Amit Shah of the "inconclusive" Tuesday meeting, said he was hopeful of a breakthrough. The ministers are believed to have discussed ways to dispel the farmers' misgivings. Sources indicated that an official group of ministers/committee could strike a "middle path".

The farm unions accused the government of trying to divide the farmers. "The BKU (Tikait) and all other unions across the country are with us," Krantikari Kisan Union head Darshan Pal claimed, threatening to choke all Delhi roads if their demands were not met. "It's do or die for us," stressed Gurnam Singh Charuni. "There have been protests in other countries as well. The government should ensure the country does not get a bad name," cautioned Shiv Kumar 'Kakkaji'.

Besides Singhu and Tikri, the farmers on Wednesday also gathered at the Chilla border between Delhi and Noida. Delhi CM Arvind Kejriwal claimed the Centre was upset with him for not allowing stadiums to be used as temporary jails for the farmers even as he accused Captain of speaking BJP's language".

JJP MLAs FOR MORE PROACTIVE ROLE

Chandigarh: Even as JJP chief Ajay Chautala has sought a written guarantee from the Centre on the MSP, a section of MLAs want a more proactive role in the farmers' stir. At least two — Jog Ram Singh (Barwala) and Ram Karan Kala (Shahbad) — have publicly expressed solidarity with the farmers and condemned "atrocities" by Haryana cops.

Till then, we will continue to camp at the border and raise slogans against the Centre," said Purushottam Singh Gill, a leader of BKU (Lokhawa).

Another farmer leader said two more dharna spots had been finalised on the Bahadurgarh bypass to step up the agitation against farm laws.

Meanwhile, All-India Kisan Sabha (AIKS) activists, led by its vice-president Inderjit Singh, took out a march from Bahadurgarh (Sector 9) bypass to Tikri border.

Farmers plan to seal all Delhi entry points

JHAJJAR, DECEMBER 2

Agitating farmers camping at the Tikri-Bahadurgarh border have chalked out plans to seal all nearby entry points to Delhi.

"After talking to local people, we have identified various roads being used by commuters as alternative routes for going to Delhi from Jhajjar, Rohtak and surrounding areas. We plan to block all these routes as and when our committee asks us to do so. We have done our groundwork," a farmer said.

The routes identified by farmers include Bahadurgarh-Jharodha-Najafgarh road, Badli-Dhansa road, Jargadpur chowk-Mundela road, Balor-Kair road, Gubahan-Bakargarh road, Devarkhana-Galipur road, Badshah-Galipur road and Luksar-Mundela road.

The farmers maintained they were also contemplating getting support of residents of villages concerned so that the strategy could be executed effectively, if the government doesn't accept their demand. "We are prepared to seal all entry points to Delhi to mount pressure on the Centre, but are waiting for directions from our top leaders in this respect.

DIFFICULT TO SEE THE PAIN THEY ARE GOING THROUGH

I belong to a family of farmers, so I couldn't see the pain they have gone through in recent days. The farmers provide food to us and water cannons and teargas is what they get in return? Kartar Singh, PADMA SHRI National awardee Sajjan Singh Cheema said more than 100 national and international sportspersons were expected to join them in the agitation. Even young sportspersons from Punjab were showing their support to the cause.

Olympian Cheema said around 50 cars would leave from Punjab for the capital. "Until now, the players who have given confirmation to return their awards are Padma Shri Kartar Singh, Olympian hockey players Rajbir Kaur and Gurmel Singh, Arjuna awardee shotput player Balwinder Singh, Padma Shri and Arjuna awardee Premchand Dogra (bodybuilding) and Arjuna awardee weightlifter Tara Singh, besides me," Cheema said.

Kartar Singh said, "I belong to a family of farmers too, so I couldn't see the pain they have gone through in recent days. The farmers provide food to us and water cannons and teargas is what they get in return?" he asked.

The Centre must look into the matter seriously. "I don't understand why the farmer has to suffer this. They were holding a peaceful protest. What wrong did they do? This has hurt us a lot," he added.

Olympian Rajbir Kaur said: "There are several young players, too, who want to go with us to support the farmers. We are shocked to see the farmers suffering. What will we do with the awards if our farmers are forced to face such torture?" she asked.

the system that has served the farming community and the country well?

Farmers from other parts of the country are also taking part in the protest, but why has Punjab become its face?

Farmers all over the country are unhappy with the agriculture laws. Since Punjab farmers have taken the lead in articulating their concerns, it has been labelled as Punjab farmers' agitation. Now farmers from other states have also joined the protest.

Has the government responded appropriately?

I wish the government could be more sensitive in handling the agitation. Initially, the government ignored the protest, thinking it would peter out by itself. When the protest continued, it invited the farmer representatives to Delhi for discussion. Only the agriculture secretary met farmers and they returned empty handed. This shows that the exercise had not been fair.

What's the way out for both farmers and the Centre?

Only solution to the present impasse is the government must listen to farmers and understand their viewpoint and then negotiate sincerely. The Home Minister and the Agriculture Minister should meet the farmer representatives and arrive at a negotiated settlement. A give and take on both sides would be helpful.

They added it was imperative for the government to take into consideration the concern of the farmers before enacting these laws.

Their apprehension that these laws would benefit the corporates could not be easily discounted. As such, the government was required to realise the difficulty of the small and marginal farmers to deal with the big corporates. "Corporates, maybe a few, would benefit. But struggling farmers burdened with unending debts would lose their land and livelihood", they added.

Hotelier's son kidnapped, rescued

One arrested | Three suspects, including family's driver, at large

TRIBUNE NEWS SERVICE

LUDHIANA, DECEMBER 2 The Ludhiana Police Commissionate, led by Commissioner of Police (CP) Rakesh Agrawal, today cracked the kidnapping case of a two-and-a-half-year-old child in less than 20 hours and arrested one of the accused.

The victim, identified as Vinamr, is son of Pankaj Gupta, owner of Keys Hotel, Pakhowal road. The arrested accused has been identified as Rashpal Singh, a resident of Moga. The other three accused, including the kingpin, who is the driver of the hotelier, identified as Harjinderpal Singh of Fazilka, and his two accomplices, identified as Lal Singh of Zira and Sukhdev Singh of Fazilka, are absconding.

The police have also recovered two cars, a Maruti Swift Dzire (of the hotelier) and Volkswagen Polo, .32 bore revolver, single barrel gun, .12 bore double barrel gun, air pistol, besides a huge amount of ammunition from Rashpal Singh.

The CP said during a press conference today, Gupta, a resident of SBS Nagar, lodged a complaint that his son, who had gone for a ride with his driver Harjinderpal Singh in his white Maruti Swift Dzire had been kidnapped. His wife got a call on her mobile phone. The caller told her that her son had been kidnapped, and demanded Rs 4 crore for his release, failing which he threatened to kill the child.

Harjinderpal had been working as a driver with the hotelier for the past three years.

Agrawal said the kidnapper forbade the parents from informing the police. The police immediately brought the matter into the notice of Dinkar Gupta, DGP, Punjab, and started the search operation.

The DGP asked Ishwar Singh, ADGP, Law & Orders, Punjab, to put up a naka throughout Punjab and all districts were put on high alert, while RN Dhone, ADGP, Internal Security, Punjab, personally supervised the operation.

The Police Commissioner said during the investigation it came to light that the driver, along with three accomplices, had conspired the kidnapping of the child. In 2010, Harinderpal was also involved in a kidnapping-cum-murder case of a child in Fazilka.

"Moga was traced as the driver's last location, so the police had cordoned off the entire city. The child was rescued from Moga in an abandoned Volkswagen Polo near the Dagru railway crossing, while one of the kidnappers was nabbed near the car.

Revamping publication dept priority: SGPC chief

AMRITSAR, DECEMBER 2 The 'disappearance' of 328 Guru Granth Sahib 'sarops' has compelled Bibi Jagir Kaur, the newly appointed president of the Shiromani Gurdwara Parbandhak Committee (SGPC), to make the revamping of its publication department a top priority.

Accompanied by senior vice-president Surjit Singh Bhittewad and the general secretary, Kaur took the first meeting of officials after assuming the charge of the Sikh body. She also met Akal Takht Jathedar Giani Harpreet Singh and Takht Keshgar Sahib Jathedar Giani Raghbir Singh.

She said that the officials would now be held accountable for their duties and there would be no tolerance for any lapse.

Talking to The Tribune, Kaur termed the 'sarops' going missing from the possession of the SGPC a matter of administrative lapse. She said that the functioning of the publication department, that is solely authorised to publish, store and issue the 'sarops' from the premises of Gurdwara Ramsar Sahib here, was the need of the hour.

The Akal Takht had appointed a probe panel that had submitted a 1,000-page report. The report had indicted 16 persons for misappropriation of the 'sarops'. — TNS

Hosiery units struggle to meet demand

TRIBUNE NEWS SERVICE

LUDHIANA, DECEMBER 2

The manufacturers of woolen products in the city are trying hard to meet the demand of buyers from all over the country, but with the early onset of winters the gap between demand and supply is definitely hitting the market this time.

There was no production of hosiery products in April, May and June as units were shut due to the Covid-induced lockdown. Moreover, the imports from China and other countries were also stopped. As a result, the production came down to just 50-60 per cent. However, the demand is huge this season, leading to the huge gap in market.

"The China effect is also there. We are executing only those repeat orders for which material is available with us. Seeing the huge demand for hosiery products, even the yarn dealers could hoard the urea and create artificial shortages to maximise profits," he added.

Talking to The Tribune, Sudershan Jain from Oner Knitwear said production for winter wear usually started from March-April but it started almost three months late this year. "And with limited capacity, even if we wish, we cannot meet the demand so soon," he said.

The manufacturer said that no winter material came from countries like China this year. Even the "repeat" orders would not be executed well because from next month onwards, sampling for summers would start.

Varinder Bharti from Satyam Knitwear said there was a huge demand for woolens but because the manufacturers were not able to come up with full production, the supply was hit.

Ahead of talks, farmers harden stance

MUKESH TANDON

TRIBUNE NEWS SERVICE

SONEPAT, DECEMBER 2

The farmers' protest against the three farm laws continued at the Singhu border on the NH-44 for the sixth day on Wednesday.

The All India Kisan Sangharsh Coordination Committee decided to intensify the protest and demanded a special session of Parliament to repeal the three farm laws.

Darshan Pal Singh, president of the Krantikari Kisan Union, said they rejected the invitation of the Union Government on Tuesday because it did not invite four members — Shiv Kumar Kakkaji, Gurnam Singh Charuni, Yogen-dra Yadav and NN Bhola.

"We have foiled the government's plan to divide farmers. It had to add the names of three farmer leaders except Yadav as we condemned it," Pal said.

The joint panel decided to send seven to 10 pages on all sections of the three farm laws, as demanded by the Centre on Tuesday.

"The Centre should call a special session and repeal the three farm laws. The movement will not be limited to the Singhu and Tikri borders, but will choke the national capital," said the farmer leader.

"We have given a call for a movement against Narendra Modi government and Ambani, Adani and other corporate houses. Farmers across the country will protest and burn effigies of the government and corporate houses on Saturday," he said.

Shiv Kumar Sharma said the movement would continue till the government revoked the three farm laws no matter how much time it took.

Ranjeet Raju from Rajasthan said hundreds of farmers had moved towards Delhi to support the farmers' protest at the Singhu border.

Kavita Kurudanti from Karnataka said women had been supporting farmers. Pratibha Shinde of Maharashtra said farmers in her state were also supporting the farmers' protest and thousands of farmers would protest against the farm laws and electricity amendment Bill across Maharashtra on Thursday.

Students of the Delhi University and members of social organisations, theatre groups and trade unions reached the Singhu border to support farmers.

Rumblings within JJP as MLAs want proactive role

PRADEEP SHARMA

TRIBUNE NEWS SERVICE

CHANDIGARH, DECEMBER 2

The farmers' stir has set off rumblings within the JJP, with certain MLAs advocating a proactive role in the protest.

Restive MLAs are adopting a wait and watch policy in the backdrop of the party's ambivalent policy.

Party legislators are at their wits' end about extending active support to the farmers.

Sources said certain MLAs had been advocating a more proactive role for party leaders in the farmers' agitation as the party had championed farmers' rights from the beginning.

Riding high on Devi Lal's legacy, considered to be a farmers' messiah, the JJP had bagged 10 seats in 2019 and subsequently cobbled together an alliance with the BJP.

However, JJP president Ajay Chautala had been following a safe line of action, asking the Centre to give a written guarantee on minimum support price for farmers' produce.

GETTING RESTIVE

- MLAs adopt wait and watch policy in backdrop of leadership's ambivalent policy

- Party's reluctance to support farmers' agitation may cost the JJP dear, feel MLAs were from the farming community, the sources asserted.

An MLA said since almost all political parties, except the BJP, had thrown in their lot with the agitating farmers, it was becoming untenable for party legislators to defend the farm Acts at public forums.

At least two JJP MLAs, Jogi Ram Sihag from Barwala and Ram Karan Kala from Shahbad, had publicly expressed solidarity with the farmers and condemned "atrocities" on farmers by the Haryana Police.

However, JJP president Ajay Chautala had been following a safe line of action, asking the Centre to give a written guarantee on minimum support price for farmers' produce.

Jind locals' sweet surprise for agitators

TRIBUNE NEWS SERVICE

HISAR, DECEMBER 2

The farmers agitating at the Delhi borders in Sonepat and Bahadurgarh were in for a sweet surprise on Wednesday. Karsola villagers in Jind's Julana block prepared and sent ladoos for them.

The villagers collected funds through donations and started a community kitchen to prepare ladoos. The villagers dispatched 10 quintal ladoos for the farmers at the Tikri border in Jhajjar district's Bahadurgarh town, while equal quantity of the sweets will be delivered at the Singhu border in Sonepat district on Thursday.

Narender Lathar, a local, said a group of youths and elders had decided to supply ladoos to the farmers as they usually have a sweet tooth.

CHANDIGARH, DECEMBER 2

Congress general secretary Randeep Singh Surjewala on Wednesday questioned the JJP's continued support to the Khattar government, which, he said, employed every method to thwart the voice of farmers protesting against the new farm laws.

He asked JJP MLAs to listen to their conscience and withdraw support from government. "The CM and his

TWO KHP PANCHAYATS EXTEND SUPPORT

- Two khap panchayats of Jind — Darhan and Binain — which have influence in about 50 villages, have extended support to the protest and decided to join the stir.
- The Darhan Khap, based in Uchana, which is represented by Deputy Chief Minister Dushyant Chautala, said it was time to take a tough stand on issues concerning farmers.
- Azad Palwan, Khap secretary, said they would wait till Thursday for a positive outcome to the talks with the Centre.
- Dalbir Sheokand, pradhan of the khap, said people had taken food and other essential items with them and would not return till their demands were met. TNS

Court quashes plaint against ex-MP Saini

TRIBUNE NEWS SERVICE

CHANDIGARH, DECEMBER 2

More than two years after a Rohtak court summoned former MP Raj Kumar Saini in a defamation case, the Punjab and Haryana High Court on Wednesday quashed the complaint. The case revolves around alleged remarks made by the former MP against former Chief Minister Bhupinder Singh Hooda's grandfather Chaudhary Matu Ram.

Justice Sanjay Kumar quashed subsequent proceedings, including the summoning order, after holding that the "complaint was deficient and tainted in its very inception and was, therefore, not maintainable".

Justice Kumar held that the complainant was not a family member or near relative of late Matu Ram and could not unilaterally assume unto himself the status of aggrieved person under provisions of the CrPC.

Justice Kumar observed that the summoning order showed that the complainant contended before the magistrate that he fell within the definition of a person aggrieved as his family was closely related to late Matu Ram.

Justice Kumar noted that this claim appeared to have been based more on ideological considerations rather than any actual relationship and there was no averment in the complaint indicative of any familial relationship.

The petitioner was seeking quashing of a complaint dated April 18, 2018, and order dated June 13, 2018, passed by the Rohtak Judicial Magistrate First Class, summoning him for offences under Sections 499 and 500 of the Indian Penal Code on the complaint filed by Sant Kanwar.

Court forms panel to probe glitches in tender process

LEGAL CORRESPONDENT

SHIMLA, DECEMBER 2

The HP High Court has constituted a four-member committee to probe irregularities in the tendering process of a proposed commercial complex at Vikas Nagar, near the petrol pump, here. The committee has been directed to submit its report by December 29.

Passing this order, Justice Sandeep Sharma observed that, "Prima facie, the court is of the view that some high-ranking officials of the Himachal Pradesh Housing and Urban Development Authority (HIMUDA) have not acted responsibly and in the interest of the organisation, and rather have attempted, directly or indirectly, to give undue benefits to some contractors."

Justice Sharma observed that, "Apart from the above, the action of the authorities to show undue haste in issuing a letter of intent in favour of the successful bidder and that too before the conclusion of the contract agreement and negotiations of rates raises doubt with regard to fairness and impartial attitude of the authorities at the helm of affairs."

Congress demands audit of mining in Swan river

CM was approached but to no avail, allege MLAs

OUR CORRESPONDENT

UNA, DECEMBER 2

Congress MLAs from Una district — Mukesh Agnihotri from Haroli and Satpal Raizada from Una — today demanded a physical audit of mining in the Swan river and its impact on the environment and groundwater.

Addressing mediapersons here, Leader of the Opposition Mukesh Agnihotri alleged that illegal mining in the river had become a big issue as criminals were also getting involved. The local official machinery had become redundant, he said.

Agnihotri said that every day, around 1,000 tipplers were being illegally loaded with sand and gravel along the Swan river and all this could not be happening without the help of people in power.

Officers are turning a blind eye to the issue.

He alleged that no record of the mining material moving out of the state was being maintained at any barrier and no maximum limit for material to be mined in a day had been fixed. He alleged that heavy machinery was being used to dig deep holes even in areas which had not been leased for mining. Besides, dumping sites had mushroomed near the riverbanks and the stone-pitched embankments of the river built at a cost of over Rs 1,200 crore with funds from the Union Government were on the brink of collapse, he said.

Raizada alleged that during the last two years, illegal mining in the river had been criminalised. People were being beaten up, honest officers were being threatened and on a couple of occasions, gunshots had also been fired into the air. However, the government and the administration is silent, he said. — OC

Unwarranted remarks

Canadian PM tests limits of diplomatic protocol

NON-RESIDENT Indians, understandably, have been quite vocal in their support to the protesting farmers and while expressing their displeasure over the treatment meted out to them by the government. The scenes witnessed over the past few days have been troubling, to say the least, and the reaction, including rallies, by the large Punjabi diaspora — most with a farming background — can only be seen as a sign of empathy. Canada's Defence Minister Harjit Sajjan says his constituents are worried over the safety of their loved ones. Another prominent leader, NDP's Jagmeet Singh, has conveyed solidarity with 'the farmers from Punjab and across India'. Both have called upon the Modi government to engage in a peaceful dialogue.

Politicians marking concerns, even if amplified at times, as community leaders over events taking place in their country of origin is par for the course, but the Prime Minister of the country, no less, choosing to join in is unsettling. Testing the limits of protocol with his remarks on farmer protests, Canadian Prime Minister Justin Trudeau has added another chapter to his uneasy relationship with New Delhi. The Ministry of External Affairs has been quick to term the comments unwarranted and amounting to interference in India's internal matters, along with a riposte that 'it is best that diplomatic conversations are not misrepresented for political purposes'.

Curiously, for all the concern shown for the protesters, a recent meeting of the Committee on Agriculture of the World Trade Organisation saw Canada, along with the US and European Union, questioning India's agriculture trade practices and farmer-friendly policies. Ottawa also challenged India when it sought to defend its agricultural programmes like the minimum support price for staple crops such as rice, wheat and pulses. There is no denying that the new farm laws are contentious, or that the Centre fell way short in not only recognising the anger and distrust of the primary stakeholders, but also while engaging with them. But how is that Trudeau's business? His public commentary was uncalled for.

India's fight against malaria

WHO's observations a call to prioritise healthcare

At a time when the country's efforts have been directed towards battling the Covid-19 pandemic and finding a vaccine for it, the observations by the World Health Organisation (WHO) about India making 'impressive gains' in the global fight against malaria will sound a bit out of place despite being encouraging. The context to it can possibly be found in India being part of a collective effort by countries in the Asia-Pacific region that had pledged to eliminate malaria by 2030. India, in fact, pledged to achieve this by 2027, three years ahead of schedule. The WHO also seems concerned that Covid-19 protocols should not undermine the policy on malaria in South-East Asia.

While the coronavirus outbreak was initially reported from all over the country, the incidence of malaria is generally confined to particular regions. Preventive measures, medication, surveillance, community participation and sustained efforts played a role in containing malarial outbreaks. Whether the country is able to script a similar success story against the coronavirus remains to be seen. Areas where malaria is endemic are said to be at risk of suffering from the consequences of Covid-19 due to similarity in side-effects.

Along with malaria, the country has striven to eliminate other diseases like polio. Pulse polio drops, administered across the country by health workers, were a reminder of our purposeful approach. The WHO's observations should serve as a wake-up call not to relent in the fight to ensure overall healthcare. India has also been among the largest producers of the anti-malaria drug hydroxychloroquine, recommended early on during the pandemic, but later ruled out by health experts. Preventive measures to check Covid-19 like maintaining hygiene and sanitation are also factors that help in checking the breeding of vectors that cause malaria. The WHO has been in the eye of a storm, being accused by the United States of favouring China. India, while heeding its advice, would do well to keep its own counsel and take steps in keeping with its own needs.

THOUGHT FOR THE DAY

When women do better, economies do better

— Christine Lagarde

ON THIS DAY...100 YEARS AGO

The Tribune.

LAHORE, FRIDAY, DECEMBER 3, 1920

THE VICEROY'S SPEECH.

THE tendency to try and find a scapegoat for one's own sins of omission and commission is deep-rooted in minds of a certain order, perhaps in the average man in the stage of development he has reached. This is the sole explanation of the anxiety manifested by so many rulers of men at the present time to attribute to the recent World War happenings for which they themselves are primarily responsible. Undoubtedly, a terrible moral earthquake like the great European war could not have happened without giving the world and all existing institutions a rude shaking, without liberating or accentuating forces of unsuspected potency and dimension which, unless properly guided or regulated, would sweep away not only much that is evil in our present life and environment but also much that is good. For, such forces usually belong to the category of those great physical agencies which in their operation make no distinction between good and evil, between the just and the unjust, between that which makes for freedom and progress and that which only makes for tyranny and decay. But it is one thing to properly and adequately recognise this fact, and quite another to father our own sins upon the War to hold the War responsible for social or political reasons, which we have ourselves invited or occasioned by our blunders or our folly. This last tendency has now for some time been increasingly visible in India and among high officials. Within legitimate limits, the tendency may serve and perhaps has served a useful purpose. We have enemies both in India and England who are perpetually on the alert to make out that everything is for the worst in this worst of possible lands, that the Indian is endowed with a good deal more than his share of original sin, and some of these had actually begun to speak and write, in regard to the great national movement.

Gender blindness during Covid

Women have been equally affected, but media focus bore a male face

PAMELA PHILPOSE

SENIOR FELLOW AT THE INDIAN COUNCIL OF SOCIAL SCIENCE RESEARCH

NOT FAIR: The greatest factor in skewed coverage is institutional conformism. AFP

THE exceptional times that we are living through come to us through media filters. Media coverage determines our understanding of how people have responded to the Covid pandemic through their acts of humanity and inhumanity. It reveals how the State has responded to this disaster and how it has failed to respond. It captures the experiences specific to this disease, from social distancing, testing, quarantining and hospitalisation to the savage taming of our bodies under masks and PPEs. In myriad ways, it reflects our fears and our hopes in the present moment, and it will mould the way we remember this period in the future. The pandemic may exist outside of the media but has come to be socially constructed by the media.

Given this reality, the many gaps in media coverage assume importance and one of these is that of gender. Part of the reason for the endemic gender blindness in the media is that their default mode is male, their dominant voice is male, their sources are predominantly male. Consequently, the trivialisation and invisibilisation of women has become normalised over the years, which means that when an unprecedented health reversal like a pandemic takes place, the media does not have the language or imagination to capture distress and suffering along gender lines.

All migrants who walked back to their villages were tragic figures, but the experiences of menstruating women, sexually harassed women, pregnant women — some of whom gave birth on the highway — rarely surfaced. There were women among the 80 officially declared deaths on Shramik trains, but we can only surmise this because again, news reports barely registered their presence. When the image of a toddler removing a sheet covering its dead mother first emerged as a social media video, the mainstream reportage that followed was fractured and contradictory, with the railway police and the Centre's Press Information Bureau maintaining that the woman had died of a pre-existing condition. One of the most thorough media investigations into the case came, ironically, from a fact-checking body, Alt News, which pieced together the woman's story 10 days after her death: Arvina, working in Gujarat as a construction worker, was suddenly rendered jobless after the lockdown.

Media blindness leads to policy blindness. Long-time observer of the migrant labour scene, Prof S Irudaya Rajan, writing in the Indian Journal of Labour Economics, observed that women migrant workers, often identified as associational migrants and remaining outside official data sources, could not benefit from government schemes like the Garib Kalyan Rozgar Yojana.

If the woman migrant went missing, so too did women as workers. The huge negative impact of the pandemic on women's employment was unmistakable but the unemployed during the pandemic bore a male face. When economist Ashwini Deshpande compared the employment figures for August 2020 with those of August 2019, she calculated that women were 9.5 percentage points less likely than men to be employed. Even when media empathy for women workers was called for, there was very little evidence of it. In June, ASHA workers went on strike in Bengaluru for withheld salaries. The media adopted a hostile tone, coming up with headlines like, 'Blow to Covid-19 fight: 6 lakh ASHA workers on 2-day strike'.

If this inability to understand the life stories of women, who comprise an extremely poorly paid, yet vital workforce is bad enough, the indifference to the full dimensions of the spike in domestic violence during the lockdown is nothing less than callous. The police routinely fail to register cases of domestic violence because they do not see the criminality of wife-beating, dismissing it as mere misunderstandings between married couples, just as they routinely frame abuse extended within the family to sexual minorities and transgenders as parental disciplining. Media, to an extent, has also internalised such patriarchal understanding. This also means the broader aspects of domestic violence — including marital rape and forced pregnancies — prove elusive. While women with greater economic and social independence had access to contraceptives and pregnancy tests, poorer women often resorted to pencils and sticks to abort unwanted pregnancies, according to gynaecologists. The failure to report on such developments indicates the reporter's inability to identify new sources of gender-centric information.

The cruellest aspect of gender blindness is the media's inability to perceive the female gender as a heterogeneous social category. Gendered reporting, such as it is, tends to focus on the upper caste, upper class/middle class woman. A recent public hearing of 'basti' women conducted online by the Delhi Rozi Roti Adhikar Abhiyan indicated how deep is the cut that the pandemic has inflicted on the most vulnerable, even in India's second richest city. Those without documents to secure a ration card face nothing less than an existential crisis. Testimonies emerged of eating rotis with salt; drinking tea dregs without milk; going to bed on empty stomachs; dealing with alcoholic husbands; having children go without that life-saving mid-day meal, seeing them pushed prematurely out of school and into labour markets, and even trafficking.

How do we account for such stories not emerging at a time when they are needed the most? The greatest factor in skewed gender coverage, it would seem, is institutional conformism. Exceptions apart, mainstream coverage, by and large, betrayed an incapacity to question government or critique its arbitrary politics. Persons of interest to the market, beneficiaries of class and caste privilege, those belonging to the 'right' gender, these were the faces that most emerged in the reporting. We are consequently left poorer in making the right policies to help India cope better with the crisis.

Commitment to freedom & justice

SHELLEY WALIA

I WAS privileged to have a father who was a visionary academic and from whom I learned lessons in inspirational pedagogy. He regarded the classroom as a forum where one studied the subject at hand, engaging in a fearless exchange of ideas. Students were encouraged to voice dissenting opinions. I still meet some of his old students who remember his lectures as an inspiration for delving deep into history and culture, an intellectual necessity for sharpening critical thinking with a focus on public responsibilities.

Going through a dark period of uncertainty, some of us see clearly the ominous signs of the end of free thinking and the collapse of democratic institutions. The conflict is between a university becoming a seat of diversity and learning or a seat of conformity and indoctrination. Early on in life, coming in contact with the works of Rosa Luxemburg in my father's library, I learnt that 'freedom is always an exclusive freedom for one who thinks differently' not because of any dogmatism but only because of the 'instructive, wholesome and purifying' nature of political freedom.

As an academic, I could only think of inculcating in young minds the lessons I had imbibed from my father, whose courage to stand up for the progressive role of the university guided me through much of my life. His approach was alert and tinged with humour; leaving his students with a language and political thought that allowed them to articulate their opposition to any conflictist control. Any kind of political quiescence became anathema.

I gradually moved towards the study and later the teaching of Marxist cultural theory, with its propensity of prioritising intellectual multiplicity of opinion from a libertarian point of view. My close reading of books like the Brazilian philosopher and educationist Paulo Freire's Pedagogy of the Oppressed, or the works of Howard Zinn and Edward Said on history, war, and race made me aware of their commitment to the cause of freedom and justice. The combination of knowledge, teaching and social commitment was inherent in the intellectual culture generated by their legacy.

They recognised that their conscience was the most unswerving mechanism of inquiry.

Meeting Noam Chomsky at Oxford

years ago turned into an everlasting friendship that left a profound impression on me of his passion for exchange of ideas and willingness to consider the opposing point of view. With him, borders between political beliefs and existence, pedagogy and civic obligation faded. Waxing between disgust at the machinations of hegemony and an emphasis on the principle of hope, pedagogy thus came to serve for me as a radical struggle — that is, intervention.

Boisterous and freewheeling, fearlessly exploring the unconventional and the unexpected and always holding received assumptions to critical scrutiny became my guiding principles. I hope to have left a mark on at least some of my students, to be fearless and committed, with the resolve to stand up for what's just and equitable.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Allay their fears

The worry lines on the faces of my elders are an indication that the government has failed to provide them, and a thousand others, with enough assurance about the new farm laws. The fear of the unknown looms over them. The new Acts have missed a few steps and moved to the end. With the average farmer needing money every crop cycle, he doesn't have the holding power to influence market prices, and can't compete with big corporations.

The farmers are linking the new laws with the previous experiences they have had with private players with crops like sugarcane, where a fair rate isn't provided and payments are delayed by months. They are looking for a written assurance in the form of mandatory MSP. With talks progressing this week, the farmers expect the government to understand their side of the debate.

INAYAT KAUR BRAR, MUKTSAR

Agrarian movement

Refer to 'Talks inconclusive, next round tomorrow'; the government has granted the freedom to farmers to sell produce from one state to another, but has not given the legal guarantee for MSP. The Centre should agree to make amendments in order to provide MSP security.

and the farmers should shun the illegal and anti-social path of closing Delhi's borders. The movement should not deviate from its original objectives.

YUGAL KISHORE SHARMA, FARIDABAD

Laws not people-friendly

Refer to 'Talks inconclusive, next round tomorrow'; why is the BJP not implementing any rule that satisfies the farmers? Why is every new law against the citizens? The earlier decision to privatise the Railways cost many employees their jobs. All these laws are in favour of rich businessmen, and not the majority of India.

SIMRAN AHUJA, YAMUNANAGAR

Party bulletins

Politics being both an art and a craft, some leaders/ministers at times air controversial views — with or without tacit support of the top brass — and many a time as damage control, authorised spokespersons dissociate the party/government from it, terming the utterances to be a personal view. This leads to confusion and social tranquillity is vitiated by unsavoury rhetoric. The Election Commission should mandate all political parties to publish regular bulletins, stating the party's stand on various issues. The publication may be priced for subscription by anyone.

LALIT BHARADWAJ, PANCHKULA

EC reforms

Refer to 'Election Commission in need of reforms'; I support the writer's views. Howsoever eminent, an IAS officer can't match an SC judge insofar as the interpretation of judicial and constitutional readings are concerned. In the recent Bihar elections, about 40 per cent candidates had a criminal history. What have the parties or governments done in these cases? Normally, the election commissioners are handpicked by the government.

MOHAN LAL GUPTA, RAMPUR

Rise in crime

Every day we read news of snatching, burglaries, looting of banks, murders and rapes. The main reasons for spurt in crime are: economic slump due to lockdown for months; steep increase in unemployment; government's ineffective Ghar Ghar Rozgar scheme, as so many could not even get a Class IV job. The government should give a serious thought to these aspects and make efforts to effectively fight this demon of unemployment. Unless this is remedied, there will be no let-up in crime.

SANTOKH SINGH, JALANDHAR

Pension cut

Implementation of the recommendations of the Sixth CPC and revision of pension for pre-2006 pensioners/family pensioners surprised Central civilian officers in regard to government manipulation on grade pay recommended by the pay commission, circulated under circular No 57, by reducing the pension/family pension to 50 per cent of the minimum of pay scale plus grade pay (where applicable) that reduces their pension to Rs 4,650 and Rs 2,790, respectively, against the recommendations of the commission to pay grade pay in addition to pension. The government has cheated senior citizens, many of whom died waiting for their dues. The CPC recommended a grade pay on a par with that of college teachers and service officers who were drawing academic pay and rank pay earlier.

NS SAHOTA, JALANDHAR

Change curfew timings

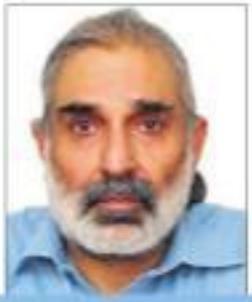

Night curfew is an eyewash in Punjab. The state government's decision to impose curfew from 10 pm to 5 am is an exercise in futility. Most places get crowded in the evening, from 5 pm to 9 pm, heightening the risk of spread of Covid-19 infection.

ordnance factories and the Defence Research and Development Organisation. They have been clubbed with military pensioners because their salaries emanated from the services' revenue budget whilst in service.

Other civilians, like those retiring from Ministry of Defence (MoD)-administered organisations like the Indian Coast Guard and the Defence Accounts Department, receive their pensions from a separate budget managed by the Ministry of Finance (MoF).

Successive governments' inexplicable failure to maintain separate accounts of expenditure on military and defence civilian pensioners, however, has given rise to self-serving distortion of data on the latter. This, in turn, has buttressed outrageous arguments, frequently voiced on social media, that the latter are an 'extortionate' drain on overall defence pensions.

Many service personnel argue that this perceived anomaly can be resolved by simply shifting the civilian pension liability to the MoF-managed pension budget. But in reality, it makes little or no difference which budget these pensioners get paid from, as the money emanates from a common source: the Consolidated Fund of India.

Therefore, shifting the liability from the MoD's pension budget to that of the MoF will simply lead to the annual allocations being similarly adjusted in merely a deft accounting manoeuvre.

Several defence analysts and service personnel also speciously maintain that there is little need to employ so many civilians in military establishments, and that many of the jobs they presently perform can either be dispensed with, or better performed by uniformed personnel. If so, this culling should have been executed long ago, even though all three services had previously demanded an Sporadic military pension reforms that don't satisfy pensioners are of no help. A dispassionate approach is necessary to oversee the burgeoning pension confusion.

It could possibly include adopting a scheme along the lines of the New Pension Scheme, customised for retiring defence personnel in keeping with systems prevalent in militaries abroad.

WAY FORWARD: There is a need to strike a balance between the government's financial constraints and service personnel's interests. PTI increase in their respective civilian and military manpower, paradoxically at odds with their enduring objections regarding pension payments.

In December 2016, the MoD-appointed Committee of Experts headed by Lt Gen DB Shekhar (retd) for enhancing combat capability and rebalancing the armed forces' expenditure had recommended the restructuring of the civilian workforce of the Military Engineer Services (MES) by managing their tasks via departmentally employed staff and by outsourcing.

This resulted in a cosmetic abolition of 9,304 MES civilian posts out of a total of 13,157 positions that were lying vacant, indicating that the entire work could be managed by the remaining 3,853 personnel. That is, indeed commendable, but nothing has been heard of since about abolishing posts in other defence departments, outsourcing work, or adoption of a government-owned-contractor-operated (GOCO) model for managing military workshops, depots and dockyards. Hence, in an ironic move reminiscent of 'ghost' jobs in numerous civilian sectors, all that the MoDs fiscal measures achieved was the termination of some 9,000 jobs that simply did not exist.

Such superficial steps focused on defence civilians can in no way resolve the problem of rising defence pension budgets. In any case, in time, retired civilian pensioners will cease to be a burden on the state exchequer, following the discontinuation of assured pensions for all civilian employees, including those in defence, paramilitary and police departments recruited on or after January 1, 2004, and they all mandatorily migrate to a market-driven New Pension Scheme (NPS).

Pensions for the uniformed personnel will, however, continue as before.

Therefore, the problem of a rising defence pension budget can only be resolved by focusing directly on military pensions and striking a balance between the government's financial constraints, service personnel's interests and overall financial practicality.

Sporadic military pension reforms that do not satisfy the pensioners and ill-conceived ideas of limiting the entitlement of one or the other of their categories that are routinely struck down by the courts are also of no help. The recent concept mooted by the Department of Military Affairs (DMA) to introduce a system of graded pensions, with only those retiring with at least 35 years of service being entitled to full pension, is a prime example of such an approach. This idea is inherently impractical, not only because of its impact on military morale, but also its legality.

Successive court judgments have held pension to be a legal right which a pensioner cannot be deprived of, even in part, except in accordance with the authority of law. It may not be easy to give a legal veneer to the CDS-proposed graded pension scheme and to successfully defend it in court, a challenge it is almost definite to face, even if sanctified through executive fiat. Besides, pursuing such a strategy, too, is unlikely to resolve any outstanding problem.

Pension is a basic right for services rendered. The amount payable or the quantum of periodic increase can neither be determined by the beneficiaries nor claimed self-righteously as a matter of right with disregard for overall financial implications.

More importantly, it is beyond the vast capability of information technology professionals to develop software programmes to capture, coordinate and administer all pension-related data, some of which may not even be available in existing records. The inbuilt anomalies in the complex system, too, are self-defeating for any credible software to competently manage pension payments that remain a riddle within an enigma.

Accordingly, a dispassionate approach is necessary to oversee the burgeoning pension confusion. It could possibly include adopting a scheme along NPS lines, customised for retiring defence personnel in keeping with systems prevalent in militaries abroad.

Screen corporates for grant of banking licences

SUBIR ROY

SENIOR ECONOMIC ANALYST

Banking licences can be issued to corporates which have good credit rating, good standing among analysts and command a market premium. We can assume that a Bajaj Auto, Infosys or TCS would get a banking licence as soon as they apply for it. The reality is that in all likelihood, they would not be interested, choosing to stick to their own market segments where they are the most efficient and have good global reputations.

NEITHER HERE NOR THERE: The RBI proposes to be more elaborate in defining what is 'fit and proper' and improve upon its surveillance. REUTERS attractive than domestic rates, companies with the right credentials have preferred to access foreign funding.

These are companies with good credit rating, in the good books of analysts and command a market premium. For non-officials, these are as good a set of criteria for determining which entities are 'fit and proper' in getting a banking licence.

The RBI has, for its part, in the past decades extensively improved and expanded its supervision and surveillance efforts. Unfortunately, that has not prevented several institutions, from IL&FS to LVB, from either failing or having to be rescued while at the brink of it.

The RBI's discharge of its role of a policeman has suffered from a key shortcoming. It comes to know of what is happening after important market players have got wind of developments and acted on them.

So, the RBI's argument that it proposes to be more elaborate in defining what is 'fit and proper' and will improve upon its surveillance is neither here nor there. For all practical purposes, the generally available rules of thumb that we have just identified will do the job as well as it can be done.

Now we come to a key change that has happened in the Indian financial sector over the past couple of decades — the rise of microfinance, the better ones coming under RBI supervision as NBFC-MFIs and thereafter the best among them getting a licence to function as small finance banks and one (Bandhan Bank) being allowed to operate as a universal bank.

During the post-nationalisation period, banks, particularly the public sector ones, went up to a point in opening rural branches to make available agricultural finance and across their operations credit to medium and small enterprises.

But under the weight of the huge load of non-performing assets, they have now gone back on both branch expansion and installing ATMs. They are no longer in the business of taking banking to the masses and are in the process of saving on operational costs in an attempt to restore health to their bottomlines.

As a result, the whole developmental role of Indian banking has been shifting to microfinance through NBFC-MFIs and in particular, the small finance banks. Overall, they not only keep giving small loans without collaterals, their recovery rate remains far higher and NPA levels far lower than that of public sector banks.

The declared policy can be to let the NBFC-MFIs and small finance banks which have come up through the microfinance route to slowly take over the developmental role of Indian banking, so far carried by public sector banks.

This means that large banks, both public sector and private, will focus more and more on hard-nosed lending, having their底线 in mind. It is in this space that corporate groups which get a banking licence can come in. They will bring in the resources needed for recapitalisation which the government is hard put to find.

But this still leaves open the phenomenon that we have seen till now — powerful entities cornering the loan books of large NBFCs and medium-sized private sector banks and eventually bringing them to grief after defaulting, having spirited out their own funding to overseas tax havens long ago. This group can be left out by issuing banking licences only to those corporates which fulfil the criteria that we have outlined above — good credit rating, good standing among analysts and commanding a market premium.

The point is that these entities do not need to pocket other people's money.

We can assume that a Bajaj Auto, Infosys or TCS would get a banking licence as soon as they apply for it. The reality, of course, is that in all likelihood, they would not be interested, choosing to stick to their own market segments where they are the most efficient and have good global reputations. So yes, corporates can be given banking licences, provided we know how to do it, not going by the RBI's hugely complex and opaque 'fit and proper' criteria, but by following a few simple rules of thumb.

USAG disputes Trump, says no widespread poll fraud

WASHINGTON, DECEMBER 2
Disputing President Donald Trump's persistent, baseless claims, Attorney General William Barr has declared the US Justice Department has uncovered no evidence of widespread voter fraud that could change the outcome of the 2020 election.

Barr's comments, in an interview, contradict the concerted effort by Trump, his boss, to subvert the results of last month's voting and block President-elect Joe Biden from taking his place in the White House.

Barr said US attorneys and FBI agents had been working to follow up specific complaints and information they've received, but "to date, we have not seen fraud on a scale that could have effected a different outcome in the election". The comments, which drew immediate criticism from Trump attorneys, were especially notable coming from Barr, who has been one of the president's especially vulnerable to fraud during the Covid pandemic as Americans feared going to the polls and instead chose to vote by mail.

More to Trump's liking, Barr revealed in the interview that in October he had appointed US Attorney John Durham as a special counsel, giving the prosecutor the authority to continue to investigate the origins of the Trump-Russia probe after Biden takes over and making it difficult to fire him.

Biden hasn't said what he might do with the investigation, and his transition team didn't comment Tuesday.

Trump has long railed against the investigation into whether his 2016 campaign was coordinating with Russia, but he and Republican allies had hoped the results would be delivered before the 2020 election and would help sway voters. —AP

The Afghan Government and Taliban representatives said on Wednesday they had reached a preliminary deal to press on with peace talks, their first written agreement in 19 years of war and welcomed by the United States as a chance to halt the violence.

The agreement lays out the way forward for discussion but is considered a breakthrough because it will allow negotiators to move on to more substantive issues, including talks on a ceasefire, even as Taliban attacks on Afghan government forces have continued unabated.

Exxon Mobil in talks to buy stake in Indian oil, gas fields

NEW DELHI, DECEMBER 2

Energy supermajor Exxon Mobil Corp is in talks to buy a stake in producing oil and gas fields in India, Oil Minister Dharmendra Pradhan said on Wednesday showcasing efforts to raise domestic output to cut imports.

Exxon Mobil had in October last year signed a memorandum of understanding (MoU) with state-owned Oil and Natural Gas Corporation (ONGC) to offer its expertise and technology for developing resources in offshore blocks.

Speaking at a webinar series on 'The Road To Atmanirbhar Bharat' organised by Swarajya Magazine, he said India is looking to replicate the Texas model of raising domestic oil and gas production by involving small and mid-sized companies in exploration and production.

"Till 2014, the total acreage given for exploration and production (of oil and gas) was about 90,000 square kilometres. In two rounds of auction of small discovered fields (DSF) and five rounds of Open Acreage Licensing Policy (OALP), an additional 1.65 lakh sq km of the area has been offered," he said.

The US shale oil and gas revolution was not brought about by big companies.

"Small companies have developed the Texas shale oil and gas sector. We are envisaging a similar scenario in India through progressive policy and involving a lot of small and mid-sized companies," he said.

THREE BIDS RECEIVED FOR BHARAT PETROLEUM

■ The government has received three preliminary bids for buying of controlling stake in India's second-largest fuel retailer Bharat Petroleum Corporation Ltd, Oil Minister Dharmendra Pradhan said on Wednesday.

■ Mining-to-oil conglomerate Vedanta had on November 18 confirmed putting in an EoI for buying the government's 52.98% stake in BPCL.

■ The other two bidders are said to be global funds, one of them being Apollo Global Management.

But large companies would obviously be there, he said adding UK supermajor BP is investing $5 billion bringing to production the next wave of gas discoveries in KG basin block KG-D6.

"Exxon Mobil is in active discussion with some of our companies to participate in some of our producing fields," he said without giving details.

ONGC is currently developing deepwater oil and gas blocks on the east coast, which at a peak is envisaged to produce more than 15 million standard cubic meters per day (mmscmd) of gas. —PTI

China's Ant Group mulls exiting Paytm

HONG KONG/DELHI, DECEMBER 2

Chinese fintech giant Ant Group is considering selling its 30% stake in Indian digital payment processor Paytm amid tensions between the two Asian neighbours and a toughening competitive landscape, people with direct knowledge of the matter said.

Financial details of the possible transaction have not been firmed up and Ant, the Alibaba-backed payments-to-consumer credit behemoth, has not launched a formal sale process yet, four people said.

Paytm, which is also backed by SoftBank Group Corp among others, was valued at about $16 billion during its latest private fundraising round a year ago. At that valuation, Ant's stake in the Indian firm is worth about $4.8 billion.

Both Ant and Paytm said the information was incor-

INCREASING TENSION WITH INDIA TO BLAME

■ Alibaba has invested over $4 billion in India so far and had plans to invest around $5 billion in 2021, which have now been put on hold.
■ Ant first invested in Paytm in 2015 and owns its 30% stake in the firm via its parent company, One97 Communications.
■ Tougher competition is likely another factor behind Ant's calculations regarding Paytm, which is losing its dominance rect. A Paytm spokesman said "there has been no discussion with any of our major shareholders ever, nor any plans about selling their stake."

Ant's possible exit from Paytm would mark another reversal for the Chinese company hot on the heels of the dramatic suspension of its $37-billion stock listing last month, which would have been the world's largest.

It also would be a step back from its ambitions of becoming a global payments leader.

The main trigger for Ant to consider the divestment of its stake in Paytm is the worsening diplomatic relations between India and China in the past few months, said the people, who declined to be named as the deliberations are confidential.

Relations between the countries are at a nadir, with troops locked in a border face-off in the western Himalayas for months after a clash in June in which 20 Indian soldiers were killed.

Since the clash India has tightened rules for investments from China and banned dozens of Chinese mobile apps, including from tech giants Tencent, Alibaba and ByteDance. It banned 43 more apps late last month. —Reuters

PoK inks pact with Chinese firm for hydropower project

ISLAMABAD, DECEMBER 2

The government in Pakistan-occupied Kashmir has signed agreements with a Chinese company and a local renewable energy firm for the construction of 700 MW hydropower project at an estimated cost of USD 1.35 billion in the region as part of the ambitious China-Pakistan Economic Corridor, a media report said on Wednesday.

China Gezhouba Group and its local partner Laraib Group Pakistan are the shareholders of the "Azad Pattan Hydropower Project", which is located on the Jhelum river in Sadhanoti district of PoK, Dawn news paper reported.

The consortium of lenders consists of China Development Bank, China Construction Bank, Industrial and Commercial Bank of China and Bank of China, the paper said.

The implementation agreement and water use charges agreement for construction of the project were signed by PoK Electricity Secretary Zafar Mahmood Khan and

The CPEC, which connects Gwadar Port in Balochistan with China's Xinjiang province, is the flagship project of Chinese President Xi

Jinping's ambitious Belt and Road Initiative (BRI).

Originally valued at USD 46 billion, the CPEC projects were worth USD 62 billion as of 2017.

India has protested to China over the CPEC as it is being laid through PoK.

The Ministry of External Affairs early this year said Pakistan was told that the entire Jammu and Kashmir and Ladakh, including areas of Gilgit and Baltistan, are an integral part of India and that Islamabad should immediately vacate the areas under its illegal occupation.

The government of Pakistan implementation agreement, Punjab water use agreement and tripartite power purchase agreements of the project had already been signed in the presence of Prime Minister Imran Khan in July. Tuesday's agreement signing will enable the achievement of financial close of the project.

The project involves no fuel import and will enable the country to move towards cheaper and greener power generation, according to government officials.

The project is expected to create 3,000 jobs. It is expected to provide about 3,266 GWh electricity per year to the national grid by 2027. — PTI

Six days after MiG-29K crash, pilot still missing

TRIBUNE NEWS SERVICE

NEW DELHI, DECEMBER 2

Six days after a MiG-29K fighter jet crashed over the Arabian Sea, a pilot, Lt Commander Nishant Singh, is still missing even as the Navy has expanded its search. The pilot had ejected along with his co-pilot, who was rescued within minutes after the crash on November 26.

Sources say so far there is no trace of the ejection seat or the parachute used by Lt Commander Singh. Besides, the locator beacon has not "pinged" — a word for sending a code signal. The other pilot who was rescued has reportedly told the Navy that he saw Lt Commander Singh eject from the jet, which was doing some 300 km per hour at the time of the crash.

The rescued pilot was in the rear seat of the jet, while the one missing was in the front seat of the jet. When an ejection is triggered, the second seat ejects first followed by the one in the front. The process takes about a second to complete.

THIRD MISHAP IN 12 MONTHS

- The MiG-29K crash was the third within the past 12 months and the fourth overall for the 45-strong Indian fleet which was ordered at a cost $2.2 billion
- The pilot, Lt Commander Nishant Singh, had ejected along with his co-pilot, who was rescued within minutes after the crash on November 26

An ejection and deployment of parachute is a complex procedure when carried out over sea. The pilot on hitting water has to unhook the parachute holding case from his body lest the weight of the chute pulls him down in the water. All Navy men, including pilots, are swimmers trained to swim under some tough conditions.

The twin-engine jet had taken off from on board the "mother ship", INS Vikramaditya, around 4.30 pm and was headed to INS Hansa, Goa, the home base for the 45-strong fleet of Russian-made jets. Divers of the Navy have located the debris of the aircraft some 50 km off Goa.

Lt Commander Singh had got married in May to his long-time friend Nayab Randhawa. Both are children of retired Naval officers. Nayab's father is settled in Mumbai, while Lt Commander Singh's father stays in Noida.

UK's Oxford Union cancels Mamata's event, TMC sniffs 'political pressure'

TRIBUNE NEWS SERVICE

Didi would have been 1st Indian woman CM to address debate

KOLKATA, DECEMBER 2 West Bengal Chief Minister Mamata Banerjee missed her date with greatness on Wednesday when an event featuring her organised by the Oxford Union Society was cancelled at the last moment.

Winston Churchill, Albert Einstein, Charlie Chaplin and Michael Jackson were some of those who had spoken at Oxford Union. Participation at the proposed event would have given a huge boost to Mamata's stature when the Assembly elections in the state is just round the corner.

In an email to the CM's been the first Indian woman leader and head of a state government to have featured in an interview organised by OU.

Mamata was not amused by the turn of events.

The Trinamool Congress, without naming Prime Minister Narendra Modi, alleged that "tremendous pressure" was brought upon the organisers by "the topmost levels" (of the Central government) leading to the cancellation of the programme.

Oxford Union, a debating society, exists independently from the Oxford University and is separate from the Oxford University Student Union.

CCTV cameras must in all police stations, rules SC

SATYA PRAKASH

TRIBUNE NEWS SERVICE NEW DELHI, DECEMBER 2 In a move aimed at checking police brutality, the Supreme Court (SC) on Wednesday ordered the Centre, states and union territories to install CCTV cameras in every police station across the country.

"The governments should ensure that CCTV cameras are installed in each and every police station. In addition, CCTV cameras and recording equipment will be installed in the offices of CBI, NIA, ED, NCB, DRI, SFIO and any other agency that carries out interrogations and has the power of arrest," a Bench headed by Justice RF Rabinan said.

The CCTV systems must be equipped with night vision. The SHO of the police station concerned would be responsible for the working and maintenance of the cameras, it added. It also ordered constitution of oversight committees at state and district levels for this purpose.

The order came in a case relating to CCTV installation in police stations and examination of witnesses by the police. The CCTV installation was revived by the top court following a case of custodial torture in Punjab.

It said CCTV camera footage should be stored in digital video recorders and/or network video recorders.

Importantly, the recording system should be such that the data stored therein is preserved for 18 months.

Manmohan Singh, Irfan Habib, Guha remember historian Datta

Prof VN Datta's books on Bhagat Singh, Maulana Azad and the Jallianwala Bagh massacre are landmarks of historical scholarship

Ramachandra Guha, HISTORIAN

NEW DELHI, DECEMBER 2 Tributes poured in for late historian Vishwa Nath Datta, who breathed his last on Monday, with former Prime Minister Manmohan Singh laying a wreath in the memory of the departed soul and leading academics mourning the loss.

Remembering Amritsar-born Datta, eminent historian Ramachandra Guha tweeted, "Prof VN Datta's books on Bhagat Singh, Maulana Azad and the Jallianwala Bagh massacre are landmarks of historical scholarship. He was also a wonderfully generous human being. His work and example live on."

In a heartfelt tribute, leading academic and historian Irfan Habib said, "The passing away of Prof Datta deprives the Indian community of historians of one of its recognised stalwarts. He had made events and aspects of the national movement his special field and whatever he wrote on it had the quality of definitiveness about it. To me he coined in himself all values one associates with the old Punjab — a composite culture based on Urdu as the common literary language — alongside an uncompromising attachment to modern secular values."

Habib said Datta's secular outlook came out clearly in everything he wrote whether on Sarmad, Jallianwala Bagh, Azad or Iqbal.

"It was a privilege to know him and learn at his feet," he said.

Datta's long time colleague and historian JS Grewal remembered him fondly saying, "We have lost an eminent historian, a kind friend and a generous host. My association with Prof Datta is more than half a century old. Without yet knowing him personally, I was struck by his enthusiastic discussions in the Indian History Congress Sessions."

Noted litterateur Ashok Vajpeyi said, "Prof Datta was not only a scholar and teacher with unusual academic rigour and a deep-rooted vision, he was also an intellectual who shared a pluralistic legacy with many others."

NEW DELHI, DECEMBER 2

Senior diplomats from India and Russia held in-person consultations on UN Security Council related issues in Moscow on Wednesday.

The talks with Russia, a permanent member of the UNSC, come less than a month before India takes up a non-permanent seat at the UNSC for 2021-22.

Both sides held wide ranging discussions on issues on the UN Security Council agenda and recent developments and agreed to deepen cooperation on counter-terrorism at multilateral platforms.

The Indian delegation briefed Russia on its priorities during its upcoming UNSC tenure and they decided to work closely together, given the common challenges faced and in keeping with their long standing Special and Strategic Privileged Partnership, said a MEA news release.

The move to signal close consultations with Moscow comes at a time when Russia has been demonstrating proximity with Pakistan. Moscow and Islamabad recently held joint military exercises and Russia has taken up a major stake in a cross-country gas pipeline in Pakistan.

Both sides held wide ranging discussions on issues on the UN Security Council agenda and recent developments and agreed to deepen cooperation on counter-terrorism at multilateral platforms.

"The Central government employees who could not attend office in a whole calendar month during the lockdown period are not eligible to draw transport allowance for that month as these employees had not incurred any expenditure for commuting to office," a circular issued by the Department of Expenditure on December 1 states.
