India to raise racism with UK, says Jaishankar

New Delhi, March 15: India will take up with the UK when required the alleged incidents of racism in Britain, External Affairs Minister S. Jaishankar said in the Rajya Sabha on Monday. He also described India as the land of Mahatma Gandhi and said it can never turn its eyes away from racism.

Responding to concerns raised by a BJP MP over racism and cyberbullying that forced Indian-origin Rashmi Samant to resign as president of the Oxford University Students Union, the minister said New Delhi has strong ties with the UK and will take up such matters with great candour when required.

"I note the sentiments of the House," he said. "I do want to say that as a land of Mahatma Gandhi, we can never ever turn our eyes away from racism wherever it is," he added. —PTI

BATLA HOUSE ENCOUNTER CASE

Delhi court awards death penalty to Ariz Khan

BHASKAR HARI SHARMA | DC NEW DELHI, MARCH 15

A Delhi court on Monday awarded death sentence to Ariz Khan, convicted for the murder of police inspector Mohan Chand Sharma and other offences in connection with the 2008 Batla House encounter. The court also imposed a fine of ₹11 lakh on Khan and directed ₹10 lakh be immediately released to deceased inspector Sharma's family.

During the hearing, the police sought the death penalty for Khan, a suspected member of the terror outfit Indian Mujahideen, saying it was not just any killing but a murder of a law enforcement officer who was a defender of justice.

On March 8, the Additional Sessions Judge Sandeep Yadav had convicted

Khan stating that the evidence produced by the prosecution duly proved the case beyond reasonable doubt.

The judge had said that it was "duly proved that Ariz Khan and his associates caused murder of police official and fired gunshot on the police official." "The evidence adduced on record, including ocular, documentary and scientific, prosecution has proved beyond reasonable doubt that Khan along with accomplices with common intention obstructed inspector Sharma in discharging public function," the court had said.

RAJIB CHOWDHURI | DC KOLKATA, MARCH 15

Rubbing salt into the wound of West Bengal chief minister Mamata Banerjee, Union home minister Amit Shah on Monday raised his doubts on her claim — attack in a conspiracy — behind her injuries during her Assembly Election campaign at Nandigram in East Midnapore last week. He also teased the injured Trinamul Congress supremo for resuming her poll campaign in a "wheelchair" and then wished her a quick recovery.

Mr Shah however cancelled his attendance in person at the first of his two campaign rallies, for the BJP candidates in the first phase of polls on March 27, blaming a snag in his helicopter in wake of a miserable turnout in Jhargram and addressed it virtually.

Mocking Ms Banerjee in his second rally at Ran-ibandh in Bankura he said, "At the outset, I apologise to you for my delay in reaching here. My helicopter developed a glitch. But I am not going to complain that there was a conspiracy in it. Helicopter malfunctions sometimes."

Mr Shah added, "I have seen Mamata suffered leg injuries. Didn't you see it? How she got injured is yet to be ascertained. A probe is underway. TMC is crying of a 'big conspiracy' to leave her injured. But the Election Commission already called it an accident, not an attack. God knows who is speaking the truth!"

Candidate issue: BJP's Ravi air dashes to Ooty

B. RAVICHANDRAN | DC
OOTY, MARCH. 15

The BJP's quandary over candidate selection for Ooty constituency, forced party's national secretary and in-charge of party affairs in Tamil Nadu, C.T. Ravi, to air dash to Ooty in a chopper on Monday afternoon, for discussions.

BJP insiders say the party high command may try to rope in a popular planter from Kotagiri to contest in Ooty. Though the BJP has announced candidates for 17 constituencies in Tamil Nadu, it is still in a dilemma over choosing the right candidates to three constituencies in the state including Ooty assembly constituency.

Nearly after two decades, there is a direct contest here

BSP president Mayawati announced on Monday that the party would contest the assembly elections in West Bengal, Tamil Nadu, Kerala and Puducherry on its own, saying it had a "bitter experience" of aligning with other parties in the past.

Chief Minister Edappadi K.Palaniswami files his nomination at Edappadi in Salem district on Monday.

ZAKEER HUSSAIN | DC
SALEM, MARCH. 15

Chief Minister Edappadi K. Palaniswami filed his nomination for Edappadi assembly constituency here on Monday. He is contesting in the constituency for the seventh time. Earlier he had contested in 1989, 1991, 1996, 2006, 2011 and 2016, and won four times in 1989, 1991, 2011 and in 2016.

On Monday afternoon, the Chief Minister opened an AIADMK election office near Edappadi bus stand and by 1:20 pm, he filed his nomination papers at the Edappadi tahsildar office. The Chief Minister went alone inside the returning officer's room and filed his nomination. Returning Officer of the Edappadi assembly constituency, Dhanalingam, received the nomination papers.

Speaking to media persons after filing his nomination, the Chief Minister said, "For the first time, former Chief Minister J Jayalalithaa gave him a chance to contest in Edappadi assembly constituency in 1989. After that, many times she gave me a chance to contest in Edappadi constituency. She made me an MLA, an MP and a minister. I have fulfilled all promises made to the people of Edappadi. If people want anything now, we will fulfill that also."

He further added, "For Edappadi assembly constituency, we have provided new arts and science college, polytechnic college and a BED college, bypass roads, new primary health centres, veterinary medicals, established new primary schools, anganwadi centres, upgraded primary schools into middle schools, middle schools into high schools and high schools into higher secondary schools. Many mini-clinics were opened in the constituency. The people asked to provide bus facilities to other districts from Edappadi. Based on their request, buses are now playing in 19 routes from Edappadi. We have provided uninterrupted drinking water to Edappadi constituency people through a dedicated water supply scheme."

Asked whether AIADMK's poll promise of six free LPG cylinders has not made impact among people, the Chief Minister replied, "After election results, we will come to know whether our election promises including six free LPG cylinders created an impact among people or not."

"All the states in India are running governments with debts. We have implemented welfare schemes for the people without any hindrance. The AIADMK alliance is very strong in this election. We told in our election manifesto that we will urge the Centre to withdraw the CAA," the Chief Minister added.

"The AIADMK is only protecting the minorities. Based on the views of AIADMK coordinator O Panneerselvam and senior party functionaries, we have prepared our election manifesto. Our election manifesto reflects people's thoughts. Through the Mettur-Sarabanga Lift irrigation scheme, when Mettur dam attains its full capacity, water will be diverted into 100 lakes in Mettur, Omalur, Sankagiri and Edappadi constituencies. Thus people and farmers would be able to get water for drinking purposes and for farming. I laid the foundation stone for this project and recently inaugurated the project," the Chief Minister said.

Airport bustles with VIPs

G. BABU JAYAKUMAR & P. A. JEBARAJ | DC
CHENNAI, MARCH. 15

The latest trend among political leaders to use chartered flights and helicopters has suddenly made the old airport at Chennai's Meenambakkam bustle with activity, witnessing heavy VIP movement.

It is not just that DMK president M. K. Stalin and MNM founder Kamal Haasan who used the airport to board chartered flights to Tiruchy and Coimbatore on Monday, it has become customary for many other leaders, too, to land and take off from there.

Some political leaders who had used the old airport in the recent past were Prime Minister Narendra Modi, Union Home Minister Amit Shah and Congress leader Rahul Gandhi, besides some other Union Ministers and others.

Since political leaders have started frequenting the old airport, election officials have also started keeping a watch over their movements. Election flying squads are monitoring the airport, looking out for possible transport of money and gifts by the new breed of users of the aircraft.

Other mandatory tests like Covid-19 checks and security protocols are anyway carried out in the airport for the VIPs, who have to produce photo identification cards like in other regular flights and follow the procedures stipulated for regular air passengers.

Since the companies, operating the chartered flights and helicopter services, are now doing brisk business with more enquiries coming in, there is every likelihood of the cost going up in the coming days of the campaign, say aviation sources.

As of now the rates for the special air services are something like this: Rs 2,543 per minute for a five-seat helicopter, ₹1,017 per minute for a six seat plane, ₹3,270 for a seven seat plane and ₹7,194 for a 14 seat plane.

For deluxe aircraft, the rates are higher – ₹1,235 for a six seater, ₹3,415 for eight seater, ₹5,232 for a nine seater and so on. Above these rentals there are airport charges and GST, too, to be paid by the users.

Despite such high rates charged by the private aviation companies, the use of chartered flights and helicopters have only gone up as many politicians have been travelling to various places in connection with election related work in the recent past.

So, the campaign season may see more and more politicians flying chartered flights and helicopters to reach distant places and meet up with people across the State.

Flutter after rumours of Vijayadharani's ties with BJP

ARULOLI M | DC
KANYAKUMARI, MARCH. 15

Congress MLA S. Vijayadharani, suspected to be in close contact with the BJP, faced strong objection within Kanyakumari district Congress to be nominated again as Congress contestant in Vilavancode constituency.

Vijayadharani, two-time MLA from Vilavancode constituency, however, is yet to be named party contestant. Though the party high command at the Centre is said to have given the green signal to nominate sitting MLAs S. Vijayadharani and Prince, whose candidature for Colachel in the district also has not been decided till Monday evening for their respective constituencies, Vilavancode and Colachel, has been strongly objected by local Congress party men.

Vijayadharani, who hopefully expected the announcement in her favour by Monday night, refuted the allegation that she had plans to join the BJP, adding that owing to internal party politics, a few had spread the rumour.

It is also said that the Tamil Nadu Congress Committee (TNCC) president K.S. Azhagiri himself was not in favour of giving party ticket to Vijayadharani, and plans to nominate his supporter and the state committee's vice-president, Dr Samuel George, for Vilavancode constituency.

Shabin, a state functionary of the fishermen wing of the party, has been trying to get the party ticket for Colachel, where no fishermen representative got the chance to fight the election under the Congress banner after Lourdhammal Simon in 1962.

To confirm the allegation against Vijayadharani, the BJP also is delaying naming its candidate for Vilavancode, where the Kanyakumari district BJP secretary, C. Dhamaraj's name has been recommended by the state leadership.

Vanathi's Valimai update goes viral

ANUPAMA SUBRAMANIAN | DC

Chennai: Amid promises of freebies by political parties, BJP's Vanathi Srinivasan, who is pitted against Makkal Needhi Maiam president Kamal Haasan in Coimbatore South, has promised something strange and created a buzz on the day of her nomination. While answering a query on Ajith Kumar's Valimai update on her twitter handle, Vanathi said, 'Valimai film's update would be available as soon as I win the upcoming poll brother'.

Though her tweet got likes and retweets, a few started trolling Vanathi saying, 'fans would never get the Valimai update at all indirectly hinting at Vanathi not winning the elections. This reply has gone viral on the Internet.

Ajith's fans have been repeatedly asking for updates on Valimai, and have made the hashtag #ValimaiUpdate trend on the Internet. Recently, Tiruppur district collector Vijayakarthekeyan had used this hashtag to spread awareness about the importance of voting.

Incidentally, Boney Kapoor, producer of Valimai, announced that the first look and promotions of Valimai will be initiated from May 1, Ajith's birthday.

Off the Beaten track

Early bird catches the worm?

Caught chatting up with a couple of morning walkers at the Dr Visveswaraya Tower Park on Monday morning was S. Gokula Indira, AIADMK's candidate from Anna Nagar constituency. Dressed like one of the regular health freaks frequenting the sprawling park in the early morning hours, Gokula Indira, in walking shoes, was out with none of the paraphernalia that politicians venture out. No party cadre or security guards or placards were there to make her stand out in one hunting for votes. She was there at the same spot on Saturday morning, too. Clad in a shimmering saree, he came with two assistants and sauntered towards a restaurant outside the park to engage in a conversation with a group of men who had come out for their walk. Those men seemed to identify her and acknowledged her as she greeted them with folded hands. But then, they started a conversation like long lost friends. Monday morning too she was talking to the couple of men like friends stopping on the walkway close to the lake inside the park. Perhaps, the consummate politicians, who had won the Anna Nagar constituency in 2011 and had served as Minister in the Jayalalithaa Cabinet, believes in the adage 'the early bird catches the worms.'

When candidate took officials for a ride

When Manjai Mohan, the Baduga Desa Party president and candidate for the Ooty assembly constituency, announced that he will file his nomination papers last Friday by taking a round in the Ooty streets to reach sub-collector's office in the hospital road here, the election expenditure monitoring wing officials pulled up their socks to assess the expenditure he is going to make during the event. But, Mr. Mohan surprised everyone by entering the town limit via the commissioner's road by riding a horse to file his nomination papers. The poll officials are in a quandary on how to assess the expenditure for the event like rent, water and fodder charges of the horse and whether these can be brought in the election expenditure account.

Mum's the word

With coronavirus cases rising steadily in Chennai, residents' welfare associations (RWAs) of several apartments and gated communities in the metro have begun re-imposing restrictions in a phased manner. When one such RWA cautioned its residents over spike in cases and instructed children and others to wear masks in the common areas in their social media group, it drew criticism from unexpected quarters. While the cautionary note and regulations garnered the support of most of the residents, there were a few, especially mothers, who questioned the need for expecting children to wear masks. They asked, "When there are adults who still don't use masks in common areas, why do you force kids playing with their friends to wear them?" The association office-bearers preferred to remain silent.

First he would end up in jail, then his job would be at stake. Ladies, please don't land an innocent man in such a dilemma anymore

A beeline to temples

Politicians and their family members, irrespective of their ideology, believe that praying in navagraha temples in Thanjavur district will bring them luck, positions, power and all other auspicious things in life. Prathyankara Devi Temple, at Ayyavadi near Kumbakonam, came to limelight by the frequent visits of former chief minister J. Jayalalithaa. She participated in the nikumbala yaga puja in 2000. Incidentally, she came to power in 2001. With assembly elections round the corner, politicians started making a beeline to the temple. One VIP who visited the temple and took part in nikumbala yaga on March 13, Amavasya day (new moon day), was Radha, wife of Chief Minister Edappadi K. Palaniswami. Minister Rajendra Balaji visited the temple last month Amavasya, on February 11. The navagraha kshetras attract politicians from other states too. Former prime minister H D Deve Gowda and his family members are regular visitors of navagraha kshetras. DMDK president and actor Vijay Kanth and his wife Premalatha are visitors of temples in Kumbakonam.

Dilemma of park keeper

The keeper of a residential park at Rayala Nagar in Ramapuram, run by the Greater Chennai Corporation, is on the horns of a dilemma as young ladies come to jog on two swings in the children's area. The other day a woman wanted to swing, but she saw the sign board that instructs swings are restricted to girls. The lady, then, prodded her over-aged daughter. As the girl started swinging flouting the rule, the park keeper stepped in: "Stop girl... don't do this". Unfazed by the loud cry, the girl accelerated the speed of swing. The red-faced park keeper blasted at the woman: 'Look.... I can't allow it here'. She simply smiled at him. Then she gently moved herself, as the other joggers stood stunned, and sat on the next swing. The crazy duo went on riding as if they were going to participate in the world swinging championship. The park keeper, losing his self-respect, wanted to kick them out. But he was in a dilemma. First he would end up in jail, then his job would be at stake. Ladies, please don't land an innocent man in such a dilemma anymore.

On September 2, 2019, a TNSTC bus was proceeding to Cuddalore from Trichy and when conductor Gopinathan asked head constable K. Palanivel to buy the ticket, the cop, who was in plain clothes, refused to do so saying he was a policeman.

the bus. The conductor was rushed to a private hospital in Neyveli, where doctors declared him dead. He had suffered a heart attack and died in the bus.

Court asks Sasikala to file reply to AIADMK counter

DC CORRESPONDENT CHENNAI, MARCH. 15

A civil court in Chennai on Monday directed V.K. Sasikala, former interim general secretary of the AIADMK, to file her response to a counter filed by the party in a civil suit instituted by her challenging her removal from the ruling party.

Sasikala who served a jail term in Bengaluru in connection with a disproportionate assets case returned to the state to a rousing welcome recently. Weeks later, Sasikala, a close aide of former chief mi-

Sasikala filed the civil suit in 2017 seeking to declare that AIADMK leaders Edappadi K. Palaniswami, O. Panneerselvam, Dindigul C. Srinivasan, S. Semmalai and

E. Madhusudan were not members of the party. She said that all actions taken by them as the party office-bearers removing her from the post of the interim general secretary were illegal and against the by-laws of the party. The case was taken up for hearing by IV city civil court judge A.R.V. Ravi.

Sasikala's counsel informed the court that he would file a counter after getting instructions from his client.

The counsel representing Palaniswami and Panneerselvam had argued to dismiss the petition filed by her.

A total of 13,86,379 persons have been vaccinated for Corona in Tamil Nadu till March 14, said Narayana Babu, director, medical education, here on Monday.

Babu visited Thanjavur medical college hospital and enquired about the treatment given to 43 students of a government-aided private school at Ammapettai who tested positive for Corona and were recently admitted to the TMCH.

In Thanjavur district alone, 8,391 persons have been vaccinated. "Corona is well under control in Tamil Nadu. We should follow precautionary measures and prevent its spread. More cases have been reported from four districts like Thanjavur, Chengalpatt, Chennai and Coimbatore. In other districts, cases are fewer. Only 350 persons are taking treatment in a day in the state," he said.

In Tamil Nadu, a total of 8.58 lakh persons tested positive for Corona. But 98 percent got cured.

"With one year of experience in Corona prevention and treatment in Tamil Nadu, now medical and paramedical staff and district administrations are doing well in containing Corona. People should cooperate with them by wearing face masks, maintaining social distancing, and using sanitizers," he added.

10-year-old student develops solar power charger

R. VALAYAPATHY | DC TIRUCHY, MARCH. 15

A 10-year-old student studying class-4 has developed a solar power charger that can charge power banks and mobile phones.

The student P. Aniruth Appar, son of a software engineer couple from Bengaluru, who came to his grandfather's house here, recently demonstrated his invention to the public in Varaganeri area, to the applause of all.

P. Gunaseelan, the boy's grandfather, a retired bank official, said the boy was basically interested in experimenting and creating new things with innovative ideas. As we have abundant solar energy, Gunaseelan encouraged his grandson by suggesting him to develop the mobile phone charger with solar energy.

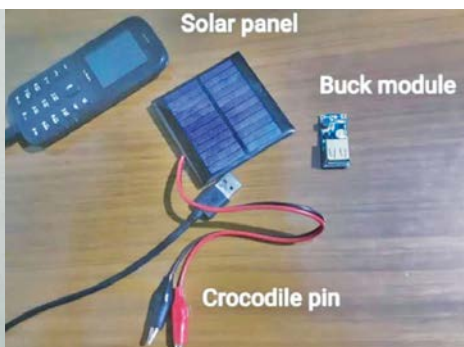

According to the boy's parents Prasanna and Deepika Prasanna, their son studied the details to build that model and designed a simple working charger with the help of just two things, namely Solar panel and buck module. The buck module is a circuit that has a capacitor, resistor, and diodes.

His mother is an engineering graduate working in a private school teaching science and English. She said her son had already developed a wind energy-based traffic signaling system and placed the same in school-level science exhibitions in Bengaluru, and received appreciation certificates and medals.

She also said her son was very keen to develop new things using renewable energy resources, and already is in the process of developing solar energy-based ceiling and table fans. "We are going to inform the concerned ministries of the Central and state governments about our son's new inventions," she added.

AMARNATH YATRA
LIKELY TO SEE
HEAVY RUSH: CRPF

Jammu, March 15: This year's Amarnath Yatra is likely to witness heavy rush of pilgrims, a top CRPF officer here said on Monday, and asserted that all necessary arrangements will be made to ensure it passes off peacefully.

Inspector General (IG) of Central Reserve Police Force (CRPF), Jammu sector, P.S. Ranpise said all units and formations have been briefed about the threat posed by sticky bombs, and asked to remain on high alert.

The 56-day yatra to the 3,880-metre-high cave shrine of Amarnath in the South Kashmir Himalayas is scheduled to start from the twin routes of Pahalgam and Baltal on June 28 and culminate on August 22.

Talking to reporters after inaugurating a free medical camp organised by the 166th Battalion of the force in Sidhra here, the CRPF IG said, "It is likely that the yatra this year will attract heavy rush, and keeping this thing in mind, we will study the requirements, and all necessary arrangements will be made for the success of the pilgrimage."

"We already had a meeting with civil police and projected the requirement... We will study the logistic requirements needed at the Yatri camps and might require more forces," he added.

To a question on the number of troops required for the pilgrimage, the IG said, "That will be decided by the government after a review of the overall situation."

ARMS IMPORTS TO INDIA DOWN,
SAYS REPORT

PAWAN BALI | DC
NEW DELHI, MARCH 15

India's arms import decreased by 33 per cent between 2011-15 and 2016-20, according to a report by Stockholm International Peace Research Institute (SIPRI) on Monday.

Russia was the most affected supplier, although India's imports of US arms also fell, by 46 per cent. "The drop in Indian arms imports seems to have been mainly due to its complex procurement processes, combined with an attempt to reduce its dependence on Russian arms," said SIPRI report. It said India is planning large-scale arms imports in the coming years from several suppliers.

Globally, United States remained the largest arms exporter, increasing its global share of arms exports from 32 to 37 per cent between 2011-15 and 2016-20. Russia and China both saw their exports declining.

The arms exports by Russia, which accounted for 20 per cent of all exports of major arms in 2016-20, dropped by 22 per cent (to roughly the same level as in 2006-10).

"The bulk around 90 per cent — of this decrease was attributable to a 53 per cent fall in its arms exports to India," said the report.

MP: 5 MLAs test +ve for Covid

Bhopal, March 15: With five MLAs contracting Coronavirus infection, the ongoing Budget session of the Madhya Pradesh Assembly may be cut short this week, an official said.

The session started on February 22 and was scheduled to end on March 26.

Five legislators and four marshals have contracted Covid-19 since the session started.

The EAM also said that India has "reason to expect" that "partner governments in the Gulf would be helpful in facilitating the early return of many who were compelled to go back because of the pandemic".

The EAM said this huge exercise "could not have started and there is growing concern among members, said an official of the Assembly secretariat.

Therefore the session might conclude this week after transacting the scheduled business, he said.

Earlier in the day, as soon as the proceedings started, Legislative Affairs Minister Narottam Mishra rose and informed that five members of the House have contracted the virus so far. Coronavirus cases have increased after a lull, the minister said.

Senior Congress leader Govind Singh said he had a discussion with Leader of Opposition Kamal Nath on the issue.

He added, "At the end of the day, the sympathetic response of others reflected their positive image of us. Indeed, this was a real testimony of India's enhanced global standing.

Vaze moves HC against arrest, claims its illegal

Mumbai, March 15: Suspended police officer Sachin Vaze on Monday filed a 'habeas corpus' petition in the Bombay High Court, challenging his arrest by the NIA in connection with the recovery of an explosives-laden SUV near Mukesh Ambani's house.

The NIA, on the other hand, denied before a lower court that he had been detained illegally before the arrest.

Vaze, an assistant police inspector with Mumbai police, was arrested by the National Investigation Agency on Saturday for his alleged involvement. The petition, filed through his brother Sudharm, claimed that Vaze (49) was made a "scapegoat" by "certain political powers".

A Habeas Corpus petition is usually filed to challenge 'illegal' detention or arrest. The plea, moved by his lawyer Sunny Punamiya, sought a direction to the NIA to produce Vaze before the HC and to prove that due procedure was followed during the arrest.

The police officer was not provided a copy of the FIR and he was also not explained the reasons for arrest, nor was his family informed, the petition said. The haste with which he was arrested showed that the central agency acted with mala fide intentions, it alleged. The NIA is probing the recovery of an explosives-laden Scorpio near industrialist Mukesh Ambani's multi-storey house 'Antilia' here last month.

The case was taken over by the NIA after the mysterious death of Thane-based businessman Mansukh Hiran who had claimed the vehicle had been stolen from his possession. — PTI

Chief Minister Pinarayi Vijayan filed his nomination papers from the Dharmadom Assembly constituency at the Collectorate in Kannur on Monday.

The Chief Minister, who is contesting for the second time from Dharmadom, took all Covid-19 safety measures including face shield, mask and gloves while filing the nomination papers. He was accompanied by senior CPM leaders including CPM Kannur district secretary M.V. Jayarajan.

Vijayan, 75, was elected from Dharmadom constituency in 2016 Assembly polls with a big margin of 36,905 votes. While he secured 87,329 votes, his nearest Congress rival Mambaram Divakaran bagged 50,424 votes. The BJP candidate was way behind with just 12,763 votes.

While the Congress-led UDF is yet to finalise its candidate, the BJP has fielded its former state president C.K. Padmanabhan this time with the objective of putting up a better show. Earlier the UDF had planned to field Forward Bloc national secretary G. Devarajan against the Chief Minister.

Top Jaish commander killed in J&K encounter

YUSUF JAMEEL
SRINAGAR, MARCH 15

A senior commander of Jaish-e-Muhammaad (JeM) is among two militants killed in a nearly three-day long gunfight with security forces in Jammu and Kashmir's southern Shopian district. The slain JeM commander is Wilayat Lone alias Sajad Afghani who, the officials said, figured in the list of most wanted militants by security forces combating a decades old insurgency in J&K. His close associate from Lashkar-e-Tayyaba (LeT) identified as Jahangir Ahmad Wani was also gunned down after he turned down the security forces' offer to lay down weapons and surrender.

Several people were injured after the security forces used live ammunition to contain protests by locals near the encounter site, the witnesses said. The police said "some miscreants" were injured when they tried to disrupt the operation against the militants holed up in a private house. The locals accused the security forces of torching and damaging residential houses.

HISTORIC | MOMENT

Iconic bridge will soar 359 metres above the bed of Chenab river in J&K's Reasi district

Lower ends of arch of rly bridge in J&K connected

Jammu, March 15: In a historic moment, the railways has connected the two ends of the main arch of the world's highest bridge on the Chenab river in Jammu and Kashmir's Reasi district which will provide direct connectivity to Kashmir Valley.

The iconic bridge will soar 359 metres above the bed of the river and will be 30 metres higher than the iconic Eiffel Tower in Paris. Railway officials termed the development a "historic" one.

Railway minister Piyush Goyal had recently shared the news on Twitter: "In a historic moment, the arch bottom of the Chenab bridge has been completed today. Next, the arch upper of the engineering marvel in making will be completed," he said. The minister, who also shared a video of the achievement, had said it was set to become the world's highest railway bridge.

Facing grave challenges and life-threatening hazards posed by rough terrain and geological thrust zones, engineers and workers are toiling overtime to meet the last extended deadline set for completion of the world's highest railway bridge connecting Kashmir with the rest of the country.

The Northern Railway will be completing the most difficult 111-kilometre long section of the Udhampur-Srinagar-Baramulla rail link by December 2022, which would connect Kashmir to the rest of India through the railway network, officials said.

The 272 km railway line is being undertaken at an estimated cost of ₹28,000 crore by the Northern Railway. The first section connecting Udhampur to Katra and the third section between Banihal and Baramulla have been completed with both sections operational.

The work to complete the most difficult Katra-Banihal section is going as per schedule, they said. The Udhampur-Katra (25 km) section, Banihal-Qazigund (18 km) section and Qazigund-Baramulla (118 km) section have already been commissioned.

The last remaining section, the 111 km Katra-Banihal section is currently under execution, officials said, adding that 126 km out of 174 km of tunnels on this section has already been completed. They said the project is, perhaps, the most difficult new railway line project undertaken in the entire Indian subcontinent.

The terrain passes through young Himalayas, which are full of geological surprises and numerous problems. For execution purposes, the project has been divided into three sub-sections, they said. Katra-Qazigund leg, the most difficult stretch of the project, and its alignment of this stretch which is 129 km long, passes through Patni and Pir Panjal ranges, they said. — PTI

Outside Parliament House in Canberra, the crowd of hundreds was mostly female and most wore black. They carried placards, including "Justice for Women" and "Men, Own Your Guilt." Prime Minister Scott Morrison refused organisers' demand that he address the crowd. He agreed to meet a delegation of protesters in his office, but a meeting didn't take place.

ASTRAZENECA VAX: FRANCE STOPS USING IT

Paris, March 15: French President Emmanuel Macron says that France is suspending the use of the AstraZeneca Coronavirus vaccine out of precaution. Macron told a news conference Monday that French authorities have decided to suspend shots at least until Tuesday afternoon, when the European Medicines Agency will issue its recommendation over the vaccine. He didn't elaborate on the reasons for the decision. He said France hopes to be able to vaccine again with AstraZeneca shots "soon." Other countries, including Germany, on Monday said it would temporarily halt its use as a precaution amid reports that some people developed blood clots after receiving the shot. AstraZeneca and global health authorities insist the shot is safe.

SANDSTORM IN CHINA: FLIGHTS CANCELLED

Beijing, March 15: China's capital and a wide swath of the country's north were enveloped Monday in the worst sandstorm in a decade, leading to the cancellation of hundreds of flights. Skyscrapers in the centre of Beijing appeared to drop from sight amid the dust and sand. Traffic was snarled and more than 400 flights out of the capital's two main airports were cancelled before noon. Such storms used to occur regularly in the springtime as sand from western deserts blew eastwards, affecting areas as far as northern Japan. Massive planting of trees and bushes in fragile areas has reduced the storms' intensity, but the expansion of cities and industries has put constant pressure on the environment.

PRACHANDA TO DROP PARTY'S 'MAOIST CENTRE'

Kathmandu, March 15: Chief of Nepal's CPN-Maoist Centre (MC) Pushpa Kamal Dahal "Prachanda" has proposed to drop "Maoist Centre" from the party's name to make it acceptable for communist forces in the country, who do not like Maoism, to join it, according to a media report on Monday.

CPN-MC member Shiv Kumar Mandal said that Prachanda was always in favour of unity among all communist forces of the country and suggested that if dropping "Maoist Centre" from the party's name could unite these forces, then the party should be ready for that. The proposal came as CPN-MC faces the heat after the Supreme Court nullified its merger with CPN-UML led by PM K.P. Sharma Oli.

Martial law in 6 Yangon townships

Security forces have killed dozens in crackdown on resistance to last month's military coup

Yangon, March 15: Myanmar's ruling junta has declared martial law in six townships in the country's largest city, as security forces killed dozens of protesters over the weekend in an increasingly lethal crackdown on resistance to last month's military coup.

State broadcaster MRTV said Monday that the Yangon townships of North Dagon, South Dagon, Dagon Seikkan and North Okkalapa have been put under martial law. An initial announcement was made late Sunday saying two other townships Hlaing Thar Yar and neighbouring Shwepyitha were being placed under martial law.

At least 38 people were killed Sunday and dozens were injured in one of the deadliest days of the crackdown on anti-coup protesters, according to the Assistance Association for Political Prisoners, or AAPP, an independent group tracking the toll of the violence. Several estimates from other sources gave higher figures.

Complicating efforts to organise new protests as well as media coverage of the crisis, mobile internet service has been cut, though access is still available through fixed broadband connections. Mobile data service has been used to stream live video coverage of protests, often showing security forces attacking demonstrators.

It had been turned off only from 1 am to 9 am for several weeks, with no official explanation.

The blockage of internet service forced postponement of a court hearing in the capital, Natpyitaw, for Myanmar's detained leader, Aung San Suu Kyi, who was supposed to take part via a video conference, said her lawyer Khin Maung Zaw.

Suu Kyi and President Win Myint were detained during the February 1 military takeover, and have been charged with several criminal offences that their eir supporters believe are politically motivated to keep them locked up.

Since the takeover six weeks ago, Myanmar has been under a nationwide state of emergency, with its civilian leaders ousted and detained, and military leaders in charge of all government. But Sunday's announcement was the first use of martial law since the coup and suggested more direct military control of security, instead of local police.

The announcement said that the State Administrative Council acted to enhance security and restore law and order, and that the Yangon regional commander has been entrusted with administrative, judicial and military powers in the area under his command. The orders cover six of Yangon's 33 townships, all of which suffered major violence in recent days.

Thirty-four of the deaths were in Yangon. Video from Hlaing Thar Yar township showed people running away after gunfire was heard at night-time. Those fleeing carried one injured person and tried to revive two others, one who seemed to be dead or dying, the footage from independent Democratic Voice of Burma showed.

Hlaing Thar Yar was the location of 22 civilian deaths Sunday, according to the AAPP, which said more than a dozen civilians were wounded and described a large number of junta forces engaged in the township.

China on Quad: No need to form 'exclusive cliques'

Beijing, March 15: China on Monday criticised the Quad, saying no "small cliques" should be formed, as it accused some countries of trying to "sow discord" among regional nations by "hyping" the 'China threat' and asserted that they will not succeed. Quad countries involving the US, India, Australia and Japan held their first virtual summit on Friday during which President Joe Biden told leaders of the coalition that a "free and open" Indo-Pacific is essential to their countries and vowed that his country was committed to working with its partners and allies in the region to achieve stability.

Prime Minister Narendra Modi attended the virtual summit alongside Australian Prime Minister Scott Morrison and Japanese Prime Minister Yoshihide Suga. "Certain countries should shake off their Cold-War mentality and ideological prejudice, refrain from forming closed and exclusive small circles, and do more things that are conducive to solidarity and cooperation among regional countries and regional peace and stability," Chinese Foreign Ministry spokesman Zhao Lijian told a media briefing here.

He was answering a question about the first Leaders' Summit of the Quad countries and the reported remarks by US National Secretary Advisor Jake Sullivan that the four leaders discussed the challenge posed by China and said all four believed the democracies could help compete with autocracy. "For quite some time, certain countries have been so keen to exaggerate and hype up the so-called 'China threat' to sow discord among regional countries, especially to disrupt their relations with China," Zhao said.

"However, their actions, running counter to the trend of the times of peace, development and cooperation and the common aspirations of the countries and peoples in the region, will not be welcomed or succeed," he said. "Exchanges and cooperation between countries should help expand mutual understanding and trust, instead of targeting or harming the interests of third parties," he added. Zhao also reacted angrily to reported remarks by US Defence Secretary Lloyd J. Austin that the goal of the US and its key allies is to ensure that they have the capabilities, operational plans and concepts to offer credible deterrence to China or anybody else who wants to take on America.

"In the era of globalisation, forming enclosed small cliques with ideology as the yardstick is the sure way to destroy the international order and after all, is unpopular and will end in total failure," Zhao said. "The United States should treat China and China-US relations in a right mentality," he said.

IRAN OPENS UNDERGROUND MISSILE FACILITY

Tehran, March 15: Iran's paramilitary Revolutionary Guard on Monday inaugurated a new underground facility designated for missile storage, the country's state TV reported.

The report quotes Guard commander Gen. Hossein Salami as saying that cruise and ballistic missiles will empower the force's navy even more. The TV report showed footage of scores of missiles in an enclosed space resembling an underground corridor. It did not say where the facility is located nor how many missiles are stored there.

Since 2011, Iran has boasted of underground facilities across the country as well as along the southern coast near the strategic Strait of Hormuz. Iran claims to have missiles that can travel 2,000 kilometres (1,200 miles), placing much of the Middle East, including Israel, within range.

The US and its Western allies see Iran's missile programme as a threat, along with the country's nuclear programme — particularly after Tehran gradually breached its commitments to the 2015 nuclear deal with world powers.

Andrew Cuomo

BIDEN DECLINES TO CALL FOR CUOMO TO QUIT

Washington, March 15: President Joe Biden on Sunday passed up an opportunity to join other Democrats calling for the resignation of New York Gov. Andrew Cuomo, who is under investigation after multiple allegations of sexual harassment.

Asked by a reporter if Cuomo should resign, Biden responded, "I think the investigation is underway and we should see what it brings us." Biden, who made the comments upon returning to the White House from a weekend at his home in Delaware, had not previously spoken publicly about the allegations against Cuomo.

However, his comments reflect the wait-and-see position the White House has taken regarding Cuomo's future. White House press secretary Jen Psaki would not say whether Biden believes Cuomo should resign. She said every woman who has come forward "deserves to have her voice heard, should be treated with respect and should be able to tell her story." She has said that the president supports the investigation. Several prominent New York Democrats, including Sens. Chuck Schumer and Kirsten Gillibrand, have called on Cuomo to step down.

FORMAL | RESPONSE

Catholic teaching holds that marriage is intended for the sake of creating new life

Vatican bars gay union blessing, says God 'can't bless sin'

Rome, March 15: The Vatican decreed Monday that the Catholic Church cannot bless same-sex unions since God "cannot bless sin". The Vatican's orthodoxy office, the Congregation for the Doctrine of the Faith, issued a formal response Monday to a question about whether Catholic clergy can bless gay unions. The answer, contained in a two-page explanation published in seven languages and approved by Pope Francis, was "negative". The decree distinguished between the church's welcoming and blessing of gay people, which it upheld, but not their unions since any such sacramental recognition could be confused with marriage.

The Vatican holds that gay people must be treated with dignity and respect, but that gay sex is "intrinsically disordered." Catholic teaching holds that marriage, a lifelong union between a man and woman, is part of God's plan and is intended for the sake of creating new life. Since gay unions are not intended to be part of that plan, they cannot be blessed by the church, the document said.

"The presence in such relationships of positive

● POPE FRANCIS has endorsed providing gay couples with legal protections in same-sex unions, but that is in reference to the civil sphere, not within the church.

elements, which are in themselves to be valued and appreciated, cannot justify these relationships and render them legitimate objects of an ecclesial blessing, since the positive elements exist within the context of a union not ordered to the Creator's plan," the response said. God "does not and cannot bless sin: He blesses sinful man, so that he may recognise that he is part of his plan of love and allow himself to be changed by him," it said. Francis has endorsed providing gay couples with legal protections in same-sex unions, but that is in reference to the civil sphere, not within the church.

Those comments were made during an interview with a Mexican broadcaster, Televisa, in 2019, but were cut by the Vatican until they appeared in a documentary last year. While the documentary fudged the context, Francis was referring to the posion he took when he was archbishop of Buenos Aires and the country's lawmakers were considering approving gay marriage, which he and the Catholic Church opposed.

Then-Cardinal Jorge Mario Bergoglio instead supported providing legal protections for gay people in stable unions through a so-called "law of civil cohabitation." Francis told Televisa: "Homosexual people have the right to be in a family. They are children of God." Speaking of families with gay children, he said: "You can't kick someone out of a family, nor make their life miserable for this. What we have to have is a civil union law; that way they are legally covered." In the new document and an accompanying unsigned article, the Vatican said questions had been raised about whether the church should bless same-sex unions in a sacramental way in recent years, and after Francis had insisted on the need to better welcome and accompany gay people in the church. In the article, the Vatican stressed the "fundamental and decisive distinction" between gay individuals and gay unions, noting that "the negative judgment on the blessing of unions of persons of the same sex does not imply a judgment on persons."

But it explained the rationale for forbidding a blessing of such unions, noting that any union that involves sexual activity outside of marriage cannot be blessed because it is not in a state of grace, or "ordered to both receive and express the good that is pronounced and given by the blessing".

And it added that blessing a same-sex union could give the impression of a sort of sacramental equivalence to marriage.

Why does SC need relook at Places of Worship Act?

The Supreme Court's decision to seek the opinion of the Union government on a public interest litigation petition (PIL) challenging the validity of certain provisions of the Places of Worship (Special Provisions) Act 1991 appears to be a legitimate legal procedure but one that calls for meticulous handling by all stakeholders.

The petition contends that Sections 2, 3 and 4 of the Act create an "arbitrary and irrational retrospective cut-off date" for retaining the character of the places of worship or pilgrimage. Section 3 of the Act bars conversion of any place of worship of any religious denomination into a place of worship of a different section of the same religious denomination or of a different religious denomination; Section 4(e) says any legal proceeding with respect to the conversion of the religious character of a place of worship shall abate and that no such proceedings shall lie on or after such commencement in any court, tribunal or other authority. In effect, the religious character of all religious places in India is fixed as per their character on the day of Independence and no person can alter it, nor can a court entertain a petition seeking an alteration. The Ram Janmabhoomi-Babri Masjid dispute was the only exception the law mentions.

Going by the petitioner, the law has closed the legal options of Hindus, Jains, Buddhists and Sikhs against illegal encroachment on their places of worship and pilgrimage. Interestingly, the petitioner, a Bharatiya Janata Party (BJP) leader, raises the point that the law is ultra vires several key Articles of the Constitution which deal with equality, discrimination based on religion, race, caste, sex or place of birth, protection of life and personal liberty, freedom of conscience and free profession, practice and propagation of religion, freedom to manage religious affairs and protection of interests of minorities. Moreover, the PIL argues, it violates the principles of secularism, which is an integral part of the Preamble and the basic structure of the Constitution.

From the looks of it, the PIL is an innocent demand for justice but in fact it stands logic and the Constitution on their heads. Parliament had passed the law in the backdrop of the demolition of the Babri Masjid by a group of religious fundamentalists and vandals (who were last year absolved of their crime by the trial court). The P.V. Narasimha Rao government, that was accused of being a silent spectator to one of the most barbaric acts Independent India has witnessed, enacted the law to prevent a repeat of the same. This was because the same elements which brought down the Babri Masjid, showing scant regard for the basic concepts of democracy such as respect for the rule of law and the sanctity of judicial orders were targeting other such structures as well.

Civilisations survive and thrive not by going back to history and righting everything that went wrong. After all, the scale changes with time. India definitely doesn't have the luxury to engage its several future generations on issues religious with a scale that surpasses time, ignoring poverty, ignorance and disease. The Supreme Court will do justice to itself, and to the people, by remembering this simple point.

Jagan is South's big star

From being a political upstart who intrepidly challenged the mighty Sonia Gandhi at the height of the United Progressive Alliance's stint in power at the Centre to the latest founder of a powerful regional party in the South, to one of India's youngest chief ministers, Y.S. Jagan Mohan Reddy has traversed an exciting and peerless journey, lickety-split, with remarkable ease.

With a sweeping win even before his first term as chief minister reaches its mid-point, reducing the Opposition Telugu Desam led by an experienced political giant of another era, N. Chandrababu Naidu, to rubble, Mr Reddy is now the undisputed political czar of Andhra Pradesh. But is he actually more than just that?

A cursory scan of South India's political map — read hot in parts because of the ongoing Assembly election campaigns — will find the answer is yes. At a time when several incumbent CMs and their challengers are fighting to etch the next episode of their career and destiny, Mr Reddy is sitting pretty on his people-gifted throne.

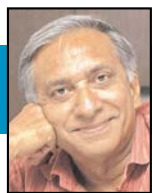

Karnataka's B.S. Yediyurappa is past his prime and Telangana chief minister K. Chandrashekar Rao is battling intense anti-incumbency and an exceptional political challenge from the BJP. Kerala's incumbent chief minister Pinarayi Vijayan may be on the verge of making history as a rare instance of a front retaining power in that state, but as part of a political party and ideology without any larger national salience or relevance, he will remain a state-level leader.

In Tamil Nadu, M.K. Stalin's long wait may finally be over and his trust with power may bring upon him the status of being a new icon in national politics from the south. But a big "if" stands between Mr Stalin and the results on May 2. In the context, Mr Reddy is now bigger and more than just the chief of the YSR Congress or the CM of Andhra Pradesh; he is the most powerful political leader in South India. He's also the creator of a new brand of politics whose best times may still be ahead: far, far ahead.

As Afghan mess grows, India must be cautious

Anand Sahay

Far & Near

It is becoming apparent that the Americans are finding it hard to orchestrate their plan to get out of the Afghan quagmire. The way things are going, an outcome satisfactory to all is unlikely from the set of ideas that Washington has lately advanced.

In these circumstances, India must learn to do its own sums even as it seeks to be collegial. Its abiding interests in the Afghan theatre are self-evident. Its best bet is to align with the people of Afghanistan at a crucial juncture, and to develop working relations with key constituencies, banking on the goodwill it has earned.

The Biden administration's ideas were projected in a letter by secretary of state Antony Blinken to President Ashraf Ghani, and the so-called draft peace proposals canvassed by Zalmay Khalilzad, the US special envoy for Afghan Reconciliation, to enable constitution-making afresh (in a new order), shape post-US governance through an interim government to start with and pave the way for a comprehensive ceasefire.

Practically rejecting this line, President Ghani declared on March 6: "Transfer of power through elections is a non-negotiable principle for us." He said that he was ready to discuss free and fair elections "under the auspices of the international community".

"We can also talk about the date of elections and reach a conclusion," the Afghan President added, showing readiness to forgo more than half his term. His words were pithily reaffirmed by vice-president Amrullah Saleh, a redoubtable former intelligence chief, suggesting that this is a deliberated position — indeed, the articulation of an alternative formulation to America's.

While the response of the key Afghan political elites like former President Hamid Karzai, chairman of the country's reconciliation process Abdullah Abdullah, and others to the US proposals isn't developed yet, President Ghani's interjection can leave little doubt that the US plan is facing rough weather inside Afghanistan.

There are indications that the Karzai group gives little credence to guarantees for peace the regional powers may offer at America's behest at the proposed UN-led conference in Turkey. Also, it is not enamoured of the idea of an unelected "guidance council", or shura of theologians, to exist alongside government structures in the US scheme — virtually a vetoing authority that may give the Taliban a further edge.

After Mr Ghani's public stance, taken in the Afghan Parliament, on March 8, a US state department spokesman was quoted as saying that it was "too early to say how the peace process is going". This seemed a dose of realism after Mr Blinken's hectoring letter.

President Ghani is neither widely popular, nor known to be a consensus-builder, but he does represent the current Afghan Constitution which the US had helped fashion (along with then interim President Hamid Karzai) in 2004, and which New Delhi had gone to considerable lengths to back. The gains arising from this Constitution at the popular level are backed by the new generation of Afghans, the largest constituency.

The Blinken epistle favours a UN-routed conference in Turkey (a "Bonn 2" of sorts) of leading countries that ring Afghanistan (India included, though it doesn't have a border with that country), presumably to get them to agree to a "unified approach" on Afghanistan's future.

This is not only wispy, it is self-serving. Does the US seriously believe that Pakistan, China, Russia, Iran and India, besides America itself (the six countries Mr Blinken envisages will be at the table), can project a "unified approach" as "these countries share an abiding common interest in a stable Afghanistan"?

While Pakistan and China may be expected to be favourable to the Taliban outright, what the US is perhaps really saying is that Iran, India (and Russia) should lump it and accept the Taliban's hegemony in Afghanistan once the remaining American troops have exited. Even if India or Iran can develop a functional relationship with the Taliban in time, how realistic is this prospect in the immediate future?

The US of course already accepts the Taliban as the hegemon. That indeed was the basis for the earlier Trump administration to reach the Doha agreement with this Pakistan-nurtured politico-military outfit in February 2020, and the reason why the Biden administration is being openly solicitous of the group which continues to rain violence on the Afghan people.

In the American scheme, half of all official positions will go to the Taliban in the envisaged interim government. Not to put too fine a point on it, the logic of things suggests that so long as the last US soldier exits unharmed, it will matter little to Washington if the Taliban (with Pakistan's and China's support this time) seeks to bludgeon the country into submission yet again.

Disregarding the promises it had given the US of a negotiated peace with the Afghan government, as a condition for the final withdrawal of American troops under the Doha agreement, the Taliban went on a spree of violence, killing thousands in the course of the past year, along with targeted assassinations.

This was to project its military prowess to strengthen its negotiating stance vis-a-vis fellow Afghans, and to suitably impress the Americans further. And yet, astonishingly, Mr Blinken's letter to President Ghani speaks of a "revised proposal" for a 90-day "reduction in violence" — not "ceasefire" — to pre-empt the Taliban's "spring offensive", an annual feature, presumably so that peace parleys (to aid the US) are not prejudiced.

The question to ask is whether the Doha accord survives as an instrument of any merit after a year of bloody Taliban violence. If not, are there lessons in this for the future? But uninterested, the US is headed for "Bonn 2", probably on March 27. Besides, with the participation of the US, Russia, China and Pakistan, and invitations to senior Afghan figures, including government leaders, an earlier "peace" conference is due on March 18, hosted by Moscow. There is unseemly hurry.

Negotiated settlement or not, a May 1 withdrawal agreed by the former US President is not off the table. On the first anniversary of the Doha accord, the Taliban threatened that "any attempt against the agreement" will end in "failure of talks". The thought must terrify the Americans. Equally, Afghan national security adviser Hamdullah Mohib has said that Kabul was against "imposing" the Doha accord on the people. Completely split perspectives.

Afghanistan is said to be the graveyard of empires, but it is also proving to be the breeding ground of ironies. Trophies are sought to be handed out to the most violent.

While Pakistan and China may be expected to be favourable to the Taliban outright, what the US is perhaps really saying is that Iran, India (and Russia) should lump it and accept the Taliban's hegemony.

SECOND WAVE OF PANDEMIC

Apropos your editorial Enforcing mask rules is vital (March 15). Going by the spurt in Covid-19 cases in India, the fear expressed in your editorial that a second wave is around the corner is absolutely true and seems inevitable. The central and state governments which spent several hundred crores in bringing down the infection rate by November 2020 successfully have failed to prevent a surge again due to their lackadaisical attitude in strictly implementing the pandemic protocols. A lockdown is not possible especially in the states going to Assembly elections. It would not be a bad idea if lockdown is introduced (at least in Tamil Nadu and Kerala) after the elections on April 6 till April 30 as many people would have contracted the virus due to the election process and the spread could be prevented by imposing a 2 or 3-week lockdown.

COMPETITIVE POPULISM

EVEN THE cursory reading of the poll manifestos of both the major Dravidian parties in Tamil Nadu, the ruling AIADMK and the opposition DMK for the upcoming April 6 state assembly polls could not help but feel strongly about the abysmal extent to which both of them can go to woo the voters with freebies. It is no more an exaggeration to say that competitive populism has now emerged as a big bane of the politics of Tamil Nadu. It should also be noted here that the fiscal profligacy of both parties over the years had changed the status of state from being a fiscal surplus to fiscal deficit after 2012-13.

BANK STRIKE

THE YEARLY bank strike seems to have become normal and that too for two days succeeding two bank holidays. The employees, of course, would lose two days' salary but it's the poor customer who has no access to e-banking would get affected as they don't even know how to use the debit card. The government and management are not taking the strike seriously and the customers are getting punished. If the yearly strike is turning normal, why not management and unions come to an understanding on dates when they want to go on strike so that those days can be added to the yearly list of bank holidays as it would help the customers to plan bank work accordingly.

BJP has never spelt out what 'parivartan' it hopes to bring

In 2019, the BJP won 18 of the 42 Lok Sabha seats in West Bengal. It is hard to see why it will not win the Assembly elections now because it has so much more resources than the rest (more than 90 per cent of electoral bond money, which is the anonymous but legal funding by corporates to political parties, according to RTI reports) and also the power of the Central administration. Prime Minister Narendra Modi has promised he will bring real change to West Bengal. Perhaps he will. The interesting thing to me is that his party has never defined what this "change" is.

Formed in 1951, the Jan Sangh/BJP manifestos move effortlessly back and forth from grand and formless expression like "national rejuvenation yagna" directly to things like running more trains with third-class compartments as opposed to air-conditioned ones, pushing the benefits of cow manure and asking linguists to introduce technical and scientific terms based on Sanskrit to replace English.

The party's ideology, Deen Dayal Upadhyaya, did not want the states to exist. In his Integral Humanism lectures, he had said: "According to the first para of the Constitution: 'India that is Bharat will be a federation of states', that is Bihar Mata, Banga Mata, Punjab Mata, Kannada Mata, Tamil Mata, all put together make Bharat Mata. This is ridiculous." He did not tell us that if we removed the states, what mechanism of administration would come between the Union government and the village.

In the first manifesto, the party identified blackmarketing, profiteering and nepotism as the country's key problems. Over time, the Jan Sangh dropped all references to these problems without saying whether they had been solved or had become less relevant to the party.

On agriculture, the party was for "encouragement of the use of mechanical appliances in agriculture". However, later it said that "tractors will be used only to break virgin soil. Their use for normal ploughing purposes will be discouraged". (1954). This was because it was trying to protect oxen from slaughter.

In 1971, the Jan Sangh resolved to limit the maximum income of all citizens to ₹2,000 per month and the minimum to ₹100, maintaining a 20:1 ratio. It would continue working on reducing this gap till it reached 10:1, which was the ideal gap and all Indians could only have incomes inside this range based on their position. Additional income earned by individuals over this limit would be taken by the government. Residential houses in cities would be on plots that did not exceed 1,000 square yards.

In 1954, the party said that it would repeal the Constitution's first amendment that curbed freedom of speech by imposing "reasonable restrictions". However, after 1954, this demand disappeared from the manifestos.

Interestingly, the Jan Sangh also said that it would repeal preventive detention laws which it said were absolutely in contradiction to individual liberty. This promise was made repeatedly in the 1950s. In time, both the Jan Sangh and the BJP became the most enthusiastic champions of preventive detention and laws like UAPA.

Even though the idols were smuggled into the mosque in December 1949, there was no reference to Ayodhya or a Ram temple there in any manifesto from 1951 to 1980.

In defence policy, it wanted compulsory military training for all boys and girls, removal of licences for possessing muzzle-loading guns (an eighteenth century weapon) and expansion of the National Cadet Corps.

Like "Atma Nirbhar Bharat", the Jan Sangh's swadeshi meant giving subsidies to local industries and tariff protection. Import of consumer goods and luxury goods would be discouraged. Labour rights, including strikes and lockouts, would be discouraged.

Culturally, the party was against alcohol consumption and called for nationwide prohibition. It wanted English to be abolished and replaced in all spheres by local languages, and especially Hindi.

There is no comment whether positive or negative on the Constitution, which was adopted months before the first Jan Sangh manifesto, or even about the ideals it represents. Dr B.R. Ambedkar had proposed modest changes to Hindu personal law, especially on the question of inheritance for women. He identified two dominant forms of traditional inheritance law and modified one of them to make inheritance fairer for women. In its 1951 manifesto, the Jan Sangh opposed this reform.

While it signals anti-Muslim intent, the Jan Sangh did not have the transparency of the BJP and its open dislike of Muslims. The Jan Sangh was unable to express its majoritarianism as clearly and in as full-throated a fashion as the BJP was later able to.

This was because it lacked a specific programme on the back of which to mobilise anti-Muslim sentiment, such as the campaign against the Babri Masjid. It was not important as an issue all this time. The lack of a mass-mobilisation issue meant that the Jan Sangh remained a minor player, getting only a few seats in each election. In the last election it contested under its own name, in 1971, the Jan Sangh won 22 seats and seven per cent of the vote, making it only the fourth largest party in Parliament. It was only under Lal Krishna Advani, and then especially under Narendra Modi, that the BJP became the mass-based electoral force it has become, from the cadre-based party that was the Jan Sangh. It is remarkable that this should have been achieved in the absence of a coherent, consistent ideology and even a definition of what "parivartan" it stood for and would bring.

Bill to hike insurance
FDI cap placed in RSFALAKNAAZ SYED
MUMBAI, MARCH 15

In a move that would open further avenues for investors of insurance companies and attract considerable activity from private equity, venture capital firms and foreign institutional investors (FIIs), the finance minister Nirmala Sitharaman on Monday introduced a bill in the Rajya Sabha to increase the foreign direct investment (FDI) in the sector to 74 per cent from 49 per cent.

The Insurance Amendment Bill 2021 seeks to make changes in the Insurance Act 1938 to increase the permissible FDI limits. The bill has been cleared by the Union Cabinet on Wednesday.

Under the new structure, the majority of directors on the board and key management persons would be resident Indians, with at least 50 per cent of directors being independent directors, and a specified percentage of profits being retained as a general reserve.

Currently, most Indian promoters of insurance companies, namely public sector banks, NBFCs, corporates, need capital to fund their core businesses and would use the FDI opportunity to monetise their investments and sell their stakes to PEs, VCs or existing foreign joint venture partner.

In 2015, when the FDI limit was lifted from 26 per cent to 49 per cent, the expectation was that the insurance sector would get fresh capital of Rs 25,000 crore, however, the actual infusion into the sector was just around Rs 5,400 crore, since the Indian promoters of existing companies monetised their investments by selling their stake to the foreign joint venture partners.

Also, the premise that higher FDI would increase insurance penetration appears faulty as despite 20 years of privatisation and raising the FDI limit, India's insurance penetration (life and non-life) languishes much below the world average. Life insurance premium as a percentage of GDP is 3.6 per cent in the country, way below the global average of 7.13 per cent, and in the case of general insurance, it is even worse at 0.94 per cent of GDP, against the world average of 2.88 per cent.

Karthik Srinivasan, senior vice president, group head-financial sector ratings, Icrs said, "Instead of promoters monetising their investments, if the capital is infused into insurance companies then that would help companies to scale up their business and increase insurance penetration.

"Barring a few companies, most other players have adequate regulatory capital as indicated by high solvency levels, but going forward since most are growing their protection business and with natural calamities and mortalities, pace of capital consumption can increase," added Srinivasan.

Ashvin Parekh, managing partner at Ashvin Parekh Advisory Services, said, "It is a long-awaited reform and should be welcomed as it would bring in about Rs 30,000 crore in the insurance sector over the next three years... Another important point is that since foreign capital can come in any form, we could also see activity from private equity, venture capital firms and FIIs."

IPO investors in Hyderabad-based MTAR Technologies nearly doubled their investment on the company's market debut on Monday.

The company, which develops and manufactures precision components and critical assemblies for clean energy, nuclear, space and defence sectors, has raised Rs 597 crore in the public issue between March 3 and March 5.

MTAR shares listed at 82 per cent premium at Rs 1,063.90 on the BSE and at Rs 1,050 on the NSE against the public issue price of Rs 575. Later the share price rose further to more than double to Rs 1,154 in the intra-day trade, as there is no upper circuit filter applied on the debut day on any listing of shares through the initial public offering.

Finally, MTAR shares closed at Rs 1,082.25 on the BSE and at Rs 1,078.30 on the NSE, registering a gain of 88.22 per cent.

Market trims losses
after sinking 1000 ptsRAVI RANJAN PRASAD
MUMBAI, MARCH 15

The Sensex recovered from early blows partially after suffering close to 1000-points loss intra-day on poor domestic macro-economic data, surge in US bond yields and a sharp rise in Covid-19 cases in India.

The Sensex fell 993 points, drowning below the 50000 level to the day's low of 49,799.07, but later positive global cues from Asia and Europe helped in a pullback that helped the benchmark index to finally settle at 50,395.08, down by 397 points, or 0.78 per cent.

The Nifty-50 closed at 14,929.50, down by 101.45 points, or 0.67 per cent.

"Market was impacted adversely after February headline CPI inflation rose around 100 basis points to 5.03 per cent led by unfavourable base effect, higher vegetable prices, higher energy and transportation prices and increase in core goods inflation," said Emkay Global Financial Services.

"Also the Index of Industrial Production lost momentum after rising for the previous two months, and in January 2021 contracted 1.6 per cent, dragged down by poor manufacturing activity and muted consumer demand."

Before the US Federal Reserve's Federal Open

Market Committee's scheduled meeting on March 16 and 17, the 10-year US treasury yield still ruled above 1.6 per cent, making equity investors cautious.

Both foreign portfolio investors and domestic institutions were net sellers of equities worth Rs 1,101.35 crore and Rs 749.71 crore, respectively.

"We saw selling pressure right from the word go and Nifty corrected sharply to breach 14,750 level during the day. The banking index was reeling under pressure and it seemed that bears have complete control today. However, the index started recovering gradually in the last couple of hours and managed to trim much of the intra-day losses and end well above 14,900," Ruchit Jain, senior analyst-technical and derivatives, Angel Broking said.

North used Roman Key Card Blackwood. South showed four key cards (here, three aces and the spade king), and North signed off in six spades. This contract should go down if West leads the club ace or either singleton six! At this table, South took the second trick with the club king, drew trumps ending in hand and led the heart six. Now you would expect West to have split his honors, playing the jack or the queen. Then, sooner or later he would have taken the setting trick with his other heart honor. We are lacking in imagination. West covered the heart six with his seven, and declarer played the two from the board! So the heart seven won the trick — down one!

Police hunt for Angel's robbers

Paris: French prosecutors have launched an investigation into a robbery at the home of Angel Di Maria after thieves broke in while the Argentina winger was playing for Paris Saint-Germain.

Nanterre prosecutor's office secretary general Marion Chalaux told The Associated Press on Monday that the investigation is being handled by a special police unit dealing with armed robberies and serious burglaries.

The unit was already in charge of inquiries into similar cases linked to PSG players Mauro Icardi and Sergio Rico, whose houses were also burgled during matches this year.

Chalaux said intruders managed to sneak into Di Maria's home in the posh Parisian suburb of Neuilly-sur-Seine on Sunday without being noticed.

According to L'Equipe, the thieves took watches and jewelry from a safe for an estimated loss of more than 500,000 euros ($597,000). — AP

No fans at Oly torch relay start

Tokyo: Spectators will be barred from the start of the Tokyo Olympics torch relay, organisers said on Monday, announcing a pared-back launch as the countdown to the postponed Games begins in earnest.

Fans were told to stay away from next week's "simplified" starting ceremony and first leg of the nationwide relay, which was put on hold a year ago when the Olympics were delayed over the coronavirus.

"The grand start ceremony and the first section of the Fukushima torch relay... Will not be open to the public," organisers said in a statement, adding that the festivities would be broadcast live online.

The announcement comes ahead of a decision on whether fans from overseas will be allowed to enter Japan for the postponed Games, expected to be taken before the torch relay begins on March 25. — AFP

Kohli & Co. look to take lead against England in 3rd T20

Ahmedabad, March 15: Their confidence soaring high after a resounding series-levelling win, India would look to build on their new approach of batting freely and fearlessly when they take on England in the third Twenty20, here on Tuesday.

The Men in Blue were off to a horrible start in the T20 series, suffering a demoralising eight-wicket loss in the opening match but turned the tables on England with a seven-wicket win in the second game.

In stark contrast from the first match, Virat Kohli and his men excelled in all departments.

The inclusion of Ishan Kishan, who made a sparkling debut with a 32-ball 56, allowed India to go ahead with their new approach that encourages batsmen to express themselves.

Despite losing K.L. Rahul in first over with no runs on the board, the 22-year-old attacked from the word go, smashing Jofra Archer for a boundary in the very first ball he faced.

The hosts will also gain confidence from Kohli's unbeaten innings in the previous game as he took the side past the finish line, breaking a sequence of low scores.

The skipper did not have the best of times in the preceding Test series and also got out cheaply in the first T20. Both Kohli and Shreyas Iyer will target big scores.

The bowling department, which didn't have runs to defend in the opener, did a fabulous job to restrict England to 164. The biggest positive would be Hardik Pandya bowling four overs which allowed the hosts to go with an extra batsman.

The bowlers will look to replicate their good show from the last match where they found their rhythm.

What India would aspire to is a better effort from Rishabh Pant, who has been promoted to number four ahead of Iyer. The big-hitting wicket-keeper has looked lethal in both outings but failed to capitalise on his starts.

India are unlikely to tinker with the winning combination save the return of star white-ball opener Rohit Sharma who is expected to be back in the side after being rested for a couple of games.

With Kishan faring well, Rahul, who looked out of sorts in both the outings, is expected to make way for Rohit.

The primary objective for India remains the same — to get an idea of the core group of players going into the ICC T20 World Cup in October.

England attack looked less threatening in the absence of Mark Wood, who missed the second T20 due to a bruised heel. However, skipper Eoin Morgan confirmed that the pacer will return in the next game. — PTI

IPL stint made Kishan fearless

Ahmedabad, March 15: Young batsman Ishan Kishan says having faced the best pacers from across the world during the IPL had given him the confidence to play fearlessly against England on his India debut.

Kishan's blistering 56-run knock at the top laid the platform for India's comfortable and successful chase in the second Twenty20 on Sunday night.

The 22-year-old left-hander acknowledged the contribution, the IPL stint has made in his growth as a batsman.

"It obviously helped (to face the likes of Mumbai Indians teammates Trent Boult and Jasprit Bumrah) in the nets. They are very pacy bowlers and to hit shots against them gives confidence," Kishan said at the post-match virtual press conference.

"In IPL you get to face quality bowlers from across the world and you start getting used to these bowlers. And I think that really helped me."

Kishan also said that the team management had backed him to play his natural game without feeling the pressure.

"Before the match I was told to go and open the innings and play freely the way I play in IPL. I was told not to take extra pressure. But it being my first game I was little nervous while going at the ground."

"But when you wear the jersey of your country that pressure simply goes away and you try to give your best."

The debutant was in awe of Virat Kohli during their 94-run stand and hopes to pick the brain of India skipper

REMAINING T20s TO BE PLAYED WITHOUT SPECTATORS

Ahmedabad, March 15: The remaining three T20 International matches between India and England will be played here without spectators in the wake of rising COVID-19 cases, Gujarat Cricket Association vice-president Dhanraj Nathwani said on Monday.

"T20s on March 16, 18 and 20 will be played without audience at Narendra Modi Stadium in Ahmedabad. Refund will be given to the spectators who have purchased tickets," Nathwani said in a statement.

"Due to rise in the number of Corona cases, we at GCA have decided in consultation with BCCI, the matches will be played closed door and not allow the spectators in the ground during T20 Internationals to be played between India and England at Ahmedabad."

He said the GCA will form policy for refund of money to the spectators who have already purchased tickets for these three T20Is. "Those who have received complimentary tickets are requested not to visit the stadium," he added.

The first two games at the world's largest cricket stadium had attracted more than 60,000 spectators, raising questions over the safety of the fans amid the pandemic. Crowds had returned for international cricket matches in India during the preceding Test series barring the opening game which was played behind closed doors.

Kolkata, March 15: The brave-hearted Madhya Pradesh junior archers "achieved the impossible" by winning four medals in the Nationals Championships after miraculously escaping the Shatabdi Express train inferno on their way to Dehradun, their head coach said on Monday.

With less than an hour to reach Dehradun on Saturday, the eight-member recurve men's and women's team experienced the horror of being chased by black thick smoke and fire as they jumped to safety to the adjacent bogey. But they lost all their belongings, right from their equipment to original documents including Aadhaar Card and birth certificates after their coach C5 was charred near Kansrao.

India exposed our weakness: Eoin

Ahmedabad, March 15: India have exposed England's "weakness" in handling slow conditions but competing here will only prepare them well for the Twenty20 World Cup, feels skipper Eoin Morgan.

India drubbed England by seven wickets in the second T20 to level the five-match series 1-1 on Sunday night.

Morgan admitted they struggled to get used to the slow surface used for the second match.

"I suppose the difference was in the wicket we played and how we adapted. It was different wicket from the one we batted in the first game. The pitch was slow and low and one thing that does expose our weakness on these surfaces a little bit," said Morgan at the post-match virtual media interaction on Sunday night.

"We don't play a lot on slow, low wickets and the more that we can do that, the better. You only become better in these conditions by playing in them and making mistakes."

The English skipper, however, said playing in such tough conditions ahead of the ICC World T20 later this year in India, will only help England captain Eoin Morgan in action during the second Twenty20 against India at the Narendra Modi Stadium in Ahmedabad on Sunday.

them. "I thought the other night, the pitch really suited us because it had more pace in it — similar to a wicket at home, a Cardiff wicket or somewhere like that, that was a little bit uneven and maybe stood up a little bit.

"But this took us out of our comfort zone and really was a typical Indian wicket that we would play on in an IPL game. Again, your accuracy has to be on," Morgan said.

"You tend to learn quicker if you're winning and confident and everything goes reasonably smoothly — you can integrate the learning quite quickly — but equally, if we have to learn the hard way, we're still going through that process of trying to learn game-on-game so when it comes to the World Cup in seven months' time, we can be as best prepared."

Morgan said England were below-par in all departments of the game on Sunday, compared to their eight-wicket win in the series opener.

"We did a lot of the structure of our innings really well. I thought we were right in the game, we established partnerships and got to the point where we tried to accelerate but managed to lose wickets at different stages," he said.

"I thought we could have been a bit more accurate in the lines and lengths that we bowled. When we went back to the basics of taking pace off the ball, we didn't do that well enough.

"Your accuracy has to be on as you are bowling to guys on their home patch so the bowlers are up against it. India managed to get away from us quite quickly."
