Smiles and handshakes as Gehlot and Pilot meet

Jaipur, Aug. 13: Sachin Pilot shook hands on Thursday with Chief Minister Ashok Gehlot, the image marking the patch-up between the two party factions in the state ahead of the assembly session where the Congress government is set to face a floor test.

The BJP said after a legis-lature party meeting that it will move a no-confi-dence motion against the Gehlot government in the session which begins on Friday.

Hours later, the Congress Legislature Party (CLP) met and announced that it would seek a confidence vote to prove its majority. With the disgruntled MLAs led by Pilot back in the party-fold following the intervention of the top leadership, the Congress is likely to pass the floor test. In a House of 200, the party has 107 MLAs and the support of indepen-dents and allies.

The BJP has 72 members.

Pilot was also sacked as the state's deputy chief minister and Gehlot referred to him as “use-less”, using the Hindi term “nikamma”. The fault line persisted even after the party high com-mand welcomed Pilot back, promising that a committee will look into his grievances. MLAs loyal to Gehlot, still camp-ing together at a hotel, expressed dissatisfaction with the dissidents' return.

Tax reforms to make system ‘fearless, fair’

DC CORRESPONDENT
NEW DELHI, AUG. 13

Prime Minister Narendra Modi on Thursday unveiled a “faceless” tax scrutiny and appeal sys-tem and urged people to pay their due taxes and contribute to nation-build-ing. The Centre launched a new platform to ease the compliance burden and reward “honest taxpay-ers”.

“The country's honest taxpayer plays a big role in nation-building. A faceless tax system will give the taxpayer confidence on fairness and fearlessness,” the Prime Minister said in a video address after rolling out the “Transparent Taxation: Honouring the Honest” platform in a big push for tax reforms. Mr Modi said a “faceless appeal facility” will be available to all citi-zens from September 25, Deen Dayal Upadhyaya's birth anniversary, and this will strengthen efforts to “reform and simplify our tax system”.

The finance ministry said in a tweet that faceless appeals will involve the random allotment of cases. “With electronic replies, zero physical interface of authorities & instant solu-tions your way, this is the newest, most convenient & easiest way to tackle your IT litigation issues,” it said. The I-T department will soon adopt a “taxpay-er charter” which outlines the rights and responsibil-ities of both tax officers and taxpayers. Mr Modi went on to add that “fundamen-tal reforms” were needed in India's tax system.

The new facilities launched today reinforce the government's commitment to honoring the honest... The platform is based on reforms such as faceless assessment, faceless appeal and taxpayers' charter,” PM Modi said in a virtual address. The launch of the ‘Transparent Taxation: Honouring the Honest’ platform is a new milestone in the structural reforms initiated by his government, he said.

FM Nirmala Sitharaman said the vision of the Prime Minister is to empower the taxpayers, to provide a transparent system and to honour the honest taxpayers.

Multi-year e-visa holiday mooted in good faith

T. SUDHEESH | DC
CHENNAI, AUG. 13

Enthused by the Russian government's law allowing tourists from 53 countries with an electronic visa from next year to revive the Covid-hit tourism industry there, the Federation of Associations in Indian Tourism and Hospitality (Faith) has proposed to the central government a multi-year e-visa holiday for all visa categories.

Sending a 10-point letter to the Ministry of Tourism the other day, the Faith asked the government to make e-visas free for foreign tourists for at least a couple years when inbound demand stabilises.

Ashish Gupta, chief executive officer of Faith, told DC that as travel between India and other countries increases it's important for the government to introduce a free e-visa policy to attract foreign tourists.

"The government has to forgo the revenue from visas because the free e-visa offer would draw a significant increase in the annual revenue share. The Indian tourism in the pre-pandemic period had received 11million foreign tourists with a revenue of approximately USD 28billion. The tourism ministry is positive to our proposal as it could help to revive the tourism industry which is hit badly by the pandemic. We have asked the government to organise an Indian Tourism Mart for international tour operators to establish confidence and showcase the incredible Indian tourism products in the first or the fourth week of November. Marketing communication of tourism should also be kick-started. Social media ads with different versions of Indian and international languages will help to stimulate both domestic and international tourism', he said.

As many as 2.5 million foreign tourists visited India on e-visa in 2019. The facility of e-visa has been made available by the Government of India to the citizens of 161 countries, arriving at 16 international airports. The UK, the USA, Russia, China, Australia, France, Germany, South Africa, Canada and Republic of Korea are among countries availing e-tourist visa facility in the country.

HC refuses to suspend life term awarded to murder accused

DC CORRESPONDENT
CHENNAI, AUG. 13

The Madras high court has declined to suspend the operation of the order of the trial court, awarding life sentence to a 30-year-old accused for murdering a woman with whom he was having living in relationship, on September 6, 2017, in Erode district.

A division bench comprising Justices N.Kirubakaran and V.M.Velumani dismissed the petition filed by Karthi alias Manikandan, seeking to suspend the judgment of conviction and sentence dated December 13, 2019, passed by the court of sessions judge, Magalir Neeth Mandram (Fast Track Mahila Court). Erode district.

The case of the prosecution is that Karthika, who is a married lady, came to her parents house along with a female child, after dispute with her husband. Thereafter, she developed illegal relationship with the petitioner, when she visited his cell phone shop often for recharging. Thereafter, the deceased and the petitioner were living together in a separate house. On the date of occurrence, i.e., on September 6, 2017, the deceased came and complained to the family members that the petitioner is arranging for marriage with some other lady.

Therefore, the family members along with the deceased came and questioned the petitioner and left the deceased in the shop. In the evening, when they came, the petitioner and the boy who was working in the shop ran away from the shop. When they went into the shop, they found the body of the deceased packed in a gunny bag and there were strangulation marks in the neck.

Two prosecution witnesses have categorically stated that they left the deceased in the shop and thereafter, when they visited the shop in the evening, the petitioner ran away from the shop and the body of the deceased was packed in a gunny bag. The prosecution was able to prove through evidence especially two prosecution witnesses who have categorically stated that the petitioner was having illegal relationship with the deceased and was living separately in a rented house, the bench added.

The bench said further the two prosecution witnesses deposed that they left the deceased with the petitioner and in the evening, she was found to be murdered.

The circumstantial evidence, especially two prosecution witnesses would be clinching evidence to prove that the petitioner alone was responsible for the murder, especially when the body was found in the shop and the petitioner and the boy who was working in the shop ran away from the shop.

"The timing of the FIR and arrest of the accused are the points to be argued at the time of final disposal of the appeal and therefore, there is no arguable points at present for granting suspension of sentence. Therefore, the petition stands dismissed", the bench added.

Changing shopping trends amid corona

B. Vijayalakshmi

Viewpoint

With shopping habits and consumer behaviour changing rapidly amid Covid crisis, online shopping is steadily getting back on growth track.

A few days ago, it was reported that Amazon India's Prime Day sales had surpassed the daily number of its flagship sales. It also recorded a big jump in Prime membership subscriptions during the 48-hour shopping festival compared to last year.

Though malls and big stores have opened in some cities, people, scared of corona outbreak, prefer buying online as everything is delivered at their doorstep. The local shops within a radius of a few kilometres have gone for digital makeover. They get their customers to place orders through WhatsApp and deliver them at their homes. Most of them offer contactless delivery along with sanitisation of the products ordered.

However, manpower shortage haunts local grocery and vegetable stores which get orders on a large-scale. Similarly, e-retailers and online grocers, which have restored operations in larger cities, are hit by huge backlog of orders and shortage of workers. Also stretched delivery timelines will hit their business in the long run.

To stay competitive amid this changing shopping scenario, e-commerce sellers have also added sanitisers, soaps and other hygienic items to meet the demands of the consumers.

Though most of the people are still buying essential commodities, sale of non essentials like cellphones, electronic items, small and large appliances, clothes, jewellery and footwear is picking up.

Post Covid, will people favour online shopping, which offers them discounts, safety, comfort and ease, and shun traditional in-store shopping is a million dollar question.

Panneerselvam calls for unity in AIADMK

DC CORRESPONDENT
CHENNAI, AUG. 13

Quoting the operative lines of an old MGR film song from the film, 'Naalai Namade' (Tomorrow is Ours) as the prelude, O. Panneerselvam, Deputy Chief Minister and coordinator of AIADMK, put out a tweet on Thursday night, which sounded like a call to party cadre to take an united stand, perhaps on the issue of the next Chief Ministerial candidate.

In the backdrop of too much media speculation on differences within the party on the next Chief Ministerial candidate of AIADMK, when four senior party functionaries met at the AIADMK headquarters on Thursday doubts arose if there were too many aspirants within the party.

Though deputy coordinator of AIADMK K. P. Munusami and the other three functionaries C. V. Shanmugham, Vaithilingam and Manoj Pandian, made it clear to the media that Chief Minister Edappadi K Palaniswamy was doing well and that the Chief Minister candidate would be announced at the right time in the right way, doubts over differences in the party were not dispelled.

It is in this context, the Panneerselvam's tweet assumes importance as the song urges all the 'sons of the same mother to stand on the same line and take a straight path, tomorrow will be theirs.' In the tweets that follow the main one, Panneerselvam stressed on the need to achieve a third-time victory in the elections in 2021.

He invokes the name of J Jayalalithaa, saying that it was her dream to win the third term and also quotes the famous slogan of C N Annadurai, 'Duty, Dignity and Discipline' to urge the cadre to put out an united fight. The title song of the film 'Naalai Namade' has, in fact, been a sort of anthem for the party, played at conferences and meetings, particularly when the party had been out of power. The lines are meant to inspire the cadre as it gives them the promise that tomorrow is theirs. So, Panneerselvam quoting the same lines to call for unity seems to be an attempt to remind not just the cadre but also the leaders of the party that their aim should be to win the 2021 election and nothing else.

Assembly discussion on NEP vital: CPI leader

SALEM, AUG. 13

CPI state secretary R. Mutharasan told reporters here on Thursday the the National Education Policy (NEP) is not just about bilingual or trilingual education policy. The BJP-ruled Centre which follows 'Manu Dharma', is attempting to implement such policies in the education sector. Hence the state government convene the Assembly and pass a resolution against the National Education Policy.

All leaders, including the Prime Minister, must adhere to the policy of secularism. The late Chief Minister J Jayalalithaa vehemently opposed NEET and the Uday power project, but our present Chief Minister Edappadi K Palanisami is relinquishing all its rights.

"The AIADMK is like a frog caught in the mouth of a snake. The BJP has swallowed the AIADMK and the frog that was devoured by the snake is no longer likely to return," said Mutharasan.

The BJP is trying to weaken the DMK and other secular parties to gain political momentum. The secular progressive coalition is not an alliance formed for elections.

The coalition has been fighting for the state's rights for more than two years. This struggle would continue and the coalition would face the coming legislative polls and win.

Commenting on e-passes, Mutharasan said, many states including Karnataka have abolished the e-pass.

The government claims that 75 percent of workers in Tamil Nadu can come to work in government and private companies, but refuses to provide e-passes.

The chief minister should review the current situation and issue e-passes or abolish the system, he added.

The coalition has been fighting for the state's rights for more than two years. This struggle would continue and the coalition would face the coming legislative polls and win being reimbursed for such surgeries through the Chief Minister's Comprehensive Health Insurance Scheme and immune suppressants were also provided free of cost to the patients, he said.

He also listed the various programmes the state had undertaken to create an awareness on organ donation among all kinds of people in the state.

TIRUNELVELI, AUG. 13

The AIADMK functionaries in the southern districts throw their weight behind Edappadi K. Palaniswami as the party's chief minister candidate in the 2021 assembly election.

Though no party units here have made such a proposal so far, party's organising secretary, Sudha K Paramasivan of Tirunelveli, has individually expressed his backing for Edappadi as chief minister.

Denying any race for the chief minister's post within the party, Paramasivan said, party functionaries have unanimously wanted AIADMK to face the polls projecting Edappadi K Palanisamy as its chief minister candidate.

Deputy secretary of Thoothukudi district unit of MGR youth wing in the party, Sathya Lakshmanan, a strong supporter of Srivaikundam MLA and former minister, Shanmuganathan, Thoothukudi district, also agrees with Sudha Paramasivan. He said that it has already been established within the party that O Panneerselvam would head the party, and Edappadi K Palanisamy will head the government, as chief minister.

A district functionary in Kanyakumari district also expressed his support to Palanisamy as chief minister, and added that this was not an issue at all within the party. Some of Sasikala's supporters deliberately trigger such issues to create factional feud to make way for Sasikala in future.

CHENNAI, AUG. 13

The government has advised the public to celebrate Vinayaka Chaturthi at their homes in view of the curfew in force, under which installing idols in public places, taking them out in processions and immersing them in water bodies has been banned.

An official press release gave the advisory in view of the Vinayaka Chaturthi celebrations falling on August 22, reminding the people that the government was making all efforts to prevent the spread of the coronavirus and to protect the people.

The release also urged people to maintain social distancing at the small temples that had been allowed to be open now and also to wear facemasks when they step out of their homes to buy articles in connection with the Vinayaka Chaturthi rituals.

The Hindu Munnani has charged the AIADMK-led Edappadi K. Palaniswami government of playing with the sentiments of Hindus by banning the Vinayaka Chaturthi celebrations this year. But as planned, HM workers would install one-and-half lakh Vinayaka idols all over the state and celebrate the festival, in compliance to the pandemic norms, said state president, Hindu Munnani, Kadeswara C. Subramaniam, here on Thursday.

Addressing the media, Kadeswara C. Subramaniam, said the Vinayaka Chaturthi festival has been celebrated in the state for over 36 years in harmony and unity. Likewise, the festival was planned to be organised this year also in compliance with government and health department norms. But unfortunately, the government has foiled everything, which is unfair.

This year also, the Hindu Munnani is preparing to observe the festival in a low-key manner. He blamed the government of taking great pains to open Tasmac shops in the state, whereas it has been very reluctant to permit worship in temples. Going against Hindutva norms, the government has banned Vinayaka Chaturthi across the state.

It can be used to destroy enemy bunkers, light armoured vehicles, radar systems, communication equipment, parked aircraft, fuel storage facilities and the like.

It is a 'Single Shot, Bolt Action' weapon having a detachable three round magazine, and a range of 1,800 m for 14.5 mm caliber and 1,300 m for 20 mm caliber. The rifle can quickly be dismantled and carried in two portable man-packs, each weighing about 12 to 15 kgs. With the existing facilities, OFT can manufacture this weapon. This is likely to give a workload for another five years. The condition of former President Pranab Mukherjee remained critical but stable on Thursday, and seems to be responding to treatment even as rumours about his death floated in the social media, prompting both his family and the Army R&R Hospital to issue statements.

His son Abhijit Mukherjee said his father was slowly responding to interventions and all his vital parameters were stable now.

“My father is and has always been a fighter! He is slowly responding to medical interventions & all his vital parameters are stable. I urge every well-wisher to pray for my father's speedy recovery! We need them,” Mr Abhijit Mukherjee tweeted.

Earlier Thursday, he rubbished the rumours about Pranab Mukherjee's death, saying: “My father Shri Pranab Mukherjee is still alive & haemodynamically stable! Speculation & fake news being circulated by reputed journalists on the social media clearly reflects that media in India has become a factory of Fake News.”

Congress-led UDF in Kerala is likely to move no trust motion against the CPM-led Left Democratic Front government on August 24 in connection with the gold smuggling case involving Chief Minister's former principal secretary and the failure of the government in effectively dealing with Covid-19 situation.

The Kerala Assembly is meeting on the August 24, a special day-long session, for passing the Finance Bill. Apart from the Finance Bill, the election to Rajya Sabha seat which fell vacant following the death of veteran socialist leader M.P. Veerendrakumar will also take place. His son M.V. Shreyams Kumar is all set to contest as the joint candidate of ruling LDF.

Security personnel carry out a flag march in the riot-hit area after a mob went on a rampage on Tuesday over a social media post, allegedly posted by a Congress MLA's relative, in Bengaluru on Thursday.

Role of SDPI in Bengaluru violence comes to the fore

Several SDPI office-bearers arrested; RAF contingent holds flag march

Bengaluru, Aug. 13: Karnataka Home Minister Basavaraj Bommai on Thursday said the role of the Social Democratic Party of India (SDPI) behind the Tuesday night violence in parts of Bengaluru, had come to light and investigation will go deep into it and their connections.

The Minister said, four people associated with SDPI have been arrested in this regard and investigation is under way.

“K G Halli and D J Halli are peaceful since Wednesday and there have been no untoward incidents...as the investigation is progressing new information is coming out. I cannot share with you everything, but in the days to come I will share before the media,” Bommai said.

Speaking to reporters here, he said, as per the information gathered so far and video footage, most importantly the role of SDPI is coming to light. We are collecting more information regarding it, we are investigating deeply in this regard.

“Already, several SDPI office-bearers have been arrested. Muzammil Pasha, the SDPI district secretary is the main (person), also Firoz, Afraz Pasha and Shaik Adil, all of them are from SDPI. Their role is completely being investigated and they have been arrested,” he added.

Three people were killed after police opened fire to quell a mob that went on a rampage in a city locality on Tuesday night over an inflammatory social media post allegedly put out by a Congress legislator's relative.

Pulakeshi Nagar MLA Akhanda Srinivasa Murthy's residence and a police station at D J Halli were among those targeted by the angry mob.

The house of the MLA, who was not at home at the time, was allegedly set on fire. The rioters also torched many police and private vehicles, badly damaged the house and looted the belongings of MLA Murthy and those of his sister. An ATM was smashed into pieces.

After the arson and violence, the entire DJ Halli resembled a war zone.

Nearly 140 people have been arrested so far, in connection with the incident. Bommai said, through some video footage it has come to light that SDPI workers had come from neighbouring areas of K G Halli and D J Halli, and it is being investigated.

“The investigation will look into who are behind the incident, its links with other such incidents in the past. We will go deep into it and will not rest until we break through this conspiracy,” he said.

Officials are also gathering details on cases against the SDPI in Mysuru, Mangaluru and other places, Bommai said, adding that all angles at the local level are also being looked into like rivalry between and within political parties.

“Everything that might have led to this incident, we will investigate. Whoever is at fault or have supported it, we will take action even if it is an elected representative,” he added.

Assuring people of security, the Home Minister said, police have worked putting their life at risk, with Covid on one side and such incidents on the other.

“I appeal to people not to fear and cooperate in maintaining peace and order,” he added.

The SDPI on Wednesday had denied its role in the violence and had blamed police inaction.

The Karnataka government on Wednesday announced that a district magistrate would conduct an inquiry into the violence. The government has also decided to recover losses caused to public property during the violence from the rioters.

Meanwhile, Muzamil Pasha and others have been named as one of the many accused in the FIR.

The police registered at least five FIRs in connection with the incident - two in Devara Jeevanahalli (DJ Halli) and three in Kadugondanahalli (KG Halli) stations.

Besides Pasha, police have named Afnan, Syed Masood, Ayaz and Allabaksh in the first FIR at DJ Halli. The second FIR has three names and ‘other 200 persons.’

The police in their FIR charged the rioters with barging into the two police stations with an intention to kill the policeman there and kill the Pulakeshinagar MLA Akhanda Srinivasa Murthy's nephew whose alleged inflammatory post in social media enraged a section of the society.

Meanwhile, a contingent of the Rapid Action Force conducted a flag march in the riot-hit areas.

Youth form human chain to protect temple

Bengaluru, Aug. 13: Youth, including those from a minority community, decided to protect a temple when a mob was going on a rampage here after being irked over a social media post on an allegedly communally sensitive issue.

A video of the youth quickly forming the human chain to protect the Hanuman temple on Shampura Main Road has gone viral, even as the mob was indulging in arson.

The human chain was formed on Tuesday night as a result of some quick thinking while violence sent shock waves across DJ Halli, KG Halli and neighbouring areas of Pulakeshinagar.

“We saw the rioters coming in groups towards the temple and their intention seemed to damage it. Then we decided to form a human chain to protect it,” a youth who wished not to be named, said. He expressed fear that any damage to the temple could have complicated things further.

Restore civility in debates, Congress tells TV channels

New Delhi, Aug. 13: Congress spokesperson Jaiveer Shergill on Thursday urged the Information and Broadcasting Ministry to take steps to restore “civility” in television debates and pitched for issuance of an advisory to enforce a code of conduct by news channels.

In a letter to I&B minister Prakash Javadekar, Shergill said it is imperative to restore civility through a code of conduct in order to “tame the slanderous beast” that television debates have become.

“Constant interruptions coupled with toxic and defamatory smears impact the mental and physical well-being of all individuals on the panel,” he said in the letter.

The letter by Shergill comes a day after the death of Congress leader and spokesperson Rajiv Tyagi following a heart attack. He was 52.

Tyagi suffered the attack soon after participating in a TV debate from his residence in Sector-16 of Vasundhara in Ghaziabad and fell unconscious.

Tagging his letter, Shergill tweeted, “My letter to I&B Minister Shri Prakash Javadekar Ji requesting him to issue an advisory to media to enforce a Code of Conduct to curb slanderous, sensationalist and toxic TV debates.”

In the letter, he said issuing an advisory to the media houses to follow News Broadcasting Standards Authority (NBSA) guidelines to ensure mere civility is a must and shall serve as an appropriate tribute to Tyagi.

Congress leader Shashi Tharoor said the issue raised by Shergill requires serious consideration, with due regard to freedom of expression and Article 19 provisions, as well as existing conduct guidelines.

Symptomatic to Asymptomatic ratio 1:30

KANIZA GARARI | DC
HYDERABAD, AUG 13

For every three symptomatic Covid-19 patients, there are 100 asymptomatic patients in Asia, according to analysis by the Confederation of Medical Association of Asia and Oceania (CMAAO).

In India, the statistics change to 30 asymptomatic cases to every symptomatic patient tested positive, and 20 go untested. This is because the Indian health system is unable to carry out contact tracing, the social stigma surrounding Covid-19 and the limited understanding of the disease among the population.

The increased spread of cases has been noted in closed environments, crowded places where there is no proper social distancing and lack of ventilation facilities. In India, joint families have been most affected and toilets have been the source of the spread of infection, where there is only one bathroom in households.

In districts, this aspect has come to the fore, as seven to eight residents share one bathroom. According to analysis, the virus has behaved in the same manner across cities, districts and countries where the higher viral load, lack of medical intervention and inability to avail medical services in time has led to complications.

Apart from this, co-morbid conditions of heart disease, diabetes, kidney and other organ complications have caused rapid deterioration of the health of Covid-19 patients, leading to death in many cases.

UN SAYS 43% OF SCHOOLS LACK WATER, SOAP

Johannesburg, Aug. 13: The United Nations estimates that 43 per cent of schools around the world don't have access to water and soap for basic hand-washing. The new report comes as countries wrestle with when and how to safely open schools amid the Covid-19 pandemic. The report by the World Health Organisation and UNICEF says more than one-third of the 818 million children around the globe who lacked basic hand-washing facilities at their schools last year are in sub-Saharan Africa. The report says authorities must balance health concerns with economic and social ones in deciding on opening schools, and it notes the negative effects that long closures have on children. The report also says one in three schools around the world have limited or no drinking water service.

STUDY: CLIMATE CHANGE KILLED WOOLLY RHINOS

Washington, Aug. 13: A woolly brown rhinoceros that weighed two tons once roamed northeastern Siberia before mysteriously disappearing around 14,000 years ago.

Was its demise caused by humans, or the warming climate of the time?

A new study by a Swedish and Russian team of scientists who examined DNA fragments from the remains of 14 of these prehistoric mammals lets our species off the hook.

They say the population of the animal — also known by its scientific name Coelodonta antiquitatis — remained stable for millennia as they lived alongside humans, before dropping sharply toward the end of the last ice age. "That makes it more likely that climatic changes that happened around 14,000 years ago are the primary driver of extinction, rather than humans," Love Dalen, a geneticist said.

Flight warning as Mt Sinabung spews ash

Rumbling volcano erupts for the 8th time in less than a week

Jakarta, Aug. 13: Indonesia's Mount Sinabung erupted again on Thursday with a string of blasts that sent plumes of ash two kilometres (1.2 miles) into the sky, triggering a flight warning and fears of lava flows.

The activity marked at least the eighth time that the rumbling volcano on Sumatra island has erupted in less than a week, although there were no injuries or major damage reported.

Authorities issued a warning to planes flying near the volcano which last saw a deadly eruption in 2016.

"There is potential for more eruptions and airlines are asked to be on alert," said National Disaster Mitigation Agency spokesman Raditya Jati.

The crater's alert status remained at the second-highest level.

Jati said authorities had marked a five-kilometre no-go-zone around Sinabung and warned of possible lava flows.

"Locals are advised to wear face masks if they leave their homes to guard against the health effects of volcanic ash on health," he added.

On Monday, Sinabung belched a tower of smoke and ash some five kilometres high, coating local communities in a thick layer of debris, after eruptions at the weekend.

Sinabung roared back to life in 2010 for the first time in 400 years. After another period of inactivity it erupted once more in 2013, and has remained highly active since. In 2016, seven people died in one of Sinabung's eruptions, while a 2014 eruption killed 16.

In late 2018, a volcano in the strait between Java and Sumatra islands erupted, causing an underwater landslide and tsunami that killed more than 400 people.

VENEZUELA OPP LEADERS OPEN OIL SPILL PROBE

Caracas, Aug. 13: Venezuela's opposition-run congress has opened an investigation into an oil spill that continues to pollute palm-lined beaches along the South American nation's Caribbean coast, legislator Maria Gabriela Hernandez said on Wednesday. Authorities said last week they were cleaning up the oil slick that washed up on the coast of Falcon state, known for wetlands and nature preserves, but did not provide an estimate of how much had spilled or the cause of the incident.

The legislature's environment commission is now asking government institutions, including state oil company PDVSA, for details on what maintenance was carried out at the 1.46,000 barrel-per-day El Palito refinery, where the oil is believed to have originated.

3 SPANIARDS DEAD, 1 MISSING IN SWISS MISHAP

Geneva, Aug. 13: Three Spanish tourists are dead and a fourth remains missing following a canyoning accident in Switzerland, police said on Thursday. Four men were reported missing after a severe thunderstorm on Wednesday. St Gallen police said in a statement. Three were found dead during the night. The accident happened in the Parliobel gorge in Vattin, near the eastern Swiss border.

"The three dead men and the missing are Spanish tourists," the cantonal police said.

"They were together on a canyoning tour in the Parliobel gorge and must have been taken by surprise by the storm."

Wildfire explodes near LA, prompts evacuations

Los Angeles, Aug. 13: A fast-moving brush fire north of Los Angeles prompted mandatory evacuation orders for some 500 homes on Wednesday as firefighters battled the flames that had burned 10,000 acres by early evening, authorities said.

The Lake Fire erupted at around 3:30 pm (22:30 GMT) near Lake Hughes, about a 90-minute drive from Los Angeles.

Rapidly-spreading flames had scorched some 10,000 acres (4,050 hectares) within a little more than three hours, according to the Los Angeles County Fire Department.

"Multiple agencies are battling a brush fire near the Lake Hughes area in the Angeles National Forest," the department said in a tweet.

The smoke plume from the flames could be seen miles away from the site of the fire. More than 300 firefighters backed by helicopters and fixed-wing aircraft were deployed to fight the blaze.

China's deadly summer floods have caused $25 bn in damage

Beijing, Aug. 13: Summer floods in China have left more than 200 people dead or missing and caused $25 billion in direct damage, an emergency management official said on Thursday.

The floods struck major river systems across the central and southern parts of the country.

Major cities have been largely spared by the flooding but the impact compounds losses to the economy from the coronavirus outbreak that began in the central Chinese city of Wuhan late last year.

Vice Minister of Emergency Management Zhou Xuewen told reporters 219 people were listed as dead or missing and 54,000 homes had been destroyed.

Economic losses of 178.9 billion yuan ($ 25.7 billion) were 15.9 per

'Clean your plate campaign' set up to avert food crisis in China

Beijing, Aug. 13: China has officially launched a new version of "Clean Your Plate Campaign" flagged by Chinese President Xi Jinping, sparking speculation that the world's most populous country faces food crisis following the Covid-19 pandemic.

Xi earlier said that food wastage was shocking and distressing, and that it is necessary to further enhance public awareness of the issue, cultivate thrifty habits and foster a social environment where waste is shameful and thriftiness is good. "Different from the previous campaign, which was aimed at putting an end to officials' extravagant feasts and receptions, the 2.0 version calls for the public to stop wasting food," state-run Global Times reported on Thursday.

"The initiative initially sparked speculation by some media over whether China is in a food crisis.

Experts say the world indeed faces a food shortage, but for China, the real threat to food security comes more from food wastage than epidemic or floods," it said. After he took over power in 2012, Xi in an image-building exercise banned luxury banquets with liquor, especially for the military which has been asked not to waste food and feed on leftovers and keep away from fancy food during official banquets. — PTI

West should have discarded at trick four. Probably, declarer would have ruffed in the dummy, crossed to the club ace and led a fourth diamond. But now West could have gone in with his spade jack and continued with either a heart or the king and another club. As South couldn't have gotten into the dummy, East would have scored two spade tricks for down one.

There are several signs of maturity in a bridge player. One is avoiding the impulse that befell West in this deal. Since North couldn't respond initially, South should have passed out two spades. However, when he bid a third time, North, with three trumps, a ruffing

Kamala Harris: A smart choice by US Democrats

The Democratic presidential candidate Joe Biden's pick of running mate in Kamala Harris is historic in more ways than one. Her selection will resonate with a large section of American voters even as it spotlights the growing importance of Black voters, more so of Black women who have fought for decades since the suffragette revolution for their voices to be heard and their ambitions given equal opportunity. Her Afro-Caribbean-Jamaican and Indian parentage brings to the centrestage once again the immigrants' American dream and middle class aspirations that have been threatened in four years of Trump and at a time when the world is in the grip of a raging pandemic.

The USA of today is far more of a racial and cultural melting pot than it was when a Chennai woman broke her Indian shackles and set forth to study in the USA back in 1958 and her daughter now represents eloquently the fight for equal opportunity and equal justice. The Democratic ticket needed this burst of energy to back the 78-year-old Joe Biden. Whether he is to be viewed as a transitional leader or not, what Democrats have right now is a Vice President candidate acceptable to a large section of the population besides the fundraising ability of a prosperous West Coast Senator who is married to a Jew. Far from damaging the handy lead pollsters are giving Biden, she may add value.

Biden's choice predictably ignited the misogynistic, sexist Donald Trump into offending nearly half the US population by bringing back affront to women's dignity in his attitude that is more suited to the Middle Ages. It is at an inflection point in contemporary history of civil strife in the time of the tragic George Floyd and the Black Lives Matter movement that his death inspired bringing Harris into the limelight and making her presence on the ticket a smart choice indeed. Furthermore, when the Donald Trump administration is seen to be not only ineffective in handling the Covid-19 pandemic but also deliberately and cynically contemptuous of a threat that has killed more than 1.66 lakh Americans, she brings strength with substance and not just symbolism to a Democratic ticket promising at least the much-needed empathy to a difficult situation.

The far right may have reason to believe Harris, brought up more as a Black kid singing in the church choir than a Tamil Brahmin (and yet mindful of her mother's legacy) is too far to the left while the liberals believe she is, like Biden, too much at the centre. The Chinese are already annoyed by her brave and moral stand on the discriminatory treatment of Uighur Muslims. Harris' strong views on CAA, Kashmir and other home policies may be seen as abrasive by official India. Most Indian-Americans would, however, sense a chance to be more of a mainstream community in their adopted country with their votes likely to be valuable in battleground states. An antidote to the most divisive president in modern history is bound to come with ideologies and philosophies that are principled and it is not only in her animus towards Trump that a politician such as this must be seen as a champion to fight the forces in these conflicted times.

Show no mercy to rioters

The vandalism that followed an inflammatory Facebook post and the police firing which cost the lives of three youngsters in Bengaluru on Wednesday point to the urgent need for the authorities to be on a state of high alert against attempts to flame communal passions and throw life into disarray. Hurting religious sentiments is a punishable offence in India. So, anyone who does it knows about its implications, and as such, must be brought to book. The same logic works for believers, too, and they must know that the legal system is capable of dealing with deliberate attempts to denigrate religious figures.

The Bengaluru rioters deserve no mercy as they torched the home of a legislator, set fire to vehicles and even attacked a police station. The Social Democratic Party of India, which now stands accused of having a role in the violence, has a history of portraying themselves as the champions of the Muslim cause in India while pursuing an often-counterproductive path of violence to achieve their ends. Such forces must be made to understand that rule of law prevails in the country.

The BJP, which is ruling the state, was quick to condemn the riot and blame "appeasement" saying the Congress was silent about the vandalism though a Congress legislator, who is a dalit, was at the receiving end. The Opposition party must respond to the charge and take an unequivocal stand against communal elements in society.

Bengaluru police stopped the violence from turning into a communal riot. However, the assertions by the ministers and senior police officials that the violence was planned beg the question why the police did not take preventive action. They must do more and prevent its recurrence. This country can ill-afford more calamities, manmade or otherwise.

Why Ayodhya was not like battle for freedom

Anand K. Sahay

Far & Near

We are limping toward our 73rd Independence Day with little enthusiasm. The mood cannot but be downbeat after Prime Minister Narendra Modi's morale eroding recent Ayodhya foray.

The most narrow-minded Hindu, who (even if inadvertently) takes his cue from an outfit with a militaristic anti-democracy mindset that espouses antagonism toward particular religions, and weakens the core concepts of modern Indian nationhood rooted in our freedom movement, may have been charged up that day. But even such people have to think of their home fires, the pandemic at the door, and the push of expansionist China's army inside our borders.

Their evidently pseudo "Ram bhakti", or devotion to the exalted ideals exemplified by Lord Ram, has no basis in religion. Its fundamentals lie elsewhere — in the corrosive alleyways of politics that seek religion-based domination of society and the political space — as in Pakistan, for instance, and can without exaggeration be called non-sacred devotion to the divine.

The entire Ayodhya temple project has, in fact, been a massive enterprise in the politics of bigotry in which religion is whipped up as a mobilising tool with the aim of acquiring and retaining power on premises that are unconnected with the demands of everyday life. And this is why, eventually, it is likely to prove of little avail against such powerful counter-urges as have been noted above — those of pressing concerns of the country.

Even if an ideologically-crazed and politically greedy Prime Minister is not ready at present to comprehend this, he is likely to be brought down to earth when ordinary Indians begin to feel the pinch and hold him and his buddies to account.

A (probably modified) Turkish proverb runs thus: "The forest was shrinking but the trees kept voting for the axe, for the axe was clever and convinced the trees that because his handle was made of wood he was one of them." In this the metaphor of our present politics (and indeed that of Turkey) becomes clear as day.

Just 10 days before India was to mark the 73rd anniversary of its freedom from colonial rule — and of attaining in that process the composite identity of a common nationhood, which is an overarching canopy across our complex identities of religion, caste, language and ethnicity — the Prime Minister struck at the fundamental precepts enshrined in the idea of Indian independence. These had even served as a model to many countries as the process of decolonisation unfolded across the world.

It was careful choreography that the temple-building trust (which seems an extension of the PMO) chose August 5 — the very date last year on which the constitutionally-ordained autonomy of Jammu and Kashmir, India's only Muslim-majority state, was snatched away by the Centre by adopting illegal and irregular ways that have been challenged in the Supreme Court, and the region brought under militarised suppression with not even a semblance of democratic governance — to lay the foundation of the Ram temple in Ayodhya.

The Kashmir-to-Ayodhya common template was clearly intended to overtly demonstrate the suppression of Muslim aspirations in India by the Indian State under the RSS-BJP aegis, although Muslims were equal participants in the freedom movement.

The RSS-BJP cohorts had declared from the start that the temple of their dreams would be erected at the exact spot where the Babri Masjid, a 16th century mosque of no particular significance (the Supreme Court rejected the propaganda that the mosque was on built on the ruins of a temple), had stood and was violently pulled down on December 6, 1992.

This was ruthlessly ensured through an illogical and justifiably condemned decree of the Supreme Court in November last year. A judgment in favour of Ram Lalla (beloved Ram) would hardly have presented a problem since it is widely recognised now that many of democracy's characteristic institutions appear to have been all but superseded by the executive under the Narendra Modi government.

Mr Modi is known to bring communal mobs to their feet without breaking a sweat, and for full theatrical effect he seldom fails to appear in the attire of ancient Hindu sages as depicted in kitsch art. For him, it would have been quite enough to satisfy the faithful by just being around to lay the first symbolic brick for the construction of the temple in Ayodhya, no matter how constitutionally unseemly this is.

And yet, the PM thought it best to make a big deal about invoking the freedom movement, and giving the (patently false) impression that building the temple was the second edition of the glorious struggle for independence, which is imprinted in the psyche of every Indian. Why did he do so?

The reason seems clear. He wanted to steal the emotional association every Indian has with the long-drawn freedom struggle for an act of violent bigotry at Ayodhya — arguably the most reprehensible in free India. Even if no one dared to inform him of this earlier, the Prime Minister may as well be made conscious that his August 5 speech in Ayodhya eviscerates the ideas that underlie the independence of India.

"The soul of a nation, long suppressed, finds utterance," Pandit Jawaharlal Nehru had said as the midnight hour struck proclaiming the emergence of India on the world stage as a new kind of free nation, one whose very concept had mesmerised the world on account of its perplexing diversity, plurality, and its ambition for democracy. But the present PM presses the delete button on such thoughts every single day. Yet, nothing bestows legitimacy like favourable allusions to the independence movement.

So, speaking from Ayodhya, Mr Modi engaged in yet another act of misappropriation by falsely linking the temple project with the freedom movement. He sought to portray the construction of the Ram temple as an act of "liberation". But we have been a free country for over 70 years, and no one in India feels enslaved except by caste, class, gender or communal oppression. That makes Mr Modi's "liberation theology" a grand deception.

Truth to tell, the PM has already made his Independence Day address on August 5, and it had little to do with the core values of India and the immediate concerns of all Indians. From the Red Fort on August 15, he can only give us a round of rituals and some more propaganda.

Truth to tell, the PM has already made his Independence Day address, and it had little to do with the core values of India and the immediate concerns of all Indians

KAMALA FOR VP

The selection of Kamla Harris as the running mate of presumptive Democratic presidential nominee Joe Biden has brought cheers to the people of our country because of her Indian descent. It was indeed a master stroke of Biden to ensure that the votes of Blacks and Indian-Americans come to his party. When the country has been witnessing nasty protests on account of racial discrimination spurred by the brutal police killing of George Floyd, the candidature of a non-white person who has identified herself as a black all through, will certainly channelise the anger and frustration of the group of victims into votes in her party's favour. There is also a big chunk of Indian-Americans in that country whose sentiments are touched by the feeling of a person of their origin identified to the august office of Vice-President and whose support will therefore tilt towards the party she represents.

PROUD MOMENT

IT IS LAUDABLE that the US Democratic presidential nominee Joe Biden has named Indian origin Kamala Harris, Senator from California as his Vice-Presidential running mate. He has also made history by selecting Kamala, daughter of a Jamaican father and an Indian mother, as the first coloured woman to compete on a major party's presidential ticket. The selection of Harris is indeed a proud moment for India, particularly Tamil Nadu as she has her roots in Chennai through her mother. Her selection acquires special significance in the sense that there is every possibility of her becoming the President of the US in another four or eight years as she is just 55 and age is very much on her side. We wish her success in the ensuing election.

Dilip Cherian
Dilli Ka Babu

This looks like a nightmarish end to federalism as we know it. Bollywood actor Sushant Singh Rajput's tragic death has turned into deplorable political one-upmanship. The unprecedented face-off between Bihar Police and Mumbai Police on the investigation of the suicide has far reaching consequences. Many experts are of the view that sending a team of Bihar Police personnel to Mumbai after Rajput's father filed a FIR demanding a probe into the "crime" was out of step. In India, police is a state subject and crimes are investigated by the police depending on where they occurred. If states start to interfere and go after crimes committed against their citizens in another state, we have a recipe for disaster. With the further likely addition of the CBI into this pot, the stew has grown thicker.

Had some worthies shown some prudence, we wouldn't have had to see the DGPs of the two states slinging at each other on the TV news. TV newsrooms or Twitter are not the place to conduct a serious investigation into the death of a popular actor.

The case has grown much bigger with the respective state governments getting into the ring. The Bihar CM has given his nod for a CBI probe, bowing to pressure from the actor's family, while Maharashtra chief minister Uddhav Thackeray refusing to give in to the demand. Both chief ministers have decided to stick by their police chiefs. The Enforcement Directorate has also opened an investigation into alleged money laundering. It is pretty much a no-holds-barred affair now, teetering dangerously on the edge of turning into a farce.

None of this would have merited so much focus and energy were it not for the Assembly elections in Bihar, due in October. The Bihari "sentiment" seems to have taken the frontstage, a thinly veiled euphemism for votes. The politicisation of the police is one of those vexing issues that no amount of reform has been able to deal with. The recent Vikas Dubey encounter and the police custodial deaths in Sathankulam town near Thoothukudi in Tamil Nadu are already forgotten. The Sushant case will likely drag until it is no longer convenient. Sadly, if this lack of restraint and willful flouting of procedure by the police persists, it will end badly for the country.

CONTROVERSIAL NITI AAYOG EXIT

The repatriation of Niti Aayog adviser Alok Kumar to his cadre state Uttar Pradesh has set tongues wagging. Barely less than two months ago, the Appointments Committee of the Cabinet had given Mr Kumar a one-year extension of tenure at the think tank. He was relieved on July 31.

The government's U-turn has left many observers bemused. Some say that since the UP government had agreed to an extension for Mr Kumar in May, it is unlikely that it would recall the 1993-batch IAS officer. This then implies that the Centre's U-turn may have been caused by some rift among the higher-ups in Delhi over the babu. The buzz is that there are some differences between the Niti Aayog and the health ministry over policy matters, and possibly Mr Kumar was in the middle of the spat. But that may not be the only reason, certainly not enough to warrant this U-turn. After all, Mr Kumar was reportedly handling the majority of the key assignments at the nation's premier think tank. We may never know.

However, some observers believe that Mr Kumar's unexpected exit from Niti Aayog will cast a cloud over the empanelment of 1983 batch IAS officers for additional secretary-level posts at the Centre.

ROOPA K'TAKA HOME SECY

Roopa D. Moudgil is the first woman IPS officer of Karnataka and has now become the first woman police officer to be appointed the state's home secretary. The decision is unpalatable for IAS officers who might have been eyeing the post for themselves. It's not often that an IPS officer is appointed to a post traditionally associated with the IAS. The violence this week in Bangalore may, however, quieten naysayers.

This posting comes amid a major rejig that has been happening within the government. Thirteen senior IPS officers were given different posts, and 19 ranked officers were transferred. This 2000-batch IPS officer, however, has many firsts to her credit, having become well-known for taking up cases that involve either senior IPS officers or politicians, most recently, late AIADMK chief Jayalalitha's aide Sasikala.

J&J ties up with Biological E for making Covid-19 vaccine in India

DC CORRESPONDENT
HYDERABAD, AUG. 13

Biological E. Limited, India's oldest biological products company, said on Thursday that it has tied up United States-based Johnson & Johnson to manufacture the latter's Covid-19 vaccine candidate in India.

"We are very pleased indeed to collaborate with an organisation like Johnson & Johnson. Given the magnitude of the Covid-19 pandemic, our ability to mount an effective response will be predicated on the ability to supply the vaccine globally and in significant quantities. This is best achieved through collaboration," said Mahima Datla, the managing director of BE.

J&J is developing a vaccine candidate 'Ad26.COVS.2.S' for the coronavirus through its pharmaceutical arm Janssen Pharmaceutica NV. The vaccine candidate is currently in phase 1/2a clinical trials.

The phase 1/2a study will involve more than 1,000 adults aged between 18 and 55. The study will also include testing the vaccine in people 65 and older. Human trials in the Netherlands, Spain, Germany and Japan will follow.

Stoffels had told a conference call last month that the company expects initial human results in September and phase 3 efficacy testing could start the same month itself. "The vaccine could be ready by early 2021," he said.

The tie-up with Biological E. would help J&J to ramp its manufacturing capabilities in India.

"We look forward to deploying our manufacturing infrastructure to support Johnson & Johnson's commitment to global access for its Covid-19 vaccine," said Narender Dev Mantena, director of BioE Holdings Inc., who heads BE's novel vaccine initiative.

According to the World Health Organisation data, people around the world are working on 42 vaccine candidates for the coronavirus, including two from India, which are at different stages of development.

"Six vaccine candidates are in phase-3 trials, two candidates in phase 2 trials. Ten vaccine candidates, including two being developed in India, are at phase 1/2," claims the WHO data as on August 10.

■ Investigation wing, TDS directorate to decide on surveys

Curtains on I-T raids at will

New Delhi, Aug 13: The income tax surveys to collect information for scrutiny assessment will be undertaken only by the investigation wing and the tax deducted at source (TDS) directorate with effect from Thursday, the Central Board of Direct Taxes (CBDT) said.

In an order, the CBDT said officers in Directorate General of Income Tax (DGIT) (Investigation) and Principal Commissioner of I-T/Chief Commissioner of I-T (TDS) "only and exclusively" shall be the competent authority for approving survey actions with effect from August 13, 2020.

"The survey action u/s 133A of the Act being an intrusive action, it is expected that the same should be carried out with utmost responsibility and accountability," the CBDT said, adding that with faceless assessment the department is moving towards minimal interface with taxpayers.

MEASURES TO EASE COMPLIANCE BURDEN: FM

New Delhi, Aug. 13: Finance minister Nirmala Sitharaman on Thursday said the faceless tax scrutiny assessment and appeal would ease the compliance burden of taxpayers and increase fairness and objectivity in the tax system.

Prime Minister Narendra Modi launched the platform 'Transparent Taxation Honoring the Honest' which provides for launch of faceless assessment and adoption of a taxpayer charter.

Also the Central Board of Direct Taxes (CBDT), which administers personal income tax and corporate tax, will launch faceless appeals beginning September 25.

"Today is a landmark day in the history of tax administration," Sitharaman said.

"The CBDT has given a framework and put in place a system in the form of this platform...It uses technology, data analytics, and also uses artificial intelligence," she said. —PTI

Nangia Andersen LLP Partner Aravind Srivatsan said the previous regime allowed taxmen from inspector onwards, jurisdictional assessing officer to initiate the survey with prior approval of joint commissioner of income tax.

"In effect the powers of the assessment authorities which were exercised in the normal course will now have to be backed by credible evidence to seek such approval from now permitted higher authorities. This shows the government intention to ensure only genuinely deserving cases would go through this procedure," he said.

In an I-T survey, tax officers visit business premises of the taxpayer to gather information by way of examination of books of accounts, data stored electronically and also access email communication.

Srivatsan said it can be inferred from the order that the faceless assessment scheme could subject the taxpayer to more rigorous audit based on his profiling and industry situation and requires a careful maintenance of supporting documentation with regard to significant tax positions.

AKM Global's tax partner Amit Maheshwari said it will increase accountability in conducting surveys.

"Surveys by nature are very intrusive and sensitive. Now, only a selected division of the tax department can conduct a survey," he said. —PTI

States' sales tax receipts from fuel may go up by 9%

SANGEETHA G
CHENNAI, AUG. 13

The recovery trend in sales volumes and increase in excise duties will see sales tax receipts of states on petroleum products going up by 7 to 9 per cent this fiscal, despite the negative impact of the pandemic, finds Crisil.

Firmer crude oil prices will also add to the increase in receipts. If volumes rebound amidst increased central and state taxes and firmer crude oil prices, there could be a 7-9 per cent rise in sales tax receipts over last year to Rs 1.96 lakh crore, despite an expected 25 per cent fall in collections in the first quarter.

"The first quarter saw petrol and diesel sales volume plunging by a third because of the Covid-19 induced lockdown. But with the economy slowly unlocking and industrial and commercial activities clawing back, vehicular traffic has started to improve," said Manish Gupta, senior director of Crisil Ratings.

In April combined monthly volume of petrol and diesel sales, which account for 90 per cent of sales tax collections from petroleum products, were 43 per cent of the pre-Covid levels. This moved up to 85 per cent in June and is around 83 per cent in July. If economic activity rebounds to pre-pandemic levels by November, the annual volume decline may be restricted to 11-12 per cent this fiscal.

Further, the central excise duty and state sales tax rates of petrol and diesel were increased several times in the past few months. Between March and May weighted average diesel retail price had gone up by Rs 16 per litre. By July another Rs 2.8 per litre hike was also implemented.

An increase in excise duty increases the taxable value of petrol and diesel for the levy of state sales tax. This higher taxable value of the fuel is providing additional sales tax of Rs 3 per litre to states.

I-T Charter: Every taxpayer to be treated as honest & with courtesy

New Delhi, Aug 13: The tax department has committed to treat every taxpayer as honest, unless proven otherwise, and provide fair, courteous and reasonable treatment, according to the taxpayers' charter adopted on Thursday. The charter also expects taxpayers to pay taxes on time and be honest and compliant.

Prime Minister Narendra Modi launched the platform 'Transparent Taxation Honoring the Honest' which provides for adoption of a taxpayers' charter, which defines the tax department's commitment and its expectation from the taxpayers.

The tax officers will now be committed to a 14-point charter, which includes collecting "only the (tax) amount due" as per the law, while taxpayers would have to be "responsible" and fulfill six-point expectations of the I-T Department, including being honest and compliant.

The charter mandates the I-T Department to hold its "authorities accountable for their actions" and states that the department would provide fair, courteous, prompt and reasonable treatment as well as professional assistance to all taxpayers.

The officers shall treat taxpayers as honest "unless there is a reason to believe otherwise", it said.

The charter also bars the tax officers from disclosing taxpayer information unless authorised by law and also respect privacy of taxpayer.

The department will have to periodically publish standards for service delivery and provide a fair system to resolve tax issues in a time-bound manner.

The charter also mandates the department to allow every taxpayer to choose an authorised representative of his choice and provide mechanism for lodging a complaint, and its prompt disposal.

The charter expects the taxpayers to honestly disclose full information and "fulfill his compliance obligations". Also, the taxpayer is expected to keep accurate records and know what information and submissions are made by his authorised representative.

NBFC bond sales jump to levels before 2018 crisis

DIVYA PATIL
AUG. 13

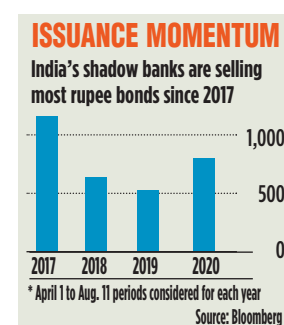

Indian shadow lenders are selling the most local-currency bonds since before a financial crisis engulfed the sector two years ago, in a sign that record stimulus is easing their fundraising burden.

The financiers have raised Rs 81,300 crore ($10.9 billion) through rupee notes since April 1, making it the best start to a financial year since 2017. Offerings from non-bank firms had declined in 2018 and 2019 as at least three shadow lenders defaulted on their repayments, battering investor demand for the sector's debt.

More cash for shadow banks is good news for the economy, which relies on these firms to provide financing to everyone from tailors to business giants. Non-bank lending is crucial in supporting Asia's third-largest economy, which is forecast to contract for the first time in four decades this year due to fallout from the pandemic.

To help non-bank financiers counter the economic impact of the outbreak, the government in May announced a Rs 30,000 crore credit line for these financiers, and said it will fully guarantee investment-grade securities issued under this plan.

To further assist lower-rated shadow banks, the administration agreed to also provide a partial guarantee to debt rated AA and below, injecting another Rs 45,000 crore. The central bank, meanwhile, funded banks' purchases of bonds issued by these lenders to the tune of Rs 12,850 crore.

But challenges remain, with signs investor demand for the debt is uneven. It's largely banks, which have to implement the economic stimulus steps, that are buying notes sold by shadow lenders. Other key players in the local credit market, such as mutual funds, halved their holdings of the bonds in the two-year period to June.

Moody's Investors Service warned in June that the stress among these lenders may be deeper and broader than it thought and S&P Global Ratings cut credit scores of several such firms citing liquidity risks.

Anderson strikes

Southampton, Aug. 13: James Anderson returned to form with a double strike against Pakistan on Thursday as the England great moved closer to becoming the first pacesman to take 600 Test wickets.

Pakistan were 85-2 at Tea on a rain-interrupted first day of the second Test at Hampshire's Ageas Bowl.

Anderson had figures of 2-24 in 12 overs, having come into this match, having taken just six wickets in three previous Tests this season at an expensive average of over 41.

Abid Ali, dropped twice in the slips, was 49 not out. By his own admission, Anderson had not been at his best with a match haul of 1-67 during England's three-wicket win in the first Test at his Old Trafford home ground last week.

In humid conditions conducive to Anderson's bowling, the 38-year-old needed just eight balls to strike and have Shan Masood, fresh from his Test-best 156 last week, lbw for one with an inswinger to the left-hand-

It was a special hundred: Sachin

New Delhi, Aug. 13: Test-saving hundreds have become extinct now but Sachin Tendulkar carved out one such innings exactly 30 years ago, the seeds of which were sown during one afternoon in Sialkot, eight months prior to that gloomy Manchester day.

It was on August 14, 1990, that Tendulkar scored the first of his 100 international centuries, a majestic 119 not out on a fifth day track to save the game for India. Asked about that special first, and it seemed like yesterday, "I scored that 100 on August 14 and next day was our Independence Day, so it was special. The headline was different and that hundred at least kept the series alive till next Test at the Oval," Tendulkar said on the eve of the 30th anniversary of his first ton.

So what exactly was the feeling, apart from the pure joy of achieving the milestone? "The art of saving a Test match was a new experience for me," Tendulkar said but added he knew he could save a game when he batted with a "bloodied nose" and a blood-soaked jersey after being hit by Waqar Younis.

"In Sialkot where I got hit and scored 57, we saved that Test match, too, from 38 for 4. Waqar's bouncer and playing through pain defined me. After those kind of hits you are either stronger or you are nowhere to be seen."

As scary as it may seem now, Tendulkar, in the first innings of that Manchester match, was hit on the back of the head by one of the fastest pacers in the world back then, Devon Malcolm.

Our aim is to pick up where we left off: Eli

NEHA SURANA | DC
CHENNAI, AUG. 13

A social media poster from Supermachans, the official fan club of the Chennaiyin FC, aptly described Brazilian defender Eli Sabia's relationship with the franchise.

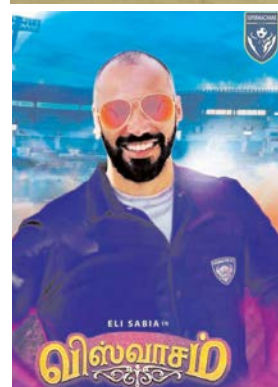

Eli's loyalty — "Viswasam" — is unmatched. An underrated player, Eli who recently signed a contract extension will be starting his fourth season in Chennaiyin colours.

When a professional player negotiates a contract, does emotional attachment with local fans and club loyalty come in the way?

"Absolutely. In my case, the love and affection I have towards the fans, club and the city matters a lot," said Eli.

Excerpts
On his association with Chennaiyin FC: This club, the staff and, especially, the fans mean a lot to me. I am very happy to continue here. My family and I have received a lot of love and support from the fans and the city of Chennai, and it is my honour to continue representing them. The entire last season was one of the most memorable experiences for me. The way we made a comeback after the slow start to make it all the way to the final. It didn't go our way in the end, but the journey was unforgettable.

On team's objective for 2020-21 season: Our objective this year will be to pick up where we left off. We have unfinished business after just falling short in the final last season. It just wasn't our day. We need to retain that mentality from last season and try to regain that momentum. We need to work hard on the training pitch and maximise our potential. On Owen Coyle's departure from Chennaiyin: I have the utmost respect and gratitude for Coyle and also John Gregory (his predecessor). It was our privilege to play under their guidance. We all learned and improved a lot. But now we need to focus on the future and our objectives for next season. That is what matters now.

On how he spent time during the lockdown: During the pandemic, I have stayed with my family at home. I have been exercising frequently and avoiding much contact with people. Brazil has many cases of Covid-19, but we are safe in our region and hope for all of this be over soon. It is difficult to stay away from football, but this is how things are. We have to accept reality and hope for things to return to normalcy all over the world.
