today. Besides, all ministers have been assigned poll duties and Rajya Sabha MP Indu Goswami has been active in Palampur. BJP state in-charge Avinash Rai Khanna and co-incharge Sanjay Tandon, too, have been taking keen interest in the elections.

On the other hand, state Congress president Kuldeep Rathore and CLP leader Mukesh Agnihotri have been leading the Congress campaign. Asha Kumari, Kaul Singh Thakur, GS Bali and Ram Lal Thakur, too, have been campaigning. Despite the best efforts of the Congress, former Chief Minister Virbhadra Singh could not campaign owing to his falling health. Senior party leader Anand Sharma also did not involve himself with the elections.

Former minister Sudhir Sharma, who lost the 2017 Assembly elections, has taken the charge of the Dharamsala elections for the Congress and the BJP faces a tough fight there. Even in Palampur, the goodwill of BBL Butail and his MLA son Ashish Butail have proved to be the biggest strength of the Congress.

The BJP is quite comfortably placed in Mandi, the home district of the Chief Minister, where he had campaigned vigorously. The Chief Minister has handed over the charge of the party campaign to a trusted and experienced aide, Mahender Singh, Irrigation and Public Health Minister.

In Solan, too, the BJP seems to be ahead of the Congress in organising a very systematic campaign being headed by former Speaker and Rajeev Bindal, an astute politician and Nahan MLA. He has represented Solan thrice in the Vidhan Sabha, and is still well-entrenched.

Virbhadra fails to turn up at Solan rally

SOLAN, APRIL 5

Efforts to woo voters by roping in Congress’ six-term Chief Minister Virbhadra Singh failed in Solan as the senior most leader could not turn up to address a rally today following ill-health.

In his absence, the Congress rally failed to have the desired effect though senior party leaders like PCC president Kuldeep Rathore, local legislator DR Shandil, Rajinder Rana and state’s co-in charge Gurkirat Singh Kotli

An unsavoury situation arose when Congress and

BJP activists came face to face at the old bus stand. A large number of BJP activists, who were holding a march, started sloganeering in front of the venue of the Congress’ rally while Shandil was speaking.

Activists of the Youth Congress also started sloganeering. Rathore urged the activists not to get provoked. However, timely intervention by the police averted the situation from getting worse. A march was also taken out by the Congress leaders later from the old bus stand till the old DC office in a bid to woo the voters. — TNS

Missing CRPF jawan hails from Jammu

NEW DELHI, APRIL 5
CRPF CoBRA commando Rakeshwar Singh Minhas, who has gone missing after the encounter with left-wing extremists in the Bijapur-Bastar forest area of Chhattisgarh, is from Jammu. The security agencies are trying to confirm the claims made by the Naxals that they have abducted him.
The encounter on Saturday afternoon left at least 22 security personnel dead and 31 injured with one CRPF jawan missing.
Senior officials in the security establishment said even as they had “sufficient reasons to believe” the claim made by a Naxal leader over phone on Sunday evening to a local journalist that they had abducted the jawan, as true, still efforts were being made to ascertain the fact.

A senior security official said, “So far, we are not able to locate commando Rakeshwar Singh Minhas of the 210th CoBRA battalion. We do not have concrete evidence to substantiate the claim made by some Naxal elements that he has been taken away by them. Our teams are making all-out efforts to trace the missing commando.”
Officials said Minhas was part of the unit that went out for the anti-Naxal operation on Saturday morning. — TNS

Iconic arch of world’s highest bridge over Chenab completed

1.5-km engineering marvel part of Udhampur-Baramulla link

TRIBUNE NEWS SERVICE

NEW DELHI, APRIL 5
In what could place Jammu and Kashmir on the global civil engineering map, the Railways on Monday announced the completion of an iconic 1.5-km arch over the world’s highest rail bridge being built across the Chenab.
The 359-metre-high bridge, expected to be built in a year, is the most significant part of the ongoing Rs 27,929 crore Udhampur-Baramulla railway link connecting Kashmir to Kanyakumari.
Once completed, the bridge across the Katra-Banihal section will be the highest rail bridge in the world—1,315 km long with 17 spans and will be able to withstand wind speed up to 266 km an hour. It will be 35 metres higher than the Eiffel Tower once constructed and will be a major symbol of India’s self-reliance. The main arch of the bridge weighs 10,619 metric tonnes. Railway Minister Piyush Goyal today announced the completion of the main arch of this rail bridge. “With the construction the arch, the Railways have set an important milestone. This was one of the most difficult parts of the bridge. The achievement is a major leap towards the completion of the 111-km-long winding stretch from Katra to Banihal,” he said. The Railways completed the project on time despite Covid-19 challenges.

Row erupts as French media says ‘commission’ paid in Rafale deal accused of money laundering in India in another defence deal. The company said the money was used to pay for the manufacture of 50 large replica models of Rafale jets,” said the report. The inspectors were given no proof that these models were made. Yet, against all apparent logic, the AFA decided not to refer the matter to prosecutors, the report said.

Defsys Solutions belongs to the family of Sushen Gupta, arrested by the ED in another case. According to the report, members of the Gupta family had been “acting as middlemen in aeronautical and defence industries for three generations”.

Congress media head Randeep Surjewala asked if the government would invoke integrity clause of the Defence Procurement Policy, which bars middlemen in defence contracts and provides for banning the supplier, cancelling the contract and registering an FIR in case of evidence of commissions.

“Will this happen now? Does the matter not warrant an independent probe into India’s biggest defence deal as to how much bribe was paid and to whom in the government?” asked Surjewala.

Law Minister Ravi Shankar Prasad trashed the allegations as “corporate rivalry and completely baseless”, accusing the Congress of undermining the armed forces’ morale. He said the Supreme Court had rejected a demand for a probe and the CAG too had found nothing wrong. He alleged Sushen Gupta had links with the Congress, which had been “established in the AgustaWestland case”.

Athletes need Covid jab urgently, IOA tells minister

TRIBUNE NEWS SERVICE

NEW DELHI, APRIL 5
The Indian Olympic Association (IOA) has again written to Health Minister Harsh Vardhan regarding the vaccination of the Olympics-bound Indian contingent.

In a letter addressed to the minister, IOA secretary general Rajeev Mehta has sought necessary direction from his office for vaccination of Indian athletes, coaches and officials who will be in Tokyo Games, scheduled to be held in July-August.

“...Since there are very few months left for the games and the safety of the participants are (sic) utmost important to ensure all of them are vaccinated for Covid-19 prior

With just over 100 days to go for Olympics, IOA sends second request to travel to Tokyo,” Mehta wrote to the minister, adding: “Therefore, we once again request your good office to consider our request and issue necessary directions.”

This is the second request on the issue from the IOA secretary general in the last two months, the last one being sent in February.

Request to AIIMS, too
The IOA has also sounded out Randeep Guleria, director of the All India Institute of Medical Sciences here, to organise the vaccination of the Indian contingent subject to the Health Ministry’s approval.

“...Approximately 158 athletes from India are expected to participate in almost 17 sports. Since there are few months left for the commencement of the Tokyo Olympic Games, two dosage of vaccination for the athletes and officials representing India is required on priority. We request your good office to consider vaccination of Covid-19 for the Indian athletes and officials, who will be representing India in the Tokyo Olympic Games,” the letter to Guleria reads.

High five for Lahiri

Lahiri grabs first top-5 finish since 2017

SAN ANTONIO (USA), APRIL 5
Indian golfer Anirban Lahiri notched up his best finish in over three years by signing off fifth at the Valero Texas Open after carding a 3-under 69 in the final round here.

Lahiri, who finished 10-under overall, had opened the week with a modest 1-under 71. He added solid 69s on each of the next three days for his first top-5 finish since October 2017.

Even as Lahiri was achieving his best in 1,260 days, Jordan Spieth got back into the winner’s circle after a span of 1,351 days — his last win was at the British Open in 2017. Spieth ended his inexplicable slump with a two-shot win over Charley Hoffman (66).

Lahiri birdied the second and eighth, dropped a shot on the 12th and then birdied the 15th and 18th. The birdie on the 18th moved him from a four-man group at tied-5th to sole fifth. That final birdie was worth around $40,000 for Lahiri and the Indian earned a total of $315,700.

The 33-year-old finished eight strokes behind Spieth but thought he could have been closer. “I think overall through the week, I didn’t convert as many of my opportunities,” Lahiri said. “I definitely hit the ball good enough to contend and maybe win, but my bunker play and my short game, and putting from mid-range to short range, was below par. Those are the things that I need to work on,” he added. — Agencies

Much-needed boost

Lahiri had missed five cuts in his last six starts and his finish in Texas gave him a much-needed boost in the FedExCup standings, lifting him to 94th from 125th. “I’ve put a lot of work in the full swing and ball striking in the last month or so, and to see that working and holding up under pressure is very pleasing,” Lahiri said. “I’m very happy with how I kept my composure and kind of stuck to what I needed to do. It was one of those weeks that I could have done a lot more but I’d rather build on this and work on some of the areas where I came up short on.”

opportunities,” Lahiri said. “I definitely hit the ball good enough to contend and maybe win, but my bunker play and my short game, and putting from mid-range to short range, was below par. Those are the things that I need to work on,” he added. — Agencies

DC coach was left baffled by Shaw’s theories on batting

NEW DELHI, APRIL 5
Delhi Capitals head coach Ricky Ponting has revealed that opening batsman Prithvi Shaw refused to bat in the nets when he struggled to get runs during IPL-13 last year in the UAE.

In an interview, Ponting said that the young right-hander had a theory that he would bat extra in the nets when he was in form but not practice at all when he was going through a lean patch.

Ponting said that Shaw’s approach baffled him. “I’ve tried (taking Shaw under his wing) the last two years and I’ve really enjoyed working with him,” said Ponting. “...but he had an interesting theory on his batting last year — when

BUENOS AIRES, APRIL 5
Indian hockey team vice-captain Harmanpreet Singh has said that they will utilise the tour of Argentina to build momentum ahead of the Tokyo Olympics. The 22-member Indian team arrived here last week for the six-match tour against Olympics champions Argentina.

The tour includes four practice matches and back-to-back FIH Hockey Pro League matches against Argentina on April 11 and 12. Harmanpreet said that adapting to the host nation’s style of play will be key to success for the Indians.

“Argentina’s style of play is slightly different compared to the teams we played in Europe,” said Harmanpreet. “We will certainly be using this tour as an opportunity to gather momentum ahead of the Tokyo Olympics. Teams around the world are trying to get as much match prac-

With India winning 2-1 the last time they played (in the 2018 Champions Trophy), Harmanpreet believes India will give Argentina a run for their money in the upcoming matches. He said the return of senior players, including skipper Manpreet Singh, had added teeth to the team. “I would say we are evenly matched in terms of quality,” he said. — Agencies he’s not scoring runs, he won’t bat, and when he is scoring runs, he wants to keep batting all the time.”

“He had four or five games where he made under 10 and I’m telling him, ‘We have to go to the nets and work out (what’s wrong)’, and he looked me in the eye and said, ‘No, I’m not batting today’. I couldn’t really work that out.”

Ponting added: “He might have changed. I know he’s done a lot of work over the last few months, that theory that he had might have changed, and hopefully, it has, because if we can get the best out of him, he could be a superstar player.”

Ponting said that he was tough on Shaw during IPL 2020 but that didn’t help. “I was going pretty hard at him,” said Ponting. “I was basically telling him, ‘Mate you’ve got to get in the nets. Whatever you think you’re working on, is not working for you.’”

“It’s my job as a coach to challenge someone’s preparation if they’re not getting results,” he added. “So I challenged him and he stuck to his word and he didn’t practice much at all towards the back-end of the tournament, and didn’t get many runs towards the back-end of the tournament either.” — TNS, agencies

Kerala, TN, Puducherry vote today

Phase-3 polling in Bengal, Assam | High stakes for Mamata as TMC battles to retain base

ADITI TANDON
TRIBUNE NEWS SERVICE

NEW DELHI, APRIL 5
Tamil Nadu, Kerala and Puducherry will go to the polls in single-phase elections tomorrow, while West Bengal and Assam will witness the third-phase polling in a crucial high stakes election. While the ruling Left Democratic Front (LDF) led by CM Pinarayi Vijayan is looking to create history in Kerala by bucking a four-decade trend of power alternating between the LDF and Congress-led UDF, the DMK and the Congress are fighting to wrest Tamil Nadu back from AIADMK, which has been in power for two terms.

Late J Jayalalithaa had in 2016 broken a 32-year-old trend in Tamil Nadu by leading the AIADMK to a consecutive win and becoming the only CM after MG Ramachandran to retain power twice.

In West Bengal, the mettle of CM Mamata Banerjee would be at test in the third phase election for 31 seats in South 24 Parganas, Howrah and Hooghly tomorrow, considering the ruling TMC had won 30 of these 31 seats in the previous polls. Amta in Howrah was the only seat the Congress had won in 2016.

For Mamata, tomorrow's polling could mean a make or break phase as she faces an aggressive and surging BJP. The pitch in Bengal's 31

Polling officials leave for election duty ahead of the final phase of Assembly polls in Assam on Monday. PTI

NADDA'S HOOGHLY RALLIES CANCELLED

The BJP on Monday cancelled both rallies of party president JP Nadda in Hooghly district after he had to rush back to New Delhi for an "urgent meeting". The BJP party chief's meeting at Sreerampur was cancelled due to unknown reasons. The TMC claimed Nadda did not turn up as the attendance at these rallies was thin. PTI

STALIN EYES 3RD WIN

In Tamil Nadu, DMK chief MK Stalin, who spearheaded several campaigns against the AIADMK, is seeking re-election for the straight third term from Kolathur.

seats has been queered by the presence of Indian Secular Front chief Peerzada Siddiqui who could breach TMC's minority base in South 24 Parganas and Hooghly where he commands influence.

The popularity of Mamata's nephew and Diamond Harbour MP Abhishek Banerjee will also be watched tomorrow as four of the seven Assembly segments of this parliamentary seat witness polling on Tuesday.

Anticipating violence, the Election Commission has imposed Section 144 CrPC in all the 31 Bengal seats going to polls tomorrow - a phase where Swapan Dasgupta of BJP, minister Ashima Patra of TMC and Kanti Ganguly of CPM are in the fray.

The fact that Mamata recently labeled ISF chief Peerzada

as a BJP prop indicated the latter's ability to tilt scales in Bengal third phase polls where Mamata is locked in a battle to retain her base after the BJP claimed 'super shows in previous two phases including a win in Nandigram.'

In Assam, BJP's Himanta Biswa Sarma is contesting in the third and final phase tomorrow as is BJP state chief Ranjeet Dass. Elections will be held

DIDI A FIGHTER: JAYA

The TMC on Monday roped in actor Jaya Bachchan to campaign for the party. A Samajwadi Party representative in the Rajya Sabha, Jaya said she would stay in the state for three days

She said she respected Mamata for being the 'single woman fighting all atrocities'. "Though her head and leg were broken, no one could break her heart and brain," Jaya said

POLL BATTLE TO TEST RAHUL'S METTLE

In Kerala, the polls will test the nerves of Rahul Gandhi, an MP from Wayanad, who camped in the state for several days and took part in corner meetings for the UDF

His mother and Congress chief Sonia Gandhi appealed to the voters to reject 'authoritarian and dictatorial' leaders, seeking votes for the UDF for 40 constituencies where 337 candidates are in fray.

The contest is mostly between the ruling BJP and the Congress with Assam Jatiya Parishad (AJP) the third pole. Sarma, a four-term MLA, is contesting against Congress' Romen Barthakur from Jalukbari. Dass is fighting against AJP's working chief Pabindra Deka and Congress' Santanu Sarma in Patacharkuchi.

Sacrifice of martyrs won't go in vain: Shah

Tells forces to recalibrate offensive

TRIBUNE NEWS SERVICE

NEW DELHI, APRIL 5
Home Minister Amit Shah, who visited Chhattisgarh today where 22 security personnel were killed in a Naxal attack, said the martyrs' sacrifice would not go in vain.

Asserting that the forces' morale was high, he said they were ready to take the fight against the left-wing ultras to its "logical conclusion".

Addressing the media after chairing a security review meeting in Jagdalpur where Chhattisgarh CM Bhupesh Baghel was also present, Shah said the anti-Naxal operations had come to a decisive level. "Senior officials of the state police and CRPF want to continue with counter-offensive operations more vigorously. This indicates the morale of the forces is still high," he said.

He also paid tributes to the security personnel killed by Naxals in the state's Bastar region on Saturday. He said the Modi government had already given priority to end the menace and also assured that the forces would be victorious in the ongoing operation against the left-wing extremists.

"In the last five-six years, we have achieved success in setting up our security camps in the hardcore Naxal-dominated areas of Chhattisgarh. The state government and the Centre

OPERATION POORLY DESIGNED: RAHUL

Congress leader Rahul Gandhi alleged the anti-naxal operation in Bijapur was poorly designed and incompetently executed

The party questioned Shah for attending poll rallies even after jawans had been martyred

"Shah cancelled only his last rallies in Assam. Is saying 'sacrifices won't go in vain' enough?" Ran-deep Surjewala said

CRPF DG Kuldiep Singh, who has been camping at the encounter site since yesterday, briefed Shah about the details of the incident.

Shah has reportedly asked the security forces to chalk out a re-calibrated strategy to make counter offensive more deadly and effective.

Mustn't focus on LAC alone: China

SANDEEP DIKSHIT
TRIBUNE NEWS SERVICE

NEW DELHI, APRIL 5
A day after India insisted on disengagement and de-escalation from all flash points in Eastern Ladakh as a pre-condition to improvement in bilateral ties, Chinese Ambassador to India Sun Weidong said: "We must not keep our eyes only on one aspect of it". Sun wanted India and China to view bilateral relations from an "overall, long-term and strategic perspective" and did not want them to be bogged down by any specific incident or a short period of time. "This is not the way we should do,"

In his conversation with Wang Yi on February 25, External Affairs Minister S Jaishankar had said disengagement and de-escalation must be the first steps towards restoring normalcy. Since then there has been no word from China on India's proposal for holding a joint meeting of diplomats and army commanders.

The Chinese ambassador admitted there were difficulties on the border, but did not point a way to the future. He merely said the recent disengagement of frontline troops in the Pangong Tso area was conducive to building mutual trust and further easing the situation on the ground.

The Chinese envoy spoke on the common challenges facing both countries.

Illegal mining: ED attaches ₹165-cr assets

SC picks 2 judges for 41 coal scam cases

NEW DELHI, APRIL 5
Delhi Sessions judges Arun Bhardwaj and Sanjay Bansal will conduct coal scam trials as the Supreme Court on Monday appointed them as special judges to take the 41 cases hanging fire since 2014 to their logical conclusions. "We consider it appropriate to nominate Arun Bhardwaj and Sanjay Bansal as Presiding Judges of Special Court Nos.1 and 2 respectively. They shall be appointed in the order of their seniority. Ordered accordingly," a Bench headed by Chief Justice S A Bobde said in its order.

Bhardwaj and Bansal replace Special Judge Bharat Parashar. Special public prosecutor RS Cheema had suggested that it would be appropriate to appoint two special courts instead of one as the number of cases was quite high.

The Centre had concurred with the proposal to appoint the two new judges as special judges. The SC had on March 15 asked the Chief Justice of the Delhi HC to suggest names of five trial court judges of "high calibre and absolute integrity" for appointing one of them as the special judge to replace Parashar. — TNS

PIL for raising judges' retirement age to 65

New Delhi: As almost one-third of the 1,079 posts of judges in 25 HCs remain vacant, a PIL was filed in the SC on Monday seeking to raise judges' retirement age from 62 to 65 years. Filed by Delhi BJP leader and advocate Ashwini Kumar Upadhyay, the PIL demanded uniform retirement age for judges of HCs and the SC. The retirement age of judges of the top court is already 65 years. Uddhav Thackeray

BJP questions Maharashtra CM's 'silence'

TRIBUNE NEWS SERVICE

NEW DELHI, APRIL 5
Following the resignation of Maharashtra Home Minister Anil Deshmukh, the BJP targeted CM Uddhav Thackeray with Union Minister Ravi Shankar Prasad saying the Shiv Sena chief had lost the moral right to govern. Addressing a press meet here, he demanded Thackeray's resignation, questioning his "conspicuous" silence, emphasising that "democracy is run by standards of probity and propriety."

Claiming that Deshmukh's target in Mumbai was Rs 100 crore, he said the "BJP expects all linkages in this shameful corruption will be exposed with the CBI probe."

Regarding Deshmukh reportedly meeting NCP chief Sharad Pawar before resigning as Home Minister, Prasad asked: "Who is running the government? The consistent, conspicuous silence of CM Uddhav Thackeray itself raises a lot of questions." The issue ought to be investigated fairly and those responsible brought to book, he added.
