TS has no clue of sanctuaries

TS, AP accuse each other of violating river sharing rules

BALU PULIPAKA | DC
HYDERABAD, JULY 7

The ongoing battle between Telangana and Andhra Pradesh over sharing of Krishna river water has seen a flurry of letters from the two sides, each state pressing its case and accusing the other of wrongdoing.

At the heart of the latest dispute between the two states is AP going ahead with the Rayalseema Lift Irrigation Scheme (RLIS) and expansion of the Pothireddyapu Head Regulator project, both downstream of the Srisailam dam.

Apparently having decided that anything that could be used as ammunition for stopping AP from going ahead with the projects, Telangana has accused AP of violating the wildlife and environment protection laws by pressing ahead with the two projects.

But in the process, and in a possible act of apparently misplaced enthusiasm that could well leave many in the Telangana government red-faced — including Chief Minister K. Chandrashekhar Rao who is leading the battle to save TS interests in Krishna river — a letter written by Dr. Rajat Kumar, the special chief secretary (irrigation) to the member secretary, expert appraisal committee, (river valley projects) in the ministry of environment and forests, indicates that the TS irrigation department has no clue about wildlife sanctuaries that belong to it. The letter, written on July 5, pointed out — with a lengthy attachment (Annexure I of the letter) — how AP was in violation of wildlife and forest protection by taking up the two projects.

The letter pointed out how “several wildlife sanctuaries namely Roplapadi, Gundla Brahmaeshwaram, Sri Lankamalleswara, Sri Penukula Narasimha (sic), Sri Rajiv Gandhi National Park (sic), and Sri Venkateswara exist within a 10km radius of the canals of the (RLIS) project.” It included a newspaper report about a proposal for a uranium mining project for Amrabad Tiger Reserve, which lies wholly in Telangana and is no way impacted by the two irrigation projects taken up by the AP government.

Inquiries with the Telangana government revealed that the uranium mining proposal in Amrabad Tiger Reserve report was possibly included as the irrigation officials might have been under the impression that Amrabad Tiger Reserve was still part of the Rajiv Gandhi Tiger Reserve (RGTR) of united AP.

After the bifurcation of the two Telugu states, RGTR was divided into two tiger reserves, with the part of the reserve that lies on the right bank of River Krishna going to Andhra Pradesh and becoming the Nagarjunasagar Tiger Reserve, while the portion of the reserve on the left bank of River Krishna came to TS and was renamed Amrabad Tiger Reserve.

Despite curbs, city air rife with NO2

T.S.S. SIDDHARTH | DC
HYDERABAD, JULY 7

The city's air is rife with Nitrogen dioxide (NO2). This is contrary to popular belief that the lockdown has helped improve the air quality, an analysis conducted by Greenpeace India Society has found.

Nitrogen dioxide pollution is known to cause damage to the human respiratory tract, cause asthma and make a person vulnerable to other respiratory infections. The study said there was growing evidence that polluted cities suffered disproportionately more from coronavirus cases. Increased concentrations of NO2, Greenpeace said, were found not just in Hyderabad but across several cities in India during the current Covid19 pandemic.

The report published on Wednesday said: “In Hyderabad, nitrogen dioxide air pollution was 69 per cent higher in April 2021 than in the same month the previous year. A part of this difference is attributable to changing weather conditions. After removing the effect of weather, there is still an increase of 38 per cent which is attributed to an increase in emissions.”

After a year since the initial Covid lockdown went into effect, NO2 pollution has increased in eight Indian cities — Mumbai, Delhi, Bengaluru, Hyderabad, Chennai, Kolkata, Jaipur, and Lucknow.

According to satellite observations, NO2 pollution in Hyderabad increased by 69 per cent between April 2020 and April 2021. The weather had only a little of the contribution to this change. In Delhi, NO2 was higher by 125 per cent, Chennai by 94 per cent, Mumbai by 52 per cent, Bengaluru by 90 per cent, Kolkata by 11 per cent, Jaipur by 47 per cent and Lucknow by 32 per cent in April 2021 than in the same month the previous year.

While there was an opinion that the weather conditions would abate the pollution, the result drawn out in the study showed that despite taking the weather conditions into account, NO2 pollution occurred. This was primarily due to changes in emissions, while weather influence was only of secondary importance in most places,” it said.

CM TO VISIT VASALAMARI AGAIN

DC CORRESPONDENT
HYDERABAD, JULY 7

Chief Minister K. Chandrashekhar Rao is all set to visit his adopted village Vasalamarri in Bhongir district again this week. Official sources said Rao was expected to visit the village in the next two or three days.

Accordingly, Bhongir district collector Pamela Satpathy on Wednesday visited Vasalamarri and reviewed the arrangements to be made for the Chief Minister's visit.

Rao visited the village three weeks ago on June 22 and hosted lunch for villagers. He had then directed officials to conduct door-to-door surveys of each house in the village and keep the survey reports ready by the time he visits the village next time. Rao will hold grama sabha with villagers and discuss the findings of the survey reports, it is learnt.

Based on these reports, the Chief Minister will assess what needs to be done for the overall development of the village and the villagers.

The Chief Minister directed officials to conduct door-to-door survey based on parameters such as occupation of residents, number of persons in each household, their age, education status, employed, unemployed or self-employed, living in own pucca house or not, health profile of each resident, whether they own vehicle or not etc.

The Chief Minister plans to announce various schemes to fill the gaps found in the survey, according to official sources.

Huzurabad win a prestige issue for Bandi, BJP

DC CORRESPONDENT
HYDERABAD, JULY 7

BJP state president Bandi Sanjay Kumar has a huge task ahead with the bypoll to Huzurabad is around, which also happens to be one of the Assembly segments in his Lok Sabha constituency.

After he was appointed as president of the state unit of the party, the BJP won Dubbalk byelection and created a history in state politics. With the same spirit, the party fought Greater Hyderabad Municipal Corporation (GHMC) elections and grabbed 46 divisions out of the total 150 divisions. It was the second victory of the BJP after Sanjay took charge as president.

However, the party was defeated in Huzurabad.

Nagarjunasagar bypolls and it could not even retain its deposits. In the recent graduate MLC elections for Hyderabad and Nalgonda segments, the party was defeated and it lost its sitting seat of Hyderabad.
