NEW DELHI, MAY 5
As India grapples with a lethal second spell of Covid-19 with daily cases rising on Wednesday after a three-day fall and daily deaths soaring to a record high, the government today said a third wave was inevitable and the country needed to prepare in advance.

K Vijay Raghavan, Principal Scientific Adviser to Prime Minister Narendra Modi, said the challenge would be to detect variants with capacity to escape vaccines and alter inoculation strategies.

Among dead, 17% with no co-morbidities: Health Dept

VISHAV BHARTI
TRIBUNE NEWS SERVICE

CHANDIGARH, MAY 5
Not just elderly and those with co-morbidities, the young and healthy are also dying during the second wave of Covid in the state.

The state Health Department has flagged this as a worrying trend as in the second wave, 17 per cent healthy individuals succumbed to Covid.

As per the age-wise break-up of deaths during this wave, 26 per cent deaths were among those who were above the age of 70; 29 per cent were between the age group of 61 and 70; 24 per cent between 51 and 60; 12.5 per cent between 41 and 50; and 5 per cent between 31 to 40 years. The minimum deaths were reported between the age group of 11 and 30, which was less than 5 per cent.

Principal Secretary Hussan Lal said the second wave was completely different. "It is worrying that young and fit individuals are losing lives due to Covid," he said.

Last year, during the first wave, the trend in Covid mortality was completely different as just 10 per cent deaths were among healthy individuals. An initial audit of deaths carried out by the state's expert group among the victims revealed that total 77 per cent were over 50 years of age and suffered with serious underlying illnesses like end-stage kidney disease and cancer,

Allow work from home or face stir, warn teachers

PATIALA, MAY 5
The Punjab and Chandigarh College Teachers' Union (PCCTU) has decided to launch a protest demanding that they be allowed to work from home keeping in view the surge in Covid cases.

PCCTU president Dr Vinay Sofat said the union had raised this demand with the office of Secretary, Higher Education, but the matter was referred to the Department of Home Affairs instead.

"This despite the fact that Guru Nanak Dev (GND) University, Amritsar, has allowed its teachers to work from home," he said. Higher Education Minister Tript Rajinder Bajwa had also assured them of permission to work from home, he added.

The union also demanded that monthly grants of colleges be disbursed. "Salaries of over 2,000 teaching and 1,500 non-teaching officials of 136 aided colleges have not been credited after February," he added.

Secretary, Higher Education, VK Meena said, "They raised their demand with our office. We have prepared a proposal and sent it to the Home Department. The Chief Minister's office will take a decision on the matter." He said, "GND University is an autonomous body that can take its own decisions."

Responding to the matter of salaries, Director, Public Instructions (Colleges), Paramjit Singh said the grants were not disbursed due to changes in Budget allocation. "Some colleges have not submitted the mandatory grant utilisation certificates. Now, we have decided to block the grant of those colleges and will disburse the grants of remaining colleges in a week." —TNS

BATHINDA, MAY 5
Two doctors (MD medicine) have tendered their resignation within the past four days from the Bathinda Civil Hospital at a time when the health department is grappling with staff shortage, especially amid the raging second wave of Covid-19.

These two doctors (out of total four at medicine OPD) were discharging their duties at the forefront to contain the virus, detect and diagnose Covid-19 patients in the district with one of them entrusted with the role of district nodal officer for Covid-19. The development has not only put additional burden on the existing staff, but also likely to affect the treatment being given to patients.

QUITTING DURING PANDEMIC UNFORTUNATE

■ It is unfortunate that doctors are quitting at a time when their services are required the most.

They are trained at government hospitals but when it is time to serve, they move on to greener pastures. Dr Tejwant Singh Dhillon, CIVIL SURGEON

Ramandeep Goyal have tendered their resignations. A senior functionary hinted that many other doctors and staff were planning to quit.

Citing personal reasons for resigning, Dr Goyal said: "It has nothing to do with Covid-19. I had applied for resignation even six months ago."

Sources said though doctors were quitting apparently due to high stress levels amid massive workload, some were calling it quits to earn more money in private hospitals as compared to fixed salaries paid by the government.

Taking a strong view of the matter, Civil Surgeon Dr

Tejwant Singh Dhillon said:

"It is quite unfortunate that doctors are quitting at a time when their services are required the most. They are trained at government hospitals and when there is time to serve, they move on to greener pastures as per their convenience. For now, we have shifted a doctor from Talwandi Sabo hospital to serve in place of those who have resigned."

In a major crackdown, the Punjab Police issued 6,531 challans to face mask violators and arrested 629 persons for violating other guidelines across the state in the past three days.

A police spokesperson said from May 2 to May 4, the Punjab Police registered around 560 FIRs against those found flouting the guidelines, including owners of prominent hotels, marriage palaces, restaurants, shops, etc.

The police have made 66,000 mask violators to undergo RT-PCR testing to enforce Covid-appropriate behaviour during the same period. A spokesperson for the police department said the Tarn Taran police booked owners of restaurants Arabian Kebab and Master Burger for defying night curfew timings besides registering a case against the owner of a petrol pump as most of employees were found without mask and were not adhering to social distancing.

Similarly, the Barnala Police lodged an FIR against the owner of Royal Green Resorts for violating norms, while the Hoshiarpur police booked three persons found drinking at the office of a property dealer during the night curfew hours. —TNS

SAMEER SINGH

BATHINDA, MAY 5

In the absence of required medical infrastructure and technical staff, the Health Department has given 29 ventilators to private hospitals in Bathinda. As a result, critical Covid-19 patients (level-3) requiring ventilator support are either being referred to Government Medical College and Hospital, Faridkot, or private hospitals in the city, where they are coerced to spend lakhs of rupees for treatment.

Department officials said both government-run hospitals and private hospitals were working to treat Covid-19 patients. The private hospitals have required medical infrastructure and expertise, the private hostitals are charging exorbitantly. Adesh Hospital, Delhi Heart Hospital, among others, have been given the 29 ventilators.

Meanwhile, the mini ICU facility has been lying locked at the Civil Hospital since it was established four years ago. During the first wave of the pandemic, six ventilators were installed at the district hospital but in the absence of experienced staff, these could not be put to use and the mini ICU had to be locked later.

Talking to The Tribune, Dr Tejwant Singh Dhillon, Civil Surgeon, Bathinda, said, "These ventilators were given to the private hospitals on their request which they submitted to the district administration. We do not have the required medical infrastructure and experienced staff to operate ventilators as of now. We are working together with private hospitals to treat the patients."

Most of the blood banks in the Majha region have been facing acute blood shortage due to the Covid-19 pandemic.

The health protocol says once a person gets vaccinated against Covid, he/she cannot donate blood for the next 28 days. Besides, a gap of 45-60 days has to be maintained between the two doses.

Now, the vaccination has started for people between 18 and 44 years. This age group is probable blood donors.

Looking at the paucity of blood, the doctors and the blood bank authorities have appealed to the people to donate their blood before being vaccinated against Covid.

■ The Ministry of Health and Family Welfare on Wednesday decided to reduce the deferral period for blood donors from 28 days to 14 after receiving each dose of vaccine

"This has negatively impacted thalassaemia and sickle cell anaemia patients as their requirement of blood transfusion cannot be met. Besides, the gynaecology, delivery and accidental cases require blood in emergent situations," he added. He said earlier 20-22 units of blood was issued daily in Amritsar district, but now we could not provide more than 10-12 units. Rashpal's services will always be remembered, says Manmohan Singh

Former Prime Minister Manmohan Singh on Wednesday condoled the passing away of his friend and Centre for Research in Rural and Industrial Development (CRRID) founder Rashpal Malhotra, saying the services of the noted academician would always be remembered.

"It was with profound shock and sorrow that I learnt about the untimely passing away of my beloved friend Malhotra. It is really unthinkable and unbelievable that such an active and healthy person like him will leave us in such a sad way," Singh said in his condolence message.

The former PM remembered Malhotra as one of his closest friends for the past six decades and said, "Malhotra was an eminent academician, an excellent administrator and a very good human being who was a champion in the field of social research. He founded the CRRID in Chandigarh. One can well say that through CRRID he was able to put Chandigarh on the international map on issues of economy, agriculture, banking, resource mobilisation, health and international relations." Recalling Malhotra's urge for peace between India and Pakistan, the former PM said Malhotra "persuaded to forge" an academic link between Panjab University, Chandigarh, and Punjab University, Lahore.

"An intense votary of peace between India and Pakistan and good neighbourly relations, Malhotra wanted the two universities to hold online classes for each other's students. His services to the nation, especially Punjab, will always be remembered by all who happened to come in contact with his work," he said.—TNS

The Punjab Finance Minister also sought transparency in GST data because there is little information as to whether the revenue inflow during a month relates mostly to the preceding month or are arrears.

The GST Council, he wrote, should discuss whether GST should be exempted on Covid-related items, if interest rates under GST law should be on a par with the market interest rate and relief to most-impacted sectors such as aviation, hotels, commercial reality and retail. The GST Council also needs to discuss whether there should be amendments to allow donations of Covid goods without denying tax credits on inputs.

60 oxygen plants for govt hospitals

Tribune News Service

CHANDIGARH, MAY 5

Health Minister Anil Vij has said the Centre would help the state in building 60 oxygen plants in government hospitals, which have a capacity of 30,50,100 and 200 beds.

Vij said this during his visit to the oxygen plant at the Civil Hospital in Ambala today.

Besides, oxygen production plants will be started in Panchkula, Faridabad and Hisar in a couple of days. Six oxygen plants have already been installed in the state and production at oxygen plants in Karnal and Sonepat has already commenced.

"Efforts are being made to make government hospitals in the state self-reliant in terms of oxygen supply. The Defence Research and Development Organisation (DRDO) and other agencies are working in this regard," Vij said.

He further said, "All private hospitals have been asked to set up oxygen production plants by changing rules as per their needs. This work should be done at the earliest. Some big hospitals can set up oxygen plants as per their scheduled time so that people do not have to face shortage."

Two tankers of 1,000-litre liquid oxygen will be installed in the Civil Hospital and Ambala Cantt Hospital, Vij added.

At least 23 patients have died allegedly due to lack of oxygen but CM Manohar Lal Khattar prefers to keep mum.

During a media interaction in Chandigarh on Wednesday, he was at pains to explain that there was no shortage of oxygen yet he preferred to remain silent on the deaths due to oxygen shortage. A written query on the data on the deaths failed to elicit any response from the CM.

tals will also be given an incentive of Rs 1,000 per patient per day or up to a maximum of Rs 7,000 for giving admission preference to BPL patients in the state, he said.

FARMLAND ISSUE

- A mother of three, married for 22 years, took divorce by way of mutual consent before marrying her mentally retarded brother within 12 days of parting ways
- Then she obtained permission to sell the farmland of her new husband by filing a plea under the provisions of the Hindu Minority and Guardianship Act, 1956 brother within 12 days of parting ways. Then she obtained permission to sell the entire farmland of her mentally retarded husband, measuring 43 kanals and 7 marlas, by filing a petition under the provisions of the Hindu Minority and Guardianship Act, 1956.

The petition was filed by the husband through the woman as his next friend. In the petition, only the public was impleaded as a respondent. The notice was published in a newspaper, "Ashiana", for appearance before the court the very next day. On the basis of the publication, the court allowed the petition and granted permission to sell the entire land.

Three other brothers then filed a suit for declaration and permanent injunction against the woman and her ex-husband. It was pleaded that the proceedings for getting the court's permission to sell the agricultural land was an act of fraud. It was argued that the divorce was stage-managed and the petition was filed to grab/inherit the property. Along with the suit, an application for temporary injunction was also filed.

The trial court, however, did not grant the relief of temporary injunction. But the first appellate court reversed the order and granted the relief of temporary injunction against the alienation of the suit land and also passed a restrain order, resulting in the filing of the revision petition. Dismissing the petition, Justice Kshetarpal added that the presiding judge of the first appellate court by a well-reasoned judgment very ably discharged the function of parens patriae.

Shortage of ventilator beds in Kangra hospitals, deaths rising

60 ICU beds cater to patients from Kangra, Chamba, Una, Hamirpur dists

'PLANNING TO ADD MORE ICU BEDS'

»We are planning to add more ICU beds in other hospitals of Kangra, besides at Dr Rajendra Prasad Government Medical College & Hospital, Tanda. Dr GS Gupta, CHIEF MEDICAL OFFICER, KANGRA

ICU beds just in Kangra district. Senior health official said that high death rate being witnessed in Kangra due to Covid might also be related to the lack of ICU beds.

The sources said that though around 15 ICU beds were available in Chamba district these could not be made operational as there are just three anaesthetists there. There was a shortage of anaesthetists in Tanda Medical College also. As per the rules, only an anaesthetists can operate ICU beds equipped with ventilators and treat patients.

CMO, Kangra, Dr GS Gupta, when asked if there was a shortage of ICU beds equipped with ventilators in Kangra district, said it depended on the situation and the patient load. "We are planning to add more ICU beds in other hospitals of Kangra, besides Tanda Medical College," he said.

The sources said that given the load of active patients, which was increasing almost every day, the district might face a shortage of beds equipped with oxygen facility. The number of active cases in said four districts was above 9,000 till yesterday - 5,775 in Kangra district, 1,017 in Chamba, 1,709 in Hamirpur and 1,438 in Una district. So, even if 5 per cent of active patients require high flow oxygen equipped beds, about 450 beds would be required.

At present, Kangra district has 170 beds equipped with the high flow oxygen facility at the Dharamsala zonal hospital, 120 beds in Tanda medical college and 25 beds in Paprola Ayurvedic Medical College, which the administration plans to enhance to 100 beds.

The Chief Minister yesterday reviewed the preparations for creating 250 beds equipped with the high flow oxygen facility at Radha Soami sect facility at Paror in Kangra district. The district administration has also got 50 per cent bed capacity in some private hospitals.

The sources in the Health Department said that since the cases were increasing each day even that much bed capacity might prove to be insufficient. Though the state government has imposed a curfew of 10 days starting from tomorrow midnight, health experts have doubts that the measure will mitigate the coronavirus in Kangra.

They said that since the virus has already spread in hinterlands of the district the only way to deal with the crisis was to create more health facilities in the form of high flow oxygen equipped beds and ICU beds equipped with ventilators to save the lives of people.

O<sub>2</sub> plant at Mandi hospital in 10 days

MANDI, MAY 5

A plant will be set up at the Zonal Hospital here within 10 days to meet the rising demand of oxygen supply for patients. It will generate 1,000 LPM (litre per minute) of oxygen.

The hospital is equipped with the central oxygen supply system and critical patients are being provided oxygen with the help of cylinders. Once the plant comes up, the hospital will be able to provide direct oxygen supply to the central system.

Chief Medical Officer, Mandi, Dr Devender Sharma said the Central Government had approved six oxygen plants for Himachal Pradesh, including one at the local Zonal Hospital.

He said that on the directions of Deputy Commissioner Rugged Thakur, officials of the National Highways Authority of India (NHAI) and the Health Department visited the Zonal Hospital today and identified a site for the plant.

"The NHAI will prepare the framework for the oxygen plant and the Defence Research and Development Organisation (DRDO) will install all machinery to make it functional within 10 days. Once commissioned, the DRDO will hand over the plant to the hospital management," he said. Dr Sharma said that the plant would generate 1,000 litres of oxygen per minute. An oxygen plant set up at Shri Lal Bahadur Shastri Government Medical College and Hospital, Nerkhawal, a few days ago would generate 500 LPM of oxygen. — TNS

Detained separatist leader Sehrai dies

Geelani confidant was arrested under PSA last year

JAMMU, MAY 5
Prominent separatist leader Mohammad Ashraf Sehrai, who was arrested under the Public Safety Act on July 13 last year, died at a hospital here on Wednesday, officials said.

Sehrai (77), a close confidant of hardline Hurriyat Conference leader Syed Ali Shah Geelani, was incarcerated at the district jail in Udhampur. He was shifted to Jammu's Government Medical College (GMC) hospital after his health deteriorated on Tuesday.

Sehrai, who replaced Geelani as chairperson of the Tehreek-e-Hurriyat in 2018, had tested negative for Covid-19 in a rapid antigen test. His RTPCR report is still awaited.

He had Covid-19 symptoms and his oxygen levels had fallen, officials said. They said Sehrai had been suffering from various ailments. He complained of breathlessness on Tuesday and was taken to the district hospital in Udhampur.

When his situation did not improve, he was moved to the GMC, about 55 km away, where he breathed his last around noon on Wednesday following acute respiratory

Shabir Shah seeks bail in Delhi court

NEW DELHI, MAY 5

A Delhi court on Wednesday asked the Enforcement Directorate (ED) for reply on a bail plea filed by Kashmiri separatist leader Shabir Shah who claimed that there was no likelihood of the trial being completed any time soon in the money laundering case due to the current pandemic situation.

Shah was arrested on July 25, 2017 and since then he is in custody. Special Judge Dharmender Rana issued notice to the agency and sought its response by May 24, when he will next hear the matter. Shah's advocate MS Khan said the maximum punishment prescribed for the offence of money laundering was seven years, and that he had already spent more than half of that period.

"The accused has spent three years and nine months as an under-trial. The said period is one-half period of the punishment prescribed for the offence under section 4 (punishment for money-laundering) of the Prevention of Money Laundering Act," the application said. Advocate Qausar Khan, also representing the accused, added that he was entitled to be released on bail as per law. — PTI

The RBI will also provide Rs 10,000 crore for small financial banks (SFBs) in order to cater to small businesses and financial entities at the grassroots level. The RBI will raise some of the promised funds through an auction of Rs 35,000-crore worth securities on May 20.

D BK Nehra, Civil Hospital, Faridabad, says what is worrying the doctors most is that with the resource crunch likely to worsen in the coming days, their personal safety may be at risk with harried attendants of patients venting their anger on the staff.

No quota beyond 50%

SC shows the rule book to Maharashtra

Twas in 1992 that a nine-judge Bench of the Supreme Court had drawn the 'Lakshman rekha' for reservation in jobs and education at 50 per cent, except in 'extraordinary circumstances'. While refusing to reconsider the landmark verdict and by quashing the Maharashtra law granting quota to the Maratha community in admissions and government jobs — which allowed it to exceed 60 per cent — the apex court has shown the rule book to governments and parties pandering to vote bank interests, and catering to demands that defeat the very purpose of reservation. A stern message was delivered that people from the Maratha community cannot be declared as educationally and socially backward to bring them within the reserved category since it would be a violation of not only the due process of law, but also the right to equality.

Significantly, also struck down were the findings of the commission which had led to enactment of the Maratha quota law, and the Bombay High Court's validation in 2019 of the Maharashtra State Reservation for Socially and Educationally Backward Classes Act, 2018, by reducing the recommended quantum of reservation from 16 per cent to 12 per cent in education and 13 per cent in employment. As a concession, appointments made following the HC ruling would hold, but without further benefits. Students already admitted can continue.

Backing Maharashtra, the Centre had argued that the state had the legislative competence to grant reservation. This, even as petitions claimed that Marathas had been dominant socially and politically as almost 40 per cent of MPs and MLAs of the state were from this community and the notion that they had been left behind was flawed. The hearing saw the Bench raise concerns over the 'resultant inequality' in case the overall 50 per cent limit was to be removed, as it sought to know for how many generations would reservations continue. 'Can we accept that no development has taken place, no backward caste has moved forward?' it asked. A question that several state governments, like Tamil Nadu which allows 69 per cent quota and faces a challenge in court, would be hard-pressed to answer.

Punjab largesse

Govt keen to implement pay panel report in election year

IT takes an election year to fast-track the fulfilment of long-pending promises and resolution of ticklish financial issues, no matter how cash-strapped the government may be. Over five years after it was set up, Punjab's 6th Pay Commission has submitted its report to the Chief Minister, recommending an over two-fold increase in salaries of all state government employees, and a hike in minimum pay from Rs 6,950 to Rs 18,000 per month with retrospective effect from January 1, 2016. The finance department will vet the report before sending it to the state cabinet. The government is expected to go all out to meet its deadline of implementing the report from July 1.

The commission's recommendations, which cater to about seven lakh employees and pensioners, are likely to lead to an additional expenditure of Rs 3,500 crore per annum from 2016. In its Budget presented in March this year, the government had earmarked Rs 9,000 crore for the purpose. Such a bonanza amid the devastating second wave of the pandemic sounds too good to be true, but with Punjab going to the polls early next year, the temptation to 'beg, borrow or steal' to release the payments would be irresistible for the ruling party. The big question: where will the money come from? Will the state, whose debt burden is expected to reach Rs 2,73,703 crore by March 2022, take the all-too-familiar loan route to woo this important section of the electorate?

The state is in for tougher times as GST compensation from the Centre is slated to end from next year. Revenue generation will be a huge challenge in the coming months in view of the disruptions caused by repeated lockdowns and curfews. Successive governments in Punjab have given fiscal prudence the go-by so as not to displease the farming community and other vote banks. The tradition of living beyond one's means is set to continue, so what if the state inevitably sinks deeper into the debt quagmire.

COMPENSATION TO MARTIAL LAW SUFFERERS.

IT was more than two years ago that the horrible massacre at Jallianwala Bagh took place; and it has taken such an unconscionably long time for the Government to finally make up its mind to adequately compensate those who were murdered by General Dyer. Had a similar delay been caused in the matter of compensating the victims of mob excesses, it might have been ascribed to the well-known dilatoriness of red tapism for which the bureaucracy possesses such an unenviable reputation; but in their case, the Government proceeded to distribute large amounts as compensation for supposed or real injuries. In their case, the Government did not think it fit to wait even for the collection of the indemnity imposed on the town of Amritsar; but in case of the Indians, who had been killed or injured at the Jallianwala Bagh and other places, the Government has been sleeping for more than two years before taking any adequate measures of relief. One should have expected that the Government would show greater anxiety and promptitude to compensate the victims of excesses perpetrated by its own officials, who have been indemnified by an Act of legislature, than to distribute relief to the sufferers of mob violence, when more than a thousand persons alleged to be responsible for these excesses had been sent to jail. It should not be supposed that during these two years, which have elapsed since the massacre, the question of compensating the sufferers has not been brought before the Government. Both in the press and in the Indian Legislative Council the desirability of taking immediate measures of relief has been continuously pressed. To this persistent demand of the people, the Government has either maintained a silence or given evasive replies.

Not the end of the road

Mamata has shown that a determined regional party can defeat the Modi juggernaut

NEERJA CHOWDHURY

SENIOR POLITICAL COMMENTATOR

EVERY election in India brings new insights into the ground-level shifts that are taking place, both in society and in people's thinking. So also is the case with the just-concluded elections to five Assemblies—West Bengal, Kerala, Tamil Nadu, Assam and the UT of Puducherry.

While a study of the poll fineprint will tell us more in the days to come, there are certain broad messages coming through.

First, a credible leader, who has a ground connect and puts up a spirited fight, can take on and defeat a Modiji campaign at the state level with all the might it represents. Mamata Banerjee has demonstrated this in no uncertain terms in West Bengal, increasing her tally to 213 from 211 in 2016 and her vote share.

Mamata has always been a fighter. Taking on the Left even while she was inside the Congress in the early nineties, breaking away from the party in 1999, she went on to oust an entrenched Left in 2011, and took the place of the Indian National Congress in her state. Today, the Congress is totally wiped out in West Bengal. She did this without having a political mentor or belonging to a political family. This time she surpassed her earlier performance, taking on the might of the BJP, turning every adversity into an advantage. She took the huge risk of taking the battle into the enemy territory when she decided to contest from Nandigram against her trusted lieutenant-turned-foe, Surendu Adhikari. Though she lost to him by less than 2,000 votes, she won the larger battle by enthusing her cadre with that decision.

The presence of a credible face has also worked in Tamil Nadu, with MK Stalin leading the charge. In Kerala, the victory has as much to do with the emergence of Pinarayi Vijayan as a leader who people could trust as the government's handling of the Covid challenge. It is not as if Kerala did not have a huge number of cases, but people saw a government that led from the front and put systems into place. The CPM, which believes in a collective leadership, is grappling with this new reality of the Pinarayi Vijayan phenomenon. But it may be possible for the individual and the collective to coexist.

Mamata has always been a fighter. Taking on the Left even while she was inside the Congress in the early nineties, breaking away from the party in 1999, she went on to oust an entrenched Left in 2011, and took the place of the Indian National Congress in her state. Today, the Congress is totally wiped out in West Bengal. She did this without having a political mentor or belonging to a political family. This time she surpassed her earlier performance, taking on the might of the BJP, turning every adversity into an advantage. She took the huge risk of taking the battle into the enemy territory when she decided to contest from Nandigram against her trusted lieutenant-turned-foe, Surendu Adhikari. Though she lost to him by less than 2,000 votes, she won the larger battle by enthusing her cadre with that decision.

The presence of a credible face has

will have to take note of the growing political consciousness among women.

Three, there are important lessons for the BJP. The party over-reached in West Bengal. With the PM addressing around 20 meetings and Amit Shah and union ministers camping there for weeks, and Mamata as the target of the onslaught—all of this went to create sympathy for her. She turned it to her advantage, campaigning in a wheelchair after her injury, and speaking about the threat to Bengali culture from 'outsiders'.

The BJP also erred by not taking into account the diversity of India. It mounted a campaign in Bengal, as it might have done in heartland India, with cries of 'Jai Shri Ram', which Mamata countered by invoking Durga. Certainly, its tried-and-tested plank of Hindu-Muslim polarisation worked, as in Nandigram, where Mamata lost by less than 2,000 votes, but up to a point. The party may have to go back to the drawing board, not just about 'where' it could have done better, but the more fundamental 'how' it could have reached more people.

Four, Election 2021 points to interesting possibilities for the future. It is clear that the battle against the BJP will have to be led by the regional parties, given the Congress' poor health, which has once again been highlighted by the five elections. It lost everywhere, except in Tamil Nadu, where it won 16 seats, hanging onto the coattails of the DMK.

The Mamata formula — a credible leader, plus a counter offensive — applies also to the Congress. A sharp Twitter onslaught is not a substitute for a comprehensive strategy. Or, indeed, for the leadership impasse that continues to bedevil the Congress.

The Opposition's strategy may have to be the very antithesis of the one being pursued by the BJP — of Hindu nationalism, a strong leader, a uniformity of approach and concentration of power. The Opposition's politics and approach may have to become more federated, of supporting each other, while evolving a national narrative. The threat to India's democracy and its institutions, like the Election Commission, which Mamata is focusing on, could become part of that narrative, but it has to be articulated in a way that Indians in far-flung villages also identify with it.

The battle in Bengal — and in other states — has focused on issues of sub-nationalism (like Bengali culture coming under threat). In the past, caste alignments (Mandal) managed to counter community consolidation by the BJP (mandir).

Can regional aspirations be dovetailed into a national narrative and become a potent mix? Can 2024 become an aggregate of state elections? It is early days yet. And we are not living in normal times. At the end of the day, it will depend on how the CMs, individually and unitedly, tackle the second wave of Covid which is raging and claiming thousands of lives. There are already disturbing warnings of a possible third wave in July which may affect children more. How will they press for a comprehensive vaccine policy that is needed so badly?

The new — or old — incumbents in West Bengal, Kerala, Tamil Nadu, Assam and Puducherry have their tasks cut out for them.

WEST Bengal has been in news due to its acrimonious pre- and post-poll atmosphere. Today, it looks just the obverse of what it would have been in the times of Rabindranath Tagore. Bengal stands mutilated by the past 40 years' long spell of divisive politics. Santiniketan's founder would not have imagined the level of degeneration to which this land of poets, writers, and social reformers has descended.

Tagore won the Nobel Prize in 1913, a first for India under British rule. Western literati had gone gaga over his 'Gitanjali'. His vast oeuvre also consisted of song-poems that later came to be known as Rabindra Sangeet. 'Ekla Chalo Re' exhorts the listener to continue his/her journey, despite the lack of company, support or guidance from friends and peers. This iconic message reflects in the great deeds of many achievers who might not even be aware of Tagore, but have epitomised the essence of this poem.

Greta Thunberg, born in 2003, was fired by a passion of saving humanity from the catastrophic effects of climate change, and addressed the lawmakers of her country. For many among them, her mission seemed too big for her age, but she persevered. At last, she drew the attention of the world.

Similar is the story of Malala Yousafzai of Pakistan. As a school student, she ignored the threats of bigots who preached that women should not go to school. She resolved to take up the cause of women's education. The bigots attacked her but she survived and continued on her mission. She exemplifies the spirit of Tagore's poem, and became the youngest to win the Nobel Prize.

In our own country, Dashrath Manjhi deserves a mention. He was a labourer of Gehlaur village near Gaya. Gehlaur residents had to travel 55 km to reach Gaya for medical treatment and other needs. Dashrath resolved to carve out a road through the heart of a mountain. But none from his village supported his wild idea. Instead, people started mocking him. But he was fired by the spirit of 'Ekla Chalo

Re'. He persevered in this arduous pursuit for 22 years, and ultimately, succeeded in his mission. The distance between his village and Gaya shrunk to just 15 km. This 'Mountain Man' was honoured with the Padma Shri and a postage stamp.

But unlike these celebrities, I was well aware of Tagore and his iconic poem, since my school days. The 'Ekla Chalo Re' tagline remained an ideal, sweet hum throughout my life. I retired as an engineer from a government department. The poem made me pursue my dream of earning a postgraduate degree in Hindi from Himachal Pradesh University. It was an odd choice for an engineer. I, too, was dissuaded, but I pursued and succeeded.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

A lost opportunity

With reference to the article 'In the midst of life & death'; it was expected after the first wave of Covid hit us over a year ago that we all — individuals, society and the nation — will pause and try to reorient our goals and objectives to make lives meaningful. Unfortunately, when the situation became slightly better, it was business as usual. There was no change at all. A great opportunity was given to us, but we failed to grab it. The same bickering is going on among people, political parties and nations. The second wave has given us another opportunity to redefine the goals of our lives. Even the definition of success of a person and the development of a nation can be recalibrated.

Curbs not for farmers?

The governments of Delhi, Haryana and UP have imposed lockdowns in their respective states to control the surge of Covid-19 infections. All large gatherings — political, social or religious that are a major cause of the spread of the virus have been banned. Even the number of attendees at funerals is capped at 20. Are the lockdown curbs not applicable to farmers who have been sitting in thousands at Delhi borders for months now? Will a gathering of 21 mourners at a funeral spread more virus in a few hours than a gathering of thousands of farmers for months? We can't win the war against Covid with politics on our mind.

Liquor not 'essential'

The Punjab Government has modified its order to allow liquor vends to remain open. It is a step in the wrong direction, amid the highest case fatality ratio (CFR) being witnessed by the state. Since there are hundreds of liquor vends dotting the state, to allow them to operate on weekdays, may invite a catastrophic situation. The rush at liquor vends would turn into mini hotspots. Restrictions on other non-essential activities may not yield the desirable result to break the virus transmission chain if liquor shops remain open. Since liquor is not listed as an essential commodity, the government should roll back its decision.

Taking on the BJP

Refer to 'Didi may emerge as rallying point for anti-BJP forces'; the impressive victory of the TMC was the most striking feature of the recent Assembly polls. With these results coming at a time when a vacuum exists in the national Opposition space, hopes have been rekindled of regional parties coalescing together to take on the BJP at the Centre. But we must remember that earlier third front governments needed a national party to serve as an anchor. Therefore it is time to prepare for the 2024 LS elections, and if such a third front experiment is to be revived sans a national party, a strong regional leader has to lead. With Mamata's thumping Bengal win, where a CM defeated a PM, she is a top candidate for the role of leading the third front. If she is serious about the national spotlight, she will have to shed Bengali parochialism and craft a national image for herself. Roping in the Congress will reinforce the Opposition.

People's Governor

Apropos of 'An able administrator', the J&K administration has done well by announcing a three-day state mourning in memory of Jagmohan. I was posted at Srinagar three years after he relinquished charge, but people there spoke highly of him even then. He was very particular about the basic requirements of the general public. Even during a power cut, the supply of potable water was never stopped. PM VP Singh had to recall him under pressure from the Abdullah clan. His most remarkable achievement was the setting up of the Dharmarth Trust for Vaishno Devi shrine. Himachal Pradesh followed suit by setting up similar trusts for shrines in that state, putting an end to the distribution of donations to 'Baaridars'.

CRRID and beyond

Besides playing a 'pivotal role in bringing socio-economic development to the northern region', Rashpal Malhotra actively also sought a rapprochement between India and Pakistan by exploring a possible solution to the J&K issue. He arranged a meeting at CRRID, where he invited Lt Gen Talat Masood (retd) of the Pakistan army, a leading commentator on matters relating to politics and security, accompanied by some other professionals in the field. On our side, he persuaded Gen VP Malik (retd), journalist MJ Akbar and Sajjad Lone, People's Conference chief now, to participate. The proceedings must have provided the government with relevant feedback at that time. Such was the wide canvas of his work which was possible only because of his immense energy and initiative. I was one of the spectators at the meeting.

SCIENCE COMMENTATOR

Minister is personally leading India's pandemic response" and that "he has been holding review meetings" every few days. At the same time, nobody in the government is accountable to tell the people the outcome of such review meetings as the situation on the ground keeps worsening, be it the ongoing oxygen shortage or the vaccination mess, irrespective of such 'high-level' reviews.

Other than the Prime Minister, who is credited for 'personally' supervising the response, we have some talking heads for television discussions. The most prominent is Dr VK Paul, a member of the NITI Ayog chaired by the PM. He is often assisted by Dr Randeep Guleria, director of the All-India Institute of Medical Sciences (AIIMS), New Delhi, and Dr Balram Bhargava, Director-General of the Indian Council of Medical Research (ICMR). Another official voice is that of Dr K Vijayragavan, Principal Scientific Adviser (PSA) to the government. NITI Ayog is a policy think tank, AIIMS is a teaching and research hospital, the ICMR is a research funding agency and the PSA is an advisory outfit.

Missing from the public eye is the health ministry — sometimes represented by a joint secretary in press conferences — and its agencies like the National Centre for Disease Control (NCDC). In addition, national and state disaster management agencies have a role in pandemic management.

Among all these agencies and men, there is a plethora of task forces, expert committees, empowered groups and so on. Yet, who reports to whom with what effect is all shrouded in mystery.

For instance, nobody in the government is willing to tell who directed the ICMR Director-General to ask clinical trial centres to complete vaccine trials by August 15, 2020, or censor research data on seroprevalence studies; who asked the Ministry of External Affairs (MEA) to send millions of doses of vaccines to countries around the globe without accounting for local needs; why the Election Commission of India was not warned by any of the expert committees or scientific advisers about the dangers of an elaborate poll schedule and allowing mega rallies; or the Uttarakhand Government on promoting the Kumbh mela; who decided to allocate Rs 100 crore to the PSA for vaccine-related work when it is neither a research nor an implementation agency; or, why did the Department of Biotechnology (DBT) not use Rs 900 crore it was given in 2020 to boost the production capacity of vaccine companies.

The most important question that begs an answer is: why the epidemiological data of the past year is not being shared with scientists, as demanded by many of them in an open letter last week?

While every good step, like the availability of a vaccine, is promptly credited to the PM, there is nobody accountable for the plenty of missteps that have fuelled the deadly second wave.

If it is the PMO calling the shots, then let's know who are the health experts, epidemiologists, economists and social scientists in the PMO who are in charge of the pandemic response or are advising him.

NEEDED: A transparent and accountable mechanism of decision-making to fight the second wave and be prepared for the next one. PTI

Along with this, the government should listen to civil society, industry, and religious leaders too — not just as a formality but in order to take their inputs into decision-making. Anthony Fauci, an infectious diseases expert who is the face of pandemic response in the US, has also suggested a national war room to meet the challenge in India. Some states like Kerala have established state-level war rooms to monitor the situation, take decisions and coordinate action in real-time.

India needs a credible, transparent and accountable mechanism of decision-making to fight the second wave and be prepared for the next one.

All we have is a set of ambiguous guidelines, standard operating procedures, sketchy press releases, and orders issued by the Ministry of Home Affairs — none of which constitutes a national response plan or vaccination strategy. This is clear from the floundering responses of Central Government agencies in various high courts across the country hearing public interest petitions on the pandemic management.

Indian and foreign experts have been airing their views in scientific journals and other forums. The members of the India Task Force of the Lancet Covid-19 Commission have also recommended that the PM should convene a national war room consisting of chief ministers and chief secretaries of all high-burden states as well as leaders of all political parties to review the situation daily and coordinate their response. Such a war room should be assisted by an independent technical team of top-most public health experts, economists and social scientists.

Greed triggers gross vaccine inequality

DEVINDER SHARMA

FOOD &amp; AGRICULTURE SPECIALIST

THIS is disturbing. With only one-in-500 among the low-income countries having received the vaccine shot against one-in-four among the high-income countries, gross vaccine inequality has been at play. As per the World Health Organisation (WHO), poor countries have received only 0.2 per cent of the vaccine doses while the rich countries have walked away with a share of 87 per cent.

So far, only 32 per cent in America, 27 per cent in the UK, 2 per cent in India and 0.3 per cent of the population in the Philippines have received both doses. At this rate, it may take years before the world can emerge out of the pandemic. The rich need to understand they cannot remain safely isolated from the deadly virus till the poor too have got the protective shield.

What is coming in the way is the greed for more profits over public health. Instead of pushing for a speedier vaccination drive globally, a handful of vaccine manufacturers are actually using patent protection granted under the Trade-Related Intellectual Property Rights (TRIPs) Agreement of the World Trade Organisation (WTO) to hold the world literally to ransom.

Not only the Big Pharma, but also some of the developed countries have been hoarding the vaccines and oppose any move to temporarily lift the patent protection. The US was hoarding 60 million doses of the AstraZeneca vaccine, which it has now decided to share with other countries. Notably, the US Food and Drug Administration (FDA) had not approved the AstraZeneca vaccines

ESSENTIAL: The IPR waiver can easily expedite the mass production of generics, making them cheaply available. REUTERS (called Covishield in India) for domestic use, and, therefore, it made little sense to withhold it anymore.

Although India, South Africa and some other developing countries have petitioned the WTO to allow a waiver on patent protection for the Covid-19 vaccines, the rich trading bloc—the US, UK, EU, Japan, Canada, Switzerland, Norway, Brazil and Australia — are averse to any such move, thereby denying these countries the access to technology to go in for large-scale production of the vaccines.

The pressure to oppose the IPR (Intellectual Property Rights) waiver comes from the pharmaceutical giants (and lobbyists) who have in a signed letter to the US President appealed to disregard the joint proposal put forward by India and South Africa, stating that it was without any evidence. It also urged the US Administration to continue to 'oppose the TRIPs intellectual property waiver'. Hollywood, too, is siding with the pharmaceutical industry. The TRIPs Agreement provides for a patent monopoly for 20 years.

Although there exists a clause in the TRIPs Agreement that allows the developing countries the option of using compulsory licensing, enabling the governments at times of national emergencies to permit local manufacturers to use the patented technology without worrying about the patent monopoly, developing countries are reluctant to use the option, fearing trade retaliation. No wonder, despite even the Supreme Court mentioning the option of using Section 92 of the Indian Patents Act under which compulsory licences can be issued to manufacture a patented drug, there has not been any visible movement on that front.

Pfizer's latest proposal says it has offered its vaccines to India at a 'not-for-profit' price, but is quiet on the patent issue. It needs to be known that it was in February that TV channel WION had reported how the pharmaceutical giant was asking some Latin American countries for military bases and sovereign assets as a guarantee in exchange for supplying vaccines. It struck deals with seven countries, and was in negotiation with Argentina and Brazil.

To Argentina, it asked for putting its bank reserves, military bases and embassy buildings as collateral. It asked Brazil for military bases, sovereign assets and an international fund to write off any expenses arising from probable law suits. The deals fell through.

Even at that time, Pfizer Chairman Albert Bourla had in a press release claimed how the company was committed to providing equitable and affordable vaccines to people around the globe. It shows the double face of the pharmaceutical industry.

Moreover, it is not that the Covid-19 vaccines were produced with the company's own financial resources and in-house research. These vaccines were, in fact, developed with public money support. For instance, the US, through its Operation Warp Speed, spent $12 billion to finance research, production and delivery of vaccines produced by a handful of companies. The UK Government had provided 84 million pounds for manufacturing support to the University of Oxford and Imperial College, London. As we all know, Oxford University later carved out a global licensing agreement with AstraZeneca. The German Government had given Pfizer's German partner BioNTech close to $445 million.

Further, writing in Project Syndicate, economist Jeffrey D Sachs says: "The Intellectual Property held by Moderna, BioNTech-Pfizer, and others is not mainly the result of those companies' innovations, but rather of academic research funded by the US Government, especially the National Institutes of Health (NIH). The private companies are claiming the exclusive right to IP that was produced largely with public funding and academic science."

Billionaire philanthropist Bill Gates, too, has received brickbats for his recent statement opposing any move to transfer the vaccine technology to developing countries. To say that developing countries do not have the capability to effectively use the technology transfer is not true. There are a number of companies in India, Canada, South Africa and Brazil, among others, which have the potential to ramp up production. The IPR waiver can easily expedite the mass production of generics, making them cheaply available. That's what the world needs at this critical juncture.

Well, Pfizer alone is expected to swell its vaccine profits this year by $15 billion. This comes at a time when a horrible surge in virus infections is likely to push hundreds of millions of people in Global South at risk for want of vaccines and that too cheap.

Let's not forget, 3.22 million people have already perished worldwide from Covid-19. While the patent debate rages on, the big question is how the world can allow a handful of vaccine companies to profit over human lives.

Bookies had a man at venue during an IPL game in Delhi

NEW DELHI, MAY 5

The IPL, which was suspended indefinitely yesterday, witnessed potential corruptors using an accredited cleaner at Delhi's Feroze Shah Kotla ground for doing "pitch-siding", which helps in ball-to-ball betting.

BCCI Anti-Corruption Unit (ACU) chief Shabbir Hussain Shekhamad Khandawala revealed that this new modus operandi was observed during an IPL game at the venue. During this game, a designated cleaner was using the time lag between actual match action and live TV coverage to help in ball-by-ball betting. This is known as "court-siding" or "pitch siding"—the practice of transmitting information from sporting events for the purpose of gambling.

"One of my ACU officers caught this person... While he managed to flee leaving behind his two mobile phones, ACU lodged a complaint with Delhi Police," Khandawala said. "In a separate incident, Delhi Police caught two other persons from the ground on ACU's tip-off."

The Delhi Police arrested two people with fake accreditation cards during the IPL match between Rajasthan

Royals and Sunrisers Hyderabad on May 2.

Small fry

"The one who fled came in the garb of a cleaner. However, we have all his details as he was employed for the tournament. His Aadhar Card details have been handed over to Delhi Police," Khandawala said. "He is a small fry working for a couple of hundred or some thousand bucks maybe."

He agreed that lower-rung staff might be used by a betting syndicate since, because of the bio-bubble due to Covid-19, there was no access to team hotels.

He was passing information over phone for betting purposes: ACU chief

"He was standing (at the venue) in a secluded area all by himself and so one of our officers approached and asked him what he was doing there. He replied: 'I am talking to my girlfriend'." — Shabbir Hussain Shekhamad Khandawala, BCCI Anti-Corruption Unit chief

Caught in action

How was the man doing "pitch-siding" caught?

"He was standing (at the venue) in a secluded area all by himself and so one of our officers approached and asked him what he was doing there. He replied: 'I am talking to my girlfriend'." — Khandawala

The officer asked the man to hand him the phones after dialling the number he was talking to. When the officer was going through the contents of his phone, the man fled.

Khandawala did not reveal the match during which this incident took place. Khandawala said the ACU didn't receive any complaint of corrupt approaches being made to players or support staff during the IPL.

He also said that during the Mumbai leg of the tournament, the hotel in which the Sunrisers Hyderabad players were staying had three people with questionable past records, with names in the ACU database. However, they could not come in contact with the players. "We got in touch with Mumbai Police... who got hold of those three," he added. — PTI

Wrestlers make last attempt to qualify for Oly

SOFIA (BULGARIA): Handed an opportunity to qualify for the Tokyo Games at the fag end of his international career, veteran wrestler Amit Dhankar would go all out when he takes the mat along with 11 other Indians at the World Olympic Qualifiers, starting on Thursday. The 32-year-old had lost the national trials in the 74kg category but since national champion Sandeep Singh Mann came a cropper at the Asian Qualifiers in Almaty, the national federation gave Dhankar a chance to compete in Sofia. It is the last chance for all the wrestlers in the world to qualify for the postponed Tokyo Games. The two finalists in each category will make the cut for the Tokyo Games. Six Indian wrestlers have so far qualified for the Tokyo Olympics. PTI

Manchester trump Paris

Mahrez scores twice, Man City reach first Champions League final

MANCHESTER, MAY 5

By the time Riyad Mahrez completed the counterattack that sealed Manchester City's spot in their first-ever Champions League final, they looked effortless in overcoming a Paris Saint-Germain lineup that lost its cool and composure. "Then they lost their nerve and started to kick us and it was good," Mahrez said. It was the Paris-born winger who netted twice before PSG had Angel Di Maria sent off. City won 2-0 to eliminate last season's finalists 4-1 on aggregate. "They had the red card," Mahrez said, "and after, it was more comfortable for us."

It's been anything but comfortable for City getting a shot at lifting European football's top prize for the first time despite 13 years of lavish investment. Even reaching the semifinals this time required a fight in court to overturn a ban from this season's Champions League for breaching UEFA's financial rules. And it's only two weeks since the Abu Dhabi-owned team exposed itself to fresh sanctions for joining a brief, ill-fated bid to split to help form a breakaway European Super League.

Now City could win the competition they tried to leave in what could be an all-English final on May 29 in Istanbul if Chelsea overcome Real Madrid. Chelsea and Madrid played to a 1-1 draw in the first leg.

Money put in

"Of course, we've invested money in the last decade since Sheikh Mansour took over the club, but it's not just about this," City manager Pep Guardiola said. "If you want to think it's just about money, it's OK. But there is a lot of incredible things behind the scenes."

"To reach the Champions League final is so difficult," Guardiola said. "It's the toughest one, but we did it."

City are now accustomed to success — sitting on the brink of their third Premier League title in four seasons after already collecting the League Cup last month. But their only continental title came with the now-defunct European Cup Winners' Cup in 1970. "This club needed the final, these players needed the final," City defender Kyle Walker said. "For these players to not be in a Champions League final is a disappointment every year."

Sushil Kumar under probe over death of wrestler after clash

Tribune News Service

NEW DELHI, MAY 5

Two-time Olympics medalist Sushil Kumar is under probe for his alleged involvement in a brawl that resulted in the death of a wrestler.

A wrestler named Sagar Kumar died of his wounds after a late night fracas at the Chhatrasal Stadium here. The Delhi Police has detained a suspect in relation with the crime, in which two other persons were injured.

As per the FIR registered in Model Town, the police received a PCR call around 1 am (Wednesday) after the three injured were rushed to a local hospital. The police, after initial investigations, revealed that Sagar and his friends were staying at a house reportedly owned by Sushil. The trio were asked to vacate the premises, which angered them. Sagar and his friends were then called to the Chhatrasal Stadium to sort out the issue, when heated arguments led to fistfights among the two groups.

Sushil, however, denied his involvement in the clash, saying neither he nor any of the wrestlers from the Chhatrasal Stadium were involved. "They came from the outside and we have

"Initial investigations have revealed that the above mentioned persons were beaten up by Sushil Pehelwan and his friends who committed this crime in the Chhatrasal Stadium," it added.

A double-barrelled gun and five live cartridges and two bamboo sticks have been recovered from the stadium.

Moreover, the FIR also mentioned the PCR call received after the incident.

"Caller bol raha hai ki yahan pe firing hui hai. Do ladko ne firing ki hai (The caller is saying that two persons have fired shots inside the stadium)," the PCR record stated.

IPL in India: It could have been 'tweaked', says Cummins

MELBOURNE, MAY 5
Australian fast bowler Pat Cummins has said that in hindsight, he thinks that the IPL organisers could have "tweaked a few things" to make the league more secure while hosting it in India even as the Covid-19 pandemic raged. The IPL was "indefinitely suspended" yesterday after at least four teams were hit by Covid-19 cases despite the bio-secure bubble.

Cummins, part of the Kolkata Knight Riders team, said the 2020 edition of the IPL, held in the UAE, was incredibly "well-run". He said the organisers pushed it "little step further" by organising it in India this year. Last year, the IPL was first postponed and then shifted to the UAE as India was in the grip of the first wave of the pandemic.

"Last year we had the IPL held over in the UAE and that was an incredibly well-run tournament," Cummins told a TV channel. "This year, they tried to push it that little step further and have it over here in multiple cities in India. I'm sure looking back they might have tweaked a few things."

Cummins, however, didn't specify what exactly could have been done differently in his comments, which were made before the league was suspended yesterday. The victim did not sustain any serious injuries but due to the traumatic experience he filed a police complaint six days after the attack, Holton said. Police said the victim knew one of his captors. — Reuters

But Aussie bowler doesn't specify what could have been done better

Criticism

Even when the tournament was on, there was a lot of criticism for conducting it at a time when a very large number of people in India were daily dealing with suffering and tragedy.

"It's two different worlds. We're lucky, we're safe, we're comfortable and there's people just trying to get basic medical treatment," Cummins said.

"First thing was to find out whether us playing the IPL was the right thing and basically everyone said, 'We would be lost without the IPL for three or four hours every night'. I'm just trying to do my bit. India's been such a good country to me and cricketers," he added.

Australia's Adam Zampa, who left the tournament last week, had made a scathing comment about this, saying: "There's a lot of people coming out and saying games of cricket could be a reprieve for some people but that's also going to be a personal answer. Someone who has a family member on their death bed probably doesn't care about the cricket." — TNS, agencies

Ex-Aussie bowler MacGill was kidnapped last month

SYDNEY, MAY 5
Australian police arrested four men in dawn raids today in connection with the alleged kidnap and assault of former Test cricketer Stuart MacGill, media reported.

The 50-year-old former leg-spinner was allegedly abducted near his home here on April 14 and taken to another part of the city where he was beaten and threatened with a gun, the media said. New South Wales state police, who verified the abduction reports but declined to identify the victim, said the man was freed an hour after his capture and no ransom was paid for his release. "Our belief is that the motive was purely financial. He was seen as someone that they could get money from, although no money was paid prior to him being released," Detective Acting Superintendent Anthony Holton told reporters in Sydney.

The victim did not sustain any serious injuries but due to the traumatic experience he filed a police complaint six days after the attack, Holton said. Police said the victim knew one of his captors. — Reuters

Mamata sworn in for 3rd time, says fighting Covid top priority

Tribune News Service

KOLKATA, MAY 5

Mamata Banerjee on Wednesday took oath as the Chief Minister of West Bengal at a low-key ceremony at the Raj Bhavan in Kolkata. It is her third consecutive term.

Those who complimented Mamata included Prime Minister Narendra Modi. "Congratulations to Mamata Didi on taking oath as West Bengal's Chief Minister," Modi said in a tweet.

Governor Jagdeep Dhankhar administered Mamata the oath of office and secrecy. The Chief Minister took the oath in Bengali. Mamata will have to become a legislator within the next six months as she has lost in the Assembly elections to BJP's Suvendu Adhikari.

Apart from senior TMC leaders like Partha Chatterjee and Subrata Mukherjee, poll strategist Prashant Kishor, who played a key role in the TMC's victory, and Mamata's MP nephew Abhishek Banerjee were present at the swearing-in ceremony.

Talking to mediapersons after the oath ceremony, Mamata promised taking stringent action against those

Resolve K-issue through dialogue: UNGA chief

UNITED NATIONS, MAY 5

President of the UN General Assembly Volkan Bozkir has encouraged India and Pakistan to resolve the issue of Kashmir "through peaceful means" and said he supported dialogue and diplomacy, recalling the 1972 Simla Agreement between the two countries.

Bozkir in response to a question on Kashmir during a press conference here on Tuesday, said the position of the United Nations on Jammu and Kashmir was governed by the UN Charter and applicable Security Council resolutions.

"I also recall India and Pakistan's Simla Agreement of 1972, which states that the final status of Jammu and Kashmir is to be settled by peaceful means in accordance with the UN Charter," said the Turkish diplomat and politician, who is serving as the president of the United Nations General Assembly since 2020.

In general, I support dialogue and diplomacy, and I encourage both Pakistan and India, neighbours, to resolve this dispute through peaceful means. This was the message I gave; it will be the same message if a question is asked when I'm in Pakistan," Bozkir said.

The UNGA president said he would be travelling to Bangladesh and Pakistan later this month on the invitation of the respective governments.

He said he had also planned a visit to India during his trip to South Asia but postponed it due to an "unexpected situation", referring to India's Covid-19 crisis.

On August 5, 2019, India revoked Article 370 that granted special status to Jammu and Kashmir and bifurcating the state into two union territories—Jammu and Kashmir, and Ladakh.
