■ Production of Covaxin to be doubled soon

VINEETA PANDEY | DC NEW DELHI, APRIL 16

As the daily fresh Covid-19 cases went over 2.17 lakhs and the death toll reached 1,185, Prime Minister Narendra Modi on Friday chaired a comprehensive review meeting to ensure adequate medical grade oxygen supply in the country. The meeting took place a day after India decided to import 50,000 metric tonnes of medical oxygen to reduce the shortage of supplies.

During Friday's meeting, Mr Modi reviewed in detail the current oxygen supply situation and projected use in the coming 15 days across 12 high-burden states - Maharashtra, Madhya Pradesh, Gujarat, Uttar Pradesh, Delhi, Chhattis-garh, Karnataka, Kerala, Tamil Nadu, Punjab, Haryana and Rajasthan. Mr Modi suggested an increase in the oxygen production capacity of each plant. The use of surplus stocks of oxygen in steel plants for medical use was also discussed.

Mr Modi urged officials to ensure seamless and free movement of tankers carrying oxygen through-out the country. The gov-ernment has exempted all inter-state movement of oxygen tankers from registration of permits to enable easier movement.

The Centre has also decided to double the production of indigenouslymade Covaxin by May-June and nearly 10 crore Covaxin doses will be produced per month by September. The Union ministry of science and technology said the capacities of Bharat Biotech Ltd other public sector units are being upgraded and financial aid is being provided as a grant to the tune of around ₹65 crores to Bharat Biotech's new Bengaluru facility, which is being repurposed to increase the capacity of vaccine production. Besides, three PSUs are also being supported to hike the capacity of vaccine produc-

via air: Lancet

New Delhi, April 16: There is consistent, strong evidence to prove that the SARS-CoV-2 virus, behind the Covid-19 pandemic, is predominantly transmitted through the air, according to a new assessment published on Friday in The Lancet journal.

The analysis by six experts from the UK, the US and Canada says public health measures that fail to treat the virus as predominantly airborne leave people unprotected and allow the virus to spread. Although some studies have suggested that Covid-19 may spread through air, overall scientific literature on the subject has been inconclusive.

In July last year, over 200 scientists from 32 nations wrote to the WHO, saying there is evidence that the coronavirus is airborne, and even smaller particles can infect people. "The evidence supporting airborne transmission is overwhelming, and evidence supporting large droplet transmission is almost nonexistent," said Jose-Luis Jimenez, from

Virus spreads | CISCE puts off X, XII exams

New Delhi, April 16: The Council for the Indian School Certificate Examinations (CISCE) on Friday deferred the board exams for classes 10 and 12 in view of a rise in Covid-19 cases across the country.

In light of the nationwide surge in coronavirus cases, the class 10 and 12 exams which were to be held from May 4 have been deferred, CISCE"s chief executive and secretary Gerry Arathoon said. "We will closely monitor the situation and review it in the first week of June to take a final decision on conduct of examination," he said.

"While class 12 exams will be conduct ed at a later stage, class 10 students will get an option to either appear in offline exams later or get evaluated on basis of fair and unbiased criteria to be developed by board," Mr Arathoon added.

Earlier this week, the Central Board of Secondary Education (CBSE) had cancelled its class 10 board exams and deferred the class 12 board exams. state boards have postpo PTI cancelled their exams too.

British home secretary orders extradition of Nirav Modi

Kingdom's home secretary Priti Patel has signed off on the order to extradite fugitive diamond merchant Nirav Modi, wanted in India on fraud and money laundering charges related to the estimated $2-billion Punjab National Bank (PNB) scam case, the UK home office said on Friday. The decision follows a Westminster magistrates'

court ruling by district judge Sam Goozee in February, which concluded that Mr Modi has a case to answer before the Indian courts and that the bars to extradition under UK law do not apply in his case. Nirav Modi, 50, who remains behind bars at Wandsworth Prison in south-west London since his arrest over two years ago on 19 March 2019, has 14 days to apply for permission to appeal against the home secretary's order in the high court in London. leave to appeal against both the decisions, that of the district judge and of the home decretary.

Mr Modi had allegedly perpetrated the fraud in the Punjab National Bank in collusion with his uncle

Mehul Choksi. Judge Goozee ruled a prima facie case has been established on all counts of

Mr Modi is the subject of two sets of criminal pro-ceedings, with the CBI case relating to a large-scale fraud upon PNB through the fraudulent obtaining of letters of undertaking (LoUs) or loan agreements, and the ED case relating to the laundering of the proceeds of that fraud. He also faces two additional charges of "causing the disappearance of evidence" and intimidating witnesses or "criminal intimidation to cause death", which were added on to the CBI case.

"I do not accept the sub-missions that NDM (Nirav Dipak Modi) was involved in legitimate business and using the LoUs in a permissible fashion," notes the court judgment forwarded to the home decretary. India is a designated Part Extradition Act 2003, which means it is the Cabinet minister who has the authority to order a requested person's extradition after considering a number of further issues.

The home secretary's order rarely goes against the court's conclusions, as she has to consider only very narrow bars to extradition which did not apply in Mr Modi's case.

WOMAN COP SLAPPED WITH UAPA IN J&K

Srinagar, April 16: A woman special police officer (SPO) from Kulgam district of Jammu and Kashmir has been arrested and terminated from the service for "glorifying terror-ism" and "obstructing" government officials in the discharge of their duty, a police spokesman said on Friday.

Saima Akhter, a resident of Frisal area, has been arrested under the Unlawful Activities Prevention added. He said on Wednesday, security forces launched a search operation in Karewa Mohallah in Frisal village on a specific input regarding the presence of militants there.

During the operation, the search party was obstructed by Ms Akther, the spokesman said. "The lady resisted the search party and turned violent and uttered statements glorifying violent actions of terrorists," he said. She captured a video on her phone and uploaded it on social media platforms "with the intent of disrupting the search operation", he said.

Slum-dwellers shudder as Covid second wave spreads

T. SUDHEESH I DC CHENNAL APRIL 16

The slum-dwellers in the city, who were affected badly by the lockdowns during the first wave of Covid-19, now remember the grim days with a shudder at a time when coronavirus, in its second wave, is spreading its tentacles in the state, forcing the government to introduce a slew of restrictions. For the last one year, since the Covid-19 outbreak was reported in the city in March 2020, the slum-dwellers, who are largely daily wage workers, have been struggling to make ends meet as many of them lost their livelihood due to the lock-down. With the second wave of the pandemic spreading at an alarming pace in the city, a pall of fear started to set in.

All for a jab

For the last one year, since the Covid-19 outbreak was reported in the city in March 2020, the slum-dwellers, who are largely daily wage workers, have been struggling to make ends meet as many of them lost their livelihood due to the lockdown

Garden near Perambur, one of the largest slums in the city having 1,500 tenants, says the spread of coronavirus would make their life difficult. " The impact of the first wave is still evident in this settlement. Many elders, who were working as domestic helps, sanitation workers and watchmen, lost their job post lockdown. Their jobs never returned though the lockdown was withdrawn. My wife lost her job as a domestic help after lockdown. A couple of weeks ago, she was able to find a job. This new spread comes as a real shocker for us," he said.

Manikandan, a sanitation worker, says nobody had called him for a job post-lockdown. "My moth-er, brothers and sister were income earners. They lost their job due to lockdown. Even after one year, they are still job-less," he said. Sethunath, a slum-dweller at Choolaimedu, said the slum-dwellers cannot afford another round of Covid-19 crisis because they have already lost their savings and livelihood. "We survived back-to-back complete lockdowns only because of the free ration provided by the government. We heard that authorities would set up containment zones in the areas where active cases are reported. All slum settlements are congested with high population and no proper toilet facilities. So we are scared that Covid-19 cases would spread faster," he said.

"Ever since the news reports of the positive cases spread, many of my neighbours are very nervous and are staying indoors. They are getting out of their homes only to use public toilets. All of them say it is very diffi-cult to escape the infection in such congested slums. The fear has already begun to spread in the slums as the city reports a high number of cases daily. Ninety percent of the residents here do not have private toilets and they use public toilets. One seat of a public toilet is used by 70 or 80 people daily. So there is a very high possibility of coronavirus infection through these public toilets," says Senthil, a slum-dweller at Pulianthope.

their livelihood. But due to Covid-19, their life was thrown out of gear for the last one year, without get-ting chances for any performances.

They also wanted that they should be permitted to perform stage dance and other programmes during temple festivals, and to stage street plays for creating awareness on Corona among the rural people, and to disburse ₹2.000 corona assistance to all the 2,000 unregistered rural folk artistes. The collector assured to look into their demands.

Thrill in Nilgiris over 'bamboo rice'

B. RAVICHANDRAN | DC OOTY, APRIL 15

The Nilgiris is very recently witnessing the blooming of bamboo in many areas, and people especially the tribals, are showing keen interest in collecting bamboo rice has created a sort of excitement.

Perhaps for the first time in decades, one could see, besides the tribes, even the common men were seen visiting the jungles fringes like Thorappallai limits in Nilgiris to collect bamboo rice which is found in copiquantities strewn around bamboo groves. Why do people show keen interest in collecting the bamboo rice?

V. Sivadass, managing trustee, Nilgiris Environment and Socio-cultural Trust, said that it is a fact that different bamboo species bloom and produce seeds in their dying hours of their life. The blooming periodicity differs for different species, which is usually from once in 10 years to once in 60 years. It is the dying shoots of the bamboo which blooms and eventually produces seeds, which is otherwise known as 'bamboo rice', which gets spilled produces the seeds at the end of their life span, a bamboo shoot is said to be the reason for gregarious blooming and production of large quantities of bamboo rice. Of course, it is nature's choice to ensure "In a spurt of energy that that new shoots sprout from the seeds or rice that fall on the ground, which will help the species to thrive," he added.

Usually, the tribes collect the bamboo rice and store them in their barns for consumption, as it is considered to be very healthy in nature since it is loaded with fibre content, vitamins and other natural minerals. resembles paddy but tastes like wheat. In herbal medicine, bamboo rice is considered to be good to manage joint and rheumatic ailments. Now-a-days, bamboo rice sales have become commercial too. That's why even the common man shows interest in collecting bamboo rice, as a kilo of natural bamboo rice is said to fetch over Rs. 300 in the market," added Sivadass.

The ecological of bamboo seeds or rice is such that it helps maintain the bamboo bio-diversity by sprouting well in suitable jungle environs to become a good natural feed for elephants. Rodents in the jungles also compete for the bamboo rice, and later they turn the natural feed of reptiles like snakes, thus helping the coological equilibrium, noted Sivadass. maintaining

KERALA HC QUASHES CASES AGAINST ED

DC CORRESPONDENT THIRUVANANTHAPURAM,

In a major setback to the CPMled-LDF government in Kerala, the Kerala High Court on Friday quashed the cases filed by the crime branch against the officials of the Enforcement Directorate (ED) in connection with the allegations levelled by the prime accused in the gold smuggling

The HC annulled the FIRs filed by the Crime Branch pertaining to the claims made by key accused Swapna Suresh and Sandeep Nair that the ED officials had forced them to give statements against Chief Minister Pinarayi Vijayan.

Both the accused had earlier alleged that the ED officials had applied pressure on them to name top CPM leaders including the Chief Minister in the gold smuggling and money laundering cases.

The HC directed the crime branch to hand over the details of the probe carried out so far. in a sealed envelope. It directed that any further action would be taken by the trial court in the case only after the examination of the docu-

Iran enriches uranium to 60%

Dubai: Iran began enriching uranium on Friday to its highest level ever, edging closer to weapons-grade levels to pressure talks in Vienna aimed at restoring its nuclear deal with world powers after an attack on its main atomic site. A top official said only a few grams an hour of uranium gas would be enriched up to 60 per cent purity — triple the level it once did but at a rate far slower than what Tehran could produce. International inspectors already said Iran planned to do so aboveground at its Natanz nuclear site, not deep within its underground halls hardened to withstand airstrikes.

The TLP had launched the countrywide protest on Monday after the arrest of its chief Saad

Hussain Rizvi. The TLP supporters clashed with the law enforcement agencies in several towns and cities earlier this week, leaving seven persons dead and over 300 policemen injured. To stop the protests after Friday prayers, the Interior Ministry directed the Pakistan Telecommunication Authority (PTA) to suspend social media services for four hours from 11 am to 3 pm.

8 dead at FedEx facility, gunman shoots himself

Indianapolis, April 16: A gunman killed eight people and wounded several others before apparently taking his own life in a late-night attack at a FedEx facility near the Indianapolis airport, police said, in the latest in a spate of mass shootings in the United States after a relative lull during the pandemic.

Five people were hospitalised after the Thursday night shooting, according to police. One of them had critical injuries, police spokesperson Genae Cook said. Another two people were treated and released at the scene

FedEx said people who worked for the company were among the dead. A witness said that he was working inside the building when he heard several gunshots in rapid succession. "I see a man come out with a rifle in his hand and he starts firing and he starts yelling stuff that I could not understand," Levi Miller told WTHR-TV. "What I ended up doing was ducking down to make sure he did not see me because I thought he would see me and he would shoot me."

Yangon, April 16: A "parliament" working in hiding to oust Myanmar's junta from power announced a new shadow government on Friday, with deposed leader Aung San Suu Kyi at its helm alongside ethnic minority

The country has been in turmoil since the military detained Suu Kyi and seized power, triggering a massive uprising that the junta has sought to quell with lethal force.

Besides demanding a ret-arn to democracy, protesters are also protesters increasingly calling for more of a governing role for the country's minority groups — which have long seen their voices marginalised by the Bamar majority.

AUSSIE JUDGE RULES GOOGLE MISLED USERS

Canberra, April 16: Google broke Australian law by misleading users about personal location data collected through Android mobile devices, a judge found on Friday. The Federal Court decision was a partial win for the Australian Competition and Consumer Commission, the nation's fair trade watchdog, which has been prosecuting Go-ogle for broader alleged breaches of consumer law since October 2019.

Justice Thomas Thawley found that Google misled Android mobile device users about personal location data collected between January 2017 and December 2018. This is an important victory for consumers, especially anyone concerned about their privacy online, as the court's decision sends a strong message to Google and others that big businesses must not mislead their customers, Commission Chair Rod Sims said in a statement.

Kremlin welcomes Biden call for talks

Moscow, April 16: The Kremlin said on Friday it was "good" that US President Joe Biden was seeking dialogue with his counterpart Vladimir Putin but criticised the United States for a fresh bout of sanctions on Moscow.

Biden's offer earlier this week of a summit between the leaders amounted to a peace offering as tensions between Russia and the West were escalating over the conflict in Ukraine and the new penalties levied by Washington.

Kremlin spokesman Dmitry Peskov on Friday

said that Putin has long talked about the importance of normalising relations between Moscow and Washington. "He has repeatedly said that we are ready to develop our dialogue to the degree that our counterparts are ready for this," he said.

"It is indeed good that the points of view of the two heads of state coincide on this".

But Peskov also blasted a new round of penalties imposed by Washington on Moscow Thursday, saying America's "addiction for sanctions remains unacceptable.'

Bengal: EC misses chance to curb Covid during vote

vidently, bureaucratic woodenness has triumphed over plain common sense. It is open to question, however, whether the victory has not been that of politics in dismissing the plea of West Bengal chief minister Mamata Banerjee for collapsing the remaining four phases of the Assembly election into one. The CM's urging came in the wake of the surging

Covid-19 cases in the country.

As much as the Kumbh Mela in Haridwar, which the chief minister of Uttarakhand shows no inclination to cancel as he aspires to religious merit and evidently also political dividends that may flow from it, the Election Commission of India appears in no mood to cancel polling schedules more appropriate for nor-

It is another matter that eight phases of polling in a not very large state wasn't exactly normal to start with, and has been a matter of criticism by all parties in the fray other than the BJP. The dissenters see in the eight-phase polling programme the hand of political considerations writ large.

It is another matter that eight phases of polling in a not very large state wasn't exactly normal to start with, and has been a matter of criticism by all parties in the fray other than the BJP

Ms Banerjee tweeted her pleading. The EC has not deigned to reply because the suggestion was not made on official paper. It must look deep within itself and reflect if officially turning a deaf ear would have been its way if the prod had come from those on high in New Delhi. No prizes for guessing the right answer. The record of the EC in recent years has been a subject of adverse comment.

In a fiercely noisy election campaign in which bad language and worse sentiments have won the day so far, Ms Banerjee's suggestion was frankly a breath of fresh air. It was out of the box. It was genuinely constructive. It would have cut the time and scope for any potential violence. More importantly, it would have helped cut the transmissibility of the new mutants of the Covid-19 virus by checkmating poll-time crowds.

In fact, it is reasonable to wonder why the EC itself did not initiate such a splendid idea, find ways to overcome legal hurdles, if any, and help all parties reach a consensus on practicalities, urging them not to be politically short-sighted or naïve but look for what's good for the general public.

It is a pity that the Commission chose not to offer to reply. It gave out snippets of its thinking through the media. One, it was said that the proposal was made on social media, as though that makes it irrelevant. Two, it was explained by "sources" that there were legal difficulties since nominations were over. This hardly seems tenable since the issue at stake was polling, not nominations or withdrawals. Three, the point was also made that 150 companies of central paramilitary forces — or 15,000 soldiers — would be hard to find suddenly.

This does appear lame — even tawdry. Those numbers can be got together with the snapping of the finger if there is political will. The real point, however, is that the country is not at war with one half of the state of West Bengal where polling (for 159 seats) are due to be held by the end of the month. Remember, for comparison, that the US has only 3,000 soldiers in war-ravaged Afghanistan for counter-terrorism duties, and this has been the case for nearly a year.

The EC could have done better. It has missed the chance to reach for higher goals and distinguish itself.

Recovery vs inflation

even though the year 2020 was lost because of the once-in-hundred years pandemic, people had harboured a glimmer of hope that 2021 would be better. While January and February did seem so, people's complacency brought back the coronavirus in full strength. As if the Covid-19 pandemic were not enough, economic data suggests a difficult time ahead. Wholesale Price Index (WPI) numbers that were released on Thursday showed that the rise in wholesale prices has touched an eight-year high at 7.39 per cent in March.

While it is true that WPI or wholesale inflation numbers are no longer used by the Reserve Bank of India (RBI) to determine lending rates, the retail inflation is better at 5.52 per cent. Though it is still within the inflation mandate of four per cent (plus or minus two per cent) given to the RBI, it could shoot up if supply constraints emerge because of local lockdowns. The rising inflation and contracting industrial production present the most difficult conundrum for the Narendra Modi government. Since May 2014, the government has been careful not to stoke inflationary pressures in any manner, even if it meant sacrificing economic growth for some time. In its first term, it stopped raising the minimum support price for farmers, which was one of the key reasons for higher inflation during the PA-2 government Even during the lockdown the government people fend for themselves without opting for unorthodox policies.

One of the tools that RBI employs to tame inflation is the higher interest rate. However, it cannot drop its accommodative monetary policy, if it has to spur economic growth at least back to the pre-Covid levels. The government and RBI have a difficult choice to make between taming inflation and boosting economic growth. Good luck, finance minister and RBI governor!

Kal Ho Na Ho: Inept govt messes up war on Covid

Shobhaa's Take

Seventeen lakh Mumbairead an interesting kars got the vaccine over American magazine, a six-week period, if one accepts these numbers. There's now a severe shortage of just about which talked about a Covid-19 condition known as "Mental Mist" - it sounds dreamy and everything, vaccines inpoetic but in reality it's a cluded. Senior citizens lot harsher. Almost everytrudged miles to get their jabs only to come home disappointed. Two of my one in my immediate circle has been infected by the virus now. All of us girlfriends are recovering know at least five others in a South Mumbai hospiwho are coping the best tal. Scienerally gasping for breath. and researchers The numbers trotted out aren't making things any by the authorities are better by warning us there are likely to be many more waves: the grossly understated, and the reason is trite: "We don't want mass panic." But the dead are piling third one is already upon us! Here in Mumbai, we up, and how long can the are dealing with CM awful truth be buried or burnt? While the second wave Uddhav Thackeray's version of the latest lock-down, euphemistically was creeping up on Mumbai, our netas were (borrowed from the PM's busy with just one thing:

Devendra Fadnavrelentless pressure on Uddhav Thackeray's rickety alliance to come clean (ha!) on the "Antilia" bomb scare ensured very little other work got done the BMC and Mantralaya. Even those efficient hureaucrats who had done such a hands-on job to contain Covid last year sat tight for the past month, unable to act, since the CM was only worried about hanging on to his job. Without authorisation, with nobody to sign files, even the municipal commissioner (I.S. Chahal) had no choice but to wait it out, till we hit the emergency button! Our hearts go out to dedicated BMC staffers soldiering on regardless: thank you for your self-

Frankly, irate citizens are asking: "Why the hell should we abide by lockdown rules when even the PM isn't bother-ing? Look at those mammoth-sized political rallies!" And look at the sadhus taking a holy dip at the Kumbh: 40 lakhs jumping into the river in the first snan. Read the asinine remarks Uttarakhand's (Tirath Singh Rawat), who defended the complete flouting of Covid protocols at Haridwar: "The devotees have Ma Ganga's blessings." The videos of deliriously high Naga sadhus in their birthday suits dancing and singing their way to the ghats went viral, perhaps for the wrong reasons, even as news of Yogi Adityanath testing positive made the news. Rawat Saah nonchalantly claimed: "All Central government guidelines are followed at Kumbh, be it social distancing or other norms, everything is in The numbers of place. those who tested positive shot up from 1,863 to 10,770 at last count; one shudders to think what will follow when the sadhus and pilgrims go back where they came from. I am sending an SOS to Ma Ganga: Extra blessings desperately needed!

When citizens see the rule of law being selectively implemented, they lose all respect for authority. That's what's happening now in Mumbai, where a group of cops celebrate a colleague's birthday in style, lockdown be damned. A police van was used to transport khaana peena to the thana, where the happy bunch let their hair down and some took their shirts off! Alcohol was retrieved from the ernment mess-ups blame the bureaucrats, specially the three musketeers who advise the PM. While he was busy investing all his time and energy in the West Bengal elections, our bright chaps goofed up with the entire vaccine rollout plan: the complicated international contracts and the crucial numbers involved. By trying to drive a hard bar gain, we actually lost out! Apparently, when things started to slide in the second surge, the bureau-crats panicked and did what babus always do: opted for the CYA approach. Right now, chaos reigns and nobody knows where the buck stops. How on earth are we going to contain the second wave, when we do not have enough vaccines for our people? So much money and prestige lost

— why? Because those
"babu bullies" got the maths wrong, leading to a cancellation of major contracts and embarrassment in the international media. Several scathing articles have appeared since the debacle, mocking our earlier boasts of 'Bending it like Beckham" (in the context of the economy). Too bad the Sensex tanked, based on the disastrous Covid forecasts. No, we are not prepared to fight this war, regardless of what the government is claiming. Lies and more lies are being thrown at us daily. Like that fake video showing a deserted Haridwar and asking: What crowds? Where crowds? This clumsy attempt at shielding the government's monumental failure at tackling a national crisis is being seen as a crime against humanity. Such negligence! Such

HYPOCRITE TURNCOATS

Apropos report M. Chinnasamy: Stalin lacks leadership qualities. "The ex-DMK member Mr Chinnasamy's statement that 'Mr Stalin does not have leadership qualities,' it is a series of the control of the c is preposterous. He should know that Mr Stalin had proved his mettle, held many responsible positions in the party as well as in the government and indisputably con-tributed a lot to Tamil Nadu. Even after his father's death he could hold the party intact without a split in the rank and file unlike the AIADMK which broke into two after its supremo madam Jaya's demise. It is nothing but rank abrasiveness of leaders like Mr Chinnasamy who praise their party leadership while inside but lambast it once they quit. Such turncoats are not uncommon in TN politics but we have to wait and watch what Mr Chinnasamy does after the elections if the DMK, as the pollsters predicted, wins the polls and Mr Stalin becomes CM. MIGRANT LABOURERS PLIGHT

Little over a year has passed since the migrant workers slogged it on foot to their native places in the aftermath of the Covid-19 outbreak, with many of them losing their liveli-hoods in the process. The transition to an informal economy must be seen in the context of India's deep-rooted social inequality, resulting in widespread indigence. In the havoc the pandemic created, politics and gover-nance have further distorted the already highly skewed balance between capital and labour. Why did the country's top leadership not realise the impact of the sudden announcement of lockdown would who were robbed overnight of the meagre fruits of their labour? The instant loss of income not only added to their despair, but the migrants faced strong suspicion that they might be carrying the malignant virus on their eventual return. The swollen feet of these migrant workers who trudged miles and miles had left strong imprints that can never be erased from the pages of Indian his-

That was verbal. The real incident of race discrimination I faced at university was in my second year when we had to live out of college in "digs". I applied for several and was turned away from many because the landladies didn't accept any "wogs" in their rooms. One got over it.

London was another fettle of kitsch. Yes, there were the same elements of race-based abusive words and the refusal by landlords to rent out their bed-sitters and bartenders refusing to serve you in pubs. There were assaults. certainly through racist motives, some serious, as the time in 1973 when a petrol bomb was thrown into the ground floor of the building where I had a flat on the second and had to lean out of the window of a burning building.

Even so, these may have been racist, but couldn't be strictly classed as "institutional racism". My first experience of the meaning of that phrase was when I got a teaching job at a school which had been established as an amalgamation of three schools -- Henry Thornton, which was a grammar school, all white except for two Indian doctors' sons, Tennyson and Aristotle. The Tennysonians and Aristotelians were 90 per cent black with 10 per cent of white working-class boys. The amalgamated school was graded into 10 levels in each academic year. The division seemed institutionally pernicious as the top two grades were exclusively white and the bottom four almost uniformly black with the middle grades layered in a climbing graph of racial composition. There were no declared or transparent criteria for the classification. Of course, the school protested that the divisions were based on academic tests. After six months in the school, I was convinced they were not. It was an institutionally race-biased Living and working in London and being a member of a radical political group, I was soon made aware that the police in every major city systematically picked on West Indians walking the streets and searched them, or invaded their gatherings, calling them drug

It was not till the 1980s when, after the riots of black youngsters in Brixton in London, in Liverpool and Birmingham and the murder of a teenager called Stephen Lawrence by racist thugs, that Westminster set up independent enquiries into the causes and possible remedies of what was clearly an urban war between the police and blacks. One of the enquiries by an impartial member of the judiciary, characterised the police forces as "institutionally racist". Since that term entered the public vocabulary, it has been used to characterise very many institutions of

In the long shadow of the Back Lives Matter movement, BoJo's government recruited a Commission on Race and Ethnic Disparities. The commissioners were eleven people. Ten of them from Asian and black communities and were representatives of several professions. They produced a 258-page report which, when it was published on April Fool's day brought a tsunami of criticism. Not from the right-leaning press in Britain, which accepted and boasted about the report's contention that Britain had no institutions which could be, on statistical evidence, condemned as "institutionally

The report was cautious in several ways but raised a storm of protest from black academics, writers, activists and liberal newspapers, some of whom questioned the "findings' and others who condemned it as a Tory government whitewash. I was made aware, gentle reader, of several of these objections. They were in the main not backed by statistical counter arguments to the report's findings, but assessments of the "mood" and the feelings of those who would speak for the black communities - if there is indeed still such a single entity. Some of the negative reaction to the report, which said for instance that the Chinese, Asian and female black students excelled in schools and left white and black working-class boys scoring the worst in exams and meritocratic progress. The report concluded that this was not endemic institutional racism in the educational system but was attributable to vast social factors.

I admit I haven't read the report but will do. The fact that I know two of the commissioners and respect the acumen, honesty and view of at least one of them, inclines me at this point to sit on the fence. Ouch!

■ Little gain seen to elders from the move Plan to open NPS to

FALAKNAAZ SYED MUMBAI, APRIL 16

The Pension Fund Regulatory and Development Authority (PFRDA) is contemplating hiking the maximum age of entry for the National Pension System (NPS) from 65 years to 70 years.

The Pension fund regulator is also thinking of allowing NPS subscribers who join after the age of 60 years to continue their NPS accounts till the age of 75. However, for others, the age of maturity will remain 70 years.

Financial planners are, however, divided over the benefits of people entering NPS at the fag end of their life, as they would have a limited time-frame to accumulate a decent corpus through this investment. Moreover, with 40 per cent of the total corpus mandatorily going towards buying annuities, their overall returns would be limited.

According to some experts, senior citizens would be better off investing their surplus in a mix debt instruments, such as Pradhan Mantri Vaya Vandana Yojana, post office Senior Citizen Savings Scheme, fixed deposits, debentures, bonds and debt mutual funds. Says Arnav Pandya, a certified financial planner: "It would have been positive if existing subscribers were given the option to contribute in NPS for a longer time. But the accumulation period is being increased for new subscribers. Senior citizens who can invest in NPS for around 15-20 years can look at subscribing in NPS but those who have a lesser time horizon refrain from NPS. should

"This is because under

NPS, 40 per cent of the corpus needs to be converted into annuity, which reduces the rate of return that a person would earn on their corpus, as you are forced to go to an insurance company and buy annuities. Also, if you are a senior citizen, you will invest only in debt, which would limit the scope of appreciation as compared to when you invest in equities. You are better off on your own investing in a range of debt instruments that give you a higher rate

"So, for older people starting NPS just because the investment age is raised would not be the right strategy, as you need to give time for the corpus accumulate. Such investors can look at a mixture of debt mutual funds. debentures, bonds, special deposits of banks and financial institutions.' But Supratim Bandyopa dhyay, chairman, PFRDA, says around 15,000 people above the age of 60 joined the NPS since the entry age limit was raised from 60 to 65 three years ago.

According to the chief executive officer of a pension fund house, "Senior citizens can earn decent returns, avail tax benefits and protect their capital by investing in NPS."

Sachin Shetty, a mutual fund and insurance dis-tributor, said, "Life expectancy is rising and so are expenses. So far NPS has performed well. If a person is 60 years or more but is ready to hold money for the long term i.e. 10 years or more, then he should definitely invest in NPS to create a good corpus to meet rising expenses. However, since NPS is prone to market fluctua-tions, those with high investible surplus could diversify by investing a part of their surplus in Pradhan Mantri Vaya Vandana Yojana which is fetching over 7 per cent

Catch-22: More customers mean less revenue for e-pharmacies

SANGEETHA G CHENNAI, APRIL 16

Similar to other online services, e-pharmacies too have seen increased customer acceptance during the pandemic but their revenues have declined during the period. This, despite a four-to-five-fold growth in traffic witnessed by them.

became E-pharmacies more popular during the lockdown as many first-time buyers used them for buying both prescription and OTC drugs. These customers are sticking to e-pharmacy purchases even after the pandemic.

The average traffic per day had surged four-five times during the lock-down period, according to brokerage Motilal Oswal. In addition, customer conversion went up from 12-15 per cent pre-lockdown to 20-22 per cent after lockdown. But the average order value came down drastically from Rs 3,500 to Rs 800 post-lockdown. As a result, average revenues of e-pharmacy players declined during the pandemic. Prior to the pandemic, 70 per cent of e-pharmacy business used to come from chronic therapies, such as diabetes, blood pressure and cholesterol. That trend shifted heavily towards Covid essentials post-lockdown and simultaneously chronic therapies' contribution came down to 40-45 per cent of total online revenues. This led to a decline in average revenues. While private label and substitution can improve profitability, substitution of prescribed brand for private label is a costly affair with slim chances of success.

"Currently all e-pharmacy players are burning cash and to breakeven at the Ebitda level, they need to have an average order value of Rs 3,000-3,500 and cut operational costs drastically, which is possible only with an omni-channel model," says Kartik Anantharaman, director of e-pharmacy and private label business at Medlife. According to him, the omni-channel involves online players working with offline players, eliminating competition between the two and enabling collaboration by complementing other's strengths. The omni-channel format also provides operating leverage, as e-pharmacy players can easily service more orders per day. Further, profitability is also dependent on the mix of bulk purchases and just-in-time purchases. To become profitable, the bulk purchases have to be at least 70 per cent and for this, companies need better clarity on demand and the prescription patterns of doctors.

The road to profitability looks quite long for e-pharmacies now.

CHINA'S Q1 GDP SURGES TO 18.3%

K.J.M. VARMA BEIJING, APRIL 16

China's economy grew a record 18.3 per cent in the first quarter of 2021, riding on strong domestic and foreign demand and aided by recovery from a low base in early 2020, statistics released on Friday showed. The gross domestic product (GDP) reached 24.93 trillion yuan (about $3.82 trillion) in Q1. This is the highest quarterly growth rate since China first began publishing GDP data in 1993. —PTI

Roma, Man U in Europa last four

Paris, April 16: Roma lined up a blockbuster Europa League semifinal clash with Manchester United on Thursday after holding Aiax to a 1-1 draw to go through to the Last Four 3-2 on aggregate.

Edin Dzeko's strike 18 minutes from time ensured the draw and passage for Paulo Fonseca's side, who were on the back foot for most of the match, and a showdown with United who strolled into the semis 4-0 after a 2-0 win over Granada at Old Trafford. The other semifinal will see Arsenal face Villarreal, coached by former Gunners boss Unai Emery.

Italy's only remaining representative in Europe came into the clash at the Stadio Olimpico with a slender lead but two away goals from last week's first leg in Amsterdam.

Their European campaign looked in danger when Ajax teen Brian Brobbey was introduced for Antony at the break and the striker made an instant impact, racing onto Perr Schuurs pass three minutes after the restart and nipped the ball

"I think the dew plays a part here. I think they hit the length a lot better than we did and they got a lot of guys skying with the extra bounce. But we would have taken a chase of 140-odd,' he added.

Even the presence of proven performers David Miller and Morris was not assuring enough for Rajasthan Royals skipper Samson, thought the two destructive batsmen may not be Chasing 148 for their first win of the season, the Royals were reeling at 42 for five but the South African players pulled off a three-wicket win with Miller hitting 62 and Morris producing a breathtaking 36 off 18 balls.

"To be very honest, I thought that it was tough from 40 for 5. We had Miller and Morris, but I thought it was tough," Samson said.

"It's about reading the conditions. It was a little sticky at the start. Taking pace off is the strength of our fast bowlers and that worked out," he said.

The Capitals skipper Rishabh Pant said his side did a good job but "we let them get over us in the end." He said dew also played a role in the result of the match. "We could have bowled better. Dew got the better of us. I think we were 15-20 runs short. But there is something to gain from this match, the bowlers did well at the start. Hopefully in the future we can pull things

"In the second innings there was more dew than the first innings so we had to be doing our part, because the slower ball wasn't stopping," he said.

Not bowling Ash out was mistake: Ponting

Mumbai, April 16: Not giving off-spinner l thought Ashwin bowled beautifully. Probably a beautifully. Probably a Ravichandran Ashwin his mistake on our behalf, full quota of overs was "probably a mistake", Delhi Capitals coach Ricky Ponting conceded after his side went down by three wickets in the IPL clash against Rajasthan Royals Ashwin conceded just 14 runs and no boundaries in his three overs after being brought in following the powerplay on Thursday night when DC were defending a modest 148.

With two left-handers -David Miller (62) and Rahul Tewatia (19) — in the middle, new skipper Rishabh Pant introduced Marcus Stoinis in the attack instead of continuing with Ashwin in the 13th over. The Australian conceded 15 runs which included three fours, taking RR from 58/5 to 73/5 to shift effectively momentum.

"That's certainly something that we will talk about when I get a chance to sit down with the team. He had bowled beautifully. Three overs, none for 14. Hadn't even conceded a boundary," Ponting said.

"He had a disappointing game in game one, but he has worked really hard in the last few days to make sure he adjusted and got things right in this game. "I thought he bowled and something we will beautifully. Probably a mistake on our behalf, and something we will be talking about later on.'

The Royals needed 58 from the last five overs. Morris smashed four sixes in the last two overs during his quick-fire 18-ball 36 to take the team home with two balls to spare.

"We probably gave him (Morris) a few too many easy balls, a few too many slot balls if you like," Ponting said.

"The length wasn't quite where it needed to be. If you look at the replay of the game, if you bowled a reasonable yorker, he didn't score off them.

"If it was back of a length, sort of, above stump high, he didn't get hold of them either, especially with pace on the ball. We talked about how to bowl to him, but the execution probably wasn't there. Ponting said dew was a factor in the second innings as bowlers found it difficult to grip the ball.

Sunrisers Hyderabad players are all ears as coach Trevor Bayliss speaks during a training session. Tricky test for Warner & co.

DC CORRESPONDENT CHENNAI, APRIL 16

With a shaky middleorder proving to be their Achilles heel again, Sunrisers Hyderabad would be desperate to address the issue and taste first victory this season when they take on Mumbai Indians here at the M.A. Chidambaram Stadium on Saturday. Hyderabad were cruising in a chase against Challengers Bangalore in their previous match before their inexperienced middleorder let the match slip his maiden SRH cap. The opening combination of Wriddhiman Saha Warner worked for them either.

There have been calls for ered from a slow start to the inclusion of Kane Williamson in the XI, but the Kiwi has revealed that he is not 100 per cent fit

Sunrisers lost both their games while chasing, while Mumbai's lone victory came while defending a target.

The slow Chepauk surface has proved tricky for the chasing teams. Warner doesn't expect the wicket to get better. "The key is to execute through the middle, try and take early wickets in the powerplay and when batting it's just to consolidate in the first six with minimal damage," said Warner.
