Court orders saving video of search

New Delhi, Dec. 27: A court here on Sunday directed police to preserve the video footage of the search conducted at the premises of advocate Mehmood Pracha, a lawyer representing some of the accused in northeast Delhi riot cases.

Duty Magistrate Udhav Kumar Jain, however, did not pass any order on whether to hand over a copy of the video to Pracha. The court directed its staff to preserve the entire video footage of the search with its seal and place it before the court concerned for necessary orders. The judge said that at this stage, only directions for preserving the video footage is "deemed necessary and the concerned court can take a call on supplying the video footage to the applicant Pracha".

The court has listed the matter for January 5 before the court concerned. The video footage was submitted by the investigating officer (IO) in response to an earlier court order. The court is hearing an application by Pracha in which he has said that he was threatened by the IO that a false case will be registered against him. Pracha had submitted that a search was conducted at his office from December 24 noon till around 3 am on December 25, and according to law, the IO should have intimated forthwith the search and the seized articles to the magistrate concerned. He submitted that, however, the same was not done and therefore, he filed an application in that regard. The advocate further submitted that the entire search was videographed as per a court order and that he was entitled to a copy of the video footage. — PTI

DC CORRESPONDENT
NEW DELHI, DEC 27

The Union home ministry could approach the Election Commission as early as January for a discussion regarding the security arrangements and deployment of Central para-military forces for West Bengal Assembly election. The election in the state is likely to be held in April next year.

Sources claim the home ministry feels that there

With the BJP making aggressive inroads into Bengal before the crucial elections, it is largely believed that there could be intense violence in the run-up to the Assembly polls for which adequate security deployment would have to be done.

BJP and the Trinamul Congress workers, with the latest incident of violence being the attack on the convoy of BJP president J.P. Nadda on the outskirts of Kolkata a few days ago. Even though formal discussions are yet to begin between the home ministry and the EC for the security deployment, the Centre has already started making advance preparation for the same. Sources claim that according to the initial assessment, anything between 800 to 1000 companies of central paramilitary forces could be deployed during the Bengal elections.

Each company of central forces comprises 100 to 135 personnel. This makes one of the deployments for Bengal elections by security forces, one of the biggest in recent time for any state elections. For the recently concluded Bihar Assembly elections, nearly 50,000 central security forces personnel were deputed.

Sources claimed that Home Ministry could also request the Election Commission to divide the Bengal elections into more phases with some gap, as this would help facilitate quick and easy movement of security forces from one part of the State to the other. "The idea is to ensure free and fair elections in a violence-free atmosphere. And with Bengal election are showing keen interest by all major political parties and even the common people out job becomes even more tough and responsible. So we need to ensure adequate availability and deployment during the elections," an official added.

LAND GRABBING ROW BETWEEN TD, YSRC HEATS UP

DC CORRESPONDENT
VISAKHAPATNAM, DEC. 27

High drama prevailed at the well-known Saibaba Temple on Beach Road in Visakhapatnam on Sunday morning when Anakapalle MLA Gudivada Amarnath and a large number of YSRC workers waited for TD MLA Velagapudi Ramakrishna Babu to swear on Baba and announce that he never grabbed an inch of government land.

After waiting for an hour, Amarnath and his followers left the temple premises declaring that by not presenting himself, the TD MLA has accepted his guilt of grabbing government land.

Allegations and counter allegations have been exchanged after revenue and GVMC personnel got vacated the 290 square yard government land at a prime locality near Rushikonda and 40 acres of land in Mudasarlova, opposite to Central Jail and abutting BRTS road.

The day Rushikonda land was freed, Rajya Sabha member V. Vijay Sai Reddy released a list of government lands grabbed by TD MLA Velagapudi Ramakrishna and named his benamis. Reacting to this list, Velagapudi said he was ready to swear on God that he did not grab any government land and challenged Vijay Sai Reddy to do same.

“Vijay Sai Reddy is too big a man for Velagapudi. Hence, we have come to Saibaba Temple and waited for him for hours with all evidence of his land grabbing,” Mr Amarnath told reporters. He maintained that government has enough evidence to nail the TD Urban MLA. The SIT report would further strengthen the case against Velagapudi, sufficient enough for sending him to jail.

“Velagapudi will go to jail. It is a certainty,” Anakapalle MLA declared before reporters.

Earlier, a huge rally was taken out from YSR statue at Park Hotel junction to Saibaba Temple in East Point Colony led by Amarnath. Ruling party workers raised slogans against Velagapudi Ramakrishna Babu.

Police personnel were deployed to prevent any untoward incident.

PATRUDU: JAGAN IS BETRAYING PENSIONERS

DC CORRESPONDENT
VIJAYAWADA, DEC. 27

Senior Telugu Desam leader Ch. Ayyana Patrudu on Sunday wondered how the YSR Congress government could claim credit over people's welfare when it could not fulfil its avowed ₹3,000 pension promise.

He accused Chief Minister Y.S. Jagan Mohan Reddy of betraying even grannies and granddads by not increasing their pensions, which was an electoral promise he had made last year. He pointed out that the Chief Minister made the people believe in his promises by saying that they were as sacred as the Bible, Quran, and Bhagavad Gita.

YSRC CHEATING FARMERS, SAYS BJP AP CHIEF

DC CORRESPONDENT
VIJAYAWADA, DEC. 27

BJP AP president Somu Veeraj, who has been addressing meetings in support of the three farm laws passed by the Centre, said many people are turning to agriculture and are taking up organic farming.

Addressing a Farmers' Empowerment Meet organised by the BJP at Pedavallapudi in Guntur district on Sunday in support of the new agricultural laws, Mr Veeraj maintained that both YSRC and TD had supported these legislations but have now joined hands with Congress and Communists against the laws.

The BJP state chief pointed out that the central Act clearly mentions that there will be agreements with farmers on crops to be grown and harvested. While the farmer's land will remain safe, payments will be made as per the agreement, which will be helpful for the farming community. He said the debate over these laws had been going on for two decades. Only after many discussions and exchange of ideas, Prime Minister Narendra Modi has brought in these laws. He suggested that farmers should make themselves aware about organic farming practices.

Revamped AP state schools pose a threat to pvt schools

Jagan saw first-hand the sorry plight of students studying in govt schools

DC CORRESPONDENT
VIJAYAWADA, DEC. 27

The year 2020 was boon for government schools across all in 13 districts in the State as they were able to get a vibrant new-look.

There was a near-complete revamp of schools with all necessary infrastructure and ambience put in place and making them on par or even better than private institutions.

In the first phase, 15,715 government schools were refurbished with all basic amenities like fans, blackboards, water purifiers, cupboards and other infrastructure under Mana Badi Nadu programme. Further, converting anganwadis into English medium pre-primary 1 and 2 will strengthen government education segment.

Rolling out welfare schemes has been part of the quest for a better tomorrow to the people and their children.

Y.S. Jagan Mohan Reddy, during his walkathon, saw first-hand the sorry plight of students studying in government schools and the inability of parents to send their wards to private institutions resulting in a yawning gap in standards and outlook of students vis-a-vis schools they go to.

Bringing in a new order, the Chief Minister has initiated a slew of measures and 'Mana Badi-Nadu Nedu' is aimed at revamping and rebuilding government education institutions and anganwadi centres.

The conventional assumption that government schools lack of basic amenities underwent a sea-change in 2020, thanks to Mana Badi Nadu-Nedu programme. The determined approach saw schools boasting of toilets with running water facility, electricity with fans and lights, drinking water, furniture for teachers and students, painting of buildings, major/minor repairs, green boards, English labs, compound walls and kitchen sheds.

For instance, the 82-year-old primary government school at Kolavennu in Kankipadu mandal was totally neglected for decades. Now it has been transformed into an iconic school under Mana Badi Nadu Nedu programme and is drawing the attention of parents, who are keen on enrolling their children.

In the first phase, 15,715 government schools were renovated and they bear the appearance of corporate schools. The remaining 31,073 will be taken up for revamp in the second and third phases and schools will be decked up by March 2022. Anganwadi centres doubling up as pre-primary 1 and 2 will also get a facelift.

Two parents D. Syam and T. Sudarshan said that corona had thrown life asunder by creating a huge financial crisis. They said that they were worried about the expenditure they had to incur on their children due to corona impact but modernisation of government schools has come as a ray of hope and now they were enthusiastic about sending their wards to a government school as they were assured of quality education free of cost.

2020, a shot in the arm for education, welfare

DC CORRESPONDENT
VIJAYAWADA, DEC. 27

The academic year in 2020 was impacted adversely by corona, but that did not stop rolling out education-related welfare schemes as originally scheduled.

Introducing English medium right from the primary level has been overwhelmingly welcomed by parents' committees putting to shade the disgruntled elements. This step will provide a level-playing field for students across the spectrum.

Under 'Jagananna Vidya Kanuka', school kits were provided to children up to Class X. The kits containing uniforms, books, shoes, socks, belt and a school bag were given to 42.3 lakh students at a cost of ₹650 crore.

As education is the only asset that can be offered to lakhs of students from downtrodden families, Jagananna Vidya Deevena was launched so that the total fees reimbursement move would benefit 14 lakh college-going students and overall ₹4,000 crore was credited into the bank accounts of the students' mothers besides ₹1,880 crore towards pending dues.

Under Jagananna Gorumudda, nutritious food will be given to 40 lakh students in 45,484 government and aided schools. Wages for those cooking and providing midday meals were increased from ₹1,000 to ₹3,000 to garnish the meal for a spiced up taste.

The State is to start 30 skill development centres along with a high-end IT Skill University in Visakhapatnam. Each parliamentary constituency will have one such centre and four units will be set up in collaboration with the four IIITs while one will be attached to Pulivendula JNTU.

The IT Skill University will cater to Artificial Intelligence (AI), robotics and other modern courses with a thrust on job-orientation. With regard to developing and designing the curriculum, the State government has partnered four international institutes-Singapore Polytechnic, Van Hall Larenstein (University of Applied Studies), GIZ and Department for International Development-for setting up lab infrastructure in skill development in all centres.

Towards this end, 23 reputed organisations, including Dell, Tata, HP, IBM and Biocon, have come forward for signing MoUs with the government and discussions are on with 35 other companies.

On multiple occasions, Chief Minister Y.S. Jagan Mohan Reddy has emphasised on stress-free education and focus on building a healthy learning environment. He also laid focus on inculcating the habit of reading towards which a 'We Love Reading' campaign was launched.

Kaloji university failed to follow sliding rule

“The only difference between the two procedures is that local students of Telangana state were deprived of seats because of the Kaloji University procedure,” he added.

Earlier, he filed a public interest litigation (PIL) and succeeded in getting in the AP government to implement the rule of reservation in sliding as per Supreme Court judgments.

As per the admission rules, 15 per cent seats in each college are declared “unreserved” and the remaining 85 per cent are reserved exclusively for local students. The Phase 1 counselling was held strictly by this procedure in both states.

But, when a vacancy arises in the “unreserved” quota during Phase 2 counselling, a student who has already got a seat in Telangana state under the “local quota” should be pushed up into the “unreserved” quota if she is more meritorious than the student from AU or SVU regions. In such case, there will be a vacancy in the “local quota” which can be filled with another Telangana state student.

When contacted, KNRUHS registrar Dr Praveen initially tried to justify the decision saying that students from other states did not join and hence those vacancies would be filled by local students in the Phase 3 counselling. Asked what if they did join the college, he said that the admission committee members would be able to better explain the procedure followed by the university. He assured this reporter that a member of the admission committee would call and clarify but none approached till the report was filed.

TRUST | DEFICIT 99% of the plants do not have any certification from authorities

Untested water being sold in Kadapa

DC CORRESPONDENT
KADAPA, DEC. 27

Water is an important part of our life. But with water pollution rising, it is difficult to trust the water available for drinking today.

With rising health awareness among people, most choose only filtered water, which is supplied by water plants. But they don't know how safe it is. There are more than 1,600 water purifying plants in Kadapa district. In Kadapa town itself, there are 150 to 200 plants supplying drinking water to its 4.10 lakh population.

Interestingly there is no supervision of these plants and 99 per cent of these plants do not have any certification from authorised agencies.

As per BIS standards, packaged drinking water means packaged water derived from any source of potable water, which may be subjected to treatments, such as, decantation, filtration, combination of filtrations, aeration, filtration with membrane filter, depth filter, cartridge filter, activated carbon filtration, water demineralisation, re-mineralisation, reverse osmosis or any other method that meets the prescribed standards. However, most of the water plants in Kadapa district do not have required machinery for filtration.

Nearly 99 per cent of water plant operators do not follow any regulations. Water taken from boreholes is being supplied to the people without filtering it. Owners of water plants in Kadapa charge ₹10 for a 25-litre can.

During the Telugu Desam regime, it had been decided to provide free filtered water to people under the NTR Sujala Sravanti scheme. For the purpose, permission was given to start plants everywhere. Several water plants got started under the name of various foundations. Most of these plants operated without any filtering equipment. Interestingly, even the Food Safety and Standards Authority of India (FSSAI) officials do not bother about quality maintenance at these water plants.

Homeo Hospital at old RIMS in Kadapa has a water testing laboratory. Water plant owners are expected to get their water tested in this laboratory and keep that certificate with them. The laboratory personnel do not have the authority to certify that the water is fit for drinking purposes. But owners of water plants “manage” to get eligibility certificates from the lab to prove that they are supplying government-certified drinking water.

State-run food control officials told DC that they only issue permits to those who store and sell water in packets or sealed bottles. An official said that as per the BIS regulations, they can only give permission for maintenance of plants, which are licensed with them. Kadapa Corporation health department officials say inspection of water plants is not within their purview. They only check whether or not the owner concerned is paying taxes, as the business is going on within the corporation area.

One of the water plant owners, speaking to DC said if they have to get ISI or BIS certification, they will have to sell a can of water for ₹30. Otherwise, they would not be able to run their plant, he said.

However, there is clearly no supervisory authority that checks these water plants.

Sample of Covid positive returnee sent for further tests

DC CORRESPONDENT
NELLORE, DEC. 27

A returnee from UK to Nellore tested positive only in RT-PCR test and more tests are under way, district collector K.V.N. Chakradhar Babu has clarified. The same sample has been sent for further investigation to ascertain whether any new strain is involved as was reported in the UK and some other countries.

"The symptoms of the patient are no different from those of general Covid patients, the collector said, quoting the senior medical officers treating him at the GGH in Nellore.

Only the mother of the 35-year-old infected man was tested positive while the other family members tested negative.

"The woman is also asymptomatic and there is no cause for worry," the collector said.

He said 55 persons returned to Nellore district from UK in the last 14 days and RT-PCR tests were conducted on all these. Tests are in progress for the 244 primary and secondary contacts of these returnees. Among them, only a 35-year-old man was tested positive so far and he was kept under observation at GGH in Nellore though he was asymptomatic.

Introduction of effective laws to check flooding of cities by storm-water, similar to the laws in Chicago, is necessary for India, proposed US-based expert in water conservation and management, Dr Prakasam Tata.

SHOPIAN FAKE ENCOUNTER: CASE ON ARMY OFFICER

Srinagar, Dec 27: Police have filed a chargesheet against three men, including an Army officer, in the Shopian “fake” encounter case of three civilians in July, officials said on Sunday.

The 1,400-page chargesheet was filed in the court of principal district and sessions judge, Shopian on Saturday by the head of the Special Investigation Team (SIT), the officials said. Captain Bhupinder of the Army’s 62 Rashtriya Rifles, Bilal Ahmed Lone and Tabish Nazir were named as accused in the chargesheet for their role in the alleged fake encounter killing of the three men hailing from Rajouri District, they added.

A police spokesperson said the court has issued an order, giving an option to the Army under the relevant sections of law for a trial of Captain Bhupinder alias Major Basheer Khan in a criminal court of ordinary jurisdiction or court martial. The spokesperson said during investigation, it came to light that a conspiracy was hatched by the accused captain and civilians Nazir and Lone to abduct the three civilians and stage the encounter.

“They deliberately and purposefully chose not to follow SOPs, planted illegally-acquired weapons and material on their bodies after stripping them of their identities and tagged them as hardcore terrorists in possession of war-like stores, deliberately providing false information to colleagues and seniors,” he said.

The information obtained from the accused led the SIT to recreate the scenes of the crime, including the routes used after meeting the victims and the place where they were killed, the spokesperson said.

FALL IN LINE OR LEAVE, AIADMK TELLS BJP, ALLIES

A. ARUL PALANI | DC CHENNAI, DEC. 27

The leaders and cadre of ruling party AIADMK rallied behind Chief Minister Edappadi K Palanisamy as the CM candidate for the forthcoming Assembly election of 2021.

In a veiled attack on the BJP at its maiden election rally in the city on Sunday, the party’s deputy coordinator K. P. Munusamy said - “The government will be led by the AIADMK. There is no necessity for a coalition government. If any political party comes forward for an alliance arrangement with an idea of a coalition government, let them please think about it again.” This was tantamount to telling the BJP to fall in line or rework its poll options for Tamil Nadu.

The demise of AIADMK supremo J Jayalithaa and DMK’s M Karunanidhi, who opposed her, may have emboldened “many national parties” to try and make a political entry into Tamil Nadu. Boldly terming them as ‘opportunists and betrayers’ who were blaming the Dravidian outfits in alleging that they had ruined Tamil Nadu in their five-decade rule, Munusamy wondered how accusations of inefficiency could be hurled against the AIADMK government when the Centre had given so many awards to Tamil Nadu for its meritorious performance in many sectors. The State had superior infrastructure and facilities, be it education or health care amenities, he pointed out.

DC CORRESPONDENT NEW DELHI, DEC. 27

In his last Mann Ki Baat radio broadcast of the year, Prime Minister Narendra Modi on Sunday urged people to substitute foreign-made products they use with items produced in India, and said they should make this resolution for the country in the new year.

During his address, the Prime Minister touched on various issues, including wildlife conservation, ridding the country of single-use plastic, and paid tributes to several revered Sikh personalities, including sons of Guru Gobind Singh. He, however, did not mention farmers’ protest.

But at the three major spots of protests — Singhu border, Faridkot in Punjab and Rohtak in BJP-ruled Haryana — farmers clashed thalis and raised slogans against the Centre’s new farm laws during the Prime Minister’s monthly radio address on Sunday morning.

The “thali bajaa (clang plates)” protest was decided upon by the farmers last week.

Making the announcement, Swaraj India chief Yogendra Yadav had said that “on December 27 when the Prime Minister gives his Mann Ki Baat radio address, farmers will say, ‘We are tired of listening to your Mann Ki Baat, when will you listen to our Mann Ki Baat?’ So we will bang utensils so that the noise of his Mann Ki Baat doesn’t reach us.”

The idea of clanging plates and clapping was floated by the Prime Minister earlier this year to felicitate frontline workers battling coronavirus as the lockdown started. In Sunday’s Mann ki Baat, PM Modi referred to it.

Citing letters written to him by people as the year moves to a close, Mr Modi said, “In most of the letters people have commended the country’s capabilities and the collective strength of the countrymen. When a novel experiment such as ‘Janata cur-

Nadda shares Rahul video Attempt to mislead farmers will not succeed: Rajnath

DC CORRESPONDENT NEW DELHI, DEC. 27

Sharing an old video of Rahul Gandhi’s speech in Lok Sabha in which he seems to be advocating the need for farmers to get rid of middlemen and sell their produce directly to industry, BJP president J.P. Nadda on Sunday accused the Congress leader of playing politics over the ongoing farmers’ protest.

“What is this magic happening, Rahulji? You are opposing now what you had advocated earlier. You have nothing to do with the country’s or farmers’ interests. You have to play politics only. But this is your bad luck that your hypocrisy will not work. People of the country and farmers have recognised your double standards,” the BJP president tweeted in Hindi along with the video clip.

● FARMER UNIONS are alleging that these laws will weaken the existing government’s support for the farm sector which has been vehemently denied by the Centre.

● MR GANDHI charged that farmers and labourers of Amethi and 10-12 districts of Uttar Pradesh have been fighting for a food park, which the government had denied saying the park never had land.

The Congress and some other Opposition parties are backing the protest against the three agriculture-marketing laws which give cultivators an option to sell their produce directly to private players. Farmer unions are alleging that these laws will weaken the existing government’s support for the farm sector which has been vehemently denied by the Centre.

In the video, Mr Gandhi, then an MP representing Amethi parliamentary seat in Uttar Pradesh, can be heard saying that a farmer in UP had asked him to explain the “magic” behind a packet of potato chips costing ₹10 while farmers sell potato for ₹2 per kg. When he asked what they thought was the reason for this, the farmer said factories are located very far from them and if they could sell their produce directly there, they will get all the money without middlemen earning any cut.

Mr Gandhi charged that farmers and labourers of Amethi and 10-12 districts of Uttar Pradesh have been fighting for a food park, which the government had denied saying the park never had land.

Dec.27: Defence Minister Rajnath Singh Sunday said that attempts to “mislead” farmers on the recent agriculture laws will not succeed.

Addressing a state-level function to mark the third anniversary of the Jai Ram Thakur-led BJP government in Himachal Pradesh, he said the new laws will raise the income of farmers, but the Congress was misleading them.

Whenever a reform is effected it takes a few years before it starts showing positive results, Singh said in his virtual address.

Be it the 1991 economic reforms brought in by the then finance minister Manmohan Singh or other ones enacted during the Vajpayee government, it took four-five years to see their positive results, he added.

“Similarly, if we can’t wait for four-five years, we can wait for at least two years to witness positive results of the agriculture reforms carried out by the Narendra Modi government,” the defence minister added.

Thousands of farmers have been protesting at different borer points of Delhi against the three laws enacted in September.

They have been claiming that new legislations will destroy the mandi system and end the Minimum Support Price mechanism, apprehensions the government has insisted are misplaced.

Lawyer from Punjab commits suicide

Jhajjar (Haryana), Dec. 27: A lawyer from Punjab allegedly committed suicide by consuming poison on Sunday a few kilometres from the site of a farmers’ protest at Tikri border.

Amarjit Singh from Jalalabad in Punjab’s Fazilka district was taken to the Post Graduate Institute of Medical Sciences (PGIMS) in Rohtak where doctors declared him dead on arrival, police said.

In a purported suicide note, Singh said he was sacrificing his life in support of the farmers’ agitation against the Centre’s new farm laws so that the government is compelled to listen to the voice of the people.

Singh wrote that the common people like farmers and labourers are feeling “defrauded” due to the three “black” agriculture laws and “the worst life is inevitable”.

The police said they are verifying the authenticity of the suicide note, dated December 18.

“We have informed the relatives of the deceased and once they reach here their statements will be recorded and further proceedings will be conducted,” a police officer from Haryana’s Jhajjar district said, adding that they were informed about the suicide by the hospital authorities.

Earlier, at least two suicides have been linked to the farmers’ stir, underway at various border points of Delhi for over a month now.

A Sikh preacher, Sant Ram Singh, allegedly committing suicide near the Singhu border protest site earlier this month claiming that he was “unable to bear the pain of the farmers”.

A 22-year-old farmer had allegedly committed suicide in Punjab’s Bathinda after returning from a protest site near the Delhi border.

A week ago, a 65-year-old farmer from Punjab had attempted suicide by consuming some poisonous substance near the Singhu border.

Thousands of farmers from Punjab, Haryana, Uttar Pradesh and some other states have been protesting at various border points of Delhi against the Farmers (Empowerment and Protection) Agreement of Price Assurance and Price Services Act, Farmers Produce Trade and Commerce (Promotion and Facilitation) Act, and the Essential Commodities (Amendment) Act.

Enacted in September, the three farm laws have been projected by the central government as major reforms in the agriculture sector that will remove the middlemen and allow farmers to sell anywhere in the country.

However, the protesting farmers have expressed apprehension that the new laws would pave the way for eliminating the safety cushion of Minimum Support Price and do away with the mandi system, leaving them at the mercy of big corporates.

Yadav accuses govt of hurting democracy

Lucknow, Dec 27: Samajwadi Party chief Akhilesh Yadav on Sunday accused the BJP-led state government of hurting the foundation of democracy by dissolving village panchayats without conducting elections for them.

Yadav’s allegation prompted a rebuttal from UP BJP vice-president and party’s in-charge of panchayat elections Vijay Bahadur Pathak who said Yadav had been the state’s chief minister and should know that the panchayat elections could not have been held amid the Covid-19. Pathak also expressed the UP government’s commitment to holding the panchayat elections within six months.

“The BJP government in UP has dissolved the village panchayats without conducting the fresh elections for them. Major elections are being conducted, but the government has been finding itself unable to hold elections of the smallest units of public representation. How will this government run Uttar Pradesh?” Yadav said in a tweet in Hindi on Sunday.

“The BJP must not hurt the foundation of democracy,” the former UP chief minister added in his tweet. Rebutting Yadav’s claims, Pathak told PTI, Akhilesh Yadav had been the chief minister of UP. He should know that elections should have been conducted at the stipulated time. —PTI

THREE KILLED, 3 WOUNDED IN ILLINOIS SHOOTING

Washington, Dec. 27: Three people were killed and another three wounded on Saturday in the US state of Illinois when a shooter opened fire at a bowling alley, police said.

A suspect in his 30s was in police custody.

Rockford city police urged people on Twitter to stay away from the area near the Don Carter Lanes bowling alley, as it was an "active situation" and officers were clearing the site.

The force posted on Twitter shortly after midnight: "37-year-old white male suspect is in custody. There are no others being sought at this time." "It's still an ongoing investigation. We do have three individuals that are confirmed deceased," police chief Dan O'Shea earlier told a press conference near the scene of the shooting.

He said three other people had been wounded from the gunfire and were being treated at local hospitals.

He did not specify whether the shooter had a motive.

Don Carter Lanes posted a simple message on Facebook after the shooting asking people to "pray please."

2 WOMEN, 3 GIRLS FOUND DEAD IN ARKANSAS HOME

Atkins (US), Dec. 27: Two women and three girls have been found dead in a home in northwest Arkansas in what authorities said are being investigated as suspected homicides.

Deputies responded to a call around 5 pm on Friday and found the five people dead in a home in Atkins, a city about 65 miles (105 kilometres) northwest of Little Rock, Pope County Sheriff Shane Jones said in a statement.

The dead were between 8 and 50 years old and are all believed to have been related, he said. Jones said during a short news conference Saturday that authorities did not immediately have a suspect and that at least some of the people were shot. He did not provide further details. "At this time, we believe this to be an isolated incident, and do not feel that there is any continued danger to the local public," he said. "We do believe that this is domestic related, possibly." Deputies are investigating the deaths with the help of the Arkansas State Police. A spokesman for the sheriff's office did not immediately respond to questions.

EU nations roll out vaccine campaign

Europeans unwilling to take vaccine, could impede its effectiveness as it takes months to vaccinate all

Paris, Dec. 27: EU countries on Sunday embarked on a vaccination campaign to defeat the "nightmare" of Covid-19, as the growing spread of a new Coronavirus variant intensified fears the pandemic could wreak further devastation.

The jab is a glimmer of hope for a continent yearning for a return to normal from a pandemic that has killed 1.76 million people worldwide since emerging in China late last year and caused at least 80 million confirmed cases, according to an AFP tally.

But polls have shown many Europeans are unwilling to take the vaccine, which could impede its effectiveness in beating the virus, while it will take months for large chunks of the population to be immunised.

"It is with deep pride and a deep sense of responsibility that I got the vaccine today. A small gesture but a fundamental gesture for all of us," said Claudia Alivernini, 29, an Italian nurse who was the first in her country to receive the Pfizer-BioNTech jab Sunday morning.

EU commission chief Ursula von der Leyen hailed the campaign start as a "touching moment of unity and a European success story", even if some European states started a day early on Saturday.

Countries are also showing different strategies in their vaccination targeting, with Italy focusing on health workers, France the elderly and in the Czech Republic the prime minister himself at the front of the queue.

In a sign of impatience, some EU countries began vaccinating on Saturday, a day before the official start, with a 101-year-old woman in a care home becoming the first person in Germany to be inoculated and Hungary and Slovakia also handing out their first shots.

Araceli Rosario Hidalgo Sanchez, a 96-year-old living in a care home in central Spain became the first person in the country to be vaccinated on Sunday, in an event broadcast by national television. She said smilingly she felt "nothing" from the shot.

France began its campaign in care homes for the elderly in the Paris suburb of Seine-Saint-Denis, a low-income area hard hit by Covid-19, with a 78-year-old woman named Mauriceette the first to receive the jab to applause from staff. — AFP

LEBANON SEIZES 8 FOR BURNING REFUGEE CAMP

Beirut, Dec. 27: Lebanon's army said Sunday it had arrested eight people after a dispute led a group of Lebanese nationals to set fire to an informal refugee settlement in the country's north.

The army said it "arrested two Lebanese nationals and six Syrians over a personal dispute... between a number of Lebanese men and Syrian workers," according to a statement.

"The Lebanese men fired bullets in the air and torched the tents of Syrian refugees," it added, without elaborating on the cause of the altercation.

The fire on Saturday night tore through the tented shelters of some 75 families near the town of Bhanine in the north Lebanon Miniyeh region, leaving only a charred wasteland.

The camp's more than 370 residents were forced to flee, according to the United Nations refugee agency, UNHCR, and at least four people were taken to hospital for injuries.

On Sunday, dozens of refugees returned to the remains of the camp to try to salvage anything that might have survived the blaze.

"I came back to check on belongings inside our small tent only to discover that we no longer own anything," said Amira Issa, a 45-year-old mother of five who fled Syria eight years ago. — AFP

CANADA DETECTS FIRST COVID-19 VARIANT CASES

Montreal, Dec. 27: The first two cases of a particularly infectious Coronavirus variant that recently emerged in Britain have been confirmed in Canada, health authorities said on Saturday. "The cases are a couple from Durham with no known travel history, exposure or high-risk contacts," Barbara Yaffe, acting chief medical officer for Ontario, said in a statement.

The couple have been placed in isolation, according to the statement, the same day that Ontario reimposed a lockdown for several weeks due to a spike in Covid-19 cases in the province since early December. Canadian Prime Minister Justin Trudeau said Wednesday his country would prolong its suspension of passenger flights from the UK until January 6 in light of the Coronavirus strain sweeping Britain.

The discovery of two cases in Ontario "further reinforces the need for Ontarians to stay home as much as possible and continue to follow all public health advice, including the province-wide shutdown measures beginning today," said Yaffe. — AFP

Investigators search home in Nashville bomb probe

Washington, Dec. 27: Authorities searched a house in the Nashville area on Saturday as they probed the large blast that ripped through the downtown of the southern US city on Christmas morning, injuring several people and damaging dozens of buildings.

The operation in Antioch came as US media reports said a 63-year-old "person of interest" had been identified in connection with the explosion, which came from a parked motorhome that blared a warning minutes before it blew up.

96-year-old is first Spaniard vaccinated for Coronavirus

Madrid, Dec. 27: A 96-year-old living in a care home in central Spain became the first person in the country to be vaccinated against Covid-19 on Sunday, in an event broadcast by national television.

She felt "nothing" from the shot, Araceli Rosario Hidalgo Sanchez said with a smile after being injected. With her short white hair, the pensioner living in the Los Olmos retirement home in Guadalajara got up slowly after pulling on her black jacket and walked off using a frame for support.

Carer Monica Tapias followed as the second Spaniard to receive the Pfizer-BioNTech vaccine. The Los Olmos home was picked to kick off the country's inoculation campaign because it sits near a Pfizer storage depot, where vaccines were delivered from Belgium Saturday ahead of nationwide distribution.

No cases of Covid-19 have so far been detected among the staff or residents.

"It's a great source of pride and a great satisfaction for us, we're representing all the retirement homes in Spain," director Marina Vellido said on Thursday. After the European Medicines Agency (EMA) approved the Pfizer-BioNTech vaccine last Monday, the way is open for injections across the 27-member bloc.

Covid-19 pandemic will not be the last, says WHO chief

Geneva, Dec. 27: The Coronavirus crisis will not be the last pandemic, and attempts to improve human health are "doomed" without tackling climate change and animal welfare, the World Health Organisation's chief said.

Tedros Adhanom Ghebreyesus also condemned the "dangerously short-sighted" cycle of throwing cash at outbreaks but doing nothing to prepare for the next one, in a video message marking Sunday's first International Day of Epidemic Preparedness.

The WHO director-general said it was time to learn the lessons from the Covid-19 pandemic. "For too long, the world has operated on a cycle of panic and neglect," he said.

"We throw money at an outbreak, and when it's over, we forget about it and do nothing to prevent the next one. This is dangerously short-sighted, and frankly difficult to understand." The Global Preparedness Monitoring Board's September 2019 first annual report on world readiness for health emergencies — published a few months before the Coronavirus broke out — said the planet was woefully unprepared for potentially devastating pandemics. — AFP

Troubled Central African Republic goes to elections

Bangui, Central African Republic, Dec. 27: Voting began in presidential and legislative elections in the Central African Republic on Sunday, in a key test for one of the world's most troubled nations.

The polls take place after a week of turbulence, marked by accusations of an attempted coup, the brief seizure of the CAR's fourth-largest town and the dispatch of military personnel by Russia and Rwanda to help its beleaguered government.

Biden warns over 'devastating' delay in aid package

Washington, Dec. 27: US President-elect Joe Biden warned on Saturday of "devastating consequences" if President Donald Trump continues to delay signing a Covid-19 economic relief bill passed by Congress.

Biden spoke out as millions of Americans saw their jobless benefits expire after Trump threw a long-awaited pandemic aid package into doubt -- demanding lawmakers more than triple the $600 direct payments to US taxpayers.

"This abdication of responsibility has devastating consequences. Today, about 10 million Americans will lose unemployment insurance benefits," Biden said in a statement.

The stimulus measure is wrapped up with a $1.4 trillion funding bill, without which the government will be forced to shut down at midnight Monday.

"In just a few days, government funding will expire, putting vital services and paychecks for military personnel at risk," Biden added.

"In less than a week, a moratorium on evictions expires, putting millions at risk of being forced from their homes over the holidays."

In a video late Tuesday, Trump, who is due to leave office in less than a month, called the $900 million bill "a disgrace" — despite it being passed Monday with a large bipartisan majority after months of negotiation.

The legislation was designed to throw a lifeline to businesses and people struggling to keep their heads above water. — AFP

Israel braces for 3rd virus lockdown

Jerusalem, Dec. 27: Israel was set on Sunday to begin its third Coronavirus lockdown, as Prime Minister Benjamin Netanyahu voiced optimism that a "world record" vaccination drive will restore a degree of normality within weeks.

After a sharp rebound in detected infections, Netanyahu's government announced three days ago that it would re-impose the strict measures that had previously helped limit transmission.

From 5:00pm (1500 GMT) on Sunday, most people will be forced to stay within 1,000 metres of their home. There are a range of exceptions, including seeking medical care, attending legal proceedings or exercising.

A key difference in Israel's third lockdown compared to previous versions relates to schools, with more students able to attend classes.

Instead of near total closures, Israel is keeping schools open for children under six, as well as grades one to four and teenagers finishing secondary school in grades 11 and 12.

Israel's National Council for the Child criticised the decision to close grades five through 10.

"The decision to ignore this age bracket means the abandonment of hundreds of thousands of children, only because in theory they can be left at home alone while (their parents) go to work," NCC head Vered Windman was quoted as saying by the Ma'ariv newspaper. — AFP

ANCIENT TASTES

Discovery in Pompeii buried under lava when volcano erupted in 79 AD 2,000-year-old fast food shop unearthed

Rome, Dec. 27: A 2,000-year-old fast food stall unearthed from the ash of Pompeii has given researchers new clues about the snacking habits of the ancient Romans.

The ornate snack bar counter, decorated with polychrome patterns and frozen by volcanic ash, was partially exhumed last year but archaeologists extended work on the site to reveal it in its full glory.

Pompeii was buried in a sea of boiling lava when the volcano on nearby Mount Vesuvius erupted in 79 AD, killing between 2,000 and 15,000 people.

Archaeologists continue to make discoveries there. The thermopolium — from the Greek "thermos" for hot and "poleo" to sell — at what was a busy intersection of Silver Wedding Street and Alley of Balconies, was the Roman era equivalent of a fast-food snack stall.

The team found duck bone fragments as well as the remains of pigs, goats, fish and snails in earthenware pots. Some of the ingredients had been cooked together like a Roman era paella.

Crushed fava beans, used to modify the taste of wine, were found at the bottom of one jar.

The counter appears to have been closed in a hurry and abandoned by its owners — perhaps as the first rumblings of the eruption were felt — Massimo Osanna, director general at the Archaeological Park of Pompeii, told Ansa news agency.

Amphorae, a water tower and a fountain were found alongside human remains, including those of a man believed to have been aged around 50 and discovered near a child's bed.

"It is possible that someone, perhaps the oldest man, stayed behind and perished during the first phase of the eruption," Osanna told Ansa news agency.

In the latest stage of their work, archaeologists uncovered a number of still life scenes. — AFP

Challenge to Vodafone ill-advised, withdraw it

Just a day after India lost its case against the UK-based oil major Cairn Energy Plc at an arbitration court at The Hague over nearly ₹9,000 crore in past taxes, the Indian government announced its decision to challenge the tribunal's verdict in nearly ₹22,000-crore worth retrospective tax case against Vodafone Plc.

In both cases, the central government's tax demands emerge from an amendment introduced by then finance minister Pranab Mukherjee to the Income Tax Act. The legislation was aimed at plugging a loophole in the Income Tax Act, which allowed Hutchison Whampoa to avoid paying ₹ 7,990 crore in capital gains tax while transferring its Indian telecom business to Vodafone in May 2007.

Months later, the government held Vodafone liable for its failure to deduct tax at source from the payment that it had made to Hutchison. The Bombay high court favoured the government, while the Supreme Court upheld Vodafone's interpretation. However, the United Progressive Alliance government amended the law, empowering officials to levy tax with retrospective effect on any foreign transaction that resulted in direct or indirect transfer of an asset located in India.

In 2018, Arun Jaitley, the finance minister of the day, categorised the retrospective taxation as an erroneous decision

The result of the amendment was that Vodafone had overnight become of one of the biggest tax defaulters in the country. The legislation attracted harsh criticism inside and outside the country. The Bharatiya Janata Party, the prime Opposition of the day, was the harshest critic of the retrospective taxation, though it did not vote against the amendment in Parliament.

In 2018, Arun Jaitley, the finance minister of the day, categorised the retrospective taxation as an erroneous decision.

Given Jaitley's official stand, it was expected that the BJP government would graciously accept the awards of the arbitration court and consider the matter to be closed. However, the government — despite its claims of being investor-friendly — continued to keep the issue alive by opting for an appeal, which does no good for the country's image.

A stable and predictable policy framework is the bedrock of a good investment climate. While it was obvious that Hutchison and Vodafone had attempted to avoid paying tax by effecting their deal in a foreign country, the government must recognise the difference between tax avoidance and tax evasion. Tax avoidance using loopholes in the law is legal, while tax evasion is not.

The Vodafone case is clearly an issue of tax avoidance that emerged from poor drafting of the income tax law 50 years ago. The country should, therefore, not seek to penalise investors for the follies of our past administrators. As a country that is governed by the law, India cannot be seen overriding the judgement of its own apex court, regardless of the reason and provocation. More importantly, India should stop living in the past and look ahead to the future, especially when the country is seeking to position itself as the world's factory.

A step forward, two back

Two young women, both second year degree students, represent two faces of Kerala today. Arya Rajendran, the 21-year-old daughter of an electrician and an LIC agent, will be anointed the mayor of the capital city today. Her election is a foregone conclusion as the CPI(M), her party which leads the Left Democratic Front, has a comfortable majority in the council. She is all set to become the youngest mayor in the country. It's not for want of others that the LDF chose a student; the LDF has 25 other women councillors there. In so doing, the party was acknowledging the role of the youth brigade that it fielded in the local bodies' election in weathering the anti-incumbency factor and the impact of the incessant, and often one-sided, media scrutiny. Ms Rajendran is a dyed-in-the-wool Communist, having joined Balasamgham, the children's organisation of the CPI(M), at five. At present, she heads it, and is sure to bring that experience to address the issues that plague the city.

Contrast her experience with that of Hariitha, wife of Aneesh. Aneesh was hacked to death by Hariitha's father and uncle on Friday. Unable to stand the "horror" of their daughter becoming the wife of a man whose caste and economic status came a notch below theirs, the patriarchs, in their early forties, did away with the young man even before his marriage had lasted 90 days. It is not the first time that honour killing had claimed the life of a young person in the state: it was in 2018 that a dalit boy, Kevin, was killed by his wife's relatives for similar reasons.

Kerala has a history of more than a century of fighting social and economic oppression. The young mayor represents its success and the young widow the work left unfinished. The state must take it forward aggressively now, lest it slips back into the madhouse that it once was.

Kashmir looks ahead at a winter of discontent

A.S. Dulat

Dr Farooq Abdullah remains the key to peace in Kashmir. The Sphinx must solve his own riddle.

James Baldwin once wrote: "It comes as a great shock to discover that the country which is your birthplace and to which you owe your life and identity has not in its whole system of reality evolved any place for you."

Such is the plight the Kashmiri considers himself in.

Kashmir has been frozen for some time and desperately needs thawing. Chillai Kalan, the harshest part of winter, has just begun, but Kashmir has been freezing since late November. An old friend who called from Srinagar a month ago said Kashmir was frozen not only on the ground but emotionally as well. Kashmiris, he said, were in deep contemplation but no one knew, or no one could tell, what they were thinking. Sounding defeated, he said Kashmir may now remain in perpetual winter bereft of its seasons.

Another Kashmiri friend, a liberal businessman who spends more time out of the Valley than in Srinagar, said in frustration the Kashmiris could not easily get over the abrogation of Article 370 of the Constitution.

The recently concluded District Development Council elections may provide a silver lining. Kashmir can always change overnight. Election results rarely, if ever, satisfy everybody in J&K; such is its arithmetic, but the recent results have been almost, perfect providing an opportunity for peace, reconciliation, and resolution. Predictably, the BJP dominated Jammu, and the People's Alliance for Gupkar Declaration (PAGD) the Kashmir Valley. The BJP's three seats in the Valley are significant, but the PAGD's 35 in Jammu even more so. The National Conference again demonstrated that it was the only party with a significant following in both the Jammu and Kashmir divisions of the erstwhile state. The polarisation of Jammu and Kashmir on a religious basis was dangerous as the scholarly Balraj Puri had warned in his relentless pleading for regional autonomy.

Democracy has, in a sense, as Union home minister Amit Shah said, "been revived in J&K", but democracy can only flourish, as Mufti Mohammed Sayeed was wont to say, with a level playing field, without buying and selling, bullying and locking up. The leprechaun cannot easily replace the towering Sher-e-Kashmir in the Kashmiri psyche. New Delhi must demonstrate accommodation, grab the opportunity, and break the lockjam in Kashmir.

Notwithstanding the political rhetoric across the board, Article 370 is not the issue, done and dusted on August 5, 2019, and left only for the Supreme Court to sanctify its burial. It was, in any event, a hollow provision at best, a fig leaf to assuage Kashmiri pride whose erosion had begun as far back as August 9, 1953 with the arrest of Sheikh Abdullah. Sheikh Sahib, who had steadfastly stood for peace and reconciliation, had himself endorsed the mainstreaming of Kashmir with the 1975 Accord. When the Hurriyat Conference leaders agreed for talks with then deputy prime minister Lal Krishna Advani, in early 2004, it was virtually the beginning of the end of separatism. What Kashmir needs is peace, justice, honour and dignity.

Former Prime Minister Atal Behari Vajpayee, whose birth anniversary was celebrated last Friday, believed that we needed to move forward in Kashmir and end the permanent confrontation with Pakistan.

Force has never worked in Kashmir, nor has our muscular policy since the abrogation of Article 370. Terrorism has increased; almost 200 local boys mainly from South Kashmir have joined militancy in the last one year, not for azaadi or Pakistan but in the name of Allah. These figures are higher than any time since 2007. Pakistan too is back fishing once again in the troubled waters of Kashmir.

The security forces have suffered substantial losses. Suicide and fratricide among the forces, particularly the CRPF, who are in the thick of the anti-terror war, has grown due to stress, duress and trauma due to long-term duties in unfamiliar surroundings.

There is no other way but dialogue and a revival of the political process. Getting the mainstream political parties on board is the primary requirement for achieving peace in J&K today. The establishment of the PAGD makes political sense for Kashmir and also provides an opening for the Centre. How long the three main parties — National Conference, People's Democratic Party and People's Conference — stick together, only time will tell. Kashmiris normally do not, and a crack or two are already visible. However, it is in New Delhi's interest that they do to further the political and democratic process.

Togetherness would have virtually been impossible without the initiative and resoluteness of the "Big Man". Sadly, New Delhi has never tried to understand Dr Farooq Abdullah, nor does he make it easy for anyone to do so. Earlier, it was his openness which puzzled Delhi, now it is his determination. As a senior colleague in the PAGD said: "Doctor Sahib in his new avatar is like a man possessed, in whose sincerity no one can doubt." Recently, when the Enforcement Directorate threatened to attach his properties, Dr Abdullah, echoing James Baldwin, said, "I will not bow; I will do what I have to." Yet, when he was released from detention on March 14, people who spoke to him would vouch that Farooq bore no ill will and was gracious enough to admit that his meeting with the Prime Minister a couple of days before August 5, 2019 went unbelievably well. Dr Farooq Abdullah has always stood by India, dedicating himself as a bridge between Srinagar and New Delhi but during his last visit to Delhi, somewhat disillusioned, Farooq said: "What is there to talk now, they call me a thief?"

Yet Dr Farooq Abdullah remains the key to peace in Kashmir. The Sphinx must solve his own riddle. There is no one half his stature in the political spectrum in J&K. Statehood assured to the people in Parliament needs to be restored, rather than a carrot kept dangling. And then, hopefully, as in 1996, Assembly elections in October-November next year may pave the way for peace.

JANA SENA'S FATE

The Jana Sena is likely to meet the fate of Praja Rajyam in the next elections with the BJP. The Praja Rajyam at least got some seats of some reckoning which may not be true with the Jana Sena. The enticement of Pawan Kalyan becoming the prospective CM is only a bait to grab his vote bank who will finally be left in the lurch.

Nowadays, it has become a status symbol to have a darshan of Lord Venkateswara and get a group photo with the temple in the background. Even honorable judges are encouraging this. FARMERS' PROTEST

Finally, the farmers' body agreed to meet the Centre on December 29 after they receiving a conciliatory letter, ready to discuss threadbare all contentious issues. But the very first point for the agenda is: modalities to repeal the 3 Farm Laws and three more points. Let's hope this shall end the impasse and the people revert to their business at their home.

LS dissolved, polls in Lower House

NEW DELHI, DEC. 27. The fourth Lok Sabha has been dissolved. The nation will elect a new House early in March in all probability.

The President, Mr. V.V. Giri, signed the momentous order dissolving the House a year ahead of schedule.

He signed the order around 9 tonight accepting the advice tendered by the Prime Minister, Mrs. Indira Gandhi.

inite finding of 'misconduct'. But the governor remains in office only so long he enjoys the "pleasure of the President" which, in reality, means the pleasure of the political dispensation in Delhi and he can be removed on the whims and fancies of Prime Minister.

This is in spite of the Supreme Court's decision in Hargovind Pant v. Raghukul Tilak (1979) where the court held that governor is not an "employee of the central government". He is neither under its control nor accountable to it and is "an independent constitutional office".

Mr Khan is clearly aware that the Kerala Assembly resolution against the controversial farm laws would be far more serious than the resolution against CAA as unlike citizenship on which the Parliament has exclusive jurisdiction, agricultural market is state subject in respect of which Parliament lacks legislative competence. One hopes better sense will prevail and the governor would accept a fresh request for the session.

The writer is a constitutional law expert and currently vice-chancellor of NALSAR University of Law, Hyderabad

Faizan Mustafa

By not letting Assembly meet, did Arif fulfil governor's role?

Historically speaking, the governor's office has been there in India since antiquity. Though loyalists were always appointed as governors, still most governors in ancient and medieval times, in fact, revolted against the Centre and declared themselves as independent. British governors were the most loyal servants of the imperial government and governors of free India preferred to follow the path of their immediate predecessors. Arif Mohammad Khan, just like other governors of the Indian republic, seems to care more for the interests of central government than the Constitution, though under Article 159 of the Constitution he has taken the oath to preserve, protect and defend it. Be refusing to convene the Kerala Assembly session, he has yet again crossed the takhtman-rekha. Subsequently, like a true statesman, in an extremely polite letter, he has clarified that since there is nothing like an emergency session, he had to decline the request. He has also emphasized the importance of 15 days' notice. Such technicalities do not deserve much importance as the governor's acting on the advice of government is a constitutional mandate. Last month itself, he himself assented to a controversial ordinance without even exercising his right to seek reconsideration. Clearly, he was more concerned about the possibility of the Assembly passing a resolution against central farm laws rather than people's rights.

The Constitution gives no discretion to the governors in the matter of convening the session of the Assembly. Parliamentary democracy being the basic structure of our Constitution, this is the prerogative of the Cabinet though Article 174 does say that the governor from time to time summon the Assembly to meet at such time and place 'he thinks fit'. A few months back, Rajasthan governor Kalraj Mishra, too, behaved in a similar way and delayed the convening of the Assembly session as was recommended by the Ashok Gehlot government. Here, the governor doubted the 'purpose' of convening the session. The governor was strangely coming in the way of the chief minister proving his majority.

Even in the context of the state of Kerala's filing of petition challenging the constitutionality of Citizenship Amendment Act, 2019, Khan had asserted that he is not a rubber stamp and was unhappy that he was not kept in loop before filing the case. A five-judge bench of the Supreme Court in Nabam Rebia (2016) had explicitly observed that the governor of Arunachal Pradesh, Rajkhowa, who had advanced the session of Assembly without the advice of chief minister, had exceeded his jurisdiction as he had no discretion in convening the Assembly session.

Article 163(1) does permit governor to act 'in discretion' wherever constitution requires him to act in his discretion. According to Edward Cook, "discretion" is a science or understanding to discern between falsity and truth, between right and wrong, and not to do according to will and private affection. Justice Douglas in United States v. Wenderlick (1951) said that absolute discretion is a ruthless master. It is in fact constitutional blasphemy and is more destructive for freedom than any of man's inventions.

The Kerala governor is certainly aware that there are established rules for the exercise of discretion. First, discretion should always be exercised with caution and in a reasonable manner. Second, discretion cannot be exercised under dictation. Thus, in convening Assembly sessions, the Kerala governor should have ignored it if at all any directive came from Delhi. The Kerala governor has not acted as an independent and impartial constitutional functionary. Third, discretion is to be exercised after proper application of mind. It cannot be exercised for an improper purpose or with bad faith or by taking into account irrelevant considerations. Fourth, discretion cannot be exercised in an arbitrary or whimsical manner. Any action of governor is arbitrary if he has acted on the basis of prejudice or preference rather than on reason or fact. As per the constitution bench judgment in Nabam Rebia (2016), the expression "as he thinks fit" in Article 174(1) gives no "discretion" to the governor in convening the Assembly session.

The moot question is why our governors behave like this. The worst thing which happened to this office is that the governor is the only constitutional authority who has no security of tenure like the President, judges, CAG, chairman, UPSC, Election Commissioner, CIC, etc. He is worse than an IAS officer who under Article 311 is entitled to a proper inquiry and cannot be terminated without a def-

No going back on privatisation of BPCL, Air India

Covid-19 carnage may have slightly pushed back timelines but there is certainly no going back on privatisation of bluechip public sector undertakings like BPCL and Air India. Government officials expressed confidence of completing BPCL and Air India sale in the next few months. The government has put the onus on the top management of CPSEs to increase the market capitalisation of state-run companies.

India's crude steel output up 3.5% in Nov.

India registered a growth of 3.5 per cent in crude steel production at 9.245 million tonne (MT) in November, according to World Steel Association. The country had produced 8.933 MT crude steel during the same month last year, the global industry body said in its latest report. According to the world-steel data, China registered eight per cent year-on-year growth in steel output at 87,660 MT during November.

- Chief Secretaries of all the states have been advised to identify burdensome regulations and ways to reduce that burden for businesses.

Ease of Doing Business rankings released by the World Bank, India stands at 63rd position, which is a great leap from 142nd rank in 2015. In 2015, the government had aimed to break into the top 50 countries in the ease of doing business index by 2020. The country, however, failed to achieve its goal because of lacklustre performance in six of the 10 indicators. According to a report, the government has decided to focus on six laggard segments such as enforcing contracts, registering property and starting a business. Chief Secretaries of all the states have been advised to identify burdensome regulations and ways to reduce that burden for businesses. The ministries and states would have to examine central laws which can be repealed or subsumed or replaced. Issues which are being looked into for the exercise include removing licence renewals or increasing its periodicity, risk-based inspection system, simplification of number of filings, removal or rationalisation of maintaining registers or records, and minimising or eliminating number of display requirements for licences.

GST cash rule won't hit small biz, says finmin

New Delhi, Dec. 27: Small businesses and dealers will not be impacted by the new government rule of paying at least one per cent of GST liability in cash as only entities with annual turnover of ₹6 crore and above are required to follow the new rule, sources in the finance ministry said.

- Sources in the finance ministry said the one per cent cash payment rule would apply only to risky or suspicious dealers who use a lot of fake credit and make no cash tax payment.
- Dummy companies which generate fake ITC or are used to be a layer in multi-layer fake credit flow pay no tax in cash.

that all small businesses, including MSMEs and composition dealers, have been excluded from the rule.

They emphasised that exceptions and exclusions have also been provided based on income tax track record and refund obtained in last year.

The new rule, they said, has been brought to check use of fake invoices to claim credit for tax paid on non-existent or highly inflated input cost.

The sources added that the rule would help to control use of fake invoices by fraudsters who avail and pass on ITC to dummy, fake and dormant entities which show high turnovers, but have no financial credibility, and flee after issuing fake invoices and misusing ITC.

They said the rule would apply only to risky or suspicious dealers who use a lot of fake credit and make no cash tax payment. Dummy companies which generate fake ITC or are used to be a layer in multi-layer fake credit flow pay no tax in cash. "This provision is a very smart rule against fraudsters and would not affect any genuine business entities or 'Ease of Doing Business' in any manner," the sources said, adding

BLOCKBUSTER YEAR FOR MUTUAL FUNDS

- Mutual funds have emerged as one of the success stories in the Covid-ravaged year of 2020 by attracting more funds and more investors.
- The asset base is expected to grow by 16-17 per cent on recovery in the economy and positive development on the vaccine front.
- The investor count is estimated to have grown by over 65 lakh during the year. This was, however, way below than 99 lakh folios added in the entire 2019.
- Robust inflows in fixed income schemes helped mutual funds add a staggering ₹3.5 lakh crore to their asset base.
- Investors are getting inclined towards debt mutual funds due to low-interest rates in fixed deposits.
- The year 2020 would mark the eighth consecutive yearly rise in the industry AUM after a drop for two preceding years.

Investment in safe haven doubles in pandemic year

SANGEETHA G | DC CHENNAI, DEC. 27

While household demand for gold halved in 2020, the Covid-led uncertainty in the market saw investment demand more than doubling the investment demand.

Though the global demand for gold was down to 2,074 tonnes in 2020 against 2,203 tonnes in 2019, the investment demand has more than doubled. In 2020, the demand for gold ETFs, coins and bars zoomed to 1,130 tonnes against 594 tonnes in the previous year, as per the data from Gold Hub.

"The Covid-led uncertainties saw investors flocking into exchange traded funds, gold bonds and gold futures in 2020. Gold was also largely available through the digital channel due to the lock-downs in key markets. Further, surplus liquidity due to economic stimulus also found a way into gold like other asset classes," said Ajay Kedia, the managing director of Kedia Commodities.

Gold ETFs saw their holdings touching all-time highs in 2020. Till October, gold ETF flows had grown 24 per cent and holdings in both tonnage and value terms continued to reach new highs. However, the household demand which is largely driven by jewellery halved in 2020 to 572 tonnes against 1064 tonnes in 2019. This was the lowest jewellery demand in the past several years.

The trend was not different in the Indian market. While jewellery demand was down 48 per cent in the September quarter against the year-ago quarter, investment demand was 51 per cent up to 33.8 tonnes. In value terms, investment demand went up by 107 per cent to ₹15,410 crore.

Assets managed by Gold ETFs in the Indian market more than doubled in 2020. From ₹5,767 crore at the end of 2019, the AUMs went up to ₹13,239 crore at the end of November 2020, as per the latest data available with AMFI.

Panel cites PM to reject India's Cairn tax claim

New Delhi, Dec. 27: A three-member tribunal at the Permanent Court of Arbitration in The Hague cited statements by Prime Minister Narendra Modi and other ministers pledging not to use retrospective taxation to overturn a ₹10,247 crore tax demand on British oil and gas firm Cairn Energy Plc.

The tribunal, in a 582-page judgment on December 21, ordered return of the value of shares that the income-tax department sold as also the dividend it seized and tax refunds it withheld to recover tax demand that was levied following the 2012 amendment to the Income-Tax Act that gave authorities powers to seek taxes on past deals.

It ruled that the 2006 reorganisation of Cairn Energy's India business prior to listing on local bourses was not "unlawful tax avoidance" and ordered tax authorities to drop the tax demand. In the order, the tribunal, which consisted of one member appointed by the Indian government, said the Bharatiya Janata Party's (BJP) 2014 "election manifesto criticised the preceding government for having unleashed 'tax terrorism' and 'uncertainty', which 'negatively impact(ed) the investment climate'."

In his first Budget speech in July 2014, the new finance minister, Arun Jaitley, proposed that a CBDT-supervised 'High Level Committee' be implemented to scrutinise fresh cases that had arisen following the 2012 Amendments.

After stating that, "this government will not ordinarily bring about any change retrospectively which creates a fresh liability", he announced that "henceforth, all fresh cases arising out of the retrospective amendments of 2012 in respect of indirect transfers and coming to the notice of the Assessing Officers will be scrutinised by a High Level Committee to be constituted by the CBDT before any action is initiated in such cases," the order said.

On November 7, 2014, Jaitley, according to the order, insisted that his government had taken a "policy decision that as far as this government is concerned, even though there is a sovereign power of retrospective taxation, we are not going to exercise that power".

On January 13, 2015, Jaitley was quoted as saying that the 2012 Amendment had "scared away investors from India" and that "the government had no intention of using the retrospective tax provision".

"This view was confirmed by Prime Minister Narendra Modi on February 14, 2016. The Prime Minister was quoted in the Financial Times as saying that the government "will not resort to retrospective taxation; we are making our tax regime transparent, stable and predictable", the tribunal said.

The income-tax department in 2015 slapped a ₹10,247 crore tax demand on Cairn for alleged capital gains it made in the 2006 business reorganisation. Cairn denied the scheme, avoided any tax that was prevalent on that date and challenged the demand through an arbitration.

During the pendency of the arbitration, the government sold the UK energy major's near five per cent holding in Vedanta Ltd, seized dividends totalling ₹1,140 crore due to it from those shareholdings and set off a ₹1,590-crore tax refund against the demand. —PTI

Broadband firms want fair price for spectrum

New Delhi, Dec. 27: Broadband India Forum (BIF), the industry body for broadband service providers, on Sunday said that reasonable reserve prices for spectrum allocated via auctions, rapid proliferation of public Wi-Fi hotspots through WANI framework and forward movement on 5G without any delay are sector issues that need to be prioritised for 2021.

Further, rationalisation of high duties and levies will ensure viability of telecom operators and sustainability of services.

These key issues along with finalisation of Spacecom and Satcom policies, need to be placed high on policy agenda for the coming year, Broadband India Forum president T.V. Ramachandran said.

Earlier this month, the government approved a proposal for the auction of 2,251.25 mHz of spectrum worth ₹3.92 lakh crore at the base price. The ensuing spectrum auctions, slated to be held by March, will not include bands that support 5G services. —PTI

Morgan Stanley says 2021 likely to favour small and midcap firms

Market outlook hinges on five factors in 2021

RAVI RANJAN PRASAD | DC MUMBAI, DEC. 27

After a sharp recovery in the year 2020 from March lows, JP Morgan said five forces are likely to shape the contours of the recovery and asset returns in 2021 — the virus outlook, the policy outlook, the inflation outlook, the market outlook and the dollar outlook.

"The path of the virus is unknown, and the economic healing process is likely to be staggered. This kind of uncertainty can cause anxiety around investments. In our view, monetary policy, the fundamental driver of the business cycle, will remain supportive for the foreseeable future. Interest rates are likely to stay low until labor markets have fully healed and inflation has at least met, or exceeded, central bank targets," said JP Morgan in its outlook for 2021.

"The nascent recovery has already found some momentum, and fiscal stimulus should continue to provide further support. Failure to provide sufficient support is a key risk to economic healing," JP Morgan said.

Morgan Stanley, however, sees growth most likely improving in 2021, favouring smaller firms which have higher operating and financial leverage. Small and mid-cap valuations appear attractive and could outperform large caps in the next year.

"Though earnings growth should be consistently elevated, valuations appear uneven, Covid-19 cases and geopolitical uncertainty appear to be muting investor sentiment. This suggests that the strong growth outlook we are forecasting is not fully priced into the equity markets," Morgan Stanley analysts said.

"The bull market environment prevailing in calendar year 2021 could take Nifty-50 to 14,900 levels. However, if market bullishness reverts to average sentiment, the base case fundamental value is 13,500, which indicates flat returns for CY21. If a risk-off environment materialises, we expect Nifty-50 to touch 11,600 on the downside," said ICICI Securities in its market outlook for 2021.

In its economic outlook, ICICI Securities said, "Near-term growth impulses are currently still weak with households preferring savings over consumption, government spending constrained by weak financial resources, and corporate sector deferring capex and cutting opex."

"Some of these challenges will reverse in CY21 due to aggregate demand normalising, pent-up demand, and improving resource mobilisation by the government," ICICI Securities said.

Melbourne Cricket Club's chief executive officer Stuart Fox on Sunday said though he wants Sydney to retain the hosting rights of the third Test, the situation is "extremely complicated".

"He (Hockley) is working feverishly with the Department of Health in NSW and I believe it is extremely complicated. Everything he is telling me is it's really a 50-50 situation," Fox was quoted as saying by Sydney Morning Herald. — PTI

JINKLE BELLS!

Ajinkya punches ton, India land second blow in Boxing Day Test

Melbourne, Dec. 27: Ajinkya Rahane played a captain's knock, a workmanlike century that steered India into a dominant position and took the sting out of Australia's potent bowling attack in the second Test here on Sunday.

Trailing 0-1 in the four-match series, India ended the second day at 277 for five for a handy 82-run lead after bowling out Australia for 195.

At stumps, which was brought early owing to rain, Rahane was going strong on 104 and giving him company was Ravindra Jadeja on 40, the two having added what might prove to be a game-changing 104-run partnership for the sixth wicket.

This was Rahane's 12th Test hundred and his second at the iconic venue, after a fine 147 during the 2014 tour.

A day after earning rich praise for his tactical acumen while marshalling the bowlers, Rahane shone bright with the bat and was spot on with his reading of match situations during his stay in the middle.

Rahane got a life when Steve Smith dropped him on 73 at second slip in Australia's first over with the second new ball, the unlucky bowler being Mitchell Starc, who was taken off the attack after just two overs with the shining red cherry.

That particular phase was crucial from both the team's point of view and by not losing a wicket to the second new ball, India ensured they finished the day ahead of Australia, in terms of runs as well as psychologically.

Rahane got another reprieve when substitute fielder Travis Head put one down after diving forward from gully, but that was after he had got to the three-figure mark.

To start with, Rahane was more watchful that he had ever been but as the day progressed, he went on to play some sumptuous shots and one of his day's best was the classic off-drive against Pat Cummins.

Earlier, Rishabh Pant (29) and Hanuma Vihari (21) frittered away promising starts after doing all the hard work, but Jadeja was determined not to do anything of that sort.

GILL CREDITS RAHANE FOR HIS INNINGS

Melbourne, Dec. 27: Young India batsman Shubman Gill says watching Ajinkya Rahane's "magnificent" hundred from the sidelines was immensely educative for him and he learnt how not to get into a shell while facing a lethal bowling attack.

Stand-in skipper Rahane scored an unbeaten 104 in tough conditions to steer India to 277 for five against Australia on the second day of the second Test here.

"This knock was all about patience, more importantly when you are playing such a high quality pace attack, sometimes you get into shell and not able to score runs, and the way Ajinkya bhai played, it was such a magnificent knock to watch from outside," Gill said during a virtual press conference.

"How to see off those tough periods, he made it sure that he put the loose balls away."

With Rahane going strong, India took a lead of 82 runs and Gill said the team will look to capitalise on it as batting will get more challenging from day three.

"On the first day, there was a bit turn for (Ravichandran Ashwin) Ash bhai and (Ravindra Jadeja) Jaddu bhai and even today we saw there was turn for Nathan (Lyon) and as the time goes on there will be more cracks and it will be more challenging for the batsmen."

Opening the innings, Gill scored a 65-ball 45 on debut before he nicked an outswinger from Pat Cummins. "When I came into bat, there was something in the pitch, it was lively but the only thing I told myself was that no matter what was in pitch, I should be able to play my game." — PTI

Starc rues missed chances for Oz

WARNER NOT SURE OF PLAYING THIRD TEST

Melbourne, Dec. 27: Star Australian opener David Warner is still struggling with his groin injury, coach Justin Langer said on Sunday, rendering him doubtful for the third Test against India starting January 7. He had missed the last ODI, three T20Is and the first two Tests against India due to the injury that he sustained during the second ODI.

Warner, whose absence was felt by Australia as they folded for 195 on the opening day of the ongoing Boxing Day Test, will hit the MCG nets on Sunday.

"We saw him bat the day before the game, he's batting again this afternoon at the MCG, so in terms of his batting he's flying, it's just trying to ... he's still having some trouble with his groin and we know how dynamic he is," Langer told Ricky Ponting during an interview on Seven. — PTI really well there, he took his chances and we probably could have got him out three or four or maybe five times before he got a hundred, but he's run his luck there and scored a good hundred. Well done to him, added the left-arm pacer, who had figures of

Starc admitted Australia endured a tough day.

"Pretty much that (frustrating day for the bowlers). The last ball pretty much summed up the day, so again not our best day, not our worst, we created a fair few chances and unfortunately could not hang onto those half ones or those changes we created," he said.

"So Jinxy (Rahane) batted pretty well throughout the day, (there were a) couple of really good partnerships. I thought there was really good stuff from us as well, we couldn't capitalise on some of the chances we created, to finish in a better position. So, just got to back up tomorrow and take five wickets as quick as we can," added Starc, summing up the day's play. — PTI

Furious Bedi attacks DDCA

■ Demands removal of his name from Kotla stand

New Delhi, Dec. 27: Spin legend Bishan Singh Bedi has threatened to take legal action against the DDCA if his name is not removed from a spectators' stand at the Feroz Shah Kotla ground with immediate effect.

On Wednesday, Bedi had shot a letter to the Delhi and District Cricket Association, lambasting it for installing a statue of its late former president Arun Jaitley at the Kotla.

In the absence of any response from DDCA, Bedi wrote another letter to the cricket body on Saturday.

"It's been a few days since I wrote to you ... While within minutes of my letter going public I had an overwhelming support of the cricket fraternity across the globe. But I'm sad there's been no reaction from you," Bedi wrote in his letter addressed to DDCA President Rohan Jaitley.

"... I hope in our country people still have a right to decide as individuals what they wish to be associated with & where their name plates can hang with dignity. Please don't push me to take a legal recourse." Bedi had also decided to renounce his membership of the DDCA.

In his scathing letter, Bedi questioned the DDCA president's "ill advised" and "inexplicable" silence.

"Your seemingly ill advised silence to my letter that has triggered a public debate about perpetuating politicians at sporting venues exposes your naivety," he wrote.

● On Wednesday, Bishan Singh Bedi had shot a letter to the Delhi and District Cricket Association, lambasting it for installing a statue of its late former president Arun Jaitley at the Kotla.

"Your inexplicable silence also underlines guilt of occupying a position of power solely because of your family name, which, you obviously wish to promote, come what may."

"Finally, I hope you will have the basic courtesy to reply to a former cricketer who is not asking for a favour, but wants his cricketing integrity not to be bartered away."

The statue of Jaitley will be unveiled by BCCI president Sourav Ganguly at Kotla on Monday in the presence of union home minister Amit Shah and former BCCI chief Anurag Thakur, among others.

Bedi said he did not wish to be associated with the cricket stadium which has a statue of the late politician, who was a minister in the BJP-led NDA government and died last year owing to multiple health issues.

"I've been around long to know DDCA has a tradition of ignoring cricketers' voice, hence this reminder. There's a reason for my urgent request," the 74-year-old said. — PTI

MSD is ODI team of decade captain

Dubai, Dec. 27: The legendary Mahendra Singh Dhoni was on Sunday named captain of ICC's ODI and T20 International teams of the decade while Virat Kohli stamped his pre-eminence in world cricket after being voted the skipper of the Test team.

Indians dominated the limited-over teams by having three and four players in the ODI and T20I respectively while England have maximum number of players — four — in the Test side.

The 39-year-old Dhoni, who retired from international cricket earlier this year, was one of the three Indians in the ODI team of the decade, the others being Rohit Sharma and skipper Virat Kohli.

Dhoni has three other compatriots in the T20I team — Rohit, Kohli and Jasprit Bumrah.

Besides being named captain of Test team, Kohli is the only player in the world to have been voted in the teams of the decade in all formats.

The teams of the decades were announced by the ICC ahead of the Awards of the Decade ceremony, to be held in virtual mode on Monday.

The top awards, including ICC male cricketer as well as female cricketer of the decade, men's Test, ODI and T20I cricketers of the decade, women's ODI and T20I cricketers of the decade, will also be announced on Monday.

Kohli is also in the running for four awards — ICC male cricketer of the decade, men's Test cricketer, men's ODI cricketer and men's T20I cricketer of the decade.

In the Test team of the decade, senior spinner Ravichandran Ashwin is the other Indian while the four Englishmen are Alastair Cook, Ben Stokes, Stuart Broad and James Anderson. Australia are represented by Steve Smith and David Warner. — PTI

Rahane has regained his mojo after a century at MCG

Hemant Kenkre
Silly Point

When Ajinkya Rahane dabbled a ball from Mitchell Starc for a boundary through the slips, in the 66th over of their first innings, he made a statement. On a day that was peppered with dodgy weather, not too many Indian fans had expected their team to go past the Australian total. And they did thanks to a gritty performance by their batsmen who defied the relentless Australian bowling and the 'four seasons in a day' kind of climes that Melbourne is known for.

Notwithstanding the efforts by debutant Shubman Gill and Cheteshwar Pujara who weathered the Aussie attack in tough conditions with a 61-run partnership, the lead coming off skipper Rahane's blade was apt for the situation.

Coming in after a bad loss at Adelaide wasn't going to be easy. With two senior players out (including captain, and batting warlord, Virat Kohli) and two debutants (Mohammed Siraj being the second) not too many fans could put a punt on the Indians to stand up and take the game to the hosts.

Rahane's effort of marshalling his resources to skittle out the Australians under the 200 run mark drew praises from senior cricketers who were impressed by his acumen. The smart usage leg-side attacking fielding positions — leg slip, gully and forward short leg — a rarity in modern day cricket saw the demise of the three main thorns in the Indian flesh. Marnus Labuschagne, Steve Smith and skipper Tim Paine perished to a strategy used predominantly in the pre-80s era of the game.

There have been many thoughts and opinions about Rahane's calmness as a cricketer. Comparisons with Kohli, in terms of their individual approaches towards the game, are trending on social media with fans of both players putting forth their points of view with the kind of passion usually exhibited by armchair experts. Legend Sunil Gavaskar, after day one, said Rahane has got a great sense of where the fielders should be kept and preferred to praise India's performance as a team effort rather than only Rahane's captaincy.

Effectively he took the focus back to the DNA of Mumbai, India's premier cricket city of the recent past, where coaches and seniors always gave importance to team efforts rather than individual performances.

Having watched Rahane break through to the top from his Under-19 days, one has always wondered why his classical approach hasn't given him the dividends he deserved. His average of 42.45 has belied his ability for reasons that don't really have an explanation.

When he cut Pat Cummins past point to record his 12th Test century, the first of the series by either teams, Rahane took us back to 2014 when he had notched three tons at Wellington, Lord's and Melbourne. No matter what the expert's say, to me this ton was very special for it singled a certain intent that Rahane (and team India) have behind the bad 36-run episode but them as they slowly try and climb their way into the Border-Gavaskar series. More importantly, Rahane has regained his mojo, which augurs well for India as they go ahead in this series without Kohli.

Ending the second day with a lead of 82 runs with five wickets in hand, India have given their fans two days of good cricket and plenty of hope of squaring the series. The team, with cameos coming from Hanuma Vihari and Rishabh Pant and a brave unbeaten knock by Ravindra Jadeja, are looking at putting a good distance between them and the hosts as they go into the third day at the Melbourne Cricket Ground (MCG). Adding valuable runs is going to be India's main task as they will look at chasing as less runs as possible considering they will be batting last.

There will be many opinions and arguments about Rahane's captaincy (irrespective of the result of the ongoing Test) after this game and comparisons with the leadership style of Kohli will be expected. Debates about 'calmness vs aggression' will continue to happen as fans play their fantasy games pitting one captain against the other. For now, team India has gained brownie points in two days of play at the MCG. The bowlers are bang on target, the team is combining very well, looks balanced irrespective of the absence of key players.

As far as the question of captaincy in the immediate future of Indian Test cricket is concerned, Indian fans could do well to refrain from daydreaming and accept the reality. No matter what India does in the series going forward, Rahane is a 'stand-in' captain who will happily hand over the baton to main leader, Kohli. The best thing fans could do would be to accept this fact and leave all theories in the realm of fantasy.
