NEW DELHI, JUNE 17

Two days after the Delhi High Court granted them bail in the Delhi riots conspiracy case, student activists Devangana Kalita, Natasha Narwal and Asif Iqbal Tanha were on Thursday released from Tihar Jail following an order of their "immediate release" by a Delhi court.

They were arrested in May 2020 under the Unlawful Activities (Prevention) Act (UAPA) and were accused of being the "masterminds" of the February 2020 violence, which claimed 53 lives and left more than 200 injured.

As their release was delayed for verification of addresses of sureties, on

Comply with ICJ verdict in Jadhav case, Pak told

NEW DELHI, JUNE 17
India has expressed dissatisfaction with the Bill passed by Pakistan providing the right to appeal to former Indian naval officer Kulbhushan Jadhav and called upon it to correct the infirmities as they amount to municipal courts sitting in appeal over the judgment of the International Court of Justice (ICJ).

30% of pleas before 5 vacation Benches by runaway couples

SAURABH MALIK

TRIBUNE NEWS SERVICE

CHANDIGARH, JUNE 17

The Punjab and Haryana High Court's failure to effectively deal with the burgeoning number of pleas by runaway couples, the problem of pendency, restrictive functioning following the Covid outbreak and gargantuan vacancies of judges have virtually turned the days of the pandemic into a denial of justice phase — a period where even bail pleas were not listed for more than a year.

A day after the Supreme Court Bench of Justice Hemant Gupta and Justice V Ramasubramanian rapped the High Court for "defeating the administration of justice" by not listing a bail plea for hearing for more than a year, an analysis of the cause list makes it clear that more than 30 per cent of the fresh cases placed before five vacation Benches were filed by the runaway couples.

In all, 174 fresh or urgent cases were listed. Of the total, 54 were protection pleas filed by runaway couples from both states of Punjab and Haryana. Just 47 anticipatory bail pleas, involving life and liberty, have been placed before the five vacation Benches

Move after cities stink as no collection by contract staff for over a month

TREBUNE NEWS SERVICE

CHANDIGARH, JUNE 17

A solution to the over one-month-long agitation by contract and outsourced 'safai karamcharis' in civic bodies across the state seems to be in sight with the Cabinet Sub-Committee on Thursday formally deciding to place the issue for approval in tomorrow's Cabinet meeting.

The issue was part of the deliberations that were taken up by the sub-committee comprising Local Government Minister Brahm Mohindra, Finance Minister Manpreet Singh Badal, Rural Development and Panchayat Minister Tript Rajinder Singh Bajwa,

At sub-panel meet, Channi threatens walkout

TO DISCUSS RECRUITMENT OF 2 MLAs' SONS

- The sons of Congress MLAs Fateh Jung Bajwa and Rakesh Pandey are being appointed as SI in the Punjab Police and naib tehsildar in the Revenue Department, respectively
- The issue is likely to be tabled at the Cabinet meeting. The jobs are being given on compassionate grounds by tweaking rules
- This comes days after Bajwa came out in open support of Capt Amarinder Singh amid the tussle in the Congress

Technical Education Minister Charanjit Singh Channi and Cooperation and Jails Minister Sukhjinder Singh Randhawa. The sub-committee has been constituted to make recommendations on repealing the old Act of 2016 and framing a new one to provide a relief package to employees of the state. Sources said while Brahm Mohindra and Charanjit Channi strongly supported the case of regularising the services of contract staff and bringing the outsourced employees of contract in the respective civic bodies, Manpreet Badal, Chief Secretary Vini Mahajan and Advocate General Atul Nanda had certain reservations.

It is learnt that Channi even threatened to walk out of the meeting if a favourable decision was not taken. Later, on the intervention of the Chief Minister, it was decided to table the item for approval in tomorrow's Cabinet meeting. To regularise the services of 4,022 contract 'safai karamcharis', nearly Rs 42 crore was required and to bring another 15,362 outsourced workers on contract, the civic bodies require Rs 201 crore. —TNS

Khaira merges party with Cong, calls AAP mistake

TREBUNE NEWS SERVICE

NEW DELHI, JUNE 17

Former Leader of Opposition in the Assembly Sukhpal Singh Khaira on Thursday merged his Punjab Ekta Party with the Congress, saying joining the Aam Aadmi Party in 2015 was a "mistake."

"AAP is a one man show. There is nothing in AAP beyond Arvind Kejriwal," Khaira said after meeting former Congress chief Rahul Gandhi at the latter's 12 Tuglaq Lane residence. Also present were Punjab MLAs Jagdev Singh and Piramal Singh. The joining happened in the presence of AICC general secretary Harish Rawat and Congress media in charge Randeep Surjewala.

Attacking AAP, Khaira said it was an undemocratic party with no system of internal reviews. "Arvind Kejriwal is into a habit of scoring self goals every few months. We appeal to the NRIs who stand disillusioned with Kejriwal that they should also join and support the Congress in large numbers. The NRIs are asking about the funds they sent to AAP. The funds never reached the people of Punjab. The trust of NRIs in AAP stands shattered," said Khaira, formally merging his party into the Congress.

In this context, EC shall hold two-day conference with CEOs of five states where elections are due early next year. These states are Punjab, Uttar Pradesh, Uttarakhand, Goa and Manipur. Before the two-day conference with the poll-bound states, the EC shall also facilitate a virtual conference with five poll-gone states.

SC refuses to stay eviction of encroachers from forestland

SATYA PRAKASH
TRIBUNE NEWS SERVICE

NEW DELHI, JUNE 17

The Supreme Court today refused to stay the demolition of more than 10,000 illegal structures built on forestland in the Aravallis at Lakkarpur Khorai village in Faridabad district.

"In our opinion, no indulgence is required to be shown by this Court at this stage," a Bench headed by Justice AM Khanwilkar said after petitioners' counsel Aparna Bhat urged the top court to halt the demolition as it would result in displacement of thousands of poor people during the Covid pandemic.

As the Haryana Government counsel said the encroachers were pelting stones, the Bench said no order was required and the authorities knew what to do.

"Let them do it," said the Bench which had, on June 7, ordered the Haryana authorities to evict illegal encroachers

NO INTERVENTION REQUIRED: COURT

■ As the state government counsel said the encroachers were pelting stones, the SC Bench said no order was required and the authorities knew what to do

■ The counsel said even as the hearing proceeded, forcible eviction was taking place.

■ "Let them do it," said the Bench which had, on June 7, ordered the Haryana authorities to evict illegal encroachers

“In our opinion, no indulgence is required to be shown by this Court at this stage. SC Bench ilies should be given temporary shelters, the top court said it was for the state government to look into it.

The affected people had enough opportunity to vacate the forestland after its February 2020 order for their removal, the SC pointed out.

While posting the matter for further hearing on July 27, the Bench made it clear that the pendency of the proceedings before it would not come in the way of removing the encroachers.

"Let them do it," said the Bench which had, on June 7, ordered the Haryana authorities to evict illegal encroachers and file a compliance report in six weeks.

This was the second petition on the matter this month. Earlier, holding that land grabbers could not take refuge under the rule of law, the Supreme Court had, on June 7, ordered the Municipal Corporation of Faridabad and the Faridabad Police to evict the illegal occupants of government land in six weeks.

"Land grabbers can't take refuge under the rule of law and talk of fairness," the top court had said, rejecting a plea filed by five encroachers against the demolition drive.

Maintaining that there was no question of compromise on forestland irrespective of the policy, the Bench, however, had said the petitioners' demand for rehabilitation could be considered independently.

The petitioners had challenged the Haryana Shehri Vikas Pradhikaran Rehabilitation Policy to the extent it limits the cut-off for rehabilitation to 2003 and sought a stay on demolition of about 10,000 houses at Khorai Gaon in Faridabad district.

"In our opinion the petitioners are bound by the directions given by the Punjab and Haryana High Court and the Supreme Court...," it had said.

Faith in judiciary strengthened: Natasha's kin

ROHTAK, JUNE 17

Student activist Natasha Narwal, who was granted bail by the Delhi High Court on Tuesday in a matter pertaining to the February 2020 violence in Delhi, was finally released from jail late this evening.

However, Natasha's family and friends, who were hoping that she would return to her home in Rohtak after being released, will have to wait for some more days as Natasha will have to stay in Delhi for a week.

Nonetheless, the family of the student activist heaved a sigh of relief as she got released and expressed their gratitude towards the justice-delivery system.

"We are relieved. We are grateful to the judiciary which has upheld Natasha's right to be out of the prison. Last two days were challenging as there was delay in her release even after she was granted bail by the HC," said Natasha's brother Akash, who was in Delhi to receive her.

"In has been an extremely testing year and nothing can make up for the loss suffered during this time, but today our faith in democracy and judiciary has been strengthened," he added. — TNS

Defeat in Palampur, Solan civic body poll casts shadow on three-day conclave

SHIMLA, JUNE 17
The three-day conclave of Himachal BJP concluded here today with a call to ensure Mission Repeat in 2022 Assembly polls and party victory in the ensuing Mandi Lok Sabha and Fatehpur and Jubbal-Kotkhai Assembly bypolls.

The thrust of the party was on winning the by-elections ahead of Shimla Municipal Corporation polls as this performance would be crucial for Mission Repeat.

The series of sessions held during the conclave underlined the need for keeping the party on hyperactive mode and chalked out programmes for all morchas and cells to reach out to people.

Municipal Corporation and "not so impressive" performance in Dharamsala was casting shadow and the leaders were advised to analyse the causes and prepare a plan to overcome the shortcomings.

Besides district in-charge, the party also appointed ministers as in-charge for all 17 organisational districts for better coordination between the party and the government.

Besides MLAs and defeated candidates, performance report from chairpersons of boards and corporation was also sought and Chief Minister Jai Ram Thakur also submitted the report.

Under "Sewa hi Sangathan hai" programme, the service rendered during Covid 19 pandemic by Rakesh Jamwal, Ravinder Dhaman and Mulakh Raj Prem, MLAs, Mahila Morcha and Yuva Morcha were lauded.

Chief spokesman of the party Randhir Sharma said that there would be no change in the government and the party and Jai Ram Thakur would be the face of the party in 2022 Assembly poll.

The morchas would organize rallies and conventions after the Covid pandemic is over and Yuva Morcha, Mahila Morcha and Kissan Morcha would launch "One booth 20 youth", "One booth 20 Sakhian" and "One booth 20 Kisan Prahari" programmes, Sharma added.

The third day meeting presided over by state BJP chief Suresh Kashyap was attended by national vice president Sudan Singh, state in-charge Avinash Rai Khanna and state co-incharge Sanjay Tandon.

Eyebrows raised over Bhardwaj being in-charge for Jubbal bypoll

PRATIBHA CHAUHAN
TRIBUNE NEWS SERVICE

SHIMLA, JUNE 17
Even as the threat of undercutting haunts both the BJP and the Congress, the appointment of Urban Development Minister Suresh Bhardwaj as in-charge for the Assembly bypoll in Jubbal Kotkhai has taken everyone by surprise.

Bhardwaj happens to be the tallest BJP leader from Shimla district, but his discordant relations with Narinder Bragta, who was the sitting MLA till his demise earlier this month, is no secret. The move to make Bhardwaj in-charge for the Jubbal-Kotkhai assembly bypoll has raised eyebrows. Narinder Bragta has represented the segment thrice as he won in 1998, 2007 and 2017 elections.

The frontrunner for the Congress ticket, former MLA Rohit Thakur could also become victim of party undercutting. Rohit, who is the grandson of former Chief Minister Ram Lal Thakur, could face threat from the supporters of Virbhadrappa Singh as the two families never enjoyed cordial relations. Moreover, fighting a bypoll against the ruling party is by no means an easy task and Rohit faces quite a tough challenge.

"Since the BJP in all probability is likely to field Chetan Bragta, son of Bragta as its nominee for the bypoll, making Bhardwaj in-charge was part of the party strategy to ensure that Bhardwaj does not indulge in undercutting," admitted a senior BJP functionary on the condition of anonymity.

Even though there are many contenders for the BJP ticket Chetan appears to be the frontrunner as he has been active in Bhartiya Janta Yuva Morcha and the BJP is hoping to encash the sympathy factor. Bragta who was peeved at not being inducted into the Jai Ram cabinet in 2017 on the formation of the BJP regime had been sore at Bhardwaj's political interference in his assembly segment of Jubbal-Kotkhai. In fact, he had met the Chief Minister on several occasions to air his grouse.

Similarly, Bhardwaj has been unhappy over Chetan Bragta's active presence in Shimla Assembly segment. As such the feeling of distrust between the two senior BJP leaders, Bhardwaj and Bragta was no secret in political circles. As such the appointment of Bhardwaj as election In-charge has raised eyebrows.

"By making Bhardwaj, the in-charge for the by-poll the party has brought Bhardwaj under scanner to prevent any chances of undercutting," said a senior party MLA.

Wait for anti-hail net subsidy gets longer

SHIMLA, JUNE 17

The apple growers' hopes of receiving anti-hail net subsidy, pending since 2013, anytime soon received a major blow today. Horticulture Minister Mahender Singh, during his visit to Parala fruit mandi today, said the pending amount was too big for the government to clear quickly. "The subsidies piled up during the reign of the previous government. If you ask the current government to clear all of those, it's not possible as the quantum is too much. Although, we have cleared many cases," he said. The horticulture minister also used the issue to take a political potshot at the Congress. "The horticulture minister was from Theog in the previous Congress government. So, why subsidy cases were not cleared in 2013, 2014, 2015 and 2016? Why is there so much pendency, where did the subsidy go?" he questioned. INS

Row over dose gap

Govt should factor in fresh evidence on vaccine efficacy

INDIA'S vaccination programme is over five months old, but the country has so far managed to fully inoculate only 3.5 per cent of its population, while around 15 per cent of the citizens have received at least one dose. With the second wave subsiding, various restrictions are being lifted. The resumption of 'business as usual' threatens to trigger a surge in infections unless the vaccination rate is improved drastically. Even as the pace of immunisation continues to be tardy, a controversy has erupted over the long gap between two doses of the Covishield vaccine. The Centre had on May 13 approved extending the gap from 6-8 weeks to 12-16 weeks following a recommendation from the National Technical Advisory Group on Immunisation. The government had stated that the decision was based on data released by Public Health England, UK's executive agency of the Department of Health, which showed that vaccine efficacy varied between 65 and 88 per cent when the dose interval was 12 weeks. However, recent reports have suggested that the Centre fixed such a wide interval despite lack of consensus. Under fire from the Opposition, the government is defending its decision, citing 'scientific evidence'.

The UK, in contrast, has not only extended its lockdown by four weeks but also reduced the gap between vaccine doses, based on a new study by health experts which has established the effectiveness of two doses against variants. Having fully inoculated 45 per cent of its citizens, Britain is making rapid strides towards universal vaccination. India, which has borne the brunt of the second wave, can afford to remain a laggard only at its own peril.

A couple of studies by premier medical institutes of India have shown that there is little or no difference in the vaccine effectiveness whether a person has received one shot or two. More research is needed to buttress these findings as people are apprehensive that they are less protected if partially vaccinated. The studies in Britain are of serious import for Covishield usage. The government should factor in fresh evidence while taking a call on retaining or shortening the dose gap.

The Covid batch

CBSE Class XII evaluation criteria out; now speed up results

THE CBSE's declaration of the evaluation criteria for Class XII board exams comes as a breather for the lakhs of students who have been kept on tenterhooks throughout this pandemic-disrupted 2020-21 academic session. Whether relating to the opening of schools or the conduct of offline/online exams, the government/board decisions have been rather knee-jerk reactions to the unfolding situation. Uncertainty has marked the major part of the year. The possibility of holding exams went up and down in conjunction with the rising and falling Covid-19 waves. Even though fears of the coronavirus surging at regular intervals had been red-flagged, the authorities were caught unprepared with a plan in case the wisdom of scrapping the exams prevailed, keeping student-teacher safety on top. As the second wave wreaked havoc in March-May and the country found itself struggling with vaccination logistics or ensuring anti-Covid measures, some worried stakeholders sought the Supreme Court's intervention for an early resolution.

It is only after June 1, when the CBSE Class XII exams were cancelled, that a committee was hurriedly set up to conceive an objective methodology to declare the results within a specific time-frame. Significantly, lifting their counterparts out of the same anxiety and limbo, it spurred the ICSE and various state boards to tackle the prickly issue similarly. The scores of classes X and XI final exams along with the internal assessments of Class XII will be variously factored in for a student's CBSE Class XII results. The other boards are likely to follow suit.

However, July 31, the result date of the CBSE exam, which is the bridge to higher education, may be too late for some students looking for intake in the coming session or semester in colleges of their choice, especially abroad. It will also lead to a scramble as entrance tests for admissions to most institutions will be scheduled immediately after. The pandemic-induced upheaval suffered by the Covid batch should be an opportunity to streamline the education system. It needs to be nudged out of its hinge on a pressure-ridden examination method that lays undue stress on marks rather than fostering skills and critical thinking.

The Government of India's Duty.

THE Pratinidhi Sabha, having failed to obtain redress from the Colonial Government, who pleaded want of jurisdiction, has now approached the Government of India with the request that as the officers responsible for the closing of the Arya Samaj were their officers, they may hold the necessary enquiry into the matter and give due publicity to the facts of the case. No request could be more reasonable or more modest, and we feel sure the Government of India will readily comply with it. The Sabha contends that the temple was never used either for the purpose of waging war against the King or for giving help to the King's enemies, the only reasons for which the military could with plausibility take the drastic action they did in this case, that the Arya Samaj community as a whole were loyal and devoted subjects of the King Emperor, and that, therefore, the action taken by the military authorities was without any justification. If the facts were otherwise, it ought not to be difficult for the military officers concerned to show that they were, and the Government clearly owes it not merely to the aggrieved Samaj but to the officers themselves to hold the enquiry. As regards the persons who were deported, the Government of India has a duty, because the order was passed upon the persons concerned by its own officers. The actual re-entry of the men will probably depend partially upon the Government of the Colony, and it is clear from the correspondence that it has the matter under its consideration. But the Government should see that the equilibrium disturbed by its officers is restored at its own instance. We do hope the Government of India will remove the just grievance of the Arya Samaj in this matter, now that the grievance has been so prominently brought to its notice, but if it does not, it will be necessary to bring up the matter before the Legislative Assembly at the earliest.

I think of officers who continue to keep the flag flying. Their numbers are dwindling. But people cling on to them in the hope of getting justice, which is what IPS officers were specially recruited to dispense.

The name of the two junior officials who had been tasked with the collections were also disclosed. One of the two was Sachin Vaze. The exact contents of the letter have not been published. Vaze was the closest confidant of the chief! When Vaze botched up, the ex-Commissioner had anticipated an unhappy turn of events. He had recorded his conversation with Vaze and the other police Inspector in which allegedly the demand for Rs 100 crore was mentioned. He wrote to the CM and simultaneously released a copy of his letter to the press.

The Leader of the Opposition in the Maharashtra Vidhan Sabha, BJP's Devendra Fadnavis, denounced the three-party alliance ruling the state — the Shiv Sena, NCP and Congress. When he was the CM earlier, Fadnavis had made use of the same officer, Param Bir Singh, first to justify the state's action against the left-oriented activists arrested in the Bhima Koregaon conspiracy case, and later, when the officer was appointed Director, Anti-Corruption Bureau, to absolve NCP's Ajit Pawar in a big irrigation scam, in an attempt to cement a political alliance. It was in the interest of his (Fadnavis) party to ensure that Anil Deshmukh, the Aghadi's Home Minister, was reviled. So, the BJP welcomed back into its camp the ex-Police Commissioner with open arms.

It is an open secret that in recent years the CBI has been used by the party in power. So, when the High Court of Bombay ordered the inquiry into the ex-Commissioner's accusations against the minister to be assigned to the CBI, the former Commissioner could not but have been in seventh heaven.

But the state government counter attacked with three or four complaints of selected victims against the ex-Commissioner. Two former Inspectors, one cricket bookie and one real estate agent were lined up with their own individual grievances of extortion against the officer when he was Commissioner of Thane three-four years ago. The state's investigation agencies were entrusted with the investigations. Param Bir Singh

Survival at stake for new Israeli coalition

VAPPALA BALACHANDRAN

AUTHOR AND COLUMNIST

THE public mood in Israel at the ouster of Prime Minister Benjamin Netanyahu, who was in power since 2009, was evident by rival rallies in the 'Liberal' Tel Aviv and in the 'Orthodox' Jerusalem on the night of June 13. Thousands of Israelis spontaneously swarmed to the Rabin and Dizengoff squares in Tel Aviv, chanting "Bibi go home", dancing, singing, spraying foam-confetti and leaping into the fountain pools for a "celebratory splash". A lady wearing the Indian bindi was prominently seen accusing Bibi of dictatorship in the guise of democracy.

In contrast, only subdued demonstrations were held in Jerusalem by the orthodox Jews supporting Netanyahu outside his official residence and at the Western Wall on 13th. However, on June 15, Netanyahu supporters came in greater strength to organise a provocative flag-waving demonstration resembling the violent pro-Trump Capitol Hill march on January 6, 2021. They walked from Damascus Gate, the main entry to the Muslim Quarter of Jerusalem's Old City, chanting "this is our home" and "Jerusalem is ours". A vigilant police prevented clashes with the Palestinians.

Public opinion polls after the ceasefire on May 22 had indicated severe disapproval over Netanyahu's hard-line tactics during the 11-day Hamas conflict which had resulted in hundreds of Palestinian civilian deaths, including children. The media had quoted Israelis as saying that such an uncompromising strategy had not benefited their country with long-term peace or making their lives easier. They were also annoyed with Netanyahu's incompetent handling of the Covid pandemic.

It was this feeling which had swung the public opinion in favour of Yesh Atid party leader Yair Lapid as their preferred prime minister in place of Netanyahu who was hanging on to that chair since 2019 without clear Knesset (parliamentary) majority by playing with coalitions, while retaining absolute personal power.

Netanyahu's tactics, with the help of US President Donald Trump, by flagging emotive issues like the Jewish sanctity of the Temple Mount for political reasons had only increased daily tensions for an average Israeli citizen as this policy was unable to control either Hamas or the militant PLO Palestinians. The Times of Israel said on May 23 that this had also generated a feeling, even among his erstwhile coalition partners like Naftali Bennett of Yamina party, that Netanyahu's "prioritising of personal and political considerations over the country's well-being" was unacceptable. This was a hint that he was clinging on to power to stave off his four corruption trials.

A few hours before the parliamentary vote which rejected him, Netanyahu had pushed his anti-US rhetoric high at the Knesset by sharply criticising the Biden administration for its "soft line on Iran" which would endanger Israel's Public opinion polls after the ceasefire on May 22 had indicated severe disapproval over Netanyahu's hard-line tactics during the 11-day Hamas conflict which resulted in hundreds of Palestinian civilian deaths, including children. The media quoted Israelis as saying that such an uncompromising strategy had not benefited their country with long-term peace. They were also annoyed with Netanyahu's incompetent handling of the Covid pandemic.

Israeli media indirectly wanted to highlight the common bond in Abrahamic religions as the "henna ceremony" is common among "Sephardi Jews" as well as with Arab Muslims and Iranian Shias.

Gilad Schalit was captured by Hamas on June 25, 2006. The fabled Israeli security services could not locate him in the small enclave of Gaza for over five years. That forced Netanyahu to agree to a humiliating exchange of 1,027 Palestinian prisoners in Israeli jails for Hamas to release Schalit on October 18, 2011. Criticism from others, including former Prime Minister Ehud Olmert, that they would never have released the killers had continued to haunt Netanyahu.

Speaking at the Knesset, the new Prime Minister Naftali Bennett praised Netanyahu's contribution as PM, ignoring his taunts earlier on his inexperience. He also promised to open "a new page" in his government's relations with the Arab citizens and solve their housing problems. Yet, he warned against violence and ceasefire violations which he implemented on June 16 by ordering air strikes on Hamas for sending incendiary balloons to Israel.

Whether the fragile Bennett-Lapid coalition survives or not, what is very refreshing is Bennett's interview to The Times of Israel on February 24, vowing "to eschew Netanyahu's politics of domestic hatred and division". He said: "What Bibi did for ages... the dog whistle against this group or that group, I don't go there. I'm more right-wing than Bibi, but I don't use hate or polarisation as a tool to promote myself politically." That is a good lesson for all, including India.

security. He compared Biden's Iran policy to the American refusal in 1944 to bomb Auschwitz concentration camp. He said that he had rejected Biden's proposal to reopen the US consulate in Jerusalem to handle relationship with Palestinians which was closed by President Trump.

He added that he had rejected Biden's proposal to freeze Israeli constructions on Palestinian lands. He ridiculed Naftali Bennett, who if elected, "would be too weak to stand up to Washington". American political website Axios quoted an unnamed senior Israeli diplomat: "He decided to damage the US-Israel relationship for his own personal interests and is trying to leave scorched earth for the incoming government."

The person who originally used the Temple Mount issue for prime ministerial ambitions was Ariel Sharon. There was a lull in violence from 1998 when Israeli Prime Minister Ehud Barak of the Labour Party was talking with PLO Chief Yasser Arafat on US President Bill Clinton's initiative, culminating in the July 11-25, 2000 Camp David Summit. Although there was no final agreement, this period from 1998 till November 2000 had seen remarkable peace.

However, Likud leader Ariel Sharon's aggressive "Temple Mount March" on September 28, 2000 had inflamed Palestinian feelings. Accompanied by 1,000 police officers, Sharon declared that the Temple Mount would be perpetually under Israeli control. That certainly won him the Prime Ministership in March 2001 elections, but resulted in perpetual Palestinian suspicion over Jewish intentions on al-Aqsa mosque. It also led to the 2001 Second (al-Aqsa) Intifada. Netanyahu has continued the same strategy.

Away from all the tumult relating to the government formation, the Israeli media focused on the person who had symbolised the defeat of Netanyahu's "National Security Government" strategy. That was on June 10, when Gilad Schalit, a 35-year-old ex-soldier celebrated his pre-wedding 'mehendi' ceremony with his fiancée Nitzan Shabbat which they call 'henna ceremony'. It is not known whether the shortage of health manpower.

Fourth, India needs to learn from the pandemic surge being reported from many countries in Europe and elsewhere. The third wave has hit some countries, while others are experiencing increased hospitalisation due to the Delta variant. Amidst all this, large events like football matches and election campaigns are taking place, and tourist destinations have been thrown open. In America, masking is no more mandatory for those fully vaccinated. To facilitate travel, vaccine passports are in the offing. It would be of interest to see if countries with a substantially high number of vaccinated are able to duck the next wave. A careful study of the mistakes and successes of others, be it lockdowns, unlocking or vaccination, can help India calibrate its strategies. After all, elections are due in Uttar Pradesh, Punjab and other states early next year and political activity may begin there in a few months.

Above all, the need is for transparent and open Covid control policies, based on science and data. The pandemic is not yet over. The virus is still circulating and mutating. The Delta variant is not the last deadly one we have seen. The period of respite is an opportunity for enhancing preparedness for the future. Sustained efforts can yield results, as demonstrated twice in the recent case of cyclones where the loss of life could be minimised due to community awareness and mobilisation backed by accurate warning systems. This is the only way to break the vicious cycle of pandemic waves and lockdowns.

Use the lull to enhance Covid preparedness

DINESH C SHARMA

SCIENCE COMMENTATOR

Unlocking should be guided by clearly laid-down epidemiological parameters – test positivity rate, change in cases and oxygen/ICU bed occupancy. Data on these parameters at the district level should guide decisions relating to lockdowns and unlocking. The National Institute of Epidemiology has developed a four-level alert system. It has listed activities that can be allowed and those that need to be restricted at each level. Such a calibrated approach is now missing.

THE second wave of Covid-19 in India is on a steady decline after causing far greater devastation than the first one. In a few weeks, the number of new infections and mortality figures may reach levels similar to those in January. The unlocking process has begun in most states. In metropolitan cities and towns, the process has been rather swift. Industrial and commercial activities have resumed. People are flocking to malls and shopping districts in large numbers, and restaurants are reporting rising footfalls. Fruits, vegetable and other retail markets are crowded once again. Traffic on the city roads is chock-a-block like before. Metro services, too, have restarted though with occupancy limitations. Highways from metro cities leading to hill stations and other tourist destinations are reporting long traffic snarls. Barring educational institutions, bars, gyms and public parks, most activities are back to the pre-second wave level.

The situation raises some pertinent questions: Have any lessons been learnt from the experience of unlocking after the first wave? Are we committing the same mistakes and risk entering a perpetual cycle of waves and lockdowns? The answers to such questions are not encouraging at this point, for the following reasons.

First, we are unlocking the wrong way and hardly any lessons have been learnt from the experience after the first wave. The only difference is that the process of unlocking after the 2020 lockdown was national, and now it is state-wise since the duration and intensity of lockdown was left to the discretion of states based on the pandemic curve in each state.

CAUTION NEEDED: The process of unlocking brings with it the danger of another wave of the pandemic but also offers a chance to plug gaps in healthcare management. PTI

The process of unlocking should be guided by now clearly laid-down epidemiological parameters – test positivity rate, change in cases (measured by percentage growth on a weekly basis) and oxygen/ICU bed occupancy. Data on these parameters at the district level should guide decisions relating to lockdowns and unlocking. The National Institute of Epidemiology has developed a four-level alert system for implementing control measures at the district level. It has listed activities that can be allowed and those that need to be restricted in each level. Such a calibrated approach is missing in the current phase of unlocking. In Delhi, for instance, shopping malls have been allowed to reopen while public parks remain shut ignoring the fact that ventilation is a key factor to reduce the risk of spreading Covid-19.

Second, the period of unlocking is not being used for strategically increasing the vaccination coverage. The availability of vaccines continues to be less than required, and the pace of vaccination is way below the daily target needed to achieve the goal of vaccinating all adult Indian population by December 31. Given the continued shortfall in vaccine supplies, the effort should be to vaccinate more and more people in identified districts having susceptible population groups and high transmission areas. This was not done in January-March 2021 — vaccines were allocated to states based on their population and other factors — and is not being done now.

Vaccine requirements should be assessed in each city ward and at the village level for preparing micro plans. The emphasis should be on achieving coverage of fully vaccinated individuals. There is no point in touting large figures of those who have got one dose. For speedier coverage, vaccination centres should not restrict themselves to one vaccine. Both Covaxin and Covishield — and Sputnik when it is ready — should be made available at all centres.

Third, the window of opportunity before the next wave is not being fully utilised to identify and bridge critical gaps in the health system — infrastructure and manpower at all levels. Creating additional capacity for oxygen production and supply as well as ICU beds is just one aspect of preparedness at the tertiary level. We need to strengthen district hospitals and primary care facilities to ensure that big hospitals don't get overburdened in times of an outbreak or surge. Incidents of fire were reported from many ICU wards, indicating the lack of mandatory fire testing. District hospitals don't have paediatric ICU beds, in case children get affected in the next wave as widely speculated. Doctors and paramedical staff in government hospitals lack proper facilities for themselves and often complain of delay in getting salaries. ASHA workers — who are the backbone of the health system in rural areas — are poorly paid and are on strike in Maharashtra seeking higher wages. In May, health workers went on a day's national strike. Doctors have been agitating over the incidence of violence against them. Along with all these concerns, hangs the question of the likely

Traffic trial in Banihal tunnel successful

BANIHAL/JAMMU, JUNE 17

The two-hour-long first trial run of vehicular traffic through the double-tube four-lane Banihal-Qazigund tunnel along the 270-km Jammu-Srinagar National Highway was conducted successfully, officials said on Thursday. The 8.5-km-long tunnel, built at the cost of Rs 2,100 crore in 10 years, is at present going through the testing and commissioning process and is likely to become operational in coming weeks, they said.

It will bypass the Jawahar Tunnel and Shaitan Nalla, which is prone to heavy snowfall and slippery conditions during winters and results in a bottleneck in the strategically important road linking Kashmir to the rest of the country.

"The first trial run from both sides was conducted successfully from 4 pm to 6 pm on Wednesday," Muneeb Tak, Chief Manager of Navayuga Engineering Company, which began working on the tunnel in June 2011, said.

It would reduce the distance between Banihal in Jammu and Qazigund in Kashmir by 16 km. — PTI

Nadal pulls out of Wimbledon and Olympics

Rafa Nadal pulled out of Wimbledon and the Tokyo Olympics today, saying he took the decision after consultations with his team in a bid to prolong his career. The 35-year-old Spaniard said the two-week gap between the French Open and Wimbledon — which starts on June 28 — was not enough time for him to recuperate after a demanding claycourt season where he played in five tournaments. Nadal played at the Monte Carlo Masters, Barcelona, Madrid Masters and Rome Masters before the French Open, where he made a run to the semifinals and was knocked out by eventual champion Novak Djokovic.

India named spinners Ravindra Jadeja and Ravichandran Ashwin in a five-man bowling attack for the final. The pitch at the stadium on the outskirts of Southampton assists spin bowlers but rain started to fall today afternoon and more is forecast over the course of the match, prompting speculation that India might field only one slow bowler. However, at the pre-match captains' news conferences, India captain Virat Kohli said the weather forecast would have no bearing on the team selection which was announced shortly afterwards. India's Playing XI: Virat Kohli (Captain), Rohit Sharma, Shubman Gill, Cheteshwar Pujara, Ajinkya Rahane, Rishabh Pant, Ravindra Jadeja, R Ashwin, Jasprit Bumrah, Ishant Sharma and Mohammad Shami. ## After opening stand, India crumble

BRISTOL, JUNE 17

Shafali Verma hit a brilliant 90 in debut, while Smriti Mandhana made 78 before five quick wickets derailed India Women in the one-off Test. The visitors slumped to 187/5 in their first innings in reply to England's 396/9 declared at stumps on the second day here today.

Verma and Mandhana shared a 167-run partnership for the opening wicket before both departed in quick time as the collapse started for India. Shikha Pandey, skipper Mithali Raj and Punam Raut got out in quick succession as India lost five wickets for just 16 runs to hand England the upper hand.

At the close of play, Harmanpreet Kaur was batting on 4 in the company of Deepiti Sharma with India still trailing England by 209 runs.

Earlier, debutant Sophia Dunkley led the charge with a resolute unbeaten half-century and two crucial partnerships with tail-enders.

The NIA claimed that Mansukh Hiren, a Thane businessman, was killed at Sharma and former Mumbai top cop Sachin Vaze's behest as part of a "larger conspiracy".

Besides Sharma, the NIA has also arrested Satish Tirupati Mothkuri, alias Tanni Bhai, and Manish Vasant Soni Chincholi, both residents of Malad area of Mumbai, who allegedly killed Hiren.

The agency got "concrete evidence" against Sharma after the interrogation of Santosh Shellar and Anand Jadhav, who were arrested on June 11, said special public prosecutor Sunil Gonsalves.

the body was dumped in a creek, the NIA told the court. Further, the "murderers" called up Vaze and Sharma right after killing Hiren on March 4, it said.

The case was originally registered on February 15 under various sections of the IPC and Explosive Substances Act related to recovery of explosives in a Scorpio car at Carmichael Road in Mumbai.

CBSE: Schools' past performance to count

VIBHA SHARMA

NEW DELHI, JUNE 17

The CBSE today said marks in Class X, XI and XII will be considered in 30:30:40 ratio to compute the final result of Class XII students. More importantly, however, the final assessment will also depend on a school's past performance in Board examinations. The CBSE said institutions will be required to "moderate the marks" to account for school-level variation by using a reliable reference standard based on "historical performance". The total marks awarded should be in consonance with the past performance of the school in Class XII board examination, it said.

According to the CBSE, since marks of Class XI and XII component will be awarded at the school level, they will strictly not be comparable across schools due to the variations in the quality of question papers, evaluation standards, mode of conduct, etc. Therefore, to ensure standardisation, each school will have to internally

■ For students of other boards, the schools will have to enter information based on mark-sheets available with them

MIXED RESPONSE

- The assessment formula has drawn a mixed response from experts. While some called it "unbiased and time-bound" methodology in the current situation, others think it is "not quite fair", especially for students who have shown progress since Class X.
- Students do tend to take Class XI exams lightly, they say. Besides, there is this added component of a school's "performance".

55.7% kids, 63.5% adults with antibodies: AIIMS

Researchers say anticipated third Covid wave may not affect children much

ADITI TANDON

TRIBUNE NEWS SERVICE

NEW DELHI, JUNE 17

In the first national evidence that a probable third wave of Covid-19 may not affect children more, AIIMS, New Delhi, researchers have found antibodies against SARS-CoV-2 virus in more than 55 per cent of the children and over 60 per cent adults surveyed during the second wave.

Experts have reported large-scale Covid spread through the ferocious second wave finding antibodies to the virus in three out of five rural people surveyed. "Hopefully high levels of infections in parts may ward off a potential third wave," they say. Set for publication in peer reviewed journals, the study, in a first, also reveals that children and adults are equally susceptible to Covid-19.

Data for the ongoing study was collected from urban and rural areas of Delhi, Faridabad, Gorakhpur, Bhubaneshwar and Agartala between March 15 and June 10.

It revealed SARS-CoV-2 seropositivity rate of 55.7 per cent among children (under 18 years), 63.5 per cent among adults (over 18 years) and 62.3 per cent in the rural population.

"SARS-CoV-2 sero-positivity rate among children was high as comparable to adults. It is unlikely that any future third wave by prevailing Covid-19 variant will disproportionately affect children two years or older," said AIIMS New Delhi's Punit Misra, lead author of the paper which reported Covid prevalence in children under 10 for the first time.

The ICMR's December 2020

THE FINDINGS

- 62.3% rural population surveyed shows past infection
- 0-18 age group (school going) in south Delhi had as much seroprevalence (73.9%) as adults (74.8%)
- With children reporting high seroprevalence in congested urban Delhi, opening schools may not be risky
- Authors say study was done to see if a probable third wave will affect children more
- A health worker collects a swab sample. MUKESH AGGARWAL survey had covered 10 to 17 year olds finding 25 per cent infection rate, similar to adults.

The AIIMS research shows that during the second wave, Faridabad (rural) had a seroprevalence of 59.3 per cent across children and adults.

The school going age group in south Delhi had a high seroprevalence rate of 73.9 per cent as against 74.8 per cent in adults. "Gorakhpur rural has a very high seroprevalence of 87.9 per cent (80.6 per cent in 2 to 18 year olds and 90.3 per cent in adults). Hopefully these levels of infection should ward off any third wave," researchers say as the proportion of people susceptible to infection narrows.

Importantly, among children, while 2-4 year olds and 5-9 year segment had identical sero-positivity (42.4 per cent and 43.8 per cent), those aged 10 to 17 had 60.3 p per cent prevalence. The study found a slightly higher sero-positivity rate in female children and a wide Covid spread in kids.

Where the second national survey in August 2020 had reported 9 per cent Covid prevalence in 10-17 year olds, AIIMS has reported 60.3 per cent — multifold rise. The study covered 4,509 persons (700 children; 3,809 adults).

Centre in talks with American varsities over vax precondition

SANDEEP DIKSHIT

TRIBUNE NEWS SERVICE

NEW DELHI, JUNE 17

The government is in talks to sort out issues relating to American universities insisting on incoming Indian students to get inoculated with vaccines that have been approved by the WHO or are in use in the US.

While the US government has clarified that vaccination is not a requirement for air travel, several of its universities are seeking vaccination certificates that are causing inconvenience to Indian students. Some universities want incoming foreign students to be re-vaccinated by versions of Pfizer, Moderna and Johnson & Johnson. Some others want students to be pre-vaccinated only by

WHO-approved vaccines.

US universities are citing lack of data on efficacy and safety of these vaccines as the reason for insisting on students being asked to re-vaccinate before the start of the autumn semester. Pointing out that there is no uniformity in the requirements by universities, MEA spokesperson Arindam Bagchi said, "Everyone concerned is interested in ensuring that the students are able to reach the universities and undertake regular classes."

CBSE goes with 30:30:40 formula for Class XII

led by Justice AM Khanwilkar said. According to the scheme presented to the court, Class X, XI and XII marks will be considered in 30:30:40 ratio to prepare the final CBSE Class XII results, which would be declared by July 31.

Presenting a set of "objective criteria" of evaluation of Class XII students, Attorney General KK Venugopal said marks in best of three subjects would be considered for the purpose for Class X, XI and XII. While 30 per cent weightage would be given for Class X and XII, it would be 40 per cent for Class

XII, he said. For Class XII, the marks obtained in unit test or mid-term or pre-board examinations will be considered while 20 marks will be given for practical exams.

There will be a moderation committee to examine the difference in marking mechanism adopted by schools, Venugopal told the court. Schools are required to form a result committee to consider the marks of a student in the three examinations, and it would be vetted by the CBSE moderation committee, he explained.

The CBSE said the historical performance of the school, in terms of the best overall performance in the previous three years' board examination, would be taken as the reference for moderating the marks assessed by the schools for 2020-21.

The CBSE said if a student wasn't able to meet the qualifying criterion, he/she would be placed in "essential repeat" or "compartment" category.

However, the Council for the Indian School Certificate Examinations (CISCE) proposed a different set of criteria to compute marks based on performance of students in the last six years and declare results by July 20.

The CISCE evaluation formula takes into account marks percentage in Class XI board examinations, the project and practical work in subjects, performance of candidates in the school examinations in the subjects in Class XI and XII, measured through their best marks obtained in the two years (referred to as raw marks) and the best performance of the school in the last six years.

It has said that assessment of students would be done based on their marks obtained in Class X examination, performance in school examinations in Class XI and XII along with practical and performance of school in the last six years. The CISCE said among the factors used in the computation include best year for school (from 2015 to 2020); the best year for a school is the year when the school achieved the best average percentage in terms of the total scores (out of 500).

The SC said it would hear petitions seeking cancellation of state board examinations for Class XII in Punjab, Assam, Tripura and AP on June 21.

2 days after bail, student activists out of jail

Thursday they again moved the Delhi High Court, which expressed displeasure over the delay and asked the trial court to proceed with the issue with "promptitude and expedition".

In its order for the "immediate release" of the accused, the Delhi court said the delay in the verification process by the police could not be a plausible reason for the accused to be kept in jail after the grant of bail.

The Delhi Police have already moved the Supreme Court seeking reversal of the HC order granting bail to the trio on the ground that it held a "mini-trial" and read down the UAPA which would have far-reaching consequences.

The petition — which also sought a stay on the Delhi HC order — is likely to be taken up for hearing by the top court on Friday. —TNS
