Apex court: Pupils must take final-year exam for promotion

TRIBUNE NEWS SERVICE

NEW DELHI, AUGUST 28
Students can't be promoted without holding final-year examinations by September 30, as fixed by the University Grants Commission (UGC), the Supreme Court ruled today.

"The state and university cannot promote the students in the final year/terminal semester without holding final-year/terminal examination," a three-judge Bench led by Justice Ashok Bhushan said, refusing to quash the UGC's July 6 revised guidelines.

The top court made it clear that the UGC's July 6 guidelines cannot be ignored as just being an advisory.

However, it ruled that a state disaster management authority can postpone final-year examinations under the National Disaster Management Act. But in such a situation, fresh dates would have to be worked out in consultation with the UGC, it added.

For any exemption from the UGC guidelines, states would have to seek permission from the commission, said the Bench, which had earlier refused to stay the UGC's July 6 circular on the issue.

'WEIGHING OPTIONS'

I have told our Education Minister to look into the possibility of holding final-year exams before Durga Puja... We are just saying the pandemic can put lives of students at risk.
Mamata Banerjee, WEST BENGAL CM

Apart from some students, Yuva Sena, the youth wing of the Shiv Sena, and governments of Maharashtra, West Bengal, Odisha and Delhi had questioned the UGC's July 6 circular asking universities to conduct final-year examinations by September 30.

These states maintained that students could be promoted without examination in view of the extraordinary situation due to the Covid-19 pandemic. On behalf of the UGC, Solicitor General Tushar Mehta had argued that universities can seek extension of the deadline but they can't take a decision to confer degrees without holding examinations.

Politics over exams amid Covid, order challenged | Plea says students' 'right to life' not safeguarded

TRIBUNE NEWS SERVICE

NEW DELHI, AUGUST 28

WILL CAUSE 'GRAVE HARM'

Cabinet ministers from six non-BJP ruled states today filed a petition in the Supreme Court seeking a review of its decision giving the go-ahead to holding the JEE and NEET next month. The six ministers from Punjab, Maharashtra, Rajasthan, Chhattisgarh, West Bengal and Jharkhand have sought postponement of the JEE (Main) and NEET-UG scheduled next month. They have filed the petition in individual capacity, their counsel Sunil Fernandes said.

The petitioners are Balbir Singh Sidhu (Punjab), Moloy Ghatak (West Bengal), Dr Rameshwar Oraon (Jharkhand), Dr Raghu Sharma (Rajasthan), Amarjeet Bhagat (Chhattisgarh) and Uday Ravindra Saman (Maharashtra).

They requested the top court to reconsider its August 17 decision on conducting JEE and NEET, highlighting the fact 25 lakh students would cumulatively appear for the two exams at a time when Covid-19 cases had crossed 3.31 million. They said the decision failed to balance the competing but equally important aspects of conducting the exams and safety of students, i.e. their 'right to life' as mandatory safeguards had not been ensured during the tests. The SC had on August 17 rejected a petition seeking to postpone the exams scheduled in September, saying a precious year of students "can't be wasted".

"Life has to go on... Life has to move ahead. A precious year of students cannot be wasted," a three-judge Bench led by Justice Arun Mishra had said, adding students' career "cannot be put under jeopardy for long".

As per the public notices issued by the National Testing Agency (NTA), which conducts the tests, the JEE (Main) April 2020 is scheduled from September 1 to 6, while NEET-UG 2020 is scheduled for September 13.

Will first approach President, PM

The sources said at least nine states were in consensus but some among them felt they should first exhaust the political option of approaching the President and the Prime Minister.

Although Sitharaman had done her sums while announcing that out of the shortfall of Rs 2,35,000 crore, only Rs 97,000 crore was due to the states and the rest was lost due to "hand of God", the sources said some states felt the issue should be best contested in the political domain while the question of borrowing could be explored legally.

TRIBUNE NEWS SERVICE

Srinagar, AUGUST 28

Hours after the bullet-riddled body of Panch Nisar Ahmed Bhat was found buried in an orchard in Shopian's Dangam village, the joint forces shot dead four militants, including Al-Badr 'district commanders' Shakoor Paray and Suhal Bhat, allegedly involved in the kidnapping and killing of the panchayat member.

A former cop, the panch had at least 12 FIRs registered against him. A senior police officer said he went to meet the father of a militant in Shopian on August 19 and did not return home. Two days later, an unverified audio clip on the social media claimed that he had been killed.

Inspector General of Police Vijay Kumar said Shakoor was a former cop, who had decamped in 2017 with four rifles. The Army said: "Four terrorists were eliminated while one terrorist surrendered during the operation. Two AKs and three pistols were seized."

The Health Ministry said active cases were now only 22 per cent of the total, while the recoveries exceeded active cases by over 18 lakh.

Ruckus in Assembly over ₹55-cr scholarship scam

Opposition seeks dismissal of Social Welfare Minister Dharamsot

CHANDIGARH, AUGUST 28

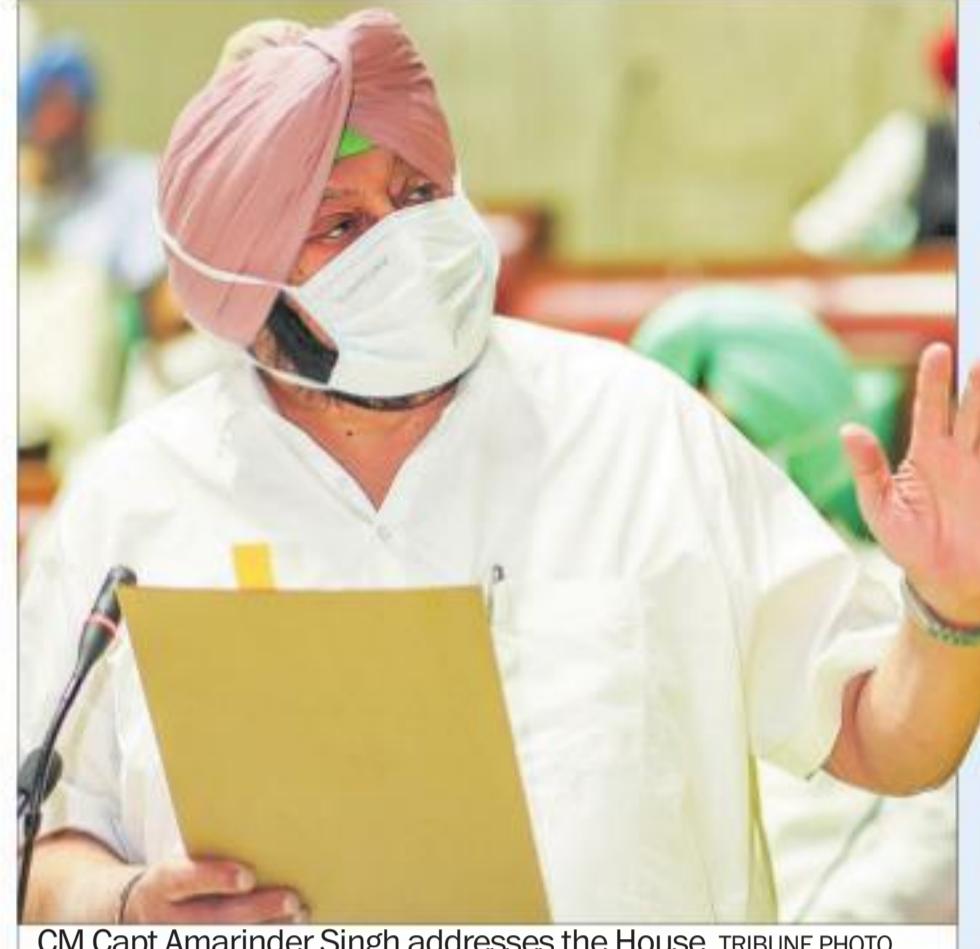

With 55 MLAs in the 117-member House not being allowed to attend the session due to precautionary measures in view of Covid-19, a truncated session of the state Assembly saw ruckus in the House with Aam Aadmi Party (AAP) and Lok Insaaf Party (LIP) MLAs taking on Social Welfare Minister Sadhu Singh Dharamsot for his alleged complicity in protecting those involved in the ₹ 55.71 crore SC post-matric scholarship scam.

In the line of fire from the Opposition benches, the minister did not find any support from the treasury benches. Chief Minister Capt Amarinder Singh was also present in the House as charges flew thick and fast against his minister. The minister's counter verbal attack was, however, lost in the din of slogans raised by AAP MLAs.

Flashing the recently submitted government report on the scam in the disbursal of the scholarship funds, LIP MLA Simarjeet Bains praised the bureaucrat who exposed the minister and his deputy director Parminder Gill as he read out extracts of the report while seeking dismissal of the minister. Staging a dharna in the Well of the House, Bains demanded a CBI probe into the scam involving Central funds. He said if the government did not act, he would move the Punjab and Haryana High Court.

It was pointed out that Deputy Director Parminder Gill, who was suspended in connection with the scam, had been reinstated by the minister.

AAP MLAs Master Baldev Singh and Kultar Singh Sandhu also demanded dismissal of the minister, adding that the "bungling in

2 MLAs test +ve, Capt goes into self-quarantine

CHANDIGARH, AUGUST 28

Chief Minister Capt Amarinder Singh has gone into a seven-day self-quarantine after two of his party MLAs — Kulbir Singh Zira and Nirmal Singh Shutrana — tested positive for Covid-19 today.

Zira was seen in close vicinity of the CM during the Vidhan Sabha session held today. The two MLAs had attended the House proceedings after getting Covid-negative reports. However, later they tested positive.

Shutrana had not interacted much with any other member in the House and had left within 15 minutes of the start of the session. Zira had mingled with a lot of MLAs and even met the Chief Minister. Panic has gripped all 55 MLAs and ministers, besides the staff of Vidhan Sabha.

Health Minister Balbir Singh Sidhu said they were on the job, tracing all those who had interacted with these two MLAs, both inside and outside the House. With these two, the total number of legislators having tested positive has reached 32. — TNS

JALANDHAR, AUGUST 28

After getting two back-to-back contradictory reports regarding his Covid-19 test, Jalandhar Cantonment MLA Pargat Singh today skipped the Vidhan Sabha session despite being in Chandigarh.

The MLA said he took the first test at Civil Hospital, Jalandhar, on August 25 as all MLAs had been asked to take the test ahead of today's Vidhan Sabha session. To his surprise, the report came positive. As soon as he got it, he immediately left for his residence in Chandigarh to isolate himself and keep away from his family and supporters here. —TNS

the FIR, he was arrested by the police on March 9 without the leave of the court or seeking cancellation/modification of the interim bail order. As a result, the petitioner moved the court for legal action against the Station House Officer and the Investigating Officer concerned for wilfully disobeying the interim bail order. Taking note of the conduct of the police officials "to overreach the order/direction of the High Court", the Bench issued notice to the then SHO Raman Kumar and Investigating Officer Gurdev Singh to show cause why contempt proceedings be not initiated against them.

In response to the contempt notice, both the officials tendered unconditional and unqualified apology before undertaking to be careful in future and take corrective steps.

"In the circumstances, taking into account the repentance shown by both the contemporaries, their apology is accepted. The pre-contempt show-cause notice issued to them is dropped," Justice Monga asserted.

Sources said the projects might get delayed as the "Covid-induced fear would stay for at least two years".

HC: FIR delay not vital if rape victim from orthodox family

SAURABH MALIK

CHANDIGARH, AUGUST 28

REQUIRES MORAL COURAGE

“The complainant comes out to be belonging to a poor and orthodox section of society, where a young unmarried girl being subjected to sexual assault by a person is taken as some sort of stigma on the girl and her family. It requires a lot of moral courage to disclose the unfortunate incident and inform the police. Delay in such type of cases is not given much weightage.”

and sexual harassment. Justice Madaan asserted that such pleas were not of much relevance while deciding a petition for grant of pre-arrest bail. Justice Madaan asserted that these grounds might have some merit and significance while determining the guilt of an accused during trial, but not for finding his entitlement for grant of pre-arrest bail.

“It may be observed that the complainant comes out to be belonging to a poor and orthodox section of society, where a young unmarried girl being subjected to sexual assault by a person is taken as some sort of stigma on the girl and her family. It requires a lot of moral courage to disclose the unfortunate incident and inform the police. Delay in such type of cases is not given much weightage,” Justice Madaan asserted.

Referring to the facts of the case in hand, Justice Madaan observed that the allegations against the petitioner of molesting the complainant for a long time before raping her several times were “very grave and serious”. On one occasion, he was accused of getting the acts of forcible sex photographed by his wife. “The gravity and seriousness of allegations of raping a young girl do not warrant grant of concession of pre-arrest bail to the petitioner,” Justice Madaan added, while dismissing the bail plea.

SHIMLA, AUGUST 28

The Industries Department has started preparations for another groundbreaking ceremony with investors in November-December this year; as the entire process of wooing investors as a follow up to the Global Investors Meet had come to a halt following the Covid outbreak.

Prior to the outbreak of coronavirus, the Jai Ram government had planned to hold a second groundbreaking ceremony in June but owing to the pandemic, it had to be put on hold. Now, directions have been issued to establish contact with all the interested entrepreneurs who wish to invest in the state in the desired sectors.

- The Jai Ram Government had planned to hold second groundbreaking ceremony in June but owing to the pandemic the ceremony had to be put on hold.
- Now directions have been issued to establish contact with all the interested entrepreneurs who wish to invest in the state in the desired sectors.
- The first groundbreaking ceremony of 240 projects worth Rs 13,656 crore was held in December.

November 7-8 last year. The first groundbreaking ceremony to turn these proposals into real projects was held here in the state capital on December 27 last year in the presence of Union Home Minister Amit Shah.

The state government had planned to hold a groundbreaking ceremony for projects worth Rs 10,000 in June 2020, mainly from foreign countries. Now efforts are being made to get groundbreaking of these projects. This includes many foreign countries, including the UAE, whose officials had undertaken visits to Himachal to see the sites personally.

Prior to the Covid outbreak, many foreign investors had undertaken spot visits to assess the land suitability for their projects at various locations. As part of the preparations, the state government has established a land bank and identified sites at various locations across the state. Several proposals for projects in the hospitality, industry, power and agro-foods sectors had been received.

As 11 Ambassadors and representatives of 36 countries had participated in the Global Investors Meet, the government is upbeat about roping in big investment. A total of 703 MoUs worth Rs 96,000 crore were signed which is expected to generate employment for 1.96 lakh youth.

The first groundbreaking ceremony of 240 projects worth Rs 13,656 crore was held in December. This included 112 projects worth Rs 3,157 crore in the industry sector and 81 projects worth Rs 3,322 crore in the tourism sector. However, the maximum projects were in the power sector.

I am surprised that why the compounding fee yardstick has been accepted for just one stone crusher owner and not for others," he said.

Ravi Dhiman said that he was not against stone crusher industry as it helps state generate revenue. "However, I am strictly against unscientific mining. The state mining rules do not allow mechanical mining. However, in Jaisinghpur area all stone crusher owners are resorting to mining with JCB machines. Water supply scheme worth Rs 150 crore in my area was getting damaged to illegal mining by stone crusher owners."

The MLA was peeved over the fact that a stone crusher that was sealed by the industries department in the recent past over illegal mining has again been allowed to operate.

Dhiman, when contacted by The Tribune, did not mince words to air his grievance. Dhiman admitted that he had conveyed his displeasure to the Chief Minister, ACS, Industries, and the local authorities regarding illegal mining in the Jaisinghpur area. ## Quota within quota

Supreme Court order raises hope of level playing field

In a welcome ruling, the Supreme Court has emphasised that a one-quota-fits-all approach is not in tune with changing socio-economic realities. The apex court has stated that its 2004 verdict delivered by another five-judge Bench, which held that states do not have the power to sub-classify Scheduled Castes and Scheduled Tribes for the grant of reservation, needs to be revisited by a larger Bench. It was on the basis of the 2004 judgment that the Punjab and Haryana High Court had set aside the Punjab government's move to reserve 50 per cent of the Scheduled Caste vacancies for Balmikis and Mazhabis Sikhs.

The Supreme Court has rightly observed that the benefit of quota is by and large not percolating down to the 'neediest and poorest of the poor'. The constitutional objective of achieving equality through reservation will remain a distant dream as long as there are haves and have-nots within the reserved castes. Allowing states to make sub-classification, provided they do it rationally and reasonably, can help in ensuring equitable distribution of the largesse. The presidential list of SCs and STs is not set in stone. Parliament has the power to include or exclude castes and tribes from this list. Hence, the argument that states giving preference to certain Scheduled Castes would amount to tinkering with the list does not hold water.

A system that offers no opportunity, for instance, to a scavenger's child to move up the social ladder badly needs to be reformed. Article 46 of the Constitution provides that the State shall promote educational and economic interests of the weaker sections and protect them from social injustice. Here, a lot depends on the political will and intentions. The judiciary has a key role to play in curbing overreach by governments which may handpick quota beneficiaries for electoral gains. Earlier this year, the Supreme Court had quashed an order issued in 2000 by the Andhra Pradesh government that provided 100 per cent reservation to ST candidates for the posts of schoolteachers in scheduled areas and left out SCs as well as OBCs. A level playing field can make all the difference.

Final-year exams on course

Ensure safety of examiners, examinees

MOST spheres of life that had come to a halt during the nationwide lockdown have been subsequently unlocked gradually in a bid to bring normal life back on track. In the same spirit of moving on in the evolving situation, the decision to rev up the education sector is prudent as it is geared towards protecting the standard of education as well as the academic and career progression of students. First came the go-ahead to JEE and NEET, the gateways to engineering/medical institutes. Now, putting to rest the confusion on whether the university exams would be held or not, the Supreme Court has upheld the UGC's July 6 direction making the conduct of final-year/terminal semester exams mandatory by September-end. It also rules that the states cannot override the UGC, the apex regulatory body of education. Those contesting the decision need to ponder on the fact that a degree cannot be conferred on a candidate on the basis of internal assessment alone and without having him undergone a test, for it would lack credibility and jeopardise his future prospects.

Given the prevailing pandemic, the states have the leeway to tweak the dates and decide on the mode of the tests: online, offline or a blend of the two modes. In order to safeguard the interests of the students, the states/universities would be advised to get down to the process at once and make up for the lost time. Already, a section of pupils that has not yet taken the exams is at a disadvantageous position vis-à-vis those who have. While nearly 600 of the 800 universities in the country have either completed or are in the process of conducting exams, globally, too, most prestigious institutes, including the MIT, Cambridge and Oxford, have held the exams.

Additionally, the states and universities have the onerous task of ensuring the safety of the examiners and examinees. The exam centres will have to be well equipped with the tools to keep Covid at bay. Any laxity in providing enough masks, sanitisers, gloves or ensuring social distancing as well as safe transport facilities would compromise their health and could prove to be counterproductive.

How They Have Won Their Independence.

In an informing article in the latest issue of the Bombay Chronicle, Mr V.J. Patel, who appears to have made a special study of the subject, tells the story of Egypt's struggle for freedom. Written a few days before the announcement of the agreement between the Milner Mission and the Egyptian Mission, the article may be said to be an accurate anticipation of the coming event. Here is its conclusion:— "What may well prove to be the last chapter in this story is now being written. The Milner Commission returned to England in March having entirely failed to break the circle of silence around them. Arriving in London, they made a direct appeal to Zagloul and his delegation; to Zagloul, whom the British had denied passports as unrepresentatives; to Zagloul, whom they had interned and deported; to Zagloul whom they had refused to see when finally he was permitted to go to Paris! The Zagloul delegation is now negotiating with the Milner Commission. It still insists upon absolute independence for Egypt, but that granted, it is prepared to consider Great Britain control over the Suez Canal and continued quartering in Egypt of British troops." Of the several characteristics of the nationalist movement which Mr Patel describes at length, one is particularly interesting. He writes:—"One characteristic of the Egyptian Nationalist campaign is worth noting: the publicity they secured in Europe, and particularly in America. In America, they were most effectively represented and published an excellently produced White Book containing the documents addressed by the Zagloul delegation to President Wilson and other representatives of the Peace conference, and also the evidence, referred to above, of the harsh British suppression of the uprising. In the Press and in the Congress, the Egyptian Nationalists' cause was given prominent expression."

Sonia's snub while reconstituting the parliamentary party underscores the ineffectiveness of the rebels' enterprise.

His ilk loses the deposit when it contests without a party ticket; has no roots; but commands humungous resources, and a section of the Delhi media eats out of its hands. Interestingly, more column-space and airtime have been devoured by those seeking to correct the Gandhis than the overwhelming majority, which crushed the rebellion.

Now, the rebels would not even acknowledge the defeat because they could not articulate their real cause, which was to dislodge the Gandhis. The crux of their argument in the letter was that the Gandhis 'will always remain an integral part of the collective leadership of the Congress party'. A great concession indeed! In plain-speak, this means that in the scheme of things for the rebels, the Gandhis will no longer be the first among equals but mere members of the crowd at the Congress high table, who could be nudged, pushed and shoved by the wannabes. Well, unless the 23 dissenters do have a trump card hidden from the public glare, this letter would go down in the history of political intrigues as the most pathetic attempt at a putsch by petitioning.

The result of the rebellion is really the reverse of the stated intent. The gang of 23 just proved that it cannot dislodge the Gandhi family or even weaken it. On the contrary, most of the 23 people got exposed for what they are: unelectable interlopers, who cannot mount a challenge to the party hierarchy. There are exceptions in the group like Bhupinder Singh Hooda, who single-handedly turned the tide against the BJP in Haryana in the last Assembly polls. But most others have not even attempted to take on the BJP. Their contention about the drift in the party is an unassailable fact. Neither Sonia nor Rahul has been imaginative in putting up an effective campaign to arrest this drift. But nothing stopped the so-called 'senior leaders' from taking the lead. Just as Ashok Gehlot defeated an attempt to dislodge his government or as Capt Amarinder Singh, Kamal Nath or Bhupesh Baghel succeeded in leading poll campaigns, each one of the disgruntled leaders could have tried a new trick.

The Congress is essentially a party of opportunists, who seek power for its own sake. So, it cannot be any great ideological compulsion that holds the party together. The leaders and their cronies have since 1969 understood that every split has only weakened the rebels and strengthened the Gandhi family. Indira emerged stronger from the several body blows she received in 1977-1980. Rajiv Gandhi was assassinated before he could recover from the VP Singh-led split. Sonia weathered the 1999 split to lead the party to form the government. These lessons have probably prompted the leaders to remain glued to the family for the last 20 years. The latest feeble attempt at rebellion once again proved that no senior leader commands the respect of even a small section of the party to create a split-like situation to enforce his or her agenda and make the Gandhis give in. A rebellion without a leader is only a backbiting club. Sonia Gandhi's snub while reconstituting the parliamentary party on Thursday night underscores the ineffectiveness of the rebels' enterprise.

Now that open dissent has once again proved that there is no alternative to the Gandhi family leadership, the rebels can seek solace in terming themselves reformists. But to ensure they are indeed reformists, they need to do more than merely fund failed ventures for tainted journalists. Even if these leaders had made some meaningful social intervention during these days of Covid misery, they would have acquired the vision to chart a new path and force the Gandhis to emulate them. Politics is a profession with no prescribed work ethic or targets, but with a singular focus on people-connect. If the senior leaders think that some grassroots worker somewhere will create this organic glue and then someone else at the top with a brand recall will give out the grand messaging, they are sadly mistaken. Those who can't pull their own weight are mere passengers, and ticketless travellers, obviously, cannot take over the driver's seat.

Then, the question of the Congress' sleepwalking remains unanswered. Just because a few time-servers could not wake up the Gandhis does not mean that the alarm isn't ringing.

Curious case of catch & dispatch

MAHESH GROVER

ENFORCED togetherness in a lockdown due to the pandemic brought pleasures of reconnecting. But soon, boredom set in, giving way to useful pursuits such as reading, gardening, painting etc, but then, restlessness and irritability set in, and I, donning the mantle of an elder, gave a little 'pep' talk of how it is imperative to have a 'purpose' for a meaningful existence.

I don't know how it impacted my listeners, for I just heard grunts which I deciphered to be a sign of disinterest—a fact fortified by the rapid disappearance of the listeners. The calm that ensued was shattered by a full-throated scream, 'Rat in my room!' The shrillness of the cry enthused scampering of feet to the room of the call.

The object of interest presented itself by scurrying across the floor, and then, cheekily sitting upon its haunches with its nose twitching. Amidst a flurry of confused human activity, the rodent apparently scared out of its wits now, disappeared behind the cupboard, where it hid, undeterred by the banging that followed.

The lady of the house, with hands on her waist, haughtily declared, 'It is either it or me in the house. Catch and dispatch,' were the terse orders. I stood there perplexed, for till now, these words had always been spoken to me in those moments of disagreements over nothing. Treating a pest on the same pedestal as me was unpalatable, to say the least.

I looked around for vocal support but the chips off the old block merely returned the look with a sardonic smile. One of them even said, 'You sermonised about having a purpose. Well, you have one on your hands now!' Familiarity, I think, breeds contempt and excessive familiarity in this forced lockdown surely bred insolence.

I glowered at their disappearing backs, but set about to procure a mousetrap, no easy task in the days of restricted movement. After activating phone lines, a trap was arranged, a delicious snack set up as bait and put at the same spot where the rodent had sat, looking at us tauntingly.

Ears strained to hear the trap clapping shut all through the night, and in the morning, I hastened to check it. Sure enough, beady eyes stared at me timidly, from behind the mesh.

Dealing with the catch was an issue of intense debate. I recounted my days in the village with glee, when drowning rats in the pond was almost a sport. This course was rejected as abhorrent, and it was decided to release it at some distance from the house.

It was thus banished from the precincts, the tranquility of which, his unsolicited presence so precariously threatened. In hind sight, I had every reason to be grateful to the poor creature for getting trapped and stalling my expulsion from the marital trap in which I was so blissfully ensconced, were the lady of the house to carry out her threat.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Economy crucial, too

The weekend lockdown imposed in certain states does not seem to have been thought through. It will dent revenue which is an equally serious matter affecting the economy. It would be much better if the shopkeepers can make arrangements for home deliveries in towns and bulk deliveries to village shops.

The Centre has already issued instructions to 10 states to reduce the fatality rate to 1 per cent, but it has to be cautious about data fudging, in view of inadequate healthcare facilities. In the prevailing environment, the Centre and state governments need to strike a balance between trade and healthcare.

on the charging of interest and transferring the responsibility to the RBI. With Covid norms in place, economic activities should go on without fail.

YASH PAL RALHAN, JALANDHAR

Unsatisfactory solution

Reference to 'Problem with lockdown', shutdown is not a sensible solution, keeping in view the dwindling economy. Difficulties of the sufferers cannot be overlooked in the name of battling against corona. Instead, precautions should be the primary focus. Shutdown is the only measure the government has resorted to, ignoring the outcomes and reasonable steps. Reforming the strategy is vital.

SAMANTHA GARG, BY MAIL

Media trial

The endless speculations and character vilification of Rhea Chakraborty by a large section of the media before she has been pronounced guilty by the court is problematic on various counts. The leaked chats between her and various people being flashed on news channels are a violation of the right to privacy. It is also shameful that the entire episode has been hijacked by politicians in view of the ensuing Bihar elections. The aforementioned circumstances call for court-monitored, independent and time-bound investigation into the whole saga to ascertain the truth. In the meantime, the media must stop playing the role of the jury-cum-investigating agency and shift its focus to more vital issues affecting the country.

SHIVAM JAIN, BATHINDA

Parshuram politics

The SP wants to build a statue of Parshuram in UP, the BSP an even bigger one, and the Congress wants Parshuram Jayanti restored as a state holiday. Mayawati once said, 'We should not forget that we're a secular country.' Akhilesh Yadav has spoken of fighting a 'communal BJP'. Now, they and the Congress, which also calls itself secular, are promising statues of Parshuram with an eye on electoral gains. What moral right do any of these parties have to claim that they are fighting for secularism?

ARUSHI SHARMA, BILASPUR

Karamyogi Kairon

'Kurukshetra's debt to Kairon' (Aug 28) reflects the farsightedness of Kairon. His role in appointing Dr Tulsi Dass as the first director of the PGI and bringing Dr AC Joshi as PU VC speaks of his concern in the field of education. The fact that to check copying, he personally inspected exam centres of the university, speaks of his commitment. Not only Kurukshetra, the whole of joint Punjab owes a lot to this karamyogi.

VK ANAND, BY MAIL

Legends in their own right

Dharam Pal, a teacher at Government School in Gill village, Ludhiana, used to prepare students of class IV for an exam conducted by the Punjab education department. When Kairon came to know that most successful students were coached by Dharam Pal, he visited his school to honour him and embraced him. After retirement, Dharam Pal joined Arya Higher Secondary School, Ludhiana. I had the honour of clearing that examination under his guidance in 1962, when 13 students of our school were successful against a total of 19 for the whole district of Ludhiana. He would not allow us to leave even on Diwali, leave alone Sundays. A single exception was the day Nehru visited Ludhiana, when he allowed the students to leave earlier on Sunday to have a glimpse of Nehru.

Hail judges who seek to dispense justice

TRYSTS AND TURNS
JULIO RIBEIRO

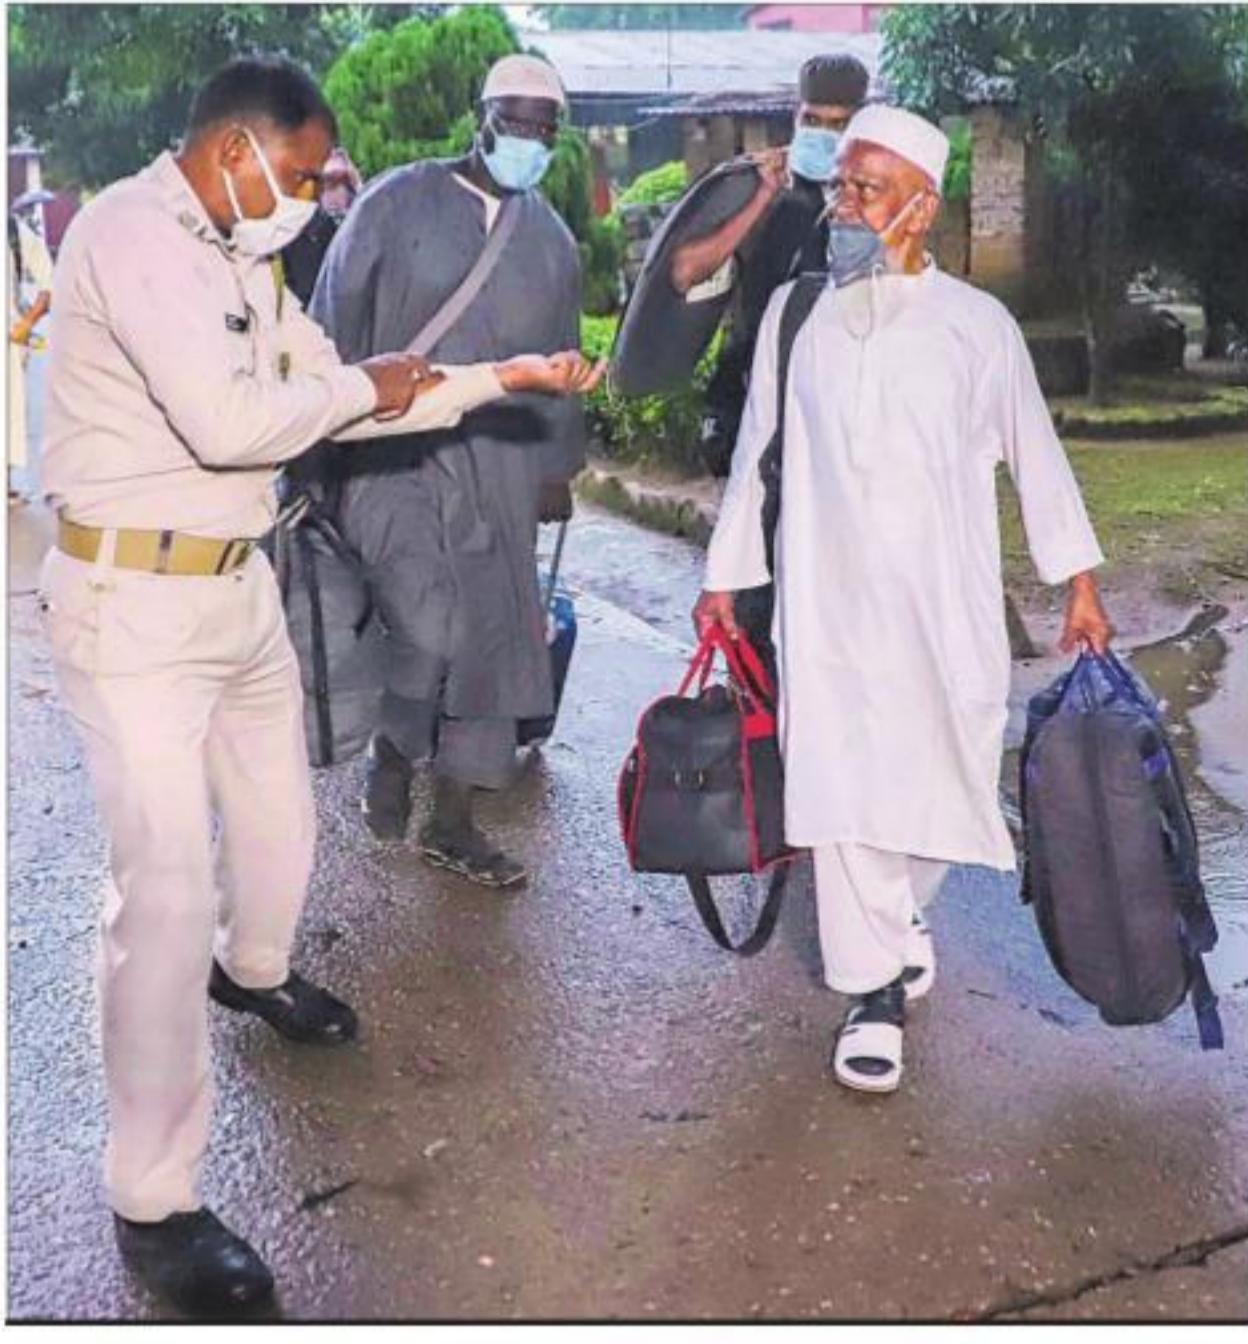

Markaz as the main purveyors of the coronavirus in our country. The statement was based on a perception and the perception was based on an intrinsic bias against a whole community. I had pointed out in one of my earlier articles that there was no empirical evidence to prove the charge. Justices Nalawade and Sewlikar held on similar lines.

What impressed me about these two judges and their findings was not really the substance of their findings but the fact that there are judges in the higher judiciary who are not afraid to tear biases to shreds! Even in Gujarat, which is Modiji's and Amitji's home state, Chief Justice Vikram Nath, sitting on a Division Bench with Justice JB Pardiwal, turned down the plea of the Gujarat government to permit the Jagannath Rath Yatra, commenting that it is mandatory to make a choice for health over religion.

Much is already known of Justice Muralidhar of the Delhi High Court. When he was shifted to the Punjab and Haryana High Court almost overnight before the day he was expected to deliver an order unfavourable to the party in power and its hate-mongers, almost the entire Bar turned up to bid him farewell. That gesture of the Bar afforded comfort to believers in justice that there still is hope for sanity and justice in our country. Such judges have obviously rejected the carrot of post-retirement jobs that governments consistently dangle before them. It is not easy to ignore the carrot! Only men built in a superior mould decline!

Some months ago, a joint secretary in the Central Health Ministry had, on two successive days, blamed the Tablighi and the participants of the

How are judges chosen? Those cho-

29 clerics from Africa and East Asia had approached the Aurangabad Bench of the Bombay High Court for relief from the criminal charges heaped upon them by one of the Central enforcing agencies. The Division Bench squashed the charges and advised the government to make amends to the accused for unnecessarily tormenting them. The judges held that the clerics had not breached any visa rules.

INJUSTICE: By standing up for the people and their rights, the judiciary can act as a beacon in the face of assault on institutions.

sen from the Bar directly are vetted by the Intelligence Bureau. The government also makes its own private inquiries. When I was Adviser to the Punjab Governor, holding the Home portfolio, Governor Siddartha Shankar Ray asked me to comment on one particular judge of the Bombay High Court. I knew the judge from the Law College days. He was a brilliant student and would have been an asset to the Bench. I knew that he had gone astray and I also happened to know why. I was not comfortable sharing this knowledge with Ray, but since I had been asked, I had no choice but to tell the truth.

Another judge of the Punjab and Haryana High Court spoke to me once, threatening to rule against the government if he was overlooked for higher office. I was taken aback by the brazenness with which this was conveyed to me out of the blue, but I passed on the message to Governor Ray. I was taken aback for a second time when I found that the threat had worked. When the file that asked for the state's opinion on the then proposed collegiate system of selecting judges for the High Courts and the Supreme Court landed on my desk, I opined in favour since the two experiences recounted above had disillusioned me with the system then in vogue.

I suppose there never will be a perfect, foolproof system of selection. The collegium has also been criticised at times. No human being is above making mistakes. But if mistakes are made, the honourable judges should not take umbrage when an upholder of the citizen's collective conscience, like lawyer Prashant Bhushan, brings such mistakes to public notice. By holding Prashant guilty of contempt of court, the Supreme Court has turned him into a national hero.

The three-judge Bench that took up the case of contempt against Prashant indirectly threatened him with punishment unless he apologised by August 24. Of course, he did not oblige. For him, it was a win-win situation. If he was not incarcerated, he would win! If he was sent to prison, he would win big! The judges should have read American author Mario Puzo's book The Godfather. If they had done so, they would not have given a threat they would find difficult to implement!

Prashant, like his father Shanti Bhushan, is averse to any form of injustice. There are many such individuals in existence, but only this father-son duo sets aside all fears and swims against the tide! They fight for the people and their rights. With the present incessant assaults by the government on the guarded gates of institutions, and with the media, the bureaucracy and the police having capitulated, the defence forces and the judiciary are the last bastions of democracy left. Prashant never fails to do his best to save the judiciary with whom he has interacted for many combative decades.

In the eyes of a puzzled society, Prashant is a beacon in the darkness! As are two former IAS officers, Aruna Roy and Harsh Mander!

Ethics are about the power to choose what's right

ETHICS are a moral philosophy of life and how to live it right. Good-evil, right-wrong, virtue-vice, justice and injustice are some ethical concepts that always land you at the crossroads. The road to hell is paved with gold! And you have the power to choose. When you give teenagers the space to explore ethical dilemmas, this can be very powerful for the students.

The little choices that you make in your daily life are probably quite different than ethical decisions that entail analysing options and choosing the best ethical alternative. But that begs the question — what are ethics? And if you also bring in values and morality, the discussion really takes off!

The short answer is, 'Values motivate, morals and ethics constrain'. In other words, values describe what is important in a person's life, while ethics and morals prescribe what is considered appropriate behaviour in living one's life. Morals are codes of conduct, while ethics dictate what humans 'ought to do'. When individuals have values, such as integrity and honesty, but work in organisations emphasising a value of ruthless profitability, they may experience significant personal conflict or an ethical dilemma between two possible moral imperatives, where obeying one would result in transgressing another. For instance, a defence attorney's personal morals may say that murder is reprehensible and the offender should be punished, but professional ethics requires him to defend his client to the best of his abilities, even if the client is guilty.

QUEST FOR WELL-BEING: Besides the economic dimension, education must address the journey towards responsible selfhood for the students.

There are some very competent chief executive officers, who play a double role. On the one hand, they display ethically questionable behaviour for personal gain, and on the other, the emerging virtuous leader who advocates looking beyond profit maximisation to serve the greater good through sustainability and responsible business practices. This does not exonerate them from wilful unethical conduct, which brings a bad name to the company.

Today, companies cannot afford negative publicity. Once the media gets hold of the story, your customers will avoid you like the plague! In such situations, the board and promoters should set the tone and be intolerant of any deviation that will harm the image and culture of the organisation. In the final analysis, until individual leaders discover an authentic virtuous core, they will forever be vulnerable to the slings and arrows of corruption and unethical conduct that have toppled many of our most prominent executives.

Ethical leadership is being aware of your core values and possessing the courage to live them throughout your life in service of the common good, and not to compromise or rationalise under pressure. Lack of ethical leadership in Enron caused harm to thousands of employees, invoked greater government regulations, and crippled consider confidence in the financial industry. If we do not find a way to instill ethics in people, we will keep following in the footsteps of Lehman Brothers, Satyam and Enron.

Bhagavad Gita, the most revered Indian scripture worldwide, enjoys popular esteem for its practical ethical purport. As enunciated in the Gita, the Pandavas and Kauravas from the same dynasty are pitched against each other in the battlefield of Kurukshetra. Arjuna, the Pandava warrior prince, expresses his inability to kill his own kith and kin on the opposing side. An ethical dilemma between righteousness (dharma) and lawful duty (kartavya) — two moral imperatives — ensues. Lord Krishna, his charioteer, intervenes and raises Arjuna's level of awareness, and explains to him that his moral duty to fight the battle in the larger interest of the state takes precedence. The transformed Arjuna opts for higher morality and charges into action. In contrast, Bhishma, the head and most respected figure of the dynasty, always hid behind the veil of an oath to serve and protect Hastinapur's throne, even when it was his moral duty to stop the course of events that threatened the good of the community.

Sadly, he was a silent witness to the barbarous disrobing of Draupadi in the dice hall of Hastinapur; and yet again, due to his misplaced loyalty to the throne, he took up arms against the Pandavas, who had a righteous and just cause. Bhishma failed to rise from the conventional morality of the egotistic kind to higher morality. The world suffers not because some people do wrong, but because people who are capable of doing good do nothing.

How do we socialise the students to an ethical culture and an environment of academic integrity? The approach to education, besides the 'job seeking' economic dimension, must address the 'life fulfilling' aspects of a student's journey toward responsible selfhood.

Ethics cannot be circumscribed to an ethics course, but should form part of a conversation in every single course in schools and colleges. All educators must be trained to impart education in ethics. Whether it is a prescribed novel in the syllabus or history classes, the students should be given an opportunity to discuss the character of the characters, the ethical and moral dimensions of their choices and dilemmas, and what the students would have done in their shoes.

In science and research, they should explore the ethical issues of genetic testing or the use of animals in research. When teachers bring to the fore the character dimension of the curriculum, they enhance the relevance of the subject matter to students' natural interests and in the process, increase students' engagement and achievement. Ample evidence suggests that lack of academic integrity during school and college is directly linked to unethical behaviour in the post-academic workplace.

Great people do not fall for great reasons; they usually fall for small reasons. Integrity is a rather small but indispensable attribute that a professional should always have, a choice of what is right over what is convenient.

Policemen detain Shia mourners for taking out a Muharram procession in Srinagar on Friday. PTI

Shia mourners defy curbs, detained

Tribune News Service

SRINAGAR, AUGUST 28

Despite restrictions, scores of Shia mourners today gathered in various parts of the city and took part in Muharram processions to mark the eighth day of the 10-day mourning period.

"Over two dozen mourners were detained during such gatherings in Srinagar," a police officer said.

On Thursday evening, Kashmir Divisional Commisssioner Pandurang K Pole had said restrictions on all religious processions and gatherings in all districts in the wake of Covid-19 would continue. He had also appealed to Shia bodies to use their influence and inform people about the importance of following Covid-related SOPs.

The authorities had today imposed strict restrictions in city centre of Lal Chowk and adjoining areas and some other parts of the old city to thwart Muharram processions.

However, many mourners defied the restrictions and tried to carry out a march.

At some places, people gave a tough time to the police who were seen chasing them. Some were also bundled into police vehicles.

Reports from Budgam said that mourners defied restrictions and took out a Muharram procession.

Citing security reasons, the authorities have not been allowing Muharram processions for the past 30 years.

NH remains closed for 4th day

Tribune News Service

JAMMU, AUGUST 28

The Jammu-Srinagar national highway remained closed for traffic for the fourth consecutive day on Friday, notwithstanding significant improvement in weather conditions across the Union Territory.

"The highway remained closed at Dalwas, Cafeteria Morh and Panthal due to fresh landslides and falling of stones. The traffic is unlikely to be restored by Saturday morning," Ajay Anand, Deputy Superintendent of Police (Highway), Traffic, told The Tribune.

Jammu and Kashmir witnessed moderate to heavy rainfall over the past three days which ended the long dry spell across Union Territory.

Meanwhile, the Poonch district administration has made it clear that the traffic on the Mughal road, the alternate road link to the Kashmir valley, would be allowed only for downward movement of fruit trucks/empty oil tankers from the Valley to Jammu.

"No other movement is allowed via Mughal road," said the administration, while rebutting the reports in social media that the Mughal road has been opened for all kinds of traffic.

COVID-19 PANDEMIC

The annual yatra to the Gangbal lake, considered to be the abode of Lord Shiva by devotees, concluded on Friday.

Due to the Covid-19 pandemic, only nine pilgrims undertook the three-day-long yatra that was organised by the All Parties Migrants' Coordination Committee (APMCC) and Harmukh Ganga (Gangbal) Trust.

An APMCC statement said the pilgrims performed 'puja' at the Gangbal lake, which is located around 14,500 feet above sea level in the Harmukh mountain range. "The lake is also known as Harmukh Ganga and Kailash of Kashmir," the statement added. Earlier, the yatis had embarked on the pilgrimage from Naranag in Ganderbal district on August 25.

Stating that the pilgrimage had been revived after 200 years from 2009, APMCC chairman Vinod Pandit said the main aim behind making the yatra an annual affair was to preserve the cultural and religious history of Kashmiri Pandits.

Mian Altaf refuses to meet BJP leader

SRINAGAR, AUGUST 28

Senior National Conference leader and former minister Mian Altaf on Friday refused to see visiting BJP's national general secretary Ram Madhav at his residence saying that he had nothing to do with him or his brand of politics.

Mian Altaf, top Gujar leader of J&K, whose family's influence is spread all across, was approached by Khalid Jahangir, one of the BJP leaders of Kashmir, informing him that Ram Madhav would like to visit him.

In response, the NC leader said a firm and polite no. "I told Khalid that I am not interested in meeting any BJP leader, be it Ram Madhav, because I have nothing to do with your brand of politics," he told The Tribune over phone from his residence in Wangat, part of Kangan constituency that he has represented in the J&K Assembly since 1987 without any break.

Mian Altaf said he had been off politics for one year. "I have not given even a single statement for the past one year," he said, adding, "I don't want to be dragged into any political game that may result in harm to me." "Please leave me alone," he is reported to have told the caller and also sent an SMS message to him to this effect. — TNS

CHENNAI, AUGUST 28

India advanced to the semifinals of the FIDE Online Chess Olympiad today after their opponents Armenia withdrew, following rejection of their appeal over one of their players losing a game due to internet disconnection. India will take on the winner of the Azerbaijan versus Poland match in the semifinals on Saturday.

India had won the first round of matches 3.5-2.5, with captain Vidit S Gujrathi, D Harika and Nihal Sarin posting victories. While former world champion Viswanathan Anand drew his game against Armenian No. 1 Lev Aronian, Koneru Humpy and Vanitha Agrawal suffered defeats.

The Armenians protested for a long time, delaying the start of the second round, before withdrawing following the rejection of their appeal.

"Following the disconnection of Haik Martirosyan in Match 1 of the Quarterfinal against India, Armenia filed an official appeal that was rejected. Armenia defaulted Match 2. As a result, India is through to the semifinals," FIDE tweeted.

Martirosyan was declared the loser against Sarin.

Meanwhile, Harika tweeted: "Good to qualify for the semifinals of the FIDE online Olympiad. It is very unfortunate the circumstances under which it happened and not the way we would have liked to qualify." — PTI

India enter semis Heartbreak for Prajesh as Nagal gets last direct berth

MUMBAI, AUGUST 28

Prajesh Gunnswaran flew halfway across the world in the hope of sneaking into the US Open's main draw but suffered an expensive let-down when he missed out by a single spot.

The tournament's organisers (USTA) did not hold qualifiers this year in a bid to reduce the number of people in their bio-secure bubble in New York and Gunnswaran's compatriot Sumit Nagal was the last man to get a direct entry in the initial list.

US curbs may hit China's Lanka project

Beijing companies are in tie-up with Washington firms for Colombo Port City work

SANDEEP DIKSHIT

TRIBUNE NEWS SERVICE

NEW DELHI, AUGUST 28

The US' first-ever sanctioning of Chinese companies involved in building artificial islands in South China Sea may affect the fate of several of Beijing's under-construction One Belt One Road (OBOR) projects, including the strategically-sensitive Port City Colombo project.

India and other western countries have tried in vain to dissuade Sri Lanka from handing over the Colombo Port City project in its southwest to China. Chinese companies had earlier completed the Hambantota port in the south-east. This has helped China establish lookouts on both flanks of Sri Lanka overlooking the Indian Ocean.

Things are likely to change after the US sanctioned 24 Chinese companies, which means US firms cannot do business with them. Sources said some Chinese companies are in tie-up with US firms as subcontractors and equipment suppliers in the Colombo Port City project and it seems unlikely that they will get a special waiver. If this first economic strike by an executive fiat becomes law, sources expect the legislation to be more well-rounded since there is bipartisan political consensus in the US on containing China. A future law could even bar third country companies from partnering with Chinese firms. This possibility is high after reports quoted US officials as saying that the sanctioned mother company, China Communications Construction Company (CCCC), is the "Huawei of Construction". This would further cripple Chinese construction activity in other countries.

New law expected to bar even third country firms from partnering with Beijing

Sri Lanka's involvement with Chinese companies had begun under Mahinda Rajapaksa as President. Rajapaksa is back and more politically powerful after his brother comprehensively won the Presidential elections and he helmed the sweep of the parliamentary polls.

Though Rajapaksa has ensured that diplomatic civility guided the Indo-Sri Lankan ties, he has made no move to accommodate Indian interests by opening a port on the northern coast or allocating oil blocks in the common waters separating the two nations.

Sources said if the US sanctions gather pace, not just Colombo Port City but other infrastructure projects in Myanmar and Thailand, that cause South Block unease, may seize-up and could be up for grabs.

India can benefit from free trade pact with Africa: Govt

KV PRASAD

TRIBUNE NEWS SERVICE

NEW DELHI, AUGUST 28

Underscoring India's commitment towards growth in relations with Africa, New Delhi said the country's businesses can benefit from the African Continental Free Trade Agreement that is gathering pace.

Characterising the proposed pact as a 'game changer' Rahul Chhabra, Secretary (Economic Relations) in the Ministry of External Affairs said more and more African countries were joining the agreement and a huge opportunity could come in a few months time. Till date, 30 of the 54 countries have ratified it.

members of the Indian and African Diplomatic Corps.
