State not keen on Unesco tag

Poor upkeep comes in the way of recognition, rue historians

DC CORRESPONDENT
ANANTAPUR, JUNE 8

There does not seem to be any appetite for securing world heritage tag for any of the famous monuments in the state from the United Nations Educational, Scientific and Cultural Organisation (Unesco). Nor is there any concerted effort to protect past glory for posterity. As the exercise of getting the UNESCO world heritage status is a long and laborious process, there is not any enthusiasm with the result that not a single monument from AP is listed as a world heritage site. Encroachments, poor upkeep come in the way of recognition, rue historians. The grandiose site of Hampi, the capital city of Vijayanagar Empire, was recognised as a world heritage in 1986. The site encompasses an area of 4,187 hectares with more than 1,600 remains that include forts, riverside features, royal and sacred complexes, temples, shrines and pillared halls. The ASI (Archaeological Survey of India) has been on mission to restore Hampi to its past glory. All shops and residences close to the structures were evacuated and skilled labourers were engaged to unearth the structures beneath. Karnataka minister B. Sreeramulu has is pushing for developmental activities and renovation of temples of Lord Yantroddarakaka Hanuman and Lord Srirama closer to Anjanadri Hill. However, the exclusive structures of the Vijayanagar period in the summer capital region of Penukonda in AP have failed to get recognition in the list of world heritage sites. Even ASI reportedly failed to protect the monuments Penukonda where more than 300 temples and exclusive structures could be. Further, renovation of Lepakshi, which has it all to be a world heritage site is confined to papers. The historic heritage structures have been neglected in AP while the neighbouring states are impressing upon the Centre as also the UNESCO to secure world heritage status to their structures. The world's biggest Nandi, which has Guinness Record, and also other exemplary sculpture and paintings of Lepakshi in Anantapur and Gandikota Fort, familiar as grand canine of South India in Kadapa, remain as mere proposals. The five-century-old historic Lepakshi, a part of Vijayanagar empire, had great sculpture, wall and roof paintings and also with the world's biggest Nandi statue.

Centre places order for 44 cr doses of vaccines

AIIMS director rules out Covid risk to children

DC CORRESPONDENT
NEW DELHI, JUNE 8

The Union health ministry on Tuesday said that fresh orders for 44 crore doses of vaccines have been placed.

"In an immediate follow-up of the Prime Minister's announcement of the changes in the guidelines for the national Covid vaccination programme, the health ministry has placed an order with the Serum Institute of India for 25 crore doses of Covishield and with Bharat Biotech for 19 crore doses of Covaxin. These 44 crore doses of Covid-19 vaccines will be available till December 2021, starting now," said Dr V.K. Paul,

Apart from these two vaccines, the Centre said an order for 30 crore vaccines was placed with Biological E's Corbevax, taking the total to 74 doses the Niti Aayog's member (health).

Additionally, he said 30 per cent of the advance for procurement of both the Covid vaccines has been released to the Serum Institute of India and Bharat Biotech. "Apart from these two vaccines, an order for 30 crore vaccines have been placed with Biological E's Corbevax. Combining all the three vaccines, we will have 74 crore doses,"

The director of New Delhi's AIIMS, Dr Randeep Guleria, said there is no data to show that children will be seriously infected in subsequent Covid-19 waves.

"It is a piece of misinformation that subsequent waves of the Covid-19 pandemic are going to cause severe illness in children. There is no data — either from India or globally — to show that children will be seriously infected in subsequent waves," Dr Guleria said.

He said 60-70 per cent of the children who got infected and were admitted to hospitals during India's second wave either had co-morbidities or low immunity.

24 Chinese jets fly close to LAC

DC CORRESPONDENT
NEW DELHI, JUNE 8

Around 24 Chinese fighter jets, including J-11s and J-16s, recently held exercises near eastern Ladakh amid the heavy deployment of forces on the ground at the Line of Actual Control (LAC) by both countries. The exercises come when both sides have been engaged in a military standoff for over a year now at the LAC in Ladakh.

Reports said that several Chinese airbases, including Hotan, Gar Gunga and Kashgar, were used for these exercises. The use of these bases is significant as they were used to support the People's Liberation Army's incursions into Ladakh last year. All these bases have been upgraded to carry out operations by all types of Chinese fighter aircraft. Besides these, four other bases — Shigate, Lhasa Gongkar, Nyingchi and Chamdo Pangta — were also used. All seven bases are located in Tibet and Xinjiang.

While none of the Chinese jets crossed over into Indian airspace, the IAF was on high alert and watched the Chinese exercises. The Indian security agencies also kept a close watch, with the help of satellites and other forms of surveillance.

Audio-only app for meetings becomes big hit; it is invite-only, users can switch groups

Clubhouse app is new craze on social media

MADDY DEEKSHITH | DC
HYDERABAD, JUNE 8

Would you invest in a social media app where users cannot upload pictures or videos, where you cannot type any text, where nothing remains after the moment passes — without scope to like, retweet or share, or even join by downloading it if you want? Unlikely. But Twitter reached out to California-based Alpha Exploration Co, founded by Paul Davison and Rohan Seth, for acquisition at a valuation of $4 billion, which the firm turned down.

The app whose beta version was released on Android recently, namely Clubhouse, is currently open by invite-only. It is audio-only, which is being touted as the next big thing, and has become the hottest "talk of the town" app.

The audio app allows users to create or join voice chat rooms where users are discussing everything under the Sun. It's a big hit not just among the teenagers but also the new-gen politicians, bureaucrats, businessmen, analysts and stars and icons.

Discussion rooms currently range from politics, literature, cinema, history, sports, mental peace, office politics, parenting, music and Covid-19, among others.

Users can join in any discussion room of their choice, either silently listen to the ongoing conversations or add their own two cents to any debate, with permission from the moderator(s). Users also have a choice to seamlessly switch between discussion rooms.

T. Namrata, 33, an app designer from Gachibowli, who has been using Clubhouse regularly ever since downloading the app on her phone two weeks ago, said, "The application is helpful as it offers lots of information on diverse topics through audio discussions held in multiple chat rooms. I easily jump in and out of chat rooms without having to notify or disturb anyone."

Namrata said she learned about the app through Twitter, where her friend posted an open invite. She said unlike Zoom and Google meeting apps that only allow employees, friends in a group or employees working in an organisation, everyone is welcome to Clubhouse rooms.

Kiran, 28, marketing professional, has been using the app for over a week and finds it fruitful.

“Clubhouse is nostalgia and addictive. It is like good old radio, where each one of us can run our own station. People listen, speak, meet and become friends. Just speak or just listen.”
— KAALI SUDHEER, Art curator and film producer

“In the days to come, most significant political debates will be on Clubhouse. If 2014 was decided by Facebook and Twitter, surely, the Assembly polls of 2023 will be decided by Clubhouse.”

BJP PROTESTS
FOR FAIR DEAL TO FARMERSDC CORRESPONDENTS
VIJAYAWADA/KAKINADA,
JUNE 8

The BJP staged a state-wide agitation in virtual mode on Tuesday demanding that the AP government resolve the farmers' problems and ensure them a fair deal.

Addressing party leaders and farmers via online video, BJP senior leader and MP GVL Narasimha Rao said farmers raised paddy on nine lakh hectares and produced 60 lakh metric tonnes. The state government had promised them to purchase 40 lakh metric tonnes but failed to buy even half this quantity.

Though the farmers were waiting for several weeks, they were not getting paid via deposits into their bank accounts.

He criticised minister for civil supplies Kodali Sri Venkateswara Rao for his failure to intervene in the issue and wondered why Chief Minister Jagan was keeping quiet about this. Though the state promised the setting up of 1,500 paddy procurement centres, there was no monitoring on the part of the government as to whether these were functioning or not, Rao said.

BJP's AP affairs in-charge Sunil Deodhar alleged that the state government backstabbed the farmers by not purchasing even half of the quantum of paddy it had promised to buy. Though the Centre was ready to bear 40 per cent of the cost involved for promoting drip irrigation at a cost of ₹400 crore, the state government failed to allocate even a single rupee in the last two years.

COPS' HARASSMENTDC CORRESPONDENT
VIJAYAWADA, JUNE 8

Telugu Desam chief Nara Chandrababu Naidu on Tuesday requested Governor Biswabhusan Harichandan to intervene and restrain the state police from "harassing" frontline warriors and the general public in the name of the Covid-19 restrictions.

In a letter to the governor, Naidu said Dalit girl Lakshmi Aparna working in a private hospital was subjected to humiliation and harassment by cops in full view of the public in Visakhapatnam.

"It has been a little more than a year that the state has been grappling with the Covid pandemic. Frontline warriors and the general public have been struggling their way through the Covid-induced lockdown. All the while, it appears the government of Andhra Pradesh is turning a blind eye to the difficulties being faced by the frontline warriors and the general public and to the overall pandemic situation," the former CM said. Naidu recalled how injustice was meted out to Dr Sudhakar, a dalit government doctor in Visakhapatnam in May last year. "Now, a dalit girl was harassed by the police when she was returning home in the evening after the end of the lockdown relaxation hours. The police questioned her near the Rama Talkies and subjected her to undue harassment." The TD leader said incidents like these were only reminiscent of the Colonial Raj and a gross violation of the fundamental rights.

The welfare schemes introduced by Chief Minister Y.S. Jagan Mohan Reddy are helping to achieve empowerment of the poor by securing their livelihoods in the state, said Molleti Saraswathi from Kirlampudi village in East Godavari district.

Interacting with the Chief Minister during the launch of Jagananna Thodu scheme which credited ₹10,000 each as interest-free loans to small traders, Saraswathi said she was running kirana business and she used to borrow money towards working capital at high interest rates.

Burdened by high-interest rate, she even contemplated closing it down and that was when Jagananna Thodu scheme came as a godsend.

Banks have been asked to relax conditions for sanction of loans under the Jagananna Thodu scheme in Prakasam district to extend financial assistance to a greater number of petty traders and artisans.

District Collector Pravin Kumar said they sanctioned loans to 28,846 beneficiaries on Tuesday and the amounts would be directly credited to their accounts. Admitting a decline in the number of beneficiaries this year, he attributed it to the CIBIL (Credit Information Bureau (India) Limited) score. He expressed confidence that the numbers would go up during the next round of loan mela.

Education Minister Adimulapu Suresh underlined the need to cover all the eligible under the scheme to protect small traders from the clutches of loan sharks. He called for setting up help centers to assist beneficiaries in the documentation for bank loans.

YSRC leader's photos on

TIRUPATI, JUNE 8

Chandragiri MLA Chevireddy Bhaskar Reddy distributed Anandaiah herbal medicine in a container with photographs of Chief Minister Y.S. Jagan Mohan Reddy, former Chief Minister late Y.S. Rajasekhara Reddy and the MLA himself to the people of his constituency on Monday.

This stirred up a controversy with Opposition parties accusing YSRC leaders of 'self-promotion' at the time of crisis and also it created a hullabaloo on social media with many netizens trolling the MLA.

After the state government gave green signal, Anandaiah and his team resumed distribution of herbal concoction on Monday. While the herbal medicine maker himself was engaged in preparing and distributing the concoction for the people of Sarvepalli constituency, his son Sridhar and Anandaiah's followers were involved in the same at Chandragiri constituency.

On Monday, the ruling party MLA Chevireddy Bhaskar Reddy officially started the distribution of Anandaiah's concoction in his constituency. The concoction supplied here was packed in containers sporting the photographs of the Chief Minister, his father and the local MLA.

Questioning the decency of YSRC leaders still meddling with distribution of Anandaiah medicine even after the High Court issued orders against interference, TDP politburo member Yanamala Ramakrishnudu said even Bhaskar Reddy started his own distribution of Anandaiah medicine and the packets he was distributing were printed with the labels of YSRC leaders.

He found fault over the decision of YSRC leaders in fixing their pictures on Anandaiah medicine and accused the latter of creating problems for patients instead of helping with the distribution of the herbal medicine.

The TDP's official twitter handle also pointed fingers at the YSRC leaders using their pictures on herbal medicine containers. "Though it was announced that Anandaiah's medicine would be distributed free of cost to the people of the state, there were no records of distribution so far; but Chandragiri MLA Chevireddy Bhaskar Reddy (YCP) distributing Anandaiah's medicine — sporting YCP stickers on it — to his constituency people is strange. The Telugu Desam Party is demanding that the government immediately distribute Anandaiah medicine free of cost to the people of the state", the TDP tweeted on its official handle.

Meanwhile, there was a new meme-fest on microblogging sites soon after the photos of the herbal medicine containers with YSRC leaders' pictures affixed on them appeared on social media platforms.

DOCTORS IN APDC CORRESPONDENT

The state government has enhanced remuneration/honorarium to resident doctors in three categories with effect from September 1, 2020.

The government issued GO MS No. 58 here on Tuesday, enhancing the pay to resident special degree (PG) to ₹70,000 per month from ₹45,000, while for resident dentist (PG) pay has been raised to ₹65,000 from ₹42,000 and resident super specialist will get ₹85,000 a month instead of ₹55,000 earlier.

The government revised honorarium for these categories earlier by issuing GO MS No. 18 dated 05-03-2018 with effect from 01-08-2017.

The GO on Tuesday mentioned that following a requisition from AP Senior Resident Doctors Association for enhancement of hike in honorarium to senior resident doctors working in government hospitals as they were getting less stipend than the final year postgraduates, their present honorarium was enhanced.

On the other hand, the junior doctors stuck to their boycott notice served earlier and would start their stir by wearing black badges while attending duty on June 9. They are invited for talks by the director of medical education, health minister and health principal secretary to resolve their demands amicably.

Flurry of calls for Anandaiah's
herbal mixDC CORRESPONDENT
NELLORE, JUNE 8

The police and the revenue department officials apart from media persons working in Nellore city and Krishnapatnam region are increasingly under pressure from relatives and friends and acquaintances to arrange Anandaiah's herbal mix. They are harried by calls from across the state.

"Though I knew Anandaiah, how can I ask him for the concoction every day that too when the preparation was halted for the last two weeks?" said a senior police officer.

The pressure is such that police officials in Krishnapatnam and Muthukurru areas even stopped answering calls from new numbers.

Not only revenue and police, even employees of Krishnapatnam Port are flooded with requests for the preparation as it is being produced on the premises of the security academy at the port.

The officials of many departments are so much vexed by requests that their first response has become "Ask me anything except Anandaiah's preparation."

Similar is the case with media persons, especially those working in Krishnapatnam.

With confusion still prevailing on the availability of the medicine and a few politicians making their own arrangements for making the concoction for the people in their constituencies, the general public are unsure how to secure it, in spite of the fact there is no proof of its efficacy.

A person who has recovered his smell after using both allopathy and Anandaiah preparation is not sure which helped him.

With courts giving credibility to the concoction, there is a huge demand for the herbal mixture. Its efficacy will be known only after some time.

Andhra Pradesh government has ordered its health machinery to prepare a location-wise list of nearly 35 lakh mothers with children below five years of age for administering Covid vaccines to such moms. This is part of the government's strategy to deal with the expected third wave of Coronavirus pandemic, which is projected to mainly target children.

A senior state health official disclosed, "We are making all necessary arrangements for giving Covid-19 jab to mothers with kids aged less than five years following a directive from the state government. This will ensure that mothers do not to get infected with the virus in case their kids contract Coronavirus in the impending third wave and are hospitalised. PCC CHIEF SLAMS
MODI ON VACCINE

DC CORRESPONDENT
KURNOOL JUNE 8

Andhra Pradesh Congress Committee (APCC) Chief Sake Sailajanath blamed Prime Minister Narendra Modi for his failure in tackling the Covid crisis that has led to the death of innocent people in the country. He said the flip flops in vaccine policy have derailed the management of the Covid-19 pandemic and the country is now paying a heavy price for the short-sighted policies of the Union government.

Addressing the media at Kurnool on Tuesday, Sailajanath deplored the attitude of AP Chief Minister Y.S. Jagan Mohan Reddy who was not in a position to demand the legitimate share of state's resources from the central government putting the state's interests in jeopardy. The lackadaisical attitude of the centre in allotting vaccines to the state was discriminatory and cost thousands of lives, he rebuked.

He urged the chief minister to ensure vaccination to all people in the state and protect them from the impending third wave.

A regional head for a popular private firm, he has been hosting debates on topics ranging from politics, gender, sexuality, international relationship and Indo-China wars, among others.

"Since I have to communicate with people from diverse backgrounds professionally, the Clubhouse chat rooms are of help to me. I feel confident and learn a lot when great speakers talk on a topic and provide it a new dimension."

Kaali Sudheer, art curator and film producer, among the first from Hyderabad to join this, started a club called Hyderabad adda. He along with his friend Anuj has been hosting several debates around the city's culture, food etc and said, "Clubhouse is nostalgia and addictive. It is like good old radio, where each one of us can run our own station. People listen, speak, meet and become friends. Just speak or just listen."

Many users say the rapidly rising popularity was due to its user privacy. "Conversations are not recorded and vanish immediately after any meeting gets over. Absence of face-time enables even introverts to communicate easily and put their point across."

Political parties too are quickly realising the immense possibilities the platform provides. Users are already discussing politics and in all languages. There are several Telugu rooms where everything from the politics of Telangana and AP are being discussed, besides food and Tollywood.

Congress leader Dr Sravan Kumar Dasoju, arguably Telangana's first politician on Clubhouse, said, "It is a fascinating app, which allows politicians to listen to people across the social spectrum and geography, with varied professions, age and political views. It can be a great feedback tool."

The tool saw its popularity soar in the lockdown atmosphere. Several Hyderabad users participated in serious discussions to light-hearted banter.

Teenagers, vexed with the ongoing pandemic, binge-watching and other platforms, created rooms like 'just shut up', 'I love Chiru', 'I hate Covid19' and 'How many licks does it take?' etc.

"The magic of this app, which will be a giant soon, is its human voice. Text is impersonal, while voice holds magic and touches humans."

Unlike zoom, you don't have to put on your makeup and have a lovely background," adds Sudheer. "The app brings a greater sense of emotional to connect than any other."

"In the days to come, most significant political debates will be on Clubhouse."

J&K HAMLET 1ST TO GET 100% ADULTS JABBED

Srinagar, June 8: A remote hamlet in Bandipora district of Jammu and Kashmir has become the first village in India to vaccinate all its adult population against Covid-19, officials said on Tuesday.

The credit goes to the healthcare workers whose strenuous efforts shot Weyan hamlet, with an adult population of 362, to national fame, they said.

"The village is located only 28 kilometres away from Bandipora district headquarters, but a distance of 18 kilometres has to be covered by foot as there is no motorable road," an official of the health department said.

He said the task of vaccinating all the residents was even more difficult as the village consists of nomadic families who go to higher reaches for grazing their livestock. "There is no internet access in the village. So it was not possible for the residents to get appointments for vaccination like the way people in urban areas do," Bashir Ahmed Khan, Chief Medical Officer, Bandipora said while explaining the difficulty faced by the healthcare workers.

The vaccination in the village was covered under 'J&K model', which is a 10-point strategy to vaccinate entire eligible population at accelerated pace.

Despite initial vaccine hesitancy, Jammu and Kashmir has achieved 70 per cent vaccination in the 45+ age group, almost double the national average, the official said.

Commenting on the achievement, Yatish Yadav, media advisor to Jammu and Kashmir government, said the Union territory was raising the bar in the Covid-19 vaccination drive.

The state is currently under lockdown till June 14, and there are indications that the government is likely to go for graded relaxation of restrictions, in districts that have less positivity rate to begin with.

"The Chief Minister, after discussing with everyone, will take a decision on what measures need to be taken in this regard, by taking everyone into confidence," deputy chief minister C.N. Ashwath Narayan said on Tuesday in response to a question on unlocking.

Pak-origin family's killing saddens Imran

Islamabad/Toronto, June 8: Pakistan Prime Minister Imran Khan on Tuesday denounced the killing of four members of a Pakistani-origin Canadian family in Canada, saying this "act of terrorism" reveals the growing "Islamophobia" in Western countries.

On Sunday, a 20-year-old man, wearing a vest like body armour, slammed a pickup truck into a Pakistani family of five, killing four of them, in what police allege was "a planned, premeditated act motivated by hate", according to media reports from Canada. The incident happened near the intersection of Hyde Park Road and South Carriage Road when the Muslim family was out for a walk in the evening, the Toronto Star reported. A black pickup truck driven by Nathaniel Veltman mounted the curb of a busy London intersection and struck a family of five as they waited to cross the street. The driver sped off, leaving a scene of chaos and tragedy, the report said. Veltman was arrested five minutes later.

Will act if UK
doesn't honour
Brexit deal: EU

London, June 8: The European Union's chief Brexit negotiator says the bloc is ready to act "firmly and resolutely" if the UK fails to honour its commitments under the divorce deal that was supposed to keep trade flowing after Britain left the EU.

Maros Sefcovic's comments, published Tuesday in the Daily Telegraph newspaper, came a day before he holds talks with his UK counterpart on implementing the deal. The relationship between the two sides has grown tense amid concerns over the so-called Northern Ireland protocol, which was designed to protect the peace process in Northern Ireland while preserving economic links with the Republic of Ireland, an EU member state. The protocol has sparked anger in Northern Ireland because it creates a customs border between the region and the rest of the UK, but the EU says the provisions are needed to protect the bloc's single market.

market items shipped to Northern Ireland from England, Scotland and Wales. The Telegraph reported that the UK may extend this action to include chilled meats such as sausages and ground beef. Sefcovic cautioned against such action, saying negotiators should strive to achieve "mutually agreed compliance paths." "If this does not happen, and if the UK takes further unilateral action over the coming weeks, the EU will not be shy in reacting swiftly, firmly and resolutely to ensure that the UK abides by its international law obligations." While Sefcovic didn't specify what those actions might be, the Times of London quoted an unidentified EU official as saying the bloc was ready to impose trade sanctions, retaliatory tariffs. — AP

GRANDDAUGHTER
GETS 7 YRS' JAIL

Johannesburg, June 8: A 56-year-old great-granddaughter of Mahatma Gandhi, who was an accused in a six-million rand fraud and forgery case, has been sentenced to seven years in jail by a Durban court.

Ashish Lata Ramgobin was found guilty by the court on Monday.

She was accused of defrauding businessman S.R. Maharaj after he advanced R6.2 million to her for allegedly clearing import and Customs duties for a non-existent consignment from India. He was promised a share of profits.

Lata Ramgobin, who is the daughter of noted rights activists Ela Gandhi and late Mewa Ramgobind, was also refused leave to appeal both the conviction and the sentence by the Durban Specialised Commercial Crime Court.

S'pore lecturer suspended for race rant at Sino-IndiansRacial tweets to Indians: Man jailed

Singapore, June 8: A Singapore polytechnic lecturer of Chinese-origin has been suspended from teaching duties for allegedly making racist remarks towards an interracial couple of a half-India and a half-Chinese descent, local media reported on Tuesday. The incident was captured on a video that was widely circulated online over the weekend.

A spokesperson for Ngee Ann Polytechnic (NP) said the Chinese-origin lecturer has been suspended. The polytechnic is aware of the video, the Channel News Asia quoted an NP spokesperson on Monday.

"We regret that the individual in question is a member of our staff. We take a very serious view of the matter as the remarks made by the individual are highly offensive, disrespectful and goes against our staff Code of Conduct and values as a community," said the spokesperson. "We are investigating this matter internally, including considering the appropriate disciplinary action to be taken. Meanwhile, the staff in question has been suspended from his teaching duties."

The polytechnic cannot comment further as police investigations are ongoing, said the spokesperson.

Singapore, June 8: A 35-year old senior executive at a software company in Singapore, who made racially offensive tweets in April last year, including slurs to Indians and condemning Indian immigrants about Covid-19, was jailed for three weeks on Tuesday, a media report said.

Zainal Abidin Shaiful Bahari, a Malay, pleaded guilty to two charges each of committing acts he knew were prejudicial to the maintenance of harmony between different racial groups in Singapore. Another two similar charges were considered in sentencing, Channel News Asia reported. A member of the public called the police in April 2020 after seeing a tweet by the user "sharonliw86" condemning Indian immigrants about Covid-19. Zainal, a senior director at a software company, used the pseudonym "Sharon Liew" (Chinese name), had sole control of the account.

In March 2020, he also posted that "smart Chinese" women have done social distancing inside the Mass Rapid Transit subway trains.

The police said that a 60-year-old man was assisting with investigations, after confirming that reports had been lodged and investigations were ongoing. In the video uploaded by Dave Parkash, a man in a red polo shirt with the word "Singapore" across it can be heard telling Parkash and his girlfriend to date people of their "own race".

The man in red, who acknowledged he is a "Chinese Singaporean", then added: "I've got nothing against you personally, but I think it's racist that the Indian prey on a Chinese girl." When Parkash, 26, called him a racist, the man in red agreed that he was. In the video, Parkash said he is "half Indian, half Filipino", while his girlfriend is "half Singaporean Chinese, half Thai".

Biden forms unit to clear supply chain bottlenecks

Washington, June 8: The Joe Biden administration has completed a 100-day review of supply chains and will now form a task force to address the bottlenecks in the semiconductor, construction, transportation and agriculture sectors. Administration officials said their goal is to increase domestic manufacturing, limit shortages of vital goods and reduce a dependence on geopolitical competitors such as China. The officials, speaking before the release of the 250-page review Tuesday, noted that the goal is to get ahead of crises such as the computer chip shortage that has hurt automakers this year.

"More secure and resilient supply chains are essential to our national and economic security, and our technological leadership," the report said, noting how the pandemic and subsequent economic turmoil exposed the US supply chain vulnerabilities.

A shortage of raw materials has made it harder for the US economy to recover from the pandemic-induced recession. The supply bottleneck has helped fuel a bout of inflation that the administration believes will be temporary, though it has provided Republican lawmakers and some economists with grounds for criticising Biden's $1.9 trillion Coronavirus relief package. The new task force will be led by the secretaries of Commerce, Agriculture and Transportation to focus on parts of the economy where there is a mismatch between supply and demand.

Besides the task force, the administration will take several other steps to bolster supply chains, with an effort spread across the government. The Department of Health and Human Services will use the Defence Production Act to create a public-private partnership for manufacturing essential pharmaceutical drugs.

It will also commit $60 million to increase the production of pharmaceutical ingredients. The Energy Department will release a blueprint to develop supplies for lithium batteries, in addition to providing roughly $17 billion in loans for advanced batteries that would help shift the country to electric vehicles. The Interior Department will create a working group to determine where critical minerals can be produced and processed in the United States.

The Commerce Department plans to increase cooperation and investments within the semiconductor industry, while the Labour Department will announce $100 million in grants for state-led apprenticeship programmes. — AP

MAHATMA'S | MESSAGES

Event could not be observed at Pietermaritzburg station due to Covid

Gandhi train ejection commemorated in S. Africa

Johannesburg, June 8: The seed for Satyagraha (non-violent resistance) was planted in South Africa's Pietermaritzburg on the night of June 7, 1893, when a young barrister, Mohandas Karamchand Gandhi, was ejected from a train for being a non-white.

David Gengan, Chairman of Pietermaritzburg Gandhi Memorial Committee, reminded this once again on Monday while commemorating the incident and sending out Mah-atma's messages to the world, especially at a time when the global Covid-19 pandemic is wreaking havoc.

The Pietermaritzburg Gandhi Memorial Committee decided some years ago that the story of June 7, 1893, and its impact on young Gandhi would be told every year on the anniversary of the event, said Gengan.

Every year, the Gandhi memorial committee had been observing the event at the very station; however, it had been unable to do so since last year because of the Covid-19 pandemic.

This year, various speakers from across the world spoke about the relevance of the messages of India's Father of the Nation for the world today.

Gengan said Gandhi's 21 years in South Africa shaped his philosophy, especially as it relates to peace and non-violence.

Gandhi's granddaughter Ela Gandhi, 80, who heads the Gandhi Development Trust, which oversees the Phoenix Settlement that he started during his stay in Durban, said that during the course of his life, Mahatma discovered many truths.

"These truths I believe are of great relevance for us today as we face the challenge of dealing with the Covid-19 pandemic."

As we struggle with the Covid-19 realities, we are becoming aware of the need for a change in our perception and behaviours to create a new normal," she said.

Ela added that in this context, Gandhi's seven observations have attained even greater significance. Sello Hatang, Chief Executive of the Nelson Mandela Foundation, said Gandhi's observations were something that was attainable by all human beings.

"It is when we try our best to be better humans that we build a world that (Mandela and Gandhi) dreamt of, one that cares about the downtrodden, the forgotten, those who feel that they are the outcasts," Hatang said.

Javie Ravjee of the Mahatma Gandhi Remembrance Organisation in Johannesburg, which has revived the Tolstoy Farm commune started by Gandhi during his stay in the city after it had been left derelict for several decades, called for all similar organisations across the globe to form an association.

Dr Sriram Sonty from Chicago agreed with this idea.

A welcome shift in vaccine policy, but hurdles remain

The Union government's decision to rework its "liberalised vaccine policy" and return to centralised procurement of vaccine doses for all people aged above 18 years is welcome. This is perhaps for the first time that the government has chosen to reverse its policy seeing its adverse impact on the people. It is no secret that the Supreme Court's tough stance that it will have to subject the government decision to exclude a section of people from its vaccination policy to judicial review based on Articles 14 and 21 which guarantee the right to equality and the right to life, respectively, which led to this crucial policy change.

The court's decision to call for files that led to the questionable decision must have rung alarm bells in the corridors of power, though the court has repeatedly assured the government that it had no plans to interfere with its executive functions. The court's insistence that the government produce an account of the ₹35,000 crores earmarked in the 2021-22 Union Budget for vaccine purchase might, too, have forced the Centre's hand. Credit must be given to the political Opposition, led by Kerala chief minister Pinarayi Vijayan, who first suggested that the Union government should procure the vaccine for the states, too, which was endorsed by several other chief ministers including Tamil Nadu's M.K. Stalin and Odisha's Naveen Patnaik.

As per the government's own records, there are about 13,000 villages in the country where there is not a single common service centre through which the people there can register themselves on the CoWin app

The job is half done now, and the governments at the Centre and in the states have a lot of distance to cover to secure Indian people. We are into the sixth month of the "world's largest vaccination programme" but have been able to fully inoculate only 3.3 per cent of the population; the figure for the share of population who have been given at least one dose is below 12 per cent. This is not a satisfactory pace by any reckoning. Given that a third wave could hit the children, too, and they also need to be given the jabs, the figures fall to pathetic lows when the number of children eligible for vaccination becomes part of the denominator. Added to this is the issue of digital divide, which the Supreme Court has flagged: This could deprive the most marginalised sections of society of vaccination. As per the government's own records, there are about 13,000 villages in the country where there is not a single common service centre through which the people there can register themselves on the CoWin app.

The challenges are formidable but not insurmountable. The government has taken some baby steps to address them, which included the agreement it recently signed with Hyderabad-based Biological E. for the purchase of 30 crore doses of the vaccine which is in the advanced stages of clinical trials and the upfront payment of ₹1.500 crores. It is also getting Covaxin produced in more facilities. The government has now to prepare a workable schedule on the procurement and administration of the vaccine to meet the deadline of December 31 which it itself has fixed for the universal vaccination before it gets back to the Supreme Court on June 30 for the next hearing.

Winning new frontier in space

The founder of Amazon who revolutionised the way people shop in the new millennium will be beating fellow billionaires Richard Branson and Elon Musk to blast off into space, fly 105 km up, spend three breathtaking minutes of weightlessness in about 10 minutes or so at the apogee of the flight and return to planet earth. The race to create space tourism 60 years after Yuri Gagarin became the first man to travel into space may be heralded by the seeming vanity of a rich owner of a spacecraft taking a thrilling ride into the sky along with his brother Mark, besides the highest bidder in an online charity auction which is now at $2.8 million, and two pilots.

Non-astronaut civilians have flown into space before but if the world's richest man is prepared to do it while possessing some $200 billion of assets on the ground it might just signal increasing confidence in man's mastery over space flights just as an expensive tourism industry is set to expand. What we do for science in terms of spacecraft exploring Mars and space probes flying a lot further may be a lot more productive. But it is in taking untrained civilians along for up-and-down flights that earth will resonate with stories from space to rekindle the imagination. When Armstrong stepped on the man, the whole of humanity was figuratively with him.

The flight will usher in the crossing of a frontier signalling human capabilities in engineering safety and reliability in space. Several astronauts who have enjoyed the thrill of viewing our planet from way above have waxed eloquent about their experience. The Bezos brothers and others will have even better viewing seats in the roomy Blue Origin's New Shepard capsule with very large windows. What opening the door for rich civilians to tag along means is that the human endeavour to explore space would get a fillip and further propel the human race towards a long stated ambition of colonising Mars and other planets that seemed way beyond reach in billions of years.

Turbulent Afghanistan could impact Kashmir

Syed Ata Hasnain

One feels glad to see Jammu and Kashmir drop steeply in the hierarchy of India's security concerns. I am not going to spoil the party by suggesting that the current situation is just a smokescreen behind which lie many scheming ideas and thoughts to take it all back to 2001. Why 2001? It is simply because that is a landmark year recorded as the one with the highest terrorist casualties (2,100 killed); or, in other words, the year with a disproportionately high number of engagements, contacts, gunbattles. It was also the year when we saw the beginning of the Nato onslaught into Afghanistan (then usually referred as AfPak) after 9/11. Afghanistan and J&K have a long association; I am not alluding to their deep history but only to recent times. It's the Soviet invasion of Afghanistan at the end of 1979 that brought the mercenaries, often called jihadis, to Afghanistan under the sponsorship of the United States and Saudi Arabia. The rise of Islamic obscurantism can be traced back mostly to the 1980s when the refugee camps on the Pak-Afghan border became the centres of conversion to more radical beliefs of Islam. Pakistan's Inter-Services Intelligence gained much of its experience in handling tricky intelligence and operations related situations in Afghanistan. As soon as the war ended with the Soviet defeat, the mercenaries were available for a song and became the new jihadis in J&K. People unaware of the nuances of the issues in J&K over the last 30 years need to be informed that the original separatist movement of 1989 was largely indigenous and may have been controlled, but for the sudden availability of the mercenary jihadis freed from the war in Afghanistan. The ISI got them together with funds, weapons and military wherewithal no one had control over. They were then infiltrated into Kashmir from every conceivable direction to add to the growing footprint of terror. Many of them were Afghans who had no love lost for Kashmiris. The Indian Army and its fledgling anti-terror force, Rashtriya Rifles, neutralised hundreds as intelligence on them was never far, with them getting on to the wrong side of many in the local population, especially women. The pipeline of so-called jihadis dried up by 1996, when the remnants of the mercenaries who fought the Soviet Army in Afghanistan had either met their end or returned to do service with the Taliban when it came to power. The infiltration of foreign terrorists from 1996 onwards was mainly that of Pakistanis who flooded North Kashmir, in particular in the Bandipur, Sopore, Lolab and Handwara tracts.

Kashmir's proactive media repeatedly queried me in 2010-12 about the then situation in Afghanistan and how it would affect Kashmir if the US troops withdrew. Those were the days when Gen. David Petraeus was in charge of the US Central Command and the principles of the "COIN" (counterinsurgency) doctrine were in full flow in Afghanistan. I always answered with the stock reply that almost became a byline: "When you throw a stone into water there are ripples in every direction. Ripples from the conflict in Afghanistan will invariably travel to J&K." I usually left it at that, and if someone persisted, I would usually say: "Let no one imagine that 2011 is 1989, we are far superior in deployment and even more in experience." All these words are coming back to me in bits and pieces to create a picture for the region once the Americans are out of Afghanistan. That is expected largely by July 2021, without waiting for President Joe Biden's September 11, 2021 deadline.

So, is a resurgence of extremist violence in the region likely after July? The American presence being sought at some Pakistani airbases to afford drone operations and possibly other forms of aerial warfare including Special Forces is with a view to ensure that Afghan territory, and maybe some Pakistani territory as well, is not used to conduct activities that are detrimental to US interests. It's to keep a vigil over these areas which have provided much sorrow to the world in the last two decades. Of course, this will never be sufficient to have full regional coverage, but the US can always be advised to include India in its coverage too, simply as emerging strategic partners, and Pakistan is in no position to resist that, given its precarious financial position.

The current 2021 season has thus far seen minimal activity in Kashmir. The infiltration season began almost two months ago but attempts have been few and far between. Obviously, the flavour for jihadism is low at present, but it would be incorrect to assume it is all over. In 2011 too, the infiltration picked up in the July-October period. Pakistan's attention is focused on Afghanistan, where mistakes can cost it dearly. On the J&K front, a season of low-profile activity can be accepted, and the separatist infrastructure can remain intact with infusion of money and wherewithal through some routes which are extremely difficult to neutralise. What really makes the difference is the absence of human resources. If enough rebels are not being recruited locally, there won't be sufficient resources for guidance, logistics and overground work. 2021 is not 1989 either as far as the Line of Control is concerned. The counter-infiltration layout and network is smart, extensive, integrated and efficient. Twenty per cent attempting infiltration could yet get through, but unless huge resources are deployed for this by the ISI, the impact will be low. That big effort is difficult in view of the visibility today and efforts by outfits like FATF to keep vigil internationally. It won't be easy for Afghan or any other foreign terrorists to function in Kashmir, especially with dilution of the extensive OGW networks. Besides, no one really trusts these jihadi elements in Kashmir nowadays, especially in the urban areas.

Diplomatically, India like all other interested nations have to address the situation of having to deal with an Afghan leadership other than the current one. Back channels would have been established by some nations and exchange of information would be in practice. What one really fears is bloodshed and civil war-like conditions in Afghanistan which could persist for some years. In such a situation it would become extremely unpredictable on what the fallout on Kashmir could be. We should make the best of the current situation, focus on development activity, and outreach to people with sufficient messaging that India's stable climes are far better than the turbulence of the neighbouring region.

The writer, a retired lieutenant-general, is a former GOC of the Srinagar-based 15 Corps

FUEL, GAS PRICES

After many states asked the Centre to reconsider its vaccine strategy, it is now made free to all states (Centre will give vax free to states: Modi, DC, June 7). In a similar manner if many states ask the Centre to reconsider its petrol/diesel/gas strategy, perhaps all people may get relief from the spiralling fuel charges.

At long last, it is encouraging and uplifting to read that the Centre will be reverting to the old system where it can procure up to 75 per cent of the doses of vacancies and it will provide them free to state governments and also private facilities will be allowed to procure 25 per cent of vaccines from manufacturers (Centre will give vax free to states: Modi, DC, June 8). It's really most unfortunate that Delhi Chief Minister Arvind Kejriwal's 'ghar ghar ration yojana' has been scuttled on five occasions already by the Centre on one pretext or the other. Cosmonauts steer space lab into higher orbit

MOSCOW, June 8. Three Soviet Cosmonauts steered their space laboratory into a higher orbit today to halt temporarily its gradual drop back to Earth, Moscow Radio reported.

The manoeuvre, effected by firing rockets aboard the craft, was needed in order to keep the station aloft for a longer period of time.

The Space Station, called Salyut, has been in Earth orbit since April 19 and has been gradually drifting down into the upper reaches of the Earth's atmosphere, where friction could disintegrate it.

Big Tech now turning into a Big Brother: Will world act?

The Big Tech social media giants are having to rethink their policy of censoring anybody who suggests that Covid-19 originated from a lab near Wuhan. This is because it now seems quite possible, if not probable, that the virus was kindly bestowed upon us by Chinese scientists. I don't know either way, but I would suggest that a suspicion that the virus was man-made, given the proximity of the Wuhan Institute of Virology, scarcely qualifies as a lunatic conspiracy theory to be banned from public utterance. But that's what the Big Tech companies decided — almost certainly for political reasons.

By and large major liberal institutions concurred: the utterly hopeless World Health Organisation refused to entertain the suggestion that the virus had leaked from the WIV and the major liberal broadcasters in the United States scarcely covered the suggestion at all. A couple of leftist American journo were invited into the WIV and marvelled at how clean everything was, what nice space suits everyone wore and how people definately weren't throwing chunks of Covid-19 out of the windows every few minutes, and thus gave it a clean bill of health. The idea got pushed into the conspiracy theory dungeon, a realm of racists and reactionaries. The banning of this idea, that the virus was man-made and leaked from a Chinese lab, was not because it was wrong, necessarily, but because it came from the political right and challenged the liberal view. How kind it is of them, then, to think again.

This perpetual, shameless, censorship on purely political grounds by the likes of Facebook, Google, Twitter and Instagram worries me rather more than the pandemic does, because there seems to be no readily available vaccine for it. If you had thought that Twitter and Facebook's deliberate suppression of stories regarding Hunter Biden's lucrative dealings in Ukraine, along with a serving US President's astonishing removal from all social media sites because they didn't like what he was saying, was simply the consequence of a peculiarly fraught US election, think again. They are still at it now, even more so. Theories which they do not like because of their political consequences, or provenance, are banned under the heading "false news". It is increasingly the case that "false news" is simply news that liberals do not wish you to hear about. Nor do facts count for very much when these dweebs are deciding what you can and can't say. Try advancing the strictly scientific point of view regarding the correct gender of a man who has transitioned into being a "woman" — and see how long before you are banned too.

But it is Covid-19 which has given the liberals the greatest scope for their authoritarianism. Quite a lot of what has happened in these past 12 months or so — from the official adulation of the Black Lives Matter movement and footballers "taking a knee", to the hilarious "decolonisation" projects — has happened under the shroud of disease, and therefore not subject to public scrutiny. But it is the disease itself which has provoked the most injurious acts of censorship — which have occurred ever since the pandemic was politicised into a left versus right argument.

It is surely not a conspiracy theory nor an expression of "false news" to have one or two doubts on being zapped by a vaccine which has received nothing like the usual longitudinal testing procedures and is, basically, a clever, perhaps brilliant and lifesaving, experiment on the entire world. I'd go further and suggest that if you do not have one or two doubts, then you must be a bit thick. By this I do not remotely mean to say that we should all refuse our vaccines — I have had mine and I'm no worse than usual, so far. But in lieu of the usual testing procedures, it would be nice to think that questions raised by worried members of the general public and opinions from scientists which run counter to the apparent majority might be listened to and debated and discussed.

The opposite, though, has happened. Express one or two doubts about the vaccine, perhaps citing the number of people who have died from blood clots as a consequence of receiving it, and Twitter has your card marked. According to its protocol, any comments which "make false claims that have been widely debunked" will be deleted. What, such as a worry that the virus may be man-made? Or — and think back to when the AstraZeneca rollout began — that there may, just may, be a link between the vaccine and blood clots. Denied outright at the time — and now entirely accepted, which is why people under 40 in Britain are being offered alternative jabs.

Meanwhile, leaked emails from Facebook have revealed that it is using an algorithm to censor those who are merely "vaccine hesitant". Amazon had a head start on this: a couple of years ago it pulled from its roster a film called The Greater Good in which a bunch of perfectly respectable scientists question the efficacy of mass vaccination programmes. Urged to take ever more censorious action by the left, these companies gladly succumb; it is their equivalent of taking a knee.

We need a law such as the one they are pushing through in Poland right now. If any social media company censors someone for saying anything not prosecutable under state law, they get fined. That would be a start.

■ 460 claims cleared for ₹50 lakh insurance cover Over ₹200 cr death claims paid for Covid warriors

MADHUSUDAN SAHOO
NEW DELHI, JUNE 8

With increasing fatalities of health workers fighting Covid-19, the government has fast-tracked settlement of Covid death claims under the Pradhan Mantri Garib Kalyan Package (PMGKP), which provides an insurance cover of Rs 50 lakh to Covid frontline warriors.

India's largest non-life insurer, New India Assurance Company Ltd (NIACL), has so far settled 419 claims under the scheme, disbursing around Rs 210 crore to the claimants.

The PMGKP covers almost all healthcare workers, including doctors, nurses, paramedics, community health workers and even daily wage staff engaged in Covid duty. This scheme covers loss of life due to Covid-19 and accidental death in the line of duty. This is scheme managed solely by the NIACL, with the Union Ministry of Health and Family Welfare paying the entire premium for over 22 lakh health workers covered under the scheme.

According to Atul Sahai, chairman and managing director of NIACL, "The NIACL has received over 1,100 claims intimations approximately, though only 600 claims were supported by the documents. Of this, we have paid a sum of Rs 209.5 crore for 419 claims as on the date, and 41 more claims stand approved awaiting either nomination documents or claimants' bank details. Some 140 claims have been turned down as the same were not covered under the policy, like the claimant wasn't a frontline healthcare worker or the death wasn't due to Corona." "We have already received Rs 350 crore from the government in three tranches in the form of premium for the scheme so far. A total of 22.12 lakh health workers across the country are covered under the scheme by NIACL," Sahai added.

Though the claim documents were simple to access-like a laboratory test report and death summary by the hospital-getting them approved through the competent state authority was proving to be time-consuming. So, the government has from this month further simplified the claims procedure by routing them through the district collector. This is expected to improve the claim settlement ratio, which is now less than 55 per cent.

"Now, the government has decided to ease the claims procedure that was finalised between the concerned company and MoH&SW, and the district collectors have to verify that claim documents, counter verified by the state health nodal agencies in just one single page document. The documents shall remain carefully recorded at their office. It's a welcome step for speedy settlement of the claims," Sahai said.

However, health workers are concerned that the scheme does not cover death from post-Covid complications. Explaining, a senior doctor from Faridabad's Escort Heart Institute said, "Insurers now ask for all Covid-19 related documents immediately after the patient's death. So, there is no question of claim settlement from insurers if the patient dies of post-Covid-19 complications. Besides, any type of treatment or quarantine cost is not covered."

Global economy to expand 5.6% in 2021: World Bank

SANGEETHA G
CHENNAI, JUNE 8

The World Bank expects the global economy to expand 5.6 per cent in 2021, the fastest post-recession pace in 80 years. Despite the recovery, global output will be about 2 per cent below pre-pandemic projections by the end of this year. The World Bank also finds that services sector and private consumption will offset pandemic effects in India.

The global economy's expansion will largely be on strong rebounds from a few major economies, says WB's latest edition of Global Economic Prospects. Among major economies, US growth is projected to reach 6.8 per cent this year, reflecting large-scale fiscal support and the easing of pandemic restrictions. Growth in other advanced economies is also firming, but to a lesser extent. China is anticipated to rebound to 8.5 per cent this year.

Despite the recovery, global output will be

For India, the Bank projected 8.3% growth in FY22 and 7.5% in FY23 about 2 per cent below pre-pandemic projections by the end of this year. Per capita income losses will not be unwound by 2022 for about two-thirds of emerging market and developing economies. "While there are welcome signs of global recovery, the pandemic continues to inflict poverty and inequality on people in developing countries around the world," said World Bank Group president David Malpass.

Emerging market and developing economies as a group are forecast to expand 6 per cent this year, supported by higher demand and elevated commodity prices. However, the recovery in many countries is being held back by a resurgence of Covid-19 cases and lagging vaccination progress, as well as the withdrawal of policy support in some instances.

In the case of India, the World Bank projected 8.3 per cent growth in FY22 followed by 7.5 per cent in FY23. This is supported by plans for higher spending on infrastructure, rural development, and health, and a stronger-than-expected recovery in services.

Better growth prospects since January, however, masks significant damage to economic activity from Covid-19. The economy is expected to follow the same, yet less pronounced, collapse and recovery seen during the first wave. Growth in FY23 is expected to slow to 7.5 per cent, says the Bank.

South Asia's growth is projected to rebound to a stronger-than-expected 6.8 per cent in 2021, with India accounting for most of the upgrade as strong services sector activity more than offsets the economic effects of the worsening pandemic. The outlook is underpinned by a rebound in private consumption.

Privatisation-bound banks may come out with VRS

New Delhi, June 8: Two state-owned banks being picked up for privatisation by the government are likely to come out with an attractive voluntary retirement scheme (VRS) to get rid of the extra flab, sources said.

Finance minister Nirmala Sitharaman while unveiling Budget 2021-22 on February 1 had announced that the government proposed to take up the privatisation of two public sector banks (PSBs) and one general insurance company.

An attractive VRS will make them lean and fit for takeover by the private sector entities that are keen to enter the banking space, the sources said.

VRS is not forced exit but option for those who would like to take early retirement with good financial package, the sources said, adding that it has been done in the past before the consolidation of some of the PSBs.

The Niti Aayog, which has been entrusted with the job of identifying suitable candidates for the privatisation, has recommended the names to a high-level panel headed by Cabinet secretary Rajiv Gauba.

Central Bank of India, Indian Overseas Bank, Bank of Maharashtra and Bank of India are some of the names that may be considered for privatisation by the Core Group of Secretaries on Disinvestment.

Following clearance from the Core Group of Secretaries, the finalised names will go to the Alternative Mechanism

Banks asked to keep CCTV recordings of DeMo period

Mumbai, June 8: The RBI on Tuesday asked banks to preserve the CCTV recordings of their branches and currency chests from November 8, 2016, to December 30, 2016, till further orders with a view to assisting the enforcement agencies to take actions against persons involved in illegal activities during the demonetisation period.

The government had demonetised the then in circulation high value currency notes of Rs 500 and Rs 1,000 on November 8, 2016. As part of the exercise, the government gave the opportunity to the people to exchange junked currency notes or deposit them in their bank accounts. Huge crowds were witnessed at bank branches across the country for exchanging or depositing the demonetised currency.

On the basis of various inputs, the investigative agencies also started probing matters relating to illegal accumulation of new currency notes.

In order to facilitate such investigations, the RBI has asked the banks not to destroy the CCTV recordings of the period of demonetisation till further orders.

The present order is a continuation of an earlier advisory issued to the lenders in December 2016 to preserve the CCTV footage of operations at bank branches and currency chests.

Of the Rs 15.41 lakh crore worth Rs 500 and Rs 1,000 notes in circulation on November 8, 2016, when the note ban was announced, notes worth Rs 15.31 lakh crore have been returned.

Changes on the regulatory side to facilitate privatisation would start after the Cabinet approval.

RBI buys 61 tonne gold since January 2020

SANGEETHA G
CHENNAI, JUNE 8

The Reserve Bank of India bought 61 tonnes of gold since January 2020 in staggered purchases. The World Gold Council says central banks will continue to be positive on gold in 2021 as well, though their purchases might be lower than in 2020.

During the pandemic year of 2020, the RBI purchased 41 tonnes of gold. Its gold reserves stood at 635 tonnes at the end of 2019 and expanded to 676.6 tonnes at the end of the year. The central bank continued its staggered purchases in 2021 as well by accumulating 20 tonnes till May. At the end of May 2021, the gold reserves stood at 696.2 tonnes.

The World Gold Council's central bank gold reserves survey found that central banks will continue to be positive on gold, with roughly the same number of central banks expected to buy gold compared to last year.

Around 21 per cent of central banks intend to increase their gold reserves over the next 12 months. Central banks are also increasingly valuing gold's performance during periods of crisis.

Though the Bank of Russia had announced to halt its regular purchases, 52 per cent of respondents believe that global central bank gold holdings will grow in the coming year.

However, 75 per cent of respondents believed so last year. At the same time, only 11 per cent do not know their plans for gold this year compared to 20 per cent last year.

Further 32 per cent of respondents say that global central bank gold holdings will remain unchanged while 5 per cent say that they will decrease. These results may reflect the slowdown in central bank gold buying in 2020 when net purchases declined to 326 tonnes compared to 668 tonnes in 2019.

Post-Covid economic recovery, negative interest rates, continuation of expansive monetary and fiscal policies combined with the prospect of rising inflation will likely be at the forefront of central bankers' concerns for the foreseeable future.

LARGE STEEL FIRMS RAISE MARKET SHARE

SANGEETHA G
CHENNAI, JUNE 8

Rising steel prices helped large steel-makers more as they have grabbed a part of the market share from small and mid-sized companies.

Five large steel makers, including Tata Steel, JSPL, JSW and SAIL and AMNS, increased their market share to 58 per cent in FY21 from 53 per cent in FY20. As a result, the market share of small and medium steel companies came down to 42 per cent from 47 per cent, says a Crisil report.

While 17 SME steel makers saw their revenues shrinking by 4 per cent and Ebitda by 2 per cent in FY21, the top steel-makers registered a 10 per cent growth in revenues and 60 per cent growth in Ebitda. The top four steel-makers also reduced their net debt in their Indian operations by 16 per cent or by Rs 34,000-35,000 crore.

The improvement in financials was driven by supply-chain efficiencies, higher exports and captive mines.

LOSING | PROPOSITION Suit says creditors should get recovery benefit

63 Moons to challenge DHFL order

RAVI RANJAN PRASAD
MUMBAI, JUNE 8

DHFL debenture-holder and market infrastructure provider 63 Moons Technologies plans to challenge the order of the National Company Law Tribunal (NCLT) permitting Piramal Group to take over DHFL under the Insolvency and Bankruptcy Code (IBC).

Tech firm 63 Moons holds more than Rs 200 crore of non-convertible debentures (NCDs) of DHFL.

Jignesh Shah-promoted 63 Moon believes the current resolution plan is contrary to law and against the interest of DHFL creditors, including NCD-holders. The company had filed an application in the NCLT-Mumbai seeking that recovery benefit of approximately Rs 45,000 crore filed by the DHFL administrator under section 66 of IBC should come to creditors, including debenture-holders. "The current resolution plan is disappointing for NCD-holders in as much as they stand to bear the greatest loss as opposed to any other party involved. Other members of the Committee of Creditors, who comprise mainly of banks, have recourse to personal guarantees of promoters whereas NCD-holders do not have any such contractual recourse," 63 Moons said, adding:

"NCD-holders will be left high and dry with a massive 65 per cent to 75 per cent haircut if in future such recoveries from fraudulent transactions are allowed to pass through to the resolution applicants, instead of the creditors."

"The current DHFL resolution plan allows the Piramal Group to buy the company by paying mere Rs 37,500 crore as against the outstanding debt of Rs 85,000 crore. Also, in addition to this, the benefits of claims of over Rs 45,000 crore are to be appropriated by Piramal fully," the petition said.

"The Resolution Plan is drafted in such a way that it favours the resolution applicant (buyer), in this case Piramal Group, allowing it to reap the benefits of recoveries from the promoters," 63 Moons said.

"Ascribing a value of Re 1, to the recoveries of fraud where claims are in excess of Rs 45,000 crore creates unjust enrichment of the buyer (Piramal) at the cost of creditors," it alleged.

Zidansek first woman from Slovenia to reach Slam semis

Paris, June 8: Tamara Zidansek’s breakout display at the French Open is the latest in a long line of outstanding sporting accomplishments by athletes from Slovenia, an Alpine nation of just over two million people.

The world number 85 became the first woman representing the country to reach the semi-finals of a Grand Slam on Tuesday when she battled to beat Spain’s Paula Badosa 7-5, 4-6, 8-6.

She will play Russian 31st seed Anastasia Pavlyuchenkova for a place in Saturday’s final, and a chance to emulate Maribor-born Mima Jausovec, who won Roland Garros in 1977 while competing for Yugoslavia.

With just three wins from eight previous Slam appearances, Zidansek arrived in Paris a virtual unknown, but she could soon join household names such as Dallas Mavericks star Luka Doncic and Tour de France champion Tadej Pogacar.

“It feels overwhelming. It’s hard to take it in like this fast,” said a beaming Zidansek following her quarter-final win.

“Winning the first round was a big breakthrough for me. I got a lot of confidence from that,” she added.

PAVLYUCHENKOVA IN AFTER 52 ATTEMPTS

Pavlyuchenkova reached her first Grand Slam semifinal at the 52nd attempt on Tuesday with a three-set win over doubles partner Elena Rybakina at the French Open.

“There are so many emotions to reach a Grand Slam semifinal for the first time,” said 29-year-old Pavlyuchenkova who had fallen at the quarter-final stage at the majors on six previous occasions since her 2007 debut.

‘Baffled’ Nadal reaches quarters

Paris, June 8: Rafael Nadal reached the French Open quarter-finals for the 15th time on Monday to stay on course for a 14th title and record-setting 21st Grand Slam with his biggest challenge posed by blinding stadium lights.

Third seed Nadal downed 19-year-old Jannik Sinner 7-5, 6-3, 6-0 and goes on to face 10th-seeded Diego Schwartzman of Argentina who he defeated in the semi-finals last year.

Nadal has now won 104 matches at Roland Garros

THE RESULTS

Women's singles quarterfinals: Anastasia Pavlyuchenkova (RUS x31) bt Elena Rybakina (KAZ x21) 6-7 (2/7), 6-2, 9-7; Tamara Zidansek (SLO) bt Paula Badosa (ESP x33) 7-5, 4-6, 8-6.

against just two defeats since his 2005 debut while Monday’s victory extended his run of consecutive sets won to 35.

Despite Monday’s match being played in bright sunshine and in temperatures of 25 degrees Nadal was baffled as to why the lights inside Court Philippe

Chatrier were switched on. “I don’t know why they put the lights on that early. We have been playing without lights here in Roland Garros for forever,” said Nadal.

“At 4:00 or 5:00 in the afternoon we have been playing tennis until 9:00 in the evening without lights.

“They say it’s because of TV. But my answer is we used to have TV before we had the lights on. I saw plenty of matches here, and from the TV the quality of the image was great without the lights.”

“I started well but was a little too defensive. I gave him the chance to come inside the court and play his best shots. That was a mistake,” added Nadal.

“I broke back at 5-4 in the first set and the match changed after that. I played at a great level.”

Nadal had beaten Sinner in the quarter-finals in Paris in 2020 as well as at this year’s Italian Open. — AFP

MUELLER ON THE MARK AS GERMANY EASE PAST LATVIA

Düsseldorf (Germany), June 8: Thomas Mueller scored his first international goal for three years on Monday as Germany crushed minnows Latvia 7-1 in their final warm-up friendly before the Euro 2020 finals.

Latvia, ranked 138th in the world, rarely got out of their half as Germany tuned up for their opening game of the European Championship against world champions France in eight days time in Munich. After a two-year exile from international football, 2014 World Cup winner Mueller got on the scoresheet while Premier League stars Ilkay Gundogan and Timo Werner also found the net in the rout.

“The result wasn’t the most important thing, it was more about the way we wanted to play football and implement things,” said Mueller, who claimed his first Germany goal since March 2018.

Germany captain Manuel Neuer was applauded onto the pitch by his team-mates before kick-off as he became the first goalkeeper to make 100 appearances for the national team. — AFP

At the Jassim Bin Hamad Stadium on Monday, Chhetri broke the deadlock in the 79th minute when he headed in Ashique Kuruniyan’s cross from the left, and then sealed the victory by curling in a shot from long range in added time.

BANGLADESH COACH IN AWE OF SUNIL’S SCORING SKILLS

Doha, June 8: Talismanic Sunil Chhetri won’t miss if you give him the opportunity to score, says Bangladesh coach Jamie Day after the Indian captain led his side to a 2-0 win in the 2022 FIFA World Cup and 2023 AFC Asian Cup Qualifying contest.

The 36-year-old Chhetri scored a second-half brace against Bangladesh to hand India their first win in the joint preliminary qualifying round match on Monday night.

“For a long period, we did well, we had a couple of half-chances. But if you give Chhetri a chance, he scores like he showed tonight. He had two chances in the last 20 minutes, and he took them,” Day was quoted as saying by goal.com. — PTI

Chhetri above Messi in goal list

Doha, June 8: Indian football talisman Sunil Chhetri has surpassed Argentina’s global superstar Lionel Messi to become the second-highest active international goal-scorer with 74 strikes, adding another feather to his illustrious career.

The 36-year-old Chhetri achieved the staggering feat with his brace against Bangladesh in the joint preliminary qualifying round match for 2022 FIFA World Cup and 2023 AFC Asian Cup here on Monday night.

The seasoned striker, who helped India register their first win in six years in World Cup qualifiers, now stands only behind Portugal’s Cristiano Ronaldo (103) in the active international goal-scorer list.

Chhetri leads Barcelona star Messi by two goals and sits a place above Ali Mabkhout of the UAE, who is third on the list with 73 strikes to his name.

Messi scored his 72nd international goal in a World Cup qualifier against Chile last Thursday, while Mabkhout added to his tally against Malaysia,

New Delhi, June 8: One of India’s strongest Olympic medal hopes, ace shooter Manu Bhaker feels preparations “cannot get better” than the ongoing training-cum-competition tour of Croatia as she works on her consistency ahead of the Tokyo Games.

Thirteen Olympic-bound pistol and rifle shooters are currently training in Zagreb after having participated as guest invitees in the European Championship recently in Osijek. They will also compete in the ISSF World Cup, also scheduled in Osijek from June 22 to July 3. The Croatia tour was arranged after the National Rifle Association of India realised that it was not possible to hold camps in India amid a deadly second wave of the Covid-19 pandemic.

“The tour is very helpful. We are well looked after, our health and fitness needs are taken care of and, most importantly, we are getting to train at a very good shooting range and with some good competition as well,” Bhaker said from Zagreb.

“So, I believe it cannot get better, leading up to the Olympic Games.”

wants to live up to her own expectations, the remark can be interpreted as a burning desire to win the gold medal, and it has often panned out that way in a stellar career seeking its zenith in a few weeks’ time.

In an ominous sign for her challengers ahead of the Tokyo Games, the champion Indian shooter says she is wanting to avoid being weighed down by expectations. “I just want to meet my own expectations. I am not thinking about anything else but focusing on giving my best for India in the Games.”

The 19-year-old pistol ace will enter Tokyo as one of India’s biggest medal hopes having won almost everything one can after a sensational start to her career.

According to the champion shooter, many of her teammates stand a chance of finishing on the podium in Tokyo and given the Indian shooters’ form in recent years, she is not far-fetched in her thought. “I don’t think I am the biggest medal hope... that is unfair. In our shooting team itself, I don’t see anyone who is not the biggest medal hope. Then there are world class athletes in other sports as well for example badminton, weightlifting, wrestling, archery, boxing and the like,” she said. — PTI

ENGLAND CRICKET | RACISM ROW

Second player under scanner

London, June 8: One more current England player is being investigated by the country’s cricket board for his allegedly racist remarks on Twitter as a teenager after Ollie Robinson was suspended for similar conduct.

The old tweets of the player in question were unearthed by wisden.com, which did not reveal the identity of the cricketer since he had not reached the age of 16 at that time.

The website posted screenshots of the tweet without revealing the player’s identity. “.....Your going out with a asian,” the player seem to have posted with hashtags of #asianthroughhand-through # hweollo #chinky.

The England and Wales Cricket Board (ECB) is now investigating the matter. “It has been brought to our attention that an England player has posted historic offensive material on their social media account. We are looking into it and will make a further comment in due course,” an ECB spokesperson was quoted as saying by the website.

The offensive posts came to fore hours after the ECB suspended Robinson pending a investigation into his racist tweets in 2012 and 2013.

Robinson, who scored 42 runs and took seven wickets on his Test debut against New Zealand, has already apologised for his behaviour after his old tweets emerged.

England’s Culture Secretary Oliver Dowden, however, criticised the ECB’s decision to suspend Robinson, calling it “over the top”. The country’s Prime Minister Boris Johnson also agreed with him.

Dowden contended that Robonson’s tweets were a decade old, “written by a teenager” but agreed that they were offensive and wrong. — PTI

KOHLI & CO TO GET 3-WEEK BREAK AFTER WTC FINAL

London, June 8: The Indian team management has decided to give a three-week break to its players after the World Test Championship final in a bid to address the mental fatigue that might be triggered by lengthy spells in a bio-bubble.

The WTC final against New Zealand will be held from June 18 to 22 at the Ageas Bowl in Southampton and the members of the Indian squad will disperse for close to three weeks (20 days) before regrouping on July 14 to prepare for the five-match series against England starting in Nottingham from August 4.

“As skipper Virat Kohli and coach Ravi Shastri had told the media at the pre-departure press conference, there will be a break. There is a six-week gap between WTC final and opening Test against England, so we had to address the issue of players’ well-being. Within UK, they can disperse off, go for a holiday, meet friends and family,” a senior BCCI official said.

Obviously, there could be some team get-togethers also but players would be free to choose how they want to spend their time.

“Most of them have come to UK for multiple times and have friends and acquaintances around the country. It’s only fair that they can switch off,” said the source. — PTI

SL to tour England amid contract row

Colombo, June 8: The Sri Lankan cricketers have agreed to compete against England on a tour-specific contract but would not sign the annual contracts unless governing body SLC explains the evaluation process.

Sri Lanka are scheduled to tour England for three Twenty20s and as many ODIs between June 18 and July 4.

Following a stormy round of talks, the players were told by the management that they would either call off the England tour or send a third string side.

The players told the management they would sign a tour-specific contract but need more time to sign the annual contracts.

The players had defied a June 3 deadline to sign the contracts, citing lack of transparency in the process.

While defying the deadline the players said they were willing to play for the country even if the administration decided not to pay salaries due to their refusing to enter contracts.

At the height of the dispute and negotiations last month, the players said remuneration proposed to players were more than 3-fold lower than payments made to players of other countries.

The SLC had by then announced that 24 of the leading players had been offered contracts under four categories and they had been given a deadline until 3 June to sign them.

In the categories released only six players featured in the category ‘A’ and their annual pay ranges between $70,000 to 100,000.

The batsman, Dhananjaya de Silva draws highest — 100,000 with the rest of them were to receive $70-80,000.
