Heavy rains lash Chennai; many roads inundated

Anna Salai in Chennai is flooded following heavy rainfall in the city on Thursday. — DC

SINDHIYA SAMUEL | DC
CHENNAI, OCT. 29

Chennai and its suburbs were pounded by heavy rains accompanied by crackling lightning from Wednesday night and continued into Thursday morning.

The first spell heralding the arrival of the north-east monsoon in the state led to waterlogging at several locations, which slowed traffic in many areas.

The rainfall was heavy in some localities including Mylapore, which received 18 cm. Other areas, including Kotturpuram, received similar showers, (14 cm Anna University) and Red Hills on the northern periphery experienced 13 cm spots of rain, a Met office bulletin said. However, several other areas like MGR Nagar (5 cm) received moderate and mild rains.

Several areas falling under nearby Chengalpet, Kancheepuram and Tiruvallur districts, including Tambaram, Uthukottai and Mamallapuram, received relatively low rainfall (2 cm), while other areas in these districts like Tiruporur and Sriperumbudur saw precipitation of one cm.

As per the rainfall data released by Tamil Nadu State Disaster Management Authority, Mylapore crossed the 100 mm mark by recording a rainfall of 178 mm.

Purasawalkam and Ambattur registered a rainfall of 94 mm and 90 mm respectively. Alandur recorded 78.50 mm of rain followed by Sholinganallur with 77.20 mm, Guindy 75.20 mm, Tondiarpet 67 mm, Permabur 56.10 mm, Egmore 54.80 mm and Ayanavaram with 53 mm of rainfall. The average rainfall recorded by the city stands at 97.27 mm.

Weather blogger Pradeep John, also known as Tamil Nadu weatherman, said that K a n c h e e p u r a m, Tiruvallur and Chennai will continue to receive steady rains for the next two days.

The mornings are likely to receive peak rains as a result of upper air circulation, he said. ■ P3

SELECTION OF H1B VISAS

Trump admin proposes to scrap lottery system

Washington, Oct. 29: The Trump administration has proposed to scrap the computerised lottery system to grant H-1B work visas to foreign technology professionals and replace it with a wage-level-based selection process, a move that is expected to counter the downward pressure on the wages of US workers.

A notification on the new system is being published in the Federal Register on Thursday. Stakeholders have 30 days to respond to the notification, the department of homeland security (DHS) said on Wednesday, less than a week before the US presidential election.

Replacing the computerised draw of lots to decide on the successful H-1B applicants, the DHS said it is expected to help counter the downward pressure on the wages of American workers that is created by an annual influx of relatively lower-paid, new cap-subject H-1B workers.

The H-1B visa, most sought-after among Indian IT professionals, is a non-immigrant visa that allows US companies to employ foreign workers in specialty occupations that require theoretical or technical expertise.

If finalised as proposed, US Citizenship and Immigration Services would first select registrations (or petitions, if the registration process is suspended) generally based on the highest Occupational Employment Statistics prevailing wage level that the offered wage equals or exceeds for the relevant Standard Occupational Classification code and areas of intended employment.

"Prioritisation and selection based on wage levels better balances the interests of petitioners, H-1B workers, and U.S. workers," the DHS said.

"With this proposed rule, the Trump administration is continuing to deliver on its promise to protect the American worker while strengthening the economy. The H-1B programme is often exploited and abused by U.S. employers, and their U.S. clients, primarily seeking to hire foreign workers and pay lower wages," said acting DHS deputy secretary Ken Cuccinelli.

US President Donald Trump, keen to regulate the country's immigration policies, on June 22, signed the executive order temporarily banning issuing fresh H-1B and L-1 visas till December 31. — PTI

Mandatory packaging of 100% food grains in jute bags approved

New Delhi, Oct 29: To help the jute industry, the government on Thursday decided to extend the norms for mandatory packaging of 100 per cent food grains and 20 per cent sugar in diversified jute bags.

The decision on the extension of norms for mandatory packaging in jute materials was taken at the meeting of the Cabinet Committee on Economic Affairs.

"The Cabinet Committee on Economic Affairs chaired by Prime Minister Narendra Modi has approved that 100 per cent of the foodgrains and 20 per cent of the sugar shall be mandatorily packed in diversified jute bags," said an official release.

Information and Broadcasting Minister Prakash Javadekar, while briefing media after the Cabinet meeting, said the CCEA decision will benefit farmers and workers located in the eastern and north-eastern regions of the country, particularly in West Bengal, Bihar, Odisha, Assam, Andhra Pradesh, Meghalaya and Tripura.

Union Textiles Minister Smriti Irani said that the decision will benefit 3.7 lakh workers and 40 lakh farmers, especially in West Bengal. "Government purchases over ₹7,500 crore worth jute bags to sustain core demand of the sector," Irani said. — PTI

Rajini: Docs advised me against entering politics

G BABU JAYAKUMAR | DC
CHENNAI, OCT. 29

Actor Rajinikanth confirmed on Thursday that he had health issues and that he had been advised by doctors not to involve himself in active politics even as his fans went berserk on Twitter demanding his entry into politics, saying that he was the only hope for Tamil Nadu.

Quoting what was described as a leaked letter of Rajinikanth, some media outlets put out a story that the actor might exit politics without even entering, prompting his fans to trend a Tamil hashtag "If at all I vote it will be for Rajini only" through the day, calling their 'Thalivar' to come and also questioned the veracity of the "leaked letter."

Even as the hashtag was trending, Rajinikanth put out a tweet past noon saying: "A letter masquerading as my statement has been making its rounds on social networking sites and the media. Everyone knows that it is not my statement. Yet some of the information in the letter on my health condition and doctors' advice are all true."

He went on to say that he would inform his political stand to the people after discussing it with the office-bearers of Rajini Makkal Mandram (Rajini People's Forum). The forum was formed with the members of his erstwhile fans' association after he had made an announcement that he would be entering politics by launching his own party.

The actor had held meetings with the office-bearers in earlier occasions to elicit their views and also to guide them on the way he would like to fashion his party. But subsequently in a press conference, in which he just spelt out his plans and left the venue without taking questions from the media, he made it clear he was not entering politics.

Later on, when it BJP leader and Union home minister Amit Shah mentioned that his party was waiting for Rajinikanth to float his party to forge an alliance with it, media started speculating about the possible party launch, enthusing his fans. ■ P2

3 killed in attack in church in France

Paris, Oct. 29: An attacker armed with a knife killed three people at a church on Thursday in the Mediterranean city of Nice, authorities said. It was the third attack in two months in France. The assailant was wounded by police and hospitalised after the killings at the Notre Dame Church, less than a kilometer from the site in 2016 where another attacker plowed a truck into a Bastille Day crowd, killing dozens.

Thursday's attacker was believed to be acting alone and police are not searching for other assailants, said two police officials, who were not authorised to be publicly named.

France's anti-terrorism prosecutor's office opened an investigation into the killings, which marked the third attack since the opening in September of a terrorism trial in the January 2015 killings at the satirical newspaper Charlie Hebdo and a kosher supermarket.

"He cried 'Allah Akbar!' over and over, even after he was injured," said Nice mayor Christian Estrosi, who told BFM television that three people had died, two inside the church and a third who fled but was mortally wounded. — AP

PAK ADMITS TO ROLE IN ATTACK IN PULWAMA

Islamabad, Oct. 29: In a sensational admission, a senior Pakistani minister on Thursday admitted that Pakistan was responsible for the Pulwama terrorist attack in Jammu and Kashmir in 2019 that killed 40 CRPF personnel and brought the two countries to the brink of a war.

"Humne Hindustan ko ghus ke maara (We hit India in their home). Our success in Pulwama, is a success of this nation under the leadership of Imran Khan. You and us are all part of that success," science & technology minister Fawad Chaudhry said in the National Assembly during a debate.

Mr Chaudhry, a close aide of Prime Minister Imran Khan, made the remarks a day after opposition Pakistan Muslim League-Nawaz (PML-N) leader Ayaz Sadiq said that foreign minister Shah Mahmood Qureshi in an important meeting pleaded to release Indian Air Force Wing Commander Abhinandan Varthaman, who was captured by the Pakistani Army on February 27, 2019 after his MiG-21 Bison jet was shot down in a dogfight with Pakistani jets.

In the early hours of February 26, 2019, the IAF jets bombed the Jaish-e-Mohammad (JeM) terror camps in Balakot in Khyber Pakhtunkhwa of Pakistan and avenged the Pulwama terrorist attack that claimed the lives of 40 CRPF personnel. ■ P4

Delhi's air quality borders 'severe' category

New Delhi, Oct. 29: The national capital's air quality inched closer to the 'severe' category on Thursday, primarily due to calm winds and spike in farm fires.

The ministry of earth sciences' monitoring agency, SAFAR, said the share of stubble burning in Delhi's PM2.5 pollution was 36 per cent on Thursday — the maximum so far this season. Delhi recorded a 24-hour average air quality index (AQI) of 395.

It was 297 on Wednesday, 312 on Tuesday, 353 on Monday, 349 on Sunday, 345 on Saturday and 366 on Friday.

Most of the monitoring stations, including at Shadipur (421), Patparganj (418), Bawana (453) and Mundka (427), recorded air quality in the 'severe' category.

An AQI between 0 and 50 is considered 'good', 51 and 100 'satisfactory', 101 and 200 'moderate', 201 and 300 'poor', 301 and 400 'very poor', and 401 and 500 'severe'. — PTI

GUWAHATI, OCT. 29

In what has come as shocker, the topper of the Joint Entrance Exam (Mains) in Assam, his father and three others were arrested by the city police on Thursday on charges of using a proxy to write the country's premier engineering entrance test. The accused had succeeded in securing 99.8 per cent in the exam, which is the basis for admission in India's top engineering colleges, including the prestigious IITs.

The police said it arrested the candidate, Neel Nakshatra Das, his father, Dr Jyotirmoy Das, and three employees of a testing centre — Hamendra Nath Sarma, Pranjal Kalita and Hirulal Pathak.

police against the topper of the Joint Entrance Examination (JEE) Mains in Assam, allegedly for using a proxy to appear in the examination on his behalf. We investigated the case and have found that a proxy was used by the candidate through the help of another agency that acted as a middleman."

The arrest of JEE aspirant has raised serious questions over the JEE exam conducted at all India level.

Admitting that this could be a major racket and chances of many others also having resorted to such practice cannot be ruled out, the police said, "we are looking into all the aspects. The staff of the testing centre in Guwahati is also involved. We are searching for more people who are suspected to be the part of this crime. This might not be a one-off case but may be part of a larger racket."

The police said the entire racket came to light on social media after a phone call recording and WhatsApp chat, in which the accused allegedly spoke about having used unfair means to top the exam, went viral. Referring to the social media post, one Mitradev Sharma lodged a police complaint in this regard.

The police said that the invigilator had allegedly helped the JEE aspirant in cheating. The accused went inside the online testing centre on the day of the exam just to fill his name and roll number on the answer sheet, police said.

CM should be ashamed
seeing Chennai: StalinDC CORRESPONDENT
CHENNAI, OCT. 29

Launching a tirade against Chief Minister Edappadi K. Palaniswami and municipal administration minister S. P. Velumani for not preparing Chennai for the monsoon despite prior warning, DMK president M. K. Stalin called for the induction of the National Disaster Relief Force to save the capital city.

The people of Chennai were reminded of the 2015 floods by seeing the city going under a thick sheet of water unable to stand even a single day's downpour, Stalin said in a statement, blaming it all on Palaniswami and Velumani for not taking efforts to clear the drains and widen the water outlets.

Though ₹750 crore was earmarked for undertaking the work relating to keeping the city safe from flooding, nothing had been done properly, he said.

If the elections to the Chennai Corporation had been held, the elected local representatives would have at least stood by the people at this hour of despair, Stalin said and urged the MLAs and MPs of Chennai to rush to the aid of people.

HC quashes promotion of Poornachandran as DCE

J. STALIN | DC
CHENNAI, OCT. 29

Directing the state government to evolve a fair procedure during assessment of inter se merit and ability of the officers, without giving any room for possible abuse in the future selection, the Madras high court has quashed a government order(GO), promoting C. Poornachandran, as Director of Collegiate Education.

Justice V. Parthiban gave the directive while partly allowing a petition filed by G. Geetha, challenging the promotion of Poornachandran, who was junior to her, as DCE.

"In this regard, the government may also constitute a high-power committee comprising experienced administrators for framing proper guidelines in order to evolve proper standards of benchmark, to be applied uniformly in respect of appointments to all selection posts", the judge added.

The judge said since DCE is an important post, the state government is directed to initiate whatever measures that are necessary and expedient towards achieving reliable and acceptable standards, supporting the statutory requirement of merit, ability and suitability in appointment to the selection posts in order to avoid such appointments becoming easily vulnerable to frequent judicial interference. The government may initiate and complete the above exercise within three months, the judge added.

Quashing the promotion of Poornachandran, the judge said, "In the conspectus of the above discussion, this court is compelled to come to a conclusion that there has been wholesale violation of the rules and the procedure, as the 1st respondent (higher education secretary) unfortunately has handled the important exercise of appointing HoD in a cavalier fashion, opposed to fair play and good conscience. This court, therefore, finds that the promotion of the 3rd respondent (Poornachandran) is not only contrary to the rules, but also the appointment appears to have been actuated on extraneous consideration. The procedure followed and the method adopted by the 1st respondent in appointing the 3rd respondent is riddled with infirmities all over and hence, there cannot be any hesitation for this court to come to a finding that the impugned promotion has to go back, stock and barrel".

The judge also quashed another GO (appointing the petitioner and three others as officers on special duty on par with the post of DCE) in so far as the petitioner and C.V.Mythili were concerned. The limited quashing of GO was on the basis of the peculiar facts and circumstances that the very appointment of the petitioner and C. V. Mythili as OSD was in consequence of the promotion of C. Poornachandran as Director of Collegiate Education. The petitioner and the other candidate C.V. Mythili whose names would also come up for consideration for promotion to the post of Director of Collegiate Education when a review promotion exercise to be done pursuant to the directions of this court, the judge added.

Cops rescue kidnapped kid, hunt on for gang

R VALAYAPATHY | DC
TIRUCHY, OCT. 29

Police are on the lookout for a three-member gang who allegedly kidnapped a 12-year-old boy here and demanded a ransom of ₹6 crore, on Wednesday.

Police said the boy, Kannan alias Muthaliah, son of industrialist Kannappan, was riding a bicycle in front of his house on Warners road, in the city, when a car-borne gang kidnapped him.

The boy's parents searched for their son, but found only his bicycle near their house. In the meantime, over a phone call, Kannappan was told that his son had been kidnapped, and demanded a ransom of ₹6 crore for his release.

Kannappan pleaded inability to spend such a huge sum and urged the caller to release his son, but the caller disconnected the call. Some time later, the caller again dialed Kannappan with a reduced ransom demand of ₹2 crore. Around 20:00 hrs on Wednesday night, the caller again spoke to Kannappan and threatened to shop off his son's hand, and maybe even kill him if the demand was not met.

Following this, Kannappan preferred a complaint with the Cantonment police. As per police advice, Kannappan continued talking to the caller whenever he called. Around 11 pm on Wednesday night, the caller again called Kannappan. Police traced phone signal to Ramalinga Nagar in the city, and rushed to the spot. On seeing the police, the gang left the boy with the car and fled, and police rescued the boy along with the car.

Preliminary enquiries revealed that the gang told the boy they were his father's friends, and they would take him to his father, as per the boy's father's request.

They had neither beaten nor had they been hard on him, but had treated him gently.

Police secured the car owner, Jeevanandham of Srirangam, with the help of the registration details of the car. Jeevanandham had told the police that one of his friends took the car, and pleaded innocence.

FORMER GUJARAT CM KESHUBHAI PATEL DEAD

Ahmedabad, Oct. 29: Former Gujarat chief minister Keshubhai Patel, who played a pivotal role in strengthening the BJP in the state, died here on Thursday after prolonged illness, family sources said.

Patel (92), who recovered from coronavirus infection recently, was rushed to a hospital in Ahmedabad on Thursday morning following health complications, the sources said.

The BJP veteran was the chief minister in 1995 and again during 1998-2001. Narendra Modi had succeeded him as Gujarat chief minister. The state government has declared a day's state mourning on Thursday, Gujarat Chief Minister Vijay Rupani told reporters. Keshubhai's last rites will be performed with full state honours, he added.

Hospital authorities said Patel died due to cardiac arrest.

Patel was rushed to the hospital after his pulse and oxygen level dropped on Thursday morning, his son Bharat Patel said. "He recently recovered from coronavirus, but his health kept deteriorating," he added.

The ruling BJP has postponed all its by-poll related programmes, including public rallies, following Patel's death.

Rupani cut short a poll rally at Ghadhada and visited Keshubhai's residence in Gandhinagar, where the body was kept, to pay tributes.

DOCS ADVISED AGAINST ENTERING POLITICS: RAJINI

G. BABU JAYAKUMAR / DC CHENNAI, OCT. 29

Actor Rajinikanth confirmed on Thursday that he had health issues and that he had been advised by doctors not to involve himself in active politics even as his fans went berserk on Twitter demanding his entry into politics, saying that he was the only hope for Tamil Nadu.

Quoting what was described as a leaked letter of Rajinikanth, some media outlets put out a story that the actor might exit politics without even entering, prompting his fans to trend a Tamil hashtag 'If at all I vote it will be for Rajini only' through the day, calling their 'Thalivar' to come and also questioned the veracity of the 'leaked letter.'

Even as the hashtag was trending, Rajinikanth put out a tweet past noon saying: 'A letter masquerading as my statement has been making its rounds on social networking sites and the media. Everyone knows that it is not my statement. Yet some of the information in the letter on my health condition and doctors' advice are all true.'

He went on to say that he would inform his political stand to the people after discussing it with the office-bearers of Rajini Makkal Mandram (Rajini People's Forum). The forum was formed with the members of his erstwhile fans' association after he had made an announcement that he would be entering politics by launching his own party.

The actor had held meetings with the office-bearers in earlier occasions to elicit their views and also to guide them on the way he would like to fashion his party. But subsequently in a press conference, in which he just spelt out his plans and left the venue without taking any questions from the media persons, he made it clear he was not entering politics.

Later on, when it BJP leader and Union Home Minister Amit Shah mentioned that his party was waiting for Rajinikanth to float his party to forge an alliance with it, media started speculating about the possible party launch, enthusing his fans.

It was in that backdrop the 'leaked letter' surfaced on Wednesday, throwing cold water on the hopes of the actor's fan brigade. So they wanted to send across the message to their leader and hence took the Twitter route to draw his attention.

Most of the tweets projected him as the only alternative in Tamil Nadu politics. 'Expecting a better government is my right. Expecting selfless people in politics is minimum wish. Pls come Thalaivaa. Show some light for TN. Give some hope,' said a fan who had been repeatedly tweeting through the day.

Now, it is speculated that the alleged 'leaked letter' was a planned leak.

Protesters target cops over Munger firing; SP removed

Angry agitators torch mofussil and women police stations in the town

Patna/Munger, Oct. 29: The Election Commission has removed the District Magistrate and the Superintendent of Police of Munger over the violence during a Durga Puja event early this week, even as a group of protesters went on the rampage in the town on Thursday, setting some police stations and outposts on fire and ransacking the SP office.

The poll panel on Thursday also ordered an inquiry into the firing and stone-pelting during the immersion of an idol of goddess Durga late Monday night in which one person had died and several others were injured.

The election commission has asked Magadh Divisional Commissioner Asangba Chuba Ao to complete the probe within a week.

Rajesh Meena is District

Magistrate and Lipi Singh is SP of Munger. The EC statement said Munger will get a new DM and a Superintendent of Police Thursday itself.

Alleging that no action was taken against the SP and other police personnel over the Monday night incident, the agitators allegedly torched mofussil and women police stations in the town.

They also allegedly set police outposts at Purab Sarai and Basudeopur on fire, and ransacked the SP office and several other police stations and outposts. The office of Sub Divisional Officer was also allegedly targeted by the protestors, official sources said.

Witnesses said that finding themselves outnumbered, the police personnel at all these stations escaped from the premises.

Official sources said the agitators went berserk and also tried to set kotwali and Kasim bazar police stations on fire, but there they faced a strong resistance from the policemen who fired in the air to disperse the mob.

They burnt tyres near Rajiv Chowk in the Munger town, demanding action against the SP and the police personnel responsible for allegedly opening fire during the idol immersion procession.

Additional Director General of Police (Headquarters) Jitendra Kumar said in Patna that extra police force has been sent to Munger.

Deputy Inspector General of Police, Munger, Manu Maharaj led a flag march in Munger town to bring the situation under control.

The RJD-helmed Grand

Alliance has strongly criticised the Monday incident, likening the district police with General Dyer of infamous Jallianwala Bagh incident in Punjab during British rule on April 13, 1919.

IPS officer Lipi Singh is the daughter of RCP Singh, the JD(U) leader in the Rajya Sabha.

Coming on the eve of the first phase of polling, the incident had its impact voting too as two of the three Assembly seats — Munger, Jamalpur — in the district witnessed lower voter turnout as compared to the 2015 polls.

While Munger constituency had witnessed a poll percentage of 54.26 in 2015, it recorded 47.89 Wednesday. Similarly, the decline was from 49.70 per cent to 47.24 per cent in Jamalpur this time.

But Tarapur constituency recorded a polling percentage of 54.80 this time compared to 52.66 in 2015.

State minister and senior JD(U) leader Shailesh Kumar is in the fray from Jamalpur seat.

Meanwhile, the police department has ordered the removal of in-charges of mufassil police station and Basudeopur outpost in connection with the October 26 firing and baton-charge incidents.

RCP Singh was mobbed Wednesday by angry protesters demanding action against the "guilty officials" when he visited Begusarai, where polling is scheduled for November 3. Begusarai is the Lok Sabha seat of BJP leader and Union minister Giriraj Singh who had condemned the Munger incident and sought action against "erring officials no matter how highly connected they may be."

Bombay HC directs Central govt to clear its stand on media trials

DC CORRESPONDENT MUMBAI, OCT. 29

The Bombay High Court on Thursday asked the Union government to clarify whether excessive reportage by the press on an ongoing investigation of Sushant Singh Rajput case amounted to interference in the administration of justice under the Contempt of Courts Act.

The court also asked the Ministry of Information and Broadcasting why it should not frame guidelines on media coverage of sensitive criminal cases.

A bench of Chief Justice Dipankar Datta and Justice G.S. Kulkarni was hearing PILs filed by some former IPS officers of

● THE COURT also asked the Ministry of I&B why it should not frame guidelines on media coverage of sensitive criminal cases.

Mumbai police and activists seeking restrictions should be imposed on media trials in SSR death case.

The PILs also alleged that some media channels are maligning the image of Mumbai police deliberately and requested court to interfere in the matter.

In the previous hearings, the HC heard the petitioners, private TV news channels, and the National Broadcasters Standards Authority (NBSA) on the need for a regulatory mechanism for the electronic media.

The TV channels and the NBSA argued in favour of a self-regulatory mechanism and said the state must not be given any control over their content.

On Thursday, senior counsel Aspi Chinoy, representing former police officers, submitted to the court that there had been blatant violation of rights of various persons by the news channels while reporting on the SSR death case.

He said that the channels had resorted to pre-judging and conducted irresponsible coverage of the actor's death case, and that it was affecting administration of justice and fundamental rights such as the right to fair trial guaranteed under Article 21.

Mr Chinoy submitted that the media had violated statutory framework of the Cable TV Regulation Act by transmitting content which amounted to contempt of court and though the Central Government, which was empowered under the Cable TV Act and the Programme Code for TV channels laid down under it failed to take suo motu cognisance of the media trial in Rajput's death case while the coverage by certain errant news channels was ongoing for over two months.

SC seeks Centre's response on use of remdesivir, HCQ

PARMOD KUMAR | DC NEW DELHI, OCT. 29

The Supreme Court on Thursday sought a response from the Centre on a PIL seeking to restrain on prescribing Remdesivir and HCQ as medicines to cure Covid while making it clear that it was not going to adjudicate on as to which medicine should be provided to treat highly contagious disease.

Seeking response from the Centre, Chief Justice Sharad A. Bobde heading a bench also comprising Justice A.S. Bopanna and Justice V. Rama-swaramanian told the PIL's petitioner's advocate M.L. Sharma "We are telling you, we are only going to make the government aware of it, we are not going to judge which medicine should be prescribed for Covid treatment."

The court issued notice after Adv. Sharma referred to October 15 World Health Organisation report which says that "the interim results from the Solidarity Therapeutics Trial, coordinated by the World Health Organisation, indicate that Remdesivir Hydroxychloroquine, lopinavir/ritonavir and interferon regimens appeared to have little or no effect on 28-day mortality or the in-hospital course of Covid-19 among hospitalised patients."

NIA RAIDS AT NINE LOCATIONS IN VALLEY, ONE IN DELHI

YUSUF JAMEEL | DC SRINAGAR, OCT. 29

The National Investigation Agency (NIA) continued its raids on the offices of various Non-governmental organisations and some other aid agencies and the homes of their organisers across Kashmir Valley on the second day on Thursday.

Premises owned or used by a similar organisation in Delhi were also searched by it in connection with a case pertaining to alleged misuse of funding received by these NGOs from across the country and abroad.

The case was registered by the NIA earlier this month under sections 120B and 124 A IPC and sections 17, 18, 22A, 22C, 38, 39 and 40 of Unlawful Activities (Prevention) Act, 1967.

The agency has claimed that it began investigations in the matter after receiving "credible information" that certain NGOs and trusts operating in J&K "are collecting funds domestically and abroad through so-called donations and business contributions, etc. and are then utilising these funds for secessionist and terrorist activities in J&K".

On Thursday, nine locations in the Valley and one in Delhi were raided by the NIA sleuths.

Those whose premises were searched include Falah-e-Aam Trust, Charity Alliance in Delhi, Human Welfare Foundation, JK Yateem Foundation, Salvation Movement and JK Voice of Victims.

A day earlier, the agency had raided and searched the offices of mass-circulated newspaper Greater Kashmir and a couple of NGOs and the homes of several journalists and human rights and political activists simultaneously in the Valley and Bangaluru.

The NIA had, however, said that the raids at Greater Kashmir office and the homes of some journalists were not in connection with their journalistic work and other professional pursuits but a case pertaining to alleged misuse of foreign contributions.

NOW, KERALA EMERGES AS COVID HOTSPOT

DC CORRESPONDENT NEW DELHI, OCT. 29

The overall coronavirus cases in India crossed 80.40 lakh on Thursday with 49,881 fresh cases.

However, out of these, 73.16 lakh have already recovered and little over 6 lakh people still remain infected.

The total fatalities so far has been close to 1.21 lakh out of which 517 deaths took place in the last 24 hours.

However, Kerala, which is reporting the highest number of daily fresh cases, has become a major concern for health authorities as it is emerging as the country's biggest Covid-19 hotspot now.

In Maharashtra, though daily fresh detections has dropped substantially from what it was for the last few months it still has second highest cases after Kerala.

Situation in the national capital too is worrisome which on Thursday had 5,739 fresh cases.

Assam tea sold at record ₹75,000 per kg

MANOJ ANAND | DC GUWAHATI, OCT. 29

Assam tea industry is yet to overcome the setback of Covid-19 pandemic but it has started getting good news from the Guwahati Tea Auction Centre (GTAC) on Thursday where a lot of speciality tea was sold at a record price of ₹75,000 per kg, the highest this year.

However, this was the third time in the last one year when GTAC got another opportunity to sell Manohari Gold Speciality Tea in an auction sale at ₹75,000 per kg.

Director of Manohari Tea Estate Rajan Lohia told this newspaper, "This year, 2.5 kilograms of handmade Gold Tea was produced, out of which 1.2 kilograms was sold in the auction on Thursday and the remaining will be available at select outlets, including GTAC lounge as demand for one of the rarest teas in the world continues to grow."

He pointed out that Manohari Gold Tea is manufactured from the finest second flush colonel tea buds which are hand plucked only during the dawn. "Highly rich in antioxidants, Manohari Gold Tea also offers aromatic, full-bodied, bright yellowish malty tea liquor to suit your taste buds perfectly," he added.

Guwahati Tea Auction Buyer's Association, secretary, Dinesh Bihani said that the tea was sold by Contemporary Brokers Private Limited and purchased by Guwahati-based tea trader Vishnu Tea Company, which will sell it across the world.

He lauded Manohari Tea Estate for their continuous effort to produce this speciality tea in September and putting it for sale at GTAC for sale.

The earlier record was also set by the same brand of tea at ₹50,000 per kg by the same tea garden last year, now this year again breaking their own record.

Informing that an exotic tea is judged by its aroma, taste and colour Mr Bihani said that the GTAC is emerging as a centre for showcasing high priced Assam Speciality tea.

In August 2019, another specialised Assam Tea had created a record with Upper Assam's Dikom Tea Estate selling its Golden Butterfly tea, fetching the price of ₹75,000 at the Guwahati Tea Auction Centre. In 2019 the Guwahati tea auction centre had witnessed two big records when Orthodox Golden Tea Tips fetched ₹70,501 per kilogram and prior to that a kg of Manohari Gold Tea was sold at ₹50,000.

IN BRIEF

8 inmates dead after prison riot

Kabul: Rioting at a prison in western Afghanistan has left at least eight inmates dead, provincial officials said Thursday. The violence erupted on Wednesday night at the prison in Herat, the capital of western Herat province, said Mohammad Rafiq Shirzai, spokesman for the provincial health department. He said 12 others — eight inmates and four prison guards — were wounded in the outbreak at the facility, which holds around 2,000 prisoners. It wasn't immediately known if there are any Taliban at the penitentiary. The rioting started after guards began clearing some partitions created by prisoners, said Jelani Farhad, spokesman for the provincial governor.

Pak seminary blast probe ends

Peshawar: The investigation team probing the bomb blast at a religious seminary in northwestern Pakistan's Peshawar city has completed its initial report and arrested one student in connection with the attack that killed eight persons, officials said on Thursday. The investigation team that included officials of counter-terrorism department, police and law enforcement agencies, recorded statements of several eye witnesses and obtained the record of the students of the seminary and the labourers engaged in a construction work there. One student of the seminary has been arrested over his alleged links to the blast, suspected to have targeted a senior cleric from Afghanistan, officials said. The blast occurred around 8:30 am on Tuesday at a local mosque, which also serves as a religious school in Dir Colony in Peshawar, while students were reading the Quran. There was no claim of responsibility for the blast in the city, bordering war-torn Afghanistan. Law enforcement agencies on Wednesday detained several people in connection with the bomb blast.

59 bodies found in Mexican pits

Mexico City: A Mexican search group said that it found 59 bodies in a series of clandestine burial pits in the north-central state of Guanajuato and that more could still be excavated. The head of the official National Search Commission, Karla Quintana, Wednesday said excavations began a week ago based on a tip from relatives of missing people. Given the deficiencies of local law enforcement in Mexico, relatives of missing people in many states have formed their own search groups, collecting information and exploring possible body dumping sites and clandestine graves. Quintana called it "a sad and terrible discovery." She added that there were more "possible positive sites" where more bodies could be found, and that work would continue. The bodies were extracted over the last week from 52 pits at a property on the outskirts of the Guanajuato city of Salvatierra. The scene was considered dangerous enough that the army and National Guard provided security for the excavations. Guanajuato has the largest number of homicides of any state in Mexico.

JALLIANWALA BAGH STORY SHORTLISTED

London, Oct. 29: British Indian journalist and author Anita Anand's book that tells the story of a young man caught up in the 1919 Jallianwala Bagh massacre in Amritsar has been shortlisted for a prestigious history-literary prize in the UK. 'The Patient Assassin: A True Tale of Massacre, Revenge and the Raj' will compete with six others for the PEN Hessel-Tiltman Prize for History 2020, awarded annually for a non-fiction book of specifically historical content. Entries are required to be works of high literary merit — that is, not primarily written for the academic market — and can cover all historical periods. "Modern history is well-represented with Anita Anand's 'The Patient Assassin' showing us how empire continues to haunt us," said Rana Mitter, Professor of the History and Politics of Modern China at the University of Oxford, who is the chair of this year's judging panel. In the shortlisted book, Anand tells the dramatic story of an orphan Udhram Singh's 21-year quest for revenge.

France knife attack: 3 deadThird attack in 2 months; attacker wounded by cops, hospitalised

Paris, Oct. 29: An attacker armed with a knife killed three people at a church on Thursday in the Mediterranean city of Nice, authorities said. It was the third attack in two months in France.

The assailant was wounded by police and hospitalized after the killings at the Notre Dame Church, less than a kilometre from the site in 2016 where another attacker plowed a truck into a Bastille Day crowd, killing dozens.

Thursday's attacker was believed to be acting alone and police are not searching for other assailants, said two police officials, who were not authorised to be publicly named.

France's anti-terrorism prosecutor's office opened an investigation into the killings, which marked the third attack since the opening in September of a terrorism trial in the January 2015 killings at the satirical newspaper Charlie Hebdo and a kosher supermarket.

"He cried 'Allah Akbar!' over and over, even after he was injured," said Nice Mayor Christian Estrosi, who told BFM television that three people had died, two inside the church and a third who fled but was mortally wounded.

"The meaning of his gesture left no doubt." In Nice, images on French media showed the neighborhood locked down and surrounded by police and emergency vehicles.

Sounds of explosions could be heard as sappers exploded suspicious objects. The lower house of parliament suspended a debate on France's new virus restrictions in the wake of spurt in cases and held a moment of silence Thursday for the victims.

The prime minister rushed from the hall to a crisis centre overseeing the aftermath of the Nice attack. French President Emmanuel Macron was headed to Nice later in the

FRENCH PM RAISES ATTACK ALERT TO EMERGENCY AFTER CHURCH KILLINGS

Paris, Oct. 29: France's prime minister Jean Castex says the country's threat level will be raised to its maximum after an attack near a church killed three people Thursday in Nice.

The move comes just hours before the country was going into its second Coronavirus lockdown.

SAUDI MAN STABS, WOUNDS GUARD AT FRENCH CONSULATE, ARRESTED

Dubai, Oct. 29: Saudi Arabia's state-run news agency is reporting that a Saudi man has been detained after stabbing and slightly wounding a guard at the French Consulate in the city of Jiddah.

The Saudi Press Agency report on Thursday offered no motive for the attack. However, it comes amid heightened tensions after an assailant decapitated a French middle school teacher who showed caricatures of the Prophet Muhammad for a class on free speech. Those caricatures were published by Charlie Hebdo and cited by the men who gunned down the newspaper's editorial meeting in 2015. — AP

Four-week lockdown in France

Paris, Oct. 29: French doctors expressed relief but business owners were in despair as France prepared Thursday to shut down again for a month to try to put the brakes on a fast-moving fall Coronavirus outbreak.

Shoppers at a Paris farmers' market said Thursday they were ready to restrict their freedoms given the rising number of virus-related deaths and Covid-19 patients filling French hospitals.

The new lockdown is gentler than what France saw in the spring, but still a shock to restaurants and other non-essential businesses that have been ordered to close their doors in one of the world's biggest economies.

French schools will stay open this time, to reduce learning gaps and allow parents to keep working. Farmer markets, parks and factories can also continue operating, officials said.

French lawmakers are voting Thursday on the new restrictions announced by President Emmanuel Macron, which are set to come into effect at midnight. The lower house of parliament is dominated by Macron's centrist party, so approval is virtually guaranteed.

The prime minister will lay out details of the virus-fighting plan Thursday evening. — AP

Infections rising rapidly in England, finds study

London, Oct. 29: New Coronavirus infections are rising by an estimated 96,000 cases daily across England, according to the findings of a new government-backed study released in London on Thursday.

An interim report led by Imperial College London and Ipsos MORI, which includes swab tests on thousands of people taken between October 16 and 25, shows that the prevalence of infection has more than doubled since the last round of similar testing. This means an estimated 128 people per 10,000 of England's population has the virus that causes Covid-19, compared to 60 as of October 5. "These interim findings paint a concerning picture of the situation in England, where we're seeing a nation-wide increase in infection prevalence, which we know will lead to more hospitalisations and loss of life," said Professor Paul Elliott, director of the programme at Imperial College London. "We're also detecting early signs that areas which previously had low rates of infection are following trends observed in the country's worst-affected areas. Now more than ever we must all work together to curb further spread of the virus and avoid subsequent overwhelming of the health service," he said.

The critical reproduction number (R) — the rate of virus transmission — has also increased further to 1.6, with infections doubling every nine days. — PTI

INDIA, UK INK NEW PARTNERSHIPS FOR RESEARCH TO BATTLE COVID-19

London, Oct. 29: India and the UK have clinched new partnerships to boost bilateral cooperation on combating the Coronavirus pandemic as part of the 10th UK-India Economic and Financial Dialogue (EFD), held virtually following the Covid-19 lockdown and travel constraints. A £8-million joint funding initiative announced on Wednesday as part of the EFD outcomes will support collaborative research focused on understanding the severity of Covid-19 in South Asian populations in India.

The UK Research and Innovation and the Department of Biotechnology in Indian Ministry of Science and Technology said their collaborative research will support research projects that are trying to understand the pandemic. — PTI

INFECTED MOUNT ROBUST DEFENCE

New York, Oct. 29: A vast majority of individuals infected with mild-to-moderate Coronavirus mount a "robust" defence via antibodies that is relatively stable for "at least five months".

Antisemitism row: Labour Party suspends Corbyn

● THE EHRC had served the Labour Party with an unlawful act notice after an investigation into antisemitism by the Equality and Human Rights Commission found it responsible for unlawful acts of harassment and discrimination. The BJP was quick to hit back.

without any specific references to Corbyn.

Starmer said: "And if — after all the pain, all the grief, and all the evidence in this report, there are still those who think there's no problem with antisemitism in the Labour Party. That it's all exaggerated, or a factional attack. "Then, frankly, you are part of the problem too. And you should be nowhere near the Labour Party either."

Earlier, the EHRC had served the Labour Party with an unlawful act notice after an investigation into antisemitism by the Equality and Human Rights Commission found it responsible for unlawful acts of harassment and discrimination. Its investigation, launched in May last year, identified serious failings in the party leadership in addressing antisemitism and an inadequate process for handling antisemitism complaints. The party was found responsible for three breaches of the UK's Equality Act (2010) relating to political interference in antisemitism complaints; failure to provide adequate training to those handling antisemitism complaints; and harassment. "The equality body's analysis points to a culture within the party which, at best, did not do enough to prevent antisemitism," the EHRC said. — PTI

Mike Pompeo

POMPEO, IN INDONESIA, BLASTS CHINA

Jakarta, Oct. 29: US Secretary of State Mike Pompeo renewed the Trump administration's rhetorical onslaught against China in Indonesia on Thursday as the American presidential election looms.

With China a central theme in President Donald Trump's campaign to win a second term in just five days time, Pompeo took aim at Chinese aggressiveness in the South China Sea, where it has advanced maritime and territorial claims over the objections of its smaller neighbors, and over its handling of the coronavirus pandemic.

Speaking in Jakarta, the headquarters of the Association of Southeast Asian Nations, Pompeo praised Indonesia's leadership in ASEAN for pushing back on what he called China's "unlawful" claims and lauded Jakarta's protection of its own territory.

"We respect freedom of the seas, sovereignty and the rule of law," he said, standing beside Indonesian Foreign Minister Retno Marsudi. Marsudi agreed, saying "international law must be respected," although she did not specifically mention China.

"Our law-abiding nations reject the unlawful claims by Chinese Communist Party in the South China Sea as is clear from Indonesia's courageous leadership on this subject within ASEAN and at the United Nations," Pompeo said.

"It's a cause worth pursuing in multilateral settings and the Trump administration very much supports this."

POWER | PANGS Some regions have been unable to report details of damage and casualtiesTyphoon, landslides leave 35 dead in Vietnam

Hanoi, Oct. 29: A typhoon that officials said was the most powerful to hit Vietnam in 20 years blew away from the country on Thursday after setting off landslides, sinking boats and knocking out power to at least 1.7 million people. At least 35 people were killed and more than 50 were missing, state media said.

The immediate focus for rescuers was on three villages in the country's central region where landslides killed at least 19 people and are suspected of burying more than 40 others in thick mud and debris.

Deputy Prime Minister Trinh Dinh Dung travelled to the site of one landslide where soldiers were working to clear debris with bulldozers and he ordered officers to urgently send more troops to help with the efforts. "We must reach the landslide site the fastest way. First, send in more soldiers before we can get the big machine there. We have to reach the area by all means, including by using helicopters," he said.

Also among the dead were 12 fishermen whose boats sank Wednesday as Typhoon Molave approached with winds of up to 150 kilometres (93 miles) per hour. Another 14 fishermen were still missing.

Officials said the death toll across the country may rise as some regions have been unable to report details of damage and casualties. Rescuers dug up eight bodies Thursday morning in Tra Van village in Quang Nam province where a hillside collapsed on houses. The victims had taken shelter in the community as the typhoon approached, the official Vietnam News Agency reported.

Land for all in Kashmir:
Wait for SC to take call

A recent Union home ministry order, which opens the door for any Indian to buy non-agricultural immoveable property in Jammu and Kashmir, deals a grievous blow to the aspirations — and to the psyche — of the people of Jammu, the Kashmir valley, and Ladakh, the three regions which until August 5, 2019 formed the state of J&K.

The legal status of this order shall remain dubious until the Supreme Court has dealt with the challenge before it to the law through which was whittled the constitutional autonomy of the erstwhile J&K state and whose long-term consequences for India appear far from happy. The long delay in the top court pronouncing on one of the most consequential matters brought before it in Independent India has occasioned considerable surprise.

Since constitutionally downgrading J&K, the Centre has taken a series of steps that have negatively impacted the lives of ordinary people in the UT and bred resentment. Among these are the hampering of the study of ordinary students by not permitting high-speed Internet, virtually killing journalism through the harsh treatment of media personnel, placing severe restrictions on the movement of people, banning protests, filling top positions in the UT administration by non-Kashmiri officers — to say nothing of putting thousands of non-BJP politicians in jail.

In addition, in the name of quelling terrorism (and instilling patriotism by fiat) there is the egregiousness of troop deployment on an extensive scale not seen even in the intense militancy-affected years of the late 1980s-the early 1990s. To place matters in perspective — all policy actions derive from executive orders alone, as in the colonial era, and there is the denial of election to the UT legislature.

The Centre gave itself the luxury to do all of these things while the Supreme Court has delayed beyond comprehension hearing the case of the reading down of Article 370 of the Constitution and the re-fashioning of an adjunct provision, the Article 35-A. It is the latter which had made ownership of immoveable property, government employment, and state scholarships, the exclusive preserve of permanent residents of the state. In May this year, new domicile rules were devised to let some people from outside J&K to apply for permanent resident status. This has now been widened to let anyone at all own immoveable property. Such a situation does not obtain in other special category states such as Uttarakhand and Himachal Pradesh.

In 1960, the Sheikh Abdullah government had brought the Big Estates Abolition Act to permit the tillers of land of big zamindars beyond certain ceiling prescriptions to become owners, and it is this which had made the former state among the top performers on social and economic indices. Under the new land orders, this Act stands revoked, probably opening the door for corporate houses.

Jammu and Ladakh — like the Valley — have also reacted negatively to the new land rules though the Centre may have hoped for support from those quarters on religious grounds. The heart of the matter is the taking away of the former J&K's autonomy, a condition laid down by Maharaja Hari Singh, and endorsed by Sheikh Abdullah, for joining India in 1947, rather than go with Pakistan.

Heed ASER's red flag

There has been a shift from private to government schools between 2018 and 2020, says the Annual Status of Education Report. The reasons include financial distress in households due to loss of income and shutdown of private schools. There has been an unregulated mushrooming of private schools all over the country in the past decades.

Alarmingly, however, India is among the few countries in the world where the ratio of private to public schooling is the highest. That's because the coverage of the government school network is patchy at best and the quality of learning dispensed there abysmal. The ASER study showed, for instance, that during the survey week, only one in three rural children had engaged in a learning activity. And only 36 per cent of schools provided them with textbooks.

In urban centres, there has been a boom in the edutech industry in pandemic times. However, exposing the criminally negligent logic behind the government's great education push is a well-anticipated outcome. Although smartphone ownership almost doubled from 2018, a third of children with smartphone access still did not receive any learning materials. Significantly, less than 15 per cent of rural Indian households have Internet. The poorest homes cannot afford a smartphone or a computer. Some were found selling their only assets during the pandemic merely so the children could continue learning in a Covid year.

Though it is highly iniquitous, the much-vaunted National Education Policy is silent on this yawning academic divide. The government, in its unseemly haste to pacify the influential middle classes, was loath to drop the JEE and restarted lessons for older students. But it paid scant regard to the increase in dropouts at the elementary and secondary levels.

It is a fact that 90 per cent of brain growth occurs by age five, meaning that the quality of early childhood schooling has a crucial impact. The ASER report shows that factors determining the quality of education received at this stage include the mother's education and the type of school, government or private. There is, therefore, a need to strengthen the government school system in India urgently.

India is going through an education emergency, which has only been exacerbated by Covid.

Death talk: Euthanasia tales amid Covid times

Karan Thapar

As I See It

I started reading Arun Shourie's new book Preparing for Death whilst in quarantine after I happened to meet someone who subsequently tested positive. Had I an inkling that in a couple of days I would follow suit I doubt if this would have been my first choice. But since I had started it, I decided to continue. The fear that suddenly loomed ahead seemed to add macabre interest. At least, during daylight hours!

It's not an easy book to read. Written in a deliberate stream-of-consciousness style, it is often erudite and learned but there are occasions when it's prosaic and even pedestrian. Like his other work, this book can be repetitive or, to be more accurate, Arun argues his case so thoroughly that you feel he's nailed the point long before he's finished with his hammer blows. Consequently, you need to read it in stages. Bit by bit. To make it easier, don't read in chronological sequence. Flip forward and back as curiosity guides you.

Well, that's what I did and thus stumbled upon five pages that tell a story that I find hard to describe. Perhaps my personal Covid affliction added to my fascination but I feel certain it would grip anyone who reads it. It's the most excruciatingly honest but also deeply disturbing and distressing account of a father's death told by his son. I admire Arun for sharing it with strangers and outsiders — because that's what readers are — but I also question why he wanted to do so or what purpose it serves. It left me feeling uncomfortable. Actually, unsettled. I felt I was intruding into someone's privacy where I had no right to be.

The question this mesmerising account raises — actually explicitly though it shies away from an answer — is did Arun's father, Hari Dev Shourie, the founder of Common Cause, commit euthanasia? Everything in your head and heart tells you the answer is yes. Even the way Arun relates the story suggests this conclusion is unavoidable. In fact, there are a couple of sentences that, particularly for the suggestive or intuitive, could clinch the issue. "He was a strong advocate of euthanasia", writes Arun. "He had even written a book on the subject: Life's Finale: Voluntary Exit."

Arun's account of his father's death begins on the morning it happened. H.D. Shourie, who was 91 and had recently lost his wife, asked for tea at 8 am. When Ganesh, his trusted attendant, served it he was told to come back in an hour and a half. "When he went at 9.30, our father was gone."

A note written in his hand was found on the table by his bed. "I have led a full life", H.D.

It's not an easy book to read. Written in a deliberate stream-of-consciousness style, it is often erudite and learned but there are occasions when it's prosaic and even pedestrian

By making convincing forensic use of the letter his father left, Arun presents a compelling case that drives one to the conclusion that his father committed euthanasia

Shourie began. "My time has come... I have no regrets... today, the three of you are in town." It was that last sentence that shook Arun, his brother Deepak and their sister Nalini. "We used to travel a lot", writes Arun, "and often Nalini, Deepak or I would be out of town: he had clearly chosen a day when we were all in Delhi — none of us would have to rush back."

As the three siblings read and reread their father's last letter, their grief and shock mounted, they discovered it contained further evidence to suggest that H.D. Shourie had committed suicide. Arun writes that whenever he gave advice to others, the elder Shourie would say: "When you write the final note or your will, as far as possible write it in your own hand... and include in it some detail which no one but you know about... this will help establish the authenticity of the document." And that is precisely what he had done. The letter mentions "a souvenir" hidden in an "almirah". None of his children knew it was there.

If you still have doubts this was a case of death by euthanasia there is, right at the end of the five pages, a sentence spoken by Arun's mother-in-law that will simply blast them away. Malti, as Arun refers to her, lived her life with the Shouries, looking after their son Adit. Consequently, she got to know his father well.

She also shared a birthday with H.D. Shourie. It's what she suddenly said a few months after his death that seems to erase all doubts of how it happened. "Bhai Sahib had even written the recipe in his book, she told us one day — she was the only one in the family to have read the book."

So, doesn't that seem to suggest that H.D. Shourie put something in his morning tea which took his life? Something that would take 90 minutes to work, which is why he asked his trusted Ganesh to return an hour and a half later?

This is where Arun's account of his father's death stops. He doesn't answer the question — did H.D. Shourie take his own life? But then he doesn't really need to. By making a convincing forensic use of the letter his father left, Arun presents a compelling case that drives one to the conclusion that his father committed euthanasia. It's hard to come to any other. In fact, you sense that is also what Arun believes — though, understandably, he can't bring himself to say so — when he writes of this father's book... "though years have passed since he went, I haven't had the courage to read it to this day."

Yet Arun has had the courage to tell us this story and share its harrowing impact on himself and his siblings. Speaking out is often a way of coming to terms with terrible tragedy or inexplicable mystery. Perhaps that was his reason for revealing something most people would, almost certainly, have kept to themselves. But it's not easy for the rest of us to handle. It not only left me full of questions and conflicting emotions but also quite shaken.

INDIA TO BE SELF-RELIANT

The editorial Why India must not put all eggs in the US basket, (Oct.29) deserves accolades for its clinical precision of dissecting the Janus-faced China whose bellicose and incorrigible attitude has made India seek strategic and political help from Uncle Sam, leave alone the belligerent China desperately wanting to besiege the troubled borders at LAC. That said, the late president Dr A.P.J. Kalam wanted India to be self-reliant and be a world leader lock, stock and barrel despite signing multi-treaties. It is time India made its stance solid, sending befitting signals to the hostile neighbour rather than prolonging her patience, lest it could be misconstrued by China that India's DNA is anemic.

BIHAR POLLS

FINGER POWER came to fore when 16 districts of Bihar went to polls in the first round. A 54 per cent turnout was registered and, interestingly, the turnout was a record 61 per cent in Chakali, a Naxalite infested constituency. Traditionally, the turnout in Bihar is very poor and Munger witnessed some untoward incidents. Bihar polls appear to be rather competitive and we expect a tough fight. The pendulum swings both the sides and the voters play a pivotal role in this prestigious state election. The voters are keeping their fingers crossed and hoping for the best.

SECOND HIT OF PANDEMIC

APROPOS YOUR report Delhi reports second wave of pandemic (Oct. 29). While Delhi's surge in the coronavirus cases has been taking a toll for the second time, southern states which include Tamil Nadu do not seem to be too far from yet another hit. With irregularities and norms thrown to the wind, the state would take time to see a sizeable decrease. While the state government has reported that there is a dip in the cases, on the contrary the health ministry at the Centre has said that among other states, Tamil Nadu has been reporting a spurt with regard to the pandemic. It remains clueless for the common man to understand the method or strategy of the authenticity of reports declared by state and Central health departments as it don't seem to tally.

Stop Dragon's
free ride, don't let it exploit
our democracy

It has been long-term Chinese policy, almost since the inception of the People's Republic, to try and mock India's democracy as the Dragon, deep down, is convinced it is democracy which makes this country weak, and its leaders ineffective and inefficient. This has driven the Chinese Communist Party's strategic thinking for decades.

The CCP's mission to humiliate India has become more diabolical by the day. In association with its allies in the Pakistan Army and its ISI, the Chinese are going all out in a bid to internationalise India's internal issues, though with little success, at the United Nations and elsewhere. President Xi Jinping is, of course, only continuing a tradition set long back by Chairman Mao Zedong.

The Dragon's diplomatic deception now borders on the ludicrous. You don't need a trained Sinologist to uncover duplicity and the plot to attack India from within. Thus, when Beijing's man in Delhi, ambassador Sun Weidong, parrots the one-liner "the common interests of the two countries (India and China) far outweigh the frictions and differences", he's either hallucinating or trying hard to convince his bosses that he's working hard in Delhi to mislead gullible Indians, and take them for a ride!

Therefore, one should seek some clarifications from Mr Sun, and put forward some pertinent questions to him: "Mr Ambassador, please define the common interests of the two countries". Specifically, with facts and figures, without airy semantics. In what way do the "common interests", if any, "far outweigh the friction and differences"? Does it imply that India, for the sake of the so-called "common interests", be silent and succumb to the CPC's blandishments despite all the unilateral violence, killings, invasions, forced occupation of Indian territory since the 1950s, setting the tribal areas of Northeast India on fire, destroying West Bengal through the treacherous anti-national Naxalites and other marauding Communists, the unprovoked killing of Indian border personnel at Longju (August 1959), Hot Springs (October 1959), the 32-day invasion of India (October-November 1962), Nathu La (September 1967), Cho La (October 1967), Pangong Tso Lake (May 2020), the China-Pakistan CPEC through India's J&K, and now the Galwan Valley massacre (June 2020)? Should India forget and forgive President Xi, who has made himself China's lifetime dictator, and his cohorts for the sake of what Beijing hypocritically calls "common interests"?

Does the recurring murder of Indian soldiers by the CPC-controlled private militia called the People's Liberation Army constitute the "common interests" of Beijing and New Delhi? Does the loss of limbs of Indian officers and men and the forced occupation of Indian territory by the CPC constitute "common interests"? Or do the Chinese hope to tire out the Indian soldiers standing guard on the banks of Pangong Lake and force their commanders to talk from 10 to 14 hours a day in a diplomatic engagement with PLA generals? Is this why India maintains a standing army? Soldiers aren't diplomats, and it isn't their role to resort to Gandhi-like "ahimsa" to counter the CPC's "hinsa"!

Sorry, Ambassador Sun, that's the job of the foreign office and its diplomats, who should "enter the dragon" and play hardball, telling Beijing that there is a limit to how long such gross violations of India's sovereignty can continue.

It's time for the Chinese to forget about access to India's market of 1.3 billion people. It's time their spies operating under garb of companies, investors and tourists stop interfering in India's internal affairs. Let them not issue brazen threatening "advisories" to India's independent media, ordering it to "desist" from writing about Taiwan, Xinjiang, the Dalai Lama, Hong Kong, Uighurs and human rights violations. One wonders what the battalions of Chinese diplomats have understood about this country that they would think India's media would follow the foreign ministry's lead in its reports and comments?

It's also time for Beijing to stop instigating India's neighbourhood through its cash, threats, deceit, deception and lies.

The Indian State should seriously go back to basics of the Constitution to deal with the Chinese assault on Indian territory and revisit Article 1(3) - "The territory of India shall comprise" ... and "(c) such other territories as may be acquired". Simply put, India's Constitution doesn't have any provision to cede territory to any foreign power/country. It permits acquisition only... "as may be acquired". If at all, India can only cede its own territory subject to an amendment of the Constitution. Thus, with the passing of Constitution (119th Amendment) Bill 2013, for example, for operationalising the Land Boundary Agreement with Bangladesh, notified as "100th Amendment Act" after the assent of the President, the border readjustment between New Delhi and Dhaka took place peacefully and with mutual respect and honour. India cannot otherwise cede an inch of its territory to any foreign country. That's the bottomline.

It is clear as daylight that the Chinese are bent on hurting and humiliating democratic India. There is no chance of any change in the congenial psyche of hostility and aggression by the CPC. That's the reason attempts are being constantly made to dishonour and discredit this country before the comity of nations. If an India of 1.3 billion people cannot safeguard its sovereignty, Constitution and territorial integrity, and allow its trade, commerce, banking, economy and strategic sectors to be penetrated by the CPC, it's time for Delhi to snub the wayward ambassador publicly. Enough is enough! Without any further ado, India must decisively abort the Chinese geo-economic strategy which is penetrating and slowly poisoning the very fabric of our republic.

DPIIT's new quality control norms for leather footwear

The Department for Promotion of Industry and Internal Trade has come out with quality control norms for different leather foot-wear including anti-riot shoes with a view to contain imports and production of sub-standard products in the country. The products would have to conform to the specified standards and bear the standard mark under a licence from Bureau of Indian Standards. The items cannot be produced, sold/traded, imported, stocked unless they bear BIS mark.

Gold demand in India plunges to 25-year low
RBI in gold buying spree

SANGEETHA G. CHENNAI, OCT. 29

India's gold demand in 2020 might be the lowest in 25 years as the pandemic has already dragged down consumption in the first three quarters by almost half. Central banks have turned net sellers in the September quarter after a gap of 10 years.

In the first three quarters of 2020, gold demand stood at 252 tonnes, which was 49 per cent down from 496 tonnes in the same period last year. With one more quarter to go, the World Gold Council expects that India's gold demand would be the lowest since 1995.

SANGEETHA G. CHENNAI, OCT. 29

While central banks turned net sellers after a gap of 10 years, the Reserve Bank of India bought 6.8 tonnes of gold during the pandemic-hit September quarter. In fact India has bought a total of about 30 tonnes since March this year.

India was among the six central banks that increased their reserves in Q3 by a tonne or more. India bought 6.8 tonnes of gold in the quarter when the gross purchases by all the banks totaled a modest 33 tonnes. United Arab Emirates, Qatar, Kyrgyz Republic, Kazakhstan and Cambodia were the other buyers.

Earlier in February, RBI had bought 6.8 tonnes taking the total gold reserves to 641.8 tonnes. As on October 9, gold reserves have increased to 670.1 tonnes, as per the data of RBI. In the past seven months, RBI has bought close to 30 tonnes of gold in staggered purchases. India has been buying gold in smaller tranches since 2017. In 2019, the bank had bought 34.5 tonnes and in 2018, 42.5 tonnes. In 2017 it had bought 0.3 tonnes. Prior to that, RBI had purchased 200 tonnes in 2009.

However, in the September quarter, Central banks turned net sellers of gold for the first time since Q4 2010. Against a net purchase of 141.9 tonnes in the same quarter last year, banks made a net sale of 12 tonnes.

Turkey and Uzbekistan accounted for the bulk of sales. Central banks of the two large buyers- Russia and China - also have not been buying gold for some time.

According to the World Gold Council, Covid-19 continued to inflict widespread economic hardship, and this pre-occupied central banks and governments around the world.

Global trade to shrink by 20%

SANGEETHA G. CHENNAI, OCT. 29

Revising its earlier estimate, the UNCTAD has predicted global trade to plummet by 20 per cent or by about $6 trillion in 2020.

half of 2020, the consensus now is that trade will instead plummet by about 20 per cent this year, or by about $6 trillion. Such a decline would be unprecedented, being significantly larger than the $4 trillion fall seen during the 2009 recession, said Mukhisa Kituyi, Secretary-General, UNCTAD in a recent article.

Centre rejigs norms for PLI scheme

SANGEETHA G. CHENNAI, OCT. 29

Making the production-linked incentive schemes more attractive for bulk drugs and medical devices manufacturing, the government has replaced "minimum threshold investment" criterion with "committed investment".

The government has replaced the criterion of 'minimum threshold' investment with 'committed' investment by the selected applicant. The change has been made to encourage efficient use of productive capital. Further, the amount of investment required to achieve a particular level of production depends upon choice of technology and it also varies from product to product. However, the verification of the actual investment for incentives under the scheme continues.

Novak Djokovic gestures after defeating Borna Coric in the Vienna Open pre-quarterfinal.

Djokovic seals 2020's top spot

Vienna: Novak Djokovic virtually ensured equalling Pete Sampras's record of ending the year as world number one for the sixth time on Wednesday when he reached the Vienna ATP quarterfinals. Djokovic defeated Croatia's Borna Coric 7-6 (13/11), 6-3 and will secure the year-end top spot as long as Rafael Nadal does not take an unlikely wild card into the Sofia event next month. If Novak wins the Vienna title on Sunday, he will make sure of the landmark regardless of whether or not Nadal plays in Bulgaria. Djokovic, who now has 39 wins and just two defeats in 2020, has been the top-ranked player at the end of a season five times: in 2011, 2012, 2014, 2015 and 2018. He shares that mark with career rivals Roger Federer and Nadal. Sampras achieved the feat six years in succession between 1993 and 1998.
