The Army has denied opening fire at PLA soldiers on September 7 and accused the other side of firing shots. The PLA claims the Indian Army did it.

While both sides deny having opened fire, it is certain that firing did occur — first such incident in Ladakh since 1962. On September 7, the PLA tried to capture Mukhpari but it was repulsed. On August 30, another operation was launched from Indian side to capture all heights from Thakung to south of Rinchen La, foiling Chinese bid to take these over.

Curfew across all towns on Sundays

Tribune News Service

CHANDIGARH, SEPTEMBER 9
The Punjab Government has announced that curfew would be imposed on Sundays in all 167 municipal towns of the state till September 30. There will, however, be no curfew on Saturdays.

Amid easing of restrictions, Chief Minister Capt Amarinder Singh today announced that those flying in from abroad with Covid-negative certificates up to 96 hours old could now go for home quarantine.

International travellers, who got themselves tested on arrival at the airport, as part of the Government of India's new directives, could also go for home quarantine if found negative, he said, adding that Punjab was currently at the 17th position in the country in terms of Covid cases.

The Chief Minister said after the decline in testing due to rumour-mongering and fake propaganda, the number of Covid tests had again touched around 28,000 per day as the police had cracked down heavily on miscreants spreading misinformation in the state. Pointing out

FREE COVID KITS TO BE GIVEN SOON

Free distribution of food packets for poor patients in isolation had started in Patiala, and would begin in other districts soon, said Capt Amarinder. He said the process of distribution of free Covid kits to 50,000 patients at homes and in hospitals would begin in a couple of days. The focus of the state government was on saving lives, for which early testing was essential, he added.

that 28,688 tests were conducted yesterday, he said the figures would be raised to 30,000 soon. The focus of the state government was on saving lives, for which early testing was essential, he added.

"We have to effectively counter such campaigns," he told the third group of Congress MLAs as part of his series of video-conferences with party legislators and ministers to discuss the Covid situation. He asked the ministers and MLAs to visit their districts and constituencies to take stock of the pandemic. "They (AAP) have made it a subject of competition," he said, adding that this was shocking.

Slamming the Aam Aadmi Party (AAP) for its "concerted campaign to spread misinformation in Punjab on Covid", the Chief Minister said despite its lower population, Delhi, which was ruled by AAP, had reported worrisome data on the pandemic. "They (AAP) have made it a subject of competition," he said, adding that this was shocking. Free distribution of food packets for poor patients in isolation had started in Patiala, and would begin in other districts soon, said Capt Amarinder. He said the process of distribution of free Covid kits to 50,000 patients at homes and in hospitals would begin in a couple of days. Overcharging by private hospitals was a concern raised by MLAs, some of whom said many of these hospitals were also refusing to attend to Covid patients and needed to be controlled. Chief Secretary Vini Mahajan said the state was passing through a critical time, necessitating a joint fight by all stakeholders. She urged MLAs to bring any problems to the notice of the officials concerned.

The Chief Minister promised the MLAs that the procurement of paddy would be done smoothly as it had been done for wheat amid the pandemic.

As part of the crackdown ordered by Chief Minister Capt Amarinder Singh against miscreants inciting public with "hate content" on organ harvesting, the state police have got 38 Facebook, 49 Twitter and 21 YouTube accounts/links blocked by the competent authorities for carrying out propaganda on Covid.

Besides, a total of 151 accounts/links of Facebook, 100 of Twitter, four of Instagram and 37 of YouTube have been reported to the authorities concerned. Over 121 FIRs have been registered so far at various police stations across the state.

DGP Dinkar Gupta said the state police's Bureau of Investigation had taken up the matter of blocking accounts/links of anti-national and anti-social elements with the Cyber Law Division, Ministry of Electronics and Information Technology, Government of India, following which 108 accounts/links were blocked. Further action on the remaining accounts was awaited, he said.

Gupta said the competent authorities of the social media platforms concerned had also been requested to provide information of users. — TNS

Revised OTS policy yet to see light of day

CHANDIGARH, SEPTEMBER 9
With three-and-a-half years in governance, a user-friendly revised one-time settlement (OTS) policy for non-compoundable violations in urban local bodies across the state is yet to see the light of day. Affecting 30 lakh violations in residential and non-residential buildings in urban local bodies, the government aims to earn a revenue of Rs 1,000 crore by regularising the buildings.

The previous OTS policy notified in March last year, when Navjot Singh Sidhu was the Local Government Minister, was held back as it did not find favour with the intended beneficiaries. The department had received just 1,200 applications last year before Chief Minister Capt Amarinder Singh directed Local Bodies Minister Brahm Mohindra to work out a realistic and people-friendly policy. Based on it, the department had invited suggestions from the public

Jakhar: Farmers suffering due to unplanned works during SAD rule

OUR CORRESPONDENT

ABOHAL, SEPTEMBER 9
Punjab Pradesh Congress Committee (PPCC) president Sunil Jakhar, Water Resources Minister Sukhbinder Singh Sarkaria and Revenue Minister Gurpreet Singh Kangar today visited more than 12 villages in the Balluana constituency, which has been ravaged by rains in the past three weeks.

Jakhar said the state government would work out a plan to solve the problem permanently, but for the time being, the priority was to improve drainage so that farmers could sow wheat.

A preliminary survey indicated that rain and drain water had affected one lakh acres in the Abohal subdivision. The PPCC chief said this was the result of many unplanned projects of the previous SAD-BJP government. "Faulty" drains constructed during the SAD regime were to be blamed for farmers' suffering. He said the NDA government had sanctioned Rs 2,246-crore projects to resolve the problem of "faulty" drains, but the SAD government had not given any details of the utilisation of the money so far. It appeared the money was misused to please Akali sarpanches during the 'sangat darshan' programmes, Jakhar added.

Sarkaria said, "Our priority was to immediately drain out water from farms and residential areas, and then solve the problem permanently with a comprehensive plan. The officials were told to appoint nodal officers for every village to monitor the drainage arrangements."

Meanwhile, two days after SAD chief Sukhbir Singh Badal visited some waterlogged villages in the Lambi Assembly segment in Muktsar, Jakhar and Sarkaria today visited the same villages.

Sukhbir blames state govt for peasants' plight

FAZILKA, SEPTEMBER 9

SAD president and Ferozepur MP Sukhbir Singh Badal visited more than 12 rain-affected villages in the Jalalabad and Balluana Assembly constituencies of the district.

Badal said even though crops in thousands of acres had been destroyed, the Congress government was "unmoved".

"No official has been deputed to listen to the grievances of people, and no compensation has been awarded to the aggrieved. Besides, no effort is being made to install pipes to drain out water from the affected fields," alleged Badal. Standing crops in nearly 90,000 acres have been adversely affected due to rainwater. Four children have lost their lives after the roof of their houses caved in due to incessant rain. Besides, 57 'kutcha' and 'pucca' houses have been damaged either partially or completely. — OC

BKU stir against ordinances on Sept 15

OUR CORRESPONDENT

LUDHIANA, SEPTEMBER 9
A joint coordination committee of 11 farmer organisations comprising the Kadian faction of the BKU has given a call to farmers to block roads across the state on September 15 for two hours to express their resentment against three farm ordinances.

This was stated by BKU president Harmeet Singh Kadian in a state committee meeting here today. He said the ordinances issued in June were to be placed before two Houses of Parliament in this session for ratiﬁcation and taking necessary follow up legislative action.

Through the "chakka jam" for two hours in the entire state, the farmers would draw the attention of MPs to oppose the "anti-farmer" legislative measures both in Lok Sabha and Rajya Sabha and make the government withdraw them.

BKU secretary general Jagdev Singh Kanianwali urged all political parties to leave their differences aside and stand with the farmers in their fight against "unjust and unwarranted" legislations.

Deol set to emulate Vinod Khanna as 'bridgeman'

Urges Union Minister to grant sanction to four bridges in Gurdaspur district

RAVI DHALIWAL

PATHANKOT, SEPTEMBER 9
Not long ago, when MP Sunny Deol was asked what plans he had to improve connectivity in his constituency where the topography is dominated by the Ravi, Ujh and Chakkhi rivers, his reply was, "I will cross the bridge when I come to it."

Now, 18 months into his term, the actor has kept his word. His predecessor Vinod Khanna had earned the sobriquet of 'Pul Wala Khanna' (Bridgeman Khanna) for having constructed several bridges. Deol is now all set to emulate him. He has urged Nitin Gadkari, Union Transport Minister, to accord sanction and issue grants to build four major bridges. Officials say the blueprints have been submitted and the money will be given from the Central Road Fund (CRF).

The fund is a non-lapsable entity created under the CRF Act-2000 out of the tax imposed by the Union Government on the consumption of petrol and diesel to develop and maintain national highways, state roads and bridges, and Rs 20,000 crore is collected annually for it.

The MP's office said work would commence once the sanctions were received. "We intend to start work the moment funds are cleared," said one of his assistants.

RALLY AGAINST CENTRE'S ORDINANCES TODAY

Section 144 imposed in Pipli mandi

Tribune News Service

District officials at the grain market in Pipli on Wednesday.

Surjewala slams leaders' 'illegal detention'

Chandigarh: Congress leader Randeep Singh Surjewala has condemned the "illegal detention of farmer leaders to sabotage" the September 10 rally. Asking the BJP-JPP government to refrain from its crude attempt to undermine the joint strength of farmers, traders and labourers, Surjewala said that the venue of the public meeting, Pipli mandi, has been converted into a 'police cantonment' and the shopkeepers of the grain market were being served notice for closing their shops.

Thanesar; Pehowa, Shahabad, and Ladwa and 54 nakkas have been set up. Along with the reserve police force, nearly 600 police personnel and officials will remain on duty. We have appealed to the farmer leaders to withdraw their call for the rally."

While Opposition political parties have come out in support of the farmers, the BJP has appealed to the farmers' union to withdraw its call.

Congress leader Ashok Aroora said that the BJP has not only been taking anti-farmers decisions, but it has also been trying to suppress their voice. Instead of asking the farmers to withdraw their rally, the administration should have imposed some conditions and told them to maintain social distancing and limit the numbers of farmers."

AAP leader Jawaharlal Goyal said, "The kisan cell of AAP will participate in the 2,294 fresh Covid cases in Haryana, taking the tally to 83,354. The state reported the biggest spike in deaths, with 28 fatalities taking the toll to 882."

On Wednesday, Gujjar said he had tested positive for Covid. "After some symptoms, I got my Covid test done and it turned positive. I request all those who might have come in contact with me to isolate themselves and get their tests done," the minister tweeted.

Faridabad reported the highest number of cases at 287, followed by Gurugram (260), Kurukshetra (235), Ambala (180) and Karnal (160).

Karnal and Hisar reported four deaths each, followed by Ambala, Kurukshetra and Yamunanagar (three each), Faridabad and Panchkula (two each), Panipat, Rohtak, Bhiwani, Mahendragarh, Sirsa, Fatehabad and Kaithal (one each). — TNS

4 part of BCG vaccine trial get infected

RESULTS ONLY AFTER STUDY

"The results will be out after the trials, so it will be inappropriate to comment on the initial results right now." Dr Savita Verma, principal investigator of trial some participants had contracted Covid-19.

"The trial is aimed at ascertaining the rate of Covid infection after BCG vaccination and its severity," she said.

Dr Ramesh Verma, co-investigator and professor in the Department of Community Medicine, said the trial involving 6,000 participants was being conducted at 40 medical institutions across the country.

All 174 participants here have been registered with a mobile app to receive feedback about their health at regular intervals. They have been asked to inform the doctors if they get fever and other symptoms. Once the observation period is over, they will be tested to see if there is any increase in the levels of antibodies due to the vaccine," said Dr Verma

The BCG vaccine enhanced immunity and had the ability to induce potent protection against infectious diseases, he added.

Put off agitation, Agriculture Minister tells farmers' union

Tribune News Service

Govt farmer-friendly

“The Haryana Government is a farmer-friendly government as it has consistently taken farmer-friendly decisions whether it is about giving compensation or developing new mandis.”

JP Dalal, Agriculture Minister

farmers to postpone the rally being held during the Covid crisis, Dalal said, “The Haryana Government is a farmer-friendly government as it has consistently taken farmer-friendly decisions whether it is about giving compensation or developing new mandis.”

He said that the three new ordinances namely The Farmers' Produce Trade and Commerce (Promotion and Facilitation) Ordinance, 2020 and The Farmers' (Empowerment and Protection) Agreement on Price Assurance and Farm Services Ordinance, 2020 and The Essential Commodities (Amendment) Ordinance, 2020 introduced by the Centre had only given a facility to farmers that if a private agency wanted to purchase crop from outside government mandis at a price higher than MSP, then the farmers could sell their crop at a higher price.

The minister clarified that with the introduction of these ordinances, the government mandis would not be closed and the procurement of crops on MSP would continue.

“The government could bring in a fourth ordinance separately to provide a clear provision that if any agency buys the crop of the farmer below the MSP, then legal action will be taken against it,” Hooda stated on Wednesday.

Hooda said the BJP should fulfil its promise to the farmers to give MSP under the C2 formula of the Swaminathan Commission report. He said until the MSP is fixed keeping in mind the entire cost to the farmer, the income of the farmers cannot increase, attacking the BJP's claims of doubling the farmers' income.

“Everyone believes that without the protection of minimum support price, these ordinances are against the interests of farmers. If the government wants to implement those, then it should ensure that no purchases are made below MSP.

“During the Congress government, there was a record increase of 2 to 3 times in the MSP of different crops. Steps were taken to benefit farmers by increasing record rates of sugarcane, wheat, paddy and other crops,” he said.

2 Jaish OGWs held with arms, ammo

Tribune News Service

SRINAGAR, SEPTEMBER 9

Two local Jaish-e-Mohammad overground workers were arrested with arms and ammunition, including a US-made M-4 rifle, on the Jammu Srinagar highway late on Tuesday evening, the police said.

The recovery was made from a truck near the Jawahar tunnel at Qazigund in south Kashmir's Kulgam district and the vehicle was coming from Akhnoor, Jammu.

Deputy Inspector General of Police (DIG), south Kashmir range, Atul Goel said the recovered weapons were apparently meant to recruit new people into militancy.

"One thing is clear that consignment of weapons and ammunitions was obviously meant to fuel terrorism in the Valley and that is our preliminary assessment," DIG Atul Goel said.

He said the driver and cleaner were arrested. They were identified as Bilal Ahmad Kutty of Chotapora, Shopain, and Shahnawaz Ahmad Mir of Mandujan, Shopian. He said the two were associated with the Jaish.

"Preliminary investigation revealed that the duo have been involved in terror crimes and provide support to terror organisations," he said.

The arms and ammunition recovered from Jaish overground workers.

following a credible input regarding transportation of illegal arms and ammunition in a vehicle moving towards Srinagar from Jammu, a joint naka was established near the Jawahar tunnel at Qazigund in Kulgam.

"A truck bearing registration no JK-22B-1737 was intercepted by the joint forces. While searching the vehicle and during interrogation of suspects an M4 Carbine, AK rifle and six Chinese pistols with ammunition were recovered," the spokesman said.

He said the driver and cleaner were arrested. They were identified as Bilal Ahmad Kutty of Chotapora, Shopain, and Shahnawaz Ahmad Mir of Mandujan, Shopian. He said the two were associated with the Jaish.

Offensive edge

India has to be one step ahead of the neighbour

THE picture of Chinese troops moving towards Mukhpuri Top in Chushul on the southern banks of the Pangong lake reveals the medieval mindset of the Chinese leadership, which seeks to grab territory, to deceive the enemy using pre-modern weapons like spears, machetes and clubs, and all this while to pursue the strategic objective of pushing the Line of Actual Control further and further westwards. This, in short, has been the story of the four-month-long standoff in Ladakh that caused a national embarrassment when 20 Indian soldiers, including the Commanding Officer, were killed on June 15. But the attempt by the Chinese soldiers on Sunday evening to dislodge Indian troops from Mukhpuri failed, ending in soldiers opening fire in the air and China rushing to blame India.

Shots were fired on the LAC after 45 years; and in Ladakh in the same sector where Indian and Chinese troops clashed during the 1962 War. If this were an attempt to gain a tactical advantage for a stronger bargaining chip before the Shanghai Cooperation Organisation meeting of the foreign ministers in Moscow today, it would seem the Chinese are looking towards a negotiated settlement. But it is more likely that the Chinese are running on several parallel tracks: diplomatic initiatives to appear reasonable in the international arena; use of media to cry wolf to shake off the aggressor's tag; and simultaneously continuing the military push to gain territory.

The Indian Army's military manoeuvre on the intervening night of August 29-30 seemed to have made a difference in terms of a resolute response to naked Chinese aggression. It needs to be followed up with a reassessment of India's view on the status of Tibet, the stature of Dalai Lama and the future of the Tibetan refugees in India and their national aspirations. Until China forsakes its designs on Daulet Beg Oldie and Siachen and begins to see reason and profit in comprehensively delineating the LAC from Ladakh to Arunachal Pradesh, India has to plan its defence in Ladakh with an offensive edge, to be one step ahead of the treacherous neighbour.

Sushant case shows probe agencies, media in a poor light

FILM star Sushant Singh Rajput's death was undoubtedly a tragedy. The blossoming career of a talented artiste, who had excelled in Bollywood against heavy odds, came to an abrupt end. The bigger tragedy is all that has happened in the months after he was found dead in his Mumbai apartment on June 14: a shoddy investigation that is making no headway; a no-holds-barred slanging match between Sushant's peers; and a ruthless trial by the media. Three leading investigative agencies are on the job: the Central Bureau of Investigation is probing the abetment of suicide case after the Maharashtra Police were slammed by the media, while the Enforcement Directorate and the Narcotics Control Bureau are looking into the apparently related aspects of money laundering and drugs, respectively. Still, we are none the wiser about the hows and whys of the actor's death. Instead, his short life has been dissected with shocking insensitivity, depriving his family and friends of dignity as well as privacy. No less painful is the ordeal of his girlfriend, Rhea Chakraborty, and her family. Even as the probe is in progress, she has been declared 'guilty until proven innocent' rather than the other way round. The presumption of innocence — the bedrock of the criminal justice system worldwide — has been perversely inverted.

The private lives of two actors have come under glaring scrutiny at a time when Indian economy is in a tailspin, there is no let-up in Covid cases, and the country's troops are locked in a tense standoff with China. Amid such pressing issues, sensationalism has taken centre stage, dividing public opinion between two hashtags — #JusticeForSushant and #JusticeForRhea.

As if things were not bad enough, political parties have joined the despicable bandwagon. In poll-bound Bihar, the state Sushant hailed from, opportunists have latched on to the case in the hope of reaping electoral dividends. The media, above all, can't escape culpability for having reduced an actor's death to a sordid spectacle. The onus is on the probe agencies to find the truth expeditiously and bring down the curtain on this tragic farce.

GRADUAL PROGRESSIVE NON-CO-OPERATION.

ALTHOUGH up to the time of writing news of the adoption of non-co-operation by the Congress has not arrived, there is very little reason to doubt that the die is cast. If the opponents of Mr. Gandhi were defeated in the subjects committee, it is almost too much to hope that they will win the open Congress. And the way in which the various speakers, who spoke either for or against the resolution of Mr. Gandhi, were received is almost a sure indication of the coming event. That event may, as Mr. Gandhi himself anticipates, be the forerunner of a greater and mightier event and may lead the country, within a measurable distance of time, to the promised land of the fullness of political freedom. Or it may be fraught with consequences for which "disaster" would be too mild a word. Or finally, it may prove a delusion and leave us exactly where we are. The future is, indeed, in the lap of gods. But come what may, it is not for those of us, who have been trying each in his way to sow the wind, to complain of the whirlwind. It is not for men, who have spent the best part of their lives in awakening the public judgement and the public conscience, in educating public opinion, and increasing the intensity and the volume of public life in India, to complain that the public so awakened, so educated and so strengthened has outgrown their example, and even their teaching, that the lead of the national movement has passed out of their hands, either partially or largely, and that a new force has appeared in the political battleground and stronger, more powerful and more resolute than any or all of them. The victory of Mr. Gandhi in the subjects committee, where he was opposed by the vast majority of the country's foremost political leaders, is proof that the hegemony of a very large part of political India has passed to him that he wields the democracy represented by the Congress.

A hesitant step forward

Railways gets a CEO, but it is a long way for some real change

SENIOR ECONOMIC ANALYST

THE government has formally moved on the structural changes that it had earlier approved in the Railways. What has caught public attention is the fact that the Railways now has a CEO, as is the practice in the corporate sector. Whereas earlier the Railways was headed by the chairman of the railway board, now the chairman will be called CEO.

The first question is: what is the significance of this move and does it have substance or is it merely a change in nomenclature with things being run in a 'business as usual' manner?

Earlier, say, when two members of the board, representing two different services, differed, the matter was set aside and no decision taken. The chairman did not impose a decision which reflected his own viewpoint. Now, as CEO, he will be able to do so. When a CEO, with a mind of his own, knows what needs doing, he will be able to carry it through.

But one overriding reality will not change. Whereas a corporate CEO is answerable to his shareholders, or in a broader sense all the stakeholders, the Railways CEO will remain answerable to the minister above him. Thus, the Railways will remain open to all political directives which have traditionally stood in the way of public sector enterprises being run professionally. The governance structure above the CEO will remain unchanged.

The change will be that a dynamic CEO will be able to set right to an extent the governance structure below him to the extent that his

GOING SLOW: The 'Vision 2020' document of 2009 set out the goal of reducing staff strength by 1% a year, but the atmospherics have been of massive recruitments.

Merging cadres to end 'departmentalism' makes sense, but the railways needs to transform itself — from a munificent job provider to a lean and fit profit-making organisation.

boss or bosses (those manning the PMO, for example) allow him to. Hence, the first reality is: don't expect drastic changes to come soon, but hope that with an enabling structure in place, things will slowly change for the better.

The other change at the top is that the size of the railway board has been reduced. Now, it will comprise five members, including the chairman and CEO. Three posts at the board level have been eliminated. Is this a big thing? The long-term hope of those who looked for a reorganisation at the top was that instead of the board being structured along service lines, it would be structured along customer segments. For example, there would be a member for freight and a member for passengers.

But that has not happened. There will now be a single member in charge of operations and business development. There will be another member in charge of traction and rolling stock and a member (finance), as in the past. Is this a change for the better? It is difficult to say.

The really big change that has been formalised is the merger of all the railways services into a single Indian Railway Management Service. The bane of the Railways earlier was 'departmentalism', members of different services putting the interests of their own fiefdoms foremost. An end to this should come as a result of there being a single service.

But the officers are against the merger and the process of merging the services is likely to be a long-drawn-out affair. What kind of an animal will finally emerge, and whether the disaffection over the fittings will be extensive, is not known. When things settle down, we will know, but the Railways is in for a period of uncertainty.

However, action on one front, which is vital for the future profitable survival of the Railways — cutting down its staff strength — is missing. Over half of what the Railways earns goes in meeting staff and pension expenses. It also has major plans to bring in new technology which will improve safety and passenger comfort and should also raise productivity. So, more should be done by the same numbers or fewer.

The Railways has itself, in the past, been thinking along these lines. The 'Vision 2020' document of 2009 set out the goal of reducing staff strength by 1 per cent a year through natural wastage (retirements) and not filling vacancies. But the atmospherics in recent years have been of massive recruitments. In 2018, prior to the elections the next year, the Railways spoke of bringing on board 90,000 fresh hands, touted as the world's largest recruitment drive. This was justified on the grounds that there were 1.29 lakh vacancies in the 'safety cadre' when there is no such cadre in the Railways, and declaring a job to be safety-related is an administrative one.

Then, in the next year, the minister announced that the Railways would provide over four lakh jobs over the next two years. Most recently, the Railways announced plans to recruit up to 1.4 lakh hands through online processes in view of the raging pandemic. How is this number made up? Over 35,000 will be non-technical hands like guards and clerks, over a thousand stenographers and teachers, and over a lakh 'level one' people like maintenance and pointsmen.

Yes, having a CEO who can hand down decisions makes sense; yes, merging cadres to end 'departmentalism' makes even better sense, but giving the Railways an image of being a munificent job provider instead of a lean and fit profit-making organisation raises the question as to how far ground realities will change at the end of the day.

Masterji's slap a lesson in punctuality

KAPIL SHARMA

RAM BHAGAT SHARMA, a newly transferred headmaster hailing from a nearby village, took charge of the Government School at Sanghan village in Kaithal district in 2003. He shared a close bond with my grandfather and a former two-time sarpanch, Pt Mattu Ram Sharma, whom he used to respectfully address as Chacha Matra. As sarpanch, my grandfather was responsible for the uplift of the school from middle to high. Ram Bhagat urged him to admit me in his school. A new uniform called pehrani and a jholia was stitched. Thus, I entered the pious building of knowledge, and discovered a disciplinarian in my headmaster, who not only wielded exceptional influence among his staff members but was also known for the strict implementation of rules and regulations regarding students.

It was winter. I was in class IX. We students would usually come home during recess period for lunch. One day, I came home for lunch, but got late. I found the headmaster standing at the school gate to question the late-comers, as they posed a hurdle to resume post-lunch studies. At his inquisition, I swayed him with the excuse that my grandpa involved me in some household work. He left me unpunished, and with strict advice to never repeat it. My classmates were envious of me, because it was a seemingly impossible act to come out unhurt from the headmaster's gruelling session! But as ill luck would have it, the headmaster happened to see my grandpa during his usual sojourn to our village, while leaving for his own, and told him about the incident. My grandfather glowered at me, but said nothing.

After some days, I again came home and found the lunch yet not ready. My mother, unaware of the strictness of the headmaster, asked me to patiently wait. The fare of bajra ki roti with dollops of freshly churned butter and sarson ka saag, along with a glass of lassi, was too tempting to let go. My trepidation came true when I again spotted the headmaster under the arch of the school gate. This time, he held me by the scruff of my neck and enquired why I was late! I tried a threadbare excuse, but failed, as this man of uncommon disposition remained unconvinced. He slapped me with a heavy hand and allowed me to rejoin the class, again with a soft touch of advice.

The dream of my classmates was realised, and my illusion of being a 'special' student was shattered. When the bell for the day rang, seeing no one around me, I wept bitterly to lighten my heavy heart and went home with a resolve of never getting late. I have since been punctual. It is a legacy of my headmaster's slap. Such deep-rooted was the fear of Mr Ram Bhagat that I, in all my life, have never been late anywhere. Equally great was his inculcation of life values. I only feel gratitude for him.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Case fatality rate

Reference to the Sept 9 editorial 'Covid epicentre'; though India has been reporting the most daily cases since early August, the most important figure in any pandemic is the number of lives lost. In this respect, India's case fatality rate is significantly better than the global average. This is the primary driver of the Centre's claim that India has handled the pandemic better than the other countries. But despite that, over 70,000 people have died of Covid-19. It begs the question, if the government could have done more to prevent the loss of lives. Now, when there are over eight lakh active cases, a majority of economic activities have started. As the daily cases mount, the health infrastructure will be truly tested. India is in talks with Russia to develop, supply and co-produce Russian vaccine, but should not rush till its efficacy is proved. A cautious approach is needed.

Ironically, after Independence, the Congress (mis)used the idea of Nehruvian secularism to strengthen its dubious policy of appeasement of so-called minorities, mainly Muslims and Christians, for political gains, and quite successfully, too. 'Sarv dharam sambhav', which is the real idea of secularism, is integral to Indian philosophy and ethos. It is embedded in our thinking and needs no special mention.

India no pushover

The ongoing Indo-China conflict in eastern Ladakh remains unresolved. Despite talks at various levels, no satisfactory agreement has emerged so far. China is not backing off. Now it is calling Arunachal as south Tibet. India, besides defending its own territory, should grab Chinese territory. India is being taken lightly by China, Nepal and Pakistan. India needs a strong, aggressive approach towards its neighbours.

Saving the girl child

Refer to the editorial 'Beti bachao' (Sept 9); when a woman herself becomes the killer of a girl child, only God can save foeticide in our country. Our women have started flying fighter jets in the Air Force and are on the verge of joining combat roles in the Army and Navy. Killing a child is shameful and cruel. The government's campaign of 'Beti Bachao, Beti Padhao' has remained useless. It needs to be enforced. Indians will have to change their mentality. Strict punishment in such cases would go a long way in saving the girl child.

WG CDR JASBIR MINHAS (RETD), MOHALI

Mustard for Bihar

Refer to 'Objections to Centre's new farm ordinances'; the suggestion that Haryana farmers should sell their mustard in Bihar is ludicrous. The transportation cost alone would cost Rs 1,000 per quintal, and the difference in the sale price of mustard in the two states is not so much as to make the deal profitable. Secondly, no farmer has one truckload of mustard to sell. If a trader decides to collect mustard from a group of farmers to make one truckload, the profit margin will not be passed on to the farmers. This is besides other risks involved in the transportation. Haryana BJP chief OP

Dhankar should do his homework before making such statements.

Colour-coded jig

The dance number 'Tujhe dekh ke goriya, Beyonce sharma jayegi' has not gone down well with people and has received lakhs of 'dislikes' on YouTube. Twitter users rightly pointed out how the song was regressive and racist. The normalisation of words like 'gori', 'goriya', 'gora' largely accounts for this problem. While 'gori' essentially alludes to a light-skinned woman, it also denotes that she is pretty. In this context, one can see that there is an annihilation of both beauty and femininity for darker-skinned women.

Don't limit science

Apropos of the middle 'A science fair that changed life', as a student of class X, science was always the most disliked subject for me. However, the experiments and questions were fascinating. Once, a classmate asked a question and was snubbed immediately, 'This isn't related to the topic or syllabus.' Perhaps the main reason for the disinterest of pupils in science is its confinement to the hardcover of textbooks.

Year after removal of Art 370, insurgency intact

MAJ GEN ASHOK K MEHTA (RETD)

MILITARY COMMENTATOR

WHEN Article 370 was abrogated on August 5, 2019, in J&K — concurrent with the longest lockdown in recent memory — shock and awe prevailed. Two extreme views took over — there would be a massive surge in insurgency and disaffection; and, as claimed by the government, terrorism would end, transforming J&K into a land of milk and honey. One year on, Kashmir is precariously poised between the two extremes, though the establishment's forecast of the new normal of prosperity and development remains wide off the mark.

Take the flawed litmus test for measuring the state of insurgency in which the security forces have apparently performed impressively. The parameters of success are infiltration, attrition and recruitment of both local and foreign militants. Figures up to July 31 reveal that 150 militants were killed — 130 local and 30 foreigners, a 30 per cent uptick compared with the same period last year.

Approximately 200 terrorists are currently operational in J&K, down from the traditional number of 250 fighters for the last few years. Recruitment has dipped from 152 to 93, mostly local boys and infiltration reduced dramatically to 50 per cent which is a shade below the best (53 per cent) achieved in 2003 with the cooperation of General Pervez Musharraf after the two armies agreed to a ceasefire following Operation Parakram. Nearly 15 top-level terrorist commanders from Lashkar-e-Taiba, Jaish-e-Mohammad and Hizbul Mujahideen have been eliminated. As many as 504 overground workers were released on good behaviour bonds.

Further, due to the effective counter-infiltration grid, 90 per cent of recruits were unable to go to PoK for training. Pakistan's ISI has asked its proxy army to lie low, even on recruitment. Similarly, sleeper cells in the Kashmir, Pir Panjal and Chenab valleys have been asked to mark time.

What has stopped significantly is the interdiction of security force operations by sympathisers and over-ground workers, returning bodies of slain militants to the families for public funerals and stone-throwing.

Still, violent incidents, mostly by stealth, have continued unabated despite the induction of 40,000 additional paramilitary forces last year. So much secrecy accompanied their arrival that proper synchronisation with the army was not feasible to streamline operations.

Digital connectivity restrictions have also hampered operations on both sides. But, as in the past, 250-300 terrorists are poised in PoK to cross the LoC. What has not been achieved in spite of the lockdown, the overwhelming presence of security forces and intelligence inputs is zero infiltration and the reduction of terrorist population to double digits. This magic

What has not been achieved in spite of the lockdown, overwhelming presence of security forces and intelligence inputs is zero infiltration and the reduction of terrorist population to double digits.

This magic mantra has eluded the Army and appears unachievable.

UNDERLYING TENSION: Security forces have kept the lid on armed conflict in J&K.

mantra has eluded the Army for some time now and appears unachievable. But such statistics without a political plot are irrelevant.

In Pakistan, the removal of Article 370 came as a shocker. Even one year on, Islamabad has failed to fully internationalise the Kashmir dispute despite the active assistance of a P5 player and iron brother, China. Pakistan has issued its own map, showing the Indian part of J&K and Ladakh in Pakistan and marked it as disputed territory illegally occupied by India. A one-minute nationwide silence was observed on August 5 with Prime Minister Imran Khan visiting PoK.

Pakistan's biggest worry is FATF which has forced the ISI to alter its Kashmir strategy. The Lashkar camp in Muzaffarabad has been relocated in the Neelum and Jhelum valleys. Jaish-e-Mohammad is being held on the leash after the Pulwama ambush. Azad Jammu and Kashmir Prime Minister Farooq Haider is upset with Imran Khan and General Bajwa's passivity over the events in J&K. A march to the LoC by Kashmiri groups in PoK in October last year was disallowed.

A clear new development is China becoming an active third member to the Kashmir dispute, as last month's joint statement from Hainan by Foreign Ministers Wang Yi and Shah Qureshi showed. While India may zealously internalise the Kashmir issue, it has been internationalised.

Insurgency in J&K is not a three-but seven-decade old scourge. Cross-border operations never ceased in 1947 and will not cease unless counter-insurgency is recognised as just one essential component of a political strategy. Successive governments in New Delhi have mistakenly attributed the armed conflict entirely to Pakistan deleting the indigenous element. They have also believed that once you get the terrorist body count in control, it will be open sesame.

The security forces, especially the army, have not only kept J&K intact geographically but also emotionally integrated large sections of rural Kashmiris with the mainland, especially after insurgency reigned in the 1990s. The Sadbhavna programmes of the Army went a long way in winning the hearts and minds of Kashmiris, efforts that dissipated over time.

I recall the winter of 1957 when I reported to my battalion in Uri. En route, I spent some time in Srinagar where while visiting the Dal Lake for the first time, I met a Kashmiri shikarawalla. He was friendly and striking up a conversation, asked: 'What time is it in India?' I returned to J&K in 1965, this time on the other side of Pir Panjal in the Mughal valley. During the war, a wounded Pakistani soldier from the PoK asked me to wind his watch and enquired: 'What time is it in India?'

But the failure of Pakistan's Operation Gibraltar to foment an uprising was proof that most Kashmiris had made their choice to remain with India. After Pakistan's defeat in 1971, and right up to 1990, when the LoC was dormant, opportunities were missed to politically resolve Kashmir. Instead, New Delhi was content with the Army's domination of the security situation.

One year after the nullification of Article 370, while insurgency is nowhere near ending, security forces have kept the lid on the armed conflict, but in an eerie political vacuum in conditions of lockdown exacerbated by the Covid-19 pandemic, the absence of the promised development, joblessness and a Rs 40,000-crore hole in the economy, not to mention the myriad human rights violations. The tense situation on the LAC with China will have its negative impact on the security grid in J&K.

While the Army and the Special Forces have once again created conditions for resuming the peace process, New Delhi must engage with Kashmir's pro-India constituencies for return to democratic politics, followed by addressing the external factor.

It cannot be wished away.

Suicide reporting can do with new perspective

SIMMI WARAIKH

PSYCHIATRIST

There have been media guidelines for suicide reporting for years. On World Suicide Prevention Day, it's time to ask some questions. Who applies these guidelines? Should these be binding? Should there be an ethics committee for monitoring such reporting? Recent reporting on suicides has been repetitive and sensational to an extreme, revealing extreme ignorance and apathy, and catering to an audience willing to lap up such news.

THERE have been several instances of celebrities dying young. One recalls actor-director Guru Dutt being found dead. He had taken an overdose of sleeping pills along with alcohol. Dutt had experienced a few such episodes earlier, but had survived. Actress Divya Bharti's death was considered an accident. She, too, was reportedly suffering from depression. However, these cases did not take on the macabre hue now being witnessed in suicide reporting in the country. Journalists of electronic and print media seem to have lost all sense of circumspect sensitivity and empathy.

The privacy of an individual who has died has been disrespected, with people forwarding photos of the body and a thousand unfounded, fabricated stories doing the rounds, each embellished with details that no one could verify. For weeks, a media circus has ensued! What has been lost is sensitivity and on evidence is a populace that has thrived on a witch-hunt and a continuing media trial.

Many people came forth to the psychiatrists disturbed by the news coverage. Many reported an increase in their anxiety and a fear that they may end up in a similar situation where suicidal thoughts may prevail upon them. Copycat suicide or Werther effect — based on a character from a novel by Goethe — is well-known after celebrity suicides. Also called suicide contagion, it reflects the increase in suicides after such news appears. For example, after the suicide of Marilyn Monroe, suicide rates rose by 12% across the US. After the release of a Netflix series, 13 Reasons Why, Google searches for methods of suicide increased by 19%.

A young girl, a model, visited a psychiatrist. She spoke of the triggers for her depression, her loneliness despite a supportive family. While in Norway, she was advised by friends to seek treatment for her depression and not ignore it. When she returned to India, she received comments such as: Why are you taking medication, do yoga; medication is addictive etc.

She knew that the medication was not addictive, she took just one pill daily. It helped her to work. She did not mention any suicidal ideas. After two weeks, she committed suicide. The family — a distraught sister and parents — visited the psychiatrist looking for clues, for answers. However, she had given some other name and could not be traced. Her family was devastated, yet they set up a foundation and decided to help others with psychiatric illnesses. They had understood that she had depression and that they needed to create more conversations around psychiatric illnesses.

Another young woman came and related how she was better off with treatment. She knew her own health was more important than the misconceptions of the people. Yet, she is one in a thousand. Many either do not take medication or stop medicines prematurely. Depression, for example, can be triggered for no reason as a genetic illness or environmental factors due to release of hormones which disrupt the immune system and cause a chronic inflammation in the brain.

Yet, well-known people have been commenting on a subject about which they lack knowledge. In fact, celebrities have posted comments on Twitter: 'Repeat after me, no one snaps out of depression' and 'Depression ka dhanda chalane waalon ko public ne unki aukaat dikhda di', little realising how they are harming a country with millions suffering from mental health issues. India has three psychiatrists per one million people, while

WHO guidelines for the media

- Word headlines carefully
- Exercise caution in using photographs or video footage
- Take particular care in reporting celebrity suicides
- Show due consideration for people bereaved by suicide
- Provide information about where to seek help
- Recognise that media professionals themselves may be affected by stories about suicide

the US has 100. Every seventh person suffers from a psychiatric illness. Still, we have ignorant celebrities mouthing inanities.

These figures, apart from reflecting massive social upheaval — migrants who have higher rates of suicide, students facing exam pressure, unemployment and substance use — also lay bare poor mental health facilities. Many suicides are associated with alcohol and other substance use.

Even in cities where there are psychiatrists, many do not seek care due to lack of awareness and the stigma attached. We need initiatives on mental health and a national suicide prevention programme. The Covid-related economic crisis is going to lead to many more psychiatric illnesses, and therefore, suicides too.

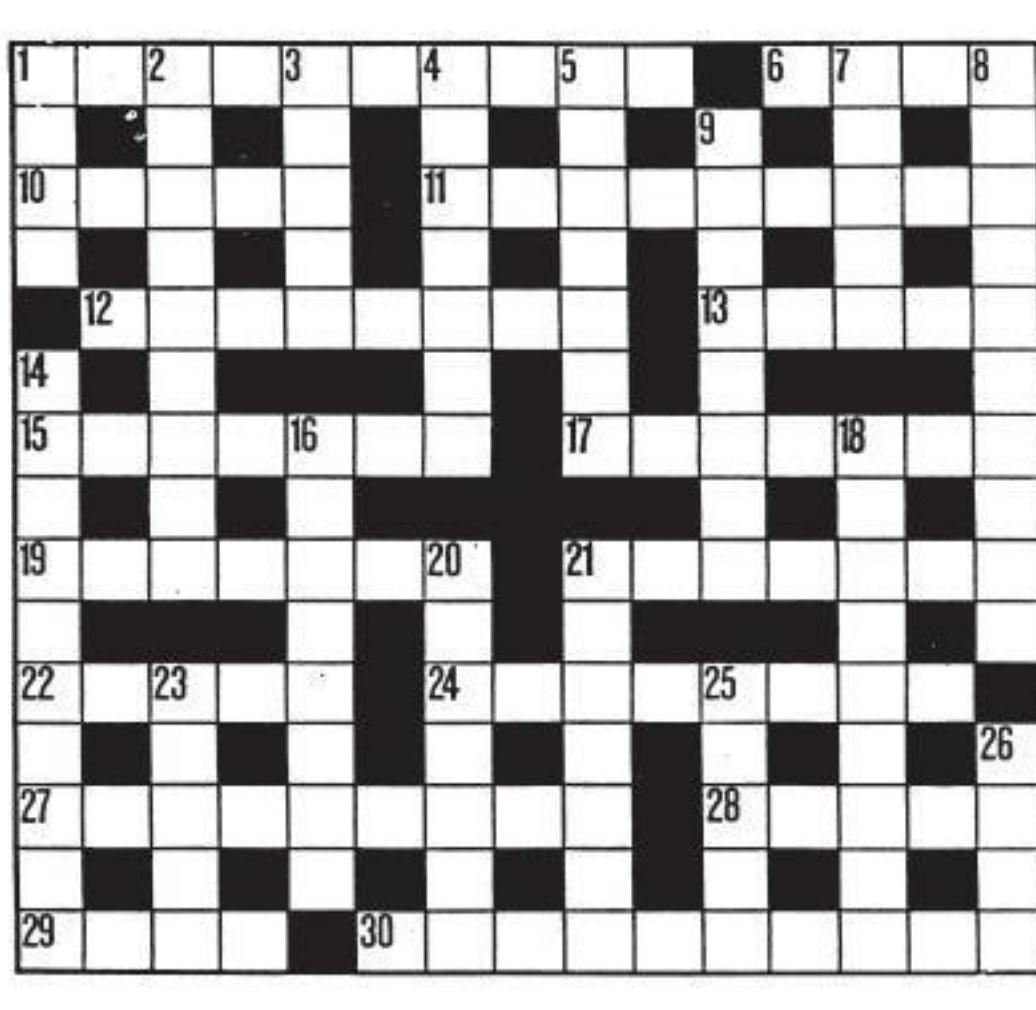

Student and farmer suicides are known. Also, we have one of the highest numbers of suicides in the age group of 15-24 years, which is alarming. We urgently need a national programme to prevent suicides.

Yuvraj planning to come out of retirement for Punjab?

NEW DELHI, SEPTEMBER 9
World Cup-winning former India all-rounder Yuvraj Singh has decided to come out of retirement, giving in to the request from the Punjab Cricket Association more than a year after he called it quits. The Player of the Tournament at the 2011 World Cup, Yuvraj had announced his retirement from all forms of cricket in June last year.

PCA secretary Puneet Bali was the first person to approach the 38-year-old Yuvraj with an offer to come out of retirement for the benefit of Punjab cricket. He has agreed to resume for the state at least in the T20 format.

"Initially, I wasn't sure that I wanted to take up the offer," Yuvraj was quoted as saying by 'Cricbuzz'. "I was done with domestic cricket, though I did want to continue to play in other domestic franchise-based leagues worldwide if I got permission from the BCCI."

"But I also couldn't ignore Mr Bali's request. I gave it a lot of thought, for nearly three or four weeks, and it was almost as if I didn't even have to make a conscious decision in the end."

Shubman Gill, Abhishek Sharma, Prabhjot Singh and Anmolpreet Singh at the nets in the last few months, Yuvraj rediscovered his love and motivation for the game.

Bali told PTI that the dashing southpaw has written to BCCI president Sourav Ganguly in this regard.

"I know he has written a letter to BCCI president Sourav Ganguly wanting to come out of retirement," Bali said. "We want him in the team and the way he mentored Shubman Gill, Abhishek Sharma, Prabhjot Singh and Anmolpreet Singh was exceptional. I told him that please give at least one more year of your life to Punjab cricket," he added.

Yuvraj's mother Shabnam Singh said he still retains the passion for the game. "He is coming back (from Dubai) in a couple of days time and then we are going to have a long chat around all of this. Whatever you are hearing must be true," Shabnam told PTI.

On Tuesday, there was a buzz that he was eyeing a stint in the Big Bash League and Cricket Australia is trying to help him find a team. As per BCCI rules, only retired cricketers can play overseas leagues.

His father Yograj Singh said, "He retired after 20 years of competitive cricket and it was his personal decision. But even then I felt that he shouldn't have retired." — PTI

Ronaldo joins elite '100 Club'

Becomes second male player to reach century of international goals

STOCKHOLM, SEPTEMBER 9
Add 100 international goals to the extraordinary list of milestones achieved by soccer superstar Cristiano Ronaldo.

The 35-year-old Ronaldo became just the second male player to reach a century of goals for a national team when he curled a free-kick into the top corner from 25 metres for the first of his two strikes in Portugal's 2-0 away win against Sweden in the Nations League yesterday.

Scoring one of the best goals of his international career was a fitting way to enter the "100 Club," where he joins former Iran striker Ali Daei, and he wheeled away in delight in an empty Friends Arena in Stockholm before performing his trademark celebration—the mid-air piroquette. Ronaldo, who was playing in his 165th game for Portugal, then added a second goal — another curler into the top corner — and needs nine more to surpass the international record of 109 scored by Daei from 1993-2006. The five-time world player of the year already holds the record for goals in the Champions League with 131 — 16 more than nearest rival Lionel Messi — and has now scored an international goal for the 17th straight calendar year.

Portugal have won both their opening group games. Meanwhile, Belgians beat Iceland 5-1 and France defeated Croatia 4-2 — the same scoreline as the 2018 World Cup final. Oliver Giroud scored his 40th goal to move to within one goal of Michel Platini's national record for France. England drew 0-0 at Denmark. — AP

Messi back training with rest of Barca squad

BARCELONA: Lionel Messi rejoined the rest of his Barcelona teammates at practice today. Messi had been practising separately from the group since returning to the club on Monday. He needed to pass two coronavirus tests before he could practise with the rest of the squad under new coach Ronald Koeman.

De Bruyne named English player of the year

LONDON: Manchester City midfielder Kevin De Bruyne was voted English football's player of the year, denying Liverpool a third straight winner. De Bruyne became the first City player to capture the Professional Footballers' Association award.

La Liga kickoff at risk over scheduling dispute

MADRID: The Spanish league and the Spanish soccer federation are at odds again, this time before the season has even started. The league was set to begin with a match between Granada and Athletic Bilbao on Friday, but the federation wants the game to be moved to the weekend because it opposes playing matches on Mondays and Fridays. NEW DELHI, SEPTEMBER 9

Prime Minister Narendra Modi will digitally launch the Pradhan Mantri Matsya Sampada Yojana (PMMSY) on Thursday and inaugurate the e-Gopala app, a comprehensive breed improvement marketplace and information portal for direct use of farmers.

In a statement on Wednesday, the Prime Minister's Office said Modi would also launch several other initiatives in the fisheries and animal husbandry sectors in Bihar, a state which is heading for the Assembly polls in October-November.

The PMMSY is a flagship scheme for focused and sustainable development of the fisheries sector in the country with an estimated investment of Rs 20,050 crore for its implementation during 2020-21 to 2024-25 as part of the Atmanirbhar Bharat package.

The investment of Rs 20,050 crore under PMMSY is the highest ever in the fisheries sector, the PMO said.

The e-Gopala app, it added, is a comprehensive breed improvement marketplace and information portal for direct use of farmers.

At present, no digital platform is available in the country for farmers managing livestock, including buying and selling of disease-free germplasm in all forms, availability of quality breeding services and guiding farmers for animal nutrition, treatment of animals using appropriate medicine.
