Pb debt to double in five years: CAG

VISHAV BHARTI
TRIBUNE NEWS SERVICE

CHANDIGARH, MARCH 4

Punjab's financial crisis is set to worsen with the public debt likely to reach Rs 3.73 lakh crore by 2024-25, according to the latest report of the Comptroller & Auditor General of India.

As per projections made by the CAG using Semilog Linear Regression model, the state's public debt will be Rs 3,73,988 crore by 2024-25, which is more than double the public debt of Rs 1,79,130 crore as on March 31, 2019.

The debt swelled around four times in the past 10 years. It was around Rs 40,000 crore when the SAD-BJP alliance came to power in the state in 2006-07. A decade later, when they lost elections in 2016-17, the debt stood around Rs 1,53,773 crore.

YEAR	PUBLIC DEBT
2028-29	₹6,33,159 cr
2024-25	₹3,73,988 cr
2019-20	₹1,93,659 cr
2014-15	₹86,818 cr
2009-10	₹53,252 cr

Even the Congress rule over the past four years could not bring economy back on track. Between 2016-17 and 2018-19, the state saw the debt go up by around Rs 25,500 crore. For the past many years, the state has been repaying its earlier borrowings utilising around 73 per cent of its new borrowings.

Sons dead, kin struggle to reconcile with loss

100 days of FARM STIR

SUKHMEET BHASIN

BATHINDA, MARCH 4 It's been nearly 100 days since farmers began their agitation on the Delhi borders. The families of young farmers who lost their lives during the stir are yet to come to terms with the loss.

Farmer Jatinder Singh (22) of Fatta Maluka village in Mansa district died in a road mishap on way to Delhi.

In order to show solidarity with the protesting farmers, he took his tractor-trailer and headed towards Delhi in December along with a few villagers but on the way, a Canter hit his tractor and killed him near Hisar.

Sukhpal Singh, Jatinder's father, said, "I had to go to the Delhi protest, but Jatinder told me that his friends from the village were going there so he will join them. So I dropped my plan."

He says if he had gone to Delhi that day instead of his son, the latter would have been alive.

Gursewak Singh, village sarpanch, said the family was inconsolable. Jatinder had got married just a month and a half ago. "This is the worst that can happen to a newlywed couple," he added.

Jaspreet Singh (18), a resident of Chauke village, in the Maur tehsil in Bathinda, is probably one of the youngest of the casualties that took place during the farmers' protest at the Singhu and Tikri borders.

Around two months have passed since his demise but his parents are in a state of mourning and still can't believe their son is no more.

Gurmail Singh, father of Jaspreet, said, "We still don't believe that our only son is no more. He was preparing for Army recruitment as he wanted to serve the nation. He was of the view that one member of every farmer family should participate in the protest as the laws were against the farmers."

Gurmail says they never thought that the farmer agitation would change their life forever, and now, they were left with nothing.

21-yr-old exhorted youth to join agitation in Delhi

TRIBUNE NEWS SERVICE

JALANDHAR, MARCH 4 "Our lives have been destroyed. There is no one to help us now," says Jagtar Singh, 61, whose 21-year-old son died during a road accident while coming back from the Singhu border.

On December 16, 2020, Gurpreet Singh, a young progressive farmer from Makkowal Jabba village in Nawanshahr, died when the tractor he was driving collided with a truck near Ambala. Gurpreet's death has left his parents and 90-year-old grandmother shattered.

Planning to go to Singhu after his son returned, Jagtar has no clue who will manage his land now.

It was Gurpreet who had exhorted the village youth to go to the protest site at Singhu.

Jagtar says, "Gurpreet urged village youth to go to Singhu. He asked them not to worry about the tractor-trailer cost as he promised them that he would take his own."

"Gurpreet said we must take part in the agitation against the new farm laws. He said history was being made by the farmers' protest in Delhi," recalls Jagtar.

While Jagtar's elder son lives in Australia, the family owns just 5 acres of land and has a Rs 17-lakh pending debt.

Jagtar says, "Gurpreet had got a three-year visa for Australia. He went there for three months, but returned soon. He said rather than doing hard labour there, why shouldn't he work on his own land here. He loved Punjab."

Jagtar says, "Our house isn't the same. My elder son was abroad and younger with me. I was happy. Now Gurpreet has left us. Who will look after the fields now? However, if the central farm laws are not revoked, we will lose our fields as well. It's a fight for existence."

Sole breadwinner gone, family pleads for govt job

SANGRUR, MARCH 4

After the death of sole breadwinner Shamsher Singh (45) at Delhi's Kundli border on January 3 during the ongoing farmers' agitation, the landless family of Lidhran village has been struggling to make ends meet. Though the government has released Rs 5 lakh financial aid to the family, lack of any source of regular income has multiplied their woes.

Shamsher, who ran a dairy here, had been supporting the agitation since the start despite being landless. Apart from protesting at the Delhi border, he had been frequenting other sites, including at Sangrur and surrounding areas.

"My three children, including two sons and a daughter, are studying in different classes. My husband worked hard and even contributed to the agitation from his meagre income. Since he died saving the farming community, the state government should give us a job. We do not have any other source of income," said his wife Gurjeet Kaur.

Shamsher's father Nirbhai Singh (68), who also runs a dairy in the village, has been supporting the family.

"The Punjab Government should at least hire a family member of those who have died during the protests. I am willing to join any post as per my eligibility," said Jagpreet. Action sought against Cong MLA for 'lying'

CHANDIGARH, MARCH 4

SAD legislator Baldev Khaira today demanded privilege proceedings against Congress MLA Dr Raj Kumar Chabbewal for lying in the Vidhan Sabha that the 85th Amendment pertaining to extension of reservation in promotions to Scheduled Caste and Scheduled Tribe employees had been implemented in Punjab.

Raising the issue during zero hour, Khaira said there was despair amongst SC/ST employees that the amendment was not being enforced in the state despite assurances. He condemned the Congress for giving lip sympathy to the Dalit community but not doing anything to ameliorate its lot. — TNS

CHANDIGARH, MARCH 4 Amidst two walkouts in the Vidhan Sabha on the fourth day of the Budget Session today, the Opposition parties continued their attack on the Congress government over reservation in promotion for socially disadvantaged sections, poor public health facilities for Covid patients, and high taxes on retail fuel.

The AAP was the first to stage a walkout over non-implementation of the provisions of 85th Amendment of the Constitution, which ensures benefit of reservation to Scheduled Caste and Scheduled Tribe employees in matters of promotion and subsequent seniority.

Incidentally, the issue was raised by Akali MLA Baldev Singh, but Leader of Opposition Harpal Cheema took over the issue, saying though the Vidhan Sabha had endorsed it after approval by the Chief Minister and his Cabinet, the state bureaucracy was creating hurdles in its implementation.

Cheema, while opening the debate during the zero hour, pointed out that the Class 3 and 4 jobs in the government were now being filled through outsourcing and the government was not implementing the formula of reservation in these outsourced appointments.

In spite of assurance by Social Welfare Minister Sadhu Singh Dharamsot, saying he would get the 85th Amendment implemented, the AAP was in no mood to relent and demanded action against officials responsible for creating hurdles in its implementation.

They sought appearance of responsible officers before the Privileges Committee of the House and stormed into the well of the House, raising slogans against the government, before staging a walkout.

Shortly thereafter, the Akali MLAs, who had come to the Vidhan Sabha riding bullock carts to send across the message that retail fuel prices were skyrocketing, staged a walkout on the issue. SAD legislative wing leader Sharanjit Singh Dhillon demanded an assurance from the government that it would reduce VAT on petrol and diesel immediately.

When the treasury benches failed to pay heed to the demand, the SAD legislators staged a walkout. Dhillon, while speaking on the issue, said the SAD was ready to join the state government and approach the Centre to reduce the prices of petroleum products.

"However, before this is done, the Congress government must come to the aid of farmers and the common man by reducing VAT on petrol and diesel."

Resolution passed for panel on groundwater

TRIBUNE NEWS SERVICE

CHANDIGARH, MARCH 4 Cutting across party lines, the Vidhan Sabha unanimously passed a resolution to form a committee of MLAs to examine and suggest means of improving the depleting groundwater.

A consensus was arrived at following a discussion by members of the treasury and Opposition benches on issues related to depleting groundwater.

Finance Minister Manpreet Badal said since the state government was short of funds, there was a need for the Centre to constitute a fund for agriculture research with an aim to save water. He stressed the need for crop diversification and getting out of the wheat-rice cycle.

SAD MLA Harinderpal Singh Chandumajra objected to Badal's suggestion to hand over agriculture research to the Centre, saying this would further compromise the powers of states, even as he asked the state government to take concrete steps to tackle the problem. He said there was a need to put up a strong case for allocation of more central funds for agriculture research, instead of abrogating the responsibility. The only way out was to augment the canal irrigation system in the state, he said.

Rural Development Minister Tripti Bajwa informed the House that the resolution adopted by the House would be implemented in letter and spirit by the government.

CHANDIGARH, MARCH 4

The BJP will reach out to every household in the state in the next few months to raise awareness about the economic and national interests safeguarded by the Modi government, said Dinesh Kumar, organisational secretary of the BJP, here today.

Oppn alleges poor health facilities, govt hits back

CHANDIGARH, MARCH 4

The "deteriorating" public health facilities in Punjab generated a lot of debate in the Vidhan Sabha today as members of the legislative Assembly discussed the "failure" of health services during the spread of Covid-19.

The issue came up for discussion when AAP MLA from Jaiton Baldev Singh Kalyan sought information from Health Minister Balbir Singh Sidhu about the amount incurred on Covid-affected persons in Faridkot, and the facilities pro-

CHANDIGARH, MARCH 4

Former Cabinet Minister Navjot Singh Sidhu today "reminded" his own government to exercise its democratic power to legislate laws to ensure minimum support price (MSP) on oilseeds, lentils and other crops so as to encourage farmers to get out of the "wheat-rice cycle" that gets MSP from the Centre.

The decision, among others, was taken at the meeting of the executive committee chaired by SGPC president Bibi Jagir Kaur today.

HC prohibits instruction to probe officers against arresting accused

DGP told to ensure 'foolproof system' for ordering further investigation

STRANGE PRACTICE NOTICED, SAYS JUDGE

■ A very strange practice is noticed in many cases that under the garb of inquiry after FIR, the investigating officers are directed by senior police officers not to arrest a suspect, despite his anticipatory bail being dismissed by the court of law. — Justice Arvind Singh Sangwan, HIGH COURT of either the complainant or the accused. Directions were also issued for passing a reasoned order by a senior police officer in case subsequent or further investigation was to be ordered.

Justice Sangwan also ruled that senior police officers could not issue instructions to the investigating officers against arresting an accused during investigations.

Justice Arvind Singh Sangwan ruled that a report on the status of investigation from the Senior Superintendent of Police/Commissioner of Police of the district concerned was a must before transferring investigation or ordering further probe, on a complaint/FIR, at the instance anticipatory bail being dismissed by the court of law... No such instructions can be issued and investigating officers cannot be directed not to arrest an accused on this pretext," he said.

Justice Sangwan also ruled that initial or subsequent inquiries could not be ordered after the registration of the FIR. The investigation can only be transferred. An inquiry could be conducted only in case of pre-registration of an FIR in view of the judgment in the case of "Lalita Kumari versus the State of UP and others".

Justice Sangwan asserted that it was a well-settled law as held by the Supreme Court in a number of cases that the power for further investigation was with a magistrate under the provisions of the CrPC. For re-investigation or its transfer, a party could approach the High Court.

He asserted: "It is worth noticing that there is no provision in the CrPC to order an inquiry/second inquiry after the registration of FIR as only investigation or re-investigation can be done. An inquiry can be done only in case of pre-registration of FIR as per direction of Court under Section 156, CrPC, or under Section 154, CrPC."

Fixing the matter for the first week of May, Justice Sangwan directed the filing of a fresh affidavit by the DGP/Director, Bureau of Investigation, on compliance of instructions.

Dissent is not sedition

SC lays down norm, time to erase colonial-era law

THE Supreme Court of India deserves unreserved praise for its decision to dismiss a sedition petition against former Jammu and Kashmir Chief Minister Farooq Abdullah with a fine of Rs 50,000. The Bench of Justices Sanjay Kishan Kaul and Hemant Gupta has laid down a much-needed norm when it ordered that dissent is not sedition. Unfortunately, the colonial-era law, which says that 'whoever by words, either spoken or written, or by signs, or by visible representation or otherwise brings or attempts to bring into hatred or contempt, or excites or attempts to excite disaffection towards the government shall be punished with imprisonment for life', still remains as Section 124A of the Indian Penal Code. None of the founding fathers or the subsequent liberal governments found this vague and draconian provision distasteful enough to get it removed from the statute book. Hence, the constitutional court's order assumes the status of a touchstone for the legality of the application of 124A.

The learned judges have made it clear that dissent or disagreement with the decisions of the Central government is not sedition. So, Disha Ravi and Farooq Abdullah cannot be prosecuted simply because they do not agree with the government on farm laws or the abrogation of Article 370. There is no democracy without dissent and debate. The court has correctly identified the petitioners' attempt as 'publicity interest litigation', and by imposing the fine it has sent a cautionary message out to frivolous and politically motivated litigants.

That the order came the very same day a Washington-based think tank, Freedom House, downgraded India's status from 'free' to 'partly free' points to two conflicting facets of India's present-day predicament. While our institutions try to remain free, there is an attempt by those like the petitioners in the Abdullah case to make the country 'partly free' by gagging dissent using those very institutions. The government should ensure that its image does not get sullied any further by its police or vigilante groups, and it is in its interest to showcase India's free media and all other democratic institutions.

No country for women

Irrespective of position, they are exploited, abused

THIS court shudders to think as to what would have happened if the victim was an officer belonging to a lower cadre... If that is the position in which lady officers are placed, it is hard to think as to what will happen if such sexual harassment had taken place on an ordinary lady with no background.' These remarks of a Madras High Court Bench last week as it took suo motu notice of the struggle faced by a woman IPS officer in bringing to dock her senior, a Special DGP of Tamil Nadu, for alleged sexual harassment and subsequent abuse of authority to influence the case sadly sum up the general patriarchal oppression in our society. Women, irrespective of having achieved high positions in workplaces, remain unsafe from unwelcome overtures of predatory men lurking at every other corner. That a staggering one in three women has faced sexual or physical violence points to the myopic mindset of men that sees women as inferiors or chattels.

Incidentally, technology is coming to the rescue of victims, though many times it also becomes a source of blackmail. The horrible incident of girls at a hostel in Jalgaon, Maharashtra, being reportedly stripped and forced to dance by policemen is another case of rampant misuse of power and position by law enforcers and protectors. The case would have, perhaps, not found resonance in the state's Assembly and calls for justice not made but for the emergence of its video recording. Equally reprehensible is the alleged sex-for-job scandal that has embroiled Karnataka Water Resources Minister Ramesh Jarkiholi. Though pleading not guilty, he was forced to resign a day later when an incriminating video surfaced.

However, the final delivery of justice to the victims is a long haul even after the registration of the case. The NCRB 2019 report indicates a grim pendency in courts of 90 per cent and a conviction rate of less than 25 per cent in crimes against women. Instilling in boys the values of respecting girls and women and treating them as equals is essential to curb the oppression that they are subjected to.

THOUGHT FOR THE DAY

Justice is sweet and musical; but injustice is harsh and discordant. — Henry David Thoreau

ON THIS DAY...100 YEARS AGO

The Tribune.

LAHORE, SATURDAY, MARCH 5, 1921

THE DUKE'S FAREWELL

FOR obvious reasons, the farewell speech of His Royal Highness the Duke of Connaught will touch a deeper chord in the hearts of the people of India than any of his previous utterances. Not only was it made when his official visit had practically come to an end and when he was, therefore, speaking more as a great and honoured citizen of one part of the Empire addressing the people of another, than as the representative of the British Government, but there were sentiments in it unlike those that had found expression in the naturally formal, rigid and conventional speeches made on ceremonial occasions. That one sentence in which he said that he had not moved among India's peoples and her cities, with deaf ears and closed eyes, that he had seen and read and listened and tried to sift the grain from the chaff, which constituted the keynote of the speech, was in itself of profound significance. The Duke knew what vigorous efforts had been made by officials and semi-official agencies to produce upon his mind the impression that all was well with India, that she was at peace with herself and the world, that happiness and contentment reigned supreme in the land, and that it was only a microscopic minority of her people who were dissatisfied with things and were trying to foment trouble. There is the same note of understanding in the message which he said he was taking back with him to England. "I shall say this," he said, "that greater effort must be made in England to understand and appreciate the Indian point of view. The voice of India has not carried the weight and does not carry the weight which India has a right to claim." Is this not the truth? Is not a proper understanding and appreciation of the Indian point of view in England the paramount need of the hour, the one obvious key to the solution of the Indian problem?

Upholding the spirit of law

We still have 'fair' judges who have woken up to their remit to dispense justice

TRYSTS AND TURNS

JULIO RIBEIRO

AS institutions meant to uphold constitutional morality crumble like ninepins, it is gratifying that judges in high courts and district courts have risen to oppose the steady erosion of values in governance and the diminishing of hope in human minds.

Judge Dharmender Rana's order on the bail application of Disha Ravi, the 22-year-old Bengaluru-based climate activist charged with sedition, was awaited by youth with bated breath. There was jubilation when it was announced. The jubilation was muted because of the fear created by the State that made ordinary men and women wonder who would be next. The same fear had gripped Hindu residents of Punjab at the height of terrorism in the '80s.

Why did the judge grant Disha Ravi's request for bail and refused Safoora Zargar's plea for similar relief? The most probable (and charitable) answer would be that Disha was charged with IPC offences only whereas Safoora was saddled with the draconian UAPA, which makes it almost impossible to release an accused on bail.

Both, Disha and Safoora, were in their twenties and wrongly charged with serious crimes like sedition and creating enmity between different classes of citizens. Safoora, incidentally, was a Muslim, six years older than Disha and pregnant to boot. She was protesting against the CAA/NRC laws that discriminated against Muslims.

If it was a fact that the judge secretly was prejudiced against her because of her religious identity, as some seem to doubt, it would have been highly detestable. But that was obviously not so. There are myriad other factors that could have played a part in helping him make up his mind. In Disha's case the judge had mentioned 'conscience' as the principal reason for hesitating to grant the Delhi Police request for further custody. Perhaps, his conscience kept troubling him since the day he rejected Safoora's plea, made in February 2020.

NOT ON: People can't be charged with sedition for opposing government policy. REUTERS

Many citizens have voiced concern over the disappearance of logic in courts of law when dealing with activists and those who voiced dissent against government policies.

Over the past year, many citizens have voiced their concern over the gradual disappearance of logic and justice in courts of law when dealing with activists, protesters and those who voiced dissent against government's policies. The not-very-subtle prejudice of Hindutva loyalists against the largest minority has led to the police in UP and Delhi to pick on issues like 'love jihad' and anti-CAA/NRC protests to visit sedition and UAPA charges against relatively peaceful members of the minority community.

The crescendo of liberal voices may have had its effect on the judge. After all, he is human like those he faces in the courts every day. The important thing is that he has spoken. He chose his words carefully. They stung the conscience of those who listened. And to those who were not moved, I say 'where is your humanity', your milk of human kindness, and above all, your sense of proportion? How can any citizen who is not ideologically committed not be moved when their country men or women are pilloried for opposing policies that they feel are wrong?

It is gratifying to note that there are many judges in the high courts and even sessions courts who have woken up to their remit to dispense justice and decide fairly. In the Delhi HC, Justice S Muralidhar was shifted overnight to the Punjab and Haryana High Court before he could indict the BJP leaders responsible for triggering the NE Delhi riots in February 2020.

In the Aurangabad Bench of the Bombay High Court, Justices TV Nalawade and KK Sonawane quashed the cases against the Indonesian and Malaysian clerics, wrongly accused of spreading Covid by mingling in Muslim localities in different parts of India after contracting it in Delhi. They had attended an annual religious gathering in Delhi of Muslim clerics from Asia. It was bold of these judges to go against the official line of putting the blame for the spread of the disease on the clerics, though it was common knowledge that Covid-19 had proliferated across classes, communities and geographies in India.

A Division Bench of the Allahabad High Court's Lucknow Bench took suo motu notice of the inhuman act of the UP Police in preventing the parents and relatives of a Dalit girl, who had been raped and killed by four upper-caste youths, from performing her last rites. The court was aware that the UP Government was batting for upper caste youth since the local Rajput community had come out in favour of the alleged culprits. Yet, the judges acted as per their conscience.

Even in Gujarat, Modiji's and Amit Shah's parent state, the Chief Justice and Justice Pardiwala ruled against a demand of assorted Hindutva groups to permit a rath yatra in Ahmedabad in violation of Covid restrictions. Since those aligned with the ruling party were allowed a free run in most matters, this order in Modiji's own backyard was least expected.

We have judges who are firm in insisting on doing their bit to uphold the independence of the judiciary. These recent decisions, particularly in the Disha case, and soon afterwards in Nodeep Kaur's case by the Punjab and Haryana High Court, have revived hopes among common citizens that justice will prevail. Just as we were losing hope, our spirits have revived.

The Modi government has been charging activists with sedition, though the judgment in Kedar Nath v/s State of Bihar is now settled law. This government and the police forces under its command can only be brought to heel if the SC foists contempt notices on the offending police officers whenever the Kedar Nath judgment is breached.

It is pertinent that the lower courts have taken up the task of disciplining errant police officers out to please their political masters. Thank goodness for judge Rana and the high court that set free Nodeep Kaur. They are the harbingers of justice. If injustice is allowed to proceed unchecked, our India would not be a land of 'achhe din'.

The man who knew Sahir inside out

SUMIT PAUL

TO know a person, one has to swallow the whole world,' wrote the ever-polemical writer Salman Rushdie. But to know a man like Sahir Ludhianvi, whose 100th birth anniversary falls on March 8, even the world is not enough. One has to swallow the whole universe! Sahir remained an enigma till he breathed his last in 1980. 'Ik muamma hoon main khud ke liye bhi/Mujhe samjhogi duniya mere jaune ke baad hi,' (I'm a conundrum even to my own self/The world will understand me once I bid adieu to it), Sahir sent this couplet to his Jalandhar-born friend and composer Muhammad Zahoor Khayyam 'Hashmi'.

Though temperamental, Sahir interacted with all, but was taciturn. He treated most people in the film industry as acquaintances and only a couple of them as friends. Rafi, Khayyam and composer Ravishankar Sharma (popularly known as Ravi) were his friends. While pursuing a doctorate on Mohammad Rafi, I needed to interview Ravi because he had composed fabulous songs for Rafi.

Since Ravi and Sahir teamed up to create music for 17-odd films, they were extremely close. Ravi told me during an interview that the day Rafi breathed his last (July 31, 1980), Sahir cried and phoned him, 'Pheeko chala gaya.'

Sahir was perhaps the only man in the film industry who called Rafi by his sobriquet 'Pheeko' as both the greats were originally from Punjab. Rafi was from Kotla Sultan Singh in Amritsar. So shaken was Sahir by his younger friend's death that he lost zeal for life and followed suit after three months.

A chain-smoker, Sahir smoked even while eating. His way of not liking a tune was to exhale rings of smoke at the composer's face because he insisted that the film score should be composed for his lyrics and not the other way around. Sahir was almost a misanthrope who disliked directors and producers, narrating the background for the songs he was supposed to write. He'd say rather tersely, '15 minute se zyada nahiin'. Throughout the sessions, he smoked and looked bored. But that bored genius would write, 'Man re, tu kaahe na dheer dhare' (Chitrakatha, 1964) or 'Sansaar ki han shai ka itna hi fasana hai' (Dhund, 1973).

Sahir would tell Ravi, 'Filmon ke liye gaane likhna doy়ar deka kaam hai' (writing songs for films is a mediocre task). He hated the 'condescending' label of a lyricist because he considered himself a poet and nearly left Bombay in 1965 at the zenith of his career; when he got to know that despite including his immortal creation, 'Man re, tu kaahe na dheer dhare' in the syllabus of MA Urdu at Calcutta University, the Senate decided to remove it because it was a film song!

His finest creation was included as a part of South Asian literature by the University of Reading in South England in 1980. Alas, the poet-lyricist had already left the world. Though over four decades have elapsed, Sahir's poetry still stirs the hearts and minds of listeners. By the way, Ravi's 95th birth anniversary was on March 3.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Another caged parrot

The SC had used the words 'a caged parrot' for the CBI sometime back. Now, it is true about the income tax department. It was surprising to learn about the raids on the premises of Anurag Kashyap and actor Taapsee Pannu. Is it because they spoke against this government and in favour of farmers, civil activists and JNU students? This dictatorial government is muzzling the voices of people. Activists like Varavara Rao, Gautam Navlakha and Sudha Bharadwaj were incarcerated. No wonder India has slipped on the world democracy list.

JS WADHWA, KAPURTHALA

A struggling Congress

Refer to 'Post Anand Sharma poser, Cong defends deal with ISF'; the party is having a tough time adapting to the changing trajectory of Indian politics. One remembers the strong leadership of Indira Gandhi, who handled the syndicate (powerful party leaders) and worked hard to regain the ground lost by the party in the 1967 General Election. Even after the split in the Congress, she was able to win the midterm elections because she had a genuine agenda. This is lacking in the Congress these days. The 'sanyukt morcha' does not have a clear stance on seat sharing. The infighting reminds one of the collapse of the Janata Party which won the 1977 General Election but failed to make a mark as the alliance slumped due to infighting for power. The Congress needs to reinstate itself as an umbrella party which can tackle different opinions and ideologies.

JASHAN GOYAL, BATHINDA

Guaranteed farm prices

Refer to 'It's changed for Spain's farmers'; the case is of further consideration in the present Indian context. Farmers in India are demanding MSP guarantee and repeal of the new farm Acts. If a mechanism is devised to calculate a base price (on cost plus basis) for all 32 crops, along with a band of upper and lower prices to be followed by all stakeholders, at least on the first stage of supply chain (buying from farmer), it would protect the farmers from the volatility of the market.

Vaccinate teachers

It is heartening to see that the vaccine for Covid-19 has been made in a record time and is being given in an effective manner. At the same time, the spurt in new cases has caused some worry also. Schoolchildren and teachers account for a good number of fresh cases. To deal with this situation, the teachers should be put in the priority category for administering the vaccine so that they are able to perform their duties fearlessly and effectively.

RAVINDER MITTAL, BY MAIL

Vaccination of elderly

The government has started another phase of Covid-19 vaccination to cover senior citizens, but with prior registration. It is a fact that getting registered through the relevant portal, or even otherwise, may be difficult for most senior citizens. The best way is that the authorities concerned should chalk out a list of senior citizens by accessing their DoB from voter lists and get them registered for the vaccination in coordination with the health authorities. The date and time of vaccination may be intimated to the persons concerned so that they could avail of this facility concerned and without any stress.

Biomass disposal

The crisis brought upon by the pandemic has altered global waste generation dynamics and therefore has necessitated attention. The unexpected fluctuations in waste composition and quantity also require a dynamic response from policymakers, especially in small towns and villages where we find no units to dispose of biomaterials except primary healthcare units. Failure to properly manage the waste generated, like masks and gloves from individuals may have serious consequences to human health, besides environmental ramifications.

No fear of law

Apropos of 'Hathras re-run', the shameful cases of stalking, molestation and rape are on the rise everywhere, like a pandemic. The police cannot be present every time everywhere. In fact, it is the fear of law and speedy justice which deter crime. Unfortunately, in our country, corruption among law enforcing agencies and tardy judicial system embolden the perpetrators. Riding on the back of power and self, abusers of women manage to go scot free. It is also happening due to the nexus between criminals and politicians.

US walks a tightrope on Khashoggi report own laws. And former Secretary of State Mike Pompeo has jumped into the fray by calling the release of the report 'reckless' and a 'political stunt' suggesting that the Biden administration wants to develop a relationship with Iran and destroy the one with Saudi Arabia.

The varying reactions point to the effort of the Biden administration to walk a fine line between a robust interpretation of US interests and a softer definition of US values. Neither is set in stone. US interests in Saudi Arabia have tended to shift over time from seeing the country as a vital source of oil and a strategic counterweight to Iran to a lucrative market for defence hardware and a possible partner for Israel. US values have also been similarly elastic; each new administration states a commitment to human rights as part of its values package, but the balance tilts towards core interests when a choice has to be made.

This does not mean that it will be business as usual. The Trump/Kushner combine had developed an especially cosy relationship with Riyadh and with MBS in particular. Trump's first overseas visit was to Saudi Arabia in May 2017 and Jared Kushner remained a frequent visitor till the final weeks of the Trump administration. Under Biden, the White House has indicated that they will be dealing with King Salman on a 'counterpart to counterpart' basis. Biden's efforts to revive the Joint Comprehensive Plan of Action (JCPOA) nuclear deal with Iran and his distaste for Israeli Prime Minister Netanyahu will only add to the flux. At the same time, the strong bipartisan sentiment in Congress against MBS will keep US-Saudi relations unsettled. For now, both sides might be satisfied if bilateral ties stabilise at the pre-Trump level.

However, the strident demands for action against MBS are unlikely to subside anytime soon and these bring up a larger issue. Saudi Arabia and the other Arab countries of the Gulf are absolute monarchies. None of them makes any claim to be a democracy and repression of political dissent is par for the course. And while the sheer brutality of Khashoggi's murder makes it particularly egregious, violence against political opponents isn't exactly unusual in the region. From Hafez Assad's siege and demolition of the old city of Hama in 1982 to Saddam Hussein's use of mustard gas and the nerve agent sarin in Halabja in 1988; from the 9/11 attacks on the US in 2001 to the Rabaa massacre of some 800 unarmed protesters in Cairo on August 14, 2013 — the litany of egregious use of violence is long and depressing.

Religion and authoritarian rule lie at the heart of the fault lines in the region and over the past four decades, Saudi Arabia has been regarded as the fountainhead of some of the worst manifestations of religious extremism. This is often attributed to the resurgence of the Wahhabi clergy and their insistence on a medieval, ultra-conservative interpretation of Islam after the attack on the Great Mosque in Mecca in 1979. The malign influence of the Wahhabi doctrine has been felt in radical and militant groups from Egypt to the Philippines, in Pakistan and even in India, albeit to a more limited extent.

MBS, for all his flaws, is trying to change that. He has embarked on an ambitious and perilous mission to 'normalise' Saudi Arabia and to roll back the unbridled power that the Wahhabi clergy had acquired. This isn't just limited to the headline-grabbing reforms about women being allowed to drive or about cinema, music concerts and sport becoming a part of the entertainment scene. The changes run deeper. School textbooks are being cleansed of hateful references to other religions; laws are being reframed to bring them in line with the 21st century; and women are being unshackled and encouraged to participate in economic activity. The Saudi Vision 2030 document being promoted by MBS deserves a careful reading to get a sense of the scale on which change is underway.

Much of the reform agenda is being pushed down from the top. In the process, deeply entrenched vested interests are being upended and the opposition from the clergy and from sections of the royal family itself is predictable. The reform process isn't democratic and there are times when reform & repression travel side by side.

WINDS OF CHANGE: MBS is a man in a hurry to lift his country from the bootstraps and the predominantly young population of the country seems to endorse his vision. REUTERS

ASEAN diplomacy on test in Myanmar crisis

LUV PURI

EX-MEMBER OF UN SECRETARY GENERAL'S GOOD OFFICES ON MYANMAR

As the anti-coup protests continue to rage in Myanmar and the military intensifies repression, the countries from the Association of Southeast Asian Nations (ASEAN), a premier regional intergovernmental organisation comprising 10 countries, have collectively and in their individual capacity stepped up their diplomatic engagement with the Myanmar military leadership and voiced concern over the fast-changing developments.

After convening an informal online meeting on March 2, ASEAN foreign ministers released a statement which called on all parties (in Myanmar) to refrain from instigating violence, and for all sides to exercise utmost restraint as well as flexibility. Reports suggest that only four members — Indonesia, Malaysia, the Philippines and Singapore — called for the release of detainees, including the National League for Democracy (NLD) leader Suu Kyi. A lack of a more condemnatory ASEAN statement on the military coup is not surprising, considering the diversity of political systems in the region and their varied approaches on the issue. Within ASEAN, the engagement of Thailand and Indonesia has a greater relative salience in influencing events in Myanmar and it is this that requires more scrutiny. In that context, newly appointed Myanmar's Foreign Minister (FM) U Winna Maung Lwin, who had also served under President Thein Sein (2011-16), had met his Thailand and Indonesia counterparts in Bangkok on February 25.

Indonesian Foreign Minister Retno Marsudi pointed out that in the three-way meeting between the FMs of three South East Asian countries, she had stressed that the "well-being of the people of Myanmar was the number one priority."

"We ask for everybody to use restraint and not resort to violence... to avoid casualties and bloodshed," Marsudi is no stranger to Myanmar. At the peak of August-September 2017 Rohingya crisis, Marsudi had shuttled between Bangladesh and Myanmar to lower tensions between the two countries. Indonesia has always maintained high profile on Myanmar-related issues. And going by Indonesia's previous approach of avoiding megaphone diplomacy, including by Marsudi's predecessor Marty Natalegawa, much of the substance of the interlocution that would have possibly embarrassed the military leadership seems to have been omitted in Marsudi's press conference. Quoting sources, Reuters reported that Indonesia was proposing that the ASEAN members send monitors to ensure the Generals stick to their promise of fair new elections.

It is not hard to find out why Thailand and Indonesia are important in the present context. Apart from the 2,416-km-long Thailand-Myanmar border, a large number of low-paid Myanmar diaspora lives in Thailand, the source of remittance for the poverty-stricken country.

Many Myanmar dissidents, including those from the majority ethnic group Bamar and other ethnic minorities, had taken shelter after the 1988 uprising, particularly in Chiang Mai area in its north. It had been common for the Myanmar ministers, particularly minister from the President's Office Aung Min, in Thein Sein government, to visit Chiang Mai to hold talks with the leaders of ethnic armed groups. Ironically, the position taken by the NLD in power was much more intransigent in this respect as it objected to any engagement with Myanmar-related dissident groups based in Thailand. Thailand, with its own recent history of coups, has refrained from taking a position on Myanmar. Present Thailand Prime Minister Prayuth Chan-ocha had himself seized power in a 2014 coup and his present stay in power is attributed to anti-democratic means, including a skewed electoral system under a military-scripted Constitution.

In terms of an example to replicate, the Republic of Indonesia is seen as closer to the Republic of Myanmar than the Kingdom of Thailand, which is a constitutional monarchy. Founded in 1945 to fight against the Dutch colonial rule, it retained a pre-eminent role after independence, not too dissimilar to Myanmar military or Tatmadaw's journey, through the self-serving doctrine known as 'dual function' (dwig fungsi); protecting territorial integrity and maintaining political-cum-social order. President Suharto, former army general, ruled the country from 1967 to 1998, even as General Ne Win was Myanmar's ruler from 1962 to 1988.

One-fifth of seats in the Parliament were reserved for the military that ran the political economy in Indonesia. The Indonesian army used to invoke the term 'guided democracy' whereas Tatmadaw repeatedly mentions the term 'disciplined democracy'. After President Suharto's resignation, a period of reformasi (reformation) followed that witnessed reforms that aimed to limit the military's role in politics even though the military and their families continue to wield considerable influence over the country's political landscape. In Myanmar, the military nominates 30 per cent of the Members of Parliament. No amendments can be passed in Myanmar's Parliament without the approval of 75 per cent of Members of Parliament. With these similarities between Indonesia and Myanmar, there was an expectation that in the context of last one decade of Myanmar's democratic transition, gradual extrication by the Indonesia army from civilian institutions was a possible roadmap for the Myanmar military.

Outside the ASEAN grouping, India's position is unique in Myanmar's context as it has a good rapport with both the military leadership and the pro-democratic forces. In contrast, there were protests by pro-democracy forces outside the Chinese embassy in Myanmar recently against China's support to the military. India also enjoys goodwill with most of the ASEAN countries, particularly Indonesia and Thailand, and India's support to the regional initiative with calibrated messaging, both public and private, will carry substantial weight.

Even with greater ability to sensitise Tatmadaw to the international concern over the situation, the expectation that Thailand and Indonesia could cause an immediate course correction by Tatmadaw's leadership will be a stretch. In the coming days and months, the much-touted ASEAN style of diplomacy or the ability of countries like Indonesia or Thailand, seen to be close to Myanmar, will be on test and it remains to be seen how far the regional entity or regional actors can influence Tatmadaw to shun its instinctual desire to rule indefinitely.

Left with no option, sons to work in fields

DEEPENDER DESWAL
TRIBUNE NEWS SERVICE

JIND, MARCH 4
The death of Randhir Singh (51) due to heart failure at the Tikri border on February 5 has unleashed countless miseries on his widow and two children.

The owner of two acres, Randhir was a small farmer from Mohangarh Chhapra village of Jind district.

While his wife Nirmala Devi is recuperating from a paralysis attack and is bedridden, his sons Sandeep Singh (22) and Amit (20) have been left with no other option but to do farming. Besides, they also look after domestic chores.

100 days of FARM STIR

GEETANJALI GAYATRI

CHANDIGARH, MARCH 4

It has been 100 days for the farmers — of being on the road, of blood and sweat and death, of hopelessness and of nearly giving up, of reviving the flailing agitation and standing their ground.

It has been 100 days of an unending struggle that began against the Centre's three farm laws on November 26 and an equal number of days of having held fort at the Singhu and Tikri borders between Haryana and Delhi despite the barriers that divide.

To the farmers, all this is progress even though their goal of getting the three laws repealed remains a far cry. The chips might be down, they may be faltering as they grapple with uncertainty but they are sure that the agitation would go on.

“We have not been able to arrive at any substantive plan when it comes to taking the agitation forward. We are holding mahapanchayats, mobilising support, blocking roads, but the Centre doesn't seem to care. We are repeating what

PROTESTERS BLOCK MLA'S ENTRY

Jind: Farmers on Thursday sealed the entry points of their Bhana Brahman village to bar the entry of Ramniwas Surjhera, JJP MLA from Narwana. They stayed put on roads till the evening. Sources say the MLA was scheduled to reach the village at 11 am. Because of the protest, he delayed his visit. He reached the village at 5.30 pm after the protesters had left the venue in the evening. TNS we have already done and we don't have a plan right now. This, however, does not mean that we will not come up with a strategy soon,” says Haryana's farmer leader Gurnam Singh Charuni.

While he admits that the advent of summer would mean dwindling numbers at the protest sites at the two borders where farmers are living in trolleys and gearing up for the heat, Punjab farmer leader Balbir Singh Rajewal terms this a part of the plan.

“The morcha which has turned 100 days old will continue. We have already urged villages to send one member from every family to keep the protest site alive and vibrant. With the harvesting season approaching, we want only representative groups of farmers as we need hands on the field,” Rajewal claims.

He adds they are moving in a systematic manner since this is going to be a long drawn battle.

The various unions have already had 12 meetings with the Centre in the course of the 100 days. Of these, the unions boycotted one meeting since they did not want to hold any talks without the presence of an elected representative holding a position in the government.

On its achievements in the past three months, the leaders of the Samyukt Kisan Morcha (SKM) are unanimous — it has shown that a long-drawn peaceful agitation against the BJP-led Narendra Modi government is possible, that the divisive policies of the government to fractionalise people along caste lines and culture stand defeated and the brotherhood in villages and the states of Punjab and Haryana stands restored.

As winter turns to spring turns to summer, the farmers are preparing for the long haul and all of them want the talks with the Centre to resume. In the absence of a dialogue, there can be no headway, no scope of a middle path, only silence as the fault lines get deeper and the “borders” are fortified further.

Labour activist Shiv Kumar, an associate of activist Nodeep Kaur, on Thursday got bail in an attempt-to-murder case, which was registered on January 12. He was released from the Sonepat district jail in the evening.

Earlier, he had got bail in two extortion cases on Wednesday.

Manjinder Singh Sirsa, president, Delhi Shiromani Gurdwara Management Committee (DSGMC) and labour activist Nodeep Kaur were also present during his release.

Adhikar Sangathan activist Shiv Kumar said the bail plea of Shiv Kumar in FIR number 25, dated January 12, was filed in the Sessions Court on March 2 and was allowed on Thursday.

“The court of Sessions Judge YS Rathore in the order said the co-accused, namely Nodeep Kaur, whose case is identical to that of applicant, has been released on bail by the Hon'ble High Court vide order dated 26.02.2021 in CRM-MN.7398 of 2021. Cong showed disrespect to National Flag, says CM

The video of the unruly event must be shown in Assembly: Thakur

PRATIBHA CHAUHAN

SHIMLA, MARCH 4
Chief Minister Jai Ram Thakur today accused the Congress MLAs of showing disrespect to the National Flag while banging on the bonnet of the Governor's car on the first day of the ongoing Budget Session. He said that the Congress MLAs should apologise to the Governor for their misbehaviour in the Vidhan Sabha on the opening day of the Budget session. He was speaking while participating in the debate on the Motion of Thanks on the Governor's Address in the absence of the Congress MLAs in the Vidhan Sabha. The Chief Minister said that the irresponsible behaviour of the Congress had shamed Himachal all over the country. "They must realise that it is not the culture and tradition of Himachal to behave in this fashion. People of the state have humility and sobriety," he added. Thirteen BJP legislators and CPM MLA Rakesh Singh participated in the debate.

Thakur said that the least the Congress could do was to apologise to Governor Bandaru Dattatreya for the bad behaviour of its MLAs.

after the Governor's Address on February 26. "I am an eyewitness to the entire sequence of events on that unfortunate day when the Congress Legislative Party (CLP) Leader pushed the Governor's ADC. If the rules permit, the entire video footage of the unruly behaviour of the Congress MLAs must be shown in the Assembly as well as all over the state so that people could know the culture the Congress believes in," he said.

Thakur said that despite Covid, which has affected the whole world, his government ensured that the pace of development was not affected.

Thakur added that the BJP believed in democracy and was open to healthy criticism but the Congress seemed to have crossed all limits of indecency. "Though it is already very late, the Congress can still repent its behaviour by apologising to the Governor," he said.

He listed the steps initiated by his government in tackling Covid-19 and alleged that had the Congress been in power there would have been a total loot. "What can people expect from a party that did not hesitate from raising a false bill of Rs 12 crore with the Congress top leadership for having extended help to people during the pandemic while in reality nothing had been done on ground," he alleged.

Delimitation panel gets 1-yr extension

Move indicates J&K poll not anytime soon

Tribune News Service

NEW DELHI, MARCH 4

The Union Government has extended the term of the Delimitation Commission for another year. The commission was constituted to redraw the electoral constituencies in J&K and four northeastern states — Assam, Manipur, Arunachal Pradesh and Nagaland. The extension has only been ordered for J&K.

The move indicates that the Assembly elections in the UT will not be held anytime soon, as according to the J&K Reorganisation Act the poll process would set in motion only after delimiting the constituencies.

The gazette notification, issued by the Ministry of Law & Justice on Wednesday night, said the commission, headed by retired Supreme Court judge Ranjana Prakash Desai, will get one more year for completing its task in the UT, which came into existence on October 2019, after the Centre abrogated the special status of the erstwhile state in August that year and announced its reorganisation.

The proceedings of the commission, which has five MPs from the erstwhile state as ex-officio members, have been boycotted by the National Conference (NC) that has three representatives on the panel.

Before Parliament passed the Jammu and Kashmir Reorganisation Act in August 2019, the effective strength of the J&K Assembly was 87, including four seats from Ladakh, which is now a separate UT without a legislature.

The NC members, while disassociating themselves with the Delimitation Commission, had said the party had challenged the Act in the Supreme Court and the matter was pending.

Earlier, in a letter to the commission chairperson, NC chief Farooq Abdullah had said: "In our view, the Jammu and Kashmir Reorganisation Act, 2019, is palpably unconstitutional and has been enacted in disregard and violation of the mandate."

Since the population of the Kashmir Valley is higher than Jammu, Jammu politicians have been long insisting that instead of population, geography should be made the criteria.

According to Section 60 of the Act, the number of seats in the UT shall be increased from 107 to 114. With 24 seats in Pakistan occupied Kashmir (PoK), the effective strength will go up from 83 to 90.

observed that in some departments and subordinate offices, many individuals with dubious character antecedents and conduct have been paid salaries and other allowances without obtaining a CID verification, Dwivedi said.

It is accordingly impressed upon all administrative secretaries, divisional commissioners, deputy commissioners, heads of the departments and managing directors of all PSUs and corporations to identify such cases and ensure that their verification is completed expeditiously and that no new entrant in government service is paid salary and allowances till verification by the Criminal Investigation Department, he said.

To expedite the verification process, a simplified mechanism has been devised in consultation with the Criminal Investigation Department, the commissioner-secretary said. — PTI

Farmers gear up for show of strength on March 8

COLLECTIVE DECISION

All unions have decided to hold protests on International Women's Day to show that even women stood with us against anti-farmer laws. Balbir Singh Rajewal, BKU (RAJEWAL) CHIEF said, "All unions have decided to hold protests on International Women's Day to show that even women stood with us against the anti-farmer laws. This will be preceded by blocking the KMP Highway on March 6 for five hours (11 am to 4 pm)."

BKU district president Shingra Singh Mann said, "The government was trying its best to show that the farmers' struggle was losing steam. It has, however, failed miserably in its propaganda.

They are threatening our volunteers in various ways, including arrests. Even the celebrities supporting us have not been spared."

Kisan Mazdoor Sangharsh Committee general secretary Sarwan Singh Pandher said, "We may be seen as a separate group during the agitation. However, we are fighting for the same cause. Our eighth 'jatha' is leaving for the Delhi border. We will participate in the programme on March 8."

Pandher said, "We will hold a rally at Shahkot Mandi in Jalandhar, another one at Kapurthala on March 14 and at Ferozepur on March 15. The government has underestimated our dedication to the cause. We will fight till the end."

Bowled out for 205 in decent conditions; India 24/1

AHMEDABAD, MARCH 4

England's batsmen lost the battle in both mind and skills with yet another shoddy performance to surrender the momentum to India on Day 1 of the fourth and final Test. Axar Patel and Ravichandran Ashwin called the shots on the opening day of the match, which India must draw or win to qualify for the World Test Championship final.

England won the toss again and managed to cross the 200-run mark, for the first time since the first innings of the first Test in Chennai. However, a total of 205 all out is certainly not what captain Joe Root expected after electing to bat in good batting conditions.

There was some turn and bounce but the pitch was not a minefield that the England batsmen — except Ben Stokes, who made 55 off 121 balls — made it out to be.

For India, Axar Patel (4/68), Ashwin (3/47) and Washington Sundar (1/14) toyed with the visiting batsmen, whose confidence has been shattered by regular failures on turning wickets.

Mohammed Siraj played his part, removing Root and Jonny Bairstow with balls that came in, to finish with 2/45.

India were 24/1 at stumps, with the wily old James Anderson having dismissed Shubman Gill for 0. Rohit Sharma (8) and Cheteshwar Pujara (15) were the unbeaten batsmen.

Another failure

England's line-up was bolstered with an extra batsmen, and four of them got starts — Stokes, Bairstow (28), Dan Lawrence (46) and Ollie Pope (29) — but failed to go on to a big score.

England in a spin again

It seemed that most batsmen had made up their minds that they were playing on a big turner, and were either unnecessarily aggressive or tentative.

Stokes was a cut above the rest in both defence and offence before an error cost him his wicket. Washington Sundar got him with one that angled in from around the stumps, and Stokes played for an off-break — the ball didn't turn and he was trapped lbw.

Lawrence was ready to play the attacking game, and Pope was intent on using his footwork to deal with the turn. There was always going to be a delivery with their name written over it.

Lawrence fell when he was beaten by the away-turn when he danced down the track and got stumped.

Pope was dismissed when Ashwin changed the line of his delivery, dropping it a bit short, and Pope's attempted flick was snared by Gill at forward short leg.

Decent stand

Stokes and Bairstow, during their 48-run stand, showed that with robust defence, survival and run-scoring were not impossible on this wicket. Both played the spinners close to their body on most occasions, especially on the front foot.

Yet, on this track no batsman would feel completely set, and that was true of Bairstow and Stokes.

Patel had struck early, after being brought on in the sixth over. He bowled an arm ball which had Dom Sibley (2) leaving a huge gap between bat and pad, to be bowled.

Zak Crawley tried to take the attack to Patel, but attempted a lofted shot without getting to the pitch of the delivery and was caught by Siraj at mid-off.

Root (5) got a great inswinger from Siraj, leaving the team at 30/3 inside the first hour.

After some defiance in the second session, it was in the post-tea session when the lower order caved in, the last five wickets falling for 39 runs in 14.2 overs. — PTI, TNS

Stokes upset at throwing it away

Ben Stokes, who made 55 off 121 balls, was England's best batsman of the day, and he was very disappointed at frittering away a good start, having done the hard work by defending well for a long time.

Stokes was trapped lbw by Washington Sundar with one that went straight even as he played for the off-break.

"I am more disappointed that I actually got myself in and got out. Fifty is not really a (score) that will win you a Test match," Stokes said.

"After spending two-and-a-half hours, playing so well, trying to avoid getting out to a straight ball and I ended up getting out to it, that is frustrating," said the 29-year-old. Stokes said these are the "hardest conditions" he had batted in.

Pollard hits six sixers in over, second after Yuvraj in T20Is

COOLIDGE (ANTIGUA), MARCH 4

West Indies captain Kieron Pollard last night became the second batsman after India's Yuvraj Singh to hit six sixers in an over in a T20 International.

Pollard's rampage came against Akila Dananjaya in the first T20I between West Indies and Sri Lanka, after Dananjaya had taken a hat-trick in his previous over.

Pollard is only the third player overall to hit six sixes in an over in international cricket. South Africa's Herschelle Gibbs was the first ever batsman to hit six sixes in international cricket when he went after the Netherlands' Daan Van Bunge in a group stage match of the 2007 World Cup.

Dananjaya, who was sent to all corners of the ground by Pollard in the sixth over, had become the third Sri Lankan to take a hat-trick in T20I cricket in his previous over.

Pollard is the fifth instance of a batsman hitting six sixes and in an over in T20 cricket. He is also the first batsman from West Indies to do so in the shortest format of the game.

External Affairs Minister S Jaishankar with Bangladesh Prime Minister Sheikh Hasina in Dhaka on Thursday. PTI

NEW DELHI, MARCH 4
External Affairs Minister S Jaishankar on Thursday called on Bangladesh Prime Minister Sheikh Hasina here and conveyed the warm greetings of her Indian counterpart Narendra Modi, and praised her sagacity and leadership that inspire the bilateral ties.

Jaishankar also presented her with two books on Bangladesh written by his late father K Subrahmanyam, a prominent international strategic affairs analyst.

Jaishankar also met his Bangladeshi counterpart AK Abdul Momen in Dhaka to prepare the ground for PM Modi's upcoming visit to Bangladesh.

Both countries will jointly celebrate three anniversaries — Mujib Birth Centenary, 50 years of Bangladesh's Liberation and 50 years of the bilateral relationship.

"These truly highlight the importance we attach to these as well as the enormous regard that we have for PM Hasina and Bangladesh. Our relations actually transcend even our strategic partnership and I believe that our bonding is central to the realisation of a dream of a peaceful, prosperous and progressive South Asia," said Jaishankar.

PM Modi is expected to be in Dhaka around March 26 to participate in the three anniversaries. Jaishankar said the significance of bilateral ties lay in the centrality of Dhaka in New Delhi's "Neighbourhood First" Policy and its growing relevance for the "Act East" Policy.

"We see Bangladesh as a key neighbour and a valued partner not only in South Asia but also in the broader Indo-Pacific region. Every outcome and achievement in our relationship resonates through this region. It is no secret that we cite it to others as an example for emulation," he observed.

Assam BJP strongman Himanta Biswa Sarma led the offensive floating "Congress insults Assam" tagline to attack the Congress.

He later tweeted more pictures to say, "First Congress couldn't identify Assam, now Congress can't even recognise Assamese people. This is again a picture from Taiwan. Congress leaders have forgotten Assam. Let's show Congress how beautiful our land is."

The Congress went ahead with its campaign releasing a registration drive for job guarantee promised earlier this week by party's start campaigner Priyanka Vadra.

Assam Congress chief Ripun Bora said the party, if voted to power, would create five lakh jobs. "More than 1,000 job guarantees given out with just two hours of registration launch. This speaks volumes about people's faith in Congress' ideology and leadership," tweeted Bora on a day when Prithviraj Chavan, AICC screening panel chief for Assam, held his first meeting in Guwahati.

BJP flip-flop over 'Metro Man' as CM candidate

NEW DELHI, MARCH 4
The BJP was caught in an embarrassing situation when first a union minister declared that "Metro Man" E Sreedharan had been declared its CM candidate for the upcoming Kerala Assembly polls and later retracted the statement.

The declaration, that Sreedharan is BJP's face for Kerala, was first made by state BJP chief K Surendran. Union Minister V Muraleedharan reiterated it saying, "The BJP will fight Kerala polls with E Sreedharan as its chief ministerial candidate."

Later, Muraleedharan made a U-turn saying no such decision had been made. "What I wanted to tell was that through media reports I learnt the party has made this announcement. Later, I cross-checked with the party chief who said he hasn't made such announcement," he said. — TNS

JAVADEKAR DISPELS MYTHS AROUND NEW RULES

NEW DELHI, MARCH 4
Expressing concern over pornographic content on some over-the-top (OTT) platforms, the Supreme Court on Thursday said there should be a mechanism to screen such programmes.

A Bench headed by Justice Ashok Bhushan asked Solicitor General Tushar Mehta to place before it on Friday the recent guidelines issued by the Centre to regulate social media platforms.

Last week, the Centre had notified Information Technology (Guidelines for intermediaries and Digital Media Ethics Code) Rules, 2021 (IT Rules, 2021), to regulate the functioning of online media portals and publishers, OTT platforms and social media intermediaries.

"A balance has to be struck as some OTT platforms are also showing pornographic materials on their platforms," the Bench said deferring to Friday hearing on Amazon Prime Video India head Aparna Purohit's plea for anticipatory bail in connection with FIRs against her over controversial web series 'Tandav'.

On behalf of Purohit, senior advocate Mukul Rohatgi said the case against her was "shocking" as she was an employee of Amazon.

She was neither a producer nor an actor, but still she had been made an accused in around 10 cases across India in relation to "Tandav" that started streaming recently.
