Yogi meets PM as cabinet rejig, UP bifurcation take centrestage

DC CORRESPONDENT NEW DELHI, JUNE 11

Amid growing specula-tion of a possible rejig in the BJP-led Uttar Pradesh government, Chief Minister Yogi Adityanath on Friday met Prime Minister Narendra Modi and BJP president J.P. Nadda. The UP chief minister also called on President Ram Nath Kovind before leaving for Lucknow in the evening. He had met Union home minister Amit Shah on Thursday. BJP allies, Apna Dal's Anupriya Patel and Nishad Party's Sanjay Nishad, had also met Mr Shah.

There is intense speculation in New Delhi that the Centre might consider the division of Uttar Pradesh, which has the largest number of parliamentary seats, and that the UP CM was consulted on this at his meeting with Mr Shah on Thursday. The buzz is that the Centre might consider a bifurcation into Purvanchal and Harit Pradesh. A similar pro-posal was pushed by then CM Mayawati in the state Assembly in 2011, but the issue failed to get momentum after the BSP lost power. Mr Adityanath had, Incidentally, ruled out such a plan.

Greens hail making land in Kallar jumbo corridor private forests

DC CORRESPONDENT

The environmentalists have hailed the decision of the Coimbatore district administration to make 50.79 hectares along the Kallar elephant corridor as private forests under the Tamil Nadu Preservation of Private Forests Act, 1949. District Collector S Nagarajan took the decision for the first time since the enactment of the Act in the state. The move will help immensely in protecting the Kallar elephant cor-

The collector announced the said land between the forests in Odanthurai in Mettupalayam as a private forest area. The area includes the Jackanarai slope-Hulical Durgam elephant corridor. It is the first corridor area to be brought under the Act in the state. The decision will reduce the animal-human conflicts and preserve the Kallar elephant corridor, the activists said.

Securing the corridor of The Nilgiris Biosphere Reserve (NBR) will protect the giant mammals and facilitate free movement of elephants between Coimbatore, The Nilgiris and Sathyamangalam Tiger Reserve as it would prevent any development works in the corridor. Land sales will become difficult along the corridor. Since the place has been made a private forest area, conservation of the land for other purposes like sale, cutting trees or erecting fences will not happen without obtaining the permission from the committee headed by the district collector.

The activists have been request ing the government to prevent development works along the key Kallar corridor for conservation of elephants. The activists also demand the government to build a flyover on the national highways through the Kallar corridor as the road has been a stumbling block for the elephants and wildlife.

AIADMK picks on DMK govt

CORRESPONDENT CHENNAI, JUNE 11

AIADMK coordinator O. Panneerselvam launched a scathing attack on the DMK government for not vaccinating the people of the state against Covid-19 infection adequately and for creating confusion in the minds of Class XII students by ordering the continuation of coaching for Neet in government schools.

Though Chief Minister M K Stalin had written to the Prime Minister Narendra

Modi urging nim to cancel Neet for the safety of students and given the impression that admission to medical colleges would be made on the basis of the marks that would be awarded to them the school education department had asked the coaching to go on, Pann-eerselvam alleged on Friday. In his statement, the

Chief Minister has asked for enough water in Cauvery

DC CORRESPONDENT CHENNAI, JUNE 11

Chief Minister M K Stalin has written to the Union Water Resources Minister, Gajendra Singh Shekhawat, to ensure that adequate quantity of water, as mandated by the Supreme Court, was released in River Cauvery every month.

Stalin's letter assumes significance since he is now at the Cauvery delta overseeing the work related to the desilting of canals to ensure that the water from the river reached even the tail end regions of the delta for irrigation. Also the Chief Minister will witness the opening of the Mettur dam kuruvai on June 12, which is an important event in the State's farming calendar. It is this water that flows into River Cauvery will irrigate delta region for cultivation of kuruvai (short term) crop. In the past the farmers had missed out on their

since the lack of storage in Mettur had led to the non-release of water on the customary date of June 12.

Since the storage position was good this year and the monsoon is also expected to set in on time, bringing in adequate rains later on, the water is being released on the customary date. But unless Karnataka ensures that the flow into the river was maintained through the year, there could be future glitches in carrying on with the agricultural operations in the Rice Bowl of Tamil Nadu.

Perhaps, it is to ensure that Tamil Nadu gets its due share of water from the Cauvery, the Chief Minister has shot off the letter to the Union Water Resources Minister, lest Karnataka reneges on its responsibility of releasing water to Mettur periodically as it had done in the past.

The Bharatiya Janata Party, shattered by its national vice president Mukul Roy's exit and his return to the Trinamul Congress, has become a divided house in West Bengal with a blame game between two camps amid a fierce internal revolt since its poll debacle in the state.

SC raps Param Bir for having no faith in cops

DC CORRESPONDENT NEW DELHI, JUNE 11

The Supreme Court on Friday described as "shocking" the former Mumbai police commissioner Param Bir Singh saying that he had no confidence Maharashtra police with which he has been associated for over three decades as IPS officer, as it declined to entertain his plea for the transfer of all the criminal cases registered against him in Maharashtra to CBJ or an independent agency.

Apparently intrigued over Param Bir Singh showing lack of faith in Maharashtra police in which he grew up to become the top cop of Mumbai police, the court observed that those living in glass houses should not throw stones on others.

Describing as "shocking" Param Bir Singh's plea that he was seeking the transfer of all the criminal cases to CBI or an independent agency because of his lack of trust in the Maharashtra police, a bench comprising Justice Hemant Gupta and Justice V. Ramasubramanian said, "It is very surprising. You were part of Maharashtra IPS cadre for 30 years and served it. Now you are saying you do not have faith in that system. It is a shocking

Prashant Kishor's meeting with Pawar sets off speculations

Well-known political strategist Prashant Kishor on Friday met Nationalist Congress Party (NCP) chief Sharad Pawar at the latter's residence Silver Oak in South Mumbai. Though the NCP maintained that the meeting was a thanksgiving trip related to the Bengal and Tamil Nadu election, there are speculations that non-Congress opposition parties are trying to put up a joint fight against the Bharatiya Janata Party (BJP) and credible leader against Prime Minister Narendra Modi. The Shiv Sena has been openly pro-posing Pawar as the opposition leader.

Kishor held talks with the NCP chief and party leaders for three and half hours. The meeting between Pawar and Kishor assumes 'political significance' as it is believed the NCP chief wants a united forum of Conscition parties to take Opposition parties to take on the ruling BJP in the next Lok Sabha election, which is

A senior NCP leader, requesting anonymity, said that Kishor had apprised the NCP chief about the current political situation with the facts and figures.

He also gave a suggestion on how to unite the opposition parties in the country. Apart from the NCP chief, the meeting was also attended by Baramati MP Supriya Sule, Maharashtra NCP president Jayant Patil and MLA Rohit Pawar.

Shiv Sena spokesperson Arvind Sawant welcomed the meeting and said, "At present, polarisation is needed in the country. If democracy needs to be preserved, a strong opposition is needed."

In March 2021, the Sena had said that there is a need to restructure the UPA, and the new alliance should be led by a senior leader like Sharad Pawar as many regional parties are not ready to work under the leadership of the Congress. According to the Sena, if UPA is restructured, more parties will join the alliance.

'Assam CM misleading on demography'

Guwahati, June 11: The opposition Congress and AIUDF along with a minority student body on Friday termed Assam Chief Minister Himanta Biswa Sarma's statement asking the minority community to adopt a decent family planning policy as "unfortu-nate, frivolous and misleading" Referring to recent evictions of a number of famifrom "encroached land" in three districts of the state, the Chief Minister on Thursday had urged the minority community to adopt the policy saying that increased population leads to poverty, shrinking of living space and consequent land encroachment.

The Congress claimed that Mr Sarma's remarks on "population explosion" in Assam are "certainly misinformed and misleading", while the All India United Democratic Front (AIUDF) claimed that the rate of increase in population among some other communities is higher than that of the minorities.

The All Assam Minority Students' Union (AAMSU) said that the population problem can be resolved by ensuring proper education and health facilities for the people. According to the 2011 Census, Muslims comprise 34.22 per cent of Assam's total population of 3.12 crore and they are in majority in several districts. THREE DEAD AT FLORIDA SUPERMARKET

Royal Palm Beach, Fla.: A man fatally shot a grandmother and her 1-vear-old grandson inside a Florida supermarket before killing himself, authorities said, causing dozens to flee the store in panic.

The shooting happened shortly after 11:30 am on Thursday at a Publix located in a strip mall that also houses small shops and restaurants.

Authorities initially said the shooter and the victims may have known each other. A later update from the Palm Beach County Sheriff's Office said there was no known motive or relationship between the suspect and the victims, but detectives were still investigating.

The sheriff's office identified the suspect as Timothy J. Wall, 55, of Royal Palm Beach.

The names of the grandmother and her grandson won't be released. Their family invoked Marsy's Law, the sheriff's office said, which allows victims of crimes to block information that could be used to locate or harass them or their families from being made public.

The club of leading economies Britain, Canada, Germany, Italy, Japan and United States — say a United States — say a joint approach is the world's best chance for recovering from the global health crisis, and tackling climate change. President Joe Biden has set the tone, ditching Donald Trump's isolationist stance to ram home a message of resolve by the G7 and NATO against both Beijing and Moscow, as he heads into his first sit-down with Russian President Vladimir Putin next week in Geneva.

"The driving animating purpose of this G7 sum-mit is to show that democracy can deliver against the biggest challenges we're facing in the world," a senior US administration official said.

Campaigners say the G7's vaccine donations pledge for this year and next — including 500 million US doses — is far too little, too late to end a pandemic that has claimed over 3.7 million lives worldwide.

"If the best G7 leaders can manage is to donate one billion vaccine doses then this summit will have been a failure,' Oxfam said, insisting the world needs 11 billion doses. But the G7 has recognised it needs to rise to competing "vaccine diplomacy" efforts launched by China and Russia, with the Biden administration stressing it expects nothing in return for its donated jabs.

G7 leaders meeting at seaside resort of Carbis Bay in Cornwall, southwest England, are also expected to outline more help for developing nations to build up infrapoint to the debt-fuelled spending by China in Africa, Asia and Latin America.

The initiative "will embrace a high standards, transparent, climate friendly, non-corrupt mechanism" for investinfrastructure ment in the developing world, the US official said. "It will be an alternative to that which other including countries, China, are offering." Underpinning the US-led

UK says Delta variant 60% more transmissible

Londone, June 11: The British government said Friday that the new Delta coronavirus variant is 60 percent more transmissible in households than the variant that forced the country to lock down in

The Delta variant, which first emerged in India, has caused a rise in cases in the UK, prompting questions about whether social distancing restrictions will be lifted as planned from June 21.

New research from Public Health England "suggests that the Delta variant is associated with an approximately 60 percent increased risk of household transmission' compared to the Alpha variant identified in Kent, southeast England.

The Kent variant caused a surge of Covid cases in January leading to a three-month lockdown as hospitals were stretched to near-capacity.

The government ramped up its public vaccination drive in response, and has now given two doses of vaccine to nearly 29 million adults and one dose to nearly 41 million.

Daily cases rose to 7,393 on Thursday, a level not seen since February. More than 90 percent of new cases were of the Delta variant, ministers said.

However the number of patients in hospital remains low, at just over 1,000 on Thursday, and Health Secretary Matt Hancock has said most inpatients have not had

The government said this suggested the vaccination programme is mitigating the impact of the Delta variant, urging the public to get both jabs. Jenny Harries, chief executive of the UK Health Security Agency, said that "two doses provide significantly more protection" against the Delta variant than one.

The UK has reported 127.867 deaths from the virus, the worst toll in Europe.

UK digs in over North Ireland in Brexit trade row

Enniskillen, Kingdom, June 11: Britain on Friday hit back at President Emmanuel Macron's uncompromising stance on Brexit, in a simmering row over new trading arrangements Northern Ireland.

Macron on Thursday warned London that it was "not serious" to agreements signed last December, just weeks before the UK left the European single market and customs union.

"Nothing is renego-tiable," he said before heading to the G7 leaders summit in Cornwall, southwest England.

But Foreign Secretary Dominic Raab insisted that Brussels should be more flexible in its approach to Northern Ireland, which shares the UK's only land border with the EU. Under the so-called

Northern Ireland protocol, checks are required on some goods heading to the British province from mainland Britain — England, Scotland and Wales.But that has angered unionist communities who say it has driv-en a wedge between them and the rest of the UK, and blamed it for a resur-

Talks to try to resolve the issue broke up in London without agreement on Wednesday, with threatening Brussels punitive action if London fails to implement the agreement.

The arrangement — to prevent unchecked goods heading into the EU through member state means Northern Ireland is still part of the European single market.

CHINA PASSES LAW AGAINST DEFAMING ARMED FORCES

Beijing, June 11: China has passed a new legisla-tion that bans "defamation" of military personnel, adding an array of legal tools to its 2018 law under which a Chinese popular blogger was punished recently for "defaming" PLA soldiers killed in last year's clash with the Indian Army at the Galwan in Ladakh.

The legislation, which was adopted by the standing committee of the National People's Congress (NPC) on Thursday, states that no organisation or individ ual may in any way slander or derogate the honour of servicemen, nor may they insult or slander the reputation of members of the armed forces, state-run Xinhua news agency reported.

It also bans the desecration of plaques in honour of military personnel. Prosecutors can file public interest litigation in cases of defamation of military personnel and the infringement on their legitimate rights and interests that have seriously affected their performance of duties and missions and damaged the public interests of society, according to the new law. The new law adds to an array of legal tools that already ban defamation of revolutionary martyrs. -AP

H1-B visa: USCIS undoes Trump plan

To stay relevant, Congress must hold inner-party polls

fter repeated electoral setbacks the party has endured in recent years, is there any relevance left for the Congress? Many may think the question redundant, considering how little the party's impact has been on the ground in most parts of the country. And yet, there is another question: "Does India need a viable Opposition?"

This question has not become pressing on account of the government's conspicuous failures to deal with the corona crisis last year and this year, which is pretty much an open and shut case, no matter how much the BJP may try to put a spin on it. Even before the virus struck, the economy stood shaken on account of questionable policies, and the unemployment rate was the highest in 45 years. Shortly thereafter, the Chinese Army marched into territories on India's side of the Line of Actual Control and remains there by and large. The humiliation is stark. If none of this has quite registered with the public, there has to be a question about the effectiveness of the Opposition. For want of a viable choice, the voter may find themselves stuck in a rut. This hypothesis may be too structured. After hold a coherent line. I most swashbuckling of regional parties, these are not of a mould that can fit the pattern nationwide. As if to attest to this, the ruling BJP's highest political priority appears to be to decimate a Congress whose trace is slowly disappearing. If this is an irony of sorts, it also tells us something about the meaning of brand value. There has been some G-23 messaging after Mr Prasada quit last Wednesday, but most in the G-23 are not even paper tigers. What the Congress needs is a stiff dose of the sanjeevani of even a haphazard CWC election based on old AICC roles, which in turn would lead on to an immediate election for the party president. The Gandhi family has meant well and has hewed to the line of Gandhiji and Jawaharlal Nehru. The tallest of them is too unwell to carry on even in an interim capacity. The most vital of them, and the most honorable, will not return as party chief. He resigned taking responsibility for a major poll defeat and announced none in his family would fill the slot after him. Which means he has paved the way for a fresh election for party president.

If this can happen well before the upcoming election in UP, Uttarakhand, Punjab and Goa in early 2022, the Congress can be in the hunt for the laurels, and the political scene can be electrified. Let the Congress disregard the corona restrictions (as it would need to anyway when elections are announced), and go for inner-party

No room for complacency

he second wave of the pandemic Covid-19 has started showing signs of a decline, given that every indicator, from daily case load to number of deaths to test positivity rate, shows a definite pattern. This, however, offers little reason to be complacent what with experts predicting the arrival of a third wave which could be more dangerous and lethal. It is important that the government pull up the socks to take on it, and a truthful and scientific assessment of the first and second waves is key to the successful resistance to

It is in this context that the reports of an upward revision of the death toll in Bihar must be viewed. As per the latest government figures, Bihar has lost 9,375 people to the pandemic against the earlier figure of 5,424. This indicates that the government's figures have gone up by more than 72 per cent after the correction. The government's justification is that it has taken time to collect data from private hospitals, other facilities, in home isolation and of those who died of post-Covid complications. In a way, the government was admitting that it was formulating its policies and strategies on a wrong database.

The Bihar episode should be an eye-opener for all state governments and the Union government. The Union health ministry must ensure that every state follows uniform guidelines, formed by the Indian Council of Medical Research in the collecting data on infection and deaths. It must also ensure that the dat from the rural and remote areas are also collected, collated and analysed scientifically so that it gives valuable inputs while preparing for the next wave. The right inputs based on reliable data should help the government plan the ways to augment healthcare infrastructure at places that would seem the next target of the virus.

KANGANA BROKE?

Actor Kangana Ranaut has said that she is unable to pay her income-tax dues as she has 'no work'. Maybe, she doesn't have any assignments at present, but what happened to her past earnings? Would anyone believe that she is living from hand to mouth? If the highest tax-paying actor in Bollywood claims that she is broke, one can imagine the plight of the common man in these trying times. The I-T authorities are absolutely justified in charging interest on the actor's pending tax money.

SILENCING CRITICS

Modi made two major announcements aimed at silencing the critics of the government's vaccination policy and amelio-rating the plight of millions of have-nots struggling to manage even food due to economic hardship caused by the coronavirus. Taking charge of vaccination back from the states, the Prime Minister announced that all vaccines would be pro-cured by the Central government and given to the states free of cost. Twenty-five per cent of vaccines will continue to be procured by private hospitals while the states' 75 per cent quota will come from the Centre and that is a step in the right direction. Now, all aged 18 and above would receive free vaccines in government hospitals from June 21, which is also Înternational Yoga Day. No state government will have to spend anything on vaccines. And also distribution of free rations lhan Mantri Garih Ka Yojana will be extended till Deepavali up to November for 80 crore poor who will receive free ration under the scheme. TEASING ASHWIN

The loudmouth commentator Sanjay Manjrekar's teasing TN ace spinner Ravichandran Ashwin that he does not find him qualified to gain a place in the list of all-time greats is not a palatable statement. Sanjay is not new to this kind of getting into controversies and his memories seem to be short, while he was axed by BCCI for his unwarranted comment against Ravindra Jadeja as well as on his fellow commentator Harsha Bhogle sometime ago. When the BCCI dropped him from the panel of commentators, he was kneeling down to use his representation to apologise for his improper conduct. It's pertinent to note that while Sanjay Manjrekar continues to claim his place under the shadow of his great father late Vijay Manjrekar, Ashwin has got the formidable backup of his own records to have a stake in any team.

three Chekhovian sisters. In the case of Ann, however, no commentator has openly objected but a lot has still been said. The writerdirector of the series and Channel 5 put out a press release saving that their version intended to correct the prevalent view of Ann Boleyn as a manipulative schemer who deserved what she got. Though they didn't say it, what the writer-director who cast the black actress and her black brother in their respective roles probably intended was to win sympathy for Ann as a victim and someone who resists this victimisation, all in tune with the zeitgeist of the Black Lives Matter explosion.

Another seemingly well-informed reviewer pointed out that most historians and three previous depictions of Ann Boleyn in drama and film, characterised her not a manipulative sorceress, but as precisely the victim of capricious power. The Channel 5 drama was pushing against an open door.

The story ends horribly and tragically for Ann and her brother and this cross-racial casting sets out to prove that the privileged white establishment is guilty of racism - gosh! What a revelation — why didn't I think of it - thank you, Channel 5! My own viewing of the series, perhaps in total eccentricity, reminded me at several points of Prince Harry and Meghan Markle and had me wondering whether Oprah Winfrey was about to appear in the role of mar-

Integrated or gender-and-colourblind casting has several purposes. It may be that it was introduced in Britain and America under pressure from black actors who complained of not having opportunities and work as there weren't many roles for them to play. As a member in the 1980s of two theatre companies, the Black Theatre Coop (BTC) and the Asian Co-operative Theatre (ACT, geddit?), we were very much in the thick of the clamour for parts for non-white actors. Our solution was not to cast blacks in traditional white roles, but to find and encourage the writing and production of plays about the black and Asian experience, contemporary, international, historical, epic, mythical and even sci-fi and fantastical. That vein of theatre has prospered in part and floundered in part but seems to have established itself firmly in the theatrical space of Britain, moving from the venues and audiences we played in and for, into the terrain of the nation's dramatic establishment. We were the proud and defiant fringe. Now black and Asian drama covers the whole scalp, sometimes scantily as "racial" concession, but also occadramatic.

Rastafarian ringlets. There was a parallel impulse which prompted racially integrated casting, which was the contention that all the stage is a world, a self-contained world removed from, though portraying the realities of racial and nation-alistic tensions. It was this impulse or determination that caused the maestro Peter Brook to cast any and every nationality and race in his masterful ninehour production of the Mahabharat. Japanese and Caribbean actors played Indian heroes, heroines and gods. Brook's criterion was not race or nationality but something like "the best actor from all the world for the role". Akin to the players of Manchester United not representing the city of Manchester but drawn from anywhere and everywhere.

The Brook impulse was certainly not shared by sections of the Indian population. Inspired by Brook's liberality or, as some would say, liberties with the Mahabharat, I wrote a novel called Bombay Duck in which this grated casting — results in tragedy. The book progresses to other instances and narratives to question all our notions of authenticity.

Perhaps Peter Brook would, with these colour-blind casting eyes, direct Othello with a white female actor playing the principal part? I am almost certain that Channel 5 would not but am a bit doubtful about Britain's National Theatre or indeed the Royal Shakespeare Company, which might very well in the interests of "diversity" overcome the idea that the play depends to a large extent on perceptions of race and gender. When Laurence Olivier, palpably white, played Othello, he blackened his face to dramatise this dimension of the play. Through the last few decades, no choric group of white singers in the West would blacken their faces to represent black and white minstrels. If a white actor blacked up to play Othello there would be mass riots in the streets. But what if one of the established theatres cast a white female actor as Othello without a change into male clothes, skin colour or plummy accent? Interesting. Watch this space.

ASSET QUALITY OF MICRO LOAN PORTFOLIOS DIP

SANGEETHA G CHENNAI, JUNE 11

With lockdowns hitting collections, the asset quality of micro loan portfolios is estimated to have deteriorated this month, exceeding the post-demonetisa tion levels.

A drop in the collection efficiency of NBFC-MFIs owing to Covid-19 curbs will increase asset-quality pressures in the sector and loans in arrears for over 30 days could rise to 14-16 per cent of portfolio in June from a recent low of 6-7 per cent in March, says a Crisil report. This is higher than 11.7 per cent touched in March 2017 in the aftermath of demonetisation. "Pressure on asset quali-ty would be higher (than last year) as borrowers do not have a blanket moratorium this time, while their cash flows have been impacted by the second wave," said Krishnan Sitaraman, senior director and deputy chief ratings officer, Crisil Ratings. Earlier, Sa-Dhan had reported that overall collections, which had bounced back to pre-Covid levels in March, dropped by 10 to 20 per cent in April-May 2021 as the lockdown was imposed in some of Passenger vehicle whole-sales in April stood at 2,61,633 units.

Since both May 2020 and May 2021 were abnormal months because of the Covid-19 situation and lockdowns, comparison of these two months holds no meaning. But a comparison of May 2021 sales with April this year, presents a realistic picture.

Siam said two-wheeler dispatches to dealers dropped by 65 per cent to 3,52,717 units compared with 9,95,097 units in April. Motorcycle declined 56 per cent last month to 2,95,257 units as against 6,67,841 units in 50,294 units, from 3,00,462 units in April this year. Three-wheeler declined by 91 per cent to 1,251 units as compared to 13,728 units in April.

Vehicle sales across categories witnessed a decline of 65 per cent to 4,42,013 units last month, as against 12,70,458 units in April this year.
"Most part of May was under lockdown due to Covid-19 in many states, thus, impacting overall sales and production. Many members had shut down their manufacturing plants to divert oxygen from industrial use for medical purposes," Rajesh Menon, director general at Siam said.

Last month, India's biggest Suzuki, carmaker despatched 32,903 cars to its dealer down from partners, 1,35,879 units in April.

Punjab & Sind Bank, which posted 8.39 per cent growth in advances with aggregate loans at Rs 67,811 crore at the end of March 2021.

US FDA faces criticism over Alzheimer's drug approval approval ignored the recommendation of its out-Johns Hopkins public

JULIE STEENHUYSEN & DEENA BEASLEY

In approving the first new Alzheimer's drug in nearly 20 years, the US Food and Drug Administration is taking its biggest risk yet with a strategy that allows new therapies onto the market without strong evidence that they work, regulatory and scientific experts say.

The Biogen Inc drug, Aduhelm, was authorised based on evidence that it can reduce brain plaques, a likely contributor to Alzheimer's, rather than proof that it slows progression of the lethal mind-wasting disease.

The FDA has granted so-called "accelerated approval" in more than 250 instances since 1992, mainly for rare diseases or small patient popula-tions that have had no effective treatments available to them. In these cases, the agency requires from the market. Aduhelm, however, is in a different league in terms of the number of potential patients and cost to the healthcare sys-

works, or face withdrawal

that drugmakers conduct additional clinical trials to prove their therapy

In addition, the FDA its decision "by fiat," and Biogen did not provide enough evidence of clinical benefit. Three of the advisory panel's members have resigned in protest since the FDA decision announced

"This decision has shaken the foundations of the scientific process and methods," said Dr. Jason Karlawish, co-director of the Penn Memory Center in Philadelphia. Karlawish ran one of the trial sites for the Biogen drug.

He said the FDA made side advisors, who said

had not asked its advisors to consider whether the drug's ability to remove a type of brain plaques known as beta amyloid would improve outcomes for patients.

"It's a disturbing set of events, scientifically, clinically, politically," Karlawish said.

Biogen has said that Americans with earlystage Alzheimer's will be eligible for the drug, priced at an average of $56,000 per year, with the federal Medicare insurance programme for seniors likely on the hook for most of the cost.

The FDA approval allows Biogen to sell its product over several years - with forecasts for potential annual sales reaching as high $10 billion to $50 billion - until the company completes a required follow-up study.

'Ño amount of unmet need can take the place of sufficient evidence," said health professor Dr. Caleb Alexander, a member of the FDA advisory panel. The number of Americans living with Alzheimer's is expected to more than double to around 13 million by 2050, according to the Alzheimer's Association. Biogen research chief Alfred Sandrock said the FDA had painstakingly analysed its clinical trial

data over two years before reaching a conclusion. "I believe they came to the right decision on behalf of the American public," Sandrock said in an interview.

Red alert for Russia

Top-ranked Belgium take on Russia in quest for Euro glory

St. Petersburg, June 11: What's being billed by some as the last hurrah for Belgium's "golden generation" begins with two of the team's long-time stalwarts likely to miss their opening match of European Championship.

Injury and fitness concerns mean neither Kevin De Bruyne nor Eden Hazard are set to start against Russia on at Same Stadium, Saturday Petersburg Stadium, where the Belgians' World Cup hopes in 2018 died in a loss to France.

They return to the same venue three years later as the world's top-ranked team — they have been in that position since October 2018 — but with doubts about the availability of their two star attacking midfielders, and maybe a bit more.

De Bruyne is probably the least of coach Roberto Martinez's concerns, despite linking up with the squad a week late after fracturing his nose and socket during Manchester City's loss to Chelsea in the Champions League final. The playmaker required a minor operation and is likely to

BALE 'NOT WORRIED' ABOUT DROUGHT

Wales captain Gareth Bale said on Friday he was unconcerned about his international drought on the eve of his side's Euro 2020 opener against Switzerland.

Bale, 31, last scored for Wales against Croatia in October 2019 but has created four goals in his previous seven appearances. "It doesn't matter. I've made assists. I'm still contributing. I'm not worried," he said. "If the chances arise to score, hopefully I can take

Spain vaccinate entire squad

Worried that a coronavirus outbreak could derail their chances at the European Championship, Spain sent in the army on Friday to vaccinate the national team three days before their opening match at the tournament. Medics from Spain's Armed Forces administered the shots at the team's training facility near Madrid. "We have had the privilege and the good fortune that the government decided to vaccinate us," said Spain midfielder Thiago, who was infected with Covid-19 last year. "While this is great news for us, I hope that we don't have any adverse effects before the

Scotland players to take a knee

Scotland's players will take a knee at the European Championship before the game against England in London but will stand ahead of matches in Glasgow against the Czech Republic and Croatia. The England team have been doing the anti-racism gesture since last year. Scotland captain Andy Roberton says "we have collectively decided to again take the knee as a team for the fixture against England at Wembley Stadium." The match will be played on June 18. The gesture has been booed by a section of England fans but the team will continue to take a knee at Euro 2020. England's first game of the tournament will be on Sunday against Croatia.

De Bruyne to miss opener

Kevin De Bruyne has not travelled to St. Petersburg with the Belgium squad for Saturday's European Championship game against Russia. The Manchester City playmaker only linked up with the team on Monday after having a minor operation on the fractured nose and eye socket he sustained during the Champions League final against Chelsea on May 29. Belgium coach Roberto Martinez says De Bruyne hasn't yet trained with the group and was still following an individual programme to "get him back to really being able to move freely."

Martinez says he expects De Bruyne to join full training with the squad when Belgium's players return to the training camp in Tubize after the group game

Conway keeps England at bay

Devon Conway's superb start to his New Zealand career continued with an unbeaten fifty on the second day of the second and final Test against England at Edgbaston on Friday.

Conway, fresh from his stunning debut 200 in the drawn first Test at Lord's last week, was 78 not out. Meanwhile Will Young, one of a remarkable six changes to the team, was unbeaten on 40. The pair had so far added an unbroken 115 after stand-in captain Tom Latham fell lbw to Stuart Broad for six before lunch. Broad's 519th Test wicket saw him draw level with former West Indies fast bowler Courtney Walsh as he moved into joint sixth

Richard Kettleborough having made a soft signal of 'not out' as he requested a review, replay official Michael Gough felt there was insufficient evidence for him to overturn that call. Young, in for injured New Zealand captain and star batsman Kane Williamson, should cer-tainly have been out for seven when he edged fast bowler Olly Stone.

Root, however, dropped a seemingly comfortable, waist-high, chance at first slip despite getting both hands to the ball. -AFPBrief scores (Day 2, at Tea): England 303 (Rory Burns 81, Dan Lawrence 81 not out, Mark Wood 41; Trent Boult 4/85, Matt Henry 3/78) vs New Zealand 130/1 in 43 overs (Devon Conway (batting) 78, Will Young (batting) 40; Stuart Broad 1/15).

A Stef closer to Slam dream Paris, June 11: Stefanos Tsitsipas went from way ahead to suddenly stuck in a five-set struggle against Alexander Zverev at the French Open on Friday before emerging to earn his first berth in a Grand Slam final.

fifth-seeded Tsitsipas entered with an 0-3 record in major semifinals and it seemed as if he might let this one slip away, too, until a late surge carried him to the 6-3, 6-3, 4-6, 4-6, 6-3 victory after more than 3 and a hours at Court Philippe Chatrier.

On Sunday, Tsitsipas will face 13-time Roland Garros champion Nadal or top-seeded Novak Djokovic for the championship on the red clay.

Tsitsipas regained control of his semifinal on a cloudy afternoon in the late going thanks to a combination of more solid returning by him and a succession of ground-stroke unforced errors from the sixth-seeded Zverev, a 24-year-old from Germany.

The fifth set began with a key service hold after Tsitsipas double-faulted to fall behind love-40. From there, he won five consecutive points, including one with a cross-court forehand passing winner that he celebrated by shaking his racket as the crowd chanted, "Tsi-tsi-pas! Tsi-tsi-pas! Tsi-tsi-

Tsitsipas will be the first player from Greece in a Grand Slam singles final and youngest man to appear in the title match at the French Open since Nadal won the 2008 championship five days after his 22nd birthday.

And this is not some outof-nowhere ascension. Tsitsipas has been build-past couple of seasons, reaching three major semifinals in a row and leading the ATP in total match wins (39 now) and clay-court wins (22) in 2021. Three of his seven career tour-level titles came on clay, including a pair this year — at the Monte Carlo Masters and

ANASTASIA AND BARBORA SEEK GRAND SUCCESS

June Anastasia Pavlyuchen-kova and Barbora Krejcikova, two of the most unlikely Grand Slam finalists of the modern era, meet in Saturday's French Open title match at the conclusion of a shock-heavy tournament. World number 32 Pavlyuchenkova has reached this stage for the first time at the 52nd attempt, 10 years after making a first Slam quarter-final in Paris. Krejcikova, ranked one place lower, has long been labelled a doubles specialist and this is just her fifth appearance in a main draw singles at the Slams, having never previously got beyond the last 16. However, both women have capitalised on a draw where the top seeds fell and just kept falling.

World number one and 2019 champion Ashleigh Barty hobbled out in the second round.

Serena Williams was knocked out in the fourth round, world number two Naomi Osaka withdrew after one match while 2018 champion Simona Halep never even made it to Paris. "The 14-year-old me would tell me 'What took you so long?'," said 2 9 - y e a r - o l d Pavlyuchenkova who played her first Slam event in 2007. "It's been a long road. I had my own long special road. Everybody has different ways. I'm happy I'm in the
