Welders went to Libya to work in October last year

Indian hostages freed after 1 month

V. K. L. GAYATRI | DC VISAKHAPATNAM/NEW DELHI, OCT. 12

After gap of one month, the family members of B. Danayya, B. Venkata Rao and B. Jogarao, slept well on Sunday night, after they got information that their bread-winners are coming back safely from Libya. Danayya, Venkata Rao and Joga Rao were kidnapped, along with four others, at Asshwerif, in Libya on September 14, while they were on their way to Tripoli to return home. After the efforts of the Indian and Libyan governments, they were released by the kidnappers yesterday. The trio belongs to the tiny village of Sitanagaram in Santabommali mandal, Sriakulam district. All three are welders by profession and went to Libya to work in a construction company in October last year. They will now return to India, said the ministry of external affairs (MEA), while thanking the Libyan authorities and the tribal elders there "for their steadfast cooperation in securing the release of the Indians unharmed. "Our ambassador to Tunisia, Puneet Roy Kundal, spoke to them over the phone after they were handed over by the abductors to the company Al Shola Al Mudia. All of them are in good health and are currently staying in the company's premises in Brega. We are trying to complete the requisite formalities to enable their return to India," the MEA said.

The three families had a satisfactory lunch on Sunday after receiving the information that their bread-winners are coming home safely. The families have had nightmares since the kidnappings. Though they were kidnapped on September 14, the family members received the information on September 17. The tense family members did not eat well or sleep properly for the last one month.

For the states, the Centre will offer interest-free 50-year loans to the tune of ₹12,000 crore. It will consist of three components. HC orders CBI probe on anti-judiciary posts online

SAMPAT G. SAMRITAN | DC VIJAYAWADA, OCT. 12

The AP High Court has ordered a probe by Central Bureau of Investigation (CBI) into the defamatory posts on social media against the court and its judges.

A two-member bench comprising Justice Rakesh Kumar and Justice J. Umadevi issued the order during a virtual hearing held on Monday stating, "Without going into merits of the case or without recording any observations against either of the parties, we propose to entrust all the matters to an agency, namely, Central Bureau of Investigation, which is fairly fit, having wider scope for investigation as agreed by all parties."

The High Court further observed: "Persons occupying high posts are indulging in waging war against the judicial system, oblivious of the fact that even their entity exists since there is a democratic system in our country."

In a democratic state, if such war is initiated against the judicial system by persons holding high positions, it will certainly create unnecessary doubt in the mind of citizen against the judicial system, which may cripple the entire system."

The court asked the CBI to register more FIRs and bring the investigation to its logical end. The court further wanted the CBI to examine whether or not such attacks on judiciary were made as a result of larger conspiracy. It opined that if that was the case, the agency is required to take appropriate action against such culprits, irrespective of the post and position they hold.

The High Court directed the CBI to take steps so that all defamatory posts available on social media are struck down and such users are blocked in accordance with the law.

The court asked the AP government to ensure full cooperation and provide all logistical support to the CBI.

The court directed the CBI to submit its report in a sealed cover to the court within eight weeks from the date of receipt of a copy of the order. It posted the next hearing of the case to December 14.

IMD warns of more rains in coastal areas over 24 hrs

K.M.P. PATNAIK | DC VISAKHAPATNAM, OCT. 12

Heavy rains caused by a deep depression in the Bay of Bengal battered north coastal Andhra, the coastal districts and parts of Telangana state on Monday. The deep depression has moved in a west-northwest direction at a speed of about three kilometres per hour in the last six hours.

The system now lies 250 km southeast of Visakhapatnam, 320 km east-southeast of Kakinada and 360 km east-southeast from Narsapur.

It will continue to move in the west-northwest direction and make landfall south of Kakinada in the early hours of Tuesday.

People in Visakhapatnam recalled the Supercyclone Hudhud, which ravaged the city on this day in 2014. A pregnant woman and her two-year-old son died when boulders crashed on their house in Gajuwaka, Visakhapatnam city. Low-lying areas in many parts of the city were inundated making it difficult for commuters to reach homes.

Reports from Indian Meteorological Department (IMD) said there could be cms, Kakinada 13.95 cms, Peddapuram 13.02 cms and Amakapalle 10.06 cms.

Minister for agriculture and in-charge for State NDRE, K. Kannababu, held a review meeting with officials here in the presence of minister Muttamsetti Srinivas and senior officials.

Local cautionary signal number three was hoisted at Kalingapatnam, Bheemunipatnam, Visakhapatnam, Gangavaram, Kakinada, Machilipatnam, Nizampatnam, Krishnapatnam and Vadarevu ports.

He wanted to know if it was right to issue a gag order when things point at criminal manipulations.

He said people should have the power to question when the Prime Minister or a Chief Minister commit mistakes. Why should someone fear when there is talk of inquiry, he asked.

Cargo-handling ops halted in Kakinada

VADREVVU SRINIVAS | DC
KAKINADA, OCT. 12

Incessant rains due to the depression in the Bay of Bengal disrupted normal life on Monday in East and West Godavari districts and cargo-handling operations were halted in both the deep water as well as the anchorage port on the Kakinada coast.

Twenty ships in the two ports were stranded. The authorities closed the Kakinada-Uppada beach road to traffic, taking the precautionary step as the sea was rough and the Indian Meteorological Department had predicted that the depression will cross the Kakinada-Yanam coast in the early hours of Tuesday with a wind speed of 55-75 kmph.

All reservoirs and lakes were full to the brim and fields were inundated with rainwaters. Fields under Yeleru ayacut have been inundated for almost one month due to floods and depression. The heavy rains on Sunday and Monday ruined the remaining crops.

The authorities shifted 270 families, including 70 families from hope island and 200 families in Phule colony in Kakinada to safer places and they have been provided shelter in a high school in the city. Two shops in a municipal shopping complex at Peddapuram collapsed due to heavy rains.

East Godavari recorded 5,006.8 mm rainfall with an average of 78.2 mm and Kakinada Urban recorded highest rainfall with 182.6 mm. Roads were flooded, disrupting traffic. People were forced to stay indoors.

According to sources, non-Basmati rice and broken rice, exported to East African countries, were being loaded into eight ships. The heavy rain halted the handling operations and the steel barges were brought back and anchored at the jetties. At the deep water port, cargo like granite, fertiliser, sugar, liquids were being Reservoirs like Yeleru, Pampa, Maddigadda, Subbareddy and others are flowing at full levels and officials discharged surplus waters downstream. At the Dowleswaram barrage, officials discharged 1,63,488 cusecs of surplus water and say that it may be increased to 2.5 lakh on Tuesday and Wednesday due to heavy rains upstream.

Joint collector G. Lakshmisha reviewed the situation and instructed officials to be available to the people and take up assistance work in their respective areas, if necessary. He said that special steps were being taken in coastal villages and if the roads are damaged, they should be replaced on a war footing.

Cyclone shelters have been set up in the Konaseema area and NDRF and SDRF teams are available in emergencies. Lakshmisha said that a call centre was set up in the collectorate at Kakinada to work round the clock. He requested people to be alert on the heavy rains and take precautionary steps.

A large number of farmers and farm labourers staged protests in several villages falling under Amaravati region marking the completion of 300 days of their ongoing campaign against the state government's move to set up three capitals on Monday.

The farmers staged relay protests and raised slogans in favour of retaining Amaravati as the capital city for AP as the present YSR Congress government proposed legislation to relocate administrative and judicial capitals in Visakhapatnam and Kurnool respectively while allowing Amaravati to be the legislative capital.

TD MLC Nara Lokesh visited capital city villages like Penumaka, Yerrabalem, Krishnapalem and others to mark the completion of 300 days of protests by the farmers. He thanked especially the farmers, women and the youth, who were relentlessly continuing their protest seeking Amaravati to be the capital city for AP despite being implicated in police cases, arrests and humiliation.

He turned critical of the Chief Minister Y.S. JaganMohan Reddy for reneging on his word to support Amaravati as the capital city for AP and alleged that the CM was trying to take revenge against the former CM and his father N. Chandrababu Naidu by relocating it.

Referring to the allegations of insider trading and attribution of caste in development of Amaravati, he said that the YSR Congress government had failed to prove its charges and slammed the government for failing to take up developmental works in the state.

He found fault with the CM for failing to pay a visit to Amaravati even as 92 farmers had sacrificed their lives for the capital city. He reiterated that they were committed for Amaravati to be the capital city for AP for comprehensive development of the state.

In Rajahmundry, members of Amaravati Parirakshana Samiti joint action committee staged a protest at Kotipalli Bus Stand Centre. Rajahmundry rural MLA Buchaiah Choudhary called upon the CM to give up his three capitals as a large number of people were staging protests against relocation of the capital city from Amaravati for the last 300 days and demanded justice to them.

In Kakinada, political JAC member Gadula Saibaba flayed the state government for attributing caste to the ongoing aviation by the people at Amaravati.

In Kadapa, local TD leaders staged a protest at Sub Collector's office. They submitted a representation to the Sub Collector, seeking continuation of Amaravati as AP's capital city. Several leaders including Govardhan Reddy, Pothuganti Peeraya, Janardhan and Yatagiri Ram Prasad laid stress on the part of the state government to develop Amaravati as the capital.

KADAPA, OCT. 12

A 20-metre deep ditch was formed due to the heavy rains at a farm near Bhirkakhan village in Chintakommandine (CK Dinne) mandal of Kadapa district on Monday.

Trenches have been formed in the area several times in the past.

Farmers who went to their fields on Monday morning noticed the huge pit that was filled with water. There were continuous rains for the past two days and the land was soaking wet.

On August 25, 2019, there was a 100-foot pit formed at Ippapenta village in CK Dinne mandal. Mining and geology department officials and scientists had inspected the spot and said there were huge deposits of limestone reserves.

The limestone layer undergoes a chemical reaction when rain falls in the area. When acidic rain falls limestone reacts to the acid forming precipitations, they said. Due to certain factors, voids can be formed. It is unavoidable and farmers and nearby villagers were advised to be cautious.

TIRUPATI, OCT. 12

YSR Congress rebel MP Raghu Ramakrishna Raju once again courted a controversy when a photo, shot at a private party, showing a Russian lady pouring champagne in his mouth, went viral on social media.

The Narasapuram MP gave a clarification on this while addressing media-persons in New Delhi on Monday. He confirmed that it was him in the picture and the photograph was taken about two or three years back at a private party either in Kolkata or Hyderabad.

Mr Raju said, "An MP from the Telugu states hosted a party for his son.

I graced the party along with several other politicians. The picture was taken when everyone was in a partying mood. Many politicians drank champagne served by the Russian," he added.

Maintaining that there is nothing wrong in the picture as Russian women hosting VIP parties is quite common these days, he clarified that champagne is not alcohol and he did not drink any cheap liquor sold by the YSRC government.

"I have forwarded this photo to more than 500 people in the past. I think Subba Reddy or some other critic of mine could have circulated the picture now to malign my name. What's the big deal in it? I did nothing wrong," he said.

The MP claimed that he has been receiving abusive messages on WhatsApp and had seen abusive posts on social media against him. "YSRC supporters having profile pictures of minister Peddireddy Ramachandra Reddy and MP Avinash Reddy have been sharing the photo with abusive comments against me. I have saved those profiles and contact numbers of people, who may be 'devotees' of YSRC leaders, and filed a police complaint against them," he added.

Alleging that there is no law and order in AP, he said that he had filed a police complaint, hoping that police will take strict action against those who posted abusive comments against him. He also said that he will approach the Delhi police, as the incidents happened when he was in the national capital and they will take stern action against those who abused him on WhatsApp and social media. When Deccan Chronicle contacted a couple of YSRC MPs for their reaction to the photo, they refused to comment. The photo, however, garnered trolls and reactions by netizens across AP.

People took to the micro-blogging site and shared it with funny captions. A user wrote in Telugu on MPs recent Facebook post: "Sir, miru Delhi nunchi vechepudu oka full bottle thisukuni randi", which means "Sir, bring a full bottle when you are coming from Delhi".

Another user also dared the MP to resign for his post and re-contest from his constituency. The user also exuded confidence that he would defeat Ramakrishna Raju.

Two minor girls sexually assaulted by youth in Vizag

K.M.P. PATNAIK | DC
VISAKHAPATNAM, OCT. 12

Two youngsters lured two minor girls with a motorcycle ride and sexually assaulted them in an isolated industrial shed under Duvvada police station limits in Visakhapatnam. The girls went home and narrated their ordeal to their parents.

This incident took place on Saturday night but came to light on Monday morning when the girls, along with their parents, lodged a complaint against the accused at Duvvada police station.

The police said that a man, 24, befriended a 14-year-old girl in the same locality and, following a plan, his friend of the same age became friendly with the girl's friend.

On Saturday afternoon, the two youngsters took the two girls on two motorcycles to the beach where they spent some time. Later, they took them to an isolated industrial shed where the duo allegedly sexually assaulted the two girls.

Based on the complaints from the victims, circle inspector of Duvvada police station, K. Lakshmi, registered a case against the duo and transferred the case to the Disha police station for further investigation. The police shifted the girls to King George hospital for medical tests and launched a manhunt for the accused.

A few days ago, a pastor was arrested on the charges of attempted rape of a 16-year-old girl at Gajuwaka in Vizag city.

Political leaders and activists of various women's organisations on Monday demanded stringent action against those involved in crimes against women and minors.

Arrangements peak for Tirumala Brahmotsavams

AVINASH P. SUBRAMANYAM | DC
TIRUPATI, OCT. 12

With just three days left for mega Navaratri brahmotsavams at the world-renowned hill temple of Lord Venkateswara in Tirumala, arrangements being made have reached their peak level.

Tirumala Tirupati Devasthanams (TTD) is making all efforts to ensure that devotees visiting the hill town during brahmotsavams have darshan of the Lord without any hassles, while strictly adhering to Covid-19 protocol. The newly appointed TTD executive officer K. S. Jawahar Reddy, additional executive officer A.V. Dharma Reddy, and chief vigilance and security officer Gopinath Jatti are continuously reviewing the ongoing arrangements at Tirumala.

Unlike the annual brahmotsavams last month, which were conducted in Ekantham (solitude) due to Covid-19 restrictions, TTD has decided to take out the procession in the four mada streets during vahana sevas. However, only a limited number of pilgrims with darshan tickets will be allowed in the galleries.

As these Brahmotsavams will be over nine days, there will be rigorous thermal screening. Foot-operated sanitisers have been kept in place at all galleries around the mada streets. TTD has decided to deploy only a limited number of security personnel and Srivari Seva volunteers, as there will be limited number of Bhajans and cultural programmes before vahana sevas. The number of pilgrims will also be less.

While the Annaprasadam wing is making necessary arrangements for continuously serving food to visiting devotees, the temple potu is building enough stock of laddus for distribution to devotees during the nine-day event.

Navaratri brahmotsavams will start with Ankuraranam on Thursday between 7 pm and 8 pm. Morning Vahana Sevas will be from 8 am to 10 am while the evening sevas will be between 7 pm and 9 pm, including the Garuda Seva on October 20. Bangaru Tiruchi Utsavam will be on October 16 from 9 am to 11 am, followed by Pedda Sesha Vahanam between 7 pm and 9 pm.

On Day II, October 17, Chinna Sesha Vahanam programme will be in the morning and Hamsa Vahanam in the evening, followed by Simha Vahana and Muthyapu Pandiri Vahanam on October 18, Kalpavruksha Vahanam and Sarvabhoopala Vahanam on October 19.

The most important day of the brahmotsavams, October 20, will have Mohini Avataram and auspicious Garuda Vahana Seva from 7 pm. Hanumantha Vahana, Pushpaka Vimanam and Gaja Vahanam will be on October 21, Surya Prabha and Chandra Prabha Vahanams on October 22, and Swarna Rathotsavam and Aswa Vahanam on October 23. The brahmotsavams will conclude on October 24 with Pallaki and Tiruchi Utsavam from 3 am to 5 am, Snapana Tirumanjanam and Chakra Snanam between 6 am and 9 am and Bangaru Tiruchi Utsavam in the evening.

Arrangements are also made being for floral and photo exhibitions at Kalyana Vedika.

TD may not to contest against Balli family

PATHRI RAJASEKHAR | DC
NELLORE, OCT. 12

All eyes are on the Tirupati Lok Sabha seat, which has fallen vacant because of the sudden demise of the sitting YSRC member Balli Durga Prasad.

Though TD is projecting that they are gearing up for the by-election, the party may not enter the fray if the seat is given to any family member of Durga Prasad, reliable sources in the party told this newspaper.

However, TD would extend its support to the nominee of BJP if the saffron party decides to field a candidate for the segment, the sources said, pointing out that the TD bigwigs wish to be in the good books of the BJP top brass.

Durga Prasad was earlier a four-time TD MLA from Gudur. On being denied a ticket, he jumped over to YSRC on whose ticket he won the Tirupati Lok Sabha seat defeating former Union minister Panabaka Lakshmi in the 2019 general elections.

Incidentally, she will be in the fray if TD decides to contest going by the recent announcement of TD boss N. Chandrababu Naidu. Further senior leader Somireddy Chandramohan Reddy told party men to

During Sunday's meeting with party in-charge for the seat, Narasimulu Yadav and convener Ugra Narasimha Reddy, Chandramohan Reddy instructed in-charges of all the Assembly segments to strengthen the party base from the grass-root level.

Speaking to this newspaper, he said that they are gearing up for the by-election as per the directions of the party high command.

Meanwhile, sources close to Balli Durga Prasad family said that Chief Minister YS Jagan Mohan Reddy has promised the ticket to the family and left the choice of selecting a candidate to Durga Prasad's widow, Saralamma. She has to choose between sons Kalyan and Karthik or daughter Haritha.

A YSRC leader said that the family is likely to nominate Kalyan, an engineering graduate.

BJD NAMES CANDIDATES FOR BYPOLLS

AKSHAYA KUMAR SAHOO | DC BHUBANESWAR, OCT. 12

Odisha's ruling Biju Janata Dal (BJD) on Monday declared its candidates for the forthcoming by-elections to Balasore Sadar and Tirtol assembly seats.

Bijay Sankar Das, son of former BJD MLA Bishnu Das, will contest from Tirtol, while Swarup Kumar Das was declared as the party's nominee for Balasore Sadar.

On Sunday, the BJP had declared its candidates for the two constituencies.

Manas Dutta, son of deceased BJP MLA Madan Mohan Dutta will contest from Balasore Sadar while Rajkishore Behera was declared as party candidate for Tirtol.

Congress is yet to announce their candidates. However, party MLA Tara Prasad Bahinipati dropped hints that the party would announce its candidates within a day or two.

The by-polls to both the seats have been necessitated by the demise of sitting BJP MLA Madan Mohan Dutta (Balasore) and sitting BJD legislator Bishnu Das (Tirtol). Polls will take place on November 3 and results will be announced November 10.

BUXAR WOMAN GANG-RAPED, MINOR SON KILLED

Buxar, Oct. 12: Seven persons allegedly raped a 30-year-old woman after killing her five-year-old son in a village in Bihar's Buxar district, police said on Monday.

One person has been arrested in connection with the incident, while search is on to nab the others, they said.

On Saturday, the accused took the woman to a jungle when she had come to Chaigain village to deposit money at a bank along with her son, raped her and killed the child, her father said in the FIR lodged with Murar Police Station.

The men then threw the woman and her son in a canal after tying them with a rope, according to the police complaint.

The two were taken to Chaigain Primary Health Centre, where doctors declared the child brought-dead and referred the woman to Sadar Hospital, police said, adding, the body of the minor has been sent for post-mortem examination.

The woman's medical examination report is awaited and her statement will be recorded in the court of the judicial magistrate on Monday, a police officer said.

Dumraon Sub-Divisional Police Officer K.K. Singh said a person named Munni Ram has been arrested and the other accused will be apprehended soon.

HATHRAS VICTIM'S KIN APPEAR BEFORE HC

Lucknow, Oct. 12: Family members of the 19-year-old Dalit woman who died after allegedly being raped by four upper caste men in Hathras appeared before the Lucknow Bench of the Allahabad High Court, which fixed November 2 as the next date of hearing.

They were heard by the Bench of Justices Pankaj Mithal and Rajan Roy on Monday.

The UP Additional Chief Secretary, DGP; and the ADG (Law and Order) also deposed before the court, along with the Hathras DM and SP.

The DM told the court that the decision to cremate the body in the night was taken due to the law and order considerations and there was no pressure from the state authorities.

Additional Advocate General V.K. Shahi, who represented the state authorities in the court, said the next date of hearing has been fixed for November 2.

The woman's father, mother and three brothers was brought to the court amid tight security from Hathras earlier in the day.

The court had summoned the Additional Chief Secretary, Home; the Director General of Police; ADG, Law and Order; and the District Magistrate and Superintendent of Police of Hathras to furnish the status report of investigation into the case.

The woman was allegedly raped by four upper caste men on September 14.

Half of BJP picks for Bihar's 2nd phase are upper caste

BJP seeks to maintain sway over upper castes while wooing OBCs, Dalits

Patna, Oct. 12: A strategy of keeping its upper caste support base intact while making inroads in the sizeable OBC and Dalit vote bank meets the eye upon perusal of the BJP's list of 46 candidates for the second phase of assembly elections in Bihar.

Altogether 94 seats go to polls in the phase, for which voting will take place on November 3.

The BJP had got more than half of these under the seat-sharing arrangement with Chief Minister Nitish Kumar's JD(U).

The saffron party's list of candidates for the second round of voting was released on Sunday.

Nearly half of the BJP's 46 candidates for the second phase of voting belong to the upper castes Rajputs, Bhumihars, Brahmins, Kayasthas and Vaishyas which constitute the core base of the saffron party in the state.

The party has also given tickets to eight Yadavs, seeking to make a dent into the opposition RJD's unquestionable sway over the most sizeable OBC group in the state.

The JD(U), which has announced its candidates for all the 115 seats it will be contesting, has also fielded a substantial number of Yadavs.

Yadavs form nearly 15 per cent of the electorate in the state and the NDA parties are trying to cash in absence of Prasad from the poll scene to wean away the core support base of the RJD.

The RJD supreme is in jail after conviction in four cases of multi-crore fodder scam.

Candidates from other OBC groups also figure in the BJP's list while seven

52,000 VOTERS OPT FOR POSTAL BALLOT IN PH 1

New Delhi, Oct. 12: More than 52,000 voters, who are either senior citizens above 80 years of age or are people with disabilities, have opted for postal ballot in the first phase of Bihar elections to be held on October 28.

Booth Level Officers (BLO) in 71 constituencies spread across 16 districts of the state had approached over four lakh voters of the two categories.

Dalits will be seeking votes for the party in as many reserved constituencies.

Out of the 46 seats in the second phase, the BJP has set aside five from its quota for the Vikassheel Insaan Party, headed by former Bollywood set designer Mukesh Sahni who left the Opposition camp and joined the NDA nearly a week ago.

The VIP has been allocated total 11 seats for all three phases of the polls by the saffron party from its share of 121 seats in the NDA.

Bihar has a 243-member assembly.

Rest 122 seats in the NDA camp have gone to the JD(U) out of which it has provided seven to Hindustani Awam Morcha of the former chief minister BJP Ram Manjhi.

The Jitan had won 20 out of the seats going to polls in the second phase.

Its sitting members in four of these Sugauli, Chanpatiya, Siwan and Amnour have been deprived of tickets this time.

While Sugauli has gone to JD(U), the BJP has placed its trust in new faces in the remaining three.

Union minister Ashwini Kumar Choubey's reported lobbying for his son Arijit Shashwat seems to have paid no dividend in Bhagalpur where the party has placed its trust in district unit chief Rahul Pandey.

Another candidate, who has risen from the ranks and made it to the list is Nikhil Anand, one of the most prominent spokesmen in the state unit who will be challenging RJD strongman Bhai Virendra in Maner.

Former MP Om Prakash Yadav who had won Siwan for the party in 2014 but was denied tickets last year as the seat went to the JD(U), has been fielded from the assembly segment of the same name.

In neighboring Daraunda, the party has pacified rebel Karanjeet Singh, who quit and won the seat as an Independent in by-poll necessitated by Kavita Singhs election to the Lok Sabha from Siwan. Karanjeet Singh will now seek to retain the seat as the BJP's official nominee.

Two state ministers in the list Nand Kishore Yadav and Rana Randhir will be seeking re-election from Patna City and Madhubani respectively.

The party has come out with names of its candidates for a total of 75 seats which go to polls in the first two phases.

Unsurprisingly, not a single Muslim has been given the party ticket though ally JD(U) has fielded nearly a dozen.

Cong leader hits out at Chouhan's humble background

RABINDRA NATH CHOUDHURY | DC BHOPAL, OCT. 12

The campaigning for the November 3 by-elections in 28 assembly constituencies in Madhya Pradesh has reached a new low with a senior Congress leader trying to belittle chief minister Shivraj Singh Chouhan citing his humble family background.

State unit president of farmers' wing of Congress Dinesh Gurjar said Mr Chouhan was no match to former chief minister Kamal Nath while drawing a comparison of their financial backgrounds.

"Mr Chouhan hails from a family of 'nange, bhooke', loosely translated in English as extremely poor, while Mr Nath was the second biggest industrialist in India", the Congress leader said while addressing an election meeting in Ashok Nagar late on Sunday.

The ruling BJP has seized the opportunity to portray it as a battle between 'rich vs poor' in the assembly by-polls to target Mr Nath, who is leading Congress in the crucial by-elections.

"Yes, I come from a poor family. That's why I understand the pangs of hunger. That's why my focus has always been to uplift the poor and the farmers. I have transferred ₹1000 to the bank accounts of each farmer as soon as I assumed office. I have undertaken many welfare measures for the poor and the farmer after I assumed power in March", he said while addressing a poll meeting in Guna in the state on Monday.

He also attacked Mr Nath saying that the latter never visited villages and was hardly aware of conditions of the poor in villages.

"Congress is projecting Mr Nath as an industrialist. But, I challenge Mr Nath if he has ever visited villages to know how agriculture operations are being undertaken by the farmers, or what kind of problems the poor and the farmers are facing", he said.

"A man from a poor family like me can only understand the people's plight and work for their development. An industrialist like Mr Nath is hardly aware of their problems", he observed.

Senior BJP leader Jyotiraditya scindia, who quit Congress following his differences with Mr Nath in March this year, joined the issue daring Mr Nath to reveal how he became rich and industrialist.

Kerala opens up tourism sector in a phased manner

GILVESTER ASSARY | DC THIRUVANANTHAPURAM, OCT. 12

The Kerala government has opened up tourism sector partially by allowing tourists in hill destinations, adventure tourism spots and backwaters from Monday.

The Covid-19 safety norms will be adhered to strictly at these tourist destinations.

The tourist centres will be opened up in two phases complying with the safety protocols, said tourism minister Mr Kadkampally Surendran.

While houseboats and tourist boats have been allowed in backwaters and lakes, the beaches will be opened for tourists only after November 1 in the second phase.

The decision to open tourism sector has been taken in view of the huge crisis being faced by the sector and the people who are dependent on it, due to the lockdown.

While many other states had opened up tourism sector earlier, the government in Kerala was cautious as it did not want to trigger a spike in the Covid cases, especially in the densely populated areas.

Therefore, the government decided to open up the sector in a phased manner.

Since the union home ministry in its Unlock 4 order has not mentioned tourism in the prohibited category, the sector can be opened with adequate measures. The government's decision has brought some relief to the people engaged in tourism sector.

The government had earlier announced that those coming to Kerala from outside the state for business purposes, would be exempted from 7 days mandatory quarantine. The same norm is going to be applied to the tourists as well. They can come to the state on a short visit for a week.

All tourists coming from outside should register with the state government's Jagratha portal. If the tourists don't return after seven days, they will be subjected to Covid-19 test and they will have to bear the expenses for the same.

Those who are interested to stay for more than seven days should either come with a Covid negative certificate or on reaching Kerala, undergo a Covid test. If the tourists don't comply with the norm, they will have to undergo seven days quarantine.

The government said tourists with any suspected Covid symptoms should not travel to Kerala. All tourists while in Kerala, will have to wear masks, use sanitizers and maintain a distance of 2 meters from others.

In the event of tourists developing Covid-19 symptoms during their trip, they should immediately get in touch with the government helpline Disha and seek assistance of health professionals.

Those with symptoms will have to go into isolation.

With 66,732 fresh cases, India on Monday registered a total of 71.21 lakh cases of coronavirus while its death toll climbed to 1,09,150 with 816 new fatalities in the last 24 hours.

However, despite significantly high number of fresh cases being detected, the virus spread seems to have slowed down a bit in India though the coming festive season will make it clear if India has crossed the "peak".

The gap between India and the United States of America in terms of overall cases is narrowing down and on Monday it has further come down to 8.70 lakh.

Union health ministry officials said that the trend of steady decline in active cases is continuing and the active caseload is now only 12.10% of the total positive cases, which is 8.62 lakh.

"For the fourth day after the active cases dropped below the 9 lakh mark after a month, the decline continues unabated," officials said.

India is also reporting a high number of recoveries and the total recovered cases are close to 61.50 lakhs.

The difference between active cases and recovered cases stands at 52.88 lakh as on date. In the last 24 hours, 71,559 patients have recovered and discharged compared to 66,732 new cases admitted. The national Recovery Rate now stands at 86.36%.

The government has issued details of the norms, guidelines and restrictions to be followed in tourist centres.

The hotels, restaurants and other facilities in the tourist centers will comply with all safety norms.

They will keep infrared forehead thermometer, soap for washing hands and sanitizers.

All the pathways, railings, other facilities will be sprayed with disinfectants form time to time. The names and addresses of people arriving at the tourist centres will have to be registered. Tourism deputy directors and DTPC secretaries have been entrusted with the task of ensuring all Covid safety norms are strictly complied at the tourist centres.

All hotel bookings, tickets to tourist spots should be booked through online system. The government has asked the Ayurveda tourist centres to strictly following the Covid safety norms.

The tourism minister hoped that tourists from outside the state and abroad will not hesitate to traveling to Kerala in view of the strict safety protocols in place.

SOUMITRA CHATTERJEE STILL CRITICAL

Kolkata, Oct. 12: Legendary Bengali actor Soumitra Chatterjee is still in a "high risk zone" though his parameters are stable, doctors attending to the thespian said on Monday.

The 85-year-old Dadasaheb Phalke awardee has fever and continues to be in a "drowsy, confusional state", which is a matter of concern, they said. Chatterjee might have to undergo an MRI later on Monday, doctors at the private hospital, where he is being treated for Covid-19, said.

"He is stable, had good sleep last night, but is still in a high risk zone. His oxygen saturation level has improved," a doctor said.

FRESH ISSUE

Himanta Biswa Sarma links love jihad to 'Ajmal's culture and civilisation'

Will fight 'love jihad' in next term: Assam mantri

MANOJ ANAND | DC GUWAHATI, OCT. 12

After announcing to shut down all the government madrasas, senior BJP leader and Assam minister Himanta Biswa Sarma stirred a fresh controversy by announcing to launch a fight against 'love jihad' if they return to power in 2021 assembly polls.

Addressing a meeting of BJP Mahila Morcha at Dibrugarh, the minister said that they have been fighting against various problems that that state has been facing but five years were not enough to bring an end to it.

Coining a new term 'Ajmal's culture and civilisation' for illegal immigrants from Bangladesh and equating it with AIUDF chief Badruddin Ajmal as its saviour, the minister said that a large number of girls have become the victim of 'love jihad' on social media platforms like Facebook.

Referring that many Assamese mothers came to him crying that her daughter was victimised by youths displaying fake Hindu names on social media, the minister said that this is being done by a section of youths who are from 'Ajmal's culture and civilisation'

Stressing the need of launching a campaign against love jihad, the minister said, "If BJP comes to power again, we will take a decision that if any boy hides his religious identity and comments anything negative on Assamese daughters and women, he will face rigorous punishment."

Referring to instances as to how Hindu girls are becoming victims of 'Ajmal's culture and civilisation' on Facebook where boys hiding their religion on social media befriend and marry them, the minister said, "We have taken an oath that if Ajmal's army touches our women, the only punishment for them will be a death sentence, nothing less. We are working with such a resolve."

AIUDF chief Badruddin Ajmal, who has been instrumental in stitching alliance with Congress for the assembly election next year, has become the regular target of the BJP leader as political observers are of view that AIUDF-Congress alliance may turn out to be a formidable challenge for the saffron party in Assam.

The minister added,

"Love jihad has created a mountain-like problem for Assamese daughters. Many girls have faced talaq after getting duped by fake names of the boys. The BJP has resolved that whenever anyone from 'Ajmal's culture-civilisation' attacks Assamese girls, "ruthless" replies will be given."

Describing the assembly elections of 2021 as a fight to save culture and civilisation of the state, he said, "If people do not unite then the society will not be saved. That is why the 2021 assembly election is for saving our culture-civilisation. If the 65 percent people don't fight together against Ajmal's culture-civilisation, then our future Assam will not be saved. If we lose this fight of culture-civilisation, then we will not be able to live in Assam after 15 years."

The minister's reference to 65 per cent population was obviously to non-Muslims as according to the 2011 census report, 34.22 per cent people in Assam are Muslims while 61.47 per cent are Hindus.

Mr Sarma said, "We had spoken about the Saraighat battle in 2016. This battle doesn't end in five years. We will have to fight till we finish off Ajmal's army politically."

The Battle of Saraighat was a naval battle fought in 1671 between the Mughal Empire, and the Ahom Kingdom on the Brahmaputra at Saraighat.

IN BRIEF

Lanka suspends expatriates rescue

Colombo: Sri Lankan officials say they have suspended bringing back expatriates stranded overseas due to the Coronavirus because the country's quarantine facilities are full. Army Commander Shavendra Silva, who heads the task force to control the pandemic, says Sri Lanka's quarantine facilities have filled up amid a steep rise in Covid-19 patients in the past week. Sri Lanka had earlier announced that it successfully contained the spread of the virus, and no local clusters were reported for two months.

Death penalty for rape in B'desh

Dhaka: Bangladesh's Cabinet on Monday approved an increase in the maximum punishment in rape cases to death from life imprisonment after a series of recent sexual assaults triggered protests on streets and in social media.

Cabinet spokesman Khandaker Anwarul Islam said President Abdul Hamid is likely to issue an ordinance amending the Women and Children Repression Prevention Act because Parliament is not in session. Details of the amendment were not immediately available, but Islam said the Cabinet agreed to a proposal that trials in rape cases be completed in a speedy manner. Under the current law, the maximum punishment in rape cases is life imprisonment, except for cases in which the victim dies, when capital punishment is allowed.

Protesters raze statues in Portland

Portland: Protesters overturned statues of former Presidents Theodore Roosevelt and Abraham Lincoln in Portland, Oregon, in a declaration of "rage" toward Columbus Day. Protest organisers on Sunday night dubbed the event "Indigenous Peoples Day of Rage," in response to Monday's federal holiday named after 15th-century Italian explorer Christopher Columbus, a polarising figure who Native American advocates have said spurred centuries of genocide against indigenous populations in the Americas. The group threw chains around Roosevelt's statue, officially titled "Theodore Roosevelt, Rough Rider."

Poland defuses WW bomb, shifts 750

Warsaw: Hundreds of people in northwest Poland have been evacuated for a few days to allow Navy sappers to neutralise a British World War II giant Tallboy bomb resting under a waterway leading to the port of Szczecin. The 5.4 tonne bomb was found in Sept. 2019 during work to deepen the waterway. It's located on the southern edge of a popular Baltic Sea resort of Swinoujscie, that, like Szczecin, was a busy Nazi Germany military port during the war. In a defusing project that began on Monday and is expected to last for five days, experts will be seeking to neutralise the Tallboy underwater by causing its explosives to burn out in a controlled way.

CLOTH MASKS NEED DAILY WASH TO CUT VIRUS RISK

Melbourne, Oct. 12: Cloth masks may reduce the transmission of viruses such as SARS-CoV-2, which causes Covid-19, only if they are washed daily at high temperatures, according to a study.

"Both cloth masks and surgical masks should be considered 'contaminated' after use," said Professor Raina MacIntyre, from the University of New South Wales in Australia. "Unlike surgical masks, which are disposed of after use, cloth masks are re-used. While it can be tempting to use the same mask for multiple days in a row, or to give it a quick hand-wash or wipe-over, our research suggests that this increases the risk of contamination," MacIntyre said.

The researchers analysed data from a randomised controlled trial (RCT) they published in 2015. The latest study, published in the journal BMJ Open, is still the only RCT ever conducted on the efficacy of cloth masks in preventing viral infections, they said. The researchers did a deep dive into the 2011 data on whether the health workers in their study washed their masks daily, and if so, how they washed their masks. The team found that if cloth masks were washed in the hospital laundry, they were as effective as a surgical mask.

Don's task: Resetting campaign that GOP fears is slipping away

Washington, Oct. 12: President Donald Trump is running out of time to recover from a series of self-inflicted setbacks that have rattled his base of support and triggered alarm among Republicans who fear the White House is on the verge of being lost to Democrat Joe Biden.

The one-two punch of Trump's Coronavirus diagnosis and his widely panned debate performance also has Republicans worried they could lose control of the Senate. With just over three weeks until Election Day, Senate races in some reliably red states, including South Carolina and Kansas, are competitive, aided by a surge in Democratic fundraising that has put both the Republican Party and Trump's own campaign at an unexpected financial disadvantage.

The president will aim for a reset this week, hoping an aggressive travel schedule and Judge Amy Coney Barrett's Supreme Court confirmation hearings will energise his most loyal supporters and shift attention away from a virus that has killed more than 214,000 Americans on his watch. Optimists in the president's inner circle point to his unique ability to command attention and to his 2016 campaign, which also seemed destined for defeat before a late shift. But that comeback was aided by outside forces

Trump begins the election trail again

Washington, Oct. 12: US President Donald Trump will launch a campaign marathon on Monday, holding rallies in three key swing states over the next few days as his White House race against surging rival Joe Biden enters its critical final weeks.

The Republican leader will hold a rally in Florida, followed by Pennsylvania and Iowa — states all crucial to clinching a victory on November 3. Trump will likely try to galvanise his electoral base by touting his nominee for Supreme Court justice, Amy Coney Barrett.

The Republican-controlled Senate will begin hearings for the 48-year-old judge, whose confirmation — of which there is little doubt — will shift the nation's highest court firmly to the right for generations.

Trump's doctors gave him the all-clear Saturday to return to the campaign trail after he was ruled no longer a Coronavirus transmission risk, and on Sunday he said while calling in to a campaign event that he tested "totally negative." But he has yet to be declared virus-free, and his immunity claim is unproven.

"It looks like I'm immune for, I don't know, maybe a long time and maybe a short time, it could be a lifetime, nobody really knows, but I'm immune," Trump said. The word 'immunity' means something, having really a protective glow.

"So now you have a president who doesn't have to hide in a basement like his opponent," Trump added — in a jab at Democratic challenger Biden, who has taken a far more cautious approach to campaigning during the pandemic. —AFP against an unpopular opponent.

This year's campaign, other Republicans worry, may instead resemble 1980 or 2008: a close race until, at the end, it decidedly wasn't. "It's not good for my side," said veteran

GOP pollster Whit Ayres. "Pretty obviously, in many ways down-ballot Republicans are in the boat with Donald Trump. That's good for Republicans in deep-red states, but more problematic for those in swing states." —AP

EU weighs in on action against Russia for poisoning Navalny

Brussels, Oct. 12: European Union foreign ministers were weighing on Monday whether to impose sanctions on Russian officials and organisations blamed for the poisoning of opposition leader Alexei Navalny with a Soviet-era nerve agent.

The ministers, meeting in Luxembourg, are considering a proposal from France and Germany to freeze the assets of those suspected of involvement and ban them from travelling in Europe under sanctions to combat the use and spread of chemical weapons.

Navalny, an anti-corruption investigator and major political opponent of Russian President Vladimir Putin, fell ill on August 20 during a domestic flight in Russia. He was flown to Germany for treatment two days later and is still recovering there.

Last week, tests conducted at labs designated by the Organisation for the Prohibition of Chemical Weapons confirmed that Navalny was the victim of a Novichok nerve agent, German Foreign Minister

Heiko Maas said on Monday that given the OPCW's findings, it is now "objectively clear that this is a breach of the Chemical Weapons Convention, one that cannot remain without consequences."

In a statement on Friday, France and Germany said that despite repeated calls Russia has provided "no credible explanation" for what happened and that "there is no other plausible explanation for Navalny's poisoning than a Russian involvement and responsibility." —AP

IRAQI MILITIAS OFFER TRUCE FOR U.S. PULLOUT

Baghdad, Oct. 12: Iraqi militias backed by Iran have agreed to temporarily halt attacks targeting the American presence in Iraq, on the condition that US-led coalition troops withdraw from the country in line with a parliamentary resolution, three militia officials have said.

The militia officials said after a roadside bomb targeted a convoy that was transporting equipment for the US-led coalition, damaging one vehicle, an Iraqi army statement said. The attack on a highway south of Baghdad prompted questions over whether such a truce could hold across all militia factions.

Roadside bombs and in particular rocket attacks targeting the US Embassy in Baghdad — located inside the heavily fortified Green Zone — have become a frequent occurrence and have strained ties between Washington and Baghdad. The militia factions offered a truce and will refrain from targeting the US in Iraq, including the embassy, on the condition that all American-led forces withdraw within an "acceptable timeframe," said Mohammed Mohie, a spokesman for the powerful Iran-backed Kataib Hezbollah. —AP

China to test 9mn for Covid in 5 days

Quingdao city begins nucleic acid test campaign

Beijing, Oct. 12: China's Qingdao city has launched a citywide nucleic acid test campaign that will cover its nine million residents over the next five days, amid apprehensions of a second wave after the coastal city reported 12 Covid-19 cases. The cases were connected to Qingdao Chest Hospital which is a designated medical institution for the Covid-19 patients from overseas.

In May, China tested 11 million people in Wuhan — the epicentre of the Covid-19 pandemic. The Qingdao health authority has said that a citywide testing program has been launched. The five districts — home to about six million people — will be fully covered in the next three days. The whole city will be tested within five days, covering roughly nine million people, state-run Global Times reported.

So far, all medical staff, new hospitalised patients and nurses in hospitals at Qingdao have been given nucleic acid tests, with all 114,862 results coming back negative. As of Saturday, the total number of confirmed Covid-19 cases on the Chinese mainland had reached 85,557, including the 218 patients still being treated.

Altogether 80,705 patients have recovered, according to China's National Health Commission's report released on Monday. It said 4,634 people have died to Coronavirus on the mainland.

They also mobilised teams to test disabled people, the elderly and those vulnerable in their own homes.

One of the ways they sped up the process was to use batch- or pool-testing. In this process, a batch of between five and 10 samples was tested. Only if a sample tested positive would the team go back to carry out individual tests to see who was positive within the batch.

Videos circulating online showed residents lining up late on Sunday to get tested, said the Global Times, adding that some of these test points were open from 07:00 to 23:00.

The new cases come a week after China's Golden Week holiday — which saw millions travel across the country.

A Global Times report quoting the Qingdao Municipal Bureau of Culture and Tourism said the coastal city had received 4.47 million passenger trips over this period.

The nearby city of Jinan, in the same province as Qingdao, called for anyone who had visited the city since 23 September to get tested, according to a report by The Paper.

Earlier last month, Qingdao announced that two port workers who handled imported seafood had tested positive. They were not known to have infected anyone else.

Daily Coronavirus infections have fallen drastically in China, and for the most part the country appears to have recovered from the worst.

China currently has 91,305 virus cases and the death toll stands at 4,746, according to WHO data.

Asif Ali Zardari

EX-PAK PRESIDENT ASIF ALI ZARDARI HOSPITALISED

Islamabad, Oct. 12: Pakistan's former president and PPP co-chairperson Asif Ali Zardari was admitted to a private hospital in Karachi after he felt "unwell", his party has said.

"Doctors are conducting his medical check-up and necessary medical tests," the Pakistan Peoples Party (PPP) tweeted on Sunday without providing much details.

Zardari was "shifted to hospital after feeling unwell late on Sunday evening," it said. The former president's long-time associate Dr Asim Hussain told a private news channel that Zardari was brought to the hospital due to low sugar level. It was reported that the PPP leader was admitted in the emergency ward of the private hospital in Karachi. It, however, did not mention the hospital's name.

Zardari, who is facing multiple corruption cases, was released from jail in December last year after the Islamabad High Court approved his bail on medical grounds. He had been suffering from ischemic heart disease, which means his heart may have an inadequate supply of blood and oxygen. —PTI

Imran's top aide resigns, facing graft charges

Islamabad, Oct. 12: Pakistan Prime Minister Imran Khan's Special Assistant on Information and Broadcasting Lt. Gen. (ret'd.) Asim Saleem Bajwa resigned on Monday, amid allegations that he used his offices to help family set up several off-shore businesses.

"I requested the honourable prime minister to relinquish me from the additional portfolio of SAPM on Info & broadcasting. He very kindly approved my request," Bajwa, the former Pakistan Army spokesman who also served as Commander of the Southern Command, tweeted. However, he would continue working as chairman of the China-Pakistan Economic Corridor (CPEC) Authority.

The development comes more than a month after Bajwa submitted his resignation to Prime Minister Khan following a report on a website that alleged that he had used his offices in setting up off-shore businesses of his wife, sons and brothers. However, Khan rejected his resignation at the time and asked him to continue working as his special assistant.

The report alleged that Bajwa's younger brothers opened their first Papa John's pizza restaurant in 2002, the year he started working as a Lieutenant Colonel on the General Pervez Musharraf's staff. It claimed that his brother Nadeem Bajwa, 53, who started as a delivery driver for the pizza restaurant franchise, another three brothers, his wife Farrukh Zeba and three sons now own a business empire which set up 99 companies in four countries, including a pizza franchise with 133 restaurants worth an estimated $39.9 million. —PTI

U.S. Economists worked towards improving the theory of how auctions work

Milgrom, Wilson bag Nobel Prize in Economics

Stockholm, Oct. 12: Two American economists won the Nobel Prize on Monday for improving the theory of how auctions work and inventing new and better auction formats that are now woven into many parts of the economy.

The discoveries of Paul R. Milgrom and Robert B. Wilson "have benefited sellers, buyers and taxpayers around the world," the Nobel Committee said, noting that the auction formats developed by the winners have been used to sell radio frequencies, fishing quotas and airport landing slots.

Both economists are based at Stanford University in California, and Milgrom said he received news of their win "in a strange way." "I got a knock at my door from Bob Wilson," he said. "He was my Ph.D. advisor, and he lives right across the street from me." Milgrom said students, friends and colleagues had long suggested he and Wilson might be due for the prize. "It's really sweet actually," he said. "It's nice to have their respect but their affection as well." The winners were announced in Stockholm by Goran

Sciences in Memory of Alfred Nobel, the award was established in 1969 and is now widely considered one of the Nobel prizes. The committee said Wilson's work showed "why rational bidders tend to place bids below their own best estimate of the common value," that is, "the value which is uncertain beforehand but, in the end, is the same for everyone." "Bidders are worried about the winner's curse — that is, about paying too much and losing out," the committee said.

Wilson, 83, described his former student as "sort of the genius behind all of this auction work," noting that they first worked together on auctions in the 1970s. "We're really motivated to use theory in a very practical way to improve various economic processes," Wilson said. Milgrom, 72, developed a more general theory of auctions that takes into account what is known as the "private value" of what's being sold that can vary greatly from bidder to bidder. Speaking to reporters in Stockholm by phone after learning of his win, Wilson struggled to think of an auction he himself had participated in. But then added: "My wife points out to me that we bought ski boots on eBay. I guess that was an auction." —AP

Judiciary must keep itself above suspicion

The move by Andhra Pradesh Chief Minister Y.S. Jagan Mohan Reddy to write a letter to Chief Justice of India Sharad Arvind Bobde, with a “sense of pain and anguish” at the “politicisation of institutions”, monitored by N. Chandrababu Naidu, “through honourable sitting judges of Supreme Court”, is unprecedented in India’s history. True, there have been confrontations between politics and the judiciary, between Parliament and other legislative bodies over the division of powers. There were times that the judiciary was accused of “judicial overreach” and “legislating in disguise” in the course of interpreting legislation and executive orders. The relationship between judiciary and political pillars of the legislature and executive is complex, but there is little doubt, even factoring in the impeachment powers of Parliament, that the judiciary is independent and supreme in interpretation of the Constitution and legal matters.

Equally important, as much as the powers of judiciary are supreme, the dignity, honour and majesty of the courts are sacrosanct too. Indian history records that whenever Indian politics was set to compromise with the values of democracy or unhesitant to trample on the rights of citizens or let down the foundational values of our republic, it was the judiciary that time and again has saved our nation. The Indian judiciary is not just one of the four pillars of the modern Indian nation or democracy — it has also been the exemplar of the highest standards, ethical conduct and has served as a role model for the other three. Like Caesar’s wife, it stands even above suspicion or a shade of doubt, and must continue to do so.

The political rivalry between YSRC chief Y.S. Jagan Mohan Reddy and his arch-rival Telugu Desam chief N. Chandrababu Naidu is irrelevant here; it is best decided every five years in the people’s court. But when a chief minister, or even an ordinary citizen, raises issues, casts aspersions or makes allegations against a sitting Supreme Court judge, the onus shifts to the nation’s highest court and the CJI to ensure that every citizen of this country is assured that there is no need to worry about the serious allegations by ensuring transparency, fearless introspection and ensuring fairness.

One cannot completely dismiss the views of Mr Reddy’s rivals that this could be an arm-twisting tactic at a time when serious cases of financial wrongdoing are pending in the courts, including a matter on fast-tracking such hearings, in which, if found guilty and sentenced, the young CM could face disqualification from holding office and contesting elections for a considerable time.

The court will have to undertake this testing ordeal of not getting arm-twisted into weakening its resolve to rid India of political corruption but also simultaneously stand above any shred of doubt that no one in the judiciary, much less so, someone in the highest court, is possibly guilty of allegations of extra-constitutional judicial intervention at the behest of any political leader. Given its track record and the Indian people’s overriding trust and unshakable faith in the courts, one expects this is exactly what the CJI would ensure happens. Hail the judiciary!

Indefatigable Nadal

The Spaniard Rafael Nadal’s 13th triumph in the French Open is an incredible achievement. The unforgiving clay courts of Roland Garros present a challenge that can also drain the fit and tuned-to-the-minute athletes. Roger Federer acknowledged this as “one of the greatest achievements in sport” after his great rival equalled his record of 20 Grand Slam titles on Sunday. A naturally gifted champion like Federer has only one French Open in his 20 Grand Slams. A persevering Nadal adapting his baseline game to Wimbledon grass and the hard courts of the Australian and US Open championships and conquering each of them consistently enough is a saga in itself.

Not fortunate to be gifted with the dulcet touch and graceful athleticism, Nada makes up for it by his willingness to chase down each point like a man possessed. There is a terrier-like determination to him on a tennis court that makes him a role model for fellow sportsmen who struggle to withstand the vicissitudes of form and, more importantly, fitness. Nadal has had his share of injuries, surgeries and endless queries in random drug tests, besides his self-doubts, in a remarkable journey of endurance in which the ability to stay motivated for years after raking in millions of dollars also counts.

In crushing Novak Djokovic, the third gladiator of modern tennis, Nadal not only emphasises that he is the king of the rectangle of clay. In this virtual monopoly of Grand Slams, broken only by Thiem’s victory at the US Open, the three greats are signalling they are in no hurry to make way for a generational change in men’s tennis. On the other hand, with Serena Williams not winning a Grand Slam since becoming a mother, the field is wide open on the distaff side. Young Iga Swiatek, the first ever Pole to win a Grand Slam, brings with her a powerful forehand and angled ground-strokes that makes her appear to be the one poised to emulate the likes of Nadal in exhibiting a metronomic thoroughness in tennis conquests.

Tackle Xi in Myanmar; don’t forget Rohingyas

Sunanda K. Datta-Ray
Reflections

India’s foreign secretary and Chief of Army Staff may not have recently paid a joint visit to Naypyidaw, the capital of the country formerly known as Burma, if so much did not hang on the outcome of the November 8 elections. What probably influenced both Mr Harsh Vardhan Shringla and Gen. M.M. Naravane most was the spectre of “Paukphaw”, the China-Myanmar friendship that President Xi Jinping had underscored during his state visit in January.

Although India and Myanmar are distant neighbours at present, they comprised one administrative unit from 1885 to 1937. They might have been politically one now if Jawaharlal Nehru had accepted U Nu’s 1947 proposal for a “United Nations of South Asia”. The fears, hatreds and resentments that make these elections so different from the 2015 polls when Myanmar soared on the cusp of hope may signify major changes in the road ahead.

The electoral outcome is bound to leave a heavy imprint not only on Myanmar’s place on the chequerboard of Asia’s power politics but on the social and demographic character of a country that seems incapable of accepting that it must rise above tribal and religious loyalties to claim the status of a nation. It’s not just a question of more than 37 million voters choosing their parliamentary and sub-national assembly representatives or of the all-powerful military appointing its tame legislators. Empowering the people is what matters. Under Myanmar’s 2008 constitution, the Tatmadaw — Myanmar’s all-powerful military — chooses the vice-president and the home, defence and border affairs ministers, and controls 25 per cent of all parliament seats.

The future of 1.3 million Rohingyas whom the United Nations Secretary-General, António Guterres, calls “the world’s fastest-developing refugee emergency ... a humanitarian nightmare”, will have to be decided. So will the future of Aung San Suu Kyi, still elegantly winsome at 75, whose National League for Democracy infused the future with optimism in 2015. Today, she seems rather like a faded rose, having lost much of her shine as the global pin-up girl of Asian democracy and must justify her glory as Nobel Peace Prize laureate. For all that she is styled State Counsellor, Ms Suu Kyi seems to dance to the Tatmadaw’s tune on the Rohingyas.

Like the rest of the world, the Naypyidaw regime must also come to grips with a fast-spiralling Covid-19 crisis that may keep voters away from the polls. With nearly 24,000 infections, a meteoric rise from the 887 that were recorded on September 1, Myanmar has suddenly surged from only marginally infected to being Southeast Asia’s fourth-worst hit country. The speculation is that pressed on so many fronts, Myanmar might feel that the future would be better protected if China’s rising influence were to be checked. That might explain reports of New Delhi’s offer of a $6-billion petroleum refinery project and the talks

The electoral outcome is bound to leave a heavy imprint not only on Myanmar’s place on the chequerboard of Asia’s power politics but on the social and demographic character of the country.

India’s national interest can never be divorced from the humanitarian cause of the Rohingya, especially not by a government that claims to go beyond ‘Look East’ to ‘Act East’ to boost connectivity, power and energy projects, as well as joint efforts to tackle the pandemic. Worthy as these initiatives may be, one cannot but wonder why they are not components of a permanent programme binding two such physically close neighbours.

When India did take an interest in Myanmar after years of neglect, it was to deny the Naga or Mizo rebels sanctuary or prevent China and Pakistan from gaining strategic advantages. These legitimate objectives were small in themselves and appeared to reduce foreign affairs to immediate petty gains, with little inkling of the broad sweep of history. Myanmar’s expulsion of Indian labourers, clerks, doctors, teachers and lawyers prompted little reaction because the victims seemed to be culturally, socially and financially remote from the mandarins of South Block.

Rightly or wrongly, it was whispered at one time that a pragmatic approach was discouraged by India’s ethnic Myanmar first lady. That was nearly two decades ago. A subsequently more sympathetic attitude was attributed to Ms Suu Kyi’s personal contacts in New Delhi during the years her mother was Myanmar’s ambassador and she a student at the city’s Lady Shri Ram College. Inevitably, the suffering Rohingyas are now seen as Muslim jihadists rather than victims of racism.

Myanmar’s 2014 census listed Rohingyas as illegal Bengali immigrants. Most were stripped of citizenship in 1982. They are denied education, employment and the right to move about freely. This legal subjugation is nothing compared to the terrible atrocities of repeated military crackdowns, particularly in 2017-2018, when entire villages were burned down, men were murdered and women subject to gangrape.

Predictably, perhaps, some Rohingya groups responded with militancy. But the Arakan Rohingya National Organisation demands the right to “self-determination within Myanmar”, while the Rohingya-led National Democratic Party for Human Rights supported the 1988 democracy movement. It returned four members to Parliament in 1990 when the Tatmadaw cheated the victorious NLD of its right to form the government.

The former Army strongman, Shwe Mann, is now projecting his Union Betterment Party as the middle ground between the NLD and the military-backed Union Solidarity and Development Party, while the tycoon and legislator Thet Thet Khine, who left the NLD to launch the People’s Pioneer Party, focuses mainly on the economy. Meanwhile, the NLD’s promise of imported cars has invited ridicule. Unhappily, none of the 16 major parties in the fray is campaigning to enfranchise the marginalised ethnic groups like the persecuted Rohingya.

They needn’t be India’s priority either. The political challenge of “Paukphaw” — including China-backed projects like the $4 billion Myitsone Dam, the Belt and Road Initiative, the economic corridor stretching from China’s Yunnan province to Rakhine state, and the $15 billion Yatai New City Project at Shwe Kokko on the Myanmar-Thai border — matters far more. However, India’s national interest can never be divorced from the humanitarian cause of the Rohingya, especially not by a government that claims to go beyond “Look East” to “Act East”.

LAW & ORDER

The recent increase in crimes, especially in North India is due to unavailability of police in crime prone areas and their excess deployment for protection of ruling political bigwigs (CBI takes over Hathras probe, DC, Oct. 12). If the police protection is withdrawn, then one can imagine the plight of politicians.

LETTER TO CJI

The Telugu Desam’s reaction to the letter written by Andhra Pradesh Chief Minister to CJI was on expected lines. They have conveniently skipped the main issues raised in the letter. Stopping investigation on an FIR, gagging the media from publishing the contents of the FIR are some of the atrocious decisions taken recently by AP HC. The Supreme Court too found fault with HC on this. TD is always harping on Jagan as the prime accused in several charge sheets pending trial in a CBI court. During 2014-19, when the TD was in power, nothing was finalised against Jagan and there is no answer from the TD or BJP on it.

Two get letters of intent to make baby cars

NEW DELHI, OCT. 12

Letters of intent are understood to have been issued by the Ministry of Industrial Development to Mr. Sanjay Gandhi, Prime Minister Mrs. Gandhi’s son, and Mr. Madan Mohan Rao of Madras for the manufacture of small cars in the private sector.

The issue of licences to the two parties for the manufacture of baby cars would be considered by the Ministry of Industrial Development after they submit detailed project reports which would have to be scrutinised by the Directorate-General of the Technical Development, Ministry of Industrial Development.

Mr. Gandhi has already assembled a small car out of locally made components which was tested by the Directorate-General of Technical Development. His proposal envisages an initial production of 2,000 cars, per annum to be progressively increased to an annual turnout of 20,000 units.

If you do not admit there’s a crisis, you can’t solve it

If I do not acknowledge that I have a problem, then I cannot solve it. If the problem is a minor one, this is less consequential and does not affect me beyond a point. It is only an irritant that I can continue to ignore.

But if the problem is a major one, and if the problem affects not just me but many people around me, then ignoring it must have a sound reason. Ignoring it must in some way be more important than addressing it.

The sale of cars in India has not grown for the past five years. The number of cars bought by Indians in 2015-16 was 27 lakh units. The number of cars bought in 2019-20 was 27 lakh units. India’s middle class is either not growing or not spending.

The government says that stagnating car sales is not a problem because young people prefer to use Uber and Ola cabs. The United States sold two crore cars last year. Uber and Ola (and its various equivalents) do not seem to affect any other nation.

The sale of two-wheelers in India has not grown for the past four years. Altogether 1.7 crore units were sold in 2016-17, and 1.7 crore units were sold in 2019-20. This is the vehicle of the lower middle class, the size and consumption of which has not grown for four years. What theory the government has for this we do not know as it has not been acknowledged that there is no growth.

Commercial vehicles have not shown any growth for the past four years. Sales were seven lakh units in 2016-17 and seven lakh units in 2019-20. This includes vehicles like trucks, heavy lorries, tankers and small tempos that carry products either to the manufacturers or to the market. The real meaning of four years of zero growth in this market can simply be imagined.

Real estate has shown no growth over the last four years. Indians bought ₹2 lakh crores worth of real estate in 2016. They bought ₹2 lakh crores worth of real estate in 2019. India’s exports have not grown for six years. The country exports the same quantity that it did when Dr Manmohan Singh was Prime Minister. India was exporting about $300 billion a year when the UPA-2 left office. It exported about $300 billion in 2019-20. Why is this the case? We do not know because the government does not speak about it. When imports into India fell more than exports out of India, the government celebrated the moment as a singular achievement.

Employment has not only not grown in the past six years, it has actually gone down. A report produced by the government showed it to be at over six per cent in 2018, more than at any other time in history. Why are Indians losing employment? We do not know. The government has dismissed the issue and said that pakora sellers and Uber drivers were replacing traditional employees.

It is true that Covid-19 has affected India’s economy deeply and will continue to do so in the foreseeable future. We are unlikely to get back to the GDP figure that we achieved in January this year for another three years. This means that by the time Prime Minister Narendra Modi’s second term ends in May 2024, we will still only be economically where we were in January this year. The problem is that where we were in January this year was not a good space. All the numbers that have been referred to above are before the Covid-19 pandemic’s outbreak.

The stagnation in our economy had happened before the lockdown and has nothing to do with our current crisis. If and when we are able to overcome the Covid-19 related problem with our economy, we will go back only to the earlier problem.

India’s GDP growth declined every quarter for 10 quarters before Covid. Why? We do not know. It could be one reason, and it could be many reasons. But if we do not acknowledge the issue at all, we will never solve it. You can only think about, discuss and then implement corrective measures if you acknowledge that corrective measures are needed. If you carry on like nothing has happened, then deep problems cannot be fixed by themselves and they won’t go away. The government went from saying that India was the one bright spot in the world’s economy and the fastest growing economy in the world, to not saying anything about the economy at all.

The problem is a major one, and it affects not just the Prime Minister but hundreds of millions of people across the country. Ignoring it must have a sound reason. Ignoring it must in some way be more important than addressing it.

■ Meeting ends without a decision Consensus eludes GST Council again

New Delhi, Oct. 12: The stalemate over compensating states for the shortfall in GST collections continued on Monday with a meeting of the GST Council ending without reaching any consensus. The panel, which is the highest decision-making body on indirect taxes, for the second time in a week failed to reach a consensus on the Centre's proposal of states borrowing against future GST collections to make up for the shortfall.

This was the third meeting in a row that discussed compensation shortfall without a decision.

Finance minister Nirmala Sitharaman, who heads the Council, said the Centre cannot borrow and pay states for the shortfall as it would lead to rise in bond yields, resulting in rise in borrowing costs for the government and the private sector.

However, this would not be the case if states borrowed against future GST receipts, she said, adding 21 states had agreed to borrow as suggested by the Centre.

However, other states insisted on a decision to be taken by consensus, she said.

"We were not able to arrive at a consensus," Sitharaman said.

In its previous meeting last week, the council had decided to extend the surcharge on taxes on luxury goods such as cars and tobacco products beyond June 2022 but failed to reach a consensus on ways to compensate states for loss of tax revenue.

The projected total compensation shortfall in the current fiscal stands at Rs 2.35 lakh crore.

The Centre had in August given two options to the states—to borrow either Rs 97,000 crore from a special window facilitated by the RBI or Rs 2.35 lakh crore from the market. It had also proposed extending the compensation cess levied on luxury, demerit and sin goods beyond 2022 to repay the borrowing.

Following a demand by some states, the amount of Rs 97,000 crore was increased to Rs 1.10 lakh crore.

As many as 21 states -- which are BJP-ruled or have supported it on various issues— have opted to borrow Rs 1.10 lakh crore to meet the compensation shortfall.

The Centre has released Rs 20,000 crore to the states towards compensation shortfall so far in the current fiscal.

Under the GST structure, taxes are levied under 5, 12, 18 and 28 per cent slabs.

On top of the highest tax slab, a cess is levied on luxury, sin and demerit goods, and the proceeds from the same are used to compensate states for any revenue loss. But due to a slowdown in the economy, collections have fallen short of the money needed for compensating states.

Travel industry unhappy with redirection of LTC money

SANGEETHA G
CHENNAI, OCT. 12

Naturally, the travel industry is unhappy with the Centre's decision to redirect the leave travel concession (LTC) allowance of government employees to purchase of consumer goods.

After the prolonged lockdown, the travel and tourism industry was expecting the festive season to boost travel demand, as people usually use the opportunity to travel to their home state.

After almost eight months of nil to very limited tourism activity, festive season was one of the few demand drivers that the travel and hospitality industry was looking forward to and the industry was hoping for more tax-based stimulus in the hands of all citizens to travel when spent against GST-rated travel agents, hotels tour operators, tourist transporters and restaurants, said the Federation of Associations in Indian Tourism and Hospitality (Faith).

"Redirecting the LTC money of government employees to buy consumer goods would dry up those funds for the travel sector. Additionally, it would also send a vote of no-confidence to the tourism travel and hospitality industry, which was looking to get back on its feet after 'Unlock'," said Faith.

Additionally, since tax-free LTC is a four-year block scheme, it will also cut away funds for future travel demand sources for the next year when the LTC block ends in 2021. The tourism ministry was

But consumer durables are in a sweet spot

SANGEETHA G.
CHENNAI, OCT. 12

The government's leave travel concession (LTC) scheme meant to induce demand has put consumer durables and electronics in a sweet spot.

The government has put forward a few riders for those availing the LTC scheme. The employee, who wants tax-free LTC, will have to buy goods or services worth three times the fare and one-time the leave encashment.

Further, the goods and services bought under the scheme should be carrying a GST of 12 per cent and above. This will weed out all the basic amenities that have a GST of less than 12 per cent and the focus will be on discretionary items like computers, consumer durables, smartphones, home appliances, furniture and home furnishings.

"Both in terms of price point and GST, consumer durables are in a sweet spot. People who have been deferring purchase of consumer durables, electronics, mobile phones and household electronics will have a reason to buy," said Naval Seth of Emkay Global Financial Services. Even those who had not made any festive season purchase plans will find a reason to upgrade consumer appliances with the scheme.

According to Kamal Nandi, president, Consumer Electronics and Appliances

Manufacturers Association (Ceama) and business head and EVP, Godrej Appliances, the measure will augur well for the consumer durables segment in the upcoming festive season.

"Traditionally, the Indian customer makes many of his/her big-ticket purchases, such as appliances, during the festive season. Due to the current pandemic, consumers have appreciated the value appliances add to their lives as they are looking for comfort and convenience at home with the adoption of 'work from home' format and for the overall health, hygiene & safety of their family from the coronavirus," he said.

Consumer durables have been seeing a good month-on-month recovery in sales in the past couple of months. "The category has not yet made growth over the same month last year. But we expect a positive growth during the festive season," said Seth.

planning to make 2021 the year for domestic tourism.

The industry wants LTC funds to be restored and income tax benefits be offered to citizens travelling within the country, paying up to Rs 1.5 lakh to GST-registered travel agents, hotels tour operators, tourist transporters and restaurants.

IIP contracts 8% in Aug; inflation spurts

FC BUREAU
NEW DELHI, OCT. 12

Despite the gradual relaxation of lockdown restrictions, the industrial output contracted by 8 per cent in August, mostly due to minimal output from the manufacturing, mining and power generation sectors. While at the same time, consumer inflation in the September month increased to 7.34 per cent from 6.69 per cent in the previous month on account of rising food prices, according to government data released on Monday.

The Index of Industrial Production, or IIP, had contracted by 1.4 per cent in August 2019. The index had contracted 10.4 per cent in July 2020, which was better than 15.7 per cent contraction in June this year.

"It may not be appropriate to compare the IIP in the post-pandemic months with the IIP for months preceding the Covid-19 pandemic," the Ministry of Statistics and Programme Implementation said.

"The manufacturing sector production registered a decline of 8.6 per cent, while the output of mining and power segments fell 9.8 per cent and 1.8 per cent, respectively," it said, adding that with the gradual relaxation of restrictions, there has been a relative improvement in the economic activities by varying degrees as well as in data reporting.

The consumer price also went up to an unsatisfactory level, marking the highest level recorded in eight months, and it is also above the Reserve Bank's target range of 2-6 per cent. "The consumer inflation in September increased to 7.34 per cent from 6.69 per cent in the previous month on account of rising food prices. Food inflation in September rose to 10.68 per cent compared to 9.05 per cent in August," the release said.

Despite the central bank's effort to contain inflation by keeping rates low, unabated high prices have hurt the economy.

Sahara says over ₹3,200 cr paid to co-operative society members

New Delhi, Oct. 12: The Sahara Group on Monday said it has paid Rs 3,226 crore to more than 10 lakh members of its four associated co-operative credit societies in the last 75 days, including some payments against requests from people who had complained about delayed payouts.

The group said there has been some delay in payments, primarily due to an embargo imposed for last eight years by the Supreme Court, while about Rs 22,000 crore of its funds, including interest amount, are deposited in the Sahara-Sebi account, which was created to refund bondholders of two group firms.

In a statement, Sahara said Sebi has been able to repay only Rs 106.1 crore to the investors in these eight years despite repeated attempts, which the group said only affirms its view that there are no claimants left as most bondholders were already repaid before it was asked by the regulator to deposit the money. —PTI

AB de Villiers goes great guns as RCB crush KKR

Sharjah, Oct. 12: AB de Villiers hit a power-packed 73 to help Royal Challengers Bangalore outplay Kolkata Knight Riders by 82 runs in the Indian Premier League on Monday.

The South African great smashed six sixes in his 33-ball blitz and put on an unbeaten century partnership with skipper Virat Kohli, who scored 33, as Bangalore posted 194 for 2 in 20 overs.

Proteas quick Chris Morris and spinner Washington Sundar claimed two wickets each to keep down Kolkata to 112 for 9 in 20 overs.

But the evening belonged to the 36-year-old De Villiers who scored his third IPL half-century of the season to go past 3,000 runs in the Twenty20 tournament. "Genius. Find me another word for @ABdeVilliers17. This one will do for now! Genius," veteran commentator Harsha Bhogle wrote on Twitter.

Opener Aaron Finch (47 from 37 balls) looked sluggish in the middle and struggled to find boundaries before being castled by Prasidh Krishna.

With boundaries drying up, De Villiers unleashed his array of shots against a disciplined Nagarkoti, smashing him for consecutive sixes, over midwicket, one of which hit a running car. — PTI

Teen nabbed for threatening Ziva

Ahmedabad, Oct. 12: A 16-year-old boy was nabbed on Sunday from Munda in Gujarat for allegedly issuing threats against cricketer Mahendra Singh Dhoni's minor daughter, police said.

"The class 12 student from Namna Kapaya village was detained for questioning in connection with a disgusting threat message that was posted on the Instagram account of Dhoni's wife Sakshi Dhoni a few days back," Kutch (West) superintendent of police Saurabh Singh told reporters.

The teenager "confessed" to have posted the threatening message on the Instagram account after the IPL 2020 match between KKR and CSK cricket teams, police said.

Ranchi police had shared information regarding the boy with Kutch (West) police and asked them to confirm if he was the one who had posted the threat message, Singh said.

"We detained him for questioning after Ranchi police informed us that the accused hails from Munda in Kutch district.

"We have confirmed that the boy is the same who had posted the message. He will be handed over to Ranchi police as the FIR was lodged in that city," the SP said, adding that a team of Ranchi Police is likely to reach Kutch tomorrow to take custody of the teenager.

Dhoni is captaining the CSK cricket team in the ongoing Indian Premier League.

The nature of the threat had caused a huge outrage on social media, with several cricketers, politicians and celebrities expressing disgust and demanding action. — PTI

ISHANT OUT OF IPL WITH RIB CAGE INJURY

Dubai, Oct. 12: Veteran pacer Ishant Sharma has been ruled out of the Indian Premier League with a rib-cage injury, his team Delhi Capitals said on Monday.

The 32-year-old Test specialist had played only one of the seven games that the Capitals have played so far, finishing his four overs wicketless for 26 runs against Sunrisers Hyderabad in Abu Dhabi.

"Fast bowler Ishant Sharma experienced an acute episode of left rib cage pain while bowling at a team training session on October 7, 2020 in Dubai.

"Subsequent investigations revealed that he sustained a left internal oblique muscle tear. This injury will unfortunately rule him out of the remainder of the IPL," Capitals said. Depleted Dhoni side face SRH

Dubai, Oct. 12: Time is fast running out for the Mahendra Singh Dhoni-led Chennai Super Kings, a team which desperately needs its batting to click when it takes on Sunrisers Hyderabad here on Tuesday in a battle to keep its IPL hopes alive.

CSK with five defeats in seven games are currently at the penultimate position in the eight-team standings halfway into the tournament. While Shane Watson and Faf du Plessis have had decent outings so far, CSK need a stronger show from its faltering middle order to.

SRH, on the other hand, are a only a tad better-placed than CSK at the fifth spot with three wins from seven games.

But the five-wicket defeat to RR on Sunday would be hurting the Hyderabad outfit badly.

Batting has not been SRH's concern at all as the likes of Jonny Bairstow, skipper David Warner, Manish Pandey and Kane

NBA | CHAMPIONSHIP

Lakers crack the whip to win title

Orlando, Oct. 12: Kobe Bryant's spirit could be felt by the Los Angeles Lakers as they finished a run to the NBA title on Sunday, nine months after Bryant's death in a helicopter crash.

The Lakers completed a championship run dedicated to the late LA legend by defeating Miami 106-93 to capture the NBA Finals four games to two in a quarantine bubble at Orlando, Florida.

"Kobe, I know he's looking down on us super proud. We miss him, and this is definitely for him," Lakers star forward Anthony Davis said.

"I think Kobe and Gianna have guided this team the entire year," Lakers general manager Rob Pelinka said.

"Kobe's voice is always in my head, always, every day, every minute... for us to be able to win this championship doesn't take away the sting of the loss, but what it does is it helps us add to their legacy.

Bryant's widow, Vanessa Bryant, posted a congratulations message on Instagram, saying: "Wish Kobe and Gigi were here to see this."

The Lakers captured their first NBA title since 2010, when Bryant led them to the last of his five career crowns.

"There would be times in my hotel room here — when you're in a bubble for 100 days, it's tough — there would be times in the middle of the night, I would hear his voice: 'Stay the course. Finish the task,'" said Pelinka.

Kobe, I know he's looking down on us super proud. We miss him, and this is definitely for him.

"He said, 'I'll give you two, three years, you'll fix this. You'll get the Lakers back on top.'

Pelinka looked to the heavens and said, "I guess you were right, man. You gave me the energy to do it."

Outside the Lakers' home arena, the Staples Center in Los Angeles, fans took to the streets chanting, "Kobe, Kobe," despite being urged to celebrate at home due to the Covid-19 pandemic.

JAMES SAVOURS MVP TITLE

The sight of LeBron James hoisting an NBA championship trophy as Most Valuable Player of the title series was no surprise — but the path he took to a fourth career crown was anything but usual.

"I can't sit here and say one is more challenging than the other or one is more difficult than the other," James said after capturing his fourth NBA title with a third team, and his fourth Finals MVP award.

He posted a triple-double of 28 points, 14 rebounds and 10 assists in the title-clinching 106-93 victory over the Miami Heat in Game Six. — AFP

No direct entry for badminton Finals

New Delhi, Oct. 12: India ace P. V. Sindhu will not get a direct entry in the rescheduled World Tour Final as the Badminton World Federation (BWF) has decided against handing automatic invitations to current world champions in the season-ending tournament.

According to the BWF rules, world champions have always enjoyed a direct qualification to the prestigious World Tour Finals but with the Covid-19 pandemic disrupting the international calendar, the world body has decided to do away with the criteria this year.

"Players will qualify for the HSBC BWF World Tour Finals 2020 in Bangkok (Thailand) according to current regulations. The exception to that is current world champions will not get an automatic invitation (World Tour Regulations, Clause 8.2.3) and only points earned from World Tour tournaments will be taken into account," BWF said.

"The remaining Grade 2 tournaments counting towards qualification are: DANISA Denmark Open 2020 (HSBC BWF World Tour Super 750), Asia Open I 2020 (HSBC BWF World Tour Super 1000), Asia Open II 2020 (HSBC BWF World Tour Super 1000)," the statement added.

Sindhu, who won the World Championship gold medal last year, had pulled out of the Denmark Open and will now have to perform at the Asia legs to make it to the World Tour Finals. "We don't regret the decision to pull out of Denmark Open. Now that the BWF has laid down the criteria, Sindhu will try to do well in the Asia leg if there are no more postponements and qualify," Sindhu's father P. V. Ramana said. — PTI
