Rampant mining threatens Sutlej riverbed in Moga

Roads constructed by mafia | Overloaded vehicles damage village stretches | Streams diverted

KULWINDER SANDHU

TRIBUNE NEWS SERVICE

MOGA, FEBRUARY 28

Indiscriminate mining in the Sutlej riverbed in Moga district, in violation of the environmental laws, is threatening local ecology and infrastructure of the area.

Scores of trucks and tractor-trailers overloaded with sand pass through the area on the kutch roads inside the river embankment. Flouting the environmental laws, the roads have been constructed by the mining mafia for movement of heavy vehicles. At some places, these passages have also diverted the streams of water, making the area dry for easy lifting of sand with huge excavators and JCB machines.

The link roads of nearby villages have also been damaged due to the movement of heavy machinery. Jaspinder Kaur Aulakh, sarpanch of Takhtawala village located on the river bank, said, "Hundreds of trucks and tractor-trailers move out from the riverbed every day. All trucks are overloaded with sand. The overloaded vehicles had damaged the roads of all nearby villages. Despite many complaints by Sanghera, Bassian and other areas. Though the use of heavy machinery to excavate sand and gravels has been banned by the National Green Tribunal (NGT), the district administration has granted permission for the JCB machines' use at some locations allotted to the contractors by the state government. The rest of the mining operations have to be carried out manually as per the rules.

Further, the mining operations are carried throughout the day even as the Union Ministry of Environment and Forests has fixed time-frame for excavation during summers from 6 am to 7 pm and in winters from 7 am to 5 pm. The excavation in rivers could be carried out maximum up to 10-ft (3 metres) depth, but sand is excavated beyond the limit at almost all mining sites. There are 20 to 30 ft craters on the riverbed due to the indiscriminate mining. The mining mafia takes advantage of the monsoon period when the mining operations come to a halt and these trenches fill up naturally with sand and water.

Moga Mining Officer Gursimran Singh Gill said de-silting exercise was going on at the Adra Mann area in the Sutlej belt due to which trucks and tractor-trailers move on the kutch road on the embankment. "We have allowed the use of heavy machinery for de-silting the river streams as per the regular practice," he said.

SAD to corner Cong in House over loan waiver

CHANDIGARH, FEBRUARY 28

The Shiromani Akali Dal (SAD) today said it would force the Congress government to explain why it had betrayed all sections of society in the past four years during the last Budget session which starts tomorrow.

SAD leader Bikram Singh Majithia said PPCC president Sunil Jakhar was "fooling people by indulging in a sham protest against the Governor's address which had been prepared by his own government".

"Come and join me in the protest which would be a refresher course for you all in raising voice of the people we serve far away from the cozy environs of the Rajya Sabha galleries," Jakhar quipped.

On being asked about Kapil Sibal, Ghulam Nabi Azad, Raj Babbar and Anand Sharma's statements, Jakhar urged all senior leaders to take up the issues of people. He disagreed with Babbar's 'Hum hi Congress hain' comment, underlining the "Congress party is older than you and me" and its core philosophy has consistently been of public service only. He added such comments did not behove a senior leader like Babbar.

On Azad's statement that he has retired from the Rajya Sabha and not from active politics, Jakhar said retiring from the Upper House never means retiring from politics at all and rather politics has begun now. Responding to Sibal's statement about the need to further strengthen the party, the PPCC chief invited him to come and join him to work for the people in the streets to make the party and the country stronger. — TNS

Days after the Finance Commission announced a grant of Rs 350 crore to Punjab for crop diversification, the Department of Agriculture has begun wooing farmers to go in for maize cultivation by adopting modern technology. The maize in spring season is commonly sown in Moga, Barnala, Sangrur, Mansa, Ludhiana and many other districts of the Malwa belt.

The department's experiment of sowing maize with pneumatic planters on raised-beds in the past couple of years has shown good results. Its scientists are conducting demonstrations of maize-sowing with an aim to encourage farmers to adopt crop diversification.

One such demonstration was carried out at Rajoana village in Sudhaan block of Ludhiana district, last week. Dr Jaswinder Singh Brar, a senior agro-scientist who conducted the demonstra-

Confusion over disability criteria as Ph-2 begins today

Activists demand clarity on guidelines for Covid vaccination

AParna Banerji

TRIBUNE NEWS SERVICE

JALANDHAR/CHANDIGARH, FEB 28 Confusion prevails among persons with disability regarding the new guidelines issued for the phase-2 of the Covid vaccination, the registration for which begins tomorrow.

Along with the elderly (above 60 years of age), those with co-morbidities (above 45 to 59 years of age) have also been included in the phase-2.

The criterion covered in the second phase of the Covid vaccine includes the following disabilities: Persons with disabilities due to intellectual problems, muscular dystrophy, acid attack with involvement of respiratory system, persons with disabilities having high support needs, multiple disabilities, including deaf-blindness. As per the 2011 census, there are 6.54 lakh people with disabilities in Punjab. As per the current figures of the Department of Social Security, there are 96,186 people in Punjab with disabilities who are above the age of 18 years.

Disability activists have termed the guidelines confusing and exclusionary to certain sections. Disability activist Vivek Joshi, who has cerebral palsy and operates from a wheelchair, said, "Is cerebral palsy included? If a person is limbless but needs high support and has no co-morbidities, is he eligible?

582 FRESH CASES IN STATE

The state reported 582 cases and seven deaths in the past 24 hours. As per a media bulletin, two deaths each were reported from Amritsar and Jalandhar, and one each from Ferzepur, Gurdaspur and Hoshiarpur.

The guidelines leave much unanswered. My parents are elderly. It takes six months for me to heal if I get a wound. The disabled take longer to heal. Many others face similar dilemmas. There is no awareness for us. Ideally, those with locomotive disorders should have had the provision of getting vaccinated at home. Going to a vaccination centre amid Covid is in itself a huge ordeal. Many won't turn up due to lack of a certificate."

State coordinator and executive member, disabilities, Amarjit Singh Anand said, "Many children with disabilities are much more vulnerable and immune-compromised. Barring listed co-morbidities, there are other medical conditions that the disabled suffer from. Many won't even apply due to lack of awareness. Is there a government mechanism to reach them? All disabilities across age groups should have been included in the vulnerable section." Anand has taken up the issue with Dr KK Talwar, health adviser to the state government. State nodal officer for Covid Dr Rajesh Bhaskar said, "The disabled who can apply for the jab shall be strictly vaccinated as per the mentioned guidelines. If a person below 60 doesn't have a limb but he is not co-morbid, he won't be considered. The guidelines are clear. Also, those coming to the vaccination centres are supposed to bring certificates regarding their co-morbidity or disability condition. All the people who meet guidelines shall be vaccinated. Presently, there is no mechanism to reach out to beneficiaries or for home vaccinations. Everyone shall be expected to report at the vaccination centre."

Health Minister Balbir Sidhu said pre-registration was not mandatory in this round. Those who wanted to get vaccinated could either pre-register or just walk in, Sidhu said.

SANGRUR, FEBRUARY 28

Jobless members of various unions from across the state under the 'Joint Front of Unemployed' banner today laid siege to the local residence of Education Minister Vijay Inder Singla demanding government jobs.

They broke through the police barricading, but were later assured by the administration of arrang-

PATIALA, FEBRUARY 28 The Covid scare continues to hit the patient count at OPDs of government hospitals.

As per the data provided by the authorities of the Rajindra Hospital, the patient count in January was 20,165, which was 33 per cent lower than that in the corresponding period last year. In January 2020, the count was 30,422.

People preferring private clinics due to presence of Covid isolation ward

The hospital authorities said people were scared to take treatment as the Covid isolation ward was located on the hospital premises. The Covid ward here is one of the largest isolation wards in the state.

Dr HS Rekhi, medical superintendent, Rajindra

Hospital, said, "In November and December, the figures were even lower. The number of OPD patients has been increasing over time, but the overall footfall is far from normal."

On the other hand, the number of OPD patients at private clinics has doubled.

A senior paediatrician at Rajindra Hospital said, "The count of patients at the OPD of the paediatrics department has gone down from 300 in the pre-Covid time to 30."

Another doctor at the hospital, said, "Fearing the spread of infection, people prefer visiting private clinics over government hospitals. Some have even discontinued their ongoing treatment at government hospitals."

In the video, ASI Amarjit is purportedly seen taking Rs 10,000 from a woman, identified as Harwinder Kaur, a resident of Dial Rajputan.

The complainant claimed she had got a case registered under Sections 354 (assault to outrage modesty) and 452 (trespass after preparation for hurt) of the Indian Penal Code against her husband and two others in 2019, but the police were not presenting the challan in the court.

Asserting that there was a zero-tolerance policy on corruption, the SSP asked people to bring such matters to the notice of the higher authorities.

A first: Free haemophilia cure at med colleges

FARIDKOT, FEBRUARY 28

Punjab has become the first state in the country to provide free of cost treatment to haemophilia patients up to 13 years of age at all government medical colleges.

The Baba Farid University of Health Sciences (BFUHS) has started the service in the three government medical colleges at Patiala, Amritsar and Faridkot. As the cost of the therapy is Rs 30,000 per kg of the body weight for a year, the treatment is limited only to those patients who are up to 13 years of age and below 40 kg in body weight, said Dr Raj Bahadur, BFUHS Vice Chancellor.

Haemophilia is a mostly an inherited genetic disorder that impairs the body's ability to make blood clots, a process needed to stop bleeding, said Dr Varun Kaul, a paediatrician at Guru Gobind Singh Medical College and Hospital here.

A weekly dose of hemlibra, a subcutaneous solution, increases the potential of blood clot formation. But due to cost constraints, it is only being administered to children below 13 years of age who are inhibitor-positive.

The state has around 450 haemophilia patients and 24 of them are inhibitor-positive.

Haemophilia results in patient bleeding for a longer time after an injury, easy bruising and an increased risk of bleeding inside joints or brain. —TNS

PATIALA, FEBRUARY 28

The already expensive power in the state can rise further. Installation of flue gas de-sulphurisation (FGD) units to control pollution at the Lehra Mohabbat thermal plant is going to add to the production cost.

The PSPCL plans to install a dry FGD system at the thermal plant to cut down emissions.

"Dry scrubbers have lower capital and annual costs than the wet system because they are simpler, need less water and waste disposal is less complex. TRIBUNE NEWS SERVICE

CHANDIGARH, FEBRUARY 28

The CBI has claimed that Town and Country Planning (TCP) officials, in connivance with private builders, processed incomplete applications and helped them get licences by releasing notified land in the Gurugram land scam.

In a chargesheet against then Chief Town Planner JS Redhu, then Assistant Town Planner Satish Kumar Arora, then Deputy Superintendent Rajbir Singh and Commander Realtors Private Limited, the CBI said the high-powered committee had in May 2012 dropped acquisition proceedings due to licences granted to builders with the release of notified land.

According to the chargesheet, of the 1,417.07 acres notified, land award was announced only for 85.95 acres in 2012. The chargesheet was handed over to the accused on February 24. In respect of the licence granted to Commander Realtors, the CBI said being the technical head, Redhu accepted the application despite the fact it was not in the prescribed format.

The CBI said Arora and Rajbir Singh, being the initiating officials, had played a major role in getting the incomplete licence applications processed.

The market value was more than Rs 3 crore per acre at that time. After the notification under Section 4, landowners decided to sell their land at a lower price as brokers offered them Rs 2.2 crore per acre.

- Ugly scenes were witnessed outside the Assembly on February 26 when Congress MLAs tried to stop the Governor when he was leaving after delivering his Address, which was cut short following uproarious scenes
- The ministers and the police pushed away the Congress legislators even as Agnihotri lay on the bonnet of the Governor's vehicle and finally, the Governor left
- Five Congress MLAs Mukesh Agnihotri, Harsh Vardhan Chauhan, Sunder Singh Thakur, Satpal Raizada and Vinay Kumar were suspended for the entire budget session including the Leader of the Opposition Mukesh Agnihotri and others were booked in connection with unsavory incident in Vidhan Sabha campus. The police have registered a case under sections 323, 341, 353, 504, 34 and 124 of IPC. These sections pertain to offences like assaulting President, Governor, voluntarily causing hurt, wrongful restraint, assault or criminal force to deter public servant from discharge of his duty, intentional insult with intent to provoke breach of the peace and criminal act with common intention of all which is punishable with imprisonment up to two years and fine.

Raizada and Vinay Kumar were suspended for the entire budget session. When contacted, Mukesh Agnihotri said that the FIRs have been registered at the behest of the Chief Minister and reflects the dictatorial attitude of the government. "We are elected representatives of the people and have the right to know why the Governor did not read the full Address and in case it was decided that he would read a curtailed Address, the fact should have been told at the all-party meeting.

"We hold the Governor in high esteem but some BJP

MLAs pushed us when we tried to interact with the Governor", he added.

The suspension of five Congress MLAs for entire budget session on the very first day of the session is unprecedented and has set the stage for confrontation between the ruling party and opposition.

One-sided action against Cong unjustified:Sukhu

TRIBUNE NEWS SERVICE

SHIMLA, FEBRUARY 28

The Congress leaders today demanded registration of an FIR against Deputy Speaker of Vidhan Sabha and BJP ministers involved in the scuffle with Congress MLAs in Vidhan Sabha premises on February 26 and said that they stand with the expelled MLAs.

Terming the incident as unfortunate, former Himachal Pradesh president Sukhwinder Singh Sukhu, who is also the sitting Congress MLA from Nadaun, said that it was the failure of the state government to initiate dialogue with the opposition which led to the sordid incident.

Addressing the mediapersons here today, Sukhu urged the Vidhan Sabha Speaker to safeguard the sanctity of the legislative Assembly and said that one-way action against Congress MLAs and ignoring the acts of Deputy Speaker and BJP ministers involved in scuffle with Congress legislators was not right.

The Leader of Opposition has the right to be informed if the Governor's address was to be cut short. The Congress was staging its protest in a democratic way, he said. He said the Congress wanted to raise the issues of inflation, corruption during Covid-19 which led to former BJP chief Rajeev Bindal's resignation, back door entry in recruitment and farmers' agitation.

The issue of lack of resources was deliberately upon at length where a Congress MLA tried to seek prominence in the party by saying that he would contribute a big amount. A senior leader and former Cabi-

While no resolution was adopted on how to fund the party-supported candidates in the MC polls, it remains to be seen how the party would manage its poll expenditure with each leader being reluctant to spend.

The party has appointed conveners for the four MCs of Solan, Mandi, Palampur and Dharamsala. These conveners would be responsible for disbursing tickets as well as ensuring the victory of the candidates.

With party's voter share declining from about 40 per cent to about 27 per cent in the recent panchayat and civic body polls, the members also sought the accountability of those at the helm.

GDP turns positive

Economy out of recession, but yet to firm up

In recent months, New Delhi did not lose any opportunity to talk up the economy. Led by PM Modi himself, almost the entire Cabinet has assiduously taken to addressing webinars on a daily basis, highlighting the economic opportunities that are opening up. The GDP growth in the third quarter (October-December) of 2020-21 not only saw India climb out of a recession, but also put it on a par with select countries like China and Vietnam that recorded positive growth. This growth of 0.4 per cent provides a scaffolding of realism to the Centre's cheery assessments by substantiating its claim of prioritising infrastructure expansion — real gross fixed capital formation (GFCF) bucked by over 100 per cent in October and November.

But the margin of 0.4 per cent is too close for comfort. The National Statistical Office's second revised estimates revealed that GDP will decline by 8 per cent in 2020-21; revising its first ballpark figure by 0.3 per cent. The agrarian unrest has become too noticeable to be fobbed off with schemes especially after PM-KISAN was found misdirected. The engine of the economy — consumer spending — fell in Q3 that had coincided with the festive season. And, the simmering social disquiet the country is witnessing rarely has a positive correlation with economic growth, as former PM Manmohan Singh has repeatedly stated. Covid-19 has reappeared in several states and the election season in another five will require the undiluted attention of corona warriors.

None of these amber lights along India's economic highway account for the Modi government's announcement about the biggest-ever revamp of the economy. The scale and the sweep — from banks to MSP — overshadow the 1991 efforts by a mile. The revenues from the large-scale sale of PSUs and land will fuel the government's expenditure on welfare and infrastructure modernisation. These ambitions have a long gestation period, while it is near and the immediate that seek equal attention. Foreign Minister S Jaishankar pointed out at the Asia Economic Dialogue last week that India can no longer afford jobless growth. The government also needs to address the societal disquiet for the V-shaped recovery to be equitable.

Poll bugle sounded

High stakes for parties in four states, one UT

WITH the poll bugle sounded for the Assembly elections in four states and a union territory, 824 seats are up for grabs, making this the most important electoral battle since the General Election of 2019. Continuing with last year's Bihar poll template that factored in pandemic-appropriate precautions, the ECI has spread the elections over a month. Recent developments in the poll-bound states point to the general direction in which the wind is blowing.

Buoyed by its emergence as a close second to the Trinamool Congress (TMC) in the Lok Sabha poll of 2019 in West Bengal, the BJP has upped the ante to wrest power from the TMC. The saffron party got a boost in the state recently when seven Trinamool MLAs jumped ship to join it. However, CM Mamata Banerjee is valiantly fending off anti-incumbency in a bid to win a third term by wooing voters with various schemes, including providing coronavirus vaccine free of cost. In neighbouring Assam, the shadow of the violent anti-CAA protests looms large. The ruling BJP-led coalition has to contend with the 'grand alliance' forged by the Congress and other parties.

A keen contest is expected in Puducherry, which was placed under President's rule last week after the Congress-led government was toppled amid allegations of poaching of its MLAs. Even as the traditional rivals in Tamil Nadu, the DMK and the AIADMK, are again pitted against each other, the latter faces a churning with its former general secretary Sasikala, released from prison in January, also in the fray. In Kerala, the Congress-led UDF, which won 19 out of 20 LS seats in 2019, is a strong challenger to the ruling CPI(M)-led LDF. Overall, while the BJP is keen to expand its footprint, the other parties are desperately trying to hold their ground. The May 2 verdict will be crucial to the fortunes of various stakeholders.

LAHORE, TUESDAY, MARCH 1, 1921

THE BEHAR GOVERNMENT AND NON-CO-OPERATION. In a recent issue, we published the text of a circular which has been issued by the Government of Behar and Orissa to all district officers in the province on the subject of non-co-operation. We do not know if similar circulars have been issued in other Provinces. If they have not been, the question which the public is entitled to ask is, why should it have been issued in this one case? Do the people of Behar and Orissa owe the singular treatment to the official belief that non-co-operation is a greater source of danger or embarrassment in Behar than in any other Province? There is one single statement in the circular which partially, though by no means adequately, supports this hypothesis. 'It has been reported to the Government,' says the circular, 'that at least in one district Government officers have attended meetings held in support of non-co-operation or have otherwise acted in a way which could be interpreted as showing some sympathy with the movement.' Assuming that the report that has reached the Behar Government is well founded, one still fails to see why that the Government should consider the situation in Behar more dangerous in an official sense than it is in other Provinces. Government officers, after all, are a part of the general community, and when there is a wave of unrest or of enthusiasm passing over the country, it is not possible that they will remain unaffected by it. In the present case, as in Behar so in other parts of the country a certain number of Government servants have, we believe, attended non-co-operation meetings not only for the reason just stated, but also because of the personality and character of the great leader of the movement. The Government cannot be unaware that thousands have attended Gandhi's meetings in all parts of the country who are not non-co-operators but who have been drawn to the meetings because of their veneration for him.

Peddling conspiracy theory

Wrong to brush off criticism as an attempt to put down India

STRATEGIC ANALYST

CANDID: Those who share goodwill for India also publicly express what they see as some things going wrong in the country. REUTERS

A BELIEF that there is an international conspiracy to defame India is gaining ground domestically, mostly among poorly informed, but highly vocal, sections of the population. They can hardly be faulted. When television anchors, especially the younger, inexperienced ones, sit in their studios and blithely tout such a conspiracy without offering a shred of evidence, many of their viewers who know little about global affairs are more than willing to suspend their disbelief, if they had any, in such conspiracy theories.

The good 'India story,' which steadily gained traction worldwide from the year 2000 with the visit of Bill Clinton, one of the most charismatic US Presidents, was not built overnight. It was the result of many years of hard work, imaginative campaigns invoking soft power and the promise of a new horizon, especially for those from South East Asia to South America, who had grown tired of the hackneyed theme of the rise of China.

It was a massive effort, in which every Indian who had something to contribute to that effort chipped in. India's private sector conglomerates set up India Chairs at prestigious universities and think tanks in many countries. Influential People of Indian Origin abroad used their influence with their elected representatives to paint India in its best colours. The foreign media was assiduously wooed.

After several years of such coordinated work, the results were there for all to see. The most illustrative story which I have heard about the change in perception of India overseas is from Kiran Pasricha, who was tasked in 1995 to set up the North American office of the Confederation of Indian Industry (CII).

in Washington. Once she arrived in the US, Pasricha began calling up people to brief them about corporate India's American outreach through its representative organisation. Not one American worth anything returned her calls. Americans had written off India as a lost cause. One day her call was returned by a senior officer of the US State Department. She began telling this official about her organisation and that she hoped to liaise with US diplomats at senior levels. The man at the other end suddenly lost interest. 'I am sorry. My secretary told me you are Karen from the CIA. That is why I called back.' The caller disconnected.

When Pasricha was leaving Washington in 2011, to head the Ananta Centre, one of the farewells for her was in a US Senate Office building on Capitol Hill. By then, India was the flavour in Washington and there were few Congressmen who were not familiar with the work of the CII. Senators and Congressmen walked in and out of that reception, going to their respective chambers to cast their votes, then returning.

The big coup of this period was when Thomas L Friedman, celebrated columnist of The New York Times, was persuaded to devote a sizeable portion of his best-selling book, The World is Flat: A Brief History of the 21st Century, to India. His accounts of the convergence of technology and growth in India, the rise of its affluent middle class and a liberalised India's integration into a globalised market, especially of its supply chains and services, created such awareness of a new India that its impact knew no boundaries.

Around the same time, it became an annual practice for the then PM Manmohan Singh to have a private lunch at the New York Stock Exchange with about 15 chairmen or CEOs of the richest and most dynamic US multinationals during Singh's visits for the UN General Assembly. Ronen Sen, the then Ambassador to the US, had raised the flavour in Washington and there were few Congressmen who were not familiar with the work of the CII. Senators and Congressmen walked in and out of that reception, going to their respective chambers to cast their votes, then returning.

Amid the virus, another shot at love

RS DALAL

THE curtains were coming down on the pandemic-hit 2020. It was the last week of December. My wife and I were in a celebratory mood, having warded off the deadly Covid virus for 10 long months — the eerie silence of the initial months of the lockdown, the panic reaction of our neighbourhood on the detection of an odd Covid case in one of its lanes, the instant cordoning off with barricades and the police presence, the instant arrival of vans for fumigation, and the ever trickling gloomy news of patients gasping on oxygen masks and ventilators — we had seen all that and braved it.

And just as we were toying with the idea of organising a small get-together to share our sense of achievement, the virus struck. My wife complained of a scratchy throat and a runny nose as she got up in the morning. You must have caught a chill. You kept the rear door of the bedroom open till quite late in the evening,' I said in a denial mode, repressing my fears. 'Take an anti-allergy tablet and you should be fine,' I added reassuringly. But by evening she was running high fever. Our tensions were rising by now. Next day, we nervously arranged to take the RT-PCR test and anxiously waited for the report — a long and uneasy suspense of 24 hours.

Our worst fear was confirmed when she tested positive. We were stunned for a while. Immediately, the masks were on and she moved to the bedroom to isolate herself. 'You move upstairs; at least you shouldn't get it since you've escaped it till now. I'll try and manage by myself,' she said, seriously concerned. 'How can I do that? That'll be cowardly. I must look after you, come what may!' I insisted chivalrously.

All of a sudden, the poignant scenes from a Hindi movie of yore, Phool aur Paathar, flashed across my mind, wherein an ailing Meena Kumari is left alone in the house as the plague strikes her village and the family and the inhabitants desert it in panic. I was deeply affected by those scenes as a teenager. I remember everyone in the cinema hall sitting stunned in their seats till Dharmendra appears and nurses her back to health — in the process falling in love with her. 'Wow!

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Image at stake

Apropos of 'Clamping down on Disha Ravis' (Nous Indica), the Union government has shown indiscretion in arresting Disha Ravi under a colonial-era sedition law. Curbs on freedom of speech and expression of citizens are eroding the credibility of India's democracy. Hats off to the judge who delivered justice by proving that the judiciary is not only the custodian of the law, but also the protector of human rights against the repressive steps of the police and the government. The government must refrain from lowering the country's image as the world is pointedly admonishing India for acts of intolerance and communal disharmony.

GURMIT SINGH SAINI, MOHALI

Be proud of Disha Ravis

When most of our young people are making a beeline for foreign shores in quest of greener pastures, or are busy on social media or are into vices like drugs and crime, the nation should be proud of the likes of environment activist Disha Ravi. The toolkit that our politicians use to win elections has many divisive and distracting instruments that cause dangerous fissures in society and make the gullible voter elect wrong representatives. Is that not seditious or anti-national?

HL SHARMA, AMRITSAR

Tread with caution

Apropos of 'Clamping down on Disha Ravis' (Nous Indica), suppressing the voices of dissent can be dangerously counterproductive, for 'Stone walls do not a prison make, /Nor iron bars a cage:/ Minds innocent and quiet take/ That for an hermitage.' Anyone who doesn't toe the government line should not be arrested and the offence of sedition should not be invoked every time. The real test of a free society is the tolerance of what is despised by the majority of its members. Freedom of expression is guaranteed under Article 19(1), but it should not be mistaken as a licence to say or do anything that goes adversely against the sensibilities of others. AG Gardiner rightly said, 'Liberty is not a personal affair but a social contract; it is an accommodation of interests.' While expressing oneself one must be sensitive to the social psyche and perspective of the country. Similarly, the State agencies should not rush in to slap cases of sedition against dissenters on frivolous grounds.

TARSEEM S BUMRAH, BATALA

Nirav Modi's extradition

Refer to 'Bringing back Nirav Modi'; Nirav Modi defrauded the PNB to the tune of Rs 14,000 crore, which is nearly the equivalent of what thieves took from the 1983 train robbery in the UK. The Indian people, whose money it is that was swindled in connivance with bank officials, are hoping that the justice system here would ultimately hand down an apt sentence commensurate with the crime. It is up to India to use its heft in pursuing the matter to a conclusion by convincing the UK Home Secretary to sign off on the court ruling and allow the repatriation of the fraudster.

SS PAUL, NADIA

Hurried pace of life

Reference to 'Ruminating on life in the fast lane'; the middle is an apt analysis of the present-day fast moving life that most of us are leading today. It is ironical that though our standard of living has improved, most of us seem to be ill at ease with life. A strange agitation and anxiety disturbs our peace of mind and makes us snap. We need to slow down and try to focus on enjoying the blessings of life before it gets too late for us to understand that past despair and future hopes are often elusive. We need to live in the present and appreciate the bounties of life calmly and with perseverance.

SUMIT KANWAR, YAMUNANAGAR

In a hurry

'Ruminating on life in the fast lane' reminded me of what Lewis Carroll wrote — 'The hurrier I go, the behind I get'. For instance, in order to get ahead of others, we create panic that results in accidents. Patience is a virtue fast dwindling, and it is affecting our lives adversely. Haste often makes waste. Patience is a must in every field to coexist amicably.

ASWANT KAUR, TARN TARAN

Regulating social media

Reference to 'Tough norms for social media, OTT platforms'; the government has done well to regulate social media. Some sites have vulgar content. Smartphones for online learning can be misused by youngsters. Unfortunately, TV channels, too, sometimes air objectionable content, unsuitable for young minds. Any talk of a dress code for women is resented. What all can the government control? Self-regulation is the key that seems to be missing.

LoC truce should help open more doors

AS DULAT
FORMER R&AW CHIEF

HERE are no permanent friends or enemies in international relations. Former Prime Minister Atal Bihari Vajpayee once reminded us that we may choose our friends, but not neighbours. Or, as former US diplomat George Kennan, most renowned for his policy of containment of the Soviet Union acknowledged, "The whole tendency to see themselves as the centre of political enlightenment was flawed, vainglorious, and undesirable."

Pakistan need no longer worry about the so-called Doval doctrine. Emotional manipulation is the new political currency worldwide.

At long last, there seems to be light at the end of a dark tunnel in Indo-Pakistan relations. Not since Prime Minister Modi's out-of-the-blue visit to Rawalpindi (Lahore) on Christmas day in 2015, spoiled by the attack on the Pathankot air force base a week later, has there been any sign of forward movement between the two countries.

We cannot afford a two-front hostility, leave alone war. And Pakistan, with problems bigger than ours, is the easier of the two major neighbours to befriend. As Dr Farooq Abdullah said when China was needing us in Ladakh, "Why don't we talk to Pakistan when we are talking to China?" Hence, the news of a ceasefire on the LoC beginning from midnight of February 24-25, agreed to after cordial discussions between the DGMOS, is a positive development which should lead to the opening of more doors.

The first sign of thaw came from the Pakistan Chief of Army Staff, General Qamar Bajwa, when he said on February 2 that it was time to extend hand of peace in all directions. This was followed on February 11 by Pakistan Prime Minister's Security Adviser Moeed Yusuf saying, "If we want to have peace, we have to move forward. If we want to move forward, everybody has to be rational, not ideological."

Talking never stops, even if it is generally not in the public domain. Every big step forward requires not only imagination but also hard homework. Prime Minister Vajpayee's bus ride to Lahore in February 1999 was preceded by a lunch meeting between Vajpayee and Nawaz Sharif on the sidelines of the UNGA in September 1998. The 2003 ceasefire was the result of backchannel efforts of the intelligence chiefs, CD Sahay, and Ehsan ul Haq. The then Deputy Prime Minister LK Advani was the architect of the Agra Summit in 2001 which required a lot of doing but unfortunately flopped.

Ajit Doval, the National Security Adviser, doesn't accept failure and is the ideal person to take the process forward. It is well known that Doval had a good rapport with the former Pakistani National Security Adviser, Lt Gen Nasser Janjua. There is no reason why he should not have an equally good, if not better, relationship with General Bajwa and Moeed Yusuf.

The current Pakistan team of Imran Khan, Bajwa and Moeed is also said to be functioning at its best. Imran has said more than once that if India were willing to take a step forward, Pakistan would be ready for two. Every message from across indicates that Pakistan is ready for peace. More ready than ever before. Whether or not Imran has the brains, as some of his detractors doubt, he certainly has the heart for peace.

If Moeed has been coy about backchannel proceedings, it is understandably due to mutual understanding and management of public opinion. Kashmir, no doubt, will remain the key to resolving outstanding issues.

The news from across again is positive that Pakistan is working on a consensus for a settlement on the Line of Control, to which Manmohan Singh and General Pervez Musharraf had come close. Musharraf had always maintained that whatever was acceptable to Kashmir and Kashmiris would be acceptable to Pakistan. It is not surprising, therefore, that Pakistan, which was undoubtedly shocked by the abrogation of Article 370, may now be reconciled to Articles 370 and 35A being internal matters of India.

Kashmir craves peace more than anything else. Top Kashmiri leaders Farooq Abdullah, Mehbooba Mufti and Mirwaiz Umar Farooq, who have long been pleading for an Indo-Pakistani engagement, welcomed the ceasefire. Mehbooba said a few days ago that peace could not come from the barrel of a gun. Only talks could resolve Kashmir. Mirwaiz described the ceasefire as a step in the right direction for sustainable peace in the region.

The year 2021 is crucial for Pakistan. The Prime Minister's position may be further strengthened if he obtains a majority in the senate this week. Next year, both Imran and Bajwa will have just a year left. Time, as it is said, is a great healer, but it can also lead to complications. It is best that whatever is possible is done now while the going is good. Next year, positions may only harden. What we need is a practical solution, not necessarily, the perfect one.

Do I not destroy my enemies when I make them my friends, asked Lincoln. One sometimes feels a guest of one's time and not a member of its household. Maybe, as Ghalib desperately in search of a progeny, said, "Ek Brahmane kaha hai, ye saal achha hogा." Shakespeare tells us, "There's a tide... which when taken at the flood, leads on to fortune. On such a sea are we now afloat, and must take the tide as it serves us."

In any event, this door must always be kept revolving and never shut.

The news from across the border is that Pakistan is working on a consensus for a settlement on the Line of Control, to which Manmohan Singh and General Pervez Musharraf had come close. Musharraf had maintained that whatever was acceptable to Kashmir and Kashmiris would be acceptable to Pakistan. It is not surprising, therefore, that Pakistan, which was undoubtedly shocked by the abrogation of Article 370, may now be reconciled to Articles 370 and 35A being internal matters of India.

Need to focus on holistic learning for prisoners

UPNEET LALLI

PENAL REFORMS EXPERT

Merely locking up offenders to punish them is a futile exercise. Prisons can be criminogenic. The failure to educate prisoners comes with economic and social costs. Engaging the youth is important for crime prevention and promotion of the rule of law. Educational interventions inside prisons equip the inmates for leading a crime-free life after incarceration.

The responsibility of reintegration of prisoners into society lies on both sides of the prison walls. The responsibility of reintegration of prisoners into society lies on both sides of the prison walls.

EDUCATION has been recognised as a human right that should be available to everyone. It is also one of the underpinning principles of the Education 2030 Agenda and Sustainable Development Goal 4 (SDG 4). Do prisoners have the right to education and learning opportunities behind the bars? While courts in India have held that the right to life also includes the right to facilities for reading, writing and expressing oneself, the fact remains that security concerns predominate while designing and managing prisons.

The right of prisoners to education is often overlooked or disregarded. Prisoners are also rarely a part of the educational discourse. There is now a convergence about the objectives of rehabilitation and reintegration of prisoners.

The Mandela Rules (2015), which are the minimum standards for those imprisoned, specify that the purposes of a sentence of imprisonment are primarily to protect society against crime and reduce recidivism. Those purposes can be achieved only if the period of imprisonment is used to ensure the reintegration of such persons into society upon release so that they can lead a law-abiding and self-supporting life. The rules also state that education, vocational training and work should be available to prisoners.

Prisons around the world have a disproportionate number of persons from poor and marginalised sections of society. In the prisons of the UK and Northern Ireland, 54 per cent of the people entering the prison have literacy skills equal to those of an 11-year-old child.

CONSTRUCTIVE APPROACH: The Mandela Rules state that education, vocational training and work should be available to prisoners. PTI

India's prison statistics of 2019 on education of inmates reveal that 41.5 per cent (1,98,872) prisoners were educated below the Class-10 level. As many as 1,32,729 (27 per cent) of the 4,78,600 inmates in the country were 'illiterate'. Around 43 per cent of the prison population is in the age group of 18-30 years.

The implication of providing them with education and training opportunities is huge and challenging. Eventually, prisoners get released and return to society. How they pass their time inside the prison becomes important. Do they acquire any positive new skills or identity?

Merely locking up offenders to punish them is a futile exercise. Prisons can be criminogenic. The continued failure to educate prisoners comes with tremendous economic and social costs. Engaging the youth is important for crime prevention and promotion of the rule of law.

Educational correctional interventions inside prisons equip the inmates for leading a crime-free life after incarceration. Knowledge is power, but does the system want to empower prisoners? Captive knowledge and imagination let free can be challenging.

Educational programmes are being conducted in prisons in the country to transform illiterates into literates. It is heartening to see them learn to sign their names, read newspapers and even do creative writing. Secondary education is being imparted to them by the National Institute of Open Schooling (NIOS) and graduation and post-graduation courses are being provided by the open universities.

Many of the incarcerated young offenders end up with a disruption to their studies. I recall meeting two bright students of a reputed law university in a prison. They were unable to get even their graduate degree of three years' study and felt their life was purposeless.

Isolation, uncertainty and lack of positive engagement are detrimental to mental health. The prisoners are prone to joining gangs or turning to addiction. Education and skill training help them chart new life courses. Some prisoners face problems in taking exams and end up losing their key education years. Providing them with a chance to continue with education is critical if society wants positive change.

While prisons lack financial resources, the existing human resources need to be tapped. Educated prisoners are a useful resource in prisons. Only six per cent of the prison inmates were found to be graduates. Around 8,000 prisoners had a post-graduate degree.

The 'Padho aur Padhao' (Learn and Teach) scheme being run for illiterate inmates in collaboration with the Ministry of Education was started in some Delhi prisons. Permanent study centres in prisons across India for the benefit of around 25,000 prisoners have been opened in various prisons.

Around 47,860 inmates benefited from the elementary education programmes. Indira Gandhi National Open University has initiated a programme for setting up 94 special study centres in prisons across India for the benefit of around 25,000 prisoners.

I was most happy to see a life convict earning his doctorate while in prison. He proudly shared his thesis and after his release, started teaching in a college. Giving a second chance to the released prisoners is important for crime prevention.

There are various barriers to learning behind bars. No teachers, poor motivation or inadequate basic facilities like books, papers, pens and of course space. Some of the prison libraries in India serve as study centres to facilitate the distance learning of prisoners who are enrolled in different courses. Availability of textbooks and reference books is important, and access can be partnership-based.

It is dismaying that prison manuals are scarce in prison libraries. Having legally informed prisoners may also be construed as challenging. Many of the prison reform judgments have originated from the writings of prisoners like Sunil Batra, Prem Shankar Shukla and Rama Murthy.

There is tremendous joy in having access to reading material not only for education, but also for self-reflection or simply recreation. Autobiographies are popular among prisoners. Mahatma Gandhi's The Story of My Experiments with Truth has changed many lives. While conducting a training programme for prison staff on the reintegration of prisoners, I had invited an ex-prisoner, Laxman Gole, who was previously a gang member but is now a great motivational speaker. He shared how his life changed after reading Gandhi's works.

Technology is also changing the dynamics of learning behind bars. The Prison Cloud project in Belgium provides limited Internet access to inmates. Learning opportunities in prison need to be framed with a holistic approach. The responsibility of reintegration of prisoners into society lies on both sides of the prison walls.

IPDR analysis of Parra's phones underway

SRINAGAR/NEW DELHI, FEB 28

The J&K Police is carrying out an Internet Protocol Detail Records (IPDR) analysis of arrested PDP youth president Waheed-ur-Rehman Parra, officials said, amid allegations that he was in touch with secessionists and terrorists across the border.

The IPDR helps track

Waheed Parra has been accused of aiding terrorists

details of a call or message generated by a phone device and includes details like the number from which the call was made, destination port, start and end date and time. This technology works with closer proximity in 2G environment. Senior police officials said the IPDR and call data records of Parra, who was arrested by Criminal Investigation (Kashmir), a subsidiary of CID of J&K Police, are being scrutinised. During the hearing of Parra's bail plea on Monday, the police had informed the special NIA court in Srinagar that cell phones and other gadgets seized from his residence had been sent to forensic experts. "CDR/IPDR in respect of some phones of the accused has been obtained and are being analysed," the court was informed. — PTI

A distinguished engineer and chief technology officer, IBM South Asia, Dasgupta, the first woman to head IBM Research India spoke on "Future of jobs and urgency of science" today and said five skill sets would be needed for people to land future jobs.

These skill sets are — business (how to start a new enterprise and budget it), industry skills (sales, radiation oncology, care economy skills), general and soft skills, tech baseline skills (computer technology, working with Microsoft products, social media and telecommunications) and tech disruptive skills (AI, natural language processing, automation, robotics and cyber security skills).

"Tech baseline skills will be the most widespread. So computer literacy must expand as much as possible. We need to translate all these skills into our education system," she said in the presence of Science and Technology Secretary Ashutosh Sharma and CSIR Director Shekhar Mande.

Spacewalking astronauts prep station for new solar wings

CAPE CANAVERAL (US): Spacewalking astronauts ventured out on Sunday to install support frames for new, high-efficiency solar panels arriving at the International Space Station later this year. NASA's Kate Rubins and Victor Glover emerged from the orbiting lab lugging 8-foot (2.5-m) duffle-style bags stuffed with hundreds of pounds of mounting brackets and struts. The astronauts headed with their unusually large load to the far port side of the station, careful not to bump into anything. That's where the station's oldest and most degraded solar wings are located. AP

Sri Lanka 'Priority One' partner in defence: New Delhi
COLOMBO, FEBRUARY 28

India on Sunday described Sri Lanka as "Priority One" partner in the defence sphere, saying the participation of its military aircraft in the 70th anniversary celebration of the Sri Lanka Air Force (SLAF) is indicative of the growing cooperation, camaraderie and friendship between the two militaries.

The SLAF is celebrating its 70th Anniversary on March 2 and to commemorate the historical event, a Fly Past and an Aerobatic Display is being organised for the first time in the country at a grand scale. A total of 23 aircraft of the Indian Air Force (IAF) and Indian Navy will participate in the grand event.

Sri Lanka is "Priority One" partner for India in the defence sphere, the Indian High Commission in Colombo said in a statement on Sunday. It said the assurance of India's fullest cooperation in the field of defence and security was recently reiterated to Sri Lanka's leadership by National Security Adviser Ajit Doval during his visit to Colombo for a trilateral Maritime Security Cooperation talks.

Israel, Palestine must avoid actions that can prejudice issues: India

UNITED NATIONS, FEBRUARY 28

Reiterating that only a two-state solution will deliver enduring peace that the people of Israel and Palestine deserve, India has said this should be achieved through direct negotiations between both sides on final status issues and any unilateral action which could prejudice these issues must be avoided.

India's Deputy Permanent Representative to the UN Ambassador K Nagaraj Naidu at the UN Security Council meeting on 'The situation in the Middle East, including the Palestinian question' said New Delhi reaffirms its support to the Palestinian cause and the establishment of a sovereign, viable and independent State of Palestine living side by side in peace and security with Israel.

INFOCUS AGRICULTURE

FARM POLICIES

Link farming with employment to stem the rot

SUKHPAL SINGH

In an agrarian economy, it is important to keep people engaged in agriculture. The emphasis should be on the promotion of cooperative/state farming. Micro and macro-level planning of crop production and consumption requirements should be prepared. The backward linkages (farm inputs) and forward linkages (processing and value addition) of agriculture should be set up in the public domain.

Of the 10 lakh farming families in 1991, about 5 lakh were small ones in Punjab. In just a decade, the number of these small farming families came down to 3 lakh. Under the capital-intensive system of farming, 2 lakh families had to give up farming in the state. In contrast, the number of small farmers in India increased from about 11 crore to 12 crore during the same period.

AGRICULTURAL WORKERS IN INDIA (CULTIVATORS AND AGRI LABOURERS)

SOURCES: AGRICULTURAL STATISTICS AT A GLANCE 2017, MINISTRY OF AGRICULTURE AND FARMERS' WELFARE; PRS

The GR model pushed many farmers out of agriculture. But it is believed that the new farm laws would push even greater number of farmers out of agriculture. What would these farmers do? It is expected that the farming population is likely to move in the same direction as during the GR period. Studies found that small farmers in Punjab were pushed out of agriculture due to crisis-induced factors such as low crop productivity, crop failure and high living costs. In contrast, some large farmers left agriculture due to growth-oriented factors and joined remunerative occupations. About 40 per cent of the marginal farmers (owning up to 2.5 acres), after leaving farming, joined the labour market. A small portion of them became farm labourers, while a large chunk commute to nearby cities for work. Similarly, 23 per cent of the small farmers (owning 2.5-5 acres) became labourers after quitting farming. The transformation of farmers into labourers is considered to be a misfortune in the socio-economic and cultural milieu of Punjab. About one-fifth of the small farmers who quit farming started their own petty occupations. About 3 per cent of the farmers started selling their vegetables or opened shops in the village. Some started earning a livelihood as mechanics or skilled workers. Around 7 per cent of the farmers started dairy or animal trading after quitting farming. None of the small farmers entered the dealer or arthiya (commission agent) business, while some large and medium farmers went that way. Small farmers also quit farming because they got employment in the government or the private sector. Some middle and large farmers settled abroad. After leaving farming, some people sold a part or all of their land and many began to make a living by selling their land or by renting it out. Many people took up an activity after quitting farming, but failed at it and then started another activity. Even now, many people are dissatisfied with the new post-farming occupations. In such a situation, it is imperative to keep people engaged in farming.

Contract farming

In the new farm policy paradigm, contract farming under the aegis of corporate farming will be enabled with artificial intelligence, which would further reduce the demand for human resources. The condition of small-scale industries in the country and the state is deplorable. In Punjab, about 18,700 industrial units were shut down between 2007 and 2015. This phenomenon has led to an increase in unemployment as these units were mainly labour-intensive. It is believed that the new farm laws may land the peasants and other people in deep trouble and make them unemployed. In this situation, even the large farmers may be devastated by ownership farming. The market-oriented model propagates that growth can only be achieved by getting people out of farming. The National Skill Development Council suggested in 2015 that the overall development of the country could be achieved by reducing the farming population from the current 57 per cent to 38 per cent. It is being presumed that the productivity of the labour force in the agricultural sector is much lower than that of other sectors. The displaced labour force can be engaged in other areas for generating 'surplus value'.

The question arises: why is the corporate world showing keen interest in Indian agriculture? The huge farm subsidies of the developed countries reduce the costs and prices of some crops. A major scarcity of foodgrains is feared at the global level. Cereal crops are mainly grown in developing countries like India, whereas horticultural crops are predominantly cultivated in developed countries. The World Food Programme received the Nobel Peace Prize in 2020 for distributing food among 10 crore hungry people in 88 countries. This shows that there is a big role of food in the economy. That's why corporates have been trying to gain control over agricultural production and markets.

Under the Essential Commodities (Amendment) Act 2020, the oligopolistic market would be developed in which a few companies may control the food market. The higher prices of these commodities, especially of processed products, may adversely affect consumption by labourers in general and the poor in particular. Four companies — ADM, Bunge, Cargill and Dreyfus — control the bigger part of the world's agribusiness. These companies have plundered the world's farmers and consumers through contract farming and agri-business.

Market control

The new farm policy regime is different from the GR model. While the GR model ensured control only over the farm input market, the new farm laws would allow corporates to establish control over both the farm input market and the farm output market. In the GR era, the small peasantry was eventually pushed away from agriculture. In the process, the small farmers joined as wage labourers, whereas the large ones joined lucrative occupations. But it is likely that the new farm policy would push small as well as large farmers towards wage labour.

In an agrarian economy, it is important to keep people engaged in agriculture. The prospects of gainful employment in most other sectors of the Indian economy are dismal. Therefore, the emphasis should be on the promotion of cooperative/state farming. Micro and macro-level planning of crop production and consumption requirements should be prepared. The backward linkages (farm inputs) and forward linkages (processing and value addition) of agriculture should be set up in the public domain. This would generate ample employment opportunities in the rural areas. So, the need of the hour is to initiate reforms for improving the livelihood of the peasantry.

NEW DELHI, FEBRUARY 28

Playing their first international match in over 12 months, the Indian men's hockey team led by PR Sreejesh put up a scintillating show to outclass hosts Germany 6-1 in the first game of their four-match Europe Tour on Sunday.

India's goalscorers were Nilakanta Sharma (13th minute), Vivek Sagar Prasad (27, 28'), Lalit Kumar Upadhyay (41'), Akashdeep Singh (42') and Harmanpreet Singh (47').

Hungry to perform, the Indians played with an intent to win. They went on an attacking mode right from the start, putting pressure on the German line-up. After creating potential opportunities in the striking circle, India earned a penalty corner in the 13th minute of the first quarter, which saw midfielder Nilakanta Sharma breaking the deadlock for the visitors.

However, in the next minute, German forward Constantin Staib scored to make it 1-1, which was the scoreline at the end of the first quarter.

The second quarter started with the hosts putting pressure on India and earning themselves two back-to-back PCs in the initial minutes. The Indians made brilliant saves and created quick counter-attacks, which led to midfielder Vivek Sagar Prasad scoring two back-to-back goals in the 27th and 28th minutes, taking India's lead to 3-1 at half-time.

6 PCs

In the third quarter, the hosts started off on the front foot again and earned as many as six PCs. However, the Indian defence led by skipper Sreejesh held strong to thwart each of the German attempts.

Soon after a solid display in defence, Indian forwards Lalit Kumar Upadhyay and Akashdeep Singh scored brilliant goals in the 41st and 42nd minutes, respectively, to put the world No. 4 Indians in the driver's seat, leading 5-1 at the end of the third quarter.

Another glorious opportunity came for the Indians in the 47th minute in the form of a PC, which saw a direct flick from Harmanpreet Singh giving India a 6-1 lead.

Playing under pressure, the hosts did try hard to make a comeback, and they even pulled out their goalkeeper to put an extra attacker on the field, but a great overall performance from the Indians ensured them a 6-1 victory.

The teams will next play on Tuesday at 8:30pm IST. — TNS

Women lose again

Dusseldorf: The Indian women's hockey team lost 1-0 to Germany in their second tour game, putting a much-improved show after their 5-0 thrashing in the opening match.

Amelie Wortmann (24th minute) scored the only goal of the game as the Germans held on to their slender advantage to take a 2-0 lead in the four-match series.

The Indian side responded quickly, earning a penalty corner just three minutes after going behind, but were unable to breach the German backline.

Though India failed to get an equaliser, they also kept Germany from increasing their lead, saving two more penalty corners. The teams will play their third match on Tuesday. — TNS

Lahiri, who had an eagle on the 18th on the first day, made an eagle on the second hole on the third day. Another birdie on the fifth hole put him at 3-under as he approached the top-15. But bogeys on the ninth and par-5 18th, where he had an eagle on the first day and a birdie on second, set him back.

Everyone starts crying when it spins: Lyon on Motera pitch

NEW DELHI, FEBRUARY 28

Australia spinner Nathan Lyon said he is baffled by the controversy over the Ahmedabad pitch for the third Test between India and England, saying no one has an issue when teams are bundled out for low scores on seaming tracks. The Motera track received a lot of flak for being spin-friendly, including from former skippers Michael Vaughan, Andrew Strauss and Alastair Cook, after England were bowled out for 112 and 81 during their 10-wicket loss in the Day/Night Test.

However, Lyon gave a thumbs up to the pitch and the curator. "We play on seaming wickets around the world and get bowled out for 47, 60. Nobody ever says a thing (about the pitch). But as soon as it starts spinning, everyone in the world seems to start crying about it," Lyon told an Australian newspaper.

"I don't get it. I'm all for it, it was entertaining."

Lyon said he would like to get the Ahmedabad curator to Sydney Cricket Ground.

"I was up all night watching it. It was absolutely brilliant. I'm thinking about bringing that curator out to the SCG," he said, and added: "The best thing about this Test match that just passed is that England went in with four seamers. That will do me. I don't need to say any more."

India spinner Ravichandran Ashwin had criticised those who questioned the nature of the Ahmedabad pitch by asking — who defines what a good pitch is?

"The bowler wins the game, the batsmen need to bat well to score runs. Who defines what a good surface is? Seam on the first day, then bat well in the next couple of days and spin on the last two days! Come on, who makes these rules?" Ashwin asked. — TNS

England batsmen didn't trust their defence against spin, says Ian Chappell

NEW DELHI: India figured out England's general "ineptitude against spin" during the second Test in Chennai and used it to their advantage in the pink ball game by unleashing a spin-heavy attack on a helpful track, says former Australia captain Ian Chappell. "India's decision to select three spinners for the Test was prompted by England's batting on a tricky Chennai pitch, where their batsmen — Joe Root excepted — displayed a distinct ineptitude against spin," Chappell wrote in a column for ESPNcricinfo. "India correctly calculated that would result in mental scarring and used it to their advantage."

Chappell said it was poor defence which led to England's collapse in the third Test. "When faced with a serious spin challenge, the England batsmen didn't trust their defence, which eventually resulted in panicked attempts to attack the Indian spinners," he wrote. "Their choice to reverse-sweep rather than to leave their crease to change the bowler's length is a classic example. How can a risky pre-meditated shot be less dangerous than what was previously a trusted technique to unsettle good spinners?" he added.

"Shrewd use of footwork not only helps negate the spin but also puts a batsman in a position to direct the ball where he wants. To be fair, this is a skill to be learned at a young age. Which prompts the question: why is it not widely taught in England, where sweeping is misguidedly touted as the secret to playing spin bowling successfully?" PTI

Barca keep title chase alive

SEVILLE, FEBRUARY 28

Barcelona forwards Ousmane Dembele and Lionel Messi fired the Catalans to a confidence-boosting 2-0 win at in-form Sevilla on Saturday to keep the pressure on La Liga leaders Atletico Madrid.

Dembélé latched on to a through ball from Messi and knocked it through the legs of Sevilla keeper Bono to give Barca a deserved lead in the 29th minute after dominating the first half and barely giving their hosts a hint of a chance.

Sevilla improved after the break but Barca continued to have the edge and found a second goal five minutes from time when Messi played a one-two with teenage midfielder Ilaix Moriba and netted with a scrappy finish after his first effort was saved.

The result ended a six-game winning streak in the league for Sevilla, who remained fourth in the standings on 48 points, while Barca climbed above Real Madrid into second place with 53 points, two behind Atletico but having played two more games.

Barca defender Gerard Pique praised his side for putting their 4-1 Champions League drubbing by Paris St Germain and a shock 1-1 draw with Cadiz behind them. "I'm so proud of the team, we have had some big setbacks recently but we have bounced back," he said. — Reuters
