PROMOTION OF DURGA TEMPLE EO CANCELLED

DC CORRESPONDENT VIJAYAWADA, APRIL 8

In a fresh development, the state government on Thursday cancelled the promotion and transfer orders of former Durga temple executive officer M.V. Suresh Babu and directed him to report before the government for further posting orders.

Earlier on Wednesday, Suresh Babu was promoted as regional joint commissioner and posted at Rajahmundry. This drew all-round criticism on the grounds that Suresh Babu 'was involved in corruption and irregularities in the temple'.

Leaders from Jana Sena and other parties recalling ACB report recommendation of taking disciplinary action against Suresh Babu had objected to his promotion. They recalled that vigilance and ACB officials several times conducted checks in the temple and found Suresh Babu guilty of large-scale irregularities. He deserves punishment not promotion, they said.

Principal secretary Dr G. Vani Mohan issued GORT 208 cancelling the promotion and posting orders and directing Suresh Babu to report before the government for further action.

V. Trinadiah Rao joint commissioner and executive officer Veera Venkata Satyanarayana Swamy temple Annaram is kept in full additional charge.

TD contestants back YSRC men in MPTC/ZPTC polls

Naidu's decision to boycott polls proves disastrous for TD

DC CORRESPONDENT KAKINADA, APRIL 8

The decision of the Telugu Desam chief N. Chandrababu Naidu is proving to be disastrous at the ground level as some of the party's candidates contesting for MPTC posts are indirectly supported the YSRC. They did not even come to the polling booths.

The TD cadre at the ground level is disgusted and wonders how they can seek votes when the TD leadership has boycotted the elections.

In a village at Rajanagaram mandal, TD MPTC candidate was lured by YSRC leaders and the candidate did not appear on Thursday.

The enraged TD leaders and cadre are suggesting that the voters opt for 'NOTA' "(None of the Above). They stated wrongly that if the NOTA votes exceed a stipulated limit, there may have to be re-election.

That is not true: The EC says: "even if, in any extreme case, the number of votes against NOTA is more than the number of votes secured by the candidates, the candidate who secures the largest number of votes among the contesting candidates shall be declared to be elected..."

Meanwhile, it is learnt that some sarpanches, who won with support from the TD are approaching YSRC leaders stating that they would join the ruling party if they meet the election expenses.

"Many of TD sarpanches may quit the party and join YSRC on the pretext of development of the village. They will meet their respective MLAs. But, Naidu's decision has disappointed the cadre badly and we are not able to convince the cadre and the voters," said a TD leader in Rajanagaram constituency.

Already, one sarpanch and party cadre in five villages of Jaggampeta constituency from where Jyothula Venkata Appa Rao (Nehru) resigned from the party vice-president post, quit Telugu Desam membership against the decision to boycott ZPTC and MPTC elections.

People stand in a large queue to cast their vote during the Zilla Parishad elections at Sri Ramapuram High School near Pendurthi in Visakhapatnam district on Thursday.

In Nellore district, a BJP supporter dumped a ballot box in a water tub at Ponugodu village of Anuma Samudram Peta mandal falling under Atmakur assembly segment following a row with the ruling party agents over helping the aged people to reach polling station to cast their votes.

District collector K.V.N. Chakradhar Babu announced the repoll in the village on Friday. Tellagunta villagers of Bogole mandal boycotted the polling to express their protest over not providing drinking water facilities in the village.

In Prakasam district, the car of Darsi MLA Maddisetty Venugopal's brother Ravindra was damaged as he went to Sivaramapuram village in Tallur mandal to see the polling trend.

ink on ballot papers at the 32nd polling station in the village.

In East Godavari, polling was stopped for some time at a polling station located Sakurru village in Amalapuram as the 'Glass' symbol of Jana Sena party was not printed on the ballot paper. The problem was rectified and the polling was continued.

A retired woman teacher N r i s i m h a d e v a r a Simbachalam died while waiting for an auto rickshaw to reach a polling station to cast her vote at Katrenikona.

Police booked a case against a voter Kasi Venkata Ramana for taking a selfie with the ballot paper at a polling station at Pallamkurru village in Katrenikona mandal. The election authorities declared his vote as invalid.

In Vizianagaram district, polling was stopped in three stations in Anti Peta polling centre in Seethanagaram mandal as the voters found the name of YSRC dummy nominee Senapati Lakshmi in the ballot paper for MPTC polls though the official nominee was Senapati Nirmala. A repoll is likely to be held on Friday.

In Kurnool, two groups of voters entered into heated arguments at Devanakonda as some of them tried to resort to cross-voting. Police rushed to the spot and restored normalcy.

In Kadapa, at Utpativaripalle of Badvel mandal, YSR Congress supporters acted as agents at a polling station instead of TD activists, forcing the TD nominee Sirisha Reddy and the party agents to stage a protest.

TD agents alleged that the signatures on the forms were not theirs.

In Rajuvaripeta of Chhapadu mandal, YSRC activists did not allow a TD agent to sit in the polling station. MPTC nominee Rajeshwari tried to disrupt the polling, forcing the police to take her into custody.

In Guntur, TD activists from Gonepudi and Palapadu villages staged a protest in front of Narasaraopeta sub-collector's office, alleging that their polling agents were not being allowed to enter the polling stations by the YSRC leaders with the support from CI Krishnaiah.

The villagers from both the villages demanded a repoll and sought suspension of the CI. They alleged rigging of votes by YSRC leaders and submitted a representation to the officials.

Mobile polling booths for special category voters

DC CORRESPONDENT NELLORE, APRIL 8

Mobile polling booths are being arranged for the first time in AP to enable 508 voters aged above 80 years and 234 differently-abled persons to exercise their franchise at their homes using postal ballot during ensuing bypoll to the Tirupati Lok Sabha seat.

As many as 25 teams consisting of a presiding officer, assistant presiding officer, a police constable, micro-observer and a videographer are formed and each team should cover 50 voters. They should visit the homes of the aged and disabled and conduct the poll after offering ballot papers.

Returning officer to the byelection and Nellore district collector K.V.N. Chakradhar Babu revealed this while sharing the information about elaborate arrangements being made to ensure a free and fair poll for the LS seat of Tirupati, the abode of Lord Venkateswara.

He said they have already mailed 497 postal ballots to service voters' email addresses (voters from Tirupati LS segment working in defence forces) in a secured Electronically Transmitted Postal Ballot System (ETPBS) where only the receiver can open the mail.

They should take a printout of the ballot paper to vote and send the ballot paper along with a certificate of the commanding officer through the post and ensure that it reaches the Returning Officer latest by May 1, as the counting of votes is scheduled for May 2.

Chakradhar Babu said a massive Covid vaccination programme is being taken up under joint collector N. Prabhakar Reddy's supervision to provide the jabs to 20,000 people being drafted for the byelection duties.

He said they would use two ballot units as there are 28 candidates in the fray apart from NOTA while reminding them that the limit is only 16 names in each ballot unit.

The new addition to the ballot unit is photos of the candidates apart from the party symbol.

According to Chakradhar Babu, web-casting is being arranged in 50 per cent of the 2,470 polling stations, including sensitive and hypersensitive locations for close monitoring of the poll process.

In addition to this, 1500 micro-observers, 265 sector officer, 37 flying squads with three members in each team, 52 static surveillance teams with four members in each team, 18 video surveillance teams and eight video viewing teams are being deployed to ensure a free and fair poll, the collector noted.

MAJORITY IN FAVOUR OF ADOPTING BYLAWS

The Bar Association election was held in 2019-2020 and its tenure ended by March 31 last year. Due to the prevalence of Covid-19, no fresh election was held. Bar association secretary P. Raman called a general body meeting at 4 pm on Thursday.

As the meeting was in progress and the majority of the members were in favour of adopting the bylaws and holding of polls, a section of the advocates wanted to defer the exercise so as to avoid the polls.

As per norms, unless the association adopts the model bylaws, its members are not eligible to avail a series of welfare scheme benefits like death-related assistance. The majority of the members are learnt to be keen on adopting the model bylaws.

Bar council member Ajay Kumar was in favour of adopting the model bylaws and was targeted by those who opposed it. He was given the first aid. The meeting was held at the high court advocates canteen premises. The advocates in favour of adoption of common bylaws staged a protest and condemned the assault on Kumar.

Naidu starts campaign from Srikalahasti town

DC CORRESPONDENT TIRUPATI, APRIL 8

Accusing the YSR Congress-led state government of "destroying development" in AP, former chief minister Nara Chandrababu Naidu alleged that the ruling party had turned AP into a hub of violence by suppressing the voices of Opposition leaders using oppressive methods whenever they protest against the government's "anti-people activities".

The TD supremo on Thursday started the party's poll campaign for the Tirupati Lok Sabha byelections from Srikalahasti town in support of former Union minister Panabaka Lakshmi, the party candidate. He participated in a road show and a door-to-door campaign from Super Bazaar Centre to Pellivari Mandapam in the town, where he addressed a public gathering.

He alleged that false cases were foisted on TD workers who fought for justice when the idols of Subramanya Swamy were destroyed in Kuppam. He said he would not be afraid of such false cases. He pointed out that it has been two years since YSRC Y.S. Vivekananda Reddy was murdered but the police had made no headway in the case.

Picking holes in the new liquor policy of the government, Naidu said due to the increase in prices, the sale of illicit liquor was on the rise. He flayed the Amma Vodi scheme: "Jagan gave ₹14,000 through Anganwadi and exorted ₹36,000 from Nana buddi (liquor bottle)."

The TD chief also accused the YSRC leaders of indulging in illegal transport of sand to Hyderabad and Bengaluru.

LOKESH DARES JAGAN TO TAKE OATH BEFORE BALAJI ON VIVEKA MURDER

DC CORRESPONDENT NELLORE, APRIL 8

TD national general-secretary Nara Lokesh dared Chief Minister Y.S. Jagan Mohan Reddy to take an oath before Lord Venkateswara that he and his family members got nothing to do with the murder of Y.S. Vivekananda Reddy. He added that he was ready to take a similar oath in the name of Lord of Seven Hills.

During an election campaign for Panabaka Lakshmi, TD nominee for Tirupati Lok Sabha seat, in Venkatagiri on Thursday, Lokesh said Jagan could take the oath during his forthcoming visit to Tirupati on April 14. "People of the state should know who killed Babai (uncle) I am ready for the oath. Are you ready?" the TD leader questioned Jagan.

Alleging that a YSR Congress MP was behind the murder of Vivekananda Reddy, he said that an MP destroyed banana gardens by setting fire, and it is a hobby for some MPs of the ruling party to commit atrocities.

CM urges Centre to provide more vaccines

Earlier, the Chief Minister urged the Union government to facilitate quick supply of more doses of Covid-19 vaccine to Andhra Pradesh as the existing stocks will exhaust soon.

At present, the State machinery is vaccinating 1.4 lakh every day.

At the meeting that discussed Covid control measures and the Nadu-Nedu in the health department, the Chief Minister said all those aged above 45 have to be vaccinated in the next 30 days. He directed the authorities to take up the vaccination drive in rural areas too with same vigour.

The Chief Minister asked officials to take stern action against private hospitals fleecing the public in the name of Covid treatment. "Implement price fixation for the treatment and have strict supervision over the private hospitals," he told the officials.

Jagan Mohan Reddy said the officials must focus on the three-pronged strategy of tracing, testing and treatment to check the pandemic's spread.

"Take action on those who are not wearing masks. Any infected person calling 104 for assistance should be provided with the necessary information."

mation, the bed status etc, and assist him/her with medical help.

He said sanitation, doctors, paramedics, oxygen as well as medicines should be made available along with infrastructure facilities in every hospital.

The officials said 66 Covid-19 hospitals and 22 Covid-care centres are functional in the state. Besides these, over four lakh home isolation medicine kits were made available.

The Chief Minister said giving weightage in recruitments to those who worked during the Covid-19 spread season would be an encouraging gesture.

Plea in HC to set aside 2 GOs

Vijayawada: Anantapur-based advocate S.R. Anjaneyulu filed a public interest litigation in the AP High Court with a plea to set aside two government orders issued sur-rendering 18 posts in the department of prisons stating that it was illegal and arbitrary.

The advocate in his petition maintained that the move was against the Articles 21 and 22 of the Constitution of India and violation of High Court judgement issued earlier and also against the AP Prison Rules, 1979.

The advocate made a plea to direct the state government to take necessary steps for maintaining adequate staff in department of home (prisons and fire) for receiving into the jails and releasing from the jails without any delay irrespective of working hours as per orders of the HC issued earlier.

PARIPOORNANANDA | OBJECTIONS

DC CORRESPONDENT TIRUPATI, APRIL 8

Sri Peetham seer Swami Paripoornananda on Thursday took strong exception to honorary chief priest of Tirumala temple Dr A.V. Ramana Deekshitulu reportedly describing AP CM Y.S. Jagan Mohan Reddy as an incarnation of Lord Vishnu.

Speaking to media persons at the BJP office in Tirupati on Thursday, the seer noted that 'raja yoga' comes only with the grace of Lord Vishnu and the king himself should not be compared to Lord Vishnu. "Do YSRC functionaries worship Jagan as they do Lord Venkateswara," he asked.

"We have seen what happened to many politicians who were compared with Lord Venkateswara," the seer said, while suggesting that the YSRC chief and his party men to condemn Dr Deekshitulu's comments as there are chances that those comments may turn against them.

He posed three questions to the Chief Minister, who will be arriving in Tirupati for the byelection campaign: "Why was the TTD not brought under the purview of the Right to Information Act? Why didn't the government direct the TTD to release a White Paper on the assets, jewels, income and expenditures (for the past 20 years) of the Tirumala temple? Why is the Chief Minister, who pledged to give equal freedom to every religion, negligent in the matter of Hinduism." Taking a dig at Dr Deekshitulu, Swami Paripoornananda said it was not a good tradition to re-employ a person, who made a startling allegations against the world-renowned Tirumala temple and its administration.

When asked about the special category status and Vizag Steel Plant privatisation issues, the seer replied that former chief minister N. Chandrababu Naidu and Jagan Mohan Reddy are the only two persons who have to answer on these two issues.

He said the answer would come if both of them debated the matter in public.

The seer also alleged that the YSRC leaders were resorting to attacks on BJP leaders in many areas across the state.

2nd century Ganesh idol discovered in Madakasira

Idol was picked up from agri. fields near Pothugundudinne

DC CORRESPONDENT
ANANTAPUR, APRIL 8

A terracotta Ganesha sculpture of the Satavahana period of Second Century AD was discovered at Neelakantapuram village in Madakasira mandal on Thursday.

The sculpture surfaced following a study by a team of experts and at the initiative of former minister and APCC president N. Raghuvendra Reddy, a native of Neelakantapuram village. Dr E. Siva Nagireddy, archaeologist and CEO of the Cultural Centre of Vijayawada and Amaravati.

While Dr Nagireddy and his team were conducting a thorough exploration in and around the village, to compile the history of the village in the view of recent study and identification of ancient idols and Iron Age material in the area a few days ago.

The Ganesha idol was picked up from the agricultural fields of former minister N. Raghuvendra Reddy, located near the Pothugundudinne with the help of local farmer Srinivas.

Dr Nagireddy, after a thorough examination of the find, which measured 6x4x1.5 cm, revealed that the Lord Ganesha image was created by a potter well-versed in iconography and it is seated in lalitasana flexible posture. According to Dr Nagireddy, the idol was in a Sthathi, and added that the head of the god is elephantine in shape without any head gear and with only two hands, a feature of the Satavahana times of the Second Century. The trunk is clearly seen turned towards the right side, another unique feature of such an early date, Reddy told DC.

These features prompted him to identify it as a Ganesha figure whose ears, hands and legs are broken due to constant tilling of land. Based on the iconography, the style of art and delineation, Dr Nagireddy dates it to the 2nd century AD.

He said this becomes one of the earliest Ganesha images in South India, as a similar terracotta Ganesa databble to the same period (2nd Century AD) from Veerapuram in Kurnool district was reported by the Birla Archaeological and Cultural Research institute in the early 1980s.

Dr R.H. Kulkarni, art historian, College of Fine Arts, Karnataka Chitrakalaparisad, Bengaluru, has also confirmed that it is an image of Ganesa, created during the time when the Brahmanical images were taking the perfect forms.

He cited a reference in Gathasaptasati compiled by Hala, the Satavahana Emperor. Dr Reddy also picked up polished red ware. Red slipped ware and black and red wares of the Satavahana times associated the finds to the terracotta Ganesha image.

CM asks report on deaths due to taint
water in KurnoolD. SIVA RAMI REDDY | DC
KURNOOL, APRIL 8

Chief Minister Y.S. Jagan Mohan Reddy sought a detailed report on the water contamination deaths in Kurnool district as four people died and scores of people in Adoni and Gorakallu are undergoing treatment.

He asked health minister A. Kalikrishna Srinivas (Alla Nani) to visit the gastroenteritis-affected places in the district on Friday.

The situation goof-up has drawn flak from the Chief Minister and a few heads may roll, according to sources.

Adoni MLA Y Sai Prasad Reddy said at present the situation in Adoni is under control and they have been monitoring the situation. The number of water contamination victims continues to rise in Adoni as 83 persons, mostly women and children, are undergoing treatment.

Adoni municipality is accused of supplying contaminated water from Ramjal point while the municipal commissioner said proposals for laying new pipelines are underway.

Adoni municipality, which is one of the oldest municipalities in Andhra Pradesh, does not have basic civic infrastructure. There is no sewage treatment plant in the town. The generated sewage is getting discharged to the nearby open areas and to water bodies untreated. There is no systematic method to collect and treat waste from septic tanks.

Municipal commissioner RG Krishna said the city does not have a sewage treatment plant. Only one plant on Yemmiganur road is being used for segregating wet and dry garbage. On the condition of water pipelines and some of them mixing with sewerage, he said "We are now replacing the old pipeline step by step in the town". He also confirmed that water from Ramjala lake, a local irrigation water resource that caused contamination has been stopped and now water is being drawn from the Basapuram summer storage tank. He said that since repair work was underway at Basapuram SS tank they shifted to Ramjala and supplied water from there till Wednesday.

Ramjala water point is full of bacteria and algae. Having turned green, it looks like herbal and not mineral water, said Ajamullah, a resident of Adoni. Rusted pipelines, haphazard cleaning of overhead tanks and infrequent chlorination were causing health problems," he said. Krishnamurthy, a retired engineer said that in Adoni town, there is no organized method to collect and treat waste from septic tanks.

SHIFT OFFICES TO ASSAM: ULFA (I) TO THE TEA COMPANY

MANOJ ANAND | DC
GUWAHATI, APRIL 8

After releasing two abducted employees of an oil company, the outlawed United Liberation Front of Asom (Independence) on Thursday served a warning to a leading tea company demanding immediate relocation of all its administrative offices to Assam and recruitment of indigenous people of the state, failing which the outfit will prevent them from doing business in Assam.

The Ulfa (I) has served this notice to Amalgamated Plantations Pvt Ltd. The Amalgamated Plantations Pvt. Ltd (APPL) was carved out of the erstwhile Tata Tea Ltd (now Tata Global Beverages Ltd, or TGBL) 10 years ago to run tea estates in West Bengal and Assam.

The notice signed by Ulfa(I) Publicity Department member self-style Capt. Rumel Asom stated, "The United Liberation Front of Asom (Independent) has taken note of ... management of the tea estates in Assam under your ownership. We appreciate that you are in the business of making profit and to that end you must devise your corporate planning. However, you have heavy responsibilities to the land and her people. You have your head office outside Assam where no indigenous personnel from Assam is in employment. The liaison office is also not in Assam."

The APPL head office is in Kolkata and its corporate office in Guwahati. Centre playing politics over jabs: Min.

Several states complained to the centre about vaccine shortage, had to shut down centres

Kejriwal seeks vaccine for all

DC CORRESPONDENT
NEW DELHI, APRIL 8

Delhi health minister Satyendar Jain on Thursday said the national capital's Covid-19 vaccine stock will last for the next four to five days.

"The vaccination drive is going well in Delhi. We received some vaccines yesterday. We have stock for four to five days. We have demanded more and we will get it," he said. When asked about the ministry of health and family welfare letter to Punjab, Delhi and Maharashtra, asking them to undertake necessary corrective actions immediately for improving the Covid 19 vaccination drives in their state/UT, Jain said the Centre is doing politics over vaccination.

"Centre is doing politics over vaccination. We should fight the Covid pandemic together. The Centre was alleging that there was less vaccination of healthcare workers in Delhi. We can also say that there was less vaccination at Centre's hospitals. This isn't an issue, the issue is that we have to vaccinate more and more people soon," he said.

Jain further said that out of the total vaccination done in Delhi, "only 30 per cent to 40 per cent was done in the central government's hospitals".

He also informed that Delhi Chief Minister Arvind Kejriwal has written to the central government urging to open vaccination for all. "We have made two more requests that vaccination should be allowed at least for all adults. Secondly it should be allowed even at camp settings and not only at healthcare facilities," he added.

In view of the rising Covid-19 cases, the Delhi government has imposed a night curfew in the national capital.

Delhi reported 5,506 new Coronavirus cases and 20 deaths on Wednesday.

The national capital has 19,455 active cases currently.

Weekend lockdown in MP urban areas

BHOPAL, APRIL 8

Amid surge in Coronavirus cases in Madhya Pradesh Chief Minister Shivraj Singh Chouhan on Thursday announced to impose weekend lockdown in urban areas in the state. The weekend total shutdown will be enforced from 6 pm on Friday to 6 am on Monday in all the towns in the state, Chouhan said.

He said the state government was in the process of setting up containment zones in major cities which witnessed sudden spurt in coronavirus cases in the last few days.

Chouhan said the state government has initiated the move to increase beds in the government hospitals for the patients, besides establishing Covid-19 care Centres in each district.

The state on Thursday reported 4,324 fresh cases of Coronavirus taking the tally of cases to 3,22,338 and recorded 27 deaths taking the toll tally to 4,113.

TN imposes more restrictions

DC CORRESPONDENT
CHENNAI, APRIL 8

A total ban on religious festivals (thiruvizhas) and congregations and closure of fruit and vegetable retail outlets in the Koyambedu market and other wholesale markets in the state are among the new restrictions brought in to the lockdown that is in force with relaxations till April 30 with a view to combat the spread of Coronavirus. The new set of restrictions will come into force on Saturday, a government order said on Thursday.

As per the GO, marriage-related gatherings should not exceed 100 guests and funerals and last rites should limit the number of mourners to 50. All religious places and places of worship should be closed by 8 pm and strictly adhere to the standard operating procedures (SOPs), put out on August 31, 2020.

Public transport buses in the city, within the state and to neighbouring states of Puducherry, Karnataka and Andhra Pradesh will be allowed to carry sitting passengers alone and not permit anyone to stand during the journey.

All commercial establishments, including malls, restaurants, food courts and tea shops can be kept open only till 11 pm and allow customers in only to 50 per cent of the capacity.

Recreational clubs, cinemas, entertainment and amusement parks, auditoriums, assembly halls, zoological parks, museums and such places should restrict entry of people to 50 per cent of the capacity and follow SOPs.

corrections will be done soon. We are still waiting. We want 1.6 crore vaccine doses per month and 40 lakh every week because we are vaccinating six lakh people every day... I have just been informed the Centre increased the Covid-19 vaccine doses from seven lakh to 17 lakhs. Even this is less because we need 40 lakh vaccine doses a week, and 17 lakh doses are not enough," said Tope. He alleged that BJP-governed states like Gujarat, that has a population of six crores, has got one crore vaccine doses.

"Maharashtra's population is double than Gujarat, but we got only 1.4 crore vaccine doses. Why this step-motherly treatment to Maharashtra during this time of crisis?" he said. He further gave data of vaccine distribution, which said Maharashtra got 7.50 lakh doses, Uttar Pradesh 48 lakhs, Madhya Pradesh 40 lakhs, Gujarat 30 lakhs and Haryana 24 lakh doses.

India on Thursday recorded 1,31,787 fresh cases of Covid-19 and 802 deaths. Kerala Chief Minister Pinarayi Vijayan tested positive for Covid-19. Incidentally, he had taken the first dose of the vaccine on March 3.

ABHISHEK: TAKE MONEY FROM BJP, VOTE FOR TMC

Kumargram/Tufanganj (WB) April 8: Alleging that the BJP was distributing cash to purchase votes, TMC MP Abhishek Banerjee on Thursday asked people to exercise their franchise in favour of his party, after having taken the money being offered by the saffron camp.

Insisting that people should bargain for more, he urged voters to ask for ₹5,000 if offered ₹500. "Take money from lotus (BJP symbol) and vote for the twin flowers (TMC symbol). If they can do cheat you, why won't you do the same?" Banerjee stated at a public meeting at Kumargram in Alipurduar district.

Speaking at another rally at Cooch Behar's Tufanganj, he said that people have to decide whether they want leaders from outside or their "daughter" Mamata Banerjee. — PTI

Violence in parts of Kannur after death of youth worker

GILVESTER ASSARY | DC
THIRUVANANTHAPURAM, APRIL 8

A day after Muslim League youth wing member died in post poll violence, parts of Kannur district particularly Koothuparamba and Panur areas witnessed widespread violence.

After the death of 22-year-old Mansoor, the area became tense. Widespread violence took place during the funeral procession of the youth league worker on Wednesday night.

Half a dozen offices of the CPM local and branch committees were set on fire and vandalised allegedly by youth league workers.

The police had to resort to lathicharge and hurl stun grenades to disperse the violent mobs. The houses of some of the accused in the case were also attacked.

The remand report prepared by the police stated that the Manzoor's death was a planned murder. It said a 25-member gang was behind the brutal incident.

Soon after the voting ended in the state on Tuesday night, clashes broke out between CPM and IUML workers which resulted in the death of Mansoor.

His brother Muhsin who also sustained injuries in the attack is currently undergoing treatment at a hospital in Kozhikode. The clashes were sequel to the skirmishes, arguments and minor altercation in polling booths during the day.

According to Muhsin, the assailants numbering about 20, had inquired about their names before carrying out the attack.

A crude bomb was thrown at Mansoor and Muhsin. The injury caused due to the bomb blast led to the death of Mansoor, said the post mortem report.

A CPM worker was taken into custody soon after the incident. While the IUML alleged that the CPM was behind the murder, the Marxist leaders denied any role in the incident and maintained that it was not a political murder.

The violence took place in areas falling within the Koothuparamba assembly constituency where LDF ally Loktantrik Janata Dal is pitted against IUML. The BJP is also in the fray.

Mufti's mother to be questioned by ED

YUSUF JAMEEL | DC
SRINAGAR, APRIL 8

Days after former J&K chief minister and People's Democratic Party (PDP) president Mehbooba Mufti was grilled by Enforcement Directorate (ED) in an alleged money laundering case, her mother Gulshan Nazir has been asked to appear before its officials here next week for a similar cross-examine.

The sources close to the Muftis said that ED officials on Thursday visited their residence along Srinagar's Gupkar Road to serve a notice on Gulshan, asking her to appear before the probing agency at its office in city's Raj Bagh area on April 15.

The ED officials had on March 25 questioned Mufti for about five hours in connection with the alleged money laundering case.

On emerging from ED's regional office here, she had told reporters, "Whoever speaks up, ED, CBI and NIA are used against him/her. The nation is running not according to the Constitution of India but the agenda of a particular party".

Likening her questioning by ED with "criminalising of dissent by the government," Mufti had alleged that the BJP government at the Centre was working against the opposition and everyone else who does not agree with it through ED, CBI or NIA. She claimed that she was asked questions about selling of the ancestral property in Bijbehara (Anantnag district) and also about funds meant for engagement of youths and others spent during her tenure as CM.

SC dismisses Deshmukh's petition

PARMOD KUMAR | DC

NEW DELHI/MUMBAI, APRIL 8

In a setback to former Maharashtra home minister Anil Deshmukh, the Supreme Court on Thursday refused to interfere with the Bombay high court order allowing the CBI to conduct a preliminary inquiry into the allegations of corruption levelled against Deshmukh by former Mumbai police commissioner Param Bir Singh.

Dismissing the appeal filed by both the Maharashtra government and Deshmukh against the high court order, a bench comprising Justices Sanjay Kishan Kaul and Hemant Gupta said the nature of the allegations and the persons involved made an independent probe necessary. "The nature of allegations and personas involved needs an enquiry by an independent agency. It is a matter of public confidence. We are not inclined to entertain this. Dismissed", the court said, dismissing the two appeals.

The court order came as senior lawyer Kapil Sibal and Abhishek "Manu" Singhvi, representing Deshmukh and the Maharashtra government respectively, told the bench the high court passed the order without hearing Deshmukh, against whom the allegations of corruption had been levelled by the former Mumbai police commissioner.

When Singhvi noted that the high court didn't address the question of maintainability of the petitions before it, Justice Kaul said: "The allegations are extremely serious and it becomes curious and curious. In this scenario, is it not a CBI probe case?"

As Singhvi noted that the Maharashtra government has withdrawn the "general consent" for CBI probes in the state long back, saying the agency can investigate cases in Maharashtra only with the consent of the state government or on the orders of the high court or Supreme Court, Justice Kaul said: "He (Deshmukh) did not resign when the commission of inquiry was ordered... He was clinging to his office... You can't say it affects the federal structure. This does not happen every day. Both have been heads of institutions where something has gone wrong."

Sibal asked the court that if an allegation is made against a minister not supported by evidence, can a CBI probe be ordered?

In Mumbai, meanwhile, the Shiv Sena, which is part of the state's ruling coalition, claimed that the BJP was playing "dirty politics" to destabilise the Uddhav Thackeray government.

A day after suspended API Sachin Waze made serious allegations against the sitting Maha Vikas Aghadi ministers, the Shiv Sena came out in support of its ministers and defended the government, saying the Opposition was playing "dirty politics" to defame the Maharashtra government.

Shiv Sena Rajya Sabha member Sanjay Raut said efforts were being made by some people to destabilise the MVA government.

Waze had on Wednesday alleged in his four-page letter that senior Maharashtra Cabinet ministers, including transport minister Anil Parab, had asked him to extort money from businessmen and establishments.

3 militants killed, 3 soldiers hurt in J&K

DC CORRESPONDENT
SRINAGAR, APRIL 8

Three suspected militants have been killed and an equal number of security personnel injured in a fierce gunfight raging in a congested locality of Jammu and Kashmir's southern Shopian town since Thursday morning.

The police and Army sources said that fighting broke out after a joint team of J&K police's counterinsurgency Special Operations Group (SOG), the Army's 44 Rashtriya Rifles and the Central Reserve Police Force (CRPF) laid siege to Jan Mohalla of the Shopian town, about 50km from here, over night on learning about the presence of militants in a private house.

The officials said that the militants were offered to lay down their weapons and surrender before the security forces but they preferred to fight and their opening fire at the search party triggered the encounter.

They said that the identities of the slain militants are being ascertained. The injured Army jawans Ram Dev, Drug Singh and Raj Kumar have been hospitalised. The sources said that the condition of one of them is stated to be critical.

According to the officials, the fire fight continued till reports last came in. They said that the intelligence input suggests that a 'top' militant commander has been trapped in the besieged area.

LANKA ARRESTS 'MRS WORLD' OVER ASSAULT

Colombo: Colombo police on Thursday arrested the current "Mrs World" on charges of assault over an on-stage fracas in which she pulled the crown off the head of the new "Mrs Sri Lanka". Caroline Jurie yanked the crown off Pushpika de Silva minutes after she was declared "Mrs Sri Lanka 2020" in a Sunday gala at Colombo's Nelum Pokuna theatre.

Jurie was the previous year's "Mrs Sri Lanka" and had gone on to win the "Mrs World" competition organised by a California-based company. De Silva needed hospital treatment after the incident, seen by stunned spectators in a packed venue as well as a live social media audience.

"We have arrested Jurie and (her associate) Chula Manamendra in connection with a charge of assault and causing damage to Nelum Pokuna (theatre)," senior police official Ajith Rohana said.

TURKEY BLAMES EUROPEAN UNION FOR 'SOFAGATE'

Istanbul: Turkey on Thursday blamed Brussels for seating arrangements that left European Commission chief Ursula von der Leyen without a chair during a meeting with President Recep Tayyip Erdogan.

The Turkish leader came under a torrent of criticism after images went viral of his Tuesday meeting with von der Leyen and European Council president Charles Michel in Ankara.

The room where the three leaders were hosted had only two chairs arranged next to the corresponding EU and Turkish flags.

Erdogan and Michel quickly seated themselves while von der Leyen — whose diplomatic rank is the same as that of the two men — was left standing. "Ehm," she said as she spread her arms in wonder and looked directly at Michel and Erdogan.

UK OFFERS $59 MN TO HELP HK MIGRANTS

Hong Kong: The British government said Thursday it is setting up a 43 million pound ($59 million) fund to help migrants from Hong Kong settle in the country as they escape increasing political repression in the former colony.

The offer extends to holders of British National (Overseas) passports who have been offered special visas, opening a path to work, residency and eventual citizenship to up to 5 million of Hong Kong's 7.4 million people.

The integration program will provide funding to help arrivals access housing, education and jobs. Around 10 per cent of the funds will go toward establishing 12 "virtual welcome hubs" across Great Britain and Northern Ireland to "coordinate support and give practical advice and assistance," the British Consulate-General said.

CYCLONE SEROJA SET TO HIT AUSTRALIA

Sydney: Australian authorities on Thursday urged holidaymakers to evacuate a stretch of the country's western coastline in the path of a cyclone that has devastated parts of Indonesia and East Timor.

Tropical Cyclone Seroja is expected to hit Western Australia late Sunday or early Monday after tracking south.

It is forecast to bring "destructive winds with gusts of 150 kilometres per hour (93 miles per hour) and intense rainfall that could cause flash flooding" on parts of the coast, the Bureau of Meteorology said.

Emergency services warned holidaymakers — many camping or travelling in caravans — to leave ahead of forecast weekend storms that would be quickly followed by the cyclone. "If you remain in the area in a tent or caravan, you are at risk," said assistant commissioner Paul Ryan, adding that these structures were "highly dangerous" in wild weather.

Local residents were also urged to prepare emergency kits and ensure their homes were ready for the expected impact. The cyclone is forecast to make landfall in a relatively isolated part of Western Australia — a sprawling, sparsely populated state — as a category 2 or 3 system.

US may extend its troops stay in Afghanistan

Washington, April 8: Without coming right out and saying it, President Joe Biden seems ready to let lapse a May 1 deadline for completing a withdrawal of US troops from Afghanistan.

Orderly withdrawals take time, and Biden is running out of it.

Biden has inched so close to the deadline that his indecision amounts almost to a decision to put off, at least for a number of months, a pullout of the remaining 2,500 troops and continue supporting the Afghan military at the risk of a Taliban backlash.

Removing all of the troops and their equipment in the next three weeks — along with coalition partners who can't get out on their own — would be difficult logistically, as Biden himself suggested in late March. "It's going to be hard to meet the May 1 deadline," he said. "Just in terms of tactical reasons, it's hard to get those troops out."

Tellingly, he added, "And if we leave, we're going to do so in a safe and orderly way." James Stavidis, a retired Navy admiral who served as NATO's top commander from 2009 to 2013, says it would be unwise at this point to get out quickly.

"Sometimes not making a decision becomes a decision, which seems the case with the May 1 deadline," Stavidis said in an

U.S. RESUMES PALESTINE FUND CUT BY TRUMP

Washington, April 8: US President Joe Biden restored aid to the Palestinians to a tune of $235 million, drawing a rebuke by ally Israel, as he promised to press for a two-state solution.

In his sharpest break on the conflict yet from the staunchly pro-Israel Donald Trump, Biden said the United States would resume funding for the UN agency for Palestinian refugees that his predecessor had severed.

The State Department said the United States would contribute $150 million to the UN agency and offer $75 million in economic and development assistance for the West Bank and Gaza as well as $10 million for peacebuilding efforts.

NZ bans travel from India

Melbourne/Wellington, April 8: New Zealand has for the first time imposed a temporary ban on travellers coming from India, including its citizens, from April 11 to 28 due to a surge in Covid-19 cases among visitors to this country, Prime Minister Jacinda Ardern said on Thursday.

The travel restriction comes after New Zealand recorded 23 new positive Coronavirus cases in managed isolation on Thursday, of which 17 came from India. Director-General of Health Ashley Bloomfield was quoted as saying by media reports. While arrivals from India had triggered the risk assessment, Prime Minister Ardern said the government would be looking at risks posed by other Covid-19 hotspot countries.

The ban will begin from 4pm local time on April 11 and will be in place until April 28, she said. "This is not a permanent arrangement but rather a temporary measure," Ardern said, adding that the temporary hold would also help reduce the risk that travellers themselves faced.

The ban covers all travellers, including New Zealand citizens and permanent residents. While there have been previous travel bans on travellers from some countries, New Zealand has never suspended travel to New Zealand citizens and residents, Ardern said, adding that she "absolutely understands the difficulty that this temporary suspension will cause" for Kiwis in India.

"But I also feel a sense of responsibility and obligation to find ways to reduce risks that travellers are experiencing," she said.

Singapore PM-in-waiting bows out

Singapore, April 8: A prominent Singapore minister stepped aside on Thursday as the successor to the premier, in a shock move that upended the tightly-controlled country's carefully planned power transfer.

Finance minister Heng Swee Keat was in 2018 named to a key post in the ruling party that put him in pole position to take over when Singapore's founding family hands over the premiership. He was expected to replace Prime Minister Lee Hsien Loong, son of the late founding premier Lee Kuan Yew, who oversaw the country's rapid economic development during three decades of sometimes authoritarian rule.

The power transfer is highly sensitive, as the country of 5.7 million's transformation into one of the world's wealthiest and most stable societies is linked in many people's minds to the Lee family's rule. Heng was uncharismatic and, following his designation as Singapore's leader in waiting, the long-ruling People's Action Party saw its support fall in polls last year while the opposition made unprecedented gains.

Meanwhile, the premier started signalling he would stay on longer to see the city-state through the coronavirus pandemic. In a letter to the premier, Heng said he was stepping aside as head of the PAP's younger generation of leaders to give younger colleagues a chance to step up.

"The next prime minister should have a sufficiently long runway — to master the demands of leading our nation," he wrote, noting Lee now planned to stay on through the virus crisis. "I would have too short a runway should I become the next prime minister." In his response, Lee, 69, thanked Heng for his "selfless decision to stand aside". Heng will step down as finance minister at the next cabinet reshuffle but will stay on in the cabinet holding other roles.

Dr Sanduk Ruit has performed over 1,30,000 cataract surgeries

Nepal's 'God of Sight' to cross border

Lumbini (Nepal), April 8: Just next to the Mayadevi temple where Buddha was born more than 2,600 years ago, hundreds of people lined up outside a makeshift hospital on a recent hazy day, hoping their fading eyesight could be restored.

A day later, these saffron-robed Buddhist monks, old farmers and housewives were able to see the world again because the nation's renowned eye surgeon Dr Sanduk Ruit was there with his innovative and inexpensive cataract surgery that has earned him many awards.

At the visitor center turned into eye temporary hospital in Lumbini, located 288 kilometers (180 miles) south west of Nepal's capital Kathmandu, the assembly line surgery made it possible for the nearly 400 patients to get Ruit's surgery in just three days.

"The whole objective, aim and my passion and love is to see there remain no people with unnecessary blindness in this part of the world," Ruit said, also known as Nepal's "God of Sight."

Envoys loyal to junta 'seize' Myanmar's embassy in UK

Britain seeks info on row, junta hunts for 120 celebrities backing protests

London, April 8: Diplomats loyal to Myanmar's junta have seized the country's embassy in London, leaving the ambassador locked out in the street after he called for the release of ousted civilian leader Aung San Suu Kyi.

The ambassador, Kyaw Zwar Minn, said on Wednesday the defence attache had taken over the mission in "a kind of coup", an extraordinary diplomatic standoff that comes two months after the military seized power in Myanmar.

Daily protests demanding a return of democracy have rocked the country and brought a brutal response from the armed forces, with almost 600 civilians killed according to a local monitoring group.

The coup prompted several high-profile diplomatic defections, including the country's ambassador to the United Nations.

The junta recalled Kyaw Zwar Minn last month after he issued a statement urging them to release Suu Kyi and deposed civilian President Win Myint.

Protesters gathered outside the mission with the ousted ambassador, who told the Daily Telegraph that "when I left the embassy, they stormed inside the embassy and took it." "They said they received instruction from the capital, so they are not going to let me in," he added, calling on the British government to intervene.

Asked who had taken over, he replied: "Defence attache, they occupy my embassy".

According to The Times newspaper, the ambassador said the defence attache had sought to install Chit Kin, his former deputy, as charge d'affaires.

Britain has been a strong critic of the coup, hitting the military with several sets of sanctions, and its foreign ministry said it was "seeking further information" about the embassy standoff.

Myanmar's security forces have struggled to quell protests and a civil disobedience movement aimed at stopping the military from running the country.

They have used rubber bullets and live rounds to break up rallies and used night raids to arrest suspected dissidents.

The Assistance Association for Political Prisoners (AAPP) says at least 598 civilians have been killed and nearly 2,900 detained.

As part of its efforts to suppress the movement, the junta has issued a wanted notice for some 120 celebrities accused of fanning the protests by lending their support.

UK condemns 'bullying'

London, April 8: Britain on Thursday condemned "bullying" by the Myanmar junta after the country's ambassador to London was ousted in an extraordinary diplomatic coup after calling for the release of civilian leader Aung San Suu Kyi.

British foreign minister Dominic Raab tweeted his support for the ambassador.

With Russia, be measured, and keep an open mind

A realistic appreciation of the state of India's relationship with Russia — which remained high in areas such as military sales and energy, nuclear and space cooperation, even after the collapse of Communism, and while New Delhi's convergences with Washington took on strategic dimensions — can be gained when President Vladimir Putin visits India later this year. The compatibility between Indian and Russian political positions in the region, or internationally, is likely to be better in view then.

But there are straws in the wind that can be picked up at this stage. These were available during the visit earlier this week of Russian foreign minister Sergey Lavrov, who held detailed confabulations with external affairs minister S. Jaishankar on a range of bilateral and regional issues, before embarking for Pakistan, with which Moscow has expanded its relationship in recent years, particularly in the field of fighting terrorism, sale of defence equipment and energy.

Mr Lavrov noted that Russia-China ties are 'at the highest' level, historically, but it is not a 'military alliance'. He expressed unease with India being a part of the Quad...

Moscow-Islamabad views on the peace process in Afghanistan, and the place of importance in it given to the Taliban on the question of future power-sharing, appear convergent at this stage. More, they are not different from that of Washington and Beijing, which is happy to go along with Islamabad. The Indian position, although not fully articulated except on first principles, may be seen as differently nuanced on the Taliban factor and in the context of the relationship with the government of President Ashraf Ghani.

And yet New Delhi-Moscow ties have historically had a broad sweep. To what degree this changes, if at all, in the context of India's favourable positioning with the US, Russia's close proximity with Beijing and America's contentious relationship with both China and Russia, can be better understood after Mr Putin meets Prime Minister Narendra Modi later in the year.

But the observations of Mr Jaishankar and Mr Lavrov suggest that there is a desire on both sides to keep the bilateral relationship well-oiled. Will India go ahead with the purchase of the S-400 anti-missile defence system from Russia in the face of serious US reservations on this? This is a serious question for later, the answer to which could have a bearing on India-Russia as well as India-US relations.

In his remarks, the external affairs minister called the relationship “energetic and forward-looking”. This is a speculative formulation, which leaves the door open for positivity. The Russian foreign minister said that the bilateral ties were “valuable, mutually respectful” and “not subjected to political fluctuations”. The two formulations are far from being at odds. Perhaps they are at the stage of probing. The reference to “mutually respectful” is suggestive of differences at the tactical level in a variety of arenas. These will need to be ironed out or taken out of contention in mutually acceptable ways even while cooperating significantly in a range of areas.

Mr Lavrov noted that Russia-China ties are “at the highest” level, historically, but it is not a “military alliance”. At the same time he expressed Moscow's unease with India being a part of the Quad, obliquely calling it the “Asian Nato”. These observations are not adversarial, as is being sought to be made out in some quarters, but a reflection of the current state of play in the world. India and Russia both need to move with their eyes open and remain carefully calibrated.

Uphold media's right to report

The order of the Jammu and Kashmir police banning live coverage of encounters between the security forces and separatist militants and of “law and order situations”, and the subsequent direction to senior police officers to take legal action in such situations, call for clarification by the governments in the Union territory and at the Centre. This has become all the more important since the police officer who issued the directive has quoted the constitutional rights of freedom of speech and expression, and life. The J&K media, which has been walking on the razor's edge for the last several decades, has already registered their strong protest against the new fiat.

The police are stating the obvious when it says it cannot allow live coverage of encounters; nobody has even a case that it should be allowed undermining the very operation the security agencies undertake. The police are right when it invokes Article 21 and says the right to life of men in uniform has to be protected. But how far is it justified when it talks of a media ban in “law and order situations” by which it obviously refers to the protests of the ordinary citizens that erupt in the streets of the Union territory? The same Indian Constitution gives the people the right to speech and expression, which is enjoyed by every citizen, not just journalists. They put that right to use when they protest; the journalists use the same right when they report it. The police can, of course, impose reasonable restrictions, of which the people of Jammu and Kashmir and the media there have quite a clear idea. The protection of basic rights of the citizens is as much the job of the state as the protection of the rights of the security agencies. The state just cannot barter one for the other.

'Force majeure' can't be fig leaf for naked greed

Mohan Guruswamy

The second wave of the Covid-19 pandemic is here, across most of the country. Our daily infection peak has crossed that of 2020. It will once again stress the entire system, including our creaking public health infrastructure, and such times of stress are when the “force majeure” clauses in commercial agreements are waved about to renege on the promised word.

Last year, early in the first lockdown in April 2020, a major financial daily had reported that several large retail chains in India, such as Reliance, the Future Group, McDonald's, Domino's Pizza and others were trying to use the omnipresent “force majeure” clause in all agreements and contracts to back out of commercial obligations. Typically, these notices are served on the smaller associates deemed least able to challenge it. Some succeeded.

It will be interesting to know if the government has been told by Reliance or Airtel of their inability to pay the telecom spectrum dues? Or would Prince Mohammed bin Salman take kindly to any attempt to diddle his desert kingdom of payment for oil already processed?

It won't be long before the companies try these tactics again. Several automotive companies also operate their own showrooms, as do oil marketing companies and others. Some of our top business groups like the Tatas, with Croma and Westside, and the Goenkas, with Spencers, have a strong presence in the retail sector. The More retail chain was recently sold by the Birlas to a private investment group. Companies like Godrej, Samsung and LG have nationwide exclusive networks for their products. These company showrooms are often the anchor stores in a mall or market that because of their perceived creditworthiness manage to get much lower rents.

These companies are citing a letter dated February 19, 2020, issued by the ministry of finance and is in relation to the definition of “force majeure” in the Manual for Procurement of Goods 2017. This manual is in relation to the procurement contracts of the Government of India for goods and services and is not applicable to the interpretation of separate “force majeure” clauses in private contracts.

Unlike with government procurement contracts, the performance of the obligation of contractual payments has not been prevented by any act, proclamation, regulation or ordinance of any government or government agency. The spread of Covid-19 is undoubtedly a public health crisis with multiple measures placed by the state and Central governments. However, the orders of the governments only cover educational institutions, theatres, function halls and cinema halls.

In any event, the Covid-19 virus can't be invoked as a reason to escape all contractual obligations in general by universally invoking “force majeure” clauses. The spread of the Covid-19 virus or the government regulations around it have to directly make the performance of the obligation in a contract impossible in order to invoke the force majeure clause. The force majeure clause in agreements clearly specify the requirement of prevention or delay “by causes beyond the reasonable control of such party, including but not limited to any act, proclamation, regulation or ordinance of any government or government agency, having jurisdiction over the parties, provided that the affected party take(s) all reasonable action to eliminate the cause of the delay”.

Even if a company claims that it may have become onerous to pay the contracted amount as a result of the Covid-19 related government notifications, no government notification has rendered it impossible for the companies to pay for goods and services availed or being availed. The ability of a company to generate a monthly profit is not linked to the obligation or ability of a profitable public corporation to pay the contracted amount.

Despite the lockdown notifications, these companies continued using the premises for storing commercial goods that were for present or future sale. For instance, most retail verticals continued to take orders and payments online for all postal codes. During the nationwide lockdown too, in the absence of being able to complete the delivery of sale, they still continued to receive payments for products that were being stored in their premises.

Nothing renders the payment of rent impossible. Any kind of temporary business interruption is covered in the risk insurance that these companies are obliged to have. The burden of the rent can't be wriggled out of because of reduced business opportunities in the light of measures taken around the prevention of Covid-19.

With respect to a similar pandemic, SARS (Severe Acute Respiratory Syndrome) in 2003, the courts did not permit tenants to wriggle out of their obligations of payment in lease agreements even when the tenant was not permitted to enter the leased premises due to the temporary isolation orders of the government. In that context, the courts held that a two-week period was insignificant in view of the long duration of the lease, and that while SARS was arguably an unforeseeable event, it did not “significantly change the nature of the outstanding contractual rights or obligations” of the parties in the case.

The law of the land with respect to lease agreements is that “where the property leased is not destroyed or substantially and permanently unfit, the lessee cannot avoid the lease because he does not or is unable to use the land for purposes for which it is let to him”. Additionally, the courts have held that even when the economic conditions are the product of a “force majeure” event, such financial hardship would not excuse performance if the party retained some level of control over its allocation of resources.

All our big companies report significant profits. Reliance Industries Ltd has reported a post-tax profit of over ₹35,000 crores for the year ended March 2019. Its annual report also highlighted that Reliance Retail became the first retailer in India to cross the ₹100,000 crore turnover milestone. Reliance Retail posted a profit of ₹2,727 crores just in Q3 of 2019. Incidentally, Mukesh Ambani's personal wealth went up by 60 per cent in the pandemic year.

It would be a travesty if these big groups should attempt to wrongfully wriggle out of their contractual obligations in such difficult times. Such attempts to renege on performance obligations particularly oppresses their smaller associates.

RAFALE DEAL

As per the French media, there was indeed a middleman in the contentious Rafale deal and the news portal put out a range of allegations (Clear the air on Rafale, DC, April 8). Instead of indulging in blame game, the right course of action by the ruling dispensation is to probe the allegations and clarify the points raised.

MASKS IN CARS

The Delhi High Court's order making mask compulsory in a car even if the driver is the only person inside, is apt. A private vehicle on the road must be considered a public place. Given the ongoing spread of the virus, Covid appropriate behaviour must be made mandatory as it is the most important way of containing the infection. To make wearing mask compulsory at every occasion, even in their own vehicles, makes the message get across effectively.

FUTILE EXERCISE

The Bombay High Court has rightly asked the CBI for a preliminary inquiry into corruption involving high profile NCP politicians (Deshmukh: Will probe be fair?, DC, April 7). A shaky MVA government cannot act against any corrupt minister and they must swim or sink together. It gives the BJP's Fadnavis enough ammunition to fire against state government, neck deep in Covid resurgence.

Co-operatives must help weaker sections: PM

NEW DELHI, April. 8 Prime Minister Indira Gandhi today assured her Government's fullest support to the co-operative movement in the country, and urged the co-operators to restore the faith of the people in the movement.

Inaugurating the sixth Indian Co-operative Congress, Mrs. Gandhi said and wondered though the movement was an ever expanding one, the community as a whole, did not appear to have gained greater confidence in it.

Syria is still in the eye of the storm even after 10 years

In 1952, like a bolt from the blue, came UP chief minister Govind Ballabh Pant's order abolishing zamindari. The abrupt drop in prestige and lifestyle caused a relative across the Ganga to hide his arsenal of a few rifles and 12-bore shotguns along with boxes of Eley cartridges.

Whenever courtiers in rags, with some previous pique, stoked his fragile ego with stories of rampant lawlessness in villages because “huzoor's” power had ended, “huzoor” would come out with his preferred shotgun. This sad, fake “dadagiri” lasted as long as the boxes of Eleys did.

This trans-Ganga tragic hero came to mind when my eye fell on a bold headline of a piece by Graham E. Fuller, formerly of the CIA, on the aggressive style of Joe Biden's and Anthony Blinken's early outings in Foreign Affairs: “Hell Hath No Fury Like A Superpower in Decline”.

The subsequent utterances are subdued and moderate but the initial knee-jerk reaction was revealing.

Fuller writes: “The US leadership must have set some kind of new record in managing to personally insult the powers of the world within 48 hours of each other in these early days of the Biden administration.

President Biden called Vladimir Putin a ‘killer’ and lacking ‘a soul’. Blinken was equally insulting on China.

“This country has some grounds for pride in its own-imperfect democratic order. Still, how much reflection does it take to acknowledge what the Chinese Communist Party has accomplished in the past 30 years? Is it more worthy to bring half a billion people out of poverty into middle class life in a mere generation? Or more worthy to maintain intact an American electoral system in which mediocre or bad leaders emerge as readily as good ones?”

Fuller's invective is focused on the Biden-Blinken opening salvos at Russia and China. I would have scoured anything Fuller wrote on the tenth anniversary of the Syrian crisis. Five Western powers observed the occasion with all the fire and brimstone of the past. Fuller knows the area backwards. A key policy document advising the Reagan administration in 1983 on military action against Syria for strategic reasons was his handiwork. I have had this document ever since it was released in 2008, having been in secret vaults for 25 years.

After visiting Damascus and almost all the trouble spots in Syria's neighbourhood, I had written a paper “The Storm in the Arab Spring”, the eye of the storm being Syria. I feel qualified to take a critical look at the statement the foreign ministers of the US, France, Germany, Italy and UK issued on the tenth anniversary of the beginning of the tragedy.

One allegation the ministers repeat is straightforward: President Bashar al Assad started the ghoulish operation against his own people who were rebelling against misrule, corruption, economic distress. Not true. I was in Damascus at the outset.

There were reports fairly early in the Obama administration leading the global effort to deploy “shadow” dissidents can use to undermine repressive governments that seek to silence them by shutting down communications network”. James Glanz and John Markoff of the New York Times described one operation in a fifth-floor shop at Washington's L Street, where “a group of young entrepreneurs, looking like a garage band, are assembling deceptively innocent-looking hardware into a prototype ‘Internet-in-a-suitcase’. It was all part of the big push for the Liberation Technology Movement, and how comprehensively it was applied against the Syrian regime”.

In Syria's case, the “moderate operation” the “free” world was busting its guts to help, in many cases, turned out to be cover for extreme Islamists like Jabhat al Nusra. One such instance defence secretary Lloyd Austin admitted before the Senate Armed Services Select Committee: A $500 million project to train “moderates” to fight Assad turned into an embarrassment for Washington. Most trainees disappeared, along with the lethal equipment. Mr Austin mumbled “four or five” of the moderates trained were still with “us”.

Among the trick sentences in the foreign minister's statement was one on Daesh (Islamic State). “Preventing Daesh's resurgence remains a priority”, the statement says.

Hadn't Daesh, in the administration's words, been “destroyed”? So why is possible resurrection posed as a threat? Because the threat, when live, can justify airstrikes and other forms of intervention?

In America's “sole superpower” moment, countries were averse to calling the US names; how can it be accused of nurturing “terrorists” as possible assets in future contingencies?

The free run the US and regional allies like Saudi Arabia had to end the ground realities in Syria ended when the Russians arrived in 2015, boots on the ground.

A brief background to place Baghdadi in perspective. President Barack Obama was livid with Iraqi PM Nouri al Maliki for not signing the status of forces agreement before the US troops' departure. Washington wanted him out.

Just about this time, Abu Bakr al Baghdadi puts out a video from Mosul's main mosque on July 4, 2014, declaring the formation of an Islamic Caliphate. In August 2014, Mr Obama gave a significant interview to Thomas L. Friedman of the New York Times. Asked why he didn't order airstrikes against ISIS when it reared its head in June-July 2014, Mr Obama admitted that airstrikes on Baghdadi in July “would have taken the pressure off Nouri al Maliki”, Iraq's stubbornly anti-American Shia PM. In other words, the rapid march of ISIS from Mosul to Baghdad's outskirts was “facilitated” to keep the pressure on the PM. In September 2014, Mr Maliki was shown the door. Moral: Terrorists can be assets in certain circumstances!

After eight months of outflows Equity MF schemes see ₹10,000 cr inflow

RAVI RANJAN PRASAD
MUMBAI, APRIL 8

After almost a year of monthly outflows, equity schemes of the mutual fund industry saw inflows of over Rs 10,000 crore last month.

Total average asset under management (AAUM) of the industry for March also rose at a new all time high of over Rs 32.17 lakh crore, monthly data released by the Association of Mutual Fund in India showed. Inflows of Rs 9,115.12 crore was seen across all growth/equity-oriented schemes. In hybrid schemes, which also invest in equities, there was inflow of Rs 6,210.05 crore.

Index funds saw inflows of Rs 2,126 crore.

"Equity oriented mutual funds witnessed a month of positive net flows after eight continuous months of net outflows. Net flows were witnessed across equity fund categories. While it's too early to make any conclusions, it seems like equity investors waiting on the sidelines for a market correction, have started making allocations, taking a long-term investment view on equities," said Kaustubh Belapurkar, director-Research, Morningstar India.

"FY 20-21 has been net negative for equity fund flows, given the eight months of outflows from July 2020 to Feb. 2021 as investors looked to book profit and rebalance portfolios to other asset classes as markets bounced back sharply from March lows and made new highs," Belapurkar said.

Next victim of chip is home internet router

THOMAS SEAL, TAKASHI MOCHIZUKI & DEBBY WU
APRIL 8

Broadband providers are seeing delays of more than a year when ordering internet routers, becoming yet another victim of chip shortages choking global supply chains and adding challenges for millions still working from home.

Carriers have been quoted order times as long as 60 weeks, more than doubling previous waits, according to people familiar with the matter.

Sharp coronavirus manufacturing shutdowns a year ago were exacerbated by a prolonged surge in demand for better home broadband equipment, said Karsten Gewecke, head of European regional business for Zyxel Communications Corp, a Taiwan-based router-maker. Since January, it's asked customers to order products a year in advance, he said, because the lead time for components like chips from Broadcom Inc. doubled to a year or more since then.

Zyxel is a major supplier of routers, with customers including Norway's Telenor ASA and Britain's Zen Internet.

Adtran, a US network equipment maker picking up market share from China's Huawei Technologies in Europe, has also warned customers of supply chain risks and lead-time extensions in recent months. No carrier has run out of routers completely yet, but the supply chain looks strained.

NCLAT stays further move against Oyo

SANGEETHA G
CHENNAI, APRIL 8

The National Company Law Appellate Tribunal (NCLAT) on Thursday admitted the plea of Oyo's subsidiary Oyo Hotels and Homes (OHHPL) against an insolvency move and ordered a stay on formation of a committee of creditors (COC).

Earlier, the Ahmedabad bench of NCLAT had admitted a petition for initiating insolvency proceedings against OHHPL for recovery of Rs 16 lakh under the Insolvency and Bankruptcy Code (IBC). Oyo challenged this at the appellate tribunal on Wednesday. OHHPL, which operates the Weddingz.in brand, was dragged to the NCLT by its creditor Rakesh Yadav for allegedly defaulting Rs 16 lakh.

The NCLT admitted the insolvency plea on March 30. The tribunal had also asked all creditors of OHHPL to submit their claim to the resolution professional by April 15, 2021.

"The NCLAT provided a stay for the formation of COC in IBC proceedings against OHHPL, a subsidiary of Oyo. OHHPL appealed the order in front of NCLAT and explained that a demand draft of Rs 16 lakh was issued to the claimant under protest and the claimant has willingly banked the DD," the company statement said.

Tiger was twice over speed limit

Los Angeles: Tiger Woods was driving more than 80 mph nearly twice the posted speed limit on a downhill stretch of road when he lost control of an SUV and crashed in a wreck that seriously injured the golf superstar, authorities said. The athlete will not face any citations for his third high-profile collision in 11 years. No one else was hurt, and no other vehicles were involved. "Woods was driving 84 to 87 mph (135 to 140 kph) in an area with a speed limit of 45 mph (72 kph)," Villanueva said. — AP

Magical Mbappe stars for PSG

Kylian, Marquinhos dazzle to get past Bayern 3-2 in first leg of Champions League quarterfinals

Munich, April 8: Kylian Mbappe insisted Paris Saint-Germain still have it all to do after he scored twice in a thrilling 3-2 win at holders Bayern Munich in Wednesday's Champions League quarterfinal first leg.

Bayern had their 19-match unbeaten run in the Champions League ended in a repeat of last year's final, as the German giants suffered their first European defeat since March 2019.

PSG raced into a 2-0 lead after just 28 minutes behind closed doors at the Allianz Arena as Neymar created goals for Mbappe and Marquinhos.

Bayern, whose top scorer Robert Lewandowski is sidelined by a knee injury, drew level courtesy of headers by Eric Maxim Choupo-Moting and Thomas Mueller.

However, Mbappe showed his class with a superb second goal to give the visitors an advantage for the return leg in Paris.

PSG goalkeeper Keylor Navas played a key role with a string of saves as Bayern peppered his goal with 31 shots compared to the French club's six.

The opening goal came after Neymar sprinted through a gaping hole in the defence and laid the ball off for Mbappe, whose shot flew into the net through Manuel Neuer's legs.

PSG forward Julian Draxler had a goal disallowed with Mbappe offside in the build-up as the visitors kept up the pressure.

Bayern midfielder Leon Goretzka powered a header into the feet of Navas just before the hosts fell two goals behind.

A clearance kick only got as far as Neymar, whose ball over the top found Marquinhos unmarked in the area to stroke his shot past Neuer, shortly before the Paris Saint-Germain's captain limped off injured. Flick responded by bringing on Alphonso Davies to provide pace on the flanks and moved David Alaba into defensive midfield.

The hosts pulled a goal back when Mueller's cross

Paris Saint-Germain's Kylian Mbappe vies for the ball with Bayern Munich's David Alaba during their UEFA Champions League quarterfinal first leg match in Munich, southern Germany, on Wednesday. PSG won 3-2.

THE RESULTS

Paris Saint-Germain (Kylian Mbappe 3, 68, Marquinhos 28)	3
Bayern Munich (Eric Maxim Choupo-Moting 37, Thomas Mueller 60)	2
Chelsea (Mason Mount 32, Ben Chilwell 85)	2

was headed past Navas by Choupo-Moting to make it 2-1 at half-time.

However, the wintry night in Munich belonged to Kylian Mbappe, who showed his class by turning Bayern Munich defender Jerome Boateng inside and out before driving his shot past Neuer

BLUES PIP PORTO

A classy goal from Mason Mount on Wednesday helped Chelsea to a 2-0 first-leg win over Porto, whose wasteful finishing could have scuppered their hopes of springing another Champions League upset in the quarterfinals.

Mount's slick turn and shot in the first half would have been painful enough for Porto, who repeatedly lacked the precision to take advantage.

Instead, their misery was compounded by Ben Chilwell capitalising on a mistake at the back to score a late second that gave Chelsea another away goal and leaves them on the brink of the semi-finals.

They were away goals only in name given both these teams were playing in the unfamiliar Ramon Sanchez Pizjuan, where they will meet again next week, just with the home and away roles reversed.

CAT rings bell over BCCI meeting

With the BCCI listing Telangana cricket on the agenda at its Apex Council meeting scheduled for April 16, the Cricket Association of Telangana is upbeat, claiming that the discussion on granting affiliation to a cricket body from the region is that of CAT as it is the oldest applicant of the same.

"We had applied for BCCI affiliation on July 22, 2014 soon after the Telangana was carved out of Andhra Pradesh... and have been involved in cricketing activity in the rural areas since 2011," says its founder secretary Sunil Babu Kolanpaka.

"Our application was strong and circulated to all the BCCI affiliated cricket bodies in the country then. During the 2015 AGM held in Hyderabad, I had met BCCI officials — including former BCCI president and then ICC chairman N. Srinivasan and secretary Sanjay Patel — who had promised a resolution. Later, there was no committee to decide on affiliation of new bodies as the Supreme Court appointed Committee of Administrators ran the BCCI," he said.

"I am delighted that it will come up for discussion next week," he said.

Shreyas vows to return soon

Delhi Capitals' Shreyas Iyer on Thursday said he has undergone a successful surgery for a shoulder injury and vowed to return to action at the earliest. Iyer had hurt his shoulder during the ODI series against England last month, which ruled him out of the IPL.

"Surgery was a success and with a lion-hearted determination, I'll be back in no time. Thank you for your wishes," tweeted Iyer and posted his picture with it. He had suffered the injury during the first ODI against England.

Friday blockbuster

Champions Mumbai take on Kohli & Co. in opener

C. SANTHOSH KUMAR | DC CHENNAI, APRIL 8

If the number of trophies won is a barometer for excellence in IPL, Rohit Sharma and Virat Kohli are at opposite ends of the spectrum.

Having won six IPL crowns — five as captain of Mumbai Indians and one with the Deccan Chargers, Rohit is arguably the most decorated player. On the other hand, the RCB skipper is still chasing his maiden success. Within just five months of lifting last season's trophy in the UAE, Rohit is out to secure an unprecedented hat-trick as the 14th edition of the cash-rich league begins with a marquee clash between Mumbai and RCB here on Friday.

With an array of exciting T20 players in their line-up, Mumbai Indians, once again, are billed as the team to beat. And Rohit sure has a knack for getting the best out of his star-studded team.

The current form of Ishan Kishan, Surya Kumar Yadav and Hardik Pandya who all had an impressive limited-overs series against England make Mumbai a formidable unit. Royal Challengers have bolstered their squad by signing on new players such as Glenn Maxwell, Kyle Jamieson and Dan Christian. But it remains to be seen if Maxwell who was bought for a whopping Rs 14.5 crore lives up to the expectations. He didn't score a single six last season when he represented Punjab.

However, Kohli doesn't seem desperate.

"Personally, I feel relaxed with the resources we have, and strength of our team. Looking forward to being in the park and leading up to IPL is full of anticipation and nerves, looking forward to that first game on the ground as a team," Kohli said.

For M.S. Dhoni's Chennai Super Kings, it's going to be redemption time. After failing to make the playoffs last season, for the first time in their franchise history, CSK have a lot to prove. It's also likely the last season for veteran Dhoni.

He is touted to take over as the team's player-cum-commentator next year, but a lot depends on this year's performance. Another swash-buckling wicket-keeper batsman, Rishabh Pant will be itching to emerge out of Dhoni's shadows and cement his place in the squad when he embarks on his new role as Delhi Capitals skipper.

IPL provides an ideal platform for overseas players to prepare for the World T20 and some of them have already made their intentions clear.

"It will be a great opportunity to practise on some of the grounds we could be potentially playing in, in the Cup. We also get to see how different teams go about bowling in these conditions. Because, naturally with the dimension of the grounds and also wickets, it varies how attacks go about defending totals and batsmen go about setting them, so it will be an interesting competition," said Sunrisers opener Jonny Bairstow, a key member of the England team.

As a tournament with a reputation for spotlighting unknown talent every season, the Indian team management would be eager to see who will emulate the likes of T. Natarajan, Varun Chakravathy and Rahul Tewatia.
