Deputy Speaker says Opposition parties are trying to gain political mileage out of it

KAKINADA, JAN. 8

Deputy Speaker of AP Legislative Assembly Kona Raghupathi exhorted all on Friday that the incidents of attacks on temples should not be given a political colour. He stated so after taking darshan of Lord Sri Venkateswara Swamy of Dwaraka Tirumala in West Godavari and participating in the Dappu Kalakarula Sangam meeting.

Kona Raghupathi told the media that at a time when the state government was taking up many programmes to uplift the downtrodden sections, it was unfortunate such incidents of attacks on temples took place. He said the Opposition parties were trying to gain political mileage out of it. "They are misleading the people."

Rising above caste, creed and religion, Chief Minister Jagan Mohan Reddy was implementing welfare schemes and providing housing to the homeless poor. "Jagan is doing this with a great sense of commitment to the people. He is doing more than what his father Y.S. Rajasekhara Reddy did as CM," the deputy speaker said.

The deputy speaker said governance has been made easier by the setting up of village and ward secretariats. "Now, the administration and the fruits of the welfare schemes are reaching out to the people. Many laws have been enacted for welfare of the people," he said.

Meanwhile, the Andhra Pradesh Archaka Samakhyha hailed the decision of CM Jagan to reconstruct the temples demolished during the Krishna Pushkaralu season. Students of all departments at Central University of Andhra Pradesh (CUAP) have started boycotting their online classes protesting over charging of enormous fee by authorities of the institution.

"CUAP is a central university established as per AP Bifurcation Act, 2014 for development of the backward Anantapur district. Though being a public university, it is charging highly unreasonable fees for social sciences and humanities courses, which do not require any infrastructure like science or computer labs and other sophisticated facilities. ## HC allows AP Green Energy to go ahead with bidding process

DC CORRESPONDENT
VIJAYAWADA, JAN. 8

Andhra Pradesh High Court issued an interim order, allowing AP Green Energy Corporation to go ahead with the bidding process and finalise the successful bidders and asked it not to enter into agreement with them until further hearing in the case is taken up, scheduled to be held on February 15.

Tata Power Renewable Energy challenged the issue of 'Request For Selection' and Power Purchase Agreement by APGEC for taking up 6,400 MW ultra mega solar power project stating that they were against the norms earlier.

High Court Judge Justice M. Ganga Rao held the hearing on Friday and issued interim orders allowing the APGEC to go ahead with the bidding process.

Petitioner's senior counsel Desai Prakash Reddy argued that the APGEC's issue of RFS and PPAs were against the norms of the Central Electricity Act and informed the court that in case of any dispute as per the act, it has to be resolved at the Central Electricity Regulatory Commission. He argued that such norm was removed so that in case of any dispute, the government would resolve it.

Advocate-General S. Sriram informed the court that the issue of RFS and PPA was as per norms and asked as to why Tata Power Renewable Energy was raising objection even though it did not take part in the bid while those who took part in the bid were not raising any objections.

Ganta, aides grabbed land: Vijaya Sai Reddy

DC CORRESPONDENT
VISAKHAPATNAM, JAN. 8

Rajya Sabha member and north Andhra incharge of YSRC V. Vijaya Sai Reddy alleged that former minister in the TD government and present MLA Ganta Srinivasa Rao and his associate Lalam Bhaskar Rao grabbed huge parcels of government land.

Addressing a public meeting at Yelamanchili during distribution of houses and house pattas, Vijaya Sai Reddy said that only Opposition parties resorted to government land grabbing in Visakhapatnam and there was none in the ruling YSRC government or leaders of the party.

"Some forces are trying to come in the way of distribution of houses and pattas to the poor but the YSRC government had overcome these obstacles with the support from the people," the Rajya Sabha member said.

V. Vijaya Sai Reddy

Minister for tourism Muttamsetti Srinivasa Rao, who was also present, said Chief Minister Y.S. Jagan Mohan Reddy had promised 22 social welfare schemes for the poor before the elections and after assuming power, he launched more winning the hearts of the people.

The leaders later addressed another meeting in Anakapalle where they distributed 18,720 pattas.

Hafeezpet assets belonged to Bhuma kin

J.V. Reddy said Praveen Rao's father was an advocate and worked for his father, the late Bhuma Nagi Reddy. It was well known that the property in Survey No 80 of Hafeezpet belonged to the Bhuma family.

"After my father and Praveen Rao's father died, the three brothers hatched a conspiracy along with A.V. Subba Reddy to take away all our properties," he alleged.

Jagat Reddy told the media that Praveen Rao had entered into an agreement with MyHome and lent the property.

"There is involvement of big shots including an MP and a business magnate. They want to threaten us and take away our properties," alleged Jagat Reddy.

He appealed to the TS Chief Minister to get the case investigated thoroughly and render justice to the family.

A similar demand was made by Naga Mounika, sister of Akhila Priya, who went a step ahead and urged TS Chief Minister K. Chandrababhan Naidu and minister K.T. Rama Rao to settle the dispute based on the merits of the case.

She alleged that Praveen Rao's agreement with MyHome had triggered the arrest of her sister. "We own the property," she claimed. It is learnt that Praveen Rao offered some money to the Bhuma family but the latter did not agree for a compromise as the amount offered was "very meagre".

Meanwhile, knowledgeable sources said Akhila Priya had made desperate attempts to reach out to MLC K. Kavitha. When her attempts failed, Akhila Priya drove up to Kavitha's residence but the two could not meet. Sources said Kavitha did not want to intervene in the land dispute.

Akhila Priya also tried to reach out to AP ministers M. Sucharita and B. Rajendranath Reddy but failed. TD Telangana president L. Ramana coordinated with her, sources close to the former minister said.

Even though students have submitted numerous representations to Prof. Appa Rao, vice-chancellor of University of Hyderabad, who was the chairman of CUAP Society, the issue is still pending.

When contacted, CUAP authorities maintained that the matter will soon be taken up and resolved.

Rival groups of fishermen clashed over use of ring nets in the sea close to Peda Jalaripeta here on Friday. Last week, fisheries minister Sidiri Appalaraju and tourism minister Mutamsetti Srinivasa Rao had held a meeting with their associations in the presence of officials and announced a ban on use of ring nets.

Minister Raju had said a committee was appointed to issue guidelines on the use of banned nets. He stressed that use of ring nets was banned within a range of 8km from the shore.

Friday morning, the fishermen in Peda Jalaripeta found 10 boats from Endada, Uppada and Mangamaripeta fishing with ring nets in the banned 8km range.

Hundreds of fishermen along with their families rushed to the shore. Of them, some 50 fishermen went into the sea on their boats and seized the nets. Heated arguments ensued, which resulted in minor clashes.

A police team led by ACP of Dwaraka Zone AVVS Murty rushed to the spot and restored peace. The ACP said the issue would be taken up with higher officials.

Peda Jalaripeta fisherman Paredsi said that while fishermen from 14 villages in Visakhapatnam were following the ban orders, the fishermen from only three villages - Endada, Uppada and Mangamaripeta - were defying the ban.

"These three villages come under Bhimili constituency and enjoy the support of state minister Avanti Srinivasa Rao," Paredsi said.

Paredsi and his associates said if these fishermen used ring nets, a majority of the region's fisherfolk with traditional nets would be left with no catch. This is the third time the fishermen clashed over this issue in the last one month.

MAJOR MAOIST HIDEOUT BUSTED IN ODISHA

AKSHAYA KUMAR SAHOO | DC BHUBANESWAR, JAN. 8

Security forces on Friday seized huge haul of arms and ammunition, including hand grenades and other explosives, after busting a major Maoist hideout in Kandhamal district.

Kandhamal superintendent of police Vinit Agarwal said the Maoist camp was busted during a joint combing operation by Special Operation Group (SOG) jawans and district voluntary force.

“Based on reliable Intelligence inputs, an anti-Naxal operation was launched in the region on Thursday by a joint team of SOG and DVF. During the combing exercise, Maoists opened fire at the security forces and the latter also retaliated. We seized a huge cache of ammunition from the spot after the exchange of fire,” said Agarwal. The SP also informed that grenades, detonators, splinters, explosives, batteries and other various literature and camp articles used by the Maoists were seized from the hideout.

Taking advantage of dense forest cover and hilly terrain, the ultras however managed to escape from the spot.

“The exchange of fire lasted for over 30 minutes and 15-20 Maoists suspected to be inside the camp managed to flee and save their lives. We have intensified combing operations in the region and are trying to apprehend the ultras,” Agarwal added. On October 26, a country-made revolver, claymore mine and other explosives were seized from a Maoist dump in Malkangiri district.

BENGAL GOV. TO MEET AMIT SHAH IN DELHI TODAY

Kolkata, Jan. 8: Amid the growing political turbulence in poll-bound West Bengal, Governor Jagdeep Dhankhar will be meeting Union home minister Amit Shah in Delhi on Saturday.

He had last met Shah in October 2020.

“Governor Jagdeep Dhankhar will fly to New Delhi on Friday night. His engagements include calling on the Union home minister Amit Shah on January 9,” Raj Bhavan sources said.

Dhankhar, who had been at loggerheads with the TMC government since taking charge as the Bengal governor, has criticised the Mamata Banerjee dispensation on several occasions over the “worsening” law and order situation in the state.

BJP leaders in Bengal have been demanding imposition of President’s Rule in the state, citing “breakdown of the rule of law” as reason.

Elections to the 294-member Bengal Assembly are likely to be held in April-May.

RAUT DEFENDS UDDHAV'S POST ON ‘SAMBHAJINAGAR’

SONU SHRIVASTAVA | DC MUMBAI, JAN. 8

Even a day after Congress’ protest, the reference to Aurangabad as ‘Sambhajnagar’ on Maharashtra CM’s official Twitter handle remained unchanged. Shiv Sena spokesperson and the Rajya Sabha MP Sanjay Raut defended the Maharashtra CM’s official post, while Congress leader Ashok Chavan reminded the Uddhav Thackeray-led party that it was leading a coalition government.

In Nashik, Raut said that popular demand is above the Common Minimum Programme (CMP). It should not be necessary to run the government only as per what is written in the CMP, which is meant for ensuring food, clothes, and shelters. “It is not mentioned in the CMP to not make a decision over the popular demand,” Raut said.

The Congress has been contending that as it is not a part of the CMP, therefore, such issues should be avoided in order to ensure smooth functioning of the government.

Rebutting to Sena’s popular demand, Chavan, who is also PWD minister in Thackeray led government, said that it is a coalition government. Personal agenda can not be implemented. “This subject (name changing) is not on our priority list. Whenever such controversial issues come before the MVA government, all the constituents of MVA must sit together and resolve the issue,” he added.

HORRENDOUS INCIDENT

● THE 50-YEAR-OLD WOMAN, who had gone to a temple, was found dead under mysterious circumstances on Sunday.

● HER FAMILY members accused the temple priest and his accomplices of raping and killing her.

● THE PRIEST is being questioned and further action will be taken in accordance with the information provided by him.

● SOME MORE people are on police radar and they are also being questioned and all the angles are being looked into.

● CHIEF MINISTER Yogi Adityanath has ordered ‘strongest possible action’ in the case even as opposition parties have launched an attack on his government, terming the incident ‘horrific’ and ‘shameful’.

“shameful”, with the Congress comparing it to the Nirbhaya case. Following the incident, Bareilly ADG Avinash Chandra had visited the crime spot and announced a reward of ₹50,000 on the priest’s arrest. “Based on complaints from the family members and the post-mortem report, a case has been registered under sections 376D (gang-rape) and 302 (punishment for murder) of the IPC,” he had said. The ADG had said a second opinion on the post-mortem report was being sought from medical experts and only after that, any conclusion could be drawn. Budaun Chief Medical Officer (CMO) Dr Yashpal Singh said the woman died of trauma and excessive bleeding. Endorsing the CMO’s opinion, District Magistrate Kumar Prashant said, “Whatever help can be given from the department will be given. She was an anganwadi sahayika (helper). We are also paying attention to victim’s body to her house, saying it was found in a dry well on the temple premises.

The FIR was registered on Tuesday after an autopsy confirmed rape and the two accomplices of the priest were nabbed.

Culling continues in bird flu affected areas of Kerala

DC CORRESPONDENT THIRUVANANTHAPURAM, JAN. 8

Culling of poultry including ducks and chickens continued in Alappuzha and Kottayam districts of Kerala where bird flu cases were reported recently.

The animal husbandry department officials said more than 80,000 birds have been culled so far including 62,000 in Alappuzha district. A central team visited the affected areas of Alappuzha and Kottayam districts to study the outbreak of avian influenza the other day.

The three-member team of the Union health and family welfare ministry comprising experts from National Centre for Disease Control (NCDC) and institute of virology visited the hotspots in Alappuzha district.

The experts are examining the possibility of mutation of the H5N8 virus and whether it posed any risk to the human beings.

Samples collected from the affected areas are being subjected to lab investigations at the central institutes.

The team members held discussions with the district collectors and expressed satisfaction over the preventive steps taken so far. A health survey has been undertaken in the bird flu affected areas to find out if people residing in these places have complained of fever, influenza like illnesses or any other symptoms.

The workers engaged in culling operations have been given H1N1 preventive medicine.

MP honeytrap case: Seized CDs authentic

RABINDRA NATH CHOUDHURY | DC BHOPAL, JAN. 8

The sensational honey trapping and blackmailing scandal that came to light in September 2019 is set to return to haunt some high-profile people of the state after the Hyderabad-based Central Forensic Science Laboratory (CFSL) confirmed the authenticity of the sleaze CDs seized from the accused.

The Special Investigation Team (SIT) constituted by Madhya Pradesh police to probe the matter has received forensic test reports of the hard disk and CDs seized from some members of the alleged racket from the CFSL a couple of days ago.

“CFSL reports have confirmed that the hard disk and audios seized from some members of the racket

Kolkata, Jan. 8: The CPM-led Left Front and the Congress, which have entered into an electoral alliance for the coming Assembly elections in West Bengal, will organise a mega joint rally at Kolkata in February or March, LF chairman Biman Bose said here on Thursday.

Leaders of the LF and the Congress, who have been holding parleys regularly on seat-sharing arrangements, met for another round of discussions during the day.

The parties decided to jointly hold a mega rally at the Brigade Parade Ground either in February or in March, Bose said after the day’s meeting.

Bose, Leader of the Opposition in the outgoing Assembly, Abdul Mannan of the Congress and other leaders participated in the discussions.

The Congress High Command and the central leadership of constituent parties of the Left Front have given a go-ahead to their state units for a seat-sharing arrangement for the election to the 294-member Assembly due in April-May.

The LF and the Congress had contested the 2016 Assembly poll in the state in a seat-sharing arrangement, but the alliance had fallen apart after that and the Front and the Congress fought the 2019 Lok Sabha elections on their own.

In the 2016 Assembly elections, the LF-Congress alliance won 76 seats, with the Congress winning 44 seats and the Front emerging victorious in only 32 constituencies.

The Left Front failed to open its account in West Bengal in the 2019 Lok Sabha elections, while the Congress could manage to win two seats.

Actress claims she is being unfairly targeted for speaking out

Kangana quizzed for 2hrs in sedition case

SHAHAB ANSARI | DC MUMBAI, JAN. 8

Actor Kangana Ranaut and her sister Rangoli Chandel were questioned for two hours on Friday at the Bandra police station in Mumbai in a sedition case that has been filed against them. Earlier in the day, Ranaut had posted a video on Twitter saying she is being unfairly targeted for daring to speak her mind.

The sisters appeared before the police, as the Bombay High Court, while granting them interim protection from arrest had directed them to appear before the police on Friday. The HC is expected to continue hearing their petition on January 11.

Ranaut has been provided with ‘Y’ category security of CRPF personnel by the Union government.

Bollywood actress Kangana Ranaut arrives at a police station in Mumbai on Friday, after being summoned in connection with a sedition case.

The sisters reached the police station around 1pm along with their lawyer.

According to sources, the questioning is not complete because the police want to question her for her more than 100 tweets.

Meanwhile, the actress has shared a video on her official Twitter account claiming that she is being tortured emotionally, mentally and physically for speaking in the interest of the nation and recently speaking in favour for farmers.

The video is recorded in Hindi and the actress can be seen saying, “Why am I being mentally, emotionally and now physically tortured?” She has further stated that she needs answer from the nation. According to her, she stood by the nation and it’s time it stands for her.

She has narrated how a case was filed against her even for laughing and in another case her name was dragged even though she was not on Twitter at that point of time. However, the Apex Court rejected these cases.

“I have even been ordered to give haajri (attendance) at the police station although I don’t know for what reason. I have also been asked not to disclose to anyone or talk about the kind of torture I am facing. I want to ask the honourable Supreme Court, have we returned to the medieval age where women were burnt alive and their voices were silenced?” she said.

POLICE CHIEF QUILTS AFTER MOB INVASION

Washington, Jan. 8: The US Capitol police chief handed in his resignation Thursday, a day after Congress was invaded by a mob egged on by President Donald Trump, a source close to the agency said.

Steven Sund “is resigning effective January 16, 2021,” the source, who spoke on condition of anonymity, said, hours after House Speaker Nancy Pelosi called for his resignation, following sharp rebukes for what many criticised as a lack of preparation.

POMPEO SAYS US NOT ‘BANANA REPUBLIC’

Washington, Jan. 8: Secretary of State Mike Pompeo on Thursday hit back at assertions that a mob attack on the Capitol showed the United States to be a “banana republic.” A number of foreign critics as well as former US president George W. Bush made the analogy after rioters stirred up by President Donald Trump rampaged through a session of Congress that certified his loss to Joe Biden.

“The slander reveals a faulty understanding of banana republics and of democracy in America,” said the top US diplomat, a staunch Trump loyalist, as two other members of the cabinet resigned over Wednesday’s violence.

“In a banana republic, mob violence determines the exercise of power. In the United States, law enforcement officials quash mob violence so that the people’s representatives can exercise power in accordance with the rule of law and constitutional government,” Pompeo wrote on Twitter. Bush in a statement Wednesday made veiled criticism of the “reckless behavior” of members of his Republican Party in fueling the “insurrection.” “This is how election results are disputed in a banana republic – not our democratic republic,” Bush wrote.

STAY ON, LAWMAKERS TO WH STAFF

Washington, Jan. 8: US lawmakers urged White House staff to stay in their jobs amid a spate of resignations in protest at President Donald Trump’s support for the attack on Congress by his followers.

Senior Republican Senator Lindsey Graham urged top Trump aides to keep working for the final 14 days of the administration, naming chief of staff Mark Meadows, White House Counsel Pat Cipollone, and National Security Advisor Robert O’Brien.

“Most Americans will never know the service that Mark Meadows and Pat Cipollone and those under their charge provided to this country over the last year,” Graham said in a press conference.

“To those who believe you should leave your post now to make a statement, I would urge you not,” he said.

“To Robert O’Brien: you have been a good counsel to the president, you have been a steady hand. I’ve been missing your phone calls; Robert, stay on.” “To those in the national security apparatus, we need you now more than ever.” It was “a traumatic and entirely avoidable event as supporters of the President stormed the Capitol building following a rally he addressed,” said Chao, the wife of Senate majority Leader Mitch McConnell.

Earlier Thursday, former chief of staff Mick Mulvaney said he was quitting his diplomatic post.

Cops lenient with mob, severe with anti-racists

Los Angeles, Jan. 8: Like many Americans, President-elect Joe Biden on Thursday accused US authorities of treating a pro-Trump mob that stormed the Capitol more leniently than last year’s anti-racism demonstrators.

“No one can tell me that if it had been a group of Black Lives Matter protesting yesterday... they wouldn’t have been treated very, very differently than the mob of thugs that stormed the Capitol,” Biden said in an address from his hometown in Delaware.

“We all know that’s true, and it is unacceptable,” said Biden, who will take over the White House on January 20, after winning November’s election in part due to strong support

COPS REJECTED OFFERS FOR HELP

Pentagon asked if National Guard was needed, Justice Dept reached out with FBI

Washington, Jan. 8: Three days before supporters of President Donald Trump rioted at the Capitol, the Pentagon asked the US Capitol Police if it needed National Guard manpower.

And as the mob descended on the building Wednesday, Justice Department leaders reached out to offer up FBI agents. The police turned them down both times, according to senior defence officials and two people familiar with the matter.

Despite plenty of warnings of a possible insurrection and ample resources and time to prepare, the Capitol Police planned only for a free speech demonstration. Still stinging from the uproar over the violent response by law enforcement to protests last June near the White House, officials also were intent on avoiding any appearance that the federal government was deploying active duty or National Guard troops against Americans. The result is the US Capitol was overrun Wednesday and officers in a law enforcement agency with a large operating budget and experience in high-security events protecting lawmakers were overwhelmed for the world to see.

Four protesters died, including one shot inside the building. A Capitol Police officer died Thursday after being injured in the Wednesday melee. The rioting and loss of control has raised serious questions over security at the Capitol for future events. The actions of the day also raise troubling concerns about the treatment of mainly white Trump supporters, who were allowed to roam through the building for hours, while Black and brown protesters who demonstrated last year over police brutality faced more robust and aggressive policing.

“This was a failure of imagination, a failure of leadership,” said Houston Police Chief Art Acevedo, whose department responded to several large protests last year following the death of George Floyd. “The Capitol Police must do better and I don’t see how we can get around that.”

Acevedo said he has attended events on the Capitol grounds to honour slain police officers that had higher fences and a stronger security presence than what he saw on video Wednesday. Army Secretary Ryan McCarthy said that as the rioting was underway, it became clear that the Capitol Police were overrun. But he said there was no contingency planning done in advance for what forces could do in case of a problem at the Capitol because Defence Department help was turned down.

“They’ve got to ask us, the request has to come to us,” said McCarthy, US Capitol Police Chief Steven Sund, under pressure from Schumer, Pelosi and other congressional leaders, was forced to resign.

Senate Majority Leader Mitch McConnell asked for and received the resignation of the Sergeant at Arms of the Senate, Michael Stenger, effective immediately. Paul Irving, the longtime Sergeant at Arms of the House, also resigned. — AP

VP: No radical move to oust Don

Washington, Jan. 8: US Vice President Mike Pence is opposed to using the constitution’s 25th Amendment to force President Donald Trump from office, despite pressure from Democrats and some Republicans, the New York Times reported Thursday.

While Pence has not spoken publicly about invoking the mechanism, never used before in US history, the newspaper cited a person close to the vice president saying he is against the radical move.

The calls to remove Trump came after supporters who he had encouraged invaded and shut down the US Congress Wednesday as it was poised to certify the election victory of Trump’s rival, Democrat Joe Biden.

Democrats demanded action even though Trump only has 13 days left in office.

“This is an emergency of the highest magnitude,” said House Speaker Nancy Pelosi.

“By inciting sedition, as he did yesterday, he must be removed from office.” The Times said Pence’s stance is supported by several cabinet members, whose backing would be necessary to carry out a 25th Amendment removal.

Democrats in the US House of Representatives said that if the 25th Amendment is not invoked they will move quickly to impeach Trump.

“We have a limited period of time in which to act,” said House Judiciary Committee Chairman Jerry Nadler, who led the successful impeachment of Trump a year ago, before the president was ultimately acquitted by the Republican-led Senate.

Cop’s death takes unrest toll to five

Washington, Jan. 8: Flags over the US Capitol were lowered to half-staff Friday after the death of a police officer took to five the number of people who died after President Donald Trump’s supporters stormed the legislature.

US Capitol Police officer Brian Sicknick was reportedly struck in the head with a fire extinguisher on Wednesday while struggling with the rioters who swarmed through the halls of Congress.

The 42-year-old member of the force that protects the ground of the Congress returned to his division office where he collapsed and was taken to the hospital, according to the Capitol Police.

He died of his injuries late Thursday, they said. According to reports, the FBI will open a murder investigation into his death.

House Speaker Nancy Pelosi ordered flags over the Capitol lowered in his honour.

“The violent and deadly act of insurrection targeting the Capitol, our temple of American Democracy, and its workers was a profound tragedy and stain on our nation’s history,” she said. — AFP

Pelosi: Remove Trump urgently

Washington, Jan. 8: US House Speaker Nancy Pelosi called Thursday for President Donald Trump to be urgently removed from power, branding him “a very dangerous person who should not continue in office.”

“This is an emergency of the highest magnitude,” the top-ranking Democrat in Congress said as she urged Vice President Mike Pence and Trump’s cabinet to invoke the 25th amendment, one day after a pro-Trump mob stormed the Capitol with his encouragement in a bid to overturn the presidential election results.

Trump to skip Biden swearing

Washington, Jan. 8: President Donald Trump said Friday he won’t attend President-elect Joe Biden’s Inauguration on January 20. He will be the first incumbent president since Andrew Johnson to skip his successors inauguration.

To all of those who have asked, I will not be going to the Inauguration on January 20th,” Trump tweeted. Trump offered no clues for how he would spend his final hours in office. Biden will become president at noon on January 20 regardless of Trump’s plans. On Thursday Trump delivered a video statement admitting his presidency would soon end.

Sedition charge likely for rioters

Washington, Jan. 8: The top federal prosecutor for the District of Columbia has said that “all options are on the table” for charging members of the violent pro-Trump mob that stormed the US Capitol — including sedition charges.

Michael Sherwin, acting US attorney for DC, said prosecutors plan to file 15 federal cases on Thursday for crimes including unauthorised access and theft of property, and investigators are combing through reams of evidence to bring additional charges. “All of those charges are on the table. ... We will bring the most maximum charges we can,” he said.

Capitol storming: Two Cabinet members quit

Washington, Jan. 8: Two members of Donald Trump’s Cabinet resigned Thursday with days left in the administration in protest over the storming of the Capitol by a mob of the president’s supporters.

The education secretary and transportation secretary — the only two women in Trump’s inner Cabinet — both said they could no longer remain in office after the violent rampage on a ceremonial session of Congress that certified President-elect Joe Biden’s victory.

“That behaviour was unconscionable for our country. There is no mistaking the impact your rhetoric had on the situation, and it is the inflection point for me,” said Education Secretary Betsy DeVos, a conservative stalwart who had served throughout the administration.

“Impressionable children are watching all this, and they are learning from us,” she said in a letter to Trump.

“They must know from us that America is greater than what transpired yesterday,” Transportation Secretary Elaine Chao, who is married to Republican Senate majority Leader Mitch McConnell, earlier said it was “a traumatic and entirely avoidable event as supporters of the president stormed the Capitol building following a rally he addressed.” “It has deeply troubled me in a way I simply cannot set aside,” she added.

Trump considering self-pardon: US media

Washington, Jan. 8: Embattled President Donald Trump has discussed with his close aides the possibility of pardoning himself before leaving the office on January 20, US media reports have said, amid growing calls for his removal from the White House. According to CNN, some of those conversations happened in recent weeks, and Trump has asked about the legal and political consequences of a self-pardon.

The news comes as Democratic and Republican lawmakers alike rebuked Trump’s conduct as thousands of his supporters stormed the US Capitol building on Wednesday and clashed with police, resulting in four deaths and interrupting a constitutional process by Congress to affirm the victories of President-elect Joe Biden and Vice President-elect Kamala Harris in the November 3 election.

It is not clear if the issue has come up since Wednesday’s mayhem at the Capitol building fomented by the President’s rhetoric or after his recent controversial call with the Georgia Secretary of State Brad Raffensperger, the report said, citing multiple sources.

The president has also asked for legal opinions on whether he has the authority to issue a self-pardon and has been advised on the potential political fallout, it said. The New York Times reported on Thursday that Trump has suggested in conversations since Election Day that he wants to pardon himself. — AFP

True picture of economy emerges in official data

In the wake of the information revolution, governments, too, are becoming savvy in the art of sophisticated media management that enables them to have their say in direct interaction with the people beyond the traditional print and TV media. However, such management also leads to the sowing of doubts in the minds of people as they struggle to sift real facts from managed news. Something similar may have happened in the case of the official Indian narrative about the economy.

The lockdown — the toughest in the world — had wiped out nearly 25 per cent of the country’s productivity, but there was no official admission. Government officials did not directly comment on the sorry state of economic affairs even though several agencies, including the Reserve Bank of India, had painted a grim economic scenario. The moment of truth may have come when the National Statistical Office (NSO), a statistical body under the Union ministry of statistics and programme implementation, released its report on the economic outlook.

On Thursday, NSO projected a 7.7 per cent contraction for the Indian economy in 2020-21, highlighting the damage that the coronavirus has inflicted on the Indian economy. Though the contraction has become slightly milder after September 2020, making many analysts suggest a V-shaped recovery, the real picture has not become any better.

According to NSO data, the business of services like trade, hotels, transport, communication and broadcast is expected shrink by 21.4 per cent, construction sector which has a multiplier effect on other industries is expected to shrink by 12.6 per cent, mining and quarrying are projected to witness a degrowth of 12.4 per cent, and manufacturing is projected to lose productivity by 9.4 per cent. When such key segments of the economy are witnessing a degrowth, the economy can never be said to be in pink of its health. The impact of such widespread deceleration in the economy is evident in unemployment that has been left undressed for a long time.

In a recent report, the Centre for Monitoring Indian Economy (CMIE) said the unemployment rate in the country rose sharply to 9.1 per cent in December 2020, which is the highest since the beginning of India’s recovery from the lockdown in June. The jobless rate stood at 10.99 per cent in June 2020. Unemployment in urban India rose from 7.1 per cent to 8.8 per cent.

While there is an improvement in hiring intentions in some sectors, a survey conducted by Manpower Group claims that it would take at least nine months for the country to reach pre-Covid levels. This scenario presents a tightrope walk for the government, as jobs will not increase unless economic output rises. Higher economic output and consumer confidence, however, are mutually dependent. People will not splurge unless they are confident about their financial future, which once again depends on the country’s economic growth. Therefore, the role of the government and rich corporations assumes greater significance to spur economic growth of the country.

FB, Twitter: Action too late

Facebook and Instagram have banned Donald Trump “indefinitely”, or at least until the end of his term. He will be denied access to his 35 million followers on Facebook but retains the key to addressing 88 million followers on Twitter because that platform has not taken as bold a stand and had locked him out only for 12 hours on the fateful day. Of course, social media, often criticised for being the publicity megaphone for the likes of the obstreperous US President, had acted belatedly and only after all that distressing violence had taken place on Capitol Hill. They were clearly guilty of bolting the doors after the horses had fled.

The action against Mr Trump is a warning shot that should have come long ago when he was blatantly misusing the social media after having built up his influence on them and misused the platforms to challenge the election results. The influence that the likes of Facebook, Twitter and YouTube wield as a platform linking people in the US, Europe, India and many other countries is huge. It is on record that the social media have been used as a vehicle for hate and not only in the obvious case of Trump and his acolytes. However, the conspiracy theorist QAnon also used other sites like Gab and Parler to gather members for the attack on democracy.

The point is social media has been guilty of allowing extremism to grow. Its lackadaisical attitude to curbing toxic content while chasing advertisement revenue based on number of users has led us to such a pass. It was never in the public interest to allow hate to come to a boil and let violence result from people operating in closed social media networks. By his perverse actions Mr Trump has become a stark warning to those who use the social media for nefarious purposes. In India, Facebook and others have been as reluctant to shut down unacceptable use to whip up communal passions and outright hate based on religion despite warnings from the government and civil rights groups. Will they reform at least now?

Reassert ‘core’ values & halt democracy’s decay

Ashwani Kumar

In his book The Age Rights (1990), Prof. Louis Henkin, a celebrated scholar of international law, had claimed “human rights is the idea of our time, the only political-moral idea that has received universal acceptance”. However, an objective analysis of the situation throughout the world, including India, belies that claim.

This disquieting conclusion flows from a distressing institutional response to the egregious infraction of human rights, raising a profoundly important question on the functioning of our democratic institutions. Repeated abuse of several stringent laws with punitive consequences has resulted from a reversal of the presumption of innocence in favour of the accused, declared by the Supreme Court as a human right. (Bhramajeet Singh Sharma, 2005)

Demonstrated arbitrariness in investigative processes and the failure of the Indian State to enact a comprehensive anti-custodial torture law question our willingness to civilise ourselves in the use of State power. Denial of basic human rights to undertrials, poignantly exemplified in the refusal of a sipper to an 80-year-old undertrial priest suffering from Parkinson’s disease and the refusal of jail guards to allow an incarcerated public intellectual access to a pair of spectacles must shame the nation. This, despite Justice V.R. Krishna Iyer’s binding edict in the Sunil Batra case as early as 1978, that fundamental rights “do not part company with the prisoner at the prison gates...” Indiscriminate arrests of citizens on charges of sedition are etched in public memory as a repressive act of State power intended to crimi-nalise dissent. Unconscionable arrests for inter-faith marriages mischievously labelled as “love jihad” have scarred the constitutional conscience. Heart rending sights of a dog nibbling at a dead woman’s body inside a hospital, and the reported beating to death of a dalit worker just because he had served himself a mouthful of food while clearing the leftovers, condemn us irretrievably as a heartless society. Are we then really a people who can claim that they live in the shelter of each other? Despite the Supreme Court’s repeated directives, trials by the media continue to infract the citizens’ right to liberty, fair trial and reputation.

As the highest forum of democracy, Parliament too cannot escape its share of responsibility for our faltering record on human rights. The three controversial agricultural reforms laws affecting the economic condition and dignity of millions of India’s farmers, passed in both Houses of Parliament without any discussion by a voice vote, is a recent illustration. The enactment of often abused “broad” laws without thoughtful deliberation have had grave consequences for the liberty and dignity of citizens.

The offices of the Lokpal, the Central Information Commission and the National Human Rights Commission have remained largely dormant in practice, except for the occasional and unenforced interventions. Our national leaders, captive to personal animosities and dwarfed by timidity in the face of power, remain obsessed with a “manipulative conversation about our future”, with little time to address themselves to the defining challenges of our times. Thus politics, denuded of its larger purpose, thrives on the tyranny of the strong over the weak and is bereft of any inspiring moral appeal.

However, the nation’s greatest regret is that having declared human dignity anchored in deference to human rights as a core constitutional value (Common Cause, 2018), the Supreme Court has failed to lean consistently in favour of individual rights against the State. Given the national context, Chief Justice S.A. Bobde’s recent suggestion of a restricted recourse to Article 32 in bail matters is rather unfortunate and in some ways is a denial of its raison d’être. Citing with approval Ronald Dworkin’s assertion of a right to individual dignity against the government in Puttaswamy (2017), the court’s recent record in enforcing this right is, at best, mixed.

The continuing incarceration of public intellectuals, political leaders, academics and dissenters, even where the weight of evidence against them is prima facie weak, has regrettably blemished the court’s otherwise sterling record as the sentinel of our fundamental rights. The Supreme Court’s profound pronouncements in Shreya Singhal (2015), Shabnam (2015), Puttaswamy (Supra), Nambi Narayan (2018), Navtej Johar (2018), Anuradha Bhasin (2020) and several earlier decisions notwithstanding, its inability to enforce its own judgments has dented its standing as a designated guardian of constitutional principles. Deference of its hearing on the Rohingya petitions, the challenge to the Citizenship

Clearly, this is our moment of reckoning. We must acknowledge the truth of a diminished Indian democracy and our collective failures. Hopefully, the process of democratic erosion can be arrested...

Amendment Act’s validity and on the abrogation of Articles 370 and 35A of the Constitution, the petitions concerning the plight of the elderly and their right to dignity, a hesitant intervention in aid of the coronavirus migrants and misplaced priorities in the hearing and disposal of cases have added to the blemish.

The need to reclaim a consistent vocabulary of constitutional discourse rooted in intellectual integrity is self-evident. The highest court has itself reminded us that the majesty of courts lies in the objectivity, consistency and wisdom of its judgments, not in the “coercive power of judges, but the deference and respect which is paid to them and their acts from an opinion of their justice and integrity” (Baradakanta Misra, 1974).

Clearly, this is our moment of reckoning. We must acknowledge the truth of a diminished Indian democracy and our collective failures. Hopefully, the process of democratic erosion can be arrested with the citizens’ collective assertion of our core constitutional values. Despite the disappointments, we can take comfort in history’s abiding lesson — that the ideals of freedom, equality and justice are best secured in the consciousness of an enlightened people and that no one can diminish the appeal of dignity or extinguish the flame of liberty as long as it burns brightly in our hearts. We know that “the history of the world is none other than the progress of consciousness of freedom” and “the arc of the moral universe bends towards justice”. In these testing times, when the centre have ceased to hold, a relentless pursuit of human dignity admits of no bystanders. To recall Thomas Paine’s felicity: “When my country... was on fire about my ears, it was time to stir. It was time for every man to stir.”

BLACK DAY FOR US

January 6th will be remembered as a black day for American democracy. That Trump’s supporters went to attack Capitol Hill is the height of absurdity. Trump has never shied away to foster and use divisions and prejudices to pursue his own interests. His tenure is not known for respecting democratic norms. Now the emboldened mob attack shows the deep-rooted malaise and divisions along party lines in American society.

Dr D.V.G. Sankararao
Vizianagaram

Trump should be impeached and tried for criminal instigation leading to attempted seizure of Capitol Hill and arson by his hired goons. Narendra Modi should also publicly apologise for his unsavoury shenanigans with Trump during ‘Howdy Modi in the US and ‘Kem Chho?’ in Ahmedabad.

BJP’S FAILURE

It is surprising that in spite of AP BJP leaders best efforts to cash in on Sri Kodandarama Swamy temple issue, they couldn’t (BJP leaders detained over attempt to visit Ram temple, DC, Jan. 8). BJP state president Somu Veeraju who fainted, failed to make an impact on general public as they might have thought that these protests of BJP leaders are fake. It is very clear that BJP cannot succeed in AP until unless they change their attitude and political policies.

Of Chinese virus, Spanish flu, UK strain: Do points of origin matter?

The soon-to-be ex-President Donald Trump insists on calling the Covid-19 plague the “Chinese virus”. Very many viruses have been given adjectival and territorial names. The least antagonistic is “common cold”. It blames no nation, continent or species as do the descriptions like “Spanish flu”, “Asian flu”, “swine flu” and “bird flu”.

The last two are comparatively innocuous but Mr Trump’s insistence on calling this worldwide pandemic “Chinese” is part of his nastiness and his attempt to deepen the antagonism between Americans and all things Chinese.

I don’t know if there was any malignant intention on the part of Britons who christened that infliction “Spanish”. Just part of British xenophobic contempt. I have no doubt that if Mr Trump is challenged, he will produce evidence that the Covid-19 pandemic originated in Wuhan. He might even say that it was deliberately set free from a laboratory there in accordance with some devilish Chinese world domination strategy.

Incidentally, there is now an invitation from Wuhan scientists for objective observers to re-examine the common claim that the epidemic originated in that city. What the result of this challenge will be is yet to be seen.

Britain is, as I write, gentle reader, under a severe lockdown. The last two weeks have seen an exponential rise in the number of cases of infection and the number of deaths as a result. I use the word exponential literally, as the graphs of the spread that are plastered on the TV screen each day and night are the shape of the ones that we studied for our Pune University maths degrees.

The increase in person-to-person transmission of the pandemic, scientists say, is owing to the virus having mutated. The mutation is, the epidemiology and science tell us, is much more easily transmitted through the air. And now this mutat-ed organism, is with some justification, known in Spain as the “British virus”.

Referring to it as such is possibly motivated by Spanish revenge.

The phrases “British variant”, “British mutant virus” and other such descriptions are spreading through the world media and, of course, occasioning a backlash in Britain, even though the fact stands that the mutant strain and its effects were first noticed in this country. Nevertheless, there is a sense of shrill protests of victimisation from those who challenge the description.

One of the shrillest protesters is a character called Roger Helmer, who used to be a British Member of the European Parliament (MEP) and is a supporter of the jingoistic United Kingdom Independence Party (UKIP).

His tweet, reported in Private Eye, says “it was FIRST IDENTIFIED in the UK” and that is not tantamount to it originating in the UK. Earlier last year, Mr Helmer had objected to the characterisation of Mr Trump’s contention that this pandemic was a “Chinese virus” as racist.

“So, is it racist to mention ‘Chinese food’ or ‘Indian curry’ or ‘Korean Kimchee’ or ‘German Sauerkraut’?

So why not ‘Chinese virus’?” he tweeted to his followers.

One may wonder how many of his followers have now noticed a flaw, dissension or even hypocrisy in his statements.

I don’t tweet (though I can whistle inefficiently), but if I did, I might point out to poor Roger that if a virus first identified in China can be called the “Chinese virus”, then a variant of it which was first identified in Britain... “Geddit Roj, me ole fruitcake?”

And then there is the question of what characterises a flu as Spanish. Does it say, “tonight we drink, tomorrow we kill the gringos!” as it threatens to infect another human, or “hasta la vista?” as it is expelled or killed by a vaccine?

The gaping flaw in poor Roger’s argument is that “Indian curry” carries in its flavour everything that characterises Indian cuisine. If I want, which I frequently do, a “Goa sausage”, I want it not just because it originates in Goa, but because it contains the ingredients and flavours particular to that region — a bratwurst or a Polish-garlic sausage won’t do just as well. Whereas Covid-19 doesn’t carry the characteristics of anything Chinese and its variant, apart from infesting places where the sun never sets, has nothing British about it.

Of course, viruses, just like us Parsis, are sometimes named after the things we do and sometimes after the places from which we come. So, a Parsi called Batliwalla must have ancestors who dealt in bottles — and it should be quite clear what my distant relatives Russi Immoralearningswalla and Imoji Feromonereplacementwalla do for their living.

And moving on to places, Satarawalla and Poonawalla come from the places with those names. What has always been a dilemma for my family is the origin of our surname “Dhondy”. It certainly doesn’t derive from the town of Dhond in Maharashtra, so eliminating geographical origins, we come to professions. Now in some Gujarati dialects the word might mean stonebreaker, which points to the option that my ancestors could have been stone masons.

The other possibility, which we pointedly disregard, was that they were perhaps put to breaking stones in an institution as guests in the colonial era of His Imperial Majesty, the King Emperor.

■ Lower margins, higher loan growth seen Q3 to be a mixed bag for lenders

FALAKNAAZ SYED
MUMBAI, JAN. 8

Third quarter (Q3FY21) earnings for banks are expected to be a mixed bag this season. While credit flow and collection efficiency could slightly improve quarter-on-quarter (QoQ), driven by a bounce back in the retail sector and sustained momentum in agriculture, the asset quality recognition could be delayed again by a quarter due to the Supreme Court's impending decision on loan recast. Hence, gross non-performing asset (GNPA) ratios might be a tad better QoQ, with lenders reporting asset quality adjusted for the SC verdict. Other income may dip sequentially due to lower treasury gains and fee income.

The Supreme Court in its order last year had banned banks from marking defaulted loans as non-performing assets (NPAs). The apex court had earlier directed banks not to recognise fresh NPAs, till further orders in the interest on interest case. A public interest litigation (PIL) was earlier filed in the Supreme Court to waive off interest on interest for borrowers during the March to August moratorium period.

Provisional data released by private banks showed slight improvement in loan growth sequentially during the December quarter compared to the September quarter. According to analysts, large banks are likely to report better credit growth. The country's largest private sector lender, HDFC Bank, reported a loan growth of 16 per cent for the quarter ended December 2020. In a BSE filing, HDFC Bank said, its advances aggregated to about Rs 10.82 lakh crore as of December 31, a growth of around 16 per cent. The total loans and advances for Yes Bank grew by 1.8 per cent to Rs 1.69 lakh crore.

"For our banks, we see better QoQ loan growth of 2 per cent versus one per cent in the last quarter, although net interest margin (NIM) may contract by 10 basis points to 3.4 per cent due to the flow through impact of lower deposit rates. Provisioning could remain elevated as banks might be conservative on future recognition. Consequently, net profit may decline by 17 per cent QoQ to Rs 9,280 crore," said Gaurav Jani, analyst, Centrum Broking. Motilal Oswal Institutional Equities said, "higher credit costs, coupled with suppressed credit growth, are likely to put pressure on near-term earnings. Although slippages are likely to increase in 2HFY21, we expect heavyweights like Kotak Mahindra Bank/HDFC Bank to post a PAT growth of 20 per cent/11 per cent year on year. We expect net profit for IndusInd Bank/Federal Bank/Axis Bank/ICICI Bank to decline by 56 per cent/20 per cent/15 per cent/14 per cent year on year."

"PSU Banks are expected to deliver NIL/PAT growth of 2.8 per cent/around 18 per cent year on year, led by Bank of Baroda, which is expected to report a profit in 3Q," it added.

Sharekhan said, "even though overall credit growth has been weak on system levels, at 5 per cent over the previous year, larger and well placed banks such as HDFC Bank, ICICI, SBI are expected to report better advances growth."

SBI RAISES DISCOUNTS ON HOME LOANS BY 30 BPS

FALAKNAAZ SYED
MUMBAI, JAN. 8

The country's largest lender, State Bank of India (SBI), on Friday announced further interest concession of upto 30 basis points (bps) on home loans and full waiver on processing fees. One basis point is one hundredth of a percentage point.

The higher interest concession would be based on the loan amount, the creditworthiness of the borrower and the location of the property and would be available till March 2021.

"The largest home loan lender has sweetened its past offers and now provides higher interest concession based on loan amount, the creditworthiness of the borrowers and the location of the property. SBI believes that it is important to offer better rates to customers displaying good repayment history. SBI home loan interest rates are linked to Cibil score and start from 6.80 per cent for loans up to Rs 30 lakh and 6.95 per cent for loans above Rs 30 lakhs. Interest concessions up to 30 bps is also available in eight metro cities for loans up to Rs 5 crore," the lender said in a statement.

Customers can also apply via Yono app or from home loans.sbi/www.sbihomein59minutes.com and get additional interest concession of 5 bps, the bank said in a statement.

TCS beats estimates after Covid drives digital boom

SARITHA RAI
JAN. 8

Tata Consultancy Services Ltd beat expectations after record deal wins underscored a global shift toward digitization during the pandemic.

Asia's largest software outsourcing provider reported profit rose to Rs 8,700 crore ($1.2 billion) in the quarter ended December, compared with the average estimate of Rs 8,590 crore. Sales climbed to Rs 42,020 crore.

India's top software companies like TCS and rival Infosys Ltd were expected to deliver their best December-quarter performance in a decade, defying a global downturn. Despite struggling with lockdowns that forced hundreds of thousands of their employees to work from home, the IT services industry has largely experienced healthy order pipelines, steady revenues and expanding margins.

India's $181 billion tech outsourcing industry is riding a wave of digital transformation that's expected to underpin deal signings and outlook revisions from its top players. Technology emerged as the second-best performing sector in India's equity market last year, behind only healthcare, as the pandemic hastened a push toward digitalization and work-from-home activities spurred demand for video-conferencing, cloud services and e-commerce. Global banks and insurers are accelerating efforts to shed non-core assets, like in-house tech support, as they navigate uncertainty over the Covid-19 pandemic.

Bloomberg Intelligence said, a boost in spending on digital transformations and a need for deeper IT savings will be the main drivers that accelerate sales growth over the next "two-three quarters."

Indices inch up on rotational buying

RAVI RANJAN PRASAD
MUMBAI, JAN. 8

The market closed at a new record high, led by buying in IT & auto stocks, with third quarter earnings expectations and global cues boosting investor sentiments.

Foreign portfolio investors were net buyers of equities worth Rs 6,029.83 crore while the domestic institutions were net sellers by Rs 2,372.54 crore.

"Global cues were positive as investors expected that a new Democratic-controlled US government would lead to heavy spending and borrowing to support the country's economic recovery," said Siddhartha Khemka, head-research, Motilal Oswal Financial Services.

"The rally was led by the IT stocks, BSE IT index was up by 3.55 per cent, on high expectation from TCS result, which was to be announced by the company after the market hours," he said.

BSE Auto Index also gained 3.37 per cent, led by gains for Maruti Suzuki (5.94 per cent), Eicher Motors (4.23 per cent), Mahindra & Mahindra (3.51 per cent) and Hero MotoCorp (3.31 per cent) and Bajaj Auto (2.75 per cent).

Retail investors book profit in equity, hybrid MFs for sixth month

RAVI RANJAN PRASAD
MUMBAI, JAN. 8

Equity and hybrid mutual fund schemes saw continued outflows worth over Rs 16,000 crore in December 2020 due to ongoing redemptions for the sixth month in a row, as per monthly data released by Association of Mutual Funds in India (Amfi).

However, the rally in the equity market and inflows of over Rs 13,862 crore in the debt schemes helped the industry's total asset under management to top Rs 31 lakh crore in December, a new all-time high, at Rs 31,02,475 crore, as on December 31. In November, the total mutual industry AUM stood at Rs 30,00,904 crore.

N. S. Venkatesh, chief executive, Amfi, said, "while net-inflows in equity funds and hybrid are indeed negative, on the back of profit-led redemptions, the gross inflows are a healthy Rs 36,000 crore in these two categories."

Equity-oriented schemes saw outflow of equity assets worth Rs 10,147 crore while hybrid schemes saw outflows worth Rs 5,932 crore. Barring sectoral/thematic fund (Rs 3,412 crore) and dividend yield fund (Rs 1,490 crore) all other equity-oriented schemes saw outflows.

Himanshu Srivastava, associate director-manager research, Morningstar India, said, "Outflows were witnessed across equity fund categories except for dividend yield and sectoral/thematic funds categories, given both these categories saw the launch of new funds, which managed to garner investor interest. These NFOs collected assets worth Rs 6,312 crore. Large-cap and multi-cap categories were the worst hit during the month. These two categories together witnessed a net outflow of Rs 7,417.16 crore in December."

In debt schemes, corporate bond fund (Rs 8,609 crore), short duration fund (Rs 3,953 crore), overnight fund (Rs 7,410 crore) and liquid fund (Rs 5,102 crore) saw inflows.

FPOs NO LONGER NEED MINIMUM CONTRIBUTION FROM PROMOTER

New Delhi, Jan. 8: Capital markets watchdog Sebi on Friday relaxed the framework for follow-on public offers (FPOs), a move that will help promoters of companies to raise funds more easily through this route.

The applicability of minimum promoters' contribution norm and the subsequent lock-in requirements for the issuers making FPO have been done away with by the regulator, as per a notification.

Earlier, promoters had to contribute 20 per cent towards a company's FPO. Besides, in case of any issue of capital to the public, the minimum promoters' contribution was required to be locked-in for three years.

The regulator said the relaxation would be available for companies which are frequently traded on a stock exchange for at least three years. Also, such firms should have redressed 95 per cent of investor complaints.

The issuer company needs to be in compliance with the LODR (Listing Obligations and Disclosures Requirements) Regulations for at least three years, according to Sebi. —PTI

Hyundai stock turns red hot on reports of tie-up for Apple car

YOOJUNG LEE
JAN. 8

A reported potential tie-up with Apple Inc is making South Korea's second-richest family even richer.

Shares of Hyundai Motor Company jumped as much as 25 per cent in Seoul on Friday --the most since 1988--after the company said it's been receiving requests to cooperate on developing self-driving electric vehicles. An earlier report in local media named the US tech giant.

That boosted the combined fortune of Hyundai Motor Group chairman Euisun Chung and his father, Mong-Koo, by some $2 billion, according to the Bloomberg Billionaires Index.

Euisun, who succeed his

father as the group's chairman in October, has been pushing for technologies, including electric and driverless vehicles to turn the carmaker into one of the world's leaders.

Hyundai Motor will spend more than 60 trillion won ($55 billion) in those areas over the next five years and in 2019 set up a $4 billion autonomous-driving joint venture with a General Motors Co. spin-off. It plans to release its first electric vehicle this year.

Any collaboration with a big tech company could boost that push. Apple has said it will take at least five years to introduce an autonomous, electric vehicle, according to people familiar with the plans, meaning that it's in no hurry to decide on potential auto-industry partners.

With Friday's stock surge, Euisun Chung is now worth $5 billion and his father's wealth has jumped to $7.4 billion. The two directly hold about 8 per cent of Hyundai Motor.

China has ordered its domestic media to censor reports about an antitrust probe into Alibaba Group Holding Ltd, signalling how the issue has become a matter of national political sensitivity, the Financial Times reported.

A directive issued by the

Vessel owners don't know which alternative technology to be adopted

Ship orders dip 50% over fuel use uncertainty

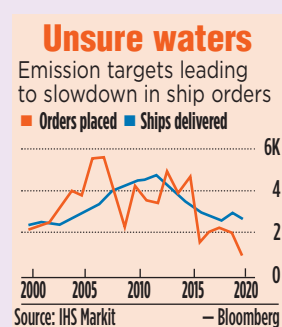

ELIZABETH LOW & JACK WITTELS
JAN. 8

Ship owners facing looming deadlines to use less-polluting fuels have slashed the number of new vessels on order because they don't know which alternative technology to switch to.

Ammonia, hydrogen, biofuels and electrification are some of the many contenders to power the world's future merchant fleet, but most are only in the trial stage and won't be scalable for at least a decade. With the life of a commercial ship averaging around 20 years, opting for a technology that doesn't take off could be very costly.

But owners are running out of time to make the choice. In 2018 the International Maritime Organization set a target to cut shipping's greenhouse-gas emissions in half by 2050 from 2008 levels. The deadline prompted some ship owners to hold off on new orders until it became clearer which new fuels would be the best option--a decline that has turned into a slump with the subsequent global trade disputes and the pandemic. Orders fell almost 10 per cent in 2019 and then more than 50 per cent in 2020 to the lowest in at least two decades, IHS Markit data show. If activity doesn't pick up, that could lead to a dearth of vessels and a spike in freight rates in a few years.

"People aren't ordering ships because we don't know what to fuel them with," said Morten Aarup, head of market research at Danish vessel owner D/S Norden A/S. "Engineers, ship designers need to come together" urgently to find the best solution, he said in a recent panel discussion on shipping trends.

Ship owners who fail to switch to new, cleaner vessels could find themselves at a competitive disadvantage as more customers demand environmentally-friendly transport. About 12.3 per cent of vessels on order have alternative-fuel propulsion, compared with just 0.6 per cent of the current global fleet, according to data from Drewry Maritime Services.

But the use of alternative fuels in shipping is still in its infancy, with many of the big ship owners pursuing different alternatives. Trafigura Group, one of the world's biggest energy traders, has a stake in a company selling marine biofuels, vessel classification society Lloyd's Register has given approval in principle to several ammonia-fuelled ship projects and Swedish tanker line Stena Bulk AB is planning to run some of its vessels on used cooking oil.

IOC member not sure of Olympics

Tokyo: A senior member of the International Olympic Committee has said he can't be certain the postponed Tokyo Olympics will open in just over six months because of the surging pandemic in Japan and elsewhere. The comments by Canadian IOC member Richard Pound to British broadcaster the BBC came as Japanese Prime Minister Yoshihide Suga declared a state of emergency on Thursday for Tokyo and surrounding prefectures. I can't be certain because the ongoing elephant in the room would be the surges in the virus, Pound said speaking about the future of the Tokyo Games. Japan's emergency order, which is largely voluntary, will be in force until the first week of February. It's crunch time for Tokyo. Organizers say the Olympics will take place, but they are not expected to reveal concrete plans until spring. — AP

Fifa ex-president Blatter in hospital

Geneva: Former FIFA president Sepp Blatter has been taken to hospital, a Swiss newspaper said on Thursday, but media insisted the disgraced official's life was not in danger. "My father is in hospital. He's getting better every day. But he needs time and rest," his daughter Corinne Blatter Andenmatten was quoted as saying by Blick, which said the he was in a serious but non-life-threatening condition. "On behalf of my family, I ask for privacy," his daughter said. Blatter was removed from office in 2015 after 17 years at the head of world football's governing body. He was suspended from football for six years over a two million Swiss franc payment to then UEFA boss Michel Platini in 2011. Blatter and Platini are now being investigated for alleged "fraud" and "breach of trust" in Switzerland. — AFP

Colaco goals earn win for Hyderabad

Vasco: Hyderabad FC piled further misery on NorthEast United, extending the Highlanders' winless run to six games with a thumping 4-2 victory in the Indian Super League here on Friday. Hyderabad took the lead through goals from Aridane Santana (3rd minute) and Joel Chianese (36th) before a penalty from Federico Gallego (45th) and Benjamin Lambot's strike (45th) helped NEUFC draw parity before the break. Hyderabad settled the tie in their favour in the second half through late goals from substitute Liston Colaco, who scored in the 85th and 90th minutes. The first half was a dramatic and open-ended contest with both sides creating ample chances. The North East side fashioned more opportunities and despite a two-goal deficit, fought their way back with two goals late in the opening half. — PTI

Smith scores century but Jadeja, Gill star for India

Sydney, Jan. 8: Steve Smith's typically gutsy hundred was neutralised by Ravindra Jadeja's four-wicket haul and rookie Shubman Gill's fluent half-century as a resolute India reached 96/2 after dismissing Australia for 338 on the second day of the third Test here on Friday.

The Indian bowlers, especially Jadeja (18-3-62-4) and the ever-dependable Jasprit Bumrah (25.4-7-66-2), were brilliant with their length on a flat SCG deck where Smith (131 off 226 balls) along with Marnus Labuschagne (91 off 196 balls) raised visions of a 450-plus total by taking the side to 206 for 2 at one stage.

But in the end, 338 was all they managed in a little less than 106 overs with none of the other batsmen making any telling contribution.

It was only fitting that Jadeja's split second brilliance from the deep found Smith short of his crease.

Then it was the calm and collected Gill (50, 101 balls), who was assured during those cover drives off Nathan Lyon and equally breathtaking while presenting his forward defence to Pat Cummins.

The 21-year-old and Rohit Sharma (26 off 77 balls) added 70 in 27 overs but more importantly set the stage for skipper Ajinkya Rahane (5 batting off 40 balls) and Cheteshwar Pujara (9 batting off 53 balls) to cash in on the batting-friendly conditions on the third day.

It was Gill's maiden Test half century in just his second match.

The Australian attack looked more insipid than ever and Rohit, playing his first game in nearly two months, did all the hard work for nearly two hours before failing to check an uppish drive that was pounced by the bowler. But it was a day when India had two openers, who were both ready to pull the fast bowlers during their opening spells and dominate Nathan Lyon with precise footwork. — PTI

Sydney, Jan. 8: An exceptional all-rounder, India's Ravindra Jadeja was pretty chuffed about running Steve Smith out with a direct hit in the ongoing third Test against Australia and called it his "best ever" fielding effort which he can watch any number of times.

Smith, who was batting on 130 and was in a mood to slog every ball in company of No.11 batsman Josh Hazlewood, couldn't beat a direct throw from Jadeja, who sprinted from his deep square leg position and effected a direct hit with throw reminiscent of the great Kapil Dev during his heydays.

Asked what will he like to watch, the four wickets he got or the run-out, the senior all-rounder replied: "I will rewind and play this run-out as this is my best effort. A direct hit from outside the circle and that's like a moment that gives you that satisfaction."

Sydney, Jan. 8: A new three-day lockdown in Brisbane has put Cricket Australia in a spot of bother as it makes desperate efforts to hold the fourth and final Test against India in the Queensland state capital from January 15.

The Lockdown was announced less than 24 hours after top cricket board officials from India and Australia were engaged in a discussion on relaxation of hard quarantine measures for the visitors.

Australia's Steve Smith celebrates after scoring a century against India on the second day of their third Test at the Sydney Cricket Ground on Friday.

Smith laughs off form slump

Sydney, Jan. 8: Former Australia skipper Steve Smith dismissed talk of a form slump but credited a more positive attitude after his batting century against India in Sydney on Friday.

He reached three figures in a Test for the first time since 2019, smacking 131 for his 27th ton to help steer Australia to a first innings 338.

He bounced back after failing to reach double figures in the opening two Tests, which sparked a flurry of concern about his form among pundits and the media.

But Smith said he was never worried, pointing out that he hit pulsating back-to-back centuries in the limited-overs series against India late last year. "I read a lot of things and plenty of people said I was out of form so it was nice to come back into form, if that's what you want to call it," he said.

"I mean, it was only about three or four weeks ago that I scored two hundreds at the Sydney Cricket Ground. So yeah, it kind of just makes me laugh sometimes when people say that kind of thing.

"I missed out in the first two Tests obviously and came back today and scored some runs and helped I guess put us in a decent position," the Australian star batsman further added.

Smith struggled against the spin of Ravi Ashwin in Adelaide and Melbourne and admitted he made some adjustments to his game, which helped him build his near-flawless score.

● It was his eighth hundred in 30th innings of 18 Test matches against India. West Indian Garry Sobers (30 innings of 18 Tests) and Viv Richards (41 innings of 28 Tests) and Australian Ricky Ponting (51 innings of 29 Tests) also scored the same number of hundreds against India in Tests.

● The former Australian skipper also became the fifth Australian after Ricky Ponting (2,555 runs), Michael Clarke (2,049 runs), Matthew Hayden (1,888 runs) and Allan Border (1,567 runs) and the 19th batsman overall to score over 1,500 runs against India in Tests. ## On-top Jaddu relishes field day

India's Ravindra Jadeja (left) celebrates after taking the wicket of Australia's Nathan Lyon during Day Two of the third Test match at the Sydney Cricket Ground on Friday.

"Three or four wicket hauls are fine but this run-out will stay with me," said the Saurashtra all-rounder.

Jadeja has been a live wire on the field during this tour with some fantastic catches like the one he took running backwards at the MCG to dismiss Matthew Wade or this run-out at a crucial juncture when Smith could have added an extra 25 to 30 runs.

Jadeja also said that the plan was to vary pace of his deliveries and create angles since there was not much turn on offer.

Jadeja returned with figures of four for 62 in 18 overs besides getting rid of centurion Steve Smith with a brilliant direct hit.

"The idea was to create pressure as this wasn't a wicket where you would get chance in every over. You can't bowl all deliveries at same pace on this wicket as there was no turn on offer. You had to mix and match and create angles," said Jadeja.

For India's top multi-skilled cricketer, the focus has also been on producing all-round performances.

"Not just last 12-18 months, from the time I started playing, that's what has been my role. Whenever I am playing, I try to contribute in both departments of the game.

"And whenever I have been given opportunities, more often than not, I have delivered," Jadeja further added.

Quarantine cloud over 4th Test

Sydney, Jan. 8: A new three-day lockdown in Brisbane has put Cricket Australia in a spot of bother as it makes desperate efforts to hold the fourth and final Test against India in the Queensland state capital from January 15.

The Lockdown was announced less than 24 hours after top cricket board officials from India and Australia were engaged in a discussion on relaxation of hard quarantine measures for the visitors.

"Cricket Australia executives are urgently trying to determine the impact of a three-day lockdown in Brisbane on next week's fourth Test at the Gabba, which was already under a cloud because of India's hesitation to fly north and be subjected to tighter bio-security restrictions," the Sydney Morning Herald reported.

"A hotel quarantine worker's positive test to the more contagious UK strain of Covid-19 is the latest spanner in the works for CA's hopes to close out the Border-Gavaskar Trophy series at the Gabba," it added.

On Thursday, The BCCI wrote to CA seeking relaxation in hard quarantine protocol of Brisbane, reminding the host board that the visitors are done with the strict isolation that was agreed upon at the beginning of the tour.

SUNNY BATS FOR BCCI

Former India captain Sunil Gavaskar on Friday said that BCCI is only

"protecting its players" by seeking a quarantine relaxation ahead of the fourth Test, just like Queensland health authorities are entitled to shield their people in the wake of fresh Coronavirus cases in Brisbane.

"The Queensland government is fully entitled to protect its people. Similarly I believe the BCCI is fully entitled to protect its team. I think that's something we should never forget," Gavaskar said.
